Proposed trustee districts

A reapportionment committee appointed by the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees split Monday over these two plans to redraw trustee districts to better reflect the ethnic population of Hereford. The top plan would keep five districts and two at-large spots, while the bottom plan would eliminate the at-large seats in favor of seven districted trustee seats. The school board has previously backed a 5-2 alignment. They will consider the committees report this month.

Jury selection under way in Reid murder trial here

Selection of a jury began Tuesday morning to hear evidence against a 36-year-old woman accused of murder in the death of her daughter in 1984.

The process of choosing 12 persons to hear the evidence against Tanya Thaxton Reid is expected to take more than a day. Observers have predicted that the trial in 222nd District Court may take two weeks.

Reid is accused of causing the death of eight-month-old Morgan

Reid when she and her family lived in Hereford. The baby reportedly stopped breathing on Feb. 7, 1984, was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital, then transferred to an Amarillo hospital where she died the next day.

A Deaf Smith County grand jury indicted her last March for murder and injury to a child. Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul has indicated he will not pursue prosecution of Reid on the injury to a child count.

The defendant was convicted in 1989 of endangerment of a child in an Iowa court. She was accused of causing her son, Robert, to stop breathing. When placed in foster care, no further episodes were reported, according to testimony in the trial.

Expert witnesses in the Iowa trial testified they believed that Morgan and Robert were victims of Munchausen by Proxy Syndrome, a disorder (See JURY, Page 2)

Application period starts Friday for 1994 county political hopefuls

Political party chairmen in Deaf Smith County will accept applications, beginning Friday, from prospective candidates in next year's elections.

The month-long filing period for county elective office will continue through 6 p.m. on Jan. 3.

In addition to filing applications for the ballot, prospective candidates must report a campaign treasurer designation to the Deaf Smith County Clerk.

Party primaries in Texas will be held on March 8.

Positions to be filled are county judge, county clerk, district clerk, commissioners of Precincts 2 and 4, county treasurer, justice of the peace, criminal district attorney and district judge. District judge filing is through state party officials but all others are handled at the county level.

A filing fee of $600 is charged for all offices except justice of the peace, $300; district attorney, $1,000, and district judge, $1,200. The district judge serves the 222nd Judicial District, made up of Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties.

Candidates may file for office by presenting petitions in lieu of fees. County Clerk David Ruland said the petitions must be signed by 50 qualified voters living in the precinct for precinct officials and 82 qualified voters for countywide office.

Deaf Smith County Democratic chairman is Roddy Allred. Serving as Republican county chairman is Frances Tooley of Dawn.

Incumbents in each of the county offices have indicated that will seek re-election with the exception of Vesta Mae Nunley, county treasurer, who announced earlier this year that she will retire at the end of her term next December.

Joyce Skelton last Friday announced her intention to run for the office on the Democratic ticket.

Officials who have informally said they will seek re-election are County Judge Tom Simons, County Clerk David Ruland, Commissioners Lupe Chavez of Precinct 2 and Johnny Latham of Precinct 4, District Clerk Lola Faye Veazey, Justice of Peace Johnnie Turrentine, District Attorney Roland Saul and District Judge David Wesley Gulley.

School panel divided on 5-2, 7-0 alignments

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

A committee formed to oversee the reapportionment of the Hereford Independent School District split Monday on the two plans presented it, dividing on options of a five- or seven-district system.

The vote was taken at the end of a public hearing at which local citizens were asked for input into the reapportionment, which was required to realign the district with population shifts found in the 1990 census.

Five people attended the session, as did five of the six members of the reapportionment committee.

Bob Bass, the attorney hired by the district to oversee the reapportionment, reported on the two proposed plans and presented maps of the suggested boundary alterations.

One plan keeps the five-district, two-at-large system currently in place, adjusting the boundaries to make sure there are three districts that have at least 70 percent Hispanic representation.

The second plan calls for changing to a seven-district board of trustees, with no at-large positions. Members James Marsh and Joe Flood are the at-large trustees. Their terms are scheduled to expire in May 1996.

Earlier this year the board voted to stay with the 5-2 alignment, but could reconsider at a later date.

The committee polled the people who attended the meeting on their feelings, ending with a 2-2 split. A fifth person who attended left before the informal vote.

The committee voted 3-2 in favor of the seven district plan.

A final draft of the maps -- accompanied by the committee's vote and member comments on the plans -- will be forwarded to the school board in time for its December meeting.

Committee member Kyla Flores said she voted in favor of the 5-2 plan because of the possibility of more than one qualified person from a district serving on the school board.

However, she added, the 7-0 plan would also be acceptable, because it would "bring out a lot more voter turnout," particularly among the city's Hispanic residents.

Under the proposed 5-2 plan, three districts would have at least 70 percent Hispanic population and two would be predominately Anglo, leaving two at-large districts up for grabs.

Under the 7-0 plan, three districts would be Anglo, three Hispanic and one up for grabs.

The reapportionment is needed because of population shifts between the 1980 and 1990 censuses that have left some trustee districts with too much or too little Hispanic representation.

The district is required to have trustee districts that are predominately Hispanic, to allow Hispanics equal opportunity to serve on the board.

Lighting ceremony scheduled

Santa Claus is coming to town!

And the formal start of the Christmas season will take place here Wednesday evening as the annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony is held at 6 p.m. at the east entrance of Hereford Community Center.

A sneak preview of about 30 merchants' displays will follow from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the Community Center, where refreshments will be served and choirs from throughout the city will provide entertainment.

And, those attending the Wednesday event will have an opportunity to win $100 in Hereford Bucks when the drawing is held about 8:30 p.m. The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce's retail trade committee and Women's Division are sponsoring the event.

Christmas lights will be shining all over town by Thursday night, with about 30 stores signed up for the chamber's "light-up" project, in addition to decorations made by individual stores.

The Christmas Fun Breakfast is scheduled Thursday at 6:30 a.m., with merchants' displays remaining on view, many prizes to be given away, and the usual fun and games associated with the breakfast events. Reservations are a must and should be made before 5 p.m. Wednesday. Cost is $5 a plate.

Grandmother can be helped by CSF

An 80-year-old grandmother is hoping for help from the Christmas Stocking fund this holiday season.

The local woman cares for her disabled granddaughter, age 20, with very limited means. She must attempt to get by on only her Social Security check, but the income is often not enough to meet the special needs of her granddaughter.

This woman is asking for clothing for her granddaughter, and help with the utility bills.

Local residents can help these folks and others like them this Christmas through their donations to the Christmas Stocking Fund, the holiday charity dedicated to helping the less fortunate of Deaf Smith County each Yule season.

Donations may be made at the offices of The Hereford Brand or mailed to CSF in care of Box 673, Hereford.

Residents are asked to consider making their donations earlier this year, as the CSF is working about a week ahead of previous year's schedules. The CSF total reached the $4,500 mark yesterday.

must be sent to the U.S. Justice Department for its stamp of approval before an election can be held.

Flores said she feels good about both plans, adding that neither one would have any problem gaining approval from the Justice Department.

If the 5-2 plan is adopted by the district, District 1 trustee Ron Weishaar -- who is board president -- and District 3 trustee Raymond Schlabs -- the secretary -- would have their terms end as scheduled in May 1994.

However, Flores said, if the 7-0 plan is adopted, all seven trustees would have to run again in May 1994, to align the trustees with their new districts and to eliminate any cases of two trustees sharing a district.

Brady bill needs only president's signature

By CAROLYN SKORNECK, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) -- After almost seven years of legislative battle, the Brady handgun control bill needs only President Clinton's signature to become law. "How sweet it is, how long it took," Jim Brady said today.

The bill will require a five-day waiting period and background check on handgun buyers and will take effect 90 days after it is signed by Clinton today.

Its arrival at the White House came only after extended Senate negotiations. The day before Thanksgiving, Republicans dropped a blockade in exchange for a vote next year on some modifications.

Clinton began urging Congress to pass the bill before he took office and hailed its passage as "a wonderful Thanksgiving present for the American people."

The bill, named for former White House Press Secretary James Brady, who was severely wounded in the 1981 assassination attempt on President Reagan, was first introduced into Congress on Feb. 4, 1987. Brady and his wife have campaigned for gun control since the mid-1980s.

The National Rifle Association spearheaded the opposition, but every major law enforcement organization endorsed the bill.

"It's not their golden hour," Brady said of the NRA during an interview on NBC this morning. "Actually, it took a team in Washington to do this, Democrats and Republicans, Americans all."

"It's not a panacea, but it is the beginning, and it will make a difference," Brady's wife, Sarah, said. Her husband, asked if he would continue the fight for control, said simply: "You can bet on it."

Even the bill's supporters say it is only one step in fighting crime, while opponents say it will impede only law-abiding citizens. The criminals, they say, will buy their weapons in illicit markets.

Brady opponents won a significant change in the legislation before it was passed: a five-year expiration for the waiting period provision, whether or not a computerized national instant background check system is up and running.

The bill authorizes spending $200 million a year to computerize criminal background information to create that instant-check system during those five years. When the computer system is operational, backgrounds of both handgun and long-gun buyers will be checked.

To get Brady passed in Congress, Republicans were promised votes next year on alterations that include ending the waiting period after four years unless the attorney general adds a fifth, and making it possible for an instant-check system to replace the waiting period after only two years.

Extension News

BY BEVERLY HARDER

Increasing knowledge of the potential effects of food born illness for pregnant women, newborns and infants indicates that food safety precautions can make a difference when it comes to health.

Any illness a pregnant woman contracts can affect her unborn child. While the fetus has some immunities from the mother's blood, its immune system is immature and vulnerable. This is true for newborns and infants particularly, and even for developing young children.

Because pregnant women and their children are more vulnerable, they may get sick from harmful bacteria in food, even if no one else in the household does. Common symptoms of food born illness include nausea, upset stomach and diarrhea—the onset within a few hours to a day or two after eating. But, the consequences of food born illness can be particularly severe for those with weakened immune systems. For this reason those who are more susceptible should contact a doctor immediately if food born illness is suspected.

For very young children, food born illness can lead to a number of complications, including urinary tract infections, meningitis and kidney failure. Dehydration in infants is a common consequence.

A newly recognized bacteria, Listeria monocytogenes, can cause spontaneous abortions and stillbirths. Surviving newborns may contract meningitis, which can be fatal or lead to permanent mental deficiency.

Listeria bacteria is found in raw or under cooked meats, poultry, seafood and eggs, unpasteurized dairy products like "raw" milk and soft imported cheeses. It also may be found in ready-to-eat packaged foods such as lunch meats and spreads. Although the type of illness caused by this bacteria is rare, awareness of its possibility is important. Precautionary measures include the following:

- At home:
 - Never eat raw or uncooked meat, poultry, seafood or eggs.
 - Don't spread bacteria from raw foods. Wash hands, utensils, cutting boards and counters that contact raw food before taking the next step in food preparation.
 - Cook raw food thoroughly. For meat and poultry there should be no pink color and juices should run clear. Eggs should be cooked solid, both the yolk and the white. Fish should flake with a fork.

-Promptly refrigerate cooked meat and poultry in small, shallow containers.

-Refrigerate any food marked "refrigerate." Don't keep lunch meats or spreads more than two weeks after purchase. Use or discard open packages in three or four days.

When eating out:

-Never eat raw or under cooked meat, poultry or seafood such as steak tartare (raw hamburger dish), raw oysters or clams. Make sure food is well-cooked with no pink in hamburger, steak, roasts or poultry. Fish should flake easily with a fork. If hamburger is not well done, send it back. It's a consumer's right.

-Avoid ordering foods with raw or under cooked eggs. This means Caesar Salad, perhaps chocolate mousse, some custards as well as "homemade" ice cream and mayonnaise. If uncertain about the ingredients, ask the waiter or waitress, or just avoid the dish.

-Don't eat any unpasteurized dairy products such as imported soft cheese or "raw" milk.

-Food should be served piping hot. If not, sent it back.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have experienced very heavy sweating since I was a baby, my hands and feet especially. They not only sweat, they drip. This really bothers me in class when I'm trying to take notes or am taking a test. I'm now 18 and can't get used to it. My thyroid was tested a couple of times and it was normal. I've tried lotions and pills that have not worked. I also tried electric pads which send electricity through water to shock your nerves. It was painful and didn't work. This condition is just as bad in the winter and does not seem to decrease. I've tried every kind of antiperspirant under my arms, but they don't help. The powder turns into cream.

DEAR READER: Unexplained excessive sweating is often difficult to manage. It is important to have a complete medical examination to search for any possible reason, such as an overactive thyroid. Some individuals sweat when their blood glucose falls, but that is accompanied by other symptoms. Nervous tension can be a factor, however, there is more than that to the problem.

If you have not used any of the beta-blockers such as Inderal, it is worth trying. These medicines block the adrenaline effect that is often part of the picture. Some people are helped by the same medicines used to block the stimulation of acid formation by the stomach. They act on nerve connections. These are Pro-Banthine and Prantal.

Electrical currents do help in some. There is the water method you apparently have experienced and then the Drionic device which allows you to place your hand or foot on a pad or locate it under the arm to provide an electrical current. There have been good reports on the device, but I don't know whether it will help in your case.

Hereford's Michael Brown fights with two Littlefield players for possession of the basketball Saturday in Whiteface Gym. Littlefield beat the Herd, 69-65.

Littlefield holds off Herd

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

An 8-0 run in the third quarter allowed Littlefield to pull away from a tied game, and the Wildcats held on for a 69-65 win over the Hereford boys' basketball team Saturday in Whiteface Gym.

The Herd falls to 1-3 on the season, while Littlefield remains unbeaten at 4-0.

Hereford's girls were off for the weekend. Both varsity teams plus the the junior varsity teams will host Levelland tonight.

Hereford and Littlefield fought to a draw in the first half. The Herd led 13-6 after one quarter, but the Wildcats clawed their way back and took leads with consecutive three point baskets. Littlefield pulled ahead with an 8-2 run, but Hereford closed out the half with a Jay Kendall three-pointer and a Benton Buckley steal and layup, tying the game at 32-32.

Hereford had several turnovers during the third quarter, during which Littlefield's 8-0 run gave it a 42-34 lead.

"Their pressure had a bad effect on us," Herd coach Randy Dean said. "We didn't handle their pressure well at all, especially in the third quarter when they turned it up. We didn't execute well at all. Something we've got to learn to do through our inexperience is we've got to play every minute of every game."

The Herd got closer in the final minute as Buckley hit a three-pointer and a two-pointer and Isaac Walker drove for a finger roll, pulling Hereford to within 67-65.

Hereford's Elijah Walker missed a three-pointer with less than 20 seconds left. A tied ball was called on the rebound, and Hereford got the ball under its own basket with five seconds left, but Louis Willimas stole the inbounds pass to seal the game for Littlefield. Allen Blair hit two free throws--two of his game high 21--for the final score.

Hereford was led by freshman Isaac Walker with 14 points. Buckley added 11, and Stacey Sanders and Cody Marion each scored eight.

The junior varsity picked up a win Saturday, holding off the Littlefield JV 56-52 in the first game of the doubleheader.

Hereford scored the first seven points of the game, then opened a 44-31 lead with an 8-0 run in the third quarter.

Littlefield fought back into contention, coming within two points in the fourth quarter. Todd Dudley had four of his 17 points down the stretch to hold Littlefield off. Gregg Kalka hit two free throws with just over a minute left to make the lead 54-48, but Littlefield got two quick baskets. Hereford's Michael Power grabbed a defensive rebound with eight seconds left, then hit two free throws to ice the game.

Brian Torres added 11 points for Hereford.

Tonight's games with Levelland will start at 6 p.m. with the girls' varsity in Whiteface Gym and the boys' JV across the hall in the junior high gym. The boys' varsity and girls' JV play at 7:30. In addition, the boys' sophomore team will host Tascosa at 4:30.

Hillwig wins final football contest

Jim Hillwig was the only one of the season winners to miss five games in the final Hereford Brand Football Contest, making him the grand prize winner of $100 in Hereford Bucks.

Hillwig won the contest reserved for players who had finished first, second or third in any previous contest this season.

Pat Nunnally and S.T. Loerwald both missed six games, but Nunnally picked the correct winner of the tiebreaker game (New Orleans over Minnesota) so he'll pick up $35 in Hereford Bucks for second place. Loerwald gets $15 for third.

Pete Vargas Jr. and Mal Manchee both missed seven games, while Mike Elliott and Nolan Grady missed eight games.

In the separate contest for players who hadn't won yet, Kristi Hollingsworth missed six games and beat out two others on the tiebreaker, so she won $25 in Hereford Bucks. Gayle Cotten wasn't quite as close on the tiebreaker, so he wins $15. Cory Schumacher also missed six games but picked Minnesota, so he gets $10 in Hereford Bucks.

Humphries leads Chargers to 31-0 rout of Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - If there was a problem or a controversy, Stan Humphries forcefully put an end to it. He is the San Diego Chargers' quarterback.

Making his first start in seven games after being sidelined with a bruised shoulder, Humphries picked apart the Indianapolis Colts Monday night.

Humphries, who went into the game as the NFL's lowest-rated quarterback, completed touchdown passes of 39 and 8 yards in the second quarter. Indianapolis never sacked him as he connected on 16 of 25 attempts for 216 yards without an interception.

The result was a 31-0 triumph that revived hopes of a late-season charge to the playoffs for the defending AFC West champions.

"I had a good feeling all week about the way we were practicing, about the way my shoulder was feeling," Humphries said.

Humphries connected with eight different receivers, including a 39-yard TD strike to Shawn Jefferson and an 8-yard scoring toss to Nate Lewis.

"I told our guys before the game, in the offensive huddle, that I'm tired of hearing about this offense not doing what it's capable of doing," he said. San Diego (5-6) faces Denver, one of the teams it is trying to catch, on Sunday. Indianapolis (3-8) tries to snap a four-game losing streak when it visits the New York Jets on Sunday.

"It was just a very complete game. I thought that every part of the game contributed: special teams, the offense and the defense." San Diego coach Bobby Ross said. "Stan? I was a little concerned he might be a little rusty. ... He didn't show any rustiness whatsoever."

Jefferson's touchdown pass started the scoring, capping a 97-yard, nine-play drive that was the team's longest of the season.

The 39-yard pass was the longest completion of the season for Humphries and Jefferson's first touchdown reception this year. Humphries was 5-for-5 for 81 yards on the drive.

San Diego then moved 90 yards in 10 plays for its second score. Rookie Natrone Means began the drive with consecutive runs of 16 and 25 yards. Later, Humphries connected with Lewis in the end zone.

"Offensively, we talked about establishing the line of scrimmage. Our guys did that," Ross said. "We didn't have any drops, we caught the ball well, we threw the ball well. We ran it well, and defensively we did a good job."

Indianapolis, which hasn't scored a touchdown on offense in the first quarter all season, came up short on a pair of scoring opportunities in the first half, didn't have a serious scoring threat in the second half, and failed to get a touchdown for the fifth game this year.

The first drive ended with Stanley Richard intercepting running back Anthony Johnson's pass to Jessie Hester at San Diego's 3. The second ended when Leslie O'Neal sacked Jeff George for an 11-yard loss and Dean Biasucci's 53-yard field goal attempt went wide right.

"They didn't do anything we didn't expect," Colts safety Jason Belser said. "They have two good backs, and their quarterback picked us apart."

"They just executed and did their job effectively," Colts defensive end Jon Hand said.

The shutout was the first of the season for San Diego, which went into Week 11 of the season with the league's second-worst mark in pass defense.

"The defense finally came out and played," said San Diego linebacker Junior Seau. "We got some pressure like we wanted to and took the run away early."

The Chargers, who were second in the league in rushing defense, limited the Colts to 55 yards rushing on 20 attempts.

On Sunday in the NFL, it was Houston 23, Pittsburgh 3; Atlanta 17, Cleveland 14; Cincinnati 16, the Los Angeles Raiders 10; New Orleans 17, Minnesota 14; the New York Jets 6, New England 0; Green Bay 13, Tampa Bay 10; Philadelphia 17, Washington 14; Denver 17, Seattle 9; Kansas City 23, Buffalo 7; the New York Giants 19, Phoenix 17; and San Francisco 35, the Los Angeles Rams 40.

On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, Chicago beat Detroit 10-6, and Miami edged Dallas 16-14 on a last-second field goal set up when Dallas' Leon Lett touched the ball after the Cowboys blocked a field goal.

Men's flag football champions

The Arrowhead Mills Shocker's edged George Warner Seed 48-44 to take the championship of the Hereford YMCA's Men's Flag Football league. Last-second shot downs Tech

LUBBOCK (AP)—An improbable three-point shot by Arthur Agee with two seconds left gave Arkansas State a 79-76 upset victory over Texas Tech before a stunned crowd of 3,364 Monday night in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

A couple of Red Raiders are hoping the game will serve as a wake-up call.

"I always thought that you don't always win with the best athletes," said junior guard Lance Hughes, who scored 18 points, grabbed nine rebounds and passed for six assists. "We have one of the most athletic teams, definitely. Their defense pressed and pushed us out so far that I think it flustered us."

As Tech head coach James Dickey said following the contest that Arkansas State did the things it had to do on the road—play aggressive at both ends of the floor, hit key shots and protect the basketball.

Five players scored in double figures for the winning Indians, led by Yaki Saunders' 19 points. Tech was led by sophomore Jason Sasser who hit for 22 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Junior Mark Davis had 18 points and eight rebounds, and Darvin Ham scored 10 before fouling out with 8:11 left.

Spurs' Robinson faces test

By The Associated Press
For David Robinson, it was easy playing against the lowly Milwaukee Bucks - especially since they were without starting center Frank Brickowski.

Now, however, he's looking forward to playing against three guys who figure to dominate the center position through the 1990s.

Robinson scored 34 points, including 12 in the fourth period, in the Spurs' 102-95 victory over Milwaukee Monday night. It was San Antonio's fifth straight victory, including four straight at home.

The Spurs now embark on a three-game road trip to Charlotte, Orlando and Philadelphia. And waiting in those cities will be Alonzo Mourning, Shaquille O'Neal and Shawn Bradley.

"I told David this is a good road trip to prove he is the best center in the NBA - which I believe he is," coach John Lucas said. "This is the road trip to prove it."

The 7-foot-1 center trails only O'Neal and Phoenix's Charles Barkley among the league's scoring leaders. He started an 8-0 run with consecutive jumpers after Milwaukee had whittled a 15-point deficit to one midway through the fourth quarter.

"David refused to let us lose tonight down the stretch," Lucas said.

Robinson made 13 of 17 shots from the field and 8 of 12 from the line. He also had nine rebounds.

In other games, the Los Angeles Clippers beat New Jersey 118-94 and Indiana defeated Sacramento 105-103.

The Spurs also got 22 points from Dale Ellis - 17 in the first half - and 11 from seldom-used reserve forward J.R. Reid.

Milwaukee was led by Eric Murdock with 18 points and Todd Day with 16. The Bucks were done in by a 7-of-24 shooting effort in the fourth quarter.

"Too little too late," Bucks coach Mike Dunleavy said. "We had one real tough stretch when we just missed them. That's just the way it was for us. I thought our aggressiveness was much better. We've got to come out and try to put two halves like that together in order to beat a really good team."

The Bucks are now tied with Dallas with an NBA-worst 11 losses.

"We're struggling right now, but a lot of it has to do with the fact that we're a young team," Dunleavy said. "A lot of it has to do with the fact that we're not making shots right now. A little bit of confidence will change their perspective in a hurry."

Clippers 118, Nets 94

In a game of streaks by both teams at Los Angeles, the Clippers' 24-5 spurt in the third quarter countered an earlier 25-3 run by New Jersey.

Ron Harper scored 14 of his season-high 36 points in the third-quarter run and Loy Vaught had a career-high 21 rebounds. The Clippers' offensive outburst came after they trailed 69-64 with 6:56 to play in the quarter.

"We made a great comeback and took the lead, but Harper took over the game and they moved to another level," Nets coach Chuck Daly said.

It was the Nets' fourth straight loss and second blowout in as many games.

Danny Manning added 20 points and Mark Jackson 15 for Los Angeles. The Clippers, with the NBA's second-best defense, held the Nets to 42.4 percent field-goal shooting. Only one Los Angeles opponent has converted 50 percent of its shots this season.

Pacers 105, Kings 103

At Sacramento, Calif., Dale Davis scored 18 of his team-high 20 points in the second half, and his tip-in with 1:20 left gave the Pacers a 102-100 lead, their first since the opening 2 1/2 minutes of the game.

Lionel Simmons missed a 17-foot jumper at the buzzer that would have tied it.

"We won by flat-out playing, but not by execution," said Indiana coach Larry Brown, whose team outscored Sacramento 59-35 in the second half and won its third straight road game.

Pete Chilcutt, who sprained his ankle midway through the second quarter, did not return for Sacramento. The Kings also played without starting forward Wayman Tisdale and reserve center Randy Breuer.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were out to lunch in your response to "Ms. Chips in Miami." She was the 60-year-old schoolteacher who was considering marriage to the 65-year-old man. He insisted that they split all expenses down the middle.

I was in her spot a few years ago. My man was 62 when we married, and I was 55. He insisted that I pay for half of everything, and in exchange, he promised to leave me 10 percent of his assets.

I paid for half the house, but when he died, I discovered that each of his three kids were left 30 percent of his estate. That meant I ended up owning only 10 percent of my home. When my "partners" insisted on selling it, I got less than $15,000 even though I had put over $50,000 of my own money into it.

My share of the rest of my husband's estate came to about $10,000 while each of his children received $30,000.

Guess who had to pay the funeral expenses. And that's not all. His kids were upset because I refused to buy a $15,000 casket.

Tell Ms. Chips to keep looking, Ann. Somewhere there is a man out there who will want her enough to support her with no strings attached. I wish I had kept looking or stayed single.—Been There in Idaho

DEAR IDAHO: I plead temporary insanity. Thousands of readers said my advice stank and then cited their own experiences to prove it. Here's more:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing about Ms. Chips in Miami, who asked for advice about marrying a 65-year-old widower. He had presented her with a list of demands which included her sharing half of the financial load. You told her it would be a shame to pass up an opportunity to have a nice companion in the evening of her life.

This man is not "a nice companion" for the evening of her life. He comes across as a cagey character who has presented her with a list of non-negotiable demands about financial sharing. If he were truly the great guy you seem to think he is, he would explain his philosophy of financial sharing and sit down with her and work out a plan that is mutually agreeable.

I'm convinced this man will bring her grief, not happiness. She's better off alone. Please reconsider your advice.—J.K., Mill Creek, Wash.

DEAR J.K.: Consider my advice reconsidered. Thanks to all who wrote.

WTAMU to host variety of holiday happenings

Santa has begun to pack his bag of goodies for his famed world-wide tour, and that bag includes many exciting holiday happenings and several special appearances on the campus of West Texas A&M University.

The university's holiday season will kick off at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday with the annual Carol of Lights on the lawn west of the Jack B. Kelley Student Center (JBKSC). The evening, sponsored by the Residence Hall Association, will include caroling with the WTAMU choral program and lighting of the campus for the holiday season. The event will culminate with cookies and hot cocoa sponsored by the WTAMU Foundation in the second floor foyer of Old Main and will feature a special seasonal guest for those who wish to bring their wish lists.

Friday will feature a couple of events for holiday revelers. The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum will once again host their Victorian Christmas Open House from 7-9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and from 2-4 Dec. 6 at the museum. The open house will feature an elaborately decorated Victorian Christmas tree, an antique sleigh with a visitor from the North Pole and the traditional "coming alive" of Pioneer Town, all

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Tom Arnold powered down four doughnuts in a minute's time to demonstrate his readiness for a charity dessert-eating contest.

Arnold and his wife, Roseanne, will be paired Dec. 5 against Hulk Hogan and restaurateur Robert Earl to raise money for the Tom and Roseanne Arnold Foundation for Abused Children.

"I will stuff myself until I get sick. I mean, I will have a sugar overdose. Anything for the foundation," Arnold said Friday on KTLA-TV's "The Morning Show."

The contest will be held at the Planet Hollywood restaurant in Costa Mesa.

decked out for the Christmas season.

After enjoying the holiday splendor at the museum, holiday sojourners can make their way across campus to Mary Moody Northern Recital Hall to enjoy the annual Christmas concert performed by the university choirs and orchestra. The concert is at 8 p.m. Friday.

A highlight of the university's holiday celebration will take place Saturday. Noble lords and ladies will don their 16th century holiday finery to begin the 11th annual Madrigal Dinner, sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and the Sybil B. Harrington College of Fine Arts and Humanities. The gathering begins at 6:45 p.m. with the traditional wassail bowl in the Main Dining Hall. The great holiday feast will begin promptly at 7 p.m. with guests enjoying the renaissance sounds of the Madrigal Singers and the Matilda Guame Early Music Consort.

Lunch goes in the JBKSC on Thursday, Dec. 9, will be treated to the "Sounds of Christmas" performed by the Randall High School show choir "Bravol!" The Munch 'n' More program will begin at 12:20 p.m. in the Commons Area.

For many WTAMU students, nothing in Santa's bag could be more inviting than the event that will take place Friday, Dec. 17. Winter commencement ceremonies will be conducted at 7 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center's Cal Farley Coliseum. The ceremonies add a special touch of holiday cheer to the university's Christmas celebration.

All events are free and open to the public except the Madrigal Dinner. Tickets for the dinner are $17 for general admission, $8 for students, $5 for WTAMU students with identification and $3 for WTAMU students with meal cards. Proceeds benefit the students directly involved with the production of dinner.

For ticket information, contact the Office of Student Activities at 1-656-2313.

In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second radio advertisement, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of...

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics
