Mayor receives book from Bordertown

When traveling into Bordertown, South Australia, there is a sign that reads: You are now entering Bordertown -- Twin City of Hereford, Texas.

Keith Willis, a resident of Bordertown, presented a book to Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand on Monday.

The book, "Tatiara: 1845-1985," is a complete history of the Tatiara district.

"We are pleased to be able to communicate with you and the people of Hereford through the visit of Keith Willis, who will be spending some time in your Country," Daniel Anderson, chief executive officer of the Tatiara District Council, wrote in a letter to the mayor.

"This visit provides us with the opportunity of extending greetings and best wishes from Australia and similar to towns in Australia," he the citizens of Bordertown and the Tatiara District," Anderson said.

WASHINGTON (AP)--Senate Republican leaders scrambled for votes today to exempt newly hired workers and employees of small businesses from a proposed 90-cent-an-hour increase in the minimum wage.

Hours before the vote, Senate district is located on the main Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., Adelaide-Melbourne highway in the acknowledged that Republicans could lose on the exemptions, which Democrats strenuously oppose.

> President Clinton has labeled the exemptions, proposed in an amendment by Sen. Christopher Bond, R-Mo., as "poison pills" that would draw his veto. Were the amendment to pass, it would plunge the Senate and White House right back into the contentious election-year dispute that has snarled Congress for much of the year.

Senate Minority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., said he assumed, but was not sure, all 47 Senate Democrats would vote against the amendment. He said he hoped enough GOP senators - at least three - would side with Democrats to block it.

The bill, passed 281-144 by the House on May 23, would increase the minimum wage from $4.25 an hour to $4.75 initially and to $5.15 a year later. It's paired with a package of tax breaks, mostly for business.

While the House bill provides a three-month subminimum training wage only for new hires younger than 20, Bond's amendment would exempt all workers during their first six months on a new job as well as employees of businesses with gross revenue of less than $500,000. It also would delay by six months the effective date of each step of the raise predicted the storm could turn northward away from Florida. "If it hits, it hits," said Maria

Lancaster, who went shopping with her 11-month-old son, Christopher, for "just the basics: water, some milk, diapers and baby food."

"This Publix ain't never been like this, this early in the morning," Charles Williams said outside the supermarket as he loaded 12 gallons of water into his trunk. He said he stocked up "just to kind of halfway be prepared.

Early today, Bertha was upgraded mph as it headed for the Bahamas.

"We're certainly threatened at this time, and we're just trying to get people to think preparedness," said Mike Rucker, the state meteorologist and spokesman for the state Division of Emergency Management.

With a chance that storm-force wind of at least 39 mph could extend 230 miles from the center as Bertha heads toward the Bahamas, a storm watch could go up for Florida's Atlantic Coast by tonight.

However, meteorologists today estimated the most probable target on the U.S. mainland by Friday morning as anywhere from Charleston, S.C., to Wilmington, N.C.

That at least raised the possibility that Florida could be out of the woods, although hurricanes can turn unexpectedly.

"But our advice is for residents all along the eastern seaboard to keep monitoring the storm," said Brian Maher, a specialist at the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

"I hope they take what ever warning the hurricane center put out very seriously," James Lee Witt, director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, said today of

Officer gets firsthand view of drug trade on Mexican border

By EDUARDO MONTES Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Texas (AP)--As a frontline officer in the war on drugs, police Sgt. Joe Barragan gets a firsthand view of the state of the narcotics trade on the Mexican border.

The past year was filled with troubling sights.

"We've seen there is a problem," said Barragan, a narcotics officer with the El Paso Police Department. "The availability of drugs is more so now than ever before. The price of dope has actually been going down and we think that is because of the abundance.'

"Nobody thinks that Washington can roll into El Paso and wave a wand and fix all these problems," said Don Maple, a spokesman for McCaffrey's office. "It's going to be these participants who are going to suggest those areas that we need to concentrate on."

Maple said he did not know whether the meeting would actually result in any new policies, but indicated the potential is there.

Law enforcement officials said Authorities blame changes in Monday they were glad for the opportunity to address high-ranking administrators outside of Washington,

"I don't think you can overestimate the value of that," said Bill Veal, head of El Paso's U.S. Border Patrol sector. "It's one thing for the general and his staff to sit in Washington and sift through reports that come from the field. It's quite another thing that they see the border.

"For them to be able to interface with some of the officers, that really does convey the true sense of how we're faring in our efforts, how we're succeeding and how we can do better.'

Stan Serwatka, head of the U.S. Attorney's office in El Paso, said he hopes the meeting will help create better cooperation among law enforcement agencies throughout the region.

He was echoed by Customs Service Special Agent George McNenney, who also noted that there is more at stake than just the border.

"Most of the narcotics coming through El Paso are not staying in El Paso," said McNenney.

Ann Landers Married man expresses views on sex outside of marriage

Dear Ann Landers: I read, with casual amusement, the exchanges in your column between the sexually overworked and underworked wives. Since there were not many male responses, I would like to add mine.

My wife and I have been married for 30 years. She is attractive and desirable and was very sexy -- until we married. When she let me know she was no longer interested in "that stuff," I found it necessary to have my needs attended to. So, I took advantage of my long leash and sought the company of other women.

What I found was incredible. While I could create delirious pleasure in my illicit female companions, I could evoke no more than a yawn from my wife. Often, we terminated operations prematurely because they were going nowhere.

Does marriage really put the dead hand on sexual excitement? This old joke rings true for many men: "How do you cure a nymphomaniac?" The answer is "Marry her." Meanwhile, I will continue to experience the incredible passion of other women and enjoy my gift of sexuality, which has not waned although I will soon be 60. Now that I have told you the whole story, do I have your permission? -- Young at Heart

Dear Young at Heart: It is not up to me to grant or deny permission to married men who want to fool around.

When your wife began to yawn, THAT was the time to fix it. Adios, Romeo.

Dear Ann Landers: You are so ood at alerting the public that I'd like to pass on a con that my friend and I fell for.

We are two middle-aged women who were walking downtown in Washington, D.C., after visiting a museum. A distraught, nicely dressed young woman approached us. "I hope you will help me," she said. She was wearing some sort of identification tag on a chain around her neck. She told us she'd been in the department store and someone had stolen her wallet, including all her credit cards, money and "even my subway card."

She had a large purse with compartments, and I immediately visualized someone reaching in and removing her wallet. She continued, "I'm a nurse. I desperately need a few dollars to get home." According to her I.D. card, she lived in an upscale, suburban area. My friend asked her to write down her name, address and phone number before we gave her $10. She told us, "God bless you," and headed for the subway.

We tried to telephone the woman that evening to see if she got home OK. There was no such name or number. The sympathetic operator

Dear Poorer in D.C.: That con game is being played in every large city in the United States. I've had at least 10 letters like yours in the last week. I'm printing yours, and I hope it helps put an end to that racket.

Dear Ann: Do you believe, as Albert Camus said, that "life is a sum of all your choices"? -- A Yalie and This Is No Joke

Dear Valie: Not always. Sometimes life can sneak up on your blind side and hand you a double whammy that has nothing to do with your choices.

Women in 45 states are anonymously tested for HIV when they give birth. The results provide a snapshot of the extent of AIDS among sexually active women, who are at highest risk.

The latest data, compiled by Dr. Susan Davis of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, were released Monday at the 11th International Conference on AIDS.

They show that HIV is most common in New York state, where six of every 1,000 women giving birth are infected. Nationally, the total is 1.5 per 1,000 women, a number that has remained stable since 1989.

Hereford Regional Medical Center and Hereford Cablevision have joined together to bring updated health information to the community.

As of July 8, area residents have the opportunity to watch tapes about important health matters every Monday, Wednesday and Friday on Channel 19 at 4 p.m., according to Lloyd Ames of Hereford Cablevision. Darlene Cornelius, HRMC

Salinas neary collapsed, needing seven strokes on the hole. He hit his tee shot out of bounds, then didn't hit a very good second tee shot. He hit a seven-foot putt to finish the tourney, and he had to hit that putt to avoid a playoff with Yates.

"I just went crazy - trying to give the tournament away," said Salinas, who lives in Hereford and coaches at Hereford schools. "It was a combination of falling asleep and nerves."

While Salinas' seven on the last hole was the buzz around Pitman Municipal Golf Course Sunday, the more significant number was his 69 for Saturday's second round. It was the only sub-70 round of the tourney.

"The key to winning the tournament was Saturday's round - no doubt about it," he said. "I ironed it really well (Saturday)."

The 69 went with Friday's 74 and Sunday's 76 for a total of 219. Yates, a former Hereford resident now living in Amarillo, fired two straight 72s after opening at 76 and finished as the runner-up at 220.

Price Barton of Amarillo took third place, going 74-76-72--222. Mike Self of Amarillo (72-77-75--224) and Mike McDonald of Vega (76-73-75--224) tied for fourth in the championship flight.

in TGCA all-star game

Heather Hodges will represent Hereford in the Texas Girls Coaches Association all-star volleyball game Wednesday in Grand Prairie. The game is being played in conjunction with the TGCA clinics this week in the Metroplex.

Hodges, an all-state selection by the TGCA who'll continue her playing career this fall at Abilene Christian, has been keeping in shape over the summer. "We got our Abilene weightlifting packet last week -I've been working on that pretty hard," Hodges said. "I've been up at the gym at night playing. I'm really excited."

Hodges is one of 48 outgoing seniors in Texas to be selected to play in the all-star games.

There are two games planned for Wednesday at Grand Prairie High School. The first, at 6 p.m., is between girls from 3A, 2A, and A schools. The 4A and 5A game will be played at 8 p.m.

Hodges will play on the West team with such stars as Sarah Butler of Amarillo High and Katie Grieve of Arlington Martin. Hodges will be the only 4A player on her team.

Hereford coach Brenda Reeh expects Hodges to fit in perfectly.

"A kid's success depends on the attitude she takes into the allstar game," Rech said. "If she looks at it as a great opportunity to play with great players, she's usually successful in the actual game.

"There's so much talent of the court at one time, it's easy for a kid to be intimidated," Rech said. 'But I don't expect Heather to have a problem with it at all." Hodges is the third girl to Reeh also will be performing this week. She'll make a presenta-tion at the TGCA clinic on plyogenics.

In conditioning workouts, Lady Whiteface athletes have been jumping up and down on a series of boxes - each about two feet high - for more than a year now. It's improved the girls' athletic ability.

"It's something that we've progressively gotten stronger with," Rech said. "A lot of coaches we've been around comment that a lot of our players are athletic and strong."

This is the third time Rech has been selected to speak at a coaches' clinic. She spoke at the TGCA clinic four years ago, then spoke at the Texas High School Coaches Association clinic two years ago.

Hereford stars crush Canyon

Hereford's 13-year-old Babe Ruth League All-Stars crushed the Canyon stars for the second day in a row, triumphing 13-1 Saturday at the Kids Inc. Complex.

Hereford invoked the mercy 10run rule after five innings in both games of a two-out-of-three series -Friday's game was a 13-2 victory. The wins allow the Hereford team to advance to the state tournament at Randall this weekend.

On Saturday, Hereford scored in bunches in the first, third and fifth innings, and pitcher Adrian Garza threw four shutout innings.

The first run of the game came on Nathan Horrell's suicide squeeze bunt after singles by Slade Hodges, Toby Torres and J.P. Holman had loaded the bases. Hodges and Torres both later scored on passed balls to make it 3-0 Hereford.

Garza pitched and fielded his way out of bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the first (Canyon was the home team). He got the next two batters to hit grounders to him, making a force at the plate on the first one and starting a double play on the second one. Catcher Freddy Garcia made the quick throw to turn it, and first baseman Kyle Artho made a tough catch as the ball whizzed past the runner's head.

Garza cruised the rest of the way, letting his offense take over.

In the third, Hodges singled and Torres was hit by a pitch. Hodges scored and George Castillo reached on a throwing error. Torres scored on a balk. Castillo scored as Horrell reached on another error. Garcia then doubled, bringing Horrell home for a 7-0 lead.

Hereford added six more in the fifth. Garcia singled, Isiah Valdez walked and Artho singled. Hodges and Torres each followed with RBI singles. Artho scored on an error in the outfield. Holman's R'BI single scored Hodges. After two outs, Holman and Horrell both scored on wild pitches.

Holman relieved to pitch the fifth with a 13-0 lead, but three straight two-out singles produced a run and ruined the shutout.

Irvin trial continues with police on stand

By STEFANI G. KOPENEC Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - A policeman's account of what happened when he was called to a motel room and the subsequent collecting of evidence that led to drug possession charges against Michael Irvin was to undergo more scrutiny today from defense lawyers.

The Dallas Cowboys' wide receiver is being tried on felony charges accusing him of possession of drugs.

On Monday there was an added because the investigation had moved into an interrogation phase after the cocaine was discovered.

He also said he suggested that Irvin and Roberts be handcuffed as a safety precaution.

While not afraid of Irvin, Plunkett said, "anyone is capable of anything." "Just because he's a celebrity "Just because he's not going to pull out a gun and do something crazy," he said.

The officer also testified that a cocaine residue was found in a black bag that Irvin later took with him when police allowed him to leave the motel.

Stars dropping out of All-Star Game

Griffey Jr. and Tony Gwynn already were gone, and then Matt Williams got banged up. Now there's a chance Roberto Alomar and Frank Thomas may not be able to play, either. No doubt, attrition is taking its toll on Tuesday night's All-Star game.

"I was really looking forward to . seeing Tony hit," said NL teammate Greg Maddux, who may not be able to pitch because of a cracked nail on his big right toe. "He's one of the guys I like to watch."

More than injuries, however, incre's another factor that many feel will truly hurt future All-Star games interleague play.

By this time next summer, AL starting pitcher Charles Nagy of Cleveland may have faced Cincinnati's Barry Larkin earlier in the season. There may be no mystery about how NL starter John Smoltz of Atlanta will match up with Baltimore's Cal Ripken because they might have seen each other only a few weeks earlier.

"From the National League fan's standpoint, they want to see the American League stars play," said Gwynn, sidelined with a heel problem. "And probably, we should feel the same way.

"But this game is a special occasion and a special time that a lot of guys don't have the opportunity to enjoy," he said. "My feeling is interleague play may take away from this event.'

The allure of the All-Star game, after all, is seeing players on the same field who aren't usually together.

But starting next June, pending approval by the players' union, Mike Percival while Barry Bonds may be

For now, the biggest problem is injured players.

Griffey, the leading vote-getter in fan balloting for starting spots, is unable to play for the second straight year. He has a broken right hand, though it did not prevent him from standing at shortstop while the AL took batting practice.

"I'm here for the fans, and the Philly cheesesteaks," he said. "They voted me to be here, and I'm here. That's my obligation, and I didn't want to let them down.

Williams also will be absent for the second straight summer, this time because of a bruised elbow.

Alomar, voted to start at second base for the AL, missed Monday's workouts because of an injured finger. The Baltimore star is scheduled to bat third, but AL manager Mike Hargrove said he's prepared for Minnesota's Chuck Knoblauch to start in place of Alomar.

Thomas has been hampered by a sore left foot for about a week. If the Chicago White Sox first baseman cannot start - the injury cost him a chance to defend his title in the home run derby - Mo Vaughn of Boston will play.

"I'm in a tremendous amount of pain," Thomas said. "You get voted in, you want to come. Who knows if I'm going to play or not?" The AL also has Oakland's Mark twist when irvin was subpoenaed to testify at a hearing for former Dallas police officer Johnnie Hernandez, who is accused of trying to hire a hitman to kill Irvin.

The subpoena was later dropped. John H. Read, an attorney for Hernandez, said he wanted Irvin to testify about reported threats against Hernandez' girlfriend, Rachelle Smith. Both Hernandez and Smith have been subpoenaed as potential witnesses in Irvin's trial.

"He started this, didn't he?" Read said of Irvin. "I think this is all over threats of serious bodily injury How about death?

"My understanding of the threats were she (Smith) wouldn't see the end of the light of day if she testified before the grand jury ... or if she testified at trial ... and she'd never see my client, at least those are the allegations."

After meeting with Irvin's lawyers, Read agreed to drop the subpoena.

A judge refused to lower Hernandez' bond from $252,500 on a solicitation of capital murder charge and an unrelated bribery charge.

Irving police officer Jonathan Plunkett - one of four officers answering a disturbance call at the Residence Inn last March - testified in Irvin's trial about the tactics police used in entering the motel room. Plunkett told prosecutor Shannon Ross he drew his gun inside the room after Officer Les Motheral pulled out his weapon when he saw someone on the stairs inside the two-story suite.

Under cross-examination by defense attorney Don Godwin, Plunkett contradicted himself by admitting testifying previously that. he drew his gun as soon as the motel door opened all the way. Asked about the discrepancy, Plunkett said the guns were drawn after officers entered the room.

"I wasn't specific," he said about his prior testimony.

Godwin responded, "I'm not saying if you're fudging today or if you were fudging then." Godwin also attacked police handling of the evidence, suggesting it might have been contaminated because it was handled without rubber gloves or without care that would ensure no other fingerprints got on it.

Three officers have now testified cocaine and marijuana were found in the room where Irvin was in the company of two topless dancers and former Cowboys teammate Alfredo Roberts. Jurors indicted Irvin and the two women; Roberts was never charged. Plunkett also testified that he suggested an officer read Miranda warnings to the people in the room

A supervisor ordered that Irvin and the two others who were not arrested be escorted to their cars, Plunkett said.

Plunkett testified that while Irvin appeared to be under the influence of marijuana, he didn't appear under the evidence of cocaine.

"You're saying you believe he was under the influence of marijuana and you let him get into his car and leave?" Godwin asked.

"That is absolutely correct," Plunkett replied.

He later told prosecutors Irvin could have been using a mixture of the two drugs.

Motheral, who took the stand late Monday as the third witness, testified police found what looked like "a pale yellow golf ball that had been melted" in a green bag belonging to Angela Beck, Police have said they found a rock of crack cocaine and some powder cocaine in Beck's bag.

Motheral said he had never seen a rock of crack cocaine that large.

Miss Texas title awarded to contestant from Dallas

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP)--Miss Dallas Michelle Martinez won the 1996 Miss Texas title at the scholarship pageant Saturday at the Fort Worth-Tarrant County Convention Center.

Miss Martinez, a 23-year-old senior at the University of Texas at Arlington, played "Ballade No. 4" by Chopin on the piano and described her family values platform.

She won a $10,000 scholarship and a chance to represent the Lone Star State during the Miss America Pageant.

After donning her crown, Martinez said she felt like she was "in a dream ... a trance," but was prepared to celebrate at the post-pageant ball.

Miss Martinez defeated 55 other contestants to capture the title at the 61st annual Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant. The pageant has been staged in Fort Worth since 1962.

Miss Hurst-Euless-Bedford Reagan Hughes was named first runner-up and awarded an $8,000 college scholarship. She was among the top five competitors in last year's competition.

Rounding out the top five for 1996 were Miss Rio Grande Valley Area Tatum Hubbard, Miss Arlington Angie Busbee and Miss Lubbock Yanci Yarbrough.

Miss Martinez takes the crown from Miss Texas 1995, Carly Jarmon of Oak Cliff.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Readers: If you are a college student or know one, you will want to read this important consumer information!

Did you know theft is the No.1 crime on college campuses, according to the Insurance Information Institute?

Parents' homeowner insurance usually covers a student's belongings while they live in a college dormitory. But you should call your insurance company to make sure that a college student is covered and also verify how much coverage you have Children are usually covered up to the age of 23 while they are full-time students (double-check the age limit on your policy).

College students who live off campus are usually NOT covered. So, if you plan on living off campus, you should consider getting a renter's policy to cover your belongings. They are very reasonably priced.

If you have expensive stereo equipment, a computer or a television, you should make sure that no matter what type of coverage you have, you double-check that they are covered. Safety and studying should go hand-in-hand. — Heloise

MATCHING SOCKS

Dear Heloise: Smartest thing I've ever done? My husband works out of town a week at a time. His bringing home laundry and matching socks (eight or nine pairs at a time) was real work. We had mismatched socks and lots of orphans. I bought 20 pairs of good-quality brown socks all alike - now all the socks match. I did this five years ago and just recently had to buy new ones. — Sue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I recently was diagnosed as having sprue and was told I need to be on a wheat-free diet. I am still confused about just what I can and cannot eat. Can you be of help? - Mrs. H.P.

With diarrhea a prominent consequence, along with failure to absorb basic nutrients, weight loss can occurquickly. Just as quickly, the sprue patient shows improvement when gluten is removed.

The idea is to avoid the three troublesome grains in all their guises. Sometimes oats must be avoided along with wheat, rye and barley, although most patients do tolerate moderate amounts of oats.

time ago you recommended some drug to use with arthritis medicine when you have a history of bleeding ulcers. I cannot find the reference. I know other people in our group who would like the same information. -Mrs. E.N.

ANSWER: I am sure I was speaking of Cytotec - misoprostol.

It is a medicine used to lessen chances of bleeding from concurrent use of the popular arthritis drugs known collectively as NSAIDs: nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs.

After one EKG I was told I had an "incomplete right bundle branch block," which my doctor said was nothing to worry about. Kindly advise further as to my finding. Is this serious? — C.K. ANSWER: You are speaking of the familiar squiggles on an electrocardiogram tracing of heart action. An incomplete right bundle branch block (RBBB) is a delay in the conduction of heart contraction signals from the upper to lower chambers.

An "incomplete RBBB" is a truly minorfinding, representing the brief delay in the time it takes for a blip of current to reach the lower right chamber from its point of origin at the top of the heart.

You need not lose a minute of sleep over an incomplete RBBB. It doesn't interfere with the heart's pumping action.

AUSTIN - Attorney General Dan Morales said last week no college or university in Texas should consider race as a factor in admitting students, granting scholarships or giving financial aid.

Morales issued the statement after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear a reverse-discrimination case against the University of Texas (Hopwood v. UT Law School) that had been heard in the spring by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. The court's ruling applies only to Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Commenting on the issue, UT President Robert Berdahl told the Austin American-Statesman, "If anybody believes we can sustain the number (of minorities) without taking race into account, I think they are naive. We can't. And I think that's a loss for the university and a loss for the state."

Berdahl predicted the university will lose "an awful lot of the top minority talent from Texas, who will go out of state" where affirmative action practices continue and minority scholarships will be available.

Clinton Authorizes Drought Aid

President Clinton last week authorized the U.S. Department of Agriculture to sell up to 15 million bushels of grain from reserves in order to make drought disaster assistance payments to farmers in parts of the Southwest.

Though Texans had sought the release of the entire 45 million bushels of feed grain in the emergency reserve, U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison said she was satisfied with the authorization.

"Relief is on the way for Texas farmers and ranchers who have been hit hard by the drought. This will provide direct assistance for those most affected by drought conditions," she said.

The drought has cost Texas farmers and ranchers an estimated $2.4 billion, making it the second worst natural disaster to hit the state this century, the Associated Press reported.

Report: Dissolve School Boards

A new report by the non-profit research organization, Education Commission for the States, suggests that states dissolve school boards, requiring new elections and sending tax money directly to schools.

The report, "Bending Without Breaking," says that for education to radically improve, the system governing schools must radically change.

Gov. George W. Bush signed the report's foreword but does not necessarily endorse it. Last week, at an Education Commission for the States conference in San Antonio, Bush told reporters he had not read the report, but said he endorsed only the parts of the report that agree with the changes in Texas, such as the establishment charter schools and less power in central education agencies.

Texas Education Commissioner Mike Moses, who also attended the conference, said that sending tax money directly to the schools could cause as many problems as it cures, the Dallas Morning News reported.

Moses said that if schools were granted such autonomy, there are questions about who would sit on the committees controlling the money and who would hold them accountable.

"Are we going to open up

6,300 new bureaucracies?" Moses asked, and suggested that it might cost schools more if they were to individually negotiate contracts for services, such as food service, bus transportation and copy machine repairs.

Rail Merger Plan Draws Fire

Texas officials and others last week urged the Federal Surface Transportation Board to reject a plan merging the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

"It's going to hurt Texas. It's going to hurt our ability to compete," Texas Railroad Commissioner Barry Williamson told the three-member board.

"In Texas, this railroad (merger) is about as welcome as the drought we're experiencing," U.S. Rep. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, said.

Union Pacific and Southern Pacific own nearly all of the rail lines from Interstate 35, east.

But the Texas Railroad Commission and other Texas officials would be content if the board approves the merger on the condition that Union Pacific and Southern Pacific sell some of their parallel lines to competing railroad companies, such as Consolidated Rail Corp., the Austin American-Statesman reported.

Texas, Mexico to Fight TB

Because U.S. and Mexican communities along the Rio Grande have unusually high rates of tuberculosis, Texas authorities and their counterparts from the Mexican state of Coahuila are taking action.

Texas Commissioner of Health Dr. David Smith and officials from Saltillo, Mexico signed an agreement last week to fight the spread of the disease.

Officials from both states will coordinate and share information on TB cases and contacts, work together to diagnose and place TB patients in treatment and increase access to needed prescription drugs.

"As my border colleagues and I know all too well, disease respects no borders," Smith said.

Perot's Reform Party may relax ballot rules

DALLAS (AP)--Ross Perot's news conference. Reform Party may relax its ground rules for putting people on the party's presidential nominating ballot if candidates fall just short of meeting the requirements, officials said Monday.

The party initially said would-be candidates would have to show they were supported by 10 percent of Reform Party members to be considered for the nomination.

But Russell Verney, national political coordinator for the fledgling third party, said Monday, "If someone just misses by a little bit, I don't think we should just cut them out.'

The party is mailing out a survey this week to determine which candidates have enough supporters to be on the nominating ballot.

The only potential candidates named in the survey packet are to blindly trust someone to do this. former Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm and Reform Party founder Ross Perot, but members can write in anyone.

The raw survey results will be kept secret, as will the identity of the companies that tally the results and audit the process, Verney said.

"It has more integrity this way," Verney said.

He added that keeping the information secret means that every would-be nominee will come to the November ballot. Reform Party's Aug. 11 convention on equal footing.

Verney said that if auditors report that there are candidates near the 10 percent threshold, they may be considered as nominces. That decision will be made by "reasonable people," he said.

The survey being mailed this week is expected to reach between 950,000 and 1 million of the 1.3 million people who have signed petitions to get the Reform Party on state ballots this November. To be on the nominating ballot, candidates will have be named on about 10 percent of the responses.

Keeping the raw survey results a secret seems to be at odds with the Reform Party's idea of reforming government, said Larry Hugick, director of political and media polls for Princeton Survey Research.

"I can't see that people are going he said. "It'll be a hard sell."

The Reform Party so far has been certified for ballots in 21 states, either as a party or through independent candidate petitions.

On Monday, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled that the party did not submit a valid petition in time to get on that state's ballot. The party still has a chance to certify an independent candidate for the state's

Nine deaths in Texas are heat related

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP)--The deaths Monday of two more elderly people in Fort Worth were being investigated as possibly heat-related, the Tarrant County medical examiner's office said,

That would bring to at least nine the number of people in North Texas whose deaths since July 4 may have been heat-related, officials said.

Ann Black, 74, was found dead under the kitchen table of her home northeast of downtown. Her sister, Myrle Graham, said she went to the house after she could couldn't reach her sister by phone.

Despite a single fan that was running, the temperature inside the house registered higher than 100 degrees, Ms. Graham said.

"I do know Thursday, when I came over to take her to the store, the air conditioner was working. So I don't know if she had turned it down and was just using that fan," Ms. Graham said.

A diabetic man, believed to be in his 70s, was found dead in his sweltering apartment just south of downtown Fort Worth, police said. The apartment building had no air conditioning.

The man's identity was not mmediately available, officials said. The Tarrant County medical examiner's office said Monday that at least five deaths were being investigated as possibly heat-related. Heat also was considered a factor in at least three deaths in Dallas County and one in Denton County.

Jetliner accident blamed on crack in used engine hub

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)--The engine fan hub that broke apart as a jetliner was accelerating for takeoff had an inch-deep, pre-existing crack that probably caused the accident that killed two passengers, federal officials said Monday.

The hub had been used on another

Sci-fi movie opens on record pace

LOS ANGELES (AP)--After six days in theaters, the sci-fi thriller "Independence Day" earned more than $96 million and was expected to pass the $100 million milestone faster than any other movie.

"Independence Day" shattered the record for a five-day debut with $85 million. "Terminator 2: Judgment Day" set the previous mark ($52.3 million) in July 1991.

The film was expected to have passed me $100 million mark by Monday, the movie's seventh day of release. "Jurassic Park" made $100 million on its ninth day in 1993 for the previous record.

Day" failed to set was for the biggest take in its first three-day weekend. Its Friday-to-Sunday take of $50.2 million fell short of the record, set last year by "Batman Forever" with $52.8 million. "Independence Day" opened late Tuesday while "Batman Forever" opened on a Friday.

The only other new film in wide release, John Travolta's "Phenomenon," opened in third place with $16.2 million. Eddie Murphy's "The Nutty Professor" was second with $17.5 million in its second weekend. Demi Moore's "Striptease" engine and then installed seven months ago during repair of an oil leak on the engine involved in the accident, National Transportation Safety Board officials said.

Although no final determination has been made, the crack - evidence of metal fatigue - appears to have been the cause of the hub's failure, said Michael Marx, senior metallurgist for the National Transportation Safety Board.

"The crack is fairly substantial in size as it is now. It's approximately one-inch deep," Marx said at a news conference. "A crack of that size probably is sufficient to cause the separation of the disc."

A Delta metallurgist did his own inspection and came to the same conclusion about the crack, said George Black, an NTSB member.

"I don't know that I'd call it used. but it was a part of an engine that was sold to Delta Air Lines, I believe, in 1987," Black said. "But it is not uncommon, I am told, to switch major components on engines when there's maintenance work done."

Messages left at Delta's headquarters in Atlanta weren't immediately returned Monday night. The crack started in a half-inch hole for one of the many bolts used The one mark "Independence to attach the 3-inch wide hub to the rest of the engine. The titanium, 100-pound hub holds 34 blades to the center of the engine.

When the hub broke in two during takeoff Saturday, those blades tore apart the engine and the plane's fuselage, slamming into the heads of a vacationing mother and son. They were killed instantly, an autopsy found.

Pieces of the engine are being shipped to Washington, D.C., to determine how obvious the crack might have been before the accident and whether maintenance workers sagged badly in its second weekend, should have discovered it, officials

A preliminary review of the Not all of the top 20 films reported cockpit voice recorder of the Delta five-day totals, so the films are Air Lines plane also indicated that ranked for the three-day weekend. prior to takeoff, the crew had spotted an oil leak on a part known as the bullet, just in front of the fan.

"It was dismissed and there was no further discussion of it." Black said. He said the crew had not mentioned the leak when initially interviewed by investigators and will be questioned again about it.

Black said he was uncertain whether the leak was related to the engine failure, but that possibility also will be investigated further.

Earlier Monday, Delta officials denied that the replacement of the hub in the Pratt & Whitney engine last December had anything to do with the accident on Saturday. "There is no correlation," Delta spokesman Todd Clay said.

Anita Saxton, 39, her son Nolan, 12, of Scottville, Mich., were killed and two of her children were injured when the left engine ripped apart during the abortive.

"I don't think they felt a thing," Dr. Charles Farmer of the state Medical Examiner's office said of the dead.

The shrapnel tore a four-foot gash in the back of the MD-88, and one part of the hub was found a half-mile away on an athletic field, NTSB officials said.

The JT8D-219 engine, purchased in 1993, powered another plane in November when an oil leak on a front bearing produced smoke that was sucked into the plane through the air conditioning system, according to FAA documents.

Delta said that hub was replaced in December with a similar part the airline initially bought in 1987 as part of a third engine. The repaired assembly was then fitted onto the jet that was taking off for Atlanta from. Pensacola Regional Airport with 142 passengers aboard.

The NTSB, Delta and Pratt & Whitney said it was, extremely unusual for that particular part to break.

"We have no evidence that this is any sort of widespread phenomenon," Black said.
