

Water bills miff Labor Camp residents

By SHAWN COCKRUM
Staff Writer

A group of almost 60 Labor Camp residents packed city hall Monday evening to ask city commissioners what could be done about their high water and sewer bills.

Angela Villarreal, a spokesperson for the group, said that the average water bill for Labor Camp residents was $50, with some residential bills exceeding $100.

high bills I know not to water outside. I live alone, there is no way to use that much water in a month."

According to City of Hereford records, a person who used 28,000 gallons would be billed $25.80.

The average family water usage in Hereford is 14,000 gallons for a bill of $23.10.

Juana Liscano also produced a bill claiming that she used 69,747 gallons last month for a bill of $182.50.

Liscano lives in the home with her husband.

Santiago Ceballos, who stated that he had not been at home during the July billing period, received a bill claiming that he had used 3,100 gallons of water for a bill of $12.50.

"I have not even been home for the last five months. There has been nobody at my home using any water. How could I have used 3,100 gallons when the water was never turned on in the house?" Ceballo said.

According to the residents, when they complained about the bills, the water board said that they must have a leak.

Commissioners asked the residents if they had contacted the local Texas Rural Legal Aid offices about helping with their problem. Villarreal said they had contacted TRLA, but TRLA said they could not help because both TRLA and the water board are federally funded.

Today, TRLA attorney Randall Marshall said he could not comment on whether the group has discussed the problem with him. But, he did say that if the water board is federally funded, then would not prohibit TRLA from representing anybody who may be against it.

Commissioners advised the group to contact the county commissioners concerning the problem.

County Commissioner Bill Brady said the county's hands also are tied. "That board is totally self-governed. They set the rates and collect the bills," said Brady, adding that the county would be very limited in being able to help.

Mayor Wes Fisher told the group that the city could appreciate their problem, but since the area is outside the city limits, there was nothing the city could legally do.

"Last month my bill was for over $60. I can afford a regular bill, but $60 for water is outrageous," said Villarreal.

Commissioners told the group that the Labor Camp has its own water board that sets the rate for water usage. Commissioners said that since the Labor Camp was outside the city limits, the city would not be able to intervene.

The Labor Camp water board is operated by area residents. The board was set up in the late 70s by grants furnished by the U.S. Housing and Urban Development Commission. The grant was acquired through efforts of Deaf Smith County and the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (PRPC).

PRPC Executive Director Gary Pitner said the grant was used to provide for the construction of the water district. The money was used to upgrade the wells and provide the service to the homes.

"Upon completion of construction, the water board assumed all regulation of the area's water supply. The board sets the rates and is responsible for all up keep. At this time there is no federal regulation of the water board," said Pitner.

The offices for the water district are in the old St. Joseph's school in the center of the Labor Camp. The Brand was unable to reach board members for comment.

Cata Pesina, another Labor Camp resident, showed the commissioners a bill she received for the month of July. The bill stated that she used 28,100 gallons of water. Her bill was for $80.

"How could I have used that much water," said Pesina. "With such

New estimate at $30 billion over '87 deficit target

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Congressional Budget Office is estimating that the deficit in fiscal 1987 will be nearly $30 billion over the target set in the Gramm-Rudman law, congressional sources said today.

The report, which will be formally submitted to Congress on Thursday, projects the deficit in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 will be $173 billion. The estimate is based on current-law spending levels and the CBO's forecast of moderate economic growth of about 3.2 percent.

Meanwhile, the CBO also estimates that the current fiscal year's deficit will reach a record $224 billion, up from $212.3 billion in fiscal 1985, said the sources, who spoke on the condition of anonymity.

The Gramm-Rudman law requires Congress and the president to reach a deficit target of $144 billion in fiscal 1987. If the target is missed by more than $10 billion, spending cuts are required across-the-board to make up the difference.

The CBO and the president's Office of Management and Budget are both releasing preliminary deficit reports this week. They will both report again on Aug. 20 and the Gramm-Rudman spending cuts would be determined based on an average of those two reports.

Deficit-reduction bills are pending in both the House and the Senate, but final passage is not likely before Congress leaves for its Labor Day recess on Aug. 15.

Gramm-Rudman originally envisioned that the spending cuts would take place automatically, unless lawmakers stepped in with a better plan. However, the Supreme Court ruled the automatic mechanism was unconstitutional, so Congress would have to vote to impose the cuts.

The Senate has approved an amendment with a new automatic-cutting scheme, but it was attached to a bill that is still awaiting final passage.

Bottling Hereford's Wine

Dino Ferraresi inserts the corks into the freshly filled wine bottles, while Art Reinauer, at back, fills the bottles. Reinauer and Ferraresi are completing the first batch of wine produced by the La Escarbada XIT Winery located north of Hereford. All bottling and wine production took place at the Hereford winery on Saturday. Reinauer bottled 200 cases of two kinds of wine—a Texas Chenin Blanc and Texas Nouvea Zinfandel Red Wine. Distribution of the wines are scheduled to take place on Aug. 15.

City ordinance to limit garage sales, require $10 fee

By SHAWN COCKRUM
Staff Writer

City commissioners voted Monday night to have City Attorney Earnest Langley to write an ordinance that would limit garage sales.

"If you look in the paper, it looks like people are having perpetual garage sales," said City Manager Darwin McGill.

McGill said that other cities of similar size to Hereford force people to purchase a permit to hold a garage sale and limit the number of garage sales a person can have to two or three per year.

Mayor Wes Fisher said that the city should adopt such an ordinance. Commissioners suggested that the ordinance state that the city would charge $10 per permit and limit the amount of permits issued to two per year per person.

Commissioner Emory Brownlow suggested that the ordinance allow the permit to be good for one week.

Commissioners will vote on the ordinance during their next meeting.

When I was a youngster, I dreaded the thought of growing old. One reason was that I figured the time would pass so slow as you get older. Not true, time zooms by faster each year, it seems, and some of my older friends confirm that fact.

My thoughts turned to this subject after reading a statement in a senior citizen's publication in Lubbock. The title of the article was "Sad But True", and I think some of our readers will enjoy reading this article:

"Everything is farther away than it used to be. It is twice as far to the corner and I notice they have added a hill. I have given up running for the bus—the driver must be leaving faster than he used to. It seems they are making stairs steeper than in the old days, too.

"Have you noticed the print is getting smaller in the newspapers? And, there is no sense in asking anyone to read aloud. Everyone speaks in such a low voice that I can hardly hear them. The material in clothes is so skimpy now, especially around the waist.

"Even people are changing. They are much younger now than they used to be when I was their age. On the other hand, people of my own age are so much older than I am. I ran across an old classmate the other day and she had aged so badly that she didn't even know me.

"I got to thinking about the poor old thing this morning and, in doing so, glanced at my reflection. Really, they don't make good mirrors anymore, do they?"

Cemetery meeting set Thursday

The Rest Lawn Lot Owners Association will elect three board members and officers when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Hereford Community Center.

Board members are to serve three year terms and officers serve one year.

Current board members are Arnold Betzen, president; Les Wagner, vice president; Pauline Howard, treasurer; and Marian Kreig, secretary. Board members are Helen Parsons, Norman Gray and Bartley Dowell.

The association was established in August of 1982 and is maintained by volunteers. All interested persons may attend the meeting.

Bingo tax refund reported

The two percent gross receipts tax on charity bingo netted Deaf Smith County $1,350.35 for the period of May 29 to July 30.

Total payments for the year are at $3,900.16, compared to a year-to-date total in 1985 of $4,176. Last year's payment for the same period was $1,489.65.

Registration set for Aug. 20-22

Registration for elementary school pupils will be Aug. 20-22 at each campus and secondary plans are pending, according to Hereford school administrators.

Classes begin Sept. 2.

Each elementary building will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. for registration. Students transferring from other districts need to bring any information from the other district, such as report cards and health records, for enrollment. (The Hereford district can obtain records from the old district if necessary.)

Pupils entering school for the first time will need to bring immunization records and proof of age. Pupils are required to have shots for diphtheria, rubella, rubeola, tetanus, polio, and mumps. Birth certificates —which can be obtained at the county clerk's office of the county in which the child was born— or baptismal certificates will be accepted as proof of age.

Pre-Kindergarten pupils must be 4-years-old by Sept. 1, economically disadvantaged, or have limited English proficiency.

Kindergarten pupils must be 5-years-old by Sept. 1.

Secondary plans are pending upon completion of all schedules. An announcement will be made for those students to pick up class assignments and to arrange promptly any changes.

New teachers will have a general orientation to the district on Aug. 22. Other teachers begin in-service meetings on Aug. 25.

City issues 12 permits

The City of Hereford issued 12 building permits during the month of July totaling $349,350. That is higher than July of 1985 when the city issued 16 permits worth $176,000.

So far in 1986, the city has issued 99 permits worth $1,178,900. During the first seven months of 1985, the city had issued 94 permits totaling $5,782,950.

Deputies arrest five

Deaf Smith County Deputies arrested two individuals for driving while intoxicated, and three people for public intoxication during the past weekend.

Deputies also heard reports of an abandoned vehicle near Dawn, harassment by threat, and aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Police hear burglary report

City police heard a report Saturday of a burglary at the home of Pat Privitt, 308 Sunset. Missing from the Privitt home was a VCR and blank VCR tapes valued at $534.

Police also heard reports of assault, disturbing the peace, a domestic disturbance, two criminal complaints, and shoplifting.

Police made arrest for public intoxication, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, and traffic violations.

Firefighters douse grass fires

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department respond to two grass fires during the past weekend, one in the 400 block of Ave. B, and another three miles north of Hereford behind White Implement.

Firefighters were also called to Park Ave between Avenues D and E to assist a report of a boy being struck by a car. Firefighters were told to disregard after police arrived. The boy was uninjured.

Miss Keller crowned Miss Texas USA

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The new Miss Texas-USA, Michelle Royer of Keller, will try to make it three in a row for the state when she competes for the Miss USA title.

Ms. Royer, 20, was crowned Monday night at San Antonio's Municipal Auditorium. She will represent Texas in the Miss USA contest next February in Miami.

The two previous Miss Texas-USA's went on to take the national title.

"What do you say, folks, let's go for three," said Bob Eubanks, of television's "The New Newlywed Show" and one of the pageant hosts.

Christy Fichtner of Dallas, the reigning Miss USA, crowned the blue-eyed, brown-haired winner. Ms. Royer clasped her hands to her mouth and tried to control her tears when her name was announced.

Ms. Royer is a student at Tarrant County Junior College. During the interview segment of the contest, she discussed her work with the elderly in her hometown of Keller, a small town northeast of Fort Worth.

If she goes on to win the national title, she would then compete in the Miss Universe contest.

The theme of the pageant was "Texas Stars on Parade," but the Texas Sesquicentennial also was incorporated into the show.

The 109 contestants started out the evening with a rendition of "Strike Up the Band," around a huge birthday cake.

The four other finalists were, first runner-up, Miss Harris County, LeeAnne Locken; second runner-up, Miss Houston, Kimberly Greer; third runner-up, Miss Dallas County, Adrienne Ross; and fourth runner-up, Miss Bayou City, Crystal Dillard.

Juarez-El Paso bridges still blocked

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Blockades of the international bridges linking this border city with El Paso, Texas, may slow down operations at twin plants if they continue, a U.S. businessman says.

Two of the four international bridges remained closed Monday in a protest by opposition party members against alleged election fraud. Organizers say the blockade will extend until at least 9 o'clock tonight.

Francisco Barrio, former Juarez mayor and opposition party gubernatorial candidate, led the Sunday takeover of the Bridge of the Americas, an important commercial crossing where the U.S. Customs Service and its Mexican counterpart keep import lots for inspecting cargo.

More than 1,000 trucks use the bridge daily carrying parts to assembly plants in Juarez and returning to U.S. factories with goods.

Bill Huskins, general manager for Taylor Instruments twin-plant operation, said the blockade has not had a severe impact on the maquiladora industry so far.

"To my knowledge every plant has kept working," Huskins said. "We will survive if this is just temporary."

In the long run, however, such protests may have a severe impact on the twin plants, he said.

"A lot of national companies are keeping a close eye on this situation," Huskins said. "This is going to have an impact on the maquiladora industry in the future. It may affect future growth."

Huskins said automobile companies rely on day-to-day production and may move out of the area if the blockades continue.

Shultz critical of Soviet grain sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Monday the Soviets "must be chortling and scratching their heads" about President Reagan's decision to subsidize wheat sales to the Soviet Union, a published report said.

The president's program, announced Friday by Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng, will use surplus government-owned grain as bonuses to encourage the Soviets to buy 4 million metric tons of wheat in fulfillment of their obligations under a long-term grain agreement.

In an interview with USA Today, published in Tuesday's editions, Shultz said, "The Soviet Union must be chortling and scratching their heads about a system that says we're going to fix it up so that American taxpayers make it possible for a Soviet housewife to buy American-produced food at prices lower than an American housewife."

"So I think there are a lot of problems with this, but obviously there must be a lot of pluses or it wouldn't have been decided," he said. "I can't think of any pluses myself."

In announcing the plan, Lyng said the expanded subsidy program would help U.S. farmers who are suffering from glutted markets, low prices and slumping exports without harming America's competitors in the international grain marketplace.

Six nations adopt sanctions

LONDON (AP) — The seven-nation Commonwealth summit conference on South Africa split early today over sanctions, with six countries adopting harsh measures and Britain refusing to go beyond a limited package.

In a communique issued shortly after midnight Monday following hours of fruitless argument, it was made clear that British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was isolated in her opposition to severe sanctions designed to force an end to apartheid.

The communique said, in part, "The rest of us (Australia, the Bahamas, Canada, India, Zambia and Zimbabwe) agreed as follows — the adoption of further substantial economic measures against South Africa is a moral and political imperative to which a positive response can no longer be deferred."

Mrs. Thatcher pledged only limited measures, declaring she had compromised for the sake of unity in the Commonwealth, the 49-nation association of Britain and its former colonies.

OPEC agrees to cut production

GENEVA (AP) — OPEC countries broke a long-standing deadlock by unanimously agreeing to Iran's plan for a drastic temporary cut in production to boost sagging oil prices, the cartel's president said.

Rilwanu Lukman, Nigeria's oil minister and president of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, made the unexpected announcement following a late-night session with 12 other oil ministers in his hotel suite Monday.

Asked if the group had reached unanimity, a smiling Lukman replied: "Believe it or not, yes."

Oil industry analysts consider a unanimous accord by OPEC members on production cuts crucial to reversing a worldwide slump in world prices, which have dropped from $32 a barrel late last year to as low as $7.35 for some grades.

At news of the OPEC agreement, oil prices surged. On the New York Mercantile Exchange, contracts for September delivery of West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark U.S. crude, closed Monday at $13.29 a barrel, up $1.74 over Friday's close.

Congress pleased with Reagan drug stance, but asking questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress are applauding President Reagan's vow to cleanse society of illicit drugs, but are voicing uncertainty about how far the nation should go toward universal testing of workers.

Reagan, in a nationally televised speech, outlined a six-point program Monday aimed at breaking people's reliance on drugs and declared creation of a "drug-free workplace" as his top priority.

He said his advisers are looking for specific ways to get illicit drugs out of offices and schools, but stressed that no decisions have been made on drug tests for federal workers.

"I think we're pretty much agreed that mandatory testing is justified where the employees have the health of others and the safety of others in their hands," the president said.

"But at the same time," Reagan added, "I think we're pretty much agreed that we should make it plain that we're not out to get people and fire them, and we're not out to get kids and kick them out of school for using it."

"What we're out to do is to see if they will not recognize that we want to help them, and they don't lose from that, so I don't see how it could become coercive."

Reagan's plan would aim at creating a drug-free workplace for all Americans, getting drugs out of schools, improving efforts to inform people of the dangers of drugs; stepping up law enforcement drug interdiction efforts; attempting to get other nations to cooperate; and ensuring drug treatment for people who need it.

A senior administration official, declining to be identified by name, said, "I don't think anyone has said make mandatory drug testing a condition of employment." However, he added, "We're going to ask corporate America to expand" drug testing.

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, hailed Reagan's speech, telling reporters he favored mandatory drug testing for workers involved in public safety, including air traffic controllers, bus drivers and "people in the military involved in security matters."

Reagan suggested that top officials of his administration, including members of the Cabinet, voluntarily submit to drug tests, and said that a wide-ranging testing program among the government's 2.2 million civilian employees could serve as an example for others.

But this idea was not uniformly

Wilcox appointed area director

AUSTIN -- Roger Wilcox of Whiteface Ford-Lincoln-Mercury at Hereford has been appointed to the key post of area director of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

TADA Chairman Rod East said Wilcox will report to the TADA Board of Directors on all phases of activity relating to the motor vehicle buying public in the Hereford area.

"Roger will work closely with legislative and government officials on all matters pertaining to the industry," East said.

"The job of area director is one of the most important in our statewide association," East continued, "and we are confident Roger will serve with distinction."

embraced by lawmakers.

Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, when asked whether he would request his staff members to undergo tests for illegal drug use, replied: "I haven't asked them yet, I'll tell you that, and I'm not sure I will."

"I don't think anybody on my staff takes drugs, to be honest with you, so I don't know that I have to ask them," he said.

Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., said, "I think the president stating that he wants law enforcement tested is a new great step forward. My office is one of the first that mandated testing."

Referring to a meeting she attended with other GOP lawmakers shortly before Reagan announced his new program, she said, "The president just said, everybody understands what happened at Pearl Harbor, and this time it's going to be Pearl Harbor for the drug traffickers."

Kenneth T. Blaylock, president of the American Federation of Government Employees, said, "We applaud the president's effort and this union stands ready to work with him and the White House to solve whatever drug problems exist in the federal workplace."

But Blaylock also said that his union, which represents 700,000 federal workers, believes that drug testing for government employees "should be based on probable cause and due process."

Woman missing after shooting

BOVINA, Texas (AP) — Authorities were searching for a 17-year-old woman who was kidnapped after one of her companions was fatally shot and another was injured on a remote country road.

Investigators with the Parmer County Sheriff's Department said Monday Ida Sotelo of Muleshoe was missing. Authorities said she was kidnapped at gunpoint and abducted early Sunday.

Christie Sotelo, 25, also of Muleshoe, was shot on the road west of Bovina. She was pronounced dead by County Judge Francis Euler.

A third woman, identified as Tonya Parkinson, 22, of Muleshoe, was taken to Clovis High Plains Hospital with a gunshot wound in the back. She was listed in good condition Monday.

Sheriff Bill Morgan said his department received a call early

When deputies arrived on the scene, they discovered the body of Christie Sotelo and the injured Ms. Parkinson.

Investigators said Ida Sotelo was still missing late Monday.

Sheriff Bill Morgan said the three women lived together in Muleshoe.

Richter elected commander

John W.J. Richter of Brenham has been elected the 1986-1987 Commander of the 88,000 member Texas American Legion.

The 61-year-old was selected over one other challenger for the top elective Post in the state Legion when he received the majority of votes among some 2,000 Legionnaires at the annual state convention in Lubbock, July 25-27. Richter succeeds Herbert W. Odell of Fort Worth, who will now serve on the state executive committee.

He served in the U.S. Army for two years, serving with the Field Artillery, 32nd Division, in the Philippines. Richter has been a member of Buddy Wright Post 48, Brenham, Texas since 1960 and has served in various capacities at the Post, District, Division, State and National Levels. He is also serving as vice president of the Washington County Agricultural Extension Program Building Committee and President of the Washington Garden Committee. He is a member of St. James Lutheran Church, Richter is married to the former Alietha Mae Loesch.

Astros' lead cut some more

By The Associated Press
Even the Houston Astros are finding it difficult to slow down the Los Angeles Dodgers, who are steadily cutting into Houston's lead in the National League West.

"They're on a good roll," Astros' Manager Hal Lanier said Monday night after the Dodgers extended their longest winning streak of the season to eight games with a 7-3 victory. "We have to go out there and try to cool them off."

Los Angeles overcame an early 3-1 deficit behind Fernando Valenzuela's 11-strikeout, eight-hit complete-game performance.

The Dodgers also came up with some timely hitting and took advantage of some sloppy Houston fielding in a five-run seventh inning.

The key plays in the inning were a throwing error by catcher Alan Ashby that allowed one run to score, a booted ground ball by first baseman Glenn Davis that let the tying run in. Add to that with a two-run, bases-loaded single by Bill Madlock and a suicide squeeze bunt by Bill Russell and the Dodgers were rolling.

"We were good for six innings and they had a good seventh," Lanier lamented. "We were one base hit away from taking Valenzuela out of the game."

Lanier was referring to the fifth inning, when the Astros had the Dodger left-hander on the ropes with a run in and the bases loaded. But Kevin Bass grounded into a force play and Valenzuela, 15-6, yielded just two more hits over the final four innings to record his fifth straight victory and his major league-leading 13th complete game.

"It's not too hard to figure out they're back in it," Ashby said.

The victory pulled third-place Los Angeles within 1 1/2 games of the second-place San Francisco Giants and within 5 1/2 games of Houston. But the Astros are putting this come-from-ahead loss behind them.

The victory also put the Dodgers over the .500 mark for the first time since the third game of the season.

"It's over with," said losing pitcher Charlie Kerfeld, 7-2, who relieved starter Jim Deschais with two on and none out in the pivotal seventh. "We'll come back and get them tomorrow. I'm sure I'll get another opportunity."

Kerfeld surrendered four hits in two innings, including Franklin Stubbs' 20th home run of the season in the eighth inning.

"We've played real good ball the last 2 1/2 weeks and we're not beating ourselves," Stubbs said.

The Astros, who had won their previous five games against the Dodgers, took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning on consecutive one-out RBI doubles by Davis and Bass.

The Dodgers' Steve Sax and Enos Cabell replied with consecutive doubles in the fourth before Houston regained its two-run advantage on Billy Hatcher's run-scoring single.

That's the No. 3 worn by Dale Murphy of Atlanta, and San Diego

Manager Steve Boros fears he is about ready to rediscover his batting stroke.

"It looks like he's going to go on one of his patented tears," Boros said after Murphy had four hits, including two home runs, and drove in three runs as the Braves defeated the Padres 4-1 Monday night.

Converted reliever Jim Acker, acquired from Toronto on July 6, pitched eight scoreless innings before giving up a ninth-inning run.

"I've been struggling, there's no doubt about that," said Murphy, who had only two home runs in the entire month of July. "But I'm starting to feel a lot better at the plate."

The four-hit night was the first of the season for Murphy, who led off the sixth with his first homer and hit a two-run shot, No. 17, in a three-run seventh inning off Dave Dravecky.

While in last place in the National League West, the Braves still are only 10 1/2 games behind the leading Astros.

"We'll grab onto his coattails and see what we can do," Braves Manager Chuck Tanner said.

Reds 2, Giants 1

Giants rookie pitcher Terry Mulholland lost his no-hit bid in the seventh inning and the game in the eighth when Cincinnati scored two runs to break a six-game losing streak.

Tony Perez doubled with two out in the seventh off Mulholland, 0-5, and Buddy Bell and Bo Diaz drove in eighth-inning runs — Bell with a double and Diaz with a sacrifice fly.

The victor was John Denny, who allowed five hits over seven innings.

Cubs 4, Mets 2

Ron Cey homered and drove in a pair of runs as the Cubs ended New York's three-game winning streak. Dennis Eckersley won for the fourth time in his last five decisions, yielding five hits in seven innings, and Lee Smith pitched two scoreless innings in relief.

Cey drove in a second-inning run with a single that tied the score 1-1, and his sixth-inning homer, No. 9 on the season, made the score 4-1.

Chicago Manager Gene Muehle and right fielder Keith Moreland were ejected for arguing on separate calls.

Cardinals 3, Phillies 2

Terry Pendleton's suicide squeeze bunt with one out in the ninth inning scored Ozzie Smith with the winning run as St. Louis downed Philadelphia. Vince Coleman opened the inning against Dan Schatzeder with a double and stole his fourth base of the game, giving him a major league-leading 75.

Schatzeder then intentionally walked Smith and Tommy Herr before Curt Ford forced Coleman at the plate with a ground ball. Pendleton then hit a squeeze bunt to first, easily scoring Smith.

Todd Worrell, with eight saves in his previous eight appearances, was the winner with one scoreless inning of relief.

Expos 5, Pirates 4

Montreal scored four unearned runs in the seventh inning to erase a 2-1 Pittsburgh lead and break a three-game losing streak. Wallace Johnson and Tom Foley each drove in two runs in the inning after shortstop U.L. Washington committed a two-out error.

Jim Morrison hit a two-run homer, No. 14, in the eighth inning off reliever Jeff Reardon to cut the Expos' final margin of victory to one run. Still, Reardon earned his 24th save.

McCracken Gets Some High Fives

Roger McCracken, with the batting helmet on, receives some high fives from his Hereford Babe Ruth all-star teammates after hitting a home run Sunday in the Southwest Regional for 14 and 15-year-old all-star teams, in Santa Fe, N.M. Hereford fell to Fort Smith, the Arkansas State champions, 7-3 on Sunday, and then were eliminated from the tournament by Brazoswood, Texas, 20-15. Brazoswood won the East Texas state championship.

Score of 127 wins Girlstown scramble

A score of 127, turned in by the team of Lowell Neumayer, Bob Beal, Bill Acton and Martin Moore, won the Girlstown Benefit Golf Scramble Saturday and Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford.

That team shot a first-round score of 62 on Saturday, and then had a second-round score of 65 on Sunday. The tournament was a four-man scramble sponsored by the VFW.

Their score was two strokes better than the second place team of Virgil Marsh, Pat McKean, L.B. Bogus Jr., and Mel Charest, whose scores were 66 and 63 for a total of 129.

Third place in the tournament was decided by a putting contest after two teams tied with scores of 130.

The team winning the playoff was Norm Address, Danny Charest, Joe West, and Jo Charest. Their scores were a 64 in Saturday's round and a 66 in Sunday's round for a total of 130.

Also shooting a 130 score, with a 66 on Saturday and a 64 on Sunday, was the team of Emory Brownlow, Mike Clevenger, Bob Vaughn, and Lorenzo Vigil.

All team scores from the tournament were as follows:
1. Lowell Neumayer, Bob Beal, Bill Acton, Martin Moore, 62 - 65 - 127; 2. Virgil Marsh, Pat McKean, L.B. Bogus Jr., Mel Charest, 66 - 63 - 129; 3. Norm Address, Danny Charest, Joe West, Jo Charest, 64 - 66 - 130; 4. Emory Brownlow, Mike Clevenger, Bob Vaughn, Lorenzo Vigil, 66 - 64 - 130.

5. Mike McWhorter, Trullit Hardage, Pete Jacks, D. Hatter, 66 - 66 - 131; 6. Bill Davis, Earl Stagner, Ken Hillbrunner, Nance Perrin, 66 - 66 - 132; 7. Kyle Mines, Vanessa Sims, Bob Sims, Sherry Mines, 66 - 67 - 133; 8. tie, Dave Miles, Bill Acton Jr., Robin Balze, Earl Vaughn, 66 - 68 - 134, and Shorty Roark, Byron Roark, Glen Wilson, Greg Kitterich, 66 - 68 - 134; 10. Paul Hubbard, George Whitten, Dave Beavers, John Yocum, 69 - 67 - 136; 11. Dick Zinser, Gene Zinser, Mel Urias, Bill Brown, Phil Sutter, 70 - 68 - 138; 12. tie, Robert Strange, Max Leon, Jim Perrin, Joy Stagner, 68 - 71 - 139, and Bob Gaddols, Bill Hall, Don Aycock, Jim Sandoval, Byron Morris, 68 - 71 - 139.

The New Orleans Jazz won a National Basketball Association game in 1977, 104-100, over Phoenix with only seven players suiting up for the game.

1-0 to White Sox

Clemens loses on birthday

By BEN WALKER
 AP Baseball Writer

On his 24th birthday, Boston's Roger Clemens presented the Chicago White Sox with a win.

"It was my birthday and I guess I'm supposed to get the presents, but it didn't work out that way," Clemens said Monday night after his throwing error in the eighth inning set up the game's only run.

Clemens, 17-4, finished with a four-hitter. But his overthrow, along with a combined three-hitter by Jose DeLeon and two relievers, helped Chicago win at Fenway Park.

"It's the type of game I like to be involved in," Clemens said. "But I hate to give things away like that." Clemens, despite the loss, lowered his league-leading ERA to 2.41. He struck out six, raising his AL-best total to 168, and walked none.

The loss trimmed Boston's lead in the American League East to 3½ games over Baltimore, which routed Toronto 12-2.

In other AL action, Minnesota edged California 6-5, Milwaukee beat

New York 5-4 and Seattle rallied past Oakland 9-8.

Mariners 9, A's 8
 Danny Tartabull, who had homered twice earlier in the game, stroked an RBI single that capped a three-run rally in the eighth inning and gave Seattle its victory over Oakland.

Tartabull went 4-for-5 with four runs batted in. He lined a solo home run in the first inning and hit a two-run homer in the fourth before his bases-loaded single with one out in the eighth.

The visiting A's had scored five times in the seventh for an 8-4 lead. Jose Canseco's two-run double put Oakland ahead and Dave Kingman then connected for a three-run homer, his 24th.

Seattle's Bob Kearney hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh and the Mariners rallied in the eighth against relievers Bill Mooneyham and Joaquin Andujar.

Reliever Karl Best, 2-2, got the victory and Mike Moore picked up his first save in his first relief appearance of the season.

Tartabull now has 18 home runs this season. Dwayne Murphy homered for Oakland.

Orioles 12, Blue Jays 2
 Larry Sheets hit a two-run homer in the second inning, beginning Baltimore's five-homer barrage that overpowered Toronto.

Jim Dwyer connected for a three-run shot, Jim Traber hit a two-run homer and Fred Lynn and John Shelby added solo homers, highlighting the Orioles' 16-hit attack.

Mike Boddicker, 14-5, pitched five-hit ball for eight innings. Joe Johnson, 1-1, took the loss.

Twins 6, Angels 5
 Gary Gaetti singled home Greg Gagne from second base with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning, lifting Minnesota over California.

The visiting Angels lost their third straight game and had their AL West lead cut to 1½ games over Texas, which was idle.

Gagne led off the ninth by drawing a walk from Donnie Moore, 1-4, took second on a wild pitch and easily scored on Gaetti's single up the middle.

Solo home runs by Dick Schofield and Doug DeCinces gave California a 5-4 lead in the top of the eighth. An error by first baseman Wally Joyner allowed the Twins to tie the score in the bottom of the eighth.

Brewers 5, Yankees 4
 Jim Gantner led off the eighth inning with a tie-breaking homer, sparking a three-run uprising and carrying Milwaukee past New York.

Ted Higuera, 14-7, won his fourth straight decision. The left-hander, with a 4-1 career record against the Yankees, scattered 10 hits over 8 1-3 innings. Mark Clear got the final out for his ninth save.

With the score 2-2, Gantner opened the eighth with his sixth home run, chasing New York starter Doug Drabek, 2-5. The Brewers added two more runs in the inning against relievers Rod Scurry and Brian Fisher on an error by shortstop Wayne Tolleson and Rick Manning's RBI single.

The host Yankees scored twice in the ninth when Rickey Henderson hit an RBI triple and scored on Don Mattingly's groundout.

Manning had three hits, including a solo home run.

The original name of the New York Yankees baseball team was the Highlanders.

USFL counting on time, courts to heal its wounds

NEW YORK (AP) — The USFL is counting on time and the courts to heal its financial wounds. Its players can't wait.

"We've already been out for a year and if we stay out another one, some of us will be dead," center Kent Hull of the New Jersey Generals said after the league voted Monday to scrap the 1986 season and resume play in 1987 — the courts and the television networks permitting.

The immediate cause of the USFL's limbo was the finding last Tuesday by a jury that held the NFL liable for one antitrust violation but awarded the USFL $1,689,999,997 less than it wanted — $1 trebled to $3 under antitrust law. With $150 million in losses during its three seasons in the spring, the eight remaining owners felt it prudent to avoid another $40 million or $50 million in losses.

But the return of the league that has refused to die remained less than certain. It played its last game on July 15, 1985 and it's unsure if it will ever play another.

Commissioner Harry Usher said the 1987 season depends primarily on the courts — a successful appeal for more than the token damages and a court injunction ordering the NFL off at least one of the three commercial networks. But even if that injunction is granted, there is no guarantee the USFL could get a contract.

The immediate question was what would happen to the USFL's players. About a dozen, including Jim Kelly, Herschel Walker, Kelvin Bryant and Irv Eatman, would be accepted immediately into the NFL, but the rest would have little chance, particularly since they would be arriving in training camp a month late.

Usher appointed a committee composed of Jacksonville Bulls owner Fred Bullard, Arizona owner Bill Tatham Jr. and Larry Csonka, the former NFL star who is now the Bulls' general manager, to negotiate the fate of the players with the league's union.

Moreover, whatever signings take place will be limited by the reluctance of the NFL to interfere with USFL contracts. NFL spokesman Joe Browne said the league had instructed its teams that no negotiations with USFL players could take place without written permission of their USFL teams.

"That remains in effect subject to the further clarification of the status of the USFL," Browne said.

Doug Flutie, the 1984 Heisman Trophy winner, may turn out to be one of those in limbo. Taken by the Los Angeles Rams in the 11th round after signing his multimillion-dollar contract with the New Jersey Generals, the 5-foot-9 Flutie is not considered to be in great demand by the NFL.

More than 400 players were furloughed when the USFL decided to postpone its 1986 season. Many say they can't afford to wait for the USFL to resume in 1987, and even those who can would rather play.

"I'm being paid to play football. That's what I want to do," said record-breaking quarterback Jim Kelly of the New Jersey Generals, whose NFL rights belong to the Buffalo Bills. "I'm flying out probably tomorrow or Wednesday and talk with my agent. If anything, definitely we'll have to talk to the Buffalo Bills and (owner) Ralph Wilson and see what they're thinking."

Kelly, one of the most visible players in the USFL, has a clause in his contract that would excuse him of his obligations if the league fails to play in two consecutive years.

Kelly's guaranteed contract isn't commonplace in the USFL, and players without such protection now have to scramble.

"I have to start looking for another job. That's what it boils down to," Baltimore Stars defensive back Jonathan Sutton said. "I'm very disappointed. I've got an agent. What I've got to do first is contact the (Baltimore) general manager (Carl Peterson) to find out what's going to happen."

"From there, I got to get on the horn. I can't afford to sit around any longer."

Trying to find work in football at this time, with the NFL teams already midway through their training camps, will be difficult.

"I may try to see what avenues there are in football, but I think right now at this point, that's not a realistic possibility," Memphis Showboats tight end Tom Mulladay said.

The USFL Players Association will meet with a council of owners later this week to begin discussions on the players' situation.

"We're not worried about the top echelon players," Buddy Aydelette, the USFLPA president and Birmingham Stallions guard, said. "What we do will affect all players. This league has been good for players. But ultimately we have 400-500 guys."

USFL owners appear to have conceded they will lose some if not all of their big names, but said they can be replaced.

"A new league came in and got three Heisman Trophy winners in three years," Generals President Jerry Argovitz said. "And a new league can do the same thing again — but with a solid business plan."

"The one thing with football players," he said, "is that if you signed them once, you can sign them again. There's a new crop of players every year."

Coaches and other personnel will also share some of the impact of Monday's decision.

"I'm sure that I speak for a lot of our coaches and our players because eventually we've got to start thinking about ourselves," said Memphis Coach Pepper Rodgers.

While the owners in New York tried to envision a triumphant comeback while announcing their decision, Birmingham Coach Rollie Dotsch seemed to summarize the thoughts of most everybody else in the league.

"It means people are out of work and coaches and players need to get other jobs," Dotsch said. "Obviously, it's not the greatest of days for us."

Houston Oilers spokesman Greg Stengel said the announcement of play suspension of the USFL doesn't affect the Oilers "at this point."

"We're just waiting for the next move of the NFL. We're just working at the training camp. We're trying to get ready for the first game tomorrow (Tuesday)," Stengel said.

Walker not ready to close books on USFL

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — New Jersey Generals running back Herschel Walker says he's not ready to close the books on the United States Football League, despite its decision to suspend play until 1987.

The Dallas Cowboys have a hands-off attitude toward Walker, who is still under contract with the Generals. And Walker won't speculate about his chances of becoming a Cowboy this year.

"It's something I never do," he said from his home in Verona, N.J. "I never try to fool anyone or get anyone's hopes up. I just follow it one step at a time."

The next step for Walker could be pursuit of a career in the National Football League, said his agent, Peter Johnson.

He said the terms of Walker's contract enable his client to pursue free agency if the USFL suspends play or folds.

Dallas gained NFL rights to Walker by choosing him in the fifth round of the 1985 draft.

"... Until he is free of his contractual obligations to the Generals and the USFL, we are not in a position to discuss his future with the Dallas Cowboys," Cowboys President Tex Schramm said Monday.

Johnson says New Jersey owner Donald Trump must pay off his contract with Walker even if Walker joins the NFL.

"Right now, I don't know" what I'm going to do, said Walker. "I've got to get with (Johnson) and get with my wife in the next few days. There are so many things I'm thinking of right now — not just football."

He said one option was to work with Trump with real estate.

"I'm so busy," said Walker, who wants to meet with Trump in the next week. "I've been doing a lot of appearances. Traveling and doing appearances."

The 24-year-old Walker said he is ready to play.

"I'm in very good shape," he said. "I work out all the time. I consider myself to be in excellent shape."

As Texas Rangers' pitching coach

Tom House makes impact

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
 ARLINGTON, Texas (NEA) — By his own admission, Tom House got into a lot of shaky positions during his active career as a big-league pitcher: "Because I carried books in my brief cases instead of dirty books and magazines."

It'll be Dr. Tom House this coming November as he completes his Ph.D. dissertation on "Terminal Adolescence: a Sports Syndrome." This will be published later as a book, "The Jocks' Itch."

Tom's regular profession is pitching coach for the Texas Rangers, a job in which he has already made an impact by taking a staff of raw youngsters and molding them into a pennant-contending force.

His philosophy is reflected in another book, "The Contemporary Guide to Pitching," which has been out a couple of years and has recently been revised. He has also collaborated on "The Diamond Appraised," which combines sabmetrics by former Ranger trainer Craig Wright with a field's eye perspective by House.

Of course, Tom isn't all egghead. He had a big-league pitching career of half a dozen seasons with Atlanta, Boston, Seattle, mostly as a reliever, and compiled an aggregate 29-23 won-lost record, while twice leading the Braves in saves.

But Tom frankly concedes he was a marginal athlete and the highlight of his career came in 1974 when he was standing in the Atlanta bullpen and reached up to catch Henry Aaron's historic 715th home run.

So both as a pitcher and as a coach he has concentrated on the mental approach to the game as a compensatory factor for less-than-average talent.

"A lot of things I'm teaching now," says the 39-year-old House, "I had to figure out myself to help me get the most out of my ability — nutrition, weight training, strength and stamina, the mechanics of the position, breaking it down and really understanding what and why certain things occur in the throwing position and the throwing motion."

You'll see the Ranger pitchers doing odd things like throwing footballs, not baseballs, in warm-ups.

"Any throwing motion is the same," he explains. "You pronate just like you do with a baseball in the throwing motion. You can't throw a football wrong and make it spiral. It's also heavier than a baseball, so there's weight training."

He's also putting together a study with the University of Hawaii to monitor college-age pitchers to see if it's possible to improve arm speed, counter to the traditional belief that throwing a 95 mph fastball is a genetic gift.

House has, in addition, embarked on a program of teaching the knuckleball to young pitchers in the Ranger farm system. He says: "Why not take a kid who is not going to pitch in the majors — and is a good quality athlete, but short on the tools — and let him throw the knuckleball 85 percent of the time, if he has the propensity for it? As a group, knuckleballers are the most successful pitchers who have ever put on a jock strap."

So he has four young knucklers coming up through the Rangers' organization and as part owner of the San Diego School of Baseball, which he conducts in the off-season with San Francisco Giants manager Roger Craig, he participated in brainstorming the development of the split-finger fastball.

Yet House is not a radical innovator who propounds theories for the sake of change. "The basics of what I teach," he says, "are the same across the board as those taught by Mel Stottlemyre of the Mets."

"Baseball is such a traditional sport that they're reluctant to accept anything that deviates from the vocabulary or the thought processes. I think the game has change to a point where concepts can help the game — not change it, but rearrange it."

BEATS FATHER TIME

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Julius Erving is already looking forward to a basketball drill of one-on-one when he is 50 with his youngest son, Corey. Corey will be 19 at that time.

Erving, 36, the celebrated Dr. J of the Philadelphia 76ers, has announced he will play one more season. He commented on that relentless foe, Father Time.

"I know the fans will be on my side next year," he said. "But Father Time won't. Can I beat him? I'm already beating him."

Honored with Shower

Hope feted at shower

Sandy Hope, bride-elect of Terry Shelton, was honored recently with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Bob Hamman.

The couple will exchange vows Aug. 23 at Church of the Nazarene. The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hope and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Shelton.

Royal blue and white carnation corsages adorned with baby's breath and trimmed in royal blue ribbons were presented by the hostesses to the bride-elect, her mother, and the bridegroom's mother.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth overlaid with with an embroidered blue organza. The centerpiece was an array of flowers ranging from light to royal blue. A silver tea service from which coffee and spiced punch was poured completed the decoration of the table.

Refreshments, including sweet rolls and an assortment of fresh fruit in a melon, were also served from silver trays.

Royal blue napkins imprinted in silver with the couple's names and date of marriage accented the table decorations.

Jeanette Thomas registered guests and Karen Jones served refreshments.

Special guests included the honoree's aunt, Mrs. Bobby Lamb, and her daughter, Mrs. Tommy Lamb.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Bobby Hamman, Mrs. Max Goforth, Mrs. David Wagner, Mrs. Duane Albracht, Mrs. Arliss Edwards, Mrs. Doug Bartlett, Mrs. Gary McQuigg, Mrs. Bobby Veigal, and Peggy Fitzgerald.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Despite all the publicity the gays have received in recent years, I find myself surprised at the persistent tendency to confuse homosexuals with transvestites.

I am a transvestite and have been one ever since I was old enough to try on my mother's pantyhose and high-heeled shoes. I have been extremely careful to keep this secret to myself because there is so much hostility toward homosexuals in our town and people around here don't know the difference.

There is no way I can deny my passion for female attire. The frillier the better. My idea of pure bliss would be to work as a model in a big city. I repeat, I am NOT a homosexual. In fact, the very thought of sexual relations with someone of the same sex is revolting to me.

Now, dear lady, you've been exposed to all the complexities of life so I suspect it would take a lot to shock you. If a male acquaintance of yours were to lay a case such as mine before you and confess that he adores dressing in women's clothes, would you think he was nuts? Would you be able to accept him as a "woman" if he presented himself dressed as one?—TEXAS

DEAR TEXAS: Once a person's gender has been established socially, he (or she) is cast in that mold. Dressing in the clothes of the opposite sex would not change that concept.

If I knew you as a male and you appeared in satin and bows I would view you as a male who enjoys dressing as a woman.

I am well aware that most transvestites are not homosexuals. But some are, although they are reluctant to admit it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please advise husbands and wives of Alzheimer's victims to seek power of attorney, while the patient can still sign a document.

My sister has Alzheimer's and it breaks my heart to see her so frightened and helpless, buckling under the financial burden and then being told that she cannot sell a piece of property without an act of Congress.

I'm sure the laws vary from state to state, but Alzheimer's can be a very expensive illness and often property must be sold to maintain proper care for the afflicted one. Please, Ann Landers, tell those unfortunate people to sign over power of attorney so matters can be handled properly.—ASHEVILLE, N.C.

The first mass inoculation of children with Salk antipolio vaccine began in Pittsburgh in 1952.

DEAR ASHEVILLE: There is no act of Congress to deal with the problem you describe.

I would not be so quick to advise anyone to sign over power of attorney to a relative. Not all relatives can be trusted to do the intelligent or honorable thing. I suggest that the sick person go to a bank and arrange for a professional to take care of his or her property.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My in-laws are in their 70s. They are lovely people, mind their own business and we've never had any trouble with them. The problem is that, although they have plenty of money, they will not spend it on a vacation or outside help.

We've told them we don't want an inheritance and they should enjoy some of the better things in life while they are still healthy. We can't get through to them. Can you?—R AND F IN OHIO

DEAR O: Probably not. I'll bet they lived through the Depression and are terrified of being poor again. Too bad. Show them this column and tell them I'm with you.

Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," explains every aspect of sexual behavior—where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help. For a copy, send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Revell named to All-American

The National Secondary Education Council announced that Cally Revell, daughter of Tim and Cathy Revell, has been named Academic All-American.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines.

The scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a secondary school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. Scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the NSEC.

Revell, who attends Stanton Jr. High, was nominated by for the national award by Kathy Rundell, athletics coach. Revell will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

Revell is the granddaughter of Ed Fredrickson of Az., Emily Monti and Dr. and Mrs. Revell, all of California.

All smoking ends up the same

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — How much nicotine is in the cigarettes called "lights," "super lights" and "ultra lights"? I've tried to stop smoking, with no success. Even Smokers didn't help. It's hard to kick the habit of 50 years, but maybe switching to "lights" would help.

DEAR READER — The amount of nicotine in a cigarette probably makes little difference to the smoker, because the chronic smoker is trying to satisfy the brain's nicotine center. Filtered cigarettes provide less nicotine, so the smoker has to use more to get a "hit." Switching to "light" cigarettes probably won't help you stop smoking, but the manufacturers will love you, because you'll need to purchase more cigarettes to satisfy your urge. You might consider using a brand of nicotine gum; it's available by prescription.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Could you please tell me why any doctor in his right mind would operate on an 83-year-old woman and remove her spleen? It was supposedly manufacturing an excess of white blood cells, but she never survived the operation.

DEAR READER — Without more information, I could not form an opinion about operating on an 83-year-old woman. However, if she were active, alert and independent, the operation may have been appropriate. She may have had a form of leukemia (a lympho-proliferation disorder) from which she might have died without spleen surgery. Sometimes these situations are tough to call. I am sure the patient's doctor would be willing to discuss, with family members, the reasons for the surgery, as well as the reasons the patient did not survive the operation.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My mother, a lady in her mid-70s, has a slight unanticipated stool discharge. Is there such a thing as a loose sphincter muscle, or is this a consequence of aging? My mother has not consulted a doctor, out of embarrassment.

DEAR READER — Some degree of fecal incontinence can be caused by a normal age-related relaxation of the anal sphincter. This unpleasant situation can be made worse by soft or liquid bowel movements. Also, senility can contribute to the problem, because old people sometimes "forget" they have to go or do not respond to the normal urge to defecate. In your mother's case, the problem may be nothing more than a muscular weakness of the sphincter. I suggest that she seek medical attention, despite her embarrassment.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is there any truth to the speculation that caffeine causes people to get hard of hearing and makes glaucoma and cataracts worse?

DEAR READER — To my knowledge, caffeine does not cause the conditions you mention. It is primarily a stimulant and can produce nervousness, insomnia, irritability and rapid heart rate. Some patients, with high blood pressure and glaucoma, have been advised by their doctors not to use caffeine-containing beverages.

What is HYPOGLYCEMIA and how is it treated? You can find out in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on HYPOGLYCEMIA.

The two will be among approximately 1500 to gather for the annual meeting sponsored by the Vo-Ag Education Department of the Texas Education Agency.

Dr. William Kirby, Texas Commissioner of Education, is scheduled to open the session on Wednesday. The annual awards presentation will be Wednesday evening and the remainder of the convention will be for workshops and business.

Suarez on honor roll

Charlie Suarez of Hereford has been listed on the Dean's Honor Roll at Southern Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla.

Suarez, a senior accounting-computer science major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacinto Suarez.

To qualify for the Dean's list, a student must have a grade point of 3.4 with no grade below a C.

MEDICAL CREDIT

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Consumers can add medical care to the list of items they can purchase with a credit card.

A new medical credit card program, Credit Plus, provides card-carrying patients and their dependents with an extended payment option for meeting medical expenses. The card enables users to spread medical payments over time and to avoid the upfront cash deposits that an increasing number of health care providers now require.

According to General Electric Credit Corp., individuals today are paying a greater percentage of their own health care bills. It is not unusual for "fully insured" persons to pay as much as $1,500 of their own hospital bill, as deductible amounts climb due to the rising cost of health insurance.

Strategy needed for reading

By The Associated Press

The reason Johnny can't read, perhaps, is because he doesn't use the proper strategy, according to a six-year study by a group of educators.

By employing many of the same tactics used by tutors to improve reading skills of high school and college students, researchers at the University of Michigan have successfully devised a more "grown up" approach to teaching elementary students how to read.

Skilled readers often scan a text quickly to judge its difficulty before reading it thoroughly, pausing while reading to check understanding, rereading thorny passages and mentally summarizing the text, explains Scott Paris, professor of education and psychology.

But these strategies are seldom stressed in elementary school classrooms, he says, adding:

"Traditionally, our goals of teaching reading have often been mysterious to children. We give them practice and exercises in hopes they'll divine the strategies, but we rarely explain the strategies directly. That's the key to what we're doing."

With the help of graduate students and local elementary school teachers, Paris devised a simple, inexpensive curriculum to teach reading strategies built around metaphors such as "plan your reading trip" and "be a reading detective."

The detective analogy, he explains, helps elementary students "track down" the "mains" like pictures, titles, prior knowledge and context, and students are taught how to use these clues to deduce the theme of a text.

Paris says his reading program, adopted by teachers throughout the United States, has produced promising results. It has been used with more than 2,000 third- and fifth-graders, many of whom were tested after one year against youngsters who use that the reading program is not a panacea.

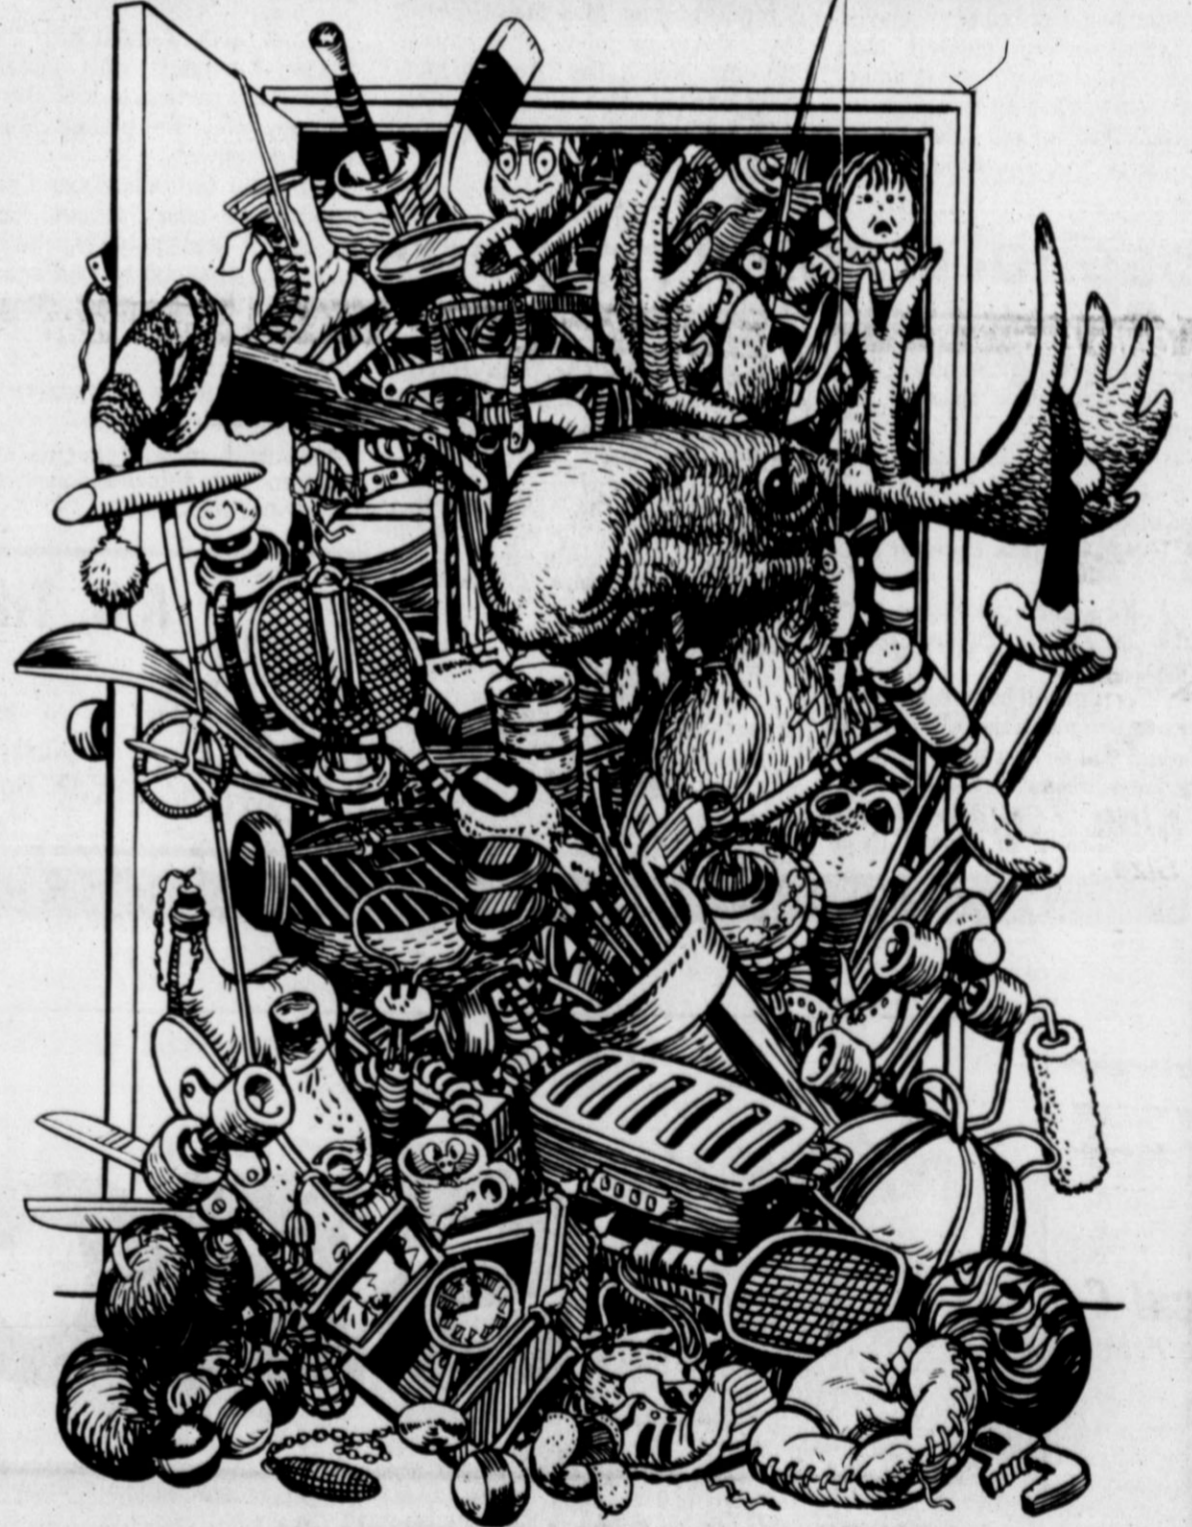

"We intend it to supplement, not replace, current reading curricula," he says.

Comic Ramis directs Williams in movie, 'Club Paradise'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the amazing number of comedy artists who emerged from Chicago in the 1970s, none is more versatile than Harold Ramis, a man who looks and sounds like your friendly neighborhood accountant.

With his quiet manner and scholarly glasses, Ramis is regularly ignored by celebrity hunters. Not by movie studios, however. He has been involved in various capacities with some of the biggest comedy hits of recent times.

He was the whimsical partner of Dan Aykroyd and Bill Murray in "Ghostbusters." He has co-written "National Lampoon's Animal House," "Meatballs," "Stripes," "Ghostbusters" and Rodney Dangerfield's current winner, "Back to School." He also directed as well as co-wrote "Caddyshack" and "National Lampoon's Vacation."

Now comes "Club Paradise," which Ramis wrote with Brian Doyle-Murray and also directed. The Warner Bros. release stars Robin Williams as a Chicago fireman who invests in a ruined Caribbean resort. Also involved in the comedies are Peter O'Toole, Rick Moranis, Twiggy, Eugene Levy and the late Adolph Caesar.

Like most comedians, Ramis is a worrier, and he found reason for concern as he awaited the release of "Club Paradise":

"I finished the picture last July, and it was delayed for release this summer. Meanwhile, three other comedies about island resorts came out: 'The Last Resort,' 'Water' and 'Hot Resort.' My heart stopped each time one of them was released. Fortunately for us, all of them failed."

Ramis's golden touch may well do the trick for Robin Williams, whose movie roles have never matched the brilliance of his impromptu comedy performances (example: his emceeing of this year's Oscarcast).

"I felt that Robin has never been seen as himself in films," observed Ramis. "He's not as quirky as he was in 'Garp' or 'Moscow on the Hudson,' nor is he a schlemiel, as in 'The Survivors.' In 'Popeye' he was hidden. Trying to get an actor to be himself is tough. They much prefer to play other roles."

Fitting Williams' quicksilver wit into the script required planning: "I made a deal with Robin — after I got one take the way the script was written, he could then improvise. That's not easy to do, because it surprises the other actors, who don't know what their cues are. But when it works, it can be inspiring."

Harold Ramis grew up in Chicago thriving on radio serials, television comedy and Saturday and Sunday movie matinees "that featured seven cartoons, a feature and a chapter of the 'Dick Winslow of the Navy' serial."

"My father, who was a grocer, loved comedy, especially the Marx Brothers and Laurel and Hardy," Ramis recalled.

Ramis joined the famed Second City troupe in Chicago during the turbulent times of the late 1960s.

The sharpness of their comedy and talent of John Belushi, Bill Murray, Gilda Radner, Ramis and others attracted national attention. Most of them moved on to "The National Lampoon Show," the New York revue produced by Ivan Reitman, then to "Saturday Night Live" and films.

For evening soap opera

Actress surprised by unbelievable offer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — How Karen Cellini came to be on ABC's "Dynasty" is probably more astonishing than any story she'll play on the hit prime-time soap opera.

Just a few weeks ago she was selling T-shirts at the Hard Rock Cafe in New York, and her theater appearances had been limited to a few productions far from Broadway. The "Dynasty" role is her first in television.

Miss Cellini was signed for the role of Amanda Carrington, the daughter of Blake Carrington (John Forsythe) and Alexis Carrington Colby (Joan Collins). She replaces Catherine Oxenberg, who was with the cast since 1984 but was dropped in a contract disagreement with the producers.

"I'd interviewed for a part on 'The Colbys' (the "Dynasty" spinoff series) and there were four of us they talked to and put on tape," Miss Cellini said. "I didn't get the role, but a girlfriend of mine got it. I went home and an hour later my agent called and told me to pack my bags. They wanted me to fly to Los Angeles to audition for 'Dynasty.'"

She arrived on a Thursday night, read on Friday, was immediately hired and went to work on Monday.

"I've never been on television before except for being a glorified extra on 'Kate & Allie.' This is my first job, that's how I look at it. I've done some small shows, some workshops. I've only been in the business for two years."

She added: "I have a character to play and I don't care if she's a new one or an old one. I'm going to breathe some life into it."

Miss Cellini grew up in Philadelphia, with an Italian father and an Irish mother. She has a twin sister, Kate, and two brothers.

While in New York she helped start an acting workshop called the Fisherman's Rock Co. The workshop was run by Peter Kass. His wife was her acting coach and his son, Robert, became her agent.

She said of her "Dynasty" role, "My character is very warm and nice. I want people to see that's as cool and as good as being bad and evil. I think people will like watching someone who makes them feel good."

In the cliffhanger that ended last season, Amanda (played by Miss Oxenberg) was trapped in a Denver hotel fire.

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on a minimum of 20 words. One day is 12 cents per word or $2.00 minimum. Rates below are for consecutive issues, no copy change, and apply to solid ad lines only.

| TIMES | RATES | MIN. |
|------------------|-------|------|
| 1 day per word: | .12 | 2.00 |
| 2 days per word: | .22 | 4.00 |
| 3 days per word: | .31 | 6.20 |
| 4 days per word: | .40 | 8.00 |
| 5th day FREE | | |

Add 9 cents per word for additional days: 10 days (2 free) is 15.20 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is 22.00; month 27.80.

Classified display rates apply for special captions, paragraphing, bold type or larger type, and ads not set with full lines. $2.00 per column inch. $2 a column inch for additional insertions, or $1.75 a column inch per month.

LEGALS
Advertising rates for legal notices are $3.50 per column inch for the first insertion and $3 per column inch for consecutive issues.

Deadlines for classified ads are 3 p.m. daily for the next day's edition, 3 p.m. Friday for Sunday's edition. Cash is required on advertisements under $10.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in Classified Ads and legal notices. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. In case of errors not the fault of the advertiser, an additional insertion will be given.

U.S. help in drug raids cause of Latin concern

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The use of U.S. Army troops to battle Bolivian cocaine traffickers has generated mixed opinions, from fears of future American involvement in other Latin American nations to support for efforts to destroy the drug's source.

The joint U.S.-Bolivian raids uncovered some cocaine laboratories and forced some traffickers from the growing regions.

Bolivia's cocaine exports are estimated at $2 billion with an estimated $600 million returning to Bolivia. By contrast, legal Bolivian exports for this year are estimated at $400 million.

In Mexico, the move prompted the government to say it never will permit U.S. troops on Mexican soil.

When news of U.S. troops in Bolivia was announced, federal Attorney General's Office spokesman Francisco Fonseca said such a move would never happen in Mexico.

Fonseca said the U.S. and Mexico are working together on the anti-drug campaign, but the project is being run by Mexicans. He said the United States is only lending assistance such as supplying aircraft and exchanging information.

Nevertheless, Mexico remains one of the leading sources of marijuana and heroin to the United States and is a major transit point for South American cocaine destined for the United States, authorities said.

A recent editorial in El Universal newspaper, which like most Mexican news media supports the government, noted, "It is not reasonable that the United States unilaterally condemns when it is evident there has been little advance to combat (drug trafficking) in its own territory."

But criticism of the United States came from elsewhere in Latin America. For instance, an editorial in the Journal do Brasil newspaper said the joint operation "has bad forebodings...the drug is far from existing only in Bolivia. Does the United States think about intervening in a country like Colombia, or above all, in its Mexican neighbor?"

Colombia said it is unlikely to follow Bolivia's example of using U.S. troops to wipe out cocaine processors. Foreign Minister Augusto Ramirez said recently his nation has "no opinion" about the Bolivian-U.S. operation.

"We hope that the United States, though, will crank up a fight against consumption of drugs, showing the same vigor it has in fighting drugs outside the United States," he said.

In Peru, there was mixed reaction. A leftist member of congress, Rep. Manuel Dammerit said "that with the pretext of combatting narcotics traffic, the Reagan government wants to establish military bases in Bolivia and Mexico."

But the newspaper Expresso in Lima praised Bolivia's decision to request American assistance "without ideological prejudices or demographic standpoints."

In Uruguay, the newspaper El Pais in the capital of Montevideo praised the U.S. role and called criticism of the operation "ridiculous" and "unfounded."

Barney Clark, the first human given an artificial heart that was intended to be permanent, died March 24, 1983. Clark, 62, was a retired Seattle dentist who was suffering from a severe degenerative heart condition when the polyurethane organ was implanted Dec. 2, 1982. Clark's death resulted from various breakdowns in his system. The heart functioned well until the end.

Catalogs give second chance for buyers

NEW YORK (AP) — If the merchandise looks familiar in those numerous catalogs that get stuffed in to your mailbox, no, you're not going crazy. You have seen it before.

Mail-order companies remind their catalogs — slightly altered and several weeks later — in the hopes that if you didn't buy the first time around, you might the second, or third, or fourth.

The cover might be different, the sequence of pages changed, some slow-moving items may have been substituted. Maybe some prices have been cut or hiked.

"When they send out a catalog and it gets to your home, you may or may not be in the mood to buy. You give it a quick perusal and you throw it on the coffee table or in the waste basket," said Robert Wyker, president and chief executive officer of Allied Graphic Arts, which bills itself as the largest designer and producer of catalogs.

Some experts say the practice, which has been around for a while, is on the rise. Other's say the rate is holding steady. The Direct Marketing Association said it didn't have any statistics.

Whatever, it is done and it gives mail-order companies flexibility.

A major drawback is that companies risk overexposing their merchandise when they remain their catalogs. And some items may already be familiar because more than one company sells them.

Dick Hodgson, president of the catalog consulting firm Sargeant House in Westtown, Pa., said people, especially those who have bought in the past, are being inundated with catalogs.

Some mail-order companies believe that the last catalog a home receives in a season is the one that will win the orders, Hodgson said.

So they remain catalogs to make sure theirs is that last one, he said.

And, they remain catalogs to stand out in the crowded mailbox. The irony is that in doing that, they perpetuate the crowding problem they are trying to overcome.

Bloomingdale's By Mail rejects the practice.

Gary Ostrager, vice president for the retailer, said: "Bloomingdale's (By Mail) is somewhat untraditional because we follow the flow of the store which is fashion forward."

However, Ostrager noted that Bloomingdale's has other outlets for disposing of merchandise that hasn't sold, unlike a mail-order company, which must use "sale" books.

But Stephen Enroth, general manager of the Brights Creek children catalog from Avon Products Inc. is a believer in re-mailing. "Second covers," as he calls them are related to "bounce-backs," those catalogs the companies put in the packages you have ordered.

They get results and Enroth said the recipients are "not going to be angry."

ONE BURGLARY EVERY 8 SECONDS

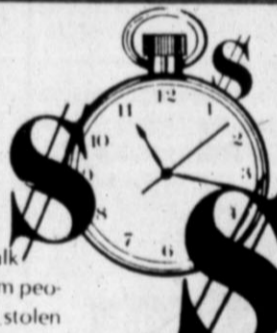

Every 8 seconds. That's how often burglars walk away with thousands of dollars of merchandise from people's homes - adding up to more than $3 billion of stolen possessions each year.

"Burglar-proof Your Home" is a new brochure from USF&G Insurance that can show you how to protect your home from burglars. It's important information you need, and it's free.

Call us or stop by for your copy.
