Lester Wagner named Citizen of the Year

Citizen of Year award

Lester Wagner, left, received the Citizen of the Year award for 1996 at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night. L.J. Clark, Hereford Lions Club president made the presentation, citing Wagner for volunteer work in a number of community organizations. Wagner, 75, was born on a farm near Hereford.

Prices paid to producers at factories, farms records biggest drop in 2 years

WASHINGTON (AP) - Prices paid to producers at farms and factories last month registered the biggest drop in more than two years, pulled down by declines in gasoline, beef and computers.

Wall Street, nervous about inflation, welcomed the news. The seasonally adjusted 0.4 percent decrease in the Producer Price Index, reported by the Labor Department today, was the sharpest since an identical decline in October 1994. Economists had been anticipating no change in the index.

The unexpected decline was another piece of evidence that sustained robust economic growth hasn't yet translated into accelerating inflation. Nevertheless, many economists are looking for the Federal Reserve to nudge interest rates higher, as a preventative measure, after its next policy-making meeting on March 25.

Fear of higher rates sent stock prices plunging on Thursday and pushed long-term interest rates on the bond market to the highest level in nearly six months. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell 160 points, the fifth worst decline ever.

In the first half hour of trading today, the Dow quickly gained back more than 40 points. The bond market also welcomed today's price figures. Yields on 30-year Treasury bonds fell to 6.93 percent this morning from 6.96 percent late Thursday.

"Despite robust growth during the past two quarters, there are simply no signs of inflation," said economist Bruce Steinberg of Merrill Lynch. "There is literally no wholesale inflation in the U.S. economy."

In another report, the Federal Reserve said production at the nation's factories, mines and utilities in February rose 0.5 percent, the strongest in three months, after edging down a revised 0.1 percent in January. Manufacturing output rose 0.8 percent with long-lasting consumer goods such as appliances, business equipment and construction supplies all registering gains.

Industries operated at 83.3 percent of capacity, up from 83.2 percent in January. Those are levels that allow room for production increases without inflationary bottlenecks developing.

February's producer price drop follows a 0.3 percent fall in January. If inflation at the producer level were to continue at the pace of the first two months prices would decline by 4 percent.

The Producer Price Index measures the cost of goods before they reach consumers. Its movement offers important clues for the future behavior of the Consumer Price Index, which tracks the prices of services and retail goods.

Easley, Cumpston head up chamber's slate of officers

Lester Wagner was honored as Citizen of the Year; Olympian Josh Davis presented an inspiring message on his experiences in the Olympic Games; World Champion roper Steve Purcella drew special recognition; and new C of C President Wade Easley challenged citizens to work together for progress before a packed crowd at the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night.

"This is a heck of deal," said Chamber Manager Don Cumpston. "Where else could you go to a meeting and be sitting close to the top medal winner in the Olympics, the world champion roper, and the coach of the state volleyball champions?"

Wagner, 75, was cited for his volunteer work with various community organizations when L.J. Clark, Hereford Lions Club president, made the presentation of the Citizen of the Year. Wagner was employed with Hereford Parts & Supply for 38 years, serving as manager for 14 years before retiring in 1984.

Wagner has been a director and past president of Hereford Senior Citizens, a director and past president of Rest Lawn Cemetery Association, active in United Way and was Volunteer of the Year in 1995, a director of Crimestoppers, and active in the American Red Cross, Hereford Day Care Center, Hereford Beautification Alliance, Hereford Lions Club, SALT committee, and St. Anthony's Church. He is a member of the American Legion and DAV.

He and his wife, Viola, have four children. One son, David, is Hereford's Police Chief. Wagner said he was surprised by the honor, because he had been told "to make sure David is at the banquet, because he will receive an award."

The guest speaker, Davis, 24, who won three gold medals in swimming, recounted the "incredible feeling" he experienced in the 1996 Atlanta games.

"As I stood on the winner's stand and they played the National Anthem, several thoughts crossed by mind," said Davis. "I thought of all the people who had helped get me to that point; I thought of family and their unconditional love, and I felt sorry for the athletes from other countries who didn't get the gold because America has the best of everything."

Davis said he also felt fortunate to have his family present, "because it wouldn't be half as good if they were not there to experience the moment."

The pressure was immense before the first event, said Davis. The U.S. team had finished fourth in the last games, and we felt we had to win the gold. We had the drive and I felt peace through prayer as I prepared to start the race.

"Winning the gold medals was awesome - it ranked right up there with marrying Shantel." Davis recalled how he was in the dining hall for athletes at the University of Texas "when the most beautiful woman I'd ever seen walked in. I decided I had to meet her. I did and the rest is history."

His wife is the former Shantel Cornelius of Hereford, daughter of Donnie and Darlene Cornelius. Shantel was a standout volleyball player for Hereford and went on to play at UT.

"With all the successes I've had, I thought that nothing could top winning the gold and winning Shantel... then last month we found out Shantel was pregnant!"

"And, tonight, this chamber celebrates the pursuit of excellence and - with the leadership exhibited here tonight - I believe you're going to have great success," concluded Davis.

Easley told the audience he was lucky to be the chamber president this year, "because I believe we have the ingredients for a great year." He said last year was difficult because the

Clinton injures knee in fall; surgery scheduled for today

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) - President Clinton tore a tendon in his knee early today after stumbling on the stairs at golfer Greg Norman's home. Surgery was scheduled to repair substantial damage to his right knee.

Returning from Florida, Clinton waved to reporters, said "hi guys," and gingerly made his way into a limousine for the trip to Bethesda Naval Hospital. First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton was by his side.

The surgery was planned late today and the president was expected to stay the night at the hospital.

Clinton stumbled on a step as he left Norman's home in West Palm Beach about 1:20 a.m. and tore his quadriceps tendon, which connects the upper thigh to the kneecap.

"He remembers his right knee buckling out. He heard a very loud pop," said Navy Capt. Connie Mariano, the president's personal physician.

The president suffered a 50 percent tear of his tendon, requiring surgery to repair.

"It's technically not that difficult to do," said Dr. Joel Cohen, a surgeon at St. Mary's Hospital. "It's not a major operation, but it's not a minor one."

"You literally drill a hole in the kneecap," Cohen said, to reattach the tendon to the kneecap. If there are no complications, the surgery generally takes about 90 minutes.

The president will be given an epidural or a local anesthetic during the surgery and will be conscious, the doctors said.

There are no plans to turn presidential powers over to Vice President Al Gore.

Clinton will be in a leg brace and use crutches for from two to six weeks, the doctors said. Physical therapy will begin in three to six weeks and could take up to six months.

The president was given an anti-inflammatory, non-narcotic pain killer called Toradol to ease the painful injury, his doctor said. His leg was put in a temporary cast running from his thigh to his ankle.

Press secretary Mary Ellen Glynn said the president was in good spirits. "He asked for a deck of cards and was playing hearts" with confidante Bruce Lindsey.

Clinton is due to travel to Helsinki to meet with Russian President Boris Yeltsin next Wednesday and Thursday. "It will go on," Clinton said as he left Florida. "You bet."

Mrs. Clinton is to leave Saturday morning on a two-week trip to Africa with their daughter, Chelsea. Aides said she probably would go but might delay her departure a few hours. "I think a lot depends on her conversations with the president," spokesman Neel Lattimore said.

The president was in Hobe Sound, Fla., to play in a two-day tournament sponsored by Norman. Clinton was spending the night at Norman's 80-acre oceanside estate.

Before leaving Florida, the president said he talked with Norman about the effect this will have on his golf game. "I told him my handicap was going up by the minute," Clinton joked.

Before the injury, the two had chatted late into the night at Norman's home. Clinton left about WASHINGTON - Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison says she's cautiously optimistic that a way will be found to keep Amtrak's Texas Eagle passenger train service rolling. Her assessment comes as a Saturday deadline loomed for Texas to decide whether to float a loan to keep the Texas Eagle alive beyond a scheduled May shutdown.

HOUSTON - Mexico's former top drug prosecutor has testified that he received at least $500,000 in payments from an $82 million secret fund controlled by former Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gotari.

SAN ANTONIO - A former Army recruiter has been sentenced to 15 years in prison following his conviction on 16 charges, including rape, sexual harassment, sodomy and adultery.

DALLAS - A recent rash of bank robberies has Texas FBI officials bracing for what could be a record year for heists and bank officials around the state re-thinking their security measures. FBI officials say that determining why robbing banks seems to be in style will have to take a back seat to shortening the list of unsolved crimes.

HOUSTON - Car owners now can get specially designed security labels that leave an imprint even when removed to improve recovery of stolen vehicles or parts, an anti-theft group announced Thursday.

AUSTIN - The University Interscholastic League, which oversees extracurricular activities in Texas public schools, would be abolished and its rule-making authority would be transferred to the state education commissioner under a bill filed in the Texas House.

AUSTIN - If the state raises more money to fund public schools it will have to find a new way to distribute the money. But the distribution system can't simply divide the amount of money by the number of students, a House lawmaker said.

Russian teen arrested in Cosby slaying

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A Russian teen accused of killing Ennis Cosby chose his victim at random, police said, finding the 27-year-old student beside a disabled Mercedes-Benz along a darkened road.

"It could have been you or I sitting on the side of the road trying to get help to fix a tire," police Chief Willie Williams said Thursday.

Mikhail Markhasev, 18, was arrested Wednesday night at his suburban North Hollywood home, and he was expected to be charged with murder today. Police say they have seized the murder weapon and a wool cap supposedly worn by the killer.

Bill Cosby's only son was shot as he changed a tire on his $130,000 convertible Jan. 16, just off a busy Los Angeles freeway. No one tampered with the car to flatten the tire, Williams said, nor was race a factor.

"This was a random stop as far as we know now," Williams said. "The motive was robbery. He passed by and Mr. Cosby was just there."

Police say they still aren't sure whether Markhasev took anything from Cosby that night. Williams rejected reports that the slaying may have been the work of a Russian car theft ring or have ties to the Russian mob.

Markhasev does have a criminal record, but police declined to elaborate. He came to the United States as a Russian refugee in 1989 and is not a U.S. citizen, a federal official, speaking on condition of anonymity, told The Associated Press.

The primary witness to the slaying was a woman Ennis Cosby apparently was going to visit that night. After Cosby had the flat tire, she went to the scene in her car and came face to face with the suspect. Williams said her description of Markhasev was remarkably accurate.

As the chief spoke, Markhasev's mug shot and an artist's sketch made from her description were displayed side by side.

The National Enquirer was the first to receive the tip that led to Markhasev's arrest. The caller phoned the tabloid's tip line just days after the killing, Enquirer editor Steve Coz said.

The tipster, who had hoped to claim the tabloid's $100,000 reward, gave the Enquirer a pager number. The number and name were given to police.

The person told the tabloid there was a Russian mob connection, and the link was widely reported Thursday; Williams, however, said Markhasev acted alone.

Coz said the tipster directed police to the area where the gun had been dumped, just a few miles from the crime scene.

"This tip along with many other hundreds was methodically reviewed and followed up on," Williams said. It led to the serving of three search warrants, surveillance of Markhasev and eventually his arrest.

Two other people brought in for questioning Wednesday night - a man and a woman - have been released. The younger Cosby was a doctoral candidate in special education at Columbia University in New York.

Cosby family spokesman David Brokaw, after talking with Bill and Camille Cosby, said, "I sense a real sense of triumph, exuberance and something along the lines of some sort of closure."

In a statement, the Cosbys thanked police and said they "felt certain and had every hope that they would find the suspect and that the process of jurisprudence would unfold."

World Champ is recognized

Wade Easley, right, presented a special plaque to Steve Purcell, world champion team roper, at the Chamber Banquet Thursday night. Purcell was recognized for the national publicity he brings Hereford in his career as a roper, with his partner, Steve Northcutt of Odessa. Purcell was congratulated by many banquet goers during a reception following the banquet.

Lt. Gov. Bullock says sports zeal in out of control in state

AUSTIN (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, taking a shot at King Football, said Thursday the zeal for sports is so out of control that it may soon lead to "breeding professional athletes."

"I just think that sports has gotten completely out of hand in our state and other states," said Bullock, the Texas Senate's presiding officer and a critic of a legislative plan for public funding for sports facilities.

"They'll be breeding professional athletes before long. They'll be picking out a momma and daddy and hiring them to breed together to have these ballplayers," Bullock said. "There's something going on, folks, about this thing that just repels me."

Regarding the bill that would allow cities, with voter approval, to raise a variety of taxes to help fund sports facilities, Bullock said: "It offends me, to be honest about it, that we'd be putting millions and millions of dollars into a sports arena for people that are tremendously wealthy and own these franchises."

Yet, he predicted the measure would pass.

"We've done a lot of goofy things here before. Let's just add this one to the list of them," said Bullock, who also described multimillion-dollar contracts for ballplayers as "obscene."

Asked if his remarks would offend

"Bubba" - Texas' Everyman - Bullock responded by taking aim at the Dallas Cowboys.

"I think Bubba is just about as disgusted with some of the things he's read about the Dallas Cowboys as I am. I mean, can any of you hold up your head and say you're proud of some of those things? I can't. I don't believe Bubba does either," he said.

Cowboys spokesman Brett Daniels had no comment.

Not only that, Bullock suggested the nation's best sports franchise may not be anywhere near Texas.

"That might be the best franchise of all, Green Bay. It's owned by people, not just in the hands of one or two tremendously wealthy people," Bullock said.

That appeared to be the crux of Bullock's opposition to public funding of stadiums.

"Tremendously wealthy people own these franchises, and they're looking for public monies to build a stadium where their franchise can play in that stadium," he said. "It's just corporate welfare."

Mayors of Texas cities with professional sports teams have voiced support for the sports facility funding bill, citing ball teams' economic impact.

"I don't think it's an accident that all those cities in the East - that we thought were dying, that we thought weren't going to come back - are now going through what we call a renaissance," Dallas Mayor Ron Kirk said Wednesday.

"The essential element has been their ability to bring their sports franchises not only back to the city but back to their downtown."

Bullock said he wasn't concerned about sports teams that might leave the state, adding that Texans should be more concerned about education.

"Do you have any idea ... with this same amount of money, what you could do with schools in Dallas or in Houston or in San Antonio? Think about it," he said.

"I mean, there's a lot of bond issues that are voted down periodically, yet it seems like people will vote for something that has sports written across it."

Bullock readily admits he doesn't have much interest in sports. He said the last football game he attended was the Sugar Bowl two years ago.

chamber was without a manager for much of 1996.

"Don Cumpton has provided the motivation for a great start in 1997. When we finish a board meeting with Don, we say 'Okay, coach, put us in the game, we're ready to play!'"

Tommie Weemes, past president, made the introductions at the banquet, then received a plaque of appreciation after passing the gavel to Easley. Weemes was praised by Easley for guiding the chamber through a difficult year.

Weemes also presented plaques to outgoing directors and paid special recognition to past president, the Hustler organization, committee chairmen for the new year, and guests at the banquet.

Elvira Enriquez, Women's Division president, presented a bouquet of roses to Rita Bell, the division's Woman of the Year for 1996. She also expressed appreciation to the businesses who sponsored special table decorations.

Cumpton had issued a challenge to directors and Hustlers to sell 500 tickets for the banquet. He announced that 507 people went through the food line. Nancy Denison provided dinner music for the event, while the HHS Key Club, the Kiwanettes and the Anchor Club provided drink service.

Anti-theft group urging Texans to buy ID stickers

HOUSTON (AP) - This is one label that is supposed to stick.

An anti-theft group is urging Texans to buy permanent identification labels for their cars as part of the new Protect Our Parts program. Its goal is to improve the recovery of stolen cars and parts.

The labels are placed under the hood or on the inside of a door, as well as on stereos, car phones, speakers or wheels, said Charity Judah of the nonprofit Texas Action Council on Theft.

They list the owner's driver's license number and the car's vehicle identification number.

"The important part of these labels is the part that you don't see," Ms. Judah said Thursday. "If this label is removed from your car stereo, your car phone, your seats, your door, it actually leaves behind a footprint (with) the 800-number to the database and the identification number identifying this as your property."

That "footprint" can be seen with an ultraviolet light.

Car owners can purchase 10 security labels, along with two window decals, for $8.30. The decals warn that the car is protected through a permanent marking system.

"A window decal is the first line of defense," she said. "With the window decals on the car, they'll move down to another car with no window decals."

Nearly 105,000 cars were stolen in Texas in 1995.

More than 250,000 Texans already have put similar labels on their televisions, computers, stereos or other valuables.

They have helped in recovering items or catching thieves who try to pawn the valuables.

The council, which has planned events around the state to announce the new program, consists of insurers who work with police.

More than 36,000 Texans have registered in another anti-theft program that uses window decals.

Participants in the state program, called Help End Auto Theft, give police permission to stop their vehicles between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m. or at the Texas-Mexico border to check on vehicle ownership. It costs one cent to register for four years.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you will share this heartwarming story with your readers. This article appeared in the Houston Chronicle about a year ago, and I thought it was time to remind others how wonderful people can be. The piece was written by a reporter whose name is Clifford Pugh. It really made me feel better about the human race, and I'll bet it will give your readers a lift. -- Just Plain Joe

Dear J.P. Joe: What a lovely happening! Thank you for the privilege of sharing it with my readers. Here it is:

"Mel Rosenthal will be leaving Houston with a good impression of the city and its people -- thanks in large part to taxi driver Allen Burrell.

"Rosenthal, a photojournalist and professor of art at Empire State College in New York City, lost his wallet after he took a cab on Sunday. He didn't discover his loss until he returned to his hotel room. He began to panic because he had just visited an ATM machine, and his wallet was filled with cash and all his credit cards.

"He called the Yellow Cab Co., but he wasn't hopeful of retrieving his wallet. The next morning, Burrell showed up with the wallet in hand.

"There's no way this would have happened in New York," said Rosenthal. Burrell, who jokingly says he's been driving a cab "eight years too long," says it never entered his mind to keep the wallet, which he found wedged in the back seat of the taxi.

"My mother always told me good follows good, and bad follows bad," said the 62-year-old cabbie. "I couldn't have lived with myself if I took the money and threw the wallet away."

"Rosenthal rewarded Burrell with a 'big tip' and hired him to take him to the airport this morning.

"I thought it was fitting," says Rosenthal."

Dear Ann Landers: What should I do with bridal portraits after a divorce? Our daughter, "Clarice," had a lovely wedding, and we had a beautiful portrait made of her in her bridal gown. We have it in our living room over the mantel -- a focal point in our home.

Clarice was married less than two years. There were no children but many bitter feelings. In the early days of her divorce proceedings, I asked Clarice if she would like us to remove the portrait, but she said to leave it alone. Now that the divorce is almost final, however, it seems inappropriate as well as insensitive to keep this reminder in our home. I know Clarice wouldn't ask me to remove it since she is aware of how much we spent on it and would not want to hurt our feelings.

How should I handle this delicate situation? If you tell me to store it, what should I do to make sure it's preserved properly? -- Virginia Mom

Dear Va. Mom: You should remove the picture, take it to the best framer in town and ask him for a recommendation. I hope you will hang, in its place, a bright and cheery painting that has nothing to do with weddings.

Dear Ann: Your suggestion that we should always carry a card identifying our blood type was excellent. An easy way to obtain this information is to donate blood through the Red Cross. They type the blood of each donor and send the donor a card stating the blood type as well as the date and place of donation. -- A Connecticut Volunteer

Dear Volunteer: Thanks for the information and the opportunity to remind my readers of the importance of becoming a blood donor. You never know when YOU might need it. Make an appointment today.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teen-Ager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.75 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. Valdez gives presentation for Hereford Toastmasters

Hereford High School student Chris Valdez was special guest speaker at the Thursday morning meeting of Hereford Toastmasters.

Valdez gave an interpretation of Patrick Henry's "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death" speech. Several members evaluated Valdez's presentation.

Jeff Dodson was the other speaker for the meeting. His speech title was "To View God's Creation." Pat Varner served as evaluator.

Valdez was voted best speaker and Varner best evaluator.

Gary Whitfill served as toastmaster and Mike Morrison was the presiding officer. Serving as timer was Charles Minchew; AH counter, Linda Minchew and grammarian, Joe Don Cummings. Wordmaster Dan Hall introduced the word "clone."

As topicmaster, Margaret Del Toro gave each topic speaker a quote and asked them to explain it. Cummings expounded on "People with tact have less to retract"; Hall-"Hope is not the conviction that something will turn out well"; Charles Minchew-"Many things are lost for want of asking"; Linda Minchew-"Rank doesn't confer privilege or give power. It imposes responsibility"; and Breck Hunsaker-"Opportunities are often things you haven't noticed the first time around."

Cummings received the most votes for his humorous presentation as topic speaker.

General evaluator was Wayne Winget. Dee Hamilton was a guest at the meeting.

The Toastmasters wished Valdez success in the upcoming U.I.L. speech contest in Lubbock on April 11-13 when he will give a 10 minute, memorized oratory titled "To Look Upon a Nation."

Defensive woes spell doom for Herd in Crown of Texas debut

By Tommy Wells
Managing Editor
AMARILLO - If Hereford head coach Pete Rodriguez didn't own stock in the Roloids or Alka Seltzer companies prior to yesterday, he might soon.

Rodriguez, who admitted that at this point in the season the numbers in the win-loss column aren't as seeing his team play some good, consistent ball both offensively and defensively, had to be near the convulsion stage yesterday afternoon as he watched his Whitefaces see some good and consistent play.

Unfortunately, the good play came from the other side of the field, and the consistent part of the equation came in Hereford's woes in the field and at the plate. In their two games of Pool play (against Amarillo High and Borger, respectively), the Herd managed just five hits and committed 13 errors.

"We're just not playing good baseball right now," said Rodriguez. "We're making mental errors on routine plays - the same plays we were making up to now."

"We just need to keep our heads together," he added. In all honesty, the Whiteface defense probably couldn't be held responsible for the 14-1 loss to Amarillo in the tournament opener. After all, you can't field what you can't touch.

En route to improving their season record to 8-7, Amarillo High cranked out 14 runs on 14 hits, including six doubles and a triple.

The Sandies' offensive attack didn't roll in like a thunderstorm, however. It started as a drizzle and built up. Amarillo scored once in the first inning, twice in the second and then added seven more in the third and sprinted to a commanding 10-0 advantage.

Hereford, which has lost its last four outings, managed its lone run of the game in the bottom of the third. Andrew Ramirez led off the Whiteface inning by drawing a walk. Dustin Hill followed with a single to right, and set up Joseph Artho's run scoring bouncer to second.

Amarillo High tacked on four more runs in the ensuing three innings.

The Whitefaces' luck went south against Borger - a team they will meet in the District 1-4A race. Hereford managed just three hits in the contest and committed a season-high nine errors.

The afternoon did get off to a pleasant start for the Herd. The Whitefaces drew first blood in the matchup by pushing home a run in the top of the first inning. Hill started the Herd's offensive bonanza with a double to right, and advanced to third when the Borger rightfielder misplayed the ball. Artho followed minutes later with another run scoring grounder to second.

That lead, like the HHS luck, melted away like a snowflake in Miami, however. Borger scored twice in their half of the first, and then came back to stretch their advantage to 4-1 with two more in the third.

The Bulldogs added one more run in the fourth, and then erupted for six more in the fourth.

Ramirez and Jeremy Scott collected the Whitefaces' only two other hits in the affair.

With the two loss, Hereford fell into the consolation bracket of the tournament where they were slated to face Lubbock High, beginning at 1 p.m. today at Conner Park. Lubbock, now 10-6 overall, was shelled twice in the opening round, losing to Randall by a 13-7 margin and to Plainview by a 19-11 clip.

The Whitefaces, who open District 1-4A play Tuesday at home against Canyon, are 6-6 on the year.

Smashing time

The Hereford Whiteface tennis team went after its second straight first place tournament finish today when they took to the Whiteface Courts for the annual Hereford Tennis Tournament. The Whitefaces, who are slated to play host to the Beef Capital Tournament next Friday and Saturday, are coming off an impressive performance last weekend in the Fort Stockton Invitational.

Smith ties Rupp as winningest coach in NCAA history with 876

By The Associated Press
It was a memorable night for Dean Smith and a forgettable one for Bob Knight.

Smith tied Adolph Rupp as the winningest basketball coach in NCAA history Thursday night when North Carolina survived a scare from Fairfield, 82-74, in the opening round of the East Regional.

"I feel good to be a part of it," said North Carolina guard Ed Cota, who had 10 assists and no turnovers. "We're just trying to get the record for coach Smith and let him enjoy the day."

Smith will go for a record-setting 877th victory Saturday against Colorado, which routed Knight's Indiana team 80-62. It was the third straight year the Hoosiers (22-11) were eliminated in the first round, and the 18-point loss matched Indiana's worst in 71 NCAA tournament games.

"When you are soundly beaten, there is not much you can say," Knight said.

Fairfield (11-19), which had the worst record in the 64-team field and no starter over 6-foot-6, made a strong bid to become the first No.

16 seed to beat a No. 1 seed.

The Stags led by seven at half-time and stayed with the Tar Heels (25-6) until the final minute in front of a pro-North Carolina crowd in Winston-Salem.

"They were like mosquitoes out there," North Carolina forward Antawn Jamison said. "They did one of the awesome jobs of the year. They were on fire, they couldn't miss anything and once they started getting things going they got a lot of confidence."

Vince Carter led the Tar Heels with 22 points, while Greg Francis led Fairfield with 26 points.

In other East Regional games, California edged Princeton 55-52 and Villanova downed Long Island 101-91.

In the Southeast, Kansas beat Jackson State 78-64, Purdue defeated Rhode Island 83-76 in overtime, College of Charleston topped Maryland 75-66, and Arizona defeated South Alabama 65-57.

In the Midwest, Cincinnati defeated Butler 86-69, Iowa State beat Illinois State 69-57, Xavier downed Vanderbilt 80-68, and UCLA beat Charleston Southern

Bill introduced into House that would abolish UIL

AUSTIN (AP) - A state lawmaker who has disagreed with University Interscholastic League rules in the past wants to abolish the league, which oversees sports and other extracurricular activities in Texas public schools.

Under a bill sponsored by Rep. Rick Williamson, R-Weatherford, the UIL's rulemaking authority would be transferred to the state education commissioner.

The UIL's state executive committee, currently comprised of school administrators, would be replaced with a 12-person advisory committee made up of sports, academic and arts coaches as well as three citizens who have never worked for or represented their school district.

The committee members would be appointed by the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House and the education commissioner.

Debbie Graves Ratcliffe, a spokeswoman for the Texas Education Agency, said Education Commissioner Mike Moses had not reviewed the bill.

Williamson said Thursday that he believes the UIL is currently a private organization that is violating state law by imposing hiring and firing standards on public schools.

"I think the time has come for the people who participate in UIL and state government to make a decision about what UIL is,"

Williamson said. "Is it a private, not-regulated-by-the-state organization, or is it a state agency? If it is a state agency, it should function as a state agency and follow the law."

UIL Director Bill Farney said, "It would change drastically the structure we have now, which is grassroots. Right now, the rulemaking authority rests with the schools."

Williamson last year testified before the UIL's state executive committee in hopes of changing several rules. His proposals were rejected.

The state representative, who has two daughters playing softball at Weatherford High School, also proposed removing the limits on the number of softball games student-athletes could play.

"I'm not mad at the UIL. I think the organization serves a useful purpose, and I think more students should participate in activities," Williamson said. "I just think we need to determine if it's a public or private body."

Farney says the UIL represents the epitome of local control, adding that the league's legislative council is made up of 28 school administrators from across the state.

"It's often misconceived that the UIL office makes the rules, but in reality, they are laid out in a well-structured plan of advisory committees made up of representatives from the schools," Farney said.

UIL Legislative Council Chairman Bill Mayfield, superintendent of the Happy Independent School District, sent a letter to school districts across the state requesting their help "in defeating this bill."

Eddie Joseph, who heads the Texas High School Coaches Association, said the bill is "really kind of ludicrous."

"The UIL is flawed like everything else in this world, but it beats what comes in second place all to pieces," Joseph said. "It's the model. It's what everyone looks at across the nation."

"You look at the budget they operate on and the number of children who participate in their events and it may be the best bargain in America," Joseph said.

When asked if his bill had support, Williamson said, "It's pretty controversial. We'll get a lot of good attention and see where it leads."

San Antonio's Alamodome snags Big 12's '97 title game

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Add another big-time college athletic event to the Alamo City's calendar.

The Alamodome has been selected as the site for the Big 12's football championship game between North and South divisions on Saturday, Dec. 6.

"We're excited about giving football fans in this region a chance to see one of the nation's premiere championship games," said commissioner Steve Hatchell during his Thursday announcement.

"We have been pleased with the bids we received from a number of cities for the game and we are really happy about the 1997 site. San Antonio offers a great atmosphere, many local attractions and a fine facility in the Alamodome."

The TWA Dome in St. Louis hosted the first game between Texas and Nebraska and fell short of capacity although it produced $500,000 in additional revenue for conference schools. Texas won 37-27.

That site fell in Big 12 North territory. The second game will be squarely on South land.

Houston and St. Louis also submitted bids for the game.

Missouri's Joe Castiglione, the Big 12 director of athletics chairman, said "the directors liked the idea of moving the championship to different geographical sites to offer increased exposure in new areas for the Big 12. We were very pleased with the support and the reception we had in the inaugural game in St. Louis last December."

Capacity in the Alamodome is 65,000. ABC will televise the event, which is sponsored by Dr Pepper.

Donnie Duncan, Big 12 senior associate commissioner, said the game "is a showcase for Big 12 football as well as college football nationally."

"I don't know that I can pinpoint one reason why San Antonio was chosen," Duncan said. "But I do know that San Antonio has a really good image throughout the Big 12.

San Antonio was a known going in."

The Alamodome will be the site of next weekend's NCAA Midwest Regional men's basketball tournament. Next spring, the Alamodome will host the NCAA men's Final Four.

Bob Coleman, head of the local organizing committee, said "we are delighted to be furthering our partnership with the Big 12 Conference."

Tickets will range from $10 to $75, compared to $40 and $60 in St. Louis. Big 12 and city officials worked to ensure an easier ticket.

"We wanted to make it reasonable for students so that if three or four of them want to get in a car and come down, there will be a ticket price they can afford," Duncan said.

Alamo Bowl executive Derrick Fox estimated that about 35,000 seats will be available the public. The rest will be distributed by the conference to its member schools and associates.

Bradley's 31 leads Mavs past Celts

By CHRIS SHERIDAN
AP Basketball Writer

On a night devoid of anything compelling in the NBA, enough odd stuff happened to make it at least a bit interesting.

After all, how many nights feature Shawn Bradley scoring a season-high 31 points, or Donyell Marshall scoring 30, or the Cleveland Cavaliers allowing more than 100 points or the Toronto Raptors winning their third in a row?

Thursday night saw all four. Bradley not only had his best offensive night of the season, he also blocked a potential game-tying shot to preserve Dallas' 109-107 victory over the Boston Celtics.

The Cavaliers allowed 100 or more points for just the sixth time this season, but it took the Golden State Warriors overtime to do so in a 101-95 victory.

As for the Raptors, they matched the longest winning streak in franchise history as they won 103-96 at Sacramento.

In other games, Phoenix beat the Los Angeles Clippers 112-96. Detroit beat Denver 102-82 and Seattle beat Minnesota 108-92.

The Mavericks took a two-point lead, their first of the final quarter, when Michael Finley knocked the ball from rookie Antoine Walker near midcourt and went in for an uncontested dunk with 9.8 seconds left.

Bradley then blocked a layup attempt by Walker.

"My goal is to make plays when the game is on the line," said Bradley, who finished with the highest point total ever by a Mavericks center. "I got the big block, and Michael came up with the big steal. I want to be part of a winning organization."

The Celtics had one last shot, but Walker's 3-point attempt from the left wing bounced off the rim at the buzzer.

Finley added 27 points and rookie Erick Strickland scored 16 as the Mavericks won their second game in a row for only the fifth time this season.

Celtics coach M.L. Carr credited the Mavericks for making the defensive plays that turned the game around.

Warriors 101, Cavaliers 95
At San Jose, Marshall tied his career high with 30 points and Mark Price scored two crucial baskets in overtime.

Marshall shot 11-of-15 and added 10 rebounds. Price had 18 points and Ray Owes added 13 points off the bench. Danny Ferry's 21 points topped Cleveland.

After being down 95-92 when Cleveland's Chris Mills hit a 3-pointer with 3:50 left in overtime, the Warriors scored the last nine points of the game.

Price hit a lean-in jumper to put Golden State up 96-95, then made a 3-pointer with 1:08 to go for a 99-95 lead.

Cleveland missed six shots and had three turnovers in the final 3:50 of overtime.

Raptors 103, Kings 96
Damon Stoudamire scored 31 points, including 14 in a 16-2 run that gave Toronto a 94-85 lead late in the fourth quarter.

It was only the second time in two seasons the Raptors have won three straight games.

The Kings still hold a half-game lead over the Clippers for the seventh spot in the Western Conference playoffs.

Suns 112, Clippers 96
At Los Angeles, Phoenix moved within two games of the Clippers for the Western Conference's eighth and final playoff spot.

Kevin Johnson scored all 23 of his points in the final three periods and Rex Chapman added 16 of his 22 points in the second half for the Suns.

Pistons 102, Nuggets 82
At Denver, Grant Hill had 28 points and 14 rebounds and Otis Thorpe scored 22 points as Detroit matched its victory total of last season.

Joe Dumars added 19 points for the Pistons, who are 46-17 after finishing 46-36 last season.

Sonics 108, Timberwolves 92
At Minneapolis, the SuperSonics kept Kevin Garnett and Tom Gugliotta well in check and got 29 points from Gary Payton.

Gugliotta was just 1-of-1 from the field after halftime and finished with 13 points. Garnett didn't score in the first half and finished with eight points on 4-of-11 shooting.

Northwest Primary School students collected pennies for their school's Kids with Wish fund-raiser, "Pig out for Pennies." The Make-A-Wish Foundation grants wishes to children between the ages of 2-1/2 to 18 with a life-threatening illness. The school collected $769.63 within a two-week period. Pictured is Veronica Anaya's bilingual kindergarten class. Miss Anaya's class donated the most pennies in the school. The class will receive a party, where students can pig out on foods that begin with the letter "p."

Names in the News

NEW YORK (AP) - Dylan McDermott, who's seen his share of bad film scripts, is looking to television for good material.

McDermott is starring in "The Practice," ABC's new legal series by David E. Kelley, creator of "Picket Fences" and "Chicago Hope."

"It was a hard decision to go to television," McDermott said. "It's a gamble, but... I feel like you just have to go with your instinct, and my instinct says that with David Kelley, I'm going to have good material."

Film credits for McDermott, 35, include "In the Line of Fire" and this month's "'Til There Was You." He also appeared in ill-received films like "Destiny Turns on the Radio" and "The Cowboy Way."

"I've tried like hell to make bad movies good, and I can't," he said in US magazine's April edition.

361 Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN ZEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the Book of II Kings intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times

The Shunammite's Son

ALTHOUGH HER HUSBAND AND THE HOUSEHOLD SERVANTS MOURN FOR THE DEAD BOY, THE SHUNAMMITE WOMAN REFUSES TO BELIEVE THAT NOTHING CAN BE DONE, NOW....

FOR WHAT REASON SHOULD YOU NOW GO TO ELISHA? IT IS NOT TIME FOR ANY FEASTS OR SACRIFICES!

...SHE PLEADS WITH HER HUSBAND FOR A DONKEY TO TRAVEL TO ELISHA'S HOME....

...THE WOMAN NOW ASSURES HER HUSBAND THAT IF SHE CAN ONLY REACH ELISHA, SOMETHING CAN BE DONE FOR THEIR SON....

ALL WILL BE WELL!

WITH A STRONG DONKEY AND A YOUNG SERVANT SUPPLIED BY HER HUSBAND, AND WEARING THE HEAVY TRAVELING ROBES OF THESE TIMES....

...THE WOMAN RIDES ACROSS THE WILD COUNTRYSIDE, WITH THE YOUNG MAN URGING HIS BEAST ON IN THE FASTEST PACE POSSIBLE OVER THIS RUGGED LAND!

Next Week ELISHA SEES FROM AFAR!

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

Top newscasters take look at their business

NEW YORK (AP) - A documentary on the state of television news today paints a withering portrait of an industry seduced by sensationalism and willing to sacrifice quality for the bottom line.

The eye-opening aspect of The History Channel's "Embattled Witness" is its sources: some of the biggest names in the broadcast news business.

Listen to "Today's" Katie Couric describe how she feels trying to sweet-talk a tabloid celebrity into an appearance on her show. "Sometimes I'm thinking, 'I want to hurl,'" she said.

Or Lesley Stahl of CBS concede that she's occasionally pressured to talk on the air about a story she hasn't thoroughly reported. "It's frightening," she said.

The cranky journalists aren't quite what producers had anticipated when they set out to prepare the final installment of the cable network's six-part series on broadcast journalism, which airs Thursday at 8 p.m. EST.

"I think we were surprised at some of the stridency that they did feel about the changing nature of broadcast journalism," said Abbe Raven, a programming executive at The History Channel. "When you see them one after another, it's really quite striking."

The documentary traces how ratings-obsessed local news programs and new "tabloid" television shows like "A Current Affair" combined to change the way news has been covered by the network news divisions.

The traditions of journalism, the narrator grimly intones, are "under siege."

Twenty years ago, the big networks would have ignored people like Tonya Harding, John Wayne Bobbitt, Joey Buttafuoco and Robert Chambers. Now they join in on the story.

Robin Dorian of "A Current Affair" said it struck her how the landscape had changed when she saw Connie Chung and Diane Sawyer chasing after Harding.

"Inside Edition's" Deborah Norville, who used to host the "Today" show, offers a damning assessment.

"I am in the singularly unique position of having been at two major networks on their biggest shows, and now working in syndication," Norville said. "I have ridden both ponies' backs. And I can tell you there's not that great a difference."

Local news is depicted as so dependent on ratings that focus groups essentially decide what is covered. The result is a focus on more lurid tales - "If it bleeds, it leads," is the credo - at the expense of topics that are more important but make for eye-glazing television.

These local stations "refuse to cover the news. They cover what I would call distractions," NBC's Tom Brokaw said. Government news isn't covered unless there's a scandal.

"It's not about journalism," he said. "It's about filling up air time. They don't make the investment in strong reporting."

Hearing Brokaw talk may temper some viewers. His nightly news program has recently become number one in the ratings with an approach that de-emphasizes government news in favor of longer lifestyle pieces. Some traditionalists dub it "news lite."

"Embattled Witness" concludes on a hopeful note for the future, although the only evidence it seems to offer is the natural swing of a pendulum.

"I sense that we are now coming back from a dangerous precipice where we might have gone over and done the funny farm, and just done the three-headed cow and Elvis at the supermarket ... coming back to a more steady, more sober look at events," said ABC's Sam Donaldson.

Donaldson's attitude, though, hints at the most nagging aspect of this documentary.

"Embattled Witness" effectively illustrates the trends in television news, but does so from a pedestal. It's hard to shake the paternalistic tone - we know what kind of news is best for you, and you're not getting it.

It's a dangerous attitude, and one of many reasons why consumers are looking beyond traditional sources for their news.

Diane Sawyer puts things in perspective. The ABC News star has ridden many ponies herself, from probing investigative pieces to that excruciating interview with Michael Jackson and Lisa Marie Presley.

"I think we can call it good, bad, we can think about it," Sawyer said. "Won't make any difference. It's about human nature. In the end, we're saying people shouldn't be interested in what people are interested in."

"But they are," she said.

The word "parenthesis" (meaning the marks around this phrase) comes from the Greek meaning to "put in."

ACRYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A few words from your Executive Vice President

Since January 2, 1997, it has been my privilege to be your Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President. It has been an exciting time for our county with the addition of 13 new businesses, and over 40 new chamber members since January 2. Working with all the entities in our county has been a wonderful experience because of the quality people who are the leaders of our county. Some great things are happening in Deaf Smith County, but I would challenge all of us to work even harder for bigger and better things in the future. As entertainer Al Jolson used to say "You ain't seen nothing yet". Thanks to all of you for your support and assistance with the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Friends and neighbors pulling together can move mountains!

Special award to be presented to Purcella

Hereford is home to the 1996 World Champion Team Roping Header Steve Purcella.

Purcella was born Nov. 12, 1966, in Roswell, N.M. He and his wife, Carla, live in Hereford.

He began team roping at the age of 13. By the age of 18, he became a member of the Professional Cowboys Association (PRCA).

Purcella has won more than 200 buckles, 50 saddles, five horse trailers and three pickup trucks since he began roping.

He earned $91,069 in 1996. Of those earnings, $40,289 was won in the 10-day event of the 1996 PRCA's

National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas.

Purcella and his partner, Steve Northcott of Odessa won the world team roping titles at the 1996 NFR. These titles were the first for both NFR veterans.

He competes in approximately 90 PRCA rodeos a year. He is either in front of the public or on the road nearly 300 days a year.

We're with you all the way.

That's the type of attitude you'll find at FirstBank Southwest of Hereford. And you'll see it demonstrated by bank employees like Wade Easley who volunteer their personal time to help Hereford be all it can be.

As a vice president of this bank for the past 13 years, Wade brings the same "winning attitude" to our business that he is offering our community as this year's president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce.

We're very proud of Wade and the many other FirstBank Southwest employees who share a belief that our bank's role in this community extends beyond our mission of providing quality banking services to our customers. These employees are joining your efforts in many areas such as; the Chamber of Commerce, the United Way, civic clubs, church groups, school organizations, etc. They're chipping-in to make things better for all of us.

"We're with you all the way," isn't just a convenient slogan.

It has been an attitude worn by many generations of Hereford people...people like Wade.

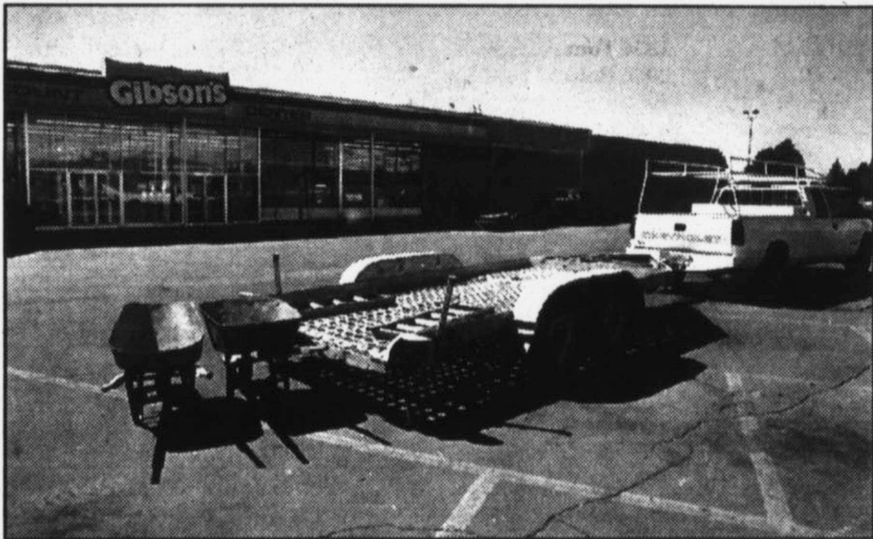

The spirit lives on.
