Local man sought in morning kidnapping

A Hereford man is facing kidnapping and other charges today after taking the two young children of his live-in girlfriend.

Rudy Salinas, 25, of 215 Ave. K, took the four-year-old son and five-year-old daughter of Kathy Rios, 22, also of 215 Ave. K, at about 2:15 a.m. today from a friend's house at Grand and Ave. J in Hereford.

Ms. Rios told police that Salinas assaulted her, then took her two children.

Mrs. Rios told police Salinas told her, "If you want your kids, we'll be in Plainview."

Salinas then took Ms. Rios 1989 Dodge Shadow. She called Hereford police a few minutes after Salinas left, and police immediately issued a bulletin for the car. It is red with gray striping, and has four doors, tinted windows and a black luggage rack. Special notice was sent to authorities in Dimmitt, Plainview and Hale Center, but the car, Salinas and the children had not been found this morning.

The children are Derrick Rios, 4, who was wearing a red shirt and red shorts, and Tiffany Rios, 5, who was wearing a pink and black polka dot shirt and white shorts.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says some people would give their right arm to be ambidextrous.

A motorist pulled into a gas station on which there was a sign: "Under New Management."

"But," said he, "there's the same manager sitting in the office."

"Yes," said the attendant, "but he got married yesterday."

A Citywide Sidewalk Sale is scheduled in Hereford Saturday and you can find some real bargains by looking at ads in the Brand and by shopping at the various stores that will be participating Saturday.

A New Zealand farmer and his family took out a $1,700 newspaper advertisement on July 4, 1990, to wish a "Happy Birthday to America."

We recently received clippings of the ad and a news story about the man from a reader in Palmerston North, New Zealand. The reader had requested a copy of The Brand as a sample of papers he was collecting.

The Napier farmer, Cameron Chalmers, was quoted in the newspaper article "as just a New Zealand family having its say." In their ad, they also say they regret New Zealand's opposition to visiting nuclear ships and the destabilizing effect this could have on the Pacific.

Chalmers reported he was six-years-old when an American serviceman came to his farm asking to borrow a tow rope. He returned a week later and gave them two new ropes.

"If you are not about 50 years old, you can't remember the war... But if you remember the pillboxes and barbed wire along the Napier waterfront, you would remember the feeling of menace in the air," said Chalmers. "When the Americans arrived, that menace was suddenly lifted." There was a real threat that New Zealand would be invaded by Japan during World War II, noted Chalmers.

Fiestas Patrias queen to be named Saturday

The 1990 Fiestas Patrias Queen will be named Saturday at 8 p.m. at San Jose Catholic Church in Hereford.

A Fiestas Patrias queen has been named in Hereford for 37 years. Fiestas Patrias marks Mexico's declaration of independence from Spain in 1810. The current queen is Consuelo Castillo.

Rachel Alaniz and Bobby Jo Bordayo will give programs on topics relating to the Mexican-American community. A panel of five out-of-town judges will assess their presentations. Alaniz's presentation will be on the past, present and future of Mexican-American families; Miss Bordayo will talk on the past, present and future Mexican-American heroes.

Selection of the queen will be based on their creativeness and skill in their multi-media presentations, knowledge of their culture, and overall impression on the judges. For many years the selection was based on which contestant could raise the most money for her church and community, but that was changed several years ago by the Fiestas Patrias Committee. The organizers felt there was a need to focus more on culture, relating past events while helping shape the future.

The candidates are still required to raise funds which qualify them to compete; however, the money is now reserved for a scholarship account for Fiestas Patrias queens and other young women who win positions on the royal court.

There is no charge for the event, and the public is invited to attend.

Iraq delays embassy closing deadline

By SIDNEY S. FEINGOLD
Associated Press Writer

Iraqi troops today deployed near at least six embassies in Kuwait where diplomats were defying orders to shut down, and the skeleton staff at the U.S. mission braced for possibilities ranging from a takeover to a supply cutoff.

In other developments in the Persian Gulf crisis, Iran today said for the first time it would enforce U.N. sanctions against Iraq despite a recent warming in relations with Baghdad, and Austrian President Kurt Waldheim set off for the Mideast on a peacemaking mission that was to include a meeting with Iraqi president Saddam Hussein.

Saddam's troops, who invaded Kuwait Aug. 2, today patrolled around the British, Japanese, Norwegian, Swedish, Romanian and Hungarian embassies, officials said. "We don't know how many soldiers there are, their intentions, but there must be a lot, enough to completely surround the entire building," said Bjoern Blokhus, a Norwegian Foreign Ministry spokesman commenting on the situation at his country's embassy in Kuwait.

There was uncertainty about the Iraqi deadline for the shutdown.

The Iraqi News Agency has said foreign governments have until 9 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) to vacate the 60 embassies in Kuwait. Diplomats in Washington, however, said the deadline was extended to midnight.

Spain's ambassador to Jordan, Ramon Armengod, told a news conference in Madrid today that Iraqi authorities were saying foreign embassies had until 8:30 a.m. Saturday (12:30 a.m. EDT), to close, or they would be removed by force.

U.S. Ambassador Nathaniel Howell and perhaps a dozen other Americans stayed at the palm-shaded American compound in Kuwait City. Concrete barriers and steel spikes are among the security at the U.S. Embassy complex on Arabian Gulf Boulevard.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater told reporters Thursday that President Bush's summer home in Kennebunkport, Maine, that U.S. diplomats will remain in Kuwait "as long as there are Americans that they can assist."

Most U.S. diplomatic personnel were evacuated Thursday. Marine guards were among 33 carloads of Americans who drove to the Iraqi capital of Baghdad.

"A few Marine guards aren't going to fight off the entire Iraqi army," a senior government official said Thursday in Washington.

In addition to the United States, those countries ignoring Iraq's shutdown order included Japan, the 12 European Community nations, Switzerland and Austria.

Saddam claimed Kuwait as Iraqi territory after his invasion and subsequent annexation of his oil-rich southern neighbor. Baghdad says keeping embassies open in Kuwait would amount to an "act of aggression."

On Thursday, Saddam appeared on television with British children and other captives, ruffling the hair of a small boy, smiling and joking - but making it plain their fate depends on how the Persian Gulf confrontation goes.

He told about 20 adults and children they were "guests" being held "to prevent the scourge of war." State Department spokesman Richard Boucher denounced the TV display as "shameful theater."

About 3,000 Americans are among the 21,000 Westerners stranded in Iraq and Kuwait, kept from leaving by Saddam and threatened with being used as human shields around Iraqi targets.

In another development Thursday,

Woman jailed for defying order

A Hereford woman has refused to tell authorities where her two children are, and is in Deaf Smith County Jail without bond today for interference with child custody.

Paula Tarter was arraigned by Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine on Thursday afternoon on two charges of interference with child custody, a third degree felony. Judge Turrentine said bond was not set on the second charge because authorities want to pressure Ms. Tarter into telling where the children are without forcing the case to trial.

In a telephone interview on Thursday with the Amarillo Globe-News, Mrs. Tarter told the paper she "refused to hand her children over to their father, Michael Tarter, because she fears for their safety and doesn't approve of the living conditions."

"That's crazy. I love my little girls. Why else would I be looking for them?" Michael Tarter told the Globe-News of his two daughters, ages 4 and 5.

Ms. Tarter said her husband had earlier refused to turn their children over to her after a visit. "If I give my kids back over to him, I'll probably never see them again," she was quoted as saying.

Mr. Tarter said he was granted a court order on August 23, 1989, awarding him custody of the children.

Mr. Tarter filed the original interference with child custody charges on August 18 when the girls were not returned to him. Mrs. Tarter told the Globe-News that the girls had been staying with her for six weeks as part of a summer visitation agreement.

Mrs. Tarter turned herself in, without the girls, on Thursday morning on the August 18 charge. Bond on the original charge was set at $50,000. During her arraignment, she was arrested on the second charge, for which she was denied bond.

Chamber hears progress reports

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Publisher-Editor

Progress reports on committee activities and projects highlighted a regular monthly meeting of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors Thursday.

President Doug Josserand announced that the chamber's next Fun Breakfast is scheduled for Sept. 20 with George Warner Seed as the sponsor. Warner is observing its 25th anniversary in Hereford.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, reported the economic development committee is currently working with a local business on expansion plans. He also reported the annual Town & Country Jubilee was a big success with one of the largest parades ever held. Booths at Jubilee Junction were fewer this year, and the committee will encourage more game booths next year.

Josserand lauded the work of Donna West in heading up the "Leadership Hereford" program which will start in October. The program will take 10 to 12 persons for a year-long course designed to develop volunteer leaders for the community.

Marilyn Culpepper, Women's Division president, reported her group had sponsored the Diaper Derby at the Jubilee and recently held a Crazy Tees Golf Scramble to benefit the Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant. The group is now planning Christmas activities.

Josserand will appoint a nominating committee for new directors and a banquet planning committee, with both expected to make reports at the September board meeting.

Directors attending Thursday's meeting were Josserand, Culpepper, Pat Robbins, Rocky Lee, Ken McLain, Carol Gerk, Diane Hoelscher, James McDowell, Bobby Moore, Charles Greenawalt and Scott Keeling.

a U.S. intelligence source reported that Saddam's elite Republican Guards, which led the attack into Kuwait, are being replaced on the front lines of his defenses by other troops.

CRISIS IN THE GULF

U.S. and other Western diplomats remained at their embassies in Kuwait today, the Iraqi deadline for diplomatic missions to close. In addition to the United States, those countries ignoring Iraq's shutdown order included Japan, the 12 European Community nations, Switzerland and Austria.

The Philippines, India and Lebanon said they would close their embassies.

The Iraqi News Agency put the deadline for closing the embassies at 9 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) today, but diplomats in Washington said the deadline was extended to midnight. ABC News quoted unidentified Iraqi sources as reporting that embassies ignoring the deadline would be surrounded by troops, who may prevent food from entering the buildings.

The White House refused to speculate publicly on what would happen if Iraq shut down the U.S. Embassy. Ambassador Nathaniel Howell and perhaps a dozen other Americans stayed at the American compound. Marine guards were among 33 carloads of embassy personnel evacuated on Thursday.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein appeared on television Thursday with British children and other captives, ruffling the hair of a small boy, smiling and joking - but making it plain their fate depends on how the gulf confrontation goes. He told the captive Westerners that their presence ensures peace.

Texas wheeler-dealer dealt out

HOUSTON (AP) - A wealthy businessman killed by a shot to the head had been negotiating with federal officials in an attempt to gain protection through the Federal Witness Protection Program because he feared for his life after being arrested trying to sell $17 million in stolen treasury bills, an associate says.

Mark L. Osborne, 47, was shot execution-style in the back of the head and his body dumped in the back seat of his leased 1990 Lincoln Town Car, which was found in a Houston mall parking lot Tuesday. He had been missing since Aug. 16.

Osborne, described by friends as a wheeler-dealer who made and lost several fortunes, had been arrested in New York City on July 31 after he tried to sell an undercover FBI agent $17 million in stolen British treasury bills.

The FBI says the bills were part of about $600 million in financial instruments taken at knife-point from a security courier in London on May 2.

Osborne believed he had been set up by the people who had provided him with the bills, said an associate who asked to remain anonymous because he feared for his safety.

The source told The Houston Post that Osborne believed the bills he was given had been stolen from the London-based organized crime figures behind the May 2 heist.

Osborne had sought protection from the FBI through its Federal Witness Protection Program and that negotiations were under way with federal authorities when Osborne was slain, the source said.

"Just the fact he was dealing with the FBI made some other people real nervous, and made him (Osborne) even more afraid," the man said. "He knew a lot of things about a lot of people."

Houston-based private investigator Clyde Wilson, hired by Osborne's widow, Mary Osborne, also said he believes the slaying was connected to the treasury bills.

"There's no question it (the killing) was professionally done," Wilson said. "And the magnitude of the situation he was involved in would certainly indicate the involvement of organized crime."

The London robbery eclipsed Britain's infamous Great Train Robbery of 1963, when hijackers of Glasgow-to-London mail train got away with 2.6 million pounds in cash. The May 2 robbery netted securities valued at 291 million pounds, or about $556 million. Since then, about 180 million pounds' worth have been recovered.

Lt. Gov. candidates hurl muddy accusations

AUSTIN (AP) - Two politicians who want voters to give them one of the most powerful jobs in state government, lieutenant governor, are calling on one another to quit their current state posts.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock, the Democratic candidate, said Republican Rob Mosbacher should quit as chairman of the financially troubled Department of Human Services.

"It is past being a question of money. Even if the agency were given every dollar it could ask for, it obviously could not deliver its needed services under Mosbacher's inept management," Bullock charged Thursday.

Mosbacher defended his performance on the welfare agency's board, accusing Bullock of padding his state payroll with political workers and said Bullock should quit as tax collector to campaign full time.

"So many of Bob's top state employees are working on his campaign, a taxpayer with a question is better off calling the campaign headquarters than the comptroller's office if he wants a straight answer," Mosbacher charged.

Bullock has served as comptroller since he was first elected in 1974. Mosbacher was appointed by Gov. Bill Clements to be chairman of the board that oversees the human services department.

That agency has been battling budget deficits that earlier this month caused a temporary halt in Medicaid payments.

The Legislative Budget Board will consider shifting $76 million to the agency on Friday to cover its current budget, and lawmakers have been told the agency now estimates a $314 million deficit for 1991. Agency officials blame an increased caseload for the budget problems.

Bullock, however, blamed Mosbacher. "The welfare crisis has gone from critical to life-threatening to thousands of needy and sick Texans," Bullock said.

"Mosbacher wants 10,000 new state employees and more than $2 billion in new state tax money for the next budget - but he has not properly managed the 16,000 employees he has now," Bullock said.

Mosbacher said Bullock's only angry because the welfare agency is doing its job.

"Bob just can't stand the fact that the agency continues to serve the public, that no benefits have been cut," Mosbacher said.

"He continues to play political games with the lives of vulnerable Texans. I'm afraid he is more interested in creating panic among the needy than he is in telling the truth," Mosbacher said.

His wife last saw Osborne about 3:30 p.m. Aug. 16 when he was headed to Austin for a business meeting the next day.

Friends and associates told the Houston Chronicle that Osborne, who came to Houston as an investment firm manager in 1971, led an extravagant lifestyle with a silver stretch limousine, a driver and a lavishly decorated home.

Police sources reported Osborne was having financial difficulties and had been trying to sell his home for months.

Over the years, Osborne had more than his share of legal troubles, including being barred from the securities business by the federal Securities and Exchange Commission after a series of violations between 1976 and 1983.

Osborne also was sued for $35 million for allegedly defrauding Galveston millionaire Robert L. Moody and Moody-controlled National Western Life Insurance Co., and settled out of court for an undisclosed sum. He also had been charged by federal prosecutors with lying to a bank to obtain $1.25 million in personal loans, but had been acquitted.

School Menus

HEREFORD PUBLIC SCHOOLS

New foods and techniques give Hereford Independent School District healthier and more successful food service program.

A revolution in school food service is occurring through technology and better food preparation. And the end result is that students in Hereford are getting meals that are healthier and tastier than ever.

Trudie Gray, director of the Hereford schools food service program, says that slowly but surely the quality of meals being served in the schools is improving. "We always had the opportunity to serve nutritious meals, but sometimes the students didn't want to eat what we offered. The real revolution today is in making many of these same meals also taste good.

"One of the changes that we made is a burger which comes in a lower fat, lower cholesterol for that is high in protein and tastes just like a real hamburger," she added. Other examples abound in better cooking techniques for vegetables that make them healthier and taste better, increased use and availability of fresh fruits and a much greater sensitivity to sugar and salt levels in food.

Gray continued, "While we know that the foods and menus today are more healthy, we can also prove that the satisfaction level has gone up as well. We get many fewer meals back uneaten or only partially eaten than was previously the case. And while jokes about school food service will probably always be with us, serving nutritious food that is eaten and enjoyed by the students is the ultimate reward."

For additional information, call Trudie Gray at 364-0606.

Ask for diet menu

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) - If it seems to you that restaurants are engaged in a conspiracy to undermine your diet resolve, it may be because you aren't speaking up, says a nutritionist whose students surveyed restaurants in this area.

The survey showed that restaurants were ready, willing and able to make healthful substitutes, says Letitia Mitchell, a Purdue University nutrition instructor. "They have to be aware of what their customers want if they want to compete in the business."

"Most restaurants already have diet beverages on the menu, offer sugar substitutes and decaffeinated coffee - things like that." But Mitchell says that customers need to make their desires known.

President Richard M. Nixon announced in 1970 the United States was sending troops into Cambodia, an action that sparked widespread protests.

Spikers open 1990 with LIT

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces were scheduled to open the 1990 volleyball season today with a noon match against Andrews in the first round of the Lubbock Invitational Tournament.

Coach Brenda Reeh said the opportunity to finally play was something the team has been looking forward to.

"We are ready to play some real matches," she said. "Most teams have scrimmaged and played at least one match this week. Unfortunately, we couldn't get a match in before this tournament."

"Andrews will be a good test for us," Reeh added. "We played them two years ago for third place and they have a solid program. They're either a good team or a very good team."

Hereford will face either Lamesa or District 1-4A foe Borger in the second round at 4 p.m. today.

The tourney's 16-team field will offer Reeh a chance to scout four district opponents with two-time defending state champion Dumas, Pampa and Borger also competing.

"We really caught a break with the schedule this year," she said. "We'll be able to watch all of them at least once during the first day and then again on Saturday."

Reeh added that the tourney will answer some questions about the team's rebuilding effort. The Lady Whitefaces may be forced to start six players with a total varsity experience of two matches.

"The greatest concern we'll have to work our way through this weekend," Reeh said, "is our lack of varsity experience and the nervousness that goes along with playing at the varsity level for the first time. The sooner we can get some court time behind us instead of in front of us, the sooner we will loosen up and have a good time playing."

The team received a piece of good news Thursday afternoon when Shantel Cornelius, the lone returning starter from 1989, was cleared to play. Cornelius had been held out of the first two weeks of practice with a knee injury. Reeh said the junior hitter will probably see only limited action in Lubbock.

"She hasn't been able to do anything for two weeks and will be pretty rusty," Reeh said. "We'll just have to ease her along and see how things go."

Herd defense impressive in scrimmage with Plainsmen

The Hereford Whiteface first unit played to a scoreless draw Thursday against Lubbock Monterey in the first scrimmage of the 1990 season.

Herd coach Don Cumpton said he and his staff saw what they wanted during the day, which saw sophomore, junior and senior units take the field.

"I was very, very happy with all of our kids," Cumpton said. "The effort was phenomenal for a scrimmage. It was a good thing for us, we needed it. It let us see where we're at, what we need to emphasize and what we need to work on. We're excited about the season."

Cumpton said the sub-varsity teams also made a good showing during the afternoon.

"The sophomores pretty well dominated their scrimmage," he said. "They scored like six times. We didn't particularly keep score, but it was something like 6-1."

"With the junior varsity I think we scored one and they didn't score. Those two were pretty even."

Cumpton said the Herd's first defensive unit had an impressive outing, holding the Plainsmen scoreless.

"I was real happy with our defensive team," he said. "I thought they handled the adjustments well. The pursuit and running to the football was excellent, probably as good as I've seen us do in a couple of years. We missed a few tackles, but that's just a matter of experience."

"In the varsity scrimmage we were concerned about (Monterey's) size," Cumpton added, "because they are so big. But I thought we held our own pretty good."

"Both defenses dominated the scrimmaged. The first units had 35 plays each and neither team scored. Their second group scored a couple of times. They had some big plays."

Monterey's second offense scored twice on runs of 25 and 2 yards by Steve Welton and reserve cornerback Wayne Sarchet returned an interception 56 yards for the only other score among varsity players.

Despite being held out of the end zone, Cumpton said the Whiteface offense was able to move the ball.

"We moved the ball at times," he said, "but we were real inconsistent. We had some turnovers - threw three or four interceptions, which you can't do. But again, that's just experience."

"We'd make a couple of first downs and then have a bad play."

A&M, UT presidents say schools to stay in SWC

AUSTIN (AP) - The presidents of the University of Texas and Texas A&M University said today their schools will remain in the Southwest Conference and "are committed to doing everything possible to strengthen the conference and make it successful."

With the announcement that Arkansas would leave the SWC for the Southeastern Conference there has been speculation that Texas and Texas A&M would follow the Razorbacks or join another conference.

Most SWC observers agreed that the loss of Texas and A&M would destroy the 76-year-old league.

Presidents William Cunningham of Texas and William Mobley of A&M issued a joint statement saying, indeed, problems exist within the SWC that "require immediate attention and action."

The presidents said essential changes within the conference include:

- An improvement in fan support throughout the conference.

- Flexibility in scheduling of men's and women's basketball and the addition of non-conference games in football.

- A more "competitive environment" for women's athletics.

- A firm commitment to developing a first-class program in men's and women's basketball.

- Possible conference expansion or alliances with non-SWC institutions "which substantially enhance televised coverage of football games."

"Without these and other changes, the Southwest Conference cannot be a viable organization for excellence both in academic pursuits and in athletic competition," the presidents said.

Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"—a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account. Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50.

So "DreamSaver" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.

Put Your Money on Texas.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Interest paid quarterly. Rates subject to change without notice.

Bucs, LA do each other a big favor

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates are making a shambles of the divisional races in the National League.

In the East, the Pirates are pulling away from the slumping New York Mets. Cincinnati, which seemed headed for easy street out in the West, has hit a dead end all of a sudden.

The Pirates beat the Reds for the fifth straight time, 9-3 Thursday night, to help out Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Returning the favor, the Dodgers and Fernando Valenzuela beat New York 4-2 to drop the Mets four games behind the Pirates. It's the Mets' biggest deficit since June 21.

"They thought we'd get uptight. Hey, we're having fun," said Bobby Bonilla, who hit a grand slam. "If you don't have fun now, you're going to start having ulcers and getting gray hairs. It's not going to do you any good if you play uptight. We're having fun, playing relaxed and confident."

Bonilla has four home runs and nine RBIs in his last five games against Cincinnati. His 29 homers are by the most by Pittsburgh player since Jason Thompson hit 31 in 1982.

Last weekend, the Pirates swept a four-game series at Riverfront Stadium for the first time ever.

The Pirates are 6-3 against the Reds after losing three of their first four.

Pirates 9, Reds 3

Bonilla hit his second grand slam of the season to cap Pittsburgh's six-run fifth inning and Barry Bonds added a two-run homer.

Zane Smith (9-7) gave up two runs in 6 1-3 innings.
Dodgers 4, Mets 2

Eddie Murray's two-run homer in the fifth inning snapped a tie.

Murray hit an 0-1 pitch off David Cone (9-7) into the right-field seats for his 20th homer of the season to give the Dodgers a 4-2 lead.

Fernando Valenzuela (11-10) earned the victory although he was plagued by wildness. He held the Mets to four hits in seven-plus innings but walked a season-high seven before Jay Howell relieved.

Giants 6, Phillies 3
Ernest Riles tied a club record with his fourth pinch-homer of the season and reliever Francisco Oliveras pitched three scoreless innings for his first NL victory.

Riles' three-run homer off reliever Dennis Cook (8-3) keyed a four-run, fourth-inning rally and gave the Giants a 4-3 lead. Riles tied the San Francisco-New York franchise mark set in 1978 by Mike Ivie and tied by Candy Maldonado in 1986.

Astros 8, Braves 3
Glenn Wilson had four of Houston's season-high 18 hits, scored three runs and drove in two.

Mark Portugal (7-9) scattered seven hits over six innings and won his third straight decision. Larry Andersen pitched two innings and Dave Smith finished.

Wilson steals show for Toronto

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox succeeded in keeping Mookie Wilson from stealing second base. He stole the game instead.

Wilson singled, took two bases on an errant pickoff throw and beat the throw to the plate on an infield grounder in the bottom of the ninth Thursday night to give the Toronto Blue Jays a 4-3 victory over the Red Sox.

The victory in the opener of a four-game series cut Boston's lead over the Blue Jays in the American League East to one game.

When Wilson, the Blue Jays' hottest hitter, opened the ninth with his third hit, a looping single to right off Joe Hesketh, most in the SkyDome regular-season-record crowd of 49,918 knew he'd try to steal second. Instead, Hesketh's pickoff throw went off the glove of first baseman Carlos Quintana and down the right-field line as Wilson took third.

After Tony Fernandez was walked intentionally, reliever Jeff Gray broke Kelly Gruber's bat with a 1-1 pitch. But Wilson, off with the crack of the bat, beat third baseman Wade Boggs' throw to the plate with the winning run.

In other games, it was Kansas City 4, Seattle 1; Chicago 4, California 2 and Milwaukee 8, New York 2.

Earlier, it looked like Wilson would be the hero because of his bat, not his legs.

He singled home the go-ahead run in the seventh, breaking a 1-1 tie, and Fernandez followed with an RBI double for a 3-1 lead.

But after Ellis Burks led off the eighth with a single off Dave Stieb, Mike Greenwell tied the game by hitting relief ace Tom Henke's first pitch over the right-field fence for his ninth homer.

Henke (1-2) got the victory. Wilson collected three singles, drove in a run and scored two.
Royals 4, Mariners 1

It's been a long trip back to the .500 mark for Kansas City. But the Royals reached the break-even point mark for the first time since April 19 as George Brett and Mike Macfarlane drove in two runs apiece.

Kevin Appier (10-4) went six innings, allowing only an unearned run on three hits. Steve Farr pitched two innings before Jeff Montgomery got the last three outs for his 19th save.

Brett doubled in two runs in the first off Brian Holman (11-10), who pitched a six-hitter. Macfarlane added a two-run single in the seventh.
White Sox 4, Angels 2

The White Sox cut Oakland's lead in the AL West to five games as rookie Alex Fernandez allowed seven hits in eight innings and Bobby Thigpen earned his major league-leading 42nd save.

Fernandez (2-1) walked two and struck out six. Thigpen got the last three outs for his 42nd save in 48 opportunities.

Scott Fletcher, 1-for-26 lifetime against Kurt McCaskill (9-9) had a two-run, bases-loaded single as Chicago broke a 1-1 tie with a three-run fourth inning.
Brewers 8, Yankees 2

Dave Parker drove in four runs to back Jaime Navarro's first complete game of the season.

Parker singled in a run in the first inning and hit a three-run homer off Mike Witt (2-6) in the fifth. Rob Deer hit his 25th homer in the fourth and doubled home the Brewers' final run in a four-run fifth inning.

Navarro (4-5) allowed eight hits, struck out four and walked none.

Olazabal cards 61

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - Jose-Maria Olazabal, with eight career victories on the European tour, is recognized as one of the best young golfers in the world.

Yet he is virtually unknown in the U.S.

But that might be changing after Olazabal broke the course record - and flirted with the magic score of 59 Thursday - during the opening round of the World Series of Golf at Firestone Country Club.

Olazabal shot a 9-under-par 61 to take a four-stroke lead over Payne Stewart.

The 24-year-old Spaniard birdied the first hole from three feet and then rolled in a 15-foot eagle putt at No. 2.

He made an eight-foot birdie putt on the third hole and hit a 5-iron to three feet for another birdie to go to 5-under through four holes.

After a bogey at the seventh, he strung together four birdies, ending with a 22-foot birdie putt at the 14th that put him 9-under.

"I didn't realize it (could) be a 59 until my caddy told me," he said. "I never thought I was even close to 59 because I was thinking that par was 72."

Firestone, which plays to 7,149 yards, is a par-70 course.

SCRIMMAGE

We'll get there. These kids are good, hard-working kids."

Probably most important, Cumpton said, was getting through the scrimmage without anyone being injured.

"The only one that didn't play was Blake Buckley," Cumpton said. "He has a pulled muscle in his hip and we decided right before we started to hold him out, but everyone else played.

"They'll all be a little sore and stiff, but that's pretty much normal. We'll just do some stretching and weightlifting today and take things easy."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been carrying a column you wrote on October 5, 1969. It helped improve my life. Please print it again for the next generation. Thank you. -- N.Y.C. Mother

DEAR N.Y.C.: How nice of you to let me know you profited from my column. Here's the repeat.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In this age of conflicting philosophies, shifting standards and the emergence of what some choose to call The New Morality, please tell me how a person can differentiate between right and wrong.

Every day I am beset by new conflicts. I'm frank in admitting I am utterly confused. Can you give me and others some words of guidance? -- Dark Sid Of The Moon

DEAR D.S. MOON: Several weeks ago I heard a sermon by Dr. Preston Bradley, the beloved pastor

(now emeritus) of The Peoples Church of Chicago. He discussed this very subject and in conclusion quoted Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick's six-point test for deciding right from wrong. I asked Dr. Bradley if he would send me his distilled version, and he did.

1) Does the course of action you plan to follow seem logical and reasonable? Never mind what anyone else has to say. Does it make sense to you? If it does, it is probably right.

2) Does it pass the test of sportsmanship? In other words, if everyone followed this same course of action, would the results be beneficial for all?

3) Where will your plan of action lead? How will it affect others? What will it do to you?

4) Will you think well of yourself when you look back at what you have done?

5) Try to separate yourself from the problem. Pretend, for one moment, it is the problem of the person you most admire. Ask yourself how that person would handle it.

6) Hold up the final decision to the glaring light of publicity. Would you want your family and friends to know what you have done? The decisions we make in the hope that no one will find out are usually wrong.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Twenty-five years ago my husband and I (then newlyweds) had an argument. I behaved in an immature manner and locked him out when he slammed the door and left to walk around the block and "cool off."

He went to his mother's house when he discovered I had bolted the door. She wanted to "teach me a lesson," so she talked him into staying there for five days. I'm glad to say we worked out the problem and I never again did anything foolish.

Last night, in a half-joking manner, my mother-in-law reminded me of the incident in the presence of several relatives. She congratulated herself on being so clever. I did not appreciate the "publicity" at this late date. My husband thought it was pretty funny.

Our son is being married this spring. If HIS wife locks him out of the house, how should I handle the situation if he should come home to ME? -- Still Learning

DEAR S.L.: When children have arguments with their spouses, they should be told, "Go home and settle it!" Parents who provide bed and board under such conditions do their children no favor. They merely postpone the growing-up process.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

The U.S. Senate voted in 1834 to censure President Andrew Jackson for the removal of federal deposits from the Bank of the United States.

HONOLULU (AP) - Imelda Marcos plans to return to Honolulu next month to mark her late husband's birthday with a graveside Mass.

The former Philippines first lady is expected to arrive on Sept. 2, and hold a Mass on Sept. 9 at a cemetery outside Honolulu where Ferdinand Marcos is buried, her attorney, James Linn, said Tuesday.

Mrs. Marcos has spent the past six months in New York, where she stood trial in federal court on fraud and racketeering charges. A jury acquitted her.

Marcos died in exile Sept. 28 in Honolulu.

Assisting with benefit sale
The second annual "back-to-school" benefit garage sale for Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Hereford is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. Saturday at the site of the former Phillips 66 Station, corner of Park Ave. and Hwy. 385. Proceeds will help meet the budget this year for BB/BS. Helping sort through the donated items are, from left, Carla Betts, Roni Mendoza, Kimberly Betts, Nichole Chance and Jessica Garcia.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I was fascinated by some news stories a few months ago that whether you were fat or not depended on your genes — if you were born to be fat, you would be fat. I have tried diets and exercise but cannot really control my weight. Now I'm wondering if all my effort is really useless if I have inherited the genes to be overweight.

Both of my parents were overweight as were my grandparents. My brothers and sisters all have a weight problem. Most doctors have told me it was because I ate too many calories, but Dr. Lamb, I have literally starved myself and not lost weight.

I would like to know more about the role of genes in being overweight and if I should diet or not.

DEAR READER: There is a lot of evidence that people do inherit genes that have a major influence on whether they are going to be fat or thin, and at what stage in life. These recent studies are not the first ones to show this, but they are well-done studies that show about 70 percent of the problem of being overweight is more related to your genes than your diet.

But don't throw caution to the wind. You can help to avoid the problem even if you have genes that call for you to be overweight. Think of it this way: Some people inherit a form of diabetes, but that doesn't mean it should not be treated. The question of whether being overweight needs to be treated or not depends a lot on what it is doing to your health, in terms of blood pressure and total cholesterol.

In another study of twins done in Canada, the twins were fed 1,000 calories a day more than they needed. Each twin was similar to the other twin. But there were large differences between one set of twins and another set of twins. Some gained very little while others gained a lot, despite being carefully supervised on the same program. For those who are familiar with horses — some were "hay burners" and others were "easy keepers."

Read the details in my discussion of More About Body Weight and Heredity. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want more information can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for THE HEALTH LETTER/36-05, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908. But stick with a sensible diet and good exercise program and your weight will adjust to what your genes intended for you to weigh.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 35-year-old male. For some time I have considered taking female hormones. Most of the time I am quite content within the frame of my gender, but at other times I think it would be nice to be female.

My wife has suggested that I take her birth control pills, but I am not one to experiment with medications like that.

If I were to take female hormones, what changes could I expect, and what side effects would there be?

DEAR READER: The effects would depend somewhat on what kind of birth control pill your wife uses. She probably uses the combined pill that contains both estrogen and progesterin. That would mean you are apt to have a significant decrease in sex drive and could become impotent.

You might expect weight gain, depression and breast swelling. I couldn't recommend that you try this approach.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

"LET'S GO HUNTING!" IN TODAY'S LANGUAGE THAT PHRASE BRINGS TO MIND A PLEASANT DAY IN THE FIELDS WITH A GOOD DOG, THE TAKING OF A PHEASANT OR TWO—FINE SPORT! NOT SO, IN BIBLICAL TIMES! TOO OFTEN IT WAS A CALL TO THE UNPLEASANT DUTY OF RIDDING THE COUNTRYSIDE OF SOME BEAST OF PREY—USUALLY THE FEROCIOUS LION! THE BOOKS OF THE BIBLE CONTAIN MANY REFERENCES TO THE LION AND, ALTHOUGH HARDLY A ONE CAN BE FOUND TODAY IN WHAT IS TERMED THE BIBLE LANDS, THE AREA ABOUNDED WITH THEM IN THOSE TIMES.

ANCIENT WRITINGS, PAINTINGS, AND SCULPTURE, HAVE REVEALED MANY RECORDS OF LION HUNTS. THE PLENTITUDE OF YOUNG KIDS, LAMBS, ELDERLY PEOPLE, AND SMALL CHILDREN, ALL EASY PREY, ATTRACTED THESE BEASTS AND, WHEN THEIR DEPREDACTIONS BECAME TOO NUMEROUS, A LION HUNT WAS ORGANIZED TO WIPE THEM OUT, OR AT LEAST DRIVE THEM OUT OF THE AREA.

THIS DUTY USUALLY FELL TO ROYALTY AND THE UPPER CLASSES BECAUSE THEY HAD HORSES AND CHARIOTS AND PLENTY OF SOLDIERS OR SERVANTS WHO WERE EXPERT WITH BOW AND ARROW. ALTHOUGH HORSE RACING HAS BEEN CALLED "THE SPORT OF KINGS," YOU MAY BE SURE THAT LION HUNTING EARNED THIS TITLE LONG BEFORE—EXCEPT, UNFORTUNATELY AT TIMES, IT WAS FAR FROM WHAT WE TODAY WOULD CALL SPORT!

NEXT WEEK: "TO MARKET WE GO!"
