Greenawalt, principals, others get contract extensions

School trustees approve raises for administrators, paraprofessionals

By SHERRI MARTIN
Staff Writer

A recommendation from Hereford ISD Superintendent Charles Greenawalt for a 4 percent salary increase for the superintendent, administrators and paraprofessionals was approved by trustees Monday night.

In other business, the trustees:
-- Appointed Karen Sherrod to serve as a board member in District 1.

-- Adopted a local policy that allows high school seniors who lack four or less credits for graduation to attend a minimum of four hours a day.

-- Approved a waiver to teach Algebra I-4 at Hereford High School.

-- Approved a waiver application for the Education Flexibility Demonstration Partnership Program.

The board went into executive session at 8:30 p.m. Monday to discuss administrator's salary increases and contract extensions, the superintendent's salary and contract, District 1 board member appointment and personnel report.

After 1-1/2 hours behind closed doors, the board emerged at 10 a.m.

and approved -- without comment -- the salary increases for Greenawalt, all other district administrators and paraprofessionals, and gave one-year contract extensions to the superintendent and administrators.

On a motion by Trustee Tracy Straughan and second by Trustee Charlie Arellano, the vote was 4-1 in favor of the salary increases and contract extensions.

Trustee Randy Tooley voted against it. Trustee Roy Dale Messer was present for much of the meeting, but left after the executive session and did not vote on the salary increases and contract extensions.

The salary increases total $74,639, which is included in the proposed budget.

Last year, administrators received a one-time $500 bonus, but no salary increase.

The last raise for administrators was in the 1993-94 school year, when they received a 4 percent hike.

With the extensions, Greenawalt is now under contract with the district through the 1998-99 school year.

Assistant superintendents, principals and other administrators are under contract through the end of the 1997-98 school year.

HHS Assistant Principal Linda Lowe, speaking in the public comment portion of the agenda, said the administrators' duties enable teachers to dedicate their time and energy to students.

She said the facts indicate that she is being penalized for being an administrator.

"My salary was increased only to the point that I will now make what a classroom teacher would make who was teaching on a 10-month contract. In other words, I will work one month free as an assistant principal," she said.

"Businesses don't punish their leaders, they reward them along with their employees. That's what makes them successful. Schools should do the same," Lowe said.

June Owens offered suggestions for cutting the budget.

She said the board should limit the number of days a teacher or administrator is away from their school duties.

She questioned the board on how much is spent on substitute teachers per year.

"I do not think you should give a percent raise across the board. You must look at employees with the same job description, number of years experience and certification," Owens said.

Looking at last year's employee salaries, she said there is a tremendous amount of gender and racial discrimination among employees with like job descriptions.

"Please do not raise the taxes in Hereford. The economy is not good. Look for more cuts. They are there," Owens said.

Mrs. Sherrod was appointed the new District 1 trustee on a unanimous 5-0 vote by the board.

She will fill the unexpired term of Cherry McWhorter, who resigned from the board after moving out of the district.

Mrs. Sherrod has a Master's degree in education from West Texas A&M University. She taught 11 years in Plainview and Roosevelt. She currently is executive director of the United Way of Deaf Smith County. Her husband, John, is president of FirstBank Southwest of Hereford.

In a letter to the trustees in which she expressed interest in the position, Mrs. Sherrod said, "Our young people are the most valuable assets that we have. Besides the home, the school has the largest responsibility and influence on our youth."

"I would like to build on all the positive things that are in our system which will hopefully reduce the negatives."

There were three other individuals who wrote to the board expressing interest in the seat: Angie Alonzo, who ran unsuccessfully for the District 5 seat last May, Julia Laing and Jim Haile.

In addressing class waiver, Greenawalt and the curriculum division recommended that seniors who lack four or fewer credits for graduation be required to attend a minimum of four hours daily.

The policy will let seniors work take college courses in addition to completing their high school requirements.

The goal of HHS, Greenawalt said, would be to provide schedules for seniors that would allow them to be in attendance during second and fifth periods for ADA (average daily attendance) purposes.

Greenawalt said Algebra I-4 is designed to help students who have trouble in math.

The waiver will allow students enrolled in Algebra I-4 to complete

Drought hurt crops, Perry says

AUSTIN (AP) - Production of cotton, corn, peanuts and hay in Texas are down from last year because of the ongoing drought, according to Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry.

Texas, the nation's top cotton-producing state, is estimated to produce 3.65 million bales, down 18 percent from last year and only the second time since 1990 that the Texas cotton crop would drop below 4 million bales, Perry said Monday.

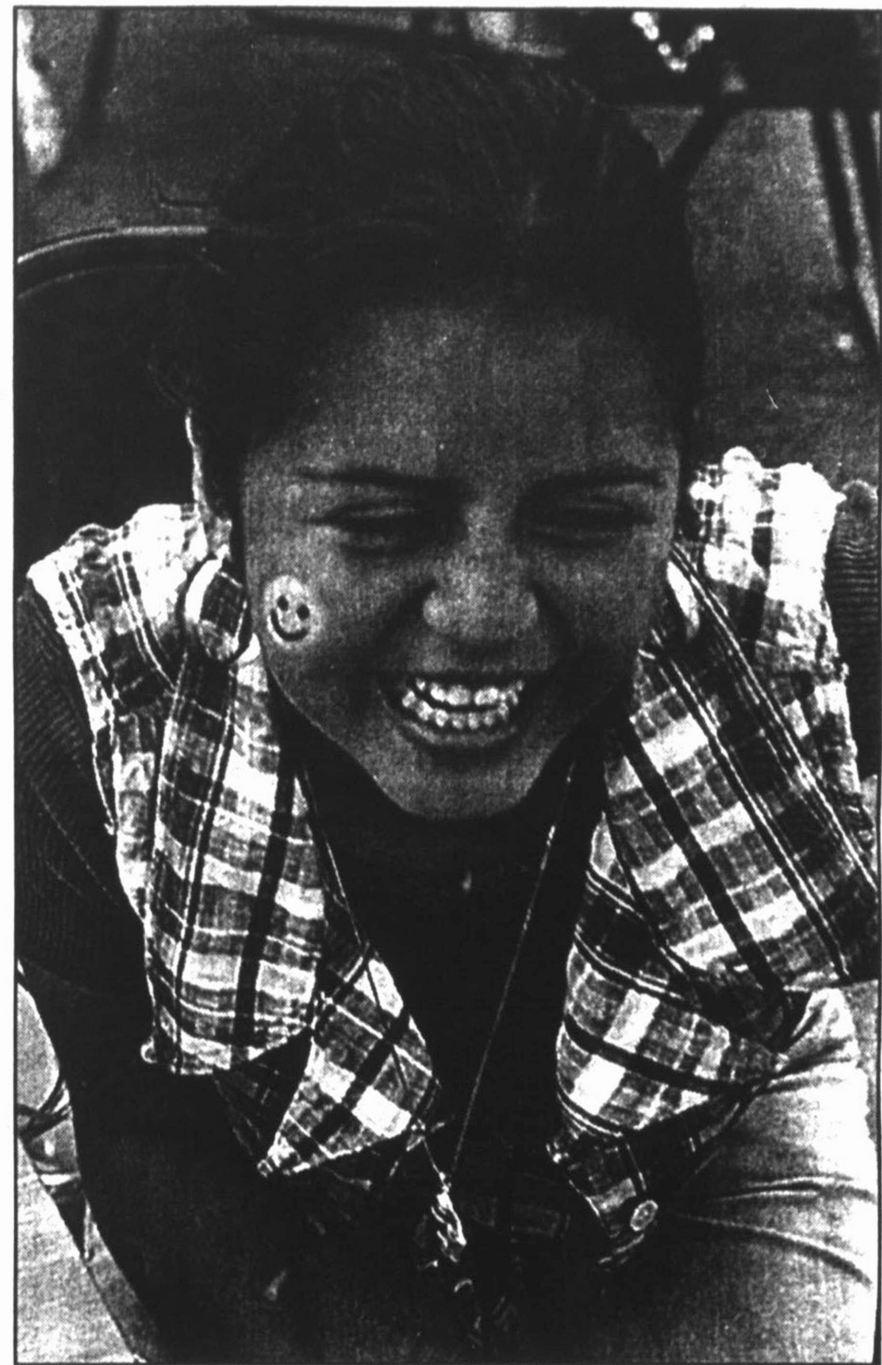

"These numbers tell us just how severe this drought has been and the toll it's taken on Texas crops," Perry said. "Right now, we're looking at more than 1 million acres of Upland cotton abandoned across the state because of drought-related problems."

Perry said more than 600,000 acres were abandoned on the southern High Plains, the state's largest cotton-producing area.

Upland cotton production on the southern High Plains is estimated at 1.95 million bales, down 5 percent from last year. Recent rains across the region have improved the condition of this year's crop, Perry said.

Texas corn production is estimated at 162 million bushels, down 25 percent from last year. Lack of timely rains during the growing season has reduced statewide yield, which is expected to average 90 bushels per acre, down 24 bushels from last year, he said.

Some corn producers in South Texas were not able to get a uniform stand because of dry planting conditions, and producers had to delay harvest in scattered areas, Perry said.

Junction brings Jubilee to close

By GARRY WESNER

As the August sun beat down on them, Sunny and Juston VanLandingham tried to win a prize in the Hereford Lions Club "bear pitch" booth.

Nearby, Brianna Flores sat back and sipped a cool drink as the heat radiated off the parking lot of Dameron Park.

At the other end of the parking lot, Community Christian School cheerleaders Karis Blain and Rachel Wilks concentrated as they painted funny faces, rainbows, shoe logos and names on the faces -- and other body parts -- of excited and anticipating children.

All these people -- and many, many more -- were on hand Saturday as the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce hosted the annual Town and Country Jubilee, featuring the Jubilee Junction in Dameron Park.

This year's Jubilee was moved to the east end of the park after rainwater that gathered in the center of the park rendered it unfit for the affair.

The change of venue didn't seem to stop people from attending, as hundreds turned out to eat a bite, play a game or just listen to the music and visit with friends.

Jubilee Junction was the high point of a week of activities that began Aug. 3 with the Hereford Cattlewomen's Beef Fajita Cookoff and ended Sunday with the Hereford Riders Club open play day.

Saturday, though, was the big event, beginning at 8 a.m. with the Greg Black Memorial 10K race, two-mile fun run and two-mile walk.

Dennis Dockery of Amarillo ran away with top honors in the 10K race, finishing in 39:15.

Hereford's Richard Martinez captured first place in the two-mile race.

The Jubilee Parade meandered through the center of town, featuring floats, riders, the Hereford High School Mighty Maroon Marching Band and much more.

Top prize there was won by Panhandle Community Services, which rode a piano-shaped float to Best Overall honors as well as a first-prize ribbon in the Commercial Division.

Other parade winners were: First

Assembly of God Church, first in Religious Division; Boy Scout Troop 50, first in Service Division; Hereford Soccer, first in Open Division; XIT Cellular, first in Best Theme Division; and Bob Kimbrough, first in Antique Car with his tractor.

Across town at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 73 quilts were entered in the Jubilee Quilt Show, sponsored by the Senior Citizens Association.

The winner in the Oldest Quilt Division was Mary M. Earnest for her family pattern quilt.

Patty Atchley won for Quilt Showing Most Work.

Most Unique was given to Bertha Tiefert for her sawtooth quilt.

The Judge's Choice award went to Regina Waltersheid for her fan quilt.

Judges for the quilt show were Audrey Powell, Juanita Coker and Jolene Bledsoe.

Winner of a raffle for a handmade quilt was Katrina Adams of Hereford.

Following the parade was Jubilee Junction.

During the Junction, several groups held raffles to raise funds for their programs and special projects.

Winner of the Community Christian School senior class gas grill raffle was Anita Taylor of Earth.

Also Saturday was the final day of the citywide Sidewalk Sale, during which residents could register to win a trip to Dallas and tickets for the Oct. 13 game between the Dallas Cowboys and Arizona Cardinals.

Winner of that prize was Wanice Jones, who registered at Peddler's Cove.

Saturday night, the Hereford Rider's Club held their Cowboy Rodeo in the club's arena at the Bull Barn.

The team from Terry Hill Cattle Company captured top honors in the rodeo. The team was made up of Loretta Camp, Pat Padilla, Royce Tippet, Norman Miller, Rob Barber and Herman Romero.

County panel OKs 3 percent tax hike

Budget of $3.7 million passed

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Deaf Smith County Commissioners approved a 1996-97 budget Monday that calls for a 3 percent tax increase, but the decision didn't come easy - it was adopted by a 3-2 vote.

After several months of discussion, Commissioners finally decided to include money in the budget for elevator repairs and new library carpet - rather than spreading out the payments over five years - as well as establishing a long-discussed longevity pay plan for county employees.

A tax rate of 53.5 cents per $100 valuation was adopted, a hike of 3 percent over the current rate of 52 cents. On a residence valued at $50,000, the hike would mean an extra $7.50 this year. The increase is expected to bring in approximately $77,829 more in tax revenues than last year.

As approved, the budget projects a surplus at year's end of $785,761 - a loss of $237,224 from this year's ending balance of just over $1 million.

County Judge Tom Simons optimistically predicted the balance at the end of the year would be more than projected, "as it has the past five years." Simons said the county has stayed under the projected expenditures each of those years.

Simons joined Commissioners Johnny Latham and Lupe Chavez in voting to approve the budget. All of the commissioners expressed support of the proposed budget, as well as the longevity pay, but Troy Don Moore and Tony Castillo voted against the proposal.

"I just don't think raising taxes is the right thing to do at this time," said

Castillo. Moore had lobbied to eliminate commissioners from the longevity pay plan and said that was his main reason for the "no" vote.

The new budget projects expenses of $3.7 million for the general fund and $871,514 for the road and bridge fund, or a total of $4.6 million. Tax revenues are projected at $2,672,129. Other general fund receipts total $1.1 million and road and bridge receipts total $565,000.

The longevity plan will add $68,970 to the budget this fiscal year, and payment for elevator repairs is estimated at $72,000. Eliminating commissioners from the longevity plan would have saved $4,445 this year.

The longevity plan provides an extra $10 a month for all county employees and elected officials after five years of service, up to a maximum of $125 a month. For example, an employee with eight years service will receive an extra $80 a month this year, then an extra $90 a month the following year. Simons estimated that about 75 to 80 employees will benefit from the plan this coming year. The court decided that a break-in-service forfeits the benefit. If an employee quits, then later goes back to work for the county, he starts over on his longevity.

In other business Monday, commissioners approved advertising for chemical and fuel bids, gave permission to cross a county road with a water line, appointed Telli Boozer to the Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority district committee, and formally agreed to participate in settlement of a civil litigation suit for price fixing against Mrs. Baird's Bakery.

Top float

Playing on the theme of "Orchestrating the Future," Panhandle Community Services entered this super-sized piano in the Town and Country Jubilee parade on Saturday. The float not only captured first place honors in the Commercial Division of the parade, it also was selected as the Best Overall in the parade.

UNDATED - The race for the White House in Texas is a dead heat between President Clinton and GOP challenger Bob Dole, whose addition of Jack Kemp as his running mate failed to impress most Texas voters, a new poll shows.

SAN ANTONIO - A federal judge has asked water users across the Edwards Aquifer region to voluntarily limit landscape watering to hand-held hoses and buckets in an effort to cut water usage.

HOUSTON - It didn't impress a Houston family when they learned that the six-foot-long python in the gym bag of an airline passenger in the seat in front of them was one of a kind.

AUSTIN - Bob Dole's choice of Jack Kemp for a running mate was a good choice - but not good enough to tip Texas into the GOP column, the head of President Clinton's state campaign says.

AUSTIN - Motorists covered by Allstate or Farmers insurance companies are about to get information about a lawsuit that could include millions of them.

AUSTIN - Production of cotton, corn, peanuts and hay in Texas are down from last year because of the ongoing drought, according to Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry.

SAN DIEGO - Texas Gov. George W. Bush, sharing the limelight with his family in his first national speech, called on Republicans to correct a culture that he says has turned its back on personal responsibility.

SAN DIEGO - If Republicans want to court women's votes, they better stop playing "the strong, silent type," says Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison. "We really are doing the things that will help the women of this country, but we don't talk about it," she said.

HOUSTON - The steering wheel is too hot to handle. The seat belt buckle can sear your skin. It's summer in Texas, and most Texans can't imagine coping without their auto air conditioners. The U.S. Customs Service says smugglers along the U.S.-Mexico border have found a way to capitalize on that need. The agency is reporting a surge in border seizures of illegal Freon.

SOUTHLAKE - In these parts, Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow have become folk legends as infamous young lovers who crisscrossed the South robbing and killing before their own violent deaths in 1934. Less celebrated are their victims. One woman, the widow of a Texas state trooper killed by the outlaw duo, hopes a new monument dedicated Monday will begin to change that.

Nation/World

SAN DIEGO - With an arsenal of big-screen videos, Republicans are ripping at President Clinton's record on taxes, the economy, crime and drugs - and arguing that Bob Dole has solid credentials to do a better job. Going into Day Two of the GOP convention, Republican chairman Haley Barbour said, "It may get loud, it may even get a little hot."

SAN DIEGO - After a season of wavering themes and distractions, Bob Dole finally has come to a terse, tested theme for the 12 campaign weeks ahead - tax cut. Those three-letter words will be the staple of the four-letter Dole-Kemp Republican ticket.

NEW ORLEANS - A record award to a Florida man who got lung cancer after smoking may be the first step in taking the tobacco industry down the same road that forced asbestos makers to pay billions of dollars in damages, anti-smoking groups say.

BETHESDA, Md. - Widely publicized as a sleep aid, melatonin is selling briskly at health food stores even though the hormone has not been proven scientifically safe or effective.

BUJUMBURA, Burundi - Even those who condemn Pierre Buyoya for seizing control of Burundi in his second military coup find reason to praise him. And even those who praise the Tutsi army major find reason to be suspicious. "Certainly at first sight, he's done a good job," said a Belgian authority on Burundi. "The problem is: Is he really what we think he is? He could be an excellent actor as well."

The class will be held during two periods and students will be given two credits for the course.

Corky Lockmiller, assistant superintendent, requested permission to allow the education support services division to participate in the ED-FLEX program as implemented by federal programs and the Texas Education Agency.

The waivers will reduce the paperwork associated with the administration of these grants. However, he said, it does not change the district's responsibility to seek the board approval of budget amendments.

While two employee complaints were on the agenda, trustees actually head only one complaint, from Nevelena Mendez.

Mendez, who has taught bilingual classes at Northwest Primary School for many years was upset over her reassignment to teach bilingual classes at Shirley Intermediate School for the 1996-97 school year.

No action was taken on the complaint.

A personnel attendance incentive program and Hereford Aquatic Center facility expenses were among the items on the discussion agenda.

Under the personnel attendance incentive program proposal, employees who have perfect attendance will be included in a drawing for a $500 cash award, which will be given away at each campus during the last week of the school year.

Due to the size of the campuses, Hereford High School and Hereford Junior High will have two $500 cash awards each.

Principals and central office administrators will issue recognition awards for perfect attendance each six weeks and each semester. The awards will be handed out at the annual Employee Appreciation Banquet in May.

The board directed assistant superintendent Nena Veazey to revise the plan to include teachers in a drawing for $250 cash awards at each campus at the end of each semester. Paraprofessionals on each campus would be included in a drawing for a $250 cash award at the end of the school year.

"I think it's a bigger disruption for students if their teacher is absent," Charest said.

While trustees are mainly concerned with the attendance of teachers, Tooley said he would like to see a smaller incentive plan implemented for support staff personnel.

"I think it's important for all the staff to be there," Arellano said.

City Manager Chester Nolen requested $61,000 from the district to fund operating expenses at the Hereford Aquatic Center this fiscal year.

Of the $61,000, $39,500 would be used for operating and maintenance expenses. The city has employed

Danny Kilanowski to teach swimming lessons to students at the Aquatic Center. The city is requesting the district to pay the instructor's salary of $22,000.

Because the city request was a discussion item, no action was taken.

The board directed Greenawalt to put the 1996-97 budget on the discussion agenda for Aug. 27, the next regular meeting.

Trustees encouraged the public to attend that session to provide input on the budget.

The final approval of the budget and tax rate is set for a special meeting on Aug. 30.

'Improved' power proposal offered by Golden Spread Electric Co-Op

Golden Spread Electric Cooperative, Inc., has asked the Public Utility Commission of Texas for time to evaluate an "improved" proposal for a major new electric power generating station to be constructed at Denver City for service beginning in mid-1998.

The proposal is offered jointly by Southwestern Public Service Co. subsidiary Quixx Corporation and by LS Power, LLC, of St. Louis, Mo. The two propose to be part owners with Golden Spread - of a natural gas-fueled station that eventually would generate 488 megawatts of power.

Golden Spread would own 50 percent of the plant, with Quixx and LS Power owning 25 percent each. The station would be called Mustang Station.

Quixx, LS Power, SPS, the PUCT's general counsel and Denver City joined Golden Spread in the request, filed Aug. 7, for time for the cooperative to review the proposal.

Golden Spread, which is the power supplier for 11 member rural electric co-ops in the High Plains and Panhandle of Texas, and the panhandle of Oklahoma, in late 1995 incorporated an affiliate cooperative to construct a 400-megawatt generating plant at Denver City.

In May 1996, the corporation reported to the PUCT that it was reviewing alternative proposals for the new electrical supply station.

Last Wednesday, Golden Spread told the PUCT it "has pursued improvements in" the alternative proposals, "and has received a joint proposal from Quixx and LS Power which would satisfy Golden Spread's power requirements... (and) may be the most attractive" means for the cooperative to supply future electric power needs of its co-op members.

Robert W. Bryant, Golden Spread president, said, "The LS Power/Quixx proposal may well provide the lowest-cost future power supply for the 94,000 retail member/consumers served by the Golden Spread member systems."

Ann Landers

Reader has advice, good news for man with alcoholic wife

Dear Ann Landers: This is for "Sick At Heart," whose wife is an alcoholic. We, too, were sick, in body, mind and spirit. We are recovering woman alcoholics who meet on a regular basis to share our experience and give one another strength and hope.

Many of us drank like your wife -- we can identify with her fear, denial, shame and guilt. Denial is the hallmark of this condition, and it will kill her and your marriage. Threats from you or her doctor will not make her stop drinking. What she fears most is one day (any day) without her booze.

The good news is that there is help available for her and for you. Here in central Mississippi, there are more than 200 Alcoholics Anonymous meetings weekly. In your letter to Ann, you said, "The nearest meetings are not very close to me." Just how far do you drive to shop at a mall or a hardware store or attend a ballgame? If the town has a Wal-Mart, it probably has AA and Al-Anon meetings.

Finally, don't wait for your wife to suddenly wake up and ask for help. Get help for her and for yourself. Alcoholism is a disease, not a disgrace. Call the National Council on Alcoholism for information about meetings. You (and she) do not have to continue this nightmare alone. There are a great many people who are eager to help you. -- Sober Southern Sister in Jackson, Miss.

Dear Sober Sister: I hope the man with the alcoholic wife will take your advice. No one knows that road as well as one who has traveled it, and you certainly have. Thanks for being so kind and generous.

Dear Ann Landers: I am sending you an article from today's paper about a robbery here in Oklahoma City, where two men forced their way into a home and stole $2,900, food stamps and jewelry from an unlocked safe.

My question is this: Why did this lady have food stamps if she had jewelry and $2,900 in cash? My husband works two jobs to support us, and we have NEVER had that much money in cash at one time. Add to this the fact that her husband is currently in the county jail. This sounds like a drug house to me.

It burns me up that we pay an arm and a leg in taxes to support people who obviously don't need our help. Comment, please? -- Name Withheld

Dear N.W.: There always will be people who manage to slip through the system. No system is airtight and foolproof. Welfare cheats are an old story.

Rest assured, however, that the vast majority of welfare recipients are not crooks and goldbrickers. They would much rather be self-supporting. But in spite of our great prosperity, many people can't find jobs.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife goes to bed at midnight and sleeps until noon. When I ask her to get up, she says she loves her sleep and needs a little more of it. I resent the fact that she is sleeping half of her life away and I see so little of her.

I make the morning coffee and feed the cat, the birds and the fish before I go to work. None of the men at work have wives who sleep 'til noon. Is it possible that a person can get too much sleep? -- Schenectady, N.Y.

Dear Schenectady: Not all people have the same body clock. Some individuals require more sleep than others. Margaret Thatcher trained herself to get along on five hours a night. Nelson Mandela gets seven.

In your wife's case, however, 12 hours seems excessive. It suggests that she may be clinically depressed. "Hiding" in bed from the real world is not uncommon.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' booklet, "Gems," is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $5.25 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $6.25.)

W.T. Stars lose in AAU tourney consolation

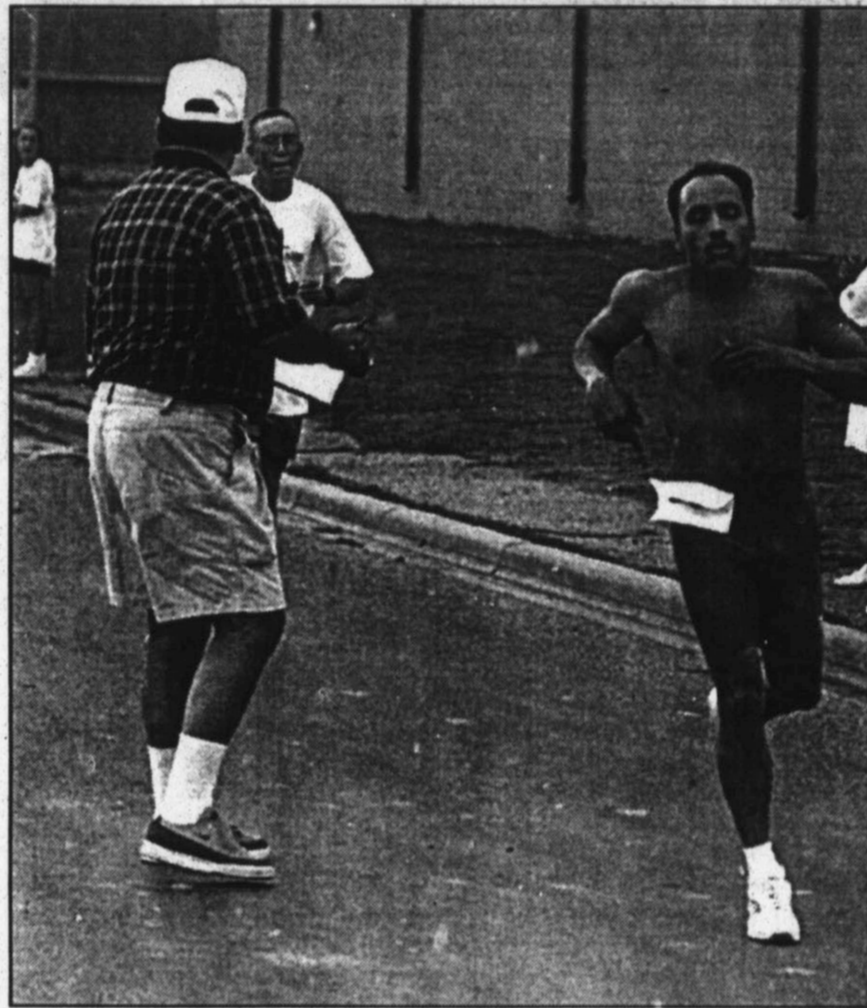

The West Texas Stars, composed mostly of Hereford and Amarillo boys, won one game and lost a pair in consolation play this past week at the National AAU 10-under Boys' Basketball Tournament in Greensboro, N.C.

The Hereford players returned home about midnight Sunday, according to Coach Frank Griffin, who said the team "had a great time and saw some good basketball games."

Agreement near by owners, players

NEW YORK (AP)--Baseball players and owners remained on the verge of a deal Monday, the second anniversary of the start of the strike that wiped out the 1994 World Series and part of the following season.

The sides met for 1 hour, 15 minutes Monday night and discussed the remaining obstacles to a collective bargaining agreement.

Two-Mile Run winner

Richard Martinez of Hereford won the two-mile run which was held as part of the Greg Black Memorial 10-K Run event here Saturday. Martinez had a winning time of 11:23.

'Pathetic' Cowboys routed by Patriots

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP)--The Dallas Cowboys have to remind themselves they are the Super Bowl champions after the way they've played in the last two preseason games.

"It's been pathetic," quarterback Troy Aikman said. "The offense has been off. The only saving grace is that this is the preseason."

Hason Graham returned the second-half kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown and the New England Patriots beat the Cowboys for the first time in franchise history 31-7 in an exhibition game Monday night.

Dallas had beaten the Patriots all six times they have met in the regular season and once in an exhibition game.

The loss comes on the heels of a 32-6 loss to Kansas City a week ago in Monterrey, Mexico.

"I would expect the starters to see more time next Saturday (against Denver)," Aikman said. "I would expect to be in there as much as a half, and I would think that the other starters would be in there with me. We're playing without Michael Irvin and Jay Novacek, but there is still no excuse for the way we played."

New England coach Bill Parcells, who faces the Cowboys again on Dec. 15 in the regular season, said the Patriots shouldn't be overwhelmed by the victory.

"It's a win, but it's just a preseason game," he said. "I looked out there and didn't see Emmitt Smith playing for Dallas, but I'm glad we moved the ball against their defense. We still did too many dumb things."

Smith, who signed an eight-year, $48 million contract extension earlier in the day, did not play for the Cowboys.

"We ran the ball well, and that is a good sign," Patriots quarterback Drew Bledsoe said. "The Cowboys are a better team than they showed. When we play in December, it will be a different game."

The Cowboys dropped to 1-2 in the exhibition season. New England evened its preseason mark at 1-1.

The Patriots built a 10-0 halftime lead, driving 49 yards in nine plays the first time they had the ball and scoring on a 3-yard pass from Bledsoe to tight end John Burke, who beat linebacker Jim Schwantz. Adam Vinatieri kicked a 39-yard field goal for the Patriots in the second quarter.

Graham, a second-year wide receiver from Georgia, rode a wave of good blocking down the right sideline for the touchdown that broke the game open.

Jimmy Hitchcock's interception of a pass by Wade Wilson at the Dallas 31 positioned New England for a short drive capped by Dave Meggett's 2-yard run, and Corey Croom scored from a yard out for the third touchdown of the third period for the Patriots, making it 31-7.

Dallas coach Barry Switzer wasn't happy.

Bullets get Howard; Heat gets burned

LANDOVER, Md. (AP)--Juwana Howard got his money and the Washington Bullets got their man.

The Miami Heat got burned.

Howard's unusual basketball odyssey ended Monday at the US Air Arena, where the All-Star forward was the focal point of a news conference that two weeks earlier seemed like an impossibility.

The Bullets' top pick in the 1994 draft, Howard played two years in Washington before becoming a free agent after the 1995-96 season. He expressed a desire to re-sign with the Bullets, but the team didn't offer him anywhere near the seven-year, $100.8 million contract tendered by the Heat.

Howard signed with Miami on July 13, and days later donned a Heat cap at a news conference in which he spoke longingly of playing for coach Pat Riley.

But the NBA ruled that Miami exceeded the salary cap in signing Howard and voided the deal on Aug. 1. Five days later the league cleared the way for the Howard to re-sign with the Bullets, and the contract became official Saturday night.

Howard ended up with the virtually the same deal he received from Miami, while the Bullets saved face after being criticized by fans and the media for letting Howard escape. The Heat, meanwhile, got nothing.

Ask Cecil Oglesby about his cellular service!

It brings the field a whole lot closer to the home office.

Cecil Oglesby has been in the farm implement business long enough to see some vast changes in both the equipment he sells and the equipment he uses to keep ahead of the difficult times his industry is going through.

As the owner of Oglesby Equipment Company, Inc., Oglesby says the cellular phone has been one of those new tools that helps his business meet today's growing challenges.

"We have five cellular phones here at our company, and they save us lots of mileage on our vehicles," he said. "The phones are more versatile than the two-way radio, and they sure save us a bunch of time when we're on the road for service or sales calls."

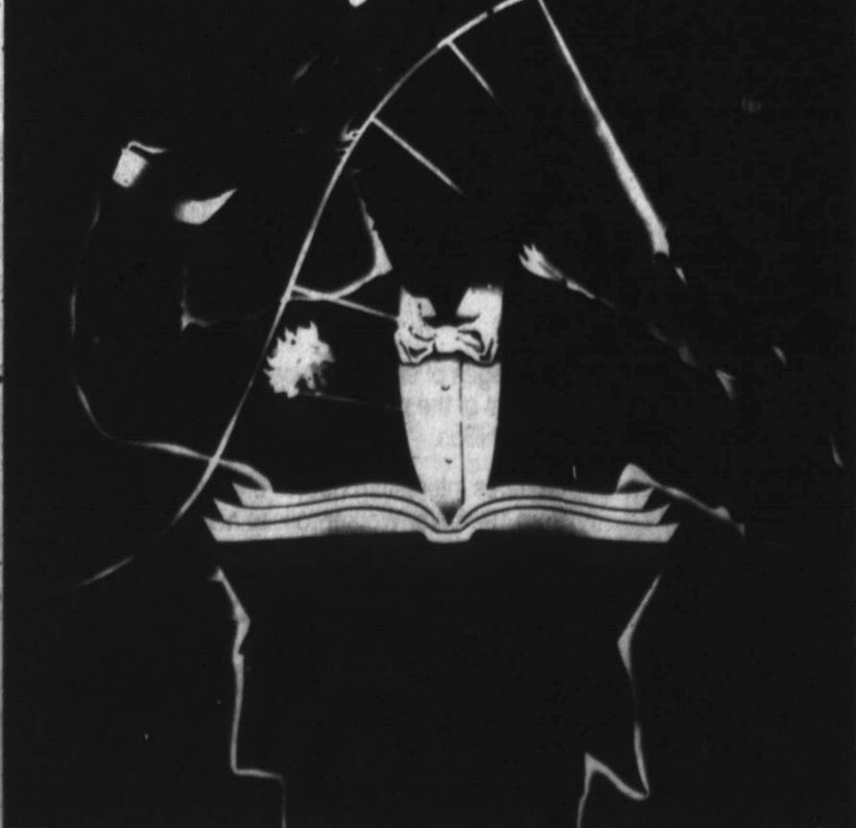

"We switched over to XIT Cellular because their rate structures were better suited to our needs than other cellular providers we had used earlier," he said. "We've been very happy with XIT."

Expos beat Astros after 'brawl in Montreal'

By The Associated Press
 Danny Darwin, a veteran of 21 major league seasons, is from the old school.

On Monday night, he tried to teach Henry Rodriguez a lesson. "I have respect for hitters and I think hitters should have respect for pitchers," said Darwin, who touched off a wild brawl in the Houston-Montreal game at Olympic Stadium.

"I'm having a bad game, No. 1, and he shows me up," Darwin said. "Maybe I'm from the old school, but there's no room in baseball for that."

The game, won 8-1 by the Expos, featured seven ejections, including Astros manager Terry Collins - who received a nasty gash above the lip that required four stitches to close, the result of a thrown batting helmet during the melee. "Danny took offense that the guy hit a home run and stood at the plate," Collins said. "But that's the way things are done today, and it's not right."

In other games, Los Angeles held off Cincinnati 6-5 and Chicago beat New York 11-1. The Atlanta at Philadelphia game was rained out.

Rodriguez hit his 30th home run in the second inning, and Darwin thought he took too much time admiring it.

The next inning, Darwin allowed a two-run double to Moises Alou and a two-run homer to Darrin Fletcher, giving the Expos a 6-1 lead.

Then up came Rodriguez and the stage was set. Darwin hit Rodriguez and the benches emptied, with the ensuing 10-minute brawl spilling all over the Olympic Stadium infield. It was 20 minutes before umpires sorted out matters and the game resumed.

Collins was struck while trying to pull Astros pitcher Shane Reynolds away from Moises Alou.

Rodriguez knew something was coming when he went to bat in the third.

"I knew I was going to get hit," said Rodriguez, whose homer made him the fifth Expo to reach the 30-homer mark in a season. "Maybe I made a mistake and watched the ball, but I'm not the first guy to do that." Darwin, who didn't admit to hitting Rodriguez intentionally, defended his actions, blaming it on young players trying to showboat.

Darwin, May, Collins and John Cangelosi of the Astros were ejected. Rodriguez, Moises Alou and Jeff Juden of the Expos were thrown out.

Lost in the brawl was the performance of Expos starter Mark Leiter.

Leiter (6-10) pitched a three-hitter to win his second straight start.

He allowed Brian Hunter's leadoff homer in the first - his major league-leading 31st home run surrendered - but held the Astros to just two more hits the rest of the way.

Dodgers 6, Reds 5
 Mike Piazza boosted his NL-leading batting average to .343 with a home run and an RBI double as Los Angeles won its third in a row at Riverfront Stadium.

Ramon Martinez improved to 100-69 lifetime by beating Cincinnati for the seventh straight time in the regular season.

The Dodgers hung on for the victory as the Reds' three-run rally in the ninth inning fell short when Kevin Mitchell grounded out with runners on first and third to end it. Todd Worrell got his 30th save.

The Dodgers got three hits on balls that popped out of outfielder's gloves. Cubs 11, Mets 1

Ryne Sandberg hit his 20th home run and Jaime Navarro beat the Mets for the third time this season as Chicago won at Shea Stadium.

Sandberg hit a two-run shot and Brian McRae had a solo home run. The Cubs got 12 hits and also took advantage of three wild pitches and five walks.

McGwire hits two homers for A's; Rangers record another shutout

By BEN WALKER
 AP Baseball Writer

On a night when Mark McGwire moved closer to home run history, Oakland teammate Geronimo Berroa put himself in baseball's record book.

Berroa became the 10th player to hit three homers twice in a season and McGwire hit his 40th and 41st home runs of the year as the Athletics overwhelmed the Minnesota Twins 11-1 Monday.

"I just swing hard, that's all," Berroa said.

The last player to have a pair of three-homer games in a year was Cecil Fielder for Detroit in 1990. When it comes to home runs, however, this season belongs to McGwire and the A's.

McGwire leads the majors despite missing 30 of Oakland's 120 games. He needs 20 more home runs to match Roger Maris' mark of 61 set in 1961.

The A's lead the majors with 193 home runs and are on a pace to break the record of 240 by Maris and those '61 Yankees.

"There's no one formula we've got going," Terry Steinbach said of his fellow Athletics. "One thing about this lineup is we don't have to rely on one guy to get them for us."

In other games, Cleveland downed California 5-4, Kansas City stopped Seattle 10-4, Chicago defeated New York 3-2 in 10 innings, Texas beat Detroit 7-0 and Toronto topped Boston 5-1. The Milwaukee at Baltimore game was rained out.

McGwire and Berroa connected for consecutive home runs in the first inning against Rich Robertson (5-11). Berroa hit a three-run homer in the third and hit his 29th of the season, a solo drive, in the eighth.

Rangers 7, Tigers 0
 Ken Hill pitched his third shutout of the season and Darryl Hamilton went 4-for-4 as Texas won at home.

Hill won a day after John Burkett shut out Toronto, giving Texas consecutive complete-game shutouts for the first time since Bobby Witt and Nolan Ryan combined to blank California on Sept. 29-30, 1989.

The Rangers extended their scoreless streak to 26 innings and won their fourth in a row. Hamilton and Rusty Greer homered for Texas. Detroit was blanked for the second straight day.

Indians 5, Angels 4

Albert Belle put Cleveland ahead with his bat, and helped preserve the lead with his glove as the Indians won at California.

Belle, in an 8-for-59 slump, hit a two-run single in the third inning. That gave him a major league-leading 110 RBIs and gave Cleveland a 3-1 lead.

In the eighth, Belle jumped above the left-field fence and robbed Chili Davis of a three-run homer.

Royals 10, Mariners 4

Rookie Mike Sweeney hit his first major league homer, capping a seven-run sixth inning at the Kingdome as Kansas City sent Seattle to its seventh straight loss.

Sweeney stopped an 0-for-17 slump with his three-run shot off

Jamie Moyer (8-2). Moyer made two throwing errors in the sixth, setting up six unearned runs in the inning.

Kevin Appier (11-7) won his sixth consecutive decision. He has won seven in a row against the Mariners. White Sox 3, Yankees 2, 10 innings
 Harold Baines hit his second game-ending home run off John Wetteland this season, leading Chicago over New York at Comiskey Park.

Baines' 19th homer was a solo shot with one out in the 10th. On May 11, he hit a two-run homer off the Yankees closer in the ninth for a 7-5 victory.

Yankees starter Dwight Gooden has allowed only seven earned runs in his last 60 2-3 innings, but has four straight no-decisions.

Blue Jays 5, Red Sox 1

Pat Hentgen came within one out of his major league-leading fourth shutout as Toronto beat Boston at SkyDome.

Hentgen (14-7), who gave up eight runs against the Red Sox last Wednesday, blanked them until Darren Bragg's RBI single with two outs in the eighth.

Jacob Brumfield homered, doubled twice and drove in three runs. The Blue Jays ended their three-game losing streak and stopped Boston's four-game winning string.

Smith gets 8-year, $48 million contract

IRVING, Texas (AP)—Jerry Jones finally got it right.

It took three contract negotiations with Emmitt Smith before the Dallas Cowboys owner realized he couldn't negotiate with his star running back like it was an oil and gas deal.

Smith, twice involved in bitter contract disputes with Jones, got an eight-year contract worth $48 million including an NFL-record $15 million bonus Monday.

"I learned from the last two times," Jones said. "I made some mistakes. And I learned from them."

Smith refused to come to the Cowboys training camp his rookie year until Jones settled just before the first game of the regular season. Smith missed the first two games of the 1993 season, which the Cowboys lost, before Jones realized he had miscalculated his running back's resolve and quickly settled.

"No deal is ever easy," Smith said. "Things went wrong the first two times. Egos got involved. But Jerry did the right thing this time."

"I didn't want the whole elephant. I wanted to leave room for Jerry to bring in other players."

Jones wouldn't say how he manipulated the salary cap dollars to make the deal. But he said the NFL would give it a green light.

Jones will get about a $500,000 rebate from the NFL on the salaries of suspended Michael Irvin and Shante Carver. Smith will count about $3 million against the salary cap this year.

"This is going to cost us so much I may have to stop construction on my house," Jones quipped.

Jones has been paying big bucks for his star players.

Quarterback Troy Aikman signed an eight-year deal worth $50 million, which included an $11 million bonus. Deion Sanders signed a seven-year contract worth a total $35 million, including a bonus of $12.999 million last September.

Smith had challenged Jones to "do the right thing."

"Jerry did the right thing," Smith said. "All of his words became reality today. I had a lot of faith in Jerry."

Smith has been the NFL's leading rusher four times and has been the NFL MVP and a Super Bowl MVP.

"We're happy Emmitt is going to be with the Cowboys as long as he plays the game of football," Jones said.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
 Today is Tuesday, August 13, the 226th day of 1996. There are 140 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
 On August 13, 1961, Berlin was divided as East Germany sealed off the border between the city's eastern and western sectors in order to halt the flight of refugees. Two days later, work began on the Berlin Wall.

On this date:
 In 1521, Spanish conqueror Hernando Cortez captured present-day Mexico City from the Aztec Indians.
 In 1624, French King Louis XIII named Cardinal Richelieu his first minister.
 In 1704, the Battle of Blenheim was fought during the War of the Spanish Succession, resulting in a victory for English and Austrian forces.
 In 1818, suffragist Lucy Stone was born in West Brookfield, Mass.

 In 1846, the American flag was raised for the first time in Los Angeles.
 In 1899, movie director Alfred Hitchcock was born in London.
 In 1910, Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing, died in London.
 In 1932, Adolf Hitler rejected the post of vice chancellor of Germany, saying he was prepared to hold out "for all or nothing."
 In 1934, the satirical comic strip "Li'l Abner," created by Al Capp, made its debut.
 In 1942, Walt Disney's animated feature "Bambi" premiered at Radio City Music Hall in New York City.
 In 1946, 50 years ago, author H.G. Wells died in London.
 In 1960, the first two-way telephone conversation by satellite took place with the help of Echo 1.

In 1989, searchers in Ethiopia found the wreckage of a plane which had disappeared almost a week earlier while carrying Texas Congressman Mickey Leland and 15 other people - there were no survivors.
Ten years ago: The Senate approved President Reagan's request for $100 million in aid to the Nicaraguan contras.
Five years ago: Clark Clifford resigned as chairman of First American Bankshares Inc., a bank holding company the government said had been illegally acquired by the Bank of Credit and Commerce International. (Clifford and law partner Robert Altman were indicted in 1992 on charges of lying to regulators and receiving bribes from BCCI; Altman was acquitted at trial, and remaining charges against both men were dropped.)

One year ago: Baseball Hall of Famer Mickey Mantle died at a Dallas hospital of rapidly spreading liver cancer; he was 63.
Today's Birthdays: Television evangelist Rex Humbard is 77. Cuban President Fidel Castro is 70. Actor Pat Harrington is 67. Singer Don Ho is 66. Former U.S. Surgeon General Jocelyn Elders is 63. Opera singer Kathleen Battle is 48. Singer Dan Fogelberg is 45. Actor Danny Bonaduce is 37. Actress Quinn Cummings is 29.
Thought for Today: "You should avoid making yourself too clear even in your explanations." -- Baltasar Gracian, Spanish philosopher (1601-1658).

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My mother fell and broke her hip recently. I live in another city, but I flew in to see if I could help. When I got home, mom was there, doing nicely, thank you. I always heard horror stories about hip fractures in older women. I was surprised to find out they did the surgery the day after the accident. It was all such a surprise. Isn't the day after cutting things a bit thin? What can we expect next? — Mrs. N.I.

ANSWER: Modern thinking favors having surgery as soon after the fracture as possible — within 24 to 48 hours. It is not at all unusual today for a patient to sit up in a chair within 24 hours and walk with assistance within 48 hours.

Early surgery and prompt rehabilitation have proved their value. The longer the immobile phase the less likely the formation of leg vein clots becomes.

You ask what lies in store. Grim post-fracture predictions surrounding the elderly are not inevitable. In fact, about 70 percent of broken-hip patients resume walking, and another 12 percent or so can walk on a limited basis after surgery.

Of the remaining non-ambulatory patients, many reflect non-fracture causes such as unrelated pre-existing illnesses.

For a discussion of the sometimes deleterious aspects of bed rest, see the Health Letter report on the subject. For a copy, send $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (65 cents) No. 10 envelope to: Dr. Donohue — SR128, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I recently read a reader letter regarding Legg-Perthes disease. My son had this a few years ago. He was only 10. We took him in for inspection of a limp. We could relate to what you had to say about the illness and its treatment. You did not mention surgery, which my son underwent. We were given a choice — bracing or surgery. We opted for surgery, and today my son is doing well and is in several sports. We were surprised that you didn't mention surgery. — S.K.

ANSWER: Legg-Perthes disease is a crumbling of the topmost part of the hipbone. It's most commonly seen in children up to 12 years. A limp and hip pain usually bring the child to medical attention. The cause is not clear.

We do know that with Legg-Perthes, a natural spontaneous replacement of dead bone with new normal bone usually occurs. That justifies a waiting and watching stance in the early stage.

Some patients require casting, with surgery reserved for preventing deformity of the hipbone itself.

With all factors considered, opting for surgery has one great advantage: The post-surgical healing period can take as little as a few months. If casting is done, the recovery period is measured in years, about two.

Why didn't Dr. Donohue go into all this earlier? He was asleep at the switch, that's why.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I wrote before and have watched the paper since then. I'll repeat my question. Does it rest your heart more at night if you sleep on your back or on the side? — J.S.

ANSWER: Your heart doesn't care whether you sleep on your side, back or front. The main concern is comfort. If you're comfortable, your heart will be very bit as comfortable.

I am sorry for the delay in getting this information to you.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him at P.O. Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Recently one of my clients had her wallet stolen. Along with the money, she lost items like credit cards, driver's license, health insurance cards and all the other items that people usually carry around with them.

She had a problem remembering everything that was in her wallet and had a hard time reconstructing a complete inventory so she quickly could notify everyone and get replacements.

It only takes a few minutes to take all the items one carries in a wallet and make copies, front and back, of them on one or two regular-size pages. This information can then be kept in a safe place and be used when necessary to quickly contact third parties and get replacements.

— Eric Hoefnagel, Dallas

SELF-SERVE GAS STATION
Dear Heloise: I keep plastic, one-size-fits-all gloves (like food handlers use) in the glove compartment. After I finish pumping gas I throw the glove away on the way into the kiosk to pay.

I bought a pack of 100 the other day from a restaurant-supply store for less than $3 and enclose a sample.
 — Warren Ring, Naples, Fla.

AN ORGANIZED DRAWER
Dear Heloise: After years of frustration trying to keep my lingerie drawer organized and the slippery fabrics unwilling to stay folded in the neat order I placed them, I purchased bright-colored rectangular plastic mesh baskets at my local department store and proceeded to organize the lingerie.

Now, this is the best-organized drawer in my bedroom. The drawer holds four mesh baskets of hosiery, briefs, bras and miscellaneous. What is so nice about this is that now I can easily rotate usage of undergarments, and I can place them in some semblance of order.

No more jumbles of lingerie, which literally floated away at a touch. I found these baskets so helpful that I organized my husband's sock drawer. Now that was an event! — Dixie Mann, Portland, Ind.

ANOTHER WAY
Dear Heloise: Recently you ran several suggestions for ways to distinguish fax numbers from phone numbers.

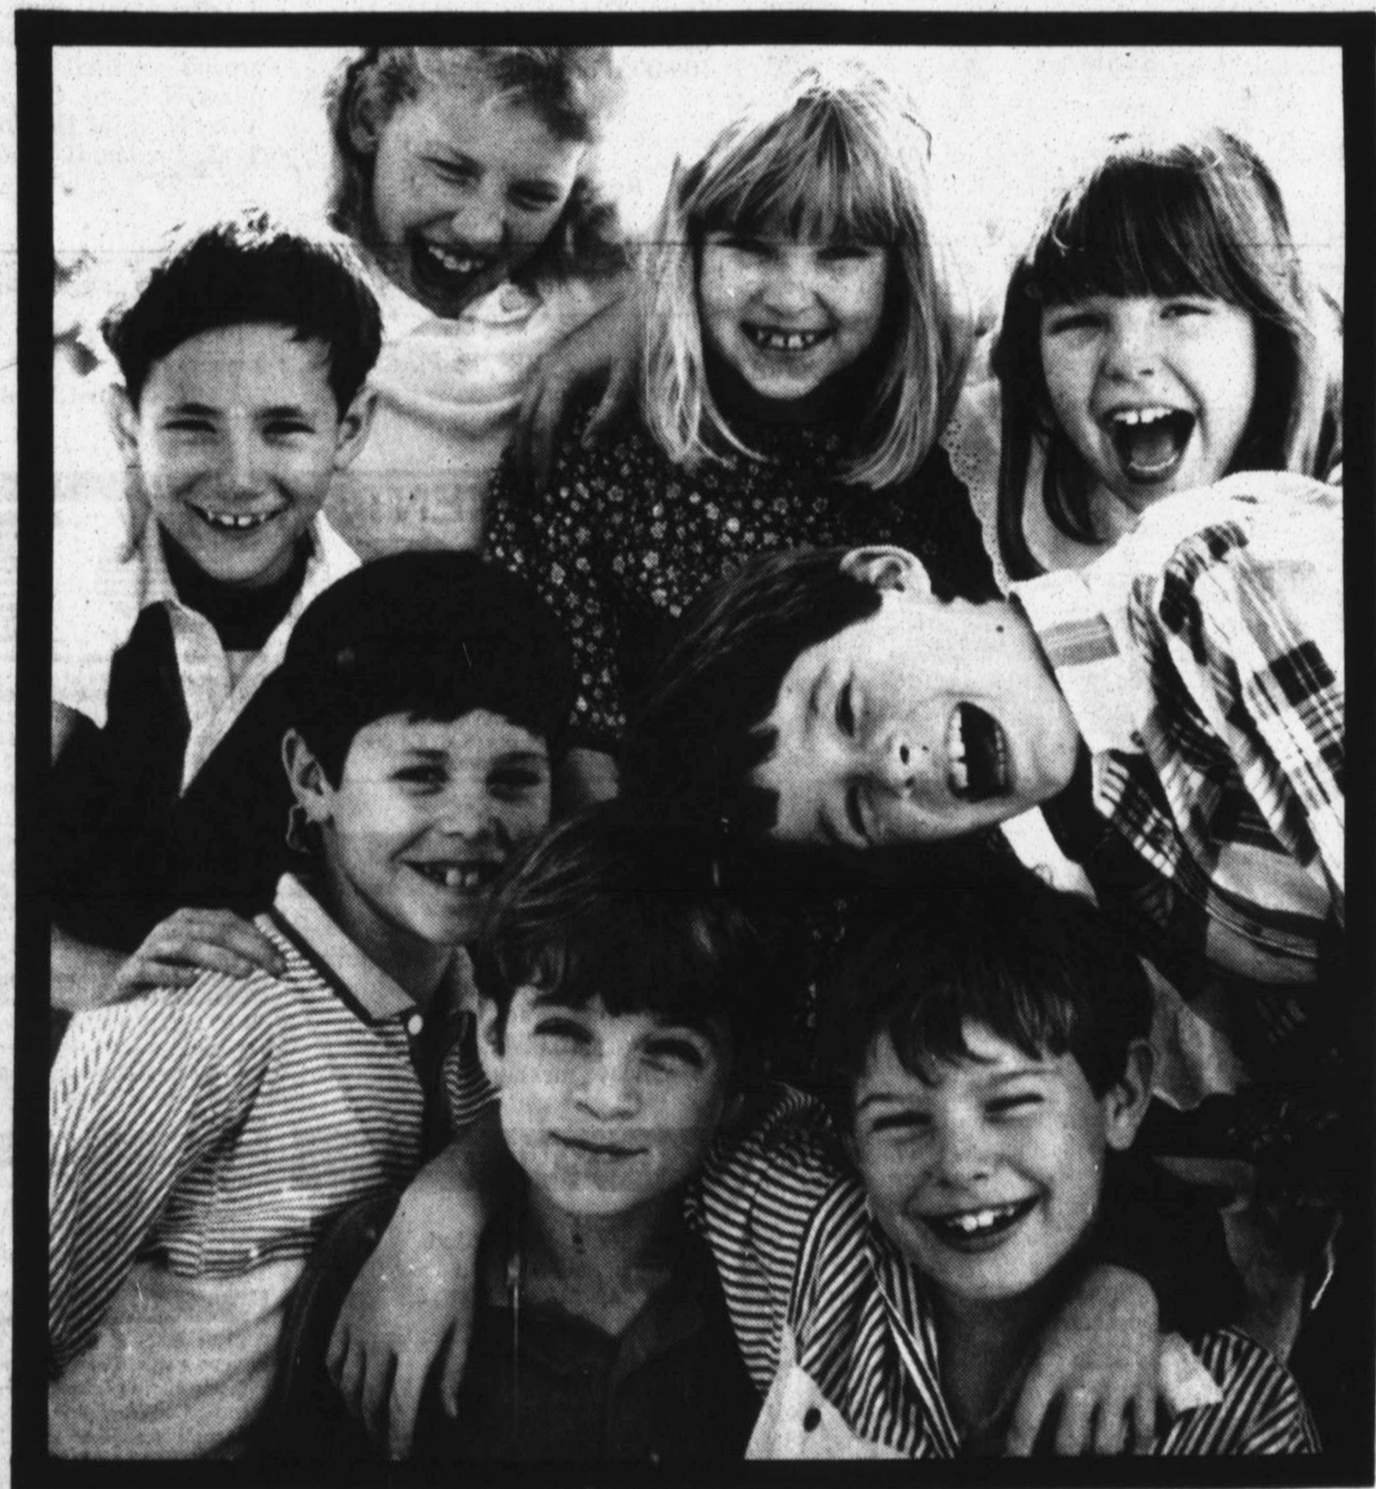

I think my husband's idea is the best yet. He has his fax number printed upside-down on his business card and stationery. — Deanna Ritchey, Bakersfield, Calif.

Well, it certainly looks different!

Some Of Our Best Investments Have Nothing To Do With Money.

Every week this past year, a task force from Hereford State Bank made it a point to call on West Central Intermediate School.

Nine conscientious HSB employees made up this group and volunteered their time as mentors for the school's HOSTS (Help One Student To Succeed) program -- a program designed to place caring people throughout our community in a one-on-one tutoring session with individual students each week.

How's the program doing? Oh it is a resounding success! And even though it has received wide acclaim from both parents and educators, our volunteers will tell you they've been some of the biggest benefactors.

We're proud of these employees involvement. They are giving something of themselves back to the community, and that's what community banking is all about.

When a new school year starts August 19, 1996, the enrichment process will begin again. And volunteers across our community will realize once more that some of our very best investments have nothing to do with money!

AUSTIN — Federal judges last week annulled the March primaries in three Texas congressional districts where race was ruled to have been the main factor in drawing boundaries.

The panel of three judges — all appointed by Republican presidents — approved new, more compactly shaped districts. Redrawing those districts affected the shape and makeup of seven contiguous districts in the Houston area and six in the Dallas area.

So, the panel ordered special elections in those 13 districts set for Nov. 5, the same day as the general election for the rest of the state. The special elections will be open to all candidates of either party, and runoffs will be Dec. 10.

But, the redistricting plan did not sit well with House Speaker

Pete Laney and Attorney General Dan Morales, both Democrats. The officials were contemplating an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court last week to overturn the lower court decision.

Laney and Morales said voter confusion and unnecessary shifting of boundary lines will be key arguments if they appeal the order. Laney, who had a plan that would have changed the shape of only nine districts, said an early analysis of the court order is "more intrusive than necessary." Morales said only six districts need be changed.

Li. Gov. Bob Bullock, a Democrat, had asked the judges not to take action and instead leave the matter to the 1997 Legislature. After the panel approved the new boundaries, Bullock praised their efforts. "The plan does not smack of politics or needlessly change boundaries that had already been set," he told the Austin American-Statesman.

Minimal changes were made to the two black majority districts in Dallas, but a largely Hispanic district in Houston lost about 15 percent of its Hispanic voters and no longer has a Hispanic majority.

Some Texas public school principals will be getting more than a jolt of self esteem for their role in improving their campuses. They will receive cash awards of up to $5,000.

In the fall, principals of the state's most improved schools will receive checks — to use as they wish — based on the school's rating and the criteria being developed by a panel appointed by Gov. George W. Bush. The criteria are to be completed by Sept. 1.

"It's a check written to the principal. There are no strings attached," Criss Cloud of the Texas Education Agency told the Associated Press.

Under the Principal Performance Incentives Program — part of the sweeping education bill passed by the 1995 Legislature — $5 million will be disbursed. The program was tacked onto S.B. 1 by Rep. Kent Grusedorf, R-Arlington.

Some teachers, however, criticized the program because it left insolvent the Texas Successful Schools Awards System, another student performance-based program that did not focus on principals.

Drivers Skirting Insurance Law Many Texas drivers are finding illegal ways to skirt a state law that requires them to carry liability car insurance all year.

The Austin American-Statesman analyzed state data and found that about 21 percent of drivers involved in accidents last year were not insured or their insurance status was unknown. One way consumers avoid paying costly premiums is to purchase a six- or 12-month policy and then cancel it after a month — long enough to receive their proof of insurance card that allows them to renew their driver's license and vehicle registration or obtain an inspection sticker.

Another method cheaters use to acquire an insurance card is to purchase a one-month from businesses that advertise them in the telephone book.

Lack of enforcement is part of the problem. Lawmakers have rejected enforcement proposals as too expensive for the state, too burdensome on insurers and too heartless toward low-income drivers, the American-Statesman reported.

Other Capital Highlights

Bruce Casteel has been named senior captain (commander) of the Texas Rangers, succeeding Maurice Cook who retires at the end of the month. Casteel, 54, is a 23-year veteran of the 173-year-old elite law enforcement unit. He has served as assistant commander of the Rangers since 1992.

Texas Republican Party Chairman Tom Pauken was awarded $180,683 by a Dallas County jury which concluded that a former business associate stole information from his firm, Texas Voter List, and sold it to Pauken's opponents in his unsuccessful 1991 race for the 3rd Congressional District seat.

Texas Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer approved a new computerized "bulletin board system" that will match homeowners having trouble finding insurance with companies that will sell them coverage. The Market Assistant Program begins in October.

Victor Morales, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, last week challenged incumbent U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm to promise voters that he would serve a full, six-year term if re-elected instead of running for president in the year 2000. Gramm's spokesman said the senator would only promise to work hard in 2000 to re-elect Bob Dole as president.

Gov. Bush, family share day in national spotlight

By PEGGY FIKAC Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Texas Gov. George W. Bush, sharing the limelight with his family in his first national speech, called on Republicans to correct a culture that he says has turned its back on personal responsibility.

"It is the heart and will of America that gives me confidence when I say that we can solve the biggest problem facing our country, and that is a failed country, and a failed culture," Bush said to a warm welcome Monday night at the Republican National Convention.

"A culture which once delineated right from wrong and good from bad has shifted to a culture that flouts virtue and revels in irresponsibility. It's a culture that says, 'If it feels good, do it and be willing to blame somebody else for society's ills,'" said Bush, a convention co-chairman.

The way to fix the problem, he said, is not through government programs but through a change in attitude, through Americans turning into "good citizens and good neighbors."

"I urge you to teach a child to read. When you return home, open up a child-care center for welfare moms at your church or synagogue. Sit with the elderly or disabled," he said. "I know we can create a more decent and compassionate society."

Bush spoke before his wife, Laura, took the stage to talk about Texas' reading initiative. He also was assigned the task of introducing his father, former President George Bush, a task he relished.

"He was a great president, but more importantly, he's the best dad more importantly, he's the best dad joined by his wife, Barbara. He called her "arguably the most popular woman in the United States of America."

The younger Bush spoke of his 14-year-old twin daughters, saying cultural change must occur for their sake.

"We love them dearly. But the world we want to leave for them is not the world they will inherit, unless as a society we act now," Bush said. "What we need in America is renewal of spirit, a return to selfless concern for others."

The governor, who has a good working relationship with Democratic state leaders, said "national Democrats" have insisted on trying to find government solutions for all problems.

"The results for America have been tragic," Bush said, citing men who walk away from the children they father, young girls bearing babies out of wedlock, juvenile crime and welfare dependence.

Sen. Hutchison touts women at convention

SAN DIEGO (AP) — If Republicans want to court women's votes, they better stop playing "the strong, silent type," says Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison.

"We really are doing the things that will help the women of this country, but we don't talk about it," she said. "We're like the strong, silent type, and we need to talk about it."

The first woman elected to the Senate from Texas and a leader in the GOP's effort to close the gender gap, Mrs. Hutchison will address the Republican National Convention on Tuesday night.

She said the GOP champions economic and anti-violence measures important to women, pointing to anti-stalking legislation and a measure that would allow stay-at-home spouses to increase their IRA contributions.

"If people want this country to go in a different direction, if we want smaller government, lower taxes, a moral compass and a strong national defense, they should be Republican," Mrs. Hutchison said in an interview.

Mrs. Hutchison almost lost her spot in the 123-member Texas convention delegation because of her support for abortion rights. But she said the flap shouldn't be seen as a sign that Republicans are intolerant.
