Seminar scheduled by Chamber

"Profitable Advertising and Promotion" is the subject of a seminar to be hosted here Tuesday, April 16, by the retail business committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The seminar will be held at Hereford Community Center from 7 to 10 p.m. on April 16 and is sponsored by the chamber and the WTSU Panhandle Business Development Center.

Cost the seminar is $10 a person with the maximum for a firm being $50, if more than five attend. To make reservations or secure information, call the chamber office, 364-3333.

Don Taylor, director of the Panhandle Small Business Development Center, is the speaker for the seminar. Taylor is a former small business owner with more than 20 years experience in attracting and keeping customers. A graduate of Wayland Baptist University with a degree in marketing, he promises those attending with some valuable insights into advertising strategies.

An active lecturer and writer, Taylor has spoken to corporate, service and student groups throughout the U.S. He authors a weekly column, "Minding Your Own Business," which is published in area newspapers.

Some of the topics Taylor will cover in the seminar include: how to attract new customers, creating effective ads, the 10 commandments of advertising, and getting more from your advertising dollars.

Deadline extended for logos

The deadline has been extended to 5 p.m. Monday for the logo and theme contest being sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for its July 4 Welcome Home celebration.

The logo and theme will be used for the July celebration in honor of soldiers who served in Operation Desert Storm.

Contest rules are as follows:
1. Drawing must be large and on 8 1/2-by-11 plain paper.
2. Drawing must be clear and in black and white.

3. Entries must be turned into the Chamber office no later than 5 p.m. April 12.

4. Please print full name, address, age and telephone number on the back of entries.

Prizes for the winners will be $50 for first and $25 for second, third and fourth places.

The contest is open to all ages. The winning entry will be used for promotion of July 4 activities. Winning entries will automatically become property of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The winner will be announced later this month.

Ceremony is Saturday for soldiers

Three more Hereford soldiers who served in Operation Desert Storm will be honored at 2 p.m. Saturday at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Jesus Morales, Colin Ford and Johnny Garza will be the honorees at Saturday's program, which is open to the public.

The festivities will include special music, a presentation from Operation Heartshield and the mall, and a speech by Gunnery Sgt. Willie Niner of Amarillo, an area Marine recruiter.

Richards will sign school bill

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards says she's ready to sign a school finance reform bill into law, if legislators approve the measure.

"The legislation is going to reflect on the economic future of this state, and whether or not all children have an opportunity at a good education. And I believe this bill does that," Richards said Wednesday.

The House may vote on the reform bill as early as Thursday, said House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth. Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said he also wants a quick vote in the Senate.

Leaders on both sides predicted passage of the bill, which would shift hundreds of millions of dollars in local property tax money from rich to poor school districts.

The Texas Supreme Court twice has unanimously ordered lawmakers to reform the school finance system, which now allows wide disparities in funding among school districts because of its reliance on the local property tax. The system also is funded by state aid and some federal money.

The state faces a Monday hearing before State District Judge F. Scott McCown, who is overseeing the case and has ordered an alternative plan to be drawn up by a court-appointed expert.

Sen. Carl Parker, Senate Education Committee chairman, was cautious about predicting whether the bill would meet with court approval. He said he is concerned because the bill still allows rich school districts to raise "a lot more money" than poor ones.

"It is a vast improvement over current law ... but I'm not satisfied it'll get by the court. It might," said Parker, D-Port Arthur.

The bill does contain a revenue cap to limit such disparities when school districts containing 2 percent of the state's students begin outstripping others in raising money.

A House-Senate conference committee approved the school finance reform plan 10-0 Wednesday, after revising a school consolidation provision that some warned could have doomed the measure in the House.

The provision would have paved the way for the state education commissioner to force local school district consolidation. As revised, the plan allows the commissioner to enforce any decision by new countywide advisory committees to consolidate school districts.

The school finance reform plan was developed in weekend talks among Lewis, Bullock and lawmakers.

Its estimated cost to the state is about $1.2 billion over the next two years. When fully implemented, it also would shift about $400 million a year in local property tax revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts, according to a Legislative Education Board estimate.

Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, said lawmakers know the bill will cost more money but said it was a necessity.

"All of the children of Texas are our children. All of those children deserve the right to the best education this state can afford. All of the resources of this state ... ought to be available and accessible to all of the children of this state," Ms. Delco said.

The bill would set a minimum local property tax rate of 72 cents per $100 valuation, rising to $1 in four years. School districts would get a basic allotment of $2,200, rising to $2,800.

The plan would redistribute local property tax revenue generated at the minimum rate in new education districts drawn largely along county lines.

The districts could tax another 45 cents to enrich programs and for construction, with each school district guaranteed $21.50 per penny, rising to $28 in four years.

School districts now share local property tax revenue over the minimum rate. The state would make up the difference if poor school districts could not raise the guaranteed level through local taxes. Another 5 cents of local tax would be permitted on top of the $1.45, but no state money would be available at this level.

The bill also would extend the school year from 175 days to 180 days.

US Census study shows small gains by Hispanics

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's Hispanics made small steps out of poverty and the unemployment lines and toward a better educated population during the economic recovery of the 1980s.

But a Census Bureau report also says large segments of the fast-growing Latino population are poor, unemployed, uneducated and shut out of the best jobs.

"We see Hispanics making gains, but the question is, are the gains sufficient. And the answer is almost always no. We still see Hispanics over-represented at the lower socioeconomic levels," said Robert Parol, research associate at the National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials.

The Census Bureau's portrait Wednesday of the nation's 22.4 million Hispanics, when compared with the non-Hispanic population, shows large gaps: 21 percent of Hispanic children are poor, compared with 11 percent of all U.S. children; 26.6 percent of the total Hispanic population is poor, compared with 11.6 percent of non-Hispanics.

Only about half of Hispanics had completed high school as of last year. Hispanic workers tend to be concentrated in low-wage service jobs or as laborers; and their earnings trail non-Hispanic incomes, despite slight gains between 1982, the end of the last recession, and 1989.

Among the gains cited by the Census Bureau were a drop in the Hispanic unemployment rate, a slight decrease in the family poverty rate, and an increase in median household income.

While the unemployment rate for Hispanics fell from 16.5 percent in March 1983 to 8.2 percent in March 1990, the non-Hispanic unemployment rate was just 5.3 percent.

The Census Bureau also found that while the poverty rate among Hispanic families fell about 4 percentage points between 1982 and 1989, more than double the proportion of Hispanics lived in poverty than non-Hispanic families, or 23.4 percent to 9.2 percent, two years ago.

And although Hispanic households saw their median income increase about 13 percent during the 1980s, from $19,500 to $21,900, the median income for non-Hispanic households was the higher - $29,500 at the end of the decade.

"We see small incremental gains that often almost equal stagnation," said Parol. "The leaps that we need to be making aren't being made yet." The bureau's style of presentation made full comparison with

Census Bureau report on Hispanics

- 21 % of Hispanic children are poor.
- 26.6% of the Hispanic population is poor.
- About half of all Hispanics have a high school diploma.
- The unemployment rate for Hispanics is higher than among non-Hispanics.
- While the poverty rate among Hispanics decreased, it is still twice that of others.
- The median household income for Hispanics is $21,900, compared to $29,500 for non-Hispanics.

non-Hispanics difficult. The report did not give the non-Hispanic unemployment rate for March 1983, nor the poverty rate among non-Hispanic families in 1982, nor the median income of non-Hispanic families in 1982.

Robert Greenstein, director of the non-profit Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, also questioned whether Hispanics had actually made any gains during the 1980s.

Atlantis lands safely in desert

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) - Space shuttle Atlantis landed with five astronauts today following a triumphant spacewalking mission that lasted a day longer than planned because of strong desert wind.

Atlantis glided through the sky and touched down at 6:55 a.m. PDT (8:55 CDT), shortly after sunrise. The arrival was heralded by twin sonic booms that shook the ground.

Mission Control's Brian Duffy told commander Steven Nagel, "Steve, you and your crew did it all and you made it look easy. Congratulations on a great job."

About 1,100 spectators cheered as Atlantis landed smoothly on the dry lakebed and rolled to a stop.

Atlantis circled the world almost 93 times during the six days in space. It traveled 2,480,016 miles.

Mission Control issued the go-ahead for a landing in the Mojave Desert after the winds calmed down this morning. Powerful gusts prevented Atlantis from landing there as planned Wednesday.

Flight directors passed up an earlier landing opportunity at Kennedy Space Center because of fog and clouds. The weather in Florida later cleared, but NASA opted for the spacious lakebed at Edwards Air Force Base.

The crew of four men and one woman could have stayed up until Saturday.

Atlantis' astronauts accomplished their primary task on Sunday, releasing the 17-ton Gamma Ray Observatory. It will circle the Earth for more than two years in search of gamma rays, the most intense radiation in the universe.

The crew also undertook the first American spacewalks in five years - one an emergency mission to fix a stuck antenna on the $617 million observatory, the other to lay groundwork for a $30 billion space station NASA hopes to start building in 1995.

NASA said the crew gathered a wealth of engineering information from the spacewalks, during which they tested tools and construction methods for the orbiting laboratory.

Mission Control awoke crew members today shortly after midnight - about 1 1/2 hours early - to prepare them for a possible Florida landing.

They were greeted with music from the TV series "Magnum, P.I." and a taped message from his star, Tom Selleck. Astronaut Linda Godwin is a big Selleck fan, NASA said.

"Good morning, and a special wakeup to Linda," the message said. "This is Tom Selleck and I hope you had a nice night's sleep, but it's time to get up and go to work."

On Wednesday, after Mission Control waved off the shuttle, the crew members pulled their ham radio back out and chatted with radio operators. They also got in some more sightseeing as they orbited Earth at 17,400 mph.

"It is incredible. Some of the views are amazing," said astronaut Jay Apt. "You wouldn't believe it. This spacecraft has great windows."

The mission, the first of 1991, began with liftoff Friday.

Discovery was supposed to go up first, but cracked door hinges forced NASA to postpone its military flight in March to late April. Atlantis also has hinge cracks, but NASA said they were much smaller and posed no danger.

The doors, on the orbiter's belly, must close tightly to prevent the craft from being destroyed by the heat of re-entering the atmosphere.

Bivins bill passes

The Texas Senate unanimously passed SB689 by Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo), designed to crack down on black market sales of cigarettes in the state.

Bivins, in a news release, said Wednesday the state may lose $100 million a year because of illegal activities from bordering states and Mexico.

The bill will create an audit trail from the time tobacco products come into Texas until the final sale. "This will allow the Treasury to enforce bootlegging laws and assist local law enforcement with cracking down on theft of cigarettes," Bivins said.

The bill now goes to the House. If it is passed and signed into law by Gov. Ann Richards, it would be the first update of the tobacco section of the tax enforcement code since 1932.

Public invited to musical

The musical comedy presentation of "Pump Boys and Dinettes" will be presented to the public at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 14, in the Hereford High School auditorium. Tickets are priced at $7.50 for adults and $5 for children 12 years of age and younger and may be purchased at St. Thomas Episcopal Church or at the door. Cast members will sing and play various instruments including the guitar, piano, percussion and bass.

Allen, Hollinger speak to Toujours Amis Study Club

A joint program was presented by Barbara Allen and Gary Hollinger when members of Toujours Amis Study Club met April 2 in the home of Kim Buckley.

Allen presented a narrative about her recent illness and liver transplant at Baylor Medical Center in Dallas. She emphasized that her success was due to the tremendous support given to her from her family and to her willingness to participate in the donor program.

In conjunction with Allen's talk, Gary Hollinger, who is associated with the donor program in the Panhandle, gave several testimonies from organ donor recipients. Allen and Hollinger are available to give programs to local organizations.

During the business meeting with President Becky Reinart presiding, correspondence was read from the Hereford Pilot Club concerning the Jubilee of Arts to be held during the Annual Town and Country Jubilee Celebration in August. Reinart presented a slate of officers which will be voted on during the next meeting.

Hostesses, Buckley, Janet Brigrance and Marylin Leasure, served refreshments of ice cream sundaes to

New Arrivals

Fred and Sharon Fangman of Hereford are the parents of a daughter, Renae Sue, born April 2 at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. She weighed 5 lbs. 14 1/2 oz.

Grandparents are Frank and Dolores Brorman of Hereford and Eugene and Elsie Fangman of Vega. Great-grandmothers include Adeline Loerwald and Margaret Brorman, both of Hereford.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter is from the mother of a drug addict. I have a request to make on behalf of all parents of addicted children. I pray that you will print it and that they will listen.

Please don't give or lend my daughter money. And don't believe a word she says.

"Elyse" is pretty, outgoing and has lovely manners. She is also the world's greatest con-artist. She could ring your doorbell at 1:30 a.m. and wake you from a sound sleep. You would be alarmed and disoriented. She might tell you that her younger sister's car has broken down and she needs money to get it towed. No, she can't call her mother because her mother is out of town. Or she might say her mother is not supposed to know "Sis" drove home from college.

You'll be rattled and somewhat sympathetic because you, too, have a daughter and you'd want someone to help her if she were stranded. So you lend her $40, $60 or $90. She will promise to pay you back "next week" but you will never see that money again. You have just paid for her crack cocaine.

Early in the afternoon she may show up at your door and tell you that she locked her pocketbook and keys in the car and is late for a job interview. She must have $20 "until tomorrow." Or she might say she owes somebody money and that person is threatening to call her boss which means she will lose her job. You could get her out of that jam for $40.

My daughter, like so many other addicts, is adorable, but please say "NO" to this liar. You could meet her on a train. She might live next door, she could be your friend's daughter, or your daughter's roommate.

Elyse has been to all my friends with the damndest stories you've ever heard. I am amazed how many of them have given her money and never mentioned it to me until I brought up the subject.

A drug addict doesn't have to be a stranger or a raggedy, down-and-out panhandler begging on the street. That addict could be my charming daughter in a designer suit. Please tell her "NO."—A Long Island Mother

Dear Mother: You have written a powerful letter with an excellent message. I would like to suggest, however, that there are legitimate emergencies. The wise thing to do is check out the story before you hand over the cash.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This feminist stuff may have gone too far, or maybe it's just that I happen to live in the heart of academia, Cambridge, Mass., to be exact. So help me, I heard the following conversation at lunch.

Man No. 1: My wife had amino last week and we know the gender of our unborn child.

Man No. 2: Well, what will it be?

Man No. 1: A baby woman.

Man No. 2: That's really wonderful. Baby women are awfully nice. You are a very lucky guy.

I swear to you, Ann, this conversation was exactly as I reported it. Neither guy was speaking with an implied wink in his voice. Talk about over the edge stiff. I'm not looking to go back to the days of "broads" and "dames," but "baby woman?" Give me a break.—Bummed Out in Harvard Yard

Dear Bummed: I'm speechless.

Feeling pressured to have sex? How well-informed are you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teenager." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill., 60611-0562.

CPR classes planned

CPR Instructor classes will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Red Cross office.

The adult CPR, infant and child CPR and community CPR courses are based on information contained in the 1985 standards and guidelines.

The classes will include information on how to deal with respiratory emergencies and first aid for cardiac emergencies. They provide information on what to do to reduce deaths from two of the leading killers in the United States, cardiovascular disease for adults and childhood injury.

The use of video, workbooks and practice sessions designed to teach skill will be used.

For more information, contact the Red Cross office or Ronny Sanders, instructor trainer of water safety, CPR and first aid, at 364-8886 or 364-7556.

SPORTS

Events here, in Pampa to decide district titles

District meets for the tennis team and both track teams highlight the weekend's sports activities. But while they go out of town, the golf and varsity baseball teams will be in action in Hereford Saturday.

The baseball team has a game at 1 p.m. against the Randall Raiders. Randall is 14-4 overall and 2-2 in district, tied for third with Dumas and Caprock. At 3-1, Pampa (15-2 overall) and Borger (12-5) lead the district.

Hereford, 0-4 and 3-17, will look for their first district win and first win since whipping Dalhart 9-0 on March 9.

The Maroon junior varsity team travels to Pampa Friday to meet the Harvesters at 4:30 p.m.

Pitman Municipal Golf Course will host the Whitefaces and the rest of the district's golfers Saturday in the final district round of the year.

The Hereford girls are within reach of a district title. With two district rounds played and two remaining, they stand 35 strokes off Pampa's lead. Second-place Borger is 16 behind Pampa and 19 ahead of third-place Hereford.

Hereford's second team is 112 strokes behind Pampa. Caprock is practically eliminated at 268 strokes back.

Unlike the boys and their six rounds, the girls will play only four rounds this year. Randall did not field a team and did not host a round, and the district round scheduled for March 30 in Dumas was snowed out and cancelled.

The possibility of the Hereford boys catching up to district-leading Borger will require excellent play on the Herd's part and probably a slip by the Bulldogs.

With only two district rounds remaining, Borger leads third-place Hereford by 108 strokes and second place Pampa by 70. Hereford is 38 behind the Harvesters.

But an interesting trend has developed. In the first round, Borger beat Hereford by 50 strokes. In the second round, Borger beat Hereford by 26. The gap kept closing in the third and fourth rounds, with Borger beating Hereford by 19 and finally 13 strokes.

Also, after finishing third in each of the first three rounds, Hereford came in second in the fourth round last Saturday in Dumas, edging Pampa by a single stroke. The Whiteface boys are definitely gaining on their competition—the question is: do they have enough time to catch Pampa?

They'll find out Friday in Borger and Saturday in Hereford. They tee off Saturday at 9 a.m. The tennis and track teams will go to Pampa Friday and Saturday to compete for district titles.

Both track teams will be at the stadium at the same time. For each event, girls will precede boys, except the 400-meter dash.

The track action starts at 3 p.m. Friday with the 3,200-meter run final. After that, the rest of the afternoon's races are preliminaries, starting at 3:30 and continuing until 5:30 in fifteen minute intervals. They are: 100-meter hurdles (for girls), 110 hurdles (for boys), 100 dash, 400 dash, 300 hurdles and 200 dash.

Friday's field events will all start at 2:30 p.m. They will be the shot put, pole vault and long jump for the boys, and discus, triple jump and high jump for the girls.

The meet resumes Saturday at 11 a.m. with the remaining field events: discus, high jump and triple jump for boys, and shot put and long jump for girls.

The running events start at 2 p.m. and run until 3:30, when awards will be presented. Events start approximately every ten minutes, going in this order: 400-meter relay, 800 run, 100 hurdles (for girls), 110 hurdles (for boys), 100 dash, 800 relay, 400 dash, 300 hurdles, 200 dash, 1,600 run and 1,600 relay. Again, the 400 dash is the only event which has the boys running first.

Tennis action in Pampa starts at 9 a.m. both days. Both of Hereford's doubles teams are the top seeds in the tournament; Teresa Baker and Gina Alley are the highest ranked girls, while T.J. Head and Greg Coplen top the boys' field.

Other high seeded Hereford players are Jamie Kapka and Brandon Flood, second and third respectively in boys' singles, and Brenna Reinauer and Bri Reinauer, second and third in girls' singles.

Trisha Munoz and Robyn Sublett form the third-seeded girls' doubles team.

Dickey talks 'run and gun'

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - When Texas Tech forward Will Flemons heard new head basketball coach James Dickey talking about a run-and-gun style offense, his face lit up.

"All right. That's what I like to hear," Flemons said after attending a news conference Wednesday announcing Dickey's hiring. "I can feel the breakaway slam dunks coming already."

Dickey, 37, who served one year as an assistant at Texas Tech, was promoted to replace Gerald Myers.

Myers agreed to step down after 20 years and four consecutive losing seasons. Dickey is faced with rebuilding a once-prominent program that has fallen on hard times.

The Red Raiders averaged only 2,461 fans per home game last year and are coming off their worst season ever, which included a record 23 losses against only 8 wins.

Many fans blamed the lack of interest in Tech basketball on Myers' patient, half-court offense.

Dickey says he will pump new life into the program by turning his players loose.

"It's a players' game," Dickey said. "It's going to be fast-paced. We are definitely going to run and take 3-pointers."

"I don't want the kids throwing the ball into the stands. We want to be under control and take good shots. But I want fans to go away thinking that Tech has given its all."

Flemons, who led the Southwest Conference in rebounding two years ago as a freshman, said Dickey is the right man to turn things around.

"He'll get things turned around immediately," Flemons said. "He brings so much excitement to the team. And we need the up-tempo style and some slam dunks to get the fans into the game."

Dickey came to Tech as an assistant last year after eight years as an assistant under Eddie Sutton at Arkansas and Kentucky.

"I've had a lot of outstanding assistant coaches through the years, but none better than James Dickey," said Sutton, now coach at Oklahoma State, after hearing of Dickey's promotion.

"He knows the game of basketball; he's a tireless worker; he's a great recruiter and he has always established a super rapport with the players who have played for him," Sutton said.

Before joining Sutton at Arkansas, Dickey was an assistant for two years at Central Arkansas, where he lettered four years in basketball before graduating in 1976.

Dickey was one of six candidates interviewed by Tech athletic director T. Jones and the only one to be interviewed by school president Robert Lawless.

Last week, Lawless criticized Jones' search for a new coach as not being extensive enough. Jones defended the search, which included more than 50 applications from several NCAA Division I head and assistant coaches.

Lawless said Wednesday that he and the Tech Board of Regents unanimously approved Jones' recommendation of Dickey Tuesday night.

Jones said Wednesday that Dickey's contract had not been drawn up yet. But officials said the contract would be more than one year and the base salary and perks such as summer camps, radio and TV shows would push the yearly total to around $135,000.

Jones said after dismissing Myers on March 13 that the bottom line for the program is to put people in the stands and money into the cash register.

The basketball program, one of the school's top revenue sports, has fallen into "substantial" debt, Jones said.

Dickey said he would spend a lot of time over the next six months selling the students on Tech basketball.

"The students in the stands set the tempo for our home games," Dickey said. "We want to let them know how much we need them."

Four Hogs to get 1-year suspensions

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Four Arkansas basketball players reportedly suspended from play for a year after a sexual incident in a dormitory have also gotten hate mail and obscene telephone calls, according to an official of a black student group.

Highly placed university sources said Wednesday that second-team All-American Todd Day and three other members of the nationally ranked Razorbacks were hit with year-long suspensions from play by the school's All University Judicial Board.

Kris Hunter, secretary of the University of Arkansas Black Student Association, told of the mail and phone calls the players had received in remarks to reporters after a rally in support of the players on campus Wednesday.

A 34-year-old woman, who is white, said she was sexually assaulted in the dorm Feb. 27 and implicated four players. They admitted having sex with her but said she consented. Police said the woman was drunk. The local prosecutor said there wasn't enough evidence to prosecute the players.

The sources who told The Associated Press of the suspensions agreed to speak only if they were given anonymity. They said the players can still attend school and can appeal the judicial board ruling to administrators.

"The minimum effect of this would be to prohibit all of the players involved from either playing or practicing next year - for the full year," one of the sources said.

The appeal process should be completed in a matter of days, school spokesman Jim Treadway said. Treadway said the university has heard that the students will appeal the decision. The appeal would go to B. Alan Sugg, president of the University of Arkansas system.

According to the sources, the suspensions were given to:

- Day, a junior forward from Memphis, Tenn., the team's leading scorer in 1990-91.

- Darrell Hawkins, a junior forward from Prairie View, Texas, who sat out last season with an injury.

- Elmer Martin, a freshman forward from Memphis, Tenn.

- Roosevelt Wallace, a junior forward from Cleveland.

Of the four, Day was the only full-time starter last year. He averaged 21.2 points a game in regular-season play for the Razorbacks, leading the Southwest Conference. He was also third in steals in the league, averaging 2.3 a game. He was named the SWC's most valuable player by reporters covering the league.

Blazers sweep Texas

By The Associated Press

The Portland Trail Blazers had the eyes of Texas upon them this week, and they gave a basketball lesson to the Mavericks, Rockets and Spurs.

In the previous 43 series when an NBA team traveled to Dallas, Houston and San Antonio for consecutive games, the opposition was unable to pull off a sweep, with Boston the last team to do it in February 1987.

But with their 12th straight victory, 105-100 over the Spurs, the Trail Blazers completed a Texas sweep Wednesday night. Portland beat Dallas on Sunday and Houston on Tuesday.

"Not too many teams can come to Texas and beat all three teams," said Kevin Duckworth, one of seven Blazers who scored in double figures.

"They just came in and took one from us," Spurs guard Rod Strickland said. "They came in hungry and won a big ball game."

Portland led 94-87 with 4:22 left before San Antonio scored six of the next seven points, closing to 95-93 with 2:16 remaining.

But Jerome Kersey hit an 18-foot jumper and two free throws, rebuilding the margin to six, and the Spurs didn't threaten again.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Cleveland 94, Detroit 90; Miami 112, Washington 106; Philadelphia 100, New York 84; Chicago 101, Indiana

96; Utah 97, Dallas 91; and Seattle 140, the Los Angeles Clippers 108.

Jazz 97, Mavericks 91
Utah rallied from a 19-point deficit to defeat Dallas.

Karl Malone scored 12 of his 26 points in the decisive fourth quarter for the Jazz, while John Stockton and Jeff Malone had 18 points each.

Derek Harper scored 34 points and Rolando Blackman 20 for the Mavericks.

Bulls 101, Pacers 96

Michael Jordan scored 10 of his 28 points in the fourth quarter and Chicago won by limiting the Pacers to six baskets in the final period.

The Bulls, who trailed by as many as nine in the first half, took the lead for good on consecutive three-point plays by Scottie Pippen and Horace Grant 38 seconds apart.

Indiana, which got 21 points from Reggie Miller, shot just 27 percent in the final period, making six of 22 attempts.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed two separate applications with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to introduce two new optional directory services. One service is Directory Assistance Call Directory (DACC) and the other service is Multiple List Directory Assistance (MLDA).

DACC is an optional service that provides customers the option of having their Directory Assistance call completed to the requested number (when they call Directory Assistance for a number) by either the Directory Assistance operator or a mechanized audio response system.

The proposed rates* for fully-automated DACC calls are: $.30 if the call is sent paid or billed to a calling card, $1.00 if the call is collect or billed to a third number and $.25 from a coin telephone.

The proposed rates* for semi-automated (operator assisted) DACC calls are: $.85 for calls that are sent paid or billed to a calling card, $1.20 if the call is collect or billed to a third number and $2.60 for a person-to-person call.

Multiple List Directory Assistance (MLDA) allows the customer to request more than two listing requests per call to Directory Assistance. Customers can either call on "demand" and receive up to 10 listings, or schedule an "appointment" and receive the assistance of a Directory Assistance operator for as long as required. The rates for "demand" MLDA are $.30 per listing request (after applicable allowances), with a maximum of 10 listing requests per call. The rates for "appointment" MLDA are $1.00 per minute, with a 15-minute minimum.

The optional services DACC and MLDA are intended for use by both residence and business customers. Those persons who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps will be able to use DACC and "demand" MLDA free of charge. If approved by the commission, DACC and MLDA will be available beginning May 13, 1991. First-year projected revenues for DACC are approximately $9.6 million. First-year projected revenues for MLDA are approximately $1.7 million.

Persons who wish to comment on these applications should notify the commission by May 3, 1991. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Southwestern Bell Telephone

*The charges for DACC are in addition to the charge for the Directory Assistance Listing (if applicable) and/or any local or intra-LATA toll charges that would apply to the completed call.

Pick-off of Henderson delays record-breaker

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Rickey Henderson did not steal the show, at least for another day. Henderson, trying to tie and break Lou Brock's all-time record for stolen bases, did neither Wednesday night. In fact, he got picked off second the only time he reached base in Oakland's 4-1 loss to Minnesota. Brock was in Oakland to see the big event, but instead saw Henderson stay stuck at 937 steals, one behind the mark.

Allan Anderson outpitched Cy Young winner Bob Welch as the Twins beat Oakland. Anderson, however, made his best throw to second base, not the plate.

After Henderson drew a leadoff walk in the fourth inning and moved up on a grounder, Anderson and rookie second baseman Chuck Knoblauch got the same idea, that Henderson was going. So Anderson threw behind Henderson, and Knoblauch ran him down and tagged him out.

"He got caught out there a little too far," Anderson said. "Chuck just got in behind him, and I reacted. Chuck said he thought he was definitely going. We caught him leaning."

Henderson finished 0-for-3. He had an RBI grounder in the eighth inning.

Anderson held Oakland to two hits in 7 1-3 innings. He left with the bases loaded, and Rick Aguilera escaped by allowing only one run on his way to a save.

Welch gave up six hits, struck out five and walked one in a complete game.

Brian Harper hit a two-run homer in the second inning and Chili Davis hit a two-run single in the third.

Sanderson, who struck out four and walked two, left after the game after the hit. Greg Cadaret retired the side in the 50th one-hitter in Yankees' history.

Barfield put New York ahead with a two-run double in the sixth inning off Walt Terrell.

Angels 5, Mariners 3

Dave Winfield drove in three runs and Kirk McCaskill pitched California to victory.

Winfield went 3-for-4, including an RBI double in the first inning and a bases-loaded, two-run single in the fifth off Randy Johnson. He was hitless in the Angels' opening-day victory over Seattle.

McCaskill gave up eight hits, including Greg Briley's two-run homer, in six innings. Bryan Harvey got two outs for his second save.

debut, held Toronto hitless until the fifth when Devon White hit a two-run double.

White Sox 2, Orioles 0

Greg Hibbard shut down Baltimore on three hits for eight innings and Bobby Thigpen got his first save of the season.

Hibbard struck out four, walked four and allowed only one runner to reach third base. Thigpen, who set a major league record with 57 saves last season, walked the leadoff batter in the ninth and then retired three straight hitters.

Scott Fletcher hit a two-run double in the sixth inning off Jose Mesa. Fletcher went 3-for-4 with two doubles.

Royals 1, Indians 0

Kevin Appier outdueled rookie Charles Nagy, Danny Tartabull hit a run-scoring single in the third inning and Kansas City won.

Appier gave up seven hits, struck out four and walked one. Jeff Montgomery pitched the ninth for a save.

Nagy also gave up seven hits. He struck out six and walked one in eight innings. In the third, Kevin Seitzer walked with one out and scored on singles by George Brett and Tartabull.

Strawberry pays off

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers are paying Darryl Strawberry more than $20 million over the next five years. It took them just one game to get the first return on their investment.

Strawberry's Dodger debut, delayed a day by rain in Atlanta, was nearly perfect. He had two hits, drove in two runs and scored one as Los Angeles downed the Braves 6-4 on Wednesday night.

Strawberry, who signed a five-year contract with Los Angeles last November after eight seasons with the New York Mets, had a run-scoring groundout in the first, an RBI double in the fifth and a single that started a two-run eighth inning. That was more than enough to compensate for his glove - he dropped a fly ball in the third inning that led to the Braves' first two runs.

"I just dropped it," Strawberry said of his misplay on Mike Heath's leadoff fly ball.

Los Angeles manager Tom Lasorda was all smiles after seeing his new right fielder in action for real for the first time.

"He's awesome," Lasorda said. "He's gone beyond my expectations of what he can do for a club."

Brett Butler, another free agent making his Dodger debut, singled in the first inning and later scored on Strawberry's groundout. After Strawberry's error allowed the Braves to take the lead in the third inning, Juan Samuel singled in two runs off John Smoltz (0-1) and Strawberry's double made it 4-2 in the fifth.

Dodgers starter Tim Lincecum (1-0) allowed four hits and three runs, only one earned, in 7 1-3 innings.

Reds 6, Astros 5

Todd Benzinger drove in four runs and Chris Sabo hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning as Cincinnati overcame a three-run deficit to beat visiting Houston.

Benzinger, who was 11-for-62 without an extra-base hit in spring training, had an RBI single, a two-run double and a run-scoring triple to lead the Reds' comeback. Sabo followed Benzinger's seventh-inning triple with his first homer off Darryl Kile (0-1) to give the Reds a 6-5 lead.

Phillies 8, Mets 7

The Phillies and Mets played too long to make the record book, but Philadelphia salvaged the finale of a three-game series at Shea Stadium on John Kruk's run-scoring grounder in the 10th inning.

The first nine innings took 4 hours, 24 minutes - six minutes longer than the longest nine-inning game ever played. Kruk beat the relay to first on a bases-loaded grounder after Jeff Innis (0-1) and John Franco combined to walk the bases loaded in the 10th.

Von Hayes and Darren Daulton each had three-run doubles for the Phillies, who trailed 4-1 and 7-4. Roger McDowell (1-0) got the win with 1 1-3 scoreless innings in a game that took 4:51 to complete.

Padres 4, Giants 3

Fred McGriff and Jerald Clark hit two-run homers at Jack Murphy Stadium to lead the Padres in a game marred by a fourth-inning brawl.

The Giants' Kevin Mitchell, who homered in the second inning, was ejected after charging the mound and leveling Bruce Hurst with a body block in the fourth. Mitchell was upset after being knocked down by Hurst's first pitch and hit on the right foot with the next one.

McGriff homered in the first and Clark connected in the fourth off Bud Black (0-1).

Pirates 6, Expos 3

Bobby Bonilla had three hits and drove in two runs, and winning pitcher Zane Smith doubled and drove in a run.

Cubs 2, Cardinals 0

Greg Maddux allowed five hits in eight innings and George Bell and Gary Scott drove in runs as Chicago beat St. Louis at Wrigley Field.

Rangers dislike schedule

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers aren't happy about the American League schedule, which has them with several open dates in the first few weeks of the season.

In the first 29 days, the Rangers have eight scheduled open dates. Only two other American League teams have more than five scheduled off days during that time, with Cleveland getting six and the Chicago White Sox seven.

The Rangers opened the season at home against the Milwaukee Brewers Monday night, then had Tuesday off. The same two teams played in Arlington Stadium again Wednesday night, but the Rangers are off again tonight.

The Rangers, who lost to Milwaukee 6-0 on Wednesday, won't play more than six consecutive games until the second week of May.

Because today's off day violates a league policy prohibiting three within 10 days, Texas is required to play an exhibition against Tulsa, its Class AA affiliate.

Next week, the Rangers must wait more than 48 hours between games in Cleveland.

"I don't know how this happened, but it's absolutely absurd," Rangers' general manager Tom Grieve said. "It's an unbelievable hassle. I understand the problems in making a schedule, but I really don't get this."

"You try to play the game and be a team player, but what you want to say is, 'Why didn't someone schedule a regular game for us (Thursday) so we don't have to schedule an exhibition game to meet the rules?'"

The answer is the league's 14-team, balanced-schedule format. But the schedule, which the Rangers had to negotiate, leaves "no perfect answer," said Dick Wagner, AL special assistant.

Later in the season, the off days will catch up to the Rangers, who play the maximum 20 consecutive days in June and in August, a month that has only two off days.

The team will play 20 games in 21 days of July while going through four time-zone changes.

"It's not our fault," said Rangers' manager Bobby Valentine. "It's another disadvantage we'll work through. I deal with what we have, not what we want or need."

Jones not bothered by draft pick ruling

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys won't be able to negotiate ahead of time, as they had hoped, to make sure a potential choice in this year's NFL draft will be easy to sign.

But principal owner Jerry Jones said it's no big deal.

NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue ruled Wednesday in New York that only the team with the No. 1 pick overall will be allowed to talk contract before the start of the April 21 draft.

The ruling is all right with the Cowboys, Jones said.

"We're pleased that everything is status quo like it was last year, and we intend to follow the rules and the policy that's been set," Jones said.

The Cowboys had trouble coming to terms last year with their two top choices, running back Emmitt Smith and wide receiver Alexander Wright, both of whom missed the team's minicamps and most of the summer camp.

Jones had said he wanted to do as the Chicago Bears did last year by talking with prospects ahead of time and see if they were likely to agree quickly to contract terms and report to camp on time.

But Tagliabue ruled that out Wednesday. He said only the club with the No. 1 pick in the April 21-22 draft will be allowed to negotiate financial terms with a player before the choice is actually made.

Now You're Cooking

BY KAY CRISMON

From dusk to dawn, Nancy Andrews serves as hostess to the residents of King's Manor Methodist Retirement Home. Her duties require her to tend to any emergency situations that might occur during the night-time.

"My grandparents passed away when I was very young and now I have a whole new set of grandparents. All of the residents care for one another and are so friendly. We are like one big happy family. There are nine single senior citizens and a married couple living at the home," she said.

Andrews was born in Hereford and is the daughter of Jimmy and Ester Moreno. She graduated from Hereford High School and was president of the V.O.E. Club. She is working toward an associate degree in nursing at Amarillo College and plans to graduate in May of 1992.

She and her husband, James, live on a farm south of Hereford. "When I lived with my parents I didn't cook much. James and I have been married only a short time and I try all my cooking skills on him first," she said.

Some of the recipes that she prepares for her husband includes:

POTATO CHIP CHICKEN

2 1/2 c. potato chips, crushed
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
Dash of pepper
1 fryer, cut up
1/2 cup butter, melted
Crush potato chips in plastic bag with a rolling pin. Add garlic salt and pepper to chips and shake well. Dip chicken in melted butter and then shake each piece in potato chips.

Place in shallow dish, skin side up. Pour in remaining butter and crumbs over chicken. Bake uncovered at 375 degrees for 1 hour.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

3 cups flour
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
2 tsp. baking powder
1 cup vegetable shortening
3 tsp. butter (melted)

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together in large bowl. Add shortening and cut into dry ingredients with pastry blender, until it resembles coarse meal. Make a well in the center of mixture and pour in milk. Mix together only long enough to form a soft dough.

Knead for about 30 seconds and roll dough 1/2 inch thick. Cut the dough into 2 inch rounds with cookie cutter or water glass. Gather together any remaining dough, roll again and cut more.

Brush with butter. Arrange biscuits on a cookie sheet and bake in the middle of oven at 400 degrees for 20 minutes.

EASY BREAKFAST CINNAMON ROLLS

1 stick butter or margarine melted
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1 pkg. frozen dinner rolls
Cinnamon

Grease pan well. Pour half melted butter into pan and sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon, and most of the nuts. Put frozen rolls on top, pack them in. Sprinkle with remaining nuts and more cinnamon. Pour rest of butter over rolls. Let rise. Bake at 375 degrees for 20-30 minutes. Turn upside down on plate. Serve warm.

COUNTRY POTATOES

12 potatoes
6 strips of bacon cooked and crumbled
2 cups sharp cheddar cheese, grated
1/2 stick butter
salt and pepper to taste

Boil potatoes with skins on until done. Drain and let cool. Thinly slice the unpeeled potatoes, butter bottom of baking dish. Place one layer of potatoes, salt, pepper, 1/2 of cheese and bacon and crumble half of the butter over layer. Make another layer of the same. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees until bubbling hot, about one hour and 15 minutes. This dish freezes well.

What is hypothyroidism?

Hypothyroidism is a common medical condition that affects from six to seven million Americans.

The condition results from the failure of the thyroid gland to produce sufficient hormone for the proper functioning of cells. The symptoms, which can be subtle, include dry puffy skin, wrinkles, depression, weight gain despite a loss of appetite, and brittle hair.

Fortunately, hypothyroidism can be diagnosed with a blood test that is almost 100 percent accurate. Those individuals diagnosed as hypothyroid can be treated with levothyroxin at an average cost of under $10 a month. Despite the ease with which hypothyroidism can be diagnosed and the low cost of treatment, as many as half of hypothyroid Americans have not been diagnosed.

How could so many people be walking around with undiagnosed hypothyroidism? Part of the explanation lies in the apparently benign nature of the disease; part in the way the disease "fools" conventional blood tests; and part in the confusing and often hard-to-detect constellations of symptoms. These are sometimes mistaken for early aging or neurosis.

For a free booklet about the disease and how to deal with it, call 1-800-542-6687 or send a stamped self-addressed envelope to: Thyroid Disease, 145 E. 57th St., Suite 700, New York, N.Y. 10022.

Knowledge best tool for shoppers

Soon after the W-2's are delivered and Americans find out how much they earned for the year, a few thoughts may come to mind. A common one is, "I can't believe I paid this much in taxes." After the initial tax shock is over, the next concern is "where did the rest of my money go?"

Many people don't keep track of what they are spending money on, and as a result, are baffled when they compare how much they earned to how little they saved. If you are concerned about your spending habits, a helpful, and maybe necessary, experiment would be to record everything you spend money on. Besides recording regular monthly expenses like rent and groceries, keep note of everything else, including entertainment, magazines, vending machine snacks, cosmetics, etc. Also, record the dates and days of the week purchasing occurs.

Over the course of six months to a year, keeping track of money spent will afford you very valuable information. Not only will you find out where your money is going, you will also be able to identify what type of shopper you are.

You will be able to recognize certain trends in your spending habits. For example, on payday, you may purchase unnecessary items just because you have that extra money at hand. Or, you may find you are spending an exorbitant amount on credit card finance charges, or overspending just because you are buying with credit.

Do you love bargains? Many people do. But some shoppers buy items they really don't need, just because they are on sale. If you are one of these people, make some changes. The next time you're about to buy a sale item, ask yourself, "do I really need this?" The answer may be "no," and you may save yourself a lot of money in the long run.

Calculating spending can be a rude awakening for many people. For example, after finding you've spent over $300 on magazines in a year's time, you may re-evaluate your need for such purchases.

You may evaluate your finances and find that you don't need or want to change your spending habits. Even if this is the case, all the calculating and recording would not have been in vain.
