Targets
 The Roosevelt administration is beginning to get a sort of stuffy feeling. No grip has been laid on the throat as yet but things are moving in.

New Deal opposition is emanating a placid—very slow but devastating—when it finally hits. The idea is to get a definite flow going over a wide area.

President Roosevelt and those around him are fully aware of what is going on. The complaint has been that the attack thus far was sufficiently indirect to prevent a counter-attack in the open.

This general feeling manifested itself at the White House the other day following Joseph Shouse's announcement of the new American Liberty League's incorporation.

Here was a definite figure emerging from the enemy trench at which to shoot Mr. Roosevelt, that night before he left for Hyde Park, was at his best—which is plenty good—as he lightly and humorously dissected the solemn axioms of the Liberty League's charter.

But while this Smith-Davis-Shouse-Raskob organization serves as an initial target—the while getting set to toss a few bombs itself—other influences are working assiduously undercover. The New Dealers know who they are and what they are doing but it is just a bit difficult to put a public finger on them.

First, the administration senses the back-to-the-wall plans of the utilities.

Remember that the South and West put FDR into office. Then realize that it is the South and West where the New Deal has launched its large-scale federal power experiments.

The power trust has been fighting this invasion tooth and nail. Many of their counter-thrusts haven't been visible to the naked eye.

Profit
 A tremendous drive has been on in the South for a number of months to alienate the action from the president.

Administration insiders say that newspapers have been purchased circuitously. They think the chance in a liberal policy has been effected with such finesse that most readers probably aren't aware of it. They speak of more subtle stuff in the making for dissemination over the radio and through the movies.

Conviction is general here that the big shots of the power industry are just beginning to bring pressure on those who do business with them. Dependent corporations and firms will be brought in line or the utilities chiefs will know the reason why—a la Mark Hanna.

Elsewhere opposition business men are sneering privately they will pull in their belts and go through a couple of lean years if the double-hitch would help eliminate Mr. Roosevelt. They are telling each other indignantly in their clubs and at luncheons with the waiters out that it would be better to draw on reserves than to have those same reserves taxed out of their possession to support the New Deal.

What these men want is to see all features of the New Deal that are good—from their viewpoint—retained and put in more conservative hands. Brain Trust theories would be discarded for the next generation to toy with, if so minded.

As they figure it, if all this could be brought to pass they could recoup their losses in four years and make a profit to boot.

Shifting
 The American Liberty League fits neatly into this general picture. Other so-called non-partisan organizations were working in the same direction before Shouse's League made its debut. Others are still in the formative stage.

If the situation looks ripe a year or more hence they can be turned into a work-out outfit to get behind a conservative to oppose Mr. Roosevelt for re-nomination.

Of course these men all remember Calvin Coolidge's observation that if the incumbent president couldn't get the nomination it wouldn't be worth a dime to any other Democrat. Which points clearly to a definite move to realign the two major parties into Liberal and Conservative camps, irrespective of old party labels.

LEGISLATURE ORDERS INVESTIGATION INTO RELIEF EXPENDITURE

Richardson Talks Before Kiwanians
 Club Members Hear Of Various Projects At CCC Camp In Talk

Thompson Richardson, camp superintendent of the CCC, told the Kiwanis Club members at their meeting in the Crawford Hotel Thursday noon that the federal government would spend between $250,000 and $300,000 in building and improving the state park on Scene Mountain providing the necessary 200 additional acres could be secured. Plans now underway, he said, made him feel certain that it would be secured.

The proposed club house and swimming pool will be on top of the mountain will represent an expenditure of $65,000. Other improvements will be a five or six mile drive designed after the Alpine Drive in San Antonio; many miles of foot paths and bridle paths; stone and rustic benches; lookouts; open air pavilion; and many others.

The club house, he declared, will accommodate 250 people. The swimming pool will be four times larger than any other in West Texas, which he described as being the shape of "a deflated peanut," made of concrete and trimmed with vari-colored rock and lighted by spotlights at night.

He also informed the club that the U. S. Army was spending an average of $100 per day for food-stuffs from local merchants and that this, coupled with the spending money allowed the 250 boys in the camp would mean $90,000 cash spent in these two items alone in Big Spring in the year the camp will be located here. Between $150,000 and $200,000 will be spent for materials, the majority from local sources.

Also on the program, which was in charge of John Whitmore, were Jacqueline Faw in a song and dance number and several vocal selections by Carl Young.

Next meeting, Thursday, Sept. 6th, will be Visitors Day, to which each member will bring a guest.

Cattle Buying Slowing Down
 Few Withdrawals Of Offers Noted; Pasturage Prospects Improve

Sale of cattle to the government is slowing down here perceptibly. Besides a complete halt to offers, there have been a few withdrawals of offers.

Another avenue of checking sales is making itself more felt than withholding or withdrawing of offers.

With range and winter pasturage prospects good, farmers and ranchers are greatly reducing the number they are offering for sale. It is having the effect of giving Relief Administrator R. H. McNew trouble in obtaining sufficient supply of beef for the federal meat cannery needs here.

Howard county's quota of 450 a week has been revoked and the county allowed to furnish as many cattle as can be consumed in the canning plant. The order grouping Howard and Borden under the same set of inspectors and appraisers has also been rescinded, leaving Dr. Carl Stewart and his appraiser to work in Howard county alone.

Griffin To Rid Applications Of Discrepancies

County Agent O. P. Griffin was to leave Thursday evening for College Station to appear before the state allotment board in an effort to rid a few application blanks of discrepancies.

Of the approximately 1,000 applications for exemptions under the Bankhead act, only a few have been found incorrect. Griffin will seek to straighten out these matters in order that reception of exemption certificates here may be expedited.

Despite his absence, the county committee will convene Friday to check compliance certificates before forwarding them to Washington. With this done, it is expected that second benefit and rental payments on cotton contracts will be received here within a month.

Proposed Road To Andrews County Favored By Stanton Business Men

Stanton and Martin county representatives Thursday morning expressed keen interest in a proposed road through Stanton to Andrews.

A group of Big Spring business men met with the Martin county representatives Thursday in Stanton and discussed the possibilities of such a road.

G. T. Watson, Chamber of Commerce manager and spokesman for the local group, said that there were two probable routes in which Big Spring would be greatly interested.

One would pass through Knott and angle westward to Andrews. The other, a more desirable route, he believed, would be through Stanton west, since there is the advantage of paved road to that city without the addition of much distance.

The Martin county group expressed interest in the latter route because it will bring traffic through Stanton. Some of the Martin county men said they had "been needing such a road for a long time."

Another confab, in which the Martin county commissioners court will sit, will be held September 9 at 3 p. m. from the district court room at Stanton.

A road to Andrews is particularly important for Howard and Martin counties since there is much oil development in prospect in the Andrews area.

Attending the meeting from here were H. Reagan, chairman of the good roads committee, R. L. Cook, G. C. Dunham, D. W. Walther, Carl Blomfield, E. L. Gibson, E. E. Fahrnkamp, G. T. Watson.

AUSTIN (AP)—Vice President John N. Garner was given prominent mention Thursday as a prospect for the Texas democratic national committeeman when it became known here James V. Allred conferred Wednesday with Garner at Uvalde.

Allred declined to comment upon a report he would support Garner for national committeeman to succeed James E. Ferguson at the state convention at Galveston September 11th, or whether Garner is a candidate.

Allred said he was conferring with friends throughout the state concerning national committeemanship and chairmanship of the state democratic executive committee.

Allred, youthful attorney general of Texas, set up a card table for a desk on the porch of his home at Wichita Falls to receive telegrams and other messages congratulating him on winning the Democratic nomination for governor. German Proposes Full Moratorium On Foreign Debts

BADEISEN, Germany, (AP)—A "full moratorium" for several years on Germany's foreign debts was proposed Thursday by Hjalmar Schacht, acting minister of economics and president of Reichsbank.

Schacht told the international conference of Agricultural Science, is one of the "heroic" measures needed to lead the world from economic impasse which is "almost hopeless."

He warned other countries of the "communist menace," citing "farmer riot," "extraordinary wave of strikes" in the United States as "stern warning signals."

Fifteen East Texas Refineries, Four Railroads Enjoined

Walkout Order Dispatched By Strike Group

Wool, Silk, Rayon And Synthetic Industry Workers To Quit Saturday

LARGEST STRIKE TO CONFRONT FDR

Over One Thousand Mills In The United States Affected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A general strike in the cotton textile industry was called Thursday to become effective at 11:30 p. m. Saturday. Workers in wool, silk, rayon and synthetic yarn industries were ordered to stand by for further orders of the first working after effective date September 4th.

Order for the strike, the largest numerically to confront the Roosevelt administration, was dispatched over a telegraph key established in headquarters of the strike committee. The order went to local union headquarters over the country, which in turn will transmit it to their membership.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the special strike committee, said "We exhausted every resource in the direction of a peaceful settlement. We know there are many employers who disagree with the policy of the Cotton Textile Institute, almost as much as we do, but they are powerless for the present.

The strike became inevitable when manufacturers rejected a proposal of the national labor relations board for a conference with union leaders.

George A. Sloan, head of the Cotton Textile Institute, told Lloyd Garrison, chairman of the board, the industry would not be "threatened" into amending the code.

The strike, endorsed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, will affect over 1900 cotton mills.

Mattress Factory To Start Operation By September 10th

It will probably be September 10 before the mattress factory, operated as a relief project, can start production.

County Administrator R. H. McNew said that arrangements had been made for the building and equipment but that other details would prevent the beginning of operations for at least 10 days.

The J. R. Creath Mattress factory quarters have been leased for the project and Creath will be retained in a supervisory capacity. Additional equipment will be installed.

Products of the factory will be used to satisfy relief needs.

Mrs. Roxie Crausway and daughters, Elsie and Billie, of Lubbock were expected to arrive Thursday afternoon for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Wade. Mrs. Crausway is a twin sister to Mr. Wade.

WHAT'S BEHIND THESE ANTI-RADICAL DRIVES?

The American people used to be pretty good at the old job of detecting the presence of colored gentlemen in the woodpile.

It is to be hoped that this talent has not deserted them. We read that a great anti-radical campaign is to be launched early in September.

The junior chamber of commerce of Los Angeles will start the ball rolling with a big meeting in Hollywood Bowl.

Other places are expected to take up the torch and coordination of all anti-radical groups throughout the land is expected to result.

Now all this comes under the head of a worthy cause, surely. And yet it is precisely in a campaign of this kind that it is most important to search the woodpile carefully for lurking darkies.

You may remember some of the disclosures made a few years ago when the Federal Trade Commission was investigating the propaganda efforts of the power trust.

At that time it was revealed that one of the trust's publicity advisers, writing to another adviser, frankly urged that they try to "pin the Bolshevik label" on people who were campaigning for lower electricity rates, public ownership and so on.

It's an old gag, after all. You "Red" at a man long enough and you can persuade people to forget the man's actual accomplishments and ignore his logic; eventually you can get your chestnuts poiled out of the fire for you very neatly indeed.

So before we set to work to crack down on all radicals, we ought to suspect the woodpile pretty carefully. We ought to make sure to change the metaphor that we are not reaching into any live coals to retrieve somebody else's chestnuts. A campaign of this kind could be a cruel and tyrannical thing, if followed blindly. If there are people in America who are trying to bring about a bloody revolution, let's get after them, by all means. But let's not permit ourselves to be fooled into pinning that label on anybody and everybody who sponsors a movement or a cause that threatens nothing but some selfish vested interest.

ALCOHOL AND GAS

A Youngtown (O.) man, driving his car while police say he was under the influence of liquor, runs down and kills four little girls who were walking along an open highway. And if we needed any more proof of the adage that gasoline and alcohol don't mix, here it is—in tragic, terrible form.

We seem, so far, to be refusing to face the facts in connection with repeal just as stubbornly as we refused to face them in connection with prohibition for so many years.

If we are going to have the open and legal sale of intoxicants, we have simply got to find some way of keeping these intoxicants out of the people who are driving automobiles.

Perhaps we need to increase the size of our traffic patrol forces three or four-fold. Perhaps we need to make our traffic code about five times as strict as it is now. Perhaps we need to submit to far more stringent infringements on our personal liberty, in connection with the use of autos, than we ever had before.

Certain it is that we need something drastic. The people of the country simply will not stand tragedies like this one at Youngtown much longer.

AN URGENT PROBLEM

If, as Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins once remarked, an outbreak of strikes is a sign of recovery, we must be heading back toward prosperity at a terrific clip. The strike vote which will call out half a million textile workers on Sept. 1, unless some speedy adjustment be made, is only the latest in a rapidly increasing list of bitter industrial disputes.

And whatever the significance of these strikes may be, as regards recovery, one thing is certain; they are horribly expensive things for everybody involved, and they constitute a pretty heavy load for our reviving industrial machinery to bear.

In spite of the NRA's fine words, we haven't yet found a very efficient way of adjusting them or preventing them; and a discovery of that kind comes close to being the most pressing need of the day.

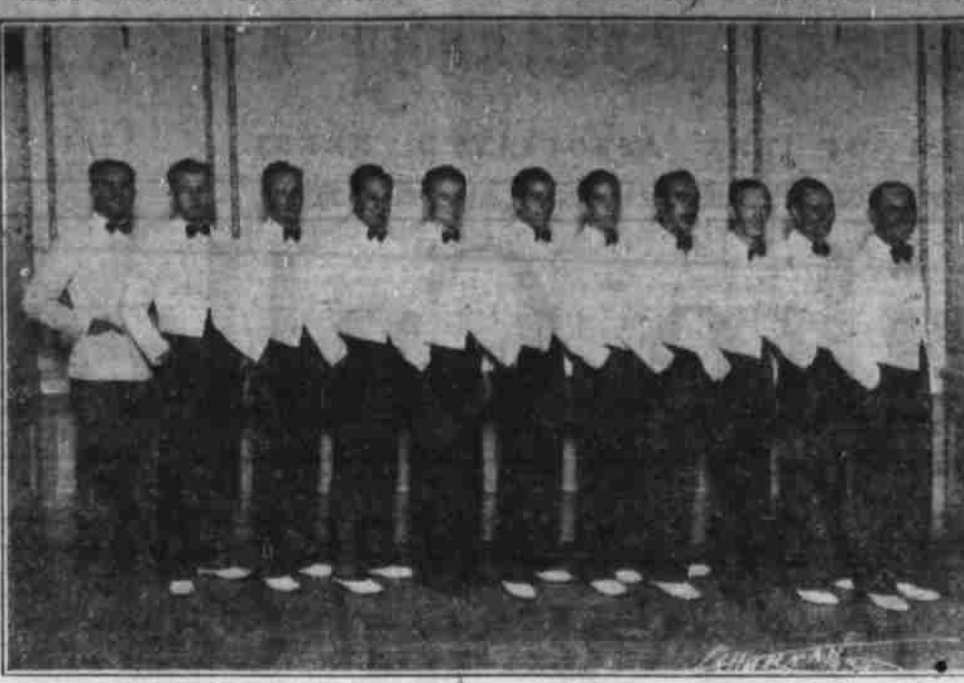

ONLY HALF A MILE AWAY!

There is something exceedingly eerie and pleasantly shivery about Dr. William Beebe's descent into the ocean depths in his "bathysphere." By sinking half a mile below the surface in his steel sphere, this scientist has explored a whole new universe. He has seen a region which, certainly, no man ever saw before.

These stories about his trip make excellent reading. Dr. Beebe peers out of his windows and sees a place of everlasting night and everlasting silence. Monstrous forms, oddly illuminated with myriad lights, glide slowly past. The whole scene is one that Poe might have invented.

Here, indeed, is exploring in the grand style. Flying into the stratosphere or hiking to the poles hardly compares with it. Dr. Beebe

LEAVE NATURE ALONE TO ENJOY IT MOST

It was a most attractive photograph. It showed a wild waterfall toppling over a rocky ledge and forming down into a gurgling pool. The banks were covered with virgin timber. Everything in view looked, presumably, just as it did centuries ago, before there was a white man on the continent.

The paragraph of printed matter that accompanied the picture said that this waterfall was on the Tahquamenon river in the upper peninsula of Michigan. A movement was afoot to turn the region into a state park, it was said; and then came this sentence—"The place is difficult to reach at present, but a highway will be built to the falls if the park is O. K'ed."

A good part of the charm of some of these wild spots is their isolation—the fact that they are not only unspoiled, but that they are so hard to get to that people don't get a chance to spoil them.

We have built so many roads in the last decade that it is hard to think of any beauty spot which the casual motorist cannot reach. And while this is, in the main, an excellent thing, we might reflect that once you make a wilderness thoroughly accessible, it ceases to be a wilderness.

There ought, in other words, to be some areas which can't be reached by cars or spots which one must penetrate afoot, or with a pack horse, if one is to see them at all, and which contain no tourist cabins or general stores.

Let there be a few prizes for those who are willing to rough it, a few bits of wilderness which one can never see if we aren't game to park the car and hike a bit.

A recent editorial in Nature Magazine stressed this very point. It remarked acidly that there are people who won't be satisfied "until the crest of every mountain range is scarred by a skyline highway or scenic boulevard," and it pleads for preservation of some wilderness area in their natural, roadless state.

This doesn't mean that we must stop making mountain and forest accessible to the auto. It is simply a reminder that we can build too many roads, and that if we do we modern times was that in which Judge John H. Sharp of supreme court commission, trailing a North Texas civil appeals jurist more than 80,000 in July, was able to overcome this and step in the lead early in the count of the August vote. It is said lawyers throughout the state put their shoulders to the wheel of a job they thought impossible; and that the united effort carried sharp to victory. Judge Sharp long since has proven his ability as an appellate judge, and his service upon the supreme court commission bench.

His election gave a definite reassurance to Texas that the judiciary is not to be brought into political caterwauling outside legitimate inquiry into the fitness of men offering for its high places. North Carolina schools, which

Two men have emerged as most likely contestants for the highest democratic party reward, the national committee chairmanship from Texas.

They are Myron G. Blalock of Marshall and Wright Morrow of Houston. Each is being urged for the place by his associates.

Friends of James V. Alfred, nominee for governor, at the democratic convention in a meeting of the state executive committee to be created in the convention, will designate the national committeeman, ignoring the nomination of the present Ferguson-created state committee of James E. Ferguson for the post. The man to be chosen will represent Texas in the next democratic national campaign of 1936, and in the national councils of the party for two years. The appointment is to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of Jed C. Adams.

Both Blalock and Morrow are young men. Mr. Blalock, former civil appeals court judge, has been active in the campaign headquarters work of Alfred's race. Mr. Morrow, Houston attorney and son of Judge W. C. Morrow of criminal appeals court, was urged two years ago to be the candidate for governor of the Young Democrats of Texas, but declined.

The selection made by Texas finally must meet approval of the national committee, in accepting the new man to fill its Texas vacancy. Mr. Ferguson's name did not go before the national committee, because it has held no meeting since he was "selected" by his state committee. The national committee will hold a session sometime this fall, well after the Alfred forces have taken charge of the political party machinery in Texas.

TEXAS TOPICS

By Raymond Brooks

James E. Ferguson in all probability is out of the picture as democratic national committeeman from Texas.

But some of those close to him have hinted the likelihood that a contest may be taken before the national committee whenever it may meet to consider filing the "nominee" from Texas. The contest, if any—and it has not been declared by Mr. Ferguson, pending action at Galveston two weeks hence—would be the old doctrine of the Ferguson-Sterling contest, that nomination by the state committee created a "vested right" and that once done could not be overturned before the end of the term by a succeeding state committee.

But if the convention itself does not nominate a successor, the state executive committee it will elect at Galveston Sept. 11 will attend to that.

Blankly, democrats are asking: "Who is Alfred's choice" for that place. The one thing they know is that Mr. Ferguson is not the man. One of the guesses with an outside chance is Wright Morrow of Houston, who in two election years has declined to be considered as young democrat candidacy material for governor within the party.

77 Records Fall as Ab Jenkins Speeds More Than 3000 Miles in 24 Hours

Ab Jenkins, veteran speed king, shattered 77 world, international and A.A.A. speed records in his recent 24-hour run on the hot salt desert at Lake Bonneville, Utah. Jenkins is shown above hurtling through space at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour including all stops for a distance of more than 3,000 miles.

1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

It's getting dark and gets out the night car

Two Cars in Every Garage

I'll go the politicians one better. I wish everybody had two cars in his garage. A day automobile and a night automobile. At dark, everybody would change to night automobiles. The night automobiles might all be painted white, but, more important, they would all be set to a maximum speed limit of 35 miles an hour, or maybe only 30. Is this man Herold going crazy? No, he has reasons. He has been reading "figures" again. The thing that looks so is automobile lights. They look so bright and pretty. They look so brilliant and efficient. But the fact is, automobile lights are way behind the rest of the automobile in progress and efficiency. We have motors that will go 60 or 70 or 80 miles an hour—but we have lights that will go only 35 miles an hour. I mean, the best automobile light is really efficient for only about 100 feet, and if you want to stop an automobile in 100 feet, you simply have to be going less than 35 miles an hour. If you go faster than 35 miles an hour after dark, you're just guessing and gambling that you won't be killed within the next 125 feet—or kill somebody else. Almost 350,000 people played this guessing game last year and lost. Deaths, 16,230, according to The Travelers Insurance Company. Injuries, plenty. The rate of deaths per accident was 43.3 per cent worse in hours of darkness than in hours of daylight. When you smash at night, you smash to kill!

'Schoolboy' Rowe's Winning Streak Halted By Athletics

Record Crowd Sees Pitcher Fail To Win

American League Record For Straight Wins Still Stands At Seventeen

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—The phenomenal winning streak of Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, Detroit's giant 22-year-old pitching ace, was abruptly halted Wednesday by a resounding bombardment of Philadelphia bats, wielded with crushing power in the presence of 33,715 yelling fans, the greatest crowd in the history of Shibe Park.

Thousands of others, eager to see the "boy wonder" seek his 17th consecutive victory, were turned away, but no one knows better than the Schoolboy himself Wednesday night what it means to be frustrated. On the threshold of an achievement which would have wiped out the American league record he now must share with such illustrious predecessors as Joe Wood, Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove. Rowe suddenly lost the magic spell he has been weaving with his long right arm and was knocked out of the box in the seventh inning.

Two lethal blows in the fifth inning, the first a double by Bing Miller with the bases full and the other a home run by Pinky Higgins, wrote "finis" to Rowe's streak. They led to Rowe's retirement, under continued fire, two innings later. Before being relieved by Vic Sorrell, Rowe yielded a dozen hits and 10 runs.

The Athletics' final margin of victory was 13 to 5. It gave the Mackmen an even break in the day's doubleheader. The Tigers did most of their slugging in the first game, which they won, 12-7. Thus Detroit stretched its margin over the losing New York Yankees to five games.

The conqueror of Rowe was another young speedball right-hander, Johnny Marcum, who went into the gray with a fair-sized winning streak of his own and emerged with his sixth consecutive victory to give the home folks back in Eminence, Ky., something more to cheer about. Johnny collected 3 hits, too, in the course of a big afternoon.

BROWNS DEFEAT SENS AGAIN

WASHINGTON—The St. Louis Browns clamped hold of the fifth place rung in the American league ladder Wednesday, defeating the Washington Senators, 5-4, to make their series with the Nationals 4-1 in their favor.

Sensational Streak Stopped

A savage fifth inning rally wrecked the hopes of Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe of becoming the first major league pitcher to win 17 successive games. Bing Miller's double with the bases full and Pinky Higgins' slash out of the park accounted for five runs and paved the way for the Schoolboy's removal under fire two innings later. He allowed 12 hits and 10 runs while in the box before the Athletics.

stilet although she has few peers in shot execution; namely and mainly Miss Palfrey. The champion gets 'em with her chops and spinners, alternating the tempo of her pace frequently as to completely mystify her opponents.

The continuation of her reign is problematical, depending entirely on the development of some of the promising youngsters. Two of them—Miss Palfrey and Carolin Babcock—appear to have the strokes and the game to beat Miss Jacobs but principally they lack experience and endurance.

In the case of Miss Palfrey it is hardly likely she will ever ascend to the national throne.

WATCH BABCOCK
Miss Babcock, on the other hand, right now appears to be the best little prospect in the country. She has all the strokes and adds masculine severity to her drives.

On the court she's a tigress in shorts either leaping and reaching high to smash the ball or dropping to her haunches to return a low one. She's an indefatigable retriever and covers the court with the speed and agility of the jungle queen.

As was evidenced in her semifinal against Miss Jacobs the only feature lacking in Miss Babcock's play is the trick of being able to save herself while a match is in progress.

STAMMERS STARS
The English threat to the American tennis dynasty loomed dangerous until left-handed Katherine Stammers bumped into Miss Babcock in the quarter-finals. Making her first appearance in this country, blonde Miss Stammers became one of the most fancied players from across the sea ever to participate in a tournament here.

With more experience and polishing up of her backhand she'll be a worthy challenger for the No. 1 ranking in the world. Her repertoire includes the speediest and deadliest for hand seen since the days when Helen Wills Moody was at the peak of her game.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD
Helen Hull Jacobs wins most of her matches and titles before taking the court.
It was hardly necessary for her to play little Sarah Palfrey to annex the title for the third successive year in the recent women's national tennis championship.

Before she faced Miss Jacobs across the net at Forest Hills Miss Palfrey frankly admitted she feared the champion. And when the match was over for the benefit of a radio audience she said, "Helen was just too good," but to close friends she confided, "I develop an inferiority complex when I play her."

That's the way it is with most of this country's young court stars. If it isn't an inferiority complex that beats them it's Queen Helen's unshakable steadiness and with it the ability to preserve her stamina during a hard match.
Miss Jacobs hardly is a stroke

Rallies In Three Innings Spell Defeat

Both Teams Get Fourteen Hits Apiece; Pitchers Unsteady

By HANK HART
Coming from behind after the Anderson Music company had taken a comparatively safe lead, the Lincoln Food Stores slashed through the Athletics in the third, eighth and ninth innings to defeat the Reds, 10-4 Wednesday night.

Both pitchers were unsteady but Harvey Krauss managed to settle down behind the terrific hitting of his mates.

Krauss and Gant were the leaders in the Lincoln attack with a trio of bingles apiece. Redding accounted for three hits to lead the Reds. Ebbs tripled with two men away to send Bunch across the plate in the first inning. Redding followed with an outfield bingle to give the Reds a two run advantage.

The Andersons duplicated their first inning feat with a two run rally in the second when Williams, Garza, and Fowler singled in succession.

The Groccrymen did not break the ice until the third but took the lead in that inning when they scored five times.
Twice during the late innings, the Melody Makers rallied to tie the score only to have their opponent pinch themselves into the lead.
The Groccrymen led the game in the eighth when Black and Drey tallied to give the Lincolnmen a two run lead.
Bunch binged after two were down in the final inning but Ebbs flew to the right fielder to end the game.

Holiday SAFETY WEEK

Buy Firestone

SAFEST TIRES IN THE WORLD! PRICES REMARKABLY LOW!

Here's PROOF OF SAFETY

TWO BREATH-TAKING ENDURANCE RUNS LAST WEEK ON SAME TRACK—A DRAMATIC COMPARISON OF SAFETY! READ BOTH LETTERS

THE Proof of leadership is performance! Many claim it, but Firestone proves it. Never before have tires withstood such severe, continuous, grinding torture, breaking 77 speed records for 3,000 consecutive miles at 127.2 miles per hour. Not a Gum-Dipped cord loosened, not a tread separated, not one blowout.

Hour after hour, on through the scorching heat of the day and inky blackness of the night, with temperatures as high as 120 degrees—breaking record after record for speed, strength, safety and blowout protection—all in a stupendous demonstration of safety performance for the car owners of America. This was made possible by Gum-Dipping, which coats every cord fiber with liquid rubber.

For your holiday trip have the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store equip your car with Firestone Threaded Spark Plugs, install a Firestone Battery and relace your brakes with Firestone Aquapuf Brake Lining. Protect your life and the lives of your family with the safest tire in the world. Buy them this week before prices go higher.

Ab Jenkins praises Firestone tires in toughest endurance run he ever made.

Lake Bonneville, Utah
Aug. 10th, 1934

Mr. Harvey S. Firestone, Chairman, Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio

Dear Mr. Firestone:

Under A.A.A. supervision, I have just completed a 3,000-mile run on the hot salt desert at Lake Bonneville, Utah, averaging 127.2 miles per hour, breaking Firestone Tires without any tire trouble. Firestone Tires gave an almost unbelievable performance, with temperatures as high as 120 degrees.

Last year I made a similar run with a car of less power and speed using tires of another make whose national advertising featured blowout protection. Yet, I had a blowout and made a number of tire changes.

This year I also used Firestone Spark Plugs and a Firestone Extra Power Battery with your new All-Rubber Separator. Not a Spark Plug failed and the Battery required no service of any kind.

If every car owner knew what my Firestone Tires meant through their strength and heat protection Gum-Dipping means in strength and heat protection that make Firestone Tires safe from blowouts. This is the toughest run I have ever made in my 25 years of breaking speed records.

Sincerely yours,
Ab Jenkins

Chapter Two SCOT IN TROUBLE

"I understand," Bowers said, "that you are on your way to Singapore, and only put in here because of sickness."

"It's McLeod!" exclaimed Flint. "The animal catcher. Appendix, I guess."

"And what's the plan?" asked Bowers. "Do you leave him here and then go right on to Singapore?"

"Shouldn't wonder," said Flint.

Flint.

"I like it," said Bowers. "The fact is, I want to get to Singapore, and I don't care how I get there."

"What's so nice about Singapore?" asked Flint.

"It's the lights," said Bowers, with a quick wink of one eye. "I feel a great need of lights. Lots and lots of white lights, and a sprinkling of red ones. I invite you to dine with me our first night ashore. Is it a bargain?"

"It would be swell," said Flint, and his enthusiasm was genuine.

But for various reasons he did not wish Harvey Bowers to sail on the Boldero. Flint knew her to be a doomed ship. He liked Bowers at first sight, but Bowers did not fit into the scheme of things. He could be nothing but a complication.

On the other hand, if the port authorities made a point of it, they would have to give him a berth. Flint and Captain Wong Ho could not afford to take any stand which might arouse suspicion.

Angus McLeod had heard the rumour of the doctor's launch alongside, the approaching voices of Wong Ho, and Van Reuter, and their steps along the deck.

This, as is often the case with port without you?"

It was not only the expense which troubled McLeod. As a matter of fact, he had had two fortunate years and could well afford it. He was troubled about the animals themselves. They needed expert care and management. He voiced the difficulty.

"There is no one on the ship," he said, "who knows how to care for them. In one way or another, what with madness and worrying, I would lose the lot of them."

"Well," said Van Reuter, "maybe I have got an answer for that."

He looked about him and located Harvey Bowers. There were two tigers in McLeod's collection, a male and female; and Bowers was explaining to Flint that the jungle did not contain two finer specimens. The beasts themselves were magnificently undisturbed by the attention they were receiving. They did not return it. So far as they were concerned, the two men who discussed them did not exist. Van Reuter called to Bowers.

"Your ship looks like Aladdin's palace," said Bowers.

"At least, we will be heading that way, but you can't tell how long an old tub like this will hold together."

"I want to get to Singapore in the worst way," said Bowers; "and I am hoping you will have room for me."

"Room enough," said Flint. "But you'd be too damned uncomfortable."

"Between you and me," said Bowers, "I don't believe you know what it is to be uncomfortable. I have been a year in the jungle. Your ship looks like Aladdin's palace to me."

"This awful smell!" objected

CULT MEMBERS OPPOSE OPERATION ON INJURED BOY

For two weeks Wallace Doyle Sharp, Jr., 8-year-old Fort Payne, Ala., boy, suffered from an infected leg while his parents insisted he could be healed "by the Lord in prayer" and refused to permit physicians to attend him. After the lad was spirited away by cult members to prevent medical attention, the father and two others were arrested, an operation was performed, and surgeons declared the boy had a "fifty-fifty" chance to live. The boy is shown nursing the leg as the father and grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Sharpe, look on. (Associated Press Photo)

They were super-men in those days. Players of the golden baseball regime didn't know what injuries were. Uncle Wilbert Robinson, who recently was called out for the final time, was playing a close game in 1904. A pitched ball came in close and fractured a finger badly. He hit off the offending finger and went on playing, so the legend goes.

Albert "Hook Arm" Hartman, now of San Angelo, brings good tidings of excellent fishing on the North Concho river. A ten foot rise flushed the stream and left the water level up considerably.

Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, who used to set them on their ears in the Texas league as a Beaumont mound star, missed his chance to establish a major league record of 17 successive victories Wednesday. Oddly enough, it was another young man, Pinky Higgins, who got his baseball start in Texas, who completely undid Rowe. The schoolboy dished up a double to Bing Miller with the bases loaded to make matters bad, but he washed out completely when Pinky smashed the next one out of the park.

Nimrods are lifting the old firelock off the forks above the door and oiling the rusty iron. Dove season opens September 1 and closes October 31. Quail season, much shorter, opens December 1 and ends January 16. Duck season October 26 and closes December 30.

Duck hunting will be limited to three days a week, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It is necessary to procure from the postoffice a migratory bird stamp which will cost $1. To hunt water fowl without the stamp is to subject yourself to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment.

Dove and quail should be plentiful this year since there has been a three year ban on hunting the birds in Howard county. Unless there is more rain to fill lakes, duck hunting is apt to be not so good in this immediate area.

Play for the city championship is not apt to be resumed until the middle of next week. A number of Lion players, on business and pleasure, are out of town and the ranks cannot be filled until sometime past Labor Day.

Nothing is found among the rules concerning the argument in the game between Linck and the Lions last night. Rule 4, Section 1 states, "A game shall consist of seven innings unless the team who bats first scores less than the other in which case the game shall end."

Due to the absence of Spike Henninger, the Cosden Oilers will not play the Stanton Buffaloes until next week. Under the leadership of Pepper Martin, the Oilers will attempt to end the dispute concerning first place when they battle the Coshoma Sinciators in Coshoma Sunday.

The battle for the Southwestern Conference crown should be good this year. It remains to be seen what T.C.U. can do without the aid of their departed coach but the race should be better than the one last year.

S.M.U. with the fleet Bob Wilson and Capt. Raymond Fuqua returning, will be hard to beat. Texas has Co-captains Bohn Hilliard and Charles Coates to smash the enemy lines while Arkansas has practically all their team for another year.

The Mustangs will maintain their policy of playing inter-sectional games this year when they journey into New York to meet the seasoned Rams from Fordham. The Ponies can be counted on to make it an interesting game for the New Yorkers.

Oklahoma A. and M. and Louisiana State are also on the pony schedule. The Texas University Steers are also in search of larger games. They are scheduled to cart their

Lincks Beat Lions 3 To 2

Both Teams Play Well With Many Championship At Stake

By HANK HART Glenn Gulkey beat Clarence Day in a pitcher's duel Wednesday night to give the Link Food Store a 2-2 decision over the Lions club.

With the Munny championship at stake, both teams played a fine brand of ball and the result was not decided until the final inning.

The Jungles Beasts were without the services of a second baseman and the Grocerymen used their advantage to gain the decision. With two on in the fifth, Gant dropped a fly ball back of second base that went for a hit and sent two men across the plate.

The Lions rallied desperately in the final frame to tie the score at two all when Galbraith tallied on a terrific smash by Hall but Neel threw wild into first base to allow E. P. Ketter to score and write final to the game.

Girls Enjoy Slumber Party At Home Of Kathleen Underwood

The Busy Bodies of the Junior department of the First Methodist Sunday School were delightfully entertained with a slumber party by Kathleen Underwood Wednesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Underwood, on the Smith lease south of town.

The girls assembled at the home of their teacher, Mrs. W. D. McDonald and were carried out in cars. A supper of sandwiches, cake and sherbet was served after which they retired for the night, sleeping out in the open.

Following a delicious breakfast they went to the home of Molly Dolen the next morning and visited there until 10:30 when they returned to town.

Class members were: Joyce Terry, Joyce Batts, Ruby Lee Fleen, Mildred Jones, Wanda Horn, Molly Dolen, Marian Legge, Frankie Martin, Gladene Rowe, Billy Jean Porter, Imogene Golden, Laura Jane Perry, Loretta Tidwell, Rita Mae Bigony.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filers which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount ranging burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of sarsing, getting up night, humpback, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and distention.

If kidneys don't empty 3 times every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and keep you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or harmful drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-McMillan Co.

BARNEY OLDFIELD BEVERLY HILLS, CALIFORNIA August 1, 1934

Mr. P. W. Litchfield, President The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Akron, Ohio

Dear Mr. Litchfield: You know that I know tires... I have to know tires... my life depends upon them.

At no time during my 32 years of professional driving have I made such extreme demands upon tires as I now make, continuously, at the Chrysler sand pits and test track on the Century of Progress grounds in Chicago.

The track is one-fourth mile long. Its surface is highly abrasive and its turns are unusually severe.

Unless my tires grip doggedly... unless they are so rugged of carcass as to withstand terrific friction heat and pile driver blows... my daily exhibitions would be impossible.

And that's why I am exclusively using the famous Goodyear G3 All-Weathers.

Since the very beginning of automobile racing, no tires have been called upon to withstand such extreme punishment. But those G3's can take it... not a tire failure so far this season!

And they're strictly stock tires... exactly the same tires the general public buys from Goodyear dealers... whereas tires used in races such as the Memorial Day 500 mile classic and similar events are specially constructed and not sold to or suitable for the general motoring public.

I sincerely congratulate Goodyear upon having developed this really sensational new tire.

You know me, Barney Oldfield Barney Oldfield

P.S. Naturally I have equipped the cars driven by Mrs. Oldfield and Betty, my daughter, with G3's.
