Heavy snowfall covers city, area

And May is just around the corner!

Most Hereford and area residents were shocked to see a blanket of white this morning, after a surprise April snowfall covered the ground. Power outages, motor vehicle accidents, and a late start of public school classes were caused by the weather. Up to 10 inches of snow was reported in some parts of the county by mid-morning.

A surprise snowfall blanketed Hereford and the Deaf Smith County area early this morning with five inches recorded on the ground by 7 a.m. and a forecast calling for a possible 12 inches of snow before the precipitation ends today.

According to a report from the National Weather Station in Amarillo this morning, most of the snowfall was in the three-county area of Deaf Smith, Randall and Oldham counties. A report of 10 inches of snow came in from 10 miles northwest of Hereford this morning.

The weather caused Hereford public schools to start an hour late this morning. The NWS forecast for today called for more snow and rain during the day with a high in the mid 40s. East to northeast wind was clocked at 15 to 25 mph and gusty.

The snow and slush was contributing to a number of minor accidents and some electric lines were reportedly snapped. Electricity was affected briefly in some areas of the city, and KPAN Radio was off the air for a time this morning.

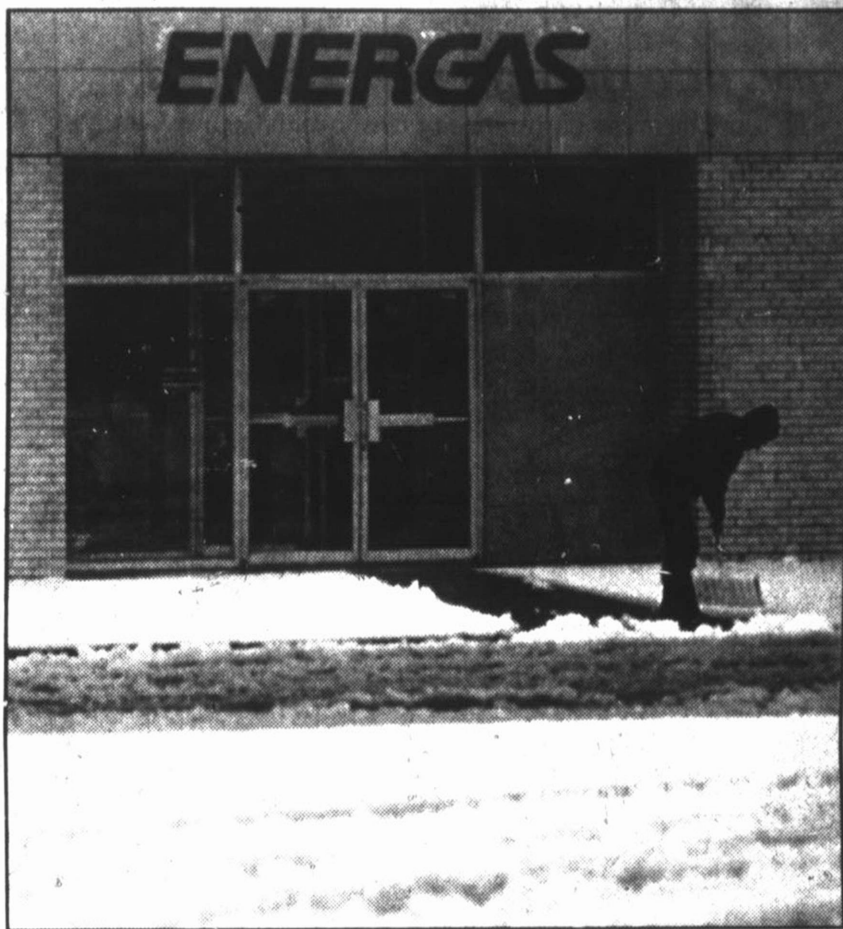

A number of rural homes were without electric power this morning. There was one report of a tree limb breaking under the weight of the snow and falling on a car in the 500 block of Westhaven. Trucks were reported sliding off the highway on N. US-385 this morning.

More rain was in the forecast. Some heavy rainfall is expected tonight and temperatures are expected to be in the mid 30s. Saturday's forecast also called for cloudy skies and a 70 percent chance of rain. Rain chances are to diminish to 40 percent Saturday night.

A warming trend is expected

Sunday with a high of 60 to 65 and predicted. The longrange forecast is for partly cloudy skies Monday with a high of 65 to 70, and sunny and warmer Tuesday with a high in the mid 70s.

It may be a record!

Hereford and area residents awoke Friday to what may be a record snowfall for this time of the year. Five inches had been recorded by 7 a.m. and a possible 12 inches was in the forecast. Businesses were shoveling off sidewalks and cars were slipping and sliding on the slushy snow.

Early voting for May 3 election scheduled to close Tuesday

By TOMMY WELLS
Managing Editor

Those persons who want to cast their ballots early for the upcoming City elections had better not procrastinate too long or the clock will strike midnight on their plans.

Early voting for the election is slated to end on April 29. Persons wanting to vote early for the May 3 election should go to the County Clerk's office in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse and fill out their ballot prior to 5 p.m. on Tuesday. Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland urged voters who intended to cast ballots early not to wait until the last minute.

The only position being contested in the City elections is the Place 1 Commissioner's seat where incumbent Sylvana Juarez is being challenged by Mary Carrillo.

According to the District Clerk's records, early voting turnout has been light - with just 84 persons casting a vote in the city races.

The busiest of the early voting races thus far has been the one to fill the three at-large bids on the hospital board. As of Thursday evening, 104 persons had cast their ballots for the five candidates seeking office.

Joining incumbent Mal Manchec in running for the Deaf Smith County Hospital Board of Directors is Peggie Fox, Chip Guseman, Bryan Hedrick and Chris Leonard.

There are three places being contested in the HISD voting, including District 1, 3 and 6.

Running for re-election is District 1 is Karen Sherrod. She is being opposed by Angie M. Alonzo. Incumbent Randy Tooley is facing a challenge from Mark Landrum in the District 3 race, while five persons are vying for the District 6 place, including Lloyd Ames, R.L. Johnson, Linda Minchew, Norman Smith and Dorie Wimberly.

Only 54 early votes had been cast in the school board race as of Thursday evening. Ruland indicated.

Four allegedly planned bombing to divert attention from robbery

BRIDGEPORT, Texas (AP) - The sprawling industrial target of a bombing allegedly planned for next week stands just 300 yards from Dawn Fuller's front door.

Until this week, when the FBI accused four people of scheming to blow up the natural gas processing plant as cover for an armored-car heist, the mother of three was never afraid of the tank farm.

"Now, we will be," she said Thursday. "What bothers me the most is they (the suspects) should have known that children live here. There are toys in the front yard. If I could, I would move."

Ms. Fuller was one of many residents on edge in this town of 3,800 people a 90-minute drive northwest of Dallas.

On Wednesday, the FBI said the three men and one woman planned to bomb the Mitchell Energy & Development Corp. gas processing plant to divert attention from their robbery of an armored car they believed would be carrying $2 million to a bank in nearby Chico. As described by a confidential informant, the attack would take place on May 1, the FBI said.

Authorities said at least one of the four arrested Tuesday, Edward Taylor Jr., was a known member of a faction of the Ku Klux Klan.

The four, who were ordered held without bail, planned several

Escapee arrested in San Angelo

Robert Garcia Vera, who escaped from a supervised county jail work program in 1995, was arrested early this morning in San Angelo, the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office reported.

Vera was working on a Supervised Prisoner Alternative Work (SPAW) program when he escaped on Sept. 29, 1995. He was working at the hospital when he faked an illness and requested permission to go to the restroom.

The Deaf Smith Sheriff's office was assisted in the investigation by the San Angelo and Abilene departments and by the Texas Rangers. Vera is being held in San Angelo, where other charges are pending.

CofC to hold city-wide garage sale on July 19

By TOMMY WELLS
Managing Editor

Need a few extra bucks?

Got a few items hanging around that you don't really need anymore?

If you answered yes to the first two questions, then Hereford may have the project for you - a giant garage sale and craft show.

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Retail Committee will hold a City Wide Garage Sale/sidewalk sale/craft show extravaganza on July 19, 1997, throughout the community as a way to attract visitors and customers to the community. The event, according to Chamber executive vice president Don Cumpton, could draw thousands of garage sale junkies and shoppers to the city.

"I'm excited about it. It's been successful in other communities, and our retail committee wanted to try and do it here," Cumpton said, adding that the Chamber of Commerce was asking everyone who was planning to hold a garage sale to wait until July 19 so as to benefit from the project.

Cumpton indicated the Chamber of Commerce planned to promote and spur interest in project by heavily advertising it within a 50-60 mile radius.

"We're trying to get as many people here as we can and try to attract as many out-of-towners to come to Hereford and Deaf Smith County to shop and spend the day."

Cumpton said those persons waiting until July 19 would be rewarded for their patience in several ways, including a high volume of people in town to do nothing else but browse garage sales. Garage sale vendors who registered with the city would also be listed on a map and brochure that will be passed out to all visitors telling them exactly where they want to go.

"We're hoping we can attract a good number of people to town," Cumpton stated.

Tweet, tweet goes the violin

Dawn Harms, concert pianist and former member of the Harrington String Quartet, put on a bird suit and performed several musical pieces for the students at Tierra Blanca Primary School on Thursday. Ann Saslav, concert pianist, joined Harms at the performance. The duo also played at Bluebonnet Intermediate School and Hereford High School.

"Don't wait until the last day," he said. "Everybody always seems to wait until the last day then they have to stand in line just like they would have if they had voted regularly. They aren't saving anytime if the wait," he added.

Persons who will be voting on May 3, can do so from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on May 3 at the Hereford Community Center. All regular voting for the three races facing voters - city, hospital board and school board - will be held at the Community Center.

Three offices are being filled by the election, including the Mayor position and the County Commissioner seats for Place 1 and 3.

Voter won't have to dwell too long on two of the races. Incumbent Mayor Bob Josseland and Place 3 Commissioner Tom Conaway are both running unopposed.

News Digest

AUSTIN (AP) - Insurance companies could not refuse to insure a home because of its age or value under a new measure proposed by Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer.

The plan, to be detailed in the May 6 issue of Texas Register, could be adopted as early as 30 days after publication.

The proposed rules would allow insurers to deny coverage based on a home's physical condition, including its wiring, plumbing, roof, heat and air conditioning.

"The condition of a home, whether it be new or older construction, plays a much more significant role in the cost of insurance," said industry spokesman Jerry Johns, of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service. "Such things as antiquated electrical wiring or bad plumbing pose a greater potential for loss."

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. George W. Bush appointed five delegates to join his wife in representing Texas this Sunday at President Clinton's "Summit for America's Future" in Philadelphia.

The summit, chaired by General Colin Powell, is designed to encourage volunteers and communities to help children.

Bombing was act of terror, Assistant U.S. Attorney said

DENVER (AP) - Timothy McVeigh blew up the Oklahoma City federal building with a truck bomb to unleash his hatred for the government and see "blood flow on the streets of America," a prosecutor said today.

"In plain, simple language, it was an act of terror," Assistant U.S. Attorney Joseph Hartzler told jurors in his opening statement. "The man committing this act is sitting in this courtroom behind me and he is the one who committed this."

"The truck was there to impose the will of Timothy McVeigh on the rest of America and to do so ... by murdering innocent men, women and children in hopes of seeing blood flow on the streets of America."

Jurors listened attentively as the prosecutor, who has multiple sclerosis, delivered his soft-spoken narrative from a wheelchair, leaning forward to speak into a microphone.

Hartzler said on the day of the bombing McVeigh was wearing a T-shirt that bore the phrase, "The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants."

"You'll see that T-shirt. Instead of fruit, the tree bears a depiction of droplets of scarlet red blood."

Inside McVeigh's car, federal agents found a large, sealed envelope that contained photocopies of magazines and newspapers, the prosecutor said.

"They will give you a window into McVeigh's mind. They'll enable you to see his intention ... and to know the twisted motive behind this deadly offense."

He said the car also contained slips of statements quoting "The Turner Diaries," a fictional account of an attack on a federal building that is eerily similar to the Oklahoma City bombing.

"The bombing in the book served as a blueprint for McVeigh," Hartzler said. "These documents are virtually a manifesto declaring McVeigh's intention."

McVeigh, wearing a blue plaid shirt, showed little reaction in court, sometimes leaning forward on his elbows, then leaning back in his chair.

The 29-year-old Gulf War veteran could face the death penalty if convicted of murder and conspiracy in the worst act of terrorism on U.S. soil: the April 19, 1995, blast that killed 168 people and injured hundreds more.

The government raid two years earlier on the Branch Davidian compound near Waco, Texas, was "more than just a tragedy to McVeigh," Hartzler said.

The prosecutor said McVeigh already harbored distrust of the government and opposed taxes and gun control laws, and his visit to Waco during the standoff "really sparked his anger."

"He told people the government deliberately murdered people," the prosecutor said, adding that McVeigh described Waco as the "government's declaration of war against the people."

Hartzler said McVeigh selected April 19 "to avenge deaths that occurred at Waco." It also is the date the opening shot was fired in Concord and Lexington to begin the Revolutionary War.

"He envisioned he would bring liberty to this nation," Hartzler said. "Well, this was not just talk for McVeigh. He was ready for action. He knew from literature how to make a bomb and how to get the ingredients."

Hartzler said McVeigh and co-defendant Terry Nichols, who is to be tried later, "became friends in part because they both shared a distaste for the federal government."

In detail, the prosecutor explained how they worked together to get materials to build the fuel oil and fertilizer bomb.

Business expansion

BOMBING

secondary explosions to kill law-enforcement officials responding to an initial bomb threat, FBI agent Robert Garrity said.

The suspects had already collected bomb-making materials and had set off trial explosions, the FBI said.

Authorities refused to describe the political bent of the group, which had been under surveillance for about six weeks after police received a tip from the informant. Agents decided to act Tuesday when the informant reported that the group planned to rob a drug dealer, and the FBI feared the dealer might be killed.

Taylor, 34; Shawn Dee Adams, 37; his wife, Catherine Dee Adams, 35; and Carl Jay Waskom Jr., 34, were charged with federal conspiracy to commit robbery. Further charges are possible, officials said.

Few details about the four were available on Thursday.

Adams had worked at Nemo's Tattoos and Piercing in Arlington for three years, said Ray Angel, the shop's owner.

He said he was shocked to hear the allegations about his employee, whose forearms Angel had tattooed with a bronze bracelet and a dragon wrapped around a dagger.

"This guy knows how to get along with people," said Angel, who met Adams 15 years ago when the two were high-school students attending "The Rocky Horror Picture Show."

Adams had served in the Air Force and Mrs. Adams had worked at United Parcel Service, he said.

Outside Bridgeport in the nearby town of Boyd, neighbors of the Adamses described them as quiet, with Mrs. Adams a pleasant woman who volunteered to baby-sit.

"She was pleasant, but I only saw her husband once," said a woman who lives across the street from the couple's double-wide trailer.

However, none of the neighbors would identify themselves. Some feared reprisals.

"I think this thing is a lot bigger than we've heard," said a next-door neighbor. "I think they mean business."

Rubella not just a childhood disease

ATLANTA (AP) - Rubella, long considered a childhood disease, struck mostly teen-agers and adults over the past three years.

People 15 and older accounted for more than 80 percent of the 567 rubella cases reported from 1994 to 1996 in 32 states, the District of Columbia and New York City, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said Thursday.

"It used to be a childhood disease until we started the vaccinations," said Dr. Susan Reef, a CDC epidemiologist. "Now, we're seeing it shift."

Most of those who got rubella, also known as German measles, in the past three years were born outside the United States in countries without a vaccination program, Ms. Reef said. And some American-born baby boomers may have missed out on the shots, she said.

A rubella vaccine was developed in 1969, when 57,686 cases were reported nationwide. The average number of cases for the last four years has been 183 per year. The vaccine prevents rubella in 95 percent of those inoculated.

Rubella, spread through coughs and sneezes, may first show up as a pink rash on the face that spreads to the chest, arms and legs. It also can cause a mild fever and joint pains in women.

Rubella usually runs its course in a few days. But it can cause birth defects such as cataracts and hearing and heart trouble in babies born to women who become infected with pregnant.

Once people have rubella, they usually become immune to it.

Between 1994 and 1996, 12 U.S. babies were born with congenital rubella syndrome.

"It is very important to get the vaccination because of the devastating effects of the rubella syndrome," Ms. Reef said.

Ann Landers

Dear Readers: One of the most frequently requested essays since I have been writing this column is "The Station" by Robert Hastings. That talented writer passed away recently, but his work will be read and appreciated for many years to come. What follows will be familiar to many of you. I believe it was his best. The Station by Robert J. Hastings

Tucked away in our subconscious minds is an idyllic vision in which we see ourselves on a long journey that spans an entire continent. We're traveling by train, and from the windows, we drink in the passing scenes of cars on nearby highways, of children waving at crossings, of cattle grazing in distant pastures, of smoke pouring from power plants, of row upon row of cotton and corn and wheat, of flatlands and valleys, of city skylines and village halls.

But uppermost in our minds is our final destination -- for at a certain hour and on a given day, our train will finally pull into the station with bells ringing, flags waving and bands playing. And once that day comes, so many wonderful dreams will come true. So restlessly, we pace the aisles and count the miles, peering ahead, waiting, waiting, waiting for the station.

"Yes, when we reach the station, that will be it!" we promise ourselves. "When we're 18 ... win that promotion ... put the last kid through college ... buy that 450 SL Mercedes-Benz ... pay off the mortgage ... have a nest egg for retirement."

From that day on, we will all live happily ever after.

Sooner or later, however, we must realize there is no station in this life, no one earthly place to arrive at once and for all. The journey is the joy. The station is an illusion -- it constantly outdistances us. Yesterday's a memory; tomorrow's a dream. Yesterday belongs to history; tomorrow belongs to God. Yesterday's a fading sunset; tomorrow's a faint sunrise. Only today is there light enough to love and live.

So, gently close the door on yesterday and throw the key away. It isn't the burdens of today that drive men mad, but rather the regret over yesterday and the fear of tomorrow.

"Relish the moment" is a good motto, especially when coupled with Psalm 118:24: "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it."

So stop pacing the aisles and counting the miles. Instead, swim more rivers, climb more mountains, kiss more babies, count more stars. Laugh more and cry less. Go barefoot more often. Eat more ice cream. Ride more merry-go-rounds. Watch more sunsets. Life must be lived as we go along. Copyright 1986 by the Southern Illinois University Press.

Dear Ann Landers: You recently asked why so many World War II marriages lasted when the couples barely knew each other. Here's my answer after 54 years with my wife.

"Sally" arrived in Washington, D.C., from Massachusetts in April 1941, along with thousands of young people who came to work for the U.S. Navy. I had arrived the previous February from Brooklyn. We met on her first day at work. She was Catholic. I was Jewish. I joined the Army in July 1942. We married the following January.

The wartime separations and adversities bound us together forever. We needed love and security in those difficult times and found it in one another.

We have three children and four grandchildren. Our marriage endured because we communicated, cooperated and loved one another. -- Bill, Clearwater, Fla.

Dear Bill: Beautiful. Your "answer" was right on. Long may you love.

Rockets bounce T'Wolves in playoff opener

HOUSTON (AP) - Minnesota controlled Houston's big three in the first half. It was the other two Rockets' starters who burned the Timberwolves.

Mario Elie and Matt Maloney combined for 25 points in the first half, and the Rockets went on to spoil the Timberwolves' playoff debut, 112-95 Thursday night.

Elie and Maloney totaled three more points in the opening half than Houston's star trio of Charles Barkley (10 points), Hakeem Olajuwon (eight) and Clyde Drexler (four).

Thanks to the outside shooting of the unsung starters, Houston took a 61-48 halftime lead that Minnesota couldn't overcome in the second half.

"We have three great players that take a lot of pressure off the rest of us," Elie said. "They were doubling down and I took a lot of threes because I knew they were doubling down.

"I was getting a lot of good looks at the basket and my teammates were looking for me. They pretty much have to double those three big guys."

Maloney was 4-of-5 from 3-point range in the first half, when he scored 12 of his 14 points. Elie scored 13 of his team-high 21 points in the first half. Both players finished 4-of-7 from long range.

"Mario does an outstanding job all the time. He keeps up constant pressure," Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "I would not have liked to play against him."

Winning the opener of the best-of-5 series bodes well for the Rockets, who are 15-0 in playoff series when they win the first game.

Olajuwon had 18 points and 11 rebounds before leaving the game with 5:36 left after poking himself in the eye. Barkley finished with 15 points and 11 rebounds for the Rockets, who outrebounded Minnesota 58-36.

"They kicked the hell out of us on the boards," Wolves coach Flip Saunders said.

Rookie Stephen Marbury led the Timberwolves with 28 points. Kevin Garnett added 21 for Min-

The Rockets went on an 18-7 run over the final 3:55 of the second quarter to take command. Barkley scored the final seven points of the period.

"In that second quarter they hit some great shots and we just went into little bit of a slump," Marbury said. "When they make shots like that, there's nothing you can do about it. We can adjust some things (in Game 2) Saturday but mostly we've got to hope they miss those threes."

Maloney had two 3-point baskets, while Elie and Barkley each had one during the Rockets' charge.

"We tried to contain Hakeem, Drexler and Charles," Saunders said. "I thought the defense in the first half did that, but then Elie, and Maloney and (Eddie) Johnson came in and made some big shots. Then they hit some threes and that put a lot of pressure on us."

The Rockets' bench made a key contribution. Kevin Willis scored 15 points and Johnson had 13 to lead the Houston reserves, who outscored Minnesota's subs 36-23.

Minnesota came out cold in the third quarter, scoring only seven points over the first 5:29 of the period, all by Garnett.

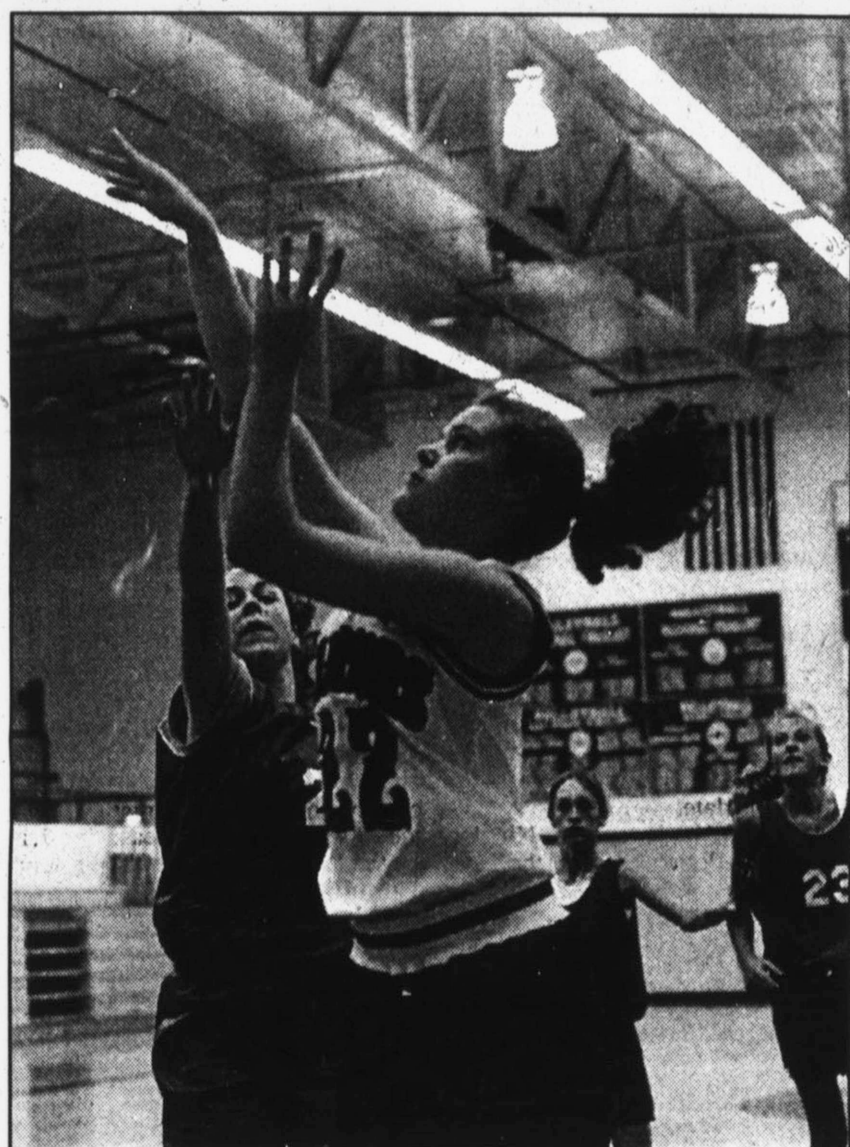

The Rockets led 31-25 at the end of the first period despite 12 points by Marbury.

Notes: Houston is making its 12th playoff appearance in 13 years and its fifth in a row. ... In four seasons as head coach, Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich has won two NBA titles and ranks eighth in playoff winning percentage. ... Minnesota had a 22-8 record this season when scoring 100 or more points and an 18-34 record when scoring under 100 points. ... Minnesota ranked second in the NBA behind the Lakers in blocked shots average of 6.79 per game. ... The Timberwolves rallied to win 17 games after trailing in the fourth quarter. They were 11-5 in games decided by three or fewer points.

Herd thinclads to compete at regional

By TOMMY WELLS
Managing Editor

The Hereford Whiteface and Lady Whiteface are going to San Angelo in hopes of finding the track and field world's yellow brick road - or to be more precise, a trip to Austin and the University Interscholastic League's state track meet.

In all nine Hereford athletes are scheduled to compete in the Region 1-4A Track and Field Championships to be held today and tomorrow at the Angelo State Multi-Purpose Center. The event is scheduled to begin this afternoon at 2 p.m. with the field events. The running preliminaries will start at 6:30, with the 3,200-meter run finals taking place at 8:30 p.m.

The top two finishers in each event at the Region 1-4A Track Meet will advance to the state meet, which is set for May 9-10 in Austin.

Henry Hernandez is one of the Whitefaces' top candidates to find a ticket to the state meet. The HHS standout posted the best effort among 4A competition in the Panhandle this season in the pole vault by clearing 12-6.

The Hereford 400-meter relay squad should also be a medal threat when they take to the cinder. Stephen Cloud, Miguel Carrillo, Mark Rodriguez and Hernandez combined to become one of the top sprinting units in the state. The foursome are one of the fastest teams going into the meet, qualifying with a mark of 43.22 seconds.

Carrillo will also have a shot at an individual trip to Austin. He will compete in the 300-meter hurdles.

C.J. Kubacak and Michael Hicks will compete in the 110-meter hurdles and shot put, respectively.

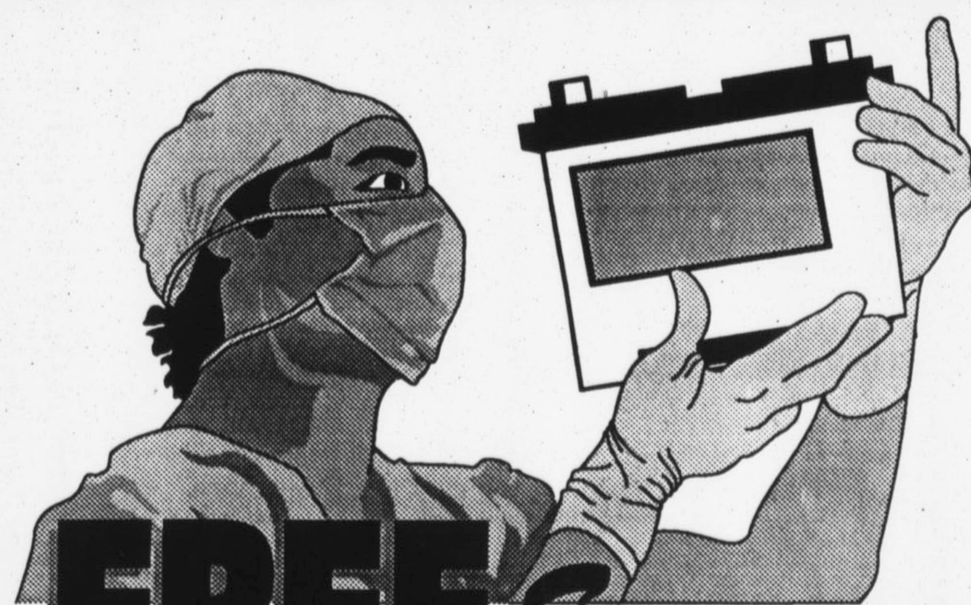

The HHS 1,600-meter relay squad will also run.

On the girl's side of the ledger, the Lady Whitefaces' hopes will hang on the efforts of Kristin Fangman and Jamie Harrison - both of whom will be making appearances in two events.

Fangman is slated to compete in the 100-meter hurdles and the 200-meter dash.

Modano, Stars hope they have finally gained the momentum over Oilers

DALLAS (AP) - Momentum has been an elusive concept in the first-round playoff series between the Dallas Stars and Edmonton Oilers.

The teams have gone 1-1 on their respective home ice heading into Friday night's Game 5 at Reunion Arena.

The Stars hope Tuesday night's 4-3 victory in Edmonton will provide the opening they need to take control of a series that has been far tougher than most experts predicted.

Dallas began the playoffs as the second seed in the Western Conference and swept all four games from Edmonton in the regular season. But the seventh-seeded Oilers have used their young legs and aggressive style to earn the Stars' respect.

"I don't think either team has the momentum yet," Stars coach Ken Hitchcock said after Thursday's workout. "Neither team can get a handle on each other's game. You're trying to gain inches on the ice. We feel we've had long stretches of good play from our team, but we still don't have control. It's still up for grabs."

The Oilers thought they had taken the initiative last Sunday at Edmonton Coliseum when they rallied for three goals over a span of 1:56 during the final four minutes of regulation to send the game into overtime. Then they stunned the Stars on Kelly Buchberger's goal for a 4-3 decision.

But the Stars evened the series with Tuesday's gritty performance, allowing. Two of the last three games are at Reunion Arena.

"Game 3 was really tough to swallow, but we came back and played well in Game 4," Stars center Mike Modano said. "We're happy with our position. We went up there to get one and get home ice back and we did that. We've got two of three here, so we're happy about our chances right now. We can't let them get their foot in the door."

Oilers coach Ron Low stirred up a controversy following Game 4 when he accused the Stars of strong-arm tactics to intimidate Oilers goaltender Curtis Joseph. Low suggested the Oilers might be forced to retaliate against Dallas goalie Andy Moog.

Twice during Tuesday night's game, Stars players crashed into Joseph in the crease on scoring attempts. Dallas captain Darian Hatcher bumped into Joseph following an unsuccessful breakaway, and later Joe Nieuwendyk banged into Joseph, causing Joseph to lose his facemask. Hatcher was not penalized, but Nieuwendyk received a minor for roughing.

"To me, it looks like an obvious plan to run at our goalie," said Low, who later added, "I think Moog is a lot smaller than Curtis, and if anyone ever runs over him, he might not get up. I guess we'll have to throw pucks into the crease and go look for them. Bang and crash."

The Stars dismissed Low's comments as a motivational ploy. "It's a good diversionary tactic, part of the game, something that provides a little diversity for everybody," Hitchcock said. "Ron's protecting his territory, which is his goaltender. I'd do the same thing if something happened that I didn't like."

"There were situations in Game 1 and 2 where we felt that Andy was interfered with. It's certainly not part of our team's tactics. It's nothing we talk about as coaches. Those days are back in the '60s and '70s, back in junior hockey. It's not part of the game anymore."

Moog, a member of three Stanley Cup-winning Edmonton teams in the '80s, refused to be drawn into the controversy. "It's part of the game. As far as I'm concerned, I've still got to play the game and stop the puck. It's an intense battle out there. People get wrapped up in the emotion and stuff happens. You've got to be prepared."

Nobody has to remind the defense-oriented Stars that they need to protect their 5-foot-8 goalie.

"We've tried to do that all season long," defenseman Craig Ludwig said.

Foreman says he'll retire if he really gets 'beaten'

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Boxing Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - Talk of retirement is in the air as Texan George Foreman awaits his fight against former sparring partner Lou Savarese Saturday night at the Convention Center.

The talk appears to be word games.

"I'd quit if I truly lost... If some guy runs around the ring and the judges give him the decision, no way I'll quit," Foreman said.

"If Lou Savarese can't beat George Foreman, I'll retire," said Tommy Gallagher, trainer of the 31-year-old Lou Savarese. "Lou Savarese can fight and I don't know where the perception came from that he's just an opponent. This is a gift. The guys in Las Vegas know that."

Savarese, unbeaten but relatively unknown and untested in top-level competition, was a 7-5 favorite to win the 12-round bout that will be televised by HBO beginning at 10 p.m. EDT.

"Is it 7-5 Lou Savarese is going to meet George Foreman in the center of the ring and go toe-to-toe with me?" Foreman asked. "No way - he's going to run and cry and say, 'George don't hurt me.'"

Savarese is a power-puncher (36-0, 30 knockouts) but he knows it's dangerous to play the power game with Foreman (75-4, 68 knockouts).

He seems to sense that Foreman Savarese, who as a sparring partner helped Foreman prepare for his second-round knockout of Adilson Rodriguez in 1990 and for his 10-round decision over Alex Stewart in 1992. "He'll do everything not to expend energy."

Going back

Hereford's Moses Diaz says retirement isn't in his future - if his wife agrees. Diaz, shown here in last weekend's Toughman Contest in Amarillo, says he would like to continue his boxing career in the upcoming Odessa and Corpus Christi Toughman contests.

Rodriguez, Rangers roll to a 4-2 win over Detroit

By The Associated Press
Nomar Garciaparra wasn't exactly thinking home run.

"You get late in the innings like that, you just think about getting on base," Boston's rookie shortstop said. "You're shooting for runs, not trying for that big inning."

Garciaparra connected off Terry Mathews (0-1) for his fourth homer of the season, a 12th-inning drive that lifted the Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles on Thursday night.

"I knew I hit it well. I thought maybe I had a chance to get on for a double and get into scoring position," Garciaparra said.

It was the second straight extra-inning game for the Orioles, who erased a seven-run deficit in a 10-inning loss to Chicago on Wednesday. This time, Baltimore managed only five hits and stranded just four runners.

Roberto Alomar (ankle), Jerome Walton (hamstring) and Jeffrey Hammonds (groin) played hurt. B.J. Surhoff was held out because of a groin pull, and things got worse in the fifth inning when Brady Anderson crashed into the center-field wall catching a long fly by Garciaparra.

"We're banged up," Orioles manager Davey Johnson said. "It's tough, because we don't have much of a bench right now."

Anderson, playing with a cracked rib, was on the ground for a few minutes at Camden Yards, but stayed in the game. He finally left in the eighth.

Rick Tricek (3-4) pitched 1 1-3 innings for the Red Sox, who led 1-0 before Chris Hoiles led off the eighth with a homer off Jim Corsi. Butch Henry got two outs for his fourth save.

Indians 6, Brewers 3

Brian Giles and Tony Fernandez hit two-run homers as visiting Cleveland sent Milwaukee to its fifth consecutive loss.

Charles Nagy (3-1) allowed three runs and eight hits in six-plus innings, struck out eight and walked three. Jose Mesa got his third save. After allowing the Brewers to load the bases with two outs in the ninth, he retired Mark Loretta on a popout to second.

Loser Cal Eldred (2-2) gave up four runs and nine hits in six innings.

Athletics 12, Twins 11

Rick Aguilar (1-1) gave up ninth-inning homers to Brent Mayne and Matt Stairs, then threw a wild pitch that allowed the winning run to score in the 11th at Oakland.

The A's led 6-0 after two innings and 8-2 entering the seventh. But Terry Steinbach's three-run homer against his former team highlighted a seven-run eighth as Minnesota took an 11-8 lead.

Don Wengert (1-2) pitched 3 1-3 innings. Minnesota outthrew Oakland 21-19.

Rangers 4, Tigers 2

Ivan Rodriguez broke a 2-2 tie at The Ballpark in Arlington with a two-run double in the seventh inning, and Roger Pavlik (2-2) rebounded from two bad starts.

Texas trailed 2-1, but knocked out Justin Thompson (1-2) after a one-out double by Mike Simms and a walk to Mike Devereaux.

A.J. Sager walked Lee Stevens and Billy Ripken hit an RBI single off Mike Myers. One out later, Rodriguez doubled into the left-field corner.

Pavlik (2-2) gave up six hits in seven innings with seven strikeouts and no walks, lowering his ERA from 12.10 to 8.10.

Jason Kendall checked his swing on what Rojas thought was a game-ending strikeout, then doubled on the next pitch to set up the Pittsburgh Pirates' 4-3 victory over the Cubs in the National League's only game.

Kendall scored from second in the ninth inning on a throwing error by shortstop Rey Sanchez, who was inserted for defensive purposes.

Hawks' Mutombo wins NBA's defensive player of the year

NEW YORK (AP) - Atlanta Hawks center Dikembe Mutombo won the NBA's defensive player of the year award today.

The 7-foot-2 Mutombo, who also was voted the award in 1994-95, got 60 of a possible 115 votes from a panel of writers and broadcasters across the United States and Canada who cover the NBA.

Gary Payton of the Seattle SuperSonics, last year's winner, got 25 votes and Atlanta's Mookie Blaylock got 18. Chicago's Scottie Pippen had four votes and Michael Jordan of the Bulls received three. Detroit's Joe Dumars, Houston's Mario Elie, Boston's Rick Fox, Orlando's Horace Grant and Seattle's Shawn Kemp got one each.

Mutombo helped Atlanta to a 56-26 record, anchoring a defense that ranked third in the league in holding opponents to 43.5 per cent shooting from the field and fourth in points allowed at 89.4 per game.

He averaged 13.3 points per game, ranked second in blocked shots at 3.30 per game and second in rebounding with 11.6 per game.

The 115-member voting panel is comprised of 28 national writers and broadcasters and three media members from each of the league's 29 cities.

367 Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the Book of 11 Kings intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times

The Shunammite's Son

HAVING HEARD FROM GEHAZI THAT THE SHUNAMMITE WOMAN'S DEAD SON HAS NOT BEEN REVIVED, ELISHA HASTENS ON TO THE WOMAN'S HOUSE, NOW...

...WHEN THEY ARRIVE AT THE HOUSE...

...ELISHA LETS NO ONE FOLLOW HIM...

...IT IS EVIDENT THAT THE CHILD STILL LIES DEAD...

...AND THE PROPHET MOUNTS THE STEPS TO THE ROOM ON THE GARDEN WALL...

...NOW HE ENTERS THE DARKENED ROOM, BY HIMSELF, TO FACE THIS GRIM SPECTRE OF DEATH!

JOHN

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

--Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.

--Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

--Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

--Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - It has taken nearly three years to get off the ground, but a Kentucky program designed to pay farmers to keep their land in agriculture has started taking applications.

It still may be months before the first agricultural easements actually change hands and it is unclear how much can be done with the $800,000 now available for the program. Despite a pile of rules, guidelines and directives, it ultimately may fall to an appointed board to determine who benefits from the buyouts and how much is paid.

"You've got the normal checks and balances that you've got with any government-operated program," said Jody Curry, general counsel to the Natural Resources Cabinet. Curry is on loan to the program, which has no staff of its own.

The Purchase of Agricultural Conservation Easement Corp., or PACE, was created by the 1994

General Assembly at the insistence of then-Gov. Brereton Jones, who appointed his wife, Libby, to the board.

Jones originally requested the Legislature appropriate $11 million for the program, including the sale of $5 million in bonds, but the lawmakers balked. The program has scrapped for money, eventually obtaining a federal grant for $400,000, a state promise of $350,000, a $25,000 donation from the Bluegrass Conservancy and $25,000 promised by the state Agriculture Department.

Members of the Legislature's Capital Projects and Bond Oversight Committee have been skeptical.

"I don't want it to be a program where certain people in the know get a jump on it," Sen. Bob Leeper of Paducah said last year in seeking to delay funding.

"They're very much aware of cynicism regarding the program," Curry said.

The federal grant requires the money to be spent within the next 18 months or so. A preliminary list of interested landowners was put together to help obtain the grant. But questions have come up even about that early work.

George Deutsch, a Jefferson County, Ky., landowner who was on the initial list for the state program, told The Farmer's Pride publication in Columbia, Ky., that he had not contacted anyone directly involved in the program and had no interest in participating. A Warren County landowner who was included on the list, Margaret Sloss, said she was unaware of the program.

Curry said a point system, which includes such things as soil type, size of the parcel, amount of property actually being used in agriculture and some measure of the pressure for development, will help guide the board in determining candidates for the program.

Appraisals will be performed - paid for by the program - to determine the agricultural value of the property and its development worth. The differential will be a starting point for what could then be negotiations, Curry said.

Ultimately, the board will determine which easements to obtain and at what price, Curry said.

A separate program, financed by the federal government, was authorized under the big farm law enacted by Congress last year. It aims to keep farmland near cities from being turned into housing and shopping centers.

The first $14.5 million of federal money under that program was parceled out in September to help preserve 50,000 acres in 18 states.

Dogs attack, kill boy

MILFORD, Kan. (AP) - Rottweilers attacked and killed an 11-year-old boy at his school bus stop Thursday as his younger brother, schoolmates and bus driver looked on in horror.

Also Thursday, pit bulls mauled a 4-year-old boy to death in a back yard in Lamar, Mo., as his parents cut the grass out front.

Christopher Wilson was waiting for the school bus with his 8-year-old brother, Terrell, when three dogs approached, forcing the boys to climb a tree to safety.

But Chris, ignoring his brother's warnings, apparently thought the dogs had backed off and climbed down the tree.

When the dogs attacked, the bus driver, Kathy Roberg, frantically honked her horn to try to scare the dogs off. A neighbor driving to work called 911.

"I came out, but it was too late," said neighbor Jeannette Day. "The dogs, they were all sitting around (the boy). It was like they were gloating."

Two of the dogs were shot and killed by sheriff's deputies. The third ran into a wooded area and was shot dead Thursday evening by a state Highway Patrol sharpshooter, Sheriff Bill Deppish said.

The dogs' owners were jailed Thursday. Their identities were expected to be released Friday when they were to be charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Neighbors said the dogs had terrorized the quiet little subdivision in the northeast Kansas town for years. Leatrice Thompson said the dogs charged him on Thursday morning and sent him scrambling on top of his truck.

"I called for my wife, she closed the garage door and they ran off," he said. "Those dogs have always been vicious."

In Missouri, Derrick Brandell was found by his brother, covered in blood, in the back yard of a rural home where their parents had been hired to mow the lawn, said Sheriff William Griffitt.

The boys' parents, Clinton and Annette Brandell, took him to the hospital about four miles away, but their car broke down a block away.
