Tax filing deadline is today

WASHINGTON (AP) - The day many dread, today's tax filing deadline, is serving as a convenient backdrop for politicians of all stripes to step forward with plans to overhaul the nation's tax system.

Republicans in Congress have geared up for a week's worth of events making a case for dramatic tax reform and focusing on allegations of mismanagement and computer problems at the Internal Revenue

The House is scheduled to vote on measures today to make it a criminal offense for IRS workers to casually browse through taxpayer files and to amend the Constitution to require a two-thirds vote of Congress to raise

Analysts don't expect the constitutional amendment to gather the two-thirds vote needed for passage, while the anti-browsing bill is expected to zip through the House, especially since the IRS asked for it in the first place.

But tax day is as much about symbolism as substance, which explains why tax reform groups plan to gather in Lafayette Park across from the White House in a "Taxpayer Day of Outrage Rally" and Congress' GOP leadership will appear at numerous tax-related events.

"I am convinced that if most members of Congress did their own taxes, we would have had tax reform long ago," said House Ways and Means Chairman Bill Archer, R-Texas.

It's the annual midnight tax return run.

The United States Post Office in Hereford will hold its regular operating hours, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

To receive an April 15 postmark, taxpayers must drop their returns in the Hereford postmark slot inside the post office by midnight.

Post offices in nearly every major city will extend hours or offer late mail pickups tonight.

City will test tornado sirens

The City of Hereford will be testing its tornado sirens Wednesday morning, according to Hereford Police Department.

The test of the sirens is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, weather permitting. If the weather is cloudy and overcast, the sirens will not be sounded.

'The Goldilocks economy lives. This continues to be the best of all possible worlds," said Robert Dederick, economist at Northern Trust Co. in Chicago. "Despite tight labor markets, inflation is refusing to emerge.

Even with today's good news, the market is likely to remain edgy as investors fret about what the Federal Reserve will do at its next meeting on May 20. At the March 25 meeting, the central bank nudged a key interest rate up by a quarter percentage point, the first increase in rates in more than two years.

Many analysts say the economic expansion now in its seventh year third longest in history - is too rapid and the resulting wage and price pressures will trigger higher inflation unless the Fed dampens demand by increasing borrowing costs.

Fed critics, who attacked the March rate increase as premature because there are no signs of inflation, were certain to point to today's report to bolster their argument.

In a second report today, the Commerce Department said that business inventories were up 0.3 percent in February to a seasonally adjusted $1.02 trillion following a revised 0.4 percent January increase. Analysts said the increases in unsold goods were not worrisome because they were still being outpaced by rapid increases in sales. Total business sales were up a strong 1.4 percent in February.

For the first three months of this year, consumer prices were rising at an annual rate of just 1.8 percent, far below the 3.3 percent increase for all of 1996. The improvement reflected moderation in both food and energy costs, which had been adding to price pressures most of last year.

The candidates had the opportunity to introduce themselves and tell why they were running for election in opening and closing statements, and a prepared list of questions was posed to the candidates by HEA members Deidra Drake and Carolyn Waters.

Wes Fisher, chairman of the chamber's legislative committee, welcomed citizens to the forum and introduced Drake and Waters.

With 18 candidates on the ballots for the three local elections, only three were absent from the forum one in each election. The event was conducted smoothly and drew plenty of comments from the candidates, as the program lasted almost an hour past the scheduled 4 p.m. ending.

City of Hereford and Deaf Smith County Hospital District candidates were presented in the first session, and eight HISD board candidates followed in the second part of the forum.

Following is a breakdown of comments and views presented by candidates, as well as some personal information gleaned from opening statements and election applications:

City of Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand and Tom Coneway, Place 3 commission candidate, are unopposed in the city election. Maria Carrillo is a candidate for the Place 1 position. Incumbent Sylvana Juarez was not

"When I ran four years ago, one of my goals was for the city to regain that hustlin' attitude that we had for so many years," Josserand said in his opening statement. "I am proud of the cooperation shown by the various taxing entities, and I believe we're starting to get back that hustlin' Hereford attitude.

In response to a question about top accomplishments in the city during his tenure, Josserand mentioned water development plans, progress made on the economic development program, development of city infrastructure, and progress made on quality of life for city residents. The cooperative between the city, school, county and hospital district has helped make Hereford a better place, said the mayor.

Maria Carrillo is a native of Hereford. She and her husband. Raymond - who is employed with HISD - have four children. This is her first time to seek political office.

'After living here for 31 years and with all my children now in school, I decided it was time I tried to do something for my community," said Mrs. Carrillo.

Coneway, a water well surveyor and farmer, is a 1974 graduate of Hereford High and a graduate of Texas Tech University. He and his wife, the former Betty Banks, have three children in school here. He is active in First United Methodist Church. "My parents live here and my grandparents are buried here,"

Why did you run for office? Carrillo: "I keep hearing young city is growing and I would like to see oung people return to the community and help the town develop."

Coneway: "I have no axe to grind. Scott Hall decided not to seek reelection and I heard someone say that each citizen should see what they can do to make this a better place.

What challenges do you see? Carrillo: "I am very nervous about serving on the commission, but I am willing to learn. Being new will be a big challenge."

Coneway: "I think the first challenge is to work with other commissioners ... I am partial to water development and the golf course. I grew up on the course here." He said the city golf course is important to recreation and in landing new industry.

Do you think it is important for the city to work with other taxing entities? Carrillo: "I believe it is very important to work with the other governmental units ...the Aquatic Center serves as a good example. We should just be careful not to step on each other's toes."

Coneway: "I think the governmental units can help each other." For example, he said the high school auditorium needs remodeling. "I think we all need to work on economic development.

House panel reduces targeted cut on school property taxes

AUSTIN (AP) - A House committee trying to lower local school property taxes has reduced its targeted cut by $500 million a year but has proposed a plan to help schools pay off their current debt.

The new plan could be voted on by the committee as early as this

The House Select Committee on Revenue and Public Education ding had been expected to vote soon on a proposal to lower local school property taxes by about $3 billion a year. That did not include elp paying off current debt on school

The new proposal would lower those taxes by about $2.5 billion a year and includes a state promise to dedicate about $300 million over the next two years to help pay off current

The committee is considering a plan to replace local school property taxes by expanding the state business tax, increasing some other taxes and adding to the list of goods and services subject to the state sales tax.

That list of goods and services was a serviced Monday after hearings lost changed Monday after hearings last week in which Texans told the committee why they opposed some of the proposals, including sales taxes

All those services, and some others, no longer are being considered for sales taxes or higher taxes. New items being considered are increases on parimutuel racing fees and annual fees on automated teller machines and coin-operated machines like car

Rep. Paul Sadler, committee chairman said the list was changed after considering public testimony that some proposals would hurt the economy. He said lobbyists had little to do with the changes.

"The testimony was very good.

on taxi rides, commercial leases and These final changes have been haircuts.

All those services, and some D-Henderson.

D-Henderson.

The new plan also would guarantee state funding to help pay off debt for current schools and would give some money to help pay for new schools.

"This is where the Supreme Court said we were lacking," Sadler said, referring to three school funding plans ruled unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court before the current plan was adopted in 1993.

The current funding system includes the so-called Robin Hood funding formula in which 91 school districts with an abundance of taxable property have to share their income with districts low on taxable property. with districts low on taxable property.

That system would be replaced with a state tax on business property, rather than local school taxes on business property.

The latest changes would lower the cap on local residential taxes for school operation and maintenance to 70 cents from the current $1.50 cap.

The cap on business property would fall to $1.05 from $1.50. The cap on local taxes for school buildings and debt would remain at 50 cents per $100. Schools would get up to $53 per student from the state for each penny in their tax rate, compared with $21 per student per penny. A tax rate of 70 cents would draw $3,710 per student, compared with the current $3,150 for the $1.50 cap.

Local voters could approve an additional 10 cents in taxes for extra programs. About two-thirds of the schools would get an additional $90 per student for the 10 cents, or $9 for each additional penny, based on wealth.

Sadler said the new proposal continues to meet objectives set by Gov. George W. Bush that taxes be cut overall, property taxes be substantially lowered and that it treat all taxpayers fairly.

The proposal does not contain a provision to force property owners to share their tax cuts with renters. Sadler said such a provision still is being developed.

AUSTIN (AP) - School districts lose millions of dollars by giving businesses tax breaks, according to Texas senators who want to end the practice.

"It is not right for a business to demand an educated workforce, yet also demand tax breaks that create a hardship on the local school district,' said Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco.

His bill, approved Monday by the Senate and sent to the House, would prevent school districts from giving new property tax exemptions or taking part in new tax increment financing plans after Sept. 1.

Under a tax increment financing plan, which can be initiated by a city, a portion of taxes paid by a property owner is put into a fund used for improvements benefiting the property. For example, property taxes may be used to pay for a mall parking

School districts would be able to honor agreements approved before Sept. 1, but they could not increase their level of financial participation in the deals after the law takes effect. The bill, which was approved on a non-record vote, goes to the House for consideration.

Sen. Jeff Wentworth disagreed with Sibley on the need for the bill, boards that say ... it's good for us, and we don't want to be deprived of this tool," said Wentworth, R-San Antonio.

School board and administrator groups, however, have said they face pressure to grant the tax breaks.

"For years, the industries have been playing one region against another," said Sen. Gregory Luna, D-San Antonio.

In 1995, 160 school districts forfeited $143 million in tax revenue after abatement agreements removed $9.9 billion in property from local tax rolls. A total of $480 million in local property tax revenue was lost between 1985 and 1995 due to tax abatements, according state figures.

James Crow of the Texas Association of School Boards has said tax exemptions, known as abatements, are a lose-lose proposition for school districts because they

The group was organized to give assistance to owners of small both lose the property from their tax base and may qualify for less state funding, which is based on property value.

School districts that participate in tax increment financing plans do not forfeit state aid. But Sibley said that means the rest of the state is subsidizing their deal, because they otherwise would be collecting more local taxes and getting less state aid.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, a Democrat who presides over the Senate, said the bill would be a smart business move and benefit public education.

"Texas' future depends on the investment we make today in the minds of our youth," Bullock said. 'The guarantee of an educated workforce - not special-interest tax breaks - will help Texas maintain its competitive edge.

Also Monday, the Senate approved a bill by Sibley that would require local governments that grant tax abatements to first perform a cost-benefit analysis. The bill goes to the House.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My mother assed away a month ago, and I found this column of yours in her box of "special things." I hope you will print it again. A lot of parents should see it. -- Charlotte in Mountain, Wis.

Dear Charlotte: Thanks for asking. This essay was originally prepared by the police department of Houston, Texas, and appeared in my column back in 1959. It received a great deal of positive comment then, and I am pleased to run it again. Here it is: Twelve Rules for Raising Delinquent Children

1. Begin in infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way, he will grow to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait till he is 21, and then let him "decide for himself."

4. Avoid use of the word wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe, later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around -- books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility onto others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your child. In this way, he will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.

8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified.

Denial may lead to harmful frustra-

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything with him." 12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it.

Dear Ann Landers: I recently read the parrot story in your column and thought it was mediocre. Here's better one:

A mother bought a talking parrot as a gift for her son's 50th birthday. She spent $500 for the bird because he could speak five languages.

When she saw her son the next day, she asked, "How did you like the bird?" Her son said, "He was delicious.'

Mother said, "Oh, my heavens! Don't tell me you ate the bird. Did you know he could speak five languages!?"

The man replied, "If he could speak five languages, why didn't he say something?" -- L.P. in Washington, D.C.

Herd lands 10 spots in Region I-4A meet

By TOMMY WELLS

Managing Editor DUMAS - Kristen Fangman and Jamie Harrison should probably try and work out a deal the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. They might well be the best spokesman the soft drink industry could find, No, really. Who else do you know who can run around a track, enduring a wind that pushed the chill index to minus-11 and still emerge with a smile.

Harrison and Fangman, as well as the rest of the Hereford Lady Whiteface track squad, had a lot to smile about Saturday afternoon as they cruised to the runner-up spot in the weather-hampered District 1-4A Meet. The meet had to be postponed one day because of rain and

Pampa won the overall girl's district championship, claiming their 12th title in 14 years by cranking out 167 points - doubling Hereford's mark of 83 1/2. Caprock was third with 81 points. Borger and Canyon tied for fourth with 69

The wait, and the weather, didn't affect Harrison or Fangman much. Each earned two spots in the Region I-4A Track Meet by finishing either first or second in two events. The regional track meet is scheduled to be ran in San Angelo on April 25-26.

Fangman won the 100-meter hurdles, cruising to the gold medal in a blazing time of 16.38 seconds. She missed her second gold medal of the meet by a scant .12 seconds in the 200-meter dash. Fangman finished second in the event to Caprock's Ashlie White, who covered the course in a time of 12.69.

Harrison finished second in both the 1,600- and 3,200-meter runs. In the four-lap 1,600-meter race, Harrison turned in a time of 5:36.52 and edged out teammate, and thirdplace finisher. Bethany Townsend for the regional berth. She turned in a time of 12:16.35 in the two-mile race - again edging Townsend.

Kate Denison and Lyndi Carlile finished third in the 400 and 300 hurdles, respectively. Denison checked in with a run of 62.30 -.02 seconds slower than secondplace finisher Shannon Soria of Caprock. Carlile legged out a time of 50.32 in her race.

The Hereford 1,600-meter relay squad took third.

Fangman and Harrison weren't the only HHS stars shining brightly. The Whiteface thinclads, who finished third in the boy's standings, also carned four individual spots in the regional track meet, as well as spots in both relays.

The Hereford 400-meter relay quartet claimed a thrilling win over Canyon and Dumas, edging Canyon by one-tenth of a second when Henry Hernandez leaned across the tape. Hereford's foursome, consisting of sprinters Stephen Cloud, Miguel Carrillo, Marl Rodriguez and Hernandez, ran the race in 43.22. Canyon, the overall district champion with 134 total points, finished at 43.23 - 1/10th of a second faster than Dumas.

The Hereford 1,600-meter squad placed second in its race with a time of 3:31.78. Borger won the race at 3:26.00.

Hernandez and Carrillo both earned spots in the regional showcase as individuals. Hernandez won the pole vault competition by clearing 12-feet, while Carrillo breezed

Questions linger as Popovich decides his future with Spurs or won't he?

Gregg Popovich isn't saying. Not yet, anyway.

With the Spurs season grinding to its painful close and the injury-ravaged team continuing its plunge toward record-setting losses, speculation as to whether Popovich will remain Spurs coach next season abounds.

Popovich, who as general manager fired Bob Hill in December and took the helm himself in his first NBA head coaching job, refuses to comment on his plans.

"My concern now is the team." Popovich said in the San Antonio Express-News. "I have not taken time to be concerned about other matters. When the time comes, I will concern myself with that."

Hereford's Rob Reinauer earned a spot in the Region I-4A Tennis Tournament yesterday by taking second in the District 1-4A meet. Reinauer edged out teammate Andrew Carr for right to advance in singles action.

Reinauer takes second in district, advances to Region I-4A tourney

By TOMMY WELLS Managing Editor

You probably won't see Rob Reinauer sitting nude astride a motorcycle, but on Monday afternoon the Hereford tennis standout did have something in common with NBA bad boy Dennis Rodman - he was as bad as he wanted to be. Bad, as in good. Real good.

Reinauer, the Whiteface boy's captain, nailed down a berth in the Region I-4A Tennis Tournament by placing second in the District I-4A boys singles competition yesterday. His win highlighted a tournament that was marred by bad weather and

The weather forced District 1-4A officials to move the second round of the meet to Amarillo on Saturday, before returning to the Whiteface Courts for the finals.

By finishing as the District 1-4A runner-up. Reinauer qualified for the regional tennis meet, which will be held April 21-22 in San Angelo. In all, the top two finishers in singles and doubles play from each district meet in Region I advances to the San Angelo tournament. Reinauer, who had been the No. 1 seed in the tournament, earned his spot in the regional mix by edging match. He downed Carr. 6-3. 6-2. Carr had been ranked the No. 3 seed in the event.

No. 2 seeded Eric Marable, of Canyon, won the boy's single crown. After clipping Carr by a 6-1. 7-5 margin in the semifinals, he managed to upset Reinauer in the finals, 6-3, 7-5.

Reinauer had managed to reach the finals by ousting Randall's James Larramore in straight sets, 6-

13 walks enable Dumas to hand Herd 12th straight loss

By TOMMY WELLS

DUMAS - Hereford head coach Pete Rodriguez may not be superstitious, but he probably wouldn't mind finding a penny on heads, or having someone send him a fourleafed clover, or a lucky rabbit's foot, or a good old-fashioned horseshoe.

Then, again, after watching the Whitefaces suffer their 12th straight loss Monday afternoon, maybe he wouldn't mind having one of each for every pocket he has on his uni-

The Whitefaces, who issued a scason-high 13 walks, gave up four runs in the second inning and five more in the fifth yesterday and watched on as the Dumas Demons claimed a 13-2 victory at Babe Ruth

With the loss, the Whitefaces fell to 6-14 on the year and to 0-7 in District 1-4A action. Hereford had suffered a 10-4 setback against Borger Saturday.

The win kept Dumas' playoff hopes alive. The Demons improved to 4-1 in district play, and remained one game behind Canyon on the race for the district crown. Canyon remained unbeaten in loop play with a 9-6 win over Randall.

Hereford wasn't without its opportunity to smile, however. Andrew Ramirez gave the Whitefaces the initial advantage in the contest by scoring in the top of the first inning.

Dumas tied the affair at 1-1 in the bottom of the frame when Trevor Orr turned a walk into a run.

The Demons, who managed just three hits in the first two innings, hit stride in the second. Dumas stretched its lead to 5-1 with a four run outburst. Rico Lopez highlighted the DHS effort with a solo home run - his second of the year.

Hereford threatened to cut in the Demons' lead in the third when Ramirez led off the stanza by getting hit by a pitch. He didn't go any farther, however, as the Dumas third baseman scooped up Anthony Lopez's ensuing grounder and promptly turned a 5-4-3 double dip. BASEBALL

Orr gave Hereford fits again in he bottom of the third. After drawing a one-out walk, he stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch that scooted past HHS catcher Nathan Govina. He later scored when Whiteface pitcher Dustin Hill picked off Stephen Craig at first.

Hill had entered the game in the second inning in relief of Hereford starter David Rangel.

The Whitefaces did manage to punch through the DHS defense in the fourth. Hill opened the HHS run with a one-out single to left. After an error moved him to third and a routine ground out, Hill raced home when Eric Ambold delivered a clutch RBI single.

Ambold finished the day by going 2-for-3 from the plate.

Dumas regained the momentum in the fourth, however. The Demons used a single and four walks to score twice and inflate their lead to Dumas scored five times in the fifth to enforce the 10-run rule. Hereford returns to action this afternoon when they travel to Caprock. Game time is set for 5

Today in History

By The Associated Press Today is Tuesday, April 15, the 105th day of 1997. There are 260

Today's Highlight in History:
On April 15, 1947, Jackie
Robinson, modern baseball's first black major-league player, made his official debut with the Brooklyn Dodgers on opening day. (The Dodgers defeated the Boston Braves,

On this date: In 1817, the first American school for the deaf opened in Hartford,

In 1850, the city of San Francisco was incorporated.

In 1861, three days after the attack on Fort Sumter, S.C., President Lincoln declared a state of insurrection and called out Union troops. In 1865, President Lincoln died, several hours after he was shot at Ford's Theater in Washington by John Wilkes Booth. Andrew Johnson became the nation's 17th president. In 1912, the British luxury liner

Titanic sank in the North Atlantic off Newfoundland, less than three hours after striking an iceberg. About 1,500 people died.

In 1945, during World War II, British and Canadian troops liberated the Nazi concentration camp Bergen-Belsen.
In 1959, Cuban leader Fidel Castro arrived in Washington, D.C., to begin a goodwill tour of the United States. In 1986, the United States launched an air raid against Libya in response to the bombing of a discotheque in Berlin on April 5; Libya says 37 people, mostly civilians, were killed.

In 1989, 95 people died in a crush of soccer fans at Hillsborough Stadium in Sheffield, England. In 1990, actress Greta Garbo died in New York at age 84. Ten years ago: A jury in Northampton, Mass., found Amy Carter, Abbie Hoffman and 13 other protesters innocent of charges stemming from a demonstration against CIA recruiters at the divided Congress of People's Deputies formally endorsed President Boris Yeltsin's economic reforms. Countries barred Libyan jets from their airspace and ordered diplomats to go home because of Libya's refusal to turn over suspects in the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103. Hotel magnate Leona Helmsley began serving a prison sentence for tax evasion (she was released from prison after 18

One year ago: President Clinton began a weeklong, round-the-world trip, heading for a three-day visit to Japan after a brief stopover in Cheju, South Korea. Funeral services were held in Pescadero, Calif., for Jessica Dubroff, the 7-year-old girl who died trying to become the youngest person to fly across America.

Today's Birthdays: Actor Michael Ansara is 75. Country singer Roy Clark is 64. Actress Claudia Cardinale is 58. Rock singer-guitarist Dave Edmunds is 53. Actress Amy Wright is 47. Actress-screenwriter Emma Thompson is 38. Singer Samantha Fox is 31. Rock musician

Ed O'Brien (Radiohead) is 29.

Thought for Today: "History would be an excellent thing if only it were true." - Leo Tolstoy, Russian author (1828-1910).

Dear Heloise: Recently I attended a shower for a bride who was about to enter her second marriage after widowhood. Both she and her future husband had homes and all the possessions they felt they needed and the bride did not really want a

We gave her one anyway, but, instead of gifts for the bride, we all brought gifts for the local food pantry. Everyone made colorful boxes and wrappings so the bride had "gifts" to open and those who were really in need benefited also.

I felt this idea could be used for a local homeless shelter, battered women's shelter or any other organization in need of help. - Dianne Burelle, Nottingham, N.H.

You bet it is, and I'm thrilled to pass on your heart hint. - Heloise

ADDRESS LABELS Heloise: I've enjoyed column for years and have picked up many good hints.

Our daughter went off to college this year. I ordered address labels as soon as we knew her new address, labels with black on white, block printing and all capital letters.

College addresses are so long and complicated. Labels make addressing letters easy. Labels then can be given to friends when they ask for the new address. - Anna Mae Axness, Portage, Wis.

Aquatic Center offers classes

Hereford Aquatic Center has announced the following dates for Red Cross lifeguard courses: April 16, 18, 19, 20; April 30, May 2, 3, 4; and May 14, 16, 17, 18.

Bride-elect honored with shower

Bride-elect of Cornelius honored with shower held Saturday in Fuston home

A bridal shower honoring Mandy Douglas, bride-elect of Jason Cornelius, was held Saturday in the home of Joan Fuston.

The couple plans to be married May 31.

Guests were greeted by the brideelect; Kathy Douglas, her mother; Mary Douglas, her grandmother; Brook Douglas, her sister; and Sylvia Douglas, her great-grandmother.

April Sanders presided at the guest

Ana B. Mejicanos and Rachelle Skiles served refreshments of pigs-in-a-blanket, fruit platter with dip, petite cinnamon rolls, assorted fruit breads and sparkling white grape juice.
The refreshment table was covered with a jungle green cloth with white lace overlay, centered with an ivy arrangement and featured crystal appointments.

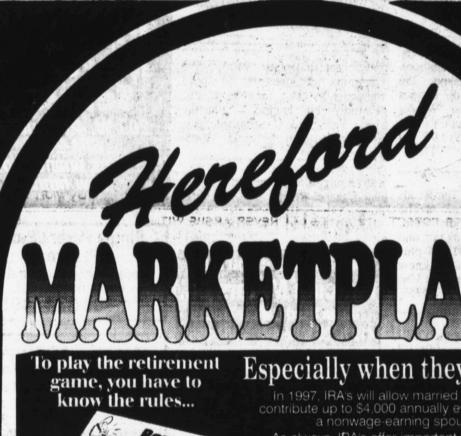

Parklane stemware was the gift from hostesses Joan Fuston, Pat Confer, Janet Coleman, Karen Smith, Amy Schumacher, Linda Davis, Nelda Fortenberry, Sharon Johnson, Shannon Redwine, Gloria McNutt, Lynn Andrews, Renee Kuper and Pat Holcombe.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/ products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

-- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no

-- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condi-

-- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

-- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

NEW YORK (AP) - Winona Ryder says she doesn't smoke as many cigarettes as everybody seems to think - neither on nor off the screen.

"I'm sick of this 'Winona smokes' thing," the actress said in Friday's USA Today. "I smoke, like, once in a while socially."

As for her films, Ryder's tobacco nightmare began several months ago when she was singled out on "60 Minutes" for taking so many smoking roles that she was harming young women.

"As much as people want to call us role models, we're actors first," said Ryder, who soon begins filming another movie that has her smoking. "It's up to individuals to decide whether to smoke."

Ryder said her nonsmoking roles far outnumber films in which she plays smokers. In her real life, she said she smokes maybe four cigarettes a year.

"When I grew up, I did not smoke," she said. "I was not influenced to smoke by watching 8,000 Humphrey Bogart movies.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ice Cube's perfect world of rap is one without public feuds.

"If I say 'I don't like this fellow rapper' my fans might think, 'Oh, if I hurt that guy, Cube will think I'm cool.' We got to think about things like that," said the rapper, born O'Shea Jackson. "We could end up setting the climate for somebody to get hurt," he said in Friday's Daily News of Los

Some news reports have suggested that the March 9 drive-by shooting of rap star Biggie Smalls and the Sept. 7 slaying of fellow star Tupac Shakur were part of an East Coast-West Coast rap rivalry.

"I'm not saying that Biggie Smalls had Tupac killed or Tupac had Biggie Smalls killed," Jackson said, "It's just that they had a problem with each other and they made it public, and now everybody thinks that. And that's all that matters - what everybody work on the budget and in improving health care facilities here.

Leonard: "I believe my experience as a CPA could be valuable on the board. As the community changes, so does the hospital and I'd like to be part of that process."

Manchee: He said he would like to finish up some things the board has been working with, and he has seen the financial situation change for the better. "There are a great number of changes in the medical field and the board needs to focus on the changes that will help our health care needs."

Do you personally utilize local doctors and the hospital? All agreed that they do except when an out-of-town referral is made by their physician.

What challenges do you see? Fox: Keeping the hospital open and expanding some services were listed by Mrs. Fox.

Manchee: He thinks operating in the black without raising taxes is a big challenge. He also sees a need to focus on services which produce Hedrick: Top challenge is for tax entities to work together...to work with the chamber and economic development board in bringing new business and people here.

Leonard: Thinks financial condition of hospital is very important. He said progress has been made past few years, but board needs to keep close watch.

Some other responses: Hedrick: "I'm not one who claims to know all the answers. If I don't know, I am not scared to ask. I have asked a lot of questions since deciding to run for office. If I have an emergency, I want to know the hospital is there.'

Leonard: "There are a lot of issues to be decided in the next two years. There is a lot of competition in the health care field, and I believe the hospital can adapt and meet that competition.

Manchee (Asked about how much control Baptist/St. Anthony had over the local hospital: "BSA has no control over our hospital. Their contract with the district is to provide help and assistance when we ask for

What changes need to be made to make sure we have successful

Sherrod: She said with the new technology prevalent in so many jobs, "we face a real challenge in keeping up and making sure our students get all the training they need."

Johnson: "I agree that we need to have the technology training, but my concern is that we should do it in a cost effective manner. We can spend too much on technology for what we get out of it. My basic concern is to teach the student how to process the information out there. By the time we teach them some technology, the information changes."

Landrum: "Teaching technology is very important - I see changes in my own business. We need to provide the information, develop a policy and have the superintendent carry it out.

HISD is trying to meet the need of every student; would you be willing to help accomplish that goal through programs like SOAR(Step Out and Reach)?

Several board members responded in a positive manner to this question. How do the role of the trustee and the superintendent differ?

Landrum: Teamwork is the number one effort in the relationship. But the board develops policy and the superintendent carries it out.

Smith: "There has to be an honest discussion between the board and superintendent, so it's a team effort. But, again, the board develops the

Who is responsible for student behavior and punishment? Ames: "The responsibility is primarily with the parents. That's the policy in my house, but all parents may not agree." He said the board should discuss policy on punishment.

Smith: "It's a shared responsibili-, but it starts with the parents." He added that if parents provide discipline, there is less problems in the classroom. "When the child is in school, the authority passes to the Wimberly: "Wonderful things are happening, which I can personally see with my children in school. There are is difficult to make cuts without broader courses in high school, and effecting programs." He pointed out well-managed programs in other the school district has the largest Sherrod: "I see that we have top. administrators, excellent staff people, and a dedicated board that wants the best for all students, and all are working with the community to see that it happens. It's also good to see the TAAS results improving.

Ames: "From the outside looking in, I see a board that is using teamwork."

How do you feel about salary increases and budget cutting? Ames: He said we need to keep up with other schools, but also must do that while keeping our budget in line. He also noted that the board may face new challenges if the state passes a property tax reform bill.

Minchew: "Good employees must be rewarded in any job, but money doesn't necessarily make for a better

Freezing temperatures harm wheat ENID, Okla. (AP) - The world is temperatures but Gribble said it will means that the kernels are already waiting to hear how Oklahoma's wheat crop survived last weekend's

Roger Gribble, area agronomist with the Enid extension office, said he received up to 50 phone calls Monday morning from farmers, other agronomists, and one from Dow Jones in Chicago. They were wanting to know how bad the wheat is," Gribble said. Wheat farmers may have lost up to half of their crop to freezing

Spring freeze injury only occurs when the wheat is at a sensitive the case in northwest Oklahoma, he Wheat from Highway 70 north of Wichita, south to Vernon, Texas, and west to the Kansas-Colorado boarder is reported to have been affected.

Most of the wheat in northwest Oklahoma is in the boot stage, which > Temperatures in northwest Oklahoma remained under 28 degrees for 19 hours over the weekend, and were under 24 degrees for 4 \ hours.

The daily low temperature was below freezing on Friday, Saturday and Sunday mornings.

"We don't know yet, but if we took a severe hit, we might lose up to 50 percent of the crop," Gribble said.

He said, however, there is hope. "A wet freeze is better than a dry freeze, and we had good growth that kind of acts as a blanket for the wheat," Gribble said.

Oklahoma produces about 5-6 percent of the nation's wheat crop, said Omer Skaggs of Great Plains Commodity Services.

"I think that Oklahoma will be down about 75 to 80 million bushels and Kansas will be down about 200 to 250 million bushels," Skaggs predicted.
