County Balks At Proposal

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

After reviewing circumstances surrounding a proposal to change the method of compiling the 69th Judicial District Court payroll, The Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court voted unanimously to delay action and put the item on a future meeting agenda. This was decided during a regular court meeting Monday in the Commissioner's Courtroom at the county courthouse.

The county officials did accept a bid for a 50 x 60-foot building in precinct two, selected for paving a walkway around the county museum, approved Joe Pat Cassels as a public weigher at Hereford Feedyards in Precinct one, heard a presentation on copying machines from a salesman of the A.B. Dick Company and discussed for items of communication.

DISTRICT JUDGE MIKE METCALF proposed that the commissioners go along with the other five counties in the judicial district to pay the district court directly for employe salaries rather than submitting checks directly to the employes, as it is presently done. He said this would cut down on the number of checks written for small amounts monthly and "improve administration."

However, complicated circumstances were involved as far as the commissioner were concerned and they decided to investigate the proposal further before taking any formal action for or against it.

"I think it will save money on postage...and provide a simpler, easier administration (of payrolls), Metcalf explained. With all the checks written by the six counties and district court for various reimbursements, a total of over 500 checks a month are issued, the judge said.

The commissioners were questioning the classification of the employes, for fringe benefits principally the adult probation Officer Harold Wheeler and his assistants. They could either be termed county or district court workers although the county is now paying for their retirement benefits and handling their payroll deductions for FICA and Social Security.

ALEX SCHROETER, county auditor, checked with the State attorney General's office in Austin and it supported the contention that the district court would have to maintain all records and procedures for payroll deductions if it were take over the function of writing paychecks. "I would quibble with that because they are still county employes," Metcalf said. "I envision the county still deducting costs from paychecks."

He interpreted statutes as defining the workers as county employes and therefore eligible for county benefits and of insurance and retirement.

Although wanting the simplest procedure for the county and district court, Commissioner Bruce Coleman, said, "I don't like the idea of creating another bureaucracy," which he sees if the district court becomes a separate entity.

Vesta Mae Nunley, county treasurer, said if checks weren't issued at certain times during the month, a problem would exist in her attempts to send in quarterly reports for payrolls. Metcalf said the checks could be issued at convenient times.

He said the main problem is that employes are now given six separate check-a month for their pay and that it is not fair sometimes when one of two of the checks might be delayed for a month of two. The problem was first brought to his attention by the other counties, which write small monthly checks to consume about $2,600 in yearly budgeted expenses. Deaf Smith County pays 38 percent of the district court cost and therefore issues larger checks, which has never been a problem here.

Shortly after Metcalf departed, Schroeter suggested letting the other four or five counties join in the newly proposed procedure at their option and allowing Deaf Smith County to continue as it has been. The other counties in the district are Oldham, Moore, Hartley, Dallam, and Sherman.

Metcalf said he wanted to check with the Internal Revenue Service before the Attorney General's office concerning the legality of the district court being authorized by the counties to pay checks even though the employes would be defined as county workers. He will report back later.

ONLY $16 SEPARATED the Brownlow Brothers Construction Co. from getting the county building bid for precinct two. It was awarded to the lower bidder, A.G. May Construction Co. for $23,336.

The structure will be used for storage for Austin Rose, commissioner, and his precinct.

The other bid approved went to B.L. Jones of Hereford for walkway paving around the county library. It amounted to $752. The other bid was $801 submitted

A total of 26 indictments were returned by the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury during a regular monthly session held Monday at the county courthouse.

Of these, 13 persons were indicted for 25 separate offenses and an at-large defendant was indicted from evidence presented by Criminal District Attorney Andy Shoval and his assistant Schalan Atkinson. These cases will be tried sometime during the next few months.

Those serving on the grand jury are Mrs. Earl Baca, A.C. Brozman, Sammy Gonzalez, Mrs. H.L. Hershey, Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Roy Kuper, Mrs. Della Mercer.

Mrs. H.H. Miller, Carl Straffuss, foreman, Sidney Urbanczyk, Mrs. Larry Walterschied, and David Yandell. The next grand jury session is scheduled for Oct. 7.

Minor Weekend Thefts Occur

Thefts were the main item on the report sheet of the Hereford Police Department following the weekend, with the thieves actually causing more damage to the building they robbed than what they carried away in at least one incident.

The Blue Bonnet Laundry at 909 Union was struck by thieves sometime between Sunday night and Monday morning. A screen was pulled back from a window at the firm and an air conditioner pushed inside in order to gain entry.

All that was found missing at the firm was a one dollar bill which had been displayed in a picture frame.

Mike Ferguson of 247 Douglas reported the vandalism of a small building on North 25 Mile Avenue to police Saturday. Books and tickets had been torn up and scattered throughout the office at the building.

A purse belonging to Mrs. Gary Collier of Hereford was stolen at Edwards Laundry on Park Avenue over the weekend. Although the purse contained no cash, the local woman lost her driver's license, social security card and several other similar items.

Aides to Help Ford Make First Strategy Plans For Fall Election

VAIL, Colo. (AP) - President Ford plans to meet with key White House advisers and top campaign officials in his first formal strategy conference for the fall election.

Ford, midway through a week-long vacation, summoned the aides to his Rocky Mountain retreat for today's campaign session, which comes nearly a week after he secured the Republican presidential nomination.

The President will hold similar sessions in his rented home near the foot of Vail Mountain every day until he departs for Washington over the weekend, Press Secretary Ron Nessen said.

But the agenda for the talks was secret, and Nessen said he would have little to say about the outcome. "We're just not going to stand up and announce our strategy to Jimmy Carter," he explained.

White House staff chief Richard

Chaney held a series of meetings with presidential aides earlier in the week to discuss the campaign, including the still-vague plans for televised debates between Ford and his Democratic rival, Carter.

Nessen indicated that arrangements for the debates - including the format, sponsorship, times and places - still were up in the air.

Senator Robert Dole of Kansas, Ford's vice presidential running mate, is now expected here Thursday night.

Dole originally planned to come sooner, but Ford has dispatched him to speak at an American Legion convention in Seattle Wednesday and at the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines Thursday.

Carter is speaking at both events.

"It just happens to be a coincidence," a grinning Nessen told reporters. Despite the campaign session and a modicum of official business, Ford doesn't plan to break his habit of getting in 18 holes of golf daily during the vacation, Nessen said.

Dole, prior to being named to the GOP ticket, told Time magazine that Ford might be wasting valuable time by taking a Vail vacation with only 70 days left before the Nov. 2 election.

Nessen commented Monday that "there's going to be a lot of work done here this week - as Sen. Dole will find out when he gets here."

In Washington Monday, Dole told reporters, "I probably didn't understand it was a work week."

Ford, who missed his customary spring vacation at Palm Springs, Calif., because of the primaries, held a brief round of staff meetings Monday morning, carded an 89 on the golf course in the afternoon and dined at a French restaurant with Mrs. Ford, friends and aides.

Farm Profits Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) - With big harvests in prospect and more livestock to sell, 1976 farm profits are gaining while consumer food prices are rising at only one-half last year's pace, according to the Agriculture Department.

Moreover, the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Monday that retail food prices are expected to continue their modest gains through the first half of 1977, averaging 3 to 4 per cent above the first six months of this year.

Postal Authority Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate, wrestling with a bill that would boost the Postal Service's subsidy by $1 billion, is considering whether to reimpose congressional authority over the debt-ridden agency.

A vote was scheduled for today on a proposal by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., to reassert tight control over the postal budget, six years after Congress relinquished control over the U.S. Post Office and turned it into a semi-independent agency.

Ford Civil Rights Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) - After a 10-month investigation of school desegregation, the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights is critical of President Ford and members of Congress for attempting to restrict court-ordered busing.

"The commission believes, that efforts by either the executive or the legislative branches to curb the power of the courts, in the final analysis, will not prevail," it said in a 315-page report.

Intervention Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army Secretary Martin Hoffmann says he intervened in the West Point cheating scandal as an "extraordinary circumstance" because he saw no other way out. "I'm not sure how I could have resolved it any other way..." Hoffmann said in his Pentagon office Monday after announcing that the scores of cadets convicted in the scandal will be spared the customary penalty of automatic expulsion.

Home Improvements In County Houses Total Over $2 Million

Deaf Smith County residents are going in for home improvements in a big way these days. They are putting a record amount of money into alterations, additions and general revamping of their properties, a government survey shows.

In the past year, it is estimated, local home owners spent some $2,380,000 on such improvements, considerably more than in 1974.

Some families spent much more than the local average and some spend much less. For those who went in for major improvements, the outlay was considerably greater. Others, who may have done a big renovating job a year or two before, spent smaller amounts in the past year.

The extent to which the modernization trend has boomed in the last few years is indicated by the national figures, which show that $25.2 billion was so-spent in the past year, as against $21.1 billion in 1974 and $18.5 billion in 1973.

In part, the rise was due to the increased cost of labor and materials. To a greater degree, however, it reflects the frustration of homeowners who have been in the market for new homes for a long time but have been unable to find suitable houses at prices they can afford.

The next best thing, they decided, was to fix up the places they have. Many are putting in storm doors and windows and are adding to their wall and attic insulation to cut down on their heating and cooling bills.

Of the $2,380,000 outlay in Deaf Smith County for home improvements, the general breakdown indicates that about 44 percent of it was for additions and alterations, 39 percent for maintenance and repairs and 17 percent for major replacements.

Caution Asked For School Kids

As nearly three million Texas students return to public, private, and parochial schools, the threat of traffic accidents has increased.

Ken Nevil, administrator of the Office of Traffic Safety, said "During 1975, 562 persons under the age of 18 were killed in traffic accidents. This represents an increase of nearly 5 per cent over the previous year."

Nevil said many motorists are acutely aware of the dangers during the first few days of school but many then forget the hazards as time passes.

Calling attention to the impassive attitudes by some drivers, Nevil said, "These school aged youngsters are in their prime and nearing the threshold of adulthood. But, the pathetic killing of these students removes their chances to be productive citizens."

To work toward reduction of school related accidents, Nevil said the Office of Traffic Safety would continue working with the Texas Education Agency, related associations, and the many schools across Texas to get teachers and students involved in traffic safety.

"We are continuing the Ranger Kit Program, which allows students to participate in about ten hours of instruction on traffic safety.

Additionally, we are developing other classroom packages relating to bicycle, pedestrian, and passenger safety. By working with elementary level students, we think we can develop attitudes that will remain positive during their formative years. We trust many of these behaviors will be carried with them as they begin to drive automobiles. Admittedly, our plan is long range, but we think education is the ultimate solution to the traffic safety problems of Texas," concluded Nevil.

Bond Sales Halfway To 1976 Goal

June sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Deaf Smith county were reported recently by County Bond Chairman James H. Sears.

Sales for the six-month period totaled $98,543 for 49 per cent of the 1976 sales goal of $200,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $21,078,018, while sales for the first half of 1976 totaled $139,566,833 with 51 per cent of the yearly sales goal of $272.4 million.

Rotarians Learn Of County History

The Hereford Rotary Club was treated to a bit of county history as Mrs. Bessie Patterson co-chairman of the Deaf Smith County Centennial Committee, presented a brief description of the county's beginning during a luncheon Monday.

the formation of Hereford in 1898. The first recognized resident was Troy Womble who predicted so accurately the location of a railroad coming through here that he was forced to move his dugout off the railroad right-of-way. Other early settlers included the Cox, Bradley and Jowell families.

She said the county's organization and birthday were debatable but that it is generally accepted as Aug. 21, 1876. Actually, that is when the county was named and voters did not decide until Oct. 3, 1890 to set up a separate county entity. It was a part of Oldham County before for judicial purposes only.

Mrs. Patterson explained that at least 180 registered voters existed in the county prior to the election since that is how many signed the original petition to organize the county. Less than 100 voted in the election.

Much of her information comes from "A History of Deaf Smith County," written by her in cooperation with Melvin Young and Jimmie Gillentine, formerly of the Hereford Brand.

Originally, the county was part of a 22-county area which was organized early in Texas history for protection and court reasons. Like most Panhandle counties, the government entities were set up by an act of the state legislature.

She reviewed the other high points of local history including

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I am long overdue in writing to express our appreciation for the friendliness and kindness shown to my husband and me during his illness and hospitalization in Hereford in March, 1976.

Of course, we were total strangers but everyone made us feel like "the folks next door."

The hospital staff including the volunteers could not have been kinder, and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor at the Holiday Motel were just wonderful. Even the First National Bank sent a beautiful rose to my husband in the hospital.

We now know first hand what Texas hospitality is.

Mr. Magness was hospitalized again when we returned home, but appears now to have his problem controlled and is enjoying good health and retirement.

Our appreciation to everyone in Hereford.

Sincerely,

Firemen's Hall Of Fame Funds Sought By Group

The State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association of Texas announced it is launching a 2 million dollar campaign for the purpose of raising money to build an Archives and Hall of Fame in the State of Texas.

The Board of the Association, in a recent meeting at College Station, decided that the time has come to preserve many of the outstanding pieces of equipment and documents. The men of the firefighting force of Texas should be honored with a Hall of Fame, plus a living library of the training of firefighters and fire protection.

The site of the Archives is to be determined by the site committee. Contributions are being sought from Business, Industry, Foundations, as well as Individuals. There are 16 Divisions of the Association in Texas involving more than 800 fire departments. All gifts are tax deductible.

The local Fire marshal is Jay Spain.

The Campaign Chairman is a Veteran Fireman, Chief Blundy Rucker, of Killean, Texas. The State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association is celebrating its 100 years of service this year in Texas. In 1896, a beautiful monument was unveiled on the State Capital grounds in Austin, in honor of the Volunteer Firement who died in the line of duty.

Medical Aid Given Under War Conditions

KFARKELA, Lebanon (AP) - Adnan Raslan, a Lebanese Moslem taxi driver, took his pregnant wife to an Israeli doctor, an unthinkable act in the war-ravaged Beirut slum he fled two weeks ago.

The physician, wearing side-arms, was waiting at a recently opened gate in the heavily fortified Israeli-Lebanese border. He told Raslan his wife was suffering internal bleeding and might require an abortion.

"May I come along or send my mother with my wife to help her out?" the husband asked.

"I'm afraid you must return. Have no fear about your wife. We will be fathers and mothers to her," the doctor answered.

Raslan and his wife were among 100 or more men, women and children who every morning appear at this border village and line up in the hot sun facing Israeli soldiers carrying rifles.

They are Arabs awaiting admission into the Jewish state just south of Lebanon for medical treatment, food, work or reunions with families living in Israel.

The daily crossover is organized by the Israelis here and at three other gates along a stretch of the 69-mile border that before Lebanon's civil war was crossed only by Palestinian guerrillas on suicide missions, Israeli commandos and foreign diplomats.

The guerrillas are gone now, drawn north to the battles of Beirut. Thousands of Lebanese Moslems like Raslan have poured south in the other direction to flee combat areas and resettle in villages near the wire fence and paved road that make up the frontier.

A dozen Israeli snipers watched the crowd through binoculars while the doctor led Raslan's wife along a dust-covered road to the clinic, beyond the 50-foot-high sand barrier.

Raslan's wife was admitted into Israel two hours ahead of the scheduled start of clinic operations because her case was deemed urgent. Others had to wait in sweltering heat under apple and olive trees.

JIM MCMORRIES, county tax reappraiser, asked in a letter for a $1,500 advance payment on 10 per cent of funds by the county for payment of the property reappraisal project. The original contract stated that this amount was to be retained until the project is 100 per cent complete.

It is except for some property value cards which are not yet submitted to the tax assessor-collector. The court approved the payment on a 3-1 vote with Commission Earl Holt objecting because he felt the original contract ought to be followed exactly. Money Promised Arab Airline Hijackers

CAIRO (AP)— Three Arab hijackers whose attempt to pirate an Egyptian jetliner to neighboring Libya was foiled by disguised paratroopers said Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi promised them $250,000, Egypt's prime minister reported.

The Libyan government denied the accusation. It counter-charged that the Egyptian intelligence service staged the hijacking in an attempt to discredit Libya.

when the soldiers, dressed as mechanics, overpowered them and freed passengers and crew members of the Boeing 737 at the airport in the southern city of Luxor, officials said.

Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem, who flew to Luxor after the hijacking Monday, said the trio confessed their mission was ordered by the militant Libyan leader who Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has accused of waging a campaign of subversion and terrorism against his regime.

The hijackers said Khadafi promised them $250,000 if they forced the pilot to fly the plane to Libya, Salem reported. Interior Ministry officials said they also demanded the release of three Libyans and two other Arabs jailed in Egypt and threatened to blow up the plane if their demands were not met.

The Egyptian government charges that Libya was responsible for the recent bombing of the Alexandria railway station, in which eight persons were killed and 60 were wounded, and the bombing of a government building in Cairo. Libya has denied these charges also.

Egyptian officials said six paratroopers disguised as mechanics entered the plane, overpowered two hijackers and a third gave up. The officials here had said earlier that there were seven gunmen-five Libyans and two Algerians-and that paratroopers stormed the plane.

The hijackers had been demanding the release of five persons jailed in Egypt and enough fuel to fly to Libya, the sources said.

The hijackers claim to be members of a new organization called the Abdel Nasser Movement, named after the late Egyptian president.

The gunmen commandeered the Egyptian plane after it took off from Cairo for Luxor, 448 miles to the south. The semiofficial Middle East News Agency reported the hijackers ordered the pilot to fly to Benghazi, in neighboring Libya. The report said the pilot told the gunmen he didn't have enough fuel and the plane landed at Luxor.

Security forces immediately surrounded the craft and Salem flew to Luxor to take charge of the negotiations.

An Interior Ministry communiqué said 96 passengers were listed on the plane's manifest, including the hijackers, and the Boeing 737 had a crew of five. Fourteen of the passengers were Arabs, the airline said, and most of the others were French and Japanese tourists.

An official at the New Winter Palace Hotel in Luxor told The Associated Press by telephone that the hotel had sent lunch and drinks for 100 persons on request of officials at the airport.

He said tourists scheduled to leave Luxor had been barred from the airport and passengers already at the field were ordered back to hotels.

Egyptian officials reportedly believed the hijackers had been trained and hired by the Libyan government. Libyan President Moammar Khadafi is Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's main Arab enemy and relations between the two countries are poor. Egypt has accused Khadafi of directing a wave of terrorist attacks in Egypt in recent months. The Libyan leader has denied the charges.

The hijacker's demanded the release of three Libyans jailed last month after reportedly confessing that Khadafi had ordered them to kill or kidnap a former Libyan leader, Omer el Meheisky, now living in exile in Egypt, Interior Ministry sources said.

They also called for the release of the manager of South Yemen Airlines in Egypt and a Palestinian, both of whom are being held on charges of trying to assassinate a former prime minister of South Yemen on Aug. 6, the sources said.

Severe Earthquake Hits Mountainous China Area

By GIL SANTOS
Associated Press Writer

MANILA, The Philippines (AP)— A severe earthquake was reported in central China Monday, and a mild aftershock was felt in the southern Philippines.

Japanese seismologists reported a quake measuring 7.3 on the Richter Scale in the central Chinese province of Szechuan, in a mountainous, sparsely populated area that has been hit by several tremors in the past few days.

As usual, there was no word of the quake from Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency. But it reported earlier that a quake there earlier this month caused little damage because the population was prepared for it.

The aftershock in the southern Philippines was the 29th since the big quake and tidal wave there last Tuesday. It registered 6.0 on the Richter Scale at the U.S. National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., which said its epicenter was located in the Moro Gulf, like the killer quake last week.

However, The National Geophysical Observatory in Manila said it was not severe in Zamboanga City or Cagayan de Oro, two of the cities where it was felt, and no further damage or casualties were reported.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs in which every increase of one whole number means the ground motion is 10 times greater. In populated areas, a reading of 6 is considered a severe quake, 7 a major quake which can cause widespread heavy damage, and 8 a "great" quake which can cause tremendous damage.

The quake which devastated the Tangshan area of northeast China in July registered 8.2 on the Richter Scale, which the big quake in The Philippines last week measured 7.8.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos reported Sunday that the toll from the quake and tidal wave last week has risen to 4,000 persons confirmed dead and 4,000 others missing and presumed dead. He said at least 175,000 people are homeless on Mindanao island and the Zamboanga peninsula, and that it will cost the government $134 million over the next five years to rehabilitate the area.

Reports Indicate Little Possibility Of Life On Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— A laboratory report from Viking 1 has increased the odds against finding life on Mars. But scientists say the possibility still exists, and they hope Viking 2 will have better luck in the search for life at its slightly more favorable landing site.

Monday's report on data sent to earth from Viking 1 was discouraging. Dr. Klaus Biemann said Viking was unable to detect any organic material—the carbon-based material that is evidence of life—in the pinch of Martian soil studied in the latest analysis.

"It is certainly difficult to reconcile the absence or very low level of organic material with the presence of appreciable numbers of actively living micro-organisms," said Biemann. But biology team leader Dr. Harold Klein was unwilling to abandon all hope.

"Sure, we feel a lot worse than we did before the results came in," he said in an interview. "But there are models by which you could have microbial organisms in the soil that are below the limit of detection of the instrument."

For example, he noted that chemical processes speculated to be at work in the soil could be constantly removing organic matter before it is detected.

Viking 1 will not abandon its search for Martian life because other tests have yielded data that do not rule out life.

The Viking team at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory expected results today from a repeat of one inconclusive biology experiment.

Project officials have said that Viking 2 will send its robot lander to a touchdown on Sept. 3 in Mars' northern latitudes, about 4,000 miles from the rocky plain that is Viking 1's home.

Because it is farther north just short of where the planet's polar ice cap reaches in winter—the landing place is believed to be considerably wetter. That makes it more likely to harbor life.

Lebanon War Death Toll Soars Today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— A surge in the fighting in Beirut and nearby mountain towns and villages sent the death toll in Lebanon's civil war soaring today. Many of the casualties were noncombatants in residential areas of the capital.

Hospital officials estimated that more than 180 persons were killed and 360 wounded during the night. More than 200 were reported killed and 350 wounded in the 24 hours before.

minimal, the death toll in residential areas was one of the highest in several months," the Christian Phalange party's radio station said.

Christian militias tried to punch through leftist positions in western Beirut. The Moslems and Palestinians repulsed them in close-range combat with machine guns, bazookas and hand grenades.

Moslem and Christian leaders renewed appeals for a halt to the random shelling of residential quarters.

Christian leaders disclaimed responsibility for the shelling all night of leftist strongholds in western Beirut, charging "certain elements within the leftist camp are trying to undermine every endeavor to arrange a truce."

Christian and Moslem leaders "have exchanged information proving that part of the night shelling into western Beirut came from positions in western Beirut itself," the Phalange radio said.

Street fighting had diminished since Aug. 12, when the Christians captured the Palestinians' Tal Zaatar refugee camp on the southeast edge of Beirut. Since then the Palestinian Moslem and Christian forces have been regrouping in the capital and in the mountains east of the city.

Each side has demonstrated an inability to win decisively and an unwillingness to agree on peace terms," the independent. "The Palestinians cannot move forward militarily and do not want to retreat.

Farmers Ask For Double Support

WASHINGTON (AP)— Wheat farmers, still smarting over a federal curb on exports last year, want President Ford to immediately double the government's price support of wheat.

Don Woodward, president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, said Friday that farmers deserve an increase to $3 a bushel from $1.50 "to provide needed relief against further economic damage resulting from last year's government-imposed export restraints."

The association made the request in a telegram to Ford. There was no immediate response from the President, who happened to be deep in the wheat belt Friday on a visit to Russell, Kan., home town of his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Robert Dole. Kansas is the nation's leading wheat producer.

The Ford administration suspended new wheat and corn sales to the Soviet Union last summer after the Soviets bought large quantities of wheat and corn. Although the embargo was lifted after two months when a new long-term grain agreement was signed with Russia, many growers contend that the action depressed market prices and hurt them financially.

The suspension came some at a time when some officials feared that continued Soviet purchases might deplete U.S. stockpiles before the outcome of the 1975 harvest was determined.

Also, AFL-CIO President George Meany and maritime union leaders had threatened to boycott grain shipment loadings unless Ford took steps to guard against draining the U.S. stockpile and to protect American consumers. Grain sales to Poland also were suspended briefly.

The Agriculture Department makes price support loans to farmers who use their crop as security. The program is most popular with the farmers when market prices are depressed. But when prices are high, the trend is for farmers to sell commodities for cash.

If a loan is not paid off, the government assumes ownership of the commodity—in this case, wheat—and that satisfies the farmer's obligation. Usually, when prices rise above the loan level, farmers repay the loans and sell their grain for cash.

The farm price for wheat lately has been above the $3-per-bushel level proposed by the association. It averaged $3.33 nationally in mid-June, the same as last summer.

Woodward told Ford that "a substantial increase in the loan level is imperative if producers are to maintain any measure of economic vitality." He added that, "no one can reasonably expect producers to market current supplies at prices below the cost of production."

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and others in the administration have contended that the Russian sales embargo had little direct impact on grain prices and that the record 1975 wheat and corn harvests were mostly the cause of prices declining.

Last year's crop was a record of more than 2.13 billion bushels and this year's crop is estimated at nearly 2.1 billion.

The record crop has resulted in a sizable buildup in U.S. wheat stockpiles, which could reach 900 million bus-jug by next June 1, compared to 665 million on June 1 of this year.

Black Workers Stay Home During 3-Day Job Boycott

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)— Thousands of black workers stayed home from their jobs in Johannesburg today on the second day of a three-day work boycott in the Soweto township protesting the South African government's racial policies.

Police officials said they were determined to protect workers who wanted to get to work in the metropolis eight miles north of Soweto. But despite police gunfire which killed at least one black Monday, spokesmen for the city's commercial establishments and industries said the absentee rate was only slightly less than the 30 to 100 per cent reported by employers on Monday. All but a few of the 300 clothing factories were forced to close Monday, and the industry reported only a trickle of workers returning to their jobs today. Stores, hotels, insurance companies and other areas of the local economy also were hit by the strike.

Police reported that Soweto was quiet, but there were reports that they opened fire during the night to disperse arsonists who set a primary school on fire. There were no casualties.

The strike was called to mobilize economic pressure against the white government's apartheid policy of racial separation after two months of black unrest in which at least 252 persons have been killed. All but three of the dead have been blacks, and many of them were killed by police gunfire.

Pamphlets purporting to come from the outlawed African National Congress threatened that the homes of blacks who went to work would be burned. Many blacks interviewed in Johannesburg were frightened by the pamphlets, and it was impossible to determine how many stayed home voluntarily.

Johannesburg in South Africa's commercial and industrial capital, and the bulk of its labor force is drawn from Soweto and other segregated townships on the outskirts of the city. The blacks are forced by law to live in the ghettos.

The largest of these is Soweto, which has a population of a million and sends more than 200,000 workers to Johannesburg daily. It was the birthplace in mid-June of the current black upheaval which has presented the biggest challenge so far to the ruling white minority, and black militants there had been trying without success for several weeks to stage a mass job boycott.

Lee Finally Wins; Yanks Pound Twins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

When you fail to win as a starting pitcher between Aug. 24, 1975, and Aug. 23, 1976, a victory makes you forget some-but not all-of your aches and pains.

"It was my right leg, it was hurting, probably a hamstring," Boston's Bill Lee said after pitching the Red Sox to a 7-3 triumph over Nolan Ryan and the California Angels Monday night but coming out after seven innings.

"But it was everything, I was hurting all over. I'd had enough. I just want to get my arm in good enough shape so I won't need surgery. I have a spur, a calcium deposit, which causes inflammation and irritation. It's the reason I won't be able to brush my teeth in the morning."

But how does Lee really feel after going one day short of a full year without winning as a starter?

"I feel good," he admitted.

In other American League action, the New York Yankees pounded the Minnesota Twins 9-4; the Oakland A's blanked the Baltimore Orioles 3-0; the Cleveland Indians nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3; the Detroit Tigers edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4, and the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Texas Rangers, 6-3.

Lee, who missed six weeks of the season after injuring his pitching shoulder during a brawl in New York with the Yankees' Graig Nettles May 21, was making only his eighth start of the season.

Carl Yastrzemski hit his 17th homer and Jim Rice drilled a two-run single for the Red Sox while Lee worked seven innings and allowed seven hits and two runs. The Red Sox chased Ryan in the sixth, when they scored six times.

Yankees 9, Twins 4

Meanwhile Nettles, Lee's antagonist, walloped two doubles, a single and his 21st home run and slump-ridden Thurman Munson drove in three runs with two singles as the Yankees snapped a three-game skid. They pounded 17 hits off Bill

Singer and three relievers.

A's 3, Orioles 0

Sal Bando hit his 24th homer and Don Baylor his 14th in support of Vida Blue's six-hit pitching as the Oakland left-hander continued his 1976 mastery of Baltimore. Blue hurled his eighth complete game in his last nine starts and posted his fifth shutout of the season. He is 3-0 against Baltimore, allowing only three runs in 36 innings.

Indians 4, Royals 3

An infield hit by George Hendrick with two out in the ninth inning drove in the winning run. Dennis Eckersley stopped Kansas City on seven hits and struck out 12.

The Indians loaded the bases against Steve Mingo with one out in the ninth on a pinch single by Ron Pruitt, a double by Rick Manning and an intentional walk to Rico Carty. Manager Frank Robinson forced Pruitt at home but Hendrick followed with his infield hit.

Tigers 5, White Sox 4

Rookie Mark Wagner delivered a decisive two-run single as the Tigers broke open a tight game with three runs in the sixth inning. That made it 5-1 but Chicago rallied on homers by Jim Spencer and Chet Lemon off Ray Bare, who pitched only his second complete game in 17 starts.

Brewers 6, Rangers 2

George Scott drove in three runs with a homer and two doubles and Gorman Thomas also homered to pace Milwaukee's 13-hit attack.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) - Wichita State University is offering season ticket holders a refund for each college football game the Shockers lose in 1976.

Refund slips will be given out at the game and people buying full-price season tickets will be refunded half the price they paid for attending that game, the school said.

Season ticket sales dropped to 7,600 in 1975 after the Shockers turned in a 1-9-1 season. Athletic Director Ted Bredehoff said he hoped the new plan would enable him to sell 11,500 season tickets this year.

New Mentor Hopes To Motivate Owls

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Homer C. Rice, the new master motivator at Rice University, runs the Triple Pocket Combination TPC offense and he says his senior quarterback Tommy Kramer fits the triple pocket quite snugly.

Rice has penned a book to be published this fall on motivational techniques that can be used in any phase of life and he already has written earlier books about the triple option offense from which Darrell Royal got his idea for the wishbone at Texas.

Rice, 49, assumed control of the Owls in January and his hopes his motivational skills and the TPC will rally the sagging Owls.

Rice says the TPC is the best possible blend of the advantages of the triple option but with the added threat of the pass.

It all starts with the quarterback and Rice feels he's starting with a winner in Kramer.

"I think Kramer is a high level young man," Rice said. "He fits the offense and if he can work on a few little things, he can be truly great."

Rice has had a knack of developing outstanding quarterbacks, including Gregg Cook at Cincinnati and Bobby Warmack at Oklahoma and he says

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

When you need a medical prescription filled quickly, efficiently and conveniently, then you have but to drop by Edwards Pharmacy, 204 West Fourth, Hereford. Edwards Pharmacy has two registered pharmacists to serve you and the drive by window on the east side and abundant parking area makes the chore of picking up your prescription a pleasure. Hours are 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and Saturday 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Jim Arney, co-owner and manager became involved with the pharmacy back in 1960 when he received his degree in pharmacy from Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla. Assisting Jim in the pharmacy is Vicki Green who received her pharmacy degree from the University of Texas, Austin.

Jim and his wife Zala have three children: David, a junior at Hereford High School; James, a sophomore at Texas Tech and a daughter, Mrs. Mike (Cheryl) Crim who is also attending Texas Tech as a freshman.

Jim is very active in civic affairs and is a member of the Hereford Noon Kiwanis Club with 16 years perfect attendance. He is involved in the Boys Scouts, an active member of the Methodist Church and is presently serving his second three-year term as a member of the Hereford School Board.

During the sugar beet campaign, Jim's wife Zala works as a supervisor for Holly Sugar. She has held this position since Holly Sugar began production.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

When the Revolutionary War ended, Congress, motivated by fear of the military, did away with the armed forces. The one link of continuous service with the modern United States Army is provided by Capt. Alexander Hamilton's Company of New York Artillery, some 80-odd men and 3 officers, organized in 1776. It fortuitously was held in service at West Point and Ft. Mifflin in 1776, surviving today. The World Almanac notes, as an element of the 5th Field Artillery Regiment U.S.A.

South Ain't What It Used To Be

The underdeveloped South ain't what it used to be.

Jimmy Carter will get credit for forcing national acceptance for "equal rights" for Southerners—but Carter is not the reason for that recognition, he's the result of it.

The South, coming from behind, trying harder, has burst into bloom and now is setting the pace for the rest of us in social reform and economic dynamism.

Twenty-five years ago only two of our nation's 20 largest cities were in the 11 southern states. Now five of them are.

During the last 10 years three-fourths of all our nation's new manufacturing jobs were created in the South.

Per-capita average income in Mississippi in 10 years has increased from $1,667 to $4,041. In 10 years!

Bank assets in the South have doubled in those 10 years.

You and I have watched this emergence of the South with some trepidation. Not all that we call progress is. The fringes also include smog and noisy airports and traffic congestion and labor strife and crime and dirty-book stores.

But Southern states have had the unhappy example of Northern states steering them around some pitfalls.

Houston Mayor Fred Hofheinz promises that his city will not "pave the parks, will always have the magnolias and the good weather."

The New South, for better or worse, was inevitable.

Carter's candidacy has aroused an enormous amount of regional pride.

A recent issue of U. S. News and World Report reminded us that Lyndon Johnson in 1964 was embarrassed by his identification with "The South." He constantly emphasized that he was from the Southwest.

Now Jimmy Carter, home-grown product of the Deep South, has smashed the geographical barrier which has divided us since the Confederacy.

That origin will cost Carter the votes of some unreconstructed Northerners but, make no mistake, the South has broken out of "ice-olation" forever.

Those of us who remember the more gracious pace of leisurely Southern dining are inclined to resent the inevitable proliferation of snack shops...

Those of us who wish there were some other way to make for yourself a place in the sun without chopping down shade trees...

Those of us who were refreshed by visits to the change-of-pace Southland...

We must try to be less selfish. The South, after all, was to good a secret to keep.

Briscoe Appoints Program Coordinator

Governor Dolph Briscoe has appointed Mrs. Jack (Mary) Hazlewood of Amarillo as a regional volunteer coordinator for the First Lady's Volunteer Program, Office of the Governor. Mrs. Hazlewood will be responsible for a 25-county area of the Panhandle.

In making the appointment, Governor Briscoe said, "The spirit of volunteerism is growing in Texas as more and more people seek ways to improve our society and the quality of life. When people see a need, they organize to solve the problem."

"The First Lady's Volunteer Program is encouraging statewide participation in both government and private sector volunteer activities. As a regional coordinator, Mrs. Hazlewood will help stimulate new volunteer ideas and efforts in her community. She will also encourage the establishment of locally originated volunteer action centers to work with volunteer programs," Governor Briscoe added.

"Mrs. Briscoe and I are deeply committed to this volunteer effort and see many benefits from such neighbor helping neighbor involvement. Janey has agreed to work directly with this program in her capacity as First Lady," the Governor concluded.

In accepting the appointment, Mrs. Hazlewood stated, "I am excited about the potential of this volunteer program. I am anxious to work with other interested people in my region on volunteer programs and look forward to working with Texas' First Lady."

As a volunteer, Mrs. Hazlewood serves as chairman of the City of Amarillo Human Relations Commission, member of the Amarillo Art Center, Amarillo Art Alliance and Docent at the Amarillo Art Center. She is also president of the Potter-Randall Counties Democratic Women's Club and is a member of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and its legislative affairs committee.

The First Lady's Volunteer Program, a division of the Texas Center for Volunteer Action, is co-sponsoring with the Texas Department of Health Resources the effort to protect 10 million Texans from swine flu during the ninety day inoculation period this fall. The First Lady's Volunteer Program will be responsible for all statewide volunteer recruitment and placement during the big health campaign.

Utility Firm Seeks Reconsideration

TULSA, Okla (AP)- A Texas based utility is asking the Federal Power Commission to reconsider its order which affected that firm's potential business in Oklahoma, an associated company announced today.

Central and South West Corp. was to file the application in Washington. The application challenges the ruling that allowed two firms, Texas Utilities and Houston Lighting and Power, to sever connections they had had with C&SW for 40 years.

On May 4, Texas Utilities and Houston Lighting and Power cut connections with C&SW after that firm decided to serve several small southwest Oklahoma communities with Texas-generated power. Previously the communities had been served by Public Service Co. of Oklahoma, a subsidiary of C&SW.

On July 21 the federal commission authorized Texas Utilities and Houston Lighting and Power to reconnect with Central and South West but granted both of them immunity from FPC jurisdiction. So far, they have not reconnected, a statement released here Monday said.

A statement by Public Service Co. Monday said the application for rehearing asserts the FPC ruling contained no findings of fact, failed to state the basis for its conclusion of law, denied applicants a right to be heard and relied on assumptions and conclusions not supported by record or by evidence.

Kansas became the leading wheat producing state because of the import of hard winter wheat seeds. They were developed from seeds brought by Mennonite immigrants from the Ukraine in the 1870s.

State Department Rejects North Korean Statement

WASHINGTON (AP)- The State Department has rejected a North Korean statement on the deaths of two American officers, saying that the message did not acknowledge responsibility for their "deliberate and premeditated murders."

The statement from North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung expressed regret that "an incident occurred" in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. It was delivered Saturday during a meeting of the military truce commission at Panmunjom.

State Department spokesman John Ordway said Sunday the United States considered the message "a backhanded acknowledgment that the North Koreans were wrong in the brutal act that they committed" while a United Nations Command work party was attempting to trim a tree in the DMZ that blocked the U.S.-South Korean view of North Korean guards.

First word of the North Korean message came from Vail, Colo., where President Ford is vacationing after the Republican National Convention. The President had no immediate public comment in reaction to the North Korean statement.

In Vail Monday White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen was asked for President Ford's reaction to what the questioner termed an apology to the United States in a note from the North Korean premier. "No apology can make up for the deaths of two American officers," Nessen replied. When a reporter noted that the State Department had not characterized the North Korean message as an apology, Nessen amended his remarks to say "no expressions of regret" could make up for the killings.

When asked if Ford considered the Korean crisis less serious now than on Saturday, Nessen said: "The United States is anxious to cooperate in relaxation of tensions but we want to make sure there is no question concerning our firmness in that area."

Army Secretary Intervenes In Scandal At West Point

Fire Breaks Out At Oil Refinery

CHALMETTE, La. (AP)- One person was burned when fire broke out at the Tenneco Oil Refinery Saturday, the scene of an explosion that killed 13 persons earlier this month.

The burn victim, a Chalmette man, was not identified, but Chalmette General Hospital said he was in good condition.

A Tenneco employe described the blaze as "a small fire" and said it was battled by plant workers. The sheriff's office said the fire was under control less than an hour after it was reported.

The St. Bernard Parish Fire Department had men and engines at the scene but they were not allowed into the plant, a fire spokesman said.

An explosion in an oil refinery tower at the plant killed 12 men on Aug. 13 and another victim died several days later. The cause of the earlier blast is still under investigation.

Ann Landers

Consider The Nature

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a person who has a weight problem I resent your repeated insistence that overeating and drinking too much alcohol have a lot in common. May I point out that:

- (1) Food is necessary to sustain life; not true of alcohol.
- (2) Overeating does not have an effect on one's judgement or behavior, nor does it make a person rude or boorish. Not true of alcohol.
- (3) Overeating does not produce sloppy speech; not true of alcohol.
- (4) Overeating does not cause loss of control of the urinary tract; not true of alcohol.

Everyone has his share of problems but the person with a weight problem has an extra load, in more ways than one. So please don't add to it by equating us with alcoholics, Annie.—A Buxom Broad.

DEAR BUX: You are talking about the net results of overeating as compared with what happens to people who drink too much alcohol.

I am talking about the nature of the problem, which is the inability to handle something in one's life that others around him seem to manage with no trouble.

Both excesses are due to a neurotic compulsion. The over-eater, like the excessive drinker, hates what he is doing to himself but he can't seem to stop. Get it?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you ever had to convince someone that you are telling the truth and there is no way to prove it? Well, that's my problem.

I'm 17 and have been going with Jimmie for a year. The other day a very good friend of his said to him, "I can go to bed with your girl any time I want to. She's a pushover."

I was shocked when Jimmie reported this. I have never done or said anything to give that fellow such ideas. Jimmie insists no guy is going to make up such a thing. He says he hates to believe it about me but there's nothing in my favor to prove his buddy is lying.

This has ruined our relationship. Jimmie doesn't believe me. I am just sick about losing him and want to know what I can do.—Frantic

DEAR FRAN: The fact that you've been placed in the position of defending yourself against such a cheap accusation should tell you something about your relationship.

If, after a year, Jimmie would believe such a story, it proves he has no confidence in you. Wake up and smell the coffee, Buttercup. "Oh ye of little faith..."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl, nearly 15, and sick with worry. I'm a shoplifter. I can't walk into a store without picking up something at a "five-finger discount."

A friend and I each lifted a bottle of cheap perfume six months ago. Ever since, we've been taking things that cost more and more. Yesterday we came home with $13 worth of merchandise. I feel like I'm hooked and can't quit.

I'm scared to death I'll keep this up till I get caught. Then I'll lose my friends, my family's love, my reputation—everything. Please give me some advice before I crack up.—Taking Ways

DEAR T.W.: You are a sick cookie-bent on self-destruction. I urge you to get some counseling before your fears become realities.

MEETING SCHEDULED

COOKING IS FUN

COME FOR DESSERT!
Orange Baba Beverage
ORANGE BABA
Adapted from a French recipe.

- 2 large eggs
- Sugar
- Grated rind of 2 oranges
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- Juice of 3 large oranges (1 cup)
- 2 tablespoons light rum

Beat eggs with 1/4 cup sugar until thick and ivory color; beat in orange rind; gradually and gently beat in the flour, then the baking powder, until combined. Turn into a buttered 5 1/2-cup ring mold (8 by 2 1/2 inches). Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until golden-brown and cake comes away from sides of mold—20 to 25 minutes. (Top of cake will sink in center.) Turn out on a rimmed serving plate; leave bottom side up. Heat the orange juice and 1/4 cup sugar until sugar dissolves and mixture is hot; stir in the rum. At short intervals, spoon the hot syrup over the hot cake—some of it will remain in the center of the ring. Serve warm with fresh berries or fresh cut-up fruit piled in the center. Makes 6 or 8 servings.

Old Compliment

When a housewife buys a spool of "50 denier" thread, she is paying Julius Caesar an indirect compliment. Caesar introduced the coin "denarius" or "denier" into France. King Francis I established the weight of this tiny coin 1500 years later as the standard measurement of his budding silk industry. Today, denier is a number system to describe the fineness of yarn; the higher the number, the thicker the yarn.

People never seem to learn—money won't buy everything.

At Wit's End ...

By ERMA BOMBECK

We were talking the other day about a strange phenomenon of Motherhood.

A woman starts thinking of a name for her baby from the minute she knows she is carrying one. She will write it out, say it aloud, try it out on friends and embroider it on little shirts. When the baby is born, she will whisper the name softly in its ear, write it on dozens of announcements and file it in the courthouse.

A few years and a few kids later, she can't remember who you are. I've heard mothers go through 10 or 12 names before they get lucky and hit the right one. (Once I wore my PJs wrong-side-out and my Mom thinking it was a name tag called me Dr. Denton for a week!)

Children seem to think there is something Freudian in the entire exercise. The old if-my-mother-really-loved-me-she'd-remember-my-name. This is hogwash. I love Marc... Mary... Mike... Mil... Mash... Maas... what'shisname with the same affection as I love Bet... Bronc... Evelyn... Martha... trish... you know who you are.

Our neighbors psychiatrist bears me out. He said there is nothing you can generalize from mothers who can't put a name to their children right off the bat.

It used to be a good day for me when I could remember what I called them for, let alone remember who they are.

In talking with a young married the other day, it was revealed that he was one of seven children and not once when he was growing up was he ever called by his real name. "I guess it was because there were so many of us," he said, "that it confused my mother."

I hated to shoot his theory down but for a long while I was an only child and still got "Sarah... Betty... Mildred... Virginia... Edna."

Finally, in desperation, my mother would shout, "How long do I have to call you before you answer?"

"I'd yell back, 'Until you get it right.'"

"Was I close?" she'd shout.

"Edna was somewhere in the neighborhood."

"I always liked Edna," she mused. "I should have named you that."

"Then why did you name me Erma?"

"Because it was easy to remember."
