

Important Water Meeting Will Be Held In Hereford

As the result of an invitation from Deaf Smith County Water Association, the House Interim Water Study Committee of the Texas Legislature announced last Thursday that a public hearing on proposed legislation authorizing the formation of a master water import district will be held in Hereford on October 5.

House member Bill Clayton, Chairman of the Committee, made the announcement in an address to the Water Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce quarterly conference in Wichita Falls.

The committee recently held a hearing in San Antonio, Clayton said, and on September 6 will have a hearing at Longview for the benefit of the people of East Texas, to be followed by the hearing in Hereford for the West Texas area.

Reports at the Hereford hearing also will be made by the Board from Austin. Howard Boswell, Executive Director of the Board, will speak on the proposal and the forthcoming Revised Texas Water Plan. Also anticipated are representatives from the Mississippi Delta states, as well as numerous officers of various associations and agencies in West Texas.

The public hearings are needed, according to Clayton, to determine the thinking of the people affected by the water development plan. The public will be given the opportunity to express its wishes in the formation of their governing water import agency.

Testimony will be presented by several groups, and anyone desiring to comment on any phase of the legislative bill is invited to speak or present a written affidavit. The legislative proposal will be published some time in September through press conferences to be held in Lubbock and Amarillo.

Following the hearing and any re-drafting which may be necessary, the bill will be introduced to the Texas Legislature during its regular session next January.

Plans for the Hereford hearing were discussed last Thursday evening with Clayton by the Hereford delegation to the Chamber meeting, R. C. Godwin, President of Deaf Smith County Water Association; Harlan Vanderzee, a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Bill Thompson, manager of the local Chamber. Clayton pointed out in the conference that facilities will be needed to accommodate a large group of people from various associations and other organizations representing West Texas, state governmental bodies, and visitors from other states.

According to Dick Godwin, Deaf Smith County Water Association will present testimony at the hearing, and other local groups desiring to offer either written or vocal testimony are requested to contact the association for any assistance which may be wanted. Arrangements have been made, stated Godwin, to conduct the hearing at Deaf Smith County Bull Barn on Saturday, October 5, to begin at 9:30 a.m. and last until about 4 p.m. Lunch will be served at the Bull Barn through the catering service of The Caison House.

Previous to and after the meeting, members of the House water committee, the Texas Water Development Board, and other visitors will tour agricultural and industrial facilities in the local area, including the Holly Sugar plant, Missouri Beef Packers Company in Friona, and feed lots around the area.

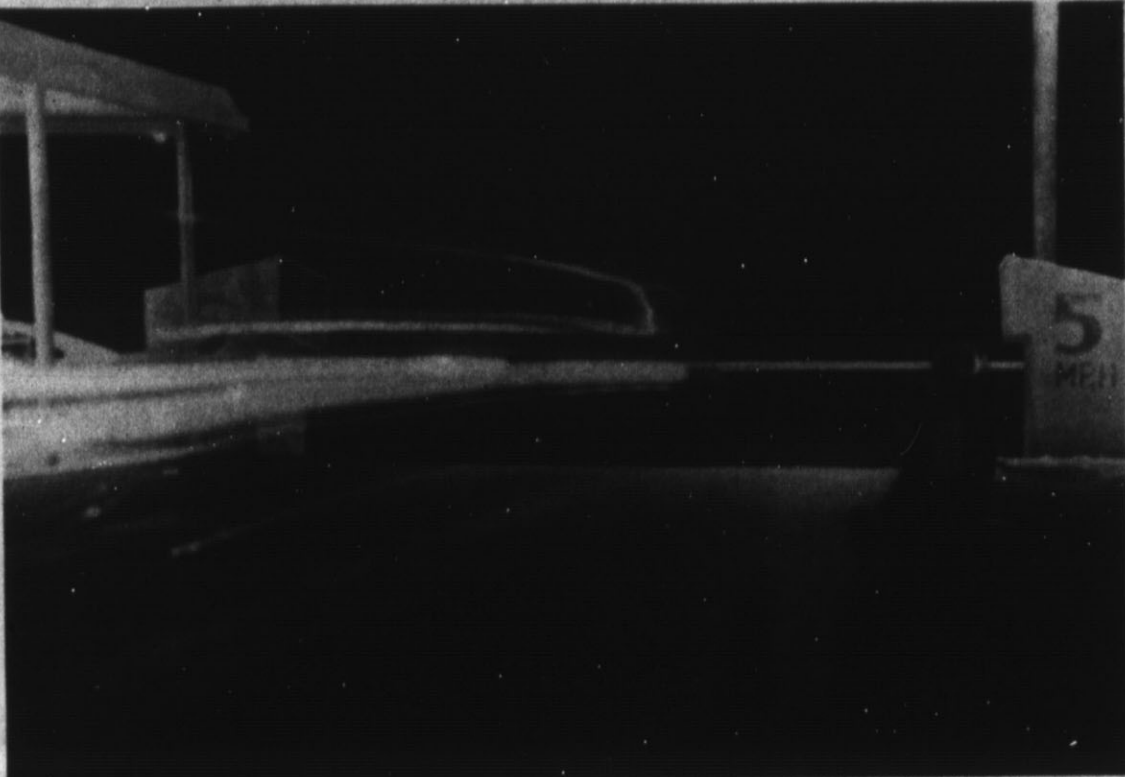

"We have the privileged opportunity," Godwin asserted, "to host our neighbors from all over this prosperous region, our state and national governments, and the area from which we hope to obtain the water which will keep our region prosperous. Let us display our hospitality to the utmost in the cooperative and unified effort of importing more of this life blood of West Texas."

Members of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) have announced three important meetings, two of them to be held in Hereford.

At 9 p.m. Friday, August 30, the chapter will meet at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. All businessmen and residents of the community are invited to the meeting, where NFO members will answer any questions which local persons may ask.

On Sept. 3, "Farmers Day of Texas," sponsored by the NFO, will be held on the Jim Radford farm, 8 miles south of Wagon South Third Street. Highlights of the day will be a free barbecue and talks by NFO President Oren Lee Staley and Vice President Erhard Phinston. A press conference will be held at 9:30 a.m., with the barbecue from 12-1 p.m.

On Sept. 21, the local NFO chapter will host an area-wide meeting at the Bull Barn. Calling their special day "Golden Dollars for the Golden Spread,"

Fire Department Receives Check

The Hereford Fire Department received a check for $75 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the Department's work on the property of C. P. Urbanczyk, Rt. 5, Hereford.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more important, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Hereford Fire Department in their program.

Help Is Needed In TB Campaign

With the ever-present danger of tuberculosis already here, the Top O'Texas Tuberculosis Association has set about a movement intended to clean tuberculosis from this area entirely.

Dr. C. E. Rush, County Health Officer, stated that last year, some 900 children were examined for tuberculosis with 3 of them reacting positively to the tests. He added though, that only 10 of those 30 were given the much-needed x-rays.

Mrs. Jewel Smith, County Welfare Agent, urged the support of women's clubs that will be needed to assist in the mailing of literature on the disease and campaign and also in the future fund-raising campaign. She further reported that committees will be needed for the arrangement of the transportation for the proper x-rays. Anyone interested in assisting in the campaign are asked to call 364-1584.

The price for this service is listed as 1 cent per every person in Hereford.

Kuykendall Has Ended Course

FORT BELVOIR, Va. — Sp. 4 Bill Kuykendall of 418 Long Street in Hereford was awarded the military rating of Engineer Equipment Maintenance Specialist, and received his diploma for having successfully completed the Engineer Equipment Maintenance Course in the Department of Mechanical and Technical Equipment at the United States Army Engineer School.

This highly technical and concentrated course is designed to provide the Army Engineer with the knowledge and skills needed to maintain and repair the various types of construction equipment used by the Corps of Engineers.

Program Clarified For 1969 Wheat

Wheat producers can take part in the 1969 wheat program by planting within their allotments and maintaining in conservation use the conserving base acres plus an acreage equal to 15 percent of the 1969 farm allotment. This 15 percent represents the difference, nationally, between the 1968 allotment and the smaller 1969 allotment.

This information was released Thursday by Frank J. Bezner, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

No diversion payment will be available for this minimum diversion, but it will meet the wheat program's eligibility requirements for wheat price-support loans or purchases and for wheat marketing certificates.

Farmers who wish also to earn wheat diversion payments will divert additional acreage below the 1969 effective farm allotment. The maximum additional acreage which may be diverted is the larger of (a) 50 percent of the effective 1969 farm allotment, or (b) the difference between 25 acres and the minimum required diversion but not to exceed the farm allotment.

The payment rate per acre for additional diversion will be 50 percent of the 1969 county loan rate for wheat multiplied by the projected wheat yield for the farm.

A 15-percent qualifying diversion (of the base) also applies in cases where a barley or oats-rye farm base is requested for purposes of wheat substitution under the 1969 wheat program. However, this 15 percent of the approved base is subtracted from the base when determining the permitted acreage on which wheat may be substituted. No diversion payment is authorized for this acreage diverted from oats-rye or barley.

A farmer substituting wheat for oats-rye or barley would lose wheat program benefits unless he (1) participates fully in the feed grain program by not planting corn and grain sorghum in excess of the feed grain permitted acreage if his farm has a feed grain base, or (2) produces no corn or grain sorghum if the farm has no feed grain base.

Former Area Congressman Reminisces With Friends

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Marvin Jones, one of the first congressmen to represent the Panhandle area, and one of six men in the United States to serve on all three branches of the federal government, was in Hereford Thursday looking over the area and observing the changes that have taken place over the past few decades.

Having served in the judicial, executive and legislative branches of the government during the past, Jones was accompanied by John McCarty, director of the agricultural water department of Irrigation Age, who is in the process of doing a story on Jones in the magazine. The story is to deal with the topic of "Poor Land-Poor Man, Rich Land-Rich Man" and will involve Jones' philosophy concerning the changes and improvements that have taken place in the area.

Born in Cook County, Texas, he was admitted to the Texas Bar Association in 1907 and was, at one time, an attorney in Amarillo for some years. Stationed now in Washington, D. C., Jones is credited as being the "Daddy of the Sugar Act" by many of his friends, due to his involvement in seeing that the local Holly Sugar Plant was situated here and the passing of the Sugar Act.

Owning a record that dates back to when he was elected to Congress in 1916, where he served until 1941, then later on to the capacity of Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture in 1931, Jones is still active and subject to assignment to any court of appeal in the country. In 1941, he left Congress and was asked by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1943 to head the War Foods Administration Department where he served as chairman of the United Nations' conference on Food and Agriculture that hosted representatives from some 44 nations at the conference. He served as a member of the War Mobilization Committee from 1943-45 and was a member of the Food Administration committee during that time also.

Following his time spent with the War Foods Administration, Jones was then selected to serve as Chief Justice of the Texas Court of Claims from 1947. He served on the Court of Claims until 1964 before taking leave. After retiring from the position he held as Chief Justice, Jones was chosen as Senior Judge and is presently serving on the Court of Appeals under assignment of the Chief Justice.

While visiting with old friends in Hereford, Jones discussed the growth of the Panhandle and the nation as a whole. Jones touched on the subjects of how Communism has failed in its attempt to corrupt the American government, how profit-oriented persons are needed if the country is to survive, and on the balance that is maintained in the government through the working of new and vigorous minds combined with the wisdom and experience of the older persons. All of these, he felt, had, in some way or other, attributed to the great deal of success that the Panhandle of Texas has gained. "But," he said, "the people of the Hereford community, are it's greatest See CONGRESSMAN Page 2

Local Farmers Organization Plans Important Meetings

Members of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) have announced three important meetings, two of them to be held in Hereford.

At 9 p.m. Friday, August 30, the chapter will meet at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. All businessmen and residents of the community are invited to the meeting, where NFO members will answer any questions which local persons may ask.

On Sept. 3, "Farmers Day of Texas," sponsored by the NFO, will be held on the Jim Radford farm, 8 miles south of Wagon South Third Street. Highlights of the day will be a free barbecue and talks by NFO President Oren Lee Staley and Vice President Erhard Phinston. A press conference will be held at 9:30 a.m., with the barbecue from 12-1 p.m.

On Sept. 21, the local NFO chapter will host an area-wide meeting at the Bull Barn. Calling their special day "Golden Dollars for the Golden Spread," the NFO members will invite residents of the Panhandle, South Plains, Eastern New Mexico and Oklahoma Panhandle to attend.

A free barbecue will be served, with farmers of Deaf Smith County providing the beef, potatoes and beans for the meal.

NFO President Staley and Vice President Phinston have been invited to speak during the day, with Phinston already having accepted the invitation.

Gerald McCathern, president of the local chapter, said Friday that the county membership now totals about 100 and is believed to be the fastest growing organization in the area. "We're shooting to be the largest organization of any kind in the county," he said.

NFO presently has active chapters in 31 states of the United States. The first Texas chapter was started in January.

The main objective of the NFO is "to raise farm prices on all products through collective bargaining," said McCathern.

Recent developments by the NFO, said McCathern, include the signing of contracts with packing companies in Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Iowa. He said on August 1 that seven NFO county chapters in southwest Iowa announced August 1 that they had signed a six-month pork purchase contract with John Morrell and Co. of Ottumwa.

The agreement called for a price of 15 cents per hundred-weight above the prevailing market price, plus a premium for quality, explained McCathern.

Meeting Is Set For Discussion Of Annexation

A meeting to discuss possible annexation of an eight-block area of South Hereford by the city will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Community Center.

The City Commission voted to have the meeting after receiving an informal petition signed by 30 different property owners in the area between James Street and Austin Road.

All property owners in that area have been invited to attend the meeting. At that time, commissioners will detail what the annexation will mean in terms of expense to the property owners. Following the discussion, persons will have the opportunity to sign a formal petition for annexation.

Tractor Accident Occurs Friday

An accident at the intersection of U. S. 60 and Blevins St. Friday evening resulted in $300 damages to a semi-trailer and $175 damages to a curb and pavement.

Dillard Raymond Holt, driver of the 1954 International tractor and trailer attempted to make a left turn off of U. S. 60 onto Blevins St. when the semi-trailer came loose at one of the wheels and smashed into the curb, causing damage to both it and the pavement.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

The Deaf Smith County school trustees will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the office of the Ex-Officio County School Superintendent, H. C. Williams. The county judge's office is on the second floor of the courthouse.

PD Investigates Vandalism, Theft

A case of burglary and vandalism occurred during the past week when Dudley Bayne, 514 Star, reported that someone had thrown a beer bottle through the window of his car and Bob Bradley, 503 Plains, reported that someone had taken numerous items from his garage.

Bayne told police that someone had thrown the bottle through his window during the night of Thursday, August 8, while Bradley reported that sometime during the past two weeks, someone had taken a 308 Winchester rifle, two .22 caliber pistols and about 30 pounds of meat from his garage.

No estimates of theft loss or vandalism were given as police continued their investigation.

Robinson Will Be Honored Wednesday

Jess Robinson of Hereford will be honored Wednesday in Austin by the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas for his 20 years of service to the vocational agriculture program.

The announcement that Robinson, a vocational agriculture teacher in Hereford since 1954, would be awarded at the conference was made by Jack Lacy, Lamasas, president of the organization.

Robinson will receive his award at the annual Awards Breakfast held during the statewide conference. The 1968 meeting of vocational agriculture teachers will emphasize new approaches in vocational agriculture education.

Leaders in agriculture and education throughout the state and nation will participate in the four-day in-service meeting. Around 1,425 teachers and friends are expected to attend the Austin conference.

Robinson was graduated from Quail High School and received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Texas Tech. In addition to his 14 years at Hereford, he has also taught in Vega and Wellington. He holds the Honorary Lone Star Farmer degree in the Future Farmers of America.

He is active in the First Baptist Church of Hereford and Community organizations and activities.

Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas was chartered on Sept. 26, 1951. The association's purpose is to bind the vocational agriculture teachers of Texas in closer relationship; to advance vocational agriculture in Texas; to work more efficiently with State directors, supervisors, teacher trainers and all other agencies associated with vocational agriculture.

Eleven-hundred and fifty-four vocational agriculture teachers of Texas are working with 48,722 Texas Future Farmers of America this year in helping prepare these young men for their role in tomorrow's agriculture. The task of production of food and fiber for our nation must keep pace with the ever increasing population.

In 1966-67, 48,722 Future Farmers of Texas, in supervised farming programs, produced a labor income of $5,026,256.62. This was made up of the following enterprises: livestock — $3,602,817.09; crops — $810,633.58 poultry — $190,151.15 and miscellaneous enterprises added up to $422,654.80.

High schools in Texas provide an opportunity for their public school system and community to include training in Vocational Agriculture to those young people who show an appreciation for the $6.3 billion agriculture industry in the Texas economy.

Vocational agriculture also trained 1,190 young men for related employment and opportunity in agriscience. The training they received in leadership, citizenship and cooperation is valuable as these young men assume their changing of responsibility in a changing and challenging society.

Town & Country Unity Is Stressed During Water Committee Meeting

By MRS. T. B. THOMAS
Brand Correspondent
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carlisle and Judy of Tulsa spent the weekend here with his mother and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Owens.

and Mrs. Glenn Fuller of Ferryton visited here over the weekend with his parents and her father, F. E. Bishop.

Unity in the enormous task of importing large quantities of fresh water to the High Plains was the theme at a meeting of the Water Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce last Thursday in Wichita Falls. The quarterly meeting of the area Chamber featured two days of conferences with discussions on a wide range of topics, the water problem being of paramount concern. Attending the meeting from Hereford were Water Committee members Bill Thompson, manager of the local Chamber, and Dick Godwin, President of Deaf Smith County Water Association and a director of Water, Inc. Also present from Hereford were Harlan Vanderzee, President of the Hereford State Bank and a director of the West Texas Chamber, and Palmer Norton, publisher of "Irrigation Age" and a director of DSCWA.

Chairman of the Water Committee, George McClesky, Lubbock attorney and a director of Water, Inc., opened the session of the committee by praising the dedication and tireless effort of the Texas Water Development Board in its work with the High Plains import project. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, declared McClesky, contributes the means of coordinating the various associations and other groups in the import area of West Texas to provide the unified effort which can help to produce the results in supplying supplemental water to a prosperous farming area running out of underground water.

Harley Burleigh, Chief of the Austin division of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, then reported on recent accomplishments of the Bureau, which only a year and a half ago was instructed by Congress to find a way to import water to West Texas, Eastern New Mexico, and Western Oklahoma. Burleigh emphasized the vast nature of the first phase of the enterprise to move as much water through a single canal as the import area presently is pumping from its underground aquifer. The electrical requirement for pumping power has been estimated between 4500 and 4700 megawatts. He said that the Bureau will finish its involved reconnaissance report on the project by late 1970.

Mrs. John Barjenbruch accompanied her son William of Wellington to Hereford to visit her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blakney. William visited here with his son and family. Other guests in the Blakney home were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Blakney and Susie of Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Saulcy spent Sunday in Friona with Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Phipps. Phipps has just recently returned home from a stay in the hospital.

Donna Pierce of Dumas spent the week here with her sister Deborah. The girls drove to Dumas on Saturday to the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Pierce and Danny.

Harry Burleigh, Chief of the Austin division of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, then reported on recent accomplishments of the Bureau, which only a year and a half ago was instructed by Congress to find a way to import water to West Texas, Eastern New Mexico, and Western Oklahoma. Burleigh emphasized the vast nature of the first phase of the enterprise to move as much water through a single canal as the import area presently is pumping from its underground aquifer.

Following passage of enabling legislation, the water district proposal will be voted upon by people in the district area through a special election to be held later next year. Formation of the district is necessary, continued Clayton, to provide legal and political capability of the area to contract for water deliveries, sell water to users, raise funds through revenue bonds and taxation, and control the distribution and waste prevention of such water.

Clifton Chamberlain, Executive Director of Water, Inc. talked at the committee meeting about the necessity of strong organization at home. Securing the backing of the people living and operating their businesses in West Texas, Eastern New Mexico, and the Oklahoma Panhandle is the task of Water, Inc. Membership was stressed by Chamberlain as the tool for effective accomplishment in the formidable mission lying ahead for Water, Inc.

Roy Bell returned home on Tuesday after spending some time in Vietnam. His wife has been here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Albracht. Bell received his discharge from the service and they are at home at the Lynette Apartments.

Mrs. Jimmy McClesky of Roaring Springs is here visiting in the home of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman McClesky.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Muri Parker have been their sons and families, George and Jack Parker. They have returned home after spending ten days visiting with friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parker, to Houston where he is with the P. F. Collier Co. Inc. Dee Anna, Rob and Mandy remained here for a month's visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, Tammy and Melanie returned home to Baldwin Park, Calif. George is associated with IBM in Los Angeles. The Parkers toured New Mexico and parts of Texas enroute home, they also spent one night in Las Vegas.

Respecting the interests and rights of the people along the Mississippi River is the most important aspect of the program Burleigh said. Since the great flood of 1927, the economy of these states is built primarily upon barge navigation, and when other areas talk of taking some of their water, it is natural for them to be concerned. Surplus water exported from the Delta country must be only that in excess of their present and foreseeable needs, continued Burleigh. However, the availability of surplus water has been determined by the Mississippi River Commission of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and admitted by representatives of the people in the area. The export of such surplus, emphasized

At the Friday morning meeting of the Board of Directors of the West Texas Chamber, Ben Barnes, Speaker of the House of the Texas Legislature called upon all West Texans to unite with all of Texas in making the state water program a success. "The solution to our water problem is real simple," he asserted, "we need more of it, and we need to conserve what we have." To implement the problem-solving program, Barnes asserted that the state budget will require over the next ten years from three to four billion dollars. "This sounds like a senator talking about federal expenditures, but we need to face the fact that for us to continue our economic prosperity, we are going to have to spend an enormous amount of money in water development," Barnes said.

asset that has made it what it is today."
McCarty, who is traveling throughout the Panhandle with Jones stated that "this country and nation owes more to this one man than to any other person." Where in turn, Jones would not let the praise stay within his own limits and stated that the actual owing went to Franklin D. Roosevelt who pushed the country in the 1930's and "was the one President to lift up his eyes and see across the entire nation" and see it's difficulties.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller Jr. and son, Dean, have recently moved to Hereford from Abernathy. They visited in the Dawn community with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller Sr., Mr.

On Friday night the R. V. Hales were honored with an ice cream social by friends and neighbors at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Robinson. Some seventy-five persons joined the party. The Hales will be leaving for Chinook, Kan., soon. They have purchased a ranch there. Lonny Hale left here soon after graduation to work for the summer. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hale of El Reno, have been there for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ott, Melody and Judith Morrison spent the weekend in Altus, Okla., where they attended a family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Avery of Lubbock spent one day this past week visiting friends.

Jones' involvement was not pin-pointed with just the Sugar Act, but with the use of water on the land, the bringing of water into the area and the conservation of water as well. After much pushing on his part, West Texas began to show an improvement and thus this section of the state showed a higher per capita increase than any other part of the entire state. During this time, the growth of cities were linked to his participation in government affairs and seven of the 10 largest cities in the state were located in the Panhandle a few years back.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett McIntosh recently attended the funeral of his brother, Ray McIntosh in Chickasha, Okla. Mrs. McIntosh's mother, Mrs. Markham, had been visiting here. Her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Shedd of Hominy, Okla. came for her and they returned home. Mrs. Markham has been ill since her return home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bell have been in Plainview visiting her mother, Mrs. Georgia Hogan, who has been ill.

Capt. and Mrs. Freddie Harris of Pueblo spent the weekend here with her parents and her brother, Bud McIntosh of Santa Anna, Calif. Angelia Kay and Samantha Harris are spending two weeks here with their grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Roach and Martha left for their home in Odessa on Saturday after visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Bess Werner and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Turrentine and Wallace Roach. The Roaches had been on a fishing trip, so the family enjoyed a fish fry on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Morrison met her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson of Quanah, in Adrian for a brief visit. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Sisk.

A group of friends held a luncheon in honor of Jones Thursday at the Country Club before he toured the Deaf Smith County Museum and then went on to Dimmitt where he visited for a while.

Home Sewing Interest High

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Interest in sewing knits is high at this season as there is much home sewing at the present. Knits are popular and the forecast is that there will be more and more knits to entice the consumer. At the moment one-third of outerwear and one-half of underwear is knitted. There are 20 fibers on today's piece goods counters. The merchants in Hereford have a wonderful selection of knits in color, design and quality. Home sewers are most fortunate in having the wide choice for selection.

The fiber for knits is crimped and bulked and when woven into the fabric pressed for a very short time at 500 degrees heat to give the fabric a lasting memory. The texture is built into the fabric even though it may look smooth to the consumer.

Polyester is the success fiber in today's fashions. This makes a fabric which is versatile and adaptable. In 1967 two billion pounds of polyester fiber was made into fabric and the prediction is that there will be much more.

When selecting a pattern for knit consider: The fabric characteristics same as for a woven fabric — when there is design in the fabric the pattern should be simple. Consider the weight of the fabric in selecting the pattern; also, avoid bias cut shirts.

You should select the pattern and fabric on the same shopping tour. It is difficult to say that one should be selected before the other. Usually the pattern is selected first, however, consult the pattern envelope for suggestions of kinds of fabric to use or for those not recommended for the pattern. Garments of fewer seams and details having prettier in double knits or fabrics of like weight.

In cutting double knits place wrong sides out and watch the fold as sometimes this is permanent and can never be pressed out. Use tailor's chalk for marking and never use tracing wheel. Clay chalk instead of greasy chalk for marking. A small machine needle, thread that stretches, light pressure, loose tension and a long stitch, (probably 12 stitches to the inch) are a few rules to follow to give the professional look in clothes made at home. Too, stitch slowly as it will make better seams. Knits are practical, fashionable, comfortable, and easy care.

Kitties Split Weekly Tilts

Thursday night, the Kitty Stompers edged past the Sunshine Girls in a close 21-20 slugfest in action in the Women's Softball League.

After one frame of scoreless play, the Stompers came to life in the bottom of the second as they pushed eight runs across the plate. The runs were aided by a three-bagger by Loretta Ellerd.

In the third, the Kitty Stompers picked up four more additional runs while the Sunshine Girls did manage to tally three runs for a 12-3 score in favor of the Stompers.

A home-run by Brenda Short in the fourth helped the Sunshine Girls close the gap while the pitching of the Sunshiners held the opposition scoreless. Then in the fifth, the Sunshiners picked up seven big runs with third baseman Jeannie Summers hitting a grand slam homer. The score then stood at 14-13 in favor of the Sunshine Girls.

The Sunshine Girls continued to hold a slight lead and were leading 20-15 until the bottom of the seventh when the Stompers added six runs for the winning margin.

Loretta Ellerd pitched for the Kitty Stompers in picking up the win while Brenda Short absorbed the loss.

Friday night the Stompers squared off with the Jolly Green Giants, but fate did not smile upon them as it had done the previous night, and the Giants took the contest by a whopping score of 23-9.

The first inning ended in a 1-1 deadlock but the Giants got back into action in the next two innings for 11 runs and a comfortable 12-1 lead. The best hit of the first three frames was a triple by Giant shortstop Linda Pagett.

During the fourth, the Stompers rallied for six runs while limiting the Giants to three for a 15-7 score at the end of four. The Stompers picked up two more runs in the fifth then were held for the next two innings by the pitching of Zula Arney, and

Federal Land Bank Sets Slogan Honoring The Nation's Farmers

Woodrow B. Wilson, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Hereford, announced this week that the Federal Land Bank System has adopted as a permanent slogan, "Serving America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty."

The local association is a part of a national network of twelve regional banks and 695 local associations. The Land Bank System, which last year celebrated its 50th anniversary, is moving ahead into the second half-century of operations with renewed dedication of purpose to meet the essential long term financial needs of the nation's farmers and ranchers.

"Our System has coped with a variety of great demands made upon it during the past 50 years, all the while maintaining a dependable loan service to farmers and ranchers. As agriculture continues to increase its productive capacity through technology, it will be our purpose to continue to serve the changing credit needs of farmers and ranchers," Wilson stated.

The Land Banks and associations comprise a system which is operated entirely on private funds and is owned by its 394,000 member-borrowers whose elected directors formulate its policies. The Board of Directors of the local association are as follows: Ira Scott — President, Frank J. Bezner — Vice President, Charlie Burk, George Turrentine, J. R. Hickman.

New coaches stepping lightly into the vacated shoes of previous coaches is perhaps one of the hardest chores an athletic mentor can be faced with. He has to adjust to the people, the boys who are to play under him, new living conditions and even the people he is linked with through his chosen profession — other coaches.

Four new coaches have now taken positions with the Hereford system but from what can be observed of them, they will have no problems finding their place among all the others. In a group, there is no way of telling them from the game-hardened veterans except that they don't have the lines of worry and concern forged along their brows as so often seen on a coaches face who has seen a game go down the drain on a single play or burst wide open on a minor miscue.

But, not all of the worries come, or begin for that matter, with the losses and wins of a season. They begin right after the previous season and dwell in their minds throughout the winter, spring, and part of the summer on more than just the physical work connected with heading or assisting a squad of football-hungry boys. Coaches attend school during the summer in order that they will gain anything new in their field and to refresh their "off-season" memories.

After the coaching school session it is back to the pencil and clip board that so often tells the tale. Names of all the players who have signed up for the season, physicals for each and everyone of the boys, the issuing of the equipment and numerous other items dot the list of must things that have to be done before that first initial clash of helmet against helmet.

Boys are sorted out from the list in regard to their size, capacity to interpret, speed, and over-all ability to lead on and off a playing field. From a list that can run anywhere from 100 players to the very minimum, coaches must select the players that are to fill the shoes of the positions required for a precision, mechanized group of players on both offense and defense. Players who have failed along the line of preparing themselves for the coming season, are weeded out of the group and placed where they will can accomplish something even if not worthy of recognition.

The boys who are to captain the team this year have begun working out the players every evening at 7 at Dameron Park. While the coaches can not have a hand in the actual workouts, due to Interscholastic League ruling, the captains have taken over the helm in seeing that organized workouts are held. Sometime this week, shoes will be issued to players along with the inevitable chore that the coaches must partake in. The sorting out of the different sizes of shoes, pads, issuing of socks, workout uniforms and fitting of mouth-pieces.

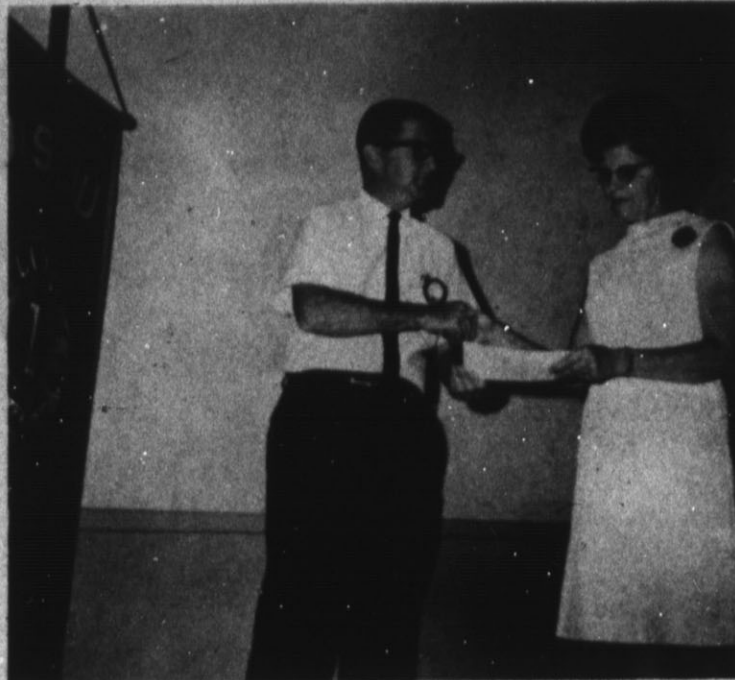

After all of this is done, the actual work will begin for the players even though the coaches have been at it for months. Sore muscles, aching backs and bumps and bruises will take the train of thought in a different direction in a week as the first-of-many two-a-days start.

The lady from the back seat is going to have her chance to show her skills in the front seat when women from throughout the area migrate to Hereford this Sunday for the Powder Puff Derby which is to be held at the local speedway.

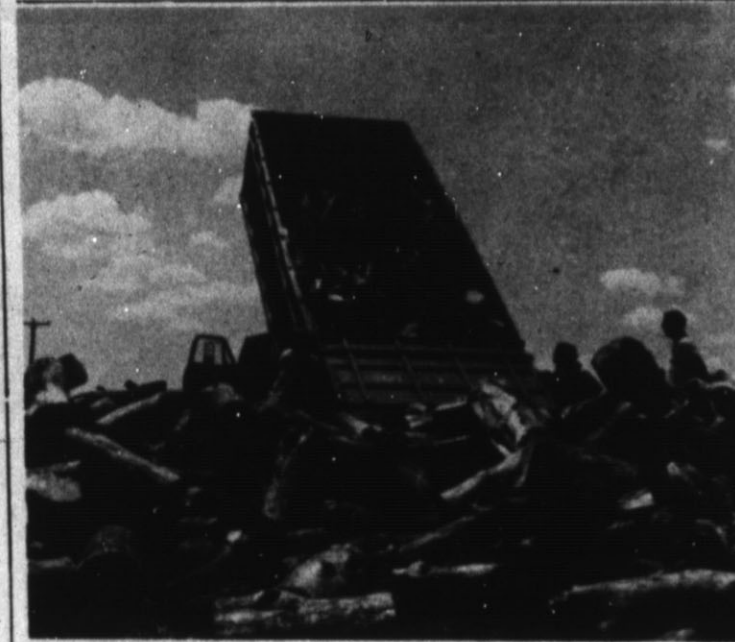

Screaming tires, the smell of rubber and maybe even a couple of newly forged racing paths will highlight the derby in which women from all over will compete. And as everyone knows well enough, when a group of women get together, something unique in itself is bound to happen.

Short men, tall men, young men, old men, skinny men and fat men are now seeing a little action on the field near Bluebonnet Elementary school as they find themselves taking part in the Men's Softball League which just last week got into full swing after taking a while to get organized.

Four teams comprise the schedule that includes two games a week for each team. The games start at 7:30 p.m. each night Monday through Thursday. Some of the teams are still seeking players to fill their rosters so if any of you fleet-footed, sure-handed fellows wish to partake in a little physical exercise, just give Joe Christopher a ring at 364-2786 and he will surely fix you up LIONS PRESENTATION — Ray Moore, president of the Hereford Lions Club, presented Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, home economics instructor at Hereford High School, with two checks from the club Wednesday. One check, for $1098.92, was the proceeds from the Foreign Exchange Student booth sponsored by Mrs. Prowell's students during the recent carnival, and the other check, for $750, was the amount paid annually by the Lions to the American Field Service for the exchange student program.

MORE COMING — Some 143,000 pounds of firewood of the Pinon variety were unloaded by Kiwanians last Sunday and another large load is expected to be delivered next weekend from Magniline, N.M. Kiwanis Club members are taking orders for the wood at the present time and it will be delivered at a later date. Proceeds from the wood sale will be used in civic projects.

Tommy Phelps Will Speak At Friona Crusade

"FRIONA CRUSADE FOR CHRIST," sponsored by Calvary Baptist Church of Friona, will begin Sunday, August 18th, and go through Sunday, August 25th, at the Junior High football stadium in Friona.

Tommy Phelps, former wrestler and now evangelist, will be the preacher for the crusade. Vance Zinn, known as "God's Gospel Giant" will direct the music. The services will begin each evening at 8 p.m. The morning services at 9:30 a.m. will be conducted at Calvary Baptist Church.

A nursery will be provided at the Calvary Baptist Church and will be open 15 minutes prior to the evening services.

Rev. Phelps is former pastor of the Temple Baptist Church in Hereford.

Mrs. Beryl Burelsmith and Mrs. Frank Prowell — honoree and hostess.

New Teacher Is Coffee Honoree

To introduce Mrs. Beryl Burelsmith, new homemaking teacher at Hereford High School for the coming term, to women of the HHS faculty with whom she will be working, and to some other residents of the city, Mrs. Frank Prowell and Mrs. Joe Bradley entertained with a coffee Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Burelsmith comes to Hereford from Hale Center and will be associated with Mrs. Prowell in the homemaking department. Mrs. Bradley is homemaking instructor at Stanton Junior High.

Miss Lou Ann Witkowski, a Hereford resident who will be the new homemaking teacher at LaPlata Junior High, and Mrs. J. S. Durham, who retired in the spring from the HHS homemaking faculty, were among guests greeting the newcomer.

Late summer blossoms from Mrs. Prowell's yard were used in bouquets. A low arrangement on the table, which was set against the wall, was backed by a slate with the message, "Welcome, Beryl!" written on it. Among the flowers in this bouquet were small items of sewing equipment — a tape measure, pincushion, thimble and thread — each adding color.

Milk glass serving pieces on the maple table emphasized an Early American effect to which the floral piece contributed.

Callers during the morning hours spent time in casual conversation as they became acquainted with the honoree.

Local Resident Continues Her "Trip Into The Past"

Editors note: This is the fourth in a series of stories written by Mrs. Corinne J. Neely, a pioneer Hereford resident and frequent contributor to the Brand. During the series she has described visiting towns in Arizona where she first started working as a teacher.

SIDE TRIPS MADE OUT OF SHOW LOW, ARIZONA
By CORINNE J. NEELY

Show Low-Arizona-The number one trip for sight-seeing, was of course, to Whiteriver, where I had first gone as a teacher. It was here that Marquand's phrase, "the point of no return" proved to be right. This is the only place I wish I had not revisited because it had changed and was no longer the place I held dear in my memories.

One afternoon, my friend Helen, and I set out to visit a number of places in the Whiteriver area. The town as I had known it was clean and neat, with the buildings painted white and trimmed in green. I speak now of the agency and the boarding school rather than the downtown trading area. On the school site, lived the employees of the school; the agency office and the 300 pupils of the boarding school. The last named were placed in boys or girls dormitories.

Now, I found some of the buildings gone, one had burned and others were replaced by new buildings — often stone — while still others left vacant wood filled spots. Since the Apache Indians of the reservation are now in charge-as they should be-it was no longer so neat. Rather I was reminded of a beggar woman sitting in the sun. There were few familiar buildings and still fewer faces of the ones I had known.

In fact there were just two families left that I had actually known. One was the German Lutheran family of Guenther, who were missionaries. They had their mission churches in both Whiteriver and the East Fork (river) community. Although I had known the family we were not of the same social group.

cial gathering spot for news and gossip. And if the mail was late — as it often was in bad weather—we just waited for it.

This too was the place which got most of our checks. It went for the good Apache beadwork; the basketry of their tribe; pottery from other Indians; jewelry and rugs of the Navajos. Mexican silver filigree jewelry and trinkets; and colorful Indian-designed blankets from Pendleton Oregon. We bought as much as we could afford to decorate our room or to send home as gifts. There was no place else to go to spend our money, so what we did not save or send home, we spent with part of it going for food.

All employees boarded at the mess (club) with a charge of $20 per month. This was often matched by us buying groceries from the post. Especially was this true, if we had a poor cook, which occurred now and then. The cooks usually left when they could stand the isolation no longer.

Sometimes these cooks would leave without notice, then we, employees were detailed to the job. This was over and above our regular jobs. But we enjoyed it in a way. It was a challenge and a good time to have some really good food, as we all vied in outdoing one another. We, as a rule, paired up to do the work. This was more fun and was easier to carry on. Often our board bill would soar to $40 as we tried out our favorite recipes. But no one complained and our extra grocery bill at the post dropped to even the score.

Another attraction at the post, was the owner's nephew, who was one of the few eligible young men of the town. He was a gay, fun-loving red head. He now owns the post, with a few relatives on his side of the house and that of his wife's. She was a Texas school teacher from Ft. Apache.

The Lees are quite active in the civic affairs, not only of their town but on the state level, and have many friends from all walks of life. Their two sons are well educated and well traveled. And the family lives a full and rich life. This information was given me by friend Helen, who is a very good friend of theirs and has been through the years. I was indeed sorry to miss seeing them.

Four miles away is the old Fort Apache, which remains least changed of all places revisited unless it was the old mining town of Globe. Since I lived here only a short time as substitute teacher, it has no special memories for me. It is mostly for its historical value as an old fort during the Apache-troubled days of the past that I think of it.

A trip to Globe, was a success in that I saw the old friends which I had known. We had a great time reminiscing and with laughter. We went by my old home place, which I dreaded, but was pleased to find the neighborhood had stood up well. The house was painted a snowy white, as were those of my one time neighbors. They all had green yards, flowers and trees, which are not easy to grow in the sandy soil — and in our day-costly water.

So ended my side trips. The next stop was to be Chambers, Arizona to the north, just five miles south to the Navajo Reservation and located on Highway 66. This family was of friends of long standing and represent the San Carlos Indian Reservation days. I had no desire to see the town of San Carlos, as I had been told it had greatly changed, as much as that of Whiteriver. The Young family represented the best of this place to me anyway.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

WHEN TIME DIDN'T MATTER — Travelers between Houston and San Antonio cover the 199 miles of Interstate 10 in a little more than three hours of driving time today. But 62 years ago, the trip took almost 36 hours by car.

On August 13, 1906, Henry House of Houston cranked up his Pope-Toledo touring car and headed for San Antonio. By nightfall, he was in Columbus — 95 miles away.

From that point on, however, bad roads, breakdowns and the lack of an adequate map made the trip slow torture. When he finished the 258-mile trip eight days later, he had spent 35 hours, 50 minutes, behind the wheel and averaged only eight miles an hour!

TRAVELING TEXAS — Calvert, in Robertson County, has a courthouse that isn't.

The building was put up in the 1870's when Calvert was the county seat. Before the courthouse was completed, however, the seat of government was moved to Franklin, where it still is. The Calvert "courthouse" now is a museum of local history.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW? — Remember the authoritative voice that used to introduce "the immortal masked man of the West, the Lone Ranger" to millions of radio listeners?

He was Layman Cameron, then one of the most famous voices on the air waves. Today he lives in San Antonio.

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — America's fear of Great Britain was a factor in making Texas a part of the United States.

Leaders of the Republic of Texas favored annexation by the United States, but many members of Congress opposed the idea. They were fearful that Texas, with its pro-slavery votes, would give the southern bloc of states the balance of power in the U. S. government.

The United States was even more fearful, however, that the trade relations which Texas had established with Great Britain might lead to eventual annexation by the British. The U. S., already concerned at British empire-building in Canada, did not want this to happen.

Finally, in 1845, Congress voted to admit Texas as a state, thus ending the spread of the British Empire in America.

FRONTIER PHARMACOPEIA — A cure for gout was thought to be as near as the closest soil yielding earthworms.

A spoonful of earthworms, plus an equal amount of crude oil, was stirred until the worms dissolved. The concoction then was squeezed through a cloth and a little essence of burgoyne added. It was then rubbed on the affected parts.

THE CHANGING TIMES — A strand of barbed wire that originally cost as little as 10 cents a running foot now can be worth as much as $30 to a hobbyist who collects the stuff.

Between 500 and 1,000 separate varieties were manufactured in the hey-day of barbed wire fencing.

City Newcomer Is Introduced At Coffee Hour

Mrs. Duffy McBrayer, wife of the latest member of the medical staff at the Family Clinic, was introduced to numerous Hereford women Thursday morning when Mrs. J. H. McCrary and Mrs. Gerald Payne were hostesses at a coffee in Mrs. McCrary's home.

Dr. and Mrs. McBrayer and their son, Jeff, recently moved here from Fort Worth, and are living at 234 Northwest Drive. Dr. McBrayer is associated with Drs. McCrary and Payne in the clinic.

The two hostesses greeted callers and introduced Mrs. Mc-

Brayer in an informal receiving line at the door of the McCrary home. The petite honoree, hazel-eyed and blonde, was wearing a frock of white embroidered cotton with touches of Kelly green in a scarf at the neckline and a pin at one shoulder. Her shoes were the same shade of patent.

Giant marigolds in moon glow shade brightened the rooms, and were mixed with fern leaves in a pyramid arrangement on one side of the table where coffee was served.

Houseparty members assisting the hostesses were Meses, Bill Davis, Hap Caviness, Kenny Gearn, Hazen Woods and Gene Cope.

The late historian Walter Prescott Webb called barbed wire the Industrial Revolution's "greatest contribution to the economic conquest of the Great Plains."

Miss Holland Of Denton Weds James S. Perrin

In an afternoon marriage ceremony conducted by the bridegroom's brother, Miss Patricia Ellen Holland of Denton became the bride of James Stephen Perrin, Hereford student at North Texas State University at Denton. He is the son of Mrs. Joe R. Phillips of Amarillo and the late C. A. Perrin.

The bride's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Reginald V. Holland of Denton, and she is also a student at NTSU. The Rev. Gregory Perrin officiated for the wedding in St. David's Episcopal Church.

Church decorations were characterized by simplicity, with a long low bouquet of white flowers on the altar, candelabra and flowers arranged in urns at the chancel steps.

Miss Judy Cleveland of Spring Lake, Mich., was her cousin's maid of honor and the bride's younger sister, Holly Holland, was flower girl. Miss Kay Rogers and Mrs. Jerry Freese, both of Denton attended her as bridesmaids.

Acting as best man was Steven Neeley of Denton. Mike Garrity of Dallas and Reg Jackson of Richardson were groomsmen, Robert Harris and Rick Fisher of Denton the ushers.

Miss Holland, given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk organza gown in cage style, topped with a yoke and mini-sleeves of baroque Venise lace. Skirt fullness rounded into a chapel train ornamented with lace appliques.

Her bouffant veil, shoulder length, was held to her blonde hair by a cluster of pearl-edged petals. Her bouquet was a cascade of white and mint green carnations and stephanotis surrounding butterfly orchids, with tendrils of English ivy and baby-breath.

Mrs. James Stephen Perrin
nee Patricia Holland

Attendants' sleeveless dresses of mint crepe were designed with olive velvet streamers. They wore matching headpieces and white accessories, and carried nosegays of mint carnations trailing ivy.

Country Club after the wedding. Table decorations featured a special seven-branched candelabrum with flowers and green foliage.

After a honeymoon at Lake Buchanan Mr. and Mrs. Perrin will be at home at 610 Welch, Denton. Mrs. Perrin is a junior speech and drama major at WTSU.

Mr. Perrin holds membership in Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He enrolled in the Denton university after completing high school studies in Hereford.

Visitor Is Tea Honoree

A visitor from Oklahoma, Mrs. E. G. Henson was complimented with a tea recently in the home of Mrs. Frank Short. Mrs. Henson is a guest of her son, Dale Henson, and his family, and of a grandson, Donald Daugherty.

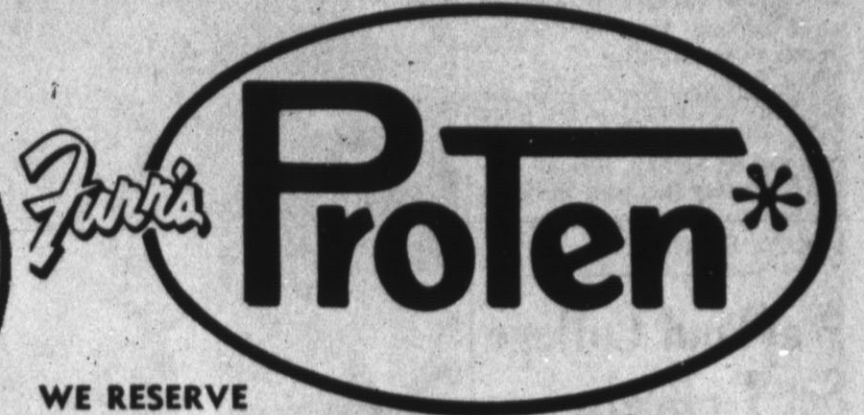

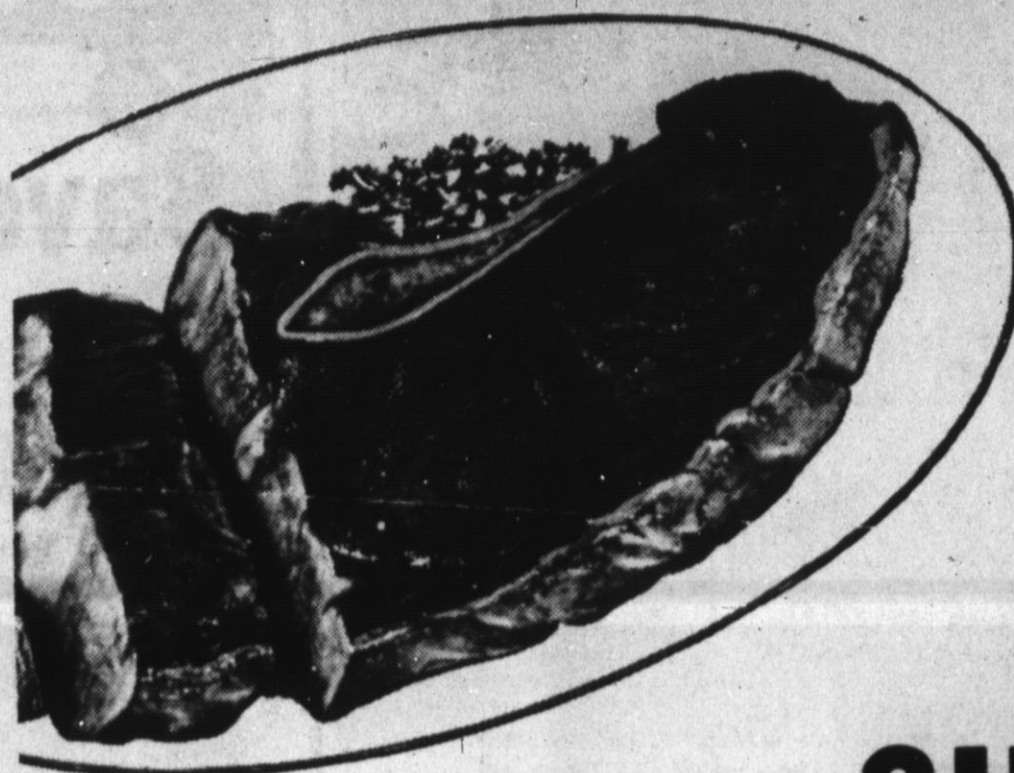

Present at the tea with the honoree, Mrs. Dale Henson and Mrs. Daugherty, were Mmes. O. H. Culpepper, Fred Davis and John Higgs, and Miss Katrina Kester. They spent an hour in informal conversation, getting acquainted with the Oklahoma woman.

Army Recruiter Has Jobs For Men Interested In Space Age

There are openings in the United States Army for young men who are interested in becoming a part of the space age and the world of electronics. According to Sgt. Bert Pinales, local Army recruiter, a high priority has been given to finding young men who are eligible for training as Combat Missile Systems Repairmen.

Combat missile systems repairmen inspect, test and perform maintenance, calibration and repair on REDEYE, TOW and SHILLELAGH missile systems. They must know the theory, function and operations of the systems and how to use test equipment to discover where problems exist. When the difficulty is located, the repairman moves in to repair or replace the broken part and to place the system back in operational condition.

Among the requirements for a good missile systems repairman is the ability to reason out a situation and determine the cause of a malfunction, and some mathematical ability to solve electronics formulas. As he gains in rank and experience, he will also need practice in expressing himself to others as he explains the systems and their operations to newer repairmen.

Army training such as the combat missile systems repair course is not only a fine occupation for a career service man but it has wide application in civilian life. The course training leads to such civilian jobs as electrical equipment tester or repairman or to Federal Civil Service. Classifications as a guided missile inspector or repairman.

For further information on this course or the more than 300 other Army technical schools, see Sgt. Pinales, whose office is located at the Post Office Building, Room 322 in Amarillo. Sgt. Pinales also can be contacted at the Local Board No. 18 of the Selective Service System in Hereford.

Shadows And Lights--

Nighttime In Hereford

A vibrant, young and growing city like Hereford has its moments of quiet beauty as those who take time to stop and look know. Bright lights against the darkness of the night create scenes filled with beauty, intensified by the silence of the night. Water in a fountain at Westgate changes subtly at night until it becomes liquid light shooting into the air. The small park facing Park Avenue looks peacefully on a street filled with teen-agers making the 'drag in search of excitement. Focal point of the search for friends becomes one of the many drive-ins in town, which even at night bustle with activity. Under the lights, the spell woven by the dark is broken as car after car makes its way through the drive-in in an endless circle. (Photos are by Tyler Vance.)

Mrs. Charles Thomas Crawley nee Mar-Gwen Lackey

Lackey-Crawley Vows Repeated At Amarillo

The marriage of Miss Mar-Gwen Lackey of Amarillo and Capt. Charles Thomas Crawley, USAF, of Sacramento, Calif., was read by the Rev. Kermit Crawley of Columbia, Missouri, father of the bridegroom, in the chapel of First Christian Church at Amarillo Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Helen Johnson Lackey of Amarillo, and the family formerly lived in Hereford. Miss Lackey was graduated from Hereford High School with the 1962 class and has since attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University. She plans to attend Sacramento State College this fall. Captain Crawley is a pilot with the Strategic Air Command, stationed at Sacramento.

The couple will be at home in that city after a few days spent in Las Vegas, Nev. enroute.

Larry L. White of Floydada, formerly of Hereford, gave his sister in marriage in the double ring ceremony at twilight Saturday. The chapel was lighted by tapers set in banks of greenery and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. White was the bride's honor attendant and Mrs. Judith Bradley of Dallas the bridesmaid. Thomas F. Sandblem of Evanston, Ill., acted as best man, Paul W. Schuster of Amarillo as groomsmen and Don Richard Crawley of Columbia, brother of the bridegroom, as usher.

The bride's gown of candlelight peau de soie was styled with a deep yoke with mandarin neckline and brief sleeves of re-embroidered lace. Back fullness swept from below the yoke into a chapel train.

Her French illusion veil with wide border of the lace floated full length over the train. Her bouquet was a nosegay of white roses and glossy magnolia leaves.

Attendants of the bride were dressed alike in brown silk organza and pixie hats of the same material. Long-sleeved

Grants Will Be Offered By 4-H

CHICAGO — Six $800 scholarships will be awarded this fall to 4-H coeds who plan to major in home economics.

These scholarships are part of the College Scholarship Fund set up by the Cooperative Extensive Service and administered by the National 4-H Service Committee.

The home economics grants are for current or former 4-H members who will be enrolled in their junior year of college in the fall of 1968. Candidates submit their applications through the state 4-H Club office.

Scholastic and 4-H records will be judged in Chicago the first part of November, and winners will be announced during the National 4-H Congress held there, Dec. 1-5.

Donors of two scholarships each are: The S&H Foundation, Inc., The West Bend Company, and Sunbeam Corporation.

In addition to the home economics scholarships, S & H Foundation provides annual awards in the national 4-H Home Improvement program, reports the National 4-H Service Committee.

Clarendon Sets Pre-Registration

Pre-registration for freshman students and veterans will be held at Clarendon College August 26-September 7. Office hours will be from 9-5 Monday through Friday and from 9-12 on Saturday.

The purpose of pre-registration is to allow freshmen students ample time for consultation and for the completion of their schedules prior to regular registration.

Such an arrangement is an advantageous one, particularly for the student who often feels bewildered and frustrated with his first experience of enrolling in college, and who might find classes already filled and closed should he wait until later to register. Tuition and fees are not due until regular freshman registration on September 18th.

The Veterans Administration is urging all veterans to pre-register in order to avoid delay in the processing of applications and payment. Payment will be authorized in advance for all pre-enrolled veterans.

The Registrar's Office advises all freshman students and veterans to take advantage of this convenience offered by Clarendon College.

Women Drivers To Race Today

Action will take on a different note today at Hereford Speedway when women from throughout the area will try their hands at the wheels in a scheduled Powder Puff Derby.

Women from various area towns will compete for the top honors in the day's events including three from Amarillo, one from Dimmitt, one from Clovis, N. Mex. and several from Hereford.

The races begin at 3 p. m. at the Hereford Speedway located east of town on U. S. 60.

Dallas Woman Is Seeking To Stop Cruelty To Coons

By TOM JOHNSON

DALLAS — A spry, elderly Dallas woman who embarked on a lonely crusade a year ago to stop what she believes to be cruelty to raccoons appears headed toward success.

"Cruelty is cruelty," says Mrs. Ann Gough Hunter, "whether it is done to animals or humans."

Mrs. Hunter was 80 years old this summer.

She has zeroed in with remarkable effect on practices known throughout East, Central and South Texas as coon-in-a-log, coon-in-a-hole and coon-in-swinging-barrel.

She said these are billed as "special events" and involve a chained or tethered raccoon being set upon by unfettered hounds.

Writing in the July issue of the Texas Council for Wildlife Protection bulletin, Mrs. Hunter said:

"Over in Gatesville a few weeks ago, a 'special event,' was held in which raccoons were torn to pieces by dogs for the edification of spectators, including men, women and children."

"For 61 years, the Texas Penal Code (Art. 613.1510) has prohibited matching fights between animals or fowls.

"Photographs in this issue show children enjoying the spectacle of pain and bloodshed."

What kind of education is this for a good world?"

Mrs. Hunter formed the council in the fall of 1967. Its office is her North Dallas home. Corvell County Sheriff Winfred Cummings of Gatesville said the "Special events" apparently will no longer be held in this county.

"They the coon dog people told me they wouldn't have any more. The coons are eating us up down here but we don't want to break any laws," the sheriff said.

"If they break the law and get charges filed against them, they will just have to come on down here the jail," he added.

Nolan White, special assistant to state Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, told The Associated Press that the statute Mrs. Hunter pointed out "prohibits these events. I think they are illegal."

Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wado and Sheriff Bill Decker concur with White's interpretation of the law.

"Article 613 appears sufficiently broad to prohibit the matching or causing of a fight between dogs and raccoons, especially when the raccoon is already in captivity," Wado wrote to Mrs. Hunter.

Article 613 was apparently drawn up mainly to outlaw cock fights. But it prohibits "matching or causing a fight between any animals or fowls."

State Rep. James H. Clark Jr. of Dallas has joined Mrs. Hunter's cause. So have State Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston, Dallas oilman Hub Hill, Asst. Interior Secretary Stanley A. Cain, Dallas oilman M. H. Marr, Board Chairman J. T. Suggs of the Texas & Pacific Railway and others.

Rep. Clark said the problem is "a failure in law enforcement." He went on:

"The law is there. But the problem is that it's a rural sport where the whole business of hunting is pretty sacred."

"If the sheriff in a rural county has coon dogs, he won't stop his friends, who vote for him. It's the most barbaric thing I ever saw and I'm on a personal crusade against it."

Mrs. Hunter's Texas Council

for Wildlife Protection also is against bow-and-arrow hunting.

She claims "it maims many animals without killing them." Some views differ with hers. She said that telegram and letter protests to local officials have stopped four of nine publicized "special events," since the fall of last year.

She said the council now has members in at least seven Texas cities, four states and the District of Columbia. Most members live in Dallas.

The groups main tactic, she said, is to put pressure on local officials to enforce the law.

"All our public officials are fussing about people not obeying the laws of our country," Mrs. Hunter said, "but then they turn around and only enforce the laws they want to."

She says she is as concerned for the dogs involved as for the raccoons.

"Sometimes the dog gets an eye put out or an ear slit," she said.

Oilman Hill heard of an upcoming "special event" earlier this year in South Texas and wrote to the county attorney of the county as follows, in part:

"Coon-on-a-log and coon-in-a-hole are, in my opinion, darn poor sportsmanship and have no place being carried out in a civilized state such as Texas."

"To tie coons and let dogs fight them unto death is a most inhuman thing when, if a coon is given half a chance, he can rip the dogs to shreds."

Mrs. Hunter says the practice of "Special events," goes back to pioneer days in Texas "but this is not a pioneer area any more. England stopped bull-baiting and bear-baiting in the 18th Century."

There were three great temples at Baalbeck, erected by Imperial Rome to dazzle people of the East with its might.

Most belief is that the moon and earth were created separately and then the moon was captured as a satellite by the earth's gravitational pull.

The Kraho Indians of Brazil participate in grueling log races, a semireligious sport. Teams run with logs — each weighing from 20 to 200 pounds — for distances of two and three miles

More Gun-Control Laws Won't Solve The Problems

We are not opposed to trying to find the answer to controlling the sale and ownership of guns. We just aren't convinced that any person, intent on committing murder, assassination or armed robbery, will operate within the legal confines of a gun-control law, and forget their intent for the sake of being a law-abiding citizen.

As a responsible citizen, we would promptly register whatever long or short gun we own, but right at the present moment we are not anticipating using our guns for an illegal purpose, much less to kill someone. But as a free born American, we feel we have a "right" to own and keep a gun. And if we were contemplating an act of violence with a gun, we doubt seriously that a tighter gun-control law would stand in our way when the myriad of other laws we already have on the books had failed to deter our actions.

Because of its opposition to rigid gun control laws amidst the outcry that has followed several senseless assassinations and numerous day-to-day murders, the National Rifle Association has all but been branded a subversive organization, intent only in providing illicit arms to murderers, assassins, and questionable characters. This is hardly fair in light of its long record of teaching young Americans to be good sportsmen, promoting marksmanship (long an American tradition) and gun safety in the handling and care of firearms.

Much is also made of the criticism that comes from foreign visitors and officials, but personally, we are just about fed up with hearing a bunch of unstable foreign governments, many of whom would not even be in existence if it were not for the sharp-shooting abilities of young Americans, carp over what they consider to be the shortcomings of the United States.

As we said, we have no real opposition to any sensible and logical move to control guns. But if we really are interested in cutting down on the mushrooming number of murders and armed robberies, let's put some teeth back into some of our other laws that have been extracted by our molycoddling courts. As Senator Mike Mansfield said recently, the answer really lies in a sense of responsibility, parental control, more and better trained police, improvement of environmental conditions, obedience of the law, less protection for the criminal and more protection for the innocent.

Don't be guilty of just sitting back and parroting the hue and cry that a gun control law will solve all our problems. It won't because it can't!

Congress Drags Feet Again In Getting The Job Done

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Congress has dawdled for seven months with the result that another of those unproductive and overly-political post-convention sessions will be necessary starting September 4.

The political campaign traditionally begins on Labor Day. That means that laws will be written by a Congress most of whose members are campaigning for re-election. This is bound to mean legislation framed more for political effect than for the public good.

By law, Congress is supposed to adjourn no later than July 31 each year. This law might as well be repealed because 1968 is the 12th straight year Congress has failed to complete its labors on time. If a July adjournment date is unrealistic, then a more sensible goal should be set.

This is also the third Presidential year since 1948 that Congress has reconvened after the nominating conventions. Not a great deal happened in either 1948 or 1960, and not much is expected this time except an excess of politicking during a period when the law-makers should be back home.

The government's fiscal year ends on July 31. By that date, all appropriations bills are supposed to be enacted. Only four out of 13 were passed by the deadline. Most departments and agencies are operating now under a temporary extension which has become an annual event.

Senate Not Entirely to Blame Normally the Senate is the lagging body because of its rules permitting unlimited debate and the filibusters that occur with regularity. But this year the Senators can point to the House as at least partially to blame for the prolonged session.

The Constitution requires that revenue bills originate in the House. The Senate Appropriations Committee must wait to see what the House does and this year that means the controversial foreign aid bill and the huge money bill for the Department of Defense will be delayed until September.

House rules require substantive legislation to be cleared before the Appropriations Committee can provide the money. Several money bills were delayed for a considerable period this year while the legislative committee deliberated on the terms of bills for which funds had to be provided later.

The White House must also share the blame for some delays. The President sends his messages to Congress in January and February, telling what is wanted in the way of legislation, but often months pass before details are supplied and the committees can get started with hearings on the other steps that precede passage of a law.

Leaders Lack Drive

Most observers agree that the 90th Congress lacks strong leadership. House Speaker John W. McCormack (D., Mass.) has served his party well for decades but he is now 76 years old and does not get things done like many of his predecessors.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) is highly respected and admired on both sides of the aisle. But he is mis-cast in his leadership role. He is far too much of a "nice guy" to crack the whip and get the legislative machine in high gear. Chances are that Mansfield sometimes wishes that Lyndon Johnson was back in business as boss of the Senate.

Long-term solution to the problem of prolonged Congressional sessions is the streamlining of procedures on Capitol Hill. For example, it takes about 40 minutes to call the roll in the House, and there may be several roll calls on a single bill. Each time there is a year-and-a-half vote, the names of all 435 members are called by a clerk, and the tally is made by hand. A number of state legislatures have electronic voting systems.

But Congress resists change, particularly in its housekeeping affairs. After a prolonged study, a modest start toward streamlining was made by the Senate when the Legislative Reorganization Act was passed. That was more than 16 months ago, and the House Rules Committee has bottled up the Bill ever since. So no reforms have been adopted.

Members of Congress are getting their just deserts in being forced to return to Washington for an overtime session. But the voters are being short-changed by not having their elected spokesmen at home at election time.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

If Democracy Is Worth Its Salt . . .

If federal expenditures were to be used as criteria, a survey of United States spending would indicate this nation to be far from a welfare state. "Warfare state" better describes the current situation, now being denounced by level-headed voters who realize that fiscal responsibility in the federal budget should include the defense department. Over half (60 per cent) of all federal spending is categorized as "defense." One long-time Texas banker, writing in the Dallas News recently, blatantly referred to the defense department's spending merry-go-round as sheer militarism.

Those who believe that criticism of defense expenditures is unpatriotic are playing right into the hands of people whose business it is to make war. This thriving private enterprise includes huge corporations, huge unions, with only one customer in mind: the United States government.

The Vietnamese war is only partly responsible for the burdensome defense expenditures. Inefficiency, naive purchasing policies, and corrupt business practices bleed the taxpayer in the name of national defense. Defense has been a sacred cow, immune to criticism.

With this business situation, taxpayers should expect nothing but inflated prices and imprudent spending. It will continue until someone has the guts to break tradition and speak up.

Criticism of our huge military-industrial establishment should not be reserved for hippies or liberals. Any taxpayer should be enraged when the defense department pays $10 for a $1 part, when parts are scrapped for almost nothing, when no part is ever used twice. As problems in urban areas engulf the nation, voters need take a closer look at where the real wasteful federal spending is, in the defense department.

If democracy is worth its salt, the United States should not have to build a military state to suppress communism; better yet, it should outdo it. If we were allowed the experience of a blood bath on our own soil, we might change our emphasis in dealing with other people on the earth.

Taking the Vietnamese conflict for granted, any taxpayer is still justified in hard-nosed criticism of officials who leave the federal check blank as far as defense is concerned. If we are going to insist that the government spend $160 billion, we can at least put that money in places where it is really needed. To put it close to home, some farmers might appreciate better subsidies.

Respect Is Due Policeman

We don't know about you, but we are getting tired of hearing talk about "police brutality" and a mounting disrespect for the law, which to most of us means the policeman who enforces the law.

There is a current fight in Congress now to limit the powers of the Supreme Court and to swing the pendulum back toward protecting the rights of the law-abiding citizen as well as the criminal.

What has happened is that the policeman have lost, at least for the time being, the basic weapon of their trade. They are hardly able to use confessions to convict criminals.

The burden of proof is falling more and more upon the policeman, who has to make his decisions in a hurry. People don't seem to like policemen, and this is a situation that has to change.

It is normal to not like the police, of course. Most people's only contact with the uniform is during a time of unpleasant circumstances. The policeman is disliked if he doesn't. Police want to be respected however, and that's what we Americans ought to give them — respect.

The officer's oath leaves him little room for personal opinion in enforcing the law. The good traffic cop gives his next door neighbor a ticket as quickly as he does a complete stranger.

The police don't use "police brutality" very often, even though they are accused of it all the time. This term means a lot of things, from a billy club on the noggin to a hostile stare. But very few police people are actually brutal. After all, they are dealing with tough people, punks and dopeheads and hardened criminals. Their very job does not lend itself to kid gloves.

The policeman remains in a strata of society to himself, and may well be a part of a vanishing breed. It is becoming increasingly difficult to attract qualified men to police work. It has become a job where the man must live in the short run. He is apt to be underpaid; human life often assumes the proportions of an expendable commodity; the policeman is expected to lay his life on the line to protect others.

His work often is one of extreme boredom, at other times it is dangerous and nerve wracking.

The policeman needs a lot of help. He needs help from those of us whom he is trying to protect.

When you hear kids call the police "the fuzz" or some other nickname, always disrespectful, don't laugh. Try and point out what we owe the policeman. Without him, we would have chaos, with neither our lives nor our property worth very much. Respect for the law begins with respect for the police.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindweed farm comes out this week in favor of the post office department, we think.

Dear editor:
I was working on an idea for having Rural Free Delivery of my mail seven days a week instead of six out here on this hindweed farm and on all the other farms and ranches of the nation, when I read in a newspaper which temporarily fell out of my neighbor's mail box while he was plowing and which I have returned in just as good shape as when I found it and just before he got to the turn-row on this side — you don't hurt a newspaper by reading it — that there is some agitation for reducing city delivery of mail to four days a week as an economy measure and I figured I'd better hold up on my 7-day country plan for a more favorable time.

At any rate, the article went on to say that a committee of private business executives had made a study of the whole post office operation and had concluded the reason it was losing money is that it's not run on modern business principles, and the answer is to turn it over to a corporation under the supervision of the government.

"Like it's run now," the chairman of the committee said, "if the post office business was up for sale, nobody would buy it."

Now wait a minute. If the judicial system of this country was up for sale, would you want to buy it as an investment? The highway department? Congress? In fact, if the entire Federal government was up for sale, who'd want to buy it? You want to buy a business that's a hundred and thirty billion dollars in debt and getting in deeper all the time?

Or getting closer to home, would you want to buy the state government? Or the . . . well, that's getting about as close to home as I ought to. We've all got to live around here.

The trouble is that some people just don't understand government. Take the post office department for example. It's like farming. It's a public service operation. It's not supposed to make a profit.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Fly Has Big Problem

Sometimes when the woes of the world are getting you down turn your mind to something closer to home.

Consider when and how a common housefly gets into position to walk on a ceiling. There's the fly, buzzing along with legs down. Does he turn a half loop in order to get the other side up so he can walk on a ceiling. Or does he catch hold with his front legs like a trapeze artist and swing himself over?

There are many ways he could do it, but there's only one way he does do it. When you've figured it out you will realize you've had your mind off of Vietnam, crime and the political situation for quite a while. Even if you don't figure it out, you can forget your troubles for a little while. — Topeka Daily Capital

50 YEARS AGO — 1918

G. R. Ward of Hereford was shot and killed last Sunday morning. The tragedy occurred on Ward's ranch about 17 miles southeast of Hereford, and just across the line in Randall County. The weapon used was a shotgun, and following the shooting John Messmer, a renter on the Ward place, went to Canyon and surrendered to the sheriff, later being released on bond. From all the information obtainable, it would seem that trouble between the two men began over the shutting of a gate which allowed stock to get from one pasture to another. An argument over who was responsible for leaving it open finally culminated in the shooting.

35 YEARS AGO — 1933

Deaf Smith County will vote on appeal of its local option law August 26, when the statewide election to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and legalization of beer is held. The local option law now in effect prohibits sale of vinous, spirituous and malt liquors. It was adopted in September 1901.

25 YEARS AGO — 1943

Association of Dr. L. B. Barnett in his medical practice was this week announced by Dr. R. R. Wills, and a statement of the office hours of the two partners is contained in an announcement in this week's Brand. Dr. Barnett, who was born in Bonham, moved and took his B. S. Degree at West Texas State College. He completed his medical training at Baylor Medical School in 1943, and enlisted in the Naval Reserve, from which he has received a release until July 1944.

15 YEARS AGO — 1953

Lt. Roger W. Hartman, the first reported death from Deaf Smith County from the Korean War, died in a prison camp in 1951, his family found out Saturday evening when they received a cablegram from the War Department. Lt. Hartman, 28, was a veteran of World War II. He was also a German prisoner of war for six months after he was captured in the Battle of the Bulge in 1944.

5 YEARS AGO — 1963

The first traffic fatality of the year on Deaf Smith County highways was recorded early Thursday as a 17-year-old Latin-American farm laborer was fatally injured in a one-car accident on U. S. Highway 60 less than a mile southwest of Hereford. The youth, Joe Vela, Jr., of Lamesa, died at 3:30 a. m., an hour following the accident, at Deaf Smith County Hospital.

1 YEAR AGO — 1967

An apparent well-planned armed robbery by two men failed late Saturday night, but not before they had held a Hereford couple captive for nearly an hour. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kester, who live on South Main about one mile from their business establishment, Kester's Jewelry, were threatened several times with their lives by the strongarm bandits who finally took $53 and all of Kester's keys from the home.

PLENTY OF VARIETY CHICAGO - Piano finishes, once confined to deep red mahogany, now are changing with fashion trends.

Today, walnut leads in popularity, with cherry in second place. Mahogany, in nut-brown finish, is a close third, while maple, oak, ebony, and pecan share fourth place.

Constance Wagner, consumer education consultant, said there was a time when geography might dictate a choice of wood, finish, and even style in a piano. But this is no longer true.

"With so many Americans on the move, and with publications yielding so much influence from coast to coast, regionalism has little to do with individual taste today," she said.

Section 1. That Subsection (a) of Section 62, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read hereafter as follows:

"Section 62. (a) The Legislature shall have the authority to levy taxes to provide a State Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation Fund for the officers and employees of the state, and may make such reasonable inclusions, exclusions, or classifications of officers and employees of this state as it deems advisable. The Legislature may also include officers and employees of judicial districts of the state who are or have been compensated in whole or in part directly or indirectly by the state, and may make such other reasonable inclusions, exclusions, or classifications of officers and employees of judicial districts of this state as it deems advisable. Persons participating in a retirement system created pursuant to Section 1-a of Article V of this Constitution shall not be eligible to participate in the Fund authorized in this subsection; and persons participating in a retirement system created pursuant to Section 48-a of Article III of this Constitution shall not be eligible to participate in the Fund authorized in this subsection, except as otherwise provided herein. The amount contributed by the state to such Fund shall equal the amount paid for the same purpose from the income of each such person, and shall not exceed at any time six per centum (6%) of each such person by the state.

There is hereby created as an agency of the State of Texas, the Employees Retirement System of Texas, the rights of membership in which, the retirement privileges and benefits thereunder, and the management and operations of which shall be governed by the provisions herein contained and by present or hereafter enacted Acts of the Legislature not inconsistent herewith. The general administration and responsibility for the proper operation of said system are hereby vested in a State Board of Trustees, to be known as the State Board of Trustees of the Employees Retirement System of Texas, which Board shall be constituted and shall serve as may now or hereafter be provided by the Legislature. Said Board shall exercise such powers as are herein provided together with such other powers and duties not inconsistent herewith as may be prescribed by the Legislature. All moneys from whatever source coming into the Fund and all other securities, moneys, and assets of the Employees Retirement System of Texas shall be administered by said Board and said Board shall be the trustee thereof. The Treasurer of the State of Texas shall be the custodian of said moneys and securities. Said board is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire, hold, manage, purchase, sell, assign, trade, transfer, and dispose of any securities, evidences of debt, and other investments in which said securities, moneys, and assets may be invested by said Board. Said Board is hereby authorized and empowered to invest and reinvest any of said moneys, securities, and assets, as well as the proceeds of any such investments, in bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness issued, or assumed or guaranteed in whole or in part, by the United States, or any agency of the United States, or by the State of Texas, or by any county, city, school district, municipal corporation, or other political subdivision of the State of Texas, both general and special obligations; or in home office facilities to be used in administering the Employees Retirement System of Texas, including land, equipment, and including building; or in such corporation bonds, notes, other evidences of indebtedness, and corporation stocks, including common and preferred stocks, of any corporation created or existing under the laws of the United States or of any of the states of the United States, as said Board may deem to be proper investments; provided that in making each and all of such investments said Board shall exercise the judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of ordinary prudence, discretion, and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs, not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds, considering the probable income therefrom as well as probable safety of their capital; and further provided, that a sufficient sum shall be kept on hand to meet payments as they become due each year under such retirement plan, as may now or hereafter be provided by law. Unless investments authorized herein are hereafter further restricted by an Act of the Legislature, no more than one per cent (1%) of the book value of the total assets of the Employees Retirement System shall be invested in the stock of any one (1) corporation, nor shall more than five per cent (5%) of the voting stock of any one (1) corporation be owned; and provided further, that stocks eligible for purchase shall be restricted to stocks of companies incorporated within the United States which have paid cash dividends for ten (10) consecutive years or longer immediately prior to the date of purchase and which, except for bank stocks and insurance stocks, are listed upon an exchange registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission or its successors; and provided further, that not less than twenty-five per cent (25%) of any one per cent of the book value of investments of said Fund shall be invested in Government and Municipal Securities as enumerated above. This Amendment shall become effective immediately upon its adoption without any enabling legislation."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Monday in November 1968, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment amending Subsection (a) of Section 62, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas relating to the Employees Retirement Fund and the Employees Retirement System of Texas, revising provisions for investments of moneys and other assets of the Fund, and changing other existing provisions and making other new provisions with respect to the administration of the Employees Retirement System."

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment amending Subsection (a) of Section 62, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas relating to the Employees Retirement Fund and the Employees Retirement System of Texas, revising provisions for investments of moneys and other assets of the Fund, and changing other existing provisions and making other new provisions with respect to the administration of the Employees Retirement System."

The PHANTOM

By Lee Falk

MAY I LOOK INTO YOUR CAVE ONCE MORE, VLAD?

OF COURSE, GREAT FRIEND.

STAY WITH US ALWAYS.

THE CAVE MOUTH IS GLASSY— AS THOUGH ONCE BLASTED BY GREAT HEAT—

STEEL WALLS HERE. WHY DO YOU CALL THIS CAVE A SHIP?

WHO KNOWS? IT'S ALWAYS BEEN CALLED THAT—

WAIT— BEFORE YOU GO— WE'RE HAVING THE WEDDING OF MELODEE AND PRINCE VLAD.

YOU SAVED HER LIFE. HE ASKED THAT YOU GIVE HER AWAY.

GLADLY.

PRINCE VLAD, I GIVE THEE PRINCESS MELODEE IN MARRIAGE.

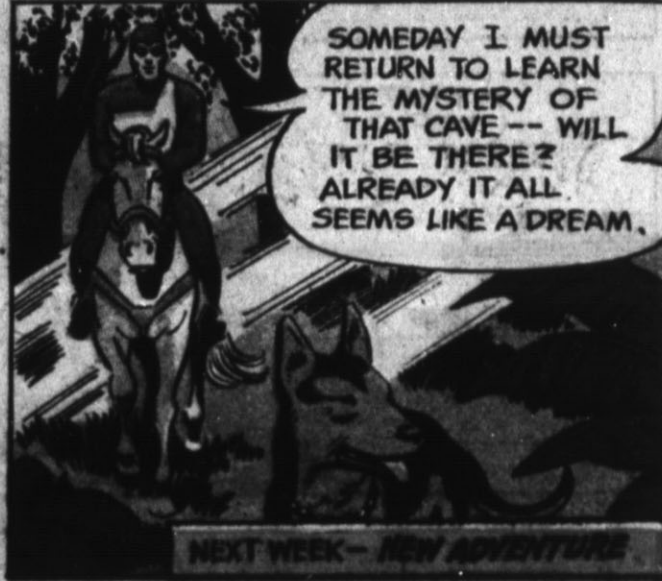

GOODBYE, GOODBYE.

GOOD-BYE.

FAREWELL TO THE HIDDEN PLACE OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE— OVER THE RIVER OF LAVA.

SOMEDAY I MUST RETURN TO LEARN THE MYSTERY OF THAT CAVE— WILL IT BE THERE? ALREADY IT ALL SEEMS LIKE A DREAM.

BRINGING UP FATHER

by BILL KAVANAGH & FRANK FLETCHER

I'D BETTER GET STARTED! IT WOULDN'T DO TO KEEP MAGGIE WAITING—

I ALLOWED MYSELF TOO MUCH TIME-- I'M A HALF HOUR EARLY--

THE SMART THING TO DO WHEN YOU HAVE A DATE WITH MAGGIE IS ARRIVE A HALF HOUR LATE—

WHILE I'M WAITING, I MIGHT AS WELL LOOK OVER THE PAINTINGS IN THE MUSEUM—

THIS JUNK ISN'T EXACTLY MY IDEA OF ART— BUT IT'LL HELP PASS THE TIME—

AT LEAST MAGGIE WILL BE PLEASED WHEN I TELL HER WHAT I'VE BEEN DOING—

DARLIN'— GUESS WHAT I DID WHILE I WAS WAITING—

I DON'T HAVE TO GUESS— I CAN TELL JUST BY LOOKING AT YOU!
