Labor Unions Preparing To Pick Leaders

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Top leadership of the AFL and CIO meet separately next week to choose new presidents.

Most observers see AFL Secretary-Treasurer George Meany as the logical successor to President William Green who died yesterday. But in the CIO a vigorous contest was under way for the job of President Philip Murray, who died Nov. 9.

Although few labor leaders were willing to discuss it openly, the question of unifying the two organizations was getting some serious thinking. Evidence appeared to be lacking, however, that unity would suddenly become a real possibility rather than a will 'o' the wisp — even with brand new leadership at the top of both organizations.

Meany, 58-year-old one-time plumber who rose to second spot in the eight-million member AFL in 1940, has been steering the AFL for a year or more during frequent illnesses of Green.

Meany is credited with an aggressiveness which probably more than compensated for Green's falling strength of the past few years. When the AFL convention last September publicly endorsed the Democratic national ticket for the first time in history, Meany was reportedly the driving force behind the decision.

The 14-man AFL Executive Council meets here Tuesday to elect Green's successor. He will serve at least until the next convention.

The two top CIO contenders are Allan S. Haywood, 65-year-old executive vice president, and Walter Reuther, 45-year-old head of the United Auto Workers, biggest of all CIO unions.

Few were willing to speculate on which of the two men would emerge from meetings starting in New York Monday, as Murray's successor. The New York session of CIO vice presidents and executive officers was scheduled to discuss a fitting memorial to Murray. But the main topic for study undoubtedly will be the matter of Murray's successor. The following Friday the CIO Executive Committee

Another MIG Brought Down By Sabre Jets

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SEOUL, Sunday, Nov. 23 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets blasted another MIG-15 Saturday for 16 confirmed kills in six straight days of victory over the Russian-built Communist interceptors.

The Fifth Air Force reported a second MIG was probably destroyed Saturday in a dogfight about 10 miles south of the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria. It last was seen streaking eastward in flames. The confirmed kill was in the same area.

The battlefield was quiet. Chinese patrols maintained light pressure against South Korean positions in the Sniper Ridge area of the central sector.

The Air Force, in its weekly assessment of punishment inflicted on the Reds, announced 15 MIGs were destroyed during the period ended Friday—as against the loss of one Sabre in air combat and two to operational troubles. One MIG was probably destroyed and four damaged.

The Air Force said two propeller-driven Allied planes were shot down by Communist ground gunners.

Far East Air Forces in Tokyo reported that the two Sabre pilots who lost their planes operationally were rescued by helicopters.

Allied warplanes struck heavily at Communist supply lines and transport during the week. The weekly report said 765 trucks were destroyed in North Korea — the highest total since last January.

At an East Coast base, Gen. James A. Van Fleet told an audience that the Republic of Korea Army holds a major part of the battle line and absorbs most of the losses among Allied troops.

The U. S. Eighth Army commander spoke at ceremonies formally activating the new ROK 12th and 15th Divisions.

Super Snowfall Blacks Out Part Of Four States

By The Associated Press
Snow, raw winds and driving rain hit huge sections of the nation Saturday.

Heavy snow crippled communications and put the brakes on travel in Eastern Tennessee, Southwestern Virginia and Northwestern North Carolina.

The hardest winter-in-November snow fell on that area.

In Knoxville, Tenn., the snowfall totaled 22 inches but about half of it melted away. It was the heaviest fall ever recorded in that city of 125,000 population.

A task force of linemen labored to restore power, telegraph and telephone service.

Thousands of motorists were stranded in the Southeastern Kentucky mountains. Most of them were en route to the football game between Kentucky and Tennessee at Knoxville.

An estimated 4,000 grid fans were halted in London and Corbin, Ky. The route they would have taken to the game was closed at Jellico, Tenn.

Snow that ranged up to 6-inches in depth covered a large section in Southern Wyoming, Western Nebraska and Colorado.

The freezing weather that accompanied the snow made highways across Colorado and Wyoming. There were more than 60 minor automobile collisions in Denver in less than four hours.

Denver had 2 inches of snow. The Weather Bureau reported 5-inches of snow on the ground at some points in Wyoming and 6-inches of snow had fallen in Sydney and Scottsbluff, Neb.

A wide band of rain blanketed most of the northeastern quarter of the U. S. It extended from the Carolinas northward into New England and from the Atlantic Coast westward to Illinois.

A lashing rain forced cancellation of a football game between Teachers College of Connecticut and New Haven State Teachers College at New Britain, Conn.

Cold weather enveloped most of the Northern states between the Great Lakes and the Rocky Mountains. Minimum temperatures in the freezing bracket were common. Among the overnight lows reported were 22 below zero at West Yellowstone, Mont., 5 below at Casper, Wyo., and 2 below at Butte, Mont.

Buried Alive

William Kenneth Johnson, 24, unconscious but still alive after being buried under five feet of dirt in a sewer cave in, is shown receiving oxygen from Indianapolis Patrolman James Ballard. The police emergency squad revived Johnson after fellow workmen uncovered his head and shoulders. Johnson, a plumber's helper, received a broken leg. (AP Wirephoto).

Urgent Meeting Is Called For Tonight

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—The United States and Britain split apart tonight over British support for Indian proposals to end the Korean War.

Then they prepared to battle for a clear decision in an urgent 21-nation meeting here Sunday night.

A U. S. spokesman said that the U. S. tried to get foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to agree to far-reaching changes in the Indian resolution.

The U. S. wants to spell out in unmistakable terms the machinery for repatriation of war prisoners that would prevent their forcible return to Communist zones at any time. President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower has endorsed this principle laid down by the outgoing Truman administration.

The U. S. position was presented to Eden and British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd by U. S. Delegate Ernest Gross at a meeting of more than an hour in Eden's New York hotel suite. Gross outlined the U. S. position on direct instructions from Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The British insisted that the Indian proposal for a repatriation commission was enough and made it clear they will push for its approval instead of for the 21-nation resolution sponsored by the U. S. and co-sponsored by 20 other countries, including Britain.

The U. S. spokesman after the meeting said that the "U. S. could not go along with the abrupt abandonment by Britain of the 21-power resolution."

Gross went to see the British diplomats on instructions from Secretary of State Dean Acheson. He told them in a meeting lasting more than an hour that the U. S. would not accept the Indian proposal without extensive and substantial changes in its wording on the machinery to handle war prisoners who resist forcible repatriation to Communist areas.

The British told Gross, the U. S. spokesman said, that "it was not possible to go along" on the American position and that they will support the Indian plan.

The U. S. called for an urgent special meeting here tomorrow of the 20 other nations that joined the U. S. in sponsoring its original resolution. Acheson will fly back from Washington for the meeting.

French Union Garrisons Set For Big Assault

HANOI, Indochina, Nov. 22 (AP)—French Union garrisons tonight staked their prestige and the fate of 300,000 pro-French Thai mountain tribespeople on holding a line in a dusty valley south of the Black River against assaults by perhaps 18,000 Vietminh rebels. Bloody skirmishing was intensified.

The battle of decision which may be touched off in a matter of hours shaped up rapidly around the airstrip of Na Sen, 117 miles west of Hanoi, headquarters city for French operations in North Indochina.

The Communist-led troops of Ho Chi Minh advanced from the east, northwest and north in an apparent encircling movement aimed at Na Sen and the Garrison town of Son La, 15 miles northwest of the airstrip. Vietminh vanguards were only 12 miles from Na Sen.

For four weeks the French have been feverishly building fortifications and pouring heavy troop reinforcements into this area in preparation for the major Vietminh thrust which, if successful, may mean the loss of all Northwest Indochina for the French.

French troops falling back towards the two bases from outlying defense posts fought delaying actions along Colonial Route 41 and over jungle and mountain trails.

Thousands of civilians in the Na Sen-Son La area were being evacuated by air.

Struggle Starts For GOP Power

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The first signs of a struggle for power within the new Eisenhower administration are beginning to make their appearance.

The prospective chief antagonists are two veterans of the Republican political wars — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who lost three efforts to gain the nomination.

Involved may be the over-all trend of President-elect Eisenhower's next four years in office.

In essence, Taft and Dewey represent two wings of the Republican party struggling to channel the Eisenhower administration into their own pattern.

Dewey represents what — for lack of a better description — is called the "internationalist" wing of the party. Taft represents those who believe, as Taft said in the campaign, that the greatest threat of communism comes from within and not from without.

At this point, Dewey and his influence are in the ascendancy. There are reports that Eisenhower asked the New York governor to become his secretary of state, but that Dewey suggested John Foster Dulles instead.

Dulles served as Dewey's foreign affairs adviser in the 1944 and 1948 campaigns, when Herbert Brownell Jr., designated by Eisenhower for attorney general, was Dewey's campaign manager.

Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, chosen for secretary of the interior, can't be classed as a "Dewey man," and yet he was at the side of the New York governor when Dewey engineered a resolution through last June's Governors Conference in Houston, Tex., which was an indirect slap at Taft in the Texas delegate squabble.

Thus far, Taft can claim only one supporter in the Cabinet, George M. Humphrey of Cleveland, named for secretary of the Treasury.

To a large measure, a President only proposes and Congress disposes. That is where Taft is likely to have his big innings.

If he chooses to fight, there is little doubt that the Ohio senator can install himself as Republican floor leader in the new Senate. In fact, he might get it without a fight if there is the "amicable settlement" he has predicted.

Whatever Taft's position, the Ohioan will have a strong influence on the course of legislation. Eisenhower's program could suffer greatly if Taft opposed any portion of it. If Taft is co-operative, as he has told friends he

WINDOWS BROKEN

California Quake Covers Wide Area

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22 (AP)—A midnight earthquake shook and twisted a 500-mile strip of the California coast last night and early today from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

It broke windows, twisted doors, caused the partial collapse of a house, rearranged dishes and other small objects, and frightened people over a wide area. But no injuries or major damage were reported.

Quick surveys of the most severely shaken towns disclosed no cracked buildings.

The earth movement started at 11:47 p.m. (2:47 a.m. EST) in the area of San Luis Obispo, San Miguel and Paso Robles, and continued for several minutes. Some people said they felt it for half an hour and seismographs registered for three-quarters of an hour.

Radio station KVEC at San Luis Obispo reported the ceiling fell in at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Olin at Oceano, 15 miles to the south, and that Mrs. Olin fainted. Water pipes were broken.

Some windows were broken in San Luis Obispo. In Paso Robles, radio station KPRL reported the arm of a record player was shaken out of position. A sleeping man fell from his rocking chair in the Monterey-Carmel area. Plaster was cracked and pictures fell in some San Miguel homes. A Paso Robles store lost three bottles of liquor which toppled from a shelf.

Many areas described the quake as a rolling movement, but it registered as a sharp shock in Salinas. It was moderate in the San Francisco Bay area.

Dr. Charles Richter at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena gave it an intensity rating of 5 1/2 on the Richter scale; Santa Clara University rated it at 6 1/2. This means it was strong enough to cause real damage at the epicenter.

However, the quake apparently centered offshore, in one of California's many lesser geological faults.

The quake's intensity rating indicated a total force of only about one-tenth that of the earth movement which extensively damaged the town of Tehachapi, east of the current quake area, July 21. Fifteen people were killed in the Tehachapi quake.

Everyone prays that Howard County's bloody record of 24 traffic fatalities last year will not be equalled in 1952. One more tragedy such as we suffered a week ago Saturday will bring it to pass. When a family of five was killed in May on U.S. 90 west, it was written down as the "worst" and no one thought it would happen again. But it did happen, and within five miles of the other spot. In a 10-mile stretch, we have seen 13 people killed this year.

This makes more timely the announcement from Austin that the State Highway Department has given the green light for planning for freeway (divided highway) status for U.S. 90 from the Martin County line to Sweetwater. It will take three to five years for this to come to pass, however.

The Big Spring Steers, a team that has scored more points than any of its predecessors for a decade, play their final game here Thursday afternoon. If the Steers can get as much fire as Snyder showed against them here Friday, they could give the Mustangs more than they could digest in one afternoon.

People kept coming the last two days in sufficient number and the Howard-Glasscock chapter quota of 650 points of blood for our fighting men was virtually reached. The

Area Readies For Turkey Day

Grocery stores were advancing specials to Tuesday of this week, a sure sign that Thanksgiving is just around the corner.

Schools in Big Spring and all over the county were preparing to close down after Wednesday afternoon classes. Howard County Junior College will follow the same schedule and in all cases classes will not be resumed until Dec. 1.

Big Spring Junior and senior high schools completed six weeks tests the past week and cards may be ready to make or mar the holiday season, as the individual case may be.

Business will come to a halt except for service and safety establishments and offices. Webb Air Force Base is due to maintain skeleton forces for the day, and airmen will feast on turkey and all the trimmings.

Big Springers will observe the traditional Union Thanksgiving services at 10 a.m. at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Clyde Nichols, First Christian minister, as the speaker. Chief after-dinner diversion will be the football game at Steer stadium between the traditional rivals, the Sweetwater Mustangs and the Big Spring Steers.

Scientists Hoping To Halt Red Tide At Sabinal Island

GALVESTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Fish and Wildlife Service scientists poured 50,000 gallons of copper sulphate into the Gulf today in an effort to neutralize a new outbreak of the red tide discovered near Sanibel Island.

The outbreak, much smaller than the one which baffled marine life experts near here last week, was discovered about three miles offshore from the Fort Meyers Beach area.

Whether the copper sulphate is able to kill the dinoflagellates, one-cell fresh water protozoa which are poisonous to salt-water marine life, cannot be determined for several days, the scientists said.

Albert Collier, head here for the Gulf fisheries investigation, said that the new red tide apparently was formed under the same weather conditions that existed last week when the larger infected area was discovered—low wind velocity and calm waters. The tide is caused by the movement of fresh water from the Caloosahatche River into the salt water of the Gulf.

Jet Pilot Makes A Crash Landing

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 22 (AP)—The pilot of a T-33 jet trainer en route to Randolph AFB from Wichita, Kan., successfully crash landed his plane early tonight after a "flame-out" had deadened his engine, about 15 miles south of Kennedy.

Randolph said the pilot was Maj. George Kemper. He ordered his passenger, a Lt. Col. Manzaita of Savannah, Ga., to bail out near Three Rivers.

Manzaita was not hurt. Kemper had received only minor injuries in the crash landing.

COMMUNITY CHEST SETS UP A $25 CLUB TO PUSH FOR '52 GOAL

The Community Chest is calling for citizens to help with a "Sunday punch" to get the 1952 fund campaign out of the danger zone.

This final push is a $25 Club, and an earnest appeal is being made for memberships in this organization. While $2,500 will not put the Chest completely over the top in its requirements for 1953, it will enable the organization to "get by" with commitments to five welfare agencies. Needed, then, are 100 members of the $25 Club.

At a meeting of the board yesterday, 14 unit memberships were subscribed, by individuals and organizations that already had made Chest contributions. This accounted for $350.

Members of the Chest board of directors will make an intensive solicitation to round up another 86 member units to bring the current campaign to a conclusion.

Persons and firms willing to join the $25 Club as a gesture of helpfulness in the community project, may see or phone Campaign Chairman Elmo Wasson, Dan Krause, Gil Jones, Doug Orme, or make remittances directly to the Community Chest, 207 Petroleum Building.

"Howard County has never before fallen down on a Chest appeal, and we don't think for a minute that it will fall down this year," said Wasson. "Undoubtedly, the general solicitation did not reach all people. We urge those who have not been contacted to volunteer their contributions. We urge those who can increase their gifts to do so now. And particularly do we invite all persons to join the $25 Club. This is our final round. We need the support of every citizen in Howard County. We solicit that support now."

Ike Rests At Home; Four Posts Unfilled

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower wound up a week of major appointments and conferences today by resting at home and mulling over four Cabinet posts yet to be filled.

Still to be chosen are the secretaries of labor, agriculture and commerce and the postmaster general.

Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey conferred for 45 minutes at the general's Columbia University residence, but there was no hint of what they talked about. Driscoll has said he was not seeking a Cabinet job.

James C. Haggerty, his press secretary, said a list of the general's appointments for Monday would be available tomorrow afternoon.

This made it evident the general's proposed trip to Korea in search of a way to end the war there would not start this week end. The date of the trip has not been announced and will not be.

Eisenhower rested after putting in one of his busiest and most momentous weeks since the Republican National Convention last July.

He ended a golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga., to fly to Washington last Tuesday for an administration change-over conference with President Truman.

Ike Is Invited To Houston Meetings

HOUSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—President-elect Dwight Eisenhower has been invited to speak before three conventions which met jointly here next March.

Oilman Carlton Speed said the invitation was extended by Jack Fortner, Texas Republican national committeeman, in New York earlier this week.

Speed said Eisenhower was invited to speak March 24 before the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, and the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

Kyle Miller Ranch Located On Land Once Owned By The Fabulous Earl Of Aylesford

BY FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

Seven head of the fine Kyle Miller Herefords, four bulls and three females were trucked to Lovington, New Mexico, Thursday where they are entered in the One-Stop Hereford Show and sale there Monday and Tuesday.

All these cattle, with the exception of one bull, are coming two-year-olds this coming spring and summer. The other bull is a three-year-old that Miller has had in service this year.

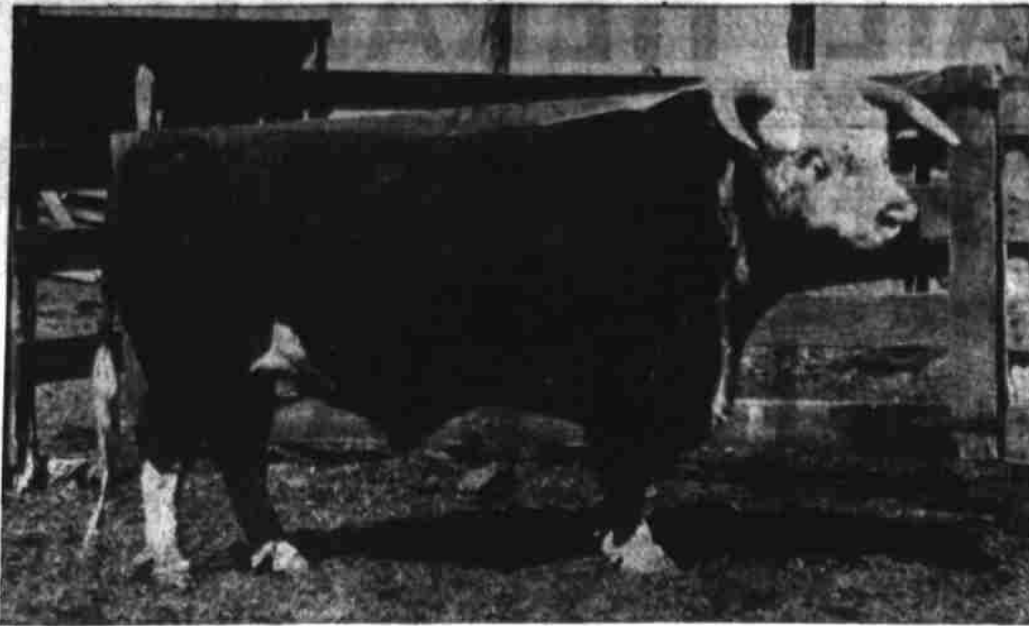

All these cattle, with the exception of one heifer, are sired by Miller's herd bull, Compact Mischief, and the other heifer is a daughter of one of Compact Mischief's other sons.

Six head of these seven cattle, therefore, are half brothers or sisters of the grand champion calf shown at the 1952 San Antonio Livestock Exposition by James Shortes, Howard County 4-H Club boy, who is also feeding another steer son of Compact Mischief this season, with still two others being fed by Donald Denton, another 4-H Club member.

Compact Mischief, calved June 27, 1946, and from the herd of Howard James of Tatum, New Mexico, is one of the most royally bred bulls in the country today, and an individual he is no less of the Hereford royalty. Miller bought Compact Mischief and his mother, when the bull was a three-month-old calf.

The sire of the granddaughter of Compact Mischief being sold at Lovington is the daughter of a bull sired by Compact Mischief and bought by C. W. Post of Midland at the Odessa sale in 1950.

The Miller herd sire is a son of Compact Domino and therefore a grandson of TO Domino 66th, two very famous bulls. His mother was Myrtle Mischief 2nd, daughter of the mating of Anxiety Domino and the original Myrtle Mischief. On her sire's side she was a granddaughter of Advance Domino. There is much of the blood of the Mousel cattle in this Howard County bull with the old Onward Domino also appearing in his pedigree. Among

Master Of The Royal Pasture

Compact Mischief, of the blood royal of the Hereford breed, is master of the pasture that has known other English royalty, as he grazes the range where the colorful Earl of Aylesford once built his frontier castle of unpainted boards, and then while drunk barely escaped with his life when it burned. Compact Mischief, a son of the great Compact Domino, is herd sire on the Kyle Miller Ranch northeast of Big Springs.

the outstanding cows in his pedigree are the two Blanche Mischiefs, the 6th and the 16th.

The herds of the Mousel family at Cambridge, Nebraska, it should be noted in connection with the frequent appearance of their cattle in Compact Mischief's pedigree, represent probably stronger than any other herds in the world a fountainhead of pure unadulterated Anxiety 4th cattle, and Anxiety 4th was the bull who has more greatly influenced the development of the modern American Hereford than any other sire in the world.

Anxiety 4th was imported from England by Gudgeon and Simpson, Missouri breeders in 1881 when he was a yearling. Now there is an Anxiety 4th Cattle Breeders Association which holds an annual sale of cattle of this grand old family founder's bloodlines each year at Amarillo. As Hereford breeders the Mousels took up where Gudgeon and Simpson left off.

These seven Herefords, the four bulls and three females, which will be shown at Lovington tomorrow and sold Tuesday, will probably be all the cattle Miller will fit for the sales this year. Because of serious injuries suffered in an accident just about a year ago, from the effects of which he was hospitalized for some time, Miller just hasn't been able, he says, to give the cattle too much attention himself in fitting them. Competent help is hard to get and to keep. Mainly this group has been readied by Miller's two sons, Sam Miller of Hobbs, and Kyle Miller Jr., of Big Springs who are with the cattle at Lovington. The younger son, who is employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Springs, can't take the time from his work that he would probably like to give the attention to them that cattle being readied for the shows and sales must have.

The Kyle Miller Ranch is land that was once a part of the vast holding of the fabulous Earl of Aylesford, the titled Englishman, who disappointed in love at home, came to West Texas to cut quite a swath and to actually drink himself to death in a Big Spring hotel of the day. The English peer, it will be recalled, was the man who bought a Big Spring saloon one night, gave away the enormous stock of fine liquors drink by drink, and then handed the saloon, as a gift, back to the original owner the next morning.

On another occasion the Earl insisted that John Birdwell, a Big Spring hotel owner, take a hunting trip with him. Birdwell explained it would be impossible for him to get away because of hotel business, whereupon the scion of English nobility bought the hotel, relieved Birdwell of the responsibility and took him hunting.

Down in one of Kyle Miller's pastures today there are but faint traces of where the Aylesford "castle" once stood. It and the buildings around it were wiped out in a big fire one night, from which the Earl and his companions and servants barely escaped, since it appears everybody was most thoroughly drunk on the occasion. It was following this fire that the close personal friend of the Prince of Wales, later Edward VII, floated his soul into eternity on a stream of distilled spirits. In his "Big Spring" Shine Phillips refers to the Englishman as Big Spring's most spectacular tenderfoot. It is told that the night of the Earl's arrival in town he was unable to find a room in the Cosmopolitan Hotel, and so he bought the hotel and moved somebody out. Later, he couldn't find the particular cut of beef he wanted in the butcher shop so he just bought the butcher and stocked it with nothing but the finer cuts.

In what is now Compact Mischief's domain, the Earl of Aylesford built his home, it was a story-and-a-half high, made of unpainted boards but covering a lot of ground. There was a hallway down the middle with eight or nine rooms opening off it, and the place was so well stocked with guns it looked like an arsenal, and it was no less efficiently and with rare discretion, stocked with liquors.

Surrounding it were the horse stalls and corrals and the kennels for the big packs of highbred hounds he had brought from England with him. The Earl was a true aristocrat — a boss'n'hound man.

The chance visitor to the pasture would find it most difficult, indeed, to locate the site whereon the house once stood. Grass and mosquito have covered over the scars of the fire, but where English royalty once romped and played and drank, the descendants of another sort of English royalty, but no less royal, those fine Herefords, placidly graze.

And through that section of Howard County today are to be found many fence posts with bolts through the top of them. Years ago there were miles upon miles of wire fence at the top of which two boards were bolted to the post. These boards, it is presumed, were placed there by the Earl of Aylesford to protect his horses and his hounds as he rode, red-coated and gloriously drunk, across the country in pursuit of the wily coyote.

Whatever the Earl did, he apparently did with a royal flourish. But back to the Kyle Miller Herefords and the show and sale at Lovington. The events will be held in the modern sales barn at the Lea County Fair Grounds, and the barn will be heated if the weather gets cold enough. More than 60 bulls and about a dozen females have been consigned. Dinner will be served on the grounds both days.

11 Leave For Army Service From The Area

Eleven area men will leave Monday morning for Abilene where they will be inducted into the armed forces.

The group make up induction quota No. 30 for the Howard-Martin-Mitchell Selective Service Board.

To be inducted are William Ronald Johnston, John Boulware Harvard, Wendell Lee Strahan, Oran Merel Ringener, A. L. Timmons, Francisco Banaldez Ortega, Bobby Louise Bagwell, George Sanchez, Thomas Eugene Williams, Howard Leslie Jones, and Charles Afton Schoolers.

Largest induction quota since start of the Korean War faces the local draft board for December. Thirty-nine men will be ordered to report for induction on Dec. 9. Largest previous call was for 35 men in September, 1950.

Two large pre-induction physical quotas are on tap—for November and December. Sixty-nine men will take physicals Nov. 25 and 26 and 70 men will take the examinations on Dec. 9 and 10.

At present the local board has 50 registrants examined and acceptable for military service. The local American Legion Auxiliary, directed by Mrs. Bert Wall, will be in charge of the Salute the Recruit program for departing draftees Monday morning. Members of the auxiliary will be on hand at the bus terminal to distribute packages of cigars and candy, and a minister will address the group briefly. The bus is scheduled to leave Big Spring at 8:31 a.m.

R. H. Weaver presided during the meeting. Members voted to buy 12 Christmas trees to be placed in the VA Hospital during the coming Yule season. The group also agreed to send a certificate of appreciation to Plumley for the choir's performance.

Wagon Wheels

A veteran of the days before automobiles in West Texas is this old wagon on the Kyle Miller Ranch for which the owner still has the chuck box, both wagon and box being in a splendid state of preservation. Miller doesn't know how old the wagon is, but he bought it, with all the cattle, of a man who became unhappy with West Texas ranch life back in 1917. A great deal of Bodark (Bois de Arc) wood was used in building the narrow-tired wide-tread (60 inches) vehicle so widely used by West Texans for everything from moving family and plunder, to going to town after staple groceries once or twice a year.

He Sells In New Mexico

This three-year-old son of Miller's Compact Mischief is one of seven Herefords this Howard County breeder has consigned to the show and sale at Lovington tomorrow and Tuesday. This picture was made during the summer. Since then the bull has put on more flesh. Other consignments from Miller are three younger bulls and three heifers.

Local Officials To Attend Texas Municipalities Meet

The couple's son, Garner Thixton, is home on an emergency leave from the Navy. Mr. and Mrs. Thixton will fly to Boston.

UNESCO Is Split Over Budget, Spain

PARIS, Nov. 22 (AP)—The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) was split wide open today by quarrels over its budget and the admission of Spain to membership.

Jaime Torres Bodet resigned as director general in protest against UNESCO's failure to vote all the money he asked for spending in the next two years. Two leading members of the Executive Board also quit.

These resignations followed a series of walk-outs prompted by the vote last Wednesday to admit Spain, whose government is termed a Fascist dictatorship by some member nations. Spain is barred from membership in the United Nations itself.

Torres Bodet, former minister of education in Mexico, had asked UNESCO's Seventh Annual Conference to approve expenditures of $20,400,000 for 1953 and 1954. The delegates balked yesterday, however, and set a ceiling of 18 million dollars. The vote was 29-21, with four abstentions.

Britain, Sweden and Australia led the fight against the higher budget. Their delegates contended that UNESCO's Paris headquarters, which employs a staff of 800 and absorbs about 14 per cent of the budget, is top heavy and could be pruned. The United States which pays a third of UNESCO's costs, voted with the majority.

Now a 68-nation agency, UNESCO proclaims that its primary job is to teach illiterates of the world to read and write and then evaluate what they learn. Much of its emphasis has been on Southeast Asia.

Torres Bodet was named director general in 1948 for a six-year term, succeeding Dr. Julian Huxley of Britain. The post pays $18,000 a year, plus $8,800 in allowances.

Starting in January, the club expects to hold semi-monthly "shootings." Amateur photographers interested in joining the organization should contact Dr. Dwight Jones, president, or Jenney Miller, secretary.

Auto Inspection Law Rapped By State Senator

LLANO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Sen. Carlos Ashley renewed his attack on the Auto Inspection Law today, declaring it has proved to be "a sad disillusionment for many members of the Texas Legislature."

"It was presented to the Legislature last year in the saintly garb of a life-saver, but in practice has proved to be expensive but ineffective," Ashley said in a prepared press statement.

He suggested a "get tough" campaign for traffic law enforcement would save more lives than the inspection law.

Ashley repeated his past announcement he will introduce a repeal bill when the 53rd Legislature meets in January.

"Everyone is genuinely concerned about traffic safety, and this prompted many conscientious legislators to vote for the inspection bill," said Ashley. "Most of them now realize that it was a deception which has been a money making scheme for motor vehicle equipment manufacturers and a racket for some of the testing stations."

He said the Department of Public Safety's statistical summary of traffic accidents for the first half of 1952 showed only 6.6 per cent of wrecks involved defective vehicles, only 2.6 per cent of these wrecks were fatal and these figures include defective cars "whether or not driver violations was responsible."

"The truth is that 'driver violations' was responsible in the great majority of cases where defective cars are listed," Ashley continued. "In other words, those figures show that drivers cause wrecks and that the automobile is very seldom at fault."

Plans Being Set Up For Salvation Army Christmas Program

Plans are now being formulated for Salvation Army Christmas operations, it was announced Saturday by Lt. Robert Hall, local commander.

The Christmas money pots will be placed about the city around Dec. 1, Hall said. Locations have not yet been picked.

People who need Christmas aid should sign up at the Salvation Army now. "We must know who needs aid and have time to investigate their need," Hall said.

Applications for aid will be accepted during the first two weeks of December.

A Christmas party is being planned for the Salvation Army youth center, Hall added. Nuts, candy and fruit will be given to the children.

T-H Law Revision May Not Be Troublesome Issue After All

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The promised Republican revision of the Taft-Hartley labor law is one of the most potentially explosive issues facing the new Congress—yet it may be accomplished without too much fuss.

It may even turn out that the labor unions will bury the hatchet with the new administration of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower,

TEC Reports Job Applications And Claims Increase

Both new applications for jobs and claims for unemployment compensation showed an increase this week over last, according to Leon Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission.

This week his office received 46 new applications for employment and 31 claims for unemployment compensation were filed. Forty-seven persons were referred to non-agricultural jobs and of these 35 were placed, Kinney said. Two hundred and 90 office visits were recorded.

Kinney said merchants have not yet called on his office for assistance in hiring workers for the Christmas season and that he does not anticipate any such calls until well after December 1. He said he had been told by some merchants that they do not expect to employ additional help until after the Thanksgiving holidays.

men who would like to see the law changed to include many new curbs on the unions—just as there are organized labor leaders who still plunk for kicking out the law entirely.

Despite Taft's present stand against an industry-wide bargaining ban, it likely will get considerable support in Congress. Another plan sure to be discussed as an addition to the T-H Act would give the government some supervision over union welfare funds. Either proposal would stir union ire.

Taft says he generally plans to stick to the same proposal he advanced in 1949 for changing the present law. These were passed by the Senate but got pigeon-holed in the House, mainly because the labor unions blocked them.

The unions generally liked the Taft proposals then, but opposed them chiefly because their strategy, which turned out to be unsuccessful, was to try for complete repeal of the law, rather than gradual change.

One of Taft's 1949 suggestions was to remove the law's ban against strikers participating in a bargaining rights election. This is the clause Eisenhower was referring to when, during the campaign, he said the T-H Act must be changed to remove features which "might be used to break unions."

Another of Taft's proposals was to extend to company officials the law's requirement that union officials must sign non-Communist oaths before they can avail themselves of the T-H Act's privileges.

Taft sponsored in 1949 and plans to support again a number of other technical changes in the complicated law which he says will make it work better for all concerned.

This would jibe with the GOP platform pledge to adopt T-H changes as it becomes apparent they are needed.

But tinkering with so complicated a law in the contentious labor-management field is like treading an uncharted mine-field. An explosion may occur at any moment.

Auto Makers Determined To Hold Price Line

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor
DETROIT, Nov. 22 (AP)—The direction of new car prices during the year ahead currently is arousing considerable discussion in automotive circles.

Six months ago it appeared certain 1953 model cars would have higher price tags. Now, if the prices announced for the first new models shown is any indication, the auto makers are determined at least to hold the price line.

Thus far Kaiser, Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto, Plymouth and Packard have introduced 1953 models, some with price reductions and some with increases. The reductions haven't been of major proportions but they have been made on models that have the larger competitive market.

Obviously these car makers do not represent all industry thinking and planning, but they do represent a sizeable part of the industry's overall competitive activities.

And the industry is girding itself for the toughest competitive period it has experienced since World War II.

General Motors and Ford have yet to introduce their new models and disclose their pricing plans. There has been considerable speculation about styling and mechanical changes in these new models. However, it is certain their price tags will attract as much initial interest as will the design changes.

Some new Ford and General Motors models will appear in December, others will not reach dealer showrooms until January.

Industry heads have emphasized that lower car prices are tied to high volume output—and high volume sales. They imply the removal of governmental controls on materials used could bring some substantial price cuts.

These executives do not expect production and price controls to be renewed when the present law runs out next spring. They intimate some of the price reductions already announced are premised on that assumption.

City Using Water From Its Own Wells

Kiwanis District Governor Speaks To C-City Club

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 21—In a speech Thursday night, before Colorado City Kiwanis, Bailey Choate, Sweetwater, governor-elect of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis District, lauded the role of the church in American life and called for a revival of moral standards at the community level to eliminate widespread corruption in government on the national level.

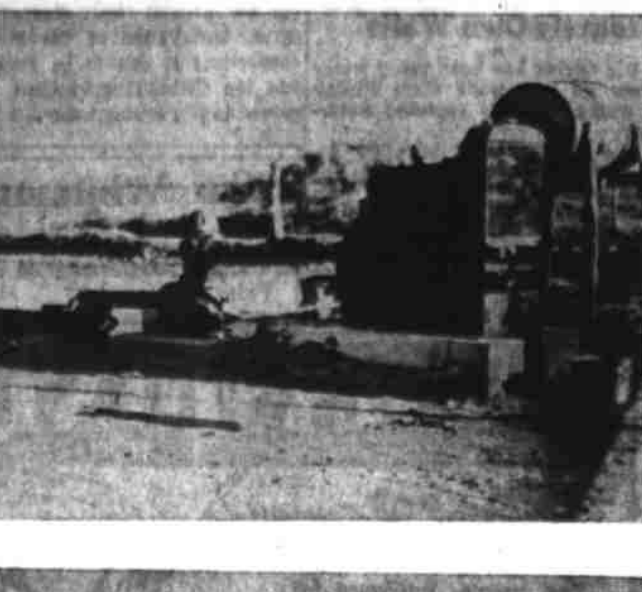

"All freedoms stem from freedom of worship," he said, explaining that the man who was free to worship as he pleased, could say what he pleased, leading to freedom of speech and the press.

"This country will not be saved by spears or bombs," he said, "no matter how destructive—but rather by living the Sermon on the Mount."

Choate was principal speaker at the Kiwanis' installation dinner, held in the Elementary school building. Installing officer was J. P. White of Lamesa, Lt. governor of Kiwanis' district 12.

New officers of the Colorado City club are: Wendell Shiflett, president; H. I. Berman, vice president; Frank Hood, secretary and treasurer, and Martha Hammond, club sweetheart. New directors installed were: Dan Pritchett, Alvie Jones, H. L. Lockhart, Charles Diegel, Jimmie Kelley, Nathan King and Thurston Smith. Noble Walker is the outgoing president.

Jimmy Payne acted as master of ceremonies, and the evening's program opened with several musical presentations, including a violin solo by Mrs. Nathan King, cello solo by Gretchen Grant, song and dance by Arla Jo Payne and a vocal solo by Joan-Merlet. Accompanist was Mrs. Jim Payne.

Making Underground Season

A great community interest was shown in the well drilled on the corner of the Louis Underwood farm last summer in a search for irrigation water in the Luther area. The well which is just across the road from the Luther Store was put down 172 feet and is now pumping 85 gallons a minute. Underwood says he plans to pump it all winter in order to make an underground season for some 1963 cotton and possibly for a truck garden. He is getting good water and the main ditch from the well looks mighty hopeful, when running full. The actual drilling was done by Underwood's neighbor, Ed Hyden, who bought the rig in East Texas for the purpose of drilling himself a well. More drilling tests for irrigation water in the area are expected in the future.

FARLEY MADE SURPRISING PREDICTION

More Reforms Came After Smashing FDR Win In 1936

(Third of a Sunday series on the epic years of the New Deal-Fair Deal era.)

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—One warm April day in 1936 big, smiling, pink-faced Jim Farley stacked 3,000 letters on his Washington desk.

Farley was postmaster general. He also was chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The letters were from Democratic leaders. He had just finished analyzing them.

Facing the 1936 campaign, Farley had to report to "the boss"—President Franklin D. Roosevelt—on what he thought it would be like. He wrote FDR that he would take all but Maine and Vermont in his bid for re-election that November.

FDR said later he "got mad that Jim would let his enthusiasm run away with him."

That was the most surprisingly correct political prophecy in the nation's ballot battles. Roosevelt fulfilled it exactly.

When Farley made his April report the Democrats were having rough sledding. The year had started with a rebellion inside Democratic ranks. Conservative Democrats and several wealthy citizens had started the Liberty League to battle FDR's New Deal.

The league was led by two famous Democrats—Al Smith of New York, who had lost the 1928 election to Herbert Hoover, and J. P. Morgan, a former executive secretary of the party.

Behind the scenes the plix-like Charlie Michelson—alight, white-haired and pleasant, former newspaperman—directed Democratic publicity.

To newspapers he mailed his news letter, "Dispelling the Fog." He was dubbed "Charlie the Smeary" by opposition papers.

By June the Liberty League had lost. It sent a letter to the Democratic convention in Philadelphia in July. The letter was not even read. FDR was renominated by acclamation. Smith "took a walk" into political oblivion.

Meanwhile, the Republicans had nominated Kansas Gov. Alfred Landon, a small, smiling, brown-eyed man who could boast that he had balanced the Kansas budget.

FDR told the crowds "We are on our way" and cited figures of rising employment, rising prices and profits.

Then came the Democrats' amazing sweep. New Dealers promptly called it a "mandate from the people" and plunged into plans for more reforms.

But at that point the White House "palace guard" was not so sure the New Deal was "on the way."

Roosevelt's first four years had increased prices all right, but wages had not jumped in proportion.

Millions were still on relief. FDR's program had greatly increased the national debt although in the 1932 campaign he had promised to cut spending. The nation was plagued with strikes.

Much more seriously, the Supreme Court had knocked out two main props of the New Deal—NRA (the National Recovery Act) and Triple A (the Agricultural Adjustment Act).

Both programs had been meant to increase prices—NRA in the industrial field and Triple A for farm products—and to put more money into workers' pockets.

Political students agree widely that at this point FDR shifted his drive. He had first tried to raise prices and thus indirectly raise workers' incomes. Now he set out to strengthen the workers directly—whether on the farm or in the factory.

In his inaugural address Jan. 20, 1937, he sounded his new keynote: "I see one third of the nation ill housed, ill clad and ill nourished." The dragon was no longer the depression but a basic imbalance. Ideas bubbled.

But at that point the White House and his closest aides was this: What kind of federal control would the Supreme Court permit in this drive to iron out the ills of various sections of the country? What kind of taxes were permissible to pay for the program?

FDR decided to hit at the nerve center to attempt to change the Supreme Court.

Under an old law federal judges could retire at 70 if they wished. In January, 1937, FDR proposed to name additional judges when men refused to retire at 70.

Several of the "nine old men" on the Supreme Court bench—including some of the most respected conservative—were nearing that age.

The nation erupted. The Supreme Court is sacred with Americans. Few presidents have dared criticize it.

Democrats in the Senate split so angrily that the Republicans sat aside gleefully while the Democrats built up enemies within their own party which are still alive today.

In the midst of the furor the Supreme Court began handing down decisions. On March 9, 1937, it upheld a Washington State minimum wage law, in effect reversing a decision it had handed down the year before on a New York State law.

On April 12 it upheld the Wagner Labor Relations Act. It approved the right of workers to choose their own representatives and said employers must bargain with these representatives on their request.

On May 24 the court upheld the Social Security Act.

With so many of his objectives attained, FDR settled for a compromise bill which merely speeded up the Federal Court system.

He commented as he signed his "emasculated bill": "Well, we lost the battle, but we won the war."

UT Hospital Given Grant For Research

HOUSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Gift of $1,200,000 to the University of Texas Hospital for Cancer Research was announced today. University officials said $918,000 still is needed to complete the $8,800,000 structure.

Today's gift was from the M. D. Anderson Foundation, chief backer of Houston's 100 million dollar Texas Medical Center where the hospital now is under construction.

Walter F. Woodul, chairman of the University's Development Board, expressed hope small contributions will realize the remaining $918,000 needed.

Until the money is acquired within a few months, Woodul said, the top four floors of the hospital's west wing will not be finished for the scheduled opening early next year.

The drive for contributions, he said, includes plans whereby donors may supply funds for rooms which may be memorialized to individuals.

Complete cost of such memorials run from $1,000 to $5,000.

When completed, the hospital will have 310 beds and out-patient facilities to handle 300 visits daily.

Prior to today's contribution, the Anderson Foundation already had given the land and $1,200,000 to the hospital. Today's $1,200,000 originally had been committed for pay-

Family Squabble Is Basis For Assault Charge Against Man

A family squabble among some Negro cotton pickers Saturday morning resulted in one being charged with aggravated assault and another with unlawfully carrying arms.

Frank Lewis was charged with assault upon his wife, and Cornelius Green was charged with carrying a pistol. Lewis pleaded guilty and received a $25 fine. Green was released on bond after pleading not guilty.

Police were asked to investigate the incident by someone who said two Negro men were beating a hitchhiker in the back of a truck. The "hitch-hiker" turned out to be Lewis' wife.

Finced $50 In Court

Rufus Orlando Rosser was given a $50 fine Saturday in County Court after he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated.

He was arrested while driving a truck in Coshocta Friday night by Constable Odell Buchanan.

DRIVE TO GET UNDERWAY

Reflecting Tape For Cars Is Urged By Jaycees For Safety

Sometime next week area drivers are going to see reflecting tape stretched across bumpers of city vehicles during night driving.

With official city cars, particularly police cars, inaugurating the "Scotchlite for Safety" campaign, local people will have the opportunity to place this tape on their bumpers next Saturday when Jaycees open up a "Safety Station" near the downtown area to service local drivers.

Purpose of the campaign is to assist in protecting drivers from night-driving mishaps. The tape, sliver on the front bumper and red on the back, can be seen at least a half mile away. It projects a car when parked on open highway or on residential streets, when driving on an open road, if tail lights should burn out or if a car is broken down on or off a highway.

The tape can assist drivers to note oncoming cars with only one headlight in working condition by outlining the car and thus telling which light is defective. This, therefore, gives the driver the position of an oncoming car on the road.

Oliver Cofer and Fred Greene, co-chairmen of the Jaycees committee handling details of the safety drive, urge residents to join with the civic group to make Howard County a safer county.

"We have had many accidents this year within the county and perhaps this is a means of cutting down the accident record," they said.

"Certainly," it was pointed out, "if we can better protect ourselves by seeing oncoming vehicles, we can better avoid any accidents which happen because of failure to see the motions of an oncoming car," the Jaycees chairman said.

The men added: "This is not the final answer to safe driving, of course, but we feel it can go a long way in avoiding many accidents caused by failure to see oncoming vehicles or parked cars."

Weather conditions do not affect the tape's effectiveness since it can be seen under any condition. Furthermore, according to tests, the tape may be seen up to 75 percent quicker than the average tail light.

BUT NO TENANTS' MARKET

Rental Space On Rise Here

Houses and apartments have become much more plentiful in the past few weeks but Big Spring still doesn't offer a tenants' market, a survey of rental housing showed Saturday.

Listings in The Herald and at the Chamber of Commerce have approximately quadrupled in the past three months with at least 150 units on the market at present. Reports from house-hunters, however, indicate that the majority of the houses and apartments offered are in the "undesirable" category—either from the standpoint of condition, size or price.

Renters apparently are moving out of the higher-priced places, as well as those in poor physical condition, as rapidly as more desirable houses or apartments become available. Chamber of Commerce officials report. As a result, the housing market seems to be loaded with rental units that people are willing to occupy only as a last resort.

Some good property is being offered, along with the poor, but it is in the minority and prices remain high, ranging from $90 to $125 per month, the Chamber of Commerce rental files show.

There also appears to be a slight softening in prices as a few rental property owners reduce their quotations after finding no takers over a period of several days.

Most numerous among Chamber listings are three-room houses and apartments, most of which rent for $60 or $65 per month, you pay the bills. Two-room places also are numerous, and there are several one-room "efficiency" apartments being offered. A smattering of five, six and seven-room houses fill out the list of available living quarters.

Although there are more places to choose from, the rental market still doesn't fit very well with the demand which is mostly for the nicer places in a price bracket of $75 per month or less. There are some other restrictions, too. Many property owners won't allow kids and pets, which a lot of people seem to have.

The 300-unit defense rental housing development in Monticello Addition, completed last week, probably is responsible for the increased availability of rental housing. All but about 25 of these have been rented, and the 25 will be held until Dec. 15 unless rented to military personnel. After that date the houses will go on the general market.

The Chamber of Commerce rental file lists 163 houses and apartments at present, but officials believe at least 40 per cent of these already have been rented with owners neglecting to cancel the listing.

Breakdown on the group includes 24 furnished houses, 39 unfurnished houses, 56 furnished apartments and 44 unfurnished apartments. Whether a place is furnished or unfurnished seems to have little effect on the rent, since those of the same size are offered for approximately the same price.

A number of the property owners offer to pay or share the utilities bills with the tenant, but this probably indicates a prevalence of "community" meters rather than an effort to entice renters.

Less is known about the property advertised for rent in The Herald classified columns, but the increasing number of rentals is evident. Some 80 places are advertised each day, compared to approximately 20 daily listings three months ago.

The Chamber of Commerce listings have increased proportionately in the same period, officials say.

Corporation Court Fines At $667.50 During Past Week

Corporation Court fines and forfeits totalled $667.50 during the past week. Forfeits accounted for $200 of the aggregate.

Fines included $305.50 for drunkenness, $5 for disturbance, $25 for affray, $25 for driving without license, $15 for reckless driving, $79 for speeding, $5 for prohibited turn, $19 for improper registration of motor vehicle, $4 for improper parking, and $25 for violation of stop signals.

Forfeits included $50 by a motorist charged with reckless driving and driving without license, $100 by six persons charged with intoxication, and $50 by a man charged with drunkenness and disturbance.

Transferred from city to county authorities were three persons charged with carrying deadly weapons, and three charged with burglary, car theft, and attempted murder, respectively.

Two Damage Suits Filed Against Man

Two damage suits totaling $66,000 have been filed in 118th District Court against Arnold W. Schluter as a result of an accident which occurred Nov. 14.

Those filing the suits Saturday were C. E. Prather and Mrs. Nora Barnard. Prather is asking $41,000, and Mrs. Barnard is asking $25,000 damages.

The petitions allege that the accident was caused by Schluter's negligence. The accident occurred at the corner of Goliad and Second Streets. Schluter was driving north, and Mrs. Prather was driving west.

Mrs. Barnard was a passenger in Mrs. Prather's car. Both women claim damages totaling $25,000 each. Prather is asking $15,000 damages for his car.

It is alleged that Schluter was negligent in not keeping proper lookout, in using excess speed, in not applying brakes, and in not granting right-of-way.

George Thomas is attorney for Prather and Mrs. Barnard.

Two Enlist In The Air Force

Two men enlisted in the Air Forces here this week. They were James C. Thomason and Leonard J. Hartley.

Thomason, who lives at 1808 E. 15th, was sent to Lackland Air Force Base on the 19th. He was a lineman for the telephone company.

Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben G. Hartley, left Big Spring on Nov. 20. He was also shipped to Lackland, where he will begin a four year tour.

Thomason's wife will make her home in Brown field. Thomason enlisted for four years and took his physical on Sep. 30.

Hartley graduated from Big Spring High School and spent one semester at Howard County Junior College. He lettered in high school football two years. He was a staff photographer for The Herald before entering the service.

Disease List Remains Big

Prevalence of contagious diseases remains widespread over the Big Spring area during the past week, the Big Spring-Howard County Health unit reported Saturday.

The health unit compiled physicians' reports showing diagnosis of 89 cases of nine different communicable diseases, and two hospitalizations were so "swamped" that doctors were unable to submit reports on their week's work.

Heading the list of contagious infections again were diarrhea, influenza and gastroenteritis.

There were 10 cases of flu, 25 of gastroenteritis and 15 of diphtheria.

Other infections reported and the number of each were gonorrhea, four; tonsillitis, eight; tuberculosis, one; pneumonia, seven; hepatitis, one, and bronchitis, eight.

Blood Type Cards To Be Distributed To 630 Local Donors

Blood-type cards will be sent out sometime this week to the 630 people who contributed blood in last week's Red Cross drive.

Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, director of the Howard-Gilkeson Chapter of the Red Cross said that blood types of all contributors would be sent to her Monday or Tuesday.

She in turn will make out cards on each contributor and mail them out. "Each contributor will know his RH factor and blood group by the end of the week," she said.

A permanent file will be kept in the local Red Cross office, and people can always check the file to find their blood types if they lose their cards, Mrs. Sawtelle said.

Mrs. Sawtelle reported that all the blood given here last week has already been processed for men on the fighting fronts.

Youth Only Slightly Injured When Struck By Auto Near Home

Jerry Wayne Parks, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Parks, 1505 Gregg, escaped without serious injury Saturday afternoon when struck by a car in front of his home.

Police said Jerry Wayne was hit by a car driven by J. J. Phillips of Sterling City. They said the youngster apparently dashed out into the street in front of the auto.

He was taken across the street to Cowper Hospital for examination. He was not hospitalized.

Two other Saturday traffic mishaps, both at 6 on Gregg, were reported by police.

Officers said S. L. Lujan, 703 N. W. 8th, and Mrs. Sidney Boyles, 1307 Runnels, were drivers of vehicles in collision at Third and Gregg. They reported Cruz L. Martinez, Cotulla, and Nazario Miraco, Snyder, were operators of cars which collided at Fifteenth and Gregg.

Panic Took Hold Of Crowd And 492 Died Back In '42

By JOHN B. KNOX

BOSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Just ten years ago—on Nov. 28, 1942—sudden fire spread with bomb-burst speed through the inflammable decor of Boston's crowded Coconut Grove night club and killed 492 people.

The nation has been at war a year, but the first edge of excitement had worn off. The principal news of the day was the war—but that was overseas. It looked like the only local news on the front pages of Boston Sunday newspapers would be the smashing victory of the visiting Holy Cross football team over Boston College.

Jubilant Holy Cross fans had flocked, with others, to the Coconut Grove night club on the fringe of the theater district.

Thousands of persons were jammed at mid-evening in the night club which had normal accommodations for 600.

The several bars were crowded. Waiters struggled between too crowded tables. The tinkle of a piano and the voice of a girl singer came through the din.

Walls gay with artificial leather and ceilings covered with cloth, imparted a sense of luxury. Artificial palm trees with artificial leaves grew from the floor.

Guests glancing at watches saw the hands slipping past 10:15 p.m. time for the floor show to begin.

In a darkened spot, close to the wall and ceiling, a boy climbed up to replace a burned-out electric bulb on an artificial palm.

Orchestra leader Mickey Alpert raised his baton.

Small wonder that few heard those first confused shouts. From a corner of the Merry Lounge in the basement, shouts that sounded like "fire!"

Lights went out. A panic-swept crowd swayed, groped, tipped over tables and chairs, fell over the screaming fallen.

Fire flared in hungry lines along the gay fabrics tacked to the plywood ceilings. Burning cloth fell in flaming streaks on the crowds.

The crowd choked on hot smoke and acrid fumes.

People jammed both sides of a revolving door. Whether it was locked was never determined.

Others ran to an exit on the other side of the building and piled against a door which swung inward—and couldn't be opened against the crowd's pressure.

There they died behind those doors—200 piled up behind one door, 100 behind the other.

An employe tugged one side of a double door open and a fair share of those who escaped fought their way out through that. A few scrambled out of a small cellar window. Some climbed through small high windows in toilet rooms.

A few climbed stairs to second-floor dressing rooms and escaped.

through windows onto an adjacent roof.

Nearby restaurants and garages became morgues filling with dead.

At 11 p.m., less than 40 minutes after the first alarm, victims poured into city hospitals in a stream averaging one every 11 seconds.

What caused the fire? Why did it spread with such frightening speed? Why did it kill so quickly? No one ever found all the answers.

First, there came knowledge of burn treatment techniques which was to benefit untold thousands in the global war sweeping the world.

Second, there came an overdue public awareness of fire hazard.

Some 12,500 persons die each year in fires in the United States and Canada.

"If hundreds of people must die in fires," comments Moulton, speaking as a fire safety engineer, "it's better if the hundreds die together in one fire, for it focuses attention on fire safety."

gains since the Coconut Grove fire of ten years ago. "Quite an improvement in the national fire prevention picture, but not the degree of improvement we had a reasonable right to expect."

How can you, as an individual, safeguard your own safety?

1. Always be prepared for fire. Choose exits when you enter a building. Report obstructed exits or fire hazards.

2. Don't remain in a burning building. Fires can swiftly spread, and poisonous gases form.

3. Don't enter a burning building except to save life.

4. In a panic-rush, keep out of the crowd heading for the main exit. Try to find another way out. Above all, keep calm.

5. If forced to remain in a smoke-filled building, the air is usually better near the floor. If you must dash through smoke and flame, hold your breath.

6. A temporary refuge may be secured behind any door. Even a thin, wooden door will temporarily stop smoke and hot gases and may not burn through for several minutes.

7. Do not jump from upper-story windows except as a last resort. Many have jumped to death while firemen were bringing rescue ladders.

8. If burned in a fire, report for medical treatment at once. Many seemingly minor burns, or smoke inhalations, have later caused death.

LABOR

tee meets in Atlantic City in preparation for the annual convention. The convention, starting Dec. 1, officially will elect a CIO president.

The CIO was born in 1935 in a split-up of the AFL. Since that time repeated attempts have been made to bring the AFL and the CIO back together.

But the closest the two organizations have ever come to unity was not close at all. In late 1950, the United Labor Policy Committee was formed to protect labor unions' interests in the brand new defense mobilization program. The major effort was to see that organized labor was taken into the program on a policy-making and operational level; and to fight for a wage policy under the new wage-price controls program which would satisfy organized labor.

No Distinction Made On Term Gain, Loss In Income Taxes

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you've picked some lemons in the stock market this year, they'll all look equally sour when you get around to balancing your losses against gains for income tax purposes.

The new revenue act makes no distinction between long-term and short-term capital losses—that is, losses on securities you held for six months or more and those you sold in less than six months.

Under the old law, you could deduct 100 per cent of your short-term losses but only 50 per cent of your long-term losses.

That encouraged security market customers to do just the opposite from what the framers of the Revenue Act wanted them to do.

The Revenue Act exerts a somewhat stabilizing influence on securities markets by taxing only half the capital gains if stocks are held for six months or more before selling.

If held for less than six months, the gains are taxed 100 per cent—giving Uncle Sam a fat cut from the melon when the taxpayer gets a quick profit.

In what appears now to have been oversimplification or oversight, the tax legislators treated losses the same way—allowing the taxpayer full loss if it was short-term but only half the loss if it was long-term.

So when the act was amended in 1951, effective this year, it provided that all losses could be fully deducted. They can be used to offset capital gains for tax purposes, and if they exceed the capital gains for the year, up to $1,000 of the loss can be deducted from ordinary income.

Here's the way the Revenue Act works for Smith, who nets $8,000 a year from his law practice:

He made a killing this year in Blue Gulch Uranium shares, buying in February and selling in October, making a long-term capital gain of $2,000.

As the price of the stuff began to zoom in May, Smith got excited and bought some shares of Magna Queen Foolsgold. Foolsgold promptly began a long drop, until he had a loss of $1,500, when he sold it. This was in October—a short-term capital loss.

On his income tax form, Smith will add the $2,000 gain to his $8,000 income, then deduct the $1,500 loss. Next he will figure his net capital gain, $2,000 minus $1,500, or $500. Deducting half of that, or $250, from the total, he will have left a taxable income of $8,250.

If Smith had had the same lurid experiences in the market last year, the law at that time would have left him a taxable income of only $7,500, because he could have balanced 100 per cent of his short-

Wooden Forms Placed For New Courthouse

Wooden forms for the majority of the posts on the first floor of the new Howard County Courthouse were in place Saturday.

Olen Puckett of the architectural firm of Puckett and French stated that cement would be poured into the forms early this week.

The posts leading to the second floor will also contain reinforcing steel. Workers completed pouring cement on the first floor Thursday.

Two score boys will be participating in the program for Cub Pack No. 29 when it convenes at 7:45 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria.

They will be developing the theme "Faith of Our Fathers," a series of skits, said Jack Alexander, Cubmaster. The Cubs have their own costumes.

Five dens are due to have 42 boys taking part, he said. The pack is sponsored by Cosden Petroleum Corp.

Steel Outlet Is Opened In Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Opening of a Houston retail outlet for distribution of steel products in the Southwest was announced today by the United States Steel Supply Company, the warehouse division of U. S. Steel.

City Building Total For Year Well Over $5 Million Figure

City building total for the month of November is approaching the three-quarter-million-dollar mark, Building Inspector F. W. Bettle reported Saturday. Total for the year is in excess of 5.5 million.

Accounting for most of the November total are two major building projects—the new office building at Second and Scurry ($450,000) and the Masonic Temple Building in the 100 block of East Third ($468,000).

Seven permits issued Saturday boosted the total another $28,000. M. S. Goldman secured permits for construction of seven $4,000 residences in the Avion Village, near Webb Air Force Base.

Thief Must Have Been Hungry One

The thief who broke into a north-side residence Friday night may have been cold and hungry.

Police said he stole a jacket, some fried chicken and a half-gallon of milk, along with a piggy bank containing about 50 cents. The burglary occurred sometime before midnight, said Mrs. Underwood, of 600 N. Gregg, who reported the offense.

In Pleistocene times, a species of ground sloth as large as a rhinoceros existed in the Western Hemisphere.

Many Area Men In Service Due To Be Home During Year

A good percentage of the Big Spring men who have enlisted or been drafted into the service during the past year can expect to be home either Christmas or New Year's.

Sergeant A. M. Burt, local recruiter, said Saturday that Army and Air Force training activities will be suspended from Dec. 2 to Jan. 5. He said Christmas and New Year's leave would be granted to the maximum possible number of military personnel.

However, Sgt. Burt noted that basic training would be continued in order to enable the service branches to meet commitments. So those men from Big Spring taking basic training will probably not make it home during the holidays.

However, Burt said that commanders are authorized to grant passes on Christmas and New Year's Day to basic trainees.

15 Certificates For Fly Control School Are Presented Here

Fifteen persons earned certificates on completion of the fly-control school conducted here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by the State Health Department and the Texas Water and Sanitation Foundation.

Enrollment for the school was 22, but seven persons received only two days of the training. Public officials from Levelland, Big Lake, Sterling City, Midland, Odessa, Stanton, Lamesa, San Angelo and Big Spring were present for the school.

Traffic Mishap Is Reported Saturday

An accident at 19th and Nolan Streets Saturday evening resulted in two damaged automobiles, but no one was seriously injured.

A car driven by Edgar Meeks of Dallas was going west on 10th, and another driven by H. C. Powell of Lamesa was going north on Nolan.

Meeks' car was damaged on the front end, and Powell's was dented on the right front fender. Mrs. Meeks was bruised slightly, officers said.

"Flying frogs" that glide like flying squirrels are found near the mouth of the Amazon River, says the National Geographic Society.

YOUTH THINKS ONLY OF DAD AFTER MISHAP

HOUSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Bobby Leving, 15, didn't want his dad to know about an accident. Bobby had just lost his right arm.

"Please don't tell my dad as it will worry him too much," the youngster told his junior high school coach, Bert Butaud, while being rushed to a hospital.

The right arm was wrenched from Bobby's body when it was caught in a spinning dryer at the school's laundry. The youth had been assisting in washing athletic equipment.

Butaud was credited with probably saving Bobby's life by applying a tourniquet to stop the bleeding.

The coach said Bobby apparently stumbled as he started to remove clothes from the dryer.

Famine Faces Libya As Rain Is Badly Needed

By TOM STONE
TRIPOLI, Nov. 22 (AP)—Unless Libya is blessed by plentiful rains within two weeks, 1,700,000 inhabitants will face widespread famine next summer.

The fall rainy season is long overdue and the land is so hard that crude stick plows, drawn by camels, are unable to scratch the surface.

Libya, one-fourth the size of the United States, depends almost entirely upon wheat and barley for subsistence. Tribesmen fear that if it doesn't rain soon they will be unable to plant in time for next year's crop.

They have watched the cloudless skies for weeks with Moslem prayers for rain on their lips. And if the drought continues, the country can be saved only through foreign aid, meaning the U. S.

Besides the agony of hunger, the country would suffer an economic loss of more than three million dollars if the drought continues. But in a country so poor as Libya, the importance of bread is supreme.

Rainfall in Libya, where there is not a single river or stream, rarely follows the same seasonal pattern. Even within a season rainfall is erratic. Deep winters, some dating to the old Roman times, might provide enough drinking water to last.

ALICE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hearing on the motion for a change of venue in the trial of Mirko Sapet and Nago Alaniz, charged with murder in the assassination of Jacob Floyd Jr., Sept. 8, will be held here Dec. 5.

District Attorney Homer Dean said Judge Arthur Klein had confirmed the date.

Alaniz, Alice attorney and law partner of District Attorney-elect Raeburn Norris, and Sapet, San Antonio bar owner, were charged with conspiracy as well as murder.

Floyd's father, prominent Alice attorney and political leader, said his son was killed by mistake, that the killers were after him.

In the examining trial of Alaniz and Sapet, Floyd testified Alaniz told him at a secret rendezvous that the men behind the plot to kill him were afraid he was going to support a write-in campaign for District Judge Sam Reams.

A write-in campaign for Reams, defeated in the primary election, by Jim Wells County Judge Woodrow Laughlin, was held in the general election, but the result was unchanged.

GOP

possible candidate for the nomination in 1960, his position will be weakened with them.

At this point, there are plenty of relatively young men within the GOP who have their eyes on 1960, although most of them would deny it publicly.

Vice President-elect Richard Nixon probably considers himself one of these. The vice presidency seldom offers the right kind of political opportunity, however, except in cases of succession because of death.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who comes back into the political limelight as Mutual Security administrator, is a veteran seeker of the nomination. He, too, is young enough to wait until 1960.

From his expected post as a sort of assistant president to Eisenhower, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts can be expected to keep his eyes open for future political opportunities. Sen. William Knowland of California wants to be GOP floor leader, a position that might project him into the presidential picture later.

Nixon, Stassen, Lodge and Knowland could be said to belong to the same wing of the party which claims Dewey's membership. But few politicians believe any of them would deny Dewey's influence to become dominant in the new administration. If that would clash with future ambitions of their own.

The Taft wing's principal prospective candidate just now is Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois. Taft owes Dirksen some political debts and could be expected to shove the Illinois senator along, wherever possible.

In a class by himself is Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, who is suspected by his colleagues of harboring presidential ambitions.

Confronted with a deep, if not too publicly visible, division within his party, Eisenhower apparently faces a difficult task to achieve a balance that will guarantee him maximum support for his program.

Jew 'Confesses' At Red Treason Trial In Vienna

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 22 (AP)—Red Czechoslovakia's purge court, conducting a treason trial whose anti-Jewish overtones may be aimed at wooing the Arab world to communism, today heard a voluble confession of conspiracy from Arthur London, Jewish former deputy foreign minister.

The Prague radio blared out details as the fourth of the 14 defendants told the court he wanted to restore Czechoslovakia to the Western camp and worked to fill important posts in President Klement Gottwald's government with "anti-democratic, Trotskyite elements."

Rudolf Slansky, deposed secretary general of the Czech Communist party, led off Thursday with a detailed plea of guilty to charges he had plotted murder, treason, sabotage and anti-Soviet activities for 25 years.

London's old boss, former Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, and a Jewish former backstage operator of communism, Bedrich Geminde, recited similar sins yesterday against the party and the government.

London, 37, is one of the "London group" of Communists, as is Clementis. They spent most of World War II in the West.

The Prague radio quoted London as saying he was a Trotskyite who conspired with Slansky to oust Gottwald's regime and swing the nation away from its Eastern orbit. It continued:

London admitted that Slansky, who is accused of placing his Jewish friends in high positions, helped him get the job as deputy foreign minister in 1948. London then worked with Slansky and Geminde to fill other key jobs with defendants.

All but three of the 14 defendants are Jews. The three are Clementis, a former member of the party Presidium named Josef Frank and Karol Svab, former deputy minister of state security.

The charge sheet makes it plain the Jews are prime targets of the trial, the biggest Communist show of its kind since the Moscow purge of the 1930s.

Western diplomats in Vienna speculated that the trial is being staged with an eye on the reaction of the Arab nations, technically still at war with Israel. It is a significant manifestation of a growing anti-Semitism in the Soviet sphere.

The Western diplomats said Czechoslovakia appears intent on estranging her relations with Israel and Romania and Hungary may do so, too, if they bring to trial Jewish-born Ana Pauker, former Romanian foreign minister, and Erno Gero, demoted Hungarian state planning minister.

All such steps, these sources said, would help to picture Russia and her allies as anti-Jewish in the eyes of the Arabs.

The Jerusalem radio station, "Voice of Israel," today predicted a rift in the hitherto relatively smooth Israeli-Czech relations. Its commentator characterized the Prague testimony as a mixture of the fictional "protocols" of the elders of Zion, Arabian nights and modern detective fiction.

Brothers Involved In Auto Accident

A traffic mishap at Ninth and Main early Saturday turned out to be a family affair.

Two Vealmoor men, brothers, were drivers of vehicles involved in a minor collision, police said. They were identified as J. A. and Bud Smith.

Officers said one of the Smith cars stopped for the red blinker light at the intersection and the other machine struck the rear of first vehicle. J. A. Smith, shaken up in the accident, was taken to Medical Arts Hospital but was discharged after examination.

Courthouse Elm Is Decorated For Yule

The old Chinese elm tree on the Courthouse lawn at the corner of 3rd and Main was decorated with Christmas tree lights Saturday.

Workers stated that the lights would not be turned on until Dec. 2. Additional stringers were also placed across several Big Spring streets.

World A Bit Safer, Retiring Envoy Says

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador to all 48 of the United States, neared the end of his action-packed American career today with the conviction that the world is a little safer now than when he came here 4 1/2 years ago.

A British-American partnership able to withstand even the shock and apparently a little sad about leaving.

The lanky college professor has been probably the busiest diplomat in the capital since his arrival here in May, 1948. In the first place there is undoubtedly more business to be done day in and day out between the British and American governments with their close and parallel interests in world affairs than between the United States and any other country.

In the second place Franks has nourished the notion that he was Britain's representative not only to the District of Columbia but to all 48 states. He has visited all of them and spoken and held news conferences in all of them, according to his own recollections.

At the time he was assigned to Washington by the Labor government of Prime Minister Clement Attlee, he had a career that consisted in part of having been a philosophy professor at Glasgow University, provost of Queens College at Oxford and a wartime economics official. This was hardly the usual training for a diplomat but Franks got into diplomacy through it, nevertheless, for he was one of the British delegation which in 1947 helped shape Europe's reaction to the Marshall Plan for European recovery.

By contrast Franks' successor who will come here at the end of the year, Sir Roger Makins, is a career diplomat of wide experience.

Franks feels that the change in ambassadors coincides with the beginning of what may be a new era in British-American relations. His feeling is partly due to the fact that a new government is coming in the United States whose policies are yet to be spelled out. But it is even more due to the estimate now general among European and American officials that the time of the big U. S. economic assistance to European countries is passing away and a time when some new form of co-operation must be worked out is emerging.

The British have been talking about substituting greater trade with the United States for American aid. Franks believes this is in fact the desire of the people as well as the government in England.

Wire Protects Germans Near Spandau Prison

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—British engineers and military police strung 350 yards of barbed wire outside Spandau Jail today to protect nearby German residents from molestation by Soviet prison guards.

The action was taken by order of British Maj. Gen. C. F. C. Coleman after two instances in which the Russian sentries arrested Germans for walking along a footpath leading to a number of garden houses within a stone's throw of the huge prison where Hitler's top lieutenants are serving sentences for war crimes.

Gen. Coleman first protested to the Russian authorities about the conduct of the guards, and then without waiting for a reply, decided on the barbed wire method of screening the footpath. Fifty British engineers and 20 military police strung the wire.

Soldiers of all four occupation powers guard the jail, which holds former Deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess, Admirals Erich Raeder and Karl Doenitz, banker Walther Funk, munitions expert Albert Speer, diplomat Konstantin von Neurath and Hitler youth leader Baldur von Schirach. They are serving from 10 years to life.

Negro Is Charged With Murder Try

WILKIE (Blue) McKinney, 52-year-old Negro, was charged with attempted murder in Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard's court Friday afternoon.

McKinney was arrested late Thursday afternoon after a gun fight in which another Negro, Hubert Miller, was injured.

Miller received treatment for gunshot wounds on the left side of the chest and face. It is believed he will lose a right eye as the result of the incident.

McKinney was arrested a few minutes after the gun fight at his home. Patrolmen Alvin Hillbrunner and Jack Shaffer, arresting officers, said he had a shot gun with him at the time of arrest.

McKinney was wounded with a shot gun. Officers also recovered a .38-caliber pistol which they said had been fired three times.

The gun fight took place at Garcia Grocery in the 1000 block of Northwest 4th Street, about 4:30 p.m. Thursday. McKinney is in County Jail pending examining trial.

Ad Valorem Taxes Are Now Distributed

Distribution of the ad valorem taxes collected in October in Howard County has been made, it was announced Saturday by County Auditor Chester O'Brien.

Total collections made through the office of the Tax Assessor-Collector was $649,745.11. Major distributions were as follows: county schools, $128,805.87; Howard County Junior College, $128,715.80; Knott school, $13,290.24; public schools, $97,118.56; and County, $243,290.67.

O'Brien stated that if it were not for the 3 per cent October discount, another $19,175.85 would have been collected. November discount is 2 per cent.

CHAPLAIN DUNKEL

Chaplain Dunkel Begins Duties At Webb Base

Chaplain (Lt.) Henry N. Dunkel, a parish priest, high school instructor, and coach of two undefeated football teams, is the new Catholic chaplain at Webb Air Force Base.

Father Dunkel, who arrived at the Big Spring installation Wednesday from Chaplains School at Fort Slocum, N. Y., succeeds Chaplain (Lt.) Edward Lawler. Father Lawler, the first Catholic chaplain assigned to Webb, has been alerted for duty in the Far East.

Webb Air Force Base is Father Dunkel's first military assignment since his entrance into the Air Force September 19.

A native of Dyersville, Iowa, Father Dunkel attended Xavier High School at Dyersville and Loras College at Dubuque, Iowa.

Following his graduation from Loras he entered St. Paul Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., where he was ordained to the priesthood in 1945.

After ordination, Father Dunkel was assigned to St. Columbkille Church at Dubuque where he served as parish priest and taught high school classes.

In addition to these duties, he also coached the high school football and baseball teams.

In his seven years at Dubuque, Father Dunkel mentored two undefeated football teams. A 20-game winning streak was finally snapped when St. Columbkille bowed by a one-point margin.

After his arrival on the base, Father Dunkel announced that Sunday Mass at the Academic Building Auditorium would again be celebrated at 9 a.m.

Solons' Offices Loaded Down By Novels, Books

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A flood of literature alleged to be obscene has deluged the offices of a special House committee investigating public sales of objectionable reading matter.

Chairman Gathings (D-Ark) said the material, mostly pocket-sized novels and "comic books, has been sent in from all over the country by citizens demanding that Congress do something to clean up book and magazine racks.

Gathings' committee will start public hearings here Dec. 1. During that week, spokesmen for religious groups, publishers, parents' organizations, the Postoffice Department and book distributors are expected to testify.

Congress created the committee last summer and directed it to find out what, if anything, should be done to prevent "indecent" literature from being made cheaply and easily accessible.

"The people are demanding that something be done to clean up this situation," Gathings said in an interview. "It is shocking to see how much obscene and lewd printed matter is available to anyone at a small price in almost any corner store in the country. It is a serious menace to the morals of our youth."

Gathings said he doesn't know what the committee can do about it, but suggested that it may recommend changes in existing law designed to curb the distribution of obscene matter.

Present law bans obscene matter from the mails and from interstate shipment by common carrier, but does not prohibit distribution by other means. Many of the objectionable books are distributed by private truck.

Sweetwater Judge Is Due To Preside Here

Judge A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater will preside in 118th District Court next week. Ten cases are on the docket to be tried.

Judge Mauzey is the judge of the 32nd District Court. He will preside in the absence of Judge Charles Sullivan, who is ill.

Five of the cases scheduled will be before a jury, and five are non-jury cases. A jury panel will meet at 9 a.m. Monday.

One criminal case will be tried. It is State of Texas vs. Elmer Terry. Terry has been indicted for allegedly attempting to bribe a juror in a recent arson case.

More than two-thirds of the ranchers and farmers in Borden County have already signed up with their community committees under the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Mrs. Doris Rudd, secretary in the PMA office at Gall.

Mrs. Rudd points out that while the deadline for signing up is December 1, the last day will really be Friday, November 28, since the office isn't open on Saturday and the last day of the 30-day month falls on Sunday.

Members of the Borden PMA county committee are Roy E. Reeder, chairman; W. L. Wilson Jr., vice-chairman, and Harold Ludecke, member.

Members of the Community One committee are M. Simpson, chairman; G. L. Isaacs, vice-chairman, and T. J. Rea, member. Of Community Two committee they are R. E. Crittenden, chairman; Frank Beaver, vice-chairman and C. C. Brown, member.

F. J. Cantrell is Borden County PMA administrative officer.

Up until the first of the month, Mrs. Rudd said, Borden County stockmen had received approximately 160 tons of the drought disaster hay and that generally they have been well pleased with it. More of the hay is en route and more or order. One car is expected at Lamesa. Other deliveries have been from the railroad at both Big Spring and Snyder, with most of it being shipped to Snyder.

The Borden counties have mainly ordered mixed hay, but some legume has also been purchased. No grass hay has been ordered from there.

W. T. (Billy) Long, ranching on Bull Creek in Borden County, says he has only had about four inches of rain all year.

Long, who is using a Charlie Creighton bull he purchased at an Abilene sale, now has a good bunch of nice young bulls, in good range condition. He might be persuaded to sell a few if any breeder is interested.

David Dorward, Gall druggist since 1901, will observe his 80th birthday anniversary next month. Looking back through the last 51 years he has supplied the medicine for many a man and many a beast.

His certificate as a practitioner of pharmacy was issued September 17, 1907, and is one of the oldest licenses, if not actually the oldest, in the State of Texas that is still in use. Mr. Dorward is now in his second building at the same location in Gall, and still has the only telephone in town.

Sue White's Hereford steer that was awarded the reserve champion ribbon in the open class at the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium (Baltimore) has gone on to Chicago for the International Livestock Exposition, November 29 through December 6.

The grand champion steer of the Timonium show was another Hereford, shown by a 16-year-old Ohio boy, was picked as open class champion over Sue's steer.

Reserve champion honors in the junior show went to a Hereford exhibited by a 10-year-old Maryland girl.

The steers were judged by Don Good of Kansas State College at Manhattan, who appears to be making a profession of show judging.

The 1,150-pound grand champion steer from Ohio was sired by MW Larry Domino 196th.

Triple purple ribbon honors went to Aberdeen-Angus at the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium.

The grand champion junior steer over all breeds was an Angus from Pennsylvania. A carload of Angus steers shown by a Maryland breeder displayed the top-winning qualities and took the championship honors in that division, and then a pen of five steers from the same breeder added the third grand champion ribbon to the breed.

A colorful and eventful program has been planned during the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago for the Aberdeen-Angus breeders. It will be the 80th annual meeting of the breeders of the Blacks. They will open their two-day breed program (December 2-3) with an informal gathering at the Palmer House. There will be a special luncheon at the Palmer House at noon Wednesday, December 3 for the wives and daughters, while the traditional past-presidents' luncheon will be held at the same hour in the Lipton Room of the Stock Yards Inn. The annual banquet will be held that evening.

Vet Hospital Patients Get HD Club Gifts

VA Hospital patients Friday received a large quantity of books, magazines, cookies, candy and toilet articles from the Santa Rita Home demonstration Club of Texon.

Six members of the club brought the gifts to the hospital, visited with patients and distributed some of the items while they were here.

The organization has as one of its 1953 projects the extension of assistance to hospitalized veterans. Mrs. O. E. Goble, one of the visiting members, said the trip to Big Spring was also for the purpose of finding out how the club best could serve the patients.

The Texon Home Demonstration has had as a project for several years the extension of assistance and service to a ward of elderly ladies at the Big Spring State Hospital. The VA Hospital project will be conducted in addition to this, said Mrs. Goble.

Other Texon visitors at the hospital Friday were Mrs. George Fell, Mrs. C. R. McCarty, Mrs. C. O. Fowler, Mrs. W. C. Diez, and Mrs. J. F. Womack. There are 21 other members of the Santa Rita Home Demonstration Club.

Dusters Nudge Reese, 68-66

Chuck Fields, former Louisiana Tech athlete, tossed in a field goal with four seconds remaining to provide Webb Air Base of Big Spring with a 68-66 victory over Reese AB of Lubbock here Friday night.

The game opened the 1952-53 season for the Dusters. The lead changed hands several times after the invading Rattlers had taken a 9-3 lead in the first down, however, and shot into the lead, 13-11.

Webb trailed 15 seconds before the game ended but Fields tied it up with a field goal.

Bill Heater paced WAB in scoring with 22 points.

Quarterback Club Meets On Tuesday

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday this week rather than Thursday. The meeting will be in the High School Cafeteria.

Officials of the club hope to have a larger turnout Tuesday night than ever before. Additional membership cards have been sold, they said.

At the Friday night game with Snyder, 70 members of the club lined up at the goal post to greet the Big Spring players onto the field.

Fathers of the ball players who were members of the club sat on the bench and wore the same numbers their sons did.

JAYHAWKS FACE BUSY SCHEDULE

Howard County Junior College, which has serious designs on its third straight Western Zone basketball championship, will play at least 13 practice games before plunging into league play against Odessa on Jan. 27.

The Jayhawks launch their season a week from Tuesday night—Dec. 2—at which time their host Decatur Baptist College.

HCJC's schedule calls for appearances in two tournaments, at Ranger and their own. The Ranger Meet is set for Dec. 19-20. The local show opens Jan. 1 and continues for three days.

HCJC's stock slumped slightly this week when two of the regulars, Casey Jones and Bobby Maines, wound up in sick bay.

The two may be ready for the Decatur game but are due to miss practice this week.

Jones is in the hospital, Maines is confined to his home.

Harold Davis is back at the helm of the Hawks after a year's leave of absence, which he spent with the US Marine Corps. Davis guided the locals to the Texas Junior College Conference championship two years ago.

The Hawks are again going to be bothered by a lack of overall height but prospects are brightest since the 1950-51 season. Six lettermen are back with the club.

Heading the list is Bobby (Dallas) Williams of Dallas, who led last year's club in point-getting with 403.

Also back are Jones, Maines, Captain Charley Warren, who was named to the All-State team last year, Richard Gilmore and Cecil Hogard.

Jones is from Odessa, Maines and Warren from Big Spring, Gilmore from Forsan and Hogard from Doyline, La.

Boistering the team are such boys as Jack Lee and Weldon McEireath, both of Big Spring; Rodney Cramer, Coahoma; Lonnie Muse, Odessa; Don Stevens and Johnny Randolph, both of Lamesa; Calvert Shortes and Charley Howle, both of Big Spring, and others.

Stevens rated the All-District 1-A team last year, at which time he was second high scorer in the loop. Muse sparkplugged the Odessa High School team as captain in 1951-52.

John Harvard Humbled, 41-14

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 22 (AP)—Yale's great Ed Molloy tossed four touchdown passes today as the Elis unleashed their most terrific scoring drive against Harvard in 68 years for a 41-14 victory in their 98th football clash.

While running his season's total to 15 payoff heaves, the uncanny Molloy completed two scoring overthrows to Ed Woodsum, his favorite target, a third to Frank Smith and another to Hubie Pruett. Those aerials ranged from three to 35 yards, the latter to Woodsum as the Elis ended their scoring in the third period.

The other Yale counters were provided by Jerry Jones, on a 36-yard drive through left tackle after nine minutes of play, and a three-yard smash by Pete Shears.

After Woodsum caught his 10th touchdown pass of the season, Yale amazed the packed 38,114 crowd by sending in team manager Charlie Yaeger to provide its 41st and final point—a pass from Molloy.

As Yale rolled up the score in the easiest possible fashion, its cheering section's roars increased to thunderous proportions but it became delicious after Yaeger, wearing unlisted number 99, trotted off the field to be mobbed by the Yale bench.

Bob Parcells had succeeded with four of his five placement conversion tries with Molloy holding, before Yaeger was given his unique distinction. Harvard's battered forces were bewildered when, with Parcells again back, Molloy jumped up, ran to the right and hit Yaeger in the end zone with a five-yard throw.

Eddie Stanky has been with five National League clubs but has never played for Philadelphia, his home town team.

BY 52-13 COUNT

Spartans Triumph Over Marquette

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 22 (AP)—Michigan State, hungry for the high count needed to clinch the mythical national championship, shattered the Marquette defense and went on a touchdown spree that added up to a 52-13 triumph here today.

The score represented the worst beating Michigan State had handed any team during the 2 1/2 years it took to notch 24 straight wins, the best big school record in the country.

Because a morning downpour left the field a muddy quagmire, Michigan State relied mostly on sheer, brutal power to make its nine touchdowns.

Fullback Evan Clonac and halfback Leroy Bolden made two touchdowns apiece. Five other assorted backs and ends also got into the TD act as MSC Coach Biggie Munn kept alternating his variety of backfields.

One Marquette score came in the first period when Alex Janikowski passed to Ron Drazewicki from the Michigan State 28, with the fleet-footed receiver racing untouched for the score. The other Marquette tally was made when tackle Frank Scaffidi intercepted a pass and went 27 yards for the touchdown.

After a fairly mild first period when only one MSC touchdown was made, Michigan State bucked down and scored three times in the second period, twice in the third and then added three more in the final quarter.

One sprint that looked like a touchdown, a 68-yard runback by safety man Jim Ellis, was called back by a penalty.

A crowd of 35,845 had expected a high-scoring game but no one anticipated that Michigan State would turn the game into a touchdown track meet.

Slonac started the fun by slamming through center to score from the 7-yard line in the opening period. Marquette passed for its touchdown and surprising to all, things were even 7-7 as the first period ended.

SMU, Baylor Play To 7-7 Deadlock In Mire At Dallas

Ponies Lose Title Chance

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Nov. 22 (AP)—Baylor and SMU exchanged kickoff touchdowns in the third period today to fight to a bitter 7-7 rain-soaked tie and hand the Southwest Conference football championship to Texas without further ado.

SMU had to win today to retain a chance at a tie with Texas for the title but Baylor not only stalemated the Methodists but missed touchdowns on three tumultuous drives and foiled a chance at a field goal late in the final period.

At that, however, it was a roughing penalty—and it was a very rough, free-swinging game—that set Baylor up for its touchdown. But a roughing penalty also helped SMU along on its drive that paid off with the tying touchdown in which little Sammy Stollenwerk, the nation's back of the week last week, did the engineering and the passing.

Bad blood arose in the second period when Don Goss, giant SMU tackle, had two teeth knocked loose by a "helmet block" on the part of Baylor halfback Jerry Coody. But the teams never came to blows. They just took it on each other with bone-jarring blocks and tackles.

A crowd of 30,000 huddled in the Cotton Bowl as a drizzle of rain fell throughout the game.

Until today SMU had a chance to tie Texas for the championship in the event Texas lost next week to Texas A&M in its final game. But now Texas can go on and lose to A&M and it won't make any difference.

SMU couldn't get past midfield in the first half but Baylor three times drove into scoring position. One surge reached the Methodist II but L. G. Dupre fumbled and end Harry Dean recovered for SMU on the eight to end the most serious threat.

One Baylor drive pounded to the Methodist 13 where Cotton Davidson tried a pass and end Bill Rippey intercepted in the end zone.

The other Baylor threat was a drive that swept to the SMU 27 mostly on a 49-yard pass gain from Davidson to end Charley Smith. But the Methodists rose up to throw the Baylor back 26 yards in losses and that ended that.

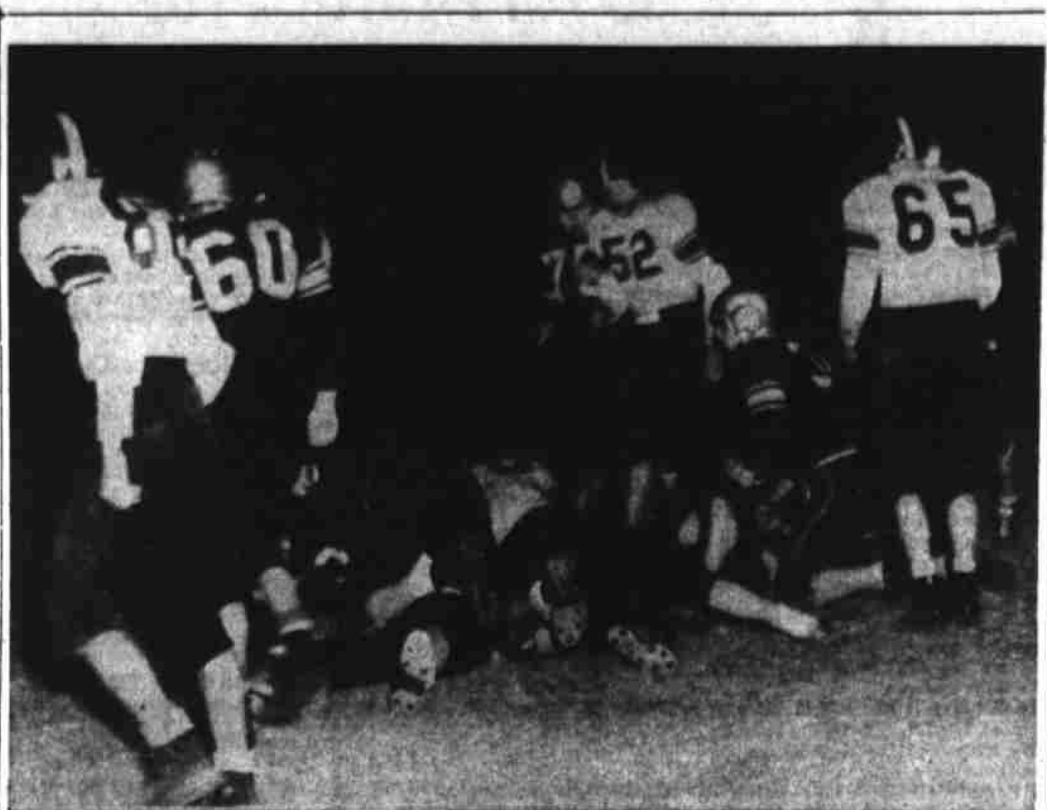

The Bears took the kickoff opening the second half and smashed 51 yards to a touchdown. Davidson's passing to Smith pushed the ball down to the Methodist 23 and smashes by Don Carpenter and Dupre got to the 16. Here SMU was penalized to its one-yard line, then to its one-half yard line for offense. Carpenter rammed left guard for the touchdown and C. O. Brocato converted.

SMU came right back to storm 71 yards in 15 plays for a touchdown. Sammy Stollenwerk generated and passed this drive along with Dale Moore going across from the Baylor two-foot line. Stollenwerk kicked the extra point.

A 15-yard roughing penalty against Baylor also figured in the Methodist drive.

Brocato tried for a field goal late in the game with the ball on the SMU 25. But Davidson fumbled the pass-back and Brocato never could get the ball off the ground.

Baylor romped to 116 yards on the ground and 107 in the air while SMU could make only 58 rushing, with 51 of that by hard-running Frank Eidson, the game's leading ground-gainer, and 68 passing.

Snyder On The March

Dan Burns is shown at the bottom of the heap at the conclusion of play which came in the midst of a Snyder drive for a score in Friday night's Big Spring-Snyder game. Charles Rose (60), Junior Suter (70), Buddy Cosby, on bended knee, and James Hollis, on top of the heap, all in black jerseys, are the Big Spring players distinguishable. At extreme left is Ned Underwood, Snyder. Other Snyder players are Robert Hagin (52) and Royce Pierce (65).

LAST HALF SURGE

Longhorns Gather Forces To Defeat Snyder, 28-13

Rocked on their heels by a spirited Snyder team in the first half, the Big Spring Steers regrouped their forces after the half time intermission to win going away over the Tigers here Friday night, 28-13.

The Longhorns left the field at half time trailing by a score of 7-0. Big Spring's motor simply wouldn't turn over during the first two periods and Snyder drove 66 yards early in the game for a TD to grab the lead.

Big Spring got going not long after hostilities were resumed in the third period, however, when J. C. Armistead scooted 50 yards to a Steer tally. It was a brilliant run. The junior back once was spun completely around by a Snyder player, yet kept his feet and continued on his way.

Jackie Grimmer had sent the scrappy Bengals to the fore by surging over from less than one yard away in Round One and Royce Pierce had split the up-rights for the extra point.

Donald Mac Richardson booted the extra point following Armistead's run to make it 7-7. There was never a doubt about any of Richardson's four conversions. He kicked them all high and, oh, so true.

If the Steers thought Armistead's run knocked the Bengals side-saddle, they had to think again.

With the wind to their backs, the visitors struck for another TD without losing possession of the ball following the kickoff.

Mixing passes smartly with deft off-tackle slants and end sweeps, the Tigers drove 56 yards for their second score. Dan Burns ambled the final two yards. Pierce was never able to get his try point away, however.

Armistead gathered in the ensuing kickoff and sprinted all the way to Snyder's 28 before he was finally flagged to a stop. It was a great piece of running on J. C.'s part.

The Steers methodically worked the ball down to the 14, from which point Bobby Hayworth fired a pass to Raymond Gistrap. Gistrap took the ball over his shoulder and beat the Snyder defenders to the flag. Richardson's boot put the locals ahead to stay.

That's the way it stood until the fourth, when the Steers got the wind to their backs.

Charley Rose, who played a great game, had intercepted a Snyder aerial shortly before the third period ran out. The Steers proceeded to eat up the yardage in big if not sensational chunks and Hayworth again lofted a pass to Gistrap, who caught it in the end zone for a Big Spring TD. Richardson's kick for the point was perfect.

Big Spring got going again midway in the fourth, when a Snyder punt wound up on the Tiger 31. From 19 yards away, Armistead weaved his way expertly around and through a half dozen would-be tacklers to tally, pushing the count to 27-13. Richardson again split the up-rights with the conversion try.

Big Spring substitutes saw a lot of action in the remaining moments of the battle.

The win was the second in league play for Big Spring, assuring the Steers of at least a fourth-place finish in the six-team circuit.

Gistrap played a great all-around game for the Longhorns.

Buddy Cosby, Rose, Armistead, Billy Martin, Norm Dudley, Carlisle Robinson, Louis Shipp, Jimmy Porter, Jimmy Ellison, Don Reynolds and Hayworth were some of the others who showed to advantage.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

What did the Big Spring High School coaches tell their charges during the half-time intermission Friday night that changed them from a lackadaisical outfit into a determined bunch of griders who changed the tide of battle against Snyder? "Boys, you've forgotten your fundamentals. You're not blocking and tackling." It was as simple as that.

Steer captains would probably be glad to take lessons in pregame coin tossing... They've lost the flip seven times in nine outings now... Snyder won the toss Friday night and elected to take the wind rather than receive... Big Spring got first choice only in the Breckenridge and San Angelo games and elected to kick off against Angelo... Bill Dorsey, the senior guard, and Back Doyle Maynard sat out the Snyder game... Dorsey was ill and Maynard still had a gimpy leg... Two of the unsung heroes in the Big Spring line this fall have been Charley Fox and Junior Suter, who have played consistent ball all season... Suter was especially sharp in the last quarter of Big Spring's game with Vernon, when the Steer forwards began to rock the Vernon ball carriers on their heels... When it was announced at the Sweetwater-Snyder game that Vernon might have to forfeit to Big Spring due to a failure of officials to show up, the roar of approval was deafening, unrivaled by any other development in the game... Sweetwater, needless to relate, still wants a piece of the championship... None of the backs chosen on the first team of the All-District 5-B football squad this year are quarterbacks, whereas all five of the signal harkers on the second team bark signals... Every coach, no matter how strong his club is, has to prepare himself mentally for a crushing defeat at one time or another... He usually takes it gracefully, although it is one of the toughest things to do... Bedford McClinton, perhaps Snyder's greatest track athlete of all time (and a fair footballer in the bargain), is now residing in Fort Worth.

Was Pro Ball Given Chance In Dallas?

Seems to me pro football wasn't given a dog's chance in Dallas, since the other teams refused to loosen up with player help... The National Football League commissioner, Bert Bell, seemed rather stuffy in saying pro ball wouldn't return to Texas... The NFL only wanted Dallas to pay $200,000 for debts the club incurred at the time it operated in New York, NOT Dallas... Texas colleges should retaliate by barring all pro football teams from their stadiums... After all, most of the money raised in those games goes out of the state... Ray (Shorty) Snyder, a local sports enthusiast, wants it known it was another Ray Snyder who helped call the Big Spring-Vernon game recently... Ray saw the game, though... The Odessa Golden Gloves boxing tournament is now set for Jan. 29-30-31... It previously was down for Jan. 15-16-17... There's serious talk at Wayland College that the school may cancel its athletic program, due to heavy financial losses... The school sponsors only men's and women's basketball teams but the lasses have played as far away as Mexico City... Look for West Texas to secede from the rest of the state if Oklahoma withdraws from the Big Seven and joins the Southwest Conference... Texas Tech has long campaigned for entry into the loop, without success.

Fem Tournament Is Down For April 22

If the Big Spring Women's Invitational Golf Tournament is held in 1953, it will begin on April 22 and continue for four days... The lady golfers will decide the first Friday of next month if they will resume the meet, and indications are they will... Kid Popoff has been at it again... That would be Ben Peeler of the Odessa paper, who says pro baseball is probably doomed here, now that Pat Stacey has forsaken the town... Peeler adds that it was Stacey's remarkable ability that kept the club here solvent with relatively scant attendance... Percentage-wise, Big Spring has outdrawn Odessa every year and is THE ONLY CITY in the league which hasn't finished in the red at least one season... The bear stories about Big Spring's attendance are mostly poppycock... Nothing definite of that Pecos venture into pro baseball yet... They're still talking about building a park... Chances are, if baseball survives in this area, the Longhorn and WT-NM Leagues will have to merge in two or three years... When girls' basketball teams representing Big Spring High School and HCJC played here last week, a Negro girl made her appearance in the HCJC lineup, probably the first time that had happened in the history of the state... Byron (Santone) Townsend, the ex-University of Texas grider, is now in the Army... Huck Doe, the local baseballer who played for Mattoon in the MOV League last season, is a medic at a Virginia Army Base.

Donnie Duncan took to the air in the second period to get Robert Lee back in the game. He tossed a ten-yard pass to Norman Roberts for the score. The try for the extra point failed.

BLOCKED PUNTS PAVE WAY

Rice Owls Shock Purple At Houston, 12 To 6

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Two blocked punts paved the way for a pair of touchdown passes to end Jack Day as the Rice Owls defeated TCU 12 to 6 today in a dull Southwest Conference football game.

TCU had taken a brief first quarter lead on a short plunge by fullback Malvin Fowler but saw all its second half threats stopped by Carl Johnson, alert Rice halfback who intercepted three passes deep in Rice territory.

The Rice touchdown plays were good for 27 and 15 yards, and the one that broke a 6-6 deadlock was the first aerial attempt in the young varsity career of sophomore quarterback Atchley Proctor.

Junior quarterback Leroy Fenstermaker hit Day for the first touchdown. It came on the first play after Rice had broken through to block fullback Ray McKown's punt on the Frog 27.

Fowler's plunge from the 1 for TCU's score came five plays after linebacker Bobby Meachern had intercepted a Rice pass on the third play and returned 21 yards to the Rice 13.

A strong Rice defense that allowed the Frogs only 5 net yards rushing forced TCU to take to the air in the second half. Johnson's interception that hurt the most was made on the Rice goal line with four minutes remaining. The Frog drive, on McKown's passing arm, had carried from the TCU 29 to the Rice 12.

McKown, with 18 completions in 34 attempts, finished the day with a net of 182 yards passing. Fullback Bob Garbrecht was Rice's leading ground gainer with 62 yards in 18 carries, but fullback Kosse Johnson was only a yard behind in 19 carries.

The third quarter blocked punt by Day actually led only indirectly to the winning touchdown. Rice recovered on the Frog 17 and drove to the 1 before losing the ball on downs. McKown's punt from the end zone was returned 25 yards to the TCU 23 by Rice safety Horton Nearstar.

Proctor moved in at quarterback at this point after Fenstermaker had injured an ankle on the play that moved to the 1. Three line plays carried to the TCU 15 before Proctor connected with Day for the score.

TCU 6 0 0 0-6
Rice 6 6 0 0-12

SCARBATH STOPPED

Terrapins Kayoed By Alabama, 27-7

By HENDRIX CHANDLER

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 22 (AP)—A fired-up Alabama football team handed mighty Maryland its second upset in a row today with a furious ground attack that overwhelmed the Terps, 27 to 7.

The victory, eighth of the year for the Crimson Tide against only two defeats, gave Alabama a big push toward an expected Orange Bowl bid.

Maryland, favored to win by a touchdown despite its loss to Mississippi last week, couldn't get its offense going in the face of the terrific line play by the 'Bama forward wall.

The Terrapins' all-America quarterback candidate, Jack Scarbath, had only occasional success with his tosses. Maryland's only score came on a 25-yard pass from Scarbath to Lew Weidensaul.

Clem Hobson, Crimson Tide quarterback, best known for his passing game, turned in a surprisingly good running game to spark the 'Bama ground attack in the opening stages.

Power runners Bobby Marlow, Bobby Luna and Tommy Lewis then joined in the four-touchdown march.

Bart Starr, freshman quarterback, took an 11-yard loss from Luna for the first score. Two other Crimson Tide touchdowns came on one-yard smashes after long sustained drives.

Cecil Ingram Alabama safety man, raced across for the fourth Alabama score in the closing seconds with a 22-yard runback of an intercepted Scarbath pass.

A near capacity crowd of 33,178 watched the game.

The famed 'Bama running attack slipped into high gear midway in the third period. Taking the ball on its own 27 after an exchange of punts, the Tide marched to a touchdown in 13 plays. Hobson, using his pass as a threat, picked up 40 yards in the scoring drive by running with the ball.

An exchange of fumbles in the second quarter paved the way for the second 'Bama score, Alabama right end Ed Culppepper fell on Scarbath's fumble on the Tide 38. Nine plays later Lewis bucked over from the 1 for the touchdown.

A bit of quick thinking by Marlow saved the ball for Alabama in its second touchdown drive. With the ball on the Maryland 2, Marlow was trapped on the 30, but he arranged to get off a pass that was ruled incomplete. Lewis punched over three plays later.

NATIONAL CHAMPS

Wharton To Play In HC Tourney

Wharton Junior College, the 1951-52 National JC champion, will be one of the eight teams competing in the first annual Howard County Junior College Basketball Tournament, which will be held Jan. 1-2-3.

Harold Davis, HCJC coach and director of the meet, received word Friday that the South Texas team would be on hand for the big carnival, along with Del Mar JC of Corpus Christi.

Only one spot in the eight-team field remained to be filled today and that may be taken by Ranger JC.

Beside the sponsoring team, Kilgore, San Angelo, Odessa, Decatur, Wharton and Del Mar will be seen here.

Tyler JC, a past National champion, has indicated it would like to be included on future invitations to the meet. Previous commitments will prevent it from taking part in the first tournament.

The prize list to be offered in the HCJC Tournament is probably unrivaled anywhere in junior college ball. The awards will cost in the neighborhood of $250. All but a few dollars of that amount had been donated by Davis Saturday.

Premiums will go to the first, second, third and fourth place teams, as well as to each member of the championship club, the all-tournament squad and the coach of the four top quintets.

Lamesa Tornados Beaten By Sweetwater, 26 To 13

LAMESA — Sweetwater scrambled Lamesa's chances to win the District 1-AAA football crown by defeating the Tornados, 26-13, here Friday night.

James Butler put the Mustangs out in front late in the first period on an 18-yard gallop. Don Reagan failed in his effort to boot the point.

Angel Olvera counted the second Sweetwater TD on a 16-yard sprint and this time Reagan converted to make it 13-0.

After a scoreless third period, Lamesa got back in the game when Quarterback Johnny Jones bootlegged the ball across from the one. Leland Bartlett booted the point to make it 13-7.

Sweetwater came right back to score by driving 80 yards to pay dirty, with Olvera driving over from the six. Reagan booted the extra point to all but put the game on ice.

Sweetwater counted again, this time driving 85 yards after blunting a Lamesa surge. A 23-yard pass play from Joe Feagan to Mark Bishop accounted for the six-point.

Lamesa took to the spread with favorable results and Jones finally passed to Jimmy Robinson for a touchdown.

The loss was Lamesa's first in conference play and left the Vernon Lions all alone at the top of the heap.

Sweetwater outgained the Tornados, 269 yards to 240. Of the Pony aggregate gains, 200 came on ground plays.

Stanton Beaten By Denver City

STANTON — Denver City clinched first place in District 4-A football standings by drubbing the Stanton Buffaloes, 33-0, here Friday night.

Stanton held the Mustangs scoreless in the first quarter but Denver City came onto its own after that. Phillip Shook finally put the visitors out in front with a lunge from the one.

Charley Ward scored for Denver City shortly thereafter and the Ponies led at half tie, 13-0.

In the third, Richard Souter's pass to John Curtis paid off with a Denver City score. In the fourth, Shook counted again on a six-yard burst through the line and Mike Finley followed with a one-yard scoring thrust.

Denver City has already won the right to represent the conference in bi-district play against Abertashy.

Divide Triumphs Over Ira, 21-0

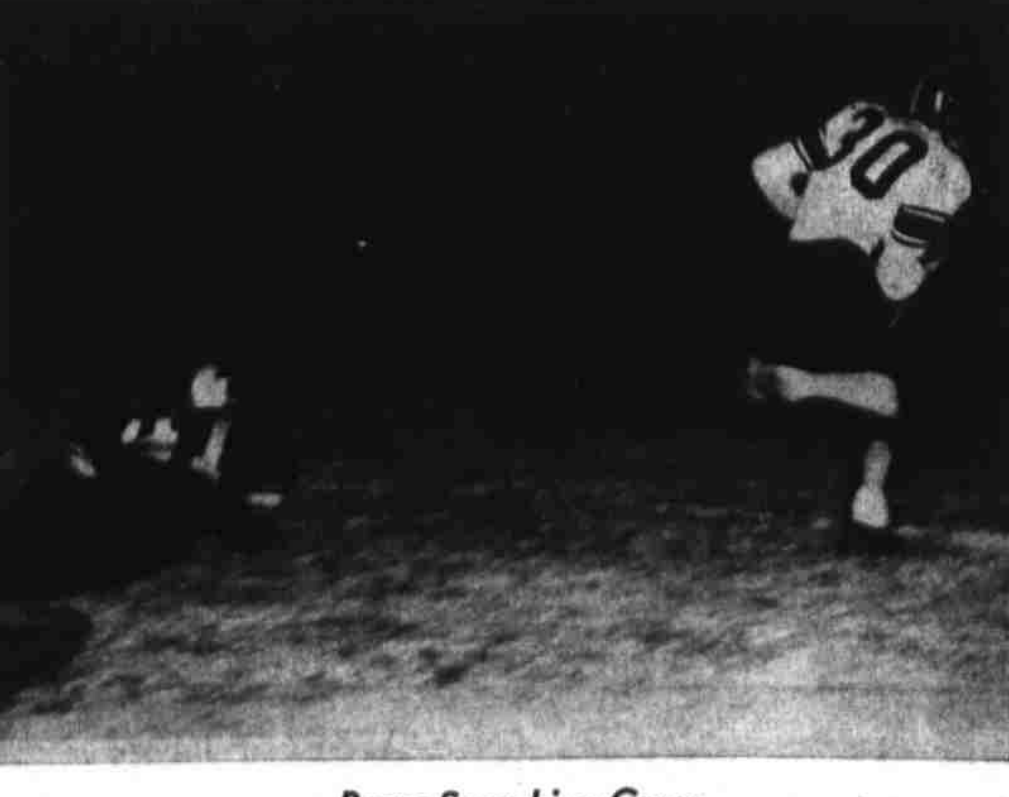

DIVIDE — Divide turned back Ira, 21-0, here Friday night to earn their first District 5-B football victory. Ira is still winless.

Benny Whitesides counted in the initial period, going 30 yards. J. R. Jones plunged for the extra point.

Whitesides scored again in the second round, moving ten paces this time.

Buster McDonald tallied the third Divide TD, before the half was out, recovering an Ira fumble in the end zone.

Divide got two more points in the fourth round when Alfred Oliver blocked an Ira punt.

Burns Scorching Grass

Dan Burns, (30), rips off a long gain for Snyder in the Big Spring-Snyder game played here Friday night. Don Sweeney (41) is the Steer on the ground. Charley Rose is barely visible in the background. Big Spring won, 28-13.

Southern Cal Wins Trip To Rose Bowl

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Mighty Trojans of Southern California struck down undefeated UCLA today on two electrifying, long-range plays and won the right to represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl against the Big Ten on the strength of a 14-12 victory.

The game-cracking plays, staged before a crowd of 96,869 fans gathered in Memorial Coliseum and millions of television fans around the nation, left the watchers and the fighting Bruins gasping. The first was a 70-yard run and lateral—a 10-yard run by right halfback Al Carmichael and a lateral to left half back Jimmy Sears, who ran 60 yards through free air for the Trojans' first touchdown in the second period.

The second came on a 72-yard burst on an intercepted pass made by All-American defensive tackle candidate, Elmer Willhoite, who moved his beefy 210-pound frame down the sidelines to the UCLA 8-yard line.

The Trojans, trailing 12-7 at this stage, scored four plays later on a short flip from the 4-yard line by Sears to Carmichael.

That sank the Uclans, their otherwise perfect record of eight straight wins, their two-year reign over the warriors of Troy, and sent the Trojans marching on to Pasadena for the 11th time in the history of the school.

Even before the final moments, however, UCLA hopes began to fade. Indeed, they started to vanish late in the third period when their halfback star, Paul Cameron, left the field for good, his shoulder re-injured.

Cocher Henry R. (Red) Sanders' Bruins got off to a 3-0 lead on a 22-yard field goal executed by halfback Peter Dailey. It was set up when Sears was hit by tackle Jack Ellena and fumbled the ball into the hands of Bruin end Myron Berliner.

The spectacular Carmichael-Sears double play erased the lead and gave Southern California a 7-3 margin.

UCLA literally kicked the Trojans into submission for their next points—a safety, for two, and a touchdown. In each case punter Bob Heydenfeldt, and then Cameron, put the foe in a hole with kicks that rolled dead on the 10, and the 1 yard stripes, respectively.

The safety came when Trojan fullback Harold Han was knocked down in the end zone after fumbling around with the ball by Berliner and a few other Bruins.

Cameron backed SC up to the 1-yard mark with one of his punts, and on the kickoff by Trojan Desmond Koch, UCLA took over on the Trojan 30.

Cameron passed to the 20 to Don Stalwick, SC lost five for offense, and Bill Stitts in two lunges at the huge Trojan line crashed through for the Bruins' only touchdown of the day.

That gave them a 12-7 halftime lead. It wasn't enough, as the come-from-behind Trojans demonstrated in the second half.

From the start to finish, this struggle between the neighboring school was as dramatic and tense as anticipated.

The battling Bruins seemed to have the better of things on defense in the early going. Donn Moomaw was the difference. And

Bertram, Bartlett Play On Wednesday

GEORGETOWN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Bertram and high scoring Bartlett, which is undefeated and untied, will clash in a bi-district game at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Taylor.

Bartlett ran up 488 points and allowed only 18 in winning and straight games and the Dist. 27B championships.

Bertram won the Dist. 28B title with a 6-2-2 record.

California Bears Subdue Stanford Indians, 26-0

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 22 (AP)—California's Bears fashioned three long touchdown marches and scored another on an intercepted pass today to roll up a 26-0 victory over the Stanford Indians.

An overflow crowd of 83,000 fans saw the Bears power 71 yards in the first quarter; travel the same distance in the third; and smash 84 yards to scoring turf in the fourth.

Lloyd Torchio, a bench-warming center most of the season, added the final touchdown in the last period when he snagged a pass thrown by Stanford quarterback Jack Gebert. The 193-pound six-foot-one inch sophomore, charged 38 yards for the score.

California's star fullback, Johnny Olaszewski, bowed out of college play in record-breaking style. He

It might be added that the absence of Co-Capt. Bob Van Doren, defensive tackle, doubtless hurt SC.

Willhoite's explosive, victory-netting charge down the sidelines came with abrupt suddenness. UCLA had taken the kickoff starting the second half, and Cameron led the way from his own 29 to the Trojan 18. Cameron, the big junior and All-American candidate, made the big gains on what seemed to be a scoring parade downfield. He swept off right end for 16, passed to end Ernie Stockert for 11, and then for 21.

Then the giant, 6-foot-1 Willhoite charged up to pick off a pass, and tear back along the sidelines before he was stopped on the 8.

LOCAL DOCTOR HAS DOG IN TRIALS AT ABILENE

Pepper Girl, a five-year-old pointer, will be on her best manners today in shooting-dog trials scheduled to be held at Hord's

Creek Reservoir south of Abilene today.

Pepper Girl, owned by Dr. Calvin Guilliams, who resides at 706 Lancaster Street in Big Spring and who works at the Veterans Hospital here, is one of 20 dogs entered in the trials.

Drawing for places in the meet was to be held at the Wooten Hotel in Abilene last night.

Wolfpack Wins 12-7 Verdict

COLORADO CITY.—Colorado City's Wolves edged the Merkel Badgers 12-7 in a SAA battle for fourth place—coming from behind in the third quarter with a two touchdown spurt and camping within in the Badger 45 during the fourth quarter.

There'll be prizes for the best three dogs in the meet. Judges will be H. T. Fleming and Fitz W. Pinkston.

The game had been set for last week but was postponed because of polo precautions. James Mancill, B string coach was hospitalized early in November with polo and doctors had advised the suspension of athletics for a two weeks period. Colorado City had forfeited a game to Stamford and had postponed the Merkel game in order to comply with the recommendation. Mancill was discharged from Shannon Memorial Hospital in San Angelo Friday, and arrived in Colorado City in time to see the season's closer.

Needless to relate, Dr. Guilliams thinks highly of his entry's chances to place in the trials but is aware the breaks and the draw will have a lot to do with the outcome.

Pepper Girl is an old hand at this sort of thing and has worked with Dr. Guilliams in the field numerous times in the past.

Yearlings Romp On Lamesa 11

A light crowd of about 1,000 braved the crisp 60 degree weather to see the game.

The Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings turned to the Single Wing with good results here Saturday night, defeating Lamesa, 20-6, in their final game of the 1952 season.

The Badgers opened the scoring with a 73 yard drive midway in the first quarter. Derrell Kelso, Badger Tailback, added 33 yards in short ground gains and two passes totaling 37 yards for 70 of the 73 yards. The 151 pound Badger was a top back and a threat all night. After rolling to the fifty, Kelso shot a pass to Jimmy Russell, good for 8 yards. Line plays carried to the 29 and Kelso lofted a pass to Thomas Watson who caught the ball on the five and raced over. Bill English converted.

Coaches Harold Bentley and Earl Peeler made use of a new backfield.

Milton Davis went 11 yards for the first Yearling score and Stormy Edwards added the point on a run. That was all the scoring until the third period.

C. F. Kilway sprinted 50 yards for the second Big Spring TD, going all the way on a reverse.

With four games to go, seven teams are fighting for the two play-off spots and a shot at the golden jackpot—the NFL championship. A loss now could be ruinous.

A pass from Davis to Edwin Faubion clicked for 25 yards and the third Yearling tally, after which James Washburn ran into the end zone for the extra point.

In the National Conference, the San Francisco 49ers and Detroit Lions (each 6-2) will try to break their deadlock against opponents which can—and probably will—prove troublesome.

Not until Big Spring counted its third touchdown did Lamesa find itself offensively.

The 49ers meet the rebounding Los Angeles Rams while Detroit faces the Chicago Bears.

Meanwhile, in the American Conference, the Cleveland Browns (6-2) attempted to protect their hold on first place against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Ann Richbourg was crowned as Junior High Football Queen between halves.

Midland Routed By Westerners

The Bears scored again early in the third, minus 71 yards in 17 plays. Willis sneaked through center for the last yard.

MIDLAND, Nov. 22 (AP)—The defending state champion Lubbock High School Westerners ran over the Midland Bulldogs, 48-0, to win the District 1-AAAA championship before a homecoming crowd of 11,000 today.

California started its third touchdown thrust from the Bear 16. Willis faked a pass and dashed 16 yards for 51 yards. Five more ground plays put the ball on the Indian one yard line. Reserve right half Paul Larson drove over.

The Westerners struck once in each of the first three quarters and ran wild in the final for four touchdowns.

ABILENE, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys exploded through the line to trounce the West Texas State Buffs, 25-6, today.

Junior end D. C. Andrews from Sweetwater paced the Pokes to the victory, snagging seven passes for two touchdowns and an even 100 yards. The flanker also intercepted a pair of Buff aerials, caused a fumble with a jarring tackle, blocked an extra point try and was the blocking leader for the Cowboys.

Aggie Fish Blow Chance To Win

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 22 (AP)—Texas A&M Freshmen missed a great opportunity to score late in the game but fumbled instead and the University of Texas Shorthorns won a 27-26 Shriners benefit game before 2,500 today.

A&M trailed by the final margin with 2:40 left when one of Charles Brewer's errant passes strayed into the hands of A&M's Billy Redding. From the Texas 19, A&M ran three plays for no gain and then Don Watson, who played a big part in the Aggie rally, fumbled and lost any chance to take over the lead.

The Shorthorns piled up a 27-7 lead midway of the third period.

Oklahoma Sooners Blast Nebraska Huskers, 34-13

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 22 (AP)—A mixture of superb passing and running under the generalship of quarterback Eddie Crowder gave Oklahoma a three-touchdown lead in the first quarter and the Sooners rolled on to blast Nebraska, 34-13, today for their fifth straight Big Seven Conference football crown.

Halfback Billy Vessels, one of 17 Sooners playing their last home game, scored three Oklahoma touchdowns before a homecoming crowd of 41,000 in a drizzling rain.

Merrill Green and Buck McPhail added Oklahoma's two other touchdowns to give the nation's No. 5 team a record of five victories and one tie, to Colorado, in the conference race.

Nebraska, obviously missing its star halfback Bobby Reynolds, who pulled a leg muscle in a signal drill yesterday, tried a variety of defenses against the hard charging Sooners, sometimes with success.

Kling's Entry Pacing Field

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Nov. 22 (AP)—Karl Kling's Mercedes Benz and a Lincoln piloted by Chuck Stevenson of Lynwood, Calif., took over the top spots in the Pan-American road race today as the five-day marathon moved swiftly toward the finish tomorrow.

Kling, roaring over the level plains from Durango to Parral and from Parral to this city, averaged close to 127 miles per hour and shot into the lead when Giovanni Bracco's Ferrari burned out its clutch. Kling has a 35-minute lead over Hermann Lang of Germany, also driving a Mercedes Benz, in second place.

Most Schoolboy Grid Champions Are Determined

By The Associated Press
Only five district champions remain to be determined in Texas decided this week as Classes AAAA and AAA complete their state play-off brackets.

The state championship play-offs in the other two classes—AA and A—open next week end.

There are 63 district champions in Classes AA and A. The last to be determined in Class AA were Saturday when Phillips beat Dumas 27-0 for the District 1 title and Stephenville won the slip and became the District 10 representative after a triple tie for the championship resulted between Stephenville, Comanche and Ranger.

Lubbock, defending champion of Class AAAA, won its way into the state playoff by whipping Midland 48-0 to sew up the District 1 crown.

Other district champions in Class AAAA are Austin (El Paso) which meets Lubbock in the bi-district round; Wichita Falls and Ray (Corpus Christi), who play at Corpus Christi Dec. 6, and John Reagan (Houston) and Baytown, who will set the site and date of their game Monday. The Dallas and Fort Worth districts decide their champions this week.

Class AAA has determined five district winners—Denison, Temple, Port Neches, Edison (San Antonio) and McAllen. Edison and McAllen have set their bi-district game for McAllen Dec. 5. Districts 1, 2 and 3 determine their champions next week end.

Class AA district champions and play-off games set are: Phillips vs Floydada, Childress vs Seymour, Stamford vs Tahoka at Stamford Nov. 27, Brownfield vs Seminola, Winters vs Stephenville, Mineral Wells vs Graham, Terrell vs Sulphur Springs, Clarksville vs Center, Jasper vs Ennis, LaVega vs Killeen at Temple Nov. 27, Belton vs Lockhart at Belton Nov. 28, Bellville vs Bay City, LaMarque vs French (Beaumont), Del Rio vs Yoakum, Aransas Pass vs Weslaco at Alice Nov. 28. There is no District 19 so Huntsville, champion of District 20, draws a bye this week.

Class A pairings: Lefors at Oton Nov. 27, Abernathy vs Denver City, Wink at Junction Nov. 27, Dublin at Haskell Nov. 27, Crowell vs Grapevine, Clifton vs Lancaster at Cleburne Nov. 28, Honey Grove vs Talco, Van vs White Oak, District 17 winner vs Newton, Groveton vs Cedar Bayou, Mart vs Hearne at Mexia Nov. 28, Burnet vs Smithville, Sealy vs Deer Park, Vandervilt vs Floresville, Hondo vs Taft, Bonaville vs Lyford at Fairburna Nov. 28.

Miles Decided By Christoval

CHRISTOVAL — Christoval warmed for its bi-district game with Eola by beating Miles in a practice tilt here Friday night, 30-8.

Jack Pardee scored four touchdowns for the Cougars. The other was made by Jib Cobb on a pass from Bill Allen.

Hurricane Attack Is Too Much For Arkansas Hogs

TULSA, Nov. 22 (AP)—Howard (the Wonder) Waugh, a battering fullback, and place kicker Tom Miner powered Tulsa's bowl-eager Hurricane to a 44-34 triumph over a surprising Arkansas team that went all out today in an effort to give resigned Coach Otis Douglas a parting win.

It was Waugh's 37-yard touchdown gallop in the fourth quarter that broke a 34-34 tie. Miner's subsequent conversion and 23-yard field goal shortly after that completed the Hurricane's margin of victory.

The spectacular scoring battle, touched off by a Tulsa tally only eight plays after the initial kickoff, saw the Hurricane roll up 490 yards to Arkansas' 445.

Waugh, who tops all rushers in the country, pounded out long gains for a total of 250 yards, a single game record for a Tulsa player.

Ronnie Morris, Tulsa's passing quarterback, completed six of 12 aerials for 93 yards and two touchdowns, his 17th and 18th scoring tosses of the season.

For Arkansas it was Capt. Buddy Sutton and Larry Hogue, the former carrying 21 times for 164 yards and the latter 18 for 96.

Lamar McHan, who threw 19 of the Razorback's passes, completed six for 81 yards but had three intercepted.

Tulsa's Miner had converted 39 times in 42 tries.

The Hurricane's heavy yardage was well over both total offense marks and rushing figures with which it leads the nation statistically.

An estimated 14,000 fans, dampened by an intermittent drizzle throughout the game, saw Arkansas bound into a 20-7 lead midway of the first quarter after Bobby Holladay had scored from the one to climax a 35-yard Tulsa drive at the contest's start.

Tulsa barged into the lead with an 80-yard drive, Waugh scoring from the three and just before halftime Morris hit Miner with a 19-yard pass to make the intermission score read Tulsa 28, Arkansas 20.

Hogue's two-yard touchdown plunge to start the final period deadlocked the count at 34-34.

But it was then Waugh's 37-yard scoot ended a 55-yard Hurricane surge to break the tie. And a little later, when a penalty stalled another Tulsa surge, Miner booted his insurance placement.

Arkansas 20 0 7 7-34
Tulsa 14 14 6 10-44

Arkansas scoring: Touchdowns, Troxell, Hogue 3; Sutton; Conversions, Mazza 4.

Tulsa scoring: Touchdowns, Holladay 2, Waugh 2, Miner 2; conversions, Miner 5; field goal, 1, Miner.

Ellenburger Is Topped High In East Pecos

The Ellenburger has been topped around 300 feet high in eastern Pecos County to an abandoned test which had shows in that section.

Metrick Petroleum Corporation and Midwest Drilling Company No. 1 Monroe, 660 from the south and 4,598.2 from the west lines of section 41-1, H&GN, survey, topped the Strawn at 6,786 but found the section barren. Then it topped the Ellenburger at 8,324 on an elevation of 2,191.

Operator took a drillstem test in the Ellenburger from 8,382-8,459 with the tool open for an hour. There were no shows. Currently, drilling is continuing below 8,491 in Ellenburger dolomite.

On the top of the Strawn, this prospector was 140 feet high to the same marker to the Tex Harvey No. 1 Monroe, a deep Ellenburger wildcat half a mile southwest and which had some interesting shows in the Ellenburger a year ago. The Tex Harvey exploration, however, was unable to develop commercial production.

The Tex Harvey No. 1 Monroe had around 250 feet of Ellenburger section before encountering the water table. On this basis, the Metrick Petroleum, et al No. 1 Monroe would have from 500 to 550 feet of section. It is about 300 feet high to the Tex Harvey test on the Ellenburger top.

Two Complete In Spraberry

Two Spraberry completions and a location were noted at the end of the week in the Glasscock-Midland areas.

Forest Oil Corp. No. 4-J TXL, 663.8 from south and 660 from west lines of the northwest quarter of section 47-37-3s, T&P, was staked as a Tex Harvey location in Midland County. It is contracted to 3,000 with rotary.

Toklan Production Company No. 1 Driver, 660 from the south and east lines of section 30-36-4s, T&P, Driver Spraberry field in southwest Glasscock, flowed 24 hours through 4-in. choke after 5,000 gallons hydracraft. It made five per cent water and 264 barrels of 37.7 gravity oil. Tubing pressure was 100, gas-oil ratio 860-1, 2,700 elevation; top pay 6,860, total depth 7,777, the 5 1/2-in. oil string at 7,776. It was perforated 6,860-6,884, from 6,908-6,946 and from 7,708-7,748.

Texas-Alberta Oil Corp. No. 1 Floyd, 665.3 from the south and 654.7 from the west lines of the lease in section 21-37-3s, T&P, Tex Harvey pool, flowed 24 hours through half-inch choke after 6,000 gallons hydracraft. It made 223.59 barrels of 36.2 gravity oil and had negligible water. Tubing pressure was 50-100, gas-oil ratio 908-1, elevation 2,654 DF; top pay 7,156, total depth 7,353, the 7-in. set at 7,157.

Dawson Deep Test Abandons In Reef

W. A. Moncrief No. 1-99 Scanlan, northwest Dawson wildcat, has been abandoned in dry reef at 9,638.

There were no shows and there were no tests in the Pennsylvania. Operator reported top of the reef at 9,430 and elevation of 3,250, which would give a datum minus of 6,180.

Location is 1,980 from the south and 669 from the west lines of section 89-M, EL&RR. It is six miles north and slightly west of the Mangerville - Pennsylvania pool and 1 1/2 miles southwest of the northwest end of the Welch (San Andres) pool.

Howard Reef Discovery

Oil developments picked up here last week with reported completion of a Pennsylvania reef discovery in the Pan-American and Seaboard No. 1 Pauline Hamlin, left, above. The cigars sported by principals in the picture above might be in celebration of the new oil well. Actually, M. L. Hamlin, right, is fee holder, was celebrating arrival of a baby. At left is C. L. Oliver, driller on this tower, and in the middle is Ed Van Zandt, tool pusher. E. T. Farrell, other driller, was not present for the picture.

Reef Discovery Reportedly Completes For 393 Barrels

Pan-American Production Company and Seaboard Oil No. 1 Pauline Hamlin, north center Howard County reef discovery, was reported Saturday unofficially to have completed its potential test.

Unofficial though reliable sources, said that the 24-hour potential test started at 10:30 p.m. Thursday and was completed at 10:30 p.m. Friday. During that interval, the well flowed 373 barrels of 47 gravity oil through 24-64 choke.

The flowing tubing pressure was 450, the gas-oil ratio was 650-1, and the test made no water. Production was through perforations from 8,160-68 in the Pennsylvania reef. This zone had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Top of pay was 8,134 on and elevation of 2,755, giving a datum minus of 5,379. (One source put the top at 8,154.)

This well is two miles south and slightly west of the Vealmoor pool and five miles north of the one-well Bond Canyon field.

Production apparently is from a different zone of the reef. The Vealmoor pool, oldest and largest of the reef pools in this immediate vicinity, taps its pay on a datum minus of 5,200 to 5,303. Gravity of oil there is in the low to mid-40's.

Stanford No. 1 Burton, C NE SE 27-33-2n, T&P, the lone Bond Canyon producer, topped pay at 8,870 for a datum, minus of 6,240. It makes 45 gravity oil.

Eight miles west and four south Brinkerhoff No. 1 Jones, which once gave promise of being a discovery but which ultimately was plugged, had picked top of its most likely pay at 9,307 for a datum minus of 6,706. It made 41.5 gravity oil.

The Pan-American No. 1 Hamlin went to a total depth of 8,324, taking a drill stem test from 8,269-8,234 with recovery of 7,200 feet of salt water. It set pipe at 8,258 and perforated the section 8,160-68 with four shots to the foot.

This strike gave rise to speculation about some offsets and there were unofficial reports the rig might be skidded one location south. Unconfirmed reports had another rig enroute to the area.

Interest was focused on the Lawton-Porter and Texas Crude No. 1 Sam Fisherman, C NW NE 10-33-3n, T&P, which is 2 1/2 miles southeast of the Pan-American No. 1 Hamlin. This exploration was last reported around 7,300 in shale.

By them, Hamlin meant the Pan American Company representatives, Hamlin said his neighbors seemed more excited about the prospect of oil than he did.

"I didn't have to come up here and ask Mr. Van Zant a thing about it. My neighbors just told me everything I wanted to know."

Hamlin was referring to Ed Van Zant, the tool pusher and driller in charge of the rig. Van Zant is with the Zephyr Drilling Company of Tulsa, Okla., which contracted the job for Pan American.

Van Zant was happy, too. He was mighty proud of his 47 gravity oil and insisted on showing a can full to visitors.

He pulled the oil out of a circulation tank which was temporarily housing the newly produced oil. However, a tank battery was being constructed near the well to store the high grade fluid.

Hamlin passed a compliment to the driller. He said they were good workers who "mind their own business." They started drilling the well Sept. 1. The 15 workers were on duty around the clock, working eight hour "towers."

The huge rig is 136 feet tall and weighs somewhere near 300,000 pounds. The oil well workers were preparing to skid the huge rig south for another location Thursday.

Hamlin stated that he did not know the exact location of the next well. "They've assured me that another one will be drilled," he said.

"I didn't have to come up here and ask Mr. Van Zant a thing about it. My neighbors just told me everything I wanted to know."

Hamlin was referring to Ed Van Zant, the tool pusher and driller in charge of the rig. Van Zant is with the Zephyr Drilling Company of Tulsa, Okla., which contracted the job for Pan American.

Van Zant was happy, too. He was mighty proud of his 47 gravity oil and insisted on showing a can full to visitors.

He pulled the oil out of a circulation tank which was temporarily housing the newly produced oil. However, a tank battery was being constructed near the well to store the high grade fluid.

Hamlin passed a compliment to the driller. He said they were good workers who "mind their own business." They started drilling the well Sept. 1. The 15 workers were on duty around the clock, working eight hour "towers."

The huge rig is 136 feet tall and weighs somewhere near 300,000 pounds. The oil well workers were preparing to skid the huge rig south for another location Thursday.

Hamlin stated that he did not know the exact location of the next well. "They've assured me that another one will be drilled," he said.

By them, Hamlin meant the Pan American Company representatives, Hamlin said his neighbors seemed more excited about the prospect of oil than he did.

Reed's 24-Hour Service Brings The Best For Less

Big Spring motorists have received a break since Reed Oil Company, which came into this city two years ago with lower-priced gas, further slashed prices several weeks ago at Reed's 24-Hour Service Station on West Highway 80.

Present prices for regular are 20.9 cents per gallon and for Ethyl 22.9 cents. All Reed Stations carry Kelly Springfield tires, all popular brands of oil at 35 cents a quart and an ample supply of anti-freeze, but these prices on gasoline apply only at the West Highway 80 Station.

Tom Reed, President of the Company, invites all old and new customers to call at the station and take advantage of these savings on gasoline.

FOR AREA DOCTORS, VA Medical Education Programs Planned

An intensified educational program, in which area doctors and dentists will be invited to participate, is being planned for professional staffers at the Big Spring VA Hospital, Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, chief of professional services, announced Saturday.

A part of the program is a two-day dental clinic being arranged for Dec. 2-13 in co-operation with the Permian Basin Dental Society, said Dr. Friedlander.

The educational program will start next Friday when Dr. John S. Chapman, assistant dean of graduate and post graduate study at Southwestern Medical College, Dallas, will deliver a lecture on diseases of the chest. The lecture is tentatively scheduled for 1 p.m. and all local and area physicians are being invited. Dr. Chapman is area consultant for the VA and is to be here on an official visit Friday.

A lecture on the present-day status of cortisone and ACTH will be feature of the December educational meeting, set for 1 p.m. Dec. 11. Speaker will be Dr. Arthur Grolfman, director of the department of experimental medicine at Southwestern Medical College, Dr. Friedlander announced.

Subsequent sessions will feature outstanding medical and surgical leaders from throughout the Southwest. Present plans call for the educational meetings to be conducted on a monthly basis throughout 1953.

The dental clinic will include addresses by three outstanding specialists, all from Baylor University and all practicing dentists.

Dr. Phillip E. Williams of Dallas, Baylor Dental College professor, will lecture on oral surgery. Dr. Horace Beauchamp, also of Dallas and Baylor, will speak on full denture prosthesis; and Dr. Samuel R. Parks, Baylor professor of periodontology, will lecture on periodontia in private practice.

Members of the local dental society are co-operating with Dr. Calvin Guilliams, chief of dental service at the VA hospital, in arranging the clinic. Auxiliary of the Permian Basin Dental Society will meet at the same time.

All lectures will be held at the VA Hospital and a reception, scheduled for Dec. 12, is to be held in the Settles Hotel.

Very Few People Seek Poll Taxes For Next Year

Records at the tax assessor-collector's office show that only 1,333 people have paid their poll taxes or applied for exemptions since Oct. 1.

B. E. Freeman, tax assessor-collector, stated that the figure is low in comparison with the same period last year.

"It looks as if there will be another big rush in January, with people crowding the windows to pay their poll taxes," he said. Jan. 31 is the deadline.

Last year 9,781 poll taxes were paid, and 1,466 exemptions were issued. The combined total was 11,247.

Freeman stated that not near that many poll taxes and exemptions would be issued this year. The reason is that the poll taxes are purchased for voting, and no election is scheduled next year.

So far this year, 913 people have paid poll taxes, and 440 have applied for exemptions. Freeman explained that people living outside the city limits do not have to apply for exemptions.

Eisenhower's Inauguration Plans Include Ball And A Parade

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Preliminary plans for a three-day round of festivities to surround the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as President were announced today.

They will be climaxed by the traditional Inaugural Ball on the night of the inauguration, Jan. 20. Also additional is the Inaugural Parade, down Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol to the White House.

Eisenhower had originally expressed a desire that the ceremonies be kept as simple as possible, but it was disclosed a few days ago that he had yielded somewhat to his admirers' enthusiasm.

The committee announced prices for some of the inauguration events.

Bleachers with approximately 60,000 seats will be erected along the route to be followed by the Inaugural Parade. Seats will sell for $2.50 to $12.50 plus tax, depending upon the location.

The Inaugural Ball will be held in the Washington Armory. Admission will be "by subscription upon invitation"—meaning that those who can wangle a "ticket" may buy one for $10 plus tax.

The inauguration proper will be held in the Capitol Plaza. The approximately 15,000 seats being erected are not for sale. They go to official visitors, press and radio, and to members of Congress and their friends.

The inauguration will take place at 12 noon, EST, and the parade down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House will follow, starting at 1:30 p.m. It will pass in review, at the executive mansion, before Eisenhower and Vice President-elect Nixon.

LT. AND MRS. R. C. TERRIJN

Belgian Lieutenant, Bride Are Newcomers

Mrs. R. C. Terrijn traveled halfway around the world, left her family, friends and homeland, to marry a boy whose home was just a few miles from her own. Those are the wages of love. Arriving in New York from her native Belgium on the Queen Elizabeth, riding a bus to Kingston, N. C., and having a formal church wedding there didn't impress Mrs. Terrijn as much as learning that Americans put salt and pepper on their cantaloupes. Belgians sprinkle the melon with liberal amounts of sugar and the opposite of the custom left an indelible mark on the blonde Hilda Terrijn's memory. Lt. and Mrs. Terrijn came here a short time ago from Kingston. They are living at the King Apartments while Roger, who is participating in the Mutual Defense Assistance Act, is stationed at a Webb Air Force Base. A graduate of the Belgian Military Academy, he will return to his country when his training is completed and teach his fellow Belgians. Mrs. Terrijn is a native of Hasselt, which is near the Netherlands and German borders. Her husband's home is in Oostende. Because Belgium is such a small country, its citizens are most avid travelers. Mrs. Terrijn purchased a demitasse cup and saucer in each country she has visited. Although the couple visited Spain before their marriage, they weren't able to see a bullfight until after they came to the United States and crossed over into Mexico.

Art Week Observed With Antique And Hobby Show

FORSAN, (Spl)—The Forsan Study Club presented an antique and hobby show in observance of National Art Week Thursday evening. Hostesses were Mrs. C. B. Long, Mrs. J. R. Asbury, Mrs. W. M. Romans, Mrs. H. K. Elrod and Mrs. Bill Conger. Among the highlights of the antique division were a 90-year-old knitted bedspread made from homespun thread shown by Mrs. John Cardwell, two Bibles published in 1844 and exhibited by J. D. Dempsey and Mrs. Vera Harris, a 102-year-old lamp shown by Mrs. Charles Anderson of Big Spring, an ironstone china chocolate pot and fruit bowl made in 1850 and exhibited by Mrs. Conger and a matched brass and onyx table and lamp 1875 vintage displayed by Mrs. J. D. Leonard. Hobby exhibits included colored slides taken by Mrs. Bernard Huchon, a collection of Indian arrow heads and rocks collected by Mr. Dempsey, an oil painting by C. B. Long and a group of ceramics made by Mrs. Bill Adams of Big Spring. The refreshment table was covered with a fringed burlap cloth and centered with a brown ironstone jug containing feathered cane tips, flanked by a kerosene lamp and fall fruits. The coffee service was concealed in a wooden keg and guests served themselves. About 75 attended. Benny Asbury and his brother, Bobby, of Big Spring left Friday for a week-end deer hunt in the Van Horn country. Week-end guests in Monahan are Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Scud-dy, Ginny Dee and Berney. Mrs. Walter Gressett is visiting in Borger with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irving McCaslin. The No. 1 killer among infectious and parasitic diseases, tuberculosis can be prevented and can be cured. It is not hereditary, but is caused by a germ, the tubercle bacillus.

HI-TALK

By Margie McDougle

Well, kids, another six weeks is over so we can all relax again. After all those hard tests we need another six weeks of relaxation.

The students of BSHS are in for a treat Wednesday. The advanced speech class is giving a one-act play, "Turkey in the Family," for the Thanksgiving assembly.

Jody Miller is directing the play and Pat Crossland is stage manager. The leading part of Mr. Martin is played by Robert Utley. He is head of the house. His wife is played by Francis Walder, a quick-tempered, but motherly woman.

Wanda Woods plays the part of Marilyn, their daughter, and John Lawrence and Pat Crossland play the parts of their sons. They are two boys of high school age, Rocky and Freddie. The maid is played by Carolyn Whitfield, and James Underwood is the delivery man.

A most enjoyable musical assembly was given by The Chanters, mixed choral group from McMurry, Monday morning. To begin the program the whole choir sang three religious numbers. After this a solo, duet, trio and quartet sang several songs. The program was concluded with two very entertaining selections and the alma mater of McMurry College.

The Student Council held a meeting Monday morning. President Steve Kornfeld called the meeting to order. Nanette Farquhar gave a brief report on the West Texas Council at Kermit. The others that made the trip gave reports from their discussion groups.

It was announced that the spring meeting of the Forum would be held in Big Spring. Jimmy Porter gave a report on the Thanksgiving assembly program.

The president appointed Betty Earley in charge of the decoration committee for the Queen's Ball to be held Nov. 27. The dance will be semi-formal. The new business discussed was the Talent Show to be Dec. 4. Committees were appointed to work out details for the show.

Those attending the meeting were: Joyce Gound, Shirley Wheat, Monohn Holley, Bobby Hayworth, Joyce Anderson, Doyle Maynard, Roger Brown, Betty Earley, Nan Farquhar, C. G. Evans, Jimmy Porter, Steve Kornfeld and Mrs. Ratliff.

The Big Spring FFA team won the district contest at Stanton Saturday, Nov. 15. Six schools had teams entered in the contest: Big Spring, Odessa, Knott, Coahoma, Garden City, and Stanton. The next contest is the area contest which was held here Saturday. The winners will go to the state contest. There seems to have been a few new members added to the halls of BSHS. Some of them are Joy Towery from Winters; Pat Rutledge, Midland; Wanda Wood, Hobbs, N. M., all juniors; from French Camp Academy, French Camp, Miss. Wiley Henson; from Seagraves, Mary Miller, sophomores. We have a former student back with us. She is Shirley McDaniel, a senior. Another new senior is James Houston Finley.

An exciting basketball game was played between the high school girls and the HCJC girls Tuesday night in the high school gym. The visitors triumphed over the less-experienced high school girls by a close score of 23-20. Rose Rice and Nell Glover made eight points each and Lee Ola Gilliland made four points. Marie Petty made 11 points for the college team, while Darlene Speed came by with 10, and Cecil Niblet contributed two.

The district VI Club elected Charles Bonner president of the clubs of District 5. Other officers were elected and new club members were initiated. Attending the meet were clubs from San Angelo, Odessa, Sweetwater, Abilene, Merkel and Big Spring. Everyone be sure and buy one of the pennants the DO classes are selling.

They are black with BSHS written on them in gold. You can get one from any DO student for 50 cents. Some kids seen at Beverly Bell's slumber party were Pauline Buzbee, Patsy Owens, Jann Brooks, Julia Owens, Beatrice Hobbs, Gay Jones and Alyce Boyter.

A Bible Thought For Today—

People who have something to be proud about are never proud. They are humble. A proud look is always a counterfeit. — "These . . . things doth the Lord hate . . . a proud look."—Prov. 6:17.

Why Not Cooperative Effort For Distributing Gifts To The Poor?

We are fast approaching that season of the year when men, if ever, are more inclined to generous impulses. As the tempo of preparation for Christmas increases, more and more people will be stimulated to sharing their bounty with those who have not been so fortunate. It should not detract from the merits of the generosity that it is seasonal, although helping those in need is a constant need born of a year. Those who give now are to be encouraged just as those who are managed to get to church only on Easter are encouraged to maintain even that much of a good habit. Giving is a noble and broadening exercise for the soul, and every effort should be exerted to stimulate it.

Established welfare agencies then would be in a position to see that all those not checked were ministered unto, and that those who might not have been sufficiently helped were given more succor. Many cities have a "Christmas council" or some such informal organization. We have had something similar before. Why not again to make our gifts serve the greatest good?

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Dulles Believes Routine Work Can, Must Be Done By Others

WASHINGTON.—Next to the Presidency itself the office of secretary of state is difficult and demanding to the point of being downright impossible. In the turbulent state of the world today the odds against any man succeeding in that office are heavy. President-Elect Eisenhower has asked John Foster Dulles to be secretary of state in the Eisenhower Cabinet. Dulles' first response when word was brought to him of Eisenhower's wishes reveals much about the man who will carry such a heavy burden in the months to come. It has hardly been a secret that he has had his eyes on the office. Both a grandfather and an uncle were secretaries of state, so that the pull of family tradition as well as Dulles' own long career in the foreign field contributed to his predilection. Eisenhower's intermediary was Herbert Brownell Jr., the New York lawyer who had so much to do with both Ike's nomination and his successful election campaign. At Augusta, Ga., during his brief so-called vacation Eisenhower asked Brownell to sound out Dulles. Dulles and Brownell are, of course, old friends, since both have been close associates of Governor Thomas E. Dewey during most of Dewey's political career.

lates to military strength. That is General Alfred M. Gruenther. The speculation on just what post Gruenther will have is beside the point. Those who know Ike best say that he will want "Al" on hand so that when he wants an answer "Al" can come up with it. It is even possible that Eisenhower will make Gruenther chief of staff to the President. This was an office created by FDR for Admiral William Leahy. President Truman kept Leahy on in that capacity. But since Leahy's resignation two years ago the office has not been filled. Gruenther was chief of staff to Eisenhower at SHAPE headquarters. He was Ike's choice to be his successor. Truman accepted instead the recommendation of General Omar Bradley and the Joint Chiefs of Staff and named General Matthew Ridgway to the SHAPE job. Gruenther stayed on as Ridgway's chief of staff. As one of the outstanding bridge players of the world, Gruenther has spent many leisure hours with Ike, who is also a first-rate player although not in the same league with his friend. Thus in the field of foreign policy, at any rate, the Eisenhower team is shaping up. The captain is looking for team players. But also he wants men who can carry the ball in their own departments.

On Broadway—Martyn Green Wonders About His Nationality

By MARK BARRON
NEW YORK.—Martyn Green, the British star of the American Gilbert and Sullivan opera company which has been playing on Broadway recently, says he wonders whether he is American or British. As a star of the D'Oyly Carte company, he has played the leading role in "The Mikado" so often that he sometimes gets a feeling that he might even be Japanese. Green was born in London, but it has taken his many Gilbert and Sullivan operas plus services in the two World Wars to transform him into a man whose home now is where he hangs his hat.

"Ten years of my life have been spent in two World Wars and 30 years of my life have been spent with Gilbert and Sullivan operas," he said. In World War I he was wounded with the Royal Fusiliers in 1918. In World War II he left his Gilbert and Sullivan Company and enlisted again. He expected to be sent back to the front as he was an expert with airplanes, a hobby he had picked up between his singing performances. Instead the British Royal Air Force sent him to California where he was assigned to train combat pilots.

Another in the Gilbert and Sullivan company is Robert Rounseville who sings so eloquently the roles of Nanki-Poo in "The Mikado" and Frederic in "Pirates of Penzance."

"I really wanted to be the leader of a band, and I did conduct bands for a short time when I was a student at Deerfield Academy and Tufts College in New England. But I was persuaded to start singing instead of leading a band. The persuasion was mostly because my great aunt was Lillian Nordica. (Miss Nordica was a celebrated Metropolitan Opera soprano about the turn of the century. She had a tragic death after a shipwreck off the coast of Java in 1914.) Rounseville is one stage performer who turned away from the more lucrative roles that Hollywood films have offered him. One reason is that he prefers the stage and the other reason, more understandable, is that he doesn't need the large sums of money that films would give him.

Sir Thomas Beecham, the British symphonic orchestra conductor, did once persuade him to appear in a film, a musical of "Tales of Hoffman." It was later shown at New York's Metropolitan Opera House, one of the few films to play at the Met.

A Wing And A Prayer

Spotlighting A Week Of News

Taft's Friends Must Be Unhappy As They Look Inside From The Outside

By FRED GREENE
Those groans you're hearing are coming from moaning supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft, defeated for the Republican Presidential nomination by the victorious Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. Taft backers aren't too happy. It appears, with Ike's five (up to Friday) selections for his cabinet come Jan. 20th. All six were the general's staunchest supporters during the stiff pre-convention fight last July. Two of them are well-known associates of Gov. Tom Dewey, New York, who was twice defeated for President and who is also an arch political foe of Sen. Taft.

The two Dewey men are newly-appointed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the incoming Attorney General Herbert Brownell. Other appointees included Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, secretary of the Interior; Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, Secretary of Defense; and George M. Humphrey, Cleveland industrialist, secretary of the Treasury. Another appointment, though not of cabinet status but closely to such status, was that of Harold Stassen, Pennsylvania University president as director of Mutual Security.

By and large, both Democrats and Republicans hailed the Eisenhower selections. Dulles was particularly acclaimed by the internationalist wing of the Republican party and generally received warm words from Democrats. Dulles was, however, the object of some liberal Democratic criticism for his slashing attacks on President Truman's foreign policies during the late campaign.

In Dulles, the GOP has a man who is fortunately quite familiar with the present State Department setup. He has served with Secretary of State Dean Acheson and is best known as the architect of the Japanese peace treaty. It becomes more than obvious, too, that Dulles' appointment will herald a new Far Eastern policy, stressing more at-ention for that war-torn area. It does not necessarily follow that European affairs will be any less considered, for Ike, himself, is far too familiar with that area. What the Dulles pick does do, however, is put policy planners of both Europe and Asia knowledge into the top offices.

Wilson, who leaves a reputed $626,000 yearly income for the small pittance due him from the government, also faces the biggest headaches, however, his experience in heading a $7½ billion yearly business enterprise ought to stand him in good stead. He takes over a $70 billion proposition in the Pentagon. Wilson's biggest attribute, of course, is his business experience. It's a tough job, but primarily the Defense department chief must mold together a team using business-like tactics. The professional soldiers take care of the fighting always, but because of professional service jealousy it's favorable to have a civilian who can be neutral to handle problems. Military or not, as long as facts are presented pro and con, a civilian can make good decisions.

Another point to note in Wilson's appointment is that due to the importance of weapon and other production in the defense picture, a businessman of Wilson's caliber can be in a better position to judge time required for production as well as costs, a highly vital and touchy point in governmental affairs in these high tax days.

In McKay, states involved in the Tidelands dispute can be most happy. The Oregonian favors state control. He is also an advocate of the statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, a point which might make certain the admittance of these two territories during the tenure of the next Congress. Although some cries of "reactionary" were raised, McKay can be said to have a high degree of popularity in the West. Even Democrats are happy with the selection. McKay opposed the Columbia Valley Authority (as did Ike), but favored big federal power projects provided the state has a voice in operation. He also feels that the government should step in only when private industry finds the job too big.

Humphrey, a big businessman, has held a variety of posts in industry. He's been president of coal and iron ore shippers, chairman of the executive committee for a steel firm, director in various corporations and on the board of banks. His varied experience thus lends him knowledge highly vital in handling the nation's monetary affairs. To go with this private industry background, Humphrey has also worked with government, serving with the Industry Advisory Committee of the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Brownell served as right-hand man to Gov. Dewey and had a leading role in masterminding Eisenhower's strategy in the GOP convention. He was also a key advisor in the campaign. Brownell is a lawyer.

Stassen, a former naval officer and one-time governor of Minnesota, was instrumental in securing the nomination for Ike on the first ballot. His decision to release Minnesota supporters immediately following the initial roll call gave Ike, before the roll was made official, the necessary few votes he needed to win. Previously, Stassen was a contender for the nomination, but was known to favor Ike should his cause not appear strong.

Stassen was thought to have been destined for the Labor Department secretaryship after writing Ike's speech to the AFL convention. He was also working back stage during the campaign, largely with labor leaders. However, he is a known internationalist, has traveled and is familiar with many world leaders. He appears to be a well-liked choice for the MSA post.

The second top labor leader to die within a month succumbed Friday. William Green, president of the AFL, died of a heart attack at his home in Coshococ, Ohio. Green had been in failing health for many years.

The death of Green, along with CIO President Philip Murray last Nov. 9 puts labor on the spot. They can come up with leaders who will continue the factional fights between the big CIO and AFL unions or they can designate men who will sit down and join hands. However, with John L. Lewis still riding high, it would appear that such consolidation is unlikely.

The United Nations had a rough week. The war in Korea saw continued ground fighting and on cold, freezing terrain as winter set in. Air battles were renewed.

In New York, the world body finally managed to get the western powers to accept the India compromise proposal on Korean prisoners of war. Presumably, Russia had glimpsed the proposal before India proffered it to the West. If so, this illusion was rudely shattered when Soviet newspapers made it plain Friday that they did not consider the Indian plan acceptable. Pravda says this plan intensified differences. And all the while the French and British worked hard to get U. S. approval of the plan.

Chances are nothing will come of this proposal which would set up a neutral commission to determine who returns to Red rule and who doesn't pending final settlement after a truce is obtained.

Also Gone From The U. S. Scene: Flivver Crank And Wire Choke

In this age of the hydrogen bomb and color television, maybe it makes no difference that complete generations will be growing up without having the slightest idea what an automobile choke is.

For that matter, they'll be growing up without knowing anything about outdoor plumbing and plow-horse harness, either. But to us gray heads who spent some salad days mastering the eccentricities of a Model T, it seems a downright shame going without having to crank a flivver while trying to hold the wire choke-pull, just the right distance.

This bit of nostalgia struck me the other day when I bumped into a Ford of the T vintage, parked out at a curb. As most people do, who see a Model T today, I longed to have one, just for the heck of it. Particularly when the proud owner came out, gave the thing a wind-up, and I could hear the little old four-cylinders clicking along as smoothly as a well-oiled sewing machine. I acknowledge that anybody who operates a tin Lizzie today would keep it in tip-top shape, but the fact remains that you could keep an old Ford of 30 years ago running for a lot less expense and grief than you can today's sleek monsters.

But back to that choke. They have made 'em automatic these days—just like everything else is getting automatic. Which makes the car operator completely unaware that, on a cold morning years back, it took a lot of doing to get a flivver going, and just the right touch of goosing on that choke wire to keep her turning over until she could get warm.

I don't suppose we ought even to mention the crank, which altogether caused more broken wrists than every other cause had end to end. To keep a flivver from raring up and kicking you, of course, the spark handle had to be set just right, and every owner knew just what notch to set his own spark. After this was done, it became necessary to get in front of the cricker, crook the finger through the choke wire that stuck out at the bottom of the radiator (no grilles) pull out the flier just so far, get a good brace with the feet, and start winding. The good Ford would take only one upward jerk on the crank, if the temperatures were right. Otherwise, there was considerable turning. Then there had to be a dash back up to the wheel to get the gas and spark set right for running conditions.

A Model T I had once—and there were several distinguished linage—was a coupe which obviously needed some extra touches. I remember the fanciest thing I ever did to it was to install a foot feed. This took the car out of the ordinary class and put it into the de luxe line. You could drive along with a foot on the accelerator without having to extend the fingers of the right hand down under the wheel to keep the gas going into the carburetor. Nothing like a foot-feed, I always said.

Brake troubles were certainly not major, because if the brake didn't work, all you had to do was slam in that middle reverse pedal, and pull old Lizzie to a stop by using the reverse. Imagine such an operation with today's mammoths of the road! I'm not saying, mind you, that 1933 automobiles are not real items of luxury—luxury in more ways than one! And the pace of the world today certainly precludes the put-pull of the Model T, if you have got to get anywhere. But there was an air about the old 'n Lizzie, and a sense of accomplishment in keeping her going despite dropped radius rods. And she nearly always performed modestly.

Could be that a little time and effort spent in choking and cranking would help all of us. After all, the right spark and the right fuel mixture are important, no? —BOB WHIPKEY

Gallup Poll

Many Voters Take Cautious View Of Value Of Ike's Korean Jaunt

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 23.—Although a large majority of voters approve of General Eisenhower's plan to visit Korea, sentiment is closely divided on the question of whether it will help bring an earlier end to the war.

Your views on that point are likely to depend a good deal on whether you are a Republican or a Democrat.

With Americans everywhere discussing the pros and cons of Eisenhower's trip, the Institute has conducted a special spot-check poll on the subject. To get a quick indication of how opinion is running interviews were made in selected cities and towns across the country.

As reported earlier, seven out of every ten persons questioned said they think Eisenhower should make the Korean trip. To find out what effect voters think the trip may have on the war itself interviewees asked this question: "Do you think Eisenhower's trip will help bring an earlier end to the war in Korea, or not?"

Here is the vote:
Yes 40%
No 44%
No opinion 16%

The opinion sampling was done in communities ranging in size from West Windsor Township, N. J. (population 2,519) to such large cities as New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

Interviewers reported that voters in heavily Democratic wards or sections tended to be much less convinced that Eisenhower's trip would help end the Korean war than voters in Republican wards or precincts.

Persons skeptical of the value of Eisenhower's trip made such comments as: "He has no power to stop the war, only the Kremlin can stop it." "I wonder what effect his trip will have on those who voted for him if he can't do anything. Won't they lose some confidence in him?"

"Confidence in Eisenhower" On the other hand, persons who believe the trip may help end the war point out that Eisenhower will be able to act more effectively if he gets first-hand information. Some typical comments:

"People have confidence in General Eisenhower. By his experience he could size up the situation at a glance. He's better qualified than anyone to find a solution." "He is a popular hero here and abroad and is so well known in military circles that he probably can accomplish many things that could not be done otherwise."

"His experience should make it easy to tell the score and lay out our strategy accordingly on how to proceed."

On Wednesday the Institute reported the vote on the question: "Do you think Eisenhower should or should not go to Korea?" The division of sentiment was as follows:
Should go 72%
Should not go 23%
No opinion 5%

Sunday Talk: Oceans, Lakes

A letter with interesting questions about water has come to me. It is from Mr. J. K. Johnson, who writes: "I read your column every day. I am 88 years old."

"Is the statement true that there is enough water on earth to cover the whole sphere to a depth of two miles? How did the fresh water lakes originate, and when?"

The Indian Ocean has an average depth of about two and a half miles, and the Pacific averages about two and three fourths miles in depth. The Atlantic Ocean has almost the same average depth as the Indian Ocean. The statement Mr. Johnson quoted is true. There are tall mountains on the earth, but a vast amount of land is less than 500 feet above sea level. If all the land, including the ocean bottom, found the same level, water would have an average depth of a bit more than two miles all over the earth.

No such danger exists, I am happy to say. The history of geology indicates that land has been rising, as well as sinking, through the ages. The human race will see further changes in the shapes of continents, as time goes on, but the changes will come slowly.

Fresh water lakes were formed in several ways, but the majority of them are wide parts of rivers. During the times of huge ice sheets, or glaciers, thousands of rivers were blocked by deposits of gravel and rocks which were dropped when the glaciers melted. The blocking caused lakes to spread across valleys. A few fresh water lakes exist in old craters of volcanoes; an example of these is Crater Lake in Oregon.

To a large extent, scientists have figured out the history of the Great Lakes. We know that glacial sheets had a great deal to do with forming them. Besides blocking rivers, the glaciers gouged out hollows in many places, and some of the hollows came to be the bottoms of lakes.

Look at a map of North America, and notice how many more lakes exist in the north half (where glaciers spread) than in the southern half. FOR SCIENCE section of your scrapbook.

Bible Words to Live by

What should be the favorite scriptural verse for every person appears frequently in both the Old and the New Testaments of the Holy Bible. It is the warp and woof of the spiritual life of the individual and the divinely constituted bond of human relations. It appears first in Deuteronomy and it was emphasized by Jesus Christ as the basic law for character perfection and the pledge for eternal salvation. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart, and with thy whole soul, and with thy whole mind. This is the greatest and the first commandment. And the second is like it, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments depend the whole Law and the Prophets."

This precept was the burden of the preaching of the Apostles. St. John the Divine makes it the theme of his epistles. The saints became saints because they understood and practiced it. To quote only one, St. Therese of Lisieux, who has so much influenced the modern world to better living by adopting her "little way of love," closed her extraordinary life with the words: "My God, I love Thee."

No one can find the secret of true happiness until he has accepted in thought and deed this fundamental principle for right living. It is for this that God created man and it is in this usefulness that he finds his perfect union with God and his neighbor.

Most Rev. Joseph C. Willging, D. D.

Dramatic Moment

June Allyson consoles Arthur Kennedy in this scene from "The Girl in White," which is the selection at the State Theatre today and Monday. Also starred in the production is Gary Merrill. The story concerns a girl who becomes a doctor when it was unheard of for a woman to do such a thing. Miss Allyson plays the girl, and her struggles are vividly outlined in the movie.

Cozy Threesome

Lou Costello, Mitzi Green and Bud Abbott are shown above as they appear in "Lost in Alaska," which will show at the Jet Drive-In tonight and Monday. Also starred in the picture are Tom Ewell and Bruce Cabot. The show concerns the frantic efforts of the two comics in a search for gold in the Alaskan snows.

Horizontal Engineer

Kirk Douglas stretches out beside a fallen tree in this scene from "The Big Trees," which will show at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. In this particular scene he is contemplating his next move in a scheme to swindle the homesteaders out of their timberland. Eve Miller and Patrice Wymore have the top feminine parts in the movie.

Medieval Battle

James Mason and Stewart Granger match dueling skills in this scene from MGM's "The Prisoner of Zenda," the Technicolor production scheduled at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday. Deborah Kerr has the leading feminine role in the show, which concerns an Englishman who looks so much like the king of a country that he is substituted for the king.

AT RITZ TODAY

Prisoner Of Zenda In Fourth Version

Movieland's fourth version of "The Prisoner of Zenda" will be screened at the Ritz theatre today and Monday. Stewart Granger and Deborah Kerr have the starring roles. The Technicolor production was released by MGM. The same story was previously released by United Artists in 1937, by Paramount in 1924, and by Metro in 1921. Granger plays a dual role in the latest release. He is the king of a mythical country and also a visiting Englishman who looks like the King. Miss Kerr plays the part of Princess Flavia, and James Mason is seen as a count who directs the forces of evil. Time of the story is the 16th century. Swordplay and horsemanship mix with action and romance to give a strict medieval atmosphere. The story concerns intrigue among the nobles and noblewomen. Granger—the Englishman—poses as the king when the latter is drugged before his coronation by a treacherous brother. In his masquerade role, he meets the princess, Deborah Kerr and romance flowers.

Granger and Mason furnish the combat in the movie. Mason is a count who works for the ambitious brother. The count and brother finally kidnap the real king. Granger finds the pose of the king not to his pleasing, and he tries to rescue the monarch. The rescue from the castle of Zenda involves all sorts of feats. Other members of the cast are Louis Calhern, the king's aid, and Jane Greer, the lady in love with the untrustworthy brother. The director was Richard Thorpe.

Dietrich Stars In Lyric Film

The story of a rancher's search for the man who murdered the girl he was about to marry will be screened at the Lyric Theatre today and Monday in the movie, "Rancho Notorious." Marlene Dietrich, Arthur Kennedy and Mel Ferrer are co-starred in the Technicolor production of frontier life in the seventies. Kennedy is the rancher, and Miss Dietrich is a noted saloon-entertainer. Ferrer plays a famous gunfighter. After his girl is killed, Kennedy starts a year's search, finally tracing the killer to Miss Dietrich's ranch. In the search Kennedy wins Ferrer's gratitude by helping him escape from jail. On the ranch, Miss Dietrich finally tells Kennedy which man killed his girl, and Kennedy attempts to turn the man over to the sheriff. Other outlaws rescue the man, and a gun fight follows. Kennedy and Ferrer wipe out the crooks, and Miss Dietrich is killed in the fight.

Bing Joins Jane In A Gala Musicomedy

Eleven top tunes done up in the Bing Crosby-Jane Wyman style will be featured in the movie, "Just For You," which comes to the Ritz Theatre Thursday for a three-day stand. Miss Wyman attempts to help Crosby win back his children's love, but in doing so becomes involved with Crosby's son. Before she and Bing can get together a lot of fun is dished out. Natalie Wood plays the daughter and Bob Arthur is the son. In addition to Crosby and Miss Wyman, starring honors also go to Ethel Barrymore. The three form a top notch combination of talent and personality. The movie is rich in spectacular production numbers and lavish costumes. It concerns the love affairs of a successful producer and a musical comedy star. Crosby plays the producer, and Miss Wyman plays the actress. Together they sing "Zing a Little Zong," and they present it in an entirely "cooperative" manner. Miss Wyman has previously directed her talents to dramatics, and this is the first role in which she sings. (However, in pre-Hollywood days, she sang with several bands.) Crosby, a widower in the movie, plays a man who has put so much time into becoming famous that he neglects his children. His children are both in their teens, and his daughter attends a fashionable school for girls in which Miss Barrymore is headmistress.

Kirk Douglas Seen In Story About Redwoods

"The Big Trees," a Technicolor movie about the fight for California's giant redwood forests, will show at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. Kirk Douglas, Eve Miller and Patrice Wymore have the top roles in the picture. Other Warner Brothers stars include Edgar Buchanan and Alan Hale Jr. Flying fists, rough humor, and romantic conflict all have a part in the story. Kirk Douglas portrays an unscrupulous logging operator who "reforms" when he meets Miss Miller. "The Big Trees" tells the story of lumber interests who invade California's Sequoia forests to gain control of the land, at the expense of homesteaders. Douglas and his buddy, Buchanan, intend to swindle the homesteaders. The homesteaders' land claims are no longer valid as the land must be restaked and refilled. Also a gang of land sharks use force to obtain land. Douglas brings Miss Wymore, an old flame, into the territory to sign documents making her owner of land. However he undergoes a change of heart at the death of his buddy Buchanan and rallies the homesteaders against the land grabbers. The movie was actually filmed in the country in which the events took place—Eureka, California.

Conflict For Right Of Way Makes For Top Railroad Film

Battles for railroad right-of-ways will be featured in "Denver & Rio Grande," which will show at the Terrace Drive-In Theatre Thursday and Friday nights. Edmond O'Brien, Sterling Hayden, Dean Jagger, Laura Elliott and Lyle Bettger are starred in the movie, which is in Technicolor. The story concerns a conflict between the D&RG Railway Company and the Canyon City and San Juan line. Both are attempting to obtain the single right-of-way from Denver to the West. O'Brien plays the fighting boss man of the D&RG, and Sterling Hayden is the chief engineer of the rival company. The conflict between the two companies lead to train wrecks, fights, and finally murder.
