HOME TOWN TALK

Twenty-six solid columns of local news was furnished Herald readers in Sunday's issue.

We believe the most important item in the paper's editorial make-up is local news; it's the backbone of the newspaper, especially a daily whose field is one particular city and its immediate trade territory.

If this were a "state paper" we'd run more national and international news; for we have the facilities in our full Associated Press leased wire service.

One of the most interesting parts of this business is watching and listening to the reactions of individual readers; to see the numerous differences in opinions, viewpoints, likes and dislikes.

When The Herald changed ownership a year or so ago and the AP wire was initiated there were some folks who actually resented that wire being in here; they said they didn't want "outside" news in their "little local paper." Now, a lot of the folks who felt that way have told us they've stopped taking this-and-that "outside" paper "because we get the most important outside news in The Herald before we can get it in any other paper."

And, they get the local news to boot.

On the other hand some of our readers want more state, national and international news than we carry. It is our policy to carry all the local news we can get each day and in the remaining space to carry the more important state news; then if there's still some space to spare, the bigger national and international stories are included.

Of course, very often stories break in far away places that transcend all geographical, national and racial barriers; they're just "big" stories the world over and you can't get around it.

The other day Mary Dugan was hanged in Arizona state prison. It was a terrible thing; a woman of 52 convicted of murder, going to her death with a song on her lips, being completely decapitated by the guillotine. It was terrible, but the elements of life and death, of unknown chapters in the victim's life that came to an end—several unusual factors made it a story most everybody would read—although many found things revolting in it. But it was a good story nevertheless.

You'd be surprised how varied are the news tastes of people. For instance several fellows have told us they'd like to see more news of the London naval arms conference in The Herald. On the other hand we know a lot of folks who'd not waste through any story on that subject, especially in their local daily, in which a majority of folks seek first for local news.

Daily to protect its readers by carrying as much news as many subjects and from as many sources as possible in the available space in the task to which we devote ourselves to the best of our ability.

Addition of almost 1,500 readers in the past year or so serves in a number to reward us for whatever efforts have been put forth.

MANDAMUS WRIT IS AIM OF SENATOR

Inheritance Tax Man First Witness For Chief

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas today began his court fight in an effort to force the State Democratic Executive Committee and County Executive Committeemen to place his name as a candidate for governor on the 1930 primary ballots.

Seek Writ

He applied to the supreme court for a writ of mandamus to require D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the state executive committee of the Democratic party, and members of the state committee, to certify his name to the chairmen of the various county committees in this state as a candidate for the nomination of the Democratic party for the office of governor before the primary election to be held on July 26, and to require all chairman of county executive committees to order and procure the printing of his name on the official ballot for all election precincts in all counties as a candidate for governor.

Senator Love filed the suit under terms of a law written by him and passed by the fourth special session of the legislature giving courts of civil appeals of the supreme court original jurisdiction in the matter of issuing mandamus against political party executive committees.

Anticipated

Senator Love anticipated the barring of his name from the ballot after the state executive committee, meeting in Austin on February 1, went on record instructing itself to not permit any one to participate as a candidate in the 1930 primary who had failed to vote for the Democratic presidential nominee in 1928. It was held the committee could not take formal action before June 9, when as directed by law, it would meet to certify candidates to the county executive committee chairmen.

Love recited in his petition that the state committee's action barred him from participating in the general primary election of 1930 of the Democratic party as a candidate for governor, or for any state office, which, he said, he had the lawful right to do. He claimed also that it barred from "the privilege of voting for any person in said primary election as a candidate for any state office who participated in the presidential primary or primary election in 1928 and then voted against the demo-

"I Choose To Stay"

REV. DOW H. HEARD

In an announcement to the congregation of the First Baptist Church at 11 a. m. Sunday the pastor, Rev. Dow H. Heard said, concerning a call that had been extended him by the First Baptist Church, Belton, "I choose to stay in Big Spring." He read to his congregation the telegram he had sent to the Belton church declining the pastorate there.

Rev. Heard has been pastor of the local church about six years. His congregation learning that another church was seeking his services passed resolutions expressing the hope that he would stay here. Pastor Heard said today, "I wish to express my appreciation for the many expressions of confidence and love that have come to me from my own congregation and from many friends on the outside regarding my decision to remain in Big Spring."

THOMASON FOR TARIFF ON OIL

Candidate For Congress Declares Policies On San Angelo Visit

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 24.—Mayor R. E. Thomason of El Paso who is conducting an active campaign for congressman in this district, declared himself in sympathy with the independent oil producers' fight for a tariff on foreign imported crude while visiting in San Angelo last week end.

"I have knowledge of the depressed condition of the oil business. I am for a tariff on crude oil. I want to help the independent producer as well as to develop West Texas. We have hardly scratched the surface in this country and if we are to have prosperity the independent producer must be aided and encouraged."

"It would be inconsistent, however, to give protection to our pro-

BORROWED SHORTAGE HOUSE TOLD

Assistant To State Comptroller On Stand

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—Money to make good approximately $5,883 which had been collected by the comptroller's department in 1925 and 1926 as inheritance taxes and placed in escrow, but not turned into the treasury until January 27, 1930, was borrowed by S. H. Terrell, comptroller, from his friends, John G. McKay, in charge of the inheritance tax division, testified today before the house of representatives.

BORROWED MONEY

He said that as soon as the items had been called to his attention by Moore Lynn, state auditor, as funds that had not been either returned to the payers or placed in the treasury, he advised Comptroller Terrell and that as soon as Mr. Terrell satisfied himself the money belonged to the state he borrowed it and placed it in the treasury.

He said he knew of his own knowledge that some of the money had been contributed in checks, Ben Grafton giving one for $700, Worth House, $300; H. H. Connor, $500, and J. H. Powell, $250.

"Where did Mr. Terrell get this money to place in the treasury to offset these items?" Rep. Coke R. Stevenson asked McKay on cross-examination.

"In a general way, he borrowed it from his friends," McKay replied.

"Isn't it a fact that some $4,100 of the amount was taken to the bank in 41 $100 bills?" Stevenson asked.

"I do not know," McKay replied. The proponents rested their case when the house met today with a bare quorum present.

GOOD TIME IS ASSURED

Bowery Dance But One Of Surprising Show Features

Everybody is going to have a good time at the Ritz theatre beginning at midnight Tuesday.

That musical show, a two-act presentation crammed full of laughs, songs, dancing and fun, will be the cause.

Sale of reserved seats started at the Ritz box office Monday.

Proceeds from this show will handle preliminary expense of staging the all-city spring festival being sponsored by the City Federation. Preceding the show there will be a dance at the Casino for benefit of the same project.

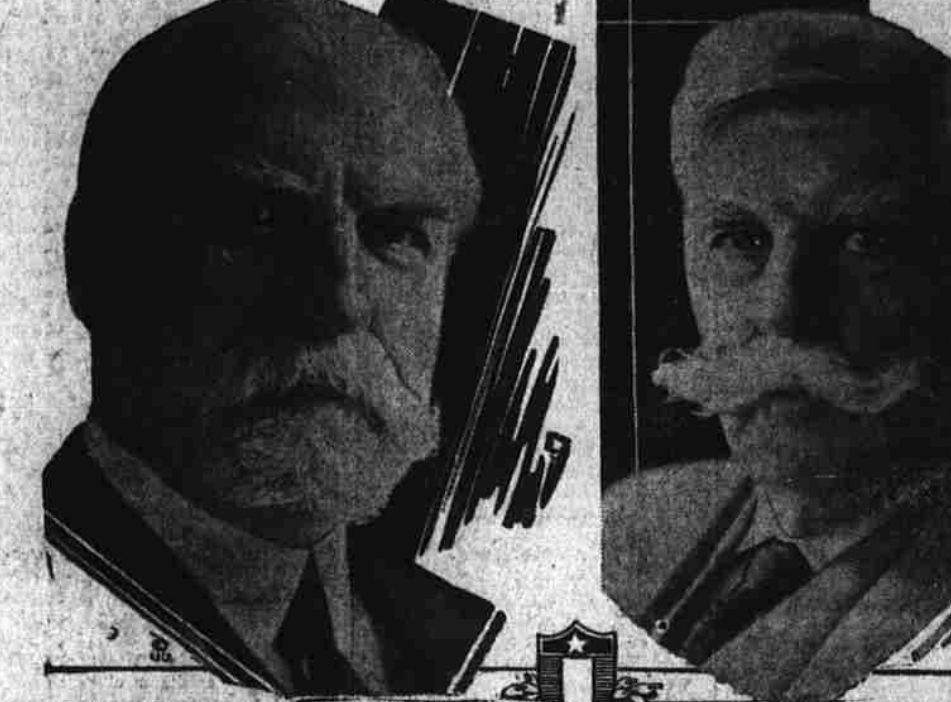

Grady Gilder's 11-piece premiere dance orchestra from the Hotel Lubbock will play at the Casino and will be featured in the second act of the Ritz show.

Chris Ming, director general of the spring festival, whose directing of the recent Kiwanis minstrel here, was so successful, is in charge of Tuesday evening's events.

The Bowery dance, a feature of "Inside In," the comedy that will form the first act of the show, is declared by those who have witnessed rehearsals to be the most surprising local stage performance of its type yet undertaken here. It will be done by Buttons, played by Wilburn Hareus, and Helen Allen, who will be Tricie, a stenographer. They will be assisted by a group of ten local couples in odd dance steps and postures. It is but one of many dance scenes in which a local chorus of a score of pretty girls will appear.

The second act will be opened by Grady Gilder's orchestra and will center around a cabaret. Black-face singers, who will be well-known local performers, will do special song numbers, with Lucille Rice and the chorus.

THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE AND THE OATH GIVER

Here are Charles Evans Hughes, left, the new chief justice of the United States, and Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, 83, oldest member of the supreme court, chosen to administer the oath at Mr. Hughes' formal installation ceremony at Washington. Justice Holmes, a Civil War veteran, has been a member of the court since 1892.

HUGHES IS GIVEN OATH

Court's Session Pauses But Six Minutes For Rites

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—The oath of constitutional allegiance was administered to Charles Evans Hughes shortly before noon today at the beginning of the short ceremony attending his induction into office as chief justice.

Only a simple ceremony in the historic old chambers of the highest court attended his induction into office.

He took the preliminary oath of allegiance to the constitution in the court robing room shortly before noon, with only members of the court present.

Then, as the black-robed justices assembled on the bench for the beginning of a new term, he stood at the clerk's desk in a crowded court chamber and recited the pledge to sit in judgment impartially, and "do equal right to the poor and the rich."

That ended the ceremony. The ope proceeded with the day's work.

In all, the highest tribunal had interrupted its routine for just six minutes to mark the transition from the tenth to the eleventh chief justice of the United States.

The pause included, however, a solemn moment as Justice Holmes, standing beside the empty chair at the center of the bench, announced formally the resignation of William Howard Taft because of the critical illness which now keeps him in seclusion.

His successor accepted and took the vacant place with firm step, his sixty-eight years. His voice filled the small chamber with full picture of health and vigor despite tones as he pronounced the words of his obligation.

Unusual Facts About Nation's Highest Tribunal; Do You Know How Many Laws Have Been Nullified By The Supreme Court?

BY ROBERT TALLEY

NEA Services Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—It has been contended that, in final analysis, the real ruling power of the United States is not the president nor Congress, but the supreme court.

Thus, Charles Evans Hughes, the new chief justice of the United States, becomes one of the most powerful figures in the nation's government. He heads the country's highest tribunal—composed of nine exalted men, each appointed for life—who have the power to set aside laws enacted by Congress and approved by the president on the ground that such laws violate the constitution.

Yet, despite the vast power it wields over the lives and affairs of millions, comparatively few persons understand the supreme court and how it operates.

Here are some interesting facts about the high tribunal, presented in succinct question and answer form:

Q. What kind of cases are heard by the court?

A. Only those involving federal questions—not appeals where only state questions are involved.

Q. Does the chief justice decide cases brought before the court?

A. No; he is merely a presiding officer and his vote counts for no more than any of the others.

Q. Who set the theory that the supreme court has the authority to pass on the constitutionality of acts of Congress?

A. Chief Justice John Marshall, in 1803. Since then there have been approximately 50 such decisions and in eight of these laws have been declared unconstitutional by a five to four vote.

Q. Are state and federal laws nullified by the supreme court automatically repealed?

A. No, they remain on the books, but are not enforced.

Amendment Only Remedy

Q. How may they be reinstated?

A. Only by enactment of an amendment to the constitution, as was done in the case of the income tax law.

Q. How has the power of the court to declare laws unconstitutional, disputed for many years, been attacked in Congress?

A. On the ground that it is an usurpation of power by one of the three co-ordinate branches of government that was never intended by the constitution.

Q. How defended?

A. On the ground that some agency must serve as an umpire to protect the public from ill-considered, unconstitutional legislation that would interfere with rights and property without due process of law.

Q. What remedies have been suggested?

A. An amendment requiring at least a six to three vote for declaring a law unconstitutional; an amendment to take from the court entirely the power to pass on constitutionality of laws.

Moody Against Field Predicted Since Entry Of Jim Ferguson

By The Political Analyst

AUSTIN, Feb. 24.—Admit the major premise and you can pretty fairly chart the main outlines of the political campaign in Texas this year.

That premise, already conceded by a good many people, is that Gov. Dan Moody will be a central figure in the race for the office he now holds.

Two things in the past week have substantiated the claims of those who long ago advanced the idea of his third-term race.

One is the failure of his prison reform program in the legislature could be made a direct challenge before the people. He regarded it in the nature of a challenge, since he promptly swung into a radio campaign among the people back home.

The other is James E. Ferguson's entry into the race.

That is supposed to be waving a red flag tentatively in front of Moody.

So it may be conceded there's a probability of Moody's offering to carry on his leadership, opinions, estimates, guesses and predictions may be made with great latitude.

It would seem that Moody, Earle B. Mayfield and James E. Ferguson will be three persons of outstanding import in the primary race.

That assumes that Sen. Thomas B. Love will finally land up as the leader of an independent movement.

It also brackets Treas. W. Gregory Hatcher and Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller as a pair of candidates who may charge up on the blind side, or who may, between the two, turn the course of the race.

A guess that ought to be safe would be Moody against the field for the second primary nomination to the office. Since only two can go into the August run-off primary, it means a lot of candidates will have to be left at the gate.

It would seem that Moody, who

TWO TRAINS WEDGE CAR; 100 INJURED

59 In Kenosha Hospitals With Serious Hurts

KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 24. (AP)—Eleven persons were killed and at least 100 were injured when a Chicago bound passenger train of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Electric railroad struck an automobile at a grade crossing just north of Kenosha late last night and was derailed.

Conches Filled Up

The automobile was hurled directly into the path of a north-bound freight train, as the five cars of the passenger train left the track and piled into an eight-foot ditch.

The first car of the passenger train, which was traveling nearly 60 miles an hour, buried its nose for many feet in the mud of the ditch. The car behind piled into it. The three rear cars also went into the ditch, but their passengers were more fortunate than those in the two forward cars.

The dead

Frank Buday, Milwaukee, driver of the automobile.

Norman E. Shuman, Milwaukee, passenger in the automobile.

James B. Potomac, Kenosha, Wis.

E. F. Reibe, Milwaukee.

George Broika, Chicago.

James Fitzgerald, Manitowish, Mich.

J. B. Coggin, Chicago.

Ruth Reibe, 25, Milwaukee.

Miss Betty Shema, Chicago.

Alex Steinhorst, 39, teacher, Kenosha schools.

Miss Evelyn Metzger, Chicago.

There were 56 men, women and children under treatment at two Kenosha hospitals today. Their injuries included broken arms, legs and ribs, skull fractures, internal injuries and bruises. Condition of at least 10 was pronounced critical. At least 50 other passengers of the train were treated at the hospitals and released.

It was the first time in 10 years that a passenger on the North Shore line had met death in an accident, the company said. The line has been awarded national recognition both for speed and safety in recent years.

The automobile was travelling on route 42, northbound, when the passenger train bore down along the straightaway stretch. The train struck the car squarely, just as the freight train was approaching from the south. The machine was momentarily wedged between the two trains, before the passenger train left the rails. Several freight cars also were derailed.

Automobiles passing on the well-travelled highway were first to give aid. The injured were placed in the machines and taken to the Kenosha and St. Catherine hospitals. Several minutes later ambulances, doctors and nurses were at work.

Several of the dead were buried in the debris of the first car, and it was necessary to burn through the steel mesh to remove their bodies. Rescuers were still at work as dawn broke.

T. & P. Foremen In Session Here

Foremen for the Texas & Pacific railroad company in this district, which includes territory between Baird and Pecos were in Big Spring yesterday for a conference with J. N. Blue, master mechanic of the division.

Discussions at the conference followed lines of economic arrangement and advanced mechanical practices. The meeting was held periodically that the master mechanic may keep in touch with his foremen throughout the division.

AMERADA TO DRILL PLUG IN COFFEE 2

Few Interesting Wells In Glasscock And Howard Counties

Despite the lack of large production during the past week so far as Howard and Glasscock counties is concerned, there were a few wells that came in for more than passing attention.

Amerada Petroleum Company's No. 2 Coffee, 1,650 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 22, block 33, township 2 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey, topped pay at 2,082 feet. Crews were standardizing as the week ended to drill into expected pay.

In the same field Simms Oil Company was planning a deep test in its No. 2 Coffee which was rated only 100 barrels daily from pay at 2,175 to 2,185 feet. The well is located 1,650 feet from the north line and 230 feet from the east line of section 22, block 33, township 2 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey and is a direct west offset to Kirby, Atlantic and others' No. 3 Baker, which rated a large initial production. At least reports Simms' No. 2 Coffee was drilling below 2,500 feet without having encountered water, which was considered an important geological feature to be considered in development of the field.

Simms Oil Company's No. 3 Coffee, 990 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 22, block 33, township 2 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey, and an east offset to Amerada's Coffee producer, will probably be the next new well in the pool into the pay. As the week ended the well was drilling around 1,550 feet and will probably run casing and cement just under 2,000 feet mark.

Simms' No. 4 Coffee, 1,650 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 22, block 33, township 2 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey and an east offset to Amerada's No. 2 Coffee, the well shut down standardizing at 2,082 feet, was building a derrick as the week ended and was to start rigging up immediately.

Five wells in the older fields of southern Howard county were completed for production during the past week.

California Oil Company's No. 5 Roberts, 1,654 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the east line of section 137, block 29, W & N Ry. Co. survey was shot with 200 quarts between 2,950-3,070 feet and then pumped 36 barrels of oil and 12 barrels of water in two and one-half hours.

Humble Oil & Refining Company's No. 9 Roberts, 330 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the west line of section 44, block 33, W & N Ry. Co. survey, was shot with 200 quarts in pay from 2,911-24 feet, but no test of production had been obtained.

Empire Gas and Fuel Company's No. 4 Clay, 330 feet from the south line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 127, block 29, W & N Ry. Co. survey, topped pay at 1,717-72 feet with an increase at 1,825-22 feet and on last reports received here was hitting at the rate of 6 barrels hourly.

LLANO HAS LIME TOP

Rumor Lacks Confirmation But Regarded As Reliable

Prospects for production south-east of the Jenkins pool in Ector county looked none too bright Saturday as Llano Oil Company's No. 1 Hogan, one mile southeast of Humble, Penn and Atlantic's No. 1 York, was reported to have topped the line at a total depth of 3,240 feet, which is approximately 90 feet below the lime top in No. 1 York.

Despite the rather general rumor that Llano's No. 1 Hogan reached the lime at 3,240 feet, definite confirmation on that bit of information has not been received and consequently some oil men were talking it with the proverbial grain of salt. No. 1 Hogan is 330 feet from the north and west lines of section 18, block 44, township 3 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey.

Humble, Penn and Atlantic are clearing location for their No. D-5 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams, their eleventh operation in the Ector county pool 14 miles west of Odessa, increasing the total number of locations and drilling tests to an even score. No. D-5 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams is located 990 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the west line of section 7, block 41, township 3 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey, and is an east offset to Skelly and Amerada's No. 1 University, 990 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the east line of section 1, block 35, University lands.

Landreth Production Corporation's No. T-2 University, had drilled to 1,630 feet in salt and anhydrite. Salt was topped at 1,210 feet. The rig is up for Landreth's No. R-1 University and materials are being moved in for Landreth's No. S-1 University, bottomed at 3,750 feet, produced 806.50 barrels of oil in 24 hours after running three inch tubing.

REFINERY EXPANSION PLAN AND SCATTERED OPERATIONS TOP WEEK'S OIL FEATURES

Cosden Announcement Equivalent To Erection Of Another 10,000 Barrel Refinery East Of Big Spring On Bankhead Highway

Announcement that Cosden Oil Company will enlarge its crude oil refining plant at Big Spring to possibly double its present capacity which is 10,000 barrels daily, was by far the most outstanding bit of information gleaned from oil men of West Texas during the past week.

Plans to expand the present refinery are equivalent to another refining plant the size of Cosden's property in Big Spring, which is one of the largest in West Texas. Development of approximately 2,000 barrels daily production on Cosden Oil Company's Ector county acreage in the Jenkins pool is presumably responsible for the announcement that the company's refinery here will be enlarged.

In connection with the refinery expansion program, Cosden announced a deal between the Magnolia Pipe Line Company and the Cosden Oil Company whereby the latter company's production in Ector county will be run through Magnolia's main trunk line in West Texas from Ector county to southern Howard county where Cosden pipe lines are already connecting storage with the refinery east of Big Spring. Magnolia has surveyed the 10 mile strip between its trunk line across northern Ector county and the Cosden producing lease, but actual construction of a pipe line over the 10 mile distance had not been ordered as the week ended. Magnolia's line crosses southern Howard county and present plans call for delivery of oil into storage or into a direct connection with Cosden's pipe line in southern Howard county and from there into the company's refinery three miles east of Big Spring.

Production Scant
New production in the Howard-Glasscock county fields took a back seat during the past week in favor of new wells spudded and to new wildcat locations announced.

The latest definite wildcat location announced is Pure Oil Company's test in Midland county fully ten miles from previously explored regions. The well is to be drilled 2,310 feet from the north and east lines of section 14, block 38, township 4 south, T. P. Ry. Co. survey. Materials were being moved to the location as the week ended.

Next in importance was announcement that Phillips Petroleum Company completing rig on its No. 1 Tom Good in rank wildcat acreage in southeastern Borden county where numerous encouraging showings have been encountered in a half dozen or more wells, but where until the present time commercial production has been entirely lacking. No. 1 Good is located 330 feet from the south line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 44, block 33, township 4 north, T. P. Ry. Co. survey.

Semi-Wildcat
Another semi-wildcat well that attracted considerable attention in southern Howard county during the past week until spudding had actually taken place was P. H. E. Oil Company's No. 1 Cox, which is located 330 feet from the south line and 2,310 feet from the west line of section 5, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

The only two new locations made in productive areas that were of really much importance were Schermerhorn Oil Company's No. 3 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams and Plymouth Oil Company's No. 4 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams.

Schermerhorn's No. 3 et al is located 990 feet from the west line and 330 feet from the south line of section 13, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey and is a south offset to Schermerhorn's No. 2 Kloh, Rumsey and Abrams which linked the western extension field of southern Howard county with the Coffee-Phillips pool of northern Glasscock county. Schermerhorn encountered broken lime pays all the way from 2,170 feet to a total depth of 2,639 feet where it swabbed 190 barrels in one hour and is now on the pump and one of the best producers secured in the field.

Plymouth Location
Plymouth's No. 8 Kloh et al is located 2,310 feet from the west line and 1,350 feet from the north line of section 5, block 32, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey and is a direct west offset to Continental Oil Company's No. 2 Overton which linked the Henshaw pool with the western extension field of southern Howard county.

Continental's No. 2 Overton, 1,650 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 5, block 32, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey topped pay at 2,174 feet to 2,185 feet and then secured a substantial increase from 2,230-35 feet and after drilling to a total depth of 2,237 feet, operators swabbed the well at the rate of 50 barrels hourly for six hours before starting operations of placing the well on the pump. From first test reports the well will become one of the best producers in either the Henshaw or western extension fields.

Continental's No. 3 Overton, another, linking well, 990 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 5, block 32, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, topped pay at 2,140-53 feet and then secured the expected increase from 2,265-74 feet and shut down to place the well on pump.

Continental Active
Continental expanded limits of its exploration work in this immediate territory during the past week by spudding its No. 1 Hart Phillips, the flat well the company has drilled in the Coffee-Phillips pool of northern Glasscock county. Continental's No. 1 Phillips is located 330 feet from the north line and 990 feet from the west line of section 24, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

One of the week's failures, unless drilling companies decide to continue below contract depth which is regarded doubtful, condemned the section of Kent county immediately around California Oil Company-Atlantic Oil Producing Company's No. 1 R. E. Wallace, which measured up at a total depth of 3,003 feet and shut down pending definite orders from companies interested. No. 1 R. E. Wallace, rank wildcat in Kent county, is located 330 feet from the south and west lines of section 50, block G, W. & N. W. Ry. Co. survey. It is officially understood that California company favors further drilling while Atlantic company is willing to abandon the test. Lime was encountered at 1,420 feet. No showings of oil or gas were found in the well and a small showing of water was exhausted before drilling reached the present total depth.

School Land Lease Board Is Proposed

AUSTIN, Feb. 24 (AP)—Law to create a land leasing board for the public school lands will be reffered Tuesday and given a joint hearing by house and senate committees Tuesday night, Sen. Margie Neal announced.

Members of the state board of education will be here Monday to join in ironing out defects in the bill that was abandoned in the previous session.

The leasing law will permit development for all other minerals as well as oil and gas, and is expected to provide a way for development of extensive potash deposits known to be in public lands.

SAN PEDRO, Cal.—Andrew J. (Boss) Oilla, mayor of Newburyport, Mass., is heading for San Francisco to pick himself a wife, because he has heard so much about the beautiful girls of California. Brunettes and red heads are to be given an even chance, but blondes are barred. His observations are they are poor housekeepers and go to bridge teas, and no wife of his is going to be 75 bridge tea hours.

Lester Short returned early this afternoon from a week-end in Sherman and Whitewright where he visited his mother and friends.

THE BIG SHOT

by FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Love calls Emlid toward when she learns that Martin is in danger. The Big Shot gave her the first warning not knowing, of course, her interest in the reporter. Then she overhears from Izzy Myers and Mrs. Kane in the Big Shot's home that Martin has been captured and is held in a house on 23rd street. A "To Let" sign in the identifying feature that enables Emlid to find it. By a ruse she gains entrance to hold up Betty Rose. He admits Martin is a captive in the darkened house. Emlid demands he lead her to him. He unlocks a door, jumps inside the room and Emlid is left alone in the darkness of the unfamiliar house.

Chapter 19

THE TABLES TURNED

Like one dazed and stunned, Emlid stood there for a moment motionless in the darkness. She heard Betty Rose's footsteps racing away on the other side of the closed door. And then impulsively she flung the door open, stepped forward and then heard him clattering down the back stairs. She moved back into the hall. The bare floors were like sounding boards. There was no way of hearing off Betty, though instinctively she started back along the hall toward the head of the front stairs that led to the basement. She heard him wrench open the basement door to the street, heard it bang as it was precipitately shut again—and then silence. She was alone in the house, except—except for—the choked back of a sudden sob in her throat—except for Phil Martin. That door had probably never been locked at all! She had been neatly tricked. And now he was gone—obviously for only one purpose—to communicate with Izzy Myers, or the Big Shot, or some other members of the gang.

How long would it be before some of them were back, enough of them—who wouldn't be unamed—not only to prevent Phil Martin from escaping, but to trap her as well.

"Phil!" she cried out wildly. "Phil!" His name came spontaneously to her lips. "Phil! Where are you?"

There was no answer. She would have to find him—light the candle again and find him.

But she had no matches. There must be some somewhere, though. This ledge where Betty Rose kept the candle—there should be matches there! She groped her way back along the hall. Her fingers searched the ledge, anxiously, carefully, inch by inch. There were no matches here.

For a moment her heart sank, and a low cry of despair broke from her lips as she set the now useless candle down on the ledge. She did not know where else to look. Betty Rose must have taken the match he had used from his own pocket—there were none here.

What was she to do? Even with a light to aid her in her search for Phil she was not sure she could win her race against time; but in this pitiless blackness where she could see nothing, where she could only grope forward blindly every foot of the way, where she could not even come upon the doors to the rooms except through the sense of touch, it seemed as though all hope of success was ruthlessly, mercilessly swept away. Dismay surged upon her—then fear, an ed on the passage that led to the back stairs, and then search the basement—we should she go up to the floor above?

Her hesitation had been more mental than physical, for she had scarcely paused at all. She found herself running up the stairs. She had intended to work her way back along the hall, but had found herself confronted by the stairs instead. Perhaps it was meant that she should find the stairs in front of her!

She reached the head of the stairs, and now she was trailing her hand again along the wall in search of a door. A moment more and she had found one. She opened it and looked inside. Her eyes had grown more accustomed to the darkness now, and it took scarcely a second to assure herself that the room was empty.

On she went again. Another door! The same result. And then back again on the opposite side! How many rooms were there?

And there couldn't be much time left now.

Another door! The hollow echo of her footsteps died away as she halted, groping for the door knob—and suddenly out of the silence there came a sound that set her heart to beating furiously and her hand to trembling in its frantic haste as it moved across the panels.

Someone was inside.

Who is in that room? Read the answer in tomorrow's installment.

Boy's Estimate Of Arms Conference Told Very Briefly

Bill Savage is one of the useful fellows around The Herald office. He works after school, sometimes far into the night, in the mailing department. Bill has journalistic ambitions and recently issued himself a "newspaper" typewritten and filled with choice selections of his own.

His choicest selection deals with the naval arms conference now in progress in London. Here it is:

The conference opened very quietly as no one made more noise than usual. France got the floor first for the best England one foot and the United States by the other foot. The first time we know of such things happening that will have such value to promote peace in the world.

France said she would be willing to disarm her ships if the rest of the countries would first. The U. S. said that she would disarm if the others would start first to show that they really meant to disarm. This is all the U. S. had to say.

The meeting then adjourned for someone had just found a ten-year-old cache of liquor.

Fight For Oil Tariff Marks Time While Barrage Of Information Is Circulated Among Fuel Consumers

The fight for a protective tariff on petroleum and its products which is being waged by the Independent Petroleum Association of America is marking time until another army of independent march on Washington next Monday or Tuesday. However, Witt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, is laying down a barrage of informative facts that has as its purpose education of the masses as pertaining to the petroleum market structure.

Mr. Franklin has prepared two tables of comparative gasoline prices. One table compares the average gasoline retail price in representative cities of 11 countries and the second table compares the average gasoline retail prices in 52 representative cities of the United States during 1926 and 1929.

Monopoly Control

"You will note that in some of these cities where the supply is controlled by a monopoly the retail price of gasoline is almost double the price in the United States. It is advisable to run the risk of a monopoly in this country," writes Mr. Franklin.

The second table showing the comparative prices in 52 cities of this country as of 1926 and as of 1929 indicates that the price of crude oil does not regulate the price of gasoline.

"This statement covers 52 representative cities scattered over the United States and you will note that while the price of oil in 1929 was lower by 84 cents per barrel than in 1926, nevertheless the price of gasoline in 1929 was higher than 1926.

"This demonstrates that a reduction in the price of oil does not mean a reduction in the price of gasoline—neither does an increase in the price of oil mean an increase in the price of gasoline," writes Mr. Franklin.

IGNORING A GOLD MINE From the looks of the publishers' catalogs, every literate American over 20 years of age who owns a typewriter is spending all of his spare time writing novels.

New books are pouring out a flood that seems to get deeper as time goes on. No living mortal can remember the names of all the new books brought out in the past year or the names of the new authors. Whether or not any big percentage of these new books being sold, at least they are being printed.

The surprising thing is that many of them are good. We've left the sugar sweet romances far behind, and heavy literature is breaking about in waves. Let no man say that the American publisher never stops to think. Apparently that is all it is doing.

Yet there is a peculiar thing about these books. If you survey the field, you may find yourself wondering if American novelists are not somewhat novelists.

What are the current best-sellers? Well, there is a book tracing the wanderings of a Floristine coronet down through the ages. There's a book about veils and cocktails among New York newspaper folk. There is a life story of a prize fighter.

tation, and our novelists are ignoring it. The growth of literary activity in America is encouraging. But American literature will not come of age until writers generally look about them and turn their attention to the great, fundamental currents of American life.

FUTURE WATER SUPPLY

Has Big Spring enough water? It is a frequent and important question.

And the answer is the same that can be fitted to any growing West Texas city. No! Big Spring has not enough water; for enough should be a supply sufficient not only to furnish the present population over long periods without rainfall but also a large reserve for future growth.

We are among those who believe, as do many others, that before many years Big Spring will need to find a large surface supply; to build a great reservoir.

Because of this belief, and not in spite of it, we favor the water bond issue which soon is to be voted upon here. If we had billions of gallons of water ready to flow by gravity into the city it would not profit us if we had not a distributing system within the city that would carry that water into every home; and into fire hydrants so located as to furnish fire protection to all property.

All except $15,000 of the $115,000 bond issue submitted for March 6 will be used to improve the distribution system. Therefore facilities to be provided from that issue would not be lost or become obsolete, no matter how much additional supply we can obtain.

Fifteen thousand dollars will be spent for some additional wells on the reservation south of town, including connections necessary to bring their output into the city. We believe it would be exceedingly dangerous and expensive to the citizenship to delay the water department extensions planned with proceeds of the proposed bond issue. As repeatedly explained, savings in fire insurance premiums, due to a seven-cent decrease in the key rate that would result from the proposed improvements would almost equal the cost to the citizenship in additional tax.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

FERGUSON AGAIN!

Sweetwater Reporter: Jim Ferguson, the stormy figure of Texas politics whose following rivals that of Coxe's Army, has cast his broad-brimmed hat back into the Texas political ring and "responding to the petition and suggestion of a very large number of Texas voters I hereby announce for governor."

Jim says he is not seeking vindication, because the people of Texas already have given that in placing his wife in the governor's seat. "I will feel that the people have called me to render a public service which they have not received for the past three and one half years, and for which my experience with state affairs has especially qualified me to perform."

The Ferguson's back in Texas politics! When Dan Moody and Mrs. Ferguson campaigned thru-out the state and the youthful Texan was elected to office over the then office holder and wife of a former governor, Texas voters expressed their desire that Fergusonism be eliminated from state politics.

OUT OUR WAY

Hollywood Sights

BY ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD - More or less consequential information from the movie lots:

Alice White is being given the opportunity to do what Clara Bow, the screen's other typical flapper type, has longed to do in vain. Alice is going "dramatic" in "Man Crazy," her next assuming a dignity unbecoming to the traditional flapper of her past pictures.

Clara, on the other hand, who was to have had her chance in "The Humming Bird" or in "Quarantine," has been assigned instead to "True to the Navy," which, being a sequel to her earlier "The Fleet's in," will be that kind of picture.

TARDY SHOOTING

Neil Hamilton, who never went to college and says he never saw the inside of a college building before, is in one now. He's taking a night course in navigation preparing for the time when he can own a larger boat than his present one. And he admits feeling a bit silly walking into class with a bundle of books and charts under his arm.

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

"Sonny Jim," by the way, for all his diminutive size, can boast of having starred on a movie set costing more than most of those used for the greatest sizzers. It came about this way: Before it was decided to star Paul Whiteman in the "King of Jazz" revue, a talkie with a plot was planned for him. This called for an elaborate cabaret set, which was constructed forthwith. Then arose the disagreement between Paul and the studio over the type of story Paul should have, and when the revue was chosen, the big cabaret went into the discard.

Ferguson, however, through his Forum, has attacked Moody from the time he took office, declaring that the young governor has been a dismal failure. It is true that Moody and his legislature have been crossed since they have been in office and it is true that Moody has not made the brilliant governor, in some respects, that some of us thought he would make. But we do not believe that he has been the miserable failure that Ferguson pictures him.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Lago Galante Academy of Medicine

ROMANCE OF THE BODY

What is the living human body made of? What are plants and animals composed of? These questions have puzzled the mind of man for countless centuries, and from time to time a variety of answers were given.

The ancients believed that the human body was composed of four elements, earth, fire, water and air. Health was dependent upon the proper balance and proportion of these elements. Disease resulted from a disruption of this balance.

No definite knowledge could have been secured concerning the constitution and the composition of human, animal and vegetable bodies until the discovery and perfection of the microscope and the development of the modern science of chemistry.

The microscope was invented in the seventeenth century. At first it was merely a scientific toy to be used by curious scientists and dilettantes. Later, it was applied to more purposive ends.

Robert Hooke, an erratic genius who touched on many scientific fields but exploited none to perfection, was the first to observe what today is recognized as the biologic cell.

Studying a thin shaving of cork under his microscope, he noticed that it was made up of many little tube-like structures. Because these structures were approximately square shaped, he called them cells. The name has persevered.

Two scientists by the name of Schleiden and Schwann in 1828 established the fact that, structurally, all known living things are composed of one or many of these units called cells. The human body is made up of countless millions of cells, each cell a living unit containing a basal substance common to all life and known as protoplasm.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON - "Of course I can't talk about wheat or cotton, but I can tell you a poker story," Chairman Alexander Legge of the Federal Farm Board explained to a newspaperman the other day.

The discussion had turned to wheat stabilization, in connection with reports that grain dealers were attempting to bear the market and depress prices to the discredit of the Farm Board, which has been too active to suit the grain dealers.

"About forty years ago," Legge went on, "in one of the western states a cowboy was elected county treasurer. But the court house had burned down and they had to put the treasurer's office in the same hotel where the new treasurer lived.

"Those were still rather lawless days and one night a group of sharpers at the hotel got the cowboy into a game of d.w. After a while he found himself with an extraordinarily good hand and he made a large bet.

"They raised him a thousand dollars and the cowboy began to realize for the first time what he was up against. "I haven't got that much here, boys," he said, "but let me go downstairs a minute."

"He came back and peeled off a thousand dollars from a large roll to stay, then he raised. He tossed in the roll and a bunch of checks and county warrants and said: "Now, see if you can beat me and the county, too!"

So the grain dealers can interrupt the yarn to suit themselves. Legge says it's a true story. The latest story on Capitol Hill concerns a senator, who was departing from the Senate wing one afternoon recently when someone asked him if the Senate had recessed. "No," replied the senator, "but they've been talking about Egyptians all day and I haven't got any Egyptians in my district and I'm tired and I'm going on along." The Senate was debating the tariff on gypsum.

CRIMINAL PREFERENCE Half the tough hombres slouching round town, totin' guns and talking out of the corner of their mouth aren't really tough hombres at all. They're just mental defectives who read of crimes of violence and think it smart to be hard-boiled.

Newspapers can do a lot in discouraging these nitwits by ceasing the practice of glorifying their activities verbally. Instead of calling them "gangsters," refer to them as "rats." Stamp them in the public mind, as yellow. Stress the cowardice that overlays their energies. Give them the talent that the greaser carries on the Mexican border.

The same thing applies to those engaged in less violent forms of crime. Your average swindler has an ego with a biceps muscle on it that bulges like a loaf of Vienna bread. Refer to him as a contemptible little thief instead of a "racketeer" and watch him duck. Nine out of ten criminals have to swagger to save themselves from groveling.

"CASHING IN" ON ROTHSTEIN

Inex is the lady who tried to collect Arnold's 20 "grand" life insurance, explaining in open court she thought the dough belonged to her in the role of Mr. Rothstein's lady's friend. As many of them as could on Broadway have cashed in on the late unlamented gambler and dope peddler. But they had to cash in on him dead. They never got a look-in while he trod Fraudway.

THE MODERN GIRL

The Out-of-Town - Man - About-Town, dining the other evening at a Park avenue inn with two young women, passed his cigarette case to the first and then the other, to be returned by both. "It's quite a relief," he remarked, "to run across two old-fashioned girls who don't smoke."

Man Held Here In Bond Default

Sam White was held in the Howard county jail Saturday night on default of bond set in the sum of $1,000 after he had waived examining trial on a charge of possession of liquor, which was seized by Sheriff Jess Slaughter and Deputy Andrew Merrick. The accused man was arrested about four o'clock Saturday afternoon by officers.

SAYS ORGATONE (ARGOTANE) RESTORED HEALTH WHEN EVERYTHING ELSE HAD FAILED.

T. H. Martin, who owns and operates a shop at 809 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas, and who resides on Avenue H, 11934, talks interestingly of the benefits he has derived from Orgatone (Argotane) in a conversation with an Orgatone representative.

"I was in a general run-down condition and have had a severe chronic case of stomach trouble and indigestion for a long time I was in such a low spirit, run-down condition, my life was miserable. I had no appetite and could hardly eat anything unless I was troubled afterward with severe bloating, spasma and gas that formed on my stomach. I was constipated and was forced to take strong laxatives most of the time.

"I am getting wonderful results since taking Orgatone. Doctors told me I would have to be operated on for gall trouble, but Orgatone has saved me from this; it to my motion has saved me hundreds of dollars and a lot of suffering. I eat anything I want now and it never bothers me. Gas does not bother me any more and I have improved with every dose till I feel now like nothing ever was the matter with me. I sleep fine and rest and am not nervous any more. I will praise Orgatone (Argotane) as long and will tell my friends all about it."

SPORTS ON PARADE

By STANLEY NORMAN

NO EXCUSE Judging from the annual report made by President Dave Snodgrass of the West Texas League, there is little, if any, excuse for Big Spring...

TOO MUCH AGE The big trouble with the Cowboys last year was the fact that bosses accumulated a bunch of old timers thought capable of winning a pennant in Class D competition.

RESPONSIBLE PARTY If Big Spring decides to put a baseball team in the league this season, we can well afford to pay a manager a neat salary if the individual selected gets the spirit of economy and is willing to take his chances with a bunch of ambitious rookies.

DEBT HURTS The big trouble with attempting to back another team in the West Texas League is the $5,500 debt that now hangs over the baseball club.

SOME FANS Personally, we believe there are just as many baseball fans in Big Spring as there were last season. We believe a hustling bunch of kids that honestly try to play baseball, giving everything they have during every game and who are willing to stay in proper physical condition, will draw the fans.

LET'S FIND OUT If Houston is actually interested in placing a farm in Big Spring, some action should be taken to learn the particulars. According to our understanding of the proposition, Houston is willing to send a few ball players out here for seasoning.

CUT SALARY West Texas League moguls cut the salary limit to $2,000 per month for players, exclusive of the manager. They also voted to carry 9 rookies on a roster of 14 men.

Dawson Beats Carlton For Houston Title

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 24 (AP)—Johnny Dawson of Chicago was champion of the Houston invitation golf tournament today, after nonchalantly shooting one under par for 29 holes yesterday, defeating the defending champion, Ossie Carlton of Houston, 2 and 1.

About half of the last 15 holes was played in the rain. Carlton, one down at the turn of the 15th hole, came back after lunch, squared up with Dawson on the afternoon fifth, went one down on the sixth, and evened up again at the eighth, and there they stayed, locked in a tie until the 14th hole. Then it was Carlton, twice winner of the invitation in the last three years, broke and dropped the hole that won for Dawson.

TRIANGULAR MEET WILL BE HELD

STANTON WILL BE HOST TO MIDLAND AND BIG SPRING TEAMS NEXT SATURDAY

Thirty-five ambitious thin-clad athletes with visions of representing Big Spring high school on the cinder path this spring will move to the baseball park on East Third street Monday afternoon to start intensive drill for the first competitive meet of the season to be held next Saturday afternoon in Stanton.

For more than one week, the sprinters, half milers, milers and field event men, have been going through a series of limbering up exercises and practicing starts on the Runnels street lot used by high school athletes in early stages of training.

Value of the track material, so far as rounding out a well-balanced team is concerned, remains a puzzle to Coaches Bill Stevens and George Brown. Ox Johnson who was to have led the track squad this spring, has been declared scholastically ineligible.

At the present time, the Steers loom fairly strong in the dashes and hurdles, but the 440, the 890, the mile, relay and all field events including the jumps and pole vault prospects are unknown. Buster Bell, Ted Phillips and Euren Edwards can probably take care of their duties in the 100 and 220 and Edwards can step the hurdles in commendable fashion.

Stanton is making extensive preparations to entertain Midland and Big Spring next Saturday and reports from that city indicate a fast track will greet the sprinters unless adverse weather conditions interfere.

The Stanton entertainment will be followed one week later by the invitation track and field meet at Snyder where 22 schools are expected to enter teams.

Coach Stevens will entertain the county athletes this year. Directors of the county interscholastic league meet plan to offer medals to event winners and a large trophy to the school winning the meet.

Coahoma will entertain the county athletes this year. Directors of the county interscholastic league meet plan to offer medals to event winners and a large trophy to the school winning the meet.

Mr. Hubbard alleges that at the time of the accident, February of 1928, he was employed by the Texas & Pacific as a fireman. His petition alleges that he was one member of a train crew that was called to bring a locomotive into the Big Spring yards and that it was necessary for the crew to ride to the train in an automobile.

That the automobile provided by the railroad company to transport the train crew to the locomotive was in poor condition and that negligence of the company through not furnishing a more safe vehicle caused permanent injuries to plaintiff when the car overturned is alleged in the petition.

The petitioner asserts that he is unable to follow his trade as a fireman and that at the time of the accident he was scheduled for promotion to a position as engineer. The fireman's job returned a yearly salary of $3,600 and the prospective engineer's position would have returned $4,800 per annum, according to the petition.

Mr. Hubbard was injured east of Big Spring two years ago when the automobile in which he and companion was riding overturned.

HOUSTON BUFFS REBUILDING BUFFS FOR PENNANT FLIGHT

Cardinals Have Already Fortified Buffaloes In Many Departments And Further Aid Is Expected When The Season Starts

BY KERN TIPS Houston Chronicle Sports Editor Written For The Associated Press HOUSTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The marked manner in which the Houston Buffs have applied themselves to the business of buying, trading and otherwise accumulating baseball players for 1930 sustains the notion that Houston will be among those present at the playoff of the Texas League next September.

The Buffs will be stronger at every position this year; this statement is predicted upon anticipation of what the St. Louis Cardinals will do for Houston, and realization of what they already have done.

Nineteen new ones have been signed on for the 1930 cruise of the Houston craft, including veteran and rookie players. The Cardinals already have dealt with the Buffs most bountifully, and given Houston the semblance of the team it knew in 1928, when the Bisons captured the Texas League pennant and the Dixie championship.

Five players have been sent to the Buffs by the Cardinals on option and Houston has bought three more outright from the Rochester International League club. The optioned five include Caroy Selph, second baseman of the '28 team; Art Reinhart, veteran southpaw pitcher, who pastimed the last half of the 1929 season here; Bubber Jonnard, the 1928 team catcher; Wesley Hahn, fresh from the St. Louis outfield, and Tony Kaufman, first a pitcher, then an outfielder who was claimed on waivers by the Cards from the New York Giants.

It is the present plan to give Kaufman every chance to regain the form as a pitcher that he knew with the Chicago Cubs. Failure in that, Tony will be moved into the outfield, a place in which he battled over 400 for Rochester in 1928. The trio bought from Rochester were Pitcher Carl Littlejohn, Outfielder Gus Felix and Pitcher Ray Lingrel.

Rookie Catcher The Buffs also have bought Catcher Bill Smith, great looking rookie prospect from Fort Wayne, and reinstated shortstop Lou Benson, who last year took leave of absence from the Buffs in mid-season. This group, augmented by ten holdovers, gives the Buffs a tough line-up. The holdovers are: Third Baseman Noble Koch, Chicago...

er Hal Funk, Outfielders Howard Williams, Cosmo Cottle and Vernon Deck; Infielders Jimmy Jordan, and Pitchers Floyd Rose, Howard Holland and Joe Brown. Three holdovers already have been disposed of with the selling of First Baseman Roy Moore to Greenville, in the South Atlantic League, the optioning of Dee Cunningham to Danville, in the Three I League and the release of Pitcher Paul Watchel. Other holdovers expected to figure in deals include Jordan, and possibly Cottle.

FOUR CLUBS DEFINITELY ENTER RACE

No Representative Of Big Spring Attends Angelo Confab

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 24—Coleman, Ballinger, Midland and San Angelo will form the nucleus of the West Texas League this summer, with the probability that Abilene will remain in the fold with a home-owned club. Should Big Spring, the other member of the six-club circuit of 1929, withdraw, its franchise will be offered to Brownwood, Brady and Sweetwater.

These developments at the annual league meeting held here Sunday, with all the 1929 members represented except Big Spring. Definitely assured that four towns want professional baseball this summer, the league extended its life by re-electing all officers: Dave L. Snodgrass of Coleman, president; J. A. Johnson, of Midland, vice-president, and Guy Airey of Wichita Falls, secretary.

As secretary of the Wichita Falls club, Airey announced that the Spudders will not operate a farm at Abilene this year, but will lend its park and may supply surplus players to a successor. He expressed the opinion that outside ownership is responsible for lack of interest in baseball at Abilene in 1929 and said that he believed Abilene sportsmen would take over the reins. Airey was to confer in Abilene Monday with Messrs. Goodloe, Diamond and others regarding the matter. Brownwood representatives who were expected failed to attend the session.

Salaries Reduced The league voted to reduce the salary limit per club from $2,400 including that of the manager to $2,000, exclusive of the manager's salary. It left the player limit at fourteen, but voted that each club this year must carry at least nine players who have not had professional experience, two more than in 1929. Of the five remaining players one may be of A or higher classification; the other four must be of lower than A classification but may be higher than Class D.

President Snodgrass was authorized to negotiate with William B. Ruggles of Dallas to handle league statistics again. Sentiment at the meeting favored a split season of 140 games opening May 1 again, president's annual report showed but this was not voted upon. The 1929 receipts to be $8,763.33 and disbursements $6,747.32, leaving a balance of $1,601 with some small amounts still due. League attendance last year totaled 83,435. Ballinger, smallest town in the loop, led with 17,011 and San Angelo was second with 15,949 paid admissions. Attendance at the other towns was: Big Spring, 15,283, Midland 14,657, Coleman 12,922 and Abilene 7,604.

Football Expenditure President Snodgrass said it was his observation that where clubs lost money in 1929 it was due largely to unwarranted heavy expenses by reason of a too lengthy training season and paying of transportation to players who tried out. One club had nearly forty men on the payroll thirty days before the season opened, he stated. "The training season is to pick new men who are supposed to be in trim when they arrive and to limber up the veterans and ten days' training is long enough. Clubs would do well, I believe, not to pay transportation of players desiring try-outs, but to agree to refund this amount if the man makes good."

"Baseball is the only profession I know of where beginners do not have to pay to learn, and there is no reason for high salaries in a Class D league, where clubs should be composed largely of apprentices. The surgeon, the lawyer, the banker—men in nearly all professions and businesses—work for little pay or have to pay to learn at the start, but if Connie Mack took over the Coleman management for a year or John McGraw became pilot at Ballinger for a season there are some rookies that would expect $120 a month when they should be willing to pay for such expert coaching. The West Texas League to be a success—and it can be made to pay—must operate economically. Towns that had clubs last year should profit much by experience in 1930."

Arkansas Will Address Lamesa C-C Membership

LAMESA, Feb. 24 (AP)—Chas. H. Brough, former governor of Arkansas, will be the principal speaker during the annual banquet of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce on March 17. It was announced here this week by Wm. A. Wilson, secretary and manager of the chamber.

Mr. Brough, whose home is in Little Rock, Ark., is a noted speaker and is prominent among the statesmen of the south. Further plans for the annual chamber fête were also announced this week. The banquet will be served by the Dawson county home demonstration clubwomen, under the supervision of Miss Genevieve Chipman, director.

An extra effort is being made by the chamber to have a large attendance of farmers. Texas Christian made things easier for the Arkansas five by up-setting the Texas University Longhorns, 26 to 21, Saturday night. While the Razorbacks possibly could have romped right on to the throne room without any assistance from the pupils of their old mentor, Francis Schmidt, it took some of the strain off their backs.

The Pork's path to their fifth straight has been no bed of roses. They left College Station Saturday night with a sigh of relief. After being downed, 25 to 24, in the opening tilt, the Aggies came back to scrap the champions to the last ditch in the second, losing 23 to 25 only after an extra period of play.

Southern Methodist enters the final week of play with a strangle hold on third place, the result of a hard fought 26-24 triumph over Baylor Saturday night at Dallas. If they won their two remaining bouts and Texas drops two, the teams would finish in a deadlock for second place.

In addition to the Arkansas-Rice series at Houston, four games make up the final week's program. Texas, hankering for revenge from Southern Methodist, entertains the Mustangs Tuesday night at Austin. Three contests Saturday night will close the books, Texas meeting the Aggies at College Station, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian trying up at Dallas, and Baylor and Rice clashing at Houston.

Roy Eury, T. C. U. captain and center, entered the closing week of the campaign with a lead of 13 points over Ray Hart. Rice, his closest rival for individual scoring honors. Eury had 66 points, Hart 53. As Rice plays three more games, against one more for T. C. U., the Owl sharpshooter is favored to finish at the head of the parade.

The standings: Won Lost Pct. Arkansas 9 1 .900 Texas 7 3 .700 S. M. U. 5 5 .500 T. C. U. 4 7 .364 Aggies 3 6 .333 Baylor 3 6 .333 Rice 3 8 .273

PORKSHAVE CHANCE TO GRAB TITLE

One Victory Out Of Two With Rice Will Clinch Pennant

By GAYLE TAYLOR, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks will have an opportunity to sew up their fifth successive Southwest Conference basketball title when they engage the Rice Owls tonight at Houston in the first game of their concluding two-game series.

A victory in either bout would give the Porkers the crown, even if Texas University won its two remaining contests. Even in the event of a double reverse at the hands of the Owls, which is, to say the least, improbable, the lanky Ozarkians could get no worse than a tie for the bunling.

a choice between them, rather than finding a middle-ground place to land.

Mr. Moody will talk prison reform and taxation, if he is in the race.

Mr. Ferguson will talk of prison, too, but won't use the same words.

Ferguson has some tax ideas of his own, that have been tried out on what he chooses to call the folks in the forks of the creek.

Mayfield will talk, among other things, the chain store.

Some of the "ifs" of the race have not been settled.

There are Robert Lee Bobbitt and R. B. Sterling, who hold office under appointment of Gov. Moody.

Both have been considered potential candidates. Neither will run if Moody does, and neither may be in the race anyway.

There's Sheriff A. Y. Baker, political czar of the Hidalgo country, whose friends recently set up quite a chorus for him.

Former Cong. James Young of Kaufman of course is already in the race. And it would almost take a card index to keep up with all the others who have pronounced themselves candidates for the high office that pays $4,000 a year.

Smitham Answers Many Questions

Following is the remainder of a report of the citizens' mass meeting held Friday evening for discussion of pending city bond issues and other matters. This portion of the report begins during the talk of City Manager Smitham, who answered numerous questions put by those in the audience:

He explained that the present plant cannot be used because subterranean water keeps the drying beds covered with water.

"We had hoped the present plant could be utilized. Its location is too close to the city, too," he commented.

Large Enough "Will the 18-inch line you would build carry sewerage from a larger city?" someone asked.

"Yes. The present main line to the plant is only a 12-inch one," was the answer. "Less than a third of the city has available sewer service."

The water issue would reduce the key rate seven cents, he said, answering another question.

Another answer was that the new sewer plant would be a mile and a half further from town than the present one, and that the present sewer tap fee of $15 would not be necessary if the bonds are voted.

"These bonds would not cost the man owning $4,000 worth of property a cent; he'd save in lower insurance and tap fees what the increased taxes might cost. The little fellow won't be out anything; it will be the ones who own a good deal of property," he continued.

"These improvements will cost Mr. Stone $4.40 a year less his credits for lower insurance," he observed.

He then explained existence of a hazard to the city because there is but one main water reservoir between the wells and the city; adding that the bonds would finance an additional reservoir, which would be used while cleaning the other.

As To Payroll "This is a good time, also, to defend myself about those men who are on the payroll. I have three men filling special jobs for which I could get no one else I knew of who were as well qualified as I knew them to be," he said. One of them, if this program is adopted, will be my field man—just as he was on $850,000 in improvement work in Lufkin. This work will be done by local labor when it's available and will use 75 to 100 men; it will be done by the city under city supervision. I have yet the first man who has criticized me to come and ask me about any of the things he has heard or said. My duties and records are open to all of you."

"Didn't you have men who could have done those jobs," someone asked.

Answers "No," answered Smitham. "We bought a street sweeper for $6,300. The commission asked if I had a man who could properly operate it. I told them no but I knew where I could get one who had operated one for me two years and I told the commissioners I thought I'd better send for him." Another of the three men you've heard about was called because I knew he could properly care for our new fire pumper and I sent for him. No one else whom I knew would do it. The third man, as I have said, was my right hand man on $650,000 in improvements at Lufkin. I found him to be honest and efficient and I felt I'd better get a man of that calibre rather than take a chance."

Local Labor In answer to a question he said none of the water and sewer work would be contracted except the sewer disposal plant and that the contractor would be required to use local labor insofar as possible.

He said day laborers would be paid $8.25 for 8 1/2 hours' work.

Someone asked about salaries of city employes. "Yes, I have those figures," he said, and read the full list.

"It was said here last week that more was being paid for salaries than we get in ad valorem taxes but that of course a little of it comes out of the water funds. The monthly payroll is $4,400 and $2,184 of it comes from the water department," he said.

"You couldn't expect not to be criticized for sending away for these men," Mr. Winslow said to the city manager.

"I knew I would be criticized when I went into this sort of work," was the reply. "I'll say this, that I've already 'imported' (if you wish to call it that) all that I expect to. I have the organization completed. I'm through."

"Who pays Mike Leeper?" someone asked.

"Wasn't he on the list?" Mr. Smitham asked.

$160 Monthly "We pay him $160 a month. How our general foreman," was the answer of Mr. Smitham.

"I heard it was $200," said the questioner.

"I wish I could pay him that," said Mr. Smitham.

"How close will the fire hydrants be?" someone asked.

"Every two blocks, alternating on the streets so that there'll be one in a block of all residences."

answered. "There'll be 74 new hydrants. There are now a total of 87."

"Will we have to pay for sewer connection?" "No."

V. H. Flewellen sought to bring out through Mr. Smitham the urgency of issuing the bonds, aside from the monetary features.

"If you have any doubt about the need of the sewer bonds just drive eastward down the T&P tracks," said the city manager. "You'll be satisfied then to vote for them."

The sewage is flowing down an open ditch for a half mile. We're providing a pump to send the surplus on past the plant, and will try to treat what we can. We have applications every day for sewer taps. This program should be popular as it covers the entire city. I give my word that Jones Valley will be one of the first sections to get these improvements. I want them to know that regardless of what they may hear the day before or on election day."

"Have we plenty of water?" someone asked.

"I don't think we'll ever get that. It is always treacherous to depend on wells. The city commission figures when the first wells were sunk on section 33 that there was plenty of water for many years but wells just don't do that way. You just have to keep drilling more wells," he answered.

Mr. Smitham started to take his seat. Someone said loudly, "We've had enough. Let's go home," and the crowd dispersed.

Stomach Ailment Of Seven Years Standing Quickly Yielded To Power Of New Medicine

MRS. MARY BRANDON

"For seven years I was the helpless victim of stomach trouble of the worst sort," said Mrs. Mary Brandon, 5389 Maffitt street, St. Louis. "It did not matter what I ate, belching and often vomiting, spells followed the simplest meal. The gas so pressed against my heart that I became short of breath and faint. Sour hot liquids seared my throat until the heartburn was often frightful. I grew weak and lost weight and strength. No medicine I tried helped me.

"Day by day and week by week I began with Konjola, my system improved. The gas no longer formed in my stomach now and the bloated sensation has passed. I have an excellent appetite and can eat a hearty meal without the least discomfort. The pains of heartburn are a thing of the past. I have gained weight and energy and my friends remark upon the change in my appearance. I can never express my gratitude for the relief which this great medicine brought me."
