City turns down Amistad park

BY DANEE' WILSON
Staff Writer

The City Commission room at City Hall became an inferno as the discussion concerning the Amistad project heated, dominating Monday's Hereford City Commission meeting.

Concerned citizens packed the commission chambers to voice concerns over the low income housing development being built on the west side of Texas street.

"I oppose the project and any funding because I don't want my tax dollars to fund such a place," said Hortex Trevino, a concerned citizen.

The Amistad Board requested the city take out a 50 year lease for a 300 foot by 418 foot parcel of land to the west of the Amistad Housing Project to use and maintain as a public park.

In exchange for the lease, the Amistad Board requested the city pay them $1 per year and install a complete sprinkler system and hydromulch in and around the housing project. The estimated cost of the sprinkler system and hydromulch is $12,650.

Many citizens feared the project will end up like Blue Water Gardens, to which they were strongly opposed.

Dorothy Hooker said the Amistad project is already making her neighborhood an "ugly place." "The houses in the project are ugly and the increase traffic stirs up dirt which is impossible to keep out of the houses," she said.

"In one year's time, it will end up just like the Farmers Home Administration Project in Dimmitt," Hooker said.

Then the discussion became personal with accusations by Mercado said. The Farmers Home Administration retook control of the Dimmitt project after several years of operation. The project operators were accused of mismanagement, and the project was in a dilapidated state.

Another citizen opposed to building a park near Amistad, Betty Dickson, said "The park served a restricted entity and because of the shape, it would be hard to patrol."

Maria Mercado, attorney from Lubbock, spoke in defense of the project.

"This project is different than other projects in this area because it is locally managed and residents must meet guidelines set up by the Farmers Home Administration," Mercado said.

In one year's time, it will end up just like the Farmers Home Administration Project in Dimmitt," Hooker said.

Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher stepped in and called for a motion, which was made by Commissioner Emory Brownlow, to reject Amistad's request. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Terry Langehenning and the vote was unanimous against building a park by the Amistad project.

Commissioner Irene Cantu explained her position by saying "I was elected to serve the people, as we all were, and it is clear that the people do not want a park in this area."

Cantu also said that she will continue working on getting another park in Hereford, but in a location all the people can agree on.

In other business, the commissioners agreed to study the request by the Pioneer Study Club for help in repairing the sprinkler system and trim trees at Mother's Park. The city will appraise the cost of repairs and action will be taken at a later date.

The Board of Electrical Examiners requested a new fee structure. The present fee is $1.50 and the request to raise the fee to $5 was approved by the commission, in keeping with the fees of area towns.

The commission voted to accept the cleaning bid from Mission Uniform and Linen Service for the laundering of city uniforms. The bid was for $2.25 preparation charge and $5 per week for five changes.

The city attorney will write a new ordinance to reflect on the needed changes relating to tires, brush and other large items. The ordinance will require all tires to be taken to the dump and brush and other large items be stacked up adjacent to owners home. A provision will be added for residents who do not have an alley.

A public hearing was held to consider annexing 15.093 acres extending from Moreman Street on the north and Kingwood Street on the east and extending south to the proposed Buckingham Street. The commissioners voted unanimously to annex the land.

The commissioners broke in executive session to consider a replacement for the city representative to the Tax Abatement Board (formerly held by Bud Eades) and consideration of land purchase. Emory Brownlow was voted city representative.

UWDSC off to good start

Most divisions are off to a better start than they were a year ago in the 1990 campaign for the United Way of Deaf Smith County.

The campaign's first report luncheon was held Monday at the Ranch House in Hereford, and just over $11,000 has already been pledged or contributed to the 1990 campaign.

The funds received or pledged during the current campaign will be used to meet the needs of 12 member agencies in 1991. Those agencies include Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Council, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Family Services, High Plains Epilepsy, Children's Rehabilitation Center, Hereford YMCA and Hereford Senior Citizens.

The goal for this year is $125,000.

Last year, the campaign had received $8,432. All but one of the 10 divisions reported increases over last year at the first report meeting.

Wayne Amstutz, UWDSC director, said the video, "I'll Be There," explaining the importance of United Way, will be shown several times during the coming weeks on Hereford Cablevision. Dates and times have not been announced. The video is also available for businesses and companies that wish to show the program to employees.

All division chairpersons and other interested volunteers are urged to attend each report luncheon, to be held at the Ranch House at noon Mondays. At the luncheons, special door prizes will be given to the division that has collected the largest percentage toward its goal, the percentage of accounts completed, the highest percentage of new pledges and the largest percentage increase over 1989. Hereford merchants are donating the special prizes.

1990 Fiestas Patrias

Skies may have been gloomy most of the day Saturday, but that didn't dampen the enthusiasm at the annual Fiestas Patrias celebration in Hereford. The parade featured past and present queens and princesses, a variety of floats, the HHS band, riders and more. At the Bull Barn, there was food, dancing, comedy, and the keynote address by State Rep. Lena Guerrero.

Rangers join investigation

Deaf Smith County sheriff's deputies and other local investigators are getting an assist from the Texas Rangers as they continue to look for clues into the Sept. 2 murder of Johnny Martinez.

Martinez, 15, was killed, probably between midnight and 8 a.m. on Sept. 2. His badly-burned body was found Sept. 8 outside an abandoned farmhouse just southwest of Hereford. Autopsy reports showed Martinez died of one or more blows to the back of his head from a blunt object. Martinez' body was then burned, probably to hide evidence of what had happened.

After the body was found, it took experts several days to identify the body as Martinez. The identity was established using dental records.

The boy had been reported missing on Sept. 2 after his grandparents reported the boy had not returned home Saturday. Authorities searched for the boy and placed his name and vital statistics into a special missing persons computer network.

Authorities were worried there could be retaliation last weekend for Martinez' murder, but rains on Saturday night probably prevented the threatened action.

Authorities continued to question persons and look for leads over the weekend.

"We feel like we're getting closer all the time," an investigator said today.

Fun breakfast set Thursday

Reservations should be made by 5 p.m. Wednesday for the fall Fun Breakfast, Thursday at 6:30 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

George Warner Seed Company will sponsor the breakfast. Warner Seed is celebrating its 25th year in Hereford. "Warner Seed Company has continued to grow and become a great company that we all should be proud of," said Mike Carr, executive vice president of the chamber.

Co-chairmen Charlie Bell and John Stagner are planning fun and entertainment, with special musical talent on hand, the usual surprises, and games, prizes and giveaways. The breakfast will also feature special announcements on upcoming events, including the Senior Center open house and the Centennial celebration. New members and new residents will also be introduced.

The "Honorary Bull Chip Award" will be given at the breakfast to one of the county's most deserving and loyal citizens.

Person wishing to make reservations for the breakfast, at $4.50 per person, should call the chamber by 5 p.m. Wednesday at 364-3333.

The latest picture of the situation inside Kuwait, drawn from the tales of refugees suddenly allowed to flee via the lone border crossing into Saudi Arabia, was of a wealthy nation being broken, in despair.

Stunned refugees among the thousands who have fled their homeland since the border was opened Friday told of husbands and sons pulled out of cars and hauled away by Iraqi troops.

The Iraqis were not explaining what they intended to do with the men.

Because of the apparently random seizures of men ages 17 to 40, the number of refugees crossing into Saudi Arabia had decreased to a trickle today. Iraqi soldiers were allowing one car across the border every 10 minutes or so.

Refugees said today that the Iraqis had set up six checkpoints on the 120-mile route from Kuwait City to the Khafji border crossing.

They said the Iraqis - seeking to break their spirit - had mounted an escalating campaign of torture, beatings and shootings.

One fleeing professional said the Iraqis were out "to demolish anything that has to do with Kuwait" or its ruling al-Sabah family, changing the names of streets, hospitals, traffic circles.

The al-Sabahs, forced into exile by Saddam Hussein's Aug. 2 invasion, say the Iraqi leader intends to empty their oil-rich land of its people.

"It is all becoming Iraqi," the professional said, estimating that just 300,000 Kuwaiti nationals remain behind, with about half a million having fled. Saddam has declared Kuwait part of Iraq and annexed it, and the professional said a prominent traffic circle in Kuwait City was being demolished to make way for a embargo on trade with Iraq to include air traffic.

The five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council have been meeting since the weekend, but Western diplomats say it will be difficult to achieve unanimity on the air blockade issue.

The United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union were said to oppose it. All five council members appeared to back a resolution that would take punitive measures against violators of the existing embargo.

An air blockade is considered risky because halting planes is difficult without the use of deadly force.

Some of the more than 6,000 Kuwaiti refugees who have streamed into Saudi Arabia via Khafji described harrowing scenes back home. Several related the fate of Mubarak Al-Noot, the manager of a cooperative store who refused to put up a portrait of Saddam and was shot to death on the spot.

A computer engineer said Americans in hiding were fleeing from house to house ahead of Iraqis searchers. Seized Westerners are being held at strategic installations in Iraq as shields against a feared U.S. attack.

One injured in accident

One person was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in a two vehicle accident this morning at the intersection of Ranger and Moreman streets in Hereford. The name of the injured person was not available. Officers said the accident could be blamed on the congested conditions near Northwest Primary School and the position of the sun. With the sun almost exactly east in the sky, motorists are urged to take special precautions to avoid accidents.

Engineer criticized radioactive plans

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - An engineer who has helped design dozens of radioactive waste disposal sites criticized a state agency's plans for burying radioactive waste in West Texas.

George Beckwith, a consultant with Sergeant, Haas & Beckwith, said Monday his studies show an extremely violent earthquake could occur at the burial site near Fort Hancock, about 50 miles southeast of El Paso.

He also said he believes the site is in a 100-year flood plain and in the recharge zone of a major aquifer.

The Texas Low Level Radioactive Waste Authority has said its studies show the Fort Hancock site is the best place in the state to bury the waste.

But El Paso and Hudspeth counties have sued the authority, alleging the agency has overlooked the possibility of earthquakes in the area and other factors. The non-jury trial began Sept. 6 in 34th District Court.

The state has proposed using concrete containers that are 8 feet tall and 8 feet in diameter, with 10-inch thick walls. The waste would arrive at the site in steel containers manufactured for toxic waste transportation.

The steel container would be placed in the concrete containers, sealed and buried, said Rick Jacobi, the authority's general manager.

But Beckwith said the concrete containers would be susceptible to cracks if a violent earthquake occurred. "Cracking poses a very difficult design problem," said Beckwith, a geological engineer.

Gramm a-tax his opponent on the issues

AUSTIN (AP) - U.S. Senate Democratic nominee Hugh Parmer criticized his rival, Republican Phil Gramm, saying he favors cutting taxes for the wealthy while increasing taxes on the middle class.

But Gramm's spokesman Larry Neal denied the charge Monday and said Parmer "never met a tax he didn't like."

Parmer, a state senator from Fort Worth, said Gramm's support of cutting the capital gains tax would help the wealthy lower their taxes while the loss in revenue would have to be made up by the middle class.

"In cases anyone hasn't put two and two together, that's another tax cut for the wealthy while we raise taxes for the middle class," Parmer said.

Gramm has been part of the budget negotiations between congressional and Bush administration bargainers who have been meeting to try and cut the federal deficit by $50 billion next year and $500 billion through 1995.

Democrats and Republicans say they should assess about $25 billion in new levies and fees for next year.

Republicans insist that a cut in the capital gains tax rate, which Gramm supports, be part of that package. They say cutting the tax - paid on profitable sales of property - would encourage more people to sell their holdings and would increase government revenues.

Spikers dump Lubbock

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces opened a three-match homestand Saturday with the second of three straight outings against a Class 5A opponent, taking a 6-15, 15-5, 15-9 win over Lubbock High.

Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said the comeback win was something the team needed in a four-match stretch that includes Texas Girls Coaches Association top 10 teams Amarillo High, Amarillo Tascosa and Dumas.

"This was a good match for us to win," Reeh said, "because it went three games and we had to come from behind. Many of the times we've been behind we've stayed behind. It's great that we came out with the win, but as importantly we had to play somebody so good defensively and we had to pull ourselves up from behind."

"When we play Dumas (ranked No. 2 in Class 4A in the TGCA poll) next Saturday they will be this same kind of team. They may be a little stronger offensively and they'll be just as tough defensively."

The match got off to a sluggish start as the teams made a full rotation before the Lady Westerners opened up a 6-2 lead Elizabeth Quintero's service run. The Herd closed to 6-4 before Lubbock scored eight straight points to take command.

The second game followed the same course, but Hereford edged out to a 6-2 margin as four different players served up points. The Herd got the momentum going when Robin White served five consecutive points for an 11-3 advantage.

Lubbock led only once, at 1-0, in the deciding game as the Lady Whitefaces built a 6-3 lead. After letting Lubbock tie the game at 6-6, Brek Binder gave the Herd a 9-6 lead which grew to 13-7 on serves by Jayme Moore and Lori Sanders.

White paced the Herd attack with nine kills while Shantel Cornelius had with nine points each with White adding seven and Cornelius six.

Sanders led the team with 12 service receptions passed to setter Moore had 10, White nine and Teresa Baker eight for the Herd. Binder was tops with 11 digs on defense with Cornelius getting 10.

Reeh said the Herd's problems with holding serve in the match was a major part of the slow start.

"It was sort of like we just sat back and eased up because we had to work so hard to earn the serve back," she said, "but once we got it we just eased up and waited for them to make a mistake, and that team did not make many mistakes. That team was probably one of the best defensive teams we've played."

Reeh added that a change in the attack helped get the Herd offense rolling.

"That first game what we talked about doing and what we'd talked about all week was just hitting the ball hard, being real aggressive at the net. And we'd hit and they'd pick the ball up and I think that kind of rattled us some."

The second and third games we told our hitters to mix it up, to roll it soft in the middle and dink it some and mix up the types of attacks so we could throw them off a little bit. They pass the ball so well that when we'd drive it hard at them, they'd have the pass up and to their setter."

In the junior varsity match, Hereford took a 15-7, 15-3 decision.

Kara Sandoval led the JV with 11 service points in the match, including seven in the first game. Traci Deckard added seven service points for Hereford.

The Hereford Junior High volleyball teams opened their season Monday with matches at Canyon Valleyview.

seven and Binder six. Binder and Moore led the team at the service line winning 15-12, 16-14 while the White took a 15-8, 15-1 decision.

Hereford dropped the two eighth-grade matches as both teams fell in three games. The Maroon lost 14-16, 15-5, 15-4, while the White suffered a 6-15, 15-12, 15-13 loss.

Results of the Herd freshman match with Canyon Randall were unavailable at press time.

Herd harriers take eighth, ninth places at Plainview Invitational

The Hereford Whiteface cross country teams competed at the Plainview Invitational Meet Saturday with the girls posting an eighth-place finish in the team standings while the boys placed ninth.

The girls totaled 198 points despite being without top runners Teresa Castillo and Brandie Webb. Belinda Murillo led the team, covering the two-mile course in 13 minutes, 40 seconds for 16th place. Minerva Salazar was the next Hereford runner across the line, finishing 40th in 14:22 while Jill Dutton right behind in 41st place in 14:29. Renee Banner placed 46th in 14:45 followed by Veronica Hernandez (54th place, 15:20) and Lisa Zepeda (55th, 15:26).

"We ran without our No. 1 and No. 3 runners and were much improved over last week," Coach Martha Emerson said. "If we can all get together this week on the Hereford course and improve that much again, we will be in the race with the other district teams. Right now we are not where we should be compared to our district competition."

District 1-4A member Borger won the girls title at the meet with 45 points while Canyon Randall was fourth, Amarillo Caprock fifth and Pampa sixth.

The boys team finished with 192 points and was led by Jack Borden's 13th-place finish in 17:20. Chris Hart covered the three mile in 18:40 for the Herd while Armando Garza ran 18:49, Raymon Lopez came in at 19:20 and Aurelio San Miguel finished in 19:36.

"Jack did an excellent job in this race," Emerson said of the sophomore. "He is running fifth in the district individually. All these men competed much better this week. We're making progress, but we still have our work ahead of us."

In junior varsity competition, the Herd girls placed fourth with 143 points. Rita Soto led the way with a 28th-place finish in 15:38 followed by Caryn Hubner (31st, 15:39), Fidelia Hernandez (37th, 15:41), Rosie Davila (45th, 15:47), Joline Benavidez (46th, 15:48), Laura Rangel (53rd, 15:52), Rachel Martinez (71st, 16:10) and Prisca Cantu (82nd, 16:31).

Also competing in the JV girls race as individuals were eighth-graders Gina Haschke (25th, 15:36), Karen Hardin (32nd, 15:40), Nota Herrera (35th, 15:42), Michelle Garza (38th, 15:43) and Ricka Williams (39th, 15:42).

In the JV boys race Chancey Bainum finished 76th in 19:48 with Eric Davis 92nd in 21:29.

Netters take beating on trip to Lubbock

The Hereford Whiteface tennis team doubled up Saturday, traveling to Lubbock to take on Class 5A powers Monterey and Coronado and came away with a pair of 17-1 beatings for its trouble.

Coach Luis Zavala said there were some bright spots during the day as several players played close during the early part of the matches.

"We had a lot of kids play well in the first set," Zavala said, "but they would lose like 6-4 or 7-5. That took a lot out of them, playing that well and still losing. But we have to play the best people we can if we're going to get better, and both of these teams are probably going to go to regionals in.

Trisha Munoz posted the only Hereford win in the morning's match with Monterey with a 7-6, 6-2 win over Jennifer Morgan. The Plainsmen totally dominated the remainder of the competition, allowing on three matches to go three sets.

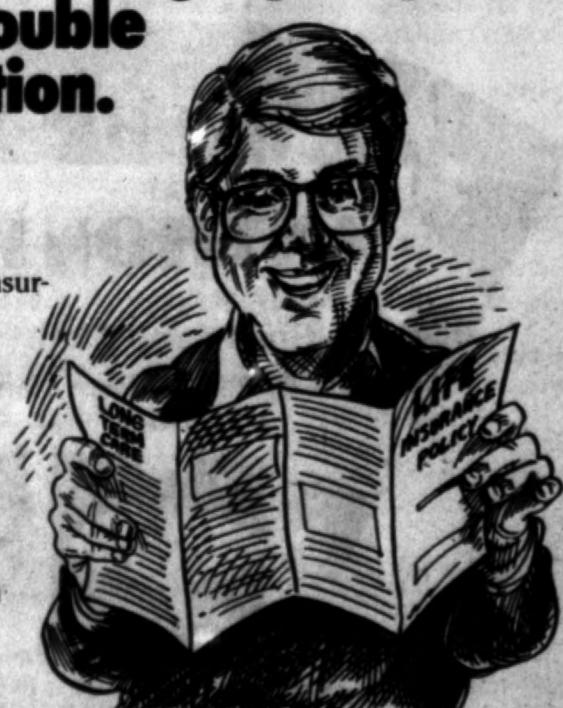

In girls singles Breanna Reinauer lost to Amber Simpson 6-3, 6-0; Gina Alley fell to Heather Hurt 6-1, 6-1; Robyn Sublett was beaten by Amy Griffis 6-0, 6-3; Trisha Teel lost to Amy King 2-6, 6-1, 6-1, and Bri Reinauer fell to Melissa Brown 6-0, 6-1.

In boys singles Randy Robbins lost to Ben Denley 6-1, 6-0; Greg Coplen lost to J.J. Stanford 6-1, 6-3; Torey Sellers lost to Eric Higginbotham 6-3, 6-2; Jamie Kapka lost to Chris Simsek 6-2, 6-1; Donny Perales lost to Dalton Bogel 6-3, 6-1 and Brandon Flood lost to Kevin Worley 6-1, 6-1.

Monterey had little trouble in doubles play, taking all six matches. For the girls, Breanna Reinauer-Alley lost to Simpson-Morgan 6-2, 4-6, 6-2; Sublett-Munoz lost to Hurt-King 6-2, 6-4, and Emily Fuson-Teel lost to Griffis-Brown 6-1, 6-1. For the boys, Robbins-Coplen lost to Donley-Simsek 6-2, 6-1; Sellers-Flood lost to Stanford-Higginbotham 6-2, 6-4, and Kapka-Perales lost to Clint-Courtesy-Worley 6-2, 6-4.

In alternate matches with Monterey, Emily Fuson lost to

Reds, LA take wins as NL East takes day off

By The Associated Press

While the NL East leaders took a day off to catch their breath, the NL West race moved a step closer to completion.

The Cincinnati Reds rode the two-hit pitching of Jose Rijo to a 4-0 victory over San Francisco on Monday. That lowered the Reds' clinching number over the Dodgers to 11. Los Angeles stayed 5 1/2 games behind with a 5-2 win at Atlanta.

In the only other NL game, it was San Diego 5, Houston 0 as Bruce Hurst pitched his second straight shutout.

The East action resumes tonight with Montreal at New York and Pittsburgh at Chicago. The Pirates lead the Mets by one-half game and the Expos by 5 1/2.

Reds 4, Giants 0

Rijo was overpowering, allowing only a first-inning double to Kevin Bass and a ninth-inning single by Bass. He struck out a season-high 12 for his team-high fifth complete game. Rijo has allowed three earned runs or fewer in 22 of his 26 starts.

"Every time I go out, I feel so strong I almost feel unbeatable," Rijo said. "I'm not going to get beat unless I make a mistake."

He didn't make any this time, dropping the defending NL champions 8 1/2 games back. The Reds are close to becoming the first NL team to lead their division every day of a 162-game season.

Rijo (12-7) is a good reason for that.

The Giants are getting duller and duller. They've lost four straight, scoring a total of five runs in those games, and lost just about any chance of catching up.

Cincinnati scored on Hal Morris' two-run single and Paul O'Neill's two-run homer.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2

At Atlanta, the Dodgers got three hits apiece from Eddie Murray and Kal Daniels. Daniels is hitting .378 against Atlanta, while Murray is at .377.

Murray drove in the Dodgers' first run in the third with a two-out single. The Dodgers made it 2-0 in the sixth on a single by Daniels, Murray's double and a sacrifice fly by Mike Scioscia before a crowd of only 3,473, the Braves' second smallest turnout of the season.

The Dodgers added another run in the seventh on Daniels' run-scoring single. Jose Offerman singled in Scioscia in the eighth and Hubie Brooks knocked in a run in the ninth with a bases-loaded groundout.

The Braves lost their third straight and seventh in eight games.

Padres 5, Astros 0

Hurst increased his consecutive scoreless innings streak to 27. He's won five of his last six decisions for a 10-9 mark.

Roberto Alomar had a two-run homer for San Diego.

Boddicker comes through for Sox

By The Associated Press

Like the old Montreal Canadiens, the Boston Red Sox have the Rocket and the Pocket Rocket.

And with Roger "Rocket" Clemens, who hasn't pitched since Sept. 4, sidelined at least until Friday, Mike "Pocket Rocket" Boddicker has become the stopper.

Boddicker (16-8) won his fifth straight decision Monday night with six solid innings as the Red Sox beat Baltimore 7-3 and snapped a four-game losing streak - since the last time Boddicker pitched - that had pained their lead in the American League East to one game over charging Toronto.

Boddicker seems to bring out the best in the Red Sox. In his last six starts - all victories - they have scored 58 runs.

Elsewhere, it was Toronto 6, New York 4; Chicago 7, Oakland 0; Texas 1, Seattle 4; Cleveland 4, Milwaukee 2; and Kansas City 1, Minnesota 0.

Boddicker gave up three runs and seven hits in six innings and is 4-0 against the Orioles. Larry Andersen pitched two hitless innings and Jeff Gray worked the ninth.

The Red Sox used two walks around Luis Rivera's single to load the bases in the third against rookie Ben McDonald (7-5), and sacrifice flies by Dwight Evans and Wade Boggs made it 2-0.

Boston extended its lead to 5-0 in the fourth.

Blue Jays 6, Yankees 4

Kelly Gruber snapped a 4-4 tie with a two-out bloop single in the seventh inning and surging Toronto won its fourth straight.

A crowd of 49,902, Toronto's 62nd sellout of the season and 55th in a row, helped the Blue Jays set a major league attendance record with 3,635,821. The old mark of 3,608,881 was set by the 1982 Los Angeles Dodgers. The Blue Jays have five home games left.

After the Blue Jays erased 3-0 and 4-3 deficits against rookie Steve Adkins, Tony Fernandez singled off Eric Plunk (5-3) with two out in the seventh, took second on a wild pitch and scored on Gruber's single.

John Cerutti (9-9) got the win with one inning in relief.

White Sox 7, Athletics 0

Melido Perez pitched a five-hitter and Frank Thomas hit a two-run homer as Chicago won its fifth straight and beat Oakland. Perez (13-14) struck out eight and walked three. Loser Scott Sanderson (16-10) gave up all seven runs and seven hits in five innings.

Rangers 10, Mariners 4

Rafael Palmeiro tied his career high with five hits, Pete Incaviglia drove in five runs and Bobby Witt won for the 13th time in his last 14 decisions.

Witt (16-9) yielded two runs and seven hits in five innings. Rookie Mike Gardner (0-2) was the loser. Indians 4, Brewers 2

Steve Olin, called on to make his first professional start when Bud Black was traded to Toronto just before game time, held Milwaukee to two runs in seven innings. Olin (4-4) gave up six hits and retired 15 of the last 17 batters he faced. Doug Jones worked two innings for his 36th save. Milwaukee's Teddy Higuera (10-8) pitched a complete game, scattering 10 hits.

Royals 1, Twins 0

Steve Farr (11-7), normally a reliever, pitched a four-hitter over seven innings and Bo Jackson drove in the only run with a sixth-inning single. Steve Crawford went one inning and Jeff Montgomery pitched the ninth for his 20th save.

Minnesota's Larry Casian (0-1) went seven innings and yielded eight hits.

No-pass, no-play rule: No big deal

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - When the no-pass, no-play rule went into effect five years ago, there were numerous opinions from coaches and teachers alike.

Opinions from coaches generally were pretty negative.

The rule said a student had to pass every course with at least a 70 average, or be ineligible for six weeks.

The rule is still in effect, but in most instances it's not that big a deal anymore, a number of coaches throughout the area said.

"The rule affects more kids below the varsity level," said Floydada football coach Dean Bates.

"Most of the kids we lose to the rule are on the junior varsity team. We don't lose many off the varsity - maybe a couple. The kids, generally, have adapted to the rule. They know if they don't pass the subjects they won't be eligible the second six weeks, and that's when we usually begin district play."

"The coaches keep a close watch on grades," Bates added. "But I think the key, as was always the case, is a kid's study habits at home. The coaches can only do so much. The rest is up to the individual."

Mike Wartes, a former coach and now the athletic director of Canyon and Randall high schools, said he hopes for a change in the rule.

"I've been hoping for a change since they passed it," Wartes said. "I hope to continue to work and lobby and do whatever it takes to loosen it some."

"The ineligibility part is OK, but I'd like the time frame to be changed.

The six-week period a person has to lay out is too long. I would like to see it cut down to a couple of weeks."

"I'd like to see it changed that when you pass, you can play."

Farwell's Rex Cumpston said, "Yeah, we lose a few, but mostly below the varsity level. It is not that much of a problem with the varsity players."

"We, as coaches, keep track pretty closely."

"The biggest problem I noticed about the rule was back when it was first passed. There were a lot of kids who became ineligible for six weeks in the beginning. But, when they realized what was going to happen they straightened it out, and made sure they passed."

Greg Sherwood, athletic director in Lubbock, also favors a change.

"I think it's here to stay, but I'd like to see kids able to play if they pass. Do it on a weekly basis."

"If you look at the results," Sherwood added, "there are kids still not passing. If kids try, then maybe we should make adjustments."

"I don't think it's as big a problem as it started out to be, but the results aren't anything to brag about, either. It hasn't helped grades or the dropout problem that much."

Olton coach Bryan Davis said, "I think the rule has some loopholes. It was a good idea, but the thing I've noticed is that kids tend to take easy subjects if they think they're going to have trouble and not be able to stay eligible."

"Basically, we don't lose many kids though. If we do, it's generally below the varsity level."

Dimmitt's Army Salinas said he and his staff stay pretty busy checking grades and making sure players are passing.

"We lose very few players at the varsity level," he noted. "Most of the ones who are affected by the rule are JV or sophomore players."

"The rule is good, I think, but the kids have to want to pass. If playing means enough to them, they'll make sure and pass to stay eligible. But no matter how much we as coaches try to do, the kind of guidance they get from home is still the key thing."

"There has to be a good line of communication from parents to coaches to players if it's going to be effective," he added.

Lockney coach Jim Clark said, "Our kids seem to be pretty sharp, and we haven't had much problem with the rule over the years. If we lose any kids during the school year it's generally below the varsity level."

"The players know they have to pass in order to stay eligible, and the ones who want to bad enough, do," he added.

Former Amarillo Caprock coach Ray Basinger said, "The first year, we lost a bunch of sophomores to the rule. But after that, they were out of the program, and many never returned because they never got eligible again."

"Over the last couple of years we lost maybe a third from the ninth grade to the rule. But at the varsity level, we might have lost a player or two - not that many. It hurt some, though, because we didn't have the numbers some schools did."

DENVER

final quarter after a pair of Bobby Humphrey touchdowns and an Elway 2-yard run on a quarterback draw.

But with 9:43 left, Albert Lewis blocked a Mike Horan punt and Kevin Porter recovered at the Denver 17-yard line.

Four plays later, Steve DeBerg hit Stephen Paige on a 16-yard scoring play, drawing the Chiefs within 21-16.

After unsuccessful possessions by both teams, Johnson returned a punt 29 yards to the Kansas City 48. The Broncos reached the 21, where Treadwell's 38-yard field goal try was wide with two minutes left.

Moments later, DeBerg hit Paige along the right sideline. Paige slipped a tackle by Denver safety Kip Corrington and completed an 83-yard scoring play for a 23-21 Kansas City lead with 1:44 left.

"I really had a rot-gut feeling at that point," Elway said. "We had so many chances to put them away. The next thing you know, we're two points down."

Denver started its final possession at its own 17, and Elway threw three incompletions, including one apparent 16-yard reception by Michael Young that was overruled as having touched the ground by the instant-replay official.

On fourth-and-10, Elway went long and found Johnson open.

"In the huddle I told John, 'Throw me the ball,'" Johnson said. "He asked me if I had the guy. I said, 'I got him.'"

Johnson beat cornerback Kevin Ross and Denver had the ball at the Kansas City 34 with 1:00 left.

Elway then completed a 16-yarder to Mark Jackson and Humphrey ran 14 yards up the middle to the 4.

Treadwell converted on the next play.

Atlanta gets '96 Olympics

TOKYO (AP) - Atlanta brought the Olympics to the American South today, winning a long race over Athens and four other rivals to be host of the 1996 Summer Games.

The victory in voting by the International Olympic Committee means the 100th birthday of the modern Olympics will be staged in one of the world's most modern cities and take the Games into their second century on a high-tech, big-money road.

The decision, read from a sealed ballot by International Olympic Committee President Juan Antonio Samaranch, ended the hopes of Athens to stage the '96 Games in the country where the Olympics were born in 776 B.C. and reincarnated in 1896.

Atlanta had entered the final days of the four-year contest generally rated among the front-runners. It received a boost in its formal presentation with a videotaped appeal by President Bush.

It caught Athens on the third of the maximum five ballots, took the lead on the fourth and won it 51-35 as it picked up most of the 22 votes Toronto had on the previous round.

Other runners-up, in order of their elimination, were Belgrade, Yugoslavia; Manchester, England; and Melbourne, Australia.

Atlanta is world headquarters of Coca-Cola, one of the Olympics' biggest sponsors. It is the home of pro football, baseball and basketball teams, prestigious universities large and small, and the civil rights movement.

In Atlanta today, fireworks and balloons filled the morning sky when the International Olympic Committee gave the city the Games.

Thousands of people, gathered at the Underground Atlanta shopping and entertainment district for an Olympic party, shouted with joy when they heard the announcement over huge televisions broadcasting the committee meeting live from Tokyo.

The boom of fireworks could be heard throughout the downtown area. A band played the Olympic theme, and strangers hugged each other.

"I am absolutely amazed. I can't believe Atlanta has gone from a place nobody thought had a chance to really get those games," said Michael Lomax, chairman of the Fulton County Commission.

"It made me feel I was making the Olympic team again," said Evander Holyfield, the former Olympic boxer who is from Atlanta.

Atlanta joined Los Angeles as U.S. Olympic hosts. Los Angeles staged the Games in 1932 and 1984. The '84 Games ushered in an era of unimagined money for the International Olympic Committee, and holding the Games in Atlanta increased the chances for big money from American TV networks. The IOC announced last week the Olympic movement would make $1.84 billion in the four years leading up to 1992, not bad for an organization that was almost broke a decade ago.

Comedy takes center stage

Comedy is a hot commodity. Recent estimates indicate that approximately 12.5 million people—up nearly 200 percent from a decade ago—spent $210 million in comedy clubs in 1988. Dominating this scene has been stand-up comedy, recognized as a stable of American entertainment since the heyday of the Borscht Belt. Making a mark in today's comedy scene, however, is team improvisation, a source which, in fact, had developed many of stand-up's stars.

Relying on audience participation and teamwork, comedy improvisation is a spontaneous, unscripted form of performance. Eliciting typical suggestions from the audience, improv teams spin together unrehearsed scenes on the spot. No performance is ever the same, and the "fear of the unknown" inflicted on the players by the audience inevitably results in an entertaining, humorous show.

Helping to forge an improv path into the mainstream spotlight is "The Southern Comfort Team Comedy Challenge". A search for the best improvisational comedy team in the country, the Southern Comfort Challenge will be executed in conjunction with the Chicago-based ImprovOlympia organization, a decade-strong improvisational school and performance group. Special workshops—open to anyone interested in learning comedy improvisation—will be conducted by instructors from The ImprovOlympia in six cities nationwide. From these workshops, teams will be selected to compete in playoff events at major comedy clubs in each city. Ultimately, the winning teams will have a chance at an all-expense-paid trip to Los Angeles to compete in the national championship, hosted by contest spokesman and ImprovOlympia alumnus Mike Myers.

As one of the latest additions to the cast of "Saturday Night Live," Myers portrays such characters as the heavy metal host of the pseudo cable-access show "Wayne's World," and the avant-garde-gone-overboard "Deiter" of "Sprockets." And, like several of his predecessors, Myers got his start in comedy by studying and performing with the famed improv institution, Second City.

Initially a Second City troupe member in his hometown of Toronto, Myers also worked with the original Second City in Chicago. Additionally, to further refine his skills while in the Windy City, he worked with The ImprovOlympia, where he was a member of one of the house comedy teams and studied with its co-director Del Close.

"Nothing is funnier than the truth, and that's exactly what is taught at The ImprovOlympia to draw upon to make others laugh," explains Del Close. "People are addicted to the excitement of team sports, so why shouldn't they love yet another team challenge that involves victory, defeat, and performances," says Myers.

Scheduled to kick off this fall, "The Southern Comfort Team Comedy Challenge" will go to Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New York, Boston, San Francisco, and Chicago. In early 1991, look for the last laugh at the national championship event hosted by Myers in Los Angeles.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 70-year-old male and had a double bypass and aortic-valve surgery done seven months ago. My question relates to my cholesterol. My cardiologist wants to put me on Questran, but my family doctor of 30 years told me and showed me in his medical book that Questran and Coumadin do not go together. He said something like Questran absorbs the Coumadin. Would you please find out if this is true?

DEAR READER: True, but that is no reason why you can't use Questran. Questran is a widely used medication to lower the total cholesterol level. It does this by binding the bile salts in your intestine so they cannot be reabsorbed into your circulation. Bile salts are made from cholesterol. When they cannot be recycled, cholesterol must be used to make replacement bile salts. That lowers your total cholesterol.

Since Questran and similar medicines bind bile salts, they can also bind medicines and also interfere with the absorption of the fat-soluble vitamins—vitamins A, D, E and K. That can be a problem for patients taking digitalis preparations such as Lanoxin and also Coumadin used to prevent blood clotting. But the simple way to avoid this problem in relation to other medications is to just take your Coumadin or other medications an hour before you take any Questran. Your medicines will then be absorbed before the effects of Questran occur. Or you can wait four to six hours after you have taken the Questran to take your other medications. This also applies to taking vitamins, if you want to be sure they are completely absorbed. The other thing that can be done is to increase the dosage of Coumadin or other medicines, but that is more precarious because people usually do not stick to a real good schedule.

Your other choice would be to use one of the other medications that improve your cholesterol levels. I have discussed Questran and the other medicines used for this purpose in Which Cholesterol Medication? and am sending you a free copy. Others who want this issue can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/35-10, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908.

Good tips on saving earth

What can you do to protect the environment? Plenty, according to a new booklet produced by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting Outreach Alliance. Entitled "Save It! Easy Environmental Tips To Save The Earth," the 16-page booklet was called one of the most easy-to-use booklets on the market by the organizers of Earth Day, 1990.

"Save It!" provides concise, straightforward information on environmental issues plus dozens of easy suggestions that can be followed every day. Here are ten:

1. Develop a "green thumb." Put plants in your home, office or classroom. They help clean indoor air by absorbing certain chemicals.

2. Avoid aerosol sprays. Choose roll-on products whenever you can.

3. Eliminate unnecessary car trips. Walk or take public transportation.

4. Wait until you have a full load to machine wash clothes or dishes.

5. Buy plain white paper towels, napkins and toilet paper.

6. If you're fishing, swimming or boating at a lake or beach, bring along a container for trash; don't throw things into the water.

7. Take a short shower instead of baths to conserve water.

8. Say "No bag, please" when you buy something small and easy to carry. Bring your own bag for larger items.

9. Reuse the Sunday comics to wrap gifts and save wrapping paper.

10. Turn off lights and appliances when they're not in use.

Booklets cost $2.00 each. To order, send a check or money order to Save It!, c/o Custom Print, Inc., 2611 Shirlington Road, Arlington, VA 22206. 703-979-8473.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I raised a house full of boys. Unfortunately, I was never blessed with a daughter. I thought that when my sons married they would bring me daughters but that doesn't happen in real life, so don't let anyone tell you that it does.

My daughter-in-law is interested only in HER mother, HER father and HER family. They go to HER parents' house for dinner or have HER family over to their house while we sit by ourselves. Or, they spend the day together and then drop in for an hour (a duty visit). They always must hurry home because they are "so busy".

I have no regrets nor do I feel guilty about the way I raised my sons. I gave them a lot of love and they turned out to be fine citizens. Ours was a happy family.

DEAR MICHIGAN: Most daughters are inclined to be closer to their mothers than to their mothers-in-law. No doubt you have heard this little verse:

A son is a son
'Til he takes a wife.
A daughter is a daughter
All of her life.
I suggest that you have a talk with your son. Tell him how you feel. Ask if there is some way you can get on better terms with his wife. Are you too "managerial"? Do you make too many suggestions about the way she should do things? Are you critical of her housekeeping or the way she is raising the children?

You cannot demand that your son and his wife spend more time with you, but perhaps if you work at making their visits more pleasant and fun they will WANT to be with you more.

I believe that is 50 percent of the cure.

You have helped me and thousands of others in numerous ways over the years. Here is your chance to help more who may have given up hope of relief from this embarrassing problem. Please do your readers a favor and tell them about the book "Staying Dry," by Kathryn L. Burgio, K. Lynette Pearce, R.N., C.R.N.P. and Angelo J. Lucco, M.D. -- E.M. in Highland, Calif.

am delighted to recommend it to my readers. Send $12.95 to "Staying Dry," Johns Hopkins University Press, 701 West 40th St., Suite 275, Baltimore, Md., 21211. This includes postage and handling.

Feeling pressured to have sex? How well-informed are you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teen-ager." ### Cake classes to begin

The Sweet 'N' Fancy Cake Decorating Club will be holding classes at the Hereford Community Center at 7 p.m. on Sept. 25.

Any person interested in attending these classes may contact Margaret Gamez at 364-4938 or any member of the club.

Bippus Club to sell pecans

The Bippus Extension Homemakers Club met at the home of J.V. Perrin with seven members present. The club project of selling pecans was approved and the pecans will arrive early in October.

Prices of the pecans will be $4 for halves, broken pieces, and pralines. Salted and roasted pecans will be $4.50. A case of 24 sacks (halves or pieces) will be $96.

During the business meeting members discussed the possibilities of obtaining a display table at the Westway Craft Show and Sale on Dec. 15.

Beverly Harder, county extension agent, presented a program on "Keeping Yourself Informed". "In order to be a good public relations person for the community one must be armed with the facts," Harder said.

The next meeting will be in the home of Rhonda Hewitt at Rock Camp on the Bridwell Ranch. The meeting date has been changed to Wednesday, Oct. 3.

Insomniacs: fear solved

Lady MacBeth couldn't do it at all. Rip Van Winkle did it too much. Dorothy and Sleeping Beauty did it at the bidding of the wicked witch. "It" is sleep, the state of rest that naturally follows a day of activity for some.

Unfortunately a larger number of Americans identify closely with Lady MacBeth when it comes to slumber.

Insomnia, the inability to sleep, is a common sleep disorder that varies from patient to patient in cause, severity and duration.

Insomnia is by far the most prevalent of sleep disorders. It has been reported that approximately 32 percent of Americans are affected by insomnia and 15-20 percent of them consider their sleep disorder serious.

Now there is new hope for people with insomnia. Baker Cummins Pharmaceutical, Inc. and Wallace Laboratories have introduced Doral (quazepam), a safe and effective prescription medication which treats insomnia. This new product has not been associated with the memory and behavioral problems reported with some other sleep medications.

Insomnia can be characterized by either difficulty falling asleep, intermittent awakening after falling asleep or awakening early and not being able to fall back asleep.

Insomnia occurs most frequently among women and elderly people. People suffering from insomnia are typically tense, anxious and ruminative at bedtime as they worry about health, death, work, personal problems and getting enough sleep.

In fact, fear of sleeplessness is often so intense that it perpetuates the disorder.

When the inability to achieve sufficient sleep adversely affects feelings and behavior during the day, a professional should be consulted.

Hints from Heloise

CUTTING ONIONS

Dear Heloise: I love onions but hate how they make my eyes water when I cut them. I came up with the perfect solution: swimming goggles! I use my son's which have separate eye "bubbles," but any airtight swim mask should work. I put them on before cutting the onions and don't remove them until I have cleaned everything with onion juice on it. Besides taking all the pain out of cooking with onions, using goggles in the kitchen is good for your sense of humor. — Ann Zeleny, Boonsboro, Md. A sense of humor is vital! — Heloise
