Quarterly Report Shows Local TEC Office Has Placed 1,152 Applicants

Texas Employment Commission office in Hereford placed 1,152 persons in jobs during the last three months of August, September and October, according to Tom McFarland, Amarillo Branch Representative of T.E.C., who manages the local office.

This number does not include the countless crew placements made through the office where maybe 15 or 20 men went out with a farmer to work and the paper work involved was hardly worth the length of time the men would work, McFarland said.

Seven of the jobs during the three months were permanent positions for non-veterans while 13 were permanent jobs for veterans, all of these incidentally were in the agriculture fields as were the other seven permanent jobs.

Five hundred and thirty eight jobs in August boosted that month above the rest considerably. Seventeen non-agriculture positions added to the 538 totaled 555 that month. September found non-agricultural jobs up to 48

Faith May Help Her to Walk

By JOHN SCOTT
Several Sundays ago, in her Sunday School's circle prayer, Tommy Robinson prayed, "Please God, make my foot work." It wasn't the blind prayer of the average 6-year-old girl, but, rather, the confident request of a person who has had polio. She is confident that this period of crutch-walking is only temporary and that, soon she hopes, she will achieve her greatest ambition — to walk.

Her mother said that she takes off her shoe every few days and looks to see if her toes will work. Her leg and encouraging her to exercise herself. They have to be ever on the alert to not let her over-exercise.

Polio doesn't strike just little girls like Tommy. Earlier in this football season, three of Yale's football team were struck by the disease. These rough and healthy athletes couldn't even go for a walk because of the serious damage to muscles due to firing was so great.

Plays Them All
The same trouble confronts Tommy's mother when Tommy goes out to play at school. She takes part in every game they play at Shirley School. Her teacher, Mrs. Byron Durham, says that she even plays "Red rover" which is a game as rough as they come.

"She doesn't turn down anything when it comes to playing on the playgrounds," Mrs. Durham said. She lays her crutches down when she rides the merry-go-round and some other playmate cares for them. When she is through riding the playmate hands the crutches back.

In the classroom, Mrs. Durham says Tommy is an A and B student. She likes her school work and does best in reading. She enjoys every part of school, work or play. Sometimes she gets up and walks to the teacher's desk without her crutches. These walks are for short, very short periods.

She is well liked by her school mates. She doesn't let her handicap cause any worry. The other children help a lot, but she never asks for help. She had rather do it all herself.

Mrs. Durham says she is very sweet in spite of her red hair. Her mother said, "she wasn't behind the door when the tempers were dished out." In school, however, she gets along with the others fine.

Wanted To Help
When seat assignments were made this school year, Tommy asked to be the seat-mate of Carolyn Hutchison. Carolyn is deaf and has some difficulty since she can't hear the teacher's instructions. Tommy wanted to be Carolyn's helper and be able to (Continued on Page Four)

Cottonseed Prices Up to $43 Expect Problems To Iron Out

A sharp three dollar rise in cottonseed prices paid farmers in Hereford area was announced Friday by Hereford Gin Manager John McClesky. The local gin opened the season with $38 this season and, later, paid $40 per ton for the seed. With the last increase, farmers are getting $43.

McClesky said good quality of the seed was prime reason for the increase. He said he expected problems on cottonseed prices to be ironed out within the next two weeks. He said prices on cottonseed are determined by quality. Sometimes, it takes 10 days to get lab tests back on the seed after it has already been bought and paid for by the gin.

"You can't look at the seed and tell what quality it is or how much it is worth," he said. "Sometimes gins have had a very heavy rush season and have paid good prices for the seed. They find out the quality of the seed, only several days after it has been paid for. This is one of the problems faced by the gins."

High Grades and Prices
Cottonseed from this area has tested out very good according to lab tests in McClesky's files. McClesky said when the quality tests show higher grades, higher prices will be paid.

Cottonseed is made useful in many ways after the farmer has grown his cotton, harvests it and takes it to the ginner. In the ginning process, fiber is separated from the cottonseed which goes to the oil miller who produces major products from the seed.

McClesky said this time next week, if the weather holds good as it has been for the last several days, the gin will be going 24 hours a day. He expects to hit peak production in about three weeks when stripping machines go to work in the fields. This will, probably, overload the gin but the modern machinery can handle the work. It can turn out 140 bales a day operating 24 hours a day.

Cotton Will Be On The Ground
Over 350 bales have been ginned, so far, and McClesky said that before the season is over there would be cotton laying on the ground waiting to be worked. He said that in some gins he had worked there were times when from 100 to 200 bales of cotton had lain on the ground at the gin for ginning because of rushed conditions. This is farther down in the old cotton country but McClesky said it is possible that it might happen here.

McClesky said two crews of Mexican pickers are working here there, last year, from six to 12 did the job. He told newsmen that cotton picker shortage could be estimated at being 75,000 short in the Plains area. Local farmers are paying about two dollars per hundred for cotton pickers. While most are pulling the bolls, Curtis Trawick is having his cotton picked. Trawick has 250 acres in cotton and is expecting to make a sale to the acre. As of Trawick's cotton is among the highest. High too, is the price, 36 cents per pound.

Apparently she was trying to go to the highway from the house and didn't make it.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams of Tiban, N. M., her husband and daughter and two brothers, Jim and Buck Williams of Tiban.

Mrs. Shields was born in Clyde, Texas and came to Farmer County in 1948. She was married to Lindsey Shields March 22, 1945 at Ft. Sumner, N. M.

Shields has been working for Thurmond Johnson for several years. The Shields family moved on the Johnson place in July 1948. It is located 4 miles north of Black.

Burial was in Clovis Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home of Hereford.

Vote On Conservation District November 19
Deaf Smith County farmers will vote on creation of the proposed Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District November 19th, according to V. C. Marshall, executive director.

Persons eligible to vote on the matter include all who hold title to farm or ranch lands lying within the district which embraces all of Deaf Smith, who have attained the age of 21 years, and reside within the county; and who own land within the county.

Voting divisions for the election which will be held from 7 to 7 o'clock and polling places are the same as on any other county election with the exception that only one box will be in Hereford for Precincts one and two.

Smith broke the Methodists' hearts with his vicious runnings. And he matched the best efforts of All-American Doak Walker and S. M. U.'s sparkplug, Kyle Rote.

Walker scored twice and converted three times, and looked every bit an All-American. Rote also punched over for a pair, one a 100-yard kick-off return. But it was Smith that stole the show.

Quarterback Paul Campbell led Texas to the 20-0 victory. Campbell out-sparked Baylor's ace passer—Adrian Burk—the serial department. Texas had lost three games this season. But the Longhorns weren't to be denied Saturday. They completely throttled Burk and outplayed the Baylor team all the way.

It was a tight defensive struggle most of the first half. But Texas employed the hard running of Ray Bormeman and Randall Clay — plus Campbell's beautiful passing — to clinch the victory in the final period. Texas first scored late in the first half on an 85 yard drive, with Bormeman plunging over from the one.

In the fourth period, Campbell passed 22 yards to end Ben Proctor for the second Texas T-D. A few minutes later, Campbell clinched a short drive by personally smoking over from the one.

THIS AREA IS A

Land Of Diversification

Diversified farming, long sought goal of agricultural economists, is possibly the outstanding accomplishment of Deaf Smith County, and the situation is becoming more favorable each year.

At this particular season row crop harvest is in progress over the entire territory. Almost as important as having an exceptional row crop is the fact that it got underway shortly after lettuce harvest passed a peak, and blending in row crops with the two crops will be sugar beet harvest, chiefly during November. Meanwhile, wheat prospects appear bright due to high moisture content of soil, thus rounding out a winter cattle grazing program which has meant untold income for farmers and ranchers over the entire area. Cotton, a reasonably new commodity in this community, was also at peak harvest this week. Looking back over the months, it is easy to recall how production of other crops is synchronized to reduce labor problems and to encourage efficient production of all crops included in the diversified farming program.

For the most part, extension service experts and agricultural leaders can lay little claim to conditions as they exist in this area, although they may have made slight contribution. Producers in this locality turned to diversification as a common sense method from which they could secure greatest returns which, after all, is the soundest argument we know for the process of crop diversification.

It does appear, furthermore, that the extension department could profitably use this territory as a "good example"; that they might more carefully consider the ten year old plea for an experimental station to improve yields and to introduce new crops. Right now an experimental station would do more for this territory than any other one thing, but the plea has twice fallen upon deaf ears within the past decade.

Is it good business to continually deny the fellow who is trying in order to cram the same thing down the throat of some one who does not care?

Remember To Vote Next Tuesday

Residents of Deaf Smith County will march to the polls next Tuesday to vote on ten proposed constitutional amendments and to select a state school trustee.

The Brand, during the past few weeks has printed unbiased Associated Press summaries of the amendments and has likewise published material concerning candidates for the State Board of Education. If you are not familiar with the proposals, we urge that you study them carefully because each can be far-reaching in scope.

As in the past, it is certainly not the policy of The Brand to attempt to tell anyone how to vote, but we do insist and urge that every eligible voter exercise his franchise next Tuesday. Only through this means can the United States continue to operate as a democracy.

MORE GROWING PAINS

Whiteface Stadium Expansion

Growing pains are beginning to gnaw in Hereford once again. The new steel football stands, constructed less than three seasons ago, Friday night proved far from adequate as one of the largest crowds in history gathered at Whiteface Memorial Stadium. This was apparent, despite the fact that temporary seats were erected prior to the game.

Football is becoming big business all over the nation, and Hereford is no exception. This in a large measure, should be an asset. Greatly increased revenue, once fixed expenses of uniforms, equipment and buses, have been met, should place the athletic association in a position to accrue funds for additional expansion. Or, should place the department in a position to handle advance season ticket sales along lines similar to those employed when the new steel stands were constructed under sponsorship of the Lions Club.

To say the least, it is definitely time for the community to once again start thinking about a new stadium which within another two years will be a necessity.

HALLOWE'EN PROVES

Kids Will Be Kids -- In 1949

A popular sport for people "past fifty" seems to always run toward condemning the coming generation, and the year of our Lord, 1949, is no exception.

Hallowe'en, annual occasion of pranks and frolic, as usual, provided one off the occasions for this popular indoor sport. All of which leads us to believe that life must have been dull for the kids back in 1900, that is, if we are to believe the oldsters who declare that our boys are "going to the dogs". Or, perhaps, some of these old timers have forgotten those nights when they turned over out-houses, put cows and mules in the courthouses, or hung lots of things on the church or school belfry.

All in all, if we are to believe these stories and compare them with present day Hallowe'en mischief, it would appear that the youth of 1949 is comparatively tame. Or to put it more aptly, they are more sensible and can have just as much fun without being quite so destructive. Anyway, before you criticize too much, take time to remember the things he did as a youngster - and remember that only fifty years ago the oldsters were probably saying the same thing about you.

NOVEMBER 8 IS ELECTION DAY

Qualifications Of Board Of Education Candidates

How to vote under the new secret ballot law is explained in the following few paragraphs along with the qualifications of District 18 Board of Education candidates.

After the Election Judge has checked the ballots for mutilated or unnumbered ballots, and has thoroughly mixed them, then he places the ballots face down in a stack; or stacks, from which you shall be allowed to take your ballot without the number being known to or written down in any manner by the Election Judge.

The Judge then places a notation on the list of voters showing you have voted, but shall not make any record of your ballot number.

The Election Judge shall stamp the poll tax receipt or the exemption certificate as heretofore.

You can then go and vote.

When you have marked your ballot, you shall immediately tear off the perforated stub and write your name on the back of the stub and deposit it in the stub box before depositing your ballot and without disclosing the number of your stub.

You shall then fold the ballot so as to conceal the printing thereon and so as to show the signature the presiding judge on the back of the ballot, then place the ballot in the proper ballot box.

Unless the ballot is deposited in the ballot box and the stub in the stub box BY YOU, it shall not be counted as a vote in such election.

Anderson Rapped

ONLY A FEW insiders know it, but President Truman has turned sour against his former secretary of agriculture Clinton Anderson. In fact, the other day the President hurled his favorite insult against Anderson, now serving in the Senate from New Mexico. He called him a "big-interest man."

What prompted this bitter epithet was Anderson's fight against flat, 90 per cent farm supports. The President has long suspected that Anderson was quietly knitting the Brannan farm plan, but the clincher came when Anderson urged a "compromise" 75 to 90 per cent, flexible price-support scale.

Anderson had spread the impression that the President was backing his compromise. Puzzled, a congressional visitor put the questions warily to Truman.
"In the Senate," he said, "Elmer Thomas (of Oklahoma) quoted you as being for 90 per cent parity, while Dick Russell (of Georgia) said he understood you were against 90 per cent."

"I don't know how Dick got that idea," Truman broke in.

"Senator Anderson seems to have taken command," added the congressman. "Personally I don't care for Anderson's philosophy."

"Well, Clint Anderson is a big-interest man," declared the President firmly.

"As between Anderson's bill and straight 90 per cent parity," Truman continued, "I naturally favor 90 per cent because we campaigned on that basis."

The President added that, on all the farm bills that had come out, he liked congressman Stephen Face's the best, because the Georgia congressman had included the production payment feature of the Brannan plan.

Referring again to Anderson, the congressional visitor pointed out that big-interest men who pose as liberals are much more dangerous than out-and-out reactionaries.

"There is no question about that," agreed the President emphatically. Note-Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan has been fretful over Anderson's opposition, but hasn't raised his voice against his former boss—because Charlie owes his job to him.

Lewis Hears

John L. Lewis was at his roaring best when the coal operators met with Federal Mediation, Chief Cy Ching on their first try to settle the coal strike. While the meeting got nowhere, it certainly didn't lack sound effects.

The northern operators—led by Harry Moses, president of U.S. Steel's H. C. Frick company, and George Lova, of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company—suggested that negotiations be based on Lewis's last contract, which expired June 30. The southern mine owners, led by Joseph Moody, didn't want to go this far, contending there should first be reforms in the welfare fund.

Rolling mad, Lewis thundered: "I will not discuss the old contract. Unless you gentlemen are willing to talk about increased wages and payments into the welfare fund, as well as reduced working hours for the men, who's the hell underground, there is no purpose in my remaining here."

Turning a belated glare at Moses, Lova and Moody, he added wrathfully that he might have known he would be wasting his time endeavoring to deal with "these economic puppets of the United States Steel company and the Cleveland Trust company."

The operator trio chuckled. They had been called worse names than this by the eloquent miners' boss.

Captive Mines

"Why, you have no authority to speak for your bosses in U.S. Steel or the Cleveland Trust company," Lewis went on referring to the Cleveland bank's interest in Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal and U.S. Steel's ownership of the H. C. Frick Co. "So, why do you waste my time? If it was a question of matching your authority in the United Mine Workers, I would send five of my local union presidents to deal across the table with you."

The operators reminded Lewis that he shouldn't accuse them of making no "offer" to settle the strike, since he had made no specific offer himself.

"I have labor to sell," Lewis replied. "It's up to the operators to bid for it."

Mediator Ching diplomatically remarked that the coal strike could never be mediated and settled until both sides showed a more cooperative attitude. But this provoked another wordslide from Lewis.

"What do you mean by mediation?" he demanded. "Why don't you use some on the operators to make them stop their highbanded oppression of labor?"

"I have no authority to make either side of this dispute do anything," replied Ching. "All I can oppression of labor."

A wife charges her husband socked her for reading in bed. That surely is a blow to culture.

Another Lesson in Red Ideology

IF YOUR NAME IS NELLIE

You Can Rest Assured It Is Famous Charles Dickens Made it So Long Ago

By ANN REYNOLDS, Ph. D.
Originally a pet form for Helen, Eleanor, Ellen or Cornelia, Nellie now rates as an independent name. President James Madison's mother, for instance, was called Nellie. She was a remarkable lady who lived to be 98. Even at 97 she kept busy with her books and her knitting.

It was also the name of Eleanor Gwyn, famous as Nell Gwyn. This vivacious red head began her celebrated stage career by selling oranges in a London theater. Her performance of comical parts was "so great as never before in the world." Samuel Pepys recorded in his famous diary, that lively gossip of 17th century doings. Certainly Nell Gwyn's quick wit, her good temper, and, not in the least, the fact that she never meddled in politics although as the mistress of King Charles II she had the opportunity, endeared her to all of London.

But the most cherished character by the name of Nell is "dear, gentle, patient and noble Nell," the fictional child heroine of Charles Dickens' "Old Curiosity Shop." This character is a memorial Dickens set to his adored young sister-in-law, Mary Hogarth; so "perfect a creature as never breathed." Little Nell, too, is perfect. Slightly too much so for the modern reader's taste. But not so for the reader of a hundred years ago. When the story first appeared, as a magazine serial, readers from Boston to California breathlessly wanted to learn Nell's fate. Dickens, although "inundated with imploring letters recommending little Nell to 'mercy,' let her die—young, just as her real life model had died. Well, Hollywood did not exist then; the "happy ending" was not the law yet for a popular story character. Even if Nell aroused as much interest as a comic strip hero arouses today, readers had to be content shedding tears over Nell, instead of having her live on and on, in an endless serial.

Nellie was also the real name of the famous opera name "Melba" for the City of Melbourne of her native Australia. In her honor the Melba Peach, that refreshing ice cream dish, was created. It's easy to make, and pretty enough for party fare. Just line a glass bowl with peach halves, fresh or stewed, cover with vanilla ice cream, and douse with raspberry sauce. Then top with whipped cream preferably forced through a pastry bag; it will give your dish that party look. For the sauce, strain 1 cup of canned or fresh raspberries, mix with 1/4 cup of sugar, and cook until thick as gum. For your own personal touch, glorify your Melba Peach with a few spoonfuls of your favorite wine, and sprinkle with toasted chopped almonds.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION:

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: When you were young, what did you hope would be your profession as an adult?

Mrs. Harry R. Seed: Writing used to be my ambition. I did some journalism work during my one year at the University of Washington, however physical handicaps during my youth held me back. I wanted to be a poet, but I haven't done much in this line. I do have a book of poems. Maybe, someday, I will get to work on it. I have absolutely no regrets on my marriage which nipped my girlhood ambitions.

Mrs. Henry Floyd: I always wanted to be a courthouse reporter. I went to business school in Houston with this in mind. I wanted to follow the legal work and did to some extent, in Jim Wells County but not as much as I wanted to. I guess marriage ends ambitions for a woman.

Mr. Phillip Barkley: I wanted to be an electrician. Although I am not one now, I worked at being an electrician for 20 or 25 years. Like all kids I, at one time, wanted to be an engineer but that soon wore off. I got the electrician idea pretty early and stuck with it.

Mrs. R. L. Dowell: That was a long time ago. Off hand, I can't remember what I wanted to be when I grew up. I tried school teaching to see whether I wanted to teach. I found out that teaching didn't appeal to me. I got married then, and never worked at anything else.

Mrs. J. B. France: I wanted to be a school teacher when I grew up. I enjoyed all my school days, and, after graduating from Cleburne High School, and Dallas business school, I became a stenographer instead of a teacher. I never realized my ambition. I got married and that was a brand new big profession.

Mrs. Roy L. Campbell: I had several ambitions. I wanted to go to college, be a housewife and be a nurse. Of course, I realized my ambition to become a housewife. To have been a nurse I would have had to go to college. These ambitions, I had when I graduated from Friona High School in 1946.

Mrs. A. D. Godwin: I have wanted to be a nurse ever since I can remember. I would have been dead a long time ago if I hadn't realized my ambition. I have been in this business for the past 35 years. I had one of Hereford's first hospitals in my own home. I'm not a RN but I do care for patients in my home and in other's homes.

HOMER FOX SAYS:

DID YOU KNOW...

Friday duck and goose season opened. Most every one will go to the football game Friday night at Canyon, and after we win that one, we can hunt until we pin Phillips' ears back Armistice Day.

Some old story every season, drag out the old "pot metal" and shine it all up, get a new pair of hunting boots, pants and maybe a sheep lined coat, go to the F. O. and get a Duck Stamp, buy our hunting license. Find a good lake way out in the country, get permission to hunt it, spend a couple of days digging a couple of pits, usually dig the first one too close to the water, and about the time we have it deep enough, the water starts seeping through and we have to back up higher and dig one more, and boy that old blue gumbo dirt is hard digging. We crawl out the first morning about 4 a. m., make a cup of coffee, drive by and get your pals and beat it out to the lake, leave the car about a mile or two from the lake and wag the guns, costa, shells, and decoys to your pit, and when you finally get there exhausted, you find a bunch of guys already in your pits, big guys and they all have guns and big dogs loaded.

You are sick and tired, but all you can do is give up, you go out and find a few ducks scattered on a few small lakes finally kill a fish duck or two and go home disgusted and swear you will never go duck or geese.

We've felt pretty sure our neck was gettin' longer ever since we first started stretchin' it back durin' the war years to see what the grocer had behind the counter. Then the twistlers came along to keep us watchin' the clouds overhead all summer and lately we've been reelin' it out for a last look at what goes on at the top of the new hotel. Now that we've been holding sheet-rock up with our head it has without a doubt been shoved back down to normal again.

Neighbor's been tellin' us how much horse sense a horse really has.

Our windmill has been on strike for more than a week and Dusty, the old pony seemingly developed a distaste for water from an irrigation ditch. Anyway Mrs. Fred Pittner saw him come up their driveway to a hydrant at the porch, where he had been watered once before. He nodded his head a time or two so she brought out a bucket and gave him a drink. He then nodded again as if to thank her and turned back out the drive into the road toward home.

Thinkin' of this and the many other times they have come to our rescue as good neighbors and then recallin' our past experience with a cotton sack, we get an uneasy feelin' every time we pass "Sonny" Pittner's cotton patch which seems to be cryin' for pickers right now.

Women vary as much in their ability as home makers as men do in their ability to make a livin'.

Some women need a couple of days to fix a meal for company and when it's over they go to bed to recuperate while others can milk cows, slop hogs, get the kids off to school and then cook up a real dinner for a brandin' crew or a bunch of harvest hands. Course about the only primpin' she will have to do will be to gouge the dough from under her finger nails and slip on a fresh house dress before the men come in to eat.

One old boy our sister used to feed gauged his appetite by seatin' himself three inches from the table and eatin' until he touched.

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher enters the army-navy squabble this week, his letter reveals).

Dear editor:
I ain't exactly a war veteran, makes no difference, if I am battle-scarred after years of marriage and goin' up one row and down another with here on Bootleg or tryin' to make 1810 bobwire hold together in 1949, but I was talkin' to a group of World War II veterans the other day and from what I can tell about what they said, I think I know the solution to the big Army and Navy squabble among the Generals and Admirals.

As I understand it, things ain't goin' to suit the private tastes of the Generals or the Admirals either, and they're developin' a squabble worse than a trustee fight in a one-teacher school district. Naturally, I don't know whether a B-36 airplane is any good or not, never used one out here, and likewise there ain't no air-craft carriers foolin' around out here either, but the argument over which one is best reminds me of the argument some school trustees had in a district I heard about once over whether they ought to burn wood or coal to heat the school building, one trustee bet in the wood business, another in the coal business. They nearly wrecked the school system before they compromised on burnin' wood the first half of the term, coal the second, although by the time they got things ironed out and smoothed down they installed gas and later on they consolidated a bunch of schools and the building ain't even there anymore.

However, I don't believe a compromise is what's needed in the Army-Navy squabble. My idea is that since both the army and navy is strong for military discipline and believe in 100 per cent obedience to your superior officers, and since the President is the Commander-in-Chief, I think President Truman ought to call in the squabblin' officers from both sides and tell em disension in the ranks is bad for the country and assign the leaders to K. P. every day for a week. If that doesn't clear up matters, which I generally do understand, give em close-order drill for a while or send em over the obstacle course a few times. I ain't familiar with the meaning of all these terms, but the veterans I was talkin' to claim they'll get the job done if applied often enough.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I would like for you to put my letter in your paper, if possible.

I am writing to tell Hereford business men who do not wish to serve Phillipinos to put a sign in their windows, saying, NO PHILLIPINOS ALLOWED. I am sure we won't make the mistake of going in, and being told we can't be served.

I think it is getting pretty bad when a little 3-year-old boy can't even buy ice cream because he is half Phillipino. His mother is an American and was born in Texas. She is the wife of a Phillipino. I know, I am that wife and the little boy is my son.

PIPE DREAM—The man with the pipe seems puzzled by the "Man With a Pipe," by French painter Ernest Enodo. The picture was one of a group of realist, surrealist and cubist paintings and sculpture exhibited in Paris by "Les Surindependents" whose artistic motto is "Independence and Discipline."

TIME CONQUERS—Only a miracle can save the oldest British warship adrift from destruction. HMS Implacable, only surviving ship of the Battle of Trafalgar except Nelson's flagship Victory, is scheduled to be stripped and sunk in the 90-fathom Hurd Deep, off Alderney in the Channel Islands. There are no funds to preserve the historic vessel. Above, workmen remove the bowsprit in preparation for implacable's last voyage.

DID YOU KNOW.

It lasts about a week. Then one of your hunting buddies rush up to you and yells, "Boy, I just talked to an old boy that has a lake out North West that no one knows about and the pits are already there and it has plenty of Geese on it, it's a CINCH." You decide you can't go, but your Buddy explains the setup again and what a cinch it is and it is only 93 miles out there and you can get out there before daylight next morning and be ready. You finally decide to go and more than that, what's the use waiting until morning, let's just go on out there tonight. You go out, and man it is cold, the pit is there but about half full of ice, you put out your decoys and sit in that pit until after eleven next day, and all at once you see them coming way over the hill, they light but don't decay. You sit there for hours it seems. The Geese are gradually working your way, they get closer and closer. You are almost afraid to breathe. Almost ready to start shooting, but want them a little closer. Then it happened, over the hill and out of the clear blue yonder he comes, the meanest, lowest down varmint that ever lived —he put chewing gum in little girls' hair when he was in school, he robbed all the bird's nests when he was a kid, he tied cans to all the dogs' tails, he could take a bath in Ivory suds and still be loaded with B. O., he would steal his Grandmother's false teeth, he was driving a car 60 or 70 miles an hour and headed for your lake—the Geese took off and this old boy saw you raise up from the pit and he took off. Not a shot fired by anyone, the Geese all gone, a perfect hunt ruined, a day and night wasted.

You looked at your Buddy and he was green, he had swallowed so hard and so often that his adam's apple was about two inches above his belt buckle. Your eyes were full, your heart hurt just like you had been shot, but you had to swallow it down, grown men just don't cry over things like that, but you wanted to, just sit down and cry a tub full or maybe two. Not a word is said, you gather up your things and make the long walk back to the car—hungry, tired and heart broken. You get home about 5 p. m., your wife knew you wouldn't get any Geese when you left, but she was always kind about it, this time she wouldn't even speak to you. Nice way to treat a fellow after you had been run over and practically STOMPED, then you find that in your haste the night before you had gone off with the car keys in your pocket, and you knew your wife had planned a trip that day. I don't know what happened after that, but I do know that it wasn't a week until you went again and again. If I could measure the distance with a yard stick, my guess is I have driven 20,000 miles Goose hunting and never killed but one Goose and they told me afterwards that it was some one's pet. I feel sorry for any one that gets the bug, because Goose hunting is not Sport, it is a DISEASE.

tell Carolyn when the teacher was talking. She and Jimmy Barnhart, 6-year-old first grader who lost his leg, both get into games together. "When those two get to playing, they sure get things going," Mrs. Durham said.

Parents of Tommy say that in, maybe five or six years, the polio may be all forgotten. They say she is very lucky to be coming along so fast in her recovery. A lot of children, afflicted at Tommy's age, have been rendered permanently disfigured and crippled. Doctors have told Mr. and Mrs. Robinson little but have led them to believe that Tommy will not bear any disfigurement and will, eventually, recover, completely.

Faith is Strong "It takes time, work, and faith," Mrs. Robinson said. "We have every faith in the world that Tommy will be alright." She added that everything needed for Tommy had been bought. Most important faith is Tommy's, which is so strong.

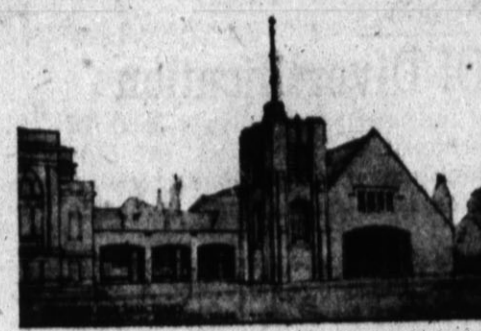

Before they ever heard of this polio, Tommy could ride a two-wheel bicycle very well. Now that one of her legs won't respond like it should, they have bought a stabilizer to put on the back wheels. This keeps the bicycle from falling over when she loses control. This is good exercise and will further her training and hasten her recovery.

With the help of her mother and father and brother, Mike, Carolyn and Jimmy and all the others she calls her friends she will recover. This is the firm belief of her mother. It is not a belief with Tommy. It is an every-day fact.

Methodist Revival Services Start Friday; Led By Amarillo Minister

Revival services will open Friday night at the First Methodist Church in Hereford, according to Rev. Don Davidson. Services will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the evenings and at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Rev. E. D. Landreth, of Amarillo, will be the preacher with Rev. Don Davidson leading the singing. Beginning Monday, November 14, there will be an early morning service for men to be held at 6:45 o'clock with breakfast served at that time. Rev. Davidson said this method of

Calves Win 14-12 Over Canyon B In Hard Fought Game

Hereford Calves nudged the Canyon Eaglets, 14-12, at Whiteface Memorial Stadium Thursday afternoon. Margin of victory went to Harold Morton who kicked the deciding two extra points. Both teams played a ragged game, fumbling numerous times. Twice the Calves drove to the 10 and once to the 20 with no scores to show for it. In the second quarter, the Calves, after taking turns booting a free ball around, ended up with possession on the Canyon one-yard line. On the third try, Slagle scored. Morton kicked the extra point. Canyon came near a half-time tie when they bruised their way to a score in the second period on a sustained land drive. Although outplaying the Calves, they trailed, 6-7, at the half. In the third quarter Randy Thomas flipped to Slagle from 15 yards out for another score. Morton kicked again, over the bar, to end the scoring for Hereford. Canyon scored on a 55-yard screen pass and run in the last period. Ratliff caught the McDonald-thrown pass and bulled his way over for six points. Hereford passing attack wilted with linework when the Calves moved into scoring territory. They were throwing the ball away more than at the receivers. The line tended to let down and was out-played by the Canyon wall. Pocahontas married John Rolfe.

Were you among the thousands who made applications for Cotton Bowl tickets?
Are you wondering if you'll be among the lucky ones to get them? And who you'll see play Jan. 27?
It's strictly guesswork on both questions. They'll hold a public drawing to see who gets the 25,000 tickets available to the general public.
But the question of contestants is one that can't be answered until the final Southwest Conference game of the season.
Rice, Baylor and Southern Methodist stand good chances to act as host club. Rice has the inside track, since it already has beaten Southern Methodist and Texas.
But who will be the visiting team? Kentucky could have been. Still might be. But a Grandstand guess

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR NOV. 6

Prophets' Teachings Were Always Based On Messianic Vision

BENEATH and above everything that the Hebrew prophets thought, said, and wrote, was their conception of God, and their faith in Him.

God was not for them an abstraction, nor even an object of worship, distinguishable from the idols their idolatrous neighbors worshipped, only because He had life and intelligence. It was the righteous and holy nature of the life of God in which their vision and their faith centered. The living God was the creator and upholder of the universe.

His laws guided the planets in their course. The heavens declared His glory, and the firmament showed His handiwork. Integrity was in the laws that governed His world.

With this conception of a holy God was that of a holy people—a people called and chosen of God, and responsive to His will and purpose.

With that conception, faith, and vision, it was inevitable that the prophets should react as they did to sin in the individual life, and to evil in the national and social life. They saw tragedy in the refusal of the people to accept God's choice and call. They spoke in denunciation and in words of solemn warning.

But their message was not all of denunciation and warning. In times of distress, when trouble had come, as in days of destruction and exile, their message was of hope and comfort. There was hope for a people repentant and seeking again the ways of truth and right that they had neglected. The prophets were spiritual physicians who were deeply concerned with prevention. But when the illness of sin assailed they were physicians of healing.

Eagles Stop Whiteface Streak 12-6

It looks like the honeymoon is over—Hereford lost to Canyon High, 12-6, Friday night.

Whiteface Quarterback Jack Stanton took the opening kickoff and came upfield with good blocking and it looked like it would be a ball game. Then Hereford fumbled on the second play from scrimmage with the Eagles recovering and from there on it was rough on the more than a thousand faithful Whiteface supporters who made the trip.

The Whiteface squad was also having it rough of course, playing perhaps the roughest, scrappiest opponent of the season. Penalties for the night reflected a clean game however, with Hereford giving up 35 yards on five infractions and Canyon losing 30 yards on four. The infraction that hurt the Eagles worst was the pass interference ruling in the fourth quarter that enabled the Whitefaces to go on for their only touchdown.

Canyon threw 16 passes, nine of them complete, and that was the story. The Hereford forward wall couldn't get to Butler on his few tosses in the first half, and although they rushed him in the second half, even throwing him for fair sized losses on a couple of occasions, he still showed some nice, cool chunking.

Had the Whiteface aerial game materialized the story could have been different. Two passes went through the arms of receivers who were either in the end zone or open for a touchdown.

Summarizing the game isn't difficult. Although Hereford led in first downs and total yards gained, they didn't have control of the ball enough during the evening to even seriously threaten to score more than once. It was Canyon's night to roll, and they had it when it counted.

The loss automatically knocked the Whiteface crew out of anything but the barest mathematical possibility of a district title. The Herd has now won one, tied one, and lost one in District I-A play.

Dalhart 34, Perryton 6

At halftime it was a good ball game. Tied, 6-6. Dalhart came back to burn a 34.6 win over the Rangers in Dalhart Friday night. Howell, Newman, Cessun, Matlock and Kelly pulled every trick in their big bag to completely baffle and crush the Rangers in the second half. Newman topped the scoring in the last quarter when he flipped to Matlock who stepped 75 yards to six points. Newman ran the extra point. Perryton completed not a single pass while trying six. Dalhart hit over 500 for the night, completing 6 out of 11. Rangers scored first, though, on a pitchout from John King to B. R. Little Dumas reared up and out-played Phillips in every department but the score. The Demons made 241 yards on the ground while Phillips was getting 205. Dumas completed seven of 19 passes for 72 yards. Phillips flipped three times, all no good. Phillips got 14 first downs to Dumas' 17. While security is necessary, sometimes in security aids in the development of a child. Parents must work together harmoniously as mature persons, showing much affection and praise for the child. All children need to be friendly and sociable and above all must feel themselves a part of the family life, both in its sorrows and its joys."

Had RHEUMATISM So BAD That He Had To Quit Working

Mr. Jerry Watkins, chief detective of the city of Hot Springs, Arkansas, suffered with rheumatism so much and the aches and pains were so terrible that he had to quit working in an effort to regain his health after he had tried everything which his friends recommended.

Detective Watkins is well known and his countless number of friends throughout the country will rejoice to know that he is now healthy, free of rheumatic aches and pains and now working hard.

Mr. Jerry Watkins

"For several years," Mr. Watkins says, "I suffered from a rheumatic condition in the hip and leg. I was very nervous and finally developed migraine headaches. I tried all kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good. I seemed to be growing worse and worse and was finally advised to take a leave of absence from my work on the police force—in an effort to recover my health."

"The pains in my head sometimes were unbearable. I suffered tortures and I was miserable. At night particularly I lay awake and could not sleep."

Mr. Watkins said that someone finally persuaded him to try HADACOL, and after taking the first bottle he said he could see an improvement in his general condition.

"On January 14th of this year," he said, "I felt so much better I decided to go back on the job. The examining doctor told me I was in perfect health. Now I am working from 8 to 12 hours daily and I am able to sleep as any normal person. I have taken six large size bottles of HADACOL and all my friends know I owe my good health to HADACOL."

Mr. Watkins is one of the many thousands of people who suffered from a deficiency of the B vitamins and the minerals that HADACOL contains and who therefore found relief in HADACOL.

It is a well-known scientific fact that the lack of only a small amount of the B vitamins and certain minerals in your system will cause certain bodily disorders such as nutritional neuritis, which causes the aches and pains commonly known as rheumatism, and there is no known cure for the ailment except the administration of the needed vitamins and minerals. This is why people who suffered for years and years never were able to obtain any relief until they took the vitamins and minerals the lack of which was causing the disorders.

HADACOL does not contain only one but has five of the B vitamins and four necessary minerals. It comes to you in liquid form so that it will be easily absorbed by the blood and, therefore, carried to the parts of the body which need them most.

So, it matters not where you live—no matter who you are—if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, you should be fair to yourself and give this wonderful preparation, HADACOL, a trial. And if your disease is caused by a lack of the B vitamins and minerals which HADACOL contains, then don't go on suffering—don't continue to make your life so miserable. Temporary relief for you is not enough. Take HADACOL.

Sold at all leading drugstores. Trial size only $1.25, but save money; buy the large family economy size, only $3.50. If your druggist does not handle HADACOL, order direct from The La Blant Corporation, Lafayette, La., and when the postman brings your package, just pay the amount plus the c.o.d. and postage. If you remit with the order we will pay the postage.

Then, if you don't feel perfectly satisfied after using HADACOL as directed, just return the empty carton and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Nothing could be fairer.—Adv.

Long Time Ago

46 Years Ago

S. H. Mount was in New Mexico developing his oil properties near Carlsbad. Mr. Mount was fully convinced he would strike oil in paying quantities at no very great depth and refused to place any of his individual property on the market.

Hereford Lumber was advertising in Brand that they wanted people who knew themselves to be in debt to them, please come in pay up.

Considerable excitement resulted over absence of Luther Rhodes, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rhodes, north of town. Seems Luther got on his horse one Sunday morning and started for Hereford and failed to return. Family and neighbors searched two days, thinking he had been thrown from his horse, but without finding him. He hadn't been found when November 11 issue of Brand of 1904 came out. (Failed to notice anything in later issues of Brand).

Board of Stewards of M. E. Church South of Hereford, published in Brand their regrets of the death of George A. Hughes. Committee was J. C. Newman, G. A. F. Parker, J. Ray and C. L. Cartwright.

Brand noted that a great many of cotton bolls were ruined by freezing weather and said that if the gin management didn't put in a cotton threshing machine it would be a clear loss to cotton farmers.

Judge G. C. Witherspoon announced he would have on sale at his office round-trip tickets up Salt River at reduced rates effective immediately. Judge did a land office business prior to departure of first ship up.

Brand mourned passing of the Western Cowboy from the plains. "It is a mark of our national development."

A 15-cent lunch was conducted by ladies of Christian Church at Ritchey Hotel.

C. S. Cardwell, stock farmer, said he gathered over a half bale of cotton on his year's crop. He said he would plant 30 bales next year.

Rev. B. H. Boundas and wife left for North Texas.

J. B. Roberson, Boom, brought a sample jug of his home-made sorghum to town. Brand said it could not be excelled by any section of Louisiana.

S. N. Garvin and daughter, Lula, visited from their ranch, west of town.

Frank Shelton, returned from a trip to his former home at Hillsboro.

L. R. Brady and family were in town.

Ladies' Home Mission Society of Methodist Church served dinner in the F. H. Brittain building on South Dewey Avenue on election day of 1904. As the ladies never do anything by halves and seldom make failures, it is hardly necessary to say that they were successful, the proceeds and attendance going far beyond all expectations. Parsonage fund got net receipts of over $50.

Clarence Marvin Womble died November 6, 1904 after 21 days of suffering. Committee from Panhandle Christian College published in Brand their feelings of respect and extended sympathy to family.

Brand item said that Rev. C. L. Cartwright would remain and preach one more sermon at the Methodist Church before leaving to attend Northwest Texas Conference at Mineral Wells. It was not known whether he would return or not.

J. D. Williams had, in his pen, a stray hog which the owner could get by paying for the advertisement and calling at his place, six miles east of town.

John B. Vannoy, optician and jeweler, was giving free engraving service on all silverware, jewelry and watches sold by him until the first of January, 1905.

Committee made up of C. L. Sullivan, H. B. Webb and George W. Clond, representing Camp 990, Woodmen of the World, published resolution mourning death of Gov. G. A. Hughes, who died November 4, 1904.

A. J. Oliver, Lizzie LeGrand, Stella Renfro and Hansford Myers were on BYPU program.

If it was fresh oysters you wanted, you should have seen Easley and Shelley, the confectioners.

Mark Goldston Weds Yuma Colorado Girl
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gaines, Yuma, Colorado, was the scene of a home wedding Sunday morning, October 23, when their daughter, Betty, became the bride of Mark Goldston, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Golston of Hereford. Rev. Kenneth Moore read the double ring ceremony, as the couple stood under an arch banked with baskets of fall flowers. A recording of the wedding march was played.

The bride wore a gray suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was attended by her sister, Phyllis, who wore an aqua dress and a white carnation corsage.

The groom wore a gray business suit and was attended by Calvin Burton.

A wedding dinner followed the ceremony. A three-tier wedding cake centered the table and was cut in the traditional manner by the young couple and served by Mrs. Francis Gorman and Mrs. Calvin Burton. Mrs. Mae Balliff had charge of the gift table and guest book.

After a short wedding trip in Denver, Canon City and Colorado Springs, the couple will make their home in Texas.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. O. Churchill of Otis, Marie Hansen and Mrs. Chester Smith and daughter of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Grove and daughter of Fort Morgan, Cleo Nelson of Garden City, Kansas, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Burton, who recently returned to Yuma from Clifton, Kansas.

Farmer Uses Combine On Grain And Cotton

Sinton, Tex. (AP)—A Sinton farmer picks cotton and harvests grain with the same machine.
Ollie Barrier made a cotton picker out of his self-propelled combine. In the spring, he'll reconvert the combine and use it for harvesting grain.
Barrier harvested his 1944 "top" cotton crop with the Massey-Harris combine. Driving in low gear he covered an acre of cotton with the four-row machine in 25 minutes.
He estimated the combine-stripper gets 90 per cent of the cotton on the stalks.
The stripping-teeth and picker roller were bolted to the front of the big machine. The cotton, after being stripped, goes through the grain harvesting cylinder. From the cylinder, two belt conveyors carry the cotton to a trailer, attached to the rear of the combine.
When Barrier finishes his cotton harvest, it will take him just two days to reconvert the machine for the grain harvesting. He will take off the stripping gear and conveyors and re-install the straw "alkers" and he'll be ready for the 1950 grain harvest.

Texans in Washington

By TEX EASLEY

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON — INS Washington (AP)—The 40,000 members of 580 Lions clubs throughout Texas are planning a year-round camp for crippled children. It will be near Kerrville on land now owned by the government.

The success of the plan, according to W. F. Mickelson of Kerrville, depends on whether the government donates 500 acres of partly-wooded ranch land adjacent to the Legion Veterans Administration hospital.

He is very optimistic. In fact, he hopes that the first of a cluster of ranch-style bunk houses will be built and echoing next summer with laughter of happy youngsters who have forgotten their physical handicaps.

Crippled boys and girls, 7 to 16 years of age inclusive, would be enrolled at the camp. There would be no charge. They would come to the camp for 90-day periods, with some remaining for one or more additional periods if their personal situation made this advisable.

Here for a week of conferences with various federal officials, Mickelson headquartered at the office of Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo. Most of his conferences were at the Federal Security Administration.

The FSA, which included the Public Health Service, was picked by the General Services Administration to handle the matter. The GSA handles disposition of surplus property, and the 500 acres in question already has been declared excess to the needs of the Veterans Administration.

The land sought from the government originally was given to the American Legion by the Schreiner family of Kerrville shortly after World War One. It eventually became the property of the YA. The present hospital there, for treatment of tuberculosis, occupies only about 300 acres of the original tract of approximately 800 acres.

The initial cost of the crippled children rehabilitation center would be about $250,000 (T), with an annual operating cost of $300,000 (T). It might be expanded in future years. Enrollment would be limited to 110 children. They would come from various parts of Texas, selected by local Lions clubs.

"The purpose of the camp," Mickelson elaborated, "is to give these unfortunate boys and girls a fresh, healthy outlook on life."

"It is all too easy for a crippled kid to get a warped slant on things. He is usually forced to follow an isolated, or abnormal sort of existence."

"If a boy or girl of this kind can get a chance to spend a few months where they can forget their afflictions, or at least self-consciousness, it may mean whether they assume a normal role in society as adults."

Occupational therapy will be available for the enrollees, as well as regular school. Physiotherapy and medical care will be available for those who have been getting it before coming to the camp, or those who want to take it up on the recommendations of their own doctors.

All buildings at the camp will have floors as near as possible to the ground, so as to avoid steps.

Horses, pony carts, and even busses will be available for treks over the 500-acre tract and the nearby Texas state park along the Guadalupe River.

The children will be selected on the basis of their personal need for such rehabilitation, regardless of the financial ability of their parents, said Mickelson.

He estimates the annual operating costs could be met with pledges averaging $600 each from 500 local clubs throughout the state. He figures that this average could be reached by large gifts from individuals of substantial means.

Higher Taxes Apparently Are Near If Texans Want Better Government

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff.

Austin, Tex., (AP)—Whether they like it or not, Texans are being lined up for the bite of new tax-levy.

Everywhere Gov. Allan Shivers is these days—and he is on the a lot and over wide territory—he iterates his views that the "broad base" tax is his idea of raising new revenue.

The governor first expressed that opinion midway of the last session of the legislature, while he was still lieutenant governor and when it appeared it might be necessary then to levy for new revenues.

Shivers was one of the key figures in senate passage of the omnibus tax bill that is on the books now. It was written in 1941 and legislature since then have resisted new tax campaigns.

Texans are now paying—directly or indirectly—about 43 different kinds of taxes in support of their state government.

It is inevitable that some now unexplored areas of revenue will be sought as sources to tap. There is already widespread talk about a state income tax, and the spectre of a sales tax is also just over the horizon. Either proposal could touch off

SEPARATED—Bob McKinley, 19, a Dale, Okla., Future Farmer, and "Herschel's Pride," his 1190-pound Hereford steer, were close pals when this picture was taken at the American Royal Livestock Show, Kansas City, Mo. arkans.

The president appointed a committee consisting of Messdames A. L. Manjeot, Lyle Blanton and O. G. Hill to work out plans for a benefit affair for the Deaf Smith County Hospital nursery fund. Members purchased Garden Club Calendars and date books placed on sale as a district project.

The flower arrangement for the day was done by Mrs. Harry Cayler who used love apples, bitterweet and oak leaves in a low pottery bowl. Mrs. Marion Rutter gave the program on "Gardening in the Shade" reviewing the book of that title by H. K. Morse. She prefaced her talk by giving interesting accounts of gardens in foreign lands and recommended a garden in the shade, not only as a pleasant place to work but as having definite rewards. Good garden soil which is loose, light and pliable, is necessary both for the shade garden and sunless windows where gardening can be done successfully if the right plants are used. Among the plants best suited to this type of gardening are: dwarf bush honeysuckle, box huckleberry, columbine, Jack in the pulpit, delphinium, day lilies and phlox. All types of fern were also worth investigating, she said.

For shady lawns, Kentucky Blue grass and Red Top mixed with wild clover was recommended.

Members present were Mrs. John Collier, a new member, Mrs. Reed Williams, a sustaining member, and Messdames Frank Gyles, Lyle Blanton, A. O. Thompson, John Jacobson, Jr., Marjion Rutter, Hardy Benson, O. G. Hill, Dennis Bernard, Phil Barkley, E. W. Harrison, Homer Brumley, F. M. Kester, Glenn Witherspoon, Jim Higgins, W. S. Fluit, Harry Cayler, A. L. Manjeot, E. Ramey, Deward Roberson, E. E. Fridley and the hostess.

It is also reasonable to assume that efforts will be made to increase taxes on state sources already taxed: the usual oil, gas and sulphur tax proposals will be made and also battled to a finish.

Not only the governor, but members of the legislature are talking the tax question in their home districts and some of them over wider areas.

Rep. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio recently wrote an editorial for the South Texas Chamber of Commerce reviewing the state spending and taxation issue. It was widely circulated as a re-print pamphlet with this paragraph emphasized after Bell had said that between $100 and $125 million in new revenue will be needed:

"How will taxes be levied to meet this deficit? In my opinion a state income tax will be proposed; also, a general sales tax, and an increase in the tax on natural resources. I had always thought that the federal government had preempted the income tax fields, but more than 31 states now have state income taxes and the number increases every year. The opportunities for further development of Texas will be impaired if excessive taxation is imposed."

Both Shivers and Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville, acting lieutenant governor, went into the spending and tax question before the Texas Manufacturers' Association in convention at Mineral Wells.

Shivers bore down on the point that the cost of state government will keep on going up as long as the state government is responsive to the requests of the people for more and better services. Morris said it would take $40 million dollars to bring the eleemosynary institutions up to a level worthy of Texas' honor. Bell's editorial carried this warning:

"We are going to have just as good and efficient a government as the voters demand, or just as wasteful and inefficient a government as our citizens tolerate."

When the legislature convenes again, it will face the tough decision of where legitimate demand for state services ends, and where wasteful and unnecessary spending begins.

Garden Club Fall Programs Present Timely Sessions

Hereford Garden Club met with Mrs. S. S. Dodson Friday afternoon with Mrs. W. S. Fluit, president, presiding. Mrs. Fluit expressed regret that the meeting date conflicted with the United Council of Churches meet and all members, absent to attend that meeting, were excused. Announcement of the following meetings were made: Judging School, course no. 1, November 7 and 8 at Trinity Methodist Church, Amarillo. Judging School No. 5, November 30-December 2, at Tyler. ### Quarter Inch Beetle Manages To Rob U. S. Of 400,000 Houses In Ten Years

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
Washington, (AP)—Ten years ago a tiny creature took advantage of a great opportunity—and it cost the American people upwards of $200,000,000 (M).

It destroyed most of the trees on one of the nation's most beautiful national forests and many trees on five other forests—one of the greatest forest disasters of all times.

This creature was a hard-shelled beetle, one-quarter inch long, called the Engelmann spruce beetle.

It found its perfect opportunity in Colorado, among the stately spruce trees of White River National Forest, where the rugged backbone of the Rocky Mountains juts two miles above sea level.

In June 1939 winds strong enough to blow down hundreds of White River's spruces swept the forest.

There were a few beetles in the forest, good food for the woodpeckers that kept them in check. But this downed timber of Engelmann spruce was just what the beetles needed. They thrive and breed in recently downed trees. Then they attack and kill living trees.

Forest service officials estimate the worst of the damaged spruce forests covered 5,000 square miles. Less damage extends all the way into Utah, several hundred miles away.

The beetles multiplied, then suddenly exploded into vast hordes. They consumed all the material they like, in the downed timber, by 1942. Then they invaded the standing spruce.

The infestation wasn't discovered until 1943. Forest experts say that by then the number of damaged trees was so great it was impossible to attempt to destroy the beetles by burning the dead trees or using insecticides.

The beetle spread to parts of the Grand Mesa, Routt, Arapaho, Uncompahgre, San Juan and Dixie national forests.

Virtually all spruce trees in the White River forest north of the Colorado River have been killed. The beetles have exhausted their supply of materials in this area.

Some outbreaks in other areas started to decline in 1946, but the beetle bug still is hunting new timber stands. The forest service is logging the infested trees and burning infected slabs.

But the experts estimate: The tiny beetle has killed trees containing at least 4,000,000,000 (b) board feet of lumber—enough to build 400,000 five-room frame houses.

An additional 17,000,000,000 (b) board feet are damaged, or the trees are doomed, in Colorado and on the eastern slope of Wyoming.

The standing trees that already have been killed were worth $8,000,000 (M).

The dead timber would have produced $200,000,000 (M) worth of products.

About 46 out of every 100 useful trees in Colorado and the eastern mountain region of Wyoming are spruce. Three-fourths of the spruce are dead or dying or doomed.

The beetle in six years caused 16 times more damage than did forest fires in the whole Rocky Mountain region in 30 years.

About 100,000,000 (M) board feet of the killed timber has been salvaged. The forest service considers only about one-half of the 4,000,000,000 (b) board feet of dead timber to be recoverable. It has interested businessmen in attempting to use the down timber for paper pulp.

Thousands of people used this area for hunting, fishing and sightseeing. It will be at least a generation before the scars heal and this primeval region regains its splendor. But it may never fully regain this beauty.

"Such losses can't be estimated in dollars," one official said.

Leonardo da Vinci, the artist, invented the wheelbarrow. A town must have a population of 12,000 before it can be a city.

It Pays To Know Your Range Grasses According To Menard County Rancher

COLLEGE STATION — Range management means something to Mr. Kirby McWilliams, Menard county ranchman, and his interest came as a result of his son's 4-H club work. The son, M. D., for several years has made an outstanding record with his 4-H livestock and lately he has developed into a top judge of grass. Together, according to Menard county agent R. E. Nolan, they have put into practice what they learned.

"Until my son got me to thinking about the different grasses, I thought grass was grass," says McWilliams. "He convinced me that the rating of grasses into good, fair and poor classifications really means something. Together we looked over our range and concluded that there were not very many of the good grasses present. Then we asked ourselves the question: 'Why don't we have more of the good grasses on the range?' and we figured I had been overstocking and some of the range needed a rest."

McWilliams recently gave county agent Nolan the figures covering the results of the deferred grazing demonstration and it paid off. One 640-acre pasture was grazed continuously from June to October in 1947, and was then stocked with 30 head of cattle and 225 yearling sheep. The sheep were sold in June, 1948 and their average weight was 74 pounds per head.

This same pasture was rested from June 1948 to October 1948 and beginning in October the same number of cattle and yearling sheep were grazed as in the previous year. In June 1949, the sheep were sold and their average weight was 87 pounds per head.

Here are the pay-off figures. McWilliams reported to county agent Nolan that he actually produced 2,925 more pounds of mutton from this 640-acre pasture by deferring it for a 5 month period during the growing season than he did when it was grazed continuously. He also noticed that the yearlings sheared about one more pound of wool per head in 1949 than in 1948.

According to Nolan, rancher McWilliams is thoroughly convinced that the total pounds of mutton and wool produced is more important than the number of head grazed on a given area. He is planning to build cross fences so that he can practice deferred grazing on more of his pastures.
