Attorneys will likely focus on Mrs. Fortier's admission that in the weeks after the April 19, 1995, bombing, she lied to the FBI, friends and relatives. "I didn't want (authorities) to implicate us. I was scared," she said.

Testifying under immunity from prosecution, Mrs. Fortier recalled a conversation in the living room of her Kingman, Ariz., mobile home in which McVeigh said he planned the bombing as revenge for the government's role in the deadly siege at Waco, Texas.

She said that six months before the bombing, McVeigh specifically mentioned "the federal building" in Oklahoma City, though he didn't refer to it by its name, the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building.

"He said it was an easy target and that it was a building that had some of the people who had been involved in the Waco raid," she said.

Economic growth explodes, stocks soar to near-record

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. economic growth exploded at an annual rate of 5.6 percent in the first quarter, the strongest in a decade, as consumers nearly doubled their rate of spending.

Financial markets, where the Dow Jones average of industrial stocks soared a near-record 179 points Tuesday, viewed the unexpected surge with trepidation. Treasury bond prices fell immediately after the report's release.

In advance, economists had been looking for a robust - but not torrid -4 percent seasonally adjusted growth pace in the gross domestic product.

Roller-coaster volatility has rocked Wall Street for nearly two months now. Strong economic reports have triggered plunges, by convincing investors the Federal Reserve would embark on a long campaign of interest-rate increases to quell inflationary pressures.

Upswings have followed evidence that inflation is contained, such as the modest 0.6 percent rise reported Tuesday in Americans' wages and benefits in the first quarter.

Marijuana use among elementary school students up, survey shows

By PAULINE ARRILLAGA
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Marijuana use

Texas has more than doubled in the last four years, with sixth-graders comprising the largest group of young pot smokers, according to a survey released Tuesday.

The survey, conducted by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse and the Texas A&M Public Policy Research Institute, shows that while fewer elementary students are smoking cigarettes and drinking alcohol, more are experimenting with marijuana.

A similar study released last fall showed marijuana use among Texas high school students also had risen in the last four years, from 20 percent to 31 percent.

"It's depressing news," said Texas Education Agency spokeswoman Debbie Graves Ratcliffe. "The survey does make it seem that drug experimentation is occurring at younger and younger ages. It's definitely a concern to educators."

The survey is based on the responses of 68,239 students in fourth through sixth grade in 70 school districts across the state. In all, there are about 887,000 fourth, fifth and sixth-graders in Texas, Mrs. Ratcliffe

According to the study, the percentage of elementary students who have smoked marijuana at least once increased from 1.7 percent in 1992 to 4 percent in 1996. In 1994, 5.6 percent of the students said they had used marijuana.

The percentage of students who said they had used marijuana during the immediate past school year rose from 1 percent in 1992 to 2.7 percent in 1996. In 1994, 1.9 percent said they had smoked pot in the previous Marijuana use was highest among sixth-graders, with 7.3 percent saying they had smoked pot at least once, an increase from 3.4 percent in 1992. That compares with 2.9 percent of fifth-graders, up from 0.9 percent in 1992, and 1.7 percent of fourth-graders, up from 0.8 percent in 1992.

'These findings clearly show that the risk of trying and using illegal drugs begins to escalate as early as the sixth grade," said Richard Spence, assistant deputy of the measurements division at TCADA.

While some younger students try drugs and alcohol, the sixth grade is a real turning point. We must redouble our prevention efforts among younger students to interrupt this cycle."

Despite the findings, marijuana was the least used substance by among elementary school students in elementary students in 1996. Alcohol was most popular, with 30 percent of students saying they had consumed alcohol at least once. Seventeen percent of students said they had smoked cigarettes, while 9.8 percent said they had used inhalants.

> Several new projects that aim to prevent drug and alcohol abuse among young people are under way across the state, officials said.

At the governor's request, a initiative to keep children from experimenting with illegal drugs.

In addition, TCADA this year is implementing test projects in 11 Texas communities that target youth drug use through life-skills training and family intervention.

The State Board of Education also is revisiting drug prevention efforts in its proposed curriculum rewrite, scheduled to be considered in May.

Proposals include instructing kindergartners about tobacco, alcohol coalition of education, health and and drugs and requiring them to name criminal justice experts has been harmful effects of those products. created to develop a statewide Sixth-graders would be expected to analyze the use of prescription and nonprescription medications and examine the social influences that affect drug abuse.

"There's a pretty heavy dose of drug prevention information in the curriculum now, and that will increase if the new curriculum is adopted, but it takes more than just the curriculum to keep students from using drugs," Mrs. Ratcliffe said. "Parental involvement is important. They need to show both in words and deeds that drugs and alcohol are

My daughter, now 7, was molested by her 16-year-old cousin. My ex-husband knew this was happening, yet he never said a word to me about it and he allowed his nephew to continue to baby-sit for our daughter.

Thank the good Lord my daughter finally spoke up. Now the entire family is aware of what went on. I was, however, reluctant to press charges because the boy is my ex-husband's nephew. Of course, my daughter is not permitted to visit her father's side of the family when that boy is present, but I feel uneasy about the fact that nothing is being done about this teen-ager's problem, which I consider serious.

I sympathize with the mother of that 5-year-old, and I hope and pray that she will have the courage to press charges. # Recreation of 1800s band brings history to life in dramatic concert

The Dodge City Cowboy Band, a recreation of the original Cowboy Band of the late 1800s, brought history to life Thursday on the stage of the Hereford High School auditorium.

The idea for the original Dodge City Cowboy Band was conceived by Chalkely M. Beeson, a cattle rancher, saloon owner and Deputy Sheriff in Dodge City, hoping that a band would help sell Dodge City beef.

He dressed his musicians in the traditional cowboy costume, complete with Colt 45s, and provided them with the finest instruments available.

Beeson was one of three characters represented on stage in the Thursday night performance. The others were Jack Sinclair and his daughter, Edith.

Sinclair was a member of the original band who quickly rose to a leadership position and eventually purchased the band's music, instruments and name from Beeson and moved to Pueblo, Colo.

The stage was set in an 1800s living room scene and as the threesome discussed the band, the music they were "playing" on the phonograph was performed by the Dodge City Cowboy Band.

The energy and enthusiasm of the band was relayed to the audience as they performed rousing renditions of both country and classical numbers.

In our own area, where cattle are so important to the economy, it was of special interest to many in attendance of the importance of the band in promoting cattle in the 1800s, at such major venues as Madison Square Garden in New York and the Chicago World's Fair.

As stated in the Credo for Community Concerts, "Laughter, tears, joy, insight, excitement, curiosity: these are only a few of the sensations that can be stimulated by great performances.

"It doesn't happen every time, not even when all the ingredients are there: fine performers, an enthusiastic audience, a well-appointed venue. Nevertheless when the effort has been made to bring superb performers to a receptive group of people in the best available concert setting, the chances of striking that spark are increased."

This performance by the Dodge City Cowboy Band "struck that spark" as evidenced by the standing ovation at the end of the program.

The Hereford Community Concert Association is presently conducting its Spring membership drive for the 1997-1998 concert season with the theme "When was the last time your television got a standing ovation?"

Season memberships in Hereford Community Concert Association entitle the member to attend concerts in Pampa, Borger and Plainview as well as the ones offered here in Hereford.

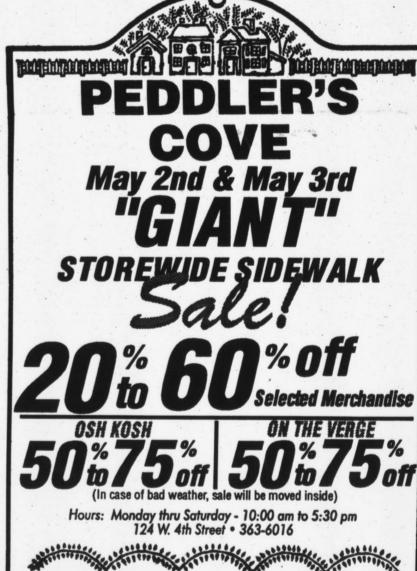

Approximately 12 concerts will be available with the one season reciprocal membership. Costs for memberships are adults, $20; students, $10; and family, $50.

The drive continues through May 9. Anyone interested in becoming a member of Community Concerts may get further information by calling 364-5345 or 364-3486.

Rockets complete sweep of Twolves

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - The Houston Rockets needed more than 14 3-pointers to end the first playoff series in Minnesota Timberwolves history. Only one more, as it turned

Eddie Johnson hit the Rockets' 15th and final long-range shot with 8:35 remaining to snap the game's 13th tie, boosting the Rockets to a 125-120 victory and a sweep of their best-of-5 series Tuesday night. Rookie Matt Maloney went 6-for-8 from 3-point range and Mario Elie was 4-for-5 as the Rockets spoiled the first home playoff game in Wolves history and advanced to the second round, where they will meet Scattle or Phoenix.

Jordan earns NBA honors for 8th time

NEW YORK (AP) - Offense is not the only part of Michael Jordan's

Jordan, winner of a record ninth NBA scoring title this season, is the second player in league history to be selected to the All-Defensive first team eight times.

Jordan tied Bobby Jones for the honor Tuesday when he was voted to the team by the league's coaches.

Joining the Chicago Buils' All-Star guard on the first team were guard Gary Payton of Seattle, forwards Scottie Pippen of Chicago and Karl Malone of Utah, and center Dikembe Mutombo of Atlanta, the Defensive Player of the Year.

The second team consisted of forwards Anthony Mason of Charlotte and P.J. Brown of Miami, center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston, and guards Mookie Blaylock of Atlanta and John Stockton of Utah.

The 29 coaches were not allowed to vote for players on their teams. Two points were awarded for a first team vote, one point for second team.

Pippen led all players with 53 points, including a high of 26 first team votes. Jordan had 51 points, players named on the maximum 28 ballots.

"It was a phenomenal game," Maloney said after scoring a career-high 26 points on 9-of-11 shooting. "They did a heck of a job of staying in there and we did a good job matching their intensity. No matter what we'd do we couldn't put them away. We just did a good job executing in the fourth quarter, like we've done all year." That was the story in the final two games of the series. The playoff-tested Rockets outscored the young Wolves 18-5 over the final 5:47 in Game 2, and Tuesday they again pulled away down the stretch.

Even though the Rockets' 3-point shooting carried them for 3 1/2 quarters - they finished 15-for-28 - it was their poise, and the Wolves' inability to match that when it mattered most, that decided the

"Experience is something you can't teach," Clyde Drexler said. "We certainly have a lot of it, and it showed in this series."

All 10 starters scored in double figures, and four recorded double-doubles. Hakeem Olajuwon had 19 points and 11 rebounds for the Rockets. Rookie center Dean Garrett led the Wolves with a career-high 26 points and 15 rebounds, Tom Gugliotta had 27 points and 10 boards and rookie Stephon Marbury added 14 points and

The Wolves hit more shots than the Rockets, outrebounded them 41-31 and had only eight turnovers to Houston's 11. But the Rockets shot 60 percent to Minnesota's 49 percent, and they made nine more 3-pointers.

"They came in and made every shot," said Doug West, the only original Minnesota player left from the 1989-90 expansion season. "We did everything humanly possible to beat them in this series, but they were focused and got the job done. Aside from the outcome, the game was all the sellout Target Center crowd of 19,006 could have asked for as the NBA playoffs returned to the Twin Cities for the first time since the Minneapolis Lakers played their last home game in 1960.

Before the starting lineups were announced the fans were yelling and waving "Howl Towels" handed out especially for the occasion, and the energy seemed to boost the Wolves.

Although Houston shot nearly 60 percent in the first half and made seven 3-pointers, the game was tied 59-59 at the break.

Maloney hit all four of his 3-pointers in the third quarter -Houston had six in the period altogether - but Garrett scored 11 and the game was tied at 91 heading into the final period.

Minnesota took its first lead since midway through the first quarter, when Sam Mitchell stole Maloney's pass and converted a three-point play to start the fourth. It was 96-93 after Mitchell's jumper before Johnson hit 3-pointer No. 13 to tie it.

The Wolves were in good position with Barkley and Drexler on the bench with four fouls apiece since late in the third quarter. But Elie hit Houston's 14th 3-pointer to regain the lead, 100-98.

After Kevin Garnett tied it, Johnson's 3-pointer gave Houston the lead for good and started a 9-0 run.

"I give them more respect after this game than I did during the regular season," Olajuwon said.
"They made us work."

The outcome left the Rockets looking forward to some time off before the second round. It left the Wolves looking ahead to next season.

"We're a young team that has grown up," coach Flip Saunders said. "I think now our age of innocence is over. We'll never go through another season or playoffs where there won't be expectations.

"As I told our players, our 1997-98 season begins now.'

New bill would force athletes match GPA of fellow students

the grade point average of their vote to be forwarded to the Senate for fellow students to get state-funded consideration. athletic scholarships under a bill that has won preliminary House approval.

No statewide academic standards currently exist for students who get athletic scholarships, according to a bill analysis.

Rep. Ron Wilson, the bill's sponsor, said Tuesday that means student athletes can be treated as "meat on the hoof" and cheated of a proper education.

"They entice them in with all kinds of promises of fame and fortune; they get them at the university and then only one out of 10 of them graduates after five years," said Wilson, D-Houston.

'What happened to the other nine? They fall by the wayside. A lot of them are probably sitting on the side of the road with cans in their hands, will work for food."

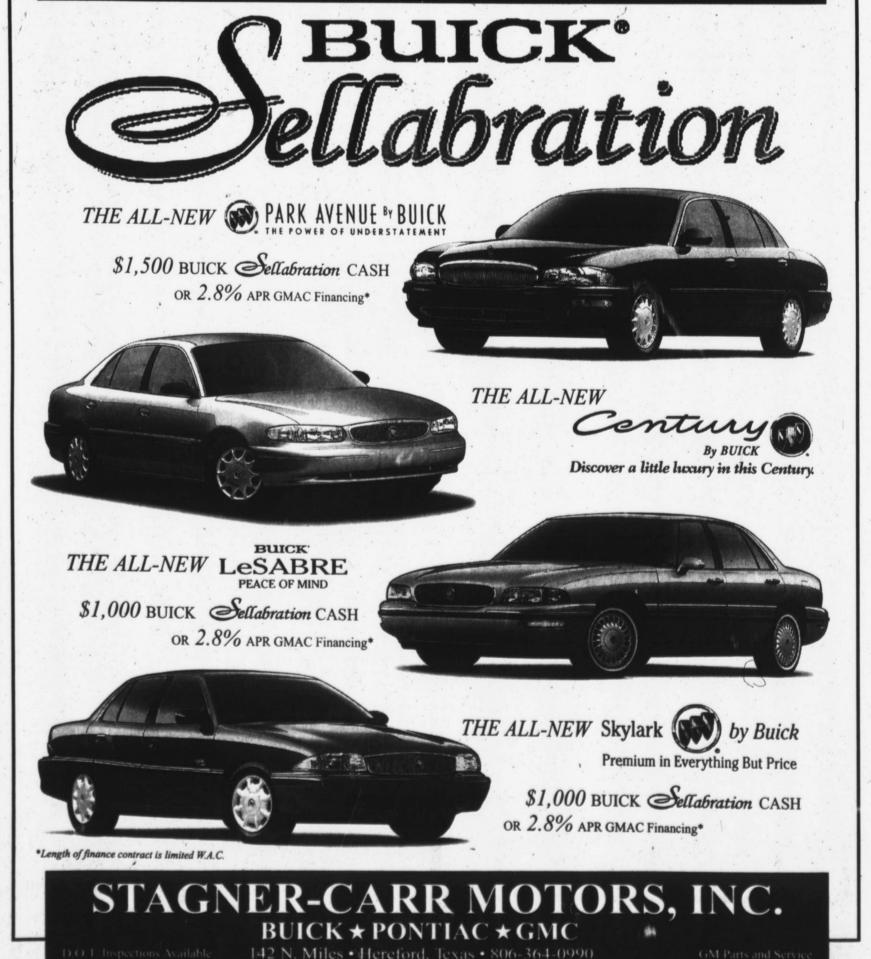

AUSTIN (AP) - University There was no debate on Wilson's football players would have to match bill, which requires another House

We're still analyzing the bill and its impact," said Monty Jones, a spokesman for the University of Texas System.

Wilson's bill would apply to students who will be awarded state-funded scholarships, grants or other financial assistance based on them being student athletes, including football players and those who play other sports.

It would allow such financial aid only if an entering freshman's high school GPA is equal to or greater than the average high school GPA of all entering freshman students in the preceding academic year.

If the student was not a freshman, the cumulative college-level GPA would have to be equal to or greater than the average of all undergraduates enrolled at the institution the previous academic year.

Tuesday night. The NL West champion Padres saw closer Trevor Hoffman (0-2) blow a save chance for the third time this season. The Marlins, meanwhile, swept a five-game homestand behind Kevin Brown and Bonilla.

Brown (3-1) gave up one run in eight innings and won for the first time since April 6. The Marlins have scored only 15 runs in six games for Brown, who had the worst run support in the major leagues last year.

'We haven't done a whole lot for Kevin," Marlins manager Jim Leyland said. "Subconsciously, I think the players think he's so good we don't have to do too much. We almost got caught with our pants down tonight."

Brown left for a pinch-hitter in the eighth with Florida down 1-0. Edgar Renteria drew a two-out walk from Doug Bochtler and, after Hoffman took over, Gary Sheffield walked.

Bonilla pulled a grounder over the first-base bag, and Sheffield slid home with the go-ahead run.

Williams' home run carries Tribe past Oakland, 10-4

With Matt Williams leading the power surge, the Cleveland Indians are hitting home runs like they never did with Albert Belle.

Williams hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning - his sixth homer in four games - to break a tie Tuesday night that led the Indians to a 10-4 win over the Oakland Athletics.

Cleveland has already hit a major-league leading 47 homers this season, including 18 in the last five games. Boston is second with 36.

Williams was joined on Tuesday night by Sandy Alomar, Brian Giles and Julio Franco as the Indians got back to .500 (12-12).

At New York, Russ Davis matched his career high with four RBIs as Seattle rallied to prevent New York's Joe Torre from getting his 1,000th win as a manager. New York's Tino Martinez set a major league record with 33 RBIs in April. His two-run single in the ninth for the Yankees broke the mark of 32 set by Barry Bonds last year.

Seattle then scored five runs in the eighth against Jim Mecir (0-1). Greg McCarthy (1-0) retired four major league decision. White Sox 2, Rangers 1 At Chicago, Belle's sacrifice fly with one out in the ninth lifted consecutive batters to win his first

Ray Durham singled with one out in the ninth off Andy Patterson (2-2), and Frank Thomas followed with a single, sending Durham to third. Belle, who went 1-for-4, hit a fly down the right-field line that Warren Newson caught while going away from the plate and had no chance to get Durham.

Jaime Navarro (2-1) earned his first win since April 6 with a six-hitter. It was Navarro's 30th career complete game and his first since July 11, 1996, against St. Louis.

Royals 6, Blue Jays 5, 10 innings At Kansas City, Chili Davis hit his 300th career home run leading off the bottom of the 10th. Davis connected on a 3-2 pitch from Paul Quantrill

(3-2) for his second homer of the Hipolito Pichardo (1-0) pitched one scoreless inning for the win. He has not allowed a run in 11 2-3 innings in 11 games this season.

Ed Sprague homered twice for the Blue Jays. Brewers 2, Tigers 1

At Detroit, Jeff Cirillo hit a tie-breaking RBI single and Milwaukee's bullpen converted its first save opportunity in more than two weeks.

The win was the fourth straight after six straight losses for the Brewers, who lead the AL Central. Detroit lost for the fifth time in six Cal Eldred (3-2) beat Detroit for the second time this season, and Doug Jones worked the ninth for his fifth save. The Brewers bullpen has converted all five of its save chances this year.

Omar Olivares (1-1) took the loss. Angels 5, Red Sox 4

At Boston, Garret Anderson singled home the go-ahead run in the ninth inning for Anaheim, which had blown three leads.

Anderson's hit off Butch Henry (1-1) drove in Jim Leyritz, who doubled with Mike Holtz (2-0) got the win, and Mike James got his second save despite giving up a leadoff single to Tim Naehring in the ninth.

Rep. wants equal representation on teams

AUSTIN (AP) - Something's wrong when the percentage of minorities on a university's football team is greater than that of the school's minority student population, Rep. Harold Dutton says. The Houston Democrat on Tuesday urged a House committee to approve his bill establishing a legal presumption regarding minority enrollment at state colleges and universities with football teams.

The bill says a school's football team shouldn't have a makeup of blacks, Hispanics or other racial groups in excess of 10 percentage points above those groups' enrollment in the overall student popula-

If one of those racial groups exceeded the percentage gap, the school would be presumed to have discriminated against a minority from that group who wasn't accepted for enrollment.

For example, a school who's football team had 20 percent black athletes would be presumed to have discriminated against a rejected black applicant if the school's overall black student population was less than 11 "I find it curious when we have all white universities that have all black football teams," Dutton said. rejected by Texas colleges and "I hope it wakes people up to the whole issue."

Dutton said he's not sure of the fate of his bill, which is pending before the House Civil Practices Committee. But he said there has to be some measure of determining discrimination.

The issue arose after a federal court, dealing with questions about a former student admissions program at the University of Texas law school, ruled that race can not be a factor in school admissions.

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said last year's ruling applies to all Texas schools. He said public and private schools that accept some state funds can't consider race in any student-related decisions unless previous discrimination can be legally determined. Even then, race can be used only as a limited factor in admissions and financial aid decisions. Dutton said few minority students universities would be available to speak in favor of it.

"They will go out of state when they are rejected from Texas schools," he said. "Then we'll realize we have a crisis."

The bill would apply only to state schools with football teams. The percentages of minority students and minority football team members would be taken each September.

Pea-size hail may have harmed a few gardens in eastern parts of the county but Finch said overall, producers welcomed precipitation as an improvement from last year.

"We are setting very good right now," Finch said. "Last summer we got less than an inch and a half total. If we keep it up around four to five inches going into summer, we'll be freezes. fine."

Southwest Texas producers also welcomed the 1.2 inches of rain they received last week. Jose Pena, extension economist in Uvalde, said last year's drought left the area behind on total precipitation going into the summer. This year, they are slightly ahead.

The recent rainfall was welcomed and very well-received," Pena said. "It is the cold weather that is delaying everything. The highs right now are unheard of in this area."

Temperatures in Southwest Texas this time of year are usually about 65 degrees in the morning and 85

"Estimates of 20 to 30 million bushels of wheat was lost as a result of freeze damage," he said. "Very little wheat is headed at this time."

Robinson added cold soil temperatures and wet conditions have delayed corn planting. Almost all sugar beets have been planted, but the stands have suffered due to hard Soil moisture in the Panhandle improved with the precipitation, but Robinson said native grasses are set back as a result of the freeze.

Wheat crops in the Rolling Plains were severly affected by the freeze. Galen Chandler, district extension director in Vernon, said the overall damage is estimated at 25 percent.

"A wide range of damage is estimated - from zero to five to 100 percent damage," Chandler said.
"The variations depended upon stage of maturity, soil moisture and field locations.

Special clinics were conducted throughout the area to determine the amount of damage done by the freeze. Chandler added most fruits and vegetables have suffered, but it is still too early to evaluate the damage done

Late goal lifts
Oilers past Stars DALLAS (AP) - Edmonton's Todd Marchant scored the game-winning goal. Goalie Curtis Joseph played just as big a part in the victory.

Marchant beat Dallas defenseman Grant Ledyard on a breakaway and snapped one past Andy Moog with 7:34 left in overtime Tuesday night to give the Oilers a 4-3 victory over the Stars in Game 7 of the Western Conference quarterfinals.

The Oilers will play Western top seed Colorado in the second round.

Joseph made several big saves to keep the Oilers in the game. Then Marchant struck as the teams played 4-on-4. Ledyard slipped as he tried to stop Marchant, who beat Moog to his stick side.

"Todd Marchant caught the defense flatfooted," Oilers coach Ron Low said. "It was an unbelievable goal."

But Low knows without Joseph's stops, there would have been no overtime.

"This was incredible goaltending," Low said. "We said before the series we had to have great goaltending and we got it. That's why

Marchant said he had to move quickly. "I saw Ledyard fall out of the corner of my eye," he said. "If he hadn't fallen, he might have been able to get a stick on me but he fell and you have to be able to take advantage

Joseph made a great stop in the third period on Mike Modano to help send the game into overtime. Modano, who had two game-winning goals in the playoffs, batted down the puck and had a clear breakaway to the net only to be met by Joseph, who knocked the point-blank shot away.

"We have a great young team," Joseph said. "They had the experience but we had speed and youth on our side.'

Dallas coach Ken Hitchcock bemoaned the Stars' lost chances particularly in the overtime when they outshot the Oilers 12-to-4.

"Then won because they had a great goaltender like Joseph who kept it together," Hitchcock said. "Our inability to finish came back to haunt

Rangers to unveil new statue of Nolan Ryan Friday night

king Nolan Ryan is destined for the ball park where he didn't have a in spring 1994. chance to play.

The Texas Rangers were scheduled to unveil Ryan's statue before the Red Sox-Texas game at the Ballpark in Arlington. It will rest in the middle of Vandergriff Plaza behind center

Ryan of Alvin had his number 34

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - A retired last September. He pitched for full-size bronze of all-time strikeout Texas from 1989 to 1993.

The $195 million Ballpark opened

The statue was produced by Toby Mendez of Washington County, Md.

The unveiling will coincide with Arlington Appreciation Night. That event also took place on May 1, 1991, when Ryan pitched his seventh and final no-hitter.

Magic keep NBA title hopes alive

At Orlando, it looked like another blowout victory when the Heat took a 35-15 lead early in the second

But Orlando came back behind the play of Penny Hardaway, who scored 42 points, and third-string point guard Darrell Armstrong, who had 21.

'I think it's a series again. I think the pressure's back on them, the way we played tonight," Hardaway said. "It definitely gives us a lot of confidence to come into Game 4 and try to win that one."

The winner of the series will face New York in the Eastern Conference semifinals. The Heat denied they were looking ahead to the Knicks after getting off to the fast start.

'We didn't look past them. We came out with the intention to blow them out like we did the previous two games," Alonzo Mourning said. "No team is perfect. But I'm not worried. We know what it's going to take to win the next game and we are going to do it."

Mourning, who sat out much of the second quarter in foul trouble, led Miami with 17 points and 17 rebounds. Voshon Lenard had 14 points and Tim Hardaway scored 12, but shot only 4-for-16 for the Heat, who attempted 30 3-point shots and only made eight. Pistons 99, Hawks 91

At Auburn Hills, Mich., Grant Hill scored 24 points with eight assists and four rebounds, Lindsey Hunter scored 26 on 11-for-17 shooting _ including 4-for-5 on 3-pointers and Otis Thorpe added 16 points.

Hunter did his big damage by scoring 13 points in the second quarter, staking the Pistons to a 16-point halftime lead. Detroit closed the half with a 20-9 run as Hunter made successive 3-pointers from the right corner, a shorter jumper from the right corner and a 3-pointer from above the key.

"You kind of get a feeling when you know a guy is in a zone," said Terry Mills, who scored 17 points for Detroit. "In the second quarter, Lindsey hit one 3-pointer from three feet outside the line. I said, 'Lindsey, did you know where you were?' He said it didn't

The Hawks battled back to make it a one-point game in the fourth quarter. But the long effort of catching up clearly took its toll.

Hunter's layup off a steal put the Pistons up 89-79 with 4:16 left, and that was all the breathing room Detroit would need.

Suns 110, SuperSonics 103
At Phoenix, Wesley Person scored a playoff career-high 29 points and the Suns overcame eight 3-pointers by Gary Payton.

Rex Chapman had 23 points and Kevin Johnson had 22 points and eight assists for Phoenix, which got crucial baskets off offensive rebounds late in the game by Cedric Ceballos and Hot Rod Williams.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/ products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

--Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price. -- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condi-

-- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

-- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

'Ellen' episode airs Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) - Ellen Saturday, after a private auditor told DeGeneres' girlfriend is coming out with a revelation of her own: She was bad checks in recent years. An energy straight before the two met at a party last month.

"I was not gay before I met her," Anne Heche, 27, told Oprah Winfrey at the taping of the talk show that airs today. "It wasn't immediately a sexual attraction.

DeGeneres, 39, whose TV character tonight becomes the first homosexual lead in a prime-time show, appeared with Heche at a weekend dinner attended by President Clinton in Washington. The pair posed arm-in-arm for photographers.

The TV talk show interview was their first one as a couple.

Heche, who co-stars as the romantic lead opposite Tommy Lee Jones in "Volcano," described her first meeting with DeGeneres as magical. It took place at a party the night of the Academy Awards ceremony.

"I saw her from across a crowded room," Heche told a hushed studio audience. "I just all of a sudden felt-I'm in love with Ellen. I'm just glad I found her."

DeGeneres was brief in explaining why she decided to reveal she is a lesbian: "Because it is OK." The much-hyped "Ellen" episode airs tonight on ABC.

Heche, who appeared in the film "Donnie Brasco," is to begin filming "6 Days, 7 Nights" in July with Harrison Ford. The film will be made by Caravan Pictures for the Walt Disney Co.

Some residents have already started digging into their pockets.

Through a newly formed $500 Club, Mayor Rick Blankenship has received commitments from at least 10 people, each promising to donate $500 to the effort, Poulin said.

Others are skeptical. Marketta Davidson called it "too little, too

"That's going to have to be some kind of garage sale," she said, Frank Briscoll also doubts the city can recoup its loss through a rumfnage sale. He believes whoever is responsible for the debt should repay the town.

"They need to get that money back," he said.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Last week the House voted to allow Texans to decide whether they want a tax reform package that would reduce the local tax burden on property owners.

Before last week, the prevailing hunch in the capital city was that lawmakers would sooner jump off a skyscraper than pass a sweeping tax reform package.

But the hunch crumbled when the House voted 114-35 for an Aug. 9 statewide vote on a constitutional amendment that would allow a statewide business tax and make proceeds from the Texas Lottery go to public education. The House's action moved Texas a giant step closer to making Gov. George W. Bush's dream of property tax relief come true.

The next day, the House began to consider the actual bill (House Bill 4) that says how much property taxes will be cut and the taxes that would have to be raised to make up the difference.

"Every issue is going to be difficult, but I think we are going to hold it all together," Paul Sadler, D-Henderson and the chairman of the select committee that worked 10 weeks crafting the measure.

A list of more than 200 amendments to the tax reform bill are up for consideration. Adding to the dynamics is a petition - signed by more than 50 prominent Dallas and Houston business executives, including former Gov. Bill Clements — urging legislators to support the bill.

The tax package would raise about $4 billion over the 1998-99 biennium by expanding the business franchise tax to partnerships, ending sales tax exemptions on many goods and services and increasing taxes on alcohol, cigarettes and other items.

In its present form, the tax code rewrite would make it possible for the state to cut residential school property taxes in half and school property taxes for business by about one-third.

praisal appeals and allow elderly Texans whose school taxes have been frozen to keep getting the tax break if they move.

"Texans are losing their homes and being forced to move because of increases in their property tax rates," Cain was quoted by the Dallas Morning News. "We have checks in the law to protect against runaway tax rates, but there are no safeguards when it comes to runaway tax appraisals."

Gov. Bush said Cain's measure is "an important ingredient to make sure that property taxes, once down, stay down.

TAAS Scores Are Up 7%

The Texas Education Agency reported last week that 67 percent of 10th graders taking the Texas Assessment of academic Skills (reading, writing and math) passed all three sections of the test given in February, a seven percent increase from the previous year.

Scores for Black, Hispanic and white students improved. African-American students scored 10 percent better than last year for a passing rate of 48 percent; Hispanic students gained eight percent for a 52-percent passing rate, while white students' scores increased seven percent for an 81percent passing rate.

Other Capital Highlights

- The state attorney general's office said it will appeal an Austin judge's order for the state to pay more than $230 million for an emissions testing program canceled by Texas lawmakers.
- University of Texas President Robert Berdahl gave his farewell speech to the faculty last week. He will leave at the end of June to head the University of California at Berkeley.
- Oklahoma trucker Benjamin Herbert Doyle, 53, was executed April 21, for raping and strangling a Fort Worth-area woman more than 11 years ago. Doyle was the fifth condemned killer to be executed in Texas in April.

■ The nation's top two cigarette makers, Philip Morris and RJR Nabisco, are negotiating a settlement with eight states to get protection from lawsuits about smokingrelated health problems. But Texas isn't among them. In a letter to legislators, Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said any settlement of Texas' $14 billion lawsuit against the tobacco industry would not grant those companies immunity in future wrongdoing.

• The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service reported the number of legal immigrants settling On separate 30-0 votes, the in Texas grew to 83,385 last year state Senate last week approved the - an increase of 67 percent from Property Tax Relief Bill of Rights the previous year. # Anonymous woman donates $2,000 per flooded household

She's being celebrated throughout refugees. this city. They are even calling her saintly. And nobody knows her name.

Only that she is wealthy. Only that she has never been here and has no ties to the region that was torn an unemployed Grand Forks resident. asunder by massive flooding almost two weeks ago.

Only that she has made the anonymous pledge to give $2,000 to each household swamped when the Red River rampaged through Grand Forks and neighboring East Grand Forks, Minn. With an estimated 5,000 households eligible for payments, the pledge could cost the woman a total of $10 million.

Is it for real?

State and local officials say the checks are already being written.

"I'm going to hold on to it, get some stuff to get started, like some clothes, and then probably put the rest in the bank," said Steve Maragos, 29,

Kevin Dvorak, president of the North Dakota Community Foundation, a nonprofit corporation that is distributing the money, said the donor transferred more than $2 million into its account Tuesday.

He said between 300 and 500 payments were immediately made totaling $600,000 to $1 million.

Is there more? Time will tell. Grand Forks Mayor Pat Owens called the donation a gift from

"It is a ray of hope so we can build on our future."

Plans to distribute additional funds were being made, Dvorak said. No future disbursements will be made at shelters, and people will have 45 days to apply, he said.

The woman stipulated only that money go to people who had been affected by the flood, with a minimum of red tape.

"They need to be people who have actually suffered," Dvorak said. We're going to have to trust the people of Grand Forks and East Grand Forks to be honest about their needs."

The donor, who Dvorak would identify only as a woman living in the United States, contacted the mayors of the two neighboring cities about the donation late last week.

Initially, Dvorak and other officials wondered if the offer was a hoax. But their suspicions were subsequently dispelled. "These were very reliable people," he said.
