By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

An engineering study of the water delivery system of Hereford was authorized Monday night after the City Commission heard that approximately 13 miles of lines should be replaced.

City Manager Chester Nolen told the commission during a work session that 70,000 feet of line is three inches, or less, in size.

"These lines are not approved by the state under current rules. We can repair two-inch or three-inch lines but we cannot replace them with the same size unless they are individual services," Nolen pointed out.

During the work session, the commission also heard reports on changes that may occur in solid waste regulations and on improvements at the city-owned airport.

The agenda for the commission's regular meeting included a report on activities of the Hereford Economic Development Corporation.

Nolen's water report suggested that an engineering firm be retained to make a comprehensive survey of the distribution system. He said that cost of improvements could run as high as $1 million, or more, based on current bids for four-inch water line installation at a cost of $15.30 per foot.

Water lines targeted by Nolen for replacement are, by geographic areas, 2,750 feet south of U.S. 60; 18,000 feet north of U.S. 60, east of 25 Mile Avenue and south of Park Avenue;

10,000 feet west of 25 Mile Avenue, and 40,000 feet north of Park, east of 25 Mile Avenue and South of E. 15th Street.

Recent federal action on solid waste disposal has put cities with garbage of 20 tons, or less, per day under state regulations, Nolen told the commission.

"The changes are fairly significant and mean we could go back into our own landfill for five to six years," Nolen explained.

He said the savings to the city could be $150,000 to $200,000 per year if transportation of garbage to landfills at Amarillo and Canyon can be eliminated.

The city still owns equipment for operating the landfill, Nolen pointed out. He does not rule out continued use of those landfills if the 20-ton per day limit is reached.

The West Texas Environmental Alliance, a consortium of cities concerned about regulations on landfill operations, is working toward providing input to the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission, Nolen added.

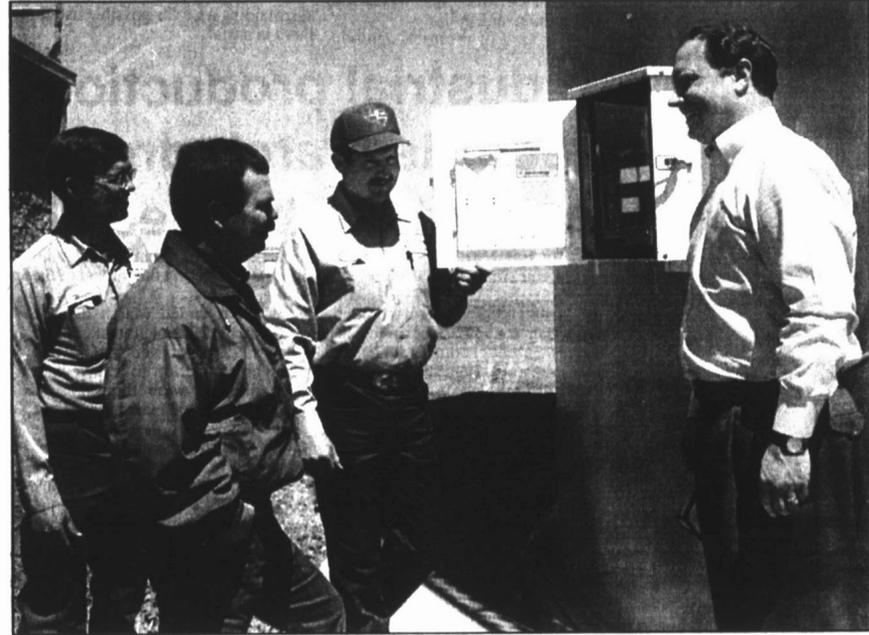

An improvement project for the city airport was reviewed by Nolen. He said bids for the work were to be received and opened Tuesday.

Taxiways and areas between hangers will be replaced in the project, originally estimated at $1.8 million. Funding is provided by the state through federal programs. The city's contribution to the project, already paid, is $90,000.

Mike Hatley, executive director of HEDC, reviewed activities, noting that progress is being made toward a movie theatre complex for Hereford.

He said contacts have been made with several businesses, including a food distribution company, a construction firm, a transportation company, a pre-engineered building company and a fabrication company.

The HEDC board has approved a jobs incentive plan that provides funds to industries that meet criteria for new employees.

West Hereford residents will benefit from station

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Residents of an area of far west Hereford should see a distinct change in flow of water to their homes in a few weeks.

A new pump station is nearly finished at the northwest edge of the city and should be put on line early in May. Water from four wells on the northwest will flow into the 150,000 storage tank and move through a new line to the service area.

Generally, the area that will benefit most from the new facility is bordered by West Park on the south, Greenwood on the east, Plains on the north and Sandalwood on the west.

The homes to be served by the new installation will see an improvement in water pressure, said Ted Coleman, water production superintendent for the City of Hereford. Other areas of Hereford also will feel the effects of the change.

He expects water pressure to improve in other parts of the city when the new station goes on line to serve the far west side.

Water supply in that part of town has been adequate, said Coleman. "It's low pressure that has been the problem there," he explained.

Although the storage tank is small in comparison with others in Hereford, the pumps will be capable of moving plenty of water into the system being served.

"The four wells that feed into it will produce about 750 gallons of water per minute, or a million to 1.2 million gallons per day," Coleman added. The City of Hereford has total storage capacity currently of approximately 5.7 million gallons.

The newest addition to storage capacity is a million-gallon tank constructed at the C Street station, north of the Hereford Community Center, and financed with funds from a $3 million water revenue bond issue.

Coleman is concerned about the coming days and weeks if the weather doesn't change for the better and produce moisture.

"We've already had several 5 million gallon use days," he said. "One day was 5.6 million."

That kind of pumping usually comes in summer when temperatures climb.

Prison time ordered by judge here

Defendants who broke terms of probation were sentenced to prison Monday during a session of 222nd District Court.

Judge David Wesley Gulley revoked probation of Omar Rosas Hernandez, originally given five-year deferred adjudication probation on conviction for tampering with a government record. He was ordered to serve four years in prison.

Probation of Jeffery Alan Boldon, 28, originally sentenced to 10 years' probation, was revoked and he was ordered to serve a nine-year prison term.

Boldon also was in court on a charge of burglary of a building, pleading guilty. On completion of the prison term, he will be required to serve a two-year state jail sentence, probated five years.

Guilty pleas were entered by four other defendants and terms of probation were modified for an offender.

An eight-year deferred adjudication probation sentence and $1,500 fine were assessed Rafael Carrillo Jr., 18, also known as Ralph Carrillo. He was charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Enrique Lucero Olmos, 20, also known as Ricky Olmos, was assessed a fine of $1,500 and given seven years' deferred adjudicated probation on his plea of guilty to aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Five years' probation and a $500 fine were given Gilbert Blea Jr., 35, on a plea of guilty to felony driving while intoxicated.

James Willie Vaughn, 37, entered guilty pleas to two charges, felony driving while intoxicated and theft over $1,500.

Judge Gulley sentenced Vaughn to eight years' probation and levied words of a trip to Washington D.C., but when the dust had cleared, the final one-two finishing order was the same as it was last year and Brown was left behind.

Brown, 13, an eighth-grader at Hereford Junior High, ended up in fifth place at the regional bee, held Saturday at West Texas A&M University in Canyon.

He competed against more than 30 county bee winners from throughout the area for the right to represent the area in the National Bee later this spring in the nation's capital.

Brown spelled correctly through the first seven rounds, but fell short in the eighth round, when he misspelled the word "polyphony."

The winner of the bee was Elizabeth Urban, 14, Potter County senior spelling champion. This was the second time she has won the bee, claiming the title last year from her older brother, who had won several consecutive bees before that.

Elizabeth defeated Castro County senior winner Mark Birkenfeld for the second consecutive year. Birkenfeld, 12, misspelled "staccato," which Urban then spelled correctly. She then spelled "misanthropic" for the win.

The win came in the 12th round of the competition.

Third place went to April Dawn Scheffler, Gray County champion; fourth place was Andy Finsterwald, 14, of Wheeler County.

To get to the regional bee, Brown won the Senior Bee here on March 1. Runner-up was Erin Louder.

From Brand, wire reports
A problem at a Southwestern Public Service Co. substation near Muleshoe caused a domino power outage that spread throughout the Texas Panhandle and into three other states.
According to a statement released just after 12:30 p.m. by SPS officials, "a problem at the substation at Tolk Station power plant near Muleshoe caused both units of the plant to go off line."

The situation, the company said, caused a "severe under-frequency situation that affected several other SPS power plants. This has resulted in most of the SPS system south of Amarillo being down and without power, including the Lubbock area and most of eastern New Mexico."

On the state's motion to revoke probation of Brian Rodriguez, an agreed order modifying terms of probation was entered. He was ordered to enter the Terry County Court Residential Treatment Center. He also will be placed on intensive supervision after completing the treatment program. Rodriguez originally was convicted of burglary of a habitation.

Other reports indicated the Texas outages stretched from Midland-Odessa to north of Texas and the state line.

"SPS is working to bring power plants back on line and import power from other systems," the company news release stated. "It will probably be several hours until power is restored to all areas."

Media reports during the morning indicated that SPS would begin restoring power to the large area this afternoon, but that the electricity would have to be turned on slowly, to prevent the possibility of a power surge.

Well-stocked 'lab' turned up in shack

Investigators find ingredients needed to create explosives

By BOB ANEZ
Associated Press Writer
HELENA, Mont. (AP) - The mountain shack of Unabomber suspect Theodore Kaczynski resembled a well-stocked high school chemistry lab with all the ingredients needed to create explosives, chemistry experts said.

The materials would allow someone to create blocks of gunpowder laced with a material that creates a hot, violent explosion when confined in a small package, said Ed Keller, a 28-year member of the University of Montana chemistry department.

"He certainly had the stuff that will explode," Keller said after reviewing a list of chemicals seized in a search of Kaczynski's home.

Besides the chemicals, the FBI found two bombs, the addresses of corporate executives, maps of San Francisco, bus schedules, guns and a bottle of anti-depressant medicine, according to a 34-page inventory released Monday by a federal judge.

Also Monday, Kaczynski's attorney, Michael Donahoe, filed a motion in federal court that said charges against his client should be dismissed because disclosures about the case have made it impossible to find a fair grand jury anywhere in the country.

"These deliberate disclosures poisoned the entire population of grand jurors within the United States" against Kaczynski, a defense motion said. Donahoe attached 10 pages filled with examples of leaks about the case that the defense contends came from federal investigators.

The motion said that if the government argues it is not responsible for the leaks, he intends to put reporters on the stand and demand the names of sources.

In the listing released by the judge, the references to San Francisco and to corporate executives were cryptic and the corporate officials were not identified. The references may be significant because the Unabomber, who raged against modern technology, targeted executives.

Three of the bombings occurred in the San Francisco Bay area and two in Sacramento. Five of the bombs were mailed from northern California, including two from Oakland and one from San Francisco.

The FBI inventory also confirmed published reports of three typewriters found in the cabin, as well as numerous unspecified documents and notes.

None of the documents was identified as the original text of the Unabomber manifesto, the 35,000-word tract published in The Washington Post last year. A source told The Associated Press last week that agents found what appeared to be the original.

The lack of a specific mention does not mean the manifesto was not found. Several items were described vaguely, such as "documents" and "letters."

Kaczynski, 53, was arrested at the cabin near Lincoln on April 3 and is being held on charges of possessing bomb components. He has not been charged in any of the Unabomber attacks, which killed three people and injured 23 in nine states over the past 18 years.

Many of the more than 600 items on the list were jars or plastic containers labeled with various chemicals or compounds and other mixtures.

Keller and chemistry Professor Art Westwell of Carroll College in Helena said the most dangerous of the ingredients was thermite, mixed with a chlorate mixture. One such blend was a gunpowder - a chlorate mixture - and glue.

When subjected to enough heat, thermite becomes so hot it can melt holes in inch-thick steel. "When it takes off, it really gets violent," Westwell said.

The gunpowder, touched off by a mechanism, could set off the thermite, Keller said. So could another substance found in the house - aluminum and sulfur.

Any kind of electrical ignition, such as one powered by a battery, could act as a trigger for such a bomb, Keller said. Agents found batteries in the cabin.

The glue added to the gunpowder would allow it to be shaped into solid forms, while another substance found in the cabin - potassium chromate - is used to provide oxygen necessary for an explosion in a sealed container, Keller said.

Along with the chemicals, agents found a pipe bomb, an "improvised explosive device" in a cardboard box, and five guns. Among the weapons were a .25-caliber gun, a bolt-action .22-caliber rifle, a Remington model .30-06, a .22-caliber black-handled revolver and a handmade gun.

A bottle of Trazadone, a prescription anti-depressant drug, was found.

The list also described a hooded jacket, a blue zippered sweatshirt and hood and two pairs of plastic glasses. A witness who saw the Unabomber plant one bomb described him as wearing a hooded sweatshirt and aviator-style glasses, resulting in the widely circulated composite sketch.

The FBI list was ordered released by U.S. District Judge Charles Lovell in Helena.

Assistant U.S. attorney Bernard F. Hubley revealed that the FBI plans to build a replica of the cabin and the surrounding area for possible use if there is a trial.

Industrial production records March drop; auto strike blamed

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Industrial production fell 0.5 percent in March, reflecting the impact of an 18-day strike that brought output at General Motors to a near standstill. Excluding the strike, production rose slightly.

The Federal Reserve said today the decline in output at the nation's factories, mines and utilities was the second in three months.

It said the strike effect more than accounted for the decrease. Without it, industrial production rose 0.3 percent.

A 0.4 percent decline in January, also was attributed mostly to a special factor - the blizzard that immobilized the Eastern part of the nation.

Production bounced back 1.3 percent in February, revised up from 1.2 percent and the biggest advance since an identical increase in October 1987. The last time output grew faster was in February 1987, up 1.4 percent.

The central bank also said the nation's industries were operating at 82.5 percent of capacity in March, down from 83.2 percent a month earlier and 84.6 percent a year earlier.

The rate suggests that production bottlenecks are not developing that could cause shortages and higher prices.

Many analysts had expected a 0.4 percent decline in production in March. They noted that manufacturing had shed 62,000 jobs last month, a large part of them in the auto industry reflecting the impact of the strike.

When it ended March 22, the walkout by 2,700 automakers had idled 177,000 workers at GM and brought production to a near halt. Also affected were thousands of workers in related industries such as suppliers.

Not all of the job loss was attributed to the strike. Other data suggest the manufacturing economy may still be experiencing the lethargic growth of much of last year.

U.S. purchasing executives found manufacturing weakened in March for the eighth straight month, although the rate of decline slowed.

The National Association of Purchasing Management said the finding suggested further weakness among industrial companies, but not a deepening slump that could spread to the broader economy.

Industrial production grew at an annual rate of 2.7 percent in the first quarter, compared to an anemic 0.6 percent in the final three months of 1995.

The Fed said factory output fell 0.8 percent in March after rising 1.5 percent a month earlier.

Production of durable goods plunged 1.4 percent, nearly wiping out a 2 percent gain the previous month.

Several issues arise over proposal to allow UIL participation by home school students

By PEGGY FIKAC
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - To Joanne Puryear, mother of seven, a proposal to allow home-schooled children to participate in University Interscholastic League extracurricular competition amounts to a lesson in economic fairness.

"In the past 14 years of home schooling, we have paid approximately $12,600 in school taxes alone, and this is a modest guess - $14,000 to educate our children at home," Mrs. Puryear, who lives north of Angleton in Brazoria County, told a UIL panel Monday.

"That is a grand total of $26,600 toward the education of our children without any benefit from the public school," she said. "All of these expenses ... caused an unnecessary hardship on our family."

The $26,600 doesn't include $2,000 annually that Mrs. Puryear and her husband estimate they've spent for competition in such events as non-UIL swim meets. Their children range in age from three to 20, with the two oldest in college.

But the UIL's Ad Hoc Committee on Eligibility said important questions remain about the home-school proposal. The UIL governs academic, music and athletic competitions for public schools.

Among issues to be addressed are the fact that public schools don't get state funds for students who aren't enrolled, and questions about how home schoolers would prove compliance with state law's no pass, no play requirement. That rule bars students who fail from extracurricular competition.

The eligibility panel recommended further study of the proposal, including a survey of school superintendents, parents and other interested parties.

The panel's recommendation goes to the UIL's policy committee, which is scheduled to meet in June.

If the policy committee recommends a rule change after another public hearing, the proposal still would have to be approved by the UIL Legislative Council, a referendum of school superintendents and the State Board of Education.

"They handed off the hot potato to another committee," said Tim Lambert of Lubbock, president of the Texas Home School Coalition, about Monday's action.

Lambert said even if home-schoolers are allowed to compete in UIL activities, he believes the majority wouldn't because they wouldn't want to be subject to state oversight.

The issue also could raise questions about traditional private schools and their students participating in UIL competition.

UIL rules allow member schools to play private schools in non-conference competition, but do not allow the private schools to compete in contests leading up to state championships. A measure to allow public-private school competition died in the 1995 Legislature.

"The legal issues are the same," Lambert said.

Los Ciboleros Chapter DAR holds tea to honor citizens

Honored at tea

Among the honorees at a reception held Sunday by Los Ciboleros DAR were American History Essay winners, above from left, Kara Landrum, best over all; Bigham Brown, sixth grade second place; Joanna Olson, sixth grade winner; Stewart Carr, fifth grade second place; and Heather Calkins, fifth grade winner. Also honored were recipients of DAR Flag Certificates, right, Amanda McElmurry, third grader and Tommy Rosson, principal, at Tierra Blanca School. The certificates were presented by Mrs. Tom Draper.

Parents, family, friends, teachers and administrators were present at the Los Ciboleros Chapter DAR Tea Sunday afternoon at the Hereford Community Center honoring DAR Good Citizens, American History Essay winners and Flag Committee Certificate of Award recipients.

Recognized as DAR Good Citizens were Aimee Alley of Hereford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Alley, and Amber Kay Langford of Dimmitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Langford.

The presentation of the DAR Good Citizens was made by Mrs. Carroll F. Newsom.

First place and best over all winner, who had been named previously, in the American History Essay Contest was Kara Landrum, student of Carolyn Waters at Hereford Junior High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Landrum.

Other winners recognized were Joanna Olson-sixth grade winner, student of Karen Esqueda at West Central and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Olson; and Brandon Bigham-sixth grade second place, student of Mark Stokes at West Central and son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bigham; Heather Calkins-fifth grade winner, student of Julie Hatley at West Central and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Calkins; and Stewart Carr-fifth grade second place, student of Kim Bigham at West Central and son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Carr.

Presentation of the American History Essay winners was made by Mrs. Abel Ruga.

Two special presentations were made by Mrs. Tom Draper, chapter chairman of the Flag of the United States of America committee. The Daughters of the American Revolution Flag of the United States of America Certificate of Award was presented to Amanda McElmurry and Tommy Rosson.

Miss McElmurry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. McElmurry, and a third grade student of Micah Noland and Emily Christie at Tierra Blanca School, was selected for this honor because she noticed a lack of respect for the United States and Texas flags at a local business and wrote a letter to Mayor Bob Jossorand. In her letter she stated that her principal, Tommy Rosson, had taught her class to show respect to both flags.

Thus, Mr. Rosson was also selected to receive one of the certificates which were awarded for "Proper Use, Correct Display and Patriotic Presentation of the Flag of the United States of America."

Teachers of honorees, parents and other family members were introduced at the tea. Four families had three generations present.

Mrs. Gid Brownd, regent, served as mistress of ceremonies; Mrs. Draper led the Pledge of Allegiance; Mrs. Jess Robinson led The American's Creed; Mrs. Austin Rose led the Preamble to the Constitution; and Mrs. LeRoy Williamson led the singing of "America."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago, my father passed away, leaving almost everything to his wife to whom he had been married for only nine years. My brother, "Joe," and I are upset by this and feel that we have been cheated.

Dad married "Susan" four years after Mom died. She was 39, and Dad was 64. He sold our old family home, which was mortgage-free, and gave both Joe and me 10 percent each of the proceeds. He then moved into Susan's home. Over the years, a fair amount of money was put into Susan's house. They lived very well and took two expensive trips every year.

Everyone, including me, thought Dad and Susan were the perfect couple. We go along extremely well. Susan told me she felt like she was only borrowing my father which endeared her to me even more. I told Dad not to worry about leaving any money to me and to just enjoy his life.

Susan always had a good job. She also had a small business that Dad helped her with from time to time. She sold her business shortly before Dad died.

The only provision Dad made for my brother and me was one-third of his life insurance policy for each of us. His will stipulated that if he and his wife died together his sons would get no share of her business and it would go to her only son. Susan did give Joe and me $8,000 each, but we think she should have given us at least another $15,000.

What Joe and I want to know is why my father didn't protect some of his assets for HIS sons the way Susan did for hers. How much money, if any, did he put into her business? Why didn't they have a prenuptial agreement? What was her business worth before their marriage and how much did she get when she sold it? We also figure that Susan could outlive my brother who is 40, and me. I am 34.

Joe and I think that to be fair, Susan should figure out the difference between how much Dad brought into into the marriage and how much more he was worth when he died, and then give us half.

We would have liked to continue our friendship with Susan, but now we wonder if we should go our separate ways and tell her why -- or would it be in our best interest to keep things pleasant, not rock the boat and hope she will remember us in her will? -- Bewildered in Ontario

DEAR BEWILDERED: Benjamin Franklin was certainly right when he said if you want to know what people are like, just share an inheritance with them.

It appears to me that everything was peachy pie until your father's will was read. Remember, you told your dad not to leave you anything but to enjoy his life. When he took you at your word and did just that, you were surprised and disappointed

You thought Susan was the perfect wife for your father until you learned that she inherited the bulk of his estate. How generous! The notion that you are entitled to part of Susan's business profits is nutty. She gave you and your brother $8,000 each as a gift. Remember?

I don't know much about the inheritance law in Canada, but in the United States, you wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance if you tried to break your father's will. My advice is 'kwitcherbellyachin' and accept the situation with grace -- if it isn't too late.

Gem of the Day: Drive carefully. Remember, it's not only a car that can be recalled by its maker.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope ad a check or money order for $3.75 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Women's Division to hold meeting

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division will hold its quarterly meeting Thursday in the Aquatic Center at 7 p.m.

A Pot Luck Salad Supper will be served. Everyone is asked to bring a dish.

It takes more than blind luck to pin down the right home.

Sure, you could go on stumbling through the housing market. Running into dead ends and getting cornered with too little information.

Or you could nail down that new home the easy way. By consulting an experienced real estate agent.

An agent can point out options you may have missed. Get you inside interesting homes that you may never have seen otherwise. Even do a lot of the groundwork, so you don't have to.

Like researching financing packages. Checking through the multiple-listing service for homes that fit your needs -- and your pocketbook. Negotiating with the seller. And arranging for inspections. He or she will even be there at closing.

So instead of forging ahead without knowing what's out there, get some help from an expert. A real estate agent.

Inside The Hereford Brand, you'll find both qualified agents and valuable information about home buying. Everyday, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And The Brand's Sunday housing section examine the latest market trends and housing opportunities.

With the right guide, hitting your mark can be child's play.

Skin cancer screening to be held in Amarillo

Amarillo Area Dermatologists, The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center, The American Cancer Society and The American Academy of Dermatology will be conducting a free skin cancer screening clinic from 9 a.m. to noon on May 4 in the Don & Sybil Harrington Cancer Center. Amarillo dermatologists will be participating in the screening. Skin Cancer is the most common form of cancer that occurs in humans. It is estimated that 800,000 new cases of skin cancer will occur in the United States in 1996. Melanoma, the most serious skin cancer, is expected to be diagnosed in about 38,300 persons in 1996. Since 1973, the incidence rate of melanoma has increased about 4 percent per year. An estimated 9,430 people will die of skin cancer this year, 7,300 from malignant melanoma and 2,130 from other skin cancers. Awareness of skin cancer is essential to the prevention of unnecessary morbidity and mortality. Knowing to use sunscreens of SPF 15 or greater and to monitor any moles for change can assist people to help themselves prevent a disease that is highly curable when found in the early stages. For information regarding the free skin cancer screening, please call Paula Gibson at 359-4673 or (806) 274-4673.

Soothing music helps chemo patient

By CHARLOTTE HUFF
Corpus Christi Caller-Times
CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas - When her mother was dying of lung cancer nearly 20 years ago, Frances Kurtz found one way that she could ease her pain and mood. "I played music for her whenever she had chemotherapy done and she would come home," Kurtz said. "She would have very bad reactions to the chemotherapy." Since last month, Kurtz has been sounding soothing notes to a larger audience. Twice each week, she volunteers her music skills to chemotherapy patients at the Corpus Christi Cancer Center.

Kurtz joins an increasing group of musicians and health professionals who find common ground in a field formally known as music therapy. Kurtz, who has taken more than 120 hours of music therapy instruction, said she is doing much more than plucking strings.

Each time she arrives at the center, she said, her selection of music depends entirely upon the type of rapport and vibrations she senses from the patients being treated there. One theory, she said, is that the music decreases the patient's stress, allowing the endorphins to promote healing. She believes more is involved.

"This music comes from the soul level," she said. "And that's the best way I can explain it for me. It allows you to relax your body and allows your soul power to reach the God power."

The formal development of music therapy dates to post-World War II, when music was used to treat symptoms from the strain of battle - since recognized as post-traumatic stress disorder. Since then, harps and other instruments have been used in numerous areas of medicine, including pain control, stress reduction, physical therapy and with Alzheimer's patients.

For example, a 1995 study conducted by Colorado State University found that patients with Parkinson's Disease increased their walking speed by 25 percent when they trained to music for three weeks. Patients who did not walk with music improved their speed 7.5 percent.

To date, any studies done on music therapy's effects have involved small groups of patients or have been anecdotal in nature, according to an article published Jan. 24 in the Journal of the American Medical Association. "The result has been that any beneficial effects have not made much of an impression on clinical medicine," according to JAMA, which went on to write: "There are signs that this is beginning to change."

In the 1990s, six federal research grants have been awarded to investigate the use of music therapy with aging Americans, including those with Alzheimer's and those needing stroke rehabilitation, said Al Bumanis, spokesman for the National Association for Music Therapy. About 5,000 therapists are estimated to be practicing in the United States, Bumanis said. "With an aging population, we are seeing much more music therapy being used for older Americans," he said. "I think there is a definite need for more clinical outcome studies - more research," he said. "The profession is growing, but it's still small."

Music has been successfully used to reduce the need for anesthesia in not just surgery, but also in childbirth, said Joan Obermeier-Doelger, a faculty member at Maryville University in St. Louis. "Definitely now in surgery, they are bringing music in," Obermeier-Doelger said. "The goal nevertheless is not to reduce the need for anesthesia. But that happens. But the initial goal to use music is for more of a pleasant, positive atmosphere. It just releases certain endorphins in the brain that increase healing."

Boys' golf team edges Pampa in one-hole playoff

Regional qualifiers - golf

Doubles teams make regionals

A pair of Hereford doubles teams will be going to the Region 1-4A Tennis Tournament next week in San Angelo after qualifying at the District 1-4A tournament Saturday in Borger. Natalie McWhorter and Paige Robbins won the district crown in girls' doubles by winning two straight matches in straight sets Saturday. B.J. Lockmiller and Andrew Carr also earned a trip by finishing as the runner-up in boys' doubles. The top two doubles teams or singles players in each bracket advance to the regional tournament, which will be held April 22-23 in San Angelo. McWhorter and Robbins, two seniors who advanced all the way to the state tournament last year, went into this year's district tournament as the No. 1 seed. They played like it, too. "They played really well," Hereford coach Ed Coplen said. "This was one of their best tournaments since Plainview (March 2). They really dominated. Their hardest match was in the (second) round, but they relaxed after that and started playing a whole lot better." After a first round bye, the Herd duo got by Borger's Willard and Fraley with a 7-5, 6-4 win on Friday. They breezed through Saturday's competition, beating Nightengale and

Wing of Randall, 6-4, 6-1, in the semis, then blistering No. 3-seeded Hodges and Munoz of Randall, 6-0, 6-2. Canyon's Cliff Martin and Eric Marable were seeded fourth in boys doubles, but they earned the district championship by defeating two Hereford pairs on Saturday. They beat Pete Vargas and Tyler Merrick, 7-5, 6-3 in the semifinals. In the finals, they survived a loss in the first set to beat Lockmiller and Carr, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2. "(Martin and Marable) finally played up to their potential," Coplen said. (See TENNIS, Page 7)

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor
The Hereford boys' golf team edged Pampa in a one-hole playoff Saturday in Dumas, earning the boys a trip to the Region 1-4A Tournament next week in San Angelo. David Sims, Keith Riley and Jeremiah Baros all made pars on No. 1 at Pheasant Trails golf course, while Justin Griffith bogeyed the hole. Pampa's four players had two pars and two bogeys, losing the playoff for second place in District 1-4A.

Riley tapped in a short putt to seal the playoff win, setting off a celebration uncharacteristic of golf, Herd coach Stacey Bixler said. "It was for your whole season, for district, for a chance to go to regionals," Bixler said of the emotional playoff. "When Keith hit his putt, we ran on the green. Everybody was crying and screaming."

The regional trip will be only the second for the Hereford boys' program in the last 10 years. The 1993 squad also went to regionals. The tournament will be held April 22-23.

Hereford led Pampa by six strokes going into the final district round, while Borger led by 21 strokes and ended up winning the district title by 40.

Mejia, Fangman nab district track championships

Hereford's Jessica Mejia and Kristin Fangman claimed district championships in their events at the District 1-4A Track Meet, which was held Friday and Saturday in Borger.

Mejia won the 800-meter run with a time of 2:28.06. Fangman won the 100-meter hurdles in 16.35. Both times represented personal bests for the girls.

Those two district champions will lead three other Hereford athletes who were runners-up to the Region 1-4A Track Tournament, set for April 26-27 in San Angelo.

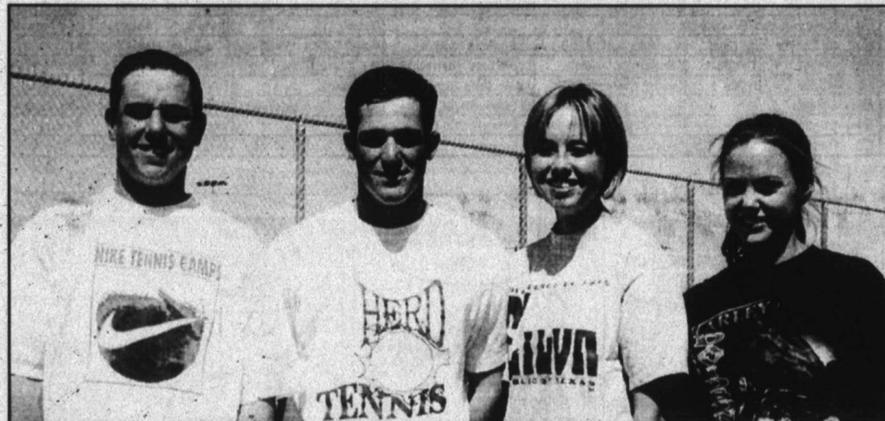

The Hereford runners-up were Marquise Brown in the 100-meter dash, Joseph Martinez in the shot put and Jamie Harrison in two distance races - the 1,600- and the 3,200-meter runs.

Hereford had several others who finished third in their events. The top two in each event advance to the regional tournament, while the third-place finishers serve as alternates.

Harrison turned in personal bests in both races. She ran the 1,600 in 5:39.78 and the 3,200 in 12:05.03.

Brown ran the 100 in 10.96 seconds and finished second to Pampa's Coy Laury (10.63).

Martinez put the shot 51 feet and one inch. Canyon's Brian Baggett beat Martinez by all of a quarter of an inch.

Regional qualifiers - tennis

Hereford will send two doubles teams to the Region 1-4A Tennis Tournament next week in San Angelo. They are (left to right) Andrew Carr, B.J. Lockmiller, Paige Robbins and Natalie McWhorter.

Regional qualifiers - track

Caprock's HRs beat Herd, 6-2

The Caprock baseball team used three big blasts to break open a close game and defeat Hereford 6-2 Saturday at Whiteface Field.

The Longhorns scored all their runs on home runs. Aaron Crawford had a two-run homer in the fourth to give Caprock a 2-0 lead. After Hereford tied it up in the bottom of the inning, Caprock's Chris Cano hit a solo shot in the fifth inning to give his team the lead again.

Layne Darnell capped the game

At the end of 18 holes, Pampa had made up those six strokes. Pampa shot 326 Saturday for a four-round total of 1,304, while Hereford shot 332 for the same total. (Borger ended at 1,264.)

Riley led Hereford with a round of 79 Saturday, while Baros was close behind at 80. Griffith shot 86, Sims shot 87 and Tom Munoz shot 88.

The top four scores are taken to determine the team total, and similarly, the top four players are chosen if a playoff is necessary. The playoff is sudden death, so the first team to have an advantage on one hole wins. This is how the Hereford quartet played in the playoff, according to Bixler: (See GOLF, Page 7) said. "Individually, they're two of the best players in our district. Cliff went to regionals last year in singles, and Eric (the son of Canyon coach Gary Marable) was real tough in the fall. We knew going in they were going to be the team to beat."

The finals was the second straight three-set match for Lockmiller and Carr. They edged out second-seeded Robbins and Thompson of Borger, 7-6, 3-6, 6-2 in the semifinals. In Friday's second round, Lockmiller and Carr upset the No. 3 seeds, Dumas' Holland and Jones, 6-4, 6-2.

"They had to beat the No. 2 and No. 3 seeds," Coplen said. "They just had a really good tournament. That's what usually happens at a district tournament or a regional tournament: one team gets hot."

Hereford's Vargas and Merrick went into the tournament as the No. 1 seeds, but Marable and Martin knocked them off.

"Pete and Tyler just had a run of bad luck," Coplen said. "Pete hurt his shoulder...he couldn't play in the Amarillo tournament (last weekend) and he didn't get to work out much last week. He wasn't 100 percent for this tournament. It just didn't work out for them."

Vargas played in the state tournament last year with Lockmiller as his doubles partner.

Hereford's Rob Reinauer also made the semifinals, but he lost both his matches. Reinauer, the No. 3 seed, fell to top-seeded Alex Aguilar of Canyon, 6-3, 6-7, 6-3, in the semis. He then lost to Pampa's Brooks Gentry, the No. 4 seed, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1 in the third-place match.

Borger's Matt Thompson, the No. 2 seed, defeated Aguilar for the district title, 6-2, 6-4. Aguilar then lost to Gentry, 6-4, 6-0, in a playback match, sending Gentry to regionals.

No Hereford girl made the semis in singles. Emily Johnson, the No. 2 seed from Dumas, won the district title with a 6-2, 6-1 beating of top-seeded Lacey Jordan of Borger.

Coplen pointed out that with four players moving on, Hereford is sending more players to the regional tournament than any school in the district. Borger, Canyon and Randall all are sending two players. He expects several of the district's representatives to go on to state.

BASEBALL

with a three-run job in the seventh inning.

Hereford pitcher Eric Ambold started the game and went the distance. He's been a workhorse lately; he pitched six innings in the Herd's game Tuesday against Borger.

"He threw 13 innings last week," Herd coach Pete Rodriguez said. "Ambold is that type of pitcher - he can throw real well on three days rest. He's in that good a shape."

Ambold did a fine job pitching out of trouble - he didn't let any of the Herd's four errors affect the scoring - but he probably fell victim to a strong wind that blew out to center field throughout the game.

Ambold struck out four batters and walked only two, but the two he walked were on when Darnell hit his homer in the seventh.

Caprock pitcher Adrian Padilla kept Hereford from taking advantage of the wind. He faced the minimum number of batters in five of the seven innings, including a perfect fifth, sixth and seventh innings. He struck out nine Whitefaces and allowed five hits.

The Herd scrapped for two runs in the fourth inning. Tanner Murphey led off with a clean single, then Wade McPherson walked. Nathan Gavina blooped a single to load the bases, then Dustin Hill beat out an infield hit, and Murphey scored.

All this was with no outs, but Padilla bore down and struck out Ambold and John Marty Galan. The Herd's second run scored when Rudy Villarreal took a high pitch on a 3-2 count for a walk, forcing in McPherson. Padilla got Joseph Artho, the next batter, to pop up for the third out.

Getting hits in clutch situations has been a problem for Hereford all year.

"If we get a base hit, we score some runs," Rodriguez said. "Instead we get two strikeouts. If we get a hit, it's a new ball game. That's been our problem all year: to get a hit when we've got men on base."

Caprock won the junior varsity game 27-19.

Brad Muster of the Chicago Bears was an Academic All-American at Stanford.

When star running back Billy Sims played for Oklahoma, the team played in five bowl games in five years.

The Tampa Convention Center, covering 625,000 square feet, was the Media Center for Super Bowl XXV in January 1991.

Former NFL defensive back Jack Mildren was elected lieutenant governor of Oklahoma in 1990.

Henderson wins goat tying

Hereford's Shay Henderson won the goat tying event Sunday and came in second in it Saturday to win the average of the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association rodeo held at the B-Bar-S Arena in Deaf Smith County.

Henderson tied her goat in 8.792 seconds Sunday to win that day. On Saturday, her time of 9.152 was second to the 8.987 turned in by Randall's Sequin Downey.

Henderson's win was one of three on Sunday by members of the Hereford club. Shasta Brooks won poles in 20.449, and Ty Boggeman teamed with Canyon's Blake Williamson to win team roping with a time of 5.991.

Other good performances of the Hereford club members:

Sunday
Monty Lewis was second in ribbon roping in 7.347. He teamed with Dumas' Cody Lawrence to take sixth in team roping in 8.335, and teamed with Boyd Brooks to also take seventh in team roping in 8.537.

Boyd Brooks was second in calf roping in 10.789.

Shasta Brooks took fourth in barrels (16.212) and breakaway roping (3.447).

Henderson was seventh in breakaway roping in 3.777 seconds.

Saturday
Chance Miller ended up in a tie for sixth in bull riding, getting 67 points.

Shasta Brooks was fifth in barrels (16.537) and seventh in breakaway roping (5.082).

Henderson was eighth in breakaway in 7.150.

Top time

Hereford Shay Henderson pulls away after tying her goat in 8.792 seconds Sunday - the best time of the rodeo - during Sunday's performance of a Tri-State High School Rodeo Association rodeo held Saturday and Sunday at the B-Bar-S Arena in Deaf Smith County.

GOLF

--Riley's second shot on the par-4 hole nearly went into the hole but bounced away. He putted downhill to within six inches, then tapped in for par.

--Baros was on the green in two shots, but he was 40 feet away. His first putt put him six feet from the hole, and he nailed the putt for par.

--Griffith was on the green in two but ended up three-putting for a bogey.

--Sims was the only one who wasn't on the green in two, but he chipped to within 10 feet, then made the putt.

They did it in front of a good-sized gallery, too, adding to the excitement.

"It was your team and their team - everybody else was through playing," Bixler said. "All the other players in the district, all the coaches and parents (were watching). It was a different atmosphere than you think of in golf."

Hereford's Griffith finished tied for fifth in the district medalist standings. His 86 Saturday gave him a four-round total of 321, which tied him with Josh McKinney of Borger.

Pampa's Phil Everson took the district title at 75--304, followed by: Borger's Les Phillips, 75--310; Borger's Jarrett Johnston, 78--312; and Canyon's Jud Price, 76--313.

Riley was tied for seventh at 326, Sims was 11th at 332, Munoz was 16th at 336 and Baros was 19th at 339.

339. Hereford's junior varsity team finished ninth in the team standings at 1,414.

Former Clinton aide tells of pressure to testify

By KELLY P. KISSEL
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - A former aide to then-Gov. Bill Clinton says he agreed to cooperate with Whitewater prosecutors because it was cheaper than fighting them in court.

Stephen Smith devoted almost as much time on the stand Monday to the pressure he was under from prosecutors as to his testimony about an illegal loan that was used to pay off a debt he shared with two Whitewater defendants.

Smith's testimony began the seventh week of the federal fraud and conspiracy trial of Gov. Jim Guy Tucker and co-defendants James and Susan McDougal.

Smith said he got a $65,000 loan in 1986 with the stated purpose of expanding his public relations company, but he testified he knew the money actually went toward paying off a $165,000 bank note on property owned by a partnership that included Tucker and McDougal.

Smith, an aide to Clinton in 1979-80, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor count of conspiring to misapply a loan from David Hale's Capital Management Services Inc. He has yet to be sentenced.

Smith, now a communications professor at the University of Arkansas, said Whitewater prosecutors initially told him in 1994 that he wasn't a target of the investigation and interviewed him at length. Then a prosecutor called back.

"He said his office intended to charge me with a felony," Smith said.

Pleading guilty to a lesser charge was a cheaper way out, he testified.

"The maximum penalty for a misdemeanor is $1,000, which would have been considerably less than going to trial," he said.

Tucker and the McDougals, who were partners with the Clintons in the Whitewater land development venture, are accused of defrauding the McDougals' savings and loan and Hale's loan company for $3 million in loans.

Both federally backed lending institutions failed, at a cost to taxpayers of nearly $70 million.

Hale has said that Clinton, Tucker and James McDougal pressured him to make illegal loans.
