

Amarillo man hurt in mishap

An 18-year-old Amarillo man was seriously injured Wednesday morning in a one-car accident on Road 15 approximately four miles west of North 385.

Daniel Agurrie, was transfered from Hereford Regional Medical in "very critical" condition to Lubbock Methodist hospital. He received severe head injuries in the accident.

Investigating State Trooper Hector Dominguez said it was not known when the accident happened as there were no witnesses.

The accident was discovered by a passing motorist about 6:45 a.m. Wednesday and authorities were notified.

Dominguez said it appeared Agurrie, who was westbound on Road 15, possibly fell asleep at the wheel and awoke when his vehicle left the roadway and entered a bar ditch.

The driver apprently over corrected and swerved into the ditch on the south side of the road where the vehicle overturned, Dominguez said.

Agurrie was taken to the Lubbock trauma center by airlift after receiving initial emergency care at Hereford Regional Medical Center

Agurrie was transported to the Hereford hospital about 8 a.m. Wednesday by local Emergency Medical Services ambulance.

More could be added later Deaf Smith CRP acreage reduced

Deaf Smith County has seen a large reduction in the number of acres approved for the latest round of acceptance into the Conservation Reserve Program but more could be added later this year.

Ted Peabody, County Executive Director of the U.S.D.A. Farm Service Agency said that he expects more land to be accepted in the program when more bids are accepted later this summer or in the fall.

Under guidelines of the program which was started about a dozen years ago, Deaf Smith County could have 153,648 acres in the program and Peabody said "it's possible we could reach that, when more bids are reviewed.

The recent bidding process approved in May involved 337 offers from land already in the program with 110 of those offers accepted. There were also 137 new offers with 55 of those accepted according to Peabody.

The old acreage involved in the bidding process includes 145,586 acres under the old program which expires Sept. 30, 1997. Of that 81,475 acres will remain in the program.

Peabody said that owners of all acreage rejected in the latest round of bidding will be eligible to re-bid when the next round of offers are accepted in late summer or fall.

He said that land owners will know more about the financial aspects of the bidding process and if they are still interested in participating in the when bids are accepted again.

CRP later this year they can adjust their bids.

A point system is utilized in conjunction with the dollar bid system to determine which plots of land are accepted into the program, according to Peabody.

There are 259 environmental points assessed in the program including: erodibility, evaluation on the effects of ground cover on wildlife, air quality and erosion caused by wind.

Peabody added that he did not think the elimination of some acreage from the program would cause adverse effects with air quality of the area through erosion.

"Our farmers today are so well educated in management practices that I don't think that's a problem," Peabody said. "You will see some dust in the air but nothing to cause the street lights to shine for three days or not being able to see the top of the water tower."

He also said it would not be proper to make an assessment on what use land would be put to if not allowed back into the problem until after the bid process resumes later this year.

Approximately two thirds of land enrolled in the program between 1985 and 1996 involved whole farms and it is possible some of this could be placed back into production through a variety of programs if not approved

Crittenden said his company was ranked number one among the national program management firms by Modern Healthcare magazine, The firm offers skills in project planning organization, project definition, functional and space programming, regulatory reviev, project financing, and project design and construction.

Following his presentation, Crittenden answered specific board approximately $30,000-$35,000.

Jurors deciding McVeigh's fate will hear wrenching testimony

Judge tries to ensure ultimate result

DENVER (AP) - Jurors deciding whether Timothy McVeigh lives or dies will hear wrenching testimony about the Oklahoma City bombing, including that of a 10-year-old boy who lost his mother and a rescuer who held a hand buried in the rubble, only to feel the pulse stop.

U.S. District Judge Richard Matsch ruled Tuesday that testimony from those who survived the bombing and lost loved ones is relevant to the jury's decision on McVeigh's sentence.

But Matsch did not allow everything the prosecution wanted to present during the penalty phase that begins today, saying he hoped to avoid inflaming juror sensibilities.

He also refused to let the defense present evidence on the handling of the fatal government raid against Branch Davidians near Waco, Texas. which the defense could claim drove McVeigh to commit the worst act of terrorism on U.S. soil.

"We have to guard this hearing to ensure that the ultimate result and the jury's decision are truly a moral response to appropriate information rather than an emotional response.' Matsch said.

Prosecutors were expected to contend that the enormity of the bombing on victims and families warrants the death penalty. Defense lawyers were expected to argue that McVeigh was clouded by misguided patriotism, and should be spared.

The penalty hearing is a relatively new phenomenon in federal courts. The federal death penalty statute that applies to McVeigh has only been in effect since 1994, and nobody has been executed under it.

The same jurors who convicted the 29-year-old Gulf War veteran of murder and conspiracy Monday will decide whether he should die by injection, or receive a life sentence. The vote must be unanimous and cannot be overruled by the judge. If

He excluded highly emotional items, such as victim wedding photos, a poem by a victim's father and testimony on funeral arrangements.

McDaniel said the major changes locally will be the elimination of handling customer accounting on a local basis but with a continued emphasis on community relations and customer service.

All customer accounting questions and inquiries will be handled through the Amarillo service office.

"We just ask for a little patience on the part of customers during this change in operations," McDaniel said. McDaniel's job change will involve more economic development for the service area under his guidance. "I will have more time to devote (to economic development) but I will have a larger area to cover.' That area includes Hereford, Friona, Bovina, Dimmit, Canyon and Нарру McDaniel says community development has always been a priority of SPS but the coming changes will give him more time to do more positive things for the local communities.

The duties of McDaniel and eight other community development specialists throughout the SPS system will be devoted to full time work in this area under direction of the new manager of Community and Economic Development, Jake Webb, 36 year SPS employee who formerly served as division manager at Lubbock Eventually McDaniel will have a new local telephone number at the New York Street office so that he can be contacted by the public in regards to his new duties.

re-election decision

Bush guizzed about

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. George W. Bush says if he runs for re-election, it will be for two "compelling reasons:" continuing work on education and welfare reform.

Turning aside questions about whether he also has his eye on the presidency, the Republican governor said Tuesday he doesn't think his failed effort for an ambitious school tax overhaul will work against him with voters.

He said Texans want a governor with a strong agenda and will appreciate the tax cut that was approved by lawmakers with his support.

'I think people are going to say this is a man who set a very bold agenda and acted boldly. That's what Texans want in their leaders," he said. "We delivered the largest tax cut in the state's history.

Bill White, head of the Texas Democratic Party, disagreed, portraying Bush as an ineffectual leader.

"He started too late on tax reform and failed to deliver the votes," said White. "I think that Texans would prefer a governor who's effective."

While Republicans had a majority in one legislative chamber for the first time in more than a century, the GOP-dominated Senate failed to back a Bush-backed tax plan to cut local school property taxes by about $4 billion over the next two years. The money would have been replaced with new state taxes, budget cuts and savings.

While acknowledging he didn't get all he wanted, Bush said the state made progress in addressing education funding.

The state share of funding is increasing compared with local property taxes, he said. In addition, voters later this year will decide on a plan to spend $1 billion left over from the last two-year budget to increase homestead exemptions, cutting taxes for homeowners roughly $140 annually.

For real change to be made, Bush said, "I think it's important for people to understand that the voice of the people must resonate loudly to overcome the voices of the people who are hired to maintain the status quo

"I can't tell you how many members (of the Legislature) came into my office and said, 'Property taxes are not an issue in my district.' Some of them came into my office saying that, and I knew full well it of Forgery by making.

wasn't true. They just didn't want to listen.' Bush said some business interests that would have faced new taxes were intent on preserving the status quo, and added, "There wasn't overwhelming enthusiasm during the process from some educators and some education groups, which frankly amazed me."

Whether he runs for another four-year term, Bush said, will depend on whether he and his wife believe it would be best for their family. They have twin 15-year-old daughters.

"I can already think of two compelling reasons why" to run, Bush added.

"One is to keep the focus on education and not lose the momentum of education reform that we've had in this state," he said. He cited the 1995 overhaul of education laws designed to return more control to local school districts and this year's passage of a measure to give students more choices in the public schools they attend.

In addition, Bush said he wants to continue pushing for more changes in the welfare system.

After the state was stymied by federal officials in a far-reaching effort to let private companies run welfare programs, lawmakers approved a bill to provide for development of an alternate plan. It would give priority to more efficient automation of the system, and federal approval would be sought as needed.

Laney, Bullock, Perry study political futures

AUSTIN (AP) - House Speaker Pete Laney, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry are thinking about the future - their political futures.

Laney says he will seek another term as speaker of the Texas House, Bullock has called a news conference to discuss his future, and Perry is said to be eyeing Bullock's post.

Laney, D-Hale Center, confirmed Tuesday that he will seek a fourth term as presiding officer of the 150-member Texas House.

"I've had a lot of encouragement to run again," Laney told the Amarillo Globe-News.

Bullock, the Democratic presiding officer of the Senate, is expected to hold a Thursday news conference.

wever the Republican has shown an interest in running for the post held by the 67-year-old Bullock since 1991. Lancy had to operate under new rules in lining up support for his bid to wield the gavel for another term. Rules adopted by the House at the beginning of the session prevented potential speaker candidates from asking fellow House members to sign pledge cards during a regular session. The pledge cards are the traditional method for identifying one's supporters in a speaker's race. But the prohibition ended when the session was gaveled to a close on Monday.

the session ended to ensure Laney's re-election as speaker when the 76th session begins in January 1999.

Uher said Laney's supporters have well over 100" pledge cards and verbal commitments from about 20 other House members to back the speaker. Laney needs only a majority - 76 votes - to win the speakership again.

"I think people respect his (Laney's) fairness, his openness," Uher said. "I think they're pleased with the way he runs it.

But a change in the House membership could affect Laney's chances. The GOP fell short of its goal to win 76 seats in the House last year, but it's expected to make Perry hasn't announced his another strong bid to become the majority party in 1998.

Allstate has denied the allegation. Company spokeswoman Sharon Cooper said the premiums charged by its three subsidiaries are justified.

Ms. Cooper also said that state law does not authorize the Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer to invalidate rates and seek restitution for policyholders,

The June 18 hearing by an administrative law judge will focus on alleged overcharges for expenses Allstate incurred in the state's insurance program for high-risk drivers. The judge will issue a ruling that is subject to Bomer's approval.

The state consumer advocate for insurance has joined the department in objecting to Allstate's rates.

In a petition against the company, state regulators contend that Allstate has billed regular policyholders illegally to subsidize the high-risk driver policies that Allstate is required to sell.

"This action is brought ... to obtain an order directing Allstate to make restitution to all Texas insureds harmed by its violation of the Texas

Insurance Code," the petition stated.

The Insurance Department alleges Allstate also has been charging excessive premiums because of other improper calculations in its rates. It alleges:

- The rates are based on an excessive profit margin of 17.1 percent. Bomer ruled last year that a reasonable profit margin for auto insurers is 11.5 to 12 percent.

 Allstate's rate filing did not count as income the interest collected from customers on installment plans and unrealized capital gains on investments. Regulators said that artificially reduced Allstate's profits.

- The filing exaggerated Allstate losses in policies sold through the fexas Automobile Insurance Plan Association, which sells liability policies to high-risk drivers unable to find coverage in the regular market. Under the plan, insurers are required to sell policies based on their share of the auto insurance market in Texas. The cost of policies sold through the plan is almost double that of the state benchmark premium for a regular auto insurance policy.

Dear Ann Landers: I have not spoken to or visited my parents or my brother since last August because I feel they have forced me out of the family.

Several years ago, my parents, who are in their 80s and not in good health, designated my younger brother, "Carl," who is a lawyer, executor of their wills. Last spring, they gave him power of attorney to conduct their day-to-day financial affairs.

I live farther away from our parents and cannot visit often, but Carl and his son are there a great deal. Last fall, my father decided to sell his car to Carl's son, even though I had told him my daughter also wanted to bid on it. Later, I learned my parents had had their house painted without telling me, knowing that my unemployed son would have been happy to do it and could have used

If the dog is still conscious when he's brought in, he's anesthetized while the veterinarians spend hours cleaning the wounds, stitching and bandaging. Yesterday, a dog woke up from the anesthesia as managed to wag her little tail.

Please tell your readers never to tie their pets to a car. Dogs are so loyal and forgiving. Can't we be more careful in return? -- A.M., York, Maine

Dear A.M.: After reading your letter, I'm sure we will be. Planning a wedding? What's right?

give you control of their finances. It's their money, and they have the right to handle it as they wish. It's up to you to mend the family fences as best you can -- not just for the money but for your own peace of mind and mental health. The sooner the better.

Dear Ann Landers: I work in an animal hospital, and twice this year, dogs have been brought in with skin scraped off their feet, legs, elbows, sometimes down to the bone. It happened because they had been tethered to a car bumper and someone borrowed the car, unaware of the

Reech to coach spikers all-stars

Brenda Rech, Hereford High School girls' athletic director and head volleyball coach, has been lected as a coach for the annual allstar volleyball game at the Texas Girls Coaches Association 1997 summer clinic in Austin.

Rech will be the assistant coach of the Division 2 West team. Selected as head coach was Joni McCoy of Arlington Martin. Division 2 is composed of 4A and 5A players and includes Hereford's Danielle Cornelius, who was named to the team several months ago. Coaches for the East are Kimberley

Jones of Alief Hastings, and assistant Roslin Copeland of Langham Creek. The smaller school Division 1 All-

Star Volleyball coaches include Susan Brewer of Bellville and Norma Pullin of East Bernard for the East, and Diane Conrady of Windhorst and Salye Hall of Water Valley for the West.

Rech has been the varsity volleyball coach at HHS for the past 12 years and the girls' athletic director for the past five years. Her team captured the 4A State Championship this past season. The Lady Whitefaces have picked up several other honors along the way: Region 1-4A finalist, 4A state semifinalist in 1992, and 4A state finalist in 1995. Coach Reeh's career record is 244-106.

The All-Star game will be played on Thursday, July 10, at 8 p.m. in Burger Activity Center in Austin.

Cornelius capped an outstanding high school career with a dominating senior season, helping her team win the school's first-ever state championship and being named All-State for three years.

Cornelius was honored as the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame volleyball athlete of the year in February ceremonies in Amarillo. At the same ceremony, Reeh was honored as coach of the year.

Cornelius proved she was one of the top players in the state in 1996, recording 409 kills, 130 blocks, 99 digs and a .518 kill percentage. The 6-footer will be playing at the University of Oklahoma next season.

Joining her on the West All-Star team for Division 2 will be: Elizabeth Gruns, Arlington Martin; Ashley Williams, San Antonio Taft; Tracy Waldrep, Weatherford; Shelley Bredewater, New Braunfels; Kizzie Fleming, Lamesa; Lesley Gilbreath, Flower Mound Marcus; Ana Marie Chavez, El Paso Eastwood; Keelie Rader, Round Rock; Leslie Arnold, San Antonio Clark; Beth Huber, Smithson Valley of Spring Branch; Shauna Stahl, Austin Bowie; and Natasha Biggers, San Antonio Marshall.

NEW YORK (AP) _ San Diego's Tony Gwynn and Bobby Jones of the Mets were selected NL player and outfielder Chad Curtis to the 15-day disabled list.

The Hereford Brand, Wednesday, June 4, 1997 -- Page 5

Mets' Jones first 10 game win By Associated Press

As their win total grows, so does the New York Mets' legion of believers. They have the NL's first 10-game winner, the league's fourth-highest winning percentage and more wins than the world champion Yankees. And Wednesday night, the Mets open their most significant series in ears, a two-game set against Florida. New York trails the second-place Marlins by one-half game in the NL East.

Unbelievable.

New York continued its resurgence Tuesday night with a 2-1 win over the Montreal Expos. Bobby Jones got his league-leading 10th win when pinch-hitter Matt Franco homered and Carlos Baerga hit an RBI double in the eighth.

the first seven innings by Pedro Martinez (8-2) before rallying.

"Good teams are going to do that," said John Franco, who struck out two in the ninth for his 15th save. "We feel we're a good team, and that we can come back from one run, two pinch-hit homer.

runs down. We beat a heck of a pitcher tonight and a heck of a team."

Elsewhere in the National League, it was San Diego 5, Atlanta 2; Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 2; St. Louis 15, Colorado 4; Pittsburgh 3, Chicago 1; Houston 4, Los Angeles 3 in 10 innings; and San Francisco 9, Florida 1 in a rain-shortened game.

Jones struck out five and walked three as the Mets handed Martinez his second straight loss against them after he won his first 10 decisions against New York.

"I beat one of the best, but the more important thing is that it was a victory for the team," Jones said. "That's all it means as far as I'm concerned. I try not to get caught up in all of those statistics. I'm pleased with the way that I'm throwing and The Mets had been blanked over I have total confidence in both our offense and defense."

> The Expos took the lead in the eighth on Rondell White's RBI double. But in the bottom of the inning, Matt Franco, pinch-hitting for Jones, led off with his first career Edgardo Alfonzo singled with one out and Todd Hundley drew a two-out walk. Baerga, 7-for-10 in his career vs. Martinez, lined a double into the right-field corner to score Alfonzo. Rookie right fielder Vladimir Guerrero's strong throw from the warning track nailed Hundley at the plate.

Astros 4, Dodgers 3, 10 innings At Houston, Jeff Bagwell hit his league-leading 18th home run in the 10th to give Houston a two-game sweep.

Bagwell was 0-for-3 with three strikeouts and a walk before connecting on a 3-2 pitch from Scott Radinsky (2-1).

Mike Magnante (1-0) pitched one inning for the victory. Padres 5, Braves 2

At Atlanta, after umpires reversed a call and took away a two-run homer from Atlanta's Keith Lockhart, San Diego scored three runs in the ninth.

The Braves thought they had taken the lead in the eighth when Lockhart hit a ball into the right-field stands that rookie umpire C.B. Bucknor ruled a two-run homer.

But after the Padres surrounded Bucknor to protest, crew chief Ed Montague changed the call, and television replays showed the ball was clearly foul.

In the ninth against Mark Wohlers (2-1), John Flaherty brought home the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded groundout, then Quilvio Veras added a two-out, two-run single.

Former Brave Pete Smith (1-0) earned the win in relief. Reds 3, Phillies 2

At Philadelphia, Kent Mercker (3-5) pitched 6 1-3 strong innings and Willie Greene had an RBI double in a three-run sixth inning as Cincinnati handed Philadelphia its fifth straight

Curt Schilling (7-5) gave up three runs and five hits in six innings.

Cincinnati has won eight straight games at Veterans Stadium. Cardinals 15, Rockies 4

At St. Louis, John Mabry drove in a career-high six runs, Ron Gant had three hits and four RBIs and Royce Clayton went 5-for-6 for St. Louis. Matt Morris (3-3) gave up four runs and four hits in six innings.

Rockies rookie starter Bobby Jones (1-1) gave up six runs and eight hits in 1 1-3 innings.

Pirates 3, Cubs 1

At Chicago, Steve Cooke (5-6) allowed five hits in 7 1-3 innings and struck out five to help Pittsburgh stop Chicago's first three-game winning streak this season.

Jose Guillen broke a 1-1 tie with an RBI double in the fourth as Pittsburgh won for the fourth time in six games.

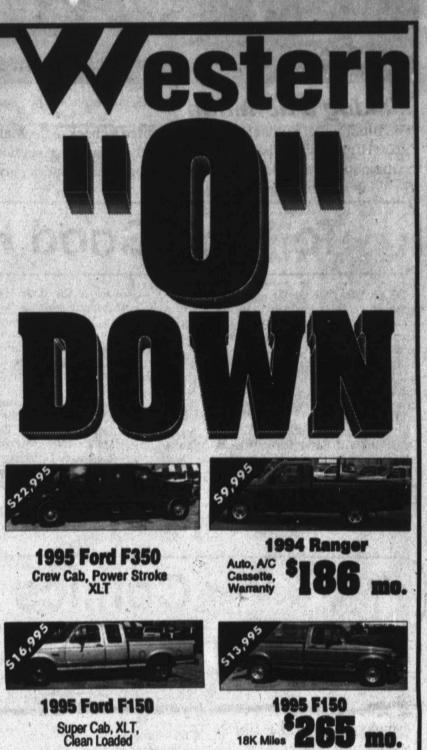

Steve Trachsel (3-5) was the loser.

Giants 9, Marlins 1, (6 innings), rain

At Miami, Bill Mueller and pitche Shawn Estes hit their first major-l homers in a game called because of rain with one out in the top of the seventh

J.T. Snow hit his second home run for the Giants, who tied a season-high with 14 hits, including 10 against Alex Fernandez (5-6). Estes (8-2) led off the Giants' six-run fifth inning with a homer. He had been 0-for-18 previously this year and 3-for-42 in his career.

Belle return haunts Indians

By The Associated Press

They booed and rang cowbells. They chanted his former nickname. They threw fake money, cups, ice, a baseball and even a pair of binoculars at their former hero.

Still, Cleveland Indians fans couldn't rattle Albert Belle.

Playing at Jacobs Field for the first time since leaving Cleveland for a megabucks deal with Chicago, Belle hit a three-run homer and two doubles to lead the White Sox over the Indians 9-5 Tuesday night.

"Out of anything you can say about the guy, he's a great player," said Jim Thome, who homered twice for Cleveland. "And I think he really loves the pressure. I really do."

The sellout crowd of 42,994 started booing Belle before his first at-bat and chanted "Joey! Joey!" a nickname he despises _ when he came to the plate.

But after flying out to center in his first two at-bats, Belle hit a three-run homer in the fifth for a 7-1 lead. He doubled in his last two at-bats, and made an obscene gesture to the crowd

"I hope they keep booing him," Guillen said. "He gets pretty excited."

Dave Martinez hit two homers and Frank Thomas added a solo shot as the White Sox handed the AL Central-leading Indians their fourth loss in five games.

Thome had a three-run shot in the fifth for Cleveland.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Oakland 9, Detroit 8; Seattle 6, Toronto 3; Milwaukee 6, Boston 4; Baltimore 7, New York 5 in 10 innings; Minnesota 5, Texas 4; and Kansas City 5, Anaheim 2.<

Twins 5, Rangers 4

At Arlington, Matt Lawton and Paul Molitor each went 3-for-5 and Rick Aguilera pitched out of trouble in the final two innings. Rich Robertson (6-3) won for the third time in his last four starts, and Aguilera got his 13th save by striking out the final batter in the eighth and ninth with runners at the corners. Will Clark went 4-for-4 and Ivan Rodriguez homered and doubled for the Rangers.

Athletics 9, Tigers 8 At Oakland, Mark McGwire hit his 22nd homer as the Athletics rallied for five runs in the seventh inning. McGwire has 10 homers in his last 19 games and 351 for his career, tying him with Dick Allen for 46th on the all-time list. Brosius hit two homers and a double for Oakland, and Aaron Small (5-1) pitched two hitless innings for the win.

Mariners 6, Blue Jays 3

At Seattle, Jay Buhner homered twice and rookie Jose Cruz Jr. hit his first major-league homer as the Mariners won their third straight. Paul Sorrento also homered for Seattle, which beat Toronto for the fourth time in five games this season. The Mariners trailed 2-0 in the fourth inning before Buhner tied it with a two-run shot off Woody Williams (1-6).

Brewers 6, Red Sox 4

At Milwaukee, Jeff Cirillo hit a two-run homer with two outs in the bottom of the ninth to lift the Brewers over Boston. Cirillo's shot completed a comeback from a 4-1 deficit and gave Milwaukee its fifth win in six games. Jesse Levis led off the ninth with a single off Heathcliff Slocumb (0-3), who retired the next two batters before Cirillo hit an 0-2 pitch over the fence in left for his fourth homer.< Orioles 7, Yankees 5

At Baltimore, Rafael Palmeiro hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the 10th as the Orioles finally beat the Yankees at Camden Yards. Jeff Reboulet hit a one-out single off Jim Mecir (0-3) before Palmeiro hit his 11th homer of the season. Randy Myers (1-2) pitched the 10th for the Orioles, who have won six straight and 12 of 14. The Orioles beat New York twice on the road last week, but went 0-9 against the Yankees at home last year.

Royals 5, Angels 2

At Anaheim, Tom Goodwin went 4-for-4 with a homer and three RBIs and Tim Belcher pitched eight strong innings as Kansas City beat Anaheim. Belcher (6-6) held the Angels to six hits. Hipolito Pichardo pitched the ninth for his ninth save.

after the final out of the game. Chicago shortstop Ozzie Guillen criticized the fans' behavior.

"Look at how much good this guy brought to this town, and the people forget that because he wants to make his living," Guillen said. "That's ignorant."

To Your Good Health

agnosed with a pituitary tumor, which has caused me to suffer from acromegaly. I underwent surgery, and the neurosurgeon was positive he removed the entire tumor. I have had subsequent brain scans, and no remaining tumor is visible. My growth hormone reading is down but still a bit elevated.

It has been suggested that I start injections with Sandostatin to eliminate most of the growth hormone. Considering the drop in growth hor-mone, is it possible that the medication is being prescribed too soon? --G.A.

ANSWER: The pituitary gland, lo-

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was di- cated at the base of the brain, secretes growth hormone, which causes children to grow to a height determined by their genetic endowment. A growth-hormone-secreting tumor of the pituitary promotes excessive childhood growth that needs to be checked.

In adults, whose bones have fused, excess growth hormone coarsens their features. The forehead bulges. The jaw juts out. Hands and feet thicken.

Within the body, unseen by the eye, the heart enlarges. Blood pressure often rises. Arthritis can develop. Headaches are common.

Your doctor wants you to take Sandostatin, a drug that turns off growth hormone synthesis.

Sandostatin has some undesirable side effects. It might cause gallstone formation and interfere with blood sugar control. However, considering the side effects of too much growth hormone, Sandostatin's side effects pale in comparison.

Besides, if no tumor is found after your next brain scan, your doctor might opt to wean you off Sandostatin and see if growth hormone levels remain low.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: When using a new recipe from one of my many cookbooks, I write a short note on the recipe - good, bad, yuck. If I want to use it again I write the name of the recipe, short description, name of book and page number on a recipe card. This card is placed in my file card recipe book, which I use most frequently.

On another card I keep hints (mostly from Heloise), another has measures hard to remember or not used often (i.e., a box of powdered sugar equals1 pound, for those of us who buy the 2-pound bag).

When clipping recipes or hints from Heloise, I tape them with clear tape to a recipe card. This saves time and also eliminates the possibility of leaving out important ingredients.

Reading your column helps to brighten my day. — Ruth McPhail, Springfield, Mo.

Hearing from you helped brighten mine. With so many great cookbooks around, your card system is sure to help that dilemma of "Which book was that wonderful recipe in?" -Heloise

TWO HINTS IN ONE Dear Heloise: Your column is one of my favorites and I continually learn at age 77. Here are a couple of hints I've found of value.

Mix instant potatoes as instructed on the box, but add a tablespoon of mayonnaise (I use low-fat) and a couple shakes of onion powder. Most people believe they're from scratch.

To butter corn on the cob, smear butter on a paper napkin or towel, wrap the corn with it, roll, and the butter will melt more easily on the corn, with no mess. - Betty Dickey, Fillmore, Calif.

Savard scheduled to speak for Hard Line Ministries

Liberty Savard of Liberty Savard Ministries in Sacramento, Calif., will be guest speaker for Hard Line Ministries at 7 p.m. Saturday at 519 Star.

Savard is an ordained minister, former pastor, speaker, accomplished writer and Bible teacher. She is the West Coast field editor for Bridge-Logos Publishing, Inc., author of "Shattering Your Strongholds" and "Breaking the Power" and has appeared on numerous television programs.

"Her book 'Shattering Your Strongholds' is a refreshing look at a truth that may be just what you need to walk in the freedom that Christ has destined for His own," Doris Huckert, of Hard Line Ministries, said.

"Liberty has uniquely blended empirical knowledge with Biblical faith principles to arrive at a 'handson' approach to the patterns and powers that hold back spiritual and

Healthier 'Tex-Mex' cooking favored

By KELLEY SHANNON Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Tamales minus the meat filling? Chile con carne prepared with ground turkey? "Refried" beans that aren't fried?

Blasphemy, you say? Not so, contend nutrition experts and a growing number of restaura-teurs who favor a healthier approach to Mexican-American cooking.

Their campaign is even evident in San Antonio, where "Tex-Mex" restaurants number in the hundreds and where gooey cheese enchiladas and white flour tortillas are dietary staples.

Advocates of "health-Mex," as some call it, want a return to cooking with more vegetables and grains, ingredients of the traditional Mexican diet, and less reliance on fatty American influences, like beef and lard.

"If they would continue cooking like our grandmothers were doing it, it's a very healthy diet," said Maria Luisa Urdaneta, an associate professor of medical anthropology at the University of Texas at San Antonio

Her bilingual cookbook "Deleites de la Cocina Mexicana" (Delights of the Mexican Kitchen), co-authored by Daryl F. Kanter, contains more than 200 recipes collected in San Antonio and the Rio Grande Valley.

It explains nutritious ways to prepare the popular regional dishes, providing basic nutrition information and American Diabetes Association exchanges for each recipe.

Among the entries are low-fat cheese enchiladas; baked flautas stuffed with mashed potatoes; and taco filling prepared with ground turkey breast. A recipe for chili con carne also uses turkey breast instead of beef.

Ms. Urdaneta and other advocates of healthier Mexican-American cooking prefer corn tortillas over white flour tortillas, which are made with shortening and lack the fiber and complex carbohydrates of corn tortillas.

"A white flour tortilla - that is a sinful thing," Ms. Urdaneta said.

Flour tortillas were popularized in what is now southern Texas and northern Mexico and evolved from a type of white bread introduced by Jewish Spaniards from the Canary Islands, according to Ms. Urdaneta's research.

The idea for her cookbook originated after Ms. Urdaneta, a registered nurse and an anthropologist, served on the Texas Diabetes

Council in the 1980s and began taking a closer look at adult-onset decreased physical activity, researchers say.

Often adult-onset diabetes, known as "Type II" diabetes, can be managed through diet and exercise.

In San Antonio, the propensity for obesity was noted in a study released in March by the Coalition for Excess Weight Risk Education in Washington

Based on research by the Centers for Disease Control, the study ranked San Antonio as the third most obese city among the nation's 33 largest metropolitan areas, behind New Orleans and Norfolk, Va.

Oldways Preservation and Exchange Trust of Cambridge, Mass., also is campaigning for a healthier Latin American diet.

In El Paso last November, the non-profit organization, working with Baylor University and the Harvard School of Public Health, issued its "Healthy Traditional Latin American Diet Pyramid."

Fruits, vegetables, beans, grains, nuts and tubers, such as potatoes, are the suggested foundation for a healthy Latin American diet. Poultry, shellfish and milk products are to be used less frequently, and meat, eggs and sweets only occasionally.

You can still eat your refried beans, it's just in moderation," said Jennifer Goetz, a research assistant with Oldways.

At Adelante Restaurant, a health-oriented Mexican food cafe in San Antonio, owners Debbie and Dan Soder proudly proclaim their establishment bans lard and beef, serves hormone-free chicken and prepares its few fried menu items in canola oil. 'That's kind of how we live. We don't really eat meat," Dan Soder said, adding, "It was a niche that we felt really wasn't explored that much in San Antonio."

Among the cafe's specialties are vegetable tacos, spinach enchiladas and cheese, bean, vegetable and sweet potato tamales.

Adelante's "refried" beans are actually mashed beans seasoned with garlic, salt, peppers and water. The restaurant serves brown rice and only whole wheat or corn tortillas.

We've had people that were kind of put out that we don't have beef, we don't have flour tortillas," Dan Soder said. "In this market, we say, 'It's not hard to find if that's what you're looking for."

The Soders have served "health-Mex" food at their cafe for 11 years. Since the early 1990s, they've diet is." noticed more restaurants in San Antonio offering health-oriented Mexican dishes, a trend they note emerged in Austin and other cities even earlier. One of the biggest misconceptions about healthier Mexican-style cooking, its proponents say, is that the food is bland.

The Soders serve up a spicy chipotle sauce, pico de gallo and a green tomatillo sauce.

"The secret in good cooking is in using fresh spices," said Ms. Urdaneta, whose cookbook stresses the use of cumin, oregeno, garlic, cilantro and the ever-important chile peppers. Likewise, Ms. Goetz of Oldways points out chiles are a staple on many a dinner table.

"There are definitely ways you can spice it up," she said. "People don't know how vast the Latin American police. Let's all be involved in policis neighborhoods.

Republicans agree to Medicare test plan with medical savings accounts could make it easier for Congress and the White House to agree on how to keep Medicare afloat for the next decade, a Republican proponent of the savings program says. After President Clinton indicated Tuesday he would not fight a limited demonstration of Medicare medical savings accounts, Republicans agreed to a test program involving 500,000 senior citizens. They had wanted the accounts made available to all 38 million Medicare beneficiaries.

"I don't believe there are any deal-breakers left out there," said

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Rep. Bill Thomas, R-Calif., chairman McCurry said, "We'll watch closely compromise to limit experimentation of the House subcommittee that how they develop anything related to oversees Medicare.

However, some congressional Democrats still fear that medical savings accounts could be a boon to wealthy, healthy people who rarely use their health insurance, while driving up costs for those who are poorer or sicker and must stay in the traditional Medicare program.

"Republicans have decided ... that only the very healthy should be able to participate and only the wealthy should benefit," said House Minority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo. White House spokesman Mike a pilot project or demonstration program.

In the experiment Republicans have outlined, a test group of senior citizens could choose to take their entire Medicare benefit as a cash voucher and use the money to buy health insurance that would cover the same basic services as Medicare but have a deductible of up to $6,000. They could then combine the leftover government money with their own contributions to a tax-exempt savings account used to pay uncovered medical bills.

"People will consume as much health care as other people are willing to pay for," said Thomas. "The key to a successful program is an informed consumer making a decision based on the amount of money we have available."

The GOP plan begins to flesh out the details of a 12 percent cut in Medicare's projected spending - the biggest piece of the agreement that President Clinton and congressional leaders reached on balancing the budget by 2002.

The savings would mainly come from reducing payments to hospitals and other health care providers though managed care plans were largely spared the ax in an effort to make them more attractive to senior citizens.

Monthly premiums paid by those on Medicare would go up by at least a $1 more a year than previously planned.

The $115 billion in savings, however, would preserve Medicare's ability to pay its bills only until 2008. Both parties agree an independent bipartisan commission should start work on solutions to keep it solvent for the long term - especially considering the upcoming retirements of 70 million baby boomers.

Still, Thomas called his plan a good start, going further than the Clinton administration has proposed in giving Medicare beneficiaries managed care options - something Republicans view as key to long-term cost savings.

Currently, about 12 percent of people on Medicare use managed care plans called HMOs, which coordinate specific doctors and hospitals and receive fixed monthly payments for each patient, regardless of the amount of care.

The GOP plan would set up a new system to make it easier for senior citizens to try a greater variety of managed care plans.

From 1998 through 2000, seniors would enjoy an open enrollment

Coleman's largest employer moving plant to Amarillo

COLEMAN, Texas (AP) - The sawdust and metal filings are still flying at Stempel Manufacturing, but soon the saws will be silent.

The silence will signal that Coleman's longtime, largest employer is gone.

Stempel decided late last year to move its plant and headquarters to Amarillo to accept a $3.85 million incentive package that Coleman couldn't hope to match.

Headquarters is already operating out of Amarillo, but about 50 employees are still manufacturing office products such as marker boards, clipboards and furniture here.

The only difference is everything they produce goes to Amarillo rather than being shipped from here nationwide as it was for most of three Coleman that was feared. decades.

the company if they wanted to move lot of retired people and even some to Amarillo. But very few accepted the offer.

Linda Hall, who described her job as receptionist, courier and housekeeper for what's left of Stempel, estimated that only about a dozen employees have moved to Amarillo. Most of them worked in headquarters, she said.

"Most of the employees chose to stay here because of their families," she said. That was the case for Hall, who has three children in school.

"My mom (Bobbie Franklin) worked here 25 years before she retired (in 1992). It's been a real good thing for Coleman for a long time, and I hate to see it go," she said. Hall figures - at least she hopes - she'll be one of the last employees laid off "because I'll have to clean it up after everyone leaves so they can sell the building." The company's welding operation in Santa Anna already has closed, she said.

Hall agreed with Coleman Chamber of Commerce Manager Mary Griffis that the Stempel move has not caused the mass exodus from

We know a few moved, but most Jerry McGuire, president and chief executive officer, said in December that all of Stempel's approximately 200 employees would have a job with from the Metroplex who can do their work from home (by computer)."

but didn't move from Coleman, she said. Stempel's move angered Coleman civic leaders who were helpless to match Amarillo's attractive offer. The agreement with Amarillo supplies Stempel with a $1.5 million grant, a $1.1 million no-interest six-year loan, and a $1.25 million loan for 20 years at 6 percent interest.

In addition, the company is moving into five buildings with a total of 258,000 square feet near downtown Amarillo. That's about twice the space Stempel has here, but that wasn't the main problem.

McGuire claimed the city of Coleman was uncooperative in providing proper infrastructure, such as water pressure, reliable power supply, trash removal and fiber optics.

City officials countered that the Stempel demands were unrealistic in light of the city's longtime cooperation and that Stempel had already made up its mind to leave.

The Bes

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government banned the use of virtually all slaughtered-animal parts in U.S. livestock feed Tuesday because of links to "mad cow disease."

That disease, bovine spongiform encephalopathy, caused public panic when the British government announced last year that a new version of a fatal human brain illness might have been caused by eating infected beef.

The U.S. government insists it has found no signs of mad cow disease in American cattle.

Animals can get the brain disease by eating the tissue of other infected animals - so the Food and Drug Administration issued the long-expected ban to ensure that U.S. livestock remain disease-free.

If a BSE case ever were discovered here, the ban would prevent the disease from spreading through feed, the FDA declared.

The FDA first proposed in January that no cows, sheep or goats eat feed made from ground cows, sheep, goats, deer, elk or mink - species known to be vulnerable to the diseases that cat holes in the brain. Putting these "ruminant" products in animal feed not only recycled otherwise unusable parts of slaughtered animals, it added protein.

The FDA's final rule extended the ban to using any mammalian protein except pure pork or horse, which are not known to get the brain illnesses. The U.S. livestock industry announced last year that it was voluntarily banning ruminant proteins in cattle feed. Still, the National Renderers Association supported the FDA ban Tuesday as helping calm public fears and putting "a protective blanket around the cattle industry." The ban goes into effect in 60

chicken or hog feed. Animal blood, gelatin and milk also can continue to be used in feed, because there is no evidence these products can transmit the brain diseases.
