Collapse of wall takes three lives at Houston mall

By MICHAEL GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - All the people who were feared trapped under tons of steel and rubble when a 20-foot-high wall at a shopping mall collapsed have been accounted for, fire officials said today.

The collapse early Thursday killed three people. Authorities had feared several more may have been trapped, but the six people who were reported missing were accounted for today.

"We have moved all of the large pieces of concrete. We have removed all the beams," Assistant Fire Chief H.G. Torres said.

The wall, which was being removed to make way for a theater complex, collapsed along with a portion of the ceiling as a couple of dozen elderly "mall walkers" were exercising. Six walkers were injured, as was a firefighter - none of them seriously.

Officials found three bodies under the rubble at Northline Mall, about five miles north of downtown Houston.

Early today, the Harris County Medical Examiner's Office identified the victims: Leola Edwards, 59, Ema Curtis, 62, and Thelma Loraine Jolly, 53, all of Houston.

The cause of the collapse was not immediately known.

"What we're trying to do first of all is very carefully remove any debris to get to any bodies," said Jimmie Schindewolf, Houston's public works director. "Then we will try to analyze the situation."

Demolition crews were removing the last sections of a closed department store when a wall common to the old store and the mall caved in.

Cranes were brought in to lift fallen concrete roof supports and chunks of debris from the 150-foot-long section of wall, while rescuers used police dogs and fiber optic devices to search for survivors.

"That's always a possibility," Fire Chief Eddie Corral said. "A lot of miraculous things happen."

Robert Delaney, 67, was walking when he heard someone say a rock had fallen through the ceiling. Then everything started collapsing around him.

"I was about 2 feet from the last beam that fell in," Delaney said. "You couldn't see nothing but dust. ... It was just dust, dust, dust."

Alphonse Rabel, 68, dove through a plate glass window to escape the torrent of concrete and steel.

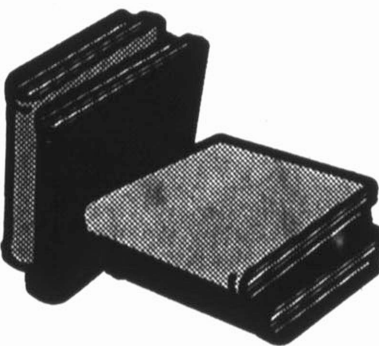

"It would have gotten me," he said. "I figured the best way was to go through the window."

Rabel's leg was bleeding and the knee of his pants had rips from the broken glass. He was released from the hospital after having debris flushed out of his eyes.

The hunt for survivors was slowed by the danger that moving any of the fallen debris could cause another collapse.

The vacant store was being razed so construction could start on a movie theater complex being built by former pro basketball star Magic Johnson.

City officials granted a permit to Demolition Services Inc. to tear down the old store. A telephone call to the company was not returned.

Survivor went through glass

By JOAN THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - Alphonse Rabel was on his routine early morning walk through Northline Mall when the ceiling came tumbling around him.

He decided to throw himself through a plate glass window. It probably saved his life.

"It came down real slow at first," Rabel, 68, a retired construction worker, said. "I figured the best way was to go through the window."

"The ceiling was falling and those are some heavy beams. It would have gotten me."

Stunned, Rabel made his way through the billowing dust and debris. His leg was bleeding and the knee of his brown pants had rips from the broken glass.

Then he refused a ride in an ambulance and drove himself to a nearby hospital.

"I figured other people needed it worse than I did," he said.

He was one of seven people requiring treatment in an accident that

Gang members sentenced for incident in September

Two young men, allegedly members of a street gang, were sentenced to probated terms Thursday in 222nd District Court when they entered guilty pleas to engaging in organized criminal activity.

Andres Marquez, 17, and Wesley Wynn, 17, also known as Wesley McGee, were arrested, along with several others, when they followed a carload of youths with the intent to commit aggravated assault, according to a statement signed by Andres Marquez.

Marquez and Wynn were given deferred adjudication probation of eight years and fined $1,000 each during their appearance Thursday before District Court Judge David Wesley Gulley.

In addition, Marquez entered a guilty plea to aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and received deferred adjudication probation of eight years.

Judge Gulley also heard guilty pleas from Glenda Chadwick and Otis Roman during the court session.

Chadwick was sentenced to two years in state jail, probated five years, after pleading guilty to theft over $1,500 and under $20,000.

Roman was sentenced to two years in prison on his plea of guilty to an escape charge. He will serve the two years after completing concurrent nine-year prison sentences assessed when probation was revoked on two convictions for burglary of a motor vehicle.

Sentences were passed on Alfredo Penalber Jr., who previously entered guilty pleas to two charges of burglary of a habitation. He was ordered to serve seven years' probation and was placed on intensive supervision for three months.

After the court appearance of Andres Marquez and Wesley Wynn, at least two other defendants in the September incident still face charges.

Rafael Marquez will answer two charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and one charge of engaging in organized criminal activity. Omar Marquez also has been charged for his part in the incident.

Rodney Treadway, also charged in connection with the gang incident, entered a guilty plea to charges and was given an eight-year deferred adjudication probation sentence. He appeared in court on Dec. 5, 1996.

CBS pulls Cosby interview

NEW YORK (AP) - Dan Rather's interview with Bill Cosby has taken on an "unseemly life of its own" and CBS won't air the rest of it on Sunday's "60 Minutes," the network said.

CBS News President Andrew Heyward said Thursday that Rather and "60 Minutes" executive producer Don Hewitt agreed to the decision.

"I suggested to Dan and ... Heyward that maybe too many people had picked over the interview and there wasn't as much left as we thought there would be," Hewitt said in a statement. "And furthermore, none of us could disagree all that much with columnists who said this story was being exploited."

CBS aired parts of the 2 1/2-hour interview on Sunday and Monday and released written excerpts.

Cosby has not given interviews to anyone except Rather since his son, Ennis, was shot to death Jan. 16 while changing a flat tire in Los Angeles.

Heyward told The New York Times in today's editions that he and Rather were proud of the interview.

"But unfortunately the story had taken on a life of its own," Heyward said. The reference was to Cosby's admission of an affair in the 1970s with the mother of Autumn Jackson, who claims to be his illegitimate daughter.

Cosby said he does not believe he is her father, although he said "There is a possibility."

Ms. Jackson, 22, and Jose Medina, 51, were charged with trying to extort $40 million from Cosby in exchange for not going public with her claim. She was freed on bail Monday but a judge ruled that Medina failed to qualify for bail.

Florida has warrants on Ms. Jackson for failing to make payments required by her probation sentence for

PSHOF induction ceremonies will honor HHS coach, player

Brenda Reeh, Danielle Cornelius collect awards

The Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame will present special volleyball achievement awards to Hereford's Brenda Reeh and Danielle Cornelius during induction ceremonies Sunday at Amarillo College's Ordway Auditorium.

The event begins at 2 p.m. and is open to the public. The auditorium is located at 22nd and Washington.

The PSHOF will induct Junior Coffey of Seattle, Wa., and formerly of Dimmitt, Allene J. Stovall of Canyon, and Freida Gousseau Altman of Tulia into the shrine, and 23 other athletes and teams will be honored at the ceremonies.

Coach Reeh and Cornelius were big factors in bringing HHS not only its first state volleyball title, but the school's first-ever team championship. It was fitting that the PSHOF selected the duo as they saw four years of hard work pay off with the state title.

Cornelius was selected as the PSHOF volleyball athlete of the year after an outstanding high school career which was capped by a dominating senior season. She made the Lady Whiteface varsity as a freshman in 1993 and earned all-state recognition each of the past three years.

This season, Cornelius was named most valuable player in District 1-4A, was the MVP at the state tournament, was named to the Texas Sports Writers All-State first team, and was recently selected by "Volleyball" magazine as an honorable mention member of the Volleyball All-American team.

Cornelius was also recognized as the Panhandle area volleyball player of the year by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. She has signed a letter of intent to attend Oklahoma University on a volleyball scholarship.

Reeh earned the PSHOF volleyball coach of the year award for the second consecutive season. In her 12th season as Hereford's head coach, Reeh led the Lady Whitefaces to a school-best 34-1 record and a ninth consecutive trip to the playoffs.

"The individual recognition is certainly nice," said Reeh, "but honestly, it's all due to the efforts of the kids."

Cornelius proved she was one of the top players in the state - regardless of classification - in 1996 as she recorded 409 kills, 130 blocks, 99 digs and a .518 kill percentage.

"I consider this a big honor," said Cornelius. "This is probably the biggest honor a player in the Panhandle can receive, and I was excited to even be nominated."

Cornelius helped the Lady Whitefaces get a share of the District 1-4A title this past season, but she really came through in a big way at the state tourney.

In the semifinals, Cornelius had 12 kills as Hereford routed defending state champion Red Oak. In the championship match against Magnolia, Cornelius recorded 19 kills, four solo blocks, 11 block assists, and eight digs - earning tournament MVP honors.

Reeh has established herself as one of the top coaches in the state during her time at Hereford. Despite losing three all-staters from last year's state runnerup team, Reeh finally gained the elusive first state championship of her coaching career.

"There have been a lot of great moments coaching volleyball in Hereford, but there's no doubt that winning state has to be the best moment I've ever had," Reeh said.

"We've seen great effort from the kids for so many years, and this year's bunch were fortunate enough to take that extra step we've never accomplished before. They had an unbelievable work ethic and held each other accountable," said Reeh.

"As a coach, I couldn't ask for a more dedicated or coachable group of kids."

Texas congressman dies of cancer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - U.S. Rep. Frank Tejeda, a decorated Vietnam veteran who dedicated much of his congressional tenure to assisting the military and its veterans, has died. He was 51.

The San Antonio Democrat, who first came to Congress in 1993, died Thursday night at his home, surrounded by family. He had battled a malignant brain tumor since September 1995, undergoing surgery, radiation and chemotherapy treatments.

He died of pneumonia, a complication from treatments that made him vulnerable to infection, his Washington office said.

While most of the tumor was removed during surgery in 1995, it reappeared a year later. Although the disease had robbed him of much of his speaking ability by late 1996, Tejeda refused to bow to the illness. "I'll do my best to recuperate quickly and join my colleagues in the House chamber," he said earlier this month when he revealed the tumor's recurrence. "The Marine in me intends to attack this thing with full vigor."

Colleagues mourned his death. "Texas has lost a patriot and I have lost a friend," said U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, who teamed frequently with Tejeda on behalf of San Antonio defense interests.

Raised in San Antonio's hard-scrabble South Side, Tejeda enlisted in the Marines in 1963 after dropping out of high school at 17. One of the youngest staff non-commissioned officers in Corps history, Tejeda earned a Bronze Star and Purple Heart during his four-year tour of duty in Vietnam.

"I was a grunt, and proud of it," he once told Roll Call, a publication that covers Congress.

It was while serving in the military that Tejeda earned a high school equivalency certificate, paving the way for later academic successes.

He graduated in 1970 from St. Mary's University in San Antonio with a bachelor's degree in government. He received his law degree from the University of California at Berkeley in 1974, a master's in public administration from Harvard in 1980, and a master of law from Yale in 1989.

A lawyer, he served in the Texas House for a decade until 1987, when he moved to the Texas Senate. The leader of the influential South Side political coalition in San Antonio, Tejeda remained in the Senate through 1992, leaving his mark in worker's compensation reform and initiatives for minorities.

Having set his sights on Congress, Tejeda helped map the new majority-Hispanic congressional district that Texas gained because of population growth. He breezed to victory in 1992, becoming the first congressman to represent the new 28th District running from San Antonio south to the Rio Grande.

In Congress, the moderate-to-conservative Democrat established a reputation as a staunch defender of veterans, active-duty personnel and the military installations that are tightly woven into the fabric of San Antonio life.

Unable to stave off the loss of Kelly Air Force Base during the 1995 round of base closings, Tejeda joined with other Texans in Congress and community leaders to salvage jobs at the base.

"We've been handed a lemon. We just need to make the greatest lemonade ever with that," Tejeda said often. While he was referring to the decision to close Kelly, the words echoed his philosophy of bouncing back after adversity.

First Simpson trial juror wrote letter about agent

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) - A juror from the O.J. Simpson murder trial admits writing part of a letter to jurors in his civil case, urging them to hire her entertainment agent.

Brenda Moran told CBS News that the letter was supposed to be mailed after the wrongful death trial was over.

Sheriff's deputies descended on Ms. Moran's South Central Los Angeles home Thursday night, searching cars and shutting themselves in the house with Ms. Moran and her parents.

Investigators hauled away a computer from the home.

"They wouldn't even let me in," said James Moran Jr., the ex-juror's brother. "I don't know what's going on."

Ms. Moran and fellow juror Gina Rosborough, who had a book deal together, are under investigation because of the letter, which was sent to the homes of at least two civil-trial jurors, sources told The Associated Press.

Superior Court Judge Hiroshi Fujisaki has kept the civil-trial jurors' identities secret, even from the lawyers in the case. A court order bars outside contact with jurors.

Also under investigation is an entertainment agent who was mentioned in the letter, said the sources, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Ms. Moran, a computer technician for the Los Angeles County courts system, said she wrote part of the letter but she denies wrongdoing.

"The PR people were supposed to give the jurors this letter way after everything was over with," she said in a brief interview with CBS from the doorway of her home before the search.

Ms. Rosborough did not answer her telephone, but through her attorney, she denied doing anything wrong.

The women also contended, through their lawyer, that they were merely trying to help the new Simpson jurors cope with the inevitable media avalanche that awaits them after the verdict.

"There was absolutely no attempt in the world to interfere with the jury, and the letter really is innocuous," attorney Jeff Brodey said.

Fujisaki ordered the investigation Tuesday after two jurors reported receiving the letter.

When asked if she knew she was under investigation for jury tampering, Ms. Moran told CBS, "I just heard it on the radio, so I don't know."

In the handwritten letter, Ms. Moran praises the civil-trial jurors and urges them to consider contacting an entertainment agent-publicist named Bud Stewart.

"Congratulations on successfully surviving a trying experience," says the letter. It was unclear if Ms. Moran and Ms. Rosborough both signed the letter.

The women would "respect your verdict and look forward to meeting you," said the letter, which was read to the AP.

Brodey said the women wrote the letter and handed it over to Stewart, who is linked to Lincoln Press, the company publishing a book planned by the two former jurors.

"They didn't send it out," Brodey said.

He said he didn't know who sent the letter, or how the person who sent it figured out where the civil-trial jurors lived.

A man who responded to a telephone message for Lincoln Press claimed he was Stewart and said the publisher's office had been searched. Five juror notebooks and all the paperwork related to the book were confiscated, he said.

The letter caused Tuesday's court session to be delayed about an hour while the judge interviewed all of the jurors, sources said. None of the jurors was bounced from the panel, and deliberations began Tuesday afternoon.

SURVIVOR

left three dead and fears that others were missing. Authorities said early today that everyone had been accounted for.

Like other mall walkers, Rabel said they were wary of the construction rumbles outside as crews were demolishing a vacant department store to make way for a new movie theater.

Forty years in the construction business had made Rabel especially mindful. During his walks, he pondered the possibility of an accident.

"That's why I made some shortcuts," Rabel said, speaking from a bed at Memorial Hospital Northwest while having his eyes flushed of debris.

He later was released.

Robert Delaney, another mall walker, said he could hear a crane so he kept to the inner wall.

"I heard another guy say, 'Look a rock fell through,'" the retired utility worker said. "I looked back and all the rubble started falling. You couldn't see nothing but dust. ... It was just dust, dust, dust."

Hours after the accident, Delaney, 67, was in the parking lot, watching the fire trucks and heavy equipment and workers in yellow hard hats crawl on the mall roof and through the debris.

He was shaken from his near escape.

"I was about two feet from the last beam that fell in," Delaney said.

Routier murder trial heading to jury today

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press Writer

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) - Darlie Routier's testimony that a mysterious intruder stabbed her two young sons to death is about to be considered by a Kerr County jury.

Prosecutors claim the young Rowlett homemaker committed the grisly murders then slashed herself to cover the crime.

And in closing arguments today, the state's attorneys planned to tell the seven-woman, five-man jury that blood and other evidence collected in Mrs. Routier's home in Rowlett proves her guilt.

"The real Darlie Lynn Routier is a self-centered woman, a materialistic woman and a woman cold enough in fact to murder her own two children," prosecutor Greg Davis told jurors at the start of the trial.

Five-year-old Damon and 6-year-old Devon Routier were killed in the June 6, 1996, knife attack. Mrs. Routier's 8-month-old baby, Drake, was in another part of the home with his father and wasn't injured.

Mrs. Routier, now 27, who'd been sleeping on a couch a few feet from her two oldest sons, has said she awoke and saw a man dressed in dark clothing who fled toward the garage and along the way dropped a knife.

She picked up the knife then realized she and the boys had been attacked, Mrs. Routier contends.

On the witness stand Wednesday, Mrs. Routier firmly denied that she committed the killings.

"I did not stab those children," she said, "nor did I try to stab myself."

Her attorneys have described Mrs. Routier as a "doting" stay-at-home mother whose love for her children was apparent to her many friends and family members.

A psychiatrist testified that Mrs. Routier appeared truthful when giving her account of the assault and that "traumatic amnesia" prevents her from recalling all the details of the attack.

Prosecutor Toby Shook, in his cross-examination of Mrs. Routier, grilled her about how she could possibly have slept through such an attack.

Private investigator Bill Parker, a former Dallas police officer who helped the Rowlett police by interrogating Mrs. Routier the day of her arrest, testified Thursday as the prosecution's only rebuttal witness.

Mothers can learn child safety tips at seminar held by Key Club

Mothers who would like to learn valuable safety tips to protect their children around the home are invited to attend the "Protecting Your Child" seminar at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the Hereford Community Center sponsored by the Key Club. The seminar is free of charge.

The children will learn how to deal with threatening phone calls and how not to reveal that they are home alone.

mothers to take advantage of this chance to learn more about protecting their children from life threatening situations.

The Hereford Keywanettes will work with children under 4 years of age. They will teach them some safety skills as well as providing quality play time.

Matthew Artho, Key Club president, invites all interested

The Hereford Police Department will give a bilingual presentation to mothers and their eldest daughter concerning personal safety and the proper use of child restraint seats.

Hereford Regional Medical Center personnel will present information to mothers about safeguarding hazardous materials in their homes.

The Hereford Key Club and the Anchor Club will work with children between the ages of four and 12 teaching them telephone safety and latch key skills. The training will teach the children what is and is not an emergency and when it is appropriate to call 911. Additionally,

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Are you still interested in how-we-met letters? I have one that is a bit out of the ordinary.

I was assigned to an army base in Oklahoma near the end of World War II. The first Sunday I attended church services, there were so few of us that the chaplain suggested we all sit on the same side and sing hymns. The soldier who sat behind me knew all the words to every song. I figured anyone who knew all those lyrics to church songs couldn't be all bad.

I got a glimpse of him when the services were over and bumped into him again a month later. I learned he was a doctor. I was a special services hostess who planned entertainment for the enlisted men.

Three months after that, I slipped on an icy walk and injured my arm. He treated me, insisted that I stay in the infirmary and made twice-daily visits to see how I was doing. He discharged me Jan. 10 and asked if I'd like to see a movie to celebrate my recovery.

On Feb. 10, we had a church wedding in that same chapel where we first met. We had one day off to get our license, the rings and my wedding dress. My employees, who were German POWs, offered to bake our wedding cake and serve our reception in their starched whites with "POW" stamped on the back. The dining table was covered with a white bed sheet and decorated with ribbons.

We were married 43 years and had three children, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren -- all of whom miss him very much. Sign me -- Wonderful Memories in Grand Prairie, Texas

Dear Grand: Thank you for sharing your beautiful love story. I've often wondered why so many of those World War II marriages between people who didn't know each other very well lasted so long. I still don't know the answer.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married in January 1996. My husband and I separated approximately three months after the wedding. We received a great many lovely wedding gifts and decided to split them up according to whose friends and family members sent them.

My question is this, Ann: Since we were married such a short time, should those gifts have been returned to the givers? We've had a variety of opinions and have decided to abide by your decision. -- No Name, No City, Please

Dear N.N.N.C.P.: Opinions from friends won't do. You need the guidance of an authority. According to Letitia Baldrige, who writes the Amy Vanderbilt etiquette books, "No matter how brief the marriage, the gifts belong to the couple."

Dear Ann Landers: Those tales you've printed about birds reminded me of a story that the source assured me is true.

A distinguished gentleman bought a beautiful parrot as a birthday present for his wife, despite the warnings of the pet store owner that the bird had an extensive repertoire of foul language cultivated during the years he lived in a brothel.

One evening, the parrot was the center of attention when the couple threw a birthday party for an elegant woman friend. Everyone tried to elicit a few words from the bird, but he remained silent with his eyes closed. All of a sudden, the parrot opened his eyes and announced authoritatively, "I know all the gentlemen here, but the hookers are new to me!"

I hope your readers enjoy this true story, and I trust I haven't offended anyone. -- A Bird Watcher in British Columbia

Dear Bird Watcher: I'm sure most of my readers have heard worse. Thanks for a good laugh.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.25 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.15.)

Playoff-bound Lady Whitefaces aim for season finale win

★★★ Herd eyes crucial game at Randall

By TOMMY WELLS
Managing Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces came up just short the first time they face the Randall Raiders.

They're hoping they won't have to wait for that third-time charm tonight when they square off with the Raiders in a game heavily-laden with playoff implications. The two teams are slated to tip-off beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Randall High School gymnasium.

How important is tonight's game for the Whitefaces? Does life-or-death terms mean anything? A loss to the district-leading Raiders, with Canyon still on the horizon, could be a devastating blow to the Whitefaces' playoff hopes by opening the door for Pampa to make a run at the No. 3 spot in the District 1-4A standings. Pampa is currently fourth in the league standings, two games behind Hereford with three games remaining.

The Whitefaces may have suffered a loss in their first matchup with Randall, but they may have also received something else: confidence. Hereford, following a controversial charging call in the waning seconds had erased an Isaac Walker layup and a 59-58 lead, proved they could play with the 22-5 Raiders. The Whitefaces recovered from a sluggish start and outscored Randall in the second and third quarters in the 60-57 loss.

Based on their last effort against Randall, Hereford head coach Randy Dean should expect a good performance from his squad tonight.

Raider head coach Leslie Broadhurst does.

"We definitely aren't looking ahead to Canyon," said Broadhurst, who has the Raiders looking for their first-ever district title. "We had to fight like mad to beat Hereford the last time. We have a lot of respect for them," he added.

One place Dean will have to see good play from is his defense, especially inside against Raider Kevin Clayton. The RHS standout has averaged better than 22 points a night this year, and taxed the Whitefaces for 31 points in the first district matchup.

Hereford has its own offensive weapons, including Jonathan Keenan, Walker and Cory Schumacher. Keenan burned the Raiders for 25 points - 12 via the three-point shot - in their first meeting. Walker and Schumacher contributed 14 and 11 points, respectively.

The Herd enters tonight's showdown with a 14-14 record for the year.

By TOMMY WELLS
Managing Editor

Eddie Fortenberry never let the question surrounding the Hereford Lady Whitefaces isn't whether or not they will make the state playoffs for the first time in the school's history. He already knows they will. So, the real question is "How will the Hereford cagers make it?" Will they go in like a tornado rumbling through a wheat field, or will they sneak in quietly through the back door?

The answer to that question will, in all likelihood, come tonight when the Lady Whitefaces take to the Randall High School floor for their regular season finale. A win and the Hereford feds will lock up second place in the District 1-4A race and set up the first postseason berth in the team's history. A loss, however, would leave the Lady Whitefaces and Lady Raiders in a tie for the second place position and force a one-game playoff to decide who would finish as the district's No. 2 and No. 3 seed.

A district playoff is the last thing on Fortenberry's mind. The Lady Whitefaces, according to their fourth-year head coach, are ready, willing and able to claim the district's runner-up spot.

Bugel named Raider coach

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Joe Bugel remembers walking off the field with his defeated Washington Redskins following the 1984 Super Bowl and wondering what it felt like to be part of the winning Raiders team.

Now he's responsible for trying to get the Oakland Raiders back to the NFL championship game for the first time since then.

Bugel, who spent the past two seasons as the Raiders' assistant head coach for offense, was elevated to the head coaching job Thursday.

"I suffered for 13 years waiting for this head coaching job," he said, thinking back to the Super Bowl in which the Los Angeles Raiders defeated Washington 38-9. "I wanted to be part of the silver and black."

Bugel was an assistant coach with Washington in 1981-89, during which time the Redskins won two Super Bowls. In 1990-93, he was 20-44 at Phoenix in his only previous head coaching job.

"This, to me, is the ultimate thing in my professional life," said Bugel.

HJH teams split in tourney

Hereford's 7th-grade A team lost a close 39-32 decision to Westover in the District 7th Grade Tournament at Canyon Thursday, while the 7th-grade B team captured a lop-sided 33-11 win over Pampa.

Cody Marsh tallied 18 points in the losing cause for the A team. The team plays Canyon Saturday at 9 a.m. in a second-round contest.

The 7th-grade B team shutout Pampa by 10-0 in the first quarter and held a 14-3 lead at halftime. Barry Kriegshauser had 11 points for Hereford while Brandon Bigham and Dustin White added 8 points each.

The B team next plays Borger at 9 a.m. Saturday. The district 8th-Grade Tournament will be held next week in Pampa.

"We feel like the pressure is on them," said Fortenberry, who has guided the HHS girls to wins in 12 of their last 13 outings. "We feel better right now than we ever have going into a game against Randall. We know they're good and that they've got tradition. I know in the past its always been like a nightmare when we played them, but we feel like we got the monkey off our back the last time we met them."

Hereford, behind the hot hands of Misti Davis, Julie Rampley and Katie Betzen, claimed a piece of HHS history in their first meeting with Randall. The Lady Whitefaces hammered out a 45-43 victory - the first win in the school's history over a Lady Raider team.

Hereford, which is coming off a thrilling triple overtime win over Pampa, heads into tonight's 6:00 p.m. showdown sporting a 20-6 record overall. They are 9-2 in loop play. Randall is 18-8 and 8-3.

Fortenberry has plenty of weapons to turn loose against the Lady Raiders, who were ranked as high as No. 8 in the TABC polls. Hereford sports lineup that features three players, including Rampley, Betzen and Davis, who have average double digits offensively in 1997. Rampley, a 5-foot-10 guard, will lead the HHS charge. She has averaged 15.3 points a game thus far. Betzen and Davis have contributed 10.7 points a night.

Randall is led by post Courtney Gilmore, a six-foot post who is averaging better than 15 points a night.

"She's a big physical player," said Fortenberry. "We'll have to rely on our quickness against her. We can just line up behind her. We'll have to move around."

With a win tonight, the Lady

Whitefaces would earn the right to face Frenship, the third place team in the District 2-4A race, in the first round of the playoffs. If Randall wins, the Lady Raiders and Lady Whitefaces would meet either Monday or Tuesday at a neutral site in a district playoff. Playoff or not, the Lady Whitefaces won't need any motivations tonight, said Fortenberry. "You don't have to get them up for Randall," he stated. "There's no speeches needed for this game."

Malone paces Utah over Jazz, 102-96

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

When time is running out and the game is on the line, Karl Malone gets selfish.

"I have some conscience, but not down the stretch," Malone admitted. "My teammates told me to shoot, and I took their advice."

Ten of Malone's 32 points came in the final 6:38 Thursday night, lifting the Utah Jazz over the Atlanta Hawks, 102-96.

Atlanta's Steve Smith was a match for Malone - the Hawks, however, couldn't match the Jazz.

Smith scored 14 of his career-high 41 points in the fourth quarter of Atlanta's second loss in 15 games. In other NBA games Thursday, it was Chicago over Sacramento 111-93, the Los Angeles Clippers over Vancouver 100-94, Denver over Houston 113-109, Minnesota over Dallas 92-82 and New Jersey over Phoenix 113-101.

John Stockton finished with 16 points and 11 assists as Utah moved within one game of the Midwest Division-leading Rockets. Mookie Blaylock scored 15 points and Christian Laettner 14 for the Hawks, who were just 2-for-8 from the 3-point line in the fourth quarter. Bulls 111, Kings 93

Michael Jordan scored nine of his 32 points during a 13-4 Chicago run down the stretch, and Scottie Pippen added 22 as visiting Chicago won its fifth straight game.

Mitch Richmond had 28 points and nine rebounds for Sacramento, which led by one at the half, but was held to just five points in the final quarter. Nuggets 113, Rockets 109

Ricky Pierce scored 25 points and visiting Denver spoiled Hakeem Olajuwon's second straight 40-plus point game. Olajuwon, who had 41 points Saturday against the Utah Jazz, got 48 points and 10 rebounds against the Nuggets.

While Pierce led Denver with 11-of-18 shooting, LaPhonso Ellis scored nine of his 23 points in the fourth quarter and Dale Ellis finished with 20 points, including back-to-back shots that put Denver ahead for good at 108-105 with 3:56 to play.

Timberwolves 92, Mavericks 82

At Dallas, reserve Sam Mitchell scored 21 points and Terry Porter had five points during a decisive run to open the fourth quarter as Minnesota extended its winning streak against the Mavericks to six games.

Chris Gatling returned from a one-game club suspension with a 29-point, 18-rebound game for the Mavericks, who have dropped eight of 10 games.

Bufs lose LSC tilt to Central Oklahoma

EDMOND, Okla. (AP) - Tyrone Hopkins had 24 points and 20 rebounds and No. 6 Central Oklahoma used a 19-0 second-half run to pull away and beat West Texas A&M 89-81 in a Lone Star Conference game Thursday.

The Bronchos avenged a 90-68 loss to West Texas A&M three weeks ago to improve to 18-2 overall, 10-1 in the conference. West Texas A&M is 11-8 and 4-5.

Central Oklahoma got four straight 3-pointers, two of them by Joe Newton, during the 19-0 run that gave the Bronchos a 61-41 lead.

Newton had 21 points. Mike McGhee scored 29 for the Buffaloes.

Tiger, 'Tin Cup' in spotlight at Pebble Beach golf tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) - With so much sensational golf and so many big names on the leader board after the first round, why was all the talk about a couple of guys not among the leaders?

Because they were named Tiger Woods and Kevin Costner.

It was simply the sexiest, sassiest, most compelling matchup in the 60-year history of the celebrity-laden event.

Jesper Parnevik birdied seven of the last 11 holes and David Duval closed with four straight birdies Thursday to tie for the lead at 7-under-par 65 at the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am.

British Open champion Tom Lehman shot a 66. Masters champion Nick Faldo and PGA Championship winner Mark Brooks both shot 67.

All were overshadowed by the Woods-Costner pairing.

This tournament has seen stars before, but it never saw anything like this. The leading draw on the PGA Tour and the leading man of "Tin Cup" were a two-man sideshow followed by a U.S. Open-like gallery that was a dozen deep around some tees and greens.

"It's huge," PGA Tour tournament director Arvin Ginn said about the galleries.

Buckeyes upset Hoosiers; Louisville tops Cincy, 81-70

By The Associated Press
A win over Indiana is special for Ohio State anytime. This one, though, had extra meaning for the Buckeyes.

Ohio State, playing with its second leading scorer sidelined with heart problems and amid speculation about coach Randy Ayers' future, stopped a four-game losing streak Thursday night with a 73-67 victory over the No. 17 Hoosiers at Columbus.

Damon Stringer scored 18 points, including four free throws in the final 21 seconds, as Ohio State - coming off a 31-point loss to Northwestern - ended a four-game losing skid against the Hoosiers (17-5 overall, 4-4 Big Ten).

Neshaun Coleman added 15 points, Shaun Stonerook 14, Otis Winston 11 and Jason Singleton 10 for Ohio State, which was missing starting center Jermaine Tate.

Elsewhere in the AP Top 25, it was No. 4 Utah 74, Texas-El Paso 51; No. 7 Clemson 70, Georgia Tech 57; No. 9 Louisville 81, No. 8 Cincinnati 70; No. 10 Arizona 87, Washington State 78; No. 21 Tulsa 69, Southern Methodist 49; and No. 24 Marquette 71, South Florida 36.

Indiana coach Bobby Knight praised the Buckeyes' effort.

Neil Reed scored 19 points, A.J. Guyton had 14 - 11 in the first half - and Charlie Miller 11 for Indiana (17-5, 4-4).

Memphis basketball coach Larry Finch, under fire for low attendance despite averaging 20 victories a season, will resign at the end of the season.

The announcement, made Thursday night by Finch and the university, came after several days of reports that the university was negotiating to buy out the final three years on Finch's contract.

"Right now this is an emotional time for me, and any statement I make will be forthcoming," Finch, 45, said following a 68-54 win over Southern Mississippi.

No. 4 Utah 74, Texas-El Paso 51
Keith Van Horn, plagued with foul trouble and held without a point in the first half, keyed a second-half run to lead the Utes (15-2, 7-0 Western Athletic Conference) at El Paso.

Van Horn scored 11 of his 13 points in a decisive 15-2 run that gave the Utes a 24-point advantage with less than five minutes remaining.

Michael Doleac led the Utes with 15 points, and Drew Hansen added 14.

UTEP fell to 8-9, 2-6.

No. 7 Clemson 70, Georgia Tech 57
At Clemson, S.C., Terrell McIntyre scored 14 of his 17 points in the second half as the Tigers snapped their two-game ACC losing streak.

Greg Budckner scored 17 points and Merl Code 14 for Clemson (17-3, 6-2 ACC), which rose to No. 2 nationally before losing to Wake Forest and North Carolina last week.

No. 10 Arizona 87, Washington State 78
At Pullman, Wash., Michael Dickerson scored 28 points and the Wildcats (13-4, 6-2 Pac-10) beat the Cougars for the 23rd straight time.

Washington State (10-9, 2-6) closed to 83-76 when Isaac Fontaine hit a pair of free throws with 45 seconds remaining. Arizona's Miles Simon hit four of six free throws in the final seconds to put the game out of reach.

No. 9 Louisville 81, No. 8 Cincinnati 70

At Louisville, Eric Johnson scored 10 points during a 20-5 run that sparked the Cardinals (18-2, 5-1) in the rugged Conference USA matchup.

Louisville made 34 of 45 free throws as Cincinnati committed a season-high 34 fouls. Cincinnati (14-4, 3-1) also turned the ball over 22 times, leading to 18 points for Louisville.

DeJuan Wheat scored 18 points to lead the Cardinals.

Ruben Patterson led Cincinnati with 18 points and 11 rebounds, and Danny Fortson had 16 points.

No. 21 Tulsa 69, SMU 49
At Tulsa, Shea Seals scored 14 points and reached the 2,000-point mark in career scoring for the Golden Hurricane (16-5, 6-1 WAC).

Kansas tops Lady Raiders

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) - Tamecka Dixon scored 24 points, including 11 in a decisive second-half run Thursday night that led No. 12 Kansas to a 69-52 win over No. 11 Texas Tech.

The game pitted the Big 12 conference's top two scorers - Texas Tech's Alicia Thompson, who was averaging 21.7 points per game coming in, and Dixon, averaging 21.1 - and the teams picked by the media as conference co-champions in the preseason.

The Jayhawks (15-3 overall, 6-1 Big 12) led by as much as 18 in the first half, but Texas Tech (13-5, 5-3) went on a 15-4 run, sparked by 11 points from reserve Cara Gibbs, to cut the Kansas lead to 31-24 at halftime.

The second half began to swing toward the Red Raiders, who moved within 35-30 with 18:07 remaining. But Texas Tech was unable to recover from a 28-14 run that gave the Jayhawks a 63-44 lead with 6:21 left.

Thompson paced the Red Raiders with 19 points, and Gibbs finished with 16.

Kansas freshman Lynn Pride scored 11 points for the Jayhawks, and Nakia Sanford grabbed 10 rebounds.

355 Facts About The BIBLE

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the Book of II Kings intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times

The Shunammite's Son

...IN THESE ANCIENT TIMES, THE ONLY STATUS OF IMPORTANCE A WOMAN CAN GAIN IS BY HAVING A SON TO CAREY ON THE FAMILY NAME.

...IN RESPONSE TO GEHAZI'S CALL, THE WOMAN RETURNS

CALL THE WOMAN!

BY THIS TIME NEXT YEAR, THOU SHALT HAVE A SON!

WANTING TO REPAY THE KINDNESS OF THE WEALTHY SHUNAMMITE WOMAN, ELISHA ASKS GEHAZI, HIS ATTENDANT, WHAT CAN BE DONE FOR HER—AND GEHAZI REMEMBERS THAT SHE HAS NO SON, NOW...

WITH TREMBLING JOY, THE WOMAN HEARS THIS NEWS! IT IS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE! IT WILL FULFILL HER LIFE AND GIVE HER IMPORTANCE IN HER HUSBAND'S HOUSE—A POSITION TO WHICH SHE HAD LONG GIVEN UP THE HOPE OF ATTAINMENT—NOW SHE SPEAKS...

NAY, MY LORD, THOU MAN OF GOD—DO NOT LIE UNTO THINE HANDMAID! IT IS MORE THAN I EVER COULD EXPECT!

Next Week THE FULFILLMENT!

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 16 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

Times	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or large type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are 4.25 per column inch.

LEGALS
 Ad rate for legal notices are 4.45 per column inch.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers an additional insertion will be published.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

Right of military voting under attack

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A taxpayer-funded legal challenge questioning the right of out-of-town military personnel to vote in local elections is "outrageous," says Sen. Phil Gramm.

"Is there no shame," he thundered in a floor speech Thursday, demanding that the Justice Department intervene in a West Texas voting-rights case that has blossomed into a cause celebre for conservatives.

Texas Rural Legal Aid, which represents thousands of poor Texans, filed suit in December challenging 800 out-of-town ballots cast in Val Verde County races by military personnel and their families. As a result of that suit, a federal judge in San Antonio has temporarily barred two Republicans from taking office as sheriff and county commissioner.

TRLA withdrew last week from the lawsuit. But that hasn't done anything to diminish the anger of Gramm, Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison and other Republicans fuming about the use of taxpayer money. TRLA has framed its challenge—which to date has cost some $4,000—as an issue of voter rights, saying the votes of residents in largely Hispanic Val Verde County have been diluted by mail-in ballots from non-residents. Military personnel who live elsewhere but claim Val Verde County as their preferred voting place should vote in federal elections but not state or local races, TRLA contends.

Republicans argue the challenge is an attack on the right of nomadic military personnel to claim for themselves the location in which they wish to vote. And they argue that TRLA, which obtains 80 percent of its budget from the taxpayer-funded Legal Services Corporation, violated a congressional ban on partisan activity by LSC.

"It seems to me that this is a fundamental issue: Do people who wear the uniform of this country have a right to vote in the location that they choose as their legal residence?" Gramm said.

He said he will attempt to hold up the corporation's appropriation

"unless we can get satisfaction." In an interview, LSC President Alexander Forger responded: "The senator has been a longtime critic of Legal Services Corporation, so I think the Texas case is not a new initiative."

"While it is true we cannot engage in partisan politics, I think the program in Texas is of the view that this is a voting-rights issue — not a political issue in the sense that Sen. Gramm uses it," Forger added.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Hutchison sent to Attorney General Janet Reno a letter signed by more than half of the Senate, including a sprinkling of Democrats, demanding Justice Department intervention in the case.

Gramm said Reno assured him Wednesday that she would consider the request on an "expedited basis."

He expressed particular outrage at a 23-page questionnaire approved by the federal court asking the 800 voters to respond to residency questions. One section asked respondents to state at which address their spouse routinely sleeps.

"The clear objective of this questionnaire is to intimidate voters," he said. Nonsense, said TRLA executive director David Hall.

"Unfortunately I don't think the senator is a lawyer and probably he has never tried one of these cases, but this is fairly standard kind of stuff you try to get in a case where the issue is whether somebody is a resident or not," Hall said.

From the questionnaire, TRLA determined half of the 800 mail-in ballots were from people who haven't lived in Val Verde County for at least five years.

One voter cited in the court filing is a San Antonio military man whose only connection to Val Verde County came 26 years ago when he and his wife spent their honeymoon at her grandmother's home. The man has never been stationed at Laughlin Air Force Base outside Del Rio, which was where many of the military personnel worked before moving elsewhere.

Said Hall: "What I'm just baffled by is why anybody would feel like you should be able to vote in some place that you never lived in or haven't lived in two decades."

Vigo Park student says no to drug test

By MARK BABINECK
Associated Press Writer
VIGO PARK, Texas (AP) — Hollister Gardner says he reacted to his school's random drug testing program just like he's approached dope all his life: He just said no.

Barely a month after his 18th birthday, Gardner drafted a federal lawsuit challenging the policy — and sued his father in the process.

Gary Gardner is among the Tulia Independent School District board members named as defendants in the lawsuit. But Gardner, the only board member to oppose the policy, has been happy to help his son by providing tapes of board meetings and other district documents.

"Boy, you think you raise them right, and as soon as they turn 18 they up and sue you," Gardner joked.

This rural district, about 45 miles south of Amarillo, asked parents and students last fall to sign permission slips agreeing to random drug testing as a condition of involvement in extracurricular activities.

Hollister Gardner, who is representing himself, filed suit in Amarillo earlier this month, arguing the district is violating search and seizure protections by conducting random tests without cause.

"If I understand the law the way I think I understand the law, I can't lose in this situation," he said.

Gary Gardner's family helped fund the tiny crossroads of Vigo Park in northeastern Swisher County 91 years ago.

"These hick towns out here have the attitude that we can do anything we want, and it's not so," said the elder Gardner, a third-generation farmer. "If this boy doesn't beat it, it can't be beat."

His son briefly was held out of activities, including an important stock show, before the board voted last week to reinstate him, pending the resolution of the lawsuit.

Superintendent Mike Vinyard supports testing.

"We consider (extracurricular activities) a privilege, and students who choose to participate in them, I feel, should be held to a higher standard than a student that doesn't participate," he said.

Vinyard says he hasn't necessarily seen increased drug use in Tulia schools in his 11 years in charge, but drugs have become more available. Tulia is a town of about 5,100 people some 66 miles north of Lubbock.

"The usage percentages probably are below urban areas and below the state average," Vinyard said. "We base some of our reasoning here on a 1994 student survey conducted by Texas A&M that said 27 percent of our students reported that they had used some kind of illicit drugs."

Vinyard said his district bases the policy on a 1996 U.S. Supreme Court ruling against a student football player in Vernonia, Ore., who refused to participate in drug testing.

"All the court spoke to was athletics, because that was all that was asked," Vinyard said. "A number of districts ... have expanded on that and gone to all extracurricular activities."

In his lawsuit, Gardner wrote that a major difference between Vernonia and Tulia is the Oregon school's drug problems were known to be centered in athletics.

Tulia is using the blanket application of testing participants in all extracurricular activities, such as the National Honor Society and the band, where no particular narcotics problems have been identified, he said.

"We're not out selling drugs as side jobs in Honor Society," said Gardner, its president.

Since testing began last month, the few samples that have been sent to Houston for analysis have returned negative, Vinyard said.

The school board was to hold a special meeting Friday to discuss the lawsuit and, possibly, the status of all the Gardners embroiled in the issue. Meanwhile, drug testing has been suspended until at least Feb. 13.

Hollister's younger sister Sarah and cousin Molly remain barred from middle school basketball because of their fight against school policy.

Vinyard said 433 of 436 students in extracurricular activities returned permission slips. The three Gardners were the exception.

The district has until Monday to respond to the federal suit, in which Gardner seeks an end to the testing and damages associated with any events he misses as a result of refusing to take the drug test.

In Farwell, Texas, a town on the New Mexico border, another Honor Society president is fighting a similar policy. Last week, Gardner invited Charlie Gustin to his makeshift home office to instruct him on the finer points of suing his school district.

"As soon as they announced the deal to us, I could tell there were problems," said Gustin, who is being held out of computer programming and one-act play competitions at his school. "It's a suspiciously obsessive search of the overachievers."
