Home-equity bill approved by House, goes to Senate

AUSTIN (AP) - A constitutional amendment that would allow Texans to use the equity in their homes as collateral for loans was approved Friday night by the Texas House.

Under the House proposal, a homeowner could take a loan on 75 percent of the amount paid on the home without having to use any additional assets as collateral. For example, if an owner has paid $50,000 on a $100,000 home, only $37,500 - or 75 percent of the $50,000 - could be secured with the home.

The measure was approved on a vote of 112-36. The proposed constitutional amendment goes to the Senate, which approved a different home-equity measure that consumer groups consider to be more favorable to lenders.

"The bank doesn't have the hammer in this bill," said Rep. Pete

Patterson, D-Brookston, sponsor of the legislation. "This is a people's bill."

If approved by the Legislature, Texans would be required to vote on the proposal because it makes changes to the Texas Constitution. A separate bill that would enact the changes into law was expected to be debated Saturday.

The debate lasted more than five hours and drew passionate arguments on both sides of the issue. Texas is currently the only state that imposes restrictions on home equity lending.

"For years, we have stood firm against the special interests that want this bill," said Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, who voted against the bill. "We have always protected the homestead exemption. We are going to turn the clock back on the people of Texas. People in Texas will lose their homes."

Rep. Debra Danburg, D-Houston, spoke in favor of the bill.

"People are shocked when they learn that only in Texas is a person prevented from controlling their financial destiny," she said.

"This doesn't force anyone to take out a second mortgage. It gives them the right to make a decision, or not, that is right for them."

The proposed constitutional amendment was introduced by Patterson, but was considerably changed - with his consent - on the floor of the House by Rep. Steve Wolens, D-Dallas.

Once a loan is secured, the amount couldn't be increased or decreased because of swings in the market value of the home or because a homeowner has defaulted on other loans secured by the home, according to the proposal.

Legislative conference slated on school property tax proposal

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Senate, voting 23-8, gave preliminary approval Friday to a proposal meant to lower local school property taxes by raising some state taxes.

The plan, vastly different from an already-approved House plan, faces a final Senate vote before going back to the House. That chamber is expected to reject the Senate changes, setting up a conference between the chambers to work out differences.

Besides tentatively approving the bill, the Senate also voted 24-7 for an accompanying constitutional amendment.

The Senate plan would cut local school property taxes from an average of $1.40 per $100 in value to $1.23. The House plan would cut the average to no more than 80 cents and could lower it further.

The overall effect of the Senate plan would be a 2.2 percent state and local tax cut for all Texans. The House plan would offer an overall 1.9 percent state and local tax cut.

A provision added to the bill by the Senate Friday would close the gap between the benefits realized by wealthier and poorer Texans. Even so, the House and Senate versions of the bill both would benefit wealthier Texans more than poorer and middle-class residents, according to fiscal analysis.

Both plans would expand the state business tax to all companies except sole proprietorships. They also would increase state funding for education and would increase "sin taxes" on tobacco and alcoholic products and on amusement services.

The House plan also would expand the state sales tax to about 30 goods and services not currently under the levy. The Senate plan would expand the sales tax to two, including amusement events at public universities.

The total Senate plan would be worth $2.5 billion over two years for Texans property owners. The House plan would be worth $5 billion over the same period.

Sen. Ken Armbrister, D-Victoria, said the Senate plan offers Texans more even though its school property tax cuts are smaller than the cuts proposed by the House.

"The Senate plan costs Texans less in proposed new taxes and fees," said Armbrister, chairman of a special Senate committee that built the proposal. "We give greater total tax cuts than the House plan."

All-Sports Banquet is Monday

Hereford High School's best athletes will be honored at the All-Sports Banquet, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Bull Barn.

Athletes of the Year - one boy and one girl - will be announced, and other special awards will be given, including the Fighting Heart and

In addition, athletes from 13 different sports will be presented Media Awards, given by The Hereford Brand and KPAN-Radio.

The Whitface Booster Club sponsors the event. One Herd booster will be named Fan of the Year

Riding for a better image

Joe Sturgeon and Jeremy Dominguez made their friends and families proud this past weekend when they each walked away from the Cinco De Mayo Car Show in Amarillo with prestigious finishes with their homecrafted Lowriders. More important than that, though, they two Royal Image Car Club members say their hobby is about proving a point: That a few 'bad apples' don't make the whole orchard a waste.

"It's a hobby," said Sturgeon, who claimed the top prize in the "Best Paint" category of the show with his dark purple tint on his 1987 Nissan Hardbody. "But it's also about pride. We'd rather put our hard earned money into these vehicles rather than spend it on drugs or be in a gang. We don't want to be a part of that," he said.

"I'd like to think we're breaking that stereotype of Mexicans everyone sees in the movies. It's like most things, a few bad apples can make the whole group look bad. The Mexican has been portrayed as bad for too long and we just want to put off a better image."

They've done well so far. The two have gained a lot of prestige with their automobiles. Last weekend, Dominguez captured second place in the Cinco De Mayo hydraulics division with his emerald green 1994 Mitsubishi truck, which he affectionately dubbed 'The

School Bell award winners

Hereford Brand staff writer Sherri Martin, left, and Hereford Junior High School teacher Carolyn Waters were selected to receive the Texas School Bell Award for journalism excellence in the field of education coverage at the Texas State Teachers Association Annual Convention in Austin. Martin was awarded a bell for outstanding collection of news and features, and Waters won a bell for outstanding continuing column. The local winners were nominated by the hereford Educators Association.

Martin, Waters win TSTA media awards

Four local school teachers were among 1,000 delegates attending the 118th annual teachers convention of the 87,000-member Texas State Teachers Association in Austin.

Representing the Hereford Educators Association were Jane Gulley, Veronica Anaya, Martha DeBord and Carolyn Waters.

New National Education Association President Bob Chase and Texas House Speaker Pete Laney were guest speakers at the convention's opening sessions on Friday.

School Bell Awards for Media Excellence were presented to 55 members of the Texas media in newspaper, radio and television for outstanding educational coverage during the past year. Included were awards to Sherri Martin and Carolyn Waters representing The Hereford Brand.

Human and Civil Rights awards were presented to the family of the late Congressman Frank Tejeda Jr., a long-time supporter of public schools, Ernesto Cortes of Austin for his work in organizing parents and educators to aid low-income children, primarily in the barrios.

Other awards were presented to Richard S. Griffin, a teacher at Southmore Intermediate School in the Pasadena Independent School District for organizing the "Gents Club" to make a positive impact on the male adolescent at-risk students, and Debbie R. Brown of the Houston Independent School District, whose community dance and drama program, "We Bring You Joy," fosters positive and productive images for low-income students in the Sunny-Side community of Houston.

Speaker Laney brought greetings from the Texas Legislature and gave a brief overview of educational issues before the House of Representatives. In addition to the regular convention business sessions, local delegates attended in-service training sessions on "Future Possibilities in Professional Development," "Ten Traits of the Affective Teacher," "The New Teacher Appraisal System," "Time Management," "Creating Safe Schools," and other association issues.

'Mother of Year' honor goes to Mrs. Henderson

Longtime Hereford resident June Henderson was honored as KPAN's Mother of the Year Saturday as Station Manager Chip Formby and Captain Billy presented her with an engraved plaque and gift certificates from several radio sponsors.

Mrs. Henderson and her husband, Melvin, have three sons, 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. She was nominated by her son, Ronny, who is a Hereford police officer.

The family moved to a farm in the Walcott area in 1947, then into the city of Hereford in 1967. They had operated a service station for 16 years, and she is a retired employee of Little's.

Mrs. Henderson was one of 13 women nominated for the award, presented by the radio station for the 36th year. Her children are Keith Henderson of Amarillo, Bill Henderson of Vega, Ronny of Hereford, and a fourth son, Sid, who is deceased.

In the nominating letter, Ronny wrote that his mother "has always been concerned with the welfare of her family. She always phones and makes sure we are alright and asks if we need anything, or if she can be of any help."

He also told of days on the farm, when June would get up at 3 a.m., cook breakfast for the family, then set off on a 160-mile school bus route with 45 kids, return home and do house chores, then drive the tractor on the farm.

Farmer's Market vendors sought

Vendors are currently being sought for Hereford's annual Farmer's Market, according to an announcement this week by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The market, which is sponsored each year by the chamber, has been set to begin early in July. The site of this year's market has not yet been determined. The market is limited to produce grown within Deaf Smith County, but is open to both farming and residential produce operations. All vendors are required to obtain a one-time $15 membership fee and a $5 stall fee for each appearance at the market. Those interested may call Denise Andrews, market chairman, at 276-5240.

Hereford Pride towel offered

The Anchor Club will be selling the Hereford beach and shower towels for $10 each at the Hereford High School Sports Banquet Monday night.

Chance of thunderstorms returns

Hereford recorded a high Friday of 67 degrees with an overnight low of 44 Saturday morning, according to KPAN. The low for Saturday night was expected to be in the upper 40s. Sunday, becoming partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms and a high in the mid 70s. Southwest winds will be from 10-20 mph shifting to the northeast during the afternoon. Sunday night will be mostly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms and an overnight low of 45 to 50. The extended forecast calls for partly cloudy Monday and Tuesday with a chance of thunderstorms and highs in the mid 60s to lower 70s. Wednesday will be dry with a high in the middle 70s.

Leprechaun'. It was Dominguez's first show. For Sturgeon, the win was the second high finish he has managed to earn since he got started a year and a half ago. He won third with his truck, known as 'The Wizard', in the Street Class in the recent 2nd Annual Hereford Lowrider Show.

Sturgeon said the Royal Image Car Club, which started just over two months ago, serves as a support group for all of its members - regardless of their skin color. The club regularly meets to help fellow members work and make improvements to their vehicles.

"It gives them something to do and keeps them motivated instead of running the streets with the wrong people," said Mila Dominguez. "I think it's a positive source that keeps them occupied and it is meaningful to them," she said.

"We told Jeremy when he decided he wanted to get involved that if he kept his grades up and stayed out of trouble we'd help him with this," she said. "We do this to keep him motivated and from running the streets. I think it gives them (the club members) something to look forward to and spend their time with," she added.

Building the perfect lowrider is a family affair for the Dominguez's. Jeremy's older brother, Ismael, does the majority of the club's body design and repair. A former auto shop student, Ismael also helped install the hydraulics into his brother's truck, enabling it to "hop". The mechanical equipment cost the family better than $1,000.

Texas Ranger recalls negotiations

FORT DAVIS, Texas (AP) - As he worked toward a peaceful compromise with Texas separatist Richard McLaren, Texas Rangers Capt. Barry Caver tried not to think about April 19, 1993.

That morning, Caver was stationed along a state highway outside Waco, nervously watching the Branch Davidian compound. He and other fellow Rangers were waiting to arrest

David Koresh and his followers when they walked out of their home and ended their 51-day standoff.

They never came. At exactly noon, fire swept through the sprawling wooden structure. Caver had never seen anything burn so fast. Hours later, he stood guard on the night shift beside the charred remains of 80 people.

Memories of that grisly day have been on Caver's mind since April 27. That morning, he was called out of church in Midland and sent to this remote part of West Texas to help deal with McLaren.

Early that day, several McLaren followers had stormed the house of neighbors Joe and M.A. Rowe to protest the arrests of two Republic of Texas members.

Caver became the lead negotiator, and his first concern was getting the Rowe out safely. He got it done early the next morning by going against the conventional approach and swapping one of the arrested Republic members for the hostages.

Over the next six days, Caver - whose only formal course in hostage negotiations was 20 years ago - maintained a firm but patient stance with McLaren.

Although McLaren's group believes Texas was illegally annexed by the United States in 1845, he felt comfortable dealing with the Rangers because they were formed in the 1820s.

The Rangers, considered the elite crime fighters among the Department of Public Safety, were the lead agency at the scene, but they were by no means alone.

Scores of state troopers joined roughly 30 Rangers, as did practically every officer from every agency in every nearby county.

The state sent help from Parks and Wildlife, the Forest Service and the Department of Criminal Justice. Smith County, way across the state in Tyler, sent two armored personnel carriers.

The National Guard practically created a hospital at the site. The Border Patrol brought in heat-seeking and night-vision equipment. The FBI also made its presence felt.

So did the ghosts of Waco. "It did enter my mind, but just briefly," Caver said this week, back amid the comforts of his Midland office. "I had to dispel those thoughts and try to combat the situation. I tried not to let it get in the way of my decisions."

The beginning of the week went slowly with lots of double-talking by McLaren. Sometimes he'd send out "diplomatic pouches" and talk of making a deal. Other times, he threatened "another Waco... another Ruby Ridge."

In the middle of the week, Parks and Wildlife officers stationed atop nearby mountain peaks spotted several McLaren followers carrying gasolene cans. Other officers overheard the group talking about burning down the valley.

On Friday afternoon, Caver made his most aggressive move by sending the two APCs within a quarter-mile of the group in hopes of intimidating them into giving up.

Showing their appreciation

Teachers are greatly appreciated at Bluebonnet Intermediate School. And volunteers, too. Several volunteers worked as substitutes in the classrooms this week as a part of Teacher Appreciation Week. The teachers were presented a framed poem and compass. Here, Grace Cerda, left, watches a movie with her daughter, Ashley, in Diana Stokes' fourth-grade class.

Five inmates hurt in uprising at Spur facility

SPUR, Texas (AP) - Five prisoners are injured following a disturbance at a privately run institution that remained locked down today with inmates from Montana, Colorado and Hawaii.

The Dickens County Correctional Center was placed in lockdown Friday evening, according to officials of the Austin-based corporation that operates the facility.

The injured inmates were hospitalized, said Terry Pelz, director of operations for The Bobby Ross Group Inc.

He said none of the injuries was life-threatening. "No staff injuries occurred," said Pelz. "I am pleased that the staff responded promptly to bring this situation under control."

Several inmates started fighting in the prison's recreation yard about 8:30 p.m. Friday. As many as 100 inmates were in the yard at the time.

About 480 out-of-state inmates are imprisoned at the facility about 60 miles east of Lubbock. It has been the site of several other disturbances.

WTPA to present scholarships

Applications now being accepted from students

Applications are now being accepted from high school seniors and junior and senior college students for two $500 college scholarships, according to Speedy Nieman, publisher of The Hereford Brand.

The Brand is a member of the West Texas Press Association, one of the largest regional press associations because of the vast geographic area it encompasses. The WTPA will be presenting scholarships to two future journalists in print media whose career goals include working with a community newspaper.

Through the Bob Craig Memorial scholarship program, a graduating high school senior and a college junior or senior will each be presented with a $500 scholarship.

The scholarship will be divided into payments of $250 per semester for two semesters for each of the scholarship winners. The winners must be enrolled in at least three hours of college or university journalism courses each semester that the scholarship is awarded.

Each applicant must fill out an application form and write an essay based on the theme "My Future and Career Plans in Community Journalism." The scholarship is named in honor of longtime Hamlin Herald publisher Bob Craig, who died in 1981. He served 18 years on the WTPA board in all offices, including president in 1967.

Last year's recipients were Josh Bowerman of Hamlin, a senior journalism major at Hardin-Simmons University, and Misty Shupp, a graduate of Graham High School who entered Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls as a journalism major.

Application forms have been sent to member newspapers and high schools throughout the West Texas region and to college journalism departments. Applicants may secure a form from the high school counselor or the local newspaper office.

Applications and essays must be sent to Gene Dow, WTPA Scholarship Chairman, P.O. Drawer 1200, Seminole, Tx. 79360, and must be postmarked on or before June 15. will be announced at the association's annual convention, July 31-Aug. 2, chosen by the WTPA directors and in Lubbock.

"That's what I'm getting. A storm cellar." - Roby lottery winner Emma Faye Terry.

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer ROBY, Texas (AP) - Imagine a tiny farming community enriched overnight when a goodly portion of its citizenry hits the big jackpot in the state's lottery.

Such a windfall surely would generate a flashy, free-spender like Jett Rink of "Giant," another classic story set in West Texas.

Not so. Or maybe a rags-to-Rolls Royce divorce squabble. Perhaps a small fortune lost to greed or speculation.

Hardly. What has occurred, suggests banker Jeremy Terry, is "a great story."

To be sure, there are a bunch of happy folks cruising around the Rolling Plains in new Suburbans and pickup trucks.

But almost six months after the Nov. 27 bonanza, the 43 winners of a $47 million Texas Lotto drawing are doing pretty much what they told scores of out-of-town media they would do.

They have paid off debts, reduced farm loans, upgraded or replaced farm equipment, purchased furniture, wiped out college loans, bought braces for the kids and made home improvements.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says the secret of happiness is to count your blessings while others are adding up their troubles.

Frustrated mother: "You always have your shoes on the wrong feet!"
Toddler: "But, Mommy, these are the only feet I have!"

Speaking of mothers, today is their special day, as proclaimed nationwide. We extend our Mother's Day best wishes to those in this community. We hope your day is filled with special attention and recognition.

Our wish is that your child or children remember to pay tribute to you for your love and sacrifices... that you get a special telephone call from the ones who have left the nest... that you know the compliments paid today come from the heart.

But most of all, our hope is that you feel as though Mother's Day comes many times during the year!

"A Prayer As We Grow Older" was recently printed in the Lamesa Press Reporter. Walter Buckel, the publisher, noted that a friend of many years passed the prayer along to him. As Buckel wrote, it's too good to keep to oneself, as many of us are in need of prayer as we grow older.

Keep me from the fatal habit of thinking that I must say something on every subject and on every occasion.

Release me from craving to straighten out everybody's affairs.

Make me thoughtful but not moody; helpful but not bossy. With my vast store of wisdom, it seems a pity not to use it all - but Thou knowest, Lord, that I want a few friends at the end.

Keep my mind from the recital of endless details - give me wings to get to the point.

Seal my lips on aches and pains. They are increasing and love of rehearsing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by.

I dare not ask for improved memory, but a growing humility and lessening cocksureness when my memory seems to clash with the memory of others.

Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally I may be mistaken.

Give me the ability to see good things in unexpected places and talents in unexpected people. Give me the grace to tell them so.

Some questions and answers actually asked in court, taken from the Lawyers' Journal of the Massachusetts Bar Association, prove that people don't always think clearly in pressure situations. We think readers will enjoy a sample of some of the questions and responses:

Q--Now doctor, isn't it true that when a person dies in his sleep, he doesn't know about it until the next morning?

Q--Were you alone, or by yourself?

Q--The youngest son, the 21-year-old, how old is he?

Q--Were you present when your picture was taken?

Q--Was it you or your younger brother who was killed in the war?

Q--How far apart were the vehicles at the time of the collision?

Q--How many times have you committed suicide?

Q--So the date of conception of the baby was Aug. 8? A--Yes. Q--And what were you doing at this time?

Q--Of the three children she had, how many were boys? A--None. Q--Were there any girls?

Q--You say the stairs went down to the basement? A--Yes. Q--And these stairs, did they go up also?

Q--You were shot in the fracas? A--No, I was shot midway between the fracas and the navel.

Q--Can you describe the individual? A--He was about medium height and had a beard. Q--Was this a male or female?

Q--Is your appearance here this morning pursuant to a deposition notice which I sent to your attorney? A--No, this is how I normally dress.

Q--Doctor, how many autopsies have you performed on dead people? A--All my autopsies were performed on dead people.

Q--Are you qualified to give a urine sample? A--Yes, I have been since early childhood.

Q--All your responses must be oral, okay? What school did you go to? A--Oral.

When God created Mothers...

Editor's note: As a special Mother's Day tribute, we are reprinting the following article, "When God Created Mothers..." by the late Erma Bombeck:

When the good Lord was creating mothers He was into His sixth day of "overtime" when the angel appeared and said, "You're doing a lot of fiddling around on this one."

And the Lord said, "Have you read the specs on this order?" She has to be completely washable, but not plastic; have 180 removable parts...all replaceable; run on black coffee and leftovers; have a lap that disappears when she stands up; a kiss that can cure anything from a broken leg to a disappointed love affair; and six pairs of hands.

The angel shook her head slowly and said, "Six pairs of hands? No way."

"It's not the hands that are causing the problem," said the Lord. "It's the three pairs of eyes that mothers have to have."

"That's on the standard model?" asked the angel.

The Lord nodded. "One pair that sees through closed doors when she asks, 'What are you kids doing in there?' when she already knows. Another here in the back of the head that sees what she shouldn't but what she has to know, and of course the ones here in front that can look at a child when he goofs up and say, 'I understand and I love you' without so much as uttering a word."

"Lord," said the angel, touching His sleeve gently, "Come to bed. Tomorrow..."

"I can't," said the Lord. "I'm close to creating something so close to myself. Already I have one who heals herself when she is sick...can feed a family of six on one pound of hamburger...and can get a nine-year-old to stand under a shower."

The angel circled the model of a mother very slowly. "It's too soft," she sighed.

"But tough!" said the Lord excitedly. "You cannot imagine what this mother can do or endure."

"Can it think?"

"Not only think, but it can reason and compromise," said the Creator.

Finally, the angel bent over and ran her finger across the cheek. "There's a leak," she pronounced. "I told You You were trying to put too much into this model."

"It's not a leak," said the Lord, "it's a tear."

"What's it for?"

"It's for joy, sadness, disappointment, pain, loneliness and pride."

"You are a genius," said the angel.

The Lord looked somber. "I didn't put it there."

Guest Editorials Re-districting plan

The Texas Legislature has an opportunity to right a wrong committed six years ago. In the Congressional re-districting following the 1990 census, the districts in West Texas were squeezed and stretched to fit a partisan agenda, not common sense.

The result defies all logic. Perryton is in the same Congressional district as Midland. Lipscomb County shares the same Congressman as Denton. Amarillo is divided between two Congressional districts, as is Lubbock. Midland is represented by three Congressmen.

At the time, the reason for such foolishness was clear. The 19th District was designed to be a "safe" Republican district for Rep. Larry Combest. The 13th District was a "safe" Democratic district for Rep. Bill Sarpalius.

Only half of that "safe" prediction was true. Combest still serves as the Congressman in the 19th District, but Republican Mac Thornberry proved in 1994 that the 13th District was not "safe" for Sarpalius. Rep. Thornberry handily won reelection in 1996.

Since both districts are now held by Republicans, there is no political motive to keep the convoluted borders which split the West Texas area and divides towns and cities. The Texas Legislature has the power to change the district lines in this session and should move toward re-shaping both the 13th and the 19th Congressional Districts to reflect geographic, rather than political, interests.

State Sen. Teel Bivins has started the process by introducing legislation which would place Amarillo and most of the Panhandle in the 13th District. Lubbock and the South Plains would be in the 19th District. Midland and the Permian Basin would be placed in the 21st Congressional District.

"I've consistently said that if a congressional re-districting plan comes before the Senate, I'll do everything I can to put West Texas communities back together, and that's my plan," Sen. Bivins said.

With a 17-14 Republican majority in the Senate, the plan Sen. Bivins has proposed has a good chance of passage. The House leadership has said that they will support the plan and Gov. Bush would sign the measure.

It is time to end the political carving of Congressional Districts in West Texas. The proposed re-districting plan would make the Panhandle whole again.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would just like to say "Hats off" to the policeman who was writing citations to some able-bodied people who were parking in handicap parking spots at the opening of the new ALCO Store.

This happens all over town and if more tickets were issued, maybe it would put a stop to this problem.

These parking spaces were intended for our people who are truly handicapped. They are not for people who are just too lazy to walk a few extra steps to get into a store.

Mrs. C.W. Anderson

Dear Editor:

The West Central Student Action Committee sponsored a reading day on May 2 for our campus. Students who dressed up as their favorite book character were eligible to win one of 17 books. Classes were able to read with flashlights, with a pillow, and to one another. Some classes performed plays for their classes. We all had a great day.

One of the best parts of the day was to have volunteers from the community come in and read to the classes. We had preachers, teachers, librarians, judges, principals, parents, grandparents, HOSTS mentors, and firemen, to name a few.

We would like to thank everyone who volunteered to read at West Central. We appreciate the support we get from our community.

Russell Carr, President, W.C. Student Action Com.

Dear Editor:

I'd like to share this letter that I sent to U.S. Ag Secretary Dan Glickman and to several Congressmen:

The American public is becoming more and more concerned about food safety and after events like the recent outbreak from contaminated strawberries, is starting to lose confidence in the USDA. The recent proposal to relax inspection requirements for imported meat from Australia only increases our fears that USDA is not doing all it should to protect American consumers.

As I am sure you are aware, Australia has had some very serious problems with their domestic food supply. In the last year alone, an anthrax outbreak had a severe impact on the livestock industry; contaminated seafood caused widespread illnesses; a large salmonella outbreak killed a number of people and injured hundreds more, and finally, an E. coli outbreak in meat products was fatal to at least one child and hurt many others. American consumers do not want to import these dangers.

Additionally, food produced under decreased federal oversight is not equivalent to product now being imported. Currently, meat imported into this country must be inspected by federal inspectors in the producing country under the same standards as domestically produced meat. Under the new proposal, USDA would allow Australia to export beef to the U.S. that is inspected by company employees.

Consumer confidence in Australian products currently depends on the requirements that products exported by that country must be produced under Federal inspection and under the same standards as currently in place in this country. You must reject the Australian proposal, or explain why protection of the American food supply is no longer a primary concern.

As the Years Turn (From the files of The Hereford Brand)

5 YEARS AGO

May 10, 1992--A husband and wife medical team, Dr. P.S. Mani and his wife, Dr. Ranga Subra Mani, are practicing at the SPHPO facility and are full-time members of the medical staff at Deaf Smith General Hospital. The couple finds the similarities between their home state in India and West Texas striking. Mayor Tom LeGated signed a proclamation declaring this week as Law Enforcement Week in Hereford. Herb and Elizabeth Vogel's home was named May's residential beauty spot.

10 YEARS AGO

May 10, 1987--Scott Robbins was awarded the honors of Best in State, Best in Region and Outstanding Senior Project for his wooden handcrafted bed in the Industrial Arts Contest. Bartley Dowell was honored at a retirement reception at the Brown, Graham and Company offices. He retired after 32 years with the accounting firm. Deaf Smith County Library Director Dianne Pierson accepts a copy of the recipe book, "Well Done - An Explicit Texas Cookbook" from the authors.

25 YEARS AGO

May 14, 1972--Friday afternoon came and went as one of the prettiest afternoons of the year, but Saturday morning emerged as an angry giant when marble-to-pea-sized hail thrashed the city. More than two inches of hail covered the city. The annual clean-up month draws to a close tomorrow. The month has resulted in clearing much litter from the city. The organizers urge the local residents to continue the clean-up throughout the year to make Hereford more attractive.

50 YEARS AGO

May 8, 1947--Reports of hail damage are pouring into local insurance offices this morning with the major damage centering, apparently in the area of south and southeast Hereford. While attention was centered on three tornados forming north of town yesterday afternoon, at least, one twister was wreaking havoc among farm homes south of Hereford. A.V. Hendrick of Gould, Okla., was named as the president of the new Hereford State Bank, which is slated to open June 15.

75 YEARS AGO

May 8, 1922--Honorable Clarence Ousley of Fort Worth, a candidate for the United States Senate, will address the voters of this county and section in the District Court Room next Thursday. Nearly all of Hereford's real estate dealers attended a banquet in Amarillo last week as guests of the Amarillo Real Estate Exchange. Discriminating livestock buyers have raided Hereford in search of several good-blooded bulls for range purposes.

Cotton is key to Roby's future

By MARK BABINECK
Associated Press Writer
ROBY, Texas (AP) - Roby hits a little jackpot every time it rains.

Spring showers on these rolling plains aren't going to draw national attention like last November when 43 Big Country folks split $46.7 million in the Texas Lotto.

But in these parts, cotton thickets beat out lottery tickets any day.

"A good bumper crop is about two or three times better than hitting the lottery," said Jeremy Terry, loan officer at First National Bank and one of winners. "When you hit a bumper crop, you're talking about a lot of cotton and a lot of money. You're talking about hundreds of farmers hitting a lottery."

This burg was reeling from a fourth-straight sorry harvest last fall when Terry Gin bookkeeper Peggy Dickson started a lottery pool on a lark. The lucky ticket she bought in nearby Sweetwater enriched one in 15 here; everyone wins when it rains.

"It's nice to see all the other farmers that didn't win smile about the weather and be excited that this could be a better year," said Kathy Terry, wife of winner Tony Terry.

Mrs. Terry's supply store has noted increased sales this winter, which she attributes partially to more cash in town and also to the preseason optimism that cotton farmers haven't had in awhile.

"Yeah, we've noticed that because of the weather, the rain, fertilizer sales have more than doubled from last year," she said. "You can tell by their attitudes that they're banking this will be a good year."

The numbers bear them out. Roby has limited retail services, but those that are here posted their best sales for March in more than 10 years. March tends to be Roby's most robust sales month because of impending planting.

That magic ticket will infuse about $1.6 million annually into the Fisher County economy, but Rotan crop insurance salesman Rayford Hargrove reminds that cotton's impact is dramatically higher.

"If we can get a 100,000-bale crop, that's $30 million," said Hargrove, who insures many of the winners' fields. "We haven't done that in 12 years, but I think it can be done."

He credits the recently abolished Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation's spraying programs for reducing the cotton-eating pests' threat, thereby giving rain-bolstered stalks a greater chance to thrive.

The farming here is all dryland, which means that rainfall is the only method growers have to moisten their land.

The lottery has made a difference. His parents paid off debts owed his bank, neighbors are doing the same, and buying cows, equipment and land they might otherwise have passed on before. Bank deposits spiked dramatically.

The jackpot only allowed a fraction of Roby to rest easier, though. Rain soothes all.

"Forty-six million dollars is a hell of a lot of money," said Hargrove. "But that's still just $39,000 a year. It's great, but it doesn't exactly make them rich."

Donation to Wish Kids

LIFESTYLE

himself a fancy car and another bought an Abilene condo to go with his house in Roby.

But nobody's swapped a spouse, quit a job, bought an airplane or moved to the French Riviera.

"You're never sure how people are going to change or react, but all in all it's gone pretty well," says freshly elected Roby councilwoman Elaine Field.

And other than occasional grumbings over gambling, and whining by a couple of soreheads, there is scant evidence of big-time grudges among non-winners.

"This is a happy story," points out "Little Mike" Terry, 37, one of the ticket holders.

The Terry family is in fact a major part of that story. The idea for the betting pool originated at Terry's cotton gin and 21 of the winners were Terrys or relatives.

"Big Mike" Terry, 49, his wife JoAnn and sons Chad, Jason and Jeremy all were winners.

Big and Little Mike are cousins and farmers.

Emma Faye Terry, Big Mike's mother, was also a ticket holder. She invested her winnings in a storm cellar.

Emma Faye's daughter, bookkeeper Peggy Dickson, 48, organized the pool and invited anyone who dropped by the gin to buy into the pot for $10. Because she had a dental appointment that Wednesday, she decided to get the quick-pick tickets in nearby Sweetwater.

Little Mike's father, "Bunny" Terry, another winner, suggested she buy them at Longhorn Liquor.

Store owner Jim Carson, who would reap nearly $500,000 for selling the winning ticket, also tossed $10 into the Roby pool and thus was a double winner.

Carson's planning an Alaskan cruise.

Winners and losers still joke or complain about how fate dealt them in or out of sudden riches, but most everyone is rejoicing over spring rains and prospects of a bumper cotton crop.

"This time last year it looked like the Mojave Desert," says farmer Freddie Stuart, 60, a winning ticket holder. "This year it looks like the Garden of Eden."

Stuart says a bountiful cotton harvest would be bigger than the lottery.

Meanwhile, Stuart and the other "Roby Millionaires" point out that the Lotto winnings created only technical millionaires.

"We lack a whole lot being filthy rich," says a smiling Stuart, who, like other members of the lottery pool, collects his winnings in after-tax annual payments of roughly $39,000 for 20 years.

"It's enough to secure your future," says Jeremy Terry, "but not enough to go out and be silly and blow on a fleet of cars or a condo on the beach."

Clearly, the federal government is the biggest winner - taking most of its 28 percent cut upfront. Lottery winners pay 20 percent in taxes when they claim their prize. The remaining 8 percent is collected later.

Like several of the winners, Jeremy almost missed out on the jackpot.

"My wife and I never played the lottery," he explained. "We felt like it was throwing money out the window."

But after turning down an invitation to join the pool, he told his wife on the eve of the drawing: "You know, if we don't get in, they'll win it and we'll miss out on it. She said, 'Let's do it.'"

"We drove down to the gin that night and put up our $10."

The next morning, his boss and fellow banker John Davis said he wanted in and asked Jeremy to take his $10 to the gin and see if he could still get it down.

Peggy Dickson was leaving for Sweetwater just as Jeremy arrived.

"If I had been a minute later," Jeremy admits, "he'd have missed out on it."

Fangman clocked fourth at state meet

Rockets take 97-93 series tilt in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) - How long was it between playoff wins for the Houston Rockets in Seattle?

Ten years and two days, to be exact. Bill Fitch was the coach then and Hakeem Olajuwon's teammates included Ralph Sampson, Rodney McCray, Allen Leavell and Robert Reid. And rookie Matt Maloney was 15 years old.

On Friday night, the Rockets finally won another playoff game in Seattle. Houston's 97-93 victory gave the Rockets back their homecourt advantage in the Western Conference semifinal series that Seattle grabbed with a win in Texas on Wednesday night.

"Homecourt is really overemphasized," Charles Barkley said. "When you have two even teams like this, the team that makes the best adjustments will win."

Houston's trio of future Hall of Famers - Barkley, Olajuwon and Clyde Drexler, all 20,000-point career scorers - made a trio of big plays in the final 20 seconds to help the Rockets end a string of 10 consecutive postseason losses in Seattle.

It was their first playoff win here since May 7, 1987.

Drexler broke a 93-93 tie on a tough baseline jumper with 18 seconds left, Olajuwon blocked Shawn Kemp's ensuing shot and Barkley iced the victory by making two free throws with 6.5 seconds left.

It wasn't a surprising Rockets' win. They were the league's third-best road team this season, while Seattle is now 2-2 at home during the playoffs in its bid to get back to the NBA Finals.

Maloney, who scored five points on 2-for-8 shooting in Game 2, bounced back with a 19-point effort, including three 3-pointers in the final quarter.

"With their defensive scheme, it's up to me, Eddie Johnson or Mario Elie to make some plays from outside," Maloney said.

By winning, the Rockets grabbed a 2-1 lead in the series. Game 4 will be Sunday in Seattle, with Game 5 Tuesday night at Houston.

"We played defense on them like they usually play defense on us," Barkley said. "We decided Sam Perkins and Hersey Hawkins weren't going to beat us."

While Gary Payton and Kemp scored 28 points each and Delf Schrempf had 20, Hawkins was limited to three points and a single field goal in 40 minutes.

Tech 's NCAA woes hit baseball; penalty on hold

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas Tech's baseball team, until last week ranked No. 1 in the nation, exceeded the NCAA's scholarship limit but will not be penalized this year for the error, school officials said.

Red Raiders coach Larry Hays said a mathematical mistake resulted in Tech's awarding two scholarships more than the NCAA-mandated limit of 11.7, a violation of the agency's rules.

"The fact is that we have misfigured some out-of-state academic tuitions," Hays said. "I regret that it happened, and it was an honest mistake. It bothers me that people think we tried to cheat, but it is my program and it is my fault."

Although the violation could lead to sanctions, Hays said NCAA officials told him there will be no

Hereford's Kristin Fangman narrowly missed a medal in the 100-meter hurdles at the state track meet in Austin Friday as she finished fourth - just one-hundredth of a second out of third place.

Fangman, a sophomore making her first trip to state, had to wait 10 agonizing minutes with the other girls in the race while officials sorted out the places. She was clocked in 15.41 seconds while Shertz Clemens' Dahlia Rangel ran a 15.40 for third place.

Dallas Roosevelt's Teena Clincy won the event in 14.57, and Austin Anderson's Cheryl Faubion took second at 14.98.

Fangman said the wait was "awful...it gives you more time for your nerves to build up."

The meet was delayed for more than four hours by steady Friday morning rains. Competitor were forced to battle through mist and light and moderate rains after action started.

Fangman didn't blame the weather and she didn't clip a hurdle in the race. She did have her typical slow start and appeared to be in about seventh place midway through the 100 meters, but she came on strong over the last five hurdles.

"The second part of my race has always been the strongest," said Kristin. "After the first five hurdles, I'm always toward the back. I've got two more years to get up there on the medal stand. I'm not satisfied with what I did, but I'm not devastated, either."

Another girl from District 1-4A was very disappointed. Pampa's Barbara Wine took third in the shot put with a distance of 39-11 3/4. She threw the shot 43-10 earlier in the season and had her heart set on taking the gold medal. Dumas sophomore Sally Mendoza was fourth in the shot put.

Raiders win Big 12 title

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Joe Dillon, Jason Landreth and Brandon Buckley each had two RBIs during a 12-run seventh inning as Texas Tech clinched the first Big 12 Conference title with a 12-9 victory over Texas A&M Friday night.

The Red Raiders (43-8, 23-5 Big 12) trailed 6-0 in the seventh before the 12-run outburst.

Casey Fossum (3-4) started the seventh for Texas A&M and gave up six runs on four hits and a walk before he was pulled with only one out in the inning.

Jason Stephens was 2-for-5 with a homer and 2 RBIs for the Aggies (36-18, 17-11).

Keith Ginter went 1-for-5 with an RBI to extend his school-record hitting streak to 29 games.

David Therneau (6-0) pitched 1-3 innings in relief of starter Jason Gooding to get the victory. Brad Ralston pitched the last 1-2-3 innings, giving up a run on two hits.

Witt wins 6th as Texas beats Boston, 5-1

By TOM WITHERS
AP Sports Writer
Ken Griffey Jr. hit another home run. Ho-hum.
Cleveland beat Detroit again. Yawn.

There weren't many surprises in the American League on Friday night. Except, that is, for Bobby Witt.

Witt became the AL's third six-game winner with a five-hitter to help the Texas Rangers end a three-game losing streak with a 5-1 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Witt (6-0) is off to the Rangers' best start since Jeff Russell (1988) and Jim Kern (1979) each opened at 7-0. With the win, the right-hander moved into a second-place tie with Ferguson Jenkins on the Rangers' career victory list with No. 93.

The Rangers, who tied for the major-league lead with 19 complete games last season, had gone 30 games this year without a complete game - the longest drought at the start of a season in team history.

Witt took care of that by going the distance for the 42nd time in his career to join Toronto's Roger Clemens and Baltimore's Jimmy Key in the six-win club.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Kansas City 7, New York 5 in 12 innings; Seattle 8, Baltimore 2; Cleveland 5, Detroit 0; Chicago 3, Oakland 2 in 10 innings; Milwaukee 5, Anaheim 4; and Toronto 4, Minnesota 1.

Witt, who pitched for the Rangers from 1986-92 before being traded to Oakland, was known for control problems and high pitch counts earlier in his career. Now, he's learned to adjust.

"You always have to work to improve yourself," said Witt, who'll turn 33 on Sunday. "I'm not one of those guys that came in my first three or four years and dominated people."

Dean Palmer's RBI double capped a four-run fifth inning off John Wasdin (0-1).

The Red Sox have dropped six of their last seven games.

Royals 7, Yankees 5, 12 innings
At New York, Kansas City was helped by a rare reversal of an umpire's ruling on a bizarre play in the sixth and shortstop Derek Jeter's throwing error in the 12th.

The Yankees played the game under protest after the controversial play in the sixth. A Royals runner was called out, then allowed to return to a base, leading to a three-run inning that made it 3-all.

Jeter's error and a run-scoring double by Jeff King put Kansas City ahead in the 12th. King finished with four RBIs.

Randy Veres (2-0) was the winning pitcher and Brian Boehringer (1-2) the loser.

Mariners 8, Orioles 2
At Baltimore, Ken Griffey Jr. hit his major league-leading 15th homer and drove in four runs, and Joey Cora went 5-for-5 for Seattle.

Cora's five hits was a career high and tied a club record.

Griffey's 15th home run, a three-run shot, gave the Mariners a 6-0 lead in the fourth.

Jamie Moyer (2-0) allowed two runs and six hits in 6 1-3 innings for the Mariners, whose 11-5 road record is the best in the majors.

B.J. Surhoff homered for the Orioles.

Indians 5, Tigers 0

At Detroit, David Justice and Matt Williams homered, and Charles Nagy (5-2) pitched his first shutout since 1995 as Cleveland improved to 14-1 in the past two seasons against Detroit.

Nagy struck out a season-high 11 and walked two in his first complete game of the season.

White Sox 3, Athletics 2
At Chicago, Dave Martinez hit a two-out, game-winning single in the bottom of the 10th as the White Sox won for the fourth time in five games.

With two outs, Norberto Martin had an infield single and Lyle Mouton reached on third baseman Dave Magadan's error before Martinez lined a hit to right.

Pirates pop Braves; Astros lose

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer
At this rate, Pittsburgh fans will recognize all of their Pirates real soon.

In a promotion that left fielder Al Martin suggested, manager Gene Lamont and every player except starting pitcher Francisco Cordova greeted fans at Three Rivers Stadium before Friday night's game against Atlanta.

Then the Pirates put on quite a show, routing the Braves 9-0. The bargain-basement Pirates moved into first place in the NL Central, beating the team with the best record in the league.

"I don't know many of the players yet," said Megan Steck, 8, of Pittsburgh. "But I think they're all great."

In other NL games, Chicago stopped San Francisco 5-3 in 14 innings, Los Angeles rallied past Montreal 5-1, Philadelphia beat Colorado 3-1, Florida defeated Houston 3-2, New York downed St. Louis 10-3 and Cincinnati topped San Diego 7-2.

Cordova (2-3) gave up seven hits in the first shutout of his career. Jose Guillen supported him with a homer and three RBIs.

The Pirates, with only two million-dollar players compared to Atlanta's 11, are the only club with a winning record against the Braves this year.

"If they keep getting good pitching, they're not going to fall back," Braves manager Bobby Cox said. "I haven't seen a bad-pitched game from them yet. When you've got good pitching, you're going to win ballgames."

Pittsburgh is 6-2 overall against Atlanta, Florida and Colorado, regarded as some of the NL's best teams.

"There's no secret, no magic formula," said Martin, who had three hits. "We come every day and play nine hard innings and it's working. We scratch and claw to score runs because we know if we don't hustle, we don't score."

"They talk about how we're doing against the Braves and Rockies and Florida, but to us every team is a good team; every team is supposed to be better than us," Martin said. "But we don't believe there isn't any ballgame we can't win."

Cubs 5, Giants 3

Brian McRae homered on the second pitch of the game, then singled home the go-ahead run for Chicago in the 14th inning at San Francisco.

The Cubs won despite making five errors, three by shortstop Shawon Dunston. The Giants lost their third in a row.

Doug Glanville got an infield single with one out in the 14th, stole second and scored on McRae's hit off Joe Roa (1-2). Mark Grace added an RBI single.

Ryne Sandberg and Grace homered for the Cubs. Glenallen Hill homered for the Giants.

Dodgers 5, Expos 1

Raul Mondesi, thrown out after taking a wide turn around third base in the seventh inning, atoned in the eighth with a two-run double that highlighted a five-run rally at Dodger Stadium.

Rookie Wilton Guerrero's leadoff double began the Los Angeles comeback against Montreal reliever Ugueth Urbina (1-2). Todd Hollandsworth's RBI single tied it at 1, and Mondesi and Todd Zeile hit two-run doubles.

Guerrero and his younger brother, Vladimir, Montreal's rookie right fielder, played in the same major league game for the first time. Phillies 3, Rockies 1

Rookie Calvin Maduro, hit hard by Colorado last weekend at Coors Field, limited the Rockies to two hits in seven innings.

Maduro (3-3) is 3-0 at Veterans Stadium, where Philadelphia has won just four times this season.

Larry Walker hit his NL-leading 13th home run for Colorado, which has lost three in a row.

Roger Bailey (4-2), who beat Maduro last Sunday, pitched his fourth complete game of the season. Marlins 3, Astros 2

Gary Sheffield singled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning after Florida loaded the bases with the help of two Houston errors.

Pinch-hitter Alex Arias led off with a grounder that went through second baseman Craig Biggio's legs. Ralph Milliard followed with a bunt that third baseman Tim Lincecum dropped.

Jim Eisenreich was intentionally walked with one out, and Sheffield chopped a single.

Mets 10, Cardinals 3
Butch Huskey's leadoff home run in the seventh inning put the Mets ahead 4-3, and they went on to win for the ninth time in 13 games.

Todd Hundley, 16-for-33, with runners in scoring position, and Bernard Gilkey each drove in three runs for New York.

St. Louis, which lost its first six games of the season, missed a chance to reach .500. The Cardinals lost for only the second time in the last 10 home games.

Reds 7, Padres 2
John Smiley tied a career-high with 11 strikeouts and Cincinnati sent San

Heat tops Knicks to even playoffs

MIAMI (AP) - The Miami Heat had no complaints about the refs this time.

After criticizing the officiating in Game 1, the Heat took advantage of the New York Knicks' foul trouble Friday night to win 88-84 and even their best-of-7 series 1-1.

"The officials did a terrific job," said Tim Hardaway, who scored a team playoff record 34 points. His final basket, a running jumper in the lane with 50 seconds left, put the Heat ahead by one, and Jamal Mashburn hit a clinching 3-pointer in the final seconds.

Games 3 and 4 will be Sunday and Monday at Madison Square Garden. "In 48 hours it could be 3-1," Knicks guard Chris Childs said.

"It's going to be a grind-it-out series," Heat coach Pat Riley said. "It's a war out there. It's going to be tough to get a shot off."

Foul trouble sidelined Patrick Ewing for 15 minutes and Larry Johnson for 16. Miami's Alonzo Mourning, who missed 19 minutes because of foul trouble in Game 1, fouled out with 1:29 left, but still had 24 points and 13 rebounds in 43 minutes.

Ewing had 17 points and 11 rebounds in 29 minutes.

"They got all the calls," he said. "I was on the bench a lot, and Zo was playing. But we can't cry over spilled milk."

Each of New York's three front-line starters went to the bench in the second quarter with three fouls. When all three were out, the Heat went on a 15-5 run.

"We could complain about things, but everyone saw what happened," the Knicks' Charles Oakley said. "We're not going to complain like they do."

Polka festivals draw large crowds nationwide

By MITCH WEISS
Associated Press Writer
HAMLER, Ohio (AP) - It's hip. It's hot. It's ... polka?
Polka festivals nationwide are drawing big crowds. Polka cruises are filled. A polka hall of fame near Cleveland attracts thousands of visitors each year and has its own Internet site.

Polka rules. Nowhere, it appears, more so than in Hamler, a tiny rural northwestern Ohio village that considers itself the very buckle of the polka belt.

Every summer, the population swells to 50 times its normal size when some 30,000 polka lovers descend on the village southwest of Toledo for an annual festival that celebrates the lively dance and music developed in Europe almost 200 years ago.

It's only one of five polka fests staged each summer in Henry County, but it's by far the largest.

"Polka is king in Henry County," proclaimed Arnold Gerken, who founded the 500-member Ohio Polka Boosters 20 years ago. The non-profit group promotes polka festivals.

The 64-year-old retired lumberyard owner started the Hamler Summerfest nearly 30 years ago. The first festival in the village of 600 drew about 1,000 people.

"They come to polka and eat. They love the music. Everyone loves the polka," Gerken said.

Immigrants from Germany, Poland and other European nations brought the music and the dance - based on a hop and three small steps - to the United States.

By the late 1930s, the polka had become popular in ethnic, blue-collar neighborhoods, said Dick Blau, a co-author of "Polka Happiness," a book that traces polka's history.

The Andrews Sisters' 1938 hit "Beer Barrel Polka" was the first million-selling polka song. Cleveland's Frankie Yankovic had two million-sellers in the late 1940s -

"Just Because" and "The Blue Skirt Waltz."

The polka was - and still is - played at weddings, church festivals and night clubs. Even teen-agers did the polka.

But it faded in the 1950s, when rock 'n' roll hit the scene. Teen-agers abandoned the polka and embraced Elvis. And ethnic neighborhoods where polka was king disintegrated as the suburbs exploded.

But polka survived, mainly because the music - despite all the changes in rock, jazz, pop and other genres - continued to offer fans happy, bouncy songs with simple, fun lyrics. For example:

"In Heaven there is no beer,
That's why we drink it here.
And when we're gone from here,
Our friends will be drinking all the beer."

"Polka lyrics are not exactly high-tech poetry," said Jerry Halkowski, a Milwaukee-area polka disc jockey who plays in a polka band.

In the last decade, polka has come back into its own. Festivals have sprouted up in towns from the western edge of New York through the Midwest to the Southwest. A Grammy for polka music was established in 1986 and at least 150 radio stations carry polka music.

Bands such as Brave Combo of Denton, Texas, and Polkamotion are taking the music in new directions, using electric guitars and other instruments not traditionally associated with polka.

"This is not your father's polka music anymore," said Laura Majchszak, a Toledo nurse who travels with her husband, Bob, to about 10 polka festivals a year.

Carl Finch, one of Brave Combo's founders, said the music industry ignores polka.

His group's name comes from playing punk rock bars in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

"People told us that we had to be a brave combo to play those clubs. But they were really the only open-minded venues at the time. All the straight ahead rock 'n' roll places wouldn't hire us," Finch said.

Brave Combo blends traditional polkas into a dizzying hybrid with styles from Tex-Mex to acid rock.

"Polka is the most powerful music there is. It's always been bizarre to me that such a powerful ethnic-oriented music has been so thwarted, so misunderstood," Finch said. Polka purists don't like it. It's just too fast, says Halkowski.

Then there is the Cleveland Style Polka Hall of Fame, founded in 1988. Twenty-two musicians have been inducted into the hall.

The most widely known polka is the Cleveland style, which hit the height of its popularity in the late 1940s and early 1950s, said Fred Kuhar, the hall's president.

"The thing that made Cleveland-style polka different from other polkas was that the lyrics were Anglicized and they had an American dance band rhythm section - piano, bass and drums," Kuhar said.

But Henry County's 24,000 residents are equally proud of its long polka festival tradition, especially because the festivals are attracting a younger crowd. "I see a lot of people my age at these festivals. I think they come because the festivals are fun. You get up and dance, dance, dance," said the 26-year-old Mrs. Majchszak, who learned how to do the polka from her parents.

Festivals are the key to polka's resurgence, Blau said.

"There used to be all these bars in these white, working-class ethnic neighborhoods that had a very lively musical life. They have all disappeared.

"Now you have these festivals in all these communities. People know what the schedule is. They'll drive all night on a Thursday night, they'll dance the weekend away and then they'll drive back Sunday night and go to work in the morning. They'll drive 300-400 miles with polka music playing."

Names in the News

NEW YORK (AP) - CBS news correspondent Mike Wallace will celebrate his 79th birthday doing what he usually does.

"I will spend the day on Long Island on a fascinating story," Wallace said Thursday, declining to reveal what story he is working on.

Wallace, whose birthday is today, paused to reflect on his career in an interview with The Associated Press. He recalled being offered a job as President Nixon's press secretary at about the same time he was offered a spot on a new CBS show called "60 Minutes."

"I made the right choice," said Wallace, who has worked for the show for 29 years. "I truly don't think I would have been a good press secretary. You have to put on a good face on bad facts."

Wallace said he has the best job in journalism.

"We have a big and varied audience. We have enough time on the air to tell the stories we want to tell," he said. "We could go any place in the world and tell these stories."

Horsemen for Christ ministries holds three services in Hereford

Horsemen for Christ Ministries will hold three services in Hereford this week.

The first service will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday at First Baptist Church.

An assembly will be held at Hereford Junior High at 2:10 p.m. Thursday, and a second assembly will be held Thursday in the junior high cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. which will be in conjunction with the regular third Thursday Barn Church meeting.

Speaker for all services will be Joe Howard Williamson and music will be provided by Chris Tomlin.

Williamson is a rancher and horseman from Archer City. He and his wife Tracy, along with their three daughters, Denver, 11; Jordan, 6; and Rebekah, 2; operate the 800 cow ranch they live on.

Williamson attended Sul Ross University and Tarleton State University, then began rodeoing at the amateur level and went on to the professional level.

After retiring from rodeo, he returned to the horse business as a professional trainer.

His main interests are his Christian faith, family, ranching and talking to teenagers about the Law of Diminishing Returns concerning drugs, alcohol abuse, sexual promiscuity and suicide.

Tomlin is also a native of Texas, having been raised in Grand Saline. He graduated from Texas A&M University recently and joined Shepherd Ministries.

Tomlin creates a musical program where audiences aren't merely spectators, but ready participants in a fun, dynamic and intimate setting.

Although these services are directed primarily to teenagers, the services are also designed to minister to adults.

You are invited to bring the entire family and participate in any or all of these services.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I remember reading a Mother's Day essay in your column a few years back that touched me deeply. My mother and I were not very close when I was growing up, but after reading that column, I did my best to change the situation. This Mother's Day, I plan to take Mom to a special brunch and spend the day with her. She was thrilled when I invited her.

I know there are other children whose relationships with their mothers are less than perfect. Maybe if you print that column again, it will help them the way it helped me. Thank you, Ann. -- A Reader in the Bronx

Dear Bronx Reader: Here it is -- and on Mother's Day. Your timing was perfect. I hope my male readers will understand that Mother's Day is for sons, too. Here's the column you asked for.

Dear Mom: I wish I could spend Mother's Day with you, but I can't, so I am writing a letter instead and hope you read it in Ann Landers' column. I understand so many things now that I didn't understand when I was growing up. I didn't know how hurt you were by some of the things I said and did until I was hurt the same way by my own children.

Until I traveled that road myself, I had no idea how hard you worked, with never a complaint, or the burdens you carried doing the everyday things I took for granted.

I didn't know how many times I could have made you happy by just saying, "I love you, Mom" -- or "I appreciate what you are trying to do for me" -- but I know now because it would mean the world to hear those words from my own children.

It took me all my life to learn what a mother is. I wish there was some way I could let you know now how much I appreciate your years of sacrifice and unselfishness, your efforts to keep us on the right track, and everything you did to help your children grow up straight and strong. Thanks, Mom, you are the greatest. -- Your Daughter

Dear Daughter: I am delighted you gave no clue as to your identity. I hope thousands of mothers who read your beautiful letter on this appropriate day will think perhaps it was written by their daughter. My thanks to you and God bless.

And here's one more for that unsung heroine, the stepmother:

Dear Ann: A lot is said about mothers and grandmothers on Mother's Day. I would like to pay tribute to stepmothers.

I've had a stepmother in my life for 20 years, since my parents divorced and my father remarried. She didn't raise me. I was an adult when she joined our family.

I have learned to love this woman and appreciate her and her generous heart. Not only has she brought love and kindness into my father's life, she has also loved me and my family. She has supported us in every way with her sharing and giving spirit. She has never forgotten us on our birthdays or on holidays, and often, the gifts she gives are something she has made with her own hands.

I would like to pay tribute to her today. I love her and want her to know how grateful I am for all she has done for me, my husband, my children and my father. -- A Stepdaughter in Grand Rapids

Dear Stepdaughter: Your stepmother sounds wonderful. And so do you. Be sure to show her a copy of this when it appears in the Grand Rapids Press and tell her you wrote. She's going to be thrilled.

Gem of the Day: Did you ever meet a mother who complained because her daughter called her too often?

King's Manor plans special events in honor of National Nurses Week

In observance of National Nursing Home Week, May 11-17, and the conclusion of National Nurses Week, May 6-12, King's Manor is planning a week of special events.

Monday at 3:30 p.m. in the Lamar Room, there will be a program and awards assembly honoring the nurses. There will also be a display of antique farm equipment, wagons, cars, etc.

on the grounds.

King's Manor will hold an open house from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. with a performance by the "Young at Heart" choir from Hereford Senior Citizens at 6 p.m.

The special event for Tuesday will be a pet show from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. which will include a petting zoo.

King's Manor chaplain, Carmen Flood, will conduct worship services with special music, at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Since this is also Osteoporosis Prevention Week, bone density testing will be available from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday.

There will be a "Circus" cookout in the gazebo from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Hamburgers, corn dogs, popcorn and snowcones will be available. And there will be an appearance by a guest clown.

Friday will be set aside for "Fun and Games" from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Staff, residents and children will participate in three-legged races, wheel chair races, relays, bingo tournaments -- all with prizes.

Everyone is invited to come share in the week of fun.

Special shirts for a special week

Engagement announced

Maria Gonzales and Ignacio Ibarra, both of Hereford, plan to be married June 14 in Central Church of Christ. Parents of the bride-elect are Angelia and Julio Gonzales of Hereford. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Juana Ibarra of Fort Worth and Abraham Ibarra of Hereford. He is a graduate of Hereford High School and is employed by Hereford Bi-Products.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

Our children are showing signs of maturity when they begin to accept the fact that they can't always get what they want and learn to want what they get.

Our courthouse committee presented their exhibit at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on Tuesday. They received a superior rating, but were disappointed that they weren't quizzed by the judges as they had studied and were prepared to answer questions. The group took a tour around Buffalo Lake on the way home. Committee members who made the trip were Michelle Bernhardt, Taylor Charest, Laci Black, Angela Morris, Erica Marquez, Kara Landrum, Libby Brockman, Glenn Kahlich, Aaron Landers, Aaron Brock, Will McGowan, Wesley Reinart, Jimmy Gilliam, and Clay Cosby.

Thanks to all who helped with this project -- Debbie Tabor, Mary Garza, Nelda Rogers, Suzze Allen and Billy Rowe. History Day competitors are on their way home from Austin today. We'll give details later.

Blue Team is taking a field trip tomorrow. Wednesday is the day for the Algebra I End of Course Test. On Thursday, eighth graders will vote for JV cheerleaders via video during Channel 1.

Friday morning will be our annual awards day. Parents are invited to attend. There will be many "H" Awards given to seventh and eighth graders.

Annual signing will begin at sixth period on Friday. Students will report to their first semester, first period class instead of sixth period to receive yearbooks. Students who did not order a yearbook will have a chance to buy one of the few extras at $15 each.

Although there are only ten more school days, it is important that students be present each day. They will miss work that could affect their grades.

The last week of school will include some concerts, a play and several other end-of-school activities. The schedule for this last week will be in next week's column.

"May the road rise before you. May your swing be straight, may the ball fly high and far and may God Himself bring you home."

'Survivor's Walk' begins fund-raiser

There will be a ceremonial "Survivor's Walk" at 6 p.m. June 6 to begin the American Cancer Society's "Relay for Life."

"The Survivor's Walk will be one lap around the track at Whiteface Stadium and walkers will consist of cancer survivors and cancer sufferers," said Kee Ruland, organizer for the Survivor's Walk. "I am a 19-year cancer survivor and I'm very excited about this."

There will also be a brief memorial service to honor those lost to this terrible disease. During the ceremony, lighted luminary candles will line the track.

For a $5 donation, the name of a loved one can be added on the luminaries.

Any cancer sufferer or cancer survivor who would like to participate in the Survivor's Walk or anyone who would like to honor a loved one with a luminary donation, call Ruland at 364-0857 and leave a message.

National Nursing Home Week will be observed at Care Center here

Nestled in the quiet northwest corner of Hereford, Hereford Care Center has been taking care of area residents since 1993.

As they observe National Nursing Home Week, May 11-17, all Hereford and Deaf Smith County residents are invited to pay them a visit.

The current owners came to the Panhandle to provide services to the area's elderly, building nursing home in Dumas and Hereford.

Under the medical direction of Dr. Payne in conjunction with Drs. Clark, Johnson, Lawlis, McBrayer and Mani, the facility provides 24-hour nursing care, registered dietitians, recreational activities and rehabilitative therapies to its residents.

The center's therapy staff, supplied by Sundance Rehabilitation, consists of five individuals specialized in treating a variety of conditions ranging from walking difficulties to swallowing disorders. The rehabilitation staff has many success stories to share. Residents often progress to the point where they can return home.

Hereford Care Center accepts Medicaid, private insurance and Medicare.

The center's philosophy is embraced by its administrator, Melba Patton, who said, "When people need care...only the best should do."

Start making plans for celebrating Mother's Day throughout the year by incorporating more calcium in your meal plan. Osteoporosis, a major health problem in America, will receive statewide attention.

The Texas Department of Health, along with health care providers, hospitals, businesses and other agencies such as the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will join the annual National Foundation's Osteoporosis Prevention Week campaign to educate Texans on this debilitating disease which causes bones to become so fragile that they break. This week begins in May with Mother's Day.

According to Veronda Durden, director of the Osteoporosis Awareness and Education Program in the Office of Special Projects, Texas Department of Health, steps are being taken by the health department and other agencies to assist Texans in prevention and early detection of osteoporosis.

Each year, 95,000 Texas women are among 1.5 million American women who receive fractures caused by osteoporosis, Durden said. The cost to Texas today is about $1 billion or more in hospital and nursing home expenses.

This figure is expected to increase to $16 billion in the next 50 years for Texans.

"This bone-weakening disease affects an estimated 8 million Americans," Durden said. "An additional 17 million more are at increased risk due to low-bone mass. About one in two women and one in eight men are affected by osteoporosis."

While there are treatments for osteoporosis, there is no cure. This is why prevention is so important. People should take action now to prevent osteoporosis.

Several actions to build and maintain bone strength such as eating for all seasons an adequate amount of calcium each day, maintain a regular weight-bearing exercise program, quit smoking or do not start, and avoid excessive amounts of alcohol, said Dr. Mary Kinney Bielamowicz, a registered dietitian and nutrition specialist with the Extension Service.

"Dietary habits throughout life influence the risk of developing osteoporosis -- a weakening of the bones that causes them to become so fragile that they fracture under normal use," Bielamowicz said. "Some dairy products are high in fat, but you can get calcium without excess fat calories by drinking more skim and low-fat milk products."

Following the recommended dietary guidelines (RDA) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Guide Pyramid is significant for everyone, she said. Making a more healthful lifestyle choice is especially important for those who have or may be at risk for a chronic disease.

People at high risk for osteoporosis are Caucasian and Asian females with small body frames who have a low calcium intake, smoke, have a family history of osteoporosis, receive steroid therapy, have estrogen deficiency or excess thyroid hormones and do not exercise.

"Osteoporosis prevention is something that must be stressed throughout the year, not just for one week," Durden said.

Texas legislators passed State Bill 606 in May 1995 mandating that Texas Department of Health educate Texans about the causes and risk factors associated with the disease. The health department created an osteoporosis advisory committee in April of 1996 to help form a strategy consisting of education, prevention, early detection and treatment of this disease.

Herrera wins business education award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Fernando Herrera, a student at Hereford High School, has been named a United States National Award Winner in business education.

Herrera was nominated for this national award by Amy Cole, a teacher at Hereford High.

The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students. Herrera will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

The Academy selected winners upon the recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy.

The criteria include a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit and dependability.

Herrera is the son of Israel and Hope Herrera of Hereford and the grandson of Gregoria Herrera of Weslaco.

Red Cross Update

Red Cross is recognizing nurses this week, May 6-12, in gratitude for their many contributions over the year. There are many highly qualified nurses in our area and we at Tri County Chapter would like to add our thank you and commendation for those nurses who have contributed both time and talents to aid the people here.

It is unfortunate that a time for honoring nurses and first-aiders is also a time for mourning. Flags will fly at half mast May 8-18 in honor of 10 Zairian Red Cross First-Aiders who were killed in the conflicts and fighting in Kenge.

Tri County Chapter has been asked to raise $1,243 as our part of the state-wide effort to raise $1.5 million in disaster funds. A state-wide mail out request for donations is in progress.

We will be accepting aluminum cans as part of the local and national fund-raising effort. A garage sale is scheduled for June 14-15.

Texans are making major contributions. Sixty of the disaster workers in the flood zone are Texans. Thirty tractor-trailers filled with comfort kits, cots, blankets, and food have left Texas headed for the flood zone.

As flood waters begin to recede, people will return home to begin cleaning up and putting their lives back together. Case workers will be working with these families, providing clean up kits, groceries, temporary housing, baby food, clothes, medicines, prescription glasses, and counseling for those who are in need.

Texas State employees who are qualified National Disaster Workers receive a paid leave of absence during times when they are needed. If you would like to train to be part of the American Red Cross Disaster team, you can begin now.

There will be a class June 5 for Emergency Response Vehicle (ERV) operation. A national level instructor and the ERV will be coming from Pampa, where it is kept, to serve as a First Aid station during the upcoming "Walk for Life," scheduled for June 6 and 7. They will be here a day early, providing an opportunity for training.

Tri County Chapter's disaster instructor, Betty Henson, will be offering "Introduction to Disaster Services" on May 15, "Damage Assessment" on May 19, and "Introduction to Mass Care" on May 27. There is no charge for disaster worker education. Please call the Red Cross office to have your name included on the class roster for these or other CPR/First Aid classes. The number is 364-3761.

All Red Cross disaster assistance is free, made possible by voluntary gifts of time and money from American people. The Red Cross is not a government agency. To help victims of these and other disasters, call 806-364-3761, or 1-800-HELP NOW (800-435-7669), or 800-257-7575 (Spanish).

You may also contribute to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief fund by sending a check to your local Red Cross chapter or to the American Red Cross, P.O. Box 37243, Washington, DC 20013.

Internet users can get more information about Red Cross disaster activities and make a secure online contribution by visiting the American Red Cross' World Wide Web site at <<http://www.redcross.org>>

Marketing to Women - How to be Gender Smart

(Last of two-part series)

Last week, I discussed the importance of women as consumers. They dominate many market segments and are a primary influence in many others. More women are entering high-paying professional fields, and many women out-earn their spouses. So how do you capitalize on this market? Here are some thought starters for improving your business batting average with women. These are not my ideas, but rather, those of companies whose marketing programs and policies are working.

How to reach female consumers

- Treat women with respect. Never assume that a female isn't the decision maker. Never talk down to a women customer or ask if she wants to bring her husband in to okay the deal. It is also unwise to stereotype women as not technically adept just because they're female.

For example, Studebaker Motor Company actually published a manual that advised women to deal with a flat tire in the following manner: "Put on some fresh lipstick, fluff up your hairdo, stand in a safe spot off the road, wave and look helpless and feminine." You know what happened to Studebaker don't you?

• Give them information. Women are more discerning today than ever before. However, most require reinforcement of facts before they become comfortable with a purchase decision. Community First National Bank in Fargo, ND, put together a series of informational luncheons to attract female customers. Women attending the free seminars learned about diversifying investments, teaching children to save and how to reach retirement goals. There were no bank commercials, just information.

• Give them value. Value is the relationship of price to quality and quantity. In a 1996 retail survey, more than 50 percent of women questioned reported that they buy their clothing "mostly on sale." However, that same survey reported that women are quite willing to "pay more for quality."

Therefore, your offering must be of measurable, observable quality if you are going to charge a higher price. Stay focused on the benefits in any marketing presentation. You'll not only need to give female customers good, useable information, but you'll also have to increase their perception of value.

• Market to women one at a time. It is a mistake to assume that the growing female market is homogeneous. You cannot use one-size-fits-all marketing philosophies. Women's needs vary greatly and their demographics and psychographics are even more diverse than those of men. Any marketing program aimed at women that doesn't take their individualism into account is destined to fail.

• Keep your business clean and attractive. In retail businesses, research shows that women are much more likely to respond positively to cleaner, warmer (more attractive) environments than men. However, a clean store with soft neutral colors is not likely to offend male customers. So having a spotless and attractive location is a win-win proposition.

• Hire female salespeople. Carolyn Verweyst, Manager of Marketing Communications for Whirlpool Corp., believes hiring women for sales positions is smart. "I think women like to buy from women," she said in a recent interview.

Electronics giant, Best Buy, works hard to hire more women. Their salespeople do not receive commissions and therefore are under less pressure to close the deal quickly and move on to the next customer. The women-to-women strategy may be most effective when working with the female customer who needs more trust and confidence before making a purchase decision.

In summary, I'd advise all businesses to respect the individual, treat every woman with courtesy, go slow in building a relationship of trust and always keep your promises. Becoming gender smart takes a little practice, but is mostly common sense.

Between the Covers

By MARTHA RUSSELL

We are now beginning to go to schools to tell the kiddos about the Summer Reading Program. Yes, it is that time already!

We are free to interpret the theme, The Incredible Dream Machine, however we wish, and this year we have chosen to use a medieval theme with knights, castles, dragons, and princesses. An unexpected bonus for us, is the help we are getting from Margot Sims' G-T English class at Hereford Junior High. They are letting us use their research projects from their Medieval Fair for display and decoration. When you enter the library, you will enter the world of fair maidens, gallant knights, and royalty. A big thank you goes to this group of energetic and hard working teens.

Fun activities are planned for Tuesday mornings including a movie, a play, storytelling, line dancing, and crafts. Because we had so much fun last year with our grand finale water park, we have decided to make it an annual event and will end our program this year with the wet stuff bash.

Pre-registration begins May 27. You can register your child at any time after that date. Don't miss out on an excellent way to encourage reading for the sheer joy and pleasure of it. No cost, no tests, no book reports, no hassle.

The theme for the program is determined each year by a committee from the Texas Library Association in cooperation with the Texas State Library. A children's book illustrator is chosen to develop the art work, and a manual of ideas for implementing the program is chosen from the many possibilities which are submitted by librarians and others throughout Texas.

Texas State Library sends us materials such as bookmarks, posters, and the manual to help us plan and execute the program. These materials are all free of charge.

Local libraries across Texas are encouraged to participate in the program, but not required to in any way. We may use all, some, or none of the materials and ideas in creating a Summer Reading Program that fits the community, the library and its staff, and the budget available.

New this year, and separate from the traditional Summer Reading Program, is our Teen-Read time for guys and girls who have completed sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. Scheduled for Wednesday mornings from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, this is a time for them to share fun, food, and books. More details will be published later.

Speaking of the Summer Reading Programs, do you know how they are financed? I didn't until I came to work here. Those of you who have so much trouble getting books back on time are actually funding the summer reading program with your fines. Does that make it a little more tolerable to have to bring money every time you come to the library? You are contributing to a very worthy cause, and it is appreciated. Of course, we don't encourage people to keep books past their due date, but if you do, at least some good comes from it.

A Change of Heart by Claire Sylvia is the amazing true story of a woman who, to save her life, underwent a heart-and-lung transplant. Her diseased organs were cut out and replaced by the heart and lungs of an 18-year-old man who had died in a motorcycle accident.

Even as she lay recovering in Intensive Care, Claire began to feel the presence of something or someone else within her. At first terrified and then fascinated, she soon noticed that her attitudes, habits, and tastes had changed. She craved foods she had never liked before, felt drawn to colors she had previously avoided, and behaved in uncharacteristically aggressive and impetuous ways.

Claire then set out on the second part of her journey -- to confirm whether or not the new personality within her was actually that of her donor.

Siam Gifts.

A new Christian fiction book, Lethal Mercy by Harry Lee Kraus, Jr., finds Jake Hampton struggling to unravel the questions he's not sure he wants answered. When his wife, pregnant Sarah Hampton, dies suddenly at an alternative cancer treatment facility, an enraged community demands to know whether her physician-husband assisted in her death. Suffering from traumatic amnesia, Jake would like to know too. He is strongly opposed to assisted suicide, and yet his wife was suffering such agony -- is it possible?

After joining a medical practice in his former hometown, he not only continues to encounter public suspicion, but is getting subtle and ever more threatening clues from an unidentified stalker. Are his wife's death and the stalker's appearance mere coincidence? Or is it a sinister someone trying to destroy him completely?

Editor's Note: The United Way of Deaf Smith County serves 12 local agencies. A different local agency that receives funds from the United Way will be featured in this column each week.

In those communities where there are no Salvation Army officers directing full time operations, the Army established Service Unit Committees, composed of local volunteers, to carry out its program of helping people in need.

This is the case in Hereford and Deaf Smith County. Volunteers in the local Salvation Army Service Unit are Johnnie Turrentine, Lola Faye Veazey, Joe Brown, Dean Hacker, Tom Simons, Vesta Mae Nunley and Judy Baker.

Through this local service unit, the Salvation Army provides clothing, food and fuel for the distressed; emergency relief for disaster victims; meals and lodgings for transients; shoes and clothing for children; and summer camp for youth ages 8 to 14.

This year, the local unit is fortunate to be able to send 20 boys and girls to summer camp.

The service unit makes referrals to help those in need of services not offered locally, such as shelter for homeless girls, assistance for parolees and their families, a missing persons referral service, rehabilitation for willing alcoholics, home for unwed mothers, and shelter for abused women and children.

The Salvation Army, founded in 1865, is an international religious and charitable movement organized and operated on a quasi-military pattern and is a branch of the Christian church. Its membership includes officers (clergy), soldiers/adherents (laity), members of varied activity groups and volunteers who serve as advisors, associates and committed participants in its service functions.

The motivation of the organization is love of God and a practical concern for the needs of humanity. This is expressed by a spiritual ministry, the purposes of which are to preach the Gospel, disseminate Christian truths, supply basic human necessities, provide personal counseling and undertake the spiritual and moral regeneration and physical rehabilitation of all persons in need who come within its sphere of influence regardless of race, color, creed, sex or age.

For further information, call Judy Baker at 363-7075.

Local farmer named as TBSWCD's '97 Outstanding Wildlife Conservationist

Bill Kahlich of Hereford was recently honored for outstanding contributions to the Texas Soil and Water Conservation program.

Kahlich was named Outstanding Wildlife Conservationist for 1997 by the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District.

He also was honored at the Area I Conservation Awards Banquet on May 6 at the Plainview Country Club in Plainview.

Other attending from Hereford were Kahlich's wife, Marilyn; Jerry Homfeld, chairman of the board of directors; and Jim Crownover, district conservationist with the Natural Resources Conservation Service; and his wife, Wanda.

Kahlich was honored for his efforts in planting trees, shrubs and grasses for wildlife food and cover. He also constructed a pond for wildlife water and fish.

During the last 20 years, he has planted over two miles of windbreak trees on his farm, making it a safe haven for quail, pheasant and other game animals.

The Kahlichs have owned this farm since 1975.

The purpose of the conservation awards program is to recognize and honor a soil and water conservation district and individuals who have dedicated their efforts and talents to making wise use of renewable resources.

Regional Conservation Awards program sponsors are the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts and the 214 local soil and water conservation districts in Texas.

WTAMU honors top ag students

The West Texas A&M University Division of Agriculture recognized outstanding students, faculty, administrators and community members at its 36th annual awards banquet April 26.

The local students receiving recognition at the banquet were:

-- Judy Aycock, a senior plant science major, Outstanding Senior in Plant Science.

-- Shelia L. Dawes, a senior agriculture major, Outstanding Senior in General Agriculture.

-- Timothy Gee, a junior agriculture business and economics major, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo scholarship.

Great Success Found With New Soil Treatment

The Indians may have had the right idea after all, when they planted a fish with each stalk of corn. Farmers using a new fish oil product say it builds the organic matter percentage and adds to the nutrients and micronutrient balance needed for healthy soils.

It aerates the soil, making it softer, therefore absorbing water faster to be held for the future when plants need it. It promotes more massive root system, thereby increasing yields. The longer moisture is held, the more nutrients the roots can absorb.

Three benefits of using fish oil are: (1) Increases absorption of Garlic to better repel insects, (2) Best foliar feed on the market because of organic nutrients, increasing yield and health of the plant, (3) Each time Garlic Barrier and Fish-Agra are applied, some goes on the ground, building a healthy active soil -- protecting crops during high stress times, such as low temperatures and drought.

One farmer, Kevin Busenlehner, near Robstown, applied the Fish-Agra in furrow as a "pop-up" fertilizer on milo when planting. They had 4 1/2" rain when milo was several inches high. The soil with Fish-Agra absorbed water much faster. Later, the heads formed in the stalks, and are now considerably longer than in milo not treated with fish oil. He is now side dressing with Fish-Agra all crops not treated before.

Fish-Agra and/or Garlic Barrier can be applied by air, land or center pivot to all crops, trees and gardens. When application is started early, crops will be healthier and without insects.

Agriculture Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farmers in winter wheat areas can begin preparing land idled in the Conservation Reserve Program for fall planting without losing their government payments.

The action by Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman is an alternative to legislation passed by the House last week that would grant winter wheat, barley and oats farmers a one-year CRP extension to allow the land to be readied for planting.

"This is a major victory for our wheat farmers. It is a much better way to go and we are very happy with it," Sen. Patty Murray, D-Wash., said Wednesday.

Farmers who grow winter crops in arid areas of Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Oregon and Washington have been complaining that USDA's decisions on 26 million acres of land offered for CRP would come too late for them to plant this year.

Now, those farmers whose CRP contracts expire Sept. 30 can remove grass or tree cover without having to fear loss of income.

"USDA will not reduce their CRP rental payments if they have destroyed or will destroy vegetative crop cover on their expiring CRP land," Glickman told Sen. Dick Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, in a letter.

If USDA later accepts the land into CRP, the government will pay half the costs of replanting the cover and the land would be idled for another 10 years.

Lugar led a bipartisan group of senators who pressed for the Agriculture Department to take this step instead of the House-passed one-year extension bill, which had drawn a veto threat from President Clinton.

The Clinton administration contended the bill would prevent millions of acres of more environmentally sensitive land from being enrolled in CRP this year and could jeopardize the nation's wheat supply.

Glickman pledged that all farmers offering land for CRP would be notified by the end of May. For farmers whose land is rejected for the CRP program, the USDA will provide advice and technical assistance on how to improve their chances of being accepted in another signup expected later this year.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - Never mind the attacks against tobacco in the courts and in the court of public opinion. It is the weather in North Carolina that has South Carolina's tobacco farmers smiling.

For two years, South Carolina's growers have taken advantage of the misfortunes of their northern neighbors, who last year saw their crop heavily damaged by two hurricanes. The subsequent shortage caused a run on South Carolina tobacco, sending prices up to $1.92 a pound.

Each year, the Agriculture Department tells farmers how much tobacco they can grow, based on manufacturers' buying intentions, export markets and leftover tobacco. This year, tobacco-growing quotas are at their highest level in 15 years.

"There is a lot of potential to rake in some money this year," grower DuPree Atkinson of Mullins, S.C., said.

Matter of Fact

Rick Perry
Texas Agriculture Commissioner

You may have heard that the U.S. House and Senate Banking committees are once again considering the fate of the lowly one dollar bill. They're discussing whether or not to replace the paper dollar we all know with a coin currency.

Why am I even concerning myself with this money issue? Because believe it or not, it's also an agricultural issue.

You may not know this, but 75 percent of that one dollar bill in our pockets is actually cotton. Since 1862, cotton products have been used to make our money. Companies like Triangle Manufacturing in Slaton process close to 100 million bales of gin motes a year to make that money.

You'd think that our government would remember what happened back about 15 years ago. Just where are all those Susan B. Anthony dollar coins? Well, 400 million of them are now gathering dust in storage at the U.S. Mint.

Ironically, the feds say that switching from paper to coin will actually save money because metal lasts longer. But when it comes to dollars and cents, I think the government can find other ways to cut spending rather than literally taking it out of the pockets of our cotton producers.

Standing Guard Over Cotton

Protecting your business and reputation as a successful cotton grower often means choosing the right pest control. By mid-season, a broad spectrum of crop-damaging insects can destroy the bottom fruiting branches of the plant, which account for the most profitable yields.

Connie Banks
Zeneca Ag Products

Primary cotton pests include bollworms and boll weevils. These insects can cause terminal growth damage as they feed on fruiting forms and leaf petioles. Secondary pests, such as mites, plant bugs and others, are becoming more economically important as growers try to extract maximum yields and profits.

Protect your cotton from yield-robbing insects by using an insecticide that:

- provides excellent broad-spectrum control of primary pests and suppresses secondary pests
- provides greater residual control
- gives you the most performance for your dollar.

Throughout years of testing, KARATE® insecticide has exhibited unsurpassed bollworm and budworm control on both larvae and eggs. It also provides excellent control of boll weevil, fall armyworm and plant bugs.

A summary of 18 evaluations from five different Zeneca field trials showed that Karate outperformed the competition by controlling nearly 99 percent of the worms after treatment.

Karate shows greater ovicidal activity than any other insecticide, which means further reduction of insect populations. Also, the pest control Karate offers is so complete, tank mixing is often unnecessary.

The fewer pests your cotton crop has to battle, the more lint you'll put through the gin.

For more information about Karate, contact your local ag chem dealer.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

Good Fences Make Good Neighbors

A practical fence can beautify the landscape, too.

About fences, poet Robert Frost wrote "Good fences make good neighbors." The basics of choosing a good fence and being a good neighbor are:

- Determine the function of the fence. Just what are you trying to accomplish by putting up a fence? Is a fence really necessary? This step may entail some research, some observation, some talking with the neighbors and perhaps some reading of poetry.

- Find out how your neighbors feel about fences. What type of fence would the neighbors support? Although this is not always an obligatory step, making "unilateral" decisions about fences is not a way to become popular in any neighborhood.

- Discuss sharing the cost with neighbors, which is not unusual, especially when both parties want the fence and the view is good from both sides.

- Understand the lay of the land. Where exactly should the fence be placed? What style best complements the setting? Personal taste is an important factor, but a landscape designer or fence dealer can offer helpful tips based on broad experience, taking into account the horizon, the various angles from which the fence will be viewed, the slopes of the hills, the twists in the paths and many other factors that may be overlooked by an untrained eye.

- Research the marketplace to find the fence that best meets all criteria. Which fence is right for you?

Good Fences

Today, vinyl fences offer the most choices. There is a style of vinyl fence for every style of conventional wood fence, and there are styles of vinyl fence for which there is no wood counterpart. Styles of picket fences, for example, range from full-privacy to semi-privacy. The latter have openings between pickets, allowing some visibility through the fence, yet better containment than a three or four rail fence. The "basket weave" style of rail fence is a full-privacy rail fence, which has the horizontal boards woven together like the strips of wood in an old-fashioned picnic-basket.

According to experts the days of dilapidated fences, peeling paint and recurring maintenance are gone forever - thanks to the development of vinyl fences. Whatever style you choose, so long as you choose vinyl, your fence will never need painting.

Because vinyl fences are durable and weather-resistant, they stay "like new" practically forever. The glossy, smooth, bright-white color of a vinyl fence is a part of the bulk of the vinyl - it's not just a coating.

Good Neighbors

Your neighbors will appreciate that there is no paint that chips or peels - especially on their side of the fence. Since at least a dozen distinct styles of vinyl fences are available to choose from, you and your neighbor are sure to agree on at least one style. A vinyl fence is a good fence. It makes good neighbors.

Wondering how to get rid of fingerprints on wallpaper? Cut up chunks of bread and rub off the soiled spots in even, vertical strokes. If it doesn't do a complete job, let the bread turn a bit stale and try again.

Three hits take final bows as end of season approaches

Tim Daly, Crystal Bernard and Steven Weber (from left) fly off into the sunset when Wings airs its series finale May 21 on NBC. The long-running sitcom about two brothers who run an airline is one of several favorites leaving the air this season.

©TVData Features Syndicate

If the imminent end of the current TV season feels a little sad, chalk it up to the fact that three long-running situation comedies are facing their final curtains.

By the end of this month, Coach, Wings and Roseanne all will be history.

Coach, which premiered on Feb. 28, 1989, wraps up its three-part series finale Wednesday, May 14, as Hayden and Christine (Craig T. Nelson, Shelley Fabares) reach a decision that will dramatically affect their future.

It's a sweet episode and a well-merited conciliatory gesture from ABC, which in recent seasons has treated the one-time ratings winner strictly as a utility player, called in off the bench whenever another show went belly up.

Its fans can rest assured that title star Nelson, who won an Emmy for his work on the show, will continue to be one of the most in-demand actors in TV and film.

Ditto Steven Weber, whose Brian Hackett on Wings has been a perennial audience favorite since the show's NBC debut on April 19, 1990. Though never the show of the moment, Wings has always at the very least been a solid if sometimes modest ratings hit. But this season was a turbulent one for the program. Wings was consigned to NBC's ill-considered attempt to launch another comedy beachhead on Wednesdays and the show abruptly went down in Nielsen flames.

Weber himself is on a red-hot streak these days: He got terrific reviews for his work in the miniseries adaptation of Stephen King's The Shining, and recently made his directorial debut with another King story for TV's The Outer Limits. At the moment, he's starring in the feature comedy Sour Grapes.

The 36-year-old actor says filming the one-hour Wings finale, which airs Wednesday, May 21, was bittersweet, and admits he and his co-stars occasionally chafed at how their show seemed to live in the shadow of its more famous sibling, Cheers.

"We were doing the show long enough that we wanted to have a little critical notice," Weber says, "especially for something that we thought was better than a lot of other shows that were getting that attention."

"To me, for someone like Crystal Bernard (who plays Helen Chappel Hackett on the sitcom) to have escaped any kind of Emmy notice ... as one of the best comic actresses on TV - I mean, why? After a while, it gets to you."

He adds, however, that he finds it fitting that his show is slipping out as quietly as it slipped in seven years ago - something that can't be said about Roseanne, the controversial, groundbreaking sitcom that is completing a decade of episodes. Its one-hour finale airs Tuesday, May 20, on ABC.

Recently, Roseanne announced plans to take her show's central character to another series venue. The idea was rejected by all of the Big Three networks.

But regardless of that ending, Roseanne has been, by critical consensus, one of the most influential shows in TV history. It was the first sitcom to offer a candid and often painful look at blue-collar American family life, as well as the first to introduce multiple gay characters whose sexuality was simply a fact of life, not just a cheap punch line.

As in life, problems took weeks or months to solve, not 23 minutes plus commercials. And sometimes, people actually failed.

"You could watch Roseanne just for laughs," says head writer Allan Stephan, "but if you were a thinking person, every show had a message."

HOROSCOPES

★ ★ May 11-17 ★ ★

ARIES - March 21/April 20
You feel like screaming at work this week, because it seems that everything you do is causing problems. Don't worry; it will be over soon. Just continue to fix any mistakes that arise. As for your family life, it's going well. Loved ones are there for you to lift your spirits after a long week.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21
The workweek seems to fly by. You finish a project that you've been working on for a long time, and it's time to celebrate. Your personal life gives you ample time to relax. Close friends are busy this week, so you've got a lot of time to yourself. Enjoy it while you can, because your phone will be ringing off the hook soon.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21
Hold your emotions in check at work this week. It feels like a close friend and co-worker is stabbing you in the back. Before you react, make sure you get all of the facts. Things are not always as they appear. A close friend shows up on your doorstep with a problem. Open up your home -- and your heart -- to him or her.

CANCER - June 22/July 22
Remain calm as things get crazy this week. You'll be working a lot of overtime to finish up a major project, and your loved ones will be demanding your input in planning a family event. You can't ignore your co-workers or your family, so just try to help everyone out as much as you can.

LEO - July 23/August 23
The lion wants to roar this week as everything goes well at work and at play. Superiors reward you for all of your hard work, and friends take you out to thank you for always being there for them. That special someone finally calls to ask you out. Taurus and Cancer play important roles.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
While work is tedious this week, it also is rewarding. Even the most boring tasks can let your talents show. A close friend relies on you to be there for him or her during an important event. Even though you feel like a third wheel, he or she needs you. You actually can have a good time.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Work can wear you out this week if you let it -- don't. When things get too hectic, take a step back, and collect your thoughts. Take a walk if that will help. To do your best, you have to stay focused. A loved one turns to you for help later in the week. Do everything that you can.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
"When will it end?" You ask yourself this question a lot this week as your manager keeps pushing you harder every day. Don't get frazzled. Keep doing your best, and you will succeed. An old friend calls you up out of the blue and wants to get together. This is the perfect opportunity for you to get your mind off of work.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Everything is coming up roses for you this week. You get a surprise bonus at work for all you've been doing. As for family relations, they're very strong. Loved ones thank you for the support you've been giving lately. A close friend introduces you to someone who is sure to become more than just a friend.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
You finally complete a rigorous task at work. Now is your time to relax. Take Friday off, and get an early start on the weekend. You deserve it. As for your friends, they're ready to celebrate with you. Plan a getaway for all of you.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
Don't get discouraged at work. While it seems like the week will never end, it'll be over before you know it. A co-worker with whom you don't often talk will be there to help you with a problem. That someone special throws you a curveball at the end of the week. Don't get upset.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20
You feel like Superman this week as you keep going without a break. Superiors notice your efforts at work and reward you. Loved ones are amazed at your energy. Try to get as much done as you can, because you'll need your rest by Saturday.

HIGHLIGHTS

Mia Sara and Michael Caine star in 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea. The Jules Verne submarine adventure tale airs Sunday and Monday on ABC.

Take the dive: Latest 20,000 Leagues is worth the trip

It seems the third time is the charm for Jules Verne's 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea. The most recent movie based on Verne's book is a four-hour behemoth bringing impressive performances and stunning visuals to the classic underwater adventure story. The film surfaces Sunday and Monday, May 11 and 12, on ABC. Michael Caine, Patrick Dempsey, Bryan Brown and Mia Sara star.

The 1954 Disney edition of the film charted the course for productions to follow, but special effects have come a long way in the interim, allowing this Sea to be the live-action marvel Disney must have dreamed of. A little-known silent version was made in 1916, only 11 years after Verne's death, making the current film actually the fourth screen adaptation, following the TV movie CBS aired earlier this season.

There seems to be no way to account for viewers being drenched in 40,000 Leagues in such short order - but the coincidence suggests Verne has gotten under our cultural skin, here at the close of the millennium.

And while Gene Roddenberry looked to the future to create Star Trek, there is no doubt that he was influenced by Verne - he simply set his Nautilus, the Enterprise, in the sea of space. Verne's themes easily could have come from today's headlines: conservation of natural resources, cooperative development of new technology, war machines in the wrong hands, isolation of the individual, disenchantment with human nature.

In addition to the special effects, there are some fine performances in the film. Caine's Captain Nemo bristles with intensity right up to his flaring nostrils. Brown brings a bit of Crocodile Dundee to the aptly named harpooner Ned Land. And Dempsey, as protagonist Pierre Aronnax, is powerful as the heroic young scientist straining to emerge from another man's shadow.

The Australian production is rich in Victorian detail and Freudian conflict. Even in a preview edition with incomplete special effects, the smart script and pacing guarantee the viewer's imagination is fully engaged.

There's even a moment when it appears Mr. Sulu is about to take the engine to warp speed.

Looking for some action? Tune in for two hours of raw excitement with the wildest wrestling on television. Another original USA production. Only on USA Network.

Q: I have tried over and over to understand all the words in the theme song to All in the Family, but with the way Edith and Archie sing, it's very difficult.

A: Don't be too hard on Family stars Jean Stapleton and Carroll O'Connor, who went so far as to redo their performance of the opening song in hopes of making this stubborn line more comprehensible.

Despite that, most people still don't realize that they're singing, "Gee, our old LaSalle ran great."

Q: A Pennsylvania reader asked about a movie that featured a pair of young lovers in heaven before they were born. You may have been right with The Blue Bird, but a second choice could have been Made in Heaven, starring Kelly McGillis and Timothy Hutton. Could the two films be related? -Louise Rohrbach via e-mail.

A: Several readers wrote to remind me about Made in Heaven, but you, Louise, were the only one who considered the possibility that either film could be correct.

Given the complete information the reader provided in the letter she submitted, she clearly was looking for The Blue Bird, starring Shirley Temple. I removed some of those particulars when editing the letter for publication.

To those readers who were confused and thought I had identified the wrong movie for this reader, I'm happy to clear this up.

A: Roberts is married to Roker. Q: Has the soap The City been canceled? I can't find it anywhere in my area. -K.K. via e-mail.

A: Yes, the low-rated soap, an attempt to salvage Loving, has been canceled. In most markets, the new soap Port Charles will move into the former City slot on June 2, following a prime-time launch the previous night.

Q: I loved to watch TV cowboys as a kid in the '50s. One was Sugarfoot with Will Hutchens; another was Clint Walker in Cheyenne. What was the series starring Ty Hardin? -Robert Rhode via e-mail.

A: It's fitting that you think of these three together, because at one point all three were alternating under the Cheyenne umbrella title, which included episodes from Cheyenne, Sugarfoot and Hardin's series, Bronco, which ran on ABC from September 1958 to August 1962.

SOAP WORLD

Apra returns to Another World

Former gangster Lucas (John Apra) has not returned to Another World. But a tall, dark and handsome stranger who greatly resembles him has. That's because Apra is back on AW in the new role of Alexander Nikos, a mysterious Greek shipping magnate.

"When AW headwriter Michael Malone conceived this character, we started looking for an actor with a certain presence," executive producer Charlotte Savitz says. "We realized John could do it better than anyone else we could ever imagine."

"The character of Alexander provides a unique way for us to have John return to AW, while bringing in a new character. Alexander is like an exotic whirlwind, who blows into Felicia's (Linda Dano) life and sweeps her off her feet."

Working with Dano again was one of the reasons Apra returned. "I cannot wait to see how these characters interact," the actor says.

Dear Candace: Can you please let me know what is going on with the actor who plays good ol' Roger Thorpe on Guiding Light? His mouth seems crooked to me and his speech is a little slurred. Or is it my imagination? -C.A., Orrington, Maine.

Dear Reader: No, it isn't your imagination. Michael Zaslow, who played Roger, has some kind of medical problem. He is taking an extended leave. Executives from GL are not commenting on the nature of the problem.

Dennis Parlato is taking over the role temporarily.

"I have mixed feelings about stepping into the role of Roger Thorpe, which Michael Zaslow has played for so many years," Parlato says.

Dear Candace: What happened to the actress who played Phyllis on The Young and the Restless? -J.D., Mount Vernon, Wash.

Dear Reader: Michelle Stafford left her Y&R role to star in the prime-time series Pacific Palisades. Aaron Spelling made her an offer and Stafford jumped at it.

THE BUCK STARTS HERE.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more jobs, tax support for community services and a better place to live.

Newspaper is more than just a smart place to advertise.

It's an integral part of our lives.

Newspaper. It delivers.

THERE'S MORE Hereford IN THE BRAND.
