Sales tax rebate rises again

The city of Hereford will receive a sales tax rebate this month of $62,526—up almost $3,000 from the May 1987 check.

The one percent sales tax rebate figures were released this week by State Comptroller Bob Bullock. Rebates for the region were broadly higher again this month, and also increased statewide. "The economy of Texas is recovering," Bullock said, "and the consumer confidence is reflected in the rebates going to local governments."

For the year, Hereford has received $247,373, a 5.4 percent increase from the first five months of 1987.

Other area cities' rebates included:

—Dimmitt, $29,403, up 91 percent from May 1987; Canyon, $40,455, compared with $34,033 last May; Friona, $13,512, up $2,000 from last year; Levelland, $85,857, up 25 percent from May 1987;

Borger, $112,679, up 24 percent from a year ago; Dumas, $50,000, down $5,593 from May 1987, but up 14 percent for the year; Plainview, $204,598, a 59 percent increase from 1987; Amarillo, 1.39 million, up from last May's 1.2 million, and Lubbock, $1.54 million this May, a 10 percent increase.

Also receiving a check was Deaf Smith County, for $29,147. For the year, the county has received $61,160. The money collected from that 5 percent tax will be used to offset ad valorem taxes.

May's checks represent taxes collected by monthly filers in March and quarterly filers for the first quarter that were reported to the Comptroller's office by April 21.

Detten to head DSHD board

By SPEEDY NIEMAN

Ralph Detten was elected president and Craig Smith was seated as a new director when the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board held a regular meeting Tuesday night.

In other business, the board accepted bids on seven equipment items totaling about $375,000, approved guidelines for a "contract of interest" statement for board members and employees, and went into executive session to discuss pending litigation and a personnel problem. Administrator Gary Wore reported a "good cash flow" for April and the operating statement reflected a small net profit for the month.

County Judge Tom Simons administered the oath of office for Smith and for re-elected directors Marge Ford and Frank Zinser. After the board elected Detten as the new president, Dr. Gerald Payne was named as vice president, and Ford was elected secretary-treasurer.

Wore told the board he had started preliminary work on the budget and was preparing a retirement plan to recommend to directors at the budget discussion. The administrator said the hospital was involved in a search for a general surgeon to add to the staff. Dr. James Herbertson told the board there was nothing to discuss on the medical staff report.

Wore presented bids on seven different equipment items, and the board approved purchase on all of them. All were budgeted items except for an ultra-sound unit. The equipment purchases include: a portable x-ray unit at $33,500; two cardiac defibrillators and monitors at $9,067 each; a radiant warmer for babies at $3,865; a pulse oximeter for use in surgery at $4,150; a commercial freezer for the dietary department at $4,572; a hot water tank at $4,924, and the ultra-sound unit at $2,996.

Most of the bids were submitted by medical supply companies. The 900-gallon hot water tank bid went to R&R Refrigerator of Hereford. R&R also bid on the freezer, but directors opted for a higher-priced unit that included stainless steel inside and out.

Smith was recently elected as a new member of the board, replacing John Gilliland who did not seek reelection. All board members were present for the Tuesday night meeting—Detten, Payne, Ford, Zinser, Herbertson and Smith. Gilliland also attended his last meeting.

Center will offer fall classes

The Hereford Educational Learning Center (HELCO) is moving ahead with plans to start classes this fall, after directors announced Tuesday that Hereford Independent School District will be requested to serve as delivery agent for the new entity.

The HELCO Board will also contact Amarillo College and Texas State Technical Institute to determine what courses the two schools can offer this fall. Dr. Charles Greenawalt, HELCO board chairman, added that directors are currently exploring the possibility of a grant from the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

HELCO started as a concept for providing a job training center in Hereford to upgrade skill levels, but last month the board expanded the program into a full learning center that would include continuing adult education and courses "limited only by the imagination."

Greenawalt said the board has received "positive feedback from the community...and we're very excited about the possibilities of the program and the benefits it could provide to our community and area." Greenawalt who is also HESD superintendent, added that the learning center program will be flexible enough to meet needs of the community.

The board learned that a business-industry survey being conducted by WDEC in June will include questions

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says an executive is a man employed to talk to visitors so that the other employees will have a chance to work.

Take-home pay: The part that's left over for the bills.

There was a feature on television recently about a lady in the East who is offering a service whereby folks can get rid of their regional accents and learn to talk "properly." That may be okay for someone going on television, otherwise we don't know why anyone would want to get rid of their accent.

It's interesting to hear people's accents from different parts of the country. We've never gone anywhere in other parts of the U.S. that some stranger didn't ask if we were from Texas. Texans have their own way of pronouncing some words—just like those from the New England states, California, or the South.

If you don't think we have a vernacular all our own, take the following words and terms into consideration, but be sure to remember the actual spelling of each:

Agg: what a hen lays.
Aints: He's got aints in his paints.
Arn: Ma's tart of arnin'.
Ara: What you shoot with a bow.
Bobbed: A bobbed war fence.
Bub: The light bub burned out.

A cheer: That's what ya set in.
Crick: A small stream of water.
Clumb: He shore clumb that tree.
Chiny: An Asian country.
Cone: He got 'emself a new Ford cone.

Dinner: What you eat at noon.
Supper: Evvinn eatin'.
Dreckly: I'll get it dreckly.
Daints: Saturday night entertainment.

Drass: She was dressed fit to kill.
Error: TV or radio antenna.
Farrd: He got farrd from his job.

Fixin': preparing to do somethin'.
Flar: A rose is a party flar.
Frash: Them aggs ain't frash!
Furriners: All non-Texans.
Futher: Hits 2 miles futher to town.

Gassed: You gassed the answer.
Grain: She was grain with envee.
Hail: Where bad people go.
Hard: The new hard hand got shawked when he grab a holt of the fance.

Laymon: That's a sour citrus fruit.
Larmin': What you get at a skoolhouse.
Lag: I hurt my leg.

Mere: What you can see yourself in.
Mizrus: A married woman.
Nar: opposite of wide (i.e., a nar crick of wadder).
Nother: Col spail.
Pank: A light red color.
Purdy: She's purdy as a pitcher.

Walcott board eyes quick action

By ANDREA LAMB

Eminent domain proceedings are looming for Mrs. N.A. Brown & Sons if the partnership doesn't write a reply by June 1 in response to the Walcott school board's proposal to acquire clear title to 14.93 acres, the board decided Tuesday.

Superintendent Bill McLaughlin said that the partnership did not accept either of the school's two proposals for acquiring the land, but board members expressed that if the Browns rejected, accepted or revised the proposals, it needs to be in writing by June 1.

"This has been going on too long and we've been more than patient with them (the Browns)," stated board member Dan Cook.

At the April 26 meeting, the board voted to offer to let the Browns keep the controversial reversionary clause on the 12-acre tract of land on which the school sits and on an extra 2.93 acres which the school wants to purchase.

The proposal also stipulated that the Browns must file a quitclaim deed on the total 14.93 acres if the school ever consolidated.

The second option was to offer the Browns $5,900 — $5,400 for the appraised reversionary interest on the 12 acres and $400 for the fee title to the 2.93 acres.

If neither of these proposals were accepted, the board voted to proceed with eminent domain — the right of a governmental entity to go about its business.

"We need that 2.93 acres if and because we already have septa tanks out there and we plan to use it as a trash disposal," stated McLaughlin.

Despite the fact there was no written response from the Browns at the board meeting, negotiations are apparently in the works, according to the school.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

It's that time of the year—time to plan your summer vacation.

I know it's that time of the year because of the mail crossing my desk. I have received reams on the new Sea World facility in San Antonio and on the 25th anniversary of Astroworld. We get at least two things a week from Six Flags Over Texas, and I have received lots of goodies on Opryland.

There are many other places, like Disneyland and Disney World, depending on whether you want to suffer in the humidity in Florida or the smog in California. You can go to Las Vegas this summer and find out firsthand why it is so popular in the winter. While in Las Vegas, why not go down to Arizona and look around—there's a good chance you'll have the desert to yourself.

Some people go on bus tours, leaving say from Amarillo to go up to New England and Canada. I took one of these tours once. The highlight of the tour, though, was this elderly woman who brought her own food. She had some bread and a salami in a grocery sack. When she was hungry, she'd just bite off a piece of salami—straight off the stick. The same stick, untouched by refrigeration, lasted her for six days.

There are literally thousands of places you can go on vacation in the United States this year. Some of them, however, are found only in the Babbling Brooks Travel Guide.

The respective chambers of commerce of these towns, by the way, will be given equal time, if they choose to respond.

Amboy, Indiana. Just across the river from Amgiri, Kentucky. Home of the Amboy Museum, including footage from the Running of the Women, which is kind of like the Running of the Bulls in Pamplona, Spain. The girls come from across the river every year, and the boys chase them back.

Caneada, New York. Caneada pizza, caneada Lay's potato chip, caneada a spicy meatball, but they don't accept Turns and they don't accept credit cards. If you caneada almost anything, Caneada is the place to go.

Knobel, Arkansas. Home of a ver-famous library, where they feature every knobel ever written, from the works of William "Mr. Punctuation" Faulkner to e.e. cummings., from "The Scarlet Letter" to "Zorba the Greek," they have all kinds of knobels at Knobel's knobel library.

Wounded Knee, Tennessee. That's where I'm headed this year after my earlier knee surgery. Dennis Weaver is expected to be the master of ceremonies. Most of the people attending the big reunion have played at least one down of football, and many are grizzled NFL veterans. Also has an interes' ag cemetery, filled with people who wanted to be buried there.

Dodge City, Kansas. The town, of course, is filled with the rich history of cattle drives, and you can just imagine standing in the middle of Main Street with a gun strapped to your hip, waiting for Marshal Dillon to come out from the office. The most fun, though, is when it's time to leave. Somehow, when you say "It's time to get the hell out of Dodge," it has a better ring when you actually in Dodge.

Nuttsville, Virginia. The place is a riot. You may find this hard to believe, but Nuttsville is the birthplace of Jerry Lewis, Pee Wee Herman, Jimmy Piersall, Winnie Ruth Judd and Spiro T. Agnew.

Newcomerstown, Ohio. It's exciting to watch the comings-and-goings of the city, which has the biggest U-Haul concession in the world. City ordinance prevents anyone from living there for more than two months.

Scopus, Missouri. Home of the famous Scopus Trial. This is the trial where a teacher was accused of teaching Darwin's Theory of Elocution. According to the theory, man first sounded like a hyena, and Pee Wee Herman is The Missing Link.

Other places to visit (some of these are real, folks) are Bic, Penn.; Nine, Tenn.; Look, N.C. (just pronounce the abbreviations and it makes sense); Farmer In The, Del.; Iron, Ore.; Aluna, Minn.; Lower, Texas; Car, Wash.; Ring Around The Collar, Wis.; Sewer, Maine; Chewing, Guam; Goo, Ga.; Coca, Colo. (right next to Pepsi, Colo.); and Very, Ill. Have a happy vacation.

on educational needs, and this could help determine the types of classes to be offered. Greenawalt also reported to the board that a PRPC grant could provide 10 computers for the learning center. Final approval is pending.

The learning center could help on the school dropout problem, the superintendent said. The center will offer GED courses and classes on English as a second language. Two other school programs could be coordinated with the learning center—the Parent Volunteer and the Adopt-A-School Program.

Hereford has the facilities and classroom space for the learning center program, according to Greenawalt, at no extra cost to taxpayers. Many times the buildings are in use for school activities, so holding a class for this program adds no burden, he explained. Possibilities for facilities include the old Hereford Brand building, the old Central school and the top floor of Stanton.

Directors attending Tuesday's noon meeting were Greenawalt, Helen Langley, Tom Simons, Bobby Owen, Hilda Garza and Tom LeGate.

district's lawyer, Chuck Hester.

Hester stated in a phone conversation that he and the Browns' lawyer, Don Davis, have been working on a proposal which is "very, very similar to the first proposal which includes a contractual arrangement on the reversionary interest so that there will be no interference on the land."

Davis said that he wanted to wait until Hester discussed the revised proposal with the school board before commenting on the matter.

The board, however, may not be accommodating to any revisions on the proposals, said McLaughlin.

"In my opinion, the board is going to stick to its guns on their offers, and if the Browns don't reply at all by June 1, we will proceed with eminent domain, which is a fast process," said McLaughlin.

McLaughlin added that if the Browns did submit a written reply, the board would call a special meeting.

Ernest Brown, school board member and partner in Mrs. N.A. Brown & Sons, had no comment on the matter.

percent sure on the confirmations, it just hit again. It just brought it fresh again in their hearts."

The city of Radcliff scheduled a memorial service for Thursday evening at a high school football field.

Meanwhile, offers of money and donations of time have poured in for survivors and their families, hospital officials said.

Scores of people have called Humana Hospital-University of Louisville, 30 miles northeast of Radcliff, offering food, babysitting, and even rooms in their homes to families of hospitalized victims, said spokeswoman Taylor Rice.

Callers wishing to donate cash are being referred to one of four funds set up to aid the victims and their families, she said.

One survivor, 14-year-old David

Walliser, offered thanks from his bed at Kosair Children's Hospital.

"Thanks to all the doctors, thanks to all the nurses, thanks to everyone who cares. Thanks for all the love and thanks for all the prayers," he said through his mother.

The bus collided head-on Saturday night with a pickup truck being driven north in the southbound lanes of Interstate 71 near Carrollton. The fuel tank on the bus ruptured and burst into flames, authorities said.

The bus was returning from a day at an amusement park north of Cincinnati. Autopsies showed the 27 died of smoke inhalation.

Fourteen of the bus riders remained hospitalized today with burns, including eight in critical condition.

Local, state and federal authorities were continuing the investigation, but few details of their work were released. State Police Capt. Neal Brittain said investigators believed they knew how the pickup truck driver, Larry W. Mahoney, came to be driving on the wrong side of I-71, but would not elaborate.

Mahoney, 34, of Worthville was charged Monday with 27 counts of murder. Tests showed his blood contained nearly 2 1/2 times the amount of alcohol needed to be declared intoxicated, authorities said. He was in fair condition at the prison unit of Humana Hospital-University of Louisville, Ms. Rice said.

The first victim to be taken from the armory Tuesday was April Mills, 14, daughter of an Army sergeant, who was to be buried in Fernandina Beach, Fla. Another victim was to be buried in Tyler, Texas. The process continued throughout the afternoon.

At least eight were to be buried in this town of 14,000 people.

Abundant Life

THERE IS HOPE

By Bob Wear

We can maintain a victorious human spirit, if this is what we desire, and if the desire is strong enough. Of course, there are obstacles, and difficulties, and the need for constant effort; but it can be done.

We spend too much time blaming each other. The political parties blame each other; many of our public officials point the finger of criticism at one another; in a general way, educators accuse the public; the public says the educational system is at fault; the school blames the home; the home blames the school; almost everybody blames the church; and the church blames almost everybody. This is not helping, but 'there is hope'.

The present self-serving practice of blaming each other is a kind of subterfuge, and is not helping us. It is an effort to ease the pressure which all of us feel, but it is making the whole situation worse. The present mood is devitalizing and discouraging, and should be changed; it can be changed.

Paradise on earth is not within our reach, but there is no reason to settle for a hell on earth. "There is hope" for significant improvement, if we will accept the obligations which we are capable of handling. I can improve my life performance, you can improve your life performance; and we can help and encourage each other, and build up one another.

We can control life to the extent of being able to make choices about how we manage ourselves, even though we are not able to control all of the happenings which may affect us. We can control our responses to these happenings, even though we cannot control the happenings. We may be disappointed in what happens, but there is no reason to be disappointed in our response. When we understand, and we can understand, we will be able to live in the light and strength of hope.

We must settle down; be responsible; work diligently; and maintain the best value system. With abiding faith in God, courage in the right, truth in all things; and devotion to duty; 'there is hope'.

The Chinese government, having noted that more than half of the country's students who go overseas do not return, now requires all students to post a hefty bond before leaving, says National Geographic.

Bride-elect honored

Brenda Barnes, Aug. 20 bride-elect of David Delaney, was feted with a bridal shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Virginia Skaggs. Co-hosting the event was

Cake decorating club elects officers at brunch

Recently the members of the Sweet and Fancy Cake Decorating Club met at the Community Center for a catered brunch and the last meeting of the year.

President Carol Kelley asked for suggestions for unusual programs next year. Marzipan and mints were suggested as ideas.

The Easter egg sale went very well and it was suggested that it be done next year again and that the members begin making them earlier.

Karen Martin submitted the treasurer's report and asked that members try to close out their accounts. She noted that cake classes will be held next Sept. 20, 27 and Oct. 4, and 11 starting at 7 p.m.

A presentation was made by Martin to Marrie Leverett for her dedicated work in cake club this year. Beckie Fry made a presentation to Martin for her work as treasurer.

New officers for the 1988-89 year were elected. They are: Carol Kelley, president; Elizabeth Flores, vice president; Betty Henson, treasurer; and Nora Perez, secretary. Kelley will again keep the clubs, Esmeralda Dominguez will be in charge of King's Manor cakes, and Martin and Leverett will be the calling committee.

Games were played and prizes awarded.

Members present were: Isabel Cervantez, Dominguez, Evelyn Croford, Flores, Fry, Henson, Martin, Kelley, Leverett, Alice Koenig, Hope Torres, Perez, and Nina Leal.

Barnes honored at shower

A bridal shower was held for Brenda Barnes Saturday afternoon in the home of Virginia Skaggs with Jeanine Avery serving as co-hostess. The honoree and David Delaney will exchange wedding vows Aug. 20.

Kari Vinton registered guests as they were greeted by Miss Barnes; her mother, Jan Barnes; and her grandmother, Lucille Harper of Columbus, Ohio.

Erika Avery served refreshments of punch, coffee, heart-shaped wedding cookies, small cheese cakes and fresh fruit. THAT'S A LOT OF WHISKERS

BOSTON (AP) — During an average lifetime, a man will remove about 27½ feet of whiskers from his face through shaving.

It would take about 3,350 hours to remove the whiskers, say researchers at Gillette Safety Razor Co., and if the man never shaved the beard would be almost 30 feet long.

Shaving removes about 65 milligrams of whiskers daily. This amounts to about a pound of hair every 16 years.

Lakers also take 3-2 lead over Jazz

Mavericks gain 3-2 lead over Nuggets

By JOHN MOSSMAN
AP Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — In the pivotal Game 5, you had to figure that Mark Aguirre, Rolando Blackman and Roy Tarpley would turn in standout performances for the Dallas Mavericks. But one thing nobody foresaw was the Denver Nuggets — the NBA's best free-throw shooting team — launching bricks down the stretch. The Nuggets, who shot 80.4 percent from the line to take the NBA regular-season title and who came into Tuesday night's game hitting 84.4 percent in the playoffs, missed seven straight free throws in the final seven minutes. It proved to be the difference as the Mavericks ran off with a 110-106 victory to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal. Dallas can wrap up the series in Game 6 Thursday night at home. A seventh game, if necessary, would be played Saturday in Denver. In the other Western semifinal, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated Utah 111-109 for a 3-2 lead. Tonight, both Eastern Conference series resume. Detroit, holding a 3-1 edge, can eliminate Chicago with a victory at home, while Boston entertains Atlanta, with the Celtics and

Hawks tied 2-2. Aguirre scored 25 points, including a clinching 3-pointer with 19 seconds left. Blackman scored 24 points, 18 of them in the second half. Tarpley, honored as the NBA's top sixth man earlier Tuesday, had 21 points and 16 rebounds. The Nuggets, without two key players, were no match for that trio. For Denver, center Danny Schayes had a career-high 33 points and also pulled down 13 rebounds, and Alex English scored 30 points. But as guard Lafayette Lever and reserve forward Jay Vincent missed their second straight game with injuries, the Nuggets got little scoring from their backcourt and even less from their bench. Nugget guards combined to hit only 8 of 30 shots from the floor, and the Nugget bench was outscored 40-14. Lever and Vincent, the team's second- and third-leading scorers in the playoffs, likely will miss Thursday night's game as well. Lever, with a strained knee, has been ruled definitely out, and Vincent, with a pulled calf muscle, is considered questionable. "It's not something we can think about," Denver Coach Doug Moe said. "We have to go back down there and win, which will be a tremendous hurdle for our team."

"It's a disappointing loss, but we played hard. We gave it our best shot. Dallas hit some very difficult shots when they needed to, and those missed free throws ended up killing us."

Early in the fourth quarter, Dallas ran off seven straight points to take an 87-80 lead, but Denver countered with a six-point run.

The Nuggets pulled into a 95-96 tie on Michael Adams' layup with 4:06 remaining. Blackman then hit two free throws and a basket in the lane to give the Mavericks the lead for good.

Blackman canned an 18-foot jumper with 40 seconds to go for a 106-102 lead. After two free throws by Schayes, Aguirre hit his 3-pointer from the right side for a 109-104 advantage.

Aguirre, who sulked and demanded a meeting with the coaches after being benched in the closing minutes of Game 3, was inserted back into the lineup Tuesday night with 38 seconds left.

"I put Mark in and fortunately he stroked it," Dallas Coach John MacLeod said. "I'm happy for him." Aguirre said he "wasn't conscious of where I was when I shot the 3. I didn't even look down at the floor. Brad (Davis) dished it off and I felt a good rhythm. It was the kind of shot you're obligated to take."

"This was an extremely big win for us. We can go back home and end it now, but we can't think it's over yet."

Added Blackman, "We're going to do the best we can to see the inside of this locker room until next season. It's been a tough series, and we can't have any kind of letdown Thursday."

With 6:48 left and the Nuggets trailing by four, English missed two free throws. T.R. Dunn missed a pair that would have tied it at 5:09. Bill Handlik missed two more at 1:48 when Denver trailed by three. Schayes missed the first of a pair at 1:22 but made the second, leaving Denver two points down.

"For us to miss that many free throws in a row is a fluke," Moe said. Lakers 111, Jazz 109

Seeking to be the first repeat NBA champion since 1969, the Los Angeles Lakers responded like, uh, champions against gritty Utah.

Michael Cooper's only basket of the game, a jump shot from near the top of the key with seven seconds remaining Tuesday night, gave the Lakers a 111-109 victory over the Jazz and a 3-2 lead in their NBA Western Conference playoff series. It was the first game-winning field goal of Cooper's 10-year career.

And it saved the Lakers from going back to Utah facing elimination against a team few observers expected to test the champs.

"They are one of the grittiest teams I have played against since I've been with the Lakers," Cooper said. "They just keep battling back."

But so do the Lakers. "I don't think that we are going to run into another team that will play that well against us," Lakers coach Pat Riley said. "It was a great effort on our part. We have a chance to close it on Thursday that we want to take advantage of."

Cooper, who scored only three points, hit his winning shot after Utah had taken a 109-108 lead on a baseline jumper by Thurl Bailey, who led the Jazz with 28 points.

Magic Johnson penetrated the Utah defense and fed the ball to Cooper, who was wide open outside.

"I can decide what I want to do in that situation," Johnson said. "I saw a little opening and went toward the middle for my hook. They all collapsed on me and Cooper was wide open, so I went to him."

And Cooper put it home. Now the Jazz, who got 24 assists, tying Johnson's playoff mark, and 23 points from John Stockton, go home for Game 6 Thursday night.

James Worthy stole an in-bounds pass after Cooper's shot, was fouled and made one free throw with five seconds left. He missed the second shot, however, and Utah had a final chance to tie or win, but was unable to get off a shot before time ran out.

Bases-loaded walk in 14th gives Rangers 7-6 win

TORONTO (AP) — Oddibe McDowell drew a bases-loaded walk in the top of the 14th inning to force in the go-ahead run; then stopped halfway to first base, unsure of whether the count had actually reached four balls.

For five hours and 20 minutes, that's the kind of game the Texas Rangers' 7-6 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays on Tuesday night was.

"Strange things have been happening to us in this ball park and this was just another strange game for us," reliever Dale Mohorcic said after the Rangers snapped their nine-game Exhibition Stadium losing streak.

"I can't wait till they build that new place (the SkyDome) so we can get out of this place. Bad things happen to us here," Mohorcic, 2-0, said.

James Steels started the Rangers' 14th with a double off Mark Eichhorn, but tagged up on Geno Petralli's long fly and had to stop at third when the ball caromed off the right-field wall for another double.

After an intentional walk to Curtis Wilkerson, Steels was forced at the plate on Jerry Browne's grounder to second before the Rangers pushed across their two runs.

Although McDowell was credited with the game-winning RBI, Scott Fletcher's subsequent sacrifice fly off Toronto's seventh pitcher, Tom Henke, also proved crucial — Rance Mulliniks was leading off second base following an RBI-double when George Bell grounded out for Toronto to end the game.

The victory at Exhibition Stadium, Texas' first since April 23, 1986, did not come easily.

First, the Blue Jays rallied from 4-0 deficit with two runs in the seventh and two more in the ninth to force extra innings.

In the 11th, the Rangers had the bases loaded with none out and failed to score against eventual loser Mark Eichhorn, 0-3.

Then, in the 13th inning, Texas took a 5-4 lead on Pete Incaviglia's infield single that scored Fletcher. However, two walks by Jose Cecena, the Rangers' third pitcher, and a basehit by Kelly Gruber scored Bell, knotting things again.

In all, the Rangers stranded 17 base runners while Toronto left 10 men on.

"The guys got real excited right after the game," Ranger manager Bobby Valentine said. "This is the most excited we've been.

"I think we were happy because it was over."

While McDowell was surely happy with the win, his 14th inning uncertainty wasn't without precedent. In the 13th, plate umpire Terry Craft had rescinded an apparent walk to the centerfielder when an umpires' conference determined that only three balls had been thrown. McDowell then grounded out.

Solo homers by Pete Incaviglia and Larry Parrish had given the Rangers a 2-0 lead entering the seventh inning. Then the fun began.

With one out in the top of the inning, Bob Brower drew a walk from Mike Flanagan and scored when Fletcher doubled into the Blue Jays' bullpen. As Ruben Sierra struck out, Fletcher stole third. Toronto manager Jimmy Williams then summoned Duane Ward to face Incaviglia.

After Ward hit Incaviglia, Williams called on John Cerutti to face Pete O'Brien. Cerutti promptly walked the Texas first baseman, loading the bases, then hit Parrish with a pitch to force in another run.

Two walks. Two hit batsmen. One hit. Two runs. 4-0 Rangers.

Fred McGriff's ninth home run of the season, a two-run shot behind Bell's single leading off the seventh, made it 4-2.

Gruber's RBI-single and a one-out sacrifice fly by Tony Fernandez in the ninth brought about the tie.

Wildlife refuge toured by Pioneer Study Club members

Members of Pioneer Study Club met recently to tour the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge at Umbarger before adjourning for the summer. The project of the president of GFWC is "Conservation of Endangered Animals, Birds and Plants" and the tour carried out this theme.

Following a picnic lunch, the women met in the refuge headquarters for a slide show and lecture by John Beall, manager of Buffalo Lake Refuge. After a sketch of the history, present status and future of the refuge, Beall conducted a question and answer period. He said there were over 400 refuges, encompassing nearly 90 million acres in 49 states and five trusts territories. Refugees are vitally important. They provide habitat, food, water, cover and space for approximately 60 endangered species and hundreds of species of birds, mammals, reptiles, amphibians, fish and plants.

Fern Sigle installed the incoming officers using favors to depict the theme, "Let Freedom Ring."

Special guest was Lisa Kuhlman of Canyon, president Top of Texas district of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Other guests included Coy Frayar, Maria Escamilla and Helen Langley.

Members present were Lucy Faye Cocanougher, Bessie Hill, Bea Hutson, Billee Johnson, Mary Panciera, Fern Sigle and Rosemary Thomas.

Local health professionals receive advanced training

Healthcare professionals from the surrounding area recently participated in an Advanced Cardiac Life Support (ACLS) class hosted by Palo Duro Hospital and the Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System (PEMSS) on May 6-7.

The advanced certification course is designed to assist participants in mastering the skills needed to care for the cardiac patient. Primarily, the eighteen attendees consisted of medics, nurses, doctors, and therapists from Hereford, Canyon, Tulsa, Groom, and Dalhart.

Lisa Formby, Minnie Rodney, Sue Morris, and Rex Lee represented Hereford in receiving certification.

"We congratulate these healthcare professionals on their achievement," said Robin Stout, Palo Duro Hospital Marketing Director. "ACLS certification is a tribute to their hard work, and dedication to excellence in patient care."

The advanced training involves intensive study in such areas as Pharmacology, IV Techniques, Resuscitation of children, Monitoring, & Dysrhythmias, Defibrillation, Airway Ventilation, and Sudden Cardiac Death/MI.

Another ACLS course is being planned for the Fall. For more information, contact John Sappington at Palo Duro Hospital, 655-7751.
