Book donated to local libraries

AZTX Cattle Co. and the Texas Cattle Feeders Association Thursday donated copies of "The Finishing Touch," a history of the cattle feeding industry, to all local libraries and the Senior Citizen Center. Charles Ball, author and retired executive director of TCFA, made brief remarks and autographed the two copies for each library. Ball noted that Hereford is the "heart of the cattle feeding industry in the Southwest. John and Barry Josserand, representing AZTX, are shown with school and county librarians.

Group sets up high school tip hotline

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

A citizens' group formed to work toward solution of youth problems in Hereford has a name, a hotline and a new mission following a meeting Thursday.

More than 60 people gathered at Hereford Junior High School to continue work on eliminating gang and related problems among local youth.

The session was a continuation of work begun at a similar meeting held last month.

Joe Hernandez, a local minister who served as "vision protector" for the first phase of the group's work, said a hotline has been established at Hereford High School to take information about youth-related incidences.

The number, 363-7975, will be answered 24 hours a day for 90 days, at which time organizers will re-evaluate to determine if it should become a part-time program.

A flier will be created in the near future to explain the hotline to parents and students, including the Do's and Don't's of the system.

"It looks real good because we accomplished what we set out to do, but I need to let you know there were a lot of people involved," Hernandez said.

While work on the hotline was going on, Hernandez said, committee members realized there was a need to have a name and logo, "so that we could be identified in the community."

A contest was held among local youth to design the logo and develop the name.

Omar Griego, 12, a student at West Central Intermediate School, submitted the winning logo and drawing.

Three finalists were selected, then participants "voted" for the entries by donating money to the committee to defray costs of operating the hotline.

Griego's entry netted more than $70 in donations, while the second place entry, by Cheryl Herrin, 9, of St. Anthony's School, garnered more than $50 in donations. The third finalist was Christie Schumacher, a student at Nazarene Christian Academy.

Total donations in the "voting" was more than $130.

The group's name will be "Dream Force," with a slogan of "Overcomes Substance Abuse."

Junior high principal Marilyn Leasure reported that the group will soon open a bank account to accept donations, which will be required to pay the $162 per month phone bill on the hotline.

She said the junior high is holding a "legs contest" to raise money, with a similar contest to be held later at the high school.

In addition, group members have contacted local civic clubs and churches to make donations.

The group's second activity will be to try to develop some activities for local youth, members decided Thursday.

Delia Griego was named "vision protector" for the project, which includes putting together a movie night for youth, setting up a street dance and finding a place where young people can gather to talk.

Hernandez exhorted the audience to stay active in the organization, saying, "When stepping out for our kids, we better not go away, but we've got to talk the talk and walk the walk. But more importantly, we've got to walk the talk."

The people of Hereford, he said, "started a vision here in Hereford.... If we're not moving fast enough, then by golly you get off your blessed assurance and get moving."

The group will meet again at 7 p.m. April 29 to report on establishment of youth activities here.

Lawmakers getting leery of lobbyists

By ARLENE LEVINSON
Associated Press Writer

Wisconsin lawmakers, stung a few years ago by Bean Soup-gate, shun even a sip of soda if a lobbyist paid for it.

Washington state legislators, who used to lay out fancy spreads for visiting officials with money from lobbyists, now serve black coffee and apples at taxpayer expense.

Breaking up may be hard to do, but the public's demand for more rectitude in government is cooling cozy relations between state legislators and lobbyists across the land.

States are tightening rules about registering lobbyists, how much they can spend making their case and how closely they can rub shoulders.

In Wisconsin, where it's a crime for state lawmakers to accept anything of value from a lobbyist, three lawmakers were fined $100 each for accepting a $33.10 meal of bean soup from a railroad union lobbyist.

Now Assembly Majority Leader David Travis says some of his peers won't accept a soda at district meetings for fear their hosts hired a lobbyist. "This is the only state in the union where the legislators buy drinks for the lobbyists," he said.

Lobbyists used to give Washington state lawmakers money to lay out cocktails and chi-chi canapes for corporate execs, foreign officials and even journalists. Voters put an end to that in a referendum last November.

States also are curbing political donations from lobbyists during legislative sessions, a step Arizona took this year after the 1991 AzScam scandal stung snared lawmakers and lobbyists with bribes offered in trade for fictitious gambling legislation.

Some lobbyists are taking the initiative.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce this year joined the AFL-CIO and the Illinois Manufacturers Association in a 3-year-old boycott of legislative fundraisers held April through June - key months of the legislative session. They object to being asked for donations from people they're trying to influence.

Latest trends also find states moving to slow the revolving door of officeholders who later become lobbyists. They set a hiatus like Alaska's new one-year wait for ex-lawmakers planning to return to Juneau as paid lobbyists.

Reporting is more diligent.

Now it can be told in New Jersey - and it was, under new, more detailed disclosure laws - that a lobbyist firm sent three lawmakers on a junket to Bermuda.

And 24 Florida lawmakers were charged in 1991 for failing to disclose free gifts and trips to places like Mexico and Europe. Most pleaded ignorance of wrongdoing.

State Rep. Sam Mitchell insisted his constituents weren't bothered. "They expect me to hunt and fish. If I didn't hunt and fish, I'd have never gotten elected."

Maybe so, in the past.

"There's been a raising of standards ... to become more moral," said Alan Rosenthal, director of the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University who is on leave at Harvard. His book, "The Third House: Lobbyists and Lobbying in the States" was published this year.

"You've got less of that socializing and entertaining going on." It not only looks better, he said. "It probably is better."

Lobbyists come in all sorts, of course, from corporate representatives on expense accounts to social activists with little money to spend.

Richard Kimberly, president of the American League of Lobbyists, endorses safeguards like disclosure but warns against chilling extremes. With so many bills and issues to reckon with, lobbyists can help lawmakers by providing information, he said.

"There's no panacea out there," said Ellen Miller, executive director of the Center for Responsive Politics, a non-partisan research organization in Washington. "No one wants to take away the power to lobby. It's part of our Constitution."

Officials agree on district judge plan

By PAULINE ARRILLAGA
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' top leaders have reached an agreement that officials say would settle a lawsuit over how district court judges are elected.

Attorney General Dan Morales presented the proposal to Gov. Ann Richards and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who on Thursday signed on in support of the measure, their respective offices reported.

House Speaker Pete Laney also signed the proposal, said Laney's spokeswoman, Janet Warren. Ms. Warren said only Secretary of State John Hannah needed to sign the plan for it to be complete.

Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Morales, said the League of United Latin American Citizens, the plaintiffs in the case against the state, had also participated in the agreement. However, he would not say whether LULAC had agreed to any specific proposal.

Attorneys for LULAC could not immediately be reached by The Associated Press.

The case involves a three-year battle over state district court elections. The latest action came in January, when a federal appeals court ruled that judicial elections in eight urban counties discriminate against black and Hispanic voters.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, on a ruling sent back to them by the U.S. Supreme Court, gave Texas officials 100 days to develop a new plan.

Earlier this month, Morales presented a proposal to the Legislature to elect district judges from single-member districts within counties of 100,000 population or more. The plan also included reform of campaign financing for those elections.

Dusek would not say whether the latest agreement was based on that plan.

"I can't get into the details of the proposal, but it is a settlement that involves the Legislature and the courts," he said.

Ms. Warren, who also would not release details on the proposal, said the measure would not go into effect until it passes both the House and the Senate.

Sen. Rodney Ellis, D-Houston, has filed an election reform bill that is also based on single-member districts. A spokesman for Ellis said the senator supports this latest agreement.

"I assume that (Morales' plan) will be the basis for a settlement," said Mark Strama.

Investigation continues in case of abandoned baby

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's officials are continuing to investigate last week's dumping of a newborn baby in a trash pit north of town.

Sheriff Joe Brown said investigators are pursuing numerous tips in the case, but have not broken the case.

The child was found March 18 in an incineration pit at Hutto Veterinary Hospital north of town.

She was estimated to be about two hours old at the time she was discovered by hospital employees Josue Barrientez and Albert Cantu as they took trash to the pit.

Temporary custody of the child has been given to the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services pending a formal hearing set for 4:30 p.m. April 1 in 222nd District Court here.

"Every information we get, no matter how frivolous it sounds, we're following up on it," sheriff's department spokeswoman Sharon Pennington said this morning.

She said the department is still getting quite a few phone calls from people having information for the case.

Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers is offering a reward for information in the case.

Anyone with information about the baby may call Crimestoppers at 364-2583, or the sheriff's department at 364-2311.

FTC investigating diet commercials

By JAMES ROWLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some of the nation's most popular commercial diet plans are being investigated by the Federal Trade Commission for possible violations of deceptive advertising laws.

Diet Center Inc., Jenny Craig Inc., Nutri-System Inc., Physicians Weight Loss Center of American Inc. and Weight Watchers International Inc. are among more than a dozen diet companies the FTC is investigating, the agency said Thursday.

The disclosure came in a letter the FTC sent to the five companies rejecting their petitions that the agency abandon its case-by-case review of possibly deceptive advertising practices and draft industry-wide standards.

The FTC's letter also revealed that the agency had reached tentative settlements with three companies that use very low-calorie diets, settling complaints that they had made unsubstantiated and misleading advertising claims.

"The commission has not determined whether to issue complaints charging any of the petitioners with violations of the FTC Act," the agency's letter said. But the FTC also disclosed that its attorneys had discussed possible settlements of the complaints with the companies.

The FTC said it was conducting "more than a dozen non-public investigations of weight-loss programs."

Among the sales pitches being investigated for the diet plans were claims that dieters who completed a particular program would remain at a lower weight for a long period of time, the FTC said. The agency has sought documentation for those advertising claims.

Weight Watchers International issued a statement confirming that "a few of its ads which appeared between 1988 and 1990" had been the subject of an FTC review for three years.

"Weight Watchers is confident that its advertising has been fully substantiated. The FTC investigation does not involve the health and safety of the Weight Watchers program," the company said in a statement issued by its headquarters in Jericho, N.Y.

The tentative settlements were reached with Health Management Resources Corp., United Weight Control Corp. and Abbott Laboratories.

The three proposed consent decrees, in which the companies do not admit any legal violations, were being put out for public comment, the FTC said.

The three companies were accused of misleading consumers by failing to disclose that doctors are required to monitor very low-calorie diets to minimize any health risks. The consent decree would require any claim that the diets are safe be accompanied by a statement that doctors must monitor the diets.

They would also be required to disclose the average percentage weight loss and its average duration to accompany claims that dieters have maintained a lower weight.

In rejecting the five companies' petition for a rule-making proceeding, the FTC noted that it has taken action against deceptive weight-loss advertising in some 90 cases since 1927. The case-by-case "approach has yielded considerable guidance to the diet industry" by establishing precedents, the FTC said.

Democrats divided on plan for jobs-economic stimulus

By ALAN FRAM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrats are showing less unity behind President Clinton's $16.3 billion job-creation and economic stimulus package than they did in rushing his deficit-reduction plan through the Senate.

Conservative Democrats hoping to delay some of the jobs measure's spending were pitted today against party leaders loyal to the president. Although the Senate still seemed likely to approve a largely intact version of the measure next week, little progress was made Thursday.

As work on the measure slowed to a crawl, the bill's chief sponsor, Sen. Robert Byrd, vowed to hold firm.

"I am defending this president's program," the West Virginia Democrat said. "The president's package is an insurance package. That's insurance against a triple dip in this recession."

With opposition Republicans saying little, conservative Democrats warned that they should not be ignored.

"It's wrong from a political point of view to try to ram something through without considering the political concerns of others, and think you're improving your chances of getting something through later," said Sen. David Boren, D-Okla.

In contrast, Democrats displayed near-unanimity earlier Thursday as the Senate voted 54-45 to approve the outlines of Clinton's half-trillion dollar plan to shrink budget deficits and encourage long-term economic growth.

The House approved a similar measure a week ago, and bargainers from the two chambers hope to complete a compromise version next week.

"This is really a historic moment," Clinton said in a congratulatory telephone call to Senate leaders. "Finally we've done something to break the gridlock and to bring the deficit down and to create new jobs through investment."

Conservative Sen. Richard Shelby of Alabama and Sen. Bob Krueger of Texas, who faces a special election next month, were the only two Democrats to break with their party. No Republicans broke ranks, and Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, did not vote.

The measure mapped out enough tax increases and spending cuts to pare $502 billion from federal deficits over the next five years.

Higher levies would hit the rich, corporations, energy and higher-income Social Security recipients. Defense, Medicare reimbursements to hospitals and other benefit programs would be trimmed.

At the same time, the plan envisions showering research laboratories, water purification plants and scores of other projects with more than $100 billion Clinton says will make the economy more robust in the future.

The budget measure is only a guide for the actual spending and tax changes that will be enacted in later legislation. Outnumbered Republicans who lost one effort after another to unravel the package's tax increases and defense cuts promised to try even harder when the bills are written.

"We think we have a better approach, and we'll continue to pursue that and take it to the American people," said Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, ranking Republican on the Senate Budget Committee.

Though far smaller in scope, the $16.3 billion jobs measure was proving nettlesome because of conservatives' fears that the public would see it as yet another boatload of red ink.

To allay some of that concern, Democrats and Republicans united on a voice vote to forbid any of its money from going to produce fish atlases, whitewater canoeing facilities and several other ridiculed projects the administration had sought initially.

That still left a massive bill that the administration claimed would create the equivalent of more than 200,000 fulltime jobs this year and more later.

Among other things, it would inject $2.6 billion into small-business loans, $2.5 billion into local public works projects and $1 billion to summer jobs for teen-agers.

Grant money to pay repair on lake roads

WASHINGTON D.C. - The National Park Service will receive $3.5 million in federal highway funds to rehabilitate some of the worst roads surrounding Lake Meredith National Recreation Area and Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument near Fritch, according to an announcement by U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

The funds are provided by the Federal Highway Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

"I'm excited about the rehabilitation of roads and recreational facilities at Lake Meredith," Gramm said. "The Panhandle is already a major tourism spot in general, and these infrastructure improvements will generate needed economic activity for the entire area."

Under the grant, the National Park Service will repave several roads near Fritch Fortness, change and expand the parking lot at the amphitheater and develop a "loop road" to enhance the view from the top of the canyon.

Gramm also said a wheelchair accessible fishing pier will be installed at Stilling Basin and roads will be repaved near the swimming and beach area.

Roads also will be rehabilitated at Cedar Canyon and Blue West.

Lake Meredith National Recreation Area has averaged 1.4 million visitors annually since its inception in 1963.

Visitors and activities at the recreation area add $70 million to $80 million a year to the Panhandle economy.

A final adult Bible study on the Passion of Jesus in Mark's gospel will be offered at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 6. Deacon Emilio Fuentes and Father Darryl Birkenfeld will offer the study in Spanish and English.

That's difficult to say because you are as different as your substantial number would imply! You are one of the 4,100 households we're invited to every evening. That's quite a few. According to the most recent census, our township has slightly less than 5000 households.

Your vocation is part of a broad spectrum as well -- white collar, blue collar, owners, managers, cowboys, teachers, housewives, students and professional.

Yet, with all your individual complexities, your interest in local issues and news gives you and other readers a common bond which is separated only by your level of curiosity.

You are an informed, intelligent and often vocal audience, and we're happy to be a part of your household every evening!

Indiana gets rematch with Kansas; 'Noles, 'Cats win

By The Associated Press

Indiana and Kansas are going to play it again, this time with a Final Four berth at stake.

Kansas defeated Indiana 74-69 in the Hoosier Dome on Dec. 5. The rematch will take place Saturday in the Midwest Regional final at St. Louis, where the top-seeded Hoosiers (31-3) and second-seeded Jayhawks (28-6) advanced with easy victories Thursday night.

After Kansas beat California 93-76, Jayhawks coach Roy Williams was asked about the rematch with Indiana.

"That (first) game seems like about seven years ago," Williams said. "I'm going to enjoy this until about noon tomorrow, and then we'll start thinking about it."

Louisville coach Denny Crum was thinking about Calbert Cheaney after the Indiana star scored 32 points in an 82-69 win over the Cardinals in the other Midwest semifinal.

Nine of Cheaney's points came during an 11-3 second-half run that broke the game open.

"The big difference was Calbert Cheaney," Crum said. "We held our own with everyone else but Cheaney. We got it down to three and then he took the game over. That's what great players do when the game is on the line. He didn't miss a shot when it counted."

Top-seeded Kentucky (29-3) and third-seeded Florida State (25-9) advanced to the Southeast Regional final in Charlotte, N.C., although they took different routes.

Travis Ford scored 26 points, Jamal Mashburn had his 23 in the first half, and Kentucky routed Wake Forest 103-69. In the other Southeast semifinal, Florida State struggled to beat Western Kentucky 81-78 in overtime.

Although they committed 19 turnovers and missed 20 of 38 free throws, the Seminoles reached the final eight for the first time since 1972.

"To be successful in this tournament, you need some type of luck. And we got some tonight," said guard Sam Cassell.

Kentucky continued to breeze through the tournament with a deadly 3-point attack. The Wildcats, who beat Rider by 44 in the opening round and Utah by 21 in the second round, made 16 of 24 from long-range against Wake.

"We have absolutely no fear of failure," Kentucky coach Rick Pitino said. "We're very relaxed on offense and we're very intense on defense."

The semifinals of the East and West regionals will be held tonight.

At East Rutherford, N.J., Virginia (21-9) plays Cincinnati (26-4) and North Carolina (30-4) meets Arkansas (22-8). At Seattle, Michigan (28-4) plays George Washington (21-8) and Vanderbilt (28-5) faces Temple (19-12).

Hereford 'B' JV burns Borger

Hereford's junior varsity B baseball team whipped the Borger freshmen 12-3 Thursday in Borger.

Armando Zambrano pitched a no-hitter for Hereford, though he walked nine batters--five in one inning helped Borger's three runs score. Zambrano struck out 11.

Hereford exploded for 14 hits. Jeremy Brock, Isaac Moreno and Fonzie Rodriguez each had doubles in the game, and Wade Backus scored three runs.

Hereford's entire JV squad will go to Friona Saturday for a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m. They'll play against Friona's varsity, which is coached by Curtis Cotten, a graduate of and former assistant coach at Hereford High School.

Tech women get past USC

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) - Sheryl Swoopes and Krista Kirkland combined for 59 points as Texas Tech routed Southern California 87-67 Thursday night in a women's NCAA West Regional tournament semifinal.

Tech advanced to Saturday night's regional final.

USC (22-7) controlled the opening tip and Kim Gessig hit a 15-footer just 13 seconds into the game. But it was another five minutes before the Women of Troy scored again.

In the meantime, Texas Tech (28-3) went on a 16-0 run.

The Lady Raiders built a 40-20 lead before USC's Joni Easterly hit a basket with 10 seconds left in the half.

USC put together a 10-0 run to pull to within 48-40 when Tracy Atwater hit a 3-pointer with 13:30 left to play.

But Texas Tech called a time out, stifled USC's transition game and answered with a 12-0 run that included 6 of Swoopes's 33 points.

Southern Cal fought back to get within 73-64 with under three minutes to play but then was forced to foul and Texas Tech made 12 of 13 free throws in the final 1:31.

Kirkland finished with 26 points for Tech, while Noel Johnson had 11 and Michi Atkins 10.

USC's Lisa Leslie scored 15 points before fouling out, while Nicki McCrimmon had 14 and Gessig added 11.

Vandy women hold off SFA

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP) - Old perceptions of the Vanderbilt women's basketball team no longer apply.

The Commodores (29-2) faced a dazzling array of defenses thrown up by aggressive Stephen F. Austin Thursday night and still came away with a 59-56 victory in the semifinals of the women's NCAA Midwest Regional basketball tournament.

"Vanderbilt's reputation used to be if you hit them they will disappear, but that's a thing of the past," Vanderbilt coach Jim Foster said. "If you're not familiar with our conference, the Southeastern Conference is very physical."

Because the Commodores were able to stare down the Ladyjacks' (28-5) best defensive efforts, they will meet Louisiana Tech in Saturday's regional final for a chance to advance to the Final Four.

Louisiana Tech (26-5) took advantage of Southwest Missouri's regional record low 30.6 shooting percentage and rolled to a 59-43 victory in the other semifinals game.

For awhile, it looked as if Ladyjack coach Gary Blair would pull off an upset against the favored Commodores. The Ladyjacks used a variety of full court presses the entire game and trailed 52-50 with 1:44 to play.

But the Commodores had faced pressure defenses before and coolly scored 10 of their final 13 points from the free throw line.

"They won ugly tonight but I think we helped them be more polished for Saturday," Blair said. "You can't roll through this thing with 20-point victories. You have to win ugly sometime."

Shelley Jarrard and Julie Powell led the Commodores with 12 points each and 6-10 Heidi Gillingham added 11 points.

Trenia Tillis led S.F. Austin with 18 points, 13 in the first half.

Louisiana Tech, a two-time national champion, increased its NCAA tournament record to 33-8. Danielle Whitehurst scored 22 points to lead the Lady Techster.

Knicks continue tumble vs. Jazz

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks started a four-game road trip on a roll. In six quarters following one of the worst NBA brawls in recent years, the only direction they're rolling is backward.

The Utah Jazz, who lost 11 of 15 games after playing host to the All-Star game, showed signs of righting themselves by beating the Knicks 104-87 Thursday night.

It was the second straight loss after nine consecutive victories for New York. The Knicks lost 121-92 on Tuesday night at Phoenix in the game marred by an ugly brawl at the end of the first half.

"We have just got to get back to playing basketball," said Patrick Ewing, who scored 27 points, but missed 13 of 24 shots.

Guards Doc Rivers and Greg Anthony were suspended for their part in the Phoenix fracas and didn't play against the Jazz.

New York's depth problem was alleviated somewhat by the return of Rolando Blackman, activated from the injured list just hours before the game.

"We are going to have to make an adjustment," said John Starks, who scored 16 points for New York. "We have to put this one behind us and get ready for (the Lakers tonight at Los Angeles)."

Karl Malone had 20 points and 10 rebounds and John Stockton 19 points and 10 assists for the Jazz, who led by 16 points in the third quarter before New York got as close as five in the final period.

Pacers 120, SuperSonics 117
Indiana, which started the week with a nine-game losing streak on the road, followed up Sunday's victory at Phoenix and loss at Utah with a win at Seattle.

Pooh Richardson scored a season-high 30 points on 13-for-16 shooting, leading the Pacers' 65.2 percent shooting, second-highest in franchise history.

Eddie Johnson scored 29 points and Gary Payton 24 for Seattle.

Trail Blazers 113, Kings 111, OT
Portland, trailing by four points with 21 seconds left in regulation, forced overtime, then won at Sacramento on Cliff Robinson's short bank shot with 2.5 seconds left.

Anthony Bonner converted two free throws with 18 seconds left in overtime for the Kings, tying the score before the Blazers got the ball to Robinson, who finished with 26 points.

Walt Williams scored 35 points for Sacramento, 0-10 against Portland since a 97-93 victory on Feb. 6, 1991. Rod Strickland finished with 23 points for the Blazers.

Nuggets 99, Warriors 88
Dikembe Mutombo had 21 points, 16 rebounds and 10 blocked shots, lifting Denver.

The Nuggets, who won for just the second time in five home games since a 13-1 streak at McNichols Arena, led 69-67 when coach Dan Issel was ejected with two technical fouls for arguing a foul call against Mutombo in the third period.

Latrell Sprewell and Victor Alexander each made two free throws after the technicals, giving the Warriors a 71-69 lead. Denver then scored six of the next eight points, taking the lead for good at 75-73 on Chris Jackson's 18-footer with 3:15 remaining in the quarter.

Hawks 106, Rockets 96
Atlanta extended its home winning streak to seven behind Dominique Wilkins' 38 points.

Mookie Blaylock had 22 points, including four 3-pointers, and 10 assists for the Hawks, who have won nine of 10 games overall.

Hakeem Olajuwon led the Rockets, losers for the third time in four games after 15 consecutive victories, with 22 points and 12 rebounds.

Karros, Listach perform well

By The Associated Press

Shhh? Don't mention the sophomore jinx around Eric Karros and Pat Listach.

The top rookies of 1992 had impressive games Thursday in spring training.

Karros, the NL Rookie of the Year for the Dodgers, is a right-handed-hitting first baseman with power. He led the Dodgers with 20 homers and 88 RBIs last season.

Against Houston in a 3-2 loss Thursday, Karros had his fourth home run of the spring.

"That is something that's going to be talked about," Karros said of the jinx. "Hopefully, I won't give anyone reason to talk about it."

"There will be some point in the season when I'm not doing well. It happens every season, but at the end of the year I'm going to have my numbers."

Listach, the AL Rookie of the Year, tripled home two runs to cap a four-run second inning as Milwaukee beat Seattle 4-1.

That game also was highlighted by the work of Ted Higuera. Coming back from an arm injury, Higuera ran his spring training record to 3-0, striking out two and allowing only a third-inning single.

Florida Marlins pitcher Scott Chiamparino could miss the season, the team said. The former Texas Ranger will undergo elbow surgery to replace a bone spur. Chiamparino injured his elbow in February, but was expected to miss only a month or so. He had been looked at as the Marlins' fourth starter.

A first-string pitcher, Bret Saberhagen of the Mets, signed a three-year contract extension

Thursday night, guaranteeing him $15.38 million.

"I think the front office is committed to building a championship team, and I want to be a part of that," Saberhagen said after the signing was announced at Port St. Lucie, Fla. "I wanted to get this done before the season started so I can concentrate on baseball."

Saberhagen, a two-time Cy Young Award winner, also has an option for a fourth year for at least $5 million.

"I'm thrilled to have been able to finalize Bret's contract before the start of the season," Mets general manager Al Harazin said.

The Mets gave Saberhagen a $2.5 million signing bonus, $3.05 million for 1994, $4.05 million for 1995 and $4.3 million for 1996.

Incentives based on innings pitched before 1997 could push the final-year figure to as much as $5.5 million.

Also included in the package are deferred payments worth about $1.4 million.

Saberhagen, plagued by an inflamed index finger last year, was 3-5 for New York with a 3.05 ERA in 17 games. He came to the Mets before last season from Kansas City for infielders Keith Miller, Gregg Jefferies and outfielder Kevin McReynolds.

"I was disappointed when I was traded by Kansas City," he said. "But when I got to New York, I really liked it."

Saberhagen, who won the Cy Young in 1985 and 1989, was 110-78 with a 3.21 ERA in eight seasons with the Royals.

"I consider him one of the premier pitchers in the game of baseball today," Harazin said.

49ers enter battle for White

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Where will the Eagle land?

The future of Philadelphia's perennial All-Pro defensive end, Reggie White, dominated the NFL meetings at Palm Desert, Calif. Washington, the New York Jets, Green Bay and Cleveland have made the most serious bids. On Wednesday, San Francisco jumped into the race.

"San Francisco looks very attractive," said White, who accepted an award in Philadelphia Thursday night.

White's agent, Jimmy Sexton, has begun discussions with 49ers owner Edward DeBartolo Jr. and president Carmen Policy after the 49ers declined to match Atlanta's offer for Pierce Holt.

But the 49ers may not be able to offer enough gold for White.

Under an NFL rule that limits the amount of money teams in the conference championship games can offer, the 49ers would only be able to pay White about $14.6 million over four years, about $1.4 million less than what the others are prepared to spend.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

For those who enjoy fishing, it requires a liberal dose of March Madness to brave the unpredictable snowstorms and gusty cold fronts while trying to enjoy a successful fishing trip. Logically we should wait until May or June when the weather calms down and the icy blasts become mere cool snaps.

Albert Hartman--He was guilty of a little March Madness last year, when he caught a huge 12-pound hybrid striped at Lake MacKenzie near Silverton. His secret bait was a Super Shad by Renowsky. March is not a time for catching lots of fish, but if your goal is catching a trophy fish, now is the best time of the year because some of the biggest fish in the lake are in the shallows.

Catch and release--While not a factor in fishing for the sterile hybrid striped, will decide the quality of largemouth and smallmouth bass fishing on our lakes.

Layer up, layer down--Experienced anglers in this part of the world dress in layers of lighter-weight clothing instead of a single parka-like outfit. As the morning chill gives way to midday warmth, you can shed a layer or two, thereby maintaining your ideal comfort level. This layering process is reversed during the afternoon cool down.

Looking for an exceptional gift idea? The one indispensable item of clothing during any season is a good rainsuit. Comfort in the great outdoors disappears any time you are soaked. For quality in rain suits, look for the Gore-Tex label. A Gore-Tex jacket will cost about $100 and will protect against the rain while allowing perspiration to escape. Get one that is big enough to allow a couple of extra layers of clothing on those cold winter days. The 10-X Company has several styles of excellent rain gear. My favorite has a built-in hood because it offers the best protection against the drips that plague other styles.

New Hooks--The creative people at PRADCO (the Heddon, Bomber, Rebel and Riverside lures) have developed a terrific new treble hook called Excalibur. The most common problem when using crankbaits is having fish pull loose. Joe Hughes of PRADCO claims that Excalibur solves this problem by giving "the treble hook a rotating action so that when the first point makes contact with a fish, the hook turns (counter-clockwise), embedding at least one of the other points." The more a fish turns, twists and otherwise resists, the more these hooks turn to secure your lure to the fish. Available now at either K-Mart or Wal-Mart, these fish-catching devices cost about fifty cents each.

Mel Phillips is an award-winning member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association. He is an avid hunter, tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening talk show on KGNC TalkRadio 71.

seconds left in overtime. But a high-arching 3-point attempt by Cypheus Bunton bounced off the rim twice before falling away. Darnell Mee scored 21 points for Western Kentucky (26-6). Rodney Dobard, playing five days after breaking the big toe on his left foot, had 16 points, 13 rebounds and four blocks for Florida State.

Kentucky 103, Wake Forest 69

The anticipated showdown between Mashburn and Wake Forest's Rodney Rogers was as one-sided as the game. Mashburn hit all five of his 3-pointers, while Rogers was held to 14 points after getting into early foul trouble. Ford hit 10 of 11 shots from the field, including five 3-pointers. Randolph Childress led Wake Forest (21-9) with 18 points.

MIDWEST

Indiana 82, Louisville 69

Indiana wore down Louisville with its motion offense and tenacious defense. Cheaney, the Big Ten's career scoring leader, made 10 of 12 shots from the field and grabbed eight rebounds, while Greg Graham was 7 for 11 from the field and finished with 22 points. Clifford Rozier led Louisville (22-9) with 16 points.

Kansas 93, California 76

Hot-shooting Rex Walters outplayed freshman sensation Jason Kidd and helped Kansas end California's golden run through the tournament. Walters scored 24 points, including 4 for 5 from 3-point range. California (21-9) won 11 of 13 games after 29-year-old Todd Bozeman was named coach on Feb. 8, including victories over LSU and two-time defending NCAA champion Duke in the tournament. Kidd had 13 points, 11 assists and four turnovers before fouling out with 1:21 left.

Prosecution claims Railey concocted elaborate plan

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Prosecutors set out today to expose the web they claim Walker Railey weaved in a bungled attempt to kill his wife. The state contends Railey concocted an elaborate scheme to divert suspicion from himself beginning with threatening letters sent to him at First United Methodist Church in Dallas, where he was pastor. Prosecutors planned to call an FBI agent to testify about the letters. On Thursday, the state's first witness, Billie Jo Nicolai, mother of victim Peggy Railey, said her daughter had told her about the menacing notes. "She didn't know what might come next," Mrs. Nicolai said. "I was concerned about them as a family and concerned about Peggy and the children." Mrs. Nicolai said her daughter told her it was discovered the letters had been written on a typewriter at Railey's church. She said she spoke with her daughter by telephone about three hours before she was found choked unconscious in the garage of the couple's suburban Dallas home April 22, 1987.

her hands are gnarled, her eyes stare vacantly upward and her mouth is open and rounded, like that of a howling animal. If convicted of attempted murder, Railey, 45, faces a possible 20 years in prison and a possible $10,000 fine. A little more than a week after the attack, Railey locked himself in a hospital suite, scribbled out a bizarre suicide note and overdosed on tranquilizers. Later, after recovering, he resigned his church post, gave up custody of his two young children, fled to California with his lover Lucy Papillon and tried unsuccessfully to divorce his wife. Prosecutor Cecil Emerson said the state believes "that Walker Railey abandoned his children and it was all part of a scheme to dispose of his wife and move to California with Lucy Papillon."

Beef bake sale set Saturday

The Hereford CattleWomen met Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center to finalize plans for a beef bake sale scheduled Saturday at B&R Thriftway. Also, during the business meeting, Beverly Davis read the minutes which were approved and Karen Sherrod gave the treasurer's report. It was announced that Lisa Klett and Leslie Easley will be the organization's delegates for the spring convention. Also, discussed were several beef promotion projects including the distribution of book markers to all schools and TBIC book covers which will be given to the Hereford Junior High School. Connie Banks was welcomed as a new member. Following the meeting, Dan Hale, meat specialist from Texas A&M University, gave a program on selecting meat cuts. He told the group how to reduce fat and cholesterol by choosing different cuts of meat and how to avoid food poisoning. Those present included Lisa Klett, Leslie Easley, Karen Sherrod, Beverly Davis, Connie Banks, Linda Gilbert, Julia Laing and Shelly Moss.

"We talk to her and she looks at us. We can see in her eyes, but we cannot see any processing or anything going on," Mrs. Nicolai said. Prosecutors showed the jury two large photographs of Mrs. Railey. The first picture was of a smiling, attractive Peggy Railey with a child beside her before the attack. In the other picture, taken after the assault, Prosecutor Cecil Emerson said the state believes "that Walker Railey abandoned his children and it was all part of a scheme to dispose of his wife and move to California with Lucy Papillon." On Thursday, state District Judge Pat McDowell ruled the jury could hear evidence about Railey's suicide attempt, the suicide note, child custody, the threatening letters and DNA results of blood and saliva samples from Railey. Prosecutors hope to show Railey could have licked the envelopes containing the letters.

The Newspaper BIBLE
THERE'S HEALING IN JESUS' NAME!
The people all rushed out to Solomon's Hall, where the beggar was holding tightly to Peter and John! Everyone stood there awed by the wonderful thing that had happened. Peter saw his opportunity and addressed the crowd! "Men of Israel," he said, "what is so surprising about this? And why look at us as though we by our own power and godliness had made this man walk? "For it is the God of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and of all our ancestors who has brought glory to His servant Jesus by doing this. I refer to the Jesus whom you rejected before Pilate, despite Pilate's determination to release Him. "You didn't want Him freed---this holy, righteous one. Instead you demanded the release of a murderer. And you killed the Author of Life; but God brought Him back to life again. And John and I are witnesses of this fact, for after you killed Him we saw Him alive! "Jesus' name has healed this man---and you know how lame he was before. Faith in Jesus' name---faith given us from God---has caused this perfect healing." Acts 3:11-16

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE NAME OF THE GAME WAS--HOSPITALITY!
IN THE ANCIENT BIBLE WORLD HOSPITALITY WAS REGARDED AS ONE OF MAN'S BEST VIRTUES. EVEN THEIR MANY LAWS REFLECT THIS CONCERN FOR THEIR FELLOW MAN. THE LAW RESPECTING THE STRANGERS IN THEIR MIDST (LEV. 19:33,34) MAKES THIS CLEAR, AND THE LAW CONCERNING THE POOR (LEV. 25:14) GIVES THE PATTERN OF CONDUCT THEY WERE TO FOLLOW. MANY PASSAGES FROM THE NEW TESTAMENT ARE IN LINE WITH THE TRADITION OF THE OLD TESTAMENT IN THAT WE ARE URGED TO "FOLLOW AFTER HOSPITALITY" (ROM. 12:13) AND TO ALWAYS REMEMBER ABRAHAM'S EXAMPLE (HEB. 13:2) AND "USE HOSPITALITY ONE TO ANOTHER WITHOUT GRUDGING" (1 PETER 4:9). SOMETIMES THE DEGREE OF HOSPITALITY WAS OVERPOWERING AS IN THE CASE OF ELIEZER WHO WAS COMMISSIONED BY ABRAHAM TO FIND A BRIDE FOR HIS SON ISAAC. ELIEZER FOUND A BRIDE, REBEKAH, AND WAS ANXIOUS TO RETURN HOME--BUT NO WAY! THE EXTENT OF THE GENEROSITY OF REBEKAH'S FAMILY KEPT HIM VISITING WEEK AFTER WEEK UNTIL THE POOR FELLOW WORRIED THAT HE WOULD NEVER SEE ABRAHAM AGAIN.
