Labor Delegates Pledge Allegiance To A.F.L.

Only One Man Walks Out As Oath Given

McCraw Tells Workers They Have Right To Be Pleased At Good Breaks

TYLER, May 17 (AP)—Texas State Federation of Labor delegates arose en masse and took an oath of allegiance to the American Federation as their convention opened today.

The oath was administered by President W. B. Arnold of San Antonio who had announced that all C.I.O. sympathizers would be unseated. There was no demonstration.

Only one man, identified as a Henderson oil field worker, walked quietly from the hall. A few in the crowd did not stand, but labor leaders said it was impossible to tell whether they were visitors or delegates.

William H. Burke of San Antonio, chairman of the credentials committee, said that no C.I.O. sympathizer was protested to him in the presentation of credentials.

Attorney General Speaks
Attorney General William McCraw told the delegates that workers have a right to be pleased at the "good breaks" labor has received during recent months during which the greatest changes in any generation have occurred, resulting in wider sanctioning of organized labor.

"When the 'old men' unpacked themselves recently, they did a good day's work," McCraw said in referring to the recent Wagner act decision. He said persons who opposed organized labor were "misguided."

Workers Oppose C.I.O.
BAYTOWN, May 17 (AP)—Two leaders of opposition to the plan to unionize the 3,300 employees at the Humble Oil and Refining company's plant here said today that a big majority of the workers have taken a stand against the C.I.O.

Union officials declined to comment on the stand taken by the Humble workers, but said that their plans to push the unionization drive into all branches of the oil industry had not been altered. They said membership in the oil workers' union had increased rapidly in all the nation's oil belts since the nationwide drive opened.

Leaders of the opposition to the C.I.O. here, W. A. Thomas, former theological student who now is a houseman in the cracking oil department, and Bryan S. Culppepper, foreman of the flow meter division in the instrument department, said most of the workers at the big plant here have taken a stand against the C.I.O.

Thomas and Culppepper led in the organization of the "Humble Employees Security League" soon after the C.I.O. announced its drive. A short time later the Humble company abandoned its "joint conference plan" or company union, and told employees they could choose their own bargaining agency.

Gov. Herbert Lehman To Arbitrate Rival Brockelhurst Claims

ALBANY, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman today agreed to arbitrate the rival claims of Texas, Arkansas, Illinois and New York for custody of youthful, mild-appearing Lester legged three state killer.

Charles Politt, counsel to the governor, announced that the chief executive would preside at a conference here today between contesting state officials, all of whom seek ex-Brockelhurst, ex-Brockelhurst tradition of Brockelhurst so he may be tried on murder charges.

Assistant District Attorney Eli Gellert said Brockelhurst had told him he would waive extradition.

The 25-year-old Brockelhurst, arrested in Dutchess county Thursday together with his sweetheart, Bernice Felton, 18, is charged with murdering Albin Theander, 47-year-old Rockford, Ill. tailor; Victor Gates, wealthy Arkansas plantation owner, and Jack Griffith, Fort Worth, Texas, tavern keeper.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Loper have returned from Panama where they visited relatives over the week-end.

ACTION ON HIRAM KNOX CASE IS DELAYED UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Faces 13 Indictments Here For Alleged Forgery

Action on the Hiram A. Knox case was delayed Monday until Wednesday when District Attorney Cecil Collings will ask that it go to trial.

Knox is being held here facing 13 indictments for alleged forgery on Templeton and Cannon, post office contractors, last December.

Mrs. Lillian A. Knox, mother of Hiram, arrived here Monday to watch developments in the case. She said she was seeking to sell property in Texarkana in order to make restitution for the alleged shortages.

The case, scheduled to come up for a hearing Monday, was passed in order that a jury might consider the civil suit of R. J. Retschman versus Tom Curry, doing business at the Tom Curry Motor company, on contract and for damages.

To Seek Suspended Sentence
Mrs. Knox said she planned to do everything possible to seek a suspended sentence for her son, but Collings said that the state would oppose this move.

He said that inasmuch as there were several separate indictments that each constituted a separate offense and that the state could ask for nothing less than a prison term.

Knox's mother said she was asking "for mercy," that she felt that "the suspended sentence law was for just such young men who have made mistakes and who should be given another chance."

Clad in a black knit suit and small black straw hat, Mrs. Knox went frequently as she told of her family history and said that "we are not a gang of robbers, but just good common folks."

She said that it was her belief that mention of herself and Hiram See KNOX, Page 6, Col. 7

Seek Way To Prevent Depressions

Economists Would Cut National And Local Expenses And Balance Budget

By L. A. BROPHY
NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Some of the country's economists and industrialists took a look today at a prediction another depression may be just around the corner and said something can be done about it.

In a survey of opinion on a prediction of General Charles G. Dawes that a business recession is due in 1938, many agreed with him. Others did not. Those who did advanced a variety of reasons as to how it might be prevented. Generally they said:

Cut national and local expenses and balance the budget; revive building; rehabilitate factory equipment; Arrive at the "proper value of the dollar in terms of commodity prices and keep the value

Gov. Allred Vetoes Three More Bills

Legislature Is Given Sharp Reminder On Condition Of State Finances

SPEAKS OF LARGE TREASURY DEFICIT

Says Additional Taxes Are Needed In State To Meet Obligations

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—The legislature, starting the final week of its general session, heard today a sharp reminder from Governor James V. Allred on the condition of state finances written into messages vetoing three more bills.

In vetoing appropriations of $8,000, $2,741 and $420 to replace school buildings in the Old Glory, Leesville and Dewitt districts, destroyed by fire or other causes, the governor spoke of the large deficit in the treasury, increased appropriations and the fact new revenue had not been provided.

"The state is heavily in debt," he said. "Its income is limited. It must continue to function and retire its deficit. We cannot continue this government and meet its obligations without additional taxes, which have not as yet been provided."

The allotment was inserted as an amendment to the departmental appropriation bill, the third of the five major money measures.

The senate began debate on a house bill limiting the length of freight and passenger trains failed to get the needed two-thirds majority.

At a press conference, the governor voiced hope the legislature would stay in session until it had passed the major appropriation bills and would not carry them over into a special session expected to start Monday. He reiterated he would submit only the subject of repealing the race betting law until that had been disposed of.

Always Work To Do
With reference to whether there might be a second called session before fall, or one at the latter time, the governor commented that "congress always is in session until hot weather" and "we also have important work to do."

The largest unsolved problems before the legislature, he said, were financing the government and balancing the budget, but he added he thought appropriations, revenue raising and "race repeal" would not mix well at a special session.

"I can't imagine getting rid of race repeal quick enough to handle an intelligent tax program," he said.

FIFTY KILLED WHEN LAUNCH EXPLODES

HONGKONG, May 17 (AP)—The explosion of a boiler aboard a Japanese launch made a shambles of the Hongkong waterfront tonight, killing 50 persons and blowing bodies over an area of from 200 yards to a quarter of a mile.

The launch was owned by the steamship company Osaka Shosen Kaisha. Every member of her crew was killed. Other victims were numerous Chinese boatmen and passersby in the vicinity.

Parts of several bodies were blown even onto the verandah of the Hongkong club from the Queen's Pier vicinity, scene of the blast.

Several bodies were found on the roofs of buildings in the vicinity of the explosion.

Young Mother Confesses To Killing Child

Burned Body Found In Woods With Throat Slashed

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Police said today that Mrs. Helen Tierman, 25-year-old attractive blond, confessed she killed her 5-year-old daughter, Helen, and assaulted her 5-year-old son, James, in woods near Brookhaven, Long Island.

Deputy Chief Inspector Francis J. Kear announced the confession. "She told me that she committed the acts because she was in love with a man, but couldn't accommodate him and the child in the small flat the family lived in, the inspector stated.

Kear said the woman confessed that she alone did this deed.

Two incidents led to Mrs. Tierman's confession. An official of a day nursery in which the children were boarded days recognized a picture of the boy in a newspaper and called police.

At about the same time the little boy recovered sufficiently to tell Suffolk county police his name, his mother's name and the address of the nursery.

Suffolk county police said the boy also told them he saw his mother hit his sister.

Prepare For Final Assault

Spain's Insurgent Armies Straighten Lines Ten Miles From City

HENDAYE, Franco - Spanish Frontler, May 17 (AP)—Spain's insurgent armies of the north, creeping at snail's pace toward their Bilbao goal for a month and a half, straightened their lines on a long and curving front some 10 miles from the Basque capital today to clear the way for "final assault."

There were unconfirmed reports that insurgent help from the sea was imminent to enable Generalissimo Franco's forces to completely encircle Bilbao. A fleet of insurgent transports, guarded by warships, was reported sighted off the Spanish Biscayan coast, but the advices could not be verified.

As it is, Bilbao is defended by both the sea and a triple semi-circle of fortifications which starts on the coast, swings south around the Basque capital, and returns to the sea. The Sunday Referee, which has not always been correct in its

King To Announce Windsor's Troth?

Sunday Referee Reports George VI Ready To Extend Royal Family's Sanction

LONDON, May 17 (AP)—The British press today brought out into the open the controversy over a royal recognition of Mrs. Wallis Warfield by a controversy of its own over the possibility of formal announcement of her engagement to the Duke of Windsor by King George VI himself.

While the Sunday Referee reported the king was ready to extend the royal family's sanction and the woman for whom Edward gave up his throne, the Express said such a move was impossible.

"Ecclesiastical objections" to Mrs. Warfield as a twice-divorced person, the Express said, prevented the king from taking any such action.

GIVE DECISION NEXT WEEK ON SECURITY LAW

Hold Constitutional A 1934 Statute Imposing A Graduated License Tax On Chain Stores

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The supreme court failed today to pass on constitutionality of the federal social security act.

Before adjourning until next Monday it announced opinions in nine cases. The social security decision will be delivered either next Monday or on Tuesday, June 1, when the court adjourns for the summer.

The major decision today upheld provisions of the 1936 revenue act barring refund of $963,000,000 of processing and floor stock taxes collected under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act unless the tax payer proved that he bore the cost himself.

Another decision held constitutional a 1934 Louisiana statute imposing a graduated license tax on chain stores, based on the number of units operated throughout the state and elsewhere.

Nineteen decisions remain for delivery during the next two opinion sessions.

Administration leaders attempting to balance the budget and eagerly awaited a decision on the AAA case showing whether the treasury must refund $963,000,000 collected in processing taxes.

The social security act came before the supreme court in three separate cases, one involving the old age pension provisions and the others the unemployment insurance section.

Asks Injunction
George P. Davis of Waltham, Mass., brought the suit against the old age pension section. He asked an injunction against payment of the tax by the Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston, of which he is a stockholder.

The circuit court at Boston held the legislation unconstitutional. The act taxes employers and employees to provide benefits for workers when they reach 65. There now are 26,610,000 employees and 2,700,000 employers paying assessments calculated to aggregate $3,000,000,000 by 1942 when benefit payments begin.

THE SPORTS CIRCUIT Ramblings; A Cover Of The Waterfront

By HANK HART NOTE-TSB has temporarily deserted the sports desk and these lines will be "thrown" together for a few days by Hank Hart.

Doug "Naddy" Jones' greatest handicap may be overcome if he plays a few more rounds of golf with the same trio he was out with last Saturday. Two of his companions were teachers of the gospel and the third a traveling salesman.

Miller Harris has bounced back into the Crane lineup after a "Trip Van Winkle" act following the Big Spring game several weeks ago. The fat man with the "weeping willow" was forced out of action when he pulled a muscle attempting to piff a second sack on the local boys. Miller had better lay off.

It may be those "goshawful" suits it may be the new boys. It may be the manager, or it may be the competition they're getting, but whatever it is, the Big Spring Coden Oilers are playing the classic brand of ball seen here in many moons. Manager Floyd Martin, "Pepper" to youse guys and gals, deserves a bouquet for the way he is handling the team, and an extra flower for sitting all alone on the bench.

The game between the TP Shoppers and the Carlsbad, N. M., Independents has been set back two weeks, according to Manager Ralph La Londe. The game will probably be played here.

If you can't take "Mileaway" Baker's own word for it that he's a successful catcher, just look at his "meat hooks." One finger appears to have been blown up at the last knuckle, and another has been moved out of place to make room for the enlarged "feeler."

The graduation of Bobby Feller from Van Meter, Iowa, high school was broadcast over a national hookup. Maybe that's what some of George Brown's boys need to pass their work at the local school.

Big Spring has a good tennis team but local fans must go elsewhere to enjoy the game. Lack of good courts force the local boys to play their matches away from here.

The town has had several sterling netters during the last few years but they have had little opportunity to display their court prowess. Joe Davis and Harry Jordan both made names for themselves after leaving here and George Dabney is remembered as a crackerjack netter.

SMITH LOOKS TO HIGHER LAURELS HOUSTON, May 17 (AP)—Reynolds Smith, the 1937 Texas amateur championship among the many laurels the 24-year old Walker Cup player has won on golf links the last few years, plans to hit big-time golf in a big way this summer.

He annexed the state title Saturday by beating Billy Bob Harry of Fort Worth, 10 to 9, on the Riviera Oaks course. He had won the same title once before, in 1934, the year David (Spec) Goldman of Dallas beat him in the semi-finals of the national amateur.

Reynolds, a golf writer on a Dallas newspaper, said he planned to play in several other tournaments, including the Corsicana country club which opens Friday, and then try for the national amateur and the national open.

Stacey's Combination Work Wins For Oilers

PAT HELPS MORGAN IN RESCUE ACT

By HANK HART Some heavy hitting on the part of Pat Stacey, Jake Morgan, and young Charley Morgan Sunday afternoon as the Coden Oilers clouted out a 13-12 victory over Coachman's Sinclair Bulldogs on the East Third diamond.

Morgan evidently didn't have it in his first start for the locals and for the second time in two days Stacey stepped in to save the day. Besides holding the opposition where both Morgan and Horace Wallin had failed, Stacey pounded out three licks and ejected a walk out of enemy pitching in four trips to the plate.

The Codenites rattled the offerings of Max Beard and Bib Hardy for a total of 18 base hits. Jake Morgan's triple, double and two singles played a large part in the win and served to snap the short-stopper out of brief batting slump, while Brandon's home run and single came at opportune times.

Eight runs in four stanzas enabled the visitors to take an advantage which looked big enough until the Oilers came to bat in their part of the fourth. The Martinmen chased Beard from the hill in that round by scoring six runs.

Only Coachman's to hit for extra bases were Berl Cramer, who had a home run, and Aubrey Harlow with a double. A feature of the victory was Wallin's line double with the sacks populated in the fourth. The left hander's first extra base hit of the season scored all the runners.

Rebels Lose Twice, Conoco Wins Over Wops After losing their opening Sandbelt game, 5-5, to the TP Shoppers, the Co-Op Rebels faded in the late innings of their second game and were defeated by Anderson's Devils, 12-11, Sunday afternoon on the Austin street diamond.

Alex Flemming twirled the opener for the Rebels and after an opening inning outburst, in which the LaLondemen tallied four runs, gave a good account of himself, but his mates could not find the punch necessary to capture the lead.

D. Fierro, on the hill for the railway nine, gave up five hits to the Co-Op outfit and was in trouble in only one frame.

In the second game the Rebels stepped out to take a 11-6 advantage in the fourth inning but the Devils rallied at that point and deadlocked the count in the seventh.

The Rebels stopped one rally with the bases loaded in the ninth inning but H. C. Burrus put the winning run across in the tenth with a scorching single through the right side of the infield.

Indians Close In On Shippers

Beaumont's Exporters could feel the breath of Oklahoma City's rampaging Indians on their necks today in the topsy-turvy Texas league race.

The Redskins scalped San Antonio's Missions in two games yesterday, 6-2 and 10-5, to advance within a half game of the Exporters, who have been leading the drive for some time.

Beaumont managed to win the second tilt of a double bill with Tulsa and remain in front.

Lefty Jack Brillheart pitched his sixth victory of the season in the first game against San Antonio. He held the Missions to eight hits while his mates pounded out eleven, taking a 5-run lead in the third.

In the nighttime, Clay Touchstone was hit freely but thirteen hits behind him put him over. Five San Antonio hurlers tried to stem the tide in the two games.

Clyde Lahti was invincible against Beaumont in the first game, allowing but five hits for his third straight shut-out, 10-0, but in the afterpiece Harris duplicated Lahti's feat with a five-hitter.

Beaumont bounced in four runs in the first inning and was never headed in winning 5-1.

Fort Worth's Cats went into un-disputed third place, breaking a tie with Galveston that post by smashing the Buc 9-1. The Panthurs rode with Jackie Reid, who limited Galveston to six hits for his sixth victory of the season.

The Cats thereby made a clean sweep of the three-game series. Fort Worth has won seven of their last nine contests.

Red Harvel went on a hitting spurge to lead the Dallas Steers out of the cold regions of the cellar. Harvel smashed a homer, double and three singles to lead a 17-6 hit assault that brought Dallas victory over Houston 11-4. All the Steers connected for at least one hit. Frank Papias, young south-paw, got his first chance to start a game and responded by holding Houston to nine hits and two earned runs.

Just how close the Texas league race is to date is shown in the fact that but six games separate the last-place Tulsa Oilers from the leading Exporters.

Tonight's schedule: Houston at Oklahoma City. Galveston at Tulsa. Beaumont at Fort Worth. San Antonio at Dallas.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, May 17 (UP)—Perhaps Lou Gehrig was a bit hard to get to when the Yanks stopped off in Grand Rapids, Mich., last week. The boys out there have formed a "we don't want Gehrig's autograph" club, with 25 charter members. That's Benny Friedman, City College coach, you hear moaning. "All we need up here is seven linemen and four backs," says Benny. "We have the place." When Judge Fike handed down his fight decision, Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, was backing up for a Florida vacation.

After watching every club in the American league, Joe McCarthy opines the Tigers are the ones his Yankees have to whip. Patsy Perroni, the Cleveland heavyweight, has only two fingers on his left hand.

Carl Hubbell gets his big test when he goes after No. 22 (in a row) against Dixie Dean at St. Louis tomorrow. Don't shed any tears for Jess Harper, former Notre Dame coach. They've just struck oil in his Texas ranch and Jess will be doing all right.

If the Giants are Dickering for Morris Aronovitch of the Phillies, you can't blame them, can you? After watching every club in the American league, Joe McCarthy opines the Tigers are the ones his Yankees have to whip.

Joe McCarthy, whose Yankees didn't give him, any cause to smile on their just concluded western whirl, found the clouds disappearing as his revamped lineup retook their new-found "zip" they knocked off the Cardinals again yesterday 2-1 to take a 3-1-2 game hold on first place in the National League.

The Giants, still third in the National League, would be a lot higher if they could get by those second division outfits. Claude Pascale blanked them 6-0 for the Phillies yesterday, marking the eighth time out of 11 losses this year that the league champions have been belted around by second division trouble-makers.

For a few moments, things looked brighter for Charley Grimm yesterday, with Catcher Gabby Hartnett and Pitcher Tex Carleton returning to the Cubs from the hospital list. But Hartnett went right back on with a split finger, and Carleton, as relief pitcher, lost a 3-2 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. Chick Hafey, at bat for the first time in two years, drove in the winning run with a fly in the ninth.

Two distance battles marked the opening of the Boston Bees, losing out Brooklyn and Van Mungo 3-2 in 12 innings, and the Boston Red Sox socking Washington's slipping Senators 6-5 in 11.

Detroit's Tigers finally clicked against the St. Louis Browns with a 5-4 win as Koxie Lawson came through with his fifth pitching triumph.

Withdrawal of Rowe from the Tiger payroll, following upon his failure to show form except for one spring training game, came to light over the week-end. He was left behind when the Tigers went on the road.

NEW YORK, May 17 (UP)—Marshal Eldredge yesterday piloted a class C outboard hydroplane down the Hudson from Albany to New York to win outboard motor boating's most spectacular race.

Clayton Bishop of Onset, Mass., finished second. It was Eldredge's seventh try for the $250 that goes to the winner in the race and a year's possession of the trophy.

Bucs, Yankees In First Place As First Month Of Season Passes On

By SID FEDER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Just four weeks ago today, big league baseball lifted the curtain on its annual follies—and already a lot of the production heads are yelling for more aprils.

To mention only a few, there's sufferer Steve O'Neill, who can't do a thing for the far away from home pitters of his Cleveland Indians, and Bill Terry, who wonders why the second division clubs always pick on his Giants; and Charley Grimm, whose injured leg is so long and still growing that he's thinking of installing hospital cot in the Cubs clubhouse.

The week-end added a few more pains to these sufferers and a lot of others, but for Pie Traynor and the moguls—particularly the latter—everything was beer and skittles. The faithful turned out all over both circuits yesterday, with some 180,000 cash customers through the gates.

Traynor couldn't find a thing to worry about even if he looked for it. His Pirates, for years one of the outfit that had the stuff and didn't know what to do with it, have reversed themselves completely, and, at their current pace are going to be about as easy to catch as Jesse Owens. Continuing to show their new-found "zip" they knocked off the Cardinals again yesterday 2-1 to take a 3-1-2 game hold on first place in the National League.

Belmont Next For Admiral

By PAUL SIMMONS

BALTIMORE, May 17 (AP)—Out of War Admiral's flashing triumphs in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness there shaped up today a feud of thoroughbreds that may become a classic of American racing.

The other principal is the long-striding bay colt, Pompoon, the only race horse that has ever been able to get up and run with the brilliant son of Man O'War as a three year old.

This strong-limbed son of Pompeon from the stable of J. H. Loughheim was a length and a half behind the champion at the finish of the derby. Yet, having proved he is a stayer, he came back at Samuel D. Riddle's sleek brown speedster in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico with such force that he made the race one of the greatest historic "old hilltop" course has ever seen.

In the crowd of more than 40,000 witnessing the thrill packed contest was Cyrus F. (Danny) Clarke, who had trained Pompeon for the effort falling short of success. He soon had his determination back and his stable's challenge to the Admiral was:

"We'll catch him before the summer's over. You can bet we will." When this statement reached Charlie Kurtsinger, War Admiral's jockey, it fell on doubting ears. The Flying Dutchman answered: "Well, he's still got to catch us." And, so, just as the derby battle was re-fought in the Preakness, the Pimlico stretch duel may be re-enacted in the Belmont, since both horses are shipping to New York for this mile and a half contest.

THE INCREDIBLE MESSIAH: THE DEIFICATION OF FATHER DIVINE, by Robert Allerton Parker; (Little, Brown) $2.50.

That strange little man up in Harlem has been the cause of another book. This one is by Robert Allerton Parker, whose last book was a study of another Messiah, John Humphrey Noyes.

Mr. Parker can use strong words when he wants to, and he does in "The Incredible Messiah." Most of the time, however, he merely discusses Father Divine and latter day Messiahs in general. It is the fact that he does not ridicule and does not unduly condemn that makes his book the most revealing and most interesting study of Harlem's "God" this department has.

The author believes that Father Divine really is George Baker, son of Gullah parents on a long land in the Savannah river, in Georgia. He believes that Baker learned much from the numerous messiahs of his boyhood in the up South. Later the Negro found a Hickerson and some others, partly by native shrewdness, partly by luck, devised his formula. But Mr. Parker does not believe that Divine would have managed to throw a globe of "Heavens" around the world if he had had anything more than his own charm and a good idea. He believes that the movement is founded firmly upon the fact that the Negro feels the tensions of the Negro's social status are, perhaps, more taut in Harlem than in any

Surest Sign Of Summer---Bridge Clubs Disband, Study Completed

Several real touches of summer heat and the end of the school year have definitely started disbandments in bridge and study clubs as well as school associations, which of course, conclude work when school is out. During the past week several groups of bridge players have called it a season and study units have completed work scheduled in the year books. Parent-Teacher associations will round up their work for a short time this month but will later begin extensive work in the Summer Round-Up.

While many card players will continue through the summer heat with games and parties, others in which school teachers are members have disbanded due to the excessive work called for on their part in completing work of the school term. Too, teachers will be leaving soon on their summer vacations which will local people.

Music Study club members, having finished their study course last week, will entertain in honor of the past president, Mrs. G. C. Schurman next week. They plan a luncheon for which reservations are now being made.

The 1936 Hyperion club will round out its busy year this week when they meet on Saturday with Mrs. Harry Hurt. The Senior club work was completed several weeks ago. All officers of the Parent-Teacher associations for next year have been installed and projects have been well executed by all organizations with the exception of Junior High and this will be ended at the meeting tomorrow. Having already made outlines of the methods of procedure, all ward schools will conduct the Summer Round-Up for the benefit of children who will enter school for the first time in the fall. Object of the movement is to give the child a better chance to take advantage of his teaching by having him physically in shape when he begins his school work.

Student Entertainments Hold Social Light At Stanton; Juniors Meet In Local Park

STANTON, May 17—With two affairs Friday night, high school society held the spotlight for the latter part of the week here. Following a senior picnic and skating party earlier in the week, juniors held a picnic and swimming party and sophomores entertained with a "hobo" party.

Big Spring park was the scene of the junior frolic in which swimming preceded picnic supper. Members of the class were accompanied by Mrs. Calvin B. Jones, sponsor, Mrs. George Bullock, home room mother, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hall and Jerry and Jo Jon Hall.

Juniors present were Edna Mae Jones, Francis Renfro, Carrie Belle Bassett, Dorothy Ellis, Elena Reid, Annie Marie Bullock, Annie Hancock, Mildred Thompson, Elmer Long, James Reed, Johnnie Paul Cook, Eddis Greig, Norvell Glazener, John F. Priddy.

Claiming their right to cast aside dignity if they chose, sophomore girls donned slacks and boys appropriate garb for the role of "hoboes." Meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Cox, the class separated into two groups, headed by Mary Alne Cox and Clint Eidson, and started out to seek "handouts" from friendly citizens.

One group visited the homes of Mrs. W. C. Williamson, Mrs. A. L. Reed, Mrs. Brick Eidson, and Mrs. W. M. Wilkinson before returning to the starting point. The other group called at the homes of Mrs. Keno Davis, Mrs. H. A. Hull, Mrs. A. C. Straub, and Mrs. Sam Wilkinson, before returning to the Cox home. Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Davis accompanied the two parties.

Refreshments were served at the various stopping places. Class members attending included Irene Barker, Annabelle Davis, Mary Alne Cox, Curtis Heaton, H. A. Hull, Tom Houston, Vernie Liles, Ruth Mints, Wesley Robinson, Mary Ruth Renfro, Willie Mae Straub, George Billy Wilkinson, Perry Elizabeth Lewis, Flora Williamson, Eula Faye Whitson, Billy Jay McClane, Wilma Turner, Corinne Cooke, Oscar Turner, Clint Eidson, and James Webb.

15 Years Delay In Delivering H-SU Yearbook

ABILENE, May 17—A 1922 Broncho, Hardin-Simmons yearbook, was delivered to its owner last week after fifteen years in transit. The book was wrapped and mailed C.O.D. to Miss Madge Morrison, then a student of Southern Methodist university. She explains she probably lost the slip and forgot to claim the book before it was returned to Abilene.

The Bronco was found last week when workmen were cleaning out the building formerly occupied by the Rex Studio. It was still wrapped and marked "C.O.D." and "Returned."

Miss Morrison, a student in H-SU in 1922, prizes the book highly—even though it is fifteen years late. She lives in Abilene, less than two miles from the office. The book left fifteen years ago.

RECORDING TEXAS' HISTORY

The mayor of a Texas city deprecates the lack of an "adequate and competent history of Texas." There have been several written, one by a former citizen of his own community, but none, he thinks, is quite good enough. Even the Centennial fervor did not produce a volume that he thought met the need.

That might be said of all histories. Distance lends enchantment to the view, and the further away we get from events the greater importance they assume in many eyes. And the writer, if he be sincere and capable, does not give those faroff events the glamor that the average person thinks is proper, so the result is disappointment and criticism.

Another sort of writer gives his bare facts too many trimmings and paints them in too glowing colors, making magnificent of an ordinary occurrence. This displeases the earnest student of history and should, for overstatement is just as bad as understatement in history as in everything else written or spoken.

The history of Texas reaches so far back, and its beginnings are shrouded in so much tradition and speculation, even documents of that day differing just as their writers saw things differently, that the writing of Texas history will never be done to the entire satisfaction of everyone. The salient facts, however, are generally set forth in the histories that have been written and most of the fables have been found to be such and need give no anxiety that a reasonable person cannot set aside. This should be satisfactory and we should be content to let the problem lie, for no matter who the writer in the future, his work will be denounced by some as insufficient, by others as biased, and by yet others as a masterpiece. The difference is not so much in the writers as in the readers of history.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—All this talk and bluster about purging burlesque of the naughty strip act shouldn't be taken too seriously. Not if the records mean anything. It is a dull day when no Black Maria backs up to the entrance of some stage door to whisk a couple of cuties down to the hard-boiled sergeant on a charge of indecent exposure. About five years ago the police put on a mighty "crusade" to cleanse night life of its "sordidness," and it got exactly nowhere, either because the police themselves were disinterested or because of too much undercover intervention.

Gypsy Rose Lee, who epitomizes every strip-girl's ambitions, has been carted off to jail. Mae West, certainly no paragon of Victorianism, made frequent trips to the hoosegow during her New York days for producing and appearing in "immoral" plays. And Flo Ziegfeld always considered it a stroke of fortune when one of his girls was arrested for appearing in less than a string of pearls.

The current peeve apparently is against one particular form of nudity. True it is that girls in all the night clubs are unclothed, too, but that is different. In burlesque the girls come out fully clothed and disrobe in the presence of their admiring auditors, whereas the night club lassies already are pared down to the cuticle on their toe-nails when they make their appearance. Apparently the burlesque form of nakedness is more reprehensible. At least, from the "indignant" utterances of the officials they must think so.

Actually, burlesque girls are rarely as completely nude as those damsels bound in the after-dark supper clubs. True, they wear only a couple of satin rose-buds and, as they say on Broadway, a G-string. But you'll have to admit that is something, at least. The night club girls often wear nothing at all.

There is, just beneath the surface, a reason for the current drive against theatrical "vice." To operate theaters one must have a license, and at the moment the burlesque licenses have expired. This gives the reformers an opportunity to sandbag producers, and they are attempting to eliminate burlesque completely. Unfortunately, the night clubs all have licenses; so the police aren't even looking in their direction. If they did they would be met with a mess of legal action that would probably stymie any "corrective" measure attempted.

So, if this department seems skeptical, it asks tolerance on the grounds that it has seen too many previous "drives" which gained nothing other than some front page publicity for some of our high-powered public-spirited servants.

Split looms in house demagogue club.
Roosevelt sidesteps query on price control.
Betting odds favor a trust-busting campaign.
Diplomatic complications seen in sale of helium.

WASHINGTON, May 17—The demagogue club (that secret cloak-room organization of house legislators) is having more trouble. It seems some of the more blatant demagogues are forming themselves into a separate camp to be known as the liberal demagogues. They consider the other members as reactionary demagogues.

What caused the split was: Several years ago, the club adopted a resolution restricting any member from using the pet subject of another member without special permission. For instance, one had Wall Street, another the power people, etc. If a new demagogue wanted to use the Wall Street subject, he just notified the head of the Wall Street craft of the club. It was more or less routine, and nearly everyone was permitted to demagogue about nearly any subject. But now one of those perpetually dissatisfied persons has gone and started something known as the C. U. D. (Committee for Unlimited Demagoguery.) This has upset everything.

The old-line demagogue really believes in harnessed humbergery, like the farmer who puts the best apples at the top of the barrel. They would not fool a voter about anything serious, at least not much. This C. U. D., however, seems to be bent on putting things on a more substantial basis.

Liberalism

Just why the C.U.D.'ers call themselves liberal is not apparent. The word comes from liberty, but some of the economic regimentation they advocate means anything except liberty. In fact, they seem to recognize no connection at all between the two words liberal and liberty.

They are not even liberal about taking other members to dinner, so the old ones say. The only liberality which they espouse is that of unrestricted appropriations of the taxpayers' money. That seems to be where the liberal title comes from.

Twinkle

It was not recorded generally, but President Roosevelt was asked straight out in that train interview about the question of the government controlling industrial prices. This is the hottest subject around the inner circle now, but in such an intangible way as to escape getting into print. Sky hints have been dropped in choice circles about the possibility of the government creating an "economic council" to limit industrial production and influence prices. Agriculture Secretary Wallace has openly been playing prophet for such a development. Furthermore, very reliable information indicates Mr. R.'s counselors are split sharply into two camps. One wants him to go straight out in a sincere way and thus reach the price problem. The other wants him to revise the social structure of the country with some sort of fascist-like "economic council."

Bidding

The basic fact behind the helium controversy will be found in the yet unpublished testimony of the house military affairs committee, taken just 14 days before the Hindenburg explosion. On the stand was James T. Howington of the Girdler Corporation of Louisville. He put in the record a statement reading in part:

"During the last two years there has been considerable interest in and a demand for helium by foreign countries. France was definitely in the market for at least 10,000,000 cubic feet. Japan would have made a purchase from (my) company of substantial quantities. The government of Holland had been interested in helium-filled airships for service to the East Indies. The German government, operating the zeppelins between Europe and South America, has been continuously interested in a source of supply of this non-inflammable gas. The German demand undoubtedly would be measured in terms of millions of cubic feet. The Helium Company has been denied the right to sell helium for export."

That is the story. All nations want helium and the U. S. has the supply. They want it for ostensible commercial purposes, but it would be a tremendous advantage in time of war. If the U. S. sold more to France or to Germany, diplomatic complications would necessarily ensue.

The Timid Soul

Security

The only answer to the problem was given by Representative Latham of Texas in the same unpublished testimony:

"Since we have this valuable asset, since these countries can get it, since they have been trying to get it here commercially and are willing to pay a high price for it, I think this God-given agency of defense ought to be kept in this country."

Such a policy may lead to absurd insinuations that the United States is thus responsible for the hydrogen lighter-than-air ship which falls, but certainly not even a disappointed country will seriously consider it so. Unless the United States wants to get entangled in all the politics of Europe and Asia, it will keep its helium for its own use. It cannot sell to all without weakening itself. It cannot sell to one without offending another.

HOLLYWOOD—Gypsy Rose Lee declined the fruit cocktail, and played with the soup, but tackled the lamb chops, potatoes and peas right heartily.

"I'm a meat-and-potato girl," she said. "I hate all the preliminaries and like to get down to fundamentals right away." Which indicates that Gypsy, here for a movie, does not approve of the strip-tease technique when it comes to food.

Gypsy Rose Lee she became accustomed to all-on-one-plate meals back in New York, where she was a busy girl. Gypsy's introduction to the local press, at one of those informal luncheons, savored of the burlesque hall only in its preponderantly masculine audience. Several ladies of the press were invited, but only one showed. The others missed a chance to meet a pretty, level-headed gal who knows what she's doing and has most of Hollywood's cuties backed off the board for the gift of gab.

One of the Gang
Some of us expected a little Park Avenue talk and were pleasantly disappointed. Gypsy was a little burned because three reporters who met her train had written that she sported an "English accent." The majority vote, at the luncheon, was conoling. Besides, when a girl says it was publicity and mere publicity that put her over, you know right away that she's one of the gang.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

Chapter 43
JUDGE RUNS AWAY

For this little while the knowledge that George loved her, even though he was going to marry Ellen, was upholding her, making her happy. But she faced the fact; it would not keep her happy. When he actually married Ellen, Eve did not know how she was going to bear it. Ellen adored him. She would be his wife, devoted wife. He was easy-tempered and kind. This was real life.

The inevitable thing would happen; after a while Ellen and their children and their common interests would be everything to him. His love for Eve would inevitably fade to a pretty memory, a pensive appleblossom in a book, opened once a year. The thought wrenched at her.

And Denny? She knew the worst of Denny and the best. They had been playmates and comrades and sweatshirts in that bright hurried restless city life which seemed now like a dimly recalled movie. They could be again. She had loved him; the love might return. If it didn't, she could play her hand all the better.

It had only taken a moment to think all this. She opened her lips to speak; but Denny laughed and snatched her into his arms. And she knew at the touch that it was no question of better or worse, wiser or more foolish. She could not marry Denny Carter. She moved slowly definitely from him.

"Come, Eve, it isn't like you to be so resentful. Any man would get at marrying with a nine-year-old boy hung round his neck! I've come back and I'm sorry and the water's over the milldam. That's all that matters, if you're the generous Eve I love. As for Judge, if he isn't well now he never will be, and after all, they're his parents. I'll finance his trip to Hollywood with my own fair hands."

"They're in Hawaii." "Your gossipy Marilyn seems to have omitted a confidence. The old lady who was her transportation ticket in still in the hospital; when she found out she had to stay there she didn't keep them on in her house. Mitzi had a letter asking for a loan."

"Yes, it's the house" "Hush." "Eve had heard Judge coming in. She turned. The child stood in the doorway, rather pale. She hoped he had not heard anything. "Darling, speak to Denny and then do something for me, will you?" she said hurriedly. "Ellen is coming back for supper and I'm late. Set the table and put in some potatoes to bake like a good boy."

"How do you do, Denny. All right, Eve, fit the potatoes," said Judge. He went and she heard him open and shut the kitchen door.

"Thank goodness," Denny said, stretching his arms in the late sunlight. "Eve darling, we're through having it out, aren't we? Come over and be sweet to Denny."

She stood quiet in the radiance of the tall window. From where she was she could see the gleam of the old crossed swords in the dining room over the painting of Colonel Mansfield; the little wooden painting of Patricia Denning, the plainly framed photograph of her own Aunt Ann; and the beautiful curve of the old staircase. They were behind her as she answered.

"It isn't that I won't marry you, Den, but that I can't make myself marry you any more than I can make myself want to be a surgeon or policeman. Don't you understand? I've turned back into the person I really am. You never knew her. And she never knew you."

"It's the house? This damn country place has got you. Once back in New York you'd be sane again!" She nodded. "Yes. The place—and what it stands for. You don't want a house—you don't want roots. You live in a rootless world; I can't any more. I'm the sort of person you and the crowd used to think was funny. Den, I want to do things to help the village. I want to do right, and carry my end, and be responsible. I want to hold on to a lot of plattitudes. I've reverted to type—what my house always stood for. You've made the answer yourself. The place has got me, Denny. So we'd better say goodbye. That is about all we could say to each other that we would both understand."

Judge Leaves A Note
She watched, presently, his tall swinging figure going down the steps and wondered that she had no revulsion, no uncertainty. For she knew there was long lonely pain ahead of her. Even tonight would be hard, if Ellen made George come back here with her. In spite of all Eve knew she done the only thing she could do.

The telephone caught her again. Was the house really burnt right down? Was the silver all lost? Had Lance Seymour really tried to drag her, shrieking into the burning building? Was there insurance? And a dozen biscuits, and two squash pies, and a couple of raspberry jams—

It was fully an hour before the shrieking instrument let her go. She hurried into the kitchen. The dining-room table was set, the potatoes were done. She set them above the range and began on the supper as Ellen and Uncle Henry came in. Ellen was gay and flushed still.

Conservation Service Project Is Postponed SAN ANGELO, May 17—The Upper Concho River soil conservation service project located at San Angelo is preparing to receive several large groups of visitors from the surrounding counties during the period from May 17 through May 21, according to R. M. Milhollin, project manager. Friday, May 21, and Friday, May 22, have been set aside as "special visiting days" during the two week period. On these two days, groups of 4-H club members, Future Farmers of America chapter, Smith-Hughes instructors, county farm agents, and farmers and business men are expected to make special conducted tours of the soil conservation service area. It is pointed out by Mr. Milhollin that persons who cannot come on the two special visiting days, send a postcard to the local project office setting out the day during the visiting period that they will want to make a farm tour.

Duplex Apartment Is Constructed In Stanton STANTON, May 17—Mrs. John Richards is now having constructed a modern duplex apartment house here. The frame structure, which employs the new wide siding, has a concrete foundation and will be painted white with green shutters. The house is designed for two three-room apartments with bath and service porch. John Mathews has the labor contract. The building will cost about $300.

INSTALL TRAFFIC LIGHT STANTON, May 17—Motorists, whether native or out-of-state, now have lights beside that of the West Texas sign to engage their attention. Specially, these are the red and green lights of the traffic signal installed on the highway at the post office corner this week. Interested bystanders still speculate on whether drivers will use the right light or the wrong one for the "go" signal, but Postmaster Morgan Hall is looking forward to a period of peace for nerves shattered by the constant wailing of brakes applied at the last minute. St. Peter's street, which intersects the Broadway of America at the post office corner, is Stanton's main business thoroughfare. The traffic signal was installed by the city council as a safety measure.

WORK STOCK HEAVY OFFERING AT SALE Third of the weekly ring sales sponsored by the Howard County Marketing association got underway here Monday morning at the Sam Greer pens east of Big Spring with a heavy run of work stock. On hand also was a wide assortment of helters, milk cows and calves. There were a few head of white face steers and cows on hand as the sale opened with more beef due to arrive for listing. Shortly before noon several head of sheep and a number of cows and saddle horses were penned for bidding.

San Greer, Glasscock county ranchman, who built the pens more than two years ago at a cost in excess of $10,000, was present for the first time this season. He had just finished shearing more than 1,400 head of sheep, averaging 10.64 pounds of wool. He sold the clip in San Angelo for an average of 35 cents a pound. His lamb crop, despite many losses, was 100 per cent this year.

WPA Projects Are Due For Completion One WPA project was completed Saturday and two others are due to be finished this year. R. H. McNew, district director said Monday. Workers completed the replacing of the water pipes and repaving the line system at the scenic Mountain state park. The previous arrangement had proven inadequate for boosting enough water to the supply tank atop the concessions building. Workers will be transferred to the city park job. Friday the water well surveys in Glasscock and Ector counties are due to be finished. Saturday a similar survey in Midland will be undertaken by the county and WPA with Dan A. Davis, in charge at Ector county, heading the project. McNew said that arrangements had never been perfected for starting a mineral survey in counties of this district. Only two counties, Lynn and Midland, agreed to furnish a truck for the job. Lynn did not have enough workers to man the project and Midland is turning its truck over to the water survey.

STEEL WORKERS UNION PREDICTS SMASHING VICTORY PITTSBURGH, May 17 (AP)—The steel workers union massed forces in the two huge plants of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation today with hopes of winning a smashing victory in the nation's biggest industrial election next Thursday. A 36-hour strike, called in the midst of negotiations for a tentative bargaining agreement between Chairman H. E. Lewis of the 200,000-000 corporation, and Chairman Philip Murray of the steel workers organizing committee, led to the election. The corporation agreed to give a contract to the union for exclusive bargaining powers of all its 32,000 workers (excluding those paid monthly) if the union could produce a majority in the Thursday vote.

CITY COMMISSION TO STUDY BUDGET Two important matters were due for city commission consideration this week, the approving of the annual audit just completed by Merle J. Stewart and a study of the new budget just drawn up by the city manager. A meeting of the commission was in prospect soon after City Manager E. V. Spence returns here. He was called to San Angelo on business Saturday night and was due to return here Monday afternoon. Stewart turned the audit over to the city Saturday afternoon. Together with H. W. Whitney, city secretary, Spence completed the first draft of the 1937 fiscal year budget, a document said to contain some striking departures from budgets of former years in that it takes a decidedly progressive trend toward items of current interest.

WINDSOR Mrs. Windsor was reported to have insisted his younger brother make it clear she would take her husband's rank and be "M.L.H." Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, backed by the church and some court clerics, was generally considered to be leading the opposition to conferring royal status on the woman for whose love Edward stepped down off the empire's throne. In the meantime, Mrs. Warfield's assumption of that name nor the ceremony with Windsor was made completely legal through publication of the deed poll, by which she dropped her divorced husband's name of Simpson. Announcement of the wedding date and list of wedding guests was expected tomorrow afternoon at the Chateau De Cande where the couple are guests. The approach of the wedding day swept Windsor back into prominence with the British public. It was not, however, the dispute of the rank of the bride-to-be which caused the former monarch to share the headlines, but eager speculation about who would be invited to the ceremony and just how much recognition it would receive from the royal family.

Decisions provisions were attacked by the Charles C. Steward Machine company of Alabama. Under this section, employers of eight or more persons are taxed to provide benefits for the jobs. Employers are allowed to deduct 90 per cent of the federal tax provided a similar amount was paid into a state unemployment compensation fund. All the states except Illinois, Missouri and Florida now have unemployment compensation laws.

Knox In connection with the death of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary A. Knox in Dallas, had resulted in a sentence against suspended sentence in the case of her son. During the morning she sought contact J. W. Minton, long time friend of her family and prominent Hemphill attorney, in an effort to have him here for the trial Wednesday. To Stay for Trial "I'm going to stay right here, live here if necessary, and do all I can until this thing is finished," Mrs. Knox told a reporter. "If I sell my property to make restitution for the shortages, I feel that I have a right to ask for mercy," she said. "If I were not going to pay back anything, I wouldn't ask for a suspended sentence."

Depression Conditions are good, they will continue to be good for many years, because the country has been on half rations for five or six years. We've got to catch up," Scott Loftin, former United States senator, said he believed another depression was bound to come, but he thought it "can be postponed many years by drastically cutting national and local governmental expenditures and balancing the budget." Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of banking and finance of New York university, "I doubt very much if there will be another slump in 1939, but trying to fix dates for such a thing is like calling telephone numbers at random. Four important factors should make for sustained industrial activity. They are revival in business, rehabilitation of factory equipment and public utility and railroad spending for plant improvement. How long these will keep industry going at brisk pace I would not attempt to guess."

Commission Approves New Postal Rates New rate schedules on night letters were filed with and approved by the federal communication commission Monday by Post-Telegraph, H. H. Hannah, local manager announced Monday. The new rates, involving a base of 50 cents per night letter, were between the two most widely separated points in the United States thus eliminating the current 60 word night letters, which now bears a $1.20 base rate. Hannah added that another feature of the schedule was that the cost per word would be down with additional wordage. For instance the rate on 300 night letters has been slashed 53 per cent. Rates on such a message to Fort Worth or Dallas would be $1.18, he said. Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of the board of the company, said he considered this the most important rate reduction in all telegraph history. It is being done to place telegraph facilities at the disposal of business for needs of overnight communications of letter length in the hope new rates will make it practical for business men to telegraph urgent reports.

Kermit Bombing IS INVESTIGATED KERMIT, May 17 (AP)—Officers today investigated the bombing of the Tacoma night club in the out town of Kermit yesterday. They said a fuse was found in the wreckage and it was believed dynamite had been used. John Hiley, club owner, offered a reward for the arrest of the bombers. The place was closed but the owner's family was asleep in the back of the building. No one was injured, however. DRUNK DRIVING Charges of driving while intoxicated were lodged in justice court today against Sam Reese, negro driver, and C. McKee. The two were arrested following a car crash three miles west of Cochran Sunday in which $250 damage was done to a Mexican's automobile. WATER POLO TEAMS TIE Big Spring and Midland water polo teams fought to a 4-4 deadlock Sunday in the municipal swimming pool. The match was closely contested all the way. It was the first of the inter-city series this year.

Crawford of Carlsbad, N. M., owner of the Crawford hotel in Big Spring, has returned to his home after a visit here. WOMEN WHO ARE WEAK Mrs. Robert Newton of Bonham, Little Rock, Ark., said "Some time ago I suffered from 'nerves' and lost my appetite and had no energy. When I had taken part of a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Female Preparation, I noticed a decided improvement in my health. I was able to eat a couple of bottles of it, and I was able to help me in every way. I was so glad to have my appetite and energy restored that I bought a bottle of it to carry on."

Contest prior to their appearance on the Dixie stage. The dinner is to be held in room No. 4 at the Statler. Several meals it is indicated a willingness Monday morning to sponsor entries in the local contest. Green urged girls to enter by listing their names at the chamber office. If this is not possible, he said they may enter by being at the pool with their bathing suits before 8 p. m. Tuesday. Winner of the local contest will have her expenses paid to Fort Worth for a try at the state crown. Last year's winner, Faye Cotton of Borger, was given a prominent role in the Casa Manana revue and a contract with Universal Pictures.

Prepare once more to the ocean. The insurgent armies now are pounding at the land fortifications. It is possible they may attempt complete encirclement. Today the insurgent ground forces reported six new villages had fallen into their hands and that they had cleared the road between Guernica and Amorebieta. This road runs north and south at a distance about 12 miles east of Bilbao. Northeast of Bilbao, near the sea, the insurgent lines bend around to San Pedro Hill, likewise about 10 miles distant from the capital. 15 Miles In 6 Weeks In the month and a half of the push on Bilbao, the insurgents have advanced only about 15 miles. They have used airplanes, tanks and artillery in concentrated doses to pound back the Basque defenses. Franco, however, still is opposed by a numerically strong Basque army and must proceed with caution. He wants Bilbao for its factories and its access to the sea, and to complete his conquest of the north-west so he can throw all his forces into a final drive on Madrid, in central Spain.
