Nutrition Report Shows Fine Work Miss E. Erickson

Miss Esther V. Erickson, Red Cross Nutrition expert, who finished her three months work with the children here last Saturday, has returned to her headquarters at Waco, Texas. Before leaving Miss Erickson submitted the fine report printed below. Miss Erickson made many friends here during her stay with the power of her personality and the all around excellence of her work, and many expressions have been heard this week to the effect that it would be a desirable and a happy outcome of the course of study she began if she could be returned here indefinitely. The report follows:

Dear Friends:—Now that I have completed my work in Deaf Smith County and have had a little time to look over my figures, I will tell you so far as statistics can tell the story, what I did during the three months I was here, and what results we secured:

- No. of children 10% underweight in February 111
  - % of children underweight in February 30%
  - No. of children 10% underweight in May 59
  - % of children underweight in May 13%
  - % of children with defects found 56%
  - % of children having defects corrected 26%
  - Children reaching normal 45
  - Children making good gains 78
- There were many things we wanted to do which we were unable to do. In spite of this we feel that the nutrition work has done much good.

To secure the most from the nutrition program, however, the work should be continued as far as possible. It does very little good to have this work for three months, if, at the end of this time, it is dropped and never thought of again.

The teachers next fall are going to try to do their part. The weighing will be carried on by volunteers. In addition we hope the teachers will teach at least one health lesson a week. In this way the children will be kept from forgetting the things they have learned.

The mothers have given fine support to the work, while I have been here. I hope they will continue to do so. I heard one little boy say, "I'll be glad when Miss Erickson goes, then I won't have to eat vegetables." It is up to the parents to see that this does not come true.

Besides this, I want to be thinking of next year. The work this year has only been a start. The nutrition program should be repeated next year. This means money to finance it, don't forget that next year when someone asks you to join the Red Cross!

Sincerely yours, (Signed) Ester V. Erickson, Nutrition Worker.

P. B. FUQUA GRADUATES WEST-POINT MILITARY ACADEMY

An item of interest to Hereford people was contained in news dispatches from Washington Wednesday. It stated that P. B. Fuqua of Amarillo was one of nine Texas boys to graduate from West Point Military academy this year. P. B. was raised here and numbers his Hereford friends by the score. His mother is Mrs. W. A. Stewart. The Amarillo News says:

"He entered the U. S. Military Academy four years ago after completing his work in the New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, and attending the University of Oklahoma one year."

"Fuqua will enter the aviation service after his graduation and will be stationed in San Antonio. Before returning here on his vacation he will be an instructor in a boys' camp in Maine. He is now captain of the academy polo team."

"While living in Amarillo he was employed for about a year by the Xamm Electric Company."

COTTON PROSPECTS ARE BETTER THIS YEAR THAN EVER BEFORE

"The most favorable season for cotton we have ever had in this country," is the opinion of gin and cotton men interviewed this week by The Brand on the outlook for the cotton crop in this territory in 1925.

The opinion is based on the fact that this has been one of the warmest springs in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant. Last year there was more moisture at this time of the year but cold weather prevailed so long that the seed could not germinate in time to make a good crop. At the present time the ground is thoroughly warm, there have been sufficient rains in most places to bring up the seed and, if the country is blessed with occasional showers that will keep the young plants growing Hereford ought to gin somewhere around 5,000 to 7,000 bales in 1925.

"A lot of cotton has already been planted and more is going in every day. One feature of the planting this year is the noticeable absence of such large acreages as have been attempted in the past and the substitution of smaller patches with the intention of closer cultivation.

The wheat crop here will not amount to very much, but the outlook for cotton and row crops has never been better and there is a feeling of optimism prevailing in all quarters over the outlook.

MRS. E. C. EUBANKS TAKES GLOBE PRIZE OF $25.00

A Hereford writer, Mrs. E. C. Eubanks, has won the Amarillo Globe's cash prize of $25.00 for the best 400 word essay on Amarillo, says that paper in last Sunday's issue. The story in The Globe concerning the matter says:

"Mrs. E. C. Eubanks, of Hereford, wins the Globe's $25 prize for the best 400-word essay on Amarillo."

Judges in The Globe essay contest have awarded the prize to Mrs. Eubanks after a careful study of the many entries submitted. The winning essay will be delivered by C. P. Atwood, secretary of the Amarillo Real Estate board, at the National Realtors convention in Detroit in June.

"The judges, whose names are withheld, were a lawyer, an orator, and a local business man. After considering all the essays submitted they awarded the prize to Mrs. Eubanks, stating that her essay was the best submitted."

"Amarillo's advantages are more clearly set forth in Mrs. Eubanks' essay than in any other submitted."

"An Amarillo girl was second in the contest and her essay will be printed in The Globe within a short time.

"The winning essay appears on page one of the second section of The Globe today."

Lack of space prevents the publication of the story in this issue. Monday Mrs. Eubanks was present by invitation at the weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce and made a neat little speech. She was highly complimented upon her literary achievements and a motion was passed requesting her to write a story about Hereford next.

HILL GARRISON, SUFFERING BOY SCOUT, ABLE TO RETURN

A most touching incident occurred last Tuesday morning, upon the arrival of the early west bound train, when Hill Garrison, sixteen year old son of Mrs. Chris Garrison, arrived from hospital in Emporia, Kansas, and was met at the depot by the Hereford Boy Scouts, of which organization he had long been an active member.

Hill has lingered in the shadow of the valley of death for over a year and has suffered as few human beings have ever suffered, but today he is showing steady improvement and his mother states she hopes to have him on crutches soon.

Hill was the victim of a gasoline explosion in Emporia, December 28, 1923. He was playing with Christmas toys with schoolmates when the gasoline ignited and sprayed over his body, burning the flesh from him in great quantities.

The story of his sufferings, of the skin grafting necessary, and of the loyalty of his schoolmates in Emporia and in Hereford constitutes an unusual chapter in the chronicle of the times. For months his life was despaired of but he has never faltered in his steady determination to win back his health and today bids fair to win his battle and take his place again in the ranks of the Scouts of Hereford who have been his playmates for years.

BOY SCOUTS MEET DISTRICT LEADER AND HAVE GOOD TIME

A very enthusiastic get-together meeting for the Boy Scouts of Hereford was held at the courthouse Tuesday evening with three troops under E. W. Harrison, Monte Baker and A. G. Bell, scout masters, present. Executive Nelson of the Panhandle Council was present to aid in the work.

A drive is being made to get as large a number of boys to sign up for the Summer Camp as possible. Indications point to a record attendance from this place. The camp will be held in the Boy Scout Park in the Palo Duro Canyons southeast of Amarillo. Much interest is being manifested in the city over the work the boys are doing.

DISTRICT COURT CONTINUES TO GRIND AWAY ON DOCKET

District Court is grinding away, handling both civil and criminal cases at intervals. Since last report the following cases have been disposed of: Graff Sorghum Growers Association vs. R. W. Hough and G. W. Brunley, damages and injunction. Judgment for defendants on plaintiff's cause of action and judgment for plaintiff on defendant's cross action; Commerce Trust Co. vs. O. B. Jackson et al, general settlement of equity; Missouri State Life Insurance Co. vs. G. B. Jackson et al, general settlement of equity; J. L. Fuqua vs. G. I. Moyer, debt. Judgment for plaintiff; State of Texas vs. W. T. Smith, unlawfully transporting intoxicating liquor; verdict of four years in the penitentiary, with suspended sentence. State of Texas vs. W. A. Neely, unlawfully transporting intoxicating liquor; verdict of four years in the penitentiary with suspended sentence. The case of Swift & Henry vs. Mrs. Nannie L. Menzies et al, suit on note, on trial.

In the criminal cases in above list the principals were not Deaf Smith county men, being the two men who were arrested by Omer Baker last year in a raid in Castro county.

DR. JNO. W. OVERTON POURS IT ON 'EM OVER AT DIMMITT

DIMMITT, May 21.—In a flash of oratory that has not been equaled on the local stage Dr. John W. Overton of Hereford held the interest of every listener throughout the Commencement Address which he delivered to the graduating class of the Dimmitt High School and seventh grade, here last Friday evening. Dr. Overton praised the seniors, which was a unique class of boys only, for their stickability in going on through school. He created

W. T. S. T. C. SUGGEST TIGHT HOUSE FOR CHICKS ALL TIME

By Frank R. Phillips, Director of Agriculture, West Texas State Teachers College

Many people in West Texas believe that it is profitable under most conditions to order day-old chicks from reliable dealers. However, few poultry raisers understand the importance of using proper methods of taking care of little chicks. The money that the chick raiser puts into proper brooder equipment is well spent.

Chicken house construction in West Texas is going through a process of evolution. Most successful producers have learned the value of a well constructed house for winter egg production; yet many of these raisers feel that they cannot afford adequate equipment for raising little chicks. The important essentials of a good place for little chicks are: plenty of fresh air, light tight walls, a warm floor with sufficient space to avoid crowding and satisfactory heating apparatus.

Recently, because a door on the brooder house was blown shut during a thunder shower twenty-five high priced, six-week-old pullets were lost. The shower was a very light one, but 200 birds huddled together under the eaves with the result of one eighth of their number being lost. This thirty-five dollar loss could have been avoided easily had the manager placed a five-cent hook on the poultry house door. This was a costly accident, but it served to teach the college students the importance of attention to details in poultry equipment.

Tight walls and floors in the brooder house as in the laying house go far toward making successful production possible inasmuch as they help to keep the house warm. A few West Texas poultrymen report that they have secured unusual results in the use of adobe houses. Others claim that hollow tile is a good building material, while some have tried dug-out houses and secured satisfactory results. Professor W. M. Gurley, Vocational Instructor at Farwell, who is recognized as being successful in securing winter egg production, likes a semi-dug-out house with windows on the south.

Regardless of the kind of house used, poultry raising, like dairying, will pay a greater return than most any other farm enterprise if the right kinds of feed and equipment are used, and the manager of the flock gives a sufficient amount of time to the care of the birds.

NORTH EAST CORNER (Fairview-Union Schools)

Our community has not had the rain most of the places have received, as we have had only half an inch to date. The grass is coming, enough for the cattle to live on, which is a big help. There are weeds also and the farmers are busy but there is not much hopes of crops coming up until it rains again. County Agent R. O. Dunkle met with the Fairview Club last week at the home of J. M. Ware. After reports from club members Mr. Dunkle gave a short lecture on how to grow good pigs. The Wildorado school closed last Friday. On Thursday night there was a program by the school and on Friday night the graduation exercises were held. The baccalaureate sermon was preached at the Methodist church on Sunday, May 17, by Rev. Templeton of Plainview. J. L. Alfred, who has been very sick for some time, has returned from the sanitarium at Amarillo but is very poorly yet. His daughter, Mrs. L. T. Rando from Wichita Falls returned home Monday, after a six weeks' visit. The Paloduro church and Sunday school is progressing fine. The pastor, Rev. Homer Stuart, returned this week after a two weeks' visit in Oklahoma. There is a certain young man in our community that has pretended to start a batching camp but from the way he has fixed up around there we fear he is not going to patch long. A number of the young folks spent last Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Phillips.

DIMMITT JACK RABBITS WIN FROM NAZARETH— 13 to 6

DIMMITT, May 21.—Tate was too much for Nazareth and the Dimmitt Jack Rabbits won 13 to 6 in a slug fest affair. Bell started for Dimmitt and struck out the first man that faced him. The Nazareth sluggers staged a rally and scored five runs before another man could get to the mound. Tate, Dimmitt's twirling ace went to the rescue and whiffed the next two men to stop the rally. Nazareth registered another counter in the second frame mainly on errors but Tate had them at his mercy all through the game.

The Jack Rabbits didn't overcome the lead until the sixth inning although they scored a run every inning after the first one. Tate, with his pitching and hitting, and Gregory, the 17 year old protegee who holds down the short stop position were clearly the stars of the game. Tate whiffed 13 men in the eight and two thirds innings he worked and registered two hits out of four trials. Nazareth used two pitchers in an effort to hold the lead gained the first inning but the Jack Rabbits proved to hard to stop. While Tate held the visitors to three scattered hits his team mates were pounding the Nazareth twirlers hard for 14 clean hits. This was the second time that Dimmitt has trimmed the Nazareth baseball team this year.

"TEX." A GRADE COW GIVES SIXTY-FIVE LBS. MILK A DAY

Canyon, May 20.—Tex, a grade cow on the Canyon Teachers College Farm is attracting considerable attention because of her unusually milk production. This Jersey cow is giving sixty-five pounds of weighed milk per day, which record surpasses that of most Holstein cows in this part of the state. Tex was selected three years ago by Mr. Phillips from a herd of Jerseys because she possessed a strong constitution, ideal wedges, and capacity which indicated high milk production. At that time she was giving twenty-five pounds or three gallons of milk per day. Mr. Rangan Sherman, student heard manager at the college farm, fell in love with this grade cow and has given her ever opportunity to make a state record. Her milk pays a profit of more than $3.50 per day above the cost of her feed. Most of the grade Jerseys on the Teachers College farm are being replaced by registered cows. However those in charge of the agricultural department state that Tex will probably spend two or three more years on the farm before her registered successor is found.

Tex is being fed a balanced ration composed of 10 pounds of rice bran, 8 pounds of kafir chow, 4 pounds of ground oats, and 20 pounds of alfalfa hay per day. In addition to this, she has access to wheat pasture.

The original cost of this cow was $62.50. Agricultural students at the college have failed to solve the problem of how much one could afford to pay for her now if her milk could be sold at 50¢ per gallon. Her value has been placed as low as $2.00 and as high as $500. Those in charge of the department refuse to place a price on Tex because they state that she is what a farmer could call an eight gallon milk cow.

TABULATION OF LOSS AND GAIN TO THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE TEXAS WHEAT GROWERS ASSOCIATION FOR THE 1924 POOL COMPARED WITH PRICES PAID OUTSIDE THE ASS'N.

Month	Percent Delivered	Avg. Price—outside	Bushels Delivered	Gain thru Association	Value of Gain
June	.0991	.9983	240813	.2517	$60,612.63
July	.5132	1.039	1,247,076	.241	263,133.04

Sept.	.0666	1.113	161,838	.137	22,171.81
	.8741		2,124,063		$414,696.20

Month	Percent Delivered	Avg. Price—outside	Bushels Delivered	Loss thru Ass'n	Value of Loss
Oct.	.0422	1.282	102,546	.032	3,381.47
Nov.	.0382	1.33	92,826	.03	7,426.08
Dec.	.0263	1.492	63,909	.242	15,465.98
Jan.	.0109	1.722	26,487	.472	12,501.86
Feb.	.0065	1.65	15,795	.40	6,318.00
March	.0018	1.483	4,374	.233	1,029.14
	.1259		305,937		46,013.53

In addition to the above gain there was $20,838.72 paid out as storage to the membership, and most of that storage was paid to this 12 1/2% of the members delivering between October and March. This will cut their loss down very materially.

RECAPITULATION

Total gain to .8741% of membership ----- $414,696.20
Total loss to .1259% of membership ----- 46,013.53
Net gain to delivering membership ----- $368,682.67
(2300 members delivered)
Storage paid to membership added to net gain ----- 26,838.72
$395,521.39

In other words, the members of the Association have $395,521.39 more money than they would have had they sold outside the Association the day they delivered to the Association. The small loss of the 12 1/2% is made up in the additional prosperity of the 87 1/2%. Had the entire wheat crop of Texas been put through the pool on the same basis, those dumping would have three million dollars more than they did receive.

ernment when a state has to pay more to maintain its courts than it pays for its school system and when the penitentiaries and insane asylums have to be given priority over schools in legislative appropriations. Of course there must be courts to try criminals and to settle disputes and the public has to bear the expense. It is necessary to confine the criminal and insane. But it does not seem to occur to those in authority that if the state would give the right attention to the education, the health, and the general welfare of the youth, there would in a few decades be much less need asylums and penitentiaries. The system is wrong that gives maximum attention to punishment and mental treatment and minimum attention to prevention of crime and insanity.

The World Move Rapidly

Twenty years ago one would not have thought it possible for motor trucks and buses ever to become competitors of the railroads. The automobile was then regarded as rather an expensive fad for the rich. Today it is the most universal means of travel.
In a few years the airplane may be just as popular. Already it is being used much for hurried trips, mail is being transmitted by plane. When we think of the automobile, the airplane, and radio, we wonder just what will be the next development in speed.

The Railroads and the Buses

Railroads are complaining at the competition of the bus lines in both freight and passenger business, and are endeavoring to create a sentiment for stricter regulation of the motor transportation business. Still the figures show that the roads are making more money than they have ever made despite this new competition at which they are complaining. It seems that the railroads would do well to recognize the fact that motor transportation would never have become popular unless the public had been made to feel the need of it; that it merely meets a demand that the railroads are not satisfactorily filling. The railroads have been slow in delivering their shipments, especially the local shipments, and the trucks have profited by their slowness. Rates in some cases may have been too high for local shipments and to these delivery charges have to be added.

The railroads are themselves to blame
if they have encouraged competition through their slowness, their overcharges, and their general indifference to the public good.

Bringing the World Together

The best result obtained from international conferences like that of the advertising men in Houston is that people of many nations come to know each other and to have sympathetic feeling for the people of the whole world. Most of the misunderstanding in the world is due to ignorance of the problems confronting others.
When people come together to discuss their affairs, differences are nearly always forgotten.

man to patronize home inno plausible reason to doubt that these two most excelmotoring for the millions of Ford

First—a Ford Car is the lowest priced on automotive industry has ever produced.

Second—it costs less to operate and main-high mileage from tires. Repairs and replacements are infrequent; and charges, even for the labor involved, are small.

SALLIE FINDS HERSELF IN A COMPROMISING SITUATION

Through the open window the evening drifted with the shafts of mellow moonlight that fell across the table. A charming sorceress lurked somewhere in the purple shadows, eager to drop her mantle of enchantment about my shoulders. It was impossible to remain indoors a minute longer, so following my impulse, I made my way through the gay group of diners and out to the open terrace that formed the entrance to the building.

Warren Fisher was standing a few feet from me in close conversation with a chauffeur to whom he seemed to be giving implicit directions. When he saw my figure framed in the doorway he came hurriedly forward and I noticed he was slightly embarrassed.

"Pardon the delay, ma chérie," he apologized, "but I'm rather particular about the sort of carriage in which the Queen of Hearts journeys."

No wonder he had taken so long in making arrangements. The car he had secured was a thing of marvelous beauty. Long and sleek of line with a smart top that had been dropped. We climbed into the soft luxurious depths of the rear seat and the motor purred deliciously as the car moved steadily forward.

"Remember the lesson of the hibiscus flower and let's give ourselves completely to the glories of the moment," Warren Fisher whispered, with tender consideration he tucked the robe about me. "The rest of the world sleeps in stupid ignorance of the most perfect time of the twenty-four hours getting ready for the grubby routine of the morrow. Do not fret about the time, adored, but listen to the cadence of the ocean—it is like certain little notes in your laughter that come through my dreams to haunt me."

Under the robe a hand reached for mine—found it and held it closely. An unwinding road skipped ahead in the gleaming moonbeams and beckoned us to follow. The perfume of the oleander mingled with the unmistakable fragrance of yellow jasmine and became a part of the soft, balmy air through which we were passing.

A musical voice close to my ear whispered compliments that touched a spark of romance somewhere in my being. Warren Fisher was a connoisseur of women. He found me most desirable and yet Curtis Wright had openly ignored me. Life indeed was a complimented matter. I love Curtis but because of his indifference the magnificence of the man beside me was compelling and his words—always personal—were reassuring.

Suddenly the car lurched to one side of the road and came to a sudden stop with a grinding noise of breaks quickly applied.

Instantly the chauffeur was out and with a raised hoof hunted for some explanation of the car's unexpected behavior. He evidently discovered a reason for his shock his head decisively and came back to where we were sitting.

"Sorry sir," he said, "but the transmission is out of order and it'll be morning before I can get the necessary parts to fix it. I'll walk back to the town we've just passed and see if I can get some accommodations for you and the lady—"

"Accommodations?" I exclaimed,

"we'll do nothing of the sort—We'll get another car, surely. Warren you mustn't think of listening to what this man is saying." I was indignant.

"He must be mistaken," Warren answered, "That is about the car, though if he should be correct, the only thing we could possibly do would be to walk back to the village and get as comfortably located as possible. A car this time of the night would be unheard of."

Then followed a conversation between them which resulted in Warren consulting his watch and saying "Sallie you won't be unreasonable and I know it, now will you darling? It's past midnight. The car is absolutely out of order. By the time we could hope to have another sent to us it would be morning. Take my advice. Let me make you comfortable in the Inn back yonder and we'll drive on in the early freshness of the morning."

"Oh, but Warren, what will the Divines think about it?"

"That you missed your train, as usual, and as for me I'm not expected until my presence announces my arrival. Be a good sport now, Sallie and make the best of an unavoidable situation."

I was such an irresponsible, foolish person to get off the train in the first place, I argued, and, on the other hand, there was no use being a hum sport about it. After all there was really nothing criminal about resting for a few hours at the hotel and going on in the morning. The only thing—

I threw back my head and laughed.

"Ah that's more like our Sallie," Warren Fisher encouraged. "But won't you let me in on it?"

"Oh it's nothing," I responded, my sense of honor coming to my assistance. "I was just thinking that a certain person would think of my latest escapade if he should hear that you and I had passed the night unchaperoned in this God-forsaken village."
