Candidates, Rules Are Outlined For Election Tuesday

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Voters in Deaf Smith County will join voters throughout the United States for the election of a president and vice president Tuesday. But there are also state, district and county candidates for various offices who will be left to the choice of the individual voter, along with 14 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

Persons who have lived in Texas more than a year but who have moved from one county to another since last May 5, may vote on all national, state and the 14 proposed constitutional amendments but may not vote on local offices. They must also be registered as voters for the 1968 voting year.

Voters are required to present their voter registration certificate when they apply for their ballot. But if the registration is misplaced or lost, they may still vote if they make an affidavit of its loss. However, new residents must have their registration transferred to Deaf Smith County through the office of the tax assessor-collector.

And, voters who have moved from one precinct to another within the county since registering should have had their registration transferred in order to vote in their present precinct. But they may still vote in their new precinct by presenting their registration to the presiding judge, who has the authority to validate it.

Friday was the final day in absentee voting. (See total absentee ballot in another story on this page.)

Voting places are listed separately on this page.

Should the voter wish to mark a "straight ticket" for all candidates in any particular party, he must simply place a single mark at the left of the desired party name at the top of the ballot. However, if the voter wishes to "split the ticket" and vote for individual candidates in the separate parties, he should not place a mark in the Party line at all but simply mark each individual candidate.

The 14 Amendments at the bottom of the ballot must be marked "for" or "against" individually.

This year the ballot is divided into four columns. The Democratic Party column has 25 candidates seeking 24 offices (president and vice president are combined for the one ballot in all parties), the Republican Party has 14 candidates seeking 13 offices, and the American Party has the single combined office vote. The column at the right is entirely for the purpose of write-in candidates, not listed with either of the three national parties.

In the American Party column, Gen. Curtis LeMay will not have his name listed as the vice presidential candidate. Ballots were printed prior to the official announcement of his candidacy and could not be changed. The listing is George C. Wallace and S. Marvin Griffin. However, the name LeMay need not be written in by voters who wish to cast their ballot for the American Party candidates, as the vote will be counted toward LeMay under the present circumstances.

President and Vice President listings in the other two columns are correct: Democratic Party, Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie; Republican Party, Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew.

Monday night all three presidential candidates will be making their final bid for the office via television broadcasts. Humphrey is scheduled to speak at 9:30 on Channel 10. George Wallace is scheduled to speak at 7 p.m. on Channel 4. Humphrey will again speak on both Channels 4 and 7 at 7:30. Nixon will speak on Channel 4 at 8 p.m. with Wallace on Channel 10 at the same hour; and Wallace again at 9:30 on Channel 7.

In the U.S. Representative 18th Congressional District, Democrat R. (Dick) Brown of Hartley will face Republican incumbent, Bob Price of Pampa.

lawyer of Wichita Falls.

Attorney General candidates are Democratic incumbent Crawford C. Martin and Republican Sproesser Wynn; Comptroller of Public Accounts: Robert S. Calvert (Dem.) and John M. Bennett Jr. (Rep.); State Treasurer: Jesse James (Dem.) and Manuel Sanchez (Rep.); Commissioner of General Land Office: Jerry Sadler (Dem.) and Millard K. Neptune (Rep.); Commissioner of Agriculture: John C. White (Dem.) and E. G. Schuhart II (Rep.); Commissioner of Education: John C. White (Dem.) and E. G. Schuhart II (Rep.); and Railroad Commissioner: Jim C. Langdon (Dem.) and Jim Segrest (Rep.)

UNOPPOSED CANDIDATES

Five offices follow where the candidates have no opposition to election:

Associate Justice, Supreme Court, Place 1: Sears McGee; Associate Justice, Supreme Court, Place 2: Tom Reavley; Associate Justice, Supreme Court, Place 3: Zollie Steakley; Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1: W. A. Morrison; Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2: Leon Douglas.

All candidates are Democratic.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Incumbent Bill Clayton of Springlake will do political battle with Frank Ford of Hereford for the office of State Representative, District 72. Ford, a Republican, is president of Arrowhead Mills Inc. here. Clayton, a farmer, is a Democrat.

State Board of Education, District 18, has Democrat Herbert O. Willborn facing Republican Hugh Burdette. But James A. Joy of Plainview faces no opposition in the Court of Civil Appeals, District 7, race.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY

For 69th Judicial District Attorney, Hereford attorney Andrew Jackson Shuval, a Democrat, will challenge Dumas attorney Jerry R. Tucker, a Republican, for the office now being held by Bill Hunter, who decided not to run for re-election.

But five county offices have no opposition for the candidates, all Democratic and all incumbents:

Sheriff of Deaf Smith County: Ed Roberson; Tax Collector-Assessor, Deaf Smith County: Neil Miller; County Attorney, Deaf Smith County: John D. See RULES, Page 2

Rites Held For Jesse Stanford

Funeral services for W. Jesse Stanford, longtime business and civic leader in Hereford, were conducted Saturday afternoon in First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, officiating. Burial in West Park Cemetery was directed by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mr. Stanford, who resided at 507 West Fourth, died Thursday afternoon in Deaf Smith County Hospital after a short illness. He had lived in Hereford since 1907, when he came here from his native McLennan County.

Born near Waco Dec. 14, 1884, he came to West Texas as a young man and has been associated with the growth of this area since then. He married Miss Nellie Black here on Dec. 30, 1913.

She survives him, as do a daughter, Mrs. Dick Barnard of Hereford; a son, Bill Stanford of Plainview; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Helen Fisher of Hereford, Mrs. Laura Long of Topeka, Kan., and Mrs. Katherine Barnhart of San Diego, Calif.; three brothers, Frank Stanford of Dallas, Preston Stanford of Orlando, Fla., and Tommie Stanford of Kansas City, Mo.; and five grandchildren.

A memorial has been established in Mr. Stanford's name, the proceeds to go to Boys' Ranch. That home for boys was one of his interests, among many concerning boys. He was an avid fan of Whiteface athletic teams, an interest which had continued through the years since he played football and baseball at old Clarendon College.

After completing studies at that junior college, he received his degree from Southwestern University. He served many terms on Hereford school boards and was board president 17 years. A charter member of Hereford Lions Club, he was active in the local Chamber of Commerce and has served as its president.

He gave much time to his church, filling almost every position open to laymen. He taught a class for men, named for him, until only a short time before his death. As an early resident, he was interested in preserving the county's history and honoring its pioneers, and was on the committee which organized the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

He became associated with the E. B. Black Furniture Co. soon after he came to Hereford, and at the death of its founder, the late E. B. Black, in 1945 he and the late Matt Gilliland bought the firm and operated it as a partnership until 1949. The funeral home which was a part of the business was purchased then by Gilliland and his son, Marlin Gilliland, and Mr. Stanford continued to operate the furniture company, assisted by his son-in-law, Dick Barnard.

After Mr. Stanford's retirement from management of the store, he has managed farm property and was an enthusiastic gardener.

AND THEN IT BEGAN — Friday night's 13-12 win by the Whitefaces over the undefeated Perryton Rangers all began with the traditional "busting of the hoop" Here, the busting is led by John Frank Martin (33), Sheldon White (75) and Jim Loerwald (50).

Rain And Hail Hit Local Area

Rain and damaging hail was received throughout the Hereford area Friday evening and Saturday.

Community Grain reported 50 inch of rain with hail doing quite a bit of damage. Easter Fertilizer also received 50 inch of rain and hail doing damage to vegetable and cotton crops.

Leo Witkowski reported 20 of an inch of rain but no hail on his farm southeast of Hereford Friday afternoon and evening and said it rained a little Saturday.

Mrs. Luther Lesly, at Milo Center, received 20 of an inch of rain and no hail. Dean Ellis, 2½ miles north of Hereford reported 40 inches of rain and a little hail Friday evening.

Two Charged With Rape

Two Hereford men are in Deaf Smith County Jail charged with the rape of a 14-year-old girl Thursday afternoon.

Paul Grinie, 22, and Nieves Griego 21, were charged with rape about three hours after the girl alerted officials that she had been lured into the car of two men on a false statement, taken outside the city and attacked.

The men were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest Wade, who denied bond and appointed attorneys for the men. The case will go before the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury in December.

4-H Banquet Set Saturday

Deaf Smith County 4-H Achievement Banquet is to be held Saturday, Nov. 9. The annual affair will begin at 6:45 p.m. at St. Anthony's School auditorium, according to banquet committee chairman Joette Hanna.

Those who wish to attend are asked to call 364-3573 by noon Friday, Nov. 8.

Will History Repeat Itself In Election Here Tuesday?

(Special to the Brand) NEW YORK — Which of the presidential candidates will residents of Deaf Smith County favor in the forthcoming election?

Will their party preferences, as expressed at the polls in previous national elections, indicate how they will vote this time?

While there is no sure guide as to how much fence jumping will take place in November.

357 Persons Vote Absentee

A total of 357 persons had voted absentee shortly before deadline time Friday, as preparations continue for the general election Tuesday.

Of that amount, 79 absentee votes had been mailed out earlier to servicemen overseas. See other stories on this page for more election details.

In this issue, the Brand has attempted to present biographical sketches of the major candidates, using prepared releases from the candidate's themselves or their headquarters.

some important light on the subject is shed in a nationwide study, based on thousands of personal interviews, conducted by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan.

It shows that once a voter makes his choice of a political party — and this usually occurs before age 30 — he generally sticks to it for life. Only one out of five switches thereafter.

This, according to the study, has been the most important single influence in our elections.

Do these general observations apply in Deaf Smith County and, if so, to what extent?

With respect to the last three presidential elections, the local vote for the major party candidates was as follows:

In 1964, 1,793 were for the Republican and 2,093 for the Democrat. In 1960 it was 2,024 Republican and 1,299 Democrat and, in 1956, 1,685 Republican and 1,361 Democrat.

Combining the results of those elections, the Republicans collected a total of 5,502 votes and the Democrats, 4,753.

That count shows that the Republicans have been receiving 54 percent of the major party vote to 46 percent for the Democrats.

In the State of Texas as a whole, the Republicans garnered 46 percent of the votes cast for the two parties and the Democrats, 34 percent.

The question that arises, with this year's election, is whether history will repeat itself. Will voters maintain party loyalty, for the most part, or will special considerations this year cause big shifts?

Much depends upon what the report calls the "volatile voting behavior of independents" and upon the 11½ million young people who will be old enough to cast their first votes for a president.

In Deaf Smith County, approximately 1,040 of these newcomers, who were too young to vote in the 1964 election, have now reached the qualifying age.

Spiro Agnew Has Impressive Record

Spiro (pronounced Spear-o) Theodore Agnew was inaugurated as Maryland's 55th elected Governor on Jan. 25, 1967. He took office with several distinctions: the fifth Republican ever elected Governor in this predominantly Democratic State; the first Governor of Maryland to be born in this century; one of the youngest, at age 48, to hold the office; and the first American of Greek descent to become the chief executive of a State.

The Governor is a native of Baltimore City. He was born November 9, 1918, the only son of Theodore Spiro Agnew, a restaurant operator and a leader of the City's Greek community, and the former Margaret Akers of Bristol, Virginia. His father came to this country in 1897 at the age of 21 from the village of Gargalianos, in Messenia, Peloponnesus, Greece. Both parents are deceased. The family name Agnew was shortened from the Greek name Anagnostopoulos by the Governor's father.

Governor Agnew received his formal education in the public schools of Baltimore City, the Johns Hopkins University, where he studied chemistry for three years before turning to law, and the University of Baltimore, where he received his Bachelor of Laws degree in 1947 after returning from service in the Army. He also holds honorary Doctor of Laws degrees from the University of Maryland and Morgan State College.

During World War II he was a company commander with the 10th Armored Division in the European Theater of Operations. He was recalled for an additional year of Army service during the Korean War.

The Governor became interested in public affairs as a practicing attorney in Baltimore County and as president of the Loch Raven Community Council. He was active in moves to obtain open spaces legislation in the County and also in the successful drive for charter "home rule" government which replaced the Board of County Commissioners in 1957 with a full-time County Executive and Council.

In 1957 he was appointed minority member of the County Board of Appeals, which zoning appeals, and later became its chairman. His ouster in 1961 by the Democratic-controlled County Council, despite widespread backing from civic organizations, brought his name to new prominence and led him to run the following year for County Executive. He won despite a Democratic registration edge of nearly 4 to 1.

Under his administration Baltimore County became one of the first in the nation to enact a public accommodations law. His county administration also built many new schools, improved teacher salaries, reduced the pupil-teacher class-room ratio by 14 percent, began public kindergartens, reorganized the police bureau and pioneered in community college curricula to fill employment gaps in the fields of police work and social services.

During his first year in office, he was elected a director of the National Association of Counties subsequently represented the Association at Congressional hearings.

In 1966, County Executive Agnew, with the full endorsement of Maryland Republican leaders, ran for Governor. He handily won the primary and on

DeCluitt Seeks Lt. Gov. Post

Douglas R. DeCluitt, 33-year-old Waco businessman, is the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Texas.

Speaking of his qualifications, the Voters Guide of the League of Women Voters of Texas, DeCluitt said "I believe my experience and education qualify me to serve as a mature and independent Lieutenant Governor. Managerial experience has taught me to seek out opportunities for improvement and growth. Education at Texas A&M

November 8, 1966, the day before his 48th birthday, he was elected Governor by a margin of 81,775 votes over his Democratic opponent in a three-way race.

The Governor was married in 1942 to the former Elinor Isabel Judofind of Baltimore. They have four children - Pamela 25; Randy 22; Susan 20; and Kimberly 12 - and one grandchild, Michell Ann, the daughter of Randy, a Navy Seabee, presently on active duty in Vietnam, and his wife, the former Ann Herbert.

and earning my Master's in business administration from Harvard University have prepared me for problem solving." Asked "What two or three programs do you feel would most improve Texas government? Why?" DeCluitt said "Texas is a growing state. It is growing in population and opportunities, but it is also growing in needs and demands. State government must meet these needs in a creative way. State action revolves around money-taxation and spending."

"A thorough, in-depth analysis of taxation is needed, exploring both the sources and equality of revenue. Such a study is mandatory in order to avoid a state income tax. Then priorities should be established for spending, giving the highest priority to those programs, such as education, which will advance our state to its full potential."

The painfully clear facts show that our state has not reached its potential. Texas ranks in the lower half of the fifty states in both family and buying power and educational attainment. More job opportunities must be provided. Primarily, this means attracting and encouraging industrial expansion. But, people must be job qualified to meet industry's demands.

Herd Upsets Rangers, 13-12

DEFENSIVE EFFORT — Defense was the key to the Whiteface win over the number one ranked Perryton Rangers Friday night as seen here where Randy Ragan (11), Jim Loerwald (50) and David Paetzold (84) pull down a Ranger ball carrier.

By MARSHALL DAY
Sports Editor

It was something akin to mass hysteria here Friday night when the Whitefaces erased what had been termed as a standing myth — their inability to win the big ones.

In the dressing room of the winners, there were tears of joy, outside, there were whispers of "We're number one now," and some just walked around in a daze after seeing the Whitefaces put down the number one ranked and previously defeated Perryton Rangers, 13-12.

For a team riding the middle of the ratings in class AAA standings, the Whitefaces showed football fans there is room for another team near the top. Picked as a 28-point underdog going into the game against the Rangers, the Herd defense, playing its most impressive game of the season, held the visitors to nine first downs while collecting 23 of their own. The Whitefaces were the ball controllers throughout the game as they executed 80 plays on offense compared to 47 for the losers. In the air game, the 'Faces field generals completed four passes on 11 attempts for 47 yards and Perryton hit four of 11 also, and gained 66 yards.

Perryton got the game under their power early in the first stanza when Hereford, on a fourth and punting situation, got a bad snap from center and the Rangers took possession of the pigskin on the Hereford five-yard line. On the second play following the recovery, Perryton quarterback Dick McWhorter, looking for a receiver, couldn't find one and rolled into the end zone himself with the go-ahead score. The Rangers then attempted a two-point conversion, but it failed.

Six first downs and 18 plays later, Hereford drove to the Perryton one-yard line then took the ball across for the tying tally on a quarterback sneak by Bill Cole. Powering the drive, which began on the Herd's own 20, were key plays by Elgin Williams, Steve McAndrews and a combined effort of Cole and end Larry Guinn. Williams made 29 yards on two plays with one being a 18-yard delay draw while McAndrews hit for 4, 5, 12, and 7 yards. Highlighting the drive was a crucial 13-yard quick pass from Cole to Guinn on a third and five play.

DECISIVE POINT

Jim Lowerwald provided what was to be the winning margin with his extra point kick following Cole's TD, and Hereford held a one point margin at the start of the second quarter.

Three possessions later, Lady Luck smiled upon the Rangers again when the second bad snap on a fourth and punting situation for the Whitefaces gave them the ball on the 15-yard line of the Whitefaces. They wasted no time in getting to the goal line when they ground out 10 quick yards and were aided by a penalty on the Herd, giving them the ball on the locals three-yard line. Fullback Vernon Pshigoda tore against the defensive wall of the Whitefaces on the next play and squirmed his way into the end zone for the touchdown. Lady Luck's smile then faded from her face when the visitors tried a two-point conversion pass and it was batted down.

Halftime score saw the visitors go to the dressing room with a five point lead, but when they returned, it fell to the driving onslaught of a determined Whiteface 11. Perryton, appearing as if they might try to play ball control the second half, hit on short spurts while the clock continued to tick off. They drove to the Hereford three-yard line after having recovered a Whiteface fumble on the 40, but, again the local's defense held on a fourth and goal situation.

97 YARD DRIVE

Following the relinquishing of the ball to Hereford on their own three, the Whitefaces began a drive that covered 97 yards and resulted in the winning score. Cole hit Guinn on a quick pass up the middle for 10 yards, then McAndrews bulled his way for six. Another quick pass to Guinn put the ball on the Hereford 30, and three plays later, Cole, looking for a receiver and not being able to find one, rolled left for 16 big yards.

A piling penalty on Perryton aided the cause and a couple of short yardage spurts by Williams and McAndrews paved the way for a 25-yard run by Randy Ragan that put the ball on the Perryton 20. Williams then carried on four straight occasions to the Ranger one, and Cole plunged across for the winning TD. A two-point pass conversion failed and the score rested at 13-12 for the Herd, with 33 seconds remaining in the third period.

Perryton was held in their next bid for a score, and Hereford took over on their own 21 following a punt. Williams carried the ball out to the 31 then a 15-yard ruffing penalty put the ball on the Hereford 46 with a first and ten for the locals. John Frank Martin took half the Perryton line with him on his carry as he went seven yards then Williams added six more for another first down. Not being able to move the ball any farther, Jim Scott was called on to kick and when he did, the ball landed perfectly on the Ranger four-yard line.

Perryton was held to very little gain and was forced to punt again, with the locals taking over at the midfield mark. Not being able to move the ball, Scott punted and again the ball went deep into Ranger territory at the 10.

DESPERATION EFFORT

Fighting to get into at least field goal position, Perryton went to the air but it was their downfall when Cole intercepted a long aerial on the Hereford 45 and ran it back to the 44 of Perryton. With 22 seconds left on the clock, Hereford pushed the ball deeper into Rangerland and continued to run out the clock. Perryton got possession of the ball with three seconds left on the clock, but it was too late for the number one ranked team as the Whitefaces pulled out the 13-12 upset win.

In other 1-AAA play, the Dumas Demons downed the Canyon Eagles, 46-7 and Muleshoe nipped the Tulla 11, 14-7. Hereford and Dumas, both sporting identical records, share the lead for the district crown, while Muleshoe and Perryton, holding 1-1 records, are in second. Tulla has yet to win a game this year and are in last place.

The Whitefaces will go against the unpredictable Muleshoe team next week at Muleshoe in another crucial 1-AAA contest. The game is set to begin at 7:30 p. m.

Shorthorns Fall As JV's Grab Victory

While the Whitefaces were pulling the upset of the year, the local Shorthorns fell for the first time this year 17-8 at Canyon, and the Longhorns edged Plainview, 6-0 Thursday night.

In a defensive struggle that lasted the full four quarters of the game, the Longhorns clipped the Plainview 11 with quarterback Paul Hendon making the only score of the game, for a 6-0 finish. The Shorthorns, who had been scheduled to play at Portales, N. M., had their game called off and instead went to Canyon. Undeafened and untied through six games this year, the Longhorns couldn't quite keep up the pace with the Canyon team when they fell, 17-8.

Hereford's only score was registered in the second quarter when Ricky Ward ran 60 yards on a trap play to set the ball to rest on the Canyon 12-yard line. Failing to score on three plays quarterback Mike Wartes sent Harold Schmucker into the end zone and hit his with a pass for the TD. Schmucker also carried the ball for the two-point conversion which game the locals an 8-7 lead.

The Shorthorns had trailed 7-0 prior to their score when Canyon on their first possession, drove to the Hereford 10 and carried the ball over on a sweep. Their kick was good. A fumbled punt by the Shorthorns on their own 40 set up a field goal for Canyon and they took the lead, 10-8. Hereford never threatened after that, but Canyon added another security payoff drive in the fourth period when another fumble by the locals on their own 25 gave them the ball. Canyon scored on a reverse to ice the game and added the extra point, giving them the game, 17-8.

The Longhorns will see action again when they play their last game of the season against Tulia on Nov. 14 at 7:30 at Whiteface stadium. The Shorthorns will go looking for a comeback on Nov. 7 when they travel to Friona for a game at the same time.

La Plata Wins 6th Game; Stanton Routs Plainview

By MARSHALL DAY
Sports Editor

The La Plata ninth grade Mavericks made it six wins in seven outings for the season when they downed the Littlefield team 44-0 and the Stanton Dogies collected their fourth win of the year when they downed the Plainview Blue Pups, 23-6.

Stanton nabbed their third win in a row in their shellacking of the Plainview Blue Pups with quarterback Rudy Gonzales leading the scoring attack with two TD's. His first touchdown of the game came with 4:19 left in the first quarter. After a sustained drive with the ball coming to rest on the Plainview three-yard line, Gonzales plunged across with the game's initial TD. He then turned around and added the two-point conversion to make the score 8-0 for the Dogies.

Gene Suttle put the locals completely out of reach with his second period paydirt plunge from the two-yard line, making the score 14-0 at the half. The try for the extra points failed.

Plainview, not wanting to go home without having scored, put their only points on the scoreboard in the third stanza, but the try for the PAT failed.

Diaz put the finishing touches on the game with a security TD pass in the waning moments of the third period as he connected via the air attack with Danny Diaz from eight yards out. Gonzales added the final score of the contest with his second two-point conversion, giving the Dogies a 2-6 win.

La Plata, fighting along with other teams in the district for the Hi-Plains conference crown, headed farther down the championship road with their 44-0 win over Littlefield.

After being held scoreless in the first period, the Mavericks busted loose with two touchdowns in the second period with Charles Allison taking the pigskin over from the one, then Danny Charest adding the two-point conversion. John Page, leading ground gainer for the Mavs, pushed six more points on the scoreboard for the locals with a 39-yard pass reception from Allison. The PAT failed.

Holding a 14-0 lead going into the second half, the Mavericks put their passing attack to work for them again as Billy Bob Taylor hauled in a 46-yard pass from Allison for a touchdown, then Page added the points after making the score 22-0. Page took the game completely out of reach of the Littlefield bunch with another third quarter tally that covered 45 yards on the ground. Gary London added the two-point conversion. The final scoremaking play in the third quarter came on a 19-yard pass from Allison to Ralph Waits. Charest added the run for the extra points.

Johnny Tijerina got his hands on the scoring in the game when he hit paydirt from four yards out in the fourth quarter. The PAT again failed, but the score stood with the Mavericks coming out with a convincing 44-0 win.

For the over-all game, the Mavericks had 12 first downs, 307 yards rushing and 112 yards passing for a total of 419 yards in the game. Individually, Page had 173 yards rushing on 19 attempts for an average of 9.1 yards per carry; Charest had 63 yards on 11 carries for an average of 5.8; and Allison had 10 yards on four carries for a 2.5 average. Others lending a helping hand in the ground attack were Taylor with a 1.0 average; Tijerina with a 6.9 average; London with 3.5; and Sammy Ogan, who carried the ball on two occasions.

Passing for the entire game was Allison who threw the pigskin seven times and completed on four of these tries for 112 yards.

Stanton will next see action against the Friona ninth graders Thursday when they travel to that city for a 6 p. m. game. La Plata will host the Tulla ninth for their next contest on the same day in another 6 p. m. contest.

Homecoming Set At WT

CANYON — Highlighting annual Homecoming activities Saturday (Nov. 9) at West Texas State University will be a parade, football game, dances, and the silver anniversary reunion of the Class of 1943.

Pre-Homecoming day activities are centered around the annual Homecoming assembly of the 7,300 WTSU students at 11 a. m. Thursday, when a queen to reign over events will be crowned. The gigantic pep rally will be staged in the fieldhouse, and events will be televised by an Amarillo station at noon.

Members of the Phoenix Club, a group of WTSU supporters, will meet for their annual dinner at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the East Dining Hall. Speaker will be Dr. Powell Osborn, special consultant to the committee for study of campus disturbances. A Faculty Excellence Award of $1,000 will be presented to an outstanding WTSU professor at the dinner by the West Texas Ex-Students, Inc.

Members of the Class of 1943 open observance of their 25th anniversary Friday (Nov. 8) at an informal get-together at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foust in Amarillo. Reunion activities start at 8:15 a. m. Saturday in the ballroom of the Student Union Building. The group will also have a special luncheon at noon in the West Dining Hall.

The WTSU School of Business will host exes and visitors at a dinner Friday at 8 p. m. and will hold open house from 8 a. m. until noon Saturday in its new quarters in the University Complex South. Outstanding alumni of the School will be honored at the dinner.

General registration of visitors and ex-students will open at 8:30 a. m. in the Student Union Building and continue throughout the day.

Campus clubs will host their alumni at smokers, teas, and receptions from 9 until 10 a. m., and after the football game in the afternoon.

Featuring more than a dozen floats, area high school bands and riding clubs, the traditional Homecoming parade will start at 10:30 a. m. from downtown Canyon. Line of march is east along Fourth Avenue to 24th Street, where groups will disperse onto the campus. These is "The Wonderful World of Walt Disney."

Bands from Ralls, Lefors, Clayton, N. M., Clarendon, Plainview, Perryton, Canyon, Dumas, Borger, and WTSU will participate, along with the Randall County Sheriff's Posse, Hale County Sheriff's Posse, Will Rogers Range Riders, T-Anchor 4-H Club, and Kwahadi Indian Dancers. Also marching will be the WTSU Color Guard, Sam Houston Rifles Drill Team, and Angel Corps.

Trophies will be awarded to best over-all float, best floats in fraternity, sorority, and independent divisions, best dormitory and church center decorations.

The Buffaloes will play Western Michigan in the Homecoming game at 2 p. m. in Buffalo Bowl, following barbecue lunch served in the two campus dining halls. Barbecue tickets are $1.25 each.

Three special dances are planned during the Homecoming observance, and admission to each will be $1 a person. A campus dance at 8 p. m. Wednesday (Nov. 6) is scheduled to follow the western theme. A second dance will be in the Student Union Building Friday at 8 p. m., and the traditional Homecoming dance after the football game will start at 8 p. m. Saturday in the ballroom of the Student Union Building.

Bea Rhodes Is Selected As Star Of Week In Sunset Keglers Play

Bea Rhodes hit the pins for a 541 series and nabbed the Star of the Week honors in doing so in the Sunset Keglers bowling league last week.

Hereford Welding picked up two honors for their nights play as they rolled a 2346 to get the "High Team Series" and an 840 total to nab the "High Team Game". THE 72nd DISTRICT NEEDS BILL CLAYTON

The economy of West Texas and particularly the 72nd Legislative District is based on water supply for agriculture, municipal and industrial needs.

We need the help, assistance and proven leadership of people like BILL CLAYTON who have the influence, seniority, integrity and ability to get the job done.

State Government

Bill Clayton's Record

stands for itself. It reflects the work of a conscientious young man. The 72nd District is in good hands.

VOTING RECORD AND POSITION

★ Water Development

Bill Clayton has been directly associated with every major piece of water legislation passed during the last six years. He is recognized by his colleagues as being one of the most effective and well informed members of the Texas Legislature on water and soil resource development and conservation. Bill Clayton knows the vital importance of water, not only to your future, but to the future of the entire State. Past accomplishments and effective leadership have made Clayton vital to continued progress in development of water resources for the High Plains.

★ Education

Child by child we build our nation . . . tomorrow depends on today's children and young adults. Bill Clayton is ever mindful of the need to raise our standard of excellence in the Texas school systems. This can only be done through the uprating of the Texas schools, and dedicated recruitment of the finest teachers. Clayton co-authored a bill that created the "coordinating Board of Texas Colleges and University systems. His voting record shows a continued support of teacher pay-raise and the strengthening of all educational systems in Texas.

★ Law Enforcement

Today, law enforcement agencies are facing new problems. Bill Clayton is concerned about the breakdown of law and order. Clayton has been active in seeking higher salaries for law enforcement officials and uniform standard procedures. Bill Clayton served on a special House Committee which will suggest revision of our obsolete liquor laws. Clayton believes that all people must respect the law and that proper enforcement is essential to maintain law and order.

★ Industrial Development

Bill Clayton knows that industrial development helps to stabilize the economy of any given city or area. During his six years in the Legislature, Bill Clayton has worked aggressively for industrial development for our area of the State. Several smaller cities in our 72nd Legislative District now have airports as a result of Clayton's assistance in starting a program of State grants. These State grants are financed with unclaimed gas tax refund on aviation fuel. Bill Clayton knows that airports help encourage industry in less densely populated areas.

★ Tourism

Bill Clayton has worked hard for tourism during his six years as State Representative. Clayton, House Speaker Ben Barnes and other interested legislators were successful in establishing a National Park in the Big Bend area of West Texas. The water importation program being led by Clayton will develop many new recreational opportunities with huge water reservoirs for fishing and boating. Bill Clayton realizes both the need for more recreational facilities in his district and increased business activity from tourist trade.

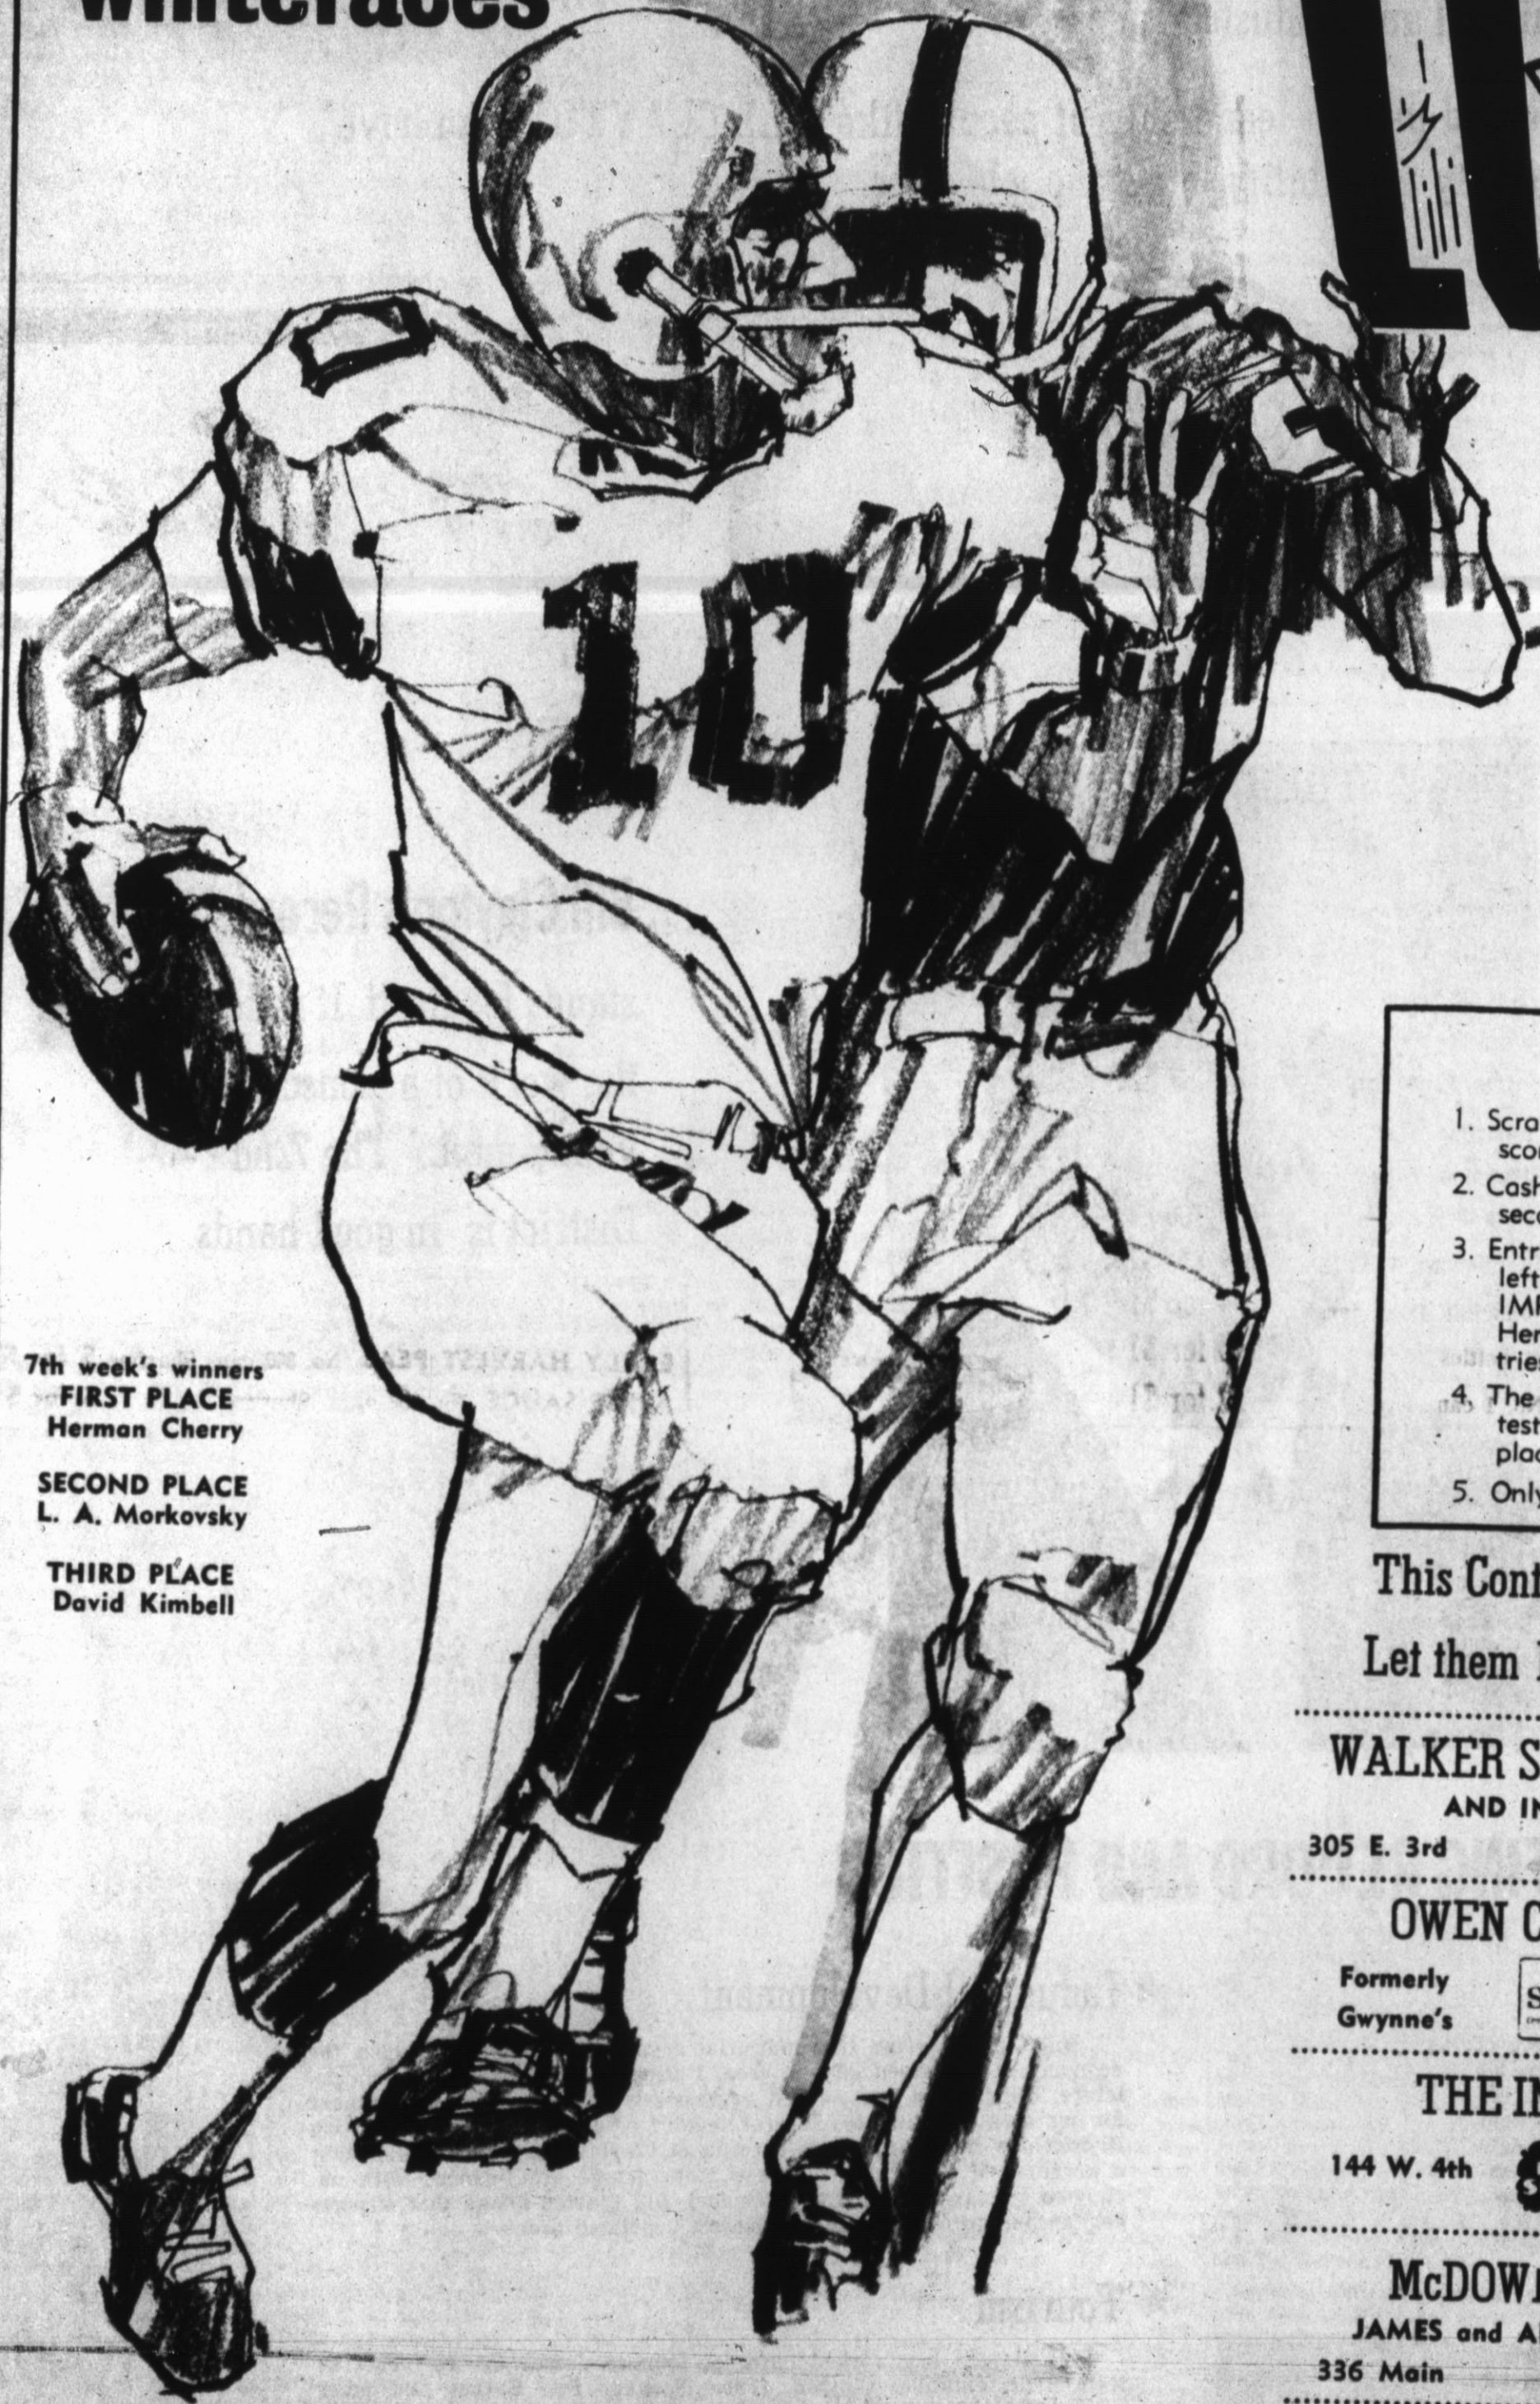

★ County, City and Local Government

Bill Clayton has been a strong advocate of local government. He is currently serving as chairman of the Committee on Counties of the Texas House of Representatives. Clayton believes that government at the county and city level are more responsive to the people and whenever possible they should take the lead and the responsibility of many governmental programs and functions. Clayton has authored many bills that benefit the cities and support the idea of allowing cities the option to choose their own method of taxation. Bill Clayton is needed on the job for more effective and responsible county, city, and local government action.

Take advantage of this opportunity to keep your firm grip in the State Legislature by going to the polls on November 5th, and casting your ballot for BILL CLAYTON.

Muskie; Democratic Choice For VP Seat

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is the craggy-faced, 6-foot-5 senator from Maine who was selected by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on Aug. 29 to be the Democratic nominee for Vice President in the closing sessions of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

The son of a Polish immigrant Stephen Marciszewski, who later shortened the family name, was well known in Maine and Washington. In 1954, the lanky lawyer became the nation's first Polish-American governor, ending 20 years of Republican domination. For the past 10 years, Muskie has been a Senator from Maine following a term in the Maine House of Representatives.

teran and a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Bates College. He was married to Jane Gray Muskie in 1948 while he was a lawyer in Waterville, Maine. The couple has five children.

A senator for the past 10 years, Muskie was described by Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield as a "senator's senator, a man who eschews publicity, works hard, and has gained a reputation among his colleagues for integrity, fair dealing and effectiveness." Following his two terms as Governor of Maine, the lanky senator arrived in Washington to begin a distinguished career in the Senate leading up to his Aug. 29 party nomination for the Vice Presidency.

In the Senate, Muskie has been working on three committees dealing with air and water pollution and a burgeoning Federal bureaucracy: Public Works, Banking and Currency, and Government Operations. The Democratic nominee for Vice President is a Navy ve-

Ford Pledges Weekly Report

"It is my belief that public officials should keep their constituents informed, then seek their opinions and listen carefully to the people at home," Frank Ford said.

"To this end, I will send a brief, concise report to each radio station and newspaper in the district each week, outlining the issues which are to come to a vote so that the people can have a more active part in running their business in Austin."

"The professional politicians have messed thing up badly enough," Ford concluded, "So now it's time for the people to have their say."

America Is the greatest country in the world

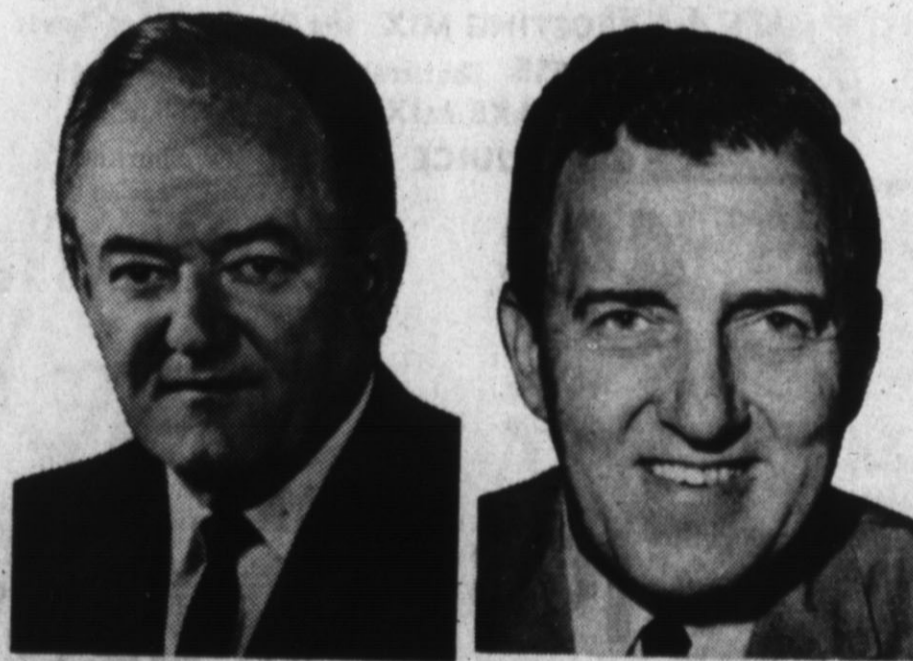

And the Democratic Party, the party of Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy and Johnson, the party of the people, has made it that way. The Democrats have enacted legislation and developed programs to improve our lives and the lives of countless millions the world over.

Don't let Nixon or Wallace destroy it!

Nixon - the one who opposed Medicare, the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty, the Peace Corps, Consumer Protection, Anti-Pollution legislation, Federal Aid to Education and Housing; he settled for Agnew.

Wallace - the candidate of fear and dissension. He gave Alabama the highest murder rate in the country, one of the highest aggravated assault rates, worst education system, poorest economics, highest sales taxes, worst labor conditions.

The Republicans - the party of recession depression, special interests and binkmanship. This nation can't afford four years of Republican incompetence and economic stagnation! Amercia must continue moving forward!

Your United States Congressman is the most important elected official to this area. For this reason, we ask you to return a positive voice to the Panhandle of Texas. We believe we have the greatest opportunity we have ever had of electing a man to Congress who knows all the farm problems of this area. From a pioneer ranch family, Dick Brown is the owner and operator of a farm near Hartley which has been operated by his family since 1905. He is also manager of a three million dollar agri business consisting of an elevator, farm supply house, feed supply house, and a super market. Dick Brown served three years in the U.S. Navy, and at the present time is a Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado.

* Homecoming

HERD TROMPS PERRYTON

A bonfire, with the band playing and kids shouting "Go Herd Fight" as they back away from the heat; a parade, with floats and decorated cars, and the noise of marching bands and flash of batons; a football game, with tense moments, cheers and sighs, and finally—victory.

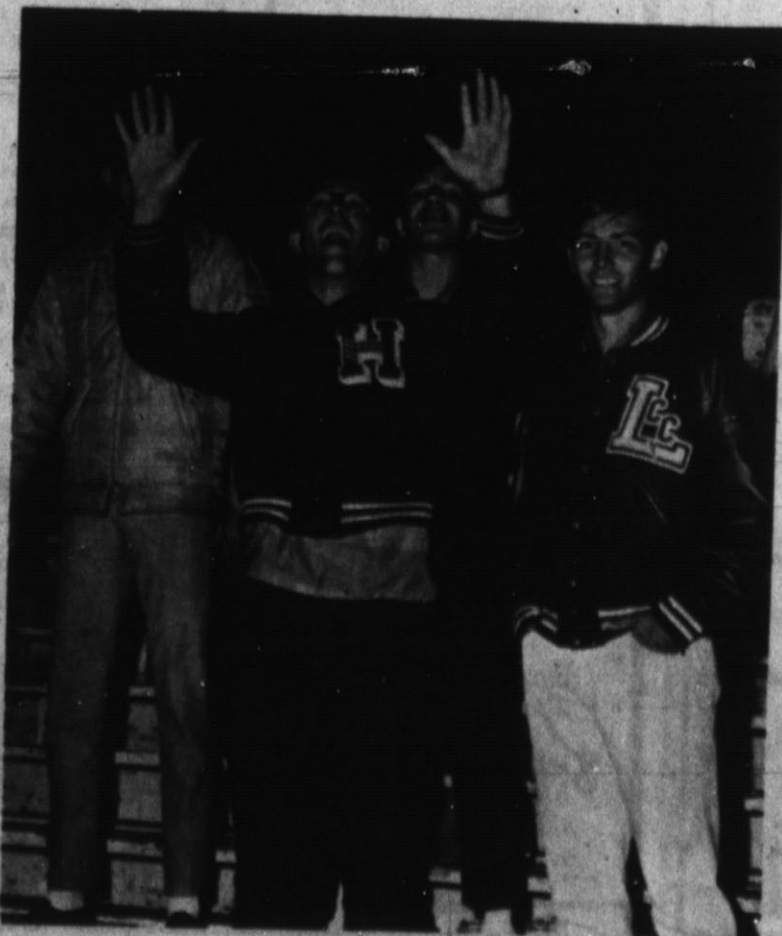

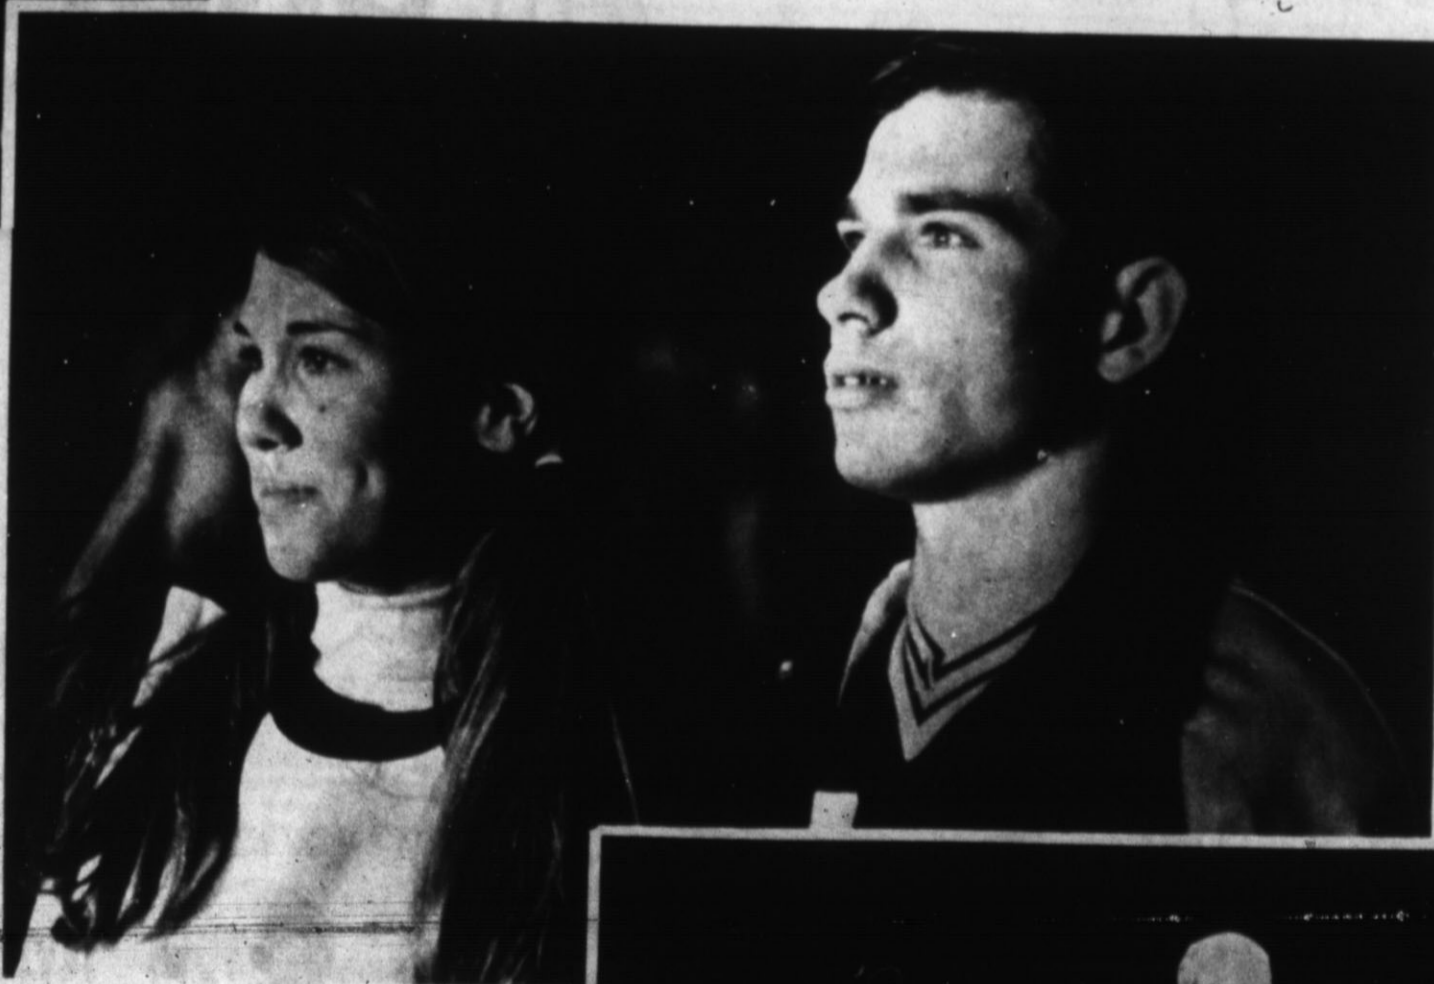

All are common denominators of a Hereford High School Homecoming, and this year's event was no exception.

The annual bonfire was held Thursday night south of town—and the band was there to add to the enthusiastic atmosphere.

The parade Friday afternoon included some 25 entries, with a float designed by the band winning the "Best All Round Float" award. The Junior float won "Most Original" with its pirate theme. The "Best All Around Car" award went to the choir, and the "Most Original Car" award went to the Thespian group.

Then the game. Rain pounded loyal spectators during part of the evening, but most stayed on to see Hereford defeat Perryton, 13-12, in one of the biggest upsets of the year in schoolboy football.

And so went Hereford's homecoming. For the seniors, this was their last as Hereford High students, but many will return as exes next year.

UF Drive Rules-- Continues

The Deaf Smith County United Fund went over the $30,000 mark Thursday morning as officials continue to edge toward their 1968 goal of $37,100.

Spirits of the drive officials were raised during the report Thursday when Calvin Goodin, major of the Industrial Division in the campaign, reported that he and his workers had reached their goal of $7,000. D.C. Martin, major for the Hereford school system, had been the only major previously to have reached his goal of $2,600.

Officials also decided Thursday to place donation buckets in strategic spots over the city in the hopes of picking up more funds.

Ten organizations are listed in the budget for the year to come. Their budgets are Camp $7,200; Pony League, $2,025; Little League, $2,581.14; Colt League, $1,250; Salvation Army, $4,200; Red Cross, $11,000; Cerebral Palsy Center, $100; Council on Alcoholism, $750; U.S.O., $475; local United Fund expenses and the Texas United Fund, $1,150.

If a person wishes to donate to one certain organization, he may do so by making out a check and specifying which organization is to get the funds. During this year's drive, Drive Chairman Johnny Clark Jr. and United Fund President Debbs Knox have constantly reminded residents that the 1968 goal is 22 percent higher than the goal of 1966 because of the greater number of young people participating in the organizations supported by UF.

Drive officials will meet again next Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Hereford State Bank to tabulate funds.

Pearl Tapioca is a product made from moist manioc starch that is steam heated in copper pans and stirred constantly until small gelatinized masses form. These are dried then passed over rollers for smoothing.

No. 11: The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for consolidating government offices and functions and allowing political subdivisions to contract for performance of governmental functions in El Paso and Tarrant counties.

No. 12: The constitutional amendment to give the Legislature the power to authorize cities and counties to issue revenue bond for industrial development purposes.

No. 13: The constitutional amendment to exempt certain property temporarily stored in a public warehouse from ad valorem taxation.

Hereford Men Get Taxpayers Ask IRS Scholastic Honors

The names of two Hereford residents will be among the 26 students from Hardin-Simmons University listed in the 1968 edition of 'Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.'

Clinton Paul Christman and Jasper Kenn Justice have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,000 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations in North and South America.

Clinton Paul Christman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Christman of 114 Ave. A, Hereford. He graduated from Hereford High School in 1965.

At H-SU, he is a senior majoring in Business. Other college honors include: social chairman of Sigma Delta Sigma, men's social club; member of the H-SU Student Congress; R. O. T. C. officer.

Jasper Kenn Justice is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Justice of 210 Ranger, Hereford. He is a senior majoring in Business Finance. He is a 1965 graduate of Hereford High School.

At H-SU, he is a member of Sigma Delta Sigma, men's social club, and is Business Manager of the Student Congress. He was junior class favorite in 1967-68, and was a varsity cheerleader in 1967-68.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers. Q - How do I go about putting in a claim for a refund?

A - Enter your claim on Form 1040-X, Amended U. S. Individual Income Tax Return. Copies of the form and instructions for completing it are available at the local IRS offices. Copies may also be obtained by writing to your District Director.

The new Form 1040-X is simpler to complete than previous claim forms or amended returns since only the information that is new or changed needs to be entered. Claims filed on this form are given special attention and, in most cases, can be processed much faster than heretofore.

Q - My father died last March. Will a 1968 tax return have to be filed for him?

A - A return will have to be filed if his income was $600 or more for the year ($1,200 or more if he was 65 or over). If a return is required, it should be filed by the executor of administrator of the taxpayer's estate or his legal representative. It may be helpful for you to get a copy of IRS Document No. 5446, "Decedents." Just send a post card to your IRS district director.

Atchley Steer Wins In Carcass Contest

A $4500 steer which was Grand Champion on the hoof has also taken first place in a carcass contest sponsored by Texas Meat Packers of Dallas and Lubbock following the Junior Steer Auction of the State Fair of Texas.

The steer, a 926-pound Black Angus owned by Kay Atchley of the Deaf Smith County 4-H Club of Summerfield, near Hereford, was named Grand Champion of the 1968 Junior Steer Show and sold at auction to Piggly-Wiggly Stores for $4500. The carcass was presented to the Cal Farley's Boys Ranch at Amarillo by Piggly-Wiggly. As first place winner of the carcass contest the steer brings to Kay another $250 in U. S. Savings Bonds from Texas Meat Packers, Inc.

"This," said State Fair Livestock Manager Ray W. Wilson, "is the first time at any major U. S. steer show the Grand Champion has also won top honors in a carcass contest to determine his actual value as a beef animal."

pany awarded a total of $675 in U. S. Savings Bonds to the first five contestants in the steer carcass contest. In addition to Miss Atchley, the second through fifth place winners were: Bobby Harwood of the Adrian, Texas FFA; Elaine Denson, Clay County 4-H Club of Henrietta; Barry Harris, Dawson 4-H Club of Lamesa; and Michelle Tidwell, also of the Dawson 4-H Club.

In the Texas Meat Packers contest steer carcasses had to grade at least U.S.D.A. Choice and Yield Grade 1 or 2; that is an estimated more than 50 percent of the carcass weight in boneless, closely trimmed roasts and steaks. Judging of the carcasses was done by Dr. Frank A. Orts, meat specialist of the Animal Science Department at Texas A & M University.

Wilson said selection of the Grand Champion steer as winner of the carcass contest bore out a statement by Steer Contest Judge Dr. R. A. Long of the Animal Science Department of the University of Georgia that, "the 1968 State Fair of Texas Junior Steer Show was the greatest organized effort I have ever seen to judge live steers on their true value as profitable beef animals."

Miss Atchley's 926-pound Black Angus dressed 627 pounds graded U.S.D.A. Low Prime, with a Yield Grade of 1.46. Rib eye measurement of the carcass was 14.11 square inches, with a fat thickness of only .3 inch. The steer's estimated percent of boneless, closely trimmed roasts and steaks was 53.57 percent, said Dr. Orts.

If all the steers evaluated for the carcass prizes, twenty which graded U.S.D.A. Choice or better had the excellent estimated cut-out percent of 51.5 or better. "As a whole," said Dr. Orts, "I feel the 1968 steers were much more desirable from the standpoint of cutability, especially in fat cover, than they have been in years past."

Carcass details on all 261 steers sold at the State Fair Auction will be provided to Vocational Agriculture teachers and County Agents as an aid to helping 4-H Club members and Future Farmers to better direct their steer feeding projects, said Wilson.

Second place winner in the carcass contest was a Hereford steer owned by Bobby Harwood of the Adrian, FFA Club. The USDA graded the steer as "low choice" — yield grade 1.40 — dressing percentage 63.5 percent. The carcass weight was 593 pounds and the rib eye measurement 13.81 square inches. Fat thickness was .3 inch, and the estimated percent boneless closely trimmed roasts and steaks, 53.86.

Irrigation Has Big Role In Agriculture

By CLIF CHAMBERLAIN Executive Director of Water, Inc.

Reliable estimates indicate that 56 percent of the total value of crops produced in Texas is produced on irrigated land. Only about one fourth (25 percent) of land growing crops that are being harvested in the state is irrigated. Natural underground water bearing formations which are found under about half of the surface area of the state are the principal sources of irrigation water.

Texas A&M University has reported that in 1965, 65 percent of Texas irrigation was located on the High Plains; 17 percent on the Rio Grande Plain, including the Lower Valley and Winter Garden area; 6 percent on the Coastal Prairie, 4 percent on the Rolling Plains, 4 percent in the Trans-Pecos area, 2 percent in stream bottomlands; and 2 percent in other areas.

Irrigation accounts for 100 percent of the rice and citrus production, 66 percent of the grain sorghums, 63 percent of the cotton, 54 percent of the wheat, 46 percent of the barley and 29 percent of the state's corn production. Increased irrigation has been a major change in Texas Agriculture since World War II. The greatest shift to irrigated farming has been on the High Plains.

Uneven distribution of water both in annual rainfall and geographically is a continuing problem in expansion of the state's agricultural and industrial base. Abundant rainfall in Eastern Texas causes surplus runoff into the Gulf. The Western portions of the state have suffered from inadequate supplies and frequent droughts. The statewide water plan now under study must find a way of evening out this mal-distribution.

U. S. Geological Survey, Gazetteer of Texas streams, lists about 3,700 streams with a combined length of 80,000 miles. These streams drain an area of 253,513 square miles within the state.

The large increase in the number of lakes and reservoirs in the state has improved water conservation and increased the usable supply. In 1913 Texas had only 8 major reservoirs, in 1920 there were 11 reservoirs, in 1930 there were 32 reservoirs, 47 in 1940, 66 in 1950, and in October, 1963, Texas had 120 major reservoirs with 27, 121,470 acre-foot storage capacity. In addition 17 were under construction designed to store 15,650,740 acre-feet. These figures are for reservoirs designed to store 5,000 acre-feet or more of water.

The Water Development Board has a big task in putting together a statewide water program. The program must make maximum use of existing water facilities and develop the available statewide supply so as to bring maximum benefit to the state and the nation. For maximum development of our land resources, water from outside the state must be brought in to satisfy the shortage from state resources.

Working with all agencies to get additional water to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico is the job of Water, Inc. With your help we can get the job done.

A Time For Decision

Richard Nixon's major opponent for the presidency, is not, and never has been, a candidate suitable to the people of Texas. Hubert Humphrey's long record of opposition to the Texas right-to-work laws, his consistent opposition to the oil depletion allowance, and his efforts towards the forced unionization of farm labor throughout the nation has not endeared him to the Texas people.

Further, Mr. Humphrey led the filibuster against the Texas tidelands Act of 1953, when President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon were pledged to return the tidelands to state ownership. It is certainly with no thanks to Humphrey that we now have control and ownership of our tidelands which has put millions of dollars into the higher educational institutions of Texas.

Humphrey is also one of the principle organizers of the ADA and his belief in this left-wing organization has not changed. Furthermore, he has called for a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam, which would allow our enemies to receive supplies from the north — the ultimate result being the loss of thousands of additional American lives on the battlefields of South Vietnam. (Six from Deaf Smith County have already died in this Southeast Asian country.) American involvement there may or may not have been right, but the fact is, more than 400,000 troops are committed to the fight; thousands have died, many more thousands have been injured, and a surrender now would only open the door for further "wars of liberation" as the Communist like to call them. Victory, and an honorable peace settlement will come if we continue to maintain pressure on the enemy.

On the other hand, the third party man in the race, American party candidate George C. Wallace, apparently has no program to offer the American people, other than to stop the "rioting in the streets." Certainly, many people in Texas are concerned over the disrespect for law enforcement that has been evident over the past few years and perhaps they see in George Wallace a chance to strike back at the hippies, the yuppies and other kooks who have no greater ambition than to live on welfare and spend time creating havoc. Wallace is appealing to many of these people because of his firm stand on the "law and order" issue. But law and order without "justice" is no better than the situation that now faces this nation. Adolph Hitler's Nazi Germany had "law and order", but few Americans would care to live under the rules imposed by a dictator of his ilk.

1968 is a crucial year. A change is imperative, and Richard Nixon offers the only alternative to a continuation of the fiasco of the past four years, or the uncertainty of the next four with George C. Wallace.

New Attorney General Needed

It has been apparent for some time that this country needs a new Attorney General, one that will uphold the laws of this country and prosecute law violators. The man we have now in that office is soft on lawbreakers, he has failed in many ways to enforce the law, and by his actions and attitude has encouraged the wave of rioting and lawlessness which has plagued this country for the past year.

The latest indication that Attorney General Ramsey Clark is in the wrong job comes from a news story out of St. Paul Minnesota, involving the placing on the ballot Communist Party nominees.

Minnesota Attorney General Douglas Head had barred the placing of Communist presidential and vice-presidential candidates on the ballot in Minnesota, citing the Communist Control Act of 1954 as his authority.

Attorney General Ramsey Clark filed a brief as a "friend of the court" and then issued a ruling from his office that Communists cannot be kept off the ballot.

Clark overlooks the point, that point being that the Communist Control Act of 1954 points out, and the entire history of the Communist Party, shows very clearly that it is "an instrumentality of a conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States."

The Communist Party is not just another political party like the Democrats or Republicans or Constitution or American or the other parties which put up candidates.

The Communist Party, in case Ramsey Clark has forgotten, takes its policies and its orders direct from the Soviet Union party bosses and their ultimate goal is control of the world, including control of the United States.

It is unthinkable that our Attorney General should intervene as a "friend of the court," and thus as a friend of the Communists. We need another man in his office.

The Older Generation

Senator Edmund S. Muskie tells his hecklers about how his father fled Czarist repression in Poland, came to the United States and lived to see his son elected Governor of Maine. The Senator tells his youthful detractors, "That may not justify the American system to you, but it sure did to him."

The anecdote carries a certain eloquence. The Democratic Vice Presidential nominee manages to express a note of perspective many of the older generation would like to repeat to those who presume to speak for youth. To a man with real knowledge of hardship, the American system is likely to look not deplorable but magnificent.

Youth rebels, we are constantly told, against the injustices of the American system. The racial problem, poverty, the war in Vietnam. And who can deny that none of these concerns would exist if the American system were perfect?

How strange, though this catalog of complaints would look to someone like Senator Muskie's father. How would today's "repression" of Negroes look beside the Czar' treatment of the Poles?

How would today's "poverty" look beside that so many immigrants knew, or for that matter beside that many native Americans knew in the Depression.

How would even the war in Vietnam look beside the two world conflagrations the elder Mr. Muskie saw?

How strange, too, that the Negroes, who have known actual injustice, are so conspicuously absent from the foul-mouthed little bands pursuing Senator Muskie and Vice President Humphrey. The hecklers are middle-class college students, the ones so splendidly protected from knowledge of real hardship by the American system. Lacking that knowledge, they think they discover hardship wherever they look. If their candidate loses a political battle, the American system is evil and must be destroyed.

These attitudes leave the older generation feeling that life has somehow cheated them. So many of their sons and daughters seem to be fools incapable of distinguishing between Lyndon Johnson and Adolf Hitler; and what is worse, the older generation has a sinking suspicion about why this is so. We recently heard one of them exclaim — he probably didn't mean it in all of its implication — "a real depression would be good for this country."

Many middle-aged Americans are likely to feel that youth rebels not because it feels deep grievances but precisely because it has never felt any. What troubles the older generation is the nagging thought that this ill-mannered rebellion is reward not for its failures but for its success. The Wall Street Journal

Many Federal Agencies Will Be Making News In 1969

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Next year Internal Revenue Service will experiment with red, white and blue income tax forms, in an effort to direct attention to common trouble spots responsible for most of the 8 million errors made by taxpayers annually. Elsewhere on the Federal front, here is what other agencies are doing to make news:

U. S. Department of Agriculture has made a $40,000 research grant to Cornell University for a two-year study on how various types of families apportion their time. Among other things, the investigation is expected to show which homemakers have time to take an outside job.

If all the trucks and buses in the U. S. were left empty, every man, woman and child in the country could ride at the same time in just the front seat of the 100 million passenger cars now on the road. And the Department of Transportation predicts there will be 18 million more vehicles by 1975.

Census Bureau averages indicate that a man with a college degree may expect a lifetime income of $508,000, compared with $341,000 for one with a high school diploma and $247,000 for a grammar school graduate. During the peak earning period of most men, ages 45 to 54, college graduates had a mean income in 1966 of $14,418, more than double the figure for those with three years or less of high school.

Only about four-fifths of total compensation of the average American worker comes from regular pay. A Labor Department study covering 1966 showed compensation averaging $3.40 an hour, with 81 percent from straight-time pay. Government or private insurance and welfare programs account for the other 10 percent.

Art Repair is Costly Remember back in 1966 when a deranged man slashed four paintings hung at the U. S. Capitol? All have now been restored by the National Gallery of Art, at a cost to taxpayers of $64,000. The most famous canvas, "Scene at the Signing of the Constitution," by Howard Chandler Christy, cost Congress $20,000 when painted in 1939. It cost $44,500 to repair.

Assessment of residential property averaged 35 percent of the actual sales price in 1966, a Census Bureau study showed. However, the ratio varied widely from state to state, with five states assessing at less than 15 percent and 13 states averaging over 50 percent.

Justice Department's National Auto Theft Prevention Campaign, launched in 1967, has produced no turn in the tide yet. Auto thefts were up 17 percent last year. The anti-theft drive will be continued and augmented, aided by a new law banning the mailing of master keys to cars.

In an average year, forest fires damage more than 4 million acres — about the area of New Jersey. Figures are not yet available for this year but a Forest Service report said there was 125,025 fires recorded in forests in 1967, the second highest total since 1960.

27.7 Is Middle-Aged Technically speaking, only those who are 27.7 years old are middle-aged. That is the median age of Americans as of July 1, 1968. Median means half the population is older and half younger. Census Bureau figures indicate a 15-year decline in the median age has stopped. The highest median was 30.3 in 1952.

Marriage rate this year is running close to one per 100 population, the highest in 15 years. There may be 2 million marriages this year. Median age of brides is 20.5 and their husbands 22.8.

Post Office Department received 135,000 complaints in the last fiscal year from people who felt they had been cheated in transactions involving use of the mails. There was a 15 percent increase in complaints during the first half of the year, many involving credit cards and fake accident swindles against insurance companies.

A report from the National Institutes of Health says that the air in U. S. cities is six times more polluted than that in non-urban areas. A human being inhales and exhales about 20 pints of air per minute, including pollutants.

Filibuster And Demonstration

Perfect objectivism is something that no newspaper can attain in political questions. Indeed, some leading newsmen will say that a newspaper has no business in being completely objective when it comes to fighting for what it considers right.

This week, an advertisement in Austin's daily paper outlined a policy that the newspaper would take in accepting political advertising through election day. No attacking issues of a personal nature would be published without the opposition party's knowledge of the advertisement beforehand. No side would be allowed to deal a "killing blow" without giving the other a chance to defend itself.

While this may make a newspaper's advertising policy ethical, such a policy does not necessarily extend into the editorial department. Newspapers have traditionally attempted to influence public opinion one way or another, and their treatment of news events can inherently favor their own position.

This is not particularly in reference to political contests that we regularly witness. Other issues, large or menial, get favored coverage in particular newspapers and other communication media. When communications has a direct interest in the issue, influence can become overt.

For an example, one need look only to this summer's Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Wire services especially carried personal accounts from reporters who were victims of "police brutality." Reporters felt they had been discriminated against because they were treated like other individuals making a scene in the streets. Brutality became a living, breathing issue that deeply concerned the newspaper reporter. He could hardly be expected to take an objective position.

When reporting on criminals was under fire, newsmen protested the possible curtailment of what they considered an unalienable right. Editorials fought to defend the newsmen's interest in printing the news as he saw fit.

Read newspapers and magazines regularly, big ones and little ones, and it becomes obvious that every editor has his own idea of "news," "truth," and "responsibility."

People who think they are informed just because they have read something in print should consider the sources they have consulted before basing their own attitudes on either conservative, liberal, Democratic, or Republican influence alone.

The greater exposure a citizen gets to all conflicting ideas, the greater his appreciation for the right to make up his own mind.

Supporters Tag Humphrey As Nation's Problem Solver

Hubert Horatio Humphrey, Democratic candidate for the presidency, was born May 27, 1911, in Wallace, S. D. in a bedroom over his father's frame drugstore on Main Street.

When he was four his family moved to Doland, another small town nestled amidst the vast prairie farmlands. There he attended public schools, helped out in the store, absorbed his father's love of people and politics, and watched the Great Depression engulf his world.

Humphrey entered the University of Minnesota in 1929, but had to drop out when the Depression struck his family full force. In 1933 he received a degree from Denver College of Pharmacy and for the next four years worked filling prescriptions alongside his father, who had started anew in nearby Huron.

In 1937, he was able to return to the University of Minnesota where he earned his B. A. (magna cum laude) in political science in 1939 and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. The next year he received a master's degree from Louisiana State University. He held a teaching fellowship for a year at the University of Minnesota and later taught at Macalester College. Between teaching jobs he worked for two years for the War Production Administration, becoming an expert in problems of manpower and job retraining.

When he was 34 (in 1945), Humphrey was elected mayor of Minneapolis and won his first national recognition. In 1947 he was re-elected with the largest majority in the city's history. In 1948 he was overwhelmingly elected to the U. S. Senate, and re-elected in 1954 and 1960. He served as Democratic Majority Whip during the Kennedy-Johnson Administration from 1961 through 1964. In 1964 he was elected 38th vice president of the United States.

THE HUMPHREY STAND

Housing — As a Senator he helped shape and pass every major housing bill from 1949 to 1964. It was he who first proposed setting up a Cabinet level agency to deal with urban problems. This initiative led eventually to the new Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Law Enforcement — As mayor, Humphrey modernized, professionalized and strengthened the Minneapolis Police Department and led a successful attack on organized crime. As a result of this effort, he received an award from the FBI for effective law enforcement. As vice president, he has worked closely with mayors, police chiefs and other local officials to improve methods of crime prevention and control.

War on Poverty — As Majority Whip, Humphrey led the drive for the fight against poverty. One of his last acts as a Senator was to clear the way for passage of Head Start, the program to help pre-school children. As vice president he has been a prime overseer of the course of the War on Poverty.

Education — Federal aid to education has had the support of Humphrey since he entered the Senate. In his freshman year he introduced a bill authorizing federal help for the building of elementary and secondary schools. In 1952 he co-sponsored a bill to set up a federal scholarship program for college students. In 1957 he proposed programs for federal scholarships, loans to students and direct grants to colleges. These proposals later became part of the National Defense Education Act.

Medicare and Security for Senior Citizens — In his first bill as Senator in 1949, Humphrey proposed a program of health insurance for the elderly to be financed through Social Security. Sixteen years later the substance of his pioneering ideas emerged as Medicare.

Human Rights — Humphrey is no newcomer to the problems of securing and guaranteeing civil rights for all. He began his efforts as Mayor of Minneapolis. Then he risked his political career at the 1948 Democratic convention, spearheading a successful fight for a strong civil rights platform plank. The culmination of his 16 years as the chief spokesman for human rights in the Senate came when he was Floor Manager for the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 — the most important rights legislation of this century.

CITIZEN OF MONTH — Earnest Langley, left, is presented the "Citizen of the Month" award by Clint Formby at the regular Kiwanis noon luncheon, Thursday.

Monthly Retirement Benefits Must Be Requested From SS

Social Security benefits don't start automatically when you retire. This may seem strange since the social security contribution comes out of the pay check without the worker requesting it, but the monthly retirement benefits do have to be requested. Along with the application certain proofs have to be furnished, according to Travis C. Briggs, district manager of the Amarillo social security office. What does a person need to get his retirement check started? Briggs says that along with his social security card, proof of a person's age should always be brought with him when he files.

Most people decide to file a claim the first trip to the social security office after they see how simple it is, Briggs says, even though they were just inquiring about how to file. Usually one visit is all that is needed if the necessary proofs are brought along. If the spouse and children are also claiming benefits, they will need proof of their age.

Since most people in this area don't have a birth certificate recorded near the time of birth, they usually need two old documents showing their age, the older the document the better. Baptismal records, family Bibles, school records, insurance policies, marriage licenses, and practically any other old document showing the person's age can be used to establish his date of birth. If the person was baptized near birth and this was recorded by the church, this baptismal record is considered excellent proof by the Social Security Administration and must be obtained.

Briggs says that your last year's W-2 Form, or tax return, if you were self-employed should also be brought with you when you plan to apply for social security. The W-2 form is the statement of earnings furnished to employees at the end of each year by the employer.

American Party Tells Voter Of Ballot Change

Governor George C. Wallace today urged voters not to write in the name of General Curtis LeMay for vice president on their ballots.

"Just mark the section of your ballot that is reserved for George C. Wallace and you will automatically be casting a vote for General LeMay for Vice President," Wallace said.

He warned against striking out the name of Governor Marvin Griffin, which is on the ballots in several states because of earlier ballot position requirements.

"There are several ways to waste your vote," the former Alabama governor said. "One is to cast it for the national Democrats or national Republicans who have led us into the foreign and domestic mess we face today. Another is to change your ballot from the way it appears. Just mark the section that has George C. Wallace in it, and that is all you must do. Do not write in General LeMay's name," he said.

The Governor said he had received reports that Republican and Democratic party workers "are giving some misleading information in this regard. We just want to be sure that the public understands the situation," Wallace said.

Although Griffin's name appears on the ballot in a number of states Wallace will commend the name of General Curtis E. LeMay to his electors, who, under the Constitution, are free agents and may vote for whomever they choose.

"In the few states where state laws specifically bind the electors to the person named on the ballot, Governor Griffin will officially resign following the election, leaving the electors absolutely free and clear to cast their votes for General LeMay," Governor Wallace said.

how agricultural research serves the nation. Agricultural scientists working with American farmers and American agriculture, keep your market basket filled with food, develop new products for your convenience, play a leading role in revitalizing rural communities, and build better agricultures in poor nations," says Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

American agriculture is the world's biggest storehouse and research factory for agricultural knowledge, notes the Secretary. But, he adds, we must continue to make new discoveries and applications of science in the production and use of food, fiber and forest products.

Outlined under such headings as "Abundance for All; City and Country; Natural Resources; Growing Nations and World Trade and for Better Living," the Yearbook presents in very readable form how agricultural research benefits each of us in our daily lives. It improves the food we eat, the clothes we wear, our water and air, the wood used to build our homes and the plants and trees that make our surroundings more livable, points out the book's preface.

Dramatic, readable case histories of research — most of which has taken place in the last five years or so — are featured in the yearbook. One of the book's 83 chapters tells how space satellites may help farmers of the future.

U. S. Senators and Congressmen have limited numbers of copies of the Yearbook for free distribution to constituents. Copies are also available for $3 each from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402

Whitaker Art Will Be On TV

Paintings by Jerry Don Whitaker of Hereford, senior art major in West Texas State University, are to be shown daily next week on the "Rain-Brent" program from an Amarillo television station, and the painter will be interviewed on the program Wednesday broadcast, 12:30 to 1 p. m.

Whitaker, son of Mrs. Charles Laing of Hereford, has had his paintings shown in a number of galleries and on national displays of art. He had two paintings accepted by the Texas Watercolor Society for its show last spring in the Witte Museum at San Antonio.

A member of Kappa Phi national art fraternity, he is a pledge of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. He was graduated from Hereford High School in 1962 and expects to receive his degree from WTSU in the spring, with a second major in psychology and a minor in English.

Vietnam Veteran Feels That Bombing Halt Questionable

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

U. S. Air Force Staff Sgt. James Faulkner, who has returned from his tour of duty in Vietnam and is now on his way to England for a two-year tour of duty at Alcombury Royal Air Force base in the Cambridge-Stamford area after a leave in Hereford with his wife, stated in his opinion concerning President Johnson's total bombing halt of North Vietnam:

U. S. Air Force Staff Sgt. James Faulkner . . . expresses his views on President Johnson's North Vietnam bombing halt.

"If it would, in effect, bring a peaceful move, then I am for it. But we have already seen the results of a bombing halt last May. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have a chance to build up their offensives. From past experiences, the halt of the bombing of North Vietnam can only bring more casualties and heartaches to the people of the United States."

But Sgt. Faulkner was not in total disagreement with the president's methods on stopping the war completely. "I agree with President Johnson in the need for solid and positive actions, shown by Hanoi, that acts cut down infiltration of the war. At which time, I feel the bombing halt will be justified." He said this was the common opinion of the servicemen stationed in South Vietnam now.

Sgt. Faulkner, who graduated from Dimmitt High School — his parents are the James E. Faulkners of Dimmitt — enlisted in the Air Force at Amarillo in January 1965, and took his basic training at Lackland Military Center in San Antonio. He was returned to Amarillo Air Force Base for technical training in the administrative career field, and after 16 weeks was shipped to Clark AFB in the Philippine Islands, attached to the 13th Air Force (known as the Jungle Air Force for the Pacific), where he remained for 18 months.

At Clark, which was made famous during the Japanese attack on the islands at the beginning of World War II, Faulkner received the Air Force Commendation Medal for services performed there while handling all Vietnam casualties in 1965. (He is now up for First Oak Leaf Cluster for the Air Commendation Medal as supervisor in section assignment in Vietnam.)

Afterward, he was reassigned to Washington D. C. While stationed there he married the former Janice Brittain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brittain of 523 Irving, Hereford. When he was shipped to Vietnam last October, Mrs. Faulkner returned to Hereford to stay with her parents.

In Saigon, Sgt. Faulkner was assigned to the Saigon Aerial Military Terminal. There, he said, "we processed the majority of incoming and outgoing mail for the servicemen." He described it as the largest mail terminal in the world. "We never get caught up." He was non-commissioned officer in charge of the APO breakdown section. His duties were to supervise and process all incoming mail for more than 175 APO's located in South Vietnam.

During an offensive in January and February, he said that one man under his supervision was wounded by a Russian-made 122mm rocket. "We were required to put a guard on detail at the Aerial Terminal — at which time three buildings in the terminal were struck by rockets and mortar fire."

MAIL AND MORALE

Questioned on the importance of mail Sgt. Faulkner responded immediately: "Mail is one of the most important elements to morale and welfare to all the men in Vietnam. Myself, I looked forward more to my wife's letters than my pay check."

On the subject of the morale of the men stationed in Vietnam, he said, "Demonstrators — particularly those in racial demonstrations — have a great affect in Vietnam on both the colored and the white. They definitely have an affect on their duties." He was referring to demonstrations that have arisen in various parts of the United States and pointed out that stories about them are published in Stars and Stripes, where the serviceman can "keep up with home" as well as if he were still here. "The demonstrations do have an affect not only on morale but the feelings and working atmosphere among all the men."

He reiterated, "Let's face it, it's there!"

Faulkner recalled the situation when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated in June. "When he was killed, there was a lot of tension in Vietnam." He said that it was also a "big shock and deeply regretted" when Sen. Robert Kennedy was assassinated, "but there was not the same tension between individuals at that time as with King."

He said that it would do all the demonstrators — "who are not going to fight in Vietnam" — much good to see the situation in Vietnam. "They could compare South Vietnam with the niceties we have in the United States — that we take for granted. Then they wouldn't be so willing to let the Yippies and hippies take them away from (our home)."

Did Sgt. Faulkner believe this country should be involved in Vietnam? "I would much prefer to be fighting 14,000 miles from home than right here where my family is. I believe the cause of Vietnam is justified. Otherwise, Communism will spread and there is every possibility we will have to fight it closer to home or here."

He brought up the subject of black market operations — which has been debated by several Hereford servicemen in the Brand for the past several

Satellite Day Care Officials Decide On Transportation

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Satellite Day Care board of directors decided on a system of transportation for some of the pupils who have difficulties attending classes because of conflicting working hours of their parents, and a system they believe might make it possible for others to attend who are not now enrolled.

Don Chaney was named Transportation Coordinator, in charge of a plan that would recruit volunteer drivers for either the morning or afternoon sessions of the classes. These drivers would space their time on a three-month basis of one-day-each-week — the same system as used by the teacher-aide volunteers.

Chaney's plans are to check possibilities of volunteers from the local churches and civic clubs. Both men and women will be used in the project.

Chaney can be reached at 364-1860 (Radio Station KPAN).

Chairman Neil Cooper reported that arrangements have been worked out for two of the pupils — having them transported via taxi each day with the bill being paid by Hereford Lions Club — but said that he believed this practice would become too expensive over a period of time. Mrs. Nedra Higginbotham, teacher-aide volunteer coordinator, reported that people have responded to the needs of her responsibility in the program in such fashion that she feels there will be those equally as willing to volunteer for transportation on a gratis basis.

Satellite Day Care classes are state-sponsored programs for preschool and post-school aged mentally retardates — and those who are not considered trainable in the public school special education classes.

Board meeting was held at the First Christian Church of Hereford, where the classes are conducted five days each week. Mrs. Maxine Thompson, teacher of both classes, reported months:

"The black market will always be in overseas areas — in all countries where there are overseas military bases." As an example, he pointed out the Philippine Islands "as a big one."

"It doesn't have to be in a war zone," he said, "or in wartime. Black market operations have followed the military throughout history. It is nothing new."

here are now 5 pupils in each of the two classes.

Board members present were Chaney, Mrs. Andrew Kershen, Earl Moseley, Rev. C. W. Allen, County Commissioner Bruce Coleman, Mrs. Alexene Garlitz, Mrs. Higginbotham, Cooper and Mrs. Thompson.

Cooper reported that the Satellite Day Care program had received a check for $75 from the Hereford Kiwanis Club for additional needs of the classes and that a bank account had been opened by Secretary Ed Line — who was unable to attend the meeting due to illness.

Cooper also reported that Curtis Hollis, state director, had planned to attend but could not do so because the Amarillo school was in the process of moving to its new location. Vice-chairman Fred Howard was also unavailable due to his being out of the city.

"The school is running very well," Cooper said, "and Mrs. Thompson is doing a fine job."

Mrs. Thompson told of the Halloween party that had been given for the children there and said that she would like to have other parties for them "but would need help" from others to make this possible.

She said that she also needed balance beams (from old wooden barrels which are now almost extinct), balls of volleyball and basketball size, and tricycles. Money gifts are also appreciated."

Commissioner Coleman, who is a member of First Christian Church and largely instrumental in having the class space donated there, issued a statement to the news media present that he had "been leery of government and state-financed programs in the past. But for such programs as these — and those in the public schools all over the country that cover many facets of education — we should pat the government and state on the back."

Following the meeting, an inspection tour was made of both classroom spaces and Commissioner Coleman gave a tour of the entire church building.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Our forefathers of just a few years back gave us in principle what our nation is today. One dominating factor which stood out among those founding fathers was the conscientiousness of the God to rule in the hearts of men, if our society was to be free. One of our great leaders, William Penn, expressed this truth in these words: "If we will not be governed by God, then we will be ruled by tyrants."

God-fearing men in a free society are subject to the leadership of God even in international affairs. For the Bible declares in Psalms 33:12, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He hath chosen for His own inheritance."

When God rules in the hearts of men, especially in places of authority, that nation provokes the watch — care and providence of God. But when men consider the wisdom of God as foolishness, then we understand why King Solomon wrote in Proverbs, "When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked bear rule the people mourn."

What happens to a society that refuses to recognize God's sverign place in national and international affairs? He treats them as He would an individual. That nation is turned over to Satan for the destruction of the flesh. "As the backslider is filled with his own ways and the dog is turned unto his own vomit, so that nation must reap what it has sown."

Let me be more specific: Where does the responsibility rest for the securing of God-fearing men to lead our nation? My friend, it rests with you — the man in the voting booth. The responsibility of the voter is not simply a liberty but a divine obligation. And let me say right here, that there is only one thing worse than voting for the wrong man, "and that's not voting at all."

Someone might say, "I don't know who to vote for?" Your responsibility is to get the facts and get down on your knees and find out. And while we are here, let me say that for some, this may be too much; and so they play it safe by voting for the old establishment. This is not the answer either. There must be a positive approach to the matter of selecting the right leaders.

Perhaps we don't see the seriousness of selecting the proper leaders because there is less likely to be any personal sin attached to the office of President when that man or men during the course of office become irresponsible. It's simply his administration that either takes the credit for righteous government or shoulders the responsibility for unrighteous rule. Nevertheless, the weight of guilt for the lack of responsible leaders rests with us, the voter, Mr. John Q. American.

I realize for some the act of voting is merely deemed to be the American Way of Life. But, my friend, this is far from the truth. The act of making a free choice in the voting booth is one founded upon the Scriptures and not as a direct result of an advanced civilization.

I read in my Bible that when men wanted God's choice in the selection of a leader, that they prayed and then rehearsed among themselves the fact that God had already made that selection — and that they were God-fearing enough to want His choice above their own.

Listen to the scripture in Acts, chapter one: "Wherefore are these men... must one be ordained...?" And they prayed and said, Thou, Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these... thou hast chosen!"

You might say, "Preacher, you mean to tell me that God has already made his selection of who should be President of these United States?" And I must answer you, unreservedly, "Yes, I do." For I read in my Bible... All the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing, and he doeth according to his will in the Army of Heaven and among the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay His hand or say unto Him, What does't thou?"

And again from the Book of Daniel, chapter 4, we read the reason why... To the intent that the living may know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men and giveth it to whomsoever He will... The sovereign right of God to rule in the hearts of men is reiterated from the Book of Psalms, chapter 75: 6-7; "For promotion cometh neither from the east, nor from the west, nor from the south. But God is the judge: He putteth down one, and setteth up another."

I think that these facts are conclusive, in that God is the author of civil government, and the government that He desires, is to be a righteous one, with righteous men bearing rule. Secondly, that we are responsible for the selection of our leaders and the peoples of America should be conscious of God's Will in the selection, seeing that God has already made His choice.

What about a nation which was so corrupted itself in high places, who loses the blessings and watch-care of God, seeing they have excluded Him from their society saying He is dead! Taking Him out of education by creating a hostile environment for boys and girls who believe that God spoke the worlds into existence, and that consequently we no longer have the divine right and responsibility to utter a simple prayer in recognition of this fact in the classroom.

What about a nation whose highest court has ruled it unconstitutional to read the Bible in the schoolhouse? What about a nation whose leaders and future leaders no longer maintain the concept that if men are to remain free, we should recognize God as the author and sustainer of good civil government.

When election time comes around, is it possible that a nation could have so corrupted itself to the extent that they are more interested in voting for the candidate who is more likely to win, rather than vote for the man who best fulfills those divine qualities which make for good leadership and righteous rule.

Wallace Makes His Bid For Presidency

George Corley Wallace, candidate of the American Party for the United States presidency, was born at Clio, Ala., on Aug. 25, 1919, the son of a dirt farmer.

George Wallace... American Party leader.

As a youth he did chores on the farm and later served as a Page in the State Senate. Wallace was quarterback on the Barbour County High School football team and twice won the Southern Golden Gloves bantam-weight boxing championship.

He worked his way through the University of Alabama by waiting on tables and helping out in the kitchen. He was president of the Freshman Class, captain of the baseball and boxing teams, finalist in the Student Debating Tournament, president of the Spirit Committee, member of Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity and member of the Law School Honor Court.

Gov. Wallace received his law degree in 1942 and then saw heavy combat duty as a B-29 Flight Sergeant in World War II. During his military service, he married Lurleen Burns of Tuscaloosa.

Following the war, Wallace became an assistant attorney general in Alabama and at the age of 27 was elected to the Alabama House of Representatives, where he served with distinction. In 1953, he was elected Judge of the Third Judicial Circuit of Alabama, becoming the youngest Circuit Judge in the nation.

He was elected Governor of Alabama in 1962 and during his administration (1963-1967), Alabama enjoyed record-breaking growth in industry, education, highway construction and other phases of state government.

THE WALLACE STAND

States Rights — "I recommend that the states of the Union continue to determine the policies of their domestic institutions themselves and that the bureaucrats and theoreticians in Washington let people in Ohio and New York and California decide themselves... what type of school system they are going to have. I recommend states rights and local government, and territorial democracy."

Crime — "The first thing I would do as President is to make an announcement that I'd give my moral support as President to the policemen of this country and to the firemen of the country. I'd say, 'We stand behind you because you are the thin line between complete anarchy in the streets and the physical safety of our person.'"

Vietnam — "I think the first thing we ought to do in this country is to impress upon

Wynn Running For Post Of Atty. General

Sproesser Wynn, 54-year-old resident of Fort Worth, is the Republican candidate for Attorney General of Texas.

Wynn received his bachelor's degree from Texas Christian University, and his law degree from the University of Texas School of Law. He has practiced law actively for 33 years, is past president of the Texas Social Welfare Association, chairman of the Welfare Section of the Governor's Committee to White House Conference on Children and Youth, and former chairman of the Family Section of the State Bar of Texas.

Asked by The League of Women Voters of Texas, "What are your major goals for this office," Wynn said "First, to give voters of Texas a choice; to prove, if it is a fact, that Hanoi and Peking and Moscow the resolve of the American people. These few people today who are out advocating sedition and raising money and clothes and supplies for the Viet Cong—these college professor who are making speeches advocating victory for the Viet Cong Communists — I would deal with these people as they ought to be dealt with, as traitors."

Legionaires Plan For Armistice Day

Hereford American Legion Post 192 will have a breakfast at their post house in Veterans Memorial Park from 6 to 8:30 a. m. on Monday, NOV. 11.

All veterans and their wives are invited to attend the breakfast — including World Wars I and II, and the Korean and Vietnam wars. It has been described as a breakfast for all veterans, whether they are members of the American Legion or not.

Ira W. Ott of 120 Northwest Drive has reminded the Brand that Nov. 11 is Armistice Day. It has been 50 years since the end of World War I — and it has also been a half-century since the organization of the American Legion.

Ott is one of the Hereford veterans of that war. He was a mechanic in the legendary Lafayette Escadrille in France during that time. (Ott's adventures in the war were published by the Brand in two parts in May and was recently reprinted in the Texas Legion News.)

Legion News has reminded that "the leaves had fallen from the trees of Compiegne Forest at Rethondes, where two railway trains waited in the dawn mist. It was close to 5 a. m. on November 11, 1918. In a car of one of the trains sat a tired group of men, about to sign a document over which they had haggled through the night. There was no riding up of generals on spirited steeds, no surrendering of swords, but soon, at 11 a. m., the greatest war in history would be over."

"The Germans, who had plunged into the struggle with heady optimism, were beaten, and Matthias Erzberger, leader of their delegation, knew he must yield to Foch's demands."

"I saw Erzberger brandish his pen and grind his teeth," Foch wrote later. "I was then glad that I had exerted my will... for the business was settled."

"History was to prove sadly that the business was not settled, but both Geman and Allied soldiers along the line felt an unforgettable joy and relief that, at last, all was quiet on the Western Front."

WINNER AND LOSER
WORLAND, Wyo. — Newell Sargent of Worland won and lost an election in Wyoming's primary. Sargent, an incumbent state legislator, was defeated in his bid for renomination in the Republican primary. But he had better luck in running for the city council. He won that nomination without any opposition.

HIS OWN METHOD
LEBANON, Ky. (AP) — One of the third grade students at St. Joseph School was sent outside to empty the wastebaskets. He was back in a few moments, much to the surprise of the teacher, who remarked "you couldn't have emptied them that fast." "They didn't need emptying," the lad replied, "they just needed stepping in."

Nixon Offers Solutions To World Problems Of Today

Richard Milhous Nixon, Republican candidate for the presidency, was born Jan. 9, 1913, in Yorba Linda, Calif.

An outstanding student, Nixon went to school in Whittier, Calif., and graduated second in his class from Whittier College in 1934. Collecting a scholarship to the newly formed Duke Law School, he was graduated with honors in 1937.

Nixon practiced law for five years in Whittier and volunteered for service in the Navy after the attack on Pearl Harbor. His military record includes two South Pacific Battle Stars and two commendations.

Nixon became a United States Representative in 1947, and was elected as U. S. Senator in 1951. He became vice president of the U.S. in 1953, serving in that capacity until 1961.

As vice president, Nixon arbitrated crucial steel strike of 1959; debated Khrushchev at American Exhibit in Moscow; received greatest welcome any Westerner ever received in Poland (1959), and won praise for statesmanlike handling of crises in three Presidential illnesses.

THE NIXON STAND

Vietnam — "Every American wants peace. We must end this war in a way that discourages aggression and prevents future wars."

Foreign Affairs — "The judgments of history can bestow no honor greater than the title of peace-maker. It is this honor — this destiny that beckons America, the chance to lead the world at last out of turmoil and onto that plateau of peace man has dreamed about since the dawn of time."

The Draft — "After Vietnam, eliminate Selective Service completely. Change to an all-volunteer armed force, with better pay so that it becomes an attractive career."

The Pueblo — "When respect for America falls so low that a fourth-rate military power like North Korea dares to seize an American naval vessel on the high seas, then it's time for new leadership in Washington."

The Presidency — "He must reach out and draw on the strength of the people."

The People — "America became great because for 100 years we have recognized that progress is achieved not through government doing more for people, but through people doing more for themselves."

Rising Crime — "In recent years crime in this country has grown nine times as fast as the population. We must take the offensive against criminal forces and rebuild respect for law and order in America, not the order that suppresses dissent and discourages change but the order which guarantees the right to dissent and provides the basis for peaceful change and progress."

False Promises — "We've had enough of big promises and little action. The time has come for honest government in the United States."

Farm Crisis — "Enlarge the farmer's opportunity to manage his own affairs and give him a greater voice in shaping his own future."

Black Capitalism — "Black Americans do not want more government programs which perpetuate dependency — they want a piece of the action. Let government use its tax and credit policies to enlist the greatest engine of progress — American private enterprise."

Bobby Boyd, left defensive end of the Baltimore Colts, started the present football season as the active leader in yards gained through interceptions. In eight years he netted 834 yards with 49 stolen passes.

Twelve California athletes carried off honors in the final track and field trials on the way to the 1968 Olympics.

Fullback Jim DeWitt of Yale also handles the Eli place kicking.

Bob Price Seeking Return To Congress

Bob Price is a man on the go, supporters say. The 18th District Congressman has been described as a dynamic young leader.

In his first term as U. S. Representative, Bob Price had one of the highest attendance and voting records of any member of the 90th Congress, and was cited by House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford. Price scored 96 percent on roll call votes in the first session and topped that mark with 97 percent during the second session this year. Priced missed only 10 of a total of 245 votes in the first session and six out of 228 in the second.

In addition to praise from his party for attendance and voting excellence, Price was also congratulated for his outstanding economy voting record recently. He was presented the "Watchdog of the Treasury" award by the National Association of Businessmen, Inc., a non-partisan organization made up principally of small business firms.

"Your votes against inflationary spending merit our appreciation," John C. Mason, President of the Association told Price in making the award. "Your economy voting record is a constructive achievement of which you and the voters who sent you to Washington should be very proud," Mason said.

Bob Price was elected to the United States House of Representatives in 1966. A graduate of Oklahoma State University, the Congressman served as a U. S. Air Force jet fighter pilot during the Korean Conflict where he was awarded the Air Medal for his combat mission. At the conclusion of his active duty, he and his wife, Marty, returned to Pampa where he owns and operates a ranch and where he was also active in numerous civic, business, fraternal, and youth organizations.

He also taught a large men's Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church in Pampa where Bob, his wife, Marty, and three children were active members. Bob Price is the only Member of Congress who has flown faster than Mach-2 (2,800 mph) in both of our latest jet fighters FORD RECEPTION — Frank Ford (third from left) is explaining to Ginalu Hamilton the state expenses and taxes now involved in the state government, as Jerry Tucker of Dumas and Joe Shollenbarger of Hereford look on. Ford was honored at a public reception at Republican Headquarters in Hereford Friday afternoon.

Ford Covers Issues At Reception Friday

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Frank Ford, who is candidate for State Representative of the 2nd District, spoke at a public reception held in his honor at Republican Headquarters in Hereford Friday afternoon on the six major points of his campaign.

Ford spoke on water importation, educational needs, crime prevention, economic growth, daylight saving time, and Texas Constitutional Amendments.

He also indicated his experience and knowledge toward solving these issues from prior service as Bill Clerk in the Texas Legislature, Army service, and as assistant manager of an irrigation equipment company, and current business and civic enterprises as head of Arrowhead Mills, work with the Boy Scouts, and education in agriculture among other activities.

On water importation, Ford said that "many of the committees on which my opponent is serving involving water importation are not legislative committees. I believe these are important committees that my opponent could dedicate his position without the strains my representation is going to be placed." He said that he felt his opponent's knowledge of people and problems in water planning could best be utilized in a state water post, and that he would support him in such a job.

"But it is also important to remove water importation from partisan politics," Ford stated, "as far as possible. My opponent can be far more effective in an appointed job which will remove the temptation of partisanship and allow us to get along with the job at hand."

Ford said that he was well aware of the importance of water, especially to the 72nd Dis-

"The best way to see that we have a strong economy in the 1970's," he continued his speech, "is to see that our young people have the education which will qualify them for the jobs of the 1970's."

Ford, a graduate of Texas A & M University, strongly indicated his belief that advancement in education is equally as important as water importation, especially for an area where the two major industries are livestock and agriculture. "We need bi-lingual education in many areas, adequate pay for teachers, and increased emphasis on vocational education."

Continuing with the point of crime rates, he pointed out that "respect for the law begins in the home. And I would like to see people give 10 percent of their spare time to working with young people."

He said, "We must have adequate salaries to hire and retain qualified personnel in local and state law enforcement, and we must elect a president who will appoint an attorney general and Supreme Court justices who believe that the rights of law-abiding citizens must also be protected."

Rural areas of our nation must be strengthened "as the cities are already overcrowded," he said. "This means that all our raw materials that agriculture produces should be processed in our own rural areas."

Ford stressed this point for future economic growth — attracting and maintaining industries in District 72 that will benefit the majority of the residents who have their homes established and for those who will be moving into the area through population expansion.

Strongly opposed to Daylight

Saving Time, Ford stated, "The main hardship (with it), is in our children — especially those who have to get out on the bus routes in the dark in the spring and fall. It is a hardship on mothers who have to put children to bed with the sun coming in the window in the summer."

"Furthermore, it is a hardship on farmers who find parts houses closed when the sun is still high in the sky. And it's been extremely hard on many types of businesses in Texas. The people have never been for it — and especially those in this area who live right next door to Mountain Standard Time."

He felt that it was far more a hardship here than in areas across the eastern part of the state, who achieve darkness much earlier than do the counties situated along the New Mexico state line.

And on the Constitutional Amendments, Ford is urging the people not to vote for the amendment to raise legislators' salaries "because we have too many things that are more important. The other amendment which I oppose is the amendment on the tobacco tax in Texas, which is typical of these special interest's ap-

Tucker Is District Attorney Candidate

Jerry R. Tucker, Dumas attorney who is the Republican candidate for 69th Judicial District Attorney, has lived in Dumas and practiced law there for the past four years. Prior to that time, he was research law clerk for the late Federal District Judge Joseph B. Dooley in Amarillo for one year.

Tucker is originally from Ocimont.

He was born in Ocimont, Georgia, where he was born April 4, 1936. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Tucker Sr. (his father was a distributor for Pure Oil Company prior to his retirement), he graduated from high school there in 1954 as honor student and valedictorian, and president of Student Government.

A member of the Methodist Church, an Eagle Scout and officer and member of several youth organizations, he entered Emory University at Atlanta where he received his AB Degree in 1958 and is LL.B. Degree in 1961. He majored in Political Science prior to entering law school.

Tucker passed his Georgia Bar Examination in February 1961 and was admitted to practice before all state courts there and Federal District Court. He became research clerk for a law firm in Atlanta before becoming an associate with a law firm at Valdosta, Ga. in January 1962. He became law clerk for the late Judge Dooley in April 1963. In April 1964, he became an associate with the law firm of Lovell & Lyle at Dumas, and is presently located in offices with C. D. Bourne Jr. in Dumas under the firm name of Bourne & Tucker.

He has been in general law practice with emphasis on business and banking law, real estate, municipal law, and estate work.

Tucker's civic activities include being a member of the Dumas Lions Club, past director of the Dumas Junior Chamber of Commerce, First Methodist Church there where he is a Sunday School teacher, choir director and on the official board; Dale Carnegie Course class president and award winner, Dumas Chamber of Commerce committee chairman, and president of the Dumas group of the Texas Young Republican Federation.

Tucker and his wife, a native of Fort Worth, have three sons.

DOGGONE CARELESS TRIVANDRUM, India — Police dogs in Kerala state are NOT infallible. Chief Minister E. M. S. Nambudiripad told the state assembly the dogs made a mistake in at least one out of 41 cases in the detection of crime during the past year.

Ford Supports His Opponent For Job

Frank Ford, candidate for State Representative who is opposing Rep. Bill Clayton in the general election, stated that "Rep. Clayton's knowledge of the people and problems in water planning could best be utilized in a state water post, and that Ford will support him for such a job."

"My opponent has been given important committee posts recently on several committees that are not legislative. These committees are going to take a lot of work, and I intend to do my best to relieve him of the hundreds of other issues which our representative must handle, so he can devote full time to this most important problem," said Ford.

"I have stated several times," Ford continued, "that I will work wholeheartedly with my opponent and all other interested people in this important field, and I firmly believe that our total effort toward water importation will be strengthened, not weakened, by removing this issue from the strains and stresses of partisan, elective politics."

"Texas has fallen from 40th to 44th in literacy in the last eight years, and education must receive priority attention. I intend to vote against any pay increases for legislators until the legitimate functions of state government are supported properly. Too much of our tax money has been drained off for the special interests of one-party monopoly in the past few years."

Shuval Wages Hard Drive For DA Post

Andy Shuval, Hereford attorney, reported that he had spent a busy week campaigning in Dumas, Dalhart and Hereford.

At Dumas during the earlier part of the week, Shuval's campaign trail crossed that of Lt. Gov. Preston Smith. Also in Dumas, Shuval said that he and his wife Betty campaigned door-to-door among the voters. "The response was terrific," Shuval said. "The enthusiasm and support we have received in Dumas is far beyond our proudest hopes. My friends tell me that I will carry Dumas by a substantial margin. But I am more conservative. Elections are only won on election day by the people's votes, not by predictions."

Shuval stated that he regretted the district was too large to see every voter. "I want everyone to know that I'd appreciate their vote although I have not been able to see everyone in person."

When asked how he thought he was doing in the rest of the district, Shuval replied, "The Dalhart newspaper has endorsed me and the people of Dallam County have been very nice to Betty and I. In Vega — in fact, all through the district — we have been received with enthusiasm. From all reports of our friends we are doing very well in all the counties, with the possible exception of Sherman County. But some insist that I am being too cautious."

Shuval said that he and Betty would spend the last few days campaigning in Hereford. He said that one thing he regretted was that he had to miss dove season this year.

Shuval is a 1960 graduate of Texas A & M. He attended the University of Texas Law School and opened his own law office for private practice in Hereford in 1965.

He is a veteran of four years service in the U. S. Air Force. Shuval is an active Democrat and has held various state and regional offices in the Democratic Party. He is one of three young Texans given a special plaque of recognition by the Texas Young Democrats for his leadership and contributions to the Party.

Shuval is a member of the Lions Club, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Education Committee, past chairman of the business division of the Cancer Crusade and the immediate past president of the Hereford Riders Club.

He attended Harvard University after graduating from high school in New Hampshire. He also taught school in Bruni, Texas. Shuval reported to the Brand that word has reached him that "he is supposed to defend one of the men charged with rape who is set for trial soon" involving a current local case. This is not so, he stated, especially in view of the fact he may become district attorney and be placed in the role of prosecutor. In light of this situation, he said, it would be impossible for him to represent the defendants.

HOUSEHOLD SCRIPTURE
SHAUGH PRIOR, England — Helping his wife wash the dishes, the Rev. John Byrnell protested, "This isn't a man's job." "Oh yes, it is," his wife retorted, quoting II Kings 21:13. And I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down. Describing the incident in his parish magazine, the minister said he was so surprised he dropped the plate.

Stevens-Kaul Marriage Solemnized In Church

The marriage of Mary Elizabeth Stevens, 99 Westhaven, and Larry Carroll Kaul, Route 5, was solemnized in Avenue Baptist Church Friday evening with the Rev. Ronald Harpster, pastor, conducting the ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Ruby Crawford of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul, 128 Avenue J.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico points, Mr. and Mrs. Kaul will be at home November 6 at 504 Avenue G. He is with Cramer-Campbell Real Estate and she is an employe of Harold Close Drug. Roses and green foliage decorated the church altar for the marriage service. The bride was attended by Mrs. Gene Combs as matron of honor and the bridegroom's brother, Walter L. Kaul, acted as his best man. Jimmy Northcutt of Lubbock and Gene Combs ushered guests to their seats. Wedding music was by Mrs. Bill Wall, organist, who played Whither Thou Goest, Wedding Prayer, More and the marches. A dress and matching coat of yellow bonded eyelet embroidery were worn by the bride. Cuffs of the coat's bell sleeves were outlined with mink, like the trim on her hat. The coat was fashioned on straight lines with mandarin collar and fastened just below the neckline with two large buttons and loops. Pearl earrings she wore were the bridegroom's gift. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations backed with brown oak leaves. Mrs. Combs' suit was of beige and brown, worn with brown accessories and mink hat. A cluster of yellow carnations was pinned at the shoulder line. Mrs. Crawford chose for her daughter's wedding a suit in turquoise shade while the bridegroom's mother wore beige with box-pleated skirt. Both had white carnation corsages. They greeted guests with the newly married couple at a reception in First National Community Room after the wedding. Mrs. Glen Lee of Muleshoe, the bride's sister, was at the registry. Mrs. Bob T. Adams and Miss Joyce Schencks served cake and punch from a table covered with white lace over yellow and centered with yellow gladiolas and white carnations. The four-tiered cake was iced in pale yellow with white sugar bells and lilies-of-the-valley. For travel Mrs. Kaul wore beige with black accents and a corsage of yellow roses and oak leaves. In addition to the bride's mother, out-of-city guests included Mrs. Marie Henderson and Miss Darlene Henderson of Muleshoe. The rehearsal supper was served Wednesday evening in the home of the bridegroom's parents. Present with the honored couple and the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Solomon, Mr. and Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Wall, Miss Schencks and Walter L. Kaul.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hamby announce the marriage of their daughter, Norma Waits, to Troy W. Farquhar, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Farquhar of Lamar, Ark. The Rev. Gene Suttle, Baptist minister, conducted the double ring ceremony Friday evening in the Jim Priest home, 908 Irving. Mrs. Priest and the bridegroom's brother, J. T. Farquhar, attended the couple. Only members of the family were present for the simple ceremony.

WATCHING THE parade is fun, but I prefer watching the people watching the parade. Little boys climbing up on everything in reach. Mamas with bundled babies in arms. Pappas who have been forced to take time from their work to

Office Manners Discussed For NSA Program

Do's and Don'ts of Office Etiquette were discussed in recent National Secretaries Association meeting in the offices of Southwestern Public Service Co. The guest speaker was Max Comer, assistant division director of personnel and safety for that firm.

Olga Tannahill and Bruce Rose among those standing at the windows of their places of business. They may as well watch, as all the customers are out watching. Donna Smith refusing to hurry her selection of a lipstick although someone at the door announces, "Here it comes!"... a bit of gossip with Able Crume at her door, and my coffee break is over!

He was introduced by Alice Rudd, president of the Hereford NSA Chapter, to speak both seriously and with humor on the topic. Later he sang several selections, playing his own guitar accompaniment.

WITH HOMECOMING right on the heels of Halloween, some youngsters may have had more excitement the last of this week than they need. If everybody else in town had as many trick-and-treat callers as we did Thursday night, they had more than they need, too.

Refreshments were served by Thelma Lamb, hostess, after a brief business session. Also present were Cynthia Vines, Avis Blakey, Maxine Price, Louise Gunther, Wanda Davidson, and Janie Victor.

Not one to want to put a crimp in the kids' fun, I still wish that custom had never grown to its present proportions. Seems like all the parents in town had their own children and all the neighbors', driving around over town and letting the mob loose in every block.

This is one of those social customs that can't be changed by passing another civil rights law, but it would be nice if some changes could be made. I'm all for the small children having their fun, but don't enjoy knocks on the door from bunches of kids who are too big for such foolishness.

SOME PARTS of town are luckier than others in this fall color parade, and have pear trees in quantity. The 300 and 400 blocks on Lawton, for instance, and the 800 block on North Lee, with one handsome tree across the street at the Morgan place in the 700 block. Hardly any shades of red that you can't find on a pear tree right now.

'Headache Band' Back In Fashion

Some women are wearing headache bands because they go well with their '20s and '30s revival fashions. Others wear them to identify with Pocahontas because red-blooded Indian fashions, complete with suede, fringe and beads, have come back with the hippie kick.

Nobody yet has come up with a substantial reason why those bandages around the forehead are called 'headache' bands. Do they cause a pain? Or prevent one?

Like the eyepatch they are without purpose or meaning other than that they are fashion.

Mrs. Loerwald Receives Award As Church Woman

Presentation of the Woman of the Year award to Mrs. Ed Loerwald of Hereford was made when the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women met in Amarillo this week. Mrs. Loerwald closed a two-year term as diocesan president.

Others from Hereford were the Rev. Simeon Heine, S.A., St. Anthony's pastor; Miss Alma Paetzold and Mmes. Paul Zinser, Gene Loerwald, George Turrentine, Elmer Reinart, Walt Warren, Freddy Cooper, Johnny Cloud, Kenneth Walterscheid, Frances Pena, Mariana Martinez, Ramona Torrez, Maxine Pena and Victoria Villarreal.

The Very Rev. Francis A. Smyer presented the award, given each year to the women of the Amarillo diocese "who has given of herself and her time to the best of her ability". It was given at the Tuesday evening banquet at which Miss Mary Rando of Friona gave her reading "I Am The Nation", as the program feature. Mrs. Loerwald opened the convention that morning and Mrs. Tom Stich of Amarillo welcomed those attending, a total of 225. Mrs. Wern Koelzer and Mrs. Thomas Albracht were the voting delegates from St. Anthony's Parish of Hereford.

Mrs. D. M. Poundstone of Borger was installed as president for next term. Officers were installed by Mrs. James Rounsaville of Jacksonville, Tex., national director of the NCCW, who also spoke at the Wednesday luncheon.

The Most Rev. Lawrence DeFalco, Bishop of Amarillo, spoke at the closing session Wednesday, summing up the various addresses which stressed cooperation of lay people, clergy and church leaders to carry out objectives of the two Vatican Councils which have given greater responsibilities in the church to the laity. Speakers emphasized the place of women in the entire church program as well as in their own parishes. Mrs. Loerwald touched on that note in her opening talk, saying the three things of greatest importance are people, parish, church, to carry out the threefold purpose of the church, to teach, sanctify and serve. Instead of a keynote address, members who had attended a recent NCCW convention in Danvers reported on that meeting. Workshops and luncheon programs on both days were led by various diocesan officers.

Shower Honors Bride

Honoring an early October bride, Mrs. J. W. White, 306 Avenue I, a shower was given in Mrs. J. T. Boynton's home Saturday afternoon. Mrs. White was Miss Theresa Robinson of Carlsbad, N.M., before her marriage.

She received callers at the shower with her mother, Mrs. Pat Robinson of Carlsbad, former Hereford resident; her husband's mother, Mrs. Jack White of Summerfield, and Mrs. Boynton, who was at the door. Autumn colors appeared in room decorations and on the serving table. Misses Cecelia Packard, Jan Scott, Judy Osborn, Beverly White and the honoree's sister, Miss Kathleen Robinson, served refreshments. Hostesses included Mmes. George Olson, Louis Olson, Bill Ott, Homer Brumley, G. W. Duncan, Ralph Packard, Ira Scott, Edwin Morrison Jr., L. B. Lokkingbill, Guy Waiser, J. B. Noland, Earl Lance St., Pete Carmichael, Roy Bodkin, A. H. Cook and Arthur Stoy.

Holiday Supper Planned In Club

Two guests were present with all members of Messenger Home Demonstration Club for a Mexican lunch in the home of Mrs. J. F. Sorrells, club president. Mrs. George Bumpass and Mrs. Tom Draper were the visitors. The hostess had ingredients for the lunch ready and members learned to prepare enchiladas as the main dish. Plans were made for the annual Thanksgiving supper for families, to be held at Walcott School Nov. 18. Mrs. S. N. Thweatt won the prize in a game which opened the program, and Mrs. Gene Bradley held the floating prize.

CARD OF THANKS

Words are inadequate to express our sincere thanks to the Hereford Bowling Assn., the V. F. W. and Auxiliary Post No. 4818 and everyone else who brought food, sent flowers and expressions of sympathy in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Keith Anderson. Our thanks to each of you and God's Blessings be with you now and always.

TO WED IN NOVEMBER — Miss Kay Gooding of Waxahachie will become the bride of the Rev. Sanford N. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobby Williams, 345 Avenue G, and a senior student in Southwest Assemblies of God College of the Bible at Waxahachie, in a wedding planned for Nov. 29. The evening ceremony will be solemnized in Central Assembly of God Church at Austin. The bride-elect is the daughter of John E. Gooding of Austin. She is a graduate of the Waxahachie college and an employee of an insurance firm. The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Hereford High School in 1965. Visiting his parents last weekend, the engaged couple was honored with a shower at the Assembly of God Church here.

Flower Drying Method Shown

Mrs. J. H. McCrary was guest speaker for Bud To Blossom Garden Club Friday morning, presenting a demonstration on preservation of cut flowers. Mrs. Jess Robison was hostess to the club at Community Center.

Mrs. W. H. Gentry presided for business and members agreed to sponsor a Camp Fire Girl group this year. Plans were made for a number of members to attend a meeting of Northern Zone garden clubs at Borger, Nov. 18, when changes in the flower handbook are to be discussed.

Mrs. McCrary showed several flower arrangements and single specimens of cut flowers dried by a process she described, which preserves the shape and color of the blossoms. Arrangements may be sprayed with a clear plastic to further preserve them, she said.

She uses a silica gel to dry the flowers, and said it may be obtained at hobby shops. She advised cutting the blooms in the warmest part of a dry day, and

Prize Offered At Gift Fair

Those who shop the gift items or only browse at the gift fair being sponsored by the Lubbock Christian College Associates will have a chance to win the door prize being offered. Calling hours are from 4 to 8 p.m. Monday in the community rooms at First National Bank.

Proceeds from the project will help in the financing of the Associates Homemaking Building already constructed on Lubbock Christian College campus.

LC Associates began the project last year, and cooperation of Associates and their friends has made the project a continuing success, according to Mrs. B. E. Brumley, president of the Hereford chapter of the Associates.

Hand-made gift items as well as other useful objects will be displayed in one room, while in adjoining room a Tupperware party will be in progress for the convenience of shoppers. Refreshments will be served, and all who are interested are invited to the party and fair.

Newcomers In Profile

Taught In North Africa

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

"We learned that anybody who really wants an overseas job can get one, and it isn't difficult," say a Texas couple, new residents of Hereford who spent the last two years in Benghazi, Libya.

MARY AND GERALD Haak, living now at 1209 Grand, both taught in a school for American children in the North African city. Haak is here as plant superintendent for Tide Chemicals. Mary says she is enjoying "luxury of being just a housewife."

"We had a marvelous time!" she sums up their experiences as a member of the 50-family American colony at Benghazi, where most of the Americans are oil company employees. The school, supported by the foreign colony, was actually operated privately, she says.

The pupils were of a dozen different nationalities, mainly British, in addition to Americans. There were Czechs, Yugoslavs and other Europeans, and a few children of wealthy native families — two princesses, no less. The couple made the acquaintance of a number of Libyans, finding them gracious and hospitable.

WITH BRITISH military families setting the pace, social life for the foreigners was rather formal. The Haaks' home was in a modern apartment building in the area near the royal palace. Libya is a monarchy, with the 74-year-old king as the uniting force for the predominantly Moslem population.

Mrs. Haak and another teacher were invited to the home of the young princesses who were their pupils, and had the opportunity to see a typical home of the upper class Libyans.

The princesses wore clothes flown in from France and Italy and were driven to school by chauffeurs in Cadillacs, she adds. Teachers were sometimes taken aback by lavish gifts which the wealthy pupils made casually.

The Haaks' apartment had modern appliances, but sometimes the electricity or the water would be cut off with no notice so there was no certainty that the refrigerator or washer would work. They had a houseboy who "was not much help". Mrs. Haak says, and also a guard whose function seemed to be to sleep outside under their window.

"HE WAS A MOSLEM," of course, so he woke early to say his prayers", she continues in describing domestic arrangements. "We came to depend on him to act as our alarm clock, and when we finally dismissed him we overslept a few mornings until we became accustomed to the change".

Well-to-do Libyans like to have the American appliances in their home also, she says, but sometimes they use them in ways that seem strange to us.

Electric refrigerators are placed in living rooms, for a perfectly logical reason. Soft drinks are kept in them to serve to callers, and they are convenient to serve in the living room. As Moslems, the Libyans frown on alcoholic drinks.

MRS. HAAK visited one woman who had a fine new electric range, but she was crouched on the floor kneading bread in the time-honored fashion of Libyan housewives, and the loaves were sent to the bakery down the street to be baked.

Shopping required much time each week, as the European fashion of having small shops, each selling only one type of item, was followed in Benghazi. Mary Haak bought meat at one place, green vegetables in another, spices in their own shop.

One advantage the Haaks found in their residence abroad was travel to nearby countries. On each school holiday they made a habit of taking a trip; they toured the Holy Land, visited in Egypt and took five trips to Europe, seeing something of 23 countries in all.

THEY LEFT for their return to the United States last summer just before the Egyptian-Israeli war flared. Foreigners who were there during hostilities were all housed in the British fort for protection, although it turned out not to be needed.

The couple was happy to return to the U.S. "where you can count on the electric power being on!". But they call their life and travels abroad a high point in their lives, although they are enthusiastic about liking Hereford and the Plains area.

West Texas is almost as strange to them as Libya and they are waiting for a Panhandle dust storm to compare it to the three-day sandstorms which sometimes blew in from the Sahara to plague Benghazi.

Both are natives of Central Texas, and grew up near Waco. Haak was graduated from Texas A&M in 1963 and Mrs. Haak from Baylor University the same year. They were married the next year and taught in South Texas before their African stint.

Attorney Speaks On H.D. Program

Laws of Texas concerning women's rights were discussed by Wesley Gulley, Hereford attorney, in a program at Community Center Wednesday afternoon sponsored by Home Demonstration Clubs of the county.

In addition to H. D. Club members, other women were invited to hear the speaker. He is a newcomer to Hereford, a member of a local law firm. He spoke of Texas laws on property ownership and control, guardianship of children and other matters of special interest to women.

He also reviewed briefly the state constitutional amendments to be voted upon in the general election next week, and urged

Mrs. Thompson Slated For Music Club Honor

Dedication of the annual fall convention of First District, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, to Mrs. A. O. Thompson of Hereford, longtime member and presently a state board member, will feature the opening of the convention at Berger Friday morning.

Mrs. John Yows of the host city, general chairman of the convention, will conduct the dedication ceremony. Mrs. Thompson is a charter member of Music Study Club here, and a past president. She has been given a life membership in the National Federation of Music Clubs.

This year she is serving as chairman of the state department of Music Service in the Community for the TFMC.

Hereford Music Study Club and Dawn Music Club will both be represented at the convention. Mrs. Carl Wimberley of the Dawn club, past district president, will give the invocation for the lunch at which Mrs. Ringham of Bartlesville, Okla., president of the Lone Star District which includes Texas and Oklahoma clubs, will be the speaker. Mrs. D. W. Palmer of the Hereford club will be leader of First District Chorus, comprising singers from all cities of the district, as it sings America The Beautiful on the closing program Friday afternoon.

Rebekah Lodge Has Tacky Party

Hereford Rebekah Lodge had a Halloween party after its regular meeting, Oct. 29 at the IOOF Lodge. Games were played and prizes were awarded to those wearing the tackiest costumes. Refreshments of punch, coffee, cup cakes and cookies were served to 16 members.

Ed Mantle of Carteret, N.J., who is at Syracuse working for his Master's degree and helping coach the freshman football team, posted a 3-2 record as a pitcher with Salt Lake City in the Pioneer League last summer.

H.D. CHATTER

Pumpkin Eater Chooses Cake

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Can you remember ever seeing so many pretty pumpkins? Their bright colors almost shout Vitamin C. Extension nutritionists recommend this recipe — a good source of Vitamin C is Pumpkin Cake. You really like the Harvest Moon frosting.

PUMPKIN CAKE

- 1/2 c. shortening
- 1 c sugar
- 1 c brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 c cooked, mashed pumpkin or winter squash
- 3 c sifted flour
- 4 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp baking soda
- 1/2 c milk
- 1 c walnuts, chopped
- 1 tsp. maple extract

Cream shortening and slowly add sugars, eggs and pumpkin. Sift together flour, baking powder, and soda; add alternately with milk to mixture. Fold in walnuts and extract. Pour into 3 greased 8" layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Cool and frost with Harvest Moon Frosting.

HARVEST MOON FROSTING

- 3 eggs whites, unbeaten
 - 1/2 c brown sugar, firmly packed
 - Dash of salt
 - 6 T. water
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
- Combine in double boiler eggs, sugar and salt and water. Beat well; place over rapidly boiling water. Cook 7 minutes; beating constantly or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Beat until thick enough to spread. Put cake layers together with frosting. Frost sides and top.

RECIPES ARE made for the use of pure vanilla. The rule is to use the amount of flavoring the recipe calls for if it is pure vanilla. Increase the amount in the recipe if imitation vanilla is used.

THIS IS THE SEASON when pullets begin to lay, so supplies of medium and small size eggs are plentiful, according to the Consumer and Marketing Service. Check prices. Medium and small size eggs may offer you more for your money.

Size of an egg has nothing to do with its quality, according to the Consumer and Marketing Service. A dozen small size eggs weighs 18 ounces and a dozen medium eggs weighs 21 ounces.

ALONG WITH PUMPKIN

apples are in good supply. Does it pay to buy apples by the bushel? The answer depends on how quickly you use them and whether you have adequate storage space with proper temperature. If the family refrigerator is the only storage you have and if you cannot use the apples fairly soon, it is better to purchase them by the four-pound bag.

Apples stored in the refrigerator will retain their full flavor and crispness. Store apple in the hydrator or a plastic bag.

Some "apple arithmetic" to remember as you buy this fruit:

1 bushel of apples weighs about 48 pounds — this weight varies slightly with variety and condition of the apples

1 bushel of apples — 96 to 144 apples, depending on size

1 pound apples — approximately 3 medium size (2-1/2 to 2-3/4 inch diameter)

3 to 4 medium size apples will yield about 1/2 cups applesauce

6 to 8 medium size apples will make a 9 inch pie.

1 bushel apples will yield 16 to 20 quarts of applesauce.

Bride-Elect Is Honoree At Shower

The home of Mrs. Henry Solomon was the scene for a recent shower for Mary Stevens, whose marriage to Larry Kaul took place Friday.

The receiving line was made up of Mrs. T. J. Parsons, Mrs. M. C. Kaul, the groom's mother; the honoree and Mrs. Eugene Combs, the matron of honor.

Hostesses alternated duties at the guest registry, gift displays and the serving table.

The table was laid with linen; gold and brown chrysanthemums made the centerpiece. Dainty sandwiches, nuts and spiced tea were served to approximately 60 guests.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. T. B. Thomas, J. C. Morrison, T. J. Parsons, Max Stipe, Bob Adams, Robert Boyd, Elmer Combs, Lanoy Tooley, Paul Rudd, H. V. Crawford, Charlie Holt, J. H. Landers, Guy Lawrence, I. H. Willoughby, J. J. Durham, R. L. Wilson, Clyde Cocconaugher, J. W. Witherspoon, Caudie Ola Brown and C. A. Saulcy.

Herring Attends Kiwanis Meet

Dean Hering of Hereford is attending a Lieutenant Governor's Training Conference of Kiwanis International at the Statler Hilton in Dallas today.

Herring is Lieutenant Governor-elect of Division 6, which covers the Panhandle. He will begin his duties as soon as he returns from the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Herring arrived at the conference Friday.

REGIONAL CHOIR WINNER — Rosie Rogers, member of the high school A Capella Choir, was another added Hereford selection to the All-Region Choir. Miss Rogers, due to a mix-up in the naming of the All-Region Choir, was notified this week that an error had occurred in the naming and that she had also been selected to the elite group.

Officers Of CWU Take New Duties

Officers headed by Mrs. John D. Pitman as president were installed for Church Women United of Hereford Friday afternoon in a program at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. The Rev. Simon Heine, S. A., pastor of the host church, conducted the installation.

Other officers are Mrs. Howard Johnson of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, vice president; Mrs. Claude McDougal, First United Methodist, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Wern Koelzer, St. Anthony's, project chairman; Mrs. Boyd Collins, Wesley Methodist, literature chairman.

Mrs. Pitman, from the Presbyterian Church, spoke briefly, urging work together in Christian love to accomplish objectives of the organization.

Mrs. Charles Carter of Amarillo, area CWU president, and Mrs. O. C. Lewis, president of Amarillo CWU Council, were introduced as guests. Mrs. Koelzer and Mrs. Fred Ruland presented a dialogue on Human Rights as the program feature. Mrs. Ruland presided. A vocal solo by Mrs. Elbert

KEEPING POSTED

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Newsmen anywhere in Kentucky can dial a toll-free long distance number and receive up-to-the-minute reports on state government. The messages are short and timely and delivered by Gov. Louie B. Nunn. The state pays about $500 a month for the service.

Area Events Are Planned

Several events of area interest have been announced by the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

On Nov. 11, the Oldham County 4-H Achievement Banquet will be held at 7 p. m. in the County Show Barn at Vega, according to Kenneth Holloway, County Agricultural Agent.

From Nov. 11-14, a shortcourse on Farm Arc Welding will be conducted in Dimmitt by C. B. Edwards, Texas Education Agency, according to Charles Hotel, County Agricultural Agent.

Also, a Cotton Council Style Show will be held at 3:30 p. m. on Nov. 12 in the Bethel Community Building, according to Mrs. Irene Keating, County Home Demonstration Agent.

The District 1 4-H Gold Star Banquet will be held at 6 p. m. Nov. 16 in the YWCA building at Amarillo.

From Nov. 18-21, Parmer County will sponsor the shortcourse on welding, with Edwards to conduct the course.

On Nov. 19, the annual luncheon for Home Demonstration Clubs will be held at 12 noon in the Parmer House Restaurant at Friona.

Agricultural Day will begin at 9:30 a. m. Dec. 5 in the County Show Barn at Vega.

Bob Charles, a southpaw, won only $8,472 on the United States PGA tour in 1960 but in 1967 he won $72,468, a record for a foreign player. He's from New Zealand.

Harvey Initiated Into Fraternity

Mike Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harvey, 518 Ave. I, has been initiated into the Beta Mu Chapter of the PI KAPPA ALPHA FRATERNITY at the University of Texas, it was announced by William Peel, of the university.

Harvey, an advertising major, made the dean's list last spring and actively participates in student government, intramurals, model United Nations and Alpha Delta Sigma.

READ THE WANT-ADS.

POLITICAL PUZZLER — Mrs. Mildred Guinn, 105 Avenue B may be as undecided as many voters, but she has the ability to put her feelings on paper, as evidenced by these charcoal drawings. At right is a pumpkin carrying the charcoal face of television personality Pat Paulsen.

By JACK MAGUIRE

WHERE GOBLINS ROAM — With Halloween past, a drive down the famous Ghost Road in the Hardin County piney woods can be a memorable experience.

For more than half a century, residents of the Big Thicket have spotted a weird red light bouncing along the dirt road that runs straight as an arrow from the old ghost town of Bragg to Saratoga. Although seen often, the light has always managed to outdistance pursuers.

Legend has it that the light is that of a lantern carried by a switchman killed near Bragg many decades ago when that town was served by the Santa Fe Railroad.

BUS TO EVERYWHERE — Huntsville is the only city in Texas that can boast of direct bus service to every county.

The bus is a 65-passenger steel cage on wheels which travels about the state visiting county jails to pick up prisoners who have been sentenced to the state penitentiary. Two members of the three-man crew rotate shifts as drivers while the third sits in a rear compartment with a 12-gauge shotgun at the ready.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS — Dallas' first skyscraper — a seven-story building on Main Street near Akard — was built in 1891 at a cost of only $60,000.

THERE WERE GIANTS IN THOSE DAYS — Was the area south of Fort Worth once populated by a race of people more than 16 feet tall? Some scientists think so.

Near Glen Rose, in Somervell County, archaeologists found one skeleton of a woman more than seven feet tall. And along the nearby Paluxy River, other scientists have found footprints more than 21 inches long which appear to be those of human feet. The footprints, first discovered more than 50 years ago, started scientists on a search for the big Texans that is still going on.

The area around Glen Rose has been famous for years as the spot where more dinosaur tracks have been found than anywhere else in the United States. But whether there were giants in those days as well as dinosaurs is a question which science has not yet answered conclusively.

THE CHANGING TIMES — Today's cowboy needs not only his horse and his rope but also a container of liquid nitrogen.

The nitrogen is a necessity for a new way of identifying cattle called "freeze branding." Instead of heating the branding iron and burning the brand into the hide, the cow-hand cools the iron and freezes the symbol onto the cow.

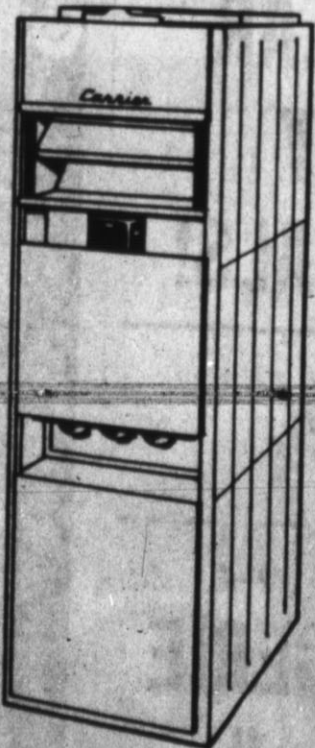

The freeze method doesn't scar the skin but it does remove the hair. The unscarred hide brings a premium on the leather goods market.

IT TAKES ALL KINDS — Mrs. Grover Damuth, the 1968 "Mrs. Texas," started toward her title astride a horse.

In 1952, she and Grover Damuth were on matching white horses when they were married at a Tomball rodeo. The minister and 15 members of the wedding party also were on horseback while 5,000 rodeo fans watched the ceremony.

THIS IS WHAT FRANK FORD HAS BEEN SAYING DURING HIS CAMPAIGN TO SERVE YOU AS STATE REPRESENTATIVE

WATER CONSERVATION AND IMPORTATION:

"Water is the life-blood of our irrigated economy, and the importance of total water resources planning cannot be over-emphasized. Feasibility studies for importing water to the high-plains from the lower Mississippi basin should be pushed forward at maximum speed. Funding on these-and importation itself-must come from congress, with maximum state-federal cooperation. At the state level, our district is far behind on planning for flood control and conservation dams on our creeks. We must keep the water that falls in our district, rather than seeing it rampaging on down-stream after every big rain. We must use lake water and tail water return systems to the maximum, along with irrigation practices consistent with the water available in any given area. If elected, I intend to work with men who have a proven record of water conservation. Under no circumstance must this issue be allowed to become a political football to be used at election time for partisan gain."

EDUCATION AND VOCATIONAL TRAINING:

"Texas has fallen from 33rd to 38th during the past eight years in per-student support for education. During the same time, we have fallen from 40th to 44th in literacy. This dismal record cannot be continued if our young people are going to be able to hold jobs which will be available in the 1970's. We must increase our attention to primary education and the development of basic skills, give additional help to children with specific learning disabilities, increase pre-school opportunities with bilingual education where needed. Vocational training must be increased, with emphasis on job training by private industry, so that the trainee will know that a specific job is waiting upon completion of the training. Education and jobs are the only effective answer to poverty."

FRANK FORD IS THE ONLY CANDIDATE IN THE RACE WHO HAS SPOKEN OUT CLEARLY ON:

- ★ The need to keep the family sized farm unit strong as it is the backbone of our rural economy.
- ★ Practical measures that should be encouraged in each community for economic growth.
- ★ The need for abolishing daylight savings time, a measure which his opponent pushed to passage in 1967.
- ★ Ways to reduce the crime rate, which has nearly doubled in the last eight years.
- ★ The need for a two-party system so that the people can regain control of their state government.

FRANK FORD WILL REPRESENT THE PEOPLE OF THIS DISTRICT

LA PLATA RED CROSS PROGRAM
—Shown here are scenes from the annual Red Cross Membership Program at La Plata Junior High School. Held recently, the program consisted of skits by members of separate classes at the school. The "cigarette" being smoked by the student in the top left photo was part of a skit. Purpose of the program was to present money to the Red Cross.

Love, Murder In 2 Library Books

A novel about the life of a young girl looking for love and a new mystery dealing with a young woman's wait for death can now be found in the Deaf Smith County Library.

THE NAKED SWORD, by F. W. Kenyon, is the story of Lucrezia Borgia. Lucrezia Borgia! She slept with her father and her brother, and poisoned hundreds of people! Frank Kenyon encountered many such a comment as this when mentioning the subject of his coming novel, but the Lucrezia of history is not quite the evil incarnation of the legend.

True child of the Renaissance, she was impetuous of heart and strong in her lust for life and love — but the meshes of the golden hair which so enchanted the men who desired her were symbolic of the tangled treachery and scheming in which she herself was caught. Like her three brothers, she was the illegitimate child of Pope Alexander VI.

whose plans for political dominion in Italy required that she be used in the marriage market to further his ambition. Betrothed at 12 to a young Spanish nobleman, she found herself at 14 — when the political wind had changed — married instead to Giovanni Sforza Lord of Pesaro. By this time her brother Cesare, far more ruthless than her father, was the dominant figure in her life; her marriage was broken mercilessly and another wedding followed to Alfonso of Aragon, nephew of the King of Naples. Yet once again politics called for dissolution of the marriage, this time with the shedding of blood. Only in her third marriage, to the future Duke of Ferrara, most powerful man in the Italy of her time, did she find escape and lasting happiness.

YHT Meeting Held At School

Young Homemakers of Texas met Tuesday afternoon in the homemaking department of Hereford High School with Mrs. Larry Dobbs, president, conducting the meeting. Mrs. Leland Shelton was hostess.

Mrs. John Bob Drake was named as the new reporter. Plans for a rummage sale to be held Nov. 9 were discussed. Pecans, to be sold to interested cooks, were ordered from Alabama. The next meeting will be Nov. 19, with Mrs. Dobbs and Mrs. Drake as hostesses. The group will tour homes to look at antiques.

NIGHTMARE HOUSE is Rae Foley's new mystery just received in the Library. When Norma arrived at the Waldorf expecting to celebrate her engagement to Nate Clarke, he introduced her to his new wife. Unwilling to face her friends at home after being jilted, she accepted as a haven of refuge the apartment in a famous Village landmark suggested by an old friend. "You'd be surprised at how little kindness is am showing," he warned her. In the days that followed, she learned of the woman who had died in the apartment, and knew that someone was searching desperately through the dead woman's possessions. She discovered the ugly secrets behind what seemed to be normal lives and, when murder had struck twice, knew there was a killer behind a familiar face, a killer waiting for her in the dark.

FIRST THING IN CLASS is taking the instrument from its case . . .

Orchestra In Future For HHS

GROUNDWORK IS BEING LAID for the string section, basis of an orchestra which is projected for Hereford High School's music department within the next few years, in classes for elementary and junior high students. Nadina Baird is instructor for the special classes, which meet three days a week for elementary pupils and weekly for junior high.

THE VIOLIN AND KINDRED instruments are becoming familiar to these young musicians who began their training last year with Mrs. Lynn McLarty as instructor. Since there has been no program of string music in the schools previously, and no teacher of strings in the city, the classes are necessary to build up a group of performers who can take their place with student musicians who have learned to play brasses, woodwinds and percussion instruments in band programs.

HOURS OF TRAINING and practice are given voluntarily by these youngsters after school hours. Pictures on this page are from an elementary class session.

Smith Asking For State's Top Office

Li. Gov. Preston Smith became the Democratic nominee for Governor of Texas on June 1, when he did what very few have done in the history of the state.

Smith came from second place in the first primary to victory in the runoff, overtaking Don Yarborough by 767,490 to 621,226 for a 55.26 per cent total.

Smith's power as a man able to unite various groups and make a meaningful appeal to the voters was the next thing to a well kept secret until the first primary. Then, he topped a highly talented field of moderate-conservatives for the honor of going against the liberal-backed Don Yarborough.

A good example was the 1966 primary when Li. Gov. Smith polled 81 per cent of the voters — the biggest percentage victory in all the statewide contested races. In fact, only one other candidate with opposition has ever surpassed Smith's margin of victory in modern times, thus making Smith one of the top vote-getters in the state's history.

Li. Gov. Smith, a Lubbock businessman and an 18-year veteran in public service, announced to the people of Texas on September 5, 1967, that he would be a candidate for Governor of Texas. In his formal announcement, he had the following comments:

"Texas had made excellent progress, but new challenges resulting from this development cannot be met by simply spending more and more state money, and paying more and more taxes. I feel that lasting solutions are necessary if Texas is to continue its progress to the betterment of all Texans", he said.

The 25th lieutenant governor, Smith was born on a farm near Georgetown and attended public schools in Williamson and Gaines counties. He worked his way through high school at Lamesa and college at Texas Tech.

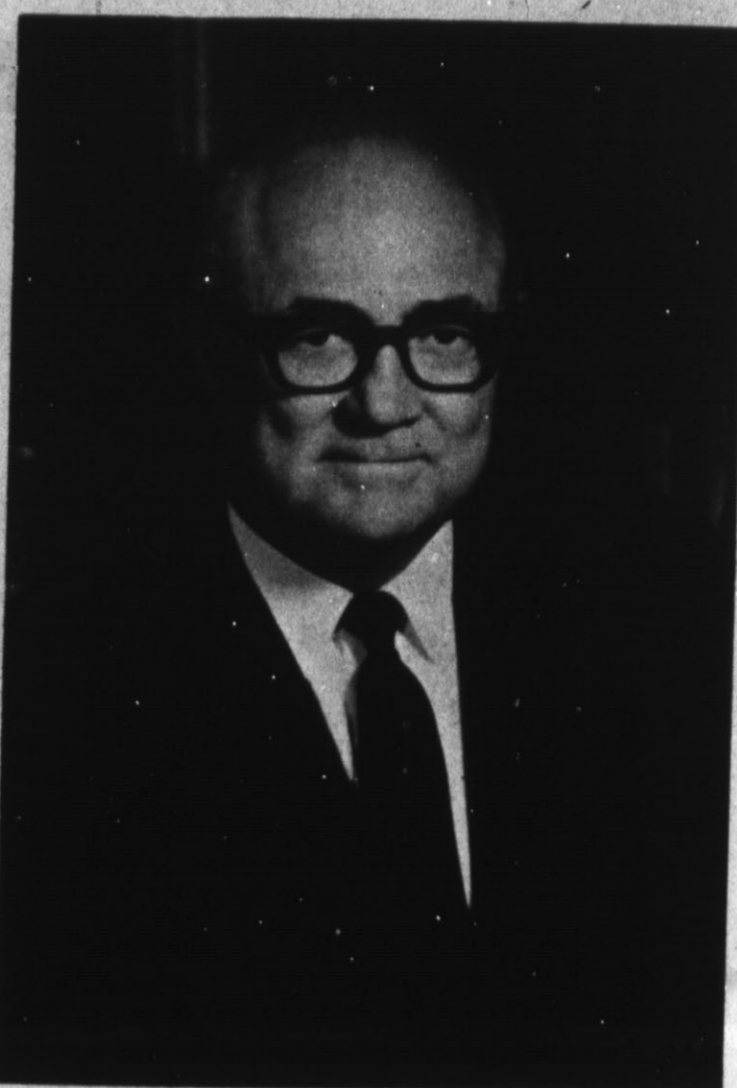

In 1944, after building up a successful business, he began a career devoted to serving the people of Texas. He ran for the House of Representatives, was elected, and re-elected twice. After six years in the House, Smith served in the State Senate for six years.

In 1962, he became the state's lieutenant governor. His record was so outstanding that he was re-elected in 1964 and 1966 by margins of near-historic proportions.

Smith was asked by the League of Women Voters of Texas "What two or three programs do you feel would most improve Texas government? Why?" Smith answered:

"The most vital program that would improve our Texas government would revolve around an improvement in our educational program. This would involve public education, junior colleges, vocational training and senior colleges. A strong vocational training program would tend to bring more industry to our state. The program of tourism is one that needs acceleration and further development. It would provide the state with much needed revenue without new taxes. Texas desperately needs a long-range water program and the work on this should be accelerated as soon as possible. There are other programs, but I have mentioned some that are essential to the future of our state and they do involve all of our people."

Preston Smith . . . Governor candidate.

Former Resident Is Crash Victim

Information has been received here of the recent death of Thomas Keith Anderson, a former Hereford resident who was the victim of a pickup-van truck collision at Belton, Mr. Anderson was driving the pickup.

He lived here more than four years and was the owner of Anderson Construction Co. He was a member of VFW Post 4818 of Hereford, a veteran of U. S. Navy service during World War II. Funeral rites and burial were in Burnet.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Harp of Garland; his father, two sisters and a grandson.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

The Internal Revenue Service doesn't think that small taxpayers are any more patriotic than the big taxpayers. However, the new red, white and blue tax forms will generally go to the smaller taxpayers that do not itemize deductions, prepare schedules or report business or farm income. The forms are printed in plain old black and white (instead of colors) IRS still hopes that these taxpayers will be careful and avoid errors. The red, white and blue forms will not be available at IRS offices. Unless you receive yours in the mail, you will just have to use the old black and white form.

Bill Clayton Seeks Re-election To Texas Legislature Tuesday

Water development and conservation have been key programs of Rep. Bill Clayton, who is seeking re-election to the Texas Legislature for the 72nd district. Proven leadership has made Clayton recognized by his colleagues, as Ben Barnes put it, to be "the most important water man in the legislature."

As a member of the Conservation and Reclamation Committee of the House of Representatives, Clayton has either authored, co-authored, been on the sub-committee, or conference committee of every major piece of water legislation passed during the last six years. As Chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee for two terms, Clayton is working for the water importation program, which would maintain the economy in his district.

He also served on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Water Resources Advisory Committee and the West Texas Advisory Committee to the Texas Water Development Board. He has participated in nearly all the Southern Region Water Resource Conferences and the National Interstate Water Conferences of the Council of State Governments. Recently, he was appointed chairman of the 160-acre Limitation Committee of the Texas Water Conservation Association, and he has been invited to be a principal speaker at the annual American Water Works Association in San Diego, California.

"The only way we can continue to grow and attract industry and make agriculture prosper is by being assured of a water supply for the future," Clayton stated. His chief goal is the importation of water to this area, and he counts on established leadership to get the Texas Legislature behind the multi-billion dollar joint federal-state project.

For agriculture, Clayton has been active in promoting market expansion. "There were more appropriated funds this year for this purpose than ever before," Clayton said, "and Texas is beginning to really move out in this field." He authored the resolution that started research on natural fibers and worked on legislation expanding the veterinary diagnostic program, swine research, and vegetable research. Clayton helped pass a constitutional amendment to keep farm land from being taxed at higher rates simply because of being located near a city. He has worked to keep sales tax exemptions for farm machinery and crop supplies.

"This district needs more than just a vote," Clayton concluded. "It needs someone in the legislature who is a real voice. This is more important now than ever before because of our smaller population, giving us less voice in state government than our city cousins have. Therefore, we have to make up the difference with quality in experience, seniority, and influence."

Amendment 9 Has Teachers' Support

AUSTIN — Organized support is growing for Amendment 9 on the November general election ballot, a Texas State Teachers Association official reported today.

Amendment 9 would make it possible for each teacher in Texas to contribute to the Teacher Retirement System on the basis of his full salary.

TSTA Exec. Secy. Charles H. Tennyson pointed out the endorsement by the Governor's Committee on Public School Education. This citizen group, which reported recently after a three-year study, recommended a voter approval of Amendment 9. The amendment already has received approval of the Texas Legislature, which last year voted to submit it at the November election. No significant improvement has been made in teacher retirement since 1954, Tennyson said.

Among organizations which have endorsed Amendment 9 are:

—The Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, which seeks benefits for children.
—Mrs. A. T. Leveridge, Jr., of East Bernard, state PTA legislative chairman, said:
"The Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers supports Amendment 9 in the belief that adequate retirement benefits for teachers, as well as good salaries, will improve the educational opportunities for the children of Texas."

—The Texas Association of School Boards, whose members have the job of finding qualified teachers to staff the public schools.

—The Texas Public Employees Association, which also is supporting Amendment 1 to expand investment of the State Employees Retirement System. Texas voters already have provided for state employees the improvement sought for teachers through Amendment 9.

—The Texas Association of College Teachers, whose members also come under the Teacher Retirement System of Texas.
—The Committee for Amendment 9, a statewide group of alumni of public colleges which is actively working for adoption of Amendment 9.

A strong retirement program is one of the fringe benefits commonly offered by business and industry to its employees, Tennyson said, and schools need desperately to compete with these employers for teachers.

"Texans want and deserve high quality in public education," Tennyson explained. "To have quality education, we need the best teachers. To obtain the best teachers, we need to offer better incentives for them to stay in the profession. One of these incentives is reasonable retirement benefits at the end of a career dedicated to teaching our boys and girls. Amendment 9 will provide that."

PAPAL CURIOSITY
NEW YORK — "I am made for hearing what I should not know," Pope Paul VI is quoted in "The Pope Speaks," a series of dialogues with French philosopher Jean Guilton, published by Meredith Press. The Pope adds, "The things unsaid around a Pope are those important for him to know."

Martin Feels Effective As Atty. General

Crawford Martin, 51, is seeking re-election as attorney general of Texas in Tuesday's general election.

Born in Hillsboro on March 13, 1916, Martin attended the University of Texas Law School and served in the U. S. Coast Guard during World War II. He was elected Mayor of Hillsboro in 1944, and elected to the State Senate in 1948.

Martin served in the Senate until 1963, being elected three times without opposition. He was appointed Secretary of State, state's highest appointive office by Gov. John Connally in 1963, and reappointed in 1965.

Martin was elected attorney general in 1966. He sponsored some of the state's most important legislation, including medical aid for the elderly, insurance reform, registration of lobbyists, improved care for the elderly, insurance reform, registration of lobbyists, improved care for the mentally ill, and reorganization of Industrial Commission for attracting new industry. Served as chairman of finance committee, vice chairman of state affairs and rules committees and was member of Legislative Budget Board for nine years.

The League of Women Voters of Texas asked Martin "What are your major goals for this office?" He answered:

"I feel that I have been an effective attorney general for Texas, and I hope the people will give me the opportunity to continue to serve them in this responsible office. Knowledge of the law, the courage to uphold it and the judgement to bring together and direct a competent staff are prime requisites of the Attorney General. These are the qualities I will work to maintain in order to assure the people of Texas competent legal representation."

CANDIDATES MEET — Andrew Shuval of Hereford, candidate for 69th Judicial District Attorney, and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, candidate for governor, had a brief visit Monday when their campaign trails crossed in Dumas.

Cornette Warns Of Area Air Pollution

What goes up must come down — and that includes 125 tons of air pollutants now discharged into the air of this country each year.

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State University, and chairman of the 1968 Christmas Seal Campaign for the Top of Texas Tuberculosis Association, admits that it may seem impossible that Hereford could have an air pollution problem — out here where the wind supposedly blows free.

"Unfortunately, our air is not free of garbage that is dumped upward into the atmosphere all over the world, in the form of smoke and fumes. And while it is not pleasant to think of New York's, London's and Tokyo's air-garbage being dumped on the Texas Panhandle, we nevertheless must share the problem.

He stated that many people are prone to lay the major portion of the blame on industry, when actually a substantial share of the pollution comes from automobiles. "Every time we shift the gears and press the accelerator, we add to the problem," he said.

Thirty-two meetings have been scheduled throughout the country for a planned attack on the problem, spearheaded by New York, Washington, Chicago and Philadelphia.
Dr. Cornette urged all residents of the Panhandle to contribute to the Christmas Seal campaign, which supports the fight against air pollution, emphysema and tuberculosis.

UT-Aggies Are Uniting Behind Amendment 9

The University of Texas and Texas A&M have joined forces — at least until Tuesday. Alumni and friends of both schools have formed a committee to get out the vote for Constitutional Amendment 3 on Election Day.

The group is known as the Committee of 300 for Amendment 3 and is composed of volunteers throughout Texas. It is responsible for informing the public about Amendment 3. Co-Chairmen of the Committee are Jack S. Blanton and Jeff Montgomery. The men are presidents of the University of Texas and Texas A&M Alumni Associations.

Amendment 3 would permit more of the Permanent University Fund to be invested in certain types of securities under the prudent man rule.

Most Aggies Are Engineers?

COLLEGE STATION — More aggies are studying engineering than any other subject, contrary to their nickname.

Statistics released by Registrar H. L. Heaton indicate 32.2 per cent of Texas A&M University's record 13,081 students — approximately one of every three — is majoring in some form of engineering.

Agriculture moved into second place this fall when business administration was separated from liberal arts. Heaton said agriculture accounts for 18.7 per cent of total enrollment; liberal arts, 15.3 percent, and business administration, 11.9 per cent.

Students studying for science degrees represent 11 per cent of the student body, followed by a veterinary medicine with 7.3 per cent; geosciences, 2.6 per cent, and the Texas Maritime Academy, 1 per cent.

Education continues to head the list of specific fields with 704 students, an increase of almost 100 over last year. Other fields with more than 500 students are electrical engineering, 558; mechanical engineering, 553

★ NOTICE ★ LeMay Name Not on Ballot

American Independent Party voters who write in the name of Gen. Curtis LeMay on the Nov. 3 ballot, will invalidate their ballots, an American party official said Saturday.

LeMay's name will not appear on the ballot, because he had not been chosen as George Wallace's running mate early enough to meet the filing deadlines for a place on the national presidential ballot in many states, including Texas.

Since former Alabama Gov. Wallace had no vice presidential candidate, S. Marvin Griffin agreed to become a substitute stand-in vice presidential candidate. His name will appear on the Texas ballot, said William Anderson, 31st District Committeeman for the American Party.

If elected, Wallace will meet with the Electoral College before it votes No. 16 to have Griffin's name withdrawn and LeMay's name substituted, Anderson said.

The office of the United States Attorney General has ruled that any ballot showing Gen. LeMay's name written-in or Griffin's name altered will be invalid.

Brown Is Seeking Congressional Post

Dick Brown, a resident of Hartley County, is seeking the post of representing the 18th Congressional District in the upcoming general election.

The son of a pioneer family that moved to Hartley in 1905 from Kentucky, Brown graduated from Hartley High School in 1943, then entered the U. S. Navy the following year.

After his discharge from the Navy, he returned to Hartley where he took up farming on the land which his parents had acquired when they moved to that county. He worked on his degree in mechanical engineering and received it from the Colorado University.

While presently owning 1 a and near Hartley, Brown's time is mostly spent with the Farmers Supply Company at Hartley where he is general manager. He is secretary of the Texas Wheat Growers Association, is on the board of directors of Grain Sorghum Producers Association and board of trustees of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway and is the committeeman of the 31st Senatorial District of Texas.

Brown is also active with the Hartley County Committee of Texas.

Brown is also active with the Hartley County Committee of North Plains Water Conservation

District, of which he is secretary, and is a member and teacher of a Sunday school class in the First Baptist Church at Hartley.

SS To Change Offices During Election Day

Social Security appointment will be handled at the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union building Tuesday only, according to field representative Gerald W. Millard.

The move has been made entirely because of the general election on the same day, Millard said. Business concerning Social Security will be handled at the usual place in the County Court House thereafter.

Federal Credit Union building is located at 330 Schley, across the street east of the courthouse in Hereford.

Barnes Seeks Office Of Lt. Gov. Tuesday

Speaker of the House Ben Barnes officially filed for the office of Lieutenant Governor of Texas in Austin on Jan. 23.

A native of Comanche County in Central West Texas, has served eight years in the House of Representatives, and two terms as Speaker of the House.

Barnes first entered public life in 1960 when he was 22. At that time he upset a favored incumbent to become state representative of the 64th district, now composed of Brown, Coleman, Comanche, and Runnels counties. After only one term, he was appointed chairman of the important Rules Committee of the House. He is only the fourth man in history to hold the Speakership for two successive terms, and when named by his colleagues in 1965, he was the youngest man since Reconstruction to hold that post.

Barnes recently was named vice president of the National Legislative Conference. He is also Chairman of the Southern Conference of the Council of State Governments, and recently he was appointed by President Johnson to serve on the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Born in Gorman, Eastland County, Texas on April 17, 1938, he spent his early years in Comyn, Comanche County, and attended public schools in DeLeon, where he was an honor student and all-state high school athlete.

After attending Texas Christian University and Tarleton State College, Barnes transferred to The University of Texas, where he continued his high academic standing by being named to the Dean's list of distinguished students in the Business Administration school. Later he continued his education in The University of Texas School of Law.

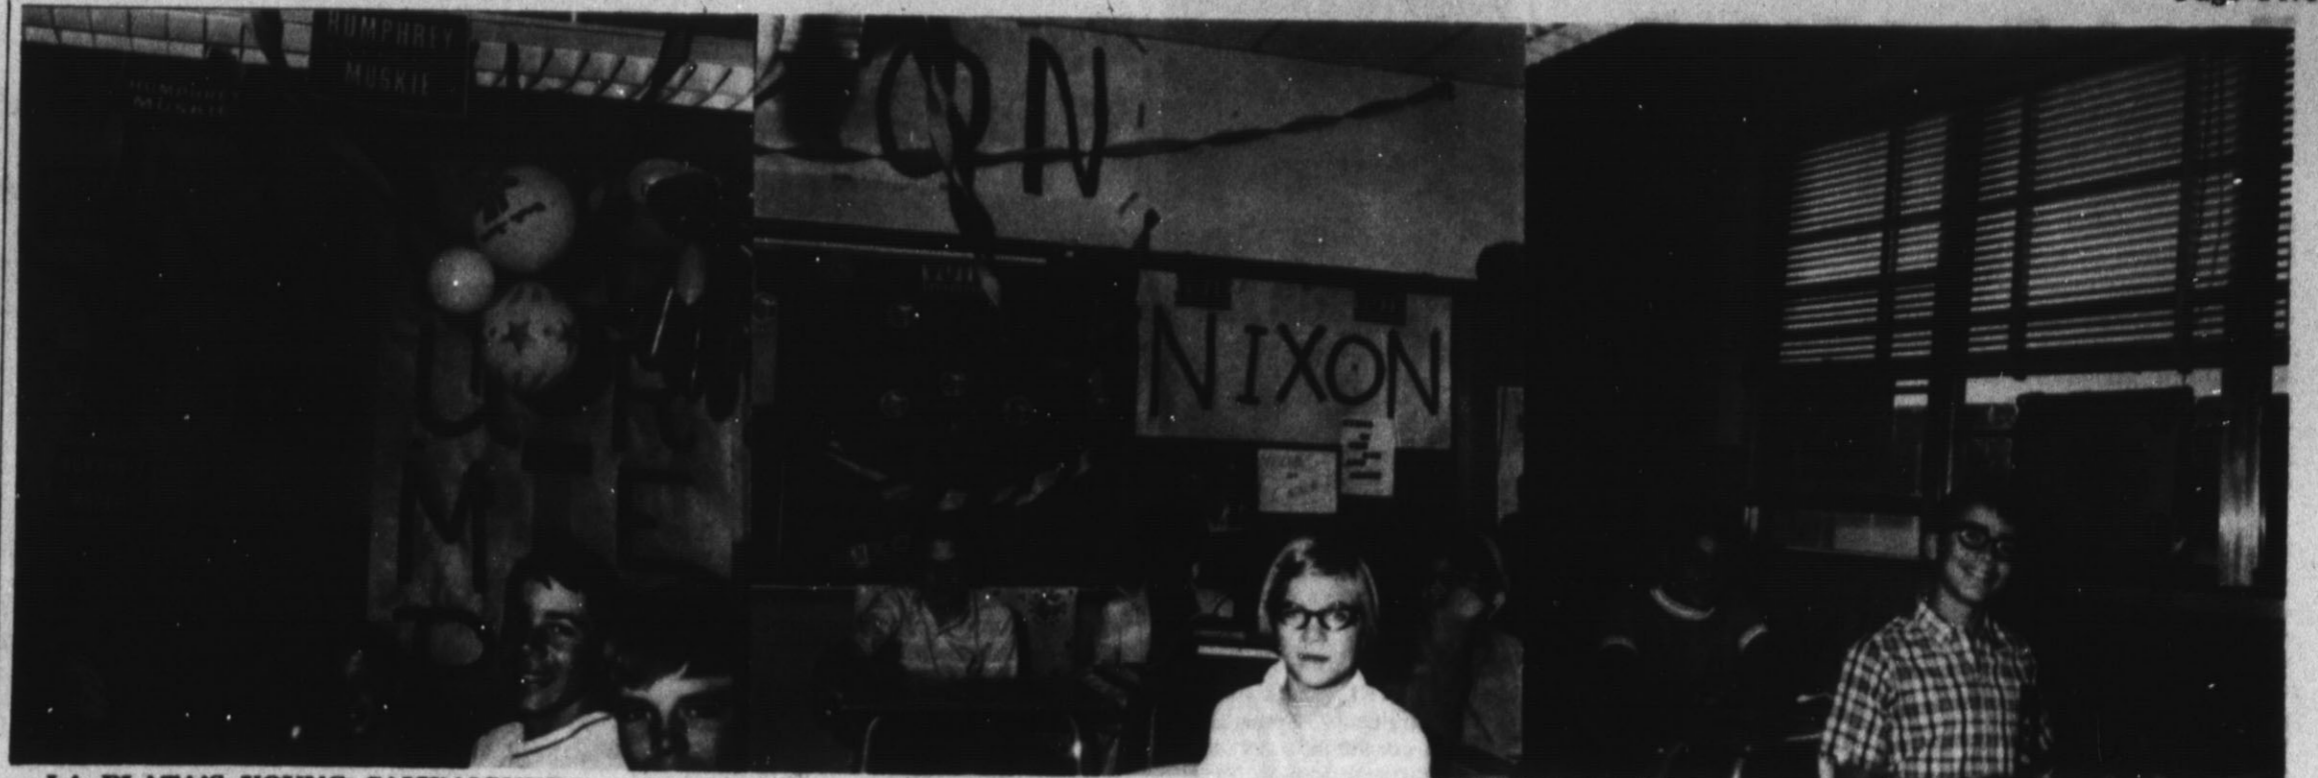

During his first year in college, Barnes married Martha Jane Morgan, and the couple now have two children — nine-year-old son Greg, and five-year-old daughter Amy.

While duties as Speaker require Barnes to spend much of his time traveling throughout the State, he continues to devote attention to his small farm and ranch in Comanche County and to a construction company based in Brownwood. These activities have given him a keen insight into the problems of farmers and ranchers of the state, as well as to those of Texas businessmen.

In 1965, Barnes was named one of five Outstanding Young Texans by the state Junior Chamber of Commerce. He has received honorary doctor of law degrees from both McMurry and Texas Technological College.

The League of Women Voters of Texas asked Barnes "What two or three programs do you feel would most improve Texas

been on the ball electioneering for their presidential choices the past week and a half. Students chose their candidates and went to the various local campaign headquarters for materials — from which they decorated the room and are set to have a spirited rally Monday before they go to the "polls" Tuesday for their own election. Mrs. Fuston reported that the seventh graders have really taken an interest in the election — perhaps more so than most of their parents.

government? Why?" Barnes answered:

"A responsible new approach to state spending, based on annual Legislative budgeting sessions. It would put the government on a current, businesslike basis and end the guesswork that now results from having to estimate revenue needs 2½ years in advance. Upgrading education in public schools, colleges and universities, and developing a strong statewide vocational training program. Texas must achieve excellence in educating its youth so that they will have the opportunity to get and hold good jobs."

"Stopping the state's rising crime rate by instituting a 12-point program that includes a police academy for training all Texas peace officers, stronger criminal prosecution forces, better court facilities, and great rehabilitation for both juvenile and adult offenders."

"Developing a strong and effective state-controlled air and water pollution program in cooperation with local governments. If Texas doesn't assume greater responsibility in this field, it will be done by the Federal government, and Texas must protect its own natural resources."

Longtime City Resident Buried

Funeral services for Hal Bruner of El Paso, who died in that city Thursday, were conducted Saturday afternoon in Blackburn-Shaw Funeral chapel at Amarillo and burial was in Llano Cemetery there. Mr. Bruner was a member of a ranching family which moved to Deaf Smith County in 1917.

He lived in Hereford until about 20 years ago, and has resided since in La Joya, Calif. and El Paso. He has visited here often, usually attending the Pioneer Reunions.

Frank Ford Bids For Texas Legislature

Frank Ford, candidate for State Representative of the 72nd District, moved to Hereford in 1960. But he was raised in Vega, Claude and Panhandle — where his father served as County Agricultural Agent — before moving to Lubbock in 1941, where he gained almost a lifetime personal experience with the Texas Panhandle and Plains.

After graduating from Lubbock High School in 1951, where he was class president and district debate champion, Ford left the area for other assignments for nine years — which he believed to be vital not only to his experience as State Representative candidate but for a greater understanding of the problems in which District 72 citizens as a whole have faced for some years.

Ford was graduated from Texas A & M University in 1955, where he had been a Cadet Corps Commander, was selected as the Outstanding Student, School of Agriculture, and represented the university at the National Debate Meet at West Point, N.Y.

He then worked for a year as assistant to the manager of an irrigation equipment company in Dallas.

Afterward, he served 30 months in the U. S. Army, where he was a rocket battery commander. He attained the rank of Captain in the artillery.

Upon discharge from the Army, Ford served as Bill Clerk of the 58th Texas Legislature, then in the Legal Division, Texas Board of Water Engineers, in 1959. His brother, Dr. Davis L. Ford, a civil engineer, is assistant director of the Center for Research in Water Resources in Austin. Dr. Ford heads the Texas branch of a consulting firm in water resources planning, also.

Frank Ford has farmed in Deaf Smith County for the past seven years, has been successful as a home-builder, incorporated and now manages Arrowhead Mills Inc. of Hereford.

He has served as vice president of the Deaf Smith County United Fund and the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the First United Methodist Church in Hereford where he sings in the choir, and has been scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 52 for seven years. During this time he has taken two canoe trips in Canada.

Ford served as president of the Hereford Migrant Ministry in 1967 and as president of Northwest Elementary School PTO in 1968.

In the realm of local politics,

Frank Ford

he has served as Republican County Chairman where he has "worked consistently for an open two-party system in Texas."

Ford is married to the former Marjorie Ann Winn of Addison, Texas. They have four children, Davis, 10; Cindy, 8; Dan, 6; and Susan, 4.

Eggers Says People Want New Leaders

Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for Governor of Texas, states "I'm in this race to win. My chances for victory look good because Texans want new leadership."

Born in Seymour, Ind., Eggers has lived in Wichita Falls 27 years. A graduate of the University of Texas School of Law, he is chairman-elect of the Taxation Section of the State Bar of Texas.

The former Wichita County GOP chairman has served as chairman of the Texas Republican Task Force on Revenue and Fiscal Policy since early 1967. He is a trustee of Midwestern University Foundation, a director of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association and past director of his local YMCA.

Eggers served during World War II in the Air Corps, reaching the rank of Major before his discharge. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

In his announcement for the governorship, Eggers said "In the one-party system, participants often lose sight of their public duty in order to advance themselves or to protect each other."

"As governor, I would infuse new ideas and people into our state government — competent, qualified people who are not tied to past promises or mistakes."

Asked by The League of Women Voters of Texas "What two or three programs do you feel would most improve Texas government? Why?" Eggers stated:

"With Texas' population increasing rapidly, vast new sums of money must be made available so that state government can carry out productive educational programs and meet its other responsibilities."

"I believe that federal tax-sharing would improve Texas government over the long run more than any other program under consideration at this time."

"There is an approaching limit as to how much the average taxpayer can stand from state and local levels of government. The federal government is the big tax collector and it would be more practical and efficient to have federal funds returned to the states on a no-strings-attached basis for them to allocate for their programs and to help local efforts."

"I also believe that revision of our Constitution is needed to strengthen and streamline state government. This would end the unnecessary, expensive and confusing process of submitting large numbers of amendments almost every year."

"We have a long complex Constitution. Though many sections of it may not need changing, it's obvious from the number of amendments being submitted that there are many areas that should be revised."

Paul Eggers seeks governorship.

Plant Construction Running Smoothly

Tommy Thomas in charge of construction at the new Wilson & Co. meat packing plant has announced that work on the plant is going smoothly at the present time without any complications having arisen to hinder work.

Thomas said that presently there are 12 men working at the plant site but more will begin as the various sub-contractors arrive to begin their work. It is expected that some 150 additional employees will be needed at the construction site composing around 30 sub-contractors. In addition to the present crew and sub-contractors, there will be around 100 suppliers providing equipment and supplies to the sub-contractors.

Presently, the construction crew is operating two J619 "scrapers" which are digging the basement out for the main building of the plant. The scrapers dig up 21 yards of dirt in a single sweep and a capable of making about 10 sweeps per hour. Thomas said one slight problem had arisen when the packing crew, the group watering and packing the loose dirt, were unable to keep up with the amount of dirt excavated by the scrapers. He said that they had to stop one of the scrapers for a day or two but now both are back in operation. Completion of the basement of the plant's main building is expected within the next couple of weeks Thomas said with possibility the electrical and plumbing sub-contractors beginning their work the early part of this week. The excavation of the basement was completed last week.

Thomas also mentioned that there was the possibility of the construction of another building to the rear of the main plant building. He said that it would be for the purpose of processing hides and various other parts of the slaughtered animals.

The cocoa (cacao) tree is a native of Central and South America, grows as high as 40 feet and its mature pods resemble cucumbers and cantaloupes.

Election Ballot Change May Confuse Some Voters

Two factors may cause some balloting confusion in the November 5 general election, election officials in Texas forecast this week.

The two factors are:
1. A new State law has inserted a new top line on the paper ballots so that persons desiring to vote a "straight party ticket" may do so by making one mark. This new line is expected to confuse not only the "straight ticket" voters, but also the "split ticket" voters.
2. "Split ticket" voters are expected to be more numerous than ever before, especially since there is a third party, the American Party, and it has candidates for only President and Vice-President and no other offices.

Voters are cautioned to be certain that their ballots are properly marked so that their intentions will not be subject to interpretation by election officials.

The "scratch" method of voting, which some people prefer, is still permitted. However, voters using this method are cautioned to be certain to mark through all names in all three party columns for which they do not wish to vote.

There are 19 counties in Texas that use voting machines. As in the past, one lever can be pulled to vote a "straight ticket." To vote a "split ticket," individual levers should be pulled for each candidate of the voter's choice. Persons who are uncertain as to how to operate a machine should contact one of the election officials before entering the voting booth.

Voting machines are scheduled to be used in the following counties: Bell, Bexar, Brazoria, Cameron, Dallas, Ector, El Paso, Galveston, Gregg, Harris, Hidalgo, Jefferson, Midland, Nueces, Potter, Randall, Rusk, Smith and Tarrant.

VOTE FOR JERRY TUCKER

FOR

THE TUCKER FAMILY

DISTRICT ATTORNEY

69th JUDICIAL DISTRICT

The Man Most Qualified for the Job!

Jerry Tucker is the man most qualified, through experience, for the post of District Attorney, 69th Judicial District, Tucker practiced law in Georgia until February 1963 at which time he moved to Amarillo, working one year as research and law clerk for the late Hon. Joseph B. Dooley, U.S. District Judge. He has been in Dumas since April 1964 — general practice — first with the firm of Lovell and Lyle and now for himself. He is the father of three youngsters and is vitally concerned with the enforcement of the law — the key to keeping good communities, and good areas for family living.

In High School, Tucker was an honor student and valedictorian, a debater, member of the band and President of the Student Government. He was an Eagle Scout with 54 merit badges and God and Country Award. He is a member of the First Methodist Church of Dumas, a Sunday School teacher, choir director for the past two years. Also active in civic work. A member of the Lion's Club, Chamber of Commerce committees and president of the County Unit of American Cancer Society.

Vote for the Man Who Can And Will Do The Job!

Jerry R. Tucker

Republican Candidate for

DISTRICT ATTORNEY 69th DISTRICT

Here's What Tucker's Hometown Editor Thinks

. . . . Our concern for firm and fair law enforcement is the same as that of virtually every resident of the 69th judicial district. With this concern, we have no hesitation in declaring a choice for District Attorney in the Nov. 5 general election.

JERRY TUCKER OF DUMAS IS THAT CHOICE.

There are a number of good and apparent reasons for favoring Jerry Tucker. He is a well trained attorney; he had an outstanding record as a law student and law graduate. He served ably as law clerk for former Federal District Judge Joseph Dooley. He has a record of ability and accomplishment in private law practice, and he is honest and forthright.

Beyond that, Jerry Tucker is a good man and a fine citizen. He carries a full share of civic duties, notably in the American Cancer Society; he is a family man with a fine family, and he is a devoted church worker.

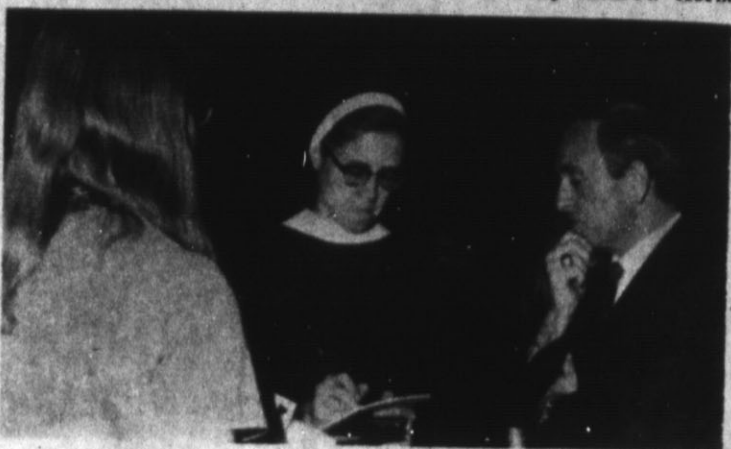

As a Democrat, we can endorse Jerry Tucker on the Republican ticket, without reservation. Law and order will be carried out fairly, diligently and ably with him as District Attorney, and this is no small assurance for the 69th district — or any other area to have in these times. — Dick Revis in the Moore County News (Dumas).

American History Students Hear Talk From Candidate

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer
Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake spoke to 28 students of St.
Anthony's School at Democratic Headquarters in Hereford Wednesday morning in what was described as a non-political speech

And the students, members of the American history class and civics club, asked many questions following the speech — some point blank and unexpected but all of profound interest.
Introduced by Andrew Kershen of Hereford, Rep. Clayton explained the process of "how does a law become a law" through the process of using the helmet requirement for motor bike riders which became a law on January 1, as the background

"It began," he said, "because the people had become interested. These people did research on motor bike accidents and felt there was a need for crash helmets. It was not done as a penalty but because they thought it was a good safety measure for the riders."

He said then that organized groups starting contacting their legislators on the matter. "Will you sponsor such a bill?" they asked."

But after the bill was introduced into the legislature, "it still had a long way to go." He then traced it through committees, sub-committees, and the public hearing on the measure.
He explained how it was placed on the House of Representatives calendar, and how it was presented before the House by the bill's author and co-author.

The electronic voting machine for each representative was explained, and how each individual vote is registered on a large board — green light for yes, red light for no, and white light when the representative feels his vote would be a direct conflict of interest (because of prejudicial interests.) "Each vote is a matter of public record."

Rep. Clayton also explained to the students that there are three readings of each bill before it is finally voted upon —
"to have an opportunity to think about it. But the opinions of the people are very important. They are the ones the legislators are trying to satisfy. If enough opinions come in from the district, we can change our vote."

He explained that the bill then has to go to the Senate, where the same process is conducted as in the House. "If the Senate adds amendments, the bill will be returned to the House. Or it goes to the governor for his signature — and he might veto it.
But if he signs it, it becomes a law in 90 days. If he does not sign it, it will become a law 90 days after the end of the session." Upon governor veto, he said that a bill could return to the House and Senate and two-thirds majority of the vote can still place it into law.

He said that the process of law was slow "but it is a good process. It gives everyone a chance to voice his opinion. This is the basis of America."

Upon questioning, Rep. Clayton was asked if he favored gun control. "No, I am opposed to it because it would penalize too many good people who now own guns." But he explained that there is a bill now concerning the use of a gun in committing a crime which has much stiffer penalties than he was for.

He was asked about knives?
"Could you register all knives?"
Rep. Clayton asked his audience. He reminded them that it is already against the law to carry a knife more than 4 1/2 inches.

He said that he was for capital punishment "as a protective measure — to make people think that they might die themselves if they killed someone."

The young students asked why the law had not punished so many murderers currently and "so many have gone free." Rep.
Clayton explained that it is actually the jurists (the people) who determine the sentence.
"The law is there, but the jury does this." As an example, he said, "We could pass a law that everyone had to go to church on Sunday. But we could not enforce it."

He said there were many misconceptions of the law. "Some people will abide by the laws they like, but not the laws they don't like. If they do not like a law, they should inform their legislators — and abide by all laws until they are removed."

Rep. Clayton was asked why the license law for drivers had been raised from 14 to 16 —
"because statistics show more accidents in that age group, and it is felt it will influence them to take Drivers Education in high school" — and the matter of political precincts — "the population has nothing to do with it."

"Who organizes the local Democratic party?"

The people, he stated. "The chairmen are on the ballot in the primary elections. The people decide who will lead them in each county."

"Do you think Hubert Humphrey will win?"

Rep. Clayton said there was no way anyone could make predictions prior to an election that would be accurate. He jokingly said that if that were not the case, he wouldn't have to worry about his own chances.

He was asked how he got his start in politics — and he explained it to them.

He had made mention earlier about the news media in many places that highlighted the activities of demonstrators and juvenile delinquents but stated

NEW YORK — The first two volumes of a new six-volume exposition of contemporary Christian thought, "Sacramen-tum Mundi: An Encyclopedia of Theology," are being issued this fall by the ecumenical publishing house, Herder and Herder.
Edited by noted German Catholic theologian, Karl Rahner, the work has been in preparation since 1952, and includes more than 1,000 articles by Catholic and Protestant theologians country. You are going to be our future citizens and I think it's wonderful that you show an interest in politics. Someday soon the making of the laws will be your responsibility. There is a need for your interest now."

on subjects ranging from Angel to Situation Ethics.

CHURCH FEES ABOLISHED

ATHENS, Greece — Archbishop Hieronymos of Athens and all Greece has abolished mandatory payments to Greek Orthodox priests for officiating at weddings, funerals, baptisms and other church services.

In the future, "It is up to Christians to give any amount they consider proper," the Greek Orthodox primate declared in an encyclical. The funds, he said, "will be distributed between the church and its personnel."

Conrad van Houten patented a press in 1920 for the making of cocoa powder.

POLITICAL QUESTIONS — American history teacher Sister Celine of St. Anthony's School (center) asked Rep. Bill Clayton additional questions on politics after his speech to 28 members of her class and Civics Club at Democratic Headquarters Wednesday morning. Rep. Clayton told the group how bills are transformed into laws.

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK

MANDRAKE'S MIGHTY MAGIC! HE APPEARS TO BE A COLOSSUS-- ABOUT TO DESTROY CHANCE CAY!

The PHANTOM

By Lee Falk

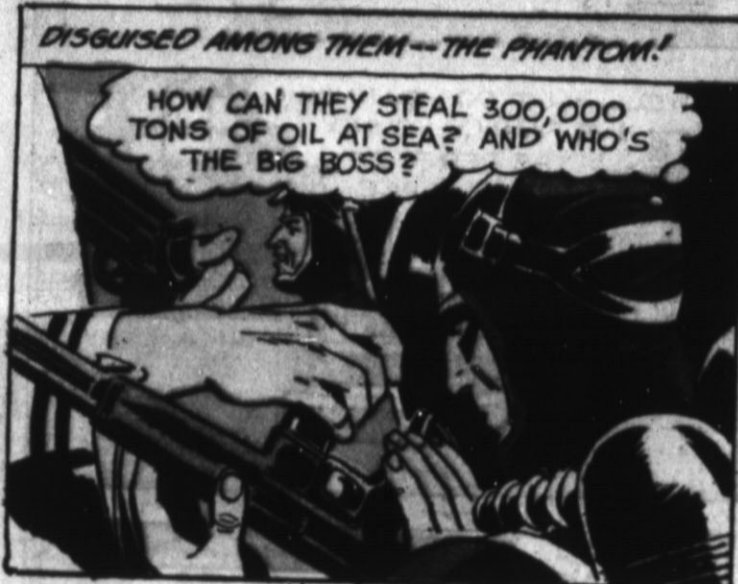

"GOLD STAR"--ANOTHER SUPER OIL TANKER IN THE 300,000-TON CLASS--LOADED TO THE GUNWALES!

TWO DAYS' TRAVEL AWAY-- BIG JOB COMING, MEN. SAME SIZE AS THE LAST ONE! CALLED THE GOLD STAR!

MAKE THIS A FAST, CLEAN JOB. THE BIG BOSS WILL BE WATCHING. ANOTHER 300,000 TONNER! GREAT! A FEW MORE AND I CAN RETIRE! AND RUN A GAS STATION?

DISGUISED AMONG THEM--THE PHANTOM!

WELL? COUNT PETRO, THE BOYS DON'T LIKE THE GAME ALONG ON THIS GOLD STAR JOB. IT'S BAD LUCK.

SUPERSTITIOUS NONSENSE-- SHE MADE ME ANGRY-- LOST MY TEMPER. ALL RIGHT-- KEEP HER LOCKED IN THE CABIN-- UNTIL AFTERWARDS.

AFTERWARDS? THEN WHAT? CAN'T LET HER GO. TOO RISKY.

TRUE. CAN'T LET HER GO. SO--

?? WHAT IS-- ALL THIS?

NEXT WEEK: "GOLD STAR JOB!"

BRINGING UP FATHER

by BILL KAVANAGH & FRANK FLETCHER

I'M GOING TO BE LATE FOR SCHOOL, AUNTIE--

I'M AFRAID SO, DEAR! WE'RE ALL LATE THIS MORNING--

YOU'LL HAVE TO GIVE ME A NOTE FOR THE TEACHER--

I'M BUSY WITH UNCLE JIGGS'S BREAKFAST--

DIMPLES IS LATE FOR SCHOOL! WILL YOU WRITE HER A NOTE?

I'M IN A HURRY TO GET TO THE OFFICE--

IT'LL ONLY TAKE YOU A MINUTE-- WHILE I'M GETTING YOUR BREAKFAST--

ALL RIGHT-- BUT MAKE IT QUICK--

WHAT IS MISS INGLINK'S FIRST NAME?

OH, SHE'S NOT MY TEACHER ANY MORE--

I HAVE A NEW TEACHER -- HOLLY WOODSTAR'S SISTER--

OH, REALLY?

MAYBE IT WOULD BE BETTER IF I EXPLAINED YOUR TARDINESS TO MISS WOODSTAR IN PERSON--

I'LL WRITE A NOTE TO YOUR TEACHER!

Hi and Lois

by MORT WALKER and DIK BROWNE

WELL, HERE WE ARE. THAT'S LAURA DOWNEY'S HOUSE!

YEAH, WELL, UH... HERE! TAKE HER NOTEBOOK UP TO THE DOOR.

UH-UH NOT ME! YOU FOUND IT!

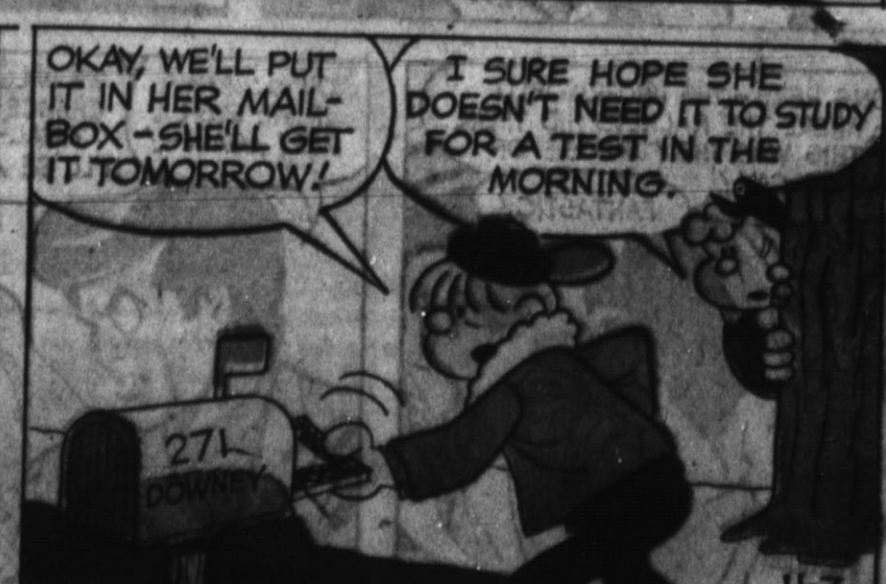

SHE'S IN YOUR HOME ROOM!

YEAH, BUT SHE LIKES YOU!

I'M NOT TAKING HER NOTEBOOK UP THERE AND HAVE HER GUSHING ALL OVER ME. NO, SIR!

AND I'M NOT DOING YOUR DIRTY WORK FOR YOU!

OKAY, WE'LL PUT IT IN HER MAIL-BOX-- SHE'LL GET IT TOMORROW!

I SURE HOPE SHE DOESN'T NEED IT TO STUDY FOR A TEST IN THE MORNING.

LAURA DOWNEY, LOOK IN YOUR MAILBOX.

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

by Lyman Young and Tom Massey

A POD?

SURE - A CARGO POD ATTACHED TO THE BELLY OF HIS PLANE -

...AND SOMEWHERE OVER NADIWA HE MUST HAVE DROPPED IT BY ACCIDENT!

YOU'D THINK HE WOULD WANT HELP LOOKING FOR IT!

RIGHT! LIKE THE CAPTAIN SAID... WHY IS BOLTON DECEIVING US? COME ON - WE'LL SHOW IT TO CAPT. DOBBS!

IT'S A HUGE TERRITORY, SIR!

IT'S JUST POSSIBLE I MIGHT PINPOINT THE MISSING POD WITHOUT LEAVING THE VILLAGE!

THEY APPEAR TO ACT AND THINK ALIKE!

IN EVERY WAY IT SEEMS THEY'RE THE SAME!

MY LAND, I NEVER SAW TWO PEOPLE WITH SUCH IDENTICAL LIKES AND DISLIKES!
