Academy graduates

Members of the first-ever Citizens Police Academy of the Hereford Police Department received certificates of completion and T-shirts on Tuesday recognizing their completion of the nine-week course. The students are shown with Police Chief David Wagner, shown second from right at the back. Those completing the course

Citizens police school holds graduation

Graduation ceremonies were held Tuesday for the first class in the Hereford Police Department's Citizens Police Academy.

Seventeen people received certificates of completion and navy blue T-shirts bearing the academy's logo.

The class members spent the past nine weeks in three-hour-a-day classes, learning about state law and local police procedures.

They spent a Saturday on the department's firing range, took one class session acting out real-life police situations and sat in class sessions listening to lectures on a wide variety of subjects.

When it was all over, the participants had learned about such things as DWI law, building searches, drugs and drug paraphernalia and other things.

During the graduation, class president Cindy Caro and her fellow students presented "awards" to the 17 police officers and supervisors who taught the classes.

The mock awards were symbolic of events that occurred during the class sessions and were highlighted by the presentation of a "Purple Heart Award" to Johnny Amaro, a Hereford firefighter who broke his leg in three places during a simulated police stop.

Amaro and two students carried their roles too far and got into a scuffle, which ended when Amaro tripped on a flashlight. He missed the rest of the session, being rushed by Police Chief David Wagner and Fire Marshal Jay Spain to Amarillo for emergency surgery.

"Nine weeks went by very, very fast," Caro said in remarks to the students, officers and family members at the graduation dinner held in the Community Center. "Three hours a day went by very, very fast. ... Definitely we have more appreciation for our law enforcement officers here."

An official "thank you" gift was presented to Wagner from the class, which was a poster with the class logo, signed by all the students.

"I think the police officers learned quite a bit" from the class, Wagner said.

Wagner especially praised his officers and their wives, saying the Hereford department is "known throughout the Panhandle as being a fantastic police department."

"We appreciate your interest in finding out what we do out here," Wagner said.

The police department will hold its second Citizens Police Academy next year.

Local Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine said this morning that a newspaper report out of Amarillo that relates a supposed conflict between her and Police Chief David Wagner is incorrect.

In its Wednesday edition, the Amarillo Daily News reported that Turrentine and Wagner are at odds over the use of a pre-set bond schedule to set bonds for prisoners.

According to the newspaper, a police officer early Tuesday set a $5,000 bond for Vaughn Kipker, 48, who is accused in an incident in which he allegedly stabbed Ray Crump.

The use of pre-set bonds was disallowed by the state in 1992, Turrentine said, which ruled that prisoners must appear before a magistrate in person within 24 hours of their arrest and have the charges explained and a bond set.

She said she sent a letter to that effect to the jail at the time -- not the police department as reported in the Amarillo news story.

"This guy misquoted us," Turrentine said, referring to the reporter who penned the Amarillo

Kipker's bond was inadvertently set using the list, she said. The situation has not caused a conflict between the departments.

"We (her office and the police department) work beautifully together," Turrentine said, adding that since Wagner has been chief, there has been unprecedented cooperation between the department and the county.

The situation occurred, Turrentine said, because the outdated pre-set bond list was still posted on a jail bulletin board. She said that list was removed today.

"It was nobody's fault," she said. "David and I have never had a disagreement."

Wagner was in meetings Wednesday morning and was unavailable for comment.

City Manager Chester Nolen, however, reiterated that "there is absolutely no problem between the police department and the justice of the peace and the Sheriff's Office."

In fact, Nolen said, "I think what was printed in the Amarillo paper was blown out of proportion and is making a mountain out of a molehill."

Focus on soldiers from WWI planned for Veterans Day

Deaf Smith County residents will join Americans across the nation Thursday in the observance of Veterans Day, a day set aside to honor the men and women who have served in their country's armed forces.

Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand, at the request of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has proclaimed a special Veterans Day salute for Thursday to "World War I veterans, and to all those who served and those who died for their country."

The proclamation urges citizens to "pause in a moment of silence on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month...and take the opportunity to say thanks to every veteran you know."

The Hereford American Legion Post will host a Veterans Day Pancake Breakfast from 6:30 to 9 a.m. Thursday at the Legion Hall in Veterans Park.

Ira Ott is thought to be the only living Hereford resident who is a veteran of World War I.

There were 1,262 living veterans in Deaf Smith County in 1990, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Nationally, there were 27,481,059.

Deaf Smith County veterans, in the 1990 census report, included 6 who served during World War I, 539 who served in World War II, 132 served only during the Korean War, 266 served during the Viet Nam war, and 65 have served since May of 1975. A total of 21 served during more than one war, and 233 of local veterans were in the armed forces during other periods.

More than 38 million Americans have served in the nation's armed forces since the Revolutionary War. More than 90 percent of these served during the 20th Century.

The national holiday was originally called Armistice Day to celebrate the end of World War I, "the war fought to end all wars." In 1954, the holiday was changed to Veterans Day.

Interviews being held this week for Christmas Stocking Fund

Applications for assistance from the Christmas Stocking Fund is underway this week and will continue through Friday.

Volunteers are interviewing applicants from 1 to 5 p.m. in the west end of Hereford Community Center. These volunteers are not affiliated with CSF, but will pass along the completed applications to the anonymous committee which administers the charity program.

At the same time, the fund-raising drive for CSF is starting at The Hereford Brand. The newspaper is again serving as the collection point for financial donations. These may be made in person at the newspaper office, 313 N. Lee, or mailed to CSF in care of Box 673, Hereford.

The stocking fund program is limited to the amount of donations made by local residents, and to the items received from toiletry and toy drives at local schools.

All applications for CSF assistance are reviewed by the committee and priority is given to providing help to those most in need. Help may come in the form of food boxes, or vouchers for the purchase of clothing or to pay for utility or medical bills.

Applicants must bring some form of identification and proof of their residence in Deaf Smith County. They should provide copies of any utility or medical bills with which they are seeking help. They should provide interviewers with full information on account numbers, and the names of doctors or pharmacies if they are seeking help with medical bills.

CSF is a holiday charity aimed at helping the community's less fortunate during the holiday period. The committee is starting its efforts almost a month ahead of the schedule followed the past few years.

The application period is shorter this year, and deliveries of the food boxes and vouchers will be made Dec. 17. The earlier schedule allows volunteers to enjoy the holiday with their families.

CSF is sponsoring a toy drive this year to help the Red Cross Christmas Toy Program. The drive will be conducted on elementary school campuses throughout Hereford during the week of Nov. 15-19.

Students at these schools are being asked to donate toys in good working condition that can be cleaned, repaired and presented to needy children. No stuffed toys are solicited. The donated toys will be picked up Nov. 19 and taken to the local Red Cross office, allowing time for them to be cleaned and repaired.

Hereford Junior High students will be assisting CSF by collecting toiletry items for distribution to needy residents. Included among these items are toothbrushes, toothpaste, soap and paper goods. The drive at HJH will be conducted Nov. 15-19.

Real NAFTA vote next week; debate held over free trade

WASHINGTON (AP) - The hardfought campaign over the North American Free Trade Agreement is heading toward a House showdown after a quarrelsome debate pitting Vice President Al Gore against Ross Perot - chart for chart and quip for sardonic quip.

"The politics of negativism and fear only go so far," said Gore during Tuesday night's encounter on CNN. He suggested that billionaire Perot's opposition resulted in part from his political ambitions and business interests.

"Our problem is we do the world's dumbest trade agreements," countered the one-time presidential candidate. He said that despite the backing of President Clinton and all living former presidents, the agreement remains unpopular because it will destroy American jobs. For all the one-liners and disagreements over trade policy, though, there was no clear connection between the debate and the fate of the treaty that would link Canada, the United States and Mexico in the world's largest free trade zone.

The votes that count will be cast next Wednesday in the House - where supporters concede they are well short of a majority - and later in the Senate if the legislation makes it that far.

Clinton is making daily telephone calls to lawmakers. Gore arranged a factory tour in Denver today to tout the agreement, and aides said several business executives from the forest and paper product industries would express support in an appearance before White House reporters.

CED to try to meet Friday

The final meeting of the Deaf Smith County Education District -- which was postponed last week because of lack of a quorum -- has been scheduled for noon Friday in the Hereford ISD board room. The meeting is required even though the State Legislature disbanded the CEDs last spring, because the group needs to appoint a successor-in-interest to receive tax monies levied by the district during its existence that still have not been collected. Also on the agenda are other authorizations related to the dissolution of the district. The district board of trustees is made up of representatives of the Hereford and Walcott boards.

City parks get attention

A workshop session of the Hereford City Commission at 5 p.m. Wednesday will focus on park improvement plans and progress of the water improvement project underway.

Chance of rain Thursday

Hereford had a high of 57 Tuesday and a low of 35 this morning, according to KPAN. The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast is for fair early tonight, then becoming cloudy. Low in the lower 40s. South wind 10 to 20 mph. Thursday, mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of showers. High in the lower 60s. Southwest wind 15 to 25 mph and gusty with caution advised on area lakes.

Research indicates wine beneficial

ATLANTA (AP) - After years of debate over whether alcohol reduces the risk of heart disease, some researchers are reluctantly beginning to admit that nondrinkers might be wise to pour themselves a glass of wine with dinner.

"The data support that quite strongly - a small amount of wine with meals is a healthy lifestyle," Dr. R. Curtis Ellison of Boston University said Tuesday.

The focus on wine comes from continuing studies of one of the most intriguing puzzles about the cause of heart disease:

How can the French devour buttery croissants, drench their filet mignon in bearnaise sauce and follow it with Camembert cheese or creme caramel while still maintaining one of the world's lowest rates of heart disease?

The French death rate from heart attacks caused by clogging of the coronary arteries is about 75 deaths per 100,000 people each year. In the United States, the rate is more than double: about 200 deaths per 100,000 people.

Yet the French diet is even higher in fat than the American diet. Americans get about 22 percent of their calories from fat; the French 25 percent.

Evidence increasingly suggests that this so-called French paradox is probably due to yet another French passion: wine.

New studies reported this week at a meeting of the American Heart Association are adding to the evidence that a glass of wine, or even a beer or a scotch-on-the-rocks, cuts the risk of heart disease.

Dr. Arthur Klatsky of the Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in Oakland, Calif., said he has found that red wine and white wine are equally protective, dispelling the notion that red wine might confer special protection.

He also found that wine was slightly more protective than beer, and beer was a little better than liquor.

Despite the evidence, researchers have avoided recommending a daily drink, worrying about the potential for alcohol abuse. But the evidence is now becoming convincing enough that some researchers are suggesting that certain patients might be advised to have a drink - or at least not to quit drinking.

Ellison said he would recommend a daily drink only if he could be sure that a patient was not likely to become a heavy drinker.

Suicide victim may be only person who knew how boy was injured

COLORADO CITY, Texas (AP) - A 57-year-old man was found shot to death in the yard of his residence just hours after his 7-year-old stepson was rushed to a hospital with critical head injuries and in a coma, officials say.

James R. Lappe died Monday morning from a self-inflicted wound and is the only suspect in the injury to the child late Sunday night, Colorado City police chief David Montgomery said Tuesday.

"Mr. Lappe was our prime suspect from the beginning on the injuries to the 7-year-old, and of course he committed suicide," Montgomery told the Abilene Reporter-News. "We don't anticipate any charges being filed against anyone."

Montgomery said Lappe and his wife, Marie, had five adopted children and became foster parents last summer to five other children who were cousins of those children.

The nine other children, ranging in age from 6 months to 9 years, have been removed from Colorado City and placed in "temporary custody by the state" in the Lubbock area, Montgomery said.

The couple had no criminal history and no record of domestic problems, officials said.

The 7-year-old boy was taken to Mitchell County Hospital with severe head injuries at 11:20 p.m. Sunday and later was flown to Lubbock Methodist Hospital, where he was still in critical condition in a coma on Tuesday, officials said.

Montgomery said that last summer, eight people in Upshur County in Northeast Texas were indicted for child abuse after an investigation into allegations of satanic cult practices and sexual abuse.

As a result of that investigation, five children were placed in the Lappes' care, primarily because the children they adopted were related and because the couple had expressed a desire for more children, officials said.

"It kind of fell in place that we had these kids," said Linda Fleming, director of Region 4 of the Department of Protective and Regulatory Services, which includes Upshur County.

A spokesman for the agency said no complaints had been registered against the couple, who moved to Colorado City about eight months ago.

After the Lappes moved to Colorado City, about 250 miles west of Dallas, Mrs. Lappe called the police station to tell officers that the foster children had been victims of abuse before their arrival, Montgomery said.

After that, the police department didn't have any contact with them until Sunday, he said.

The children were home-schooled and were not in contact with many outsiders, the police chief added.

An Upshur County caseworker from Gilmer, about 100 miles east of Dallas, had been in Colorado City within the past week, Montgomery said, to do a routine check on the children.

"We had no indication that anything was wrong," said Linda Fleming, director of Region 4 of the Department of Protective and Regulatory Services.

Ms. Fleming said a caseworker last saw the children on Monday of last week. Because of the sexual allegations that led to the placement of the foster children with the Lappes, a caseworker from Gilmer routinely drove to Colorado City to check on the children personally, she said.

"We wanted to be sure that the kids were OK," she said.

The Lappes were well-known to agency officials and had cared for as many as 20 children at one time, officials said.

Lappe, retired from the Air Force, was injured on the job in November 1992 and had been unemployed since July, Montgomery said.

Mrs. Lappe told investigators that Lappe had been in severe pain and was frustrated at not having a job.

Montgomery said the Lappes were not well known and kept to themselves. Lappe was described as a caring person who got along well with the children and with his wife.

Lappe had applied Oct. 20 for a job with the Colorado Independent School District as food service office manager. His two-page resume showed a number of jobs as a computer programmer.

In his cover letter, Lappe expressed a desire to live in a small town after living in large cities.

"My wife and I want to live in a nice little town and enjoy the opportunities of raising our adopted children," Lappe said in the letter.

Women served country since Revolution

By MIA B. MOODY
Waco Tribune-Herald

WACO, Texas (AP) - Each year when Veteran's Day rolls around, these former "servicemen" often are forgotten - women. But whether disguised as men or serving as their nurses, women have done their share to protect America.

Even before they had the right to vote or many other freedoms that American soldiers have fought to keep, women served side by side with men, noted Anne Taylor, a veterans benefit counselor and the women's veterans coordinator at the Veterans Administration Regional Office.

"As early as the Revolutionary War, Deborah Sampson, a housewife, disguised herself as a man to join the Massachusetts Regiment of the Revolutionary Army," Ms. Taylor said.

"It says something about the medical practices of the day that it wasn't until her third time in the army hospital that her true identity was discovered," Ms. Taylor said.

About 400 women are thought to have disguised themselves as men during the Civil War. After 1901, these disguises were not necessary. The United States recruited thousands of women to serve in the armed services during World War I.

Women took on new military roles during World War II due to the scarcity of manpower. About 400,000 served in all branches of the military as nurses, stenographers and translators to pilots.

Waco resident Elva Ewing, 74, was one of the pioneer women who signed up for World War II.

"When I heard news about the breakout of World War II, I was a 24-year-old country girl who was ready for an adventure," she said. "As soon as I heard about the war, I pretty well made up my mind right then that I was going."

Ms. Ewing enlisted in the Navy WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Service). The Ocean native said she had little trouble adapting to the strict nature of the service because she was accustomed to doing lots of farm work.

She went through boot camp in the Bronx, N.Y., and trained as an airplane mechanic. However, instead of servicing airplanes during the war, she did payroll and statistical research at an air base in Kingsville, Texas.

Overall, she believes her gender played only a minor role during her stint in the service. She said the men at her base were accepting of women. However, she fondly remembers one incident when her base ran out of women's work shoes and she was forced to wear men's dress shoes.

"I didn't care because they were more comfortable than our shoes anyway," she said. After the war ended, Ms. Ewing decided to go home because she did not want to risk being sent somewhere to work on airplanes, a skill she hadn't used since basic training. She later went to work for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In 1948, the Women's Armed Services Integration Act gave women a permanent place in the armed forces. This established guidelines for the 262,000 women like Linda Ogles, 39, who served in the Vietnam era.

Ms. Ogles said she signed up for some of the same reasons as her male counterparts: She was a single high school drop-out ready to do something for her country.

"I had nothing to hold me down," she said. "I had to drop out of school initially to help my parents financially and the service gave me an incentive to get my GED and to become an independent person."

While in the service, Ms. Ogles served as a security police officer, a ration control clerk and in many other capacities.

As a 100-pound, 5-foot-2-inch woman, she had to fight for the right to work shifts by herself while stationed in Montana.

"I carried a .38-caliber and I was an expert shot," she said. "I felt like I could take care of myself so I approached my supervisors and told them, 'This is my job. Let me go.'"

Overall, Ms. Ogles said she was treated fairly by her male counterparts. However, there were a few incidents of discrimination. While working in Montana, she remembers freezing while her male counterparts kept warm in government issued bunny boots, parkas and heavy gloves. Instead of complaining, she went out and bought her own.

"I am a small person and they probably had a hard time finding stuff to fit me," she said.

Ms. Ogles said the service helped her get her life on track. After serving seven years in the Air Force, she decided to get out and become a full-time mother to her 1-year-old daughter.

She later received two associate degrees. Today, she works at the Veterans Administration Regional Office with about 17 other female veterans.

The next war during which women made a large impact was Operation Desert Storm. The war was a turning point for women in the service, Ms. Taylor said.

"It was during this war that Americans became more accustomed to hearing the phrase, 'Our men and women in the Gulf,'" she said.

Working in safety and administration, Marilyn Pippin, 36, was one of 88,000 women who served in Operation Desert Storm. She went to Saudi Arabia after getting a 24-hour notice.

"I got a phone call and they told me that they would need me if they couldn't get anyone else to go," she said. "It was not so much that I was scared but I just didn't know what to expect."

Ms. Pippin left her 9-year-old daughter with her parents and left at noon the next day. She doesn't regret it. She said women played an important role in the war and jobwise they were treated equally.

"Women filled sandbags right along with men. They served on night patrol and they pulled security watches on the gate along side men," she said.

She said the only discrimination that many female U.S. soldiers felt were those imposed by the Saudi Arabian government.

"They recommended that women didn't drive," she said. "This was against the law. We had to respect their ways and religion."

After the war, Ms. Pippin returned to Clifton and began working as a mail clerk at the Veterans Administration regional office.

Women have come a long way since the early wars when they had to disguise themselves as men to fight. But it wasn't until 1988 that Congress approved a project to build a memorial honoring women who served during the Vietnam era.

These women will be memorialized starting on Veteran's Day this year with the Vietnam Women's Memorial in Washington, D.C.

Music students present program for study club

Hereford Music Study Club met recently at the Fellowship of Believers to hear an annual concert presented by children and students of club members.

Mary Thomas prefaced the program encouraging all young people to hone their own "ring of honors" in their lives. Beethoven is the study for the music club year and Thomas told of happenings in the life of the young Beethoven who gave his first concert at age six. When he was 11 years of age, he went on his first tour.

Bethany Solomon began the program with a Beethoven piano solo, "Esssaie in G." The program continued with Julie Schlabs, pianist, playing "Last Date"; Scott Shaw, violinist, "There is a Fountain"; Diana Detten, vocalist, "When Love is Kind"; Shyla Martin, pianist, "Interlude"; Flint Dollar, pianist, "Jesus Loves Me"; Drew Denison, pianist, "Mountain Ghost Town"; Seth Solomon, pianist, "Guitar Rock"; Cady Auckerman, pianist, "Fur Elise"; Deana Torres, vocalist, "I Could Have Danced All Night"; Diana Detten, pianist, "Nocturne in E (B)"; Amy Pesina, vocalist, "I Dreamed A Dream"; and Taylor Sublett and Scott Shaw concluded the program with a piano duet, "No, Not One."

The performers were students of Susan Shaw, Evelyn Hacker and Cheryl Betzen.

Following the concert, members and guests were served refreshments by Jody Skiles, Sue Sims, Claudia McBrayer and Linda Gilbert, the club's hospitality committee.

Preparing for window display

Members of the Deaf Smith County 4-H have been busy preparing for a nutrition window display, "The Food Guide Pyramid," to be exhibited at Sugarland Mall. Windows will feature nutrition information and be available for viewing at the "Step to Good Health and Nutrition" program beginning at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Planning the window display are 4-H members, Anne Weaver, at left, and Betsy Weaver.

Respiratory tract infections are increasing dramatically

Doctors are expecting a flood of colds, flu and other respiratory tract infections this year. Between October 1992 and March of 1993, they saw nearly 100 million patients with respiratory infections and a similar number is predicted for the winter of 1993-94.

Though many of the symptoms are the same with such infections - fever, coughs, runny nose and overall misery - the treatments may be very different. Colds and flu are caused by viruses and don't respond to much besides bed rest and extra fluids. Respiratory infections that come from bacteria and other bugs, however, can be helped with antibiotics.

Not all drugs work against all bugs, however. "Because of the increasing incidence of resistant bacteria, and the presence of atypical pathogens, respiratory infections may not respond to certain traditional antibiotics," explains Richard B. Brown, M.D., chief, infectious disease division, Baystate Medical Center, Springfield, M.A. "For this reason, many doctors are turning to broad-spectrum antibiotics that are effective against a wide variety of bacteria."

One major step toward meeting the challenge of treating respiratory infections was the development of advanced macrolide antibiotics. An example of this new generation of antibiotics is Biaxin from Abbott Laboratories. It's been found effective in upper and lower respiratory infections caused by common and atypical pathogens. What's more, it can be prescribed without putting the patient through time consuming and costly tests.

Another reason antibiotics sometimes fail to work is the human factor. People don't take their medicine or don't take it properly. "even if symptoms have disappeared, it is important to finish all the prescription," says Dr. Brown. "Otherwise, remaining organisms could cause a reinfection-often worse than the first, and with newly developed resistance to treatment."

Compared with other antibiotics, Biaxin is easy to take - twice a day without regard to meals - and is less likely to cause side effects.

Ineffective therapy can increase the inconvenience and the cost of respiratory infections. Some experts now put the national cost of antibiotic resistance at $100 million annually.

LAS VEGAS (AP) - People - people who have tickets to Barbra Streisand's New Year's concert in Las Vegas - are the luckiest people in the world.

Or so they must think. Tickets for both shows at the 15,200-seat MGM Grand sold out hours after they went on sale Sunday at prices ranging from $50 to $1,000, hotel spokesman Tom Brundy said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Chuck Norris isn't backing down from his fight with a company that he says used him without permission to sell a 20-year-old martial arts movie.

Norris plans to refile a lawsuit against the video distributor he claims misused his name and picture to sell the Hong Kong-made film "Karate Cop," in which he appeared for 18 minutes as a bad guy.

Norris' attorney, Joseph Hart, said Norris didn't authorize use of his name and picture as a sales tool for the little-known video.

"The box is a misrepresentation," said Hart.

Superior Court Judge Raymond Cardenas on Friday agreed with The Handleman Co. that it is not liable under unjust enrichment and unfair competition claims filed by Norris.

He gave Norris 20 days to refile the case.

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) - Jack Larson, who was gee-whiz cub reporter Jimmy Olsen in the 1950s "Superman" TV series, will help unveil the Man of Steel's symphony.

Larson, now a playwright, poet and producer, will read the narrative he wrote to accompany the "Metropolis Symphony" at its Nov. 19 world premiere.

Composer Michael Daugherty's work, also known as the "Superman Suite," will be conducted by the New Hampshire Symphony's founder and music director, James Bolle.

Public invited to attend programs, screening

The public is invited to the "Step to Good Health and Nutrition" program beginning at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Sugarland Mall. The event is being sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Extension Office and the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Volunteers from the local Red Cross chapter will check blood pressures from 9:30-11:30 a.m. There is no charge.

"Fat Budgeting" will be presented in a program from 10:30-11:15 a.m. by Beverly Harder, county extension agent. Dietary fat and ways to cut fat from food preparations will be featured.

Also, members of the Deaf Smith County 4-H organization will feature window displays on various nutrition subjects.

Reservations are not necessary and blood pressure checks and the "Fat Budgeting" program will be held in the center of the mall.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

NEW YORK (AP) - Attorney General Janet Reno, American Red Cross head Elizabeth Dole, Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg and screenwriter and director Nora Ephron are among Glamour magazine's Women of the Year.

Dole was cited for "strong leadership when natural disasters strike"; Reno for "taking big steps"; Ginsburg for being "a fair force for change"; and Ephron for "placing women - and a writer - in the director's chair."

The list announced Monday also includes poet laureate Rita Dove, Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders, sex crimes prosecutor Linda Fairstein, jockey Julie Krone, documentary filmmaker Anna Devere Smith and geneticist Mary-Claire King.

Imprisoned in the Tower of London for 13 years in the early 1600s, Sir Walter Raleigh grew tobacco there, turned a henhouse into a chemical laboratory and wrote his "History of the World," notes National Geographic.

Herd comes back to oust Granbury

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

After more than an hour and a half of back-and-forth play, Danielle Cornelius' hit was dug back over the net but fell out of bounds, wrapping up Hereford's 5-15, 15-9, 15-8 playoff victory over Granbury Tuesday in Colorado City.

That set off an on-court celebration and sent some of the more sprightly of the 60-plus Hereford fans leaping over railings to join the celebration.

About five minutes after the match, another roar went up when it was announced that District 1-4A rival Dumas had lost. Justin Northwest, the No. 1 team in Class 4A, dismissed the Demons, 15-5, 7-15, 15-13. That ends Dumas' string of five straight appearances in the Region 1-4A finals.

Hereford (26-6) and Northwest (31-7) will meet Saturday. The time and site have yet to be determined.

Hereford three-game match with Granbury, which ends the season at 15-10, was the kind of pressure-cooker match that Hereford usually sees only against Dumas. There were numerous great plays and almost as many sideouts. The longest run by either team was four points, and Hereford had two of those to end the third game.

"I didn't feel like either team ever got the momentum throughout the entire match, even in the first game," Herd coach Brenda Reeh said.

Granbury didn't win the first game easily, but Hereford did have all kinds of problems early, Reeh said.

"We got on the court and right off the bat we had a couple of blocking errors, and a couple of hitting errors--and they hitting errors were ones that were really close--and we had a couple of service receive errors," she said. "All that combined threw us for a loop. I don't know if we expected to have that tough a time early, but it can paralyze a group of kids."

After Granbury got off to a 5-1 start, Hereford had a three-point run on a stuff and two kills by Danielle Cornelius, but the mistakes Reeh referred to helped Granbury up its lead to 11-4. Hereford made plenty of great plays, but only for sideouts.

A Granbury player was whistled for being in the net, giving Hereford its fifth point, but an ace and three Granbury kills ended the game.

Reeh and the players had a serious talk after the first game.

"One of the things that we talked about was that the kids didn't feel like they were playing to win," Reeh said. "They felt they were on the defensive both with their play and with their attitude. We tried to focus on trying to play to win rather than playing tentatively. That's difficult to do after a game where you've made several mistakes."

Hereford's blocking tightened up after the first game.

"We started moving our middles to the right a little--actually a lot," Reeh said. "Their middles were hurting us to the right of the blocks; they were cutting the ball back on really sharp angles."

Granbury got a kill for the first point of the second game. After a sideout came one of the longest volleys of the match, and Hereford won the point when the Lady Pirate setter was called for a double hit--a violation which was called tightly on both sides.

That set off a string of Granbury errors, including an amazing seven service errors in the game, five of which hit the net and weren't close to going over. Five of the service errors came in the early part of the second game and kept Granbury from scoring while Hereford was able to take a 6-2 lead. Granbury had an ace for a third point, then served the ball into the net.

Granbury made a three-point run to come within 8-7, prompting a Hereford timeout. Hereford responded with six straight points, though they were broken up by several sideouts.

"I think Kara (Sandoval) started fishing around the net a little bit with her sets to find what would work against them," Reeh said. "Their defense pulled in pretty tight so the tips weren't working, so we started setting Danielle and our middles with two-sets, and started backsetting to Heather Kleuskens when she was on the front line. They gave her the line, and that opened up our offense."

Granbury pulled to within 14-9 with an ace, but served the ball into the net again. For Hereford's 15th point, Brooke Bryant made a lunging save of a bad pass, and Kara Sandoval's floor spike went the wrong way off a Granbury dig.

Sideouts permeated the early part of the third game. Granbury led 7-6 when Hereford took perhaps the only momentum of the match. A Tarabeth Holmes stuff tied it and a Kleuskens kill off a diving dig gave Hereford an 8-7 lead.

A Granbury time out did the Lady Pirates no good: they returned with a hitting error. Another kill by Kleuskens made it a 10-7 game.

After a sideout, a Cornelius hit sailed for Granbury's eighth point, but Cornelius recovered, immediately getting a kill for a sideout.

Michelle Brock went to the service line and fired an ace. Cornelius and Holmes followed with emphatic kills, and a Cornelius tip fell behind the blockers for a 14-8 Hereford lead.

The teams traded sideouts before Cornelius' hit/block was dug out of bounds, giving Hereford the win.

Cornelius led the Herd with 15 kills and six stuffs. Katie Young had six kills and Kleuskens added five. From the service line, Aimee Alley had 10 points and Jessica Evers had nine.

Despite her performance, Cornelius wouldn't talk about herself after the match, giving credit to teammates.

She said that after losing the first game she was thinking "that we had two long games to go."

"I just knew that it was the seniors' last year," said Cornelius, a freshman. "I knew we had to work hard not just for us but for them too."

Battle at the net

Hereford's Crystal Kelley battles Granbury's Nicole Keith for a ball at the net. The Lady Whitefaces came back to beat Granbury 5-15, 15-9, 15-8 in a Tuesday playoff match in Colorado City.

Robinson dominates as Spurs triumph

By The Associated Press

David Robinson did exactly what San Antonio wants him to do and Dennis Rodman did what he does better than anyone in the NBA.

Robinson, held to nine points by New Jersey in his previous game, dominated the Minnesota Timberwolves with 43 points, 11 rebounds and 10 blocked shots, as the Spurs won 110-95 at the Alamodome on Tuesday night. Rodman, in just his third game with San Antonio, grabbed a team-record 29 rebounds.

"David and Dennis put us on their backs and carried us," Spurs coach John Lucas said. "Dennis really helps David by taking the pressure off the rebounds."

Robinson made 14 of 22 shots from the field and 15 of 19 from the foul line. Rodman, whose personal best is 34 rebounds with Detroit, eclipsed the previous Spurs' single-game mark of 25 set by Edgar Jones in 1984 against Dallas and Artis Gilmore in 1987 versus Utah.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was New York 95, Philadelphia 86; Orlando 104, Indiana 98; Cleveland 113, Charlotte 108; Washington 118, Detroit 112; New Jersey 86, Dallas 80; Seattle 118, Denver 86; Phoenix 114, Los Angeles Clippers 99; Houston 102, Golden State 93; and Portland 109, Los Angeles Lakers 102.

Minnesota was paced by Micheal Williams' 21 points.

Suns 114, Clippers 99
Kevin Johnson and Dan Majerle scored 35 points apiece and Majerle tied his own team record with eight 3-pointers as Phoenix snapped a six-game losing streak in the L.A. Sports Arena.

Charles Barkley did not have a field goal in the first half and finished with 10 points and 16 rebounds. Danny Manning scored 25 points for the Clippers.

Rockets 102, Warriors 93
Hakeem Olajuwon had 32 points and 11 rebounds in Houston's victory at Golden State in the NBA debut of No. 1 draft pick Chris Webber.

Webber scored 15 points and faced a tough assignment guarding the veteran Olajuwon.

Latrell Sprewell led the Warriors with 20 points. Vernon Maxwell scored 24 for Houston. SuperSonics 118, Nuggets 86

Sam Perkins scored 28 points and tied an NBA record by going 7-for-7 from 3-point range, leading Seattle past visiting Denver.

Perkins, the Sonics' starting center, matched a 7-for-7 3-point performance by Portland guard Terry Porter at Golden State last Nov. 14.

Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf of the Nuggets extended his club-record free-throw streak to 75 by sinking seven without a miss, tying Seattle's Ricky Pierce for the fourth longest free-throw string in league history. Abdul-Rauf, who ended last season by making his final 59 free throws, topped the Nuggets with 25 points.

Trail Blazers 109, Lakers 102
Three reserves - Clifford

Robinson, Rod Strickland and Harvey Grant - scored 22 points each, and Portland overcame an injury to center Chris Dudley.

Dudley, the Blazers' starting center, fractured his left ankle four minutes into the game at the Great Western Forum.

James Worthy led the Lakers with 21 points.

Nets 86, Mavericks 80

Derrick Coleman scored six of his 28 points during an 8-0 fourth-quarter run as New Jersey beat Dallas for a 2-1 record in its season-opening Texas trip.

Jimmy Jackson led Dallas with 23 points.

Knicks 95, 76ers 86

John Starks scored 12 of his 19 points in the third quarter.

The Knicks, playing their home opener, outscored the 76ers 40-15 in a 16-minute span of the second and third quarters, taking a 60-38 lead and coasting to their third consecutive victory.

Magic 104, Pacers 98
Shaquille O'Neal, averaging 38.3

points in the young season, scored 37 points as Orlando stayed unbeaten by winning at home against Indiana.

O'Neal carried the Magic in the final minutes until Anfernee Hardaway contributed a 3-point basket and Scott Skiles made four free throws in the closing seconds.

Cavaliers 113, Hornets 108

Mark Price scored 24 points, including two 3-pointers during an 18-5 run in the fourth quarter as Cleveland overcame a 17-point first-half deficit.

The Hornets, who have never won on the road at Cleveland, Houston or Indiana, were led by Alonzo Mourning with 24 points and 12 rebounds.

Bullets 118, Pistons 112

Don MacLean tied a career high with 24 points as Washington won on the road against Detroit for the first time since Dec. 12, 1986.

The Pistons led 92-89 after three quarters, but their offense stalled with rookie guards Lindsey Hunter and Allan Houston in the backcourt. Detroit scored just two points in the first five minutes of the period.

Detroit's Sean Elliott led all scorers with 27 points.

Bonds wins third straight MVP award, dreams of World Series ring

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - He has three National League MVP awards and the richest contract in baseball history.

Now Barry Bonds wants something that money and awards can't buy.

The San Francisco Giants slugger, who received his third MVP award in four years on Tuesday, said his career won't be complete without a World Series ring.

"You never get into that elite class until you win," Bonds said. "You hear about Ernie Banks, but the Cubs never won. You hear more about Reggie Jackson and his home runs in the World Series.

"I think that's something that's got to happen for me to get into that elite class."

His outstanding 1993 season - he hit .336 and led the league with 46 home runs and 123 RBIs - helped carry San Francisco to the verge of the playoffs. Bonds believes the team will go farther if the Giants retain free agents Robby Thompson and Will Clark.

After becoming the first player ever to win three MVP awards in four years, Bonds almost immediately began preparing himself for a run at becoming the first player ever to win the MVP four times.

"I feel I have a lot more to accomplish. I just want to enjoy this one and prepare myself for next season. ... It (a fourth MVP award) is something I want. That's why I started training Nov. 1. I'm going to be ready," he said.

Bonds also came close to winning the MVP in 1991 when he had 25 homers and 116 RBIs for the Pirates.

Given a $43.75 million contract by the Giants last December, Bonds earned his money. He led the NL in slugging percentage and on-base percentage and scored 129 runs while leading the Giants to a franchise-record 103 wins.

Bonds also had another strong season in left field, good enough to probably win him another Gold Glove.

"I wasn't concerned about the talk on the contract," Bonds said. "I knew what I was capable of doing on the field. I just let my bat do the talking."

Bonds, 29, joined seven others as a three-time MVP. He received 24 of 28 first-place votes in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Bonds also received four second-place votes for 372 points, far ahead of Philadelphia center field Len Dykstra.

Dykstra got the other four first-place ballots, along with 20 second-place votes, three for third and one for fourth.

"In a way you have control of this and in another way you don't," Dykstra said. "There were a lot of guys to look at this season. Look what Fred McGriff did."

The next three finishers were Atlanta Braves: David Justice, McGriff and Ron Gant.

Bonds won the award in 1990 and again last year with the Pittsburgh Pirates, becoming the premier player in last year's free-agent market. The Giants, whose new ownership group wasn't even in place yet, stunned baseball by giving him a six-year deal that made him the richest player ever.

Tech's Bam Morris, SMU's Bordano win SWC honors

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Yardage, touchdowns and, increasingly, accolades pile up when Byron "Bam" Morris grabs the football.

Morris rushed for a career-high 223 yards and three touchdowns Saturday in Texas Tech's 49-21 victory over Texas Christian.

The Associated Press named Morris the Southwest Conference's offensive player of the week. Morris also won the honor one week ago, after scoring two touchdowns and amassing 158 yards on 32 carries to help the Red Raiders beat Texas, 31-22.

Twenty-three tackles, one interception and one caused fumble sent the top defensive honor to Southern Methodist freshman Chris Bordano. Despite Bordano's effort Saturday in his second start, the Mustangs lost, 31-24 to Rice.

Morris said he practices a powerhouse philosophy: Don't let just one guy take you down.

At 6-2 and 240 pounds, he's a lumbering giant who crashes through the opponent's line and collects dangling defenders as he plows downfield.

"They're not scared at first," said Morris, a junior. "They come up and hit me ... with all they got. Then they're like, 'Dawg.' So they just grab onto me and let someone else hit me."

Morris averages 145.3 yards per game, second best nationally. The 98 points he has scored this season also ranks second in the nation.

"I think this time next year Bam will be a viable contender for the Heisman Trophy," coach Spike Dykes said Monday. "... The way you get recognition, though, is just keep putting those good numbers up."

Morris, who caught two short passes against TCU, described himself as an occasional "dump off man" for quarterback Robert Hall. He said his cuts get smarter each game.

Kosar slated to sign with Cowboys today

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Bernie Kosar, released unexpectedly this week by the Cleveland Browns, has signed a one-year contract with the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys, The Associated Press has learned.

Kosar, who played for Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson at the University of Miami in 1984, was scheduled to appear at a 12:30 p.m. EST news conference at Valley Ranch to announce the signing.

Kosar was taking a morning flight on owner Jerry Jones' private jet and was expected to be in Dallas by mid-morning.

Johnson, who said Tuesday that Kosar still is a "tremendous talent," will announce at that time that the Cowboys are releasing backup quarterback Hugh Millen, The AP has learned. Johnson also will announce whether Jason Garrett or Kosar will start Sunday's game against Phoenix if Troy Aikman is not able to overcome his pulled left hamstring.

Johnson spoke highly of Kosar during a Tuesday morning news conference but expressed pessimism about signing him based on salary concerns.

Released unexpectedly by the Browns on Monday, Kosar cleared waivers Tuesday at 3 p.m. Early in the day it appeared that the Miami Dolphins had him locked up, but the Cowboys joined the fray in the afternoon and beat out Miami, Kansas City and Philadelphia for his services.

A one-year deal for Kosar would allow him to become a free agent after this season.

Borger's Jones makes AP honor roll

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer
 DALLAS (AP) - The 1993 regular season has ended with plenty to look forward to in 1994 from Borger's Cornell Jones and Corsicana's Ketric Sanford.

Those sophomores could be among the best Class 4A runners - if they're not already.

Last Friday, Jones rushed 27 times for 371 yards and three touchdowns in a 48-0 victory over Amarillo Caprock; Sanford had 328 yards on 41 carries in a 28-6 victory over Athens.

For their outstanding efforts, the two second-year stars highlight The Associated Press' final honor roll of the season.

Jones' outing - the third-best rushing total ever in the Panhandle area - is a testament to his dedication to becoming a star.

Already possessing outstanding raw talent, Jones worked extra hard in preparation for the Caprock game because he wanted to end the season in a special way. Besides, there was no chance for Borger to make the playoffs.

"He said, 'Coach, I want 300 yards.' I told him he had to work hard and be dedicated to achieve that," said coach Marty McClintock.

The night capped a 1,506-yard season, Jones' first on varsity.

McClintock said he knew Jones was good, but he wanted the youngster to get some experience at the new level before making him the focal point of the offense.

That plan lasted all of one game, then Jones started game two.

"I knew he was going to be a great running back, but I had to show a little restraint," said McClintock, who turned an 0-10 team into a 6-4 squad with four sophomore starters.

Corsicana coach Tom Wilson went with Sanford more out of necessity.

Wilson also hoped to slowly bring along his sophomore, but an injury to senior starter Jose Williams made Sanford the top tailback by game five.

Sanford's final weekend burst gave him 1,322 yards on the season and he's not finished yet. The Tigers play Henderson this weekend in the first round of the playoffs.

Wilson, a former Texas Tech quarterback and Texas A&M head coach, is in his first year of coaching Corsicana, more than 30 years after he was the Tigers' quarterback.

"He was ready when his time came," Wilson said. "We didn't have any idea he was going to be called on this early in his career, but it was very pleasing to see the results."

Sanford has set a school-record for yards in a season by an underclassman, breaking the mark set by former Kansas City Chief Bill Jones when he was a sophomore.

In other outstanding Week 10 performances:

-Jerod Douglas became Class 5A's all-time top rusher with in Converse Judson's 35-0 victory over San Antonio Madison, giving him 5,330 career yards. Lewisville's Paul Rice rushed for 5,270 yards from 1972 to 1974.

-Houston North Shore junior D'Andre' Hardeman rushed for 233 yards, giving him 2,031 for the season, smashing Carl Roaches' Houston-area Class 5A regular-season rushing record of 1,800 in a 30-20 loss to Kingwood.

-Alpine's Kevin Losoyo ran for 179 yards and TDs of 73, 44 and 61 yards on only four carries in a 51-7 victory over San Elizario.

-Alamo Heights quarterback Dayne Masters threw for 270 yards and three TDs and ran for 55 yards on seven carries in a 33-31 victory over New Braunfels made possible by his final TD toss, a 35-yarder to Tres Evans with 27 seconds left.

-Troup's Tony Kincade rushed for 305 yards and five TDs in a 33-31 victory in an 84-20 demolition of Union Grove. Troup's scored 46 points in the second quarter.

-Wellington sophomore Jason Mathis rushed 18 times for 280 yards and four TDs in a 48-28 victory over Memphis.

-Aaron Long helped Rising Star clinch a playoff spot by rushing 21 times for 307 yards and five touchdowns in a 57-20 victory over Evant.

-Brownwood's Hut Allred broke his own school rushing record by making 10 tackles, knocking down a pass and snatching a key interception in an 18-14 victory over Richland.

-Jacob Toon rushed for 314 yards and three TDs in Cooper's 42-20 victory over Prairiland.

-Rusty Steele helped Fort Worth Haltom reach the playoffs by making 10 tackles, knocking down a pass and snatching a key interception in an 18-14 victory over Richland.

-Gilmer's Chris Derrick scored six times, including once on a 63-yard kickoff return, in a 55-6 victory over Pittsburg.

-Gator Mauldin scored five TDs and rushed for 202 yards on 19 carries in Arp's 42-0 victory over Winona.

-Cedric Hodge rushed for 216 yards and three TDs and caught a 9-yard TD pass in Kemp's 27-7 over Grand Saline. He has 2,175 yards rushing and 29 TDs, leading Kemp into the playoffs for the first time since 1966 and the first winning season since 1978.

-Coleman's backfield of quarterback Lance Ransberger ran for two TDs and passed for two more and running back Ray Ballard rushed for four TDs in a 59-20 victory over Merkel.

-Abilene tackle Chris Melchor had eight tackles, caused two fumbles and recovered one in a 21-17 victory over Midland. His biggest contribution came on the three drives when Midland got inside the Abilene 10. Midland failed to score each time and Melchor was in on eight of the 12 plays.

-Jeff McCoy intercepted a pass, broke up three others, recovered a fumble, had eight unassisted tackles and assisted on three others in Cisco's 13-12 victory over San Saba.

-Stamford's Wayne Marsh intercepted three passes and caught another to thwart a two-point conversion attempt in a 14-6 victory over Haskell.

-Scott Worster, son of former Texas Longhorns star Steve Worster, blocked four passes and had a sack as Little Cypress-Mauriceville defeated Bridge City 10-6.

Bazaar planned Saturday

A variety of baked goods will be on sale at the Westway Christmas Bazaar planned from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. Among the groups featuring food items will be Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Discussing the event are chapter members, Brenda Ramey (standing), and Holy Bixler, Peggy Hyer and Charla Edwards (seated from left).

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A mother wrote to tell you that some of her children's friends had been kicked out of their homes. When you said those kids and their families should seek counseling, you were right on the mark. As a retired probation officer, may I suggest that you might also have addressed another point?

Children who have been on the run and are living on the streets can come up with some very convincing stories. A teenager who tells you that his or her parents were cruel and their home life was terrible may in fact be a truant, beyond parental control. When you take in such a youngster without the knowledge or consent of his parent or guardian, you may not only be contributing to that child's delinquency but be violating the law.

A runaway or street youth is often the subject of an outstanding warrant or a missing person's report. A family that wishes to help should first contact the child's school, the local social welfare agency or the police.

Situations are not always what they seem. Too many families believe they can solve the problem by simply taking the child in for a few days or weeks. In the vast majority of cases, they can't, and they end up doing more harm than good.—J.S.

DEAR J.S.: While your advice may be good for the long haul, I fail to see how it would be harmful to take in a kid for a day or two and give him or her a clean bed, some home-cooked food and a little good advice.

I agree, however, that the police should be notified since runaways could also be in trouble with the law, and by housing them, a person could get in trouble, too.

The next letter supports your position. Keep reading.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Before you condemn parents who have kicked out their teenagers, you'd be wise to get the whole story.

When my daughter was in her early teens, she ran away from home in a fit of anger. I learned almost immediately that she had been taken in by the family of one of her schoolmates.

When I called to thank them for giving her a place to stay until she cooled down, I encountered a level of hostility you would not believe. She had told them I ordered her out of the house and wouldn't let her come back.

Fortunately, they believed me when I told them she had not been truthful. I then wondered how many others she had fed the same line.

Ann, I'm signing my name, but please don't use it. My daughter and I have finally become friends, and I'd like to keep it that way.—Acworth, Ga.

DEAR AC: Your point—check out a runaway's story before you condemn the parents—is a good one. Thank you for adding some balance to the picture.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May we address the problem of the "starving" photographer? Your readers deserve to hear both sides.

We are paying $80 a plate for our reception of 120 people. We are also going to employ, besides the photographer, a deejay and his helper, a minister, a videographer and a few others. As you can see, this adds up. We're not the kind to point out a problem without offering a solution. Here it is. Dear Photographer: Take $10 out of your $1,000 profit and PACK A LUNCH!—Tampa

DEAR TAMPA: I received several letters from readers who shared your view, but most of them had language that was unprintable. Thanks for one I could use.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Photos can be used as bookmarks for your reading. I use my favorite photos, and it gives me great pleasure to recall all the wonderful memories I have of the subject.

You can use duplicate pictures you may have had developed. — Micki Scuderi, Fountain, Colo.

I love this hint since all of us probably have a drawer full of photos. Remember, the print will be more susceptible to fingerprints and bending, so be sure and use a duplicate.

CAUTION: Do not use instant prints as bookmarks; the developing chemicals are within the picture paper and could damage the book pages. — Heloise

FAST FACTS

Other uses for cat-box filler:
● Put in home and auto ashtrays to

- reduce odors.
- Use in a vase to anchor dried or silk flower stems.
- Carry in the trunk and use to aid tire traction on icy streets.
- Use to absorb fresh oil and grease on the driveway or garage floor.
- Keep in open containers in the basement to help remove musty odors.

GREETING CARDS

Dear Heloise: I have a hint which will save a lot of people a lot of time and hassle.

I bought a large pocket folder file (very inexpensive at a discount store, and labeled sections Get Well, Anniversary, Sympathy, Baby's Birthday, Weddings, etc. I then bought several cards of each type and filed them.

I'm always ahead of the game! — Kris Conway, Clinton, N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) - Rudolph Giuliani is bringing change to City Hall, but don't mess with "The House That Ruth Built."

The mayor-elect, who won a tight race last week, is an avid Yankees fan who doesn't like the idea of moving the team to greener pastures.

"I want to work very closely with the borough president to make certain that we keep the Yankees in the Bronx," Giuliani said Friday.

Yankee Stadium is a point of pride and controversy. Yankees owner George Steinbrenner has threatened to move the team because of parking problems and other difficulties.

"Yankee stadium is a magnet for New York City," Giuliani said. "It brings people into this city from all over the country and all over the world. New York City needs to keep the magnets that it has."

Giuliani defeated Mayor David Dinkins to become the city's first Republican mayor since 1965. During his campaign, Giuliani ran TV ads telling about his love of the Yankees, whose legendary players included Babe Ruth.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) - Retirement has been a racket lately for former President Bush - tennis racket, that is.

Bush met Gov. Pedro Rossello on Saturday at Fajardo's Conquistador Hotel for a tennis match. The former president won a celebrity doubles tournament last week in Florida, playing with retired pro Chris Evert.

Rossello is a former Puerto Rico tennis champion and represented the island in the 1962 Central American and Caribbean games.

Hotel spokeswoman Maria Eugenia Santiago said Bush and the governor talked pure tennis. "It had nothing to do with politics," she said.

The Newspaper BIBLE

INTRIGUE! CONSPIRACY! FOILED BY A LITTLE BOY!

That night the Lord stood beside Paul and said, "Don't worry, Paul; just as you have told the people about me here in Jerusalem, so you must also in Rome."

The next morning some 40 or more of the Jews got together and bound themselves by a curse neither to eat or drink until they had killed Paul! Then they went to the chief priests and elders and told them what they had done. "Ask the commander to bring Paul back to the Council again," they requested. "Pretend you want to ask a few more questions. We will kill him on the way."

But Paul's nephew got wind of their plan and came to the army and told Paul. Paul called one of the officers and said, "Take this boy to the commander. He has something important to tell him."

So the officer did, explaining, "Paul, the prisoner, called me over and asked me to bring this young man to you to tell you something."

The commander took the boy by the hand, and leading him aside asked, "What is it you want to tell me, lad?" "Tomorrow," he told him, "The Jews are going to ask you to bring Paul before the Council again, pretending they was to get some more information. But don't do it! There are more than 40 men hiding along the road ready to jump him and kill him. They have bound themselves under a curse to neither eat nor drink till he is dead. They are out there now, expecting you to agree to their request." "Don't let a soul know you told me this," the commander warned the boy as he left. Acts 23:11-22

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am very allergic to cigarette smoke, perfumes, colognes and commercial cleansers. Recently, I was hospitalized with a very severe attack of asthma. Just as I became stable, the nursing shift changed and to my horror the nurse assigned to me was drenched in perfume. Bingo! Another asthma attack. When the night shift came on, again I was bombarded by perfume and had still another attack; three attacks in a 24-hour period. The care was excellent, but respiratory patients should not be exposed to harmful substances that can exacerbate the severity of their condition.

DEAR READER: Many patients who have asthma do have an allergic form. And tobacco smoke is one of the worst offenders. That is why such people should not be subjected to standing in a line behind a smoker or otherwise forced to be exposed to the smoke. Patients with asthma or pulmonary conditions should not be exposed to the things they have reactions to. That includes perfume, if it is a problem, or fresh paint for others. It is important to tell your doctor what substances cause problems and ask that you be spared from exposure.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

QUESTION: Coral Perez, a fourth-grader at Bluebonnet Intermediate School, asks, "How are new queen bees made?"

ANSWER: Your question brings up many fascinating things about honey bees. In fact, so many that this week's and next week's articles will both delve into the societal life of the honey bees.

The colony of honey bees, which may number in excess of 25,000 bees, has but one queen, whose sole job is to lay eggs. During her life span, 7 to 8 years, she may lay over one million eggs.

Some eggs are not fertilized; these will develop into male bees, known as drones, whose job is to mate in flight with some future queen.

Drones do not work. In fact, they are so lazy that the worker bees have to feed them. They can't even defend themselves because they lack a stinger. Worker bees starve them to death during the winter to conserve food.

All other eggs laid by the queen are fertilized. Almost all become the female worker bees; the new queen can also result from one of these eggs.

All of the colony, except for the queen and a few drones, is made up of workers.

While drones take 24 days to emerge from the comb cell after the egg is laid, worker bees emerge after 21 days. Their first task is to feed the larva, make beeswax, clean house and help care for the queen.

Workers are later promoted to guards, where they protect the entrance to the hive from intruders.

Eventually, the workers are allowed to gather nectar and pollen, a very high energy consuming process.

Thus, workers only have a 5- to 8-week-long life span during the summer months.

Each fertilized egg which is to become a future queen bee is fed royal jelly by the workers during the entire larval stage. This very high protein food causes the queen to emerge 16 days after the egg is laid.

A colony can only have one queen. When a new queen emerges, some action must be taken by the old queen.

She will usually swarm; that is, take most of the workers with her and seek a new home.

She may choose to fight the new queen until one is dead from the sting of the other. Since the queen's stinger is smooth, it is not ripped out when used, as in the case of the workers. Consequently, her life continues.

If the new queen survives, she must take flight to mate with a drone from her colony or another.

She then returns to her hive to begin her job of laying eggs, having enough fertilizer from the drone to last her a lifetime.

The next time you eat honey, think of the number of trips the worker bees must have made to collect nectar.

Every time you eat one-tenth of a pound of honey, you are eating the amount of nectar one worker bee had to collect during her lifetime.

Honey bees are the only insects that make food that you and I can eat -- be sweet to them!

HHS graduates to compete in scholarship pageant

Dusty Saul, 18-year-old daughter of Roland and Sandra Saul, and Renee Sublett, 21-year-old daughter of John and Cynthia Sublett, will compete in this year's Miss Amarillo Area Scholarship Pageant set for 7 p.m. Saturday at the Amarillo Civic Center.

Miss Saul, a member of the 1993 graduating class at Hereford High School, is a freshman pre-law major at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. She was named second runner-up in last year's Miss Amarillo Area Scholarship pageant.

Renee Sublett is a junior at West Texas A&M University, majoring in English. She was graduated with the class of 1990 at Hereford High School and was Lt. Governor of Kiwanettes. The Miss Amarillo Area Scholarship Pageant is a part of the Miss Amarillo Pageant system. It is a non-profit organization, run solely by volunteers on state and local levels. The competition is based on talent and beauty as well as qualifications for college scholarships. The goal of the pageant is to assist Panhandle area women achieve their educational goals. Sponsors for the pageant include the Amarillo Civic Center, KFDA-TV, Stendhal Cosmetics, American Airlines, The Big Texan Steak Ranch and Fifth Seasons Inn East.

Miss Amarillo Area 1993 is Lisa Hayes of Borger. Gina Cox, Miss Amarillo Area 1992 and Mary Lyn Haley of KGNC-TV, will emcee this year's pageant.

For more information about the Miss Amarillo Area Scholarship Pageant, call (806)359-6680.

NEW YORK (AP) - Bryan Adams' latest project came in threes.

He made a video as part of a trio singing a song that had three writers for the upcoming movie "The Three Musketeers."

Adams said Friday that he wrote "All for Love" with Robert John Lange and Michael Kamen at Kamen's suggestion. Kamen suggested a trio, Adams said.

Rod Stewart and Sting were Adams' first choices.

PUMPKIN-MAPLE PIE

How can you make a traditional pumpkin pie even better? Accent the taste with pumpkin pie spice and maple flavor. Makes 8 servings.
1 can (16-ounce) solid pack pumpkin; 1 can (5-ounce) evaporated milk; 3/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon pure maple syrup; 3 eggs; 1 tablespoon, all-purpose flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons DURKEE or FRENCH'S Pumpkin Pie Spice; 1/2 teaspoon DURKEE or FRENCH'S Imitation Maple Flavor; 1 prepared 9-inch deep-dish pie shell*
In large bowl, whisk pumpkin, milk, 3/4 cup maple syrup, eggs, flour, pumpkin pie spice and maple flavor until blended. Pour filling into pie shell. Bake at 425° on lowest oven rack for 20 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 375°. Bake for additional 40 minutes or until knife inserted near the center comes out clean; cover crust with foil if needed to prevent excess browning. Remove pie from oven and brush filling with remaining maple syrup. Cool completely. Cut pie into wedges. If desired, serve with whipped cream sweetened with maple syrup and a pinch of pumpkin pie spice. Pie can be made 1 day ahead, chill. Prep time: 5 minutes, Bake time: 1 hour.
*Use homemade or frozen prepared pie shell, thawed.
Spice Tip: create an old-time treat. Sprinkle halves of acorn squash with DURKEE or FRENCH'S Pumpkin Pie Spice; drizzle with maple syrup before baking.
