United Way kicks off 1988 campaign

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor

The 1968 United Way of Deaf Smith County campaign officially began Wednesday with a kick-off luncheon at the Hereford Community Center.

LARRY CAMPBELL . He was Wednesday's UW luncehon speaker

Over 200 persons attended the luncheon, which was also a joint meeting of the city's civic clubs.

"I feel like Mrs. Rogers. This is a wonderful day in the neighborhood of Hereford and Deaf Smith County," said Margaret Bell, who is serving with June Owen as cochairman of the 1968 UWDSC campaign.

Bell cited a recent magazine article that said caring is "in" in America. "Caring is also the 'in' thing in Hereford and Deaf Smith County," Bell said. The article went on to point out that if the volunteers were paid a nominal fee for their services, it would cost Americans over $110 billion a

"We know how these volunteers benefit United Way, how each of our 12 agencies are dependent upon the volunteers," Bell said, listing examples ranging from YMCA coaches to youth group leaders in boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Camp Fire, Red Cross instructors, and counselors, drivers and special needs in other agencies that will benefit from the 1988 UWDSC campaign. "When you focus on this idea, it's well named: United Way. As a united community we can come up with the dollars we need to make things work and work well, to give the funds we need to let the volunteers do their work," Bell said.

The keynote speaker was Larry Campbell, a sales representative for KAMR-TV in Amarillo. Campbell used anecdotes about "good old boys" to point out characteristics that can be used to make the UWDSC campaign successful.

Campbell said that good old boys ("And there are 'good old girls,'" Campbell said) are honest, have a sense of humor, and a caring attitude.

"You have to be honest with yourself and with others. You must give all you can in time and money." Campbell said. "United Way agencies do so much to help so many, and you can help with your time and Campbell said a sense of humor is important. "You can't get so bogged down that you can't see the humorous side of what's

"... But honesty and humor are not worth anything without a caring attitude," Campbell said. "Caring is love with action added to it.

"Be honest with yourself and others with your time and money, have a good sense of humor when you're faced with problems. And maintain a caring attitude. That is what the United Way is really all about."

1988 UWDSC President Lajean Henry introduced agency directors and representatives, and division chairmen and other volunteers. "These are the people who will be pounding on your doors and calling on the phone," Henry said.

The campaign is already off to a good start with $5,500 already received. Most of those funds came from the agriculture and golden age divisions.

"Those are the two groups with the most uncertain incomes," Henry said. "This tells us something: These people have the fiath to give early, and the rest of us should have faith, too."

National development expert holds session

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor

40 Hereford citizens got an eight-hour crash course in economic development from the head of the National Development Council during a seminar Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center.

"It's incredible that we had this many people," said Bob Davenport, NDC president. "We had over four times the number of people you have on the board. Usually you just have the board and professional people."

The board, in this case, is the Economic Development Council, which will add what it learned Wednesday to the Strategic Plan for Economic Development in an effort to spur business growth in Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

Davenport used the morning session to lead the EDC in how it could work in Deaf Smith County. We looked at how similar cities and counties do economic development," Davenport said. 'Hereford is kind of a late player in the economic development game. Many other cities and counties have had a board in place for a long time, but we can learn from some of their

Davenport told the group, which ranged from housewives to bank executives, that small businesses are excluded from long-term capital markets like the stock market, bond issues, and insurance companies, and can't get all the help they need from banks because regulations prevent them from making longterm "growth capital" loans.

But banks can help you some, there are federal and state loan programs to provide more incentive financing, and there are private and public incentives that, put together, make a better financial package," Davenport said.

What a small business is looking for is long-term financing, a fixed rate, and a reasonable rate. That what your economic development program should be

During the afternoon session, Davenport outlined several myths" about economic development and outlined successful development plans in Columbus. Ohio and Camden, N.J. that focused on expanding the existing retail base into a morehealthy economy.

You have two ways to expand," Davenport said. "One is the Las Vegas approach to development, going after the big plants. You have a low probability of winning, but if you win there are tremendous rewards.

"The bread-and-butter approach is helping home-grown businesses, helping them expand. You make lots of deals, get a few more jobs with each deal, and you come out a winner almost every

"It generates action. It sort of bubbles along."

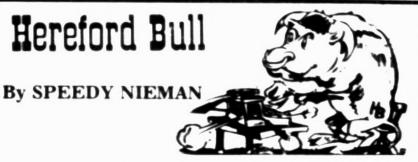

Davenport said the EDC's role would be to oversee operations, establish credibility in the community for the council's activities, fund raising, overseeing public sector incentives, and communication between the public and private sectors on special economic development issues.

The "professional person" that will be the chief employee of the EDC will work with the chamber of commerce in finding deals through contacts with the chamber, banks, real estate agents and others; screen out 'bad' deals and determine whether financing is available for a project: assemble packages including financing, sites, tax incentives and other needs: "and be an advocate for the entrepreneur and the prospect," Davenport

"You want the professional person to work on so many aspects, right on through the closing, that it's one-stop shopping."

Recording shows pilots knew plane doomed

DALLAS (AP) - A partial transcript of the cockpit voice recording shows that the pilots of Delta Flight 1141 discovered that their aircraft was in serious trouble about 21 seconds before the plane struck the ground, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

Capt. Larry Lon Davis exclaimed, enough speed to stay aloft. "We're not gunna make it" 11 seconds before impact, the newspaper reported in a copyright story today.

The plane crashed at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport Aug. 31 while taking off on a flight for Salt broke apart upon impact, killing 13 of (disruptions of air flow), one each in the 106 people on board.

The partial transcript, obtained Wednesday by the newspaper, shows that approximately nine seconds after what appeared to be a normal takeoff, a cockpit alarm indicated the Boeing 727 was not able to gather

A second later, Davis said, "Something's wrong. Ohhh.' One of the final entries on the transcript appears to be a scream.

National Transportation Safety Board investigators said last week that the cockpit recording indicates to communicate something to the Lake City. The plane exploded and there were two compressor stalls tower, saying only, "Eleven-forty

After the first two stalls were noted, Kirkland said, "Engine failure."

Just after the three possible stalls were noted, someone in the cockpit said, "We got an engine failure."

At that point, someone attempted

Three second later, Davis said, "We're not gunna make it."

Davis then exclaimed, "Full power!"

Kirkland then said something that was unintelligible just a fraction of a second before what is believed to be the sound of impact is heard on the recording.

The recording then ends with a possible scream.

Investigators have not been able to determine whether any compressor stalls actually occurred, NTSB officials said. The engines are to be tested at the Pratt & Whitney manufacturing plant in Hartford,

One NTSB investigator, who asked not to be named, told the newspaper it is possible for engines to experience several quick, successive

Lee Dickinson Jr., a member of the NTSB board, said, "I don't know that we can even identify that there were indeed stalls."

The significance of the stalls, and more importantly what caused them, is the key element in the investigation into the cause of the crash.

NTSB spokesman Mike Benson declined in Washington to comment on the partial transcript obtained by the newspaper.

It will be months before investigators pinpoint the cause of the crash, but two primary suspects have emerged. They are wing flaps, desinged to give the plane lift, and engine problems during the flight.

The transcript reveals that flight engineer Steven Judd and co-pilot Casey Kirkland went through a standard preparation checklist.

Kirkland told Judd that the flaps were extended in the correct position for normal takeoff during the checklist less than a minute before the plane received permission for

Bush, Soviets view first missile elimination in treaty

KARNACK (AP) - Workers at the Longhorn Army Ammunition Plant today prepared to destroy two rocket motors from Pershing nuclear missiles in static firings to be observed by Vice President George Bush and a team of Soviet inspectors.

"This is the first elimination of such U.S. missiles under the INF treaty anywhere, worldwide," said Susan Franklin, Washington spokeswoman for the On-site Inspection Agency, established to implement inspection provisions of the Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces treaty between the two superpowers.

Hundreds of people, including the Soviet team and reporters, were gathering at the plant for the motor eliminations.

Weather permitting, workers planned a 50-second burn of one Pershing II motor at 10 a.m. CDT, followed 15 minutes later by a 40-second burning of a lighter Pershing 1A, said Longhorn spokeswoman Joann Roberts.

Bush, who was to arrive at Gregg County Airport at 8:30 a.m., planned brief remarks at the 8,500-acre plant at 10:30 a.m., said Mark Sanders, the vice president's spokesman in Austin.

The vice president also was scheduled to attend an afternoon media reception in Tyler, about 60 miles west of the plant, along with a "Tyler Welcomes the Next President" rally.

"The Soviets watch the motors' static firing to eliminate the rocket propellant in the motor," said Dave Harris of Karnack, a civilian employee with the U.S. Army's Redstone Arsenal.

Motors, in the static firings, are bolted into a concrete and steel structure, ignited and allowed to burn up all

"We must then physically disable the rocket motor so the motor casing could not be reloaded and reused again," he said. "We're going to do that in a car crusher, squash them in a car crusher."

The Soviets arrived Wednesday afternoon at Gregg County Airport. The treaty allows up to 20 such observers at each elimination inspection.

"There's a cast of thousands behind this thing, including many ambassadors, with people from New York to Russia," said Ms. Roberts. "It's exciting."

Ms. Franklin said that about nine more rocket motors were scheduled to be eliminated at Longhorn in the following week. Officials also will destroy Pershings and their launchers at Pueblo Depot Activity near Pueblo, Colo. More Pershing launchers will be destroyed at Equipment Maintenance Center at Hausen, Frankfort, West

The treaty terms also provide for destruction of ground-launched cruise missiles, or GLCMs, and their launchers at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base near Tucson, Ariz., said Ms. Franklin.

Effective earlier this summer, the treaty requires the superpowers to dismantle and destroy the intermediateand shorter-range nuclear missiles in their arsenals. The U.S. has two such types: the ground-launched cruise and Pershing II.

Karnack is 13 miles northeast of Marshall, about 160 miles east of Dallas.

Senate to vote on possible limits for textile and apparel imports

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate is preparing to act on proposed new limits on textile, apparel and shoe imports, giving little heed to complaints that it is reverting to protectionism.

"The textile and apparel industries will be extinct in a few years unless the flooding of our markets is stopped," Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said Wednesday as the Senate voted 68-29 to force action on the longstanding issue.

The Senate voted to limit debate, giving opponents of the proposed restrictions no more than 30 hours to express their objections. As a result, action on the bill is expected by Friday at the latest.

Senate allies of the textile and apparel industries were in command of the debate at all times. Critics, who say U.S. manufacturers are exaggerating their problems to win special treatment, were reduced to giving their adversaries a futile, daylong tongue-lashing.

"You are being absolutely shameless," declared Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, who opposes the

Astronauts rehearse

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - The partial pressure suits, to be worn Discovery's astronauts today prepared to board their spaceship for a practice countdown, the last major test before they lift off on the first space shuttle launch in 32 months.

Commander Rick Hauck and his four crew members, wearing new partial pressure suits, were to run through all checklists and procedures they are to perform during the final two hours of an actual launch count.

"It all looks clean; it all looks good," Hauck said after an inspection of Discovery on Tuesday. "We're going to be ready to fly."

The other crewmen are pilot Dick Covey and mission specialists George Nelson, Mike Lounge and Dave Hilmers.

On most previous shuttle launches, the astronauts wore flight coveralls. on launch and re-entry, would be necessary in case of trouble during an emergency landing attempt and the crew had to bail out by blowing an explosive hatch, sliding down a telescoping pole and parachuting to

The emergency escape system has been added since the Jan. 28, 1986, Challenger explosion that killed the seven-member crew and grounded the shuttle fleet. It would not help in a Challenger-type accident in which the vehicle blew apart 73 seconds

The practice countdown concludes three days of training here for the astronauts, after which they return to their base at the Johnson Space Center in Houston to await a launch day announcement next week.

Numbers from newspaper win large lottery

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - A 63-year-old real estate agent who "always needs money" randomly picked numbers from the front page of a newspaper to beat the 14 millionto-1 odds for Florida's Lotto, winning a U.S. record $55 million.

Sheelah Ryan, 63, said Wednesday her winning six-number combination - 3, 5, 19, 20, 27 and 35 - was drawn from the first six numbers she saw in The Orlando Sentinel last week. She then bought her ticket near her home in central Florida's Winter Springs.

Twice earlier, Ms. Ryan said she had $4 winners in Florida's 8-monthold lottery. Since then, she bought five tickets each week but was stunned when she watched Saturday's drawing on television and realized she was rich.

"I just kept saying 'Oh, my God!"" she told a room packed with journalists as she was introduced at the Florida Lottery Department offices.

Her first call was to her lawyer. 'She told me not to leave the house," Ms. Ryan said, calling Wednesday a

"Today I had my first plane ride. It is not that I'm afraid. I never had a reason to fly before," she said. "This is my first press conference. And this is the first time I ever won $55

The prize was the largest single lottery jackpot in U.S. history. The odds of winning were estimated by lottery officials at 14 million to 1.

Previously, the largest single jackpot was Pennsylvania's $46 million that went to Donald R. Woomer Sr. and Linda K. Despot, a couple from Hollidaysburg, Pa., last October. Two individual ticketbuyers divided a $51.4 million California lottery jackpot in June.

Publicity from Florida's jackpot spurred a buying frenzy before Saturday night's drawing here and in Illinois and New York, lottery officials in those states said.

Saturday night's prizes in New York and Illinois totaled $44 million, bringing the night's take for the three states to nearly $100 million.

The winner of the New York lottery's second largest prize, $23 million, was a 29-year-old truck driver who also presented his ticket Wednesday, then announced his retirement, kissed his wife and forecast a rosy future.

"Right now we're just going to stick with the simple things," said Anthony Valentino of Port Chester. "Maybe a house, a couple of cars. Put money away for my son. Maybe another baby. That's about it."

In Illinois, four ticket-buyers split a $21 million jackpot. As of Wednesday afternoon, only one of the four had come forward.

Florida's new winner said she didn't know if she'd keep her job or what she would buy when the state next week hands over the first installment of $2,767,361 - minus 20 percent that goes to the Internal Revenue Service. She will receive 19 other slightly smaller payments. "I've always been middle class and the middle class always needs money," said the New York native, who moved to Florida in 1975.

"I can buy an awful lot of things now," said Ms. Ryan, who is single, has no children but has a brother and nephews in New York. "I'm overwhelmed."

Before Ms. Ryan claimed her prize, dozens of people claimed they had the winning ticket.

One claimant, a janitor named Charles Hill, submitted a machine copy of the purported winning ticket Wednesday, saying the original had been damaged in the laundry.

Hill's claim was enough to get him a $23,000 van with no cash down from

'We're sorry for him, but we're not too shook up about it," said Tommy Thomas, owner of a Panama City Chevrolet dealership. He said he expects to get the van back. "Maybe we'll raffle it off."

Like many mothers, Lori Page has big plans for her son. Casey, approaching two and a half months, already weighs 14 pounds and is 25 inches in length.

"He's growing so fast for his age we think he may become a football player or basketball star," she laughed. "He may follow in the footsteps of Derrell and Cody, his brothers, and be active in athletics."

Indeed, activities at the Page home located at 326 Centre revolve around the Hostile Herd's sports programs and her stepsons' participation in them.. She and husband Mike attend virtually all local sporting events, ranging from football to track competitions.

When not observing spectactor sports, Page participates in athletic competition herself. "I enjoy basketball and volleyball, and I also like horseback riding, although I do less now that Casey came along. Some arts and crafts appeal to me too, such as needlepoint and T-shirt painting."

Born in Austin, Page has lived in Hereford all of her 24 years. She is a 1962 graduate of Hereford High School and has attended West Texas State University and Amarillo College. Currently operating her own lawn care service, Page has also worked at Ford-New Holland, Ruth Warner Memorial Day Care Center, and The Hereford Brand.

Cooking for her family occupies much of Page's time. "They like homestyle cooking and I think the favorite family treat is my recipe for Snickerdoodle cookies," she said. Mostly a self-taught cook, Page admits that she doesn't like to eat her own cooking. She noted that she can follow a recipe or throw a dish together successfully.

Some of her favorite recipes follow: SNICKERDOODLES

Mix together thoroughly: 2 eggs 1 c. shortening (soft) 11/2 c. sugar Sift together and stir in: 2% c. flour 2 tsp. cream of tartar 1 tsp. soda

1/2 tsp. salt Chill dough for four hours or overnight. Roll into balls the size of walnuts, then roll each in a mixture of cinnamon and sugar.

Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 400 degrees for 8-10 minutes.

CAMPING

Dear Heloise: My family loves camping out. Everything goes great until it's time to take a shower at the campgrounds.

Since our camper doesn't have a tub, only a shower, it was always a hassle to get the little ones in there. I thought I had to do something to make things easier every evening.

I took my laundry basket and put a large trash bag in it and overlapped it on all sides. It made a perfect "tub" for them. They loved it.

I also found another use for it: a wash tub for clothes. - Barbara Grant, San Antonio, Texas POTTED PLANTS

I picked up some inexpensive large black plastic pots from the nursery. To make them pretty I took some natural-color macrame roping and wrapped it around them starting from the bottom and working up. Every few inches I put a dab of white glue that dried transparent.

are back playing for them this year." If the football is around, chances are you'll see a blue No. 24 and a blue to improve is the rushing offense. No. 31 on a white Palo Duro jersey Friday night. Those are the linebackers, Clifton Monroe and Michael Westmoreland.

'Monroe is a definite, legitimate blue-chip football player," Cumpton said. "And Westmoreland is right said. there with him. They are the strength of their team on defense and on offense

"Overall, they are very similar to Tascosa in what they do defensively. They are not as large as Tascosa was, but they're a little quicker. The problem for us is going to be those two linebackers.

Monroe and Westmoreland won't get much rest. They're the keys of a powerful Don offense.

"They're a power running club," Cumpton said. "they will throw only if they are made to throw.

Westmoreland broke one 85 yards last week against Odessa," Cumpton said. "He's got great speed, and it's the long one. "Their fullback (Doug Washington) is a good football player. He broke one for 40 yards last week. He's a good straight-away runner. Their quarterback (Carleton Franklin) isn't as good an athlete as Tim Johnson (Tascosa's quarterback) but they get a lot of mileage out of him for their kind of offense."

Palo Duro broke open their game last week against former Hereford coach Jerry Taylor with two early touchdowns. The Dons traveled all of nine yards for the 14 points on two Odessa fumbles.

"Palo Duro got five turnovers last week," Cumpton said. "We simply The Amarillo Sandies are picked to can not turn the football over. We can't give 'em anything. If we make them earn what they get then we have a chance to beat them."

While the Hereford-PD game means nothing for Hereford's playoff chances, it's an important learning experience for the Herd. Next Thursday, the Whitefaces open District 1-4A play at Lubbock Estacado. The district opener could mean a lot. "four our ball club this is a good game, a learning experience and a tremendous challenge. These are the big boys on the 5A block," Cumpton said. "This is important for us to get ready for our district, because that's

It was that way last week, ball team," Cumpton said. They and it's that way this week. We're not going for all the marbles, but we're going to try our best to win.

"If we win this game, it's going to do wonders for our confidence. We'll know we can play with the big boys." The biggest point the Herd will try

We were disappointed in our running game. The kids made some mistakes, and there were so coaching mistakes. I think we learned a lot last Saturday, and I think we will correct our mistakes," Cumpton

"If our defense continues to give a good effort and continues to improve, they can be good enough to keep us in the ball game. Since two-a-days they have improved immensely. They have developed into a real 'team,' and their confidence is up. They have a chance to be pretty good before it's over."

Steve Tucker will probably miss this week's game for the Herd with a knee injury, and Gilbert Juarez and John Tohm are still out with injuries.

Brad Smith will be wearing a new number and playing a new position this week. The senior will be wearing No. 80 and will play some at tight end in addition to his role at defensive

Opening up running game

One of the goals for the Hereford Whitefaces in Friday's home opener against Palo Duro will be to open up the running game. Glenn Parker (21) was Hereford's leading rusher last week against Tascosa.

Metcalf to miss BYU game

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Longhorn tailback Eric Metcalf had hoped for a Heisman-type performance for all to see in Texas' football opener against Brigham Young on Thursday

But a ruling by the NCAA on Wednesday turned Metcalf from a player into a spectator for the nationally televised game.

Metcalf, a senior who ran for 1,925 all-purpose yards last year, learned Wednesday of his ineligibility, due to a minor rules infraction reported by UT to the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"I was shocked because after we had talked to everyone (NCAA people), and while we were waiting for a decision, (I felt) that I had a good chance of being able to play this week," Metcalf said. "But as soon as they came on the

Major League Baseball

phone and said I wasn't going to be able to play, I was shocked."

Metcalf said he accepted money from the UT athletic department to pay for summer school this year, then did not attend either summer

Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds said, "It was a minor mistake and the money was paid back to the university out of his own pocket. Still, it is a violation. We turn in all violations to the NCAA and will continue to do so."

Metcalf, in an interview with KVUE-TV in Austin, said on June 1, the UT athletic department gave him a $760 check for one session of summer school. He decided he would not go to the first session, then in mid-July he decided he would not go to the second session.

On July 13, Metcalf was told by the Metcalf was contacted by reporters Wednesday on campus near the football dormitory. He was with Texas' 1977 Heisman Trophy winner, Earl Campbell, a special assistant to the UT vice president of student affairs.

Metcalf said, "I feel that we're both (Metcalf and the athletic department) to blame for this. They said I could have the money so I took the money. If I wouldn't have taken the money, there would be no problem. If they wouldn't have given me the money, there would be no pro-

"It's a two-way street."

Upon deplaning at Salt Lake City International Airport on Wednesday, Coach David McWilliams said, "I'm disappointed for Eric. I think the penalty is a little stiffer than it should be."

He said Metcalf's absence from the BYU game would probably hurt his quest for the Heisman Trophy. "I hope they won't use that against him, but I am not going to sit here and say it doesn't hurt because it does,' McWilliams said.

He has touted Metcalf, a 5-foot-9inch 178-pounder, for the trophy.

McWilliams said team members are confused and angry about the decision because they believe Metcalf, the son of former pro football star Terry Metcalf, would not intentionally violate NCAA regulations.

Texas, ranked No. 19 in the latest poll by The Associated Press, just finished two years of NCAA probation, reduced to one year for compliance with guidelines, in June.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you showed your ignorance when you made a most uncomplimentary reference to pigs. It's time the public was educated on this subject. You can make amends by printing my letter.

Pigs are beautiful and intelligent creatures. They have the highest measurable IQ of any animal, including dogs, and they make excellent household pets as several pig owners around the country will testify.

The image of the pig as a greedy, slovenly, filthy beast is not accurate.

Many centuries ago, Europeans believed that the dirtier the pig, the better the meat. (These people weren't any too clean themselves). For this reason their sties were not cleaned and they were allowed to wallow in filth.

Pigs are by nature as clean as any forest animal and will not soil the areas where they eat and sleep unless forced to. Unfortunately, these loving, intelligent beasts are made to live "like pigs" in many of our nation's processing plants. They suffer needlessly before they are slaughtered so we can have footballs, pork chops, hams and bacon. This is a travesty. We don't need to kill pigs to feed this nation. There are plenty of other things we can eat.

Your readers will probably think I am some kind of nut to stick up for pigs when there is so much injustice toward humans in this world. Well, I happen to feel that life in any form is sacred and the dinner table is as good a place as any to start respecting all living creatures.-R.M., Santa Barbara

DEAR BARB: It is true that pigs make great pets and are as easily trained as dogs, but for some reason, the idea has not caught on. Maybe it's because pigs eat a lot more than dogs and they don't stop eating when they've had enough like canines do, hence the expression "to pig out."

I do not eat pork so if it disappeared tomorrow I would not be upset, but a great many people love bacon and eggs in the morning and the BLT sandwich is an American tradition. You'd have a hard time getting bacon off the menu. I do, however, respect your regard for all living creatures, and thank you for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I love your column and think you give sensible advice. I need some right now.

Can you tell me anything about a group that has been running ads in one of the tabloids recently saying they can reverse the curses of bondage, remove evil influences, give you the power to turn your life around and bring good luck?

For $10 they will send the keys that can unlock the powers that have controlled your luck and destiny. Sounds too good to be true.

Please tell me what you know about this organization. I am thinking of sending them $10 but I want to hear from you first. Thanks very much.-Ann in D.C.

DEAR ANN: If this outfit could turn a person's luck around it wouldn't be running ads asking for $10. It would turn its own luck around and make so much money it wouldn't have to advertise for suckers. Wake up, honey.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How about a standing ovation for the unsung hero of our time-the loving stepfather? He deserves recognition for taking on the responsibility of raising another man's child without a trace of resentment.

I'm married to one of those heroes and he's a real treasure. Please give these guys a public pat on the back.-Wisconsin

DEAR WIS .: Gladly. You sound like someone pretty special yourself. It's always nice when two lovely people find each other. Long may you Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs and drug use. Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope," will give you the answers. Send $3 plus a selfaddressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

NEW YORK (AP) - "A" and "B" are substances on the red blood cells and the presence or absence of them determines an individual's blood

The New York Blood Center says 45 percent of the U.S. population falls into the "O" group - meaning they have neither A nor B substances on their red blood cells. The next most common blood group (40 percent of the population) are people with blood classified as A.

Tigers edge Jays

AP Sports Writer

With the Detroit Tigers limping through their worst slump of the season, Manager Sparky Anderson turned to one of his walking wounded, and the patient provided the cure.

Trammell might be the greatest player in the game," Anderson said of injured shortstop Alan Trammell, who in a rare pinch-hitting appearance got a two-out single in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give Detroit a crucial 4-3 victory over the streaking Toronto Blue Jays.

"This one meant a lot," Anderson said after the Tigers broke a sixgame losing streak to move within a game of the Boston Red Sox in the American League East. "We just lost 13 of 15. People have got to understand that's a lot of losses."

But Trammell, whose single scored a hustling Chet Lemon from second base, said the slump was not a major concern.

Orioles 4, Red Sox 3 Larry Sheets scored from third base in the ninth inning as Boston failed to complete what would have been an inning-ending double play.

Instead, Baltimore rallied for two runs to hand the Red Sox their first defeat in 72 games in which Boston led entering the final inning.

Cal Ripken hit bases-loaded grounder to shortstop Jody Reed, who flipped to second baseman Marty Barrett to force Bill Ripken, But Barrett's throw to first was wide and Todd Benzinger was unable to record the third out.

Ellis Burks hit his 16th homer for Boston.

Indians 5, Yankees 4

Luis Medina hit the first two home runs of his major league career and drove in three runs to lead the Cleveland over New York.

Medina led off the third inning with a solo homer and hit a two-run shot in Cleveland's three-run fourth to help Rod Nichols to his first major league victory in five decisions.

Mariners 2, Twins 1 Seattle's Harold Reynolds hit a two-out double in the 10th inning off Minnesota reliever Jeff Reardon to score Rey Quinones.

Bill Swift, the fifth Seattle pitcher, raised his record to 7-10, pitching the final 1 2-3 innings. Dan Schatzeder

Royals 4, Angels 2

George Brett had three hits, including a home run, and Bo Jackson hit a two-run triple as Kansas City beat California.

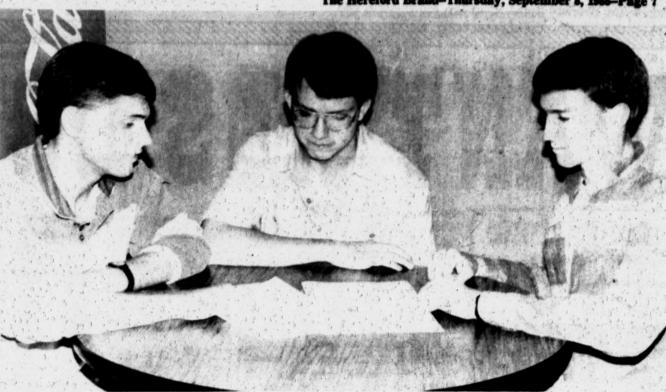

Floyd Bannister, aided by three double plays and a shoestring, basesloaded catch by left fielder Pat Tabler, improved to 10-12.

White Sox 7, Brewers 2 Jerry Reuss pitched a four-hitter over seven innings as Chicago stopped Milwaukee's seven game winning streak.

The White Sox roughed up Milwaukee's Mike Birkbeck for three runs in the third inning and added two more in the fourth off reliever Paul Mirabella.

Athletics 6, Rangers 3 Jose Canseco's major leagueleading 37th homer tied the game in the fifth inning, and Gene Nelson pitched three innings of scoreless relief for Oakland.

The Athletics added two runs in the seventh when Jose Guzman, 11-11, committed a club-record 10th balk of the season and Terry Steinbach added an RBI single.

Key Club plans scramble

Jason Scott, Scott Simons and Carl Delozier of the Hereford Key Club look over entries in the club's golf scramble scheduled Saturday at 1 p.m. at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford. Entry fee is $25 for adults and $10 for students, and entrants should contact golf pro Mike Horton at the golf course by Friday. Tournament proceeds will benefit Big Brothers/Big Sisters and the Hereford Senior Center.

Dodgers rally in 8th to clip Astros, 4-1

By The Associated Press

John Shelby hit the shot heard around Los Angeles to beat the Houston Astros, and just perhaps secure the Dodgers' path to the playoffs.

Shelby hit three-run homer with two outs in the eighth inning to snap a tie and Tim Leary allowed four hits in eight-plus innings as the Dodgers beat visiting Houston 4-1 Wednesday night to take a six-game lead over the Astros in the National League

Steve Sax opened the eighth with a single and took second on a sacrifice by Alfredo Griffin. After Kirk Gibson drew an intentional walk from Mike Scott, 13-6, the runners executed a double steal. One out later, Shelby hit his seventh home run.

Elsewhere in the NL it was Chicago 9, New York 8; Pittsburgh 5, Montreal 4; Atlanta 4, San Francisco 1; San Diego 1, Cincinnati 0; and St. Louis 5, Philadelphia 0.

Cubs 9, Mets 8

Rafael Palmeiro led off the bottom of the ninth inning with a triple and scored on Damon Berryhill's one-out single as Chicago beat New York in a night game at Wrigley Field after blowing a five-run lead in the top of the inning.

Trailing 8-3, the Mets rallied for five runs in the ninth inning off starter Jeff Pico and reliever Drew Hall on Lee Mazzilli's RBI pinch single, Keith Hernandez's three-run homer, and a solo shot by Darryl Strawberry.

Pirates 5, Expos 4 Doug Drabek won for the ninth time in his last 10 decisions and drove in a run with a single as Pittsburgh beat Montreal at Three Rivers Stadium.

Second baseman Tom Foley's er- won its third straight game. His ror led to a pair of unearned Pittsburgh runs in the first inning against Bryn Smith, 10-9. Cardinals 5, Phillies 0

Joe Magrane pitched a sevenhitter for his second consecutive shutout and Terry Pendleton drove in two runs as St. Louis beat Philadelphia at Busch Stadium.

Magrane, 4-8, extended his string of shutout innings to 19, as St. Louis complete game.

previous shutouts this season were a 4-0, one-hitter on Aug. 12 in Chicago and 2-0 victory last week in Houston. Braves 4, Giants 1

Tom Glavine pitched a three-hitter and also drove in two runs with a single as Atlanta beat slumping San Francisco at Candlestick Park.

Glavine, 6-15, struck out five and walked three for his first big-league

Padres 1. Reds 0

Andy Hawkins allowed four hits in 8 1-3 innings and San Diego scored its only run as a result of an error to beat Cincinnati at Jack Murphy Stadium.

Hawkins, 14-10, struck out two and walked four en route to his fourth straight victory. Mark Davis struck out the last two batters for his 27th save while extending his scoreless

DR. LAMB

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am 22 years old and on the pill. I'm married, but we do not want to have children until we are able to afford to take care of them buildings. For estimates call and I can quit working. My mother tells me that I should not take the pill 11-37-22p as it will increase my risk of having breast cancer. Yet some of my friends Portable equipment..Want grass who take the pill say that is not true seed cleaning on your farm or ranch. My husband and I are both concerned and would like your opinion.

My mother has never had a grandchild and is most anxious to have one, but we feel we simply can't afford it yet and need time to get our financial house in order before raising kids. Still, I don't want to get breast cancer either. Incidentally, no one in our family has ever had breast cancer. Does that make a difference? DEAR READER: One of the early fears was that oral contraceptives would cause breast cancer. There was no way to be certain as you have to wait many years to see if some things are associated with an increased risk of cancer or not. In fact, the effects of smoking cigarettes in terms of ausing cancer may not be evident for 15 years or more after a group starts smoking. That is why it was not immediately apparent that cigarettes increased the risk of lung cancer until years after cigarette smoking became more widespread. As the years have passed so the effects of oral contraceptives could be evaluated, it has become increasingly apparent that they have no effect on a woman having breast cancer. A study of the long-term effects of oral contraceptives by Dr. James J. Schlesselman and colleagues was published in the March 25, 1988, issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association. It included 4.714 women who had breast cancer and 4,540 age-matched controls who did

Whether a woman has been pregnant or not does have a bearing on her risk of breast cancer. In the women who had been pregnant and used oral contraceptives, their risk of breast cancer within the first four years after stopping the pill was only 60 percent as great as the risk in women who did not. Between five and nine years after stopping the pill, the risk in pill users was still only 70 percent of that seen in nonusers.

Mastering the art of preserving yields tasty fruit, vegetables-

from the local market or have the good fortune of enjoying the rewards of your own garden, the harvests of late summer and early autumn offer a bounty of delectable fruits and vegetables.

For years, cooks have known that the just-picked flavor of nature's delights has year-round appeal, and have set about capturing these flavors by preserving and pickling, canning and freezing.

Although it once played a significant role in the cycle of seasonal cookery, preserving is no longer an undertaking performed routinely in American households.

However, with the current revitalization of interest in wholesome foods and the processes by which they are prepared at home, the art of "putting by" is attracting a new generation of aficionados.

Preserving is an excellent way top rocess fruit without relying on chemical preservatives, and even inexperienced cooks need not be intimidated by the prospect of making jellies and jams at home.

For instance, in some cases it is not necessary to seal the jars of the finished product by placing them in a boiling-water bath, and first-time preservers may prefer to opt for recipes which do not require this additional step.

Whatever method you choose, it is important to understand the basic principles and techniques of preserving and to have the appropriate utensils available before you begin.

If possible, start with freshlypicked fruit which is ripe-but not too ripe-and free from fungicides and other chemicals.

The ideal time to pick fruit is early in the morning, as soon as possible after the sun has dried the dew.

If you are using fruit that has been

Whether you purchase produce must be rinsed thoroughly, but an effort should be made to avoid prolonged contact with the water, which may damage the fruit and/or cause its fresh flavor to diminish.

> Citrus fruits, however, always should be scrubbed under running water to ensure that all traces of fungicidal sprays have been removed from their pores, and this will have no negative affect on flavor or texture. For untreated fruit, wiping with a damp cloth probably will be sufficient for removing obvious dirt.

> Achieving the correct proportion of fruit to sugar is vital, because sugar acts as the preserving agent. Too little sugar eventually may cause a layer of mold to grow on top of the jam, while too much may cause the jam to crystalize.

> Recipes for preserving are designed to accommodate the natural sugar content of each fruit, so even this variable should pose no significant problem for the beginner who follows directions carefully.

> Some recipes also call for preserving sugar, which contains small amounts of pectin and acid, which help the jam or jelly to set properly.

> Pectin occurs naturally in the skin, seeds, peel and cores of some fruits, including apples and quinces, and is also available in commercial form for addition to jams and jellies which do not include sufficient natural sources of this important ingredient. When using this product, it is vital that the fruit/sugar/pectin mixture be allowed to boil as long and as hard as directed.

Start timing when it reaches a full, rolling boil (indicated by bubblesa cross the entire surface of the mixture that you cannot stir down), and boil for the exact amount of time specified.

It is best to use a large (eight to 10 quart) kettle - of copper, stainles treated with chemical agents, it steel or enameled cast iron - with a flat, broad base to provide a wide surface area for moisture evaporation while the fruit is cooking.

To be sure that the boiling contents do not spill over the sides of the pan, never fill it more than one-third full.

During the boiling process, it may be necessary to remove a layer of foam from the top of the fruit mixture. The recipe you are following will indicate when this should be done. For this procedure, all you need is a long-handled metal spoon or a special long-handled skimmer.

In addition to this implement, you should have: Several wooden spoons for hot preserves into jars; a ladle (preferably with a spout) for lifting hot fruit from the kettle to the funnel; a clock with an easy-to-read second hand for timing jellies and jams made with extra pectin, and pot holders and dish towels within easy Always remember that the hot fruit mixture should not be ladled all the way to the brim of the jar. Each recipe will indicate the amount of headroom - the air space between the lid and contents of the jar - that is necessary to create a proper vacuum. Following these directions will help ensure the proper seal.

The jars or jelly glasses that you will be using should be sterilized before being filled. In Joy of Cooking(Signet), authors Irma S. Rombauer and Marion Rombauer Becker offer these directions: "Fill glasses or jars 3/4 full of water and place them, well apart, in a shallow pan partly filled with water. Simmer the glasses 15 to 20 minutes. Keep hot until ready to fill. If the lids are placed lightly upon the glasses, they will be sterilized at the same time.'

The recipes below are particularly well suited for the novice preserver. Reproduced from The Illustrated Book of Preserves (Doubleday) by Simonetta Lupi and Angeio Sorzio, the recipes for Pear Preserve and Apple and Orange Jam are delightfully straightforward.

The authors recommend using late summer pears for the first recipe, and note that the Apple and Orange Jam, "Apart from its uses as a normal jam, is particularly good as a filling for doughnuts, fritters and baked puddings."

PEAR PRESERVE

Ingredients 21/4 lb/1 kg sound, ripe pears 2 cups/1 lb preserving sugar 2 cups/16 fl. oz. water 1 lemon

1 tablespoon marc or liqueur

Method Buy or pick the pears before they are quite ripe and set aside to test for ripeness; it should not feel soft but should be very juicy when cut. Peel and core tha pears and drop into a large bowl of cold water acidulated with the lemon juice.

Drain the pears and place in a preserving pan, adding the sugar and water. Bring slowly to the boil while stirring. When tender, break the fruit up by stirring well with a stainless steel whisk. Continue boiling gently until the preserve is thick enough.

Transfer the hot mixture into prepared jars and sprinkle the surface of each jar with a few drops of pear marc, liqueur or brandy to add more flavour. Seal tightly and keep in a dark, dry place. APPLE AND ORANGE JAM

Ingredients 7-8 juicy oranges

½ lb/200g peeled, cored, sliced ap-

21/2 cups/11/4 lb sugar

Method

Pare off the rind of the two oranges, taking care to leave behind all the white pith, which is very bitter. Chop quite finely. Peel all the remaining oranges and remove all traces of pith from each orange. Cut the oranges into pieces, discarding the seeds and the fibrous strips from the thin edge of each segment. Place the flesh and juice in a nonaluminum saucepan and add the apples (these provide extra pectin to ensure a good set) and the sugar.

Bring the mixture to the boil and keep it boiling for 5 minutes without skimming.

Once the apples are cooked, remove from the heat and put the mixture through a sieve or food mill (or a processor).

Return to the pan, stir in the chopped peel and simmer slowly, removing the scum now and then. When the jam has thickened to the consistency of honey, remove from the heat and ladle the hot jam into jars. Seal tightly and keep in a cool, dark place.

In Blue Ribbon Pickles & Preserves: 75 of the Most Mouthwatering, Award-winning Recipes from America's State, County, and Local Fairs (St. Martin's Press), Maria Polushkin Robbins has collected a delectable assortment of recipes, ranging from unusual Honeydew Chutney and Tomato Pineapple Preserves to traditional offerings such as Peach Jam and Farm-Fresh Strawberry Jam.

The two recipes from this volume which are reproduced below are so easy to execute that both experienced and inexperienced cooks are sure to be delighted.

Irene Haas's recipe for Blueberry Freezer Jam requires no cooking, which not only eliminates what can be a time-consuming part of jam preparation, but also ensures that the jam retains a fresh, fruity taste.

Crock Pot Apple butter, from Alice P. Thiele, also may be placed in airtight containers and frozen. Or, if you prefer to try your hand at traditional canning, just follow the instructions for sterilizing jars and rings, and process filled jars in a boiling-water bath. BLUEBERRY FREEZER JAM 1/4 cup powdered fruit pectin 2 tablespoons sugar 1 cup blueberries, mashed

34 cup sugar 2 tablespoons corn syrup

2 tablespoons lemon juice Combine pectin and 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir into blueberries in a mixer bowl. Add remaining ingredients. Beat at low speed for 7 minutes. Pour into jelly jars and cover. Let stand overnight at room temperature. Store in freezer.

CROCK POT APPLE BUTTER

Apples Sugar Cinnamon

Core and slice apples, but do not peel. Cook apples, covered, in a large pot, over very low heat, until they are tender. Do not add liquid; they will make their own. Strain apples through a sieve or press through a food mill, to remove peeling. Measure the apple sauce, then measure sugar to equal 1 cup more than half the amount of applesauce. For example: For 8 cups applesauce, use 5 cups sugar. For 10 cups appleauce, use 6 cups sugar. Add cinnamon to taste, about 1 tablespoon. Combine applesauce, sugar, and cinnamon in crock pot and mix well. Cook uncovered on high for 5 hours (high on a crock pot is 300 degrees

Sterilize jars and lids: Wash all canning jars and lids in warm soapy water. Place jars in a large ot, cover with water, and bring to a boil. Boil for 15 minutes to sterilize. Place lids and screwbands in a smaller saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil for 15 minutes to sterilize. Leave jars and lids in hot water until ready to
