Hereford Police unveil crime-fighting canineBY RICK LANNING Staff WriterIf you're a drug trafficker, burglar, or fleeing felon, better watch your back. Ricky wants you.

Ricky is a highly trained police dog, the first to be used by the Hereford Police Department.

Weighing 54 pounds and standing as tall as a German Shepherd, the Holland-born animal is expected to be a valuable tool in running downcriminals, said Hereford Patrolman Dave Ellis.A recent addition to the Hereford Police, Ellis, 29, joined the department a year ago. When Police Chief David Wagner announced he was accepting applications from officers who wanted to join the special K-9 unit, Ellis volunteered."Dog handling was a new field for this department and I felt I could help set up a good program," said Ellis, who is married and has a four-year-old daughter.After Wagner chose him for the position, Ellis took two weeks of training with Ricky in Shreveport, La.
with the dog's owner and trainer.Said Ellis, "Ricky is a Belgian Malinois. He has been training for this job since he was born."He is trained to detect illegal narcotics, search buildings, apprehend criminals, and protect police."The dog's biggest weapon, said Ellis, is his ability to bite and hold.
"I can tell you that Ricky is not bred to be a pet," the officer declared.
"He understands only Dutch -- all of my commands are given in Dutch.
And his jaws are strong enough to apply 900 pounds of pressure per square inch."If I were a criminal suspect, I would not want Ricky on my tail. I would definitely do my best to comply with the officer's instructions."One of Ricky's strongest points as a police dog is his ability to find illegal drugs."He can detect marijuana, cocaine, heroin, and amphetamines," added Ellis. So far, Ricky, purchased at a cost of $6,000, which was divided between police and the Hereford school district, hasn't been called upon to help in any drug cases."The department has only had him about a week," said Ellis. "We're figuring what he can do best."Because Ellis is the only officer assigned to handle Ricky, he is expected to keep the dog under his control at all times."When Ricky and I are working, we are on call 24 hours a day," he stated. "He responds only to my commands. Some of the other officers have learned to speak Dutch, but Ricky will do only what I tell him.
That's part of his training."Because of the dog's ability to inflict serious wounds with his teeth, Ellis sizes up a situation carefully before he releases Ricky."Before entering a building, for example, we repeat a verbal warning three times, telling anyone inside that we are police officers and that we're going to send in a police dog," he said."We don't want to hurt anyone who is innocent. We're after criminals."Sharp to address Chamber banquetJohn Sharp, Texas Comptroller, will be the guest speaker for the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet on Thursday, March 3, it was announced this week by C of C president Wes Fisher.Other highlights of the annual event will include a special musical presentation by the Hereford Chamber Singers, and the recognition of the "Citizen of the Year," the coveted award sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club. Nominations for the award are still being accepted at the chamber office.In addition, the chamber will formally introduce the 1994 slate of officers and the new board of directors. Tickets to the banquet are $15 each and are on sale at the chamber office. "The Future Is Ours" will be the banquet theme."Sharp is an excellent speaker," said Fisher. "We have heard him and he brings a very timely message which will also be enjoyable."As the state's chief financial officer, Sharp has searched for waysto improve the delivery of services to the people of the state, while also cutting the bloated state bureaucracy.After taking office as the state's 35th comptroller in January 1991, he mobilized the massive "Texas Performance Review," a historic audit of state government that found more than $4 billion in immediate savings and some $12 billion for taxpayers through 1997.President Clinton named Sharp to serve as special advisor to a national performance review in March of 1993, an audit patterned after the comptroller's own state review. He also has initiated a Texas School Performance Review, an ongoing program to use public education funds as efficiently as possible in the classroom, rather than on unnecessary administrative costs.The son of an oil field worker and school teacher, Sharp grew up in Placedo, near Victoria, along the Gulf Coast. He graduated from Texas
A&M in 1972 after serving as student body president. He received a Masters Degree in Public Administration from Southwest Texas State, then returned to Victoria in 1978 to operate a one-man real estate firm.
He also married that year to Charlotte Han of Austin. They had a son and a daughter.Sharp was elected to the Texas House from Victoria in November, 1978, was named "Outstanding Freshman" by Texas Monthly. He was elected to the Texas Senate in 1982 and four years later won election to the Texas Railroad Commission. He won election as comptroller in 1990 with almost 63 percent of the vote."Our goal is not simply to improve the old system of government," Sharp says, "but to lay the groundwork for a new and better way of doing business in Texas."JOHN SHARP
...State ComptrollerErnest Brown tabbed by Gov. Richards to sit on state fire panelA Deaf Smith County man, Ernest L. Brown, has been appointed to the Texas Commission on Fire Protection by Governor Ann Richards.Brown will serve on the commission in a slot allocated to volunteer firefighters. He has been active for a number of years in the county's volunteer firefighting program and served as secretary-treasurer of theBootleg VFD from its founding in 1975.A resident of the county for 50 years, Brown has served as chairman of the Texas Forest Service rural advisory council, as a member of the Rural Conservation and Development
District and as a member of the Texas
A&M University System advisory council.A member of Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Cattle Feeders Association and National Cattlemen's Association,
Brown has served on the board of WT Services, West Texas Rural Telephone, Walcott School and Deaf Smith Appraisal District.The TCFP has 12 commissioners from various segments of the fire service. Charlie Hester, executive director of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association, expressed appreciation for the appointment of Brown to represent the volunteer fire community.State Sen. Teel Bivins endorsed Brown for the position.The new commissioner is expected to attend a special meeting of the TCFP on Feb. 17, in Austin.

A cop and his dog

Hereford Police Officer Dave Ellis shows off the department's newest crime-fighter, Ricky, who is a Belgian Malinois that Ellis has been trained to handle. Ricky was purchased by the department and the Hereford Independent School District for $6,000 to sniff out a variety of illegal drugs. The dog arrived in Hereford last week.

F-16, libraries, sharks cut Military to get hit hard by new Clinton budgetBy ALAN FRAM
Associated Press WriterWASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton's 1995 budget will trim the Pentagon's military and civilian workforce by 181,000 - saving $4 billion - and hold the line on the government's AIDS prevention efforts, administration officials and documents reveal.His spending plan, which he will ship to Congress on Monday, will also cut a program that helps prepare low-income youths for the workforce, while boosting aid to elementary and secondary schools.As new details of the $1.5 trillion spending plan emerged, administration officials continued their effort to portray themselves as tough budget-cutters.Administration officials said Clinton will propose killing 115 programs for a savings for $3.25 billion. Terminated programs would include the Air Force's F-16 fighter, public library construction and a shark research center."I anticipate that we'll be successful in the process, but ... there'll probably be a lot of blood on the floor by the time we finish," said Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen.
Last year's deficit-reductionpackage, muscled into law by Congress' majority Democrats, clamped tight caps on spending. To stay within the limits, Clinton's 1995 blueprint - for the fiscal year that starts next Oct. 1 - will balance increases in some programs with cuts in less favored initiatives.Documents obtained by The Associated Press show that Clinton will seek a $264 billion military budget, a bit more than is being spent this year.But to avoid swelling Pentagon costs by an additional $4 billion, Clinton will propose trimming the Defense Department's workforce by 181,000, reducing the active duty force to 1.52 million from 1.7 million as of last fall. Overall Defense Department employment would decline by 344,300 over two years.Other details about the budget, which covers the fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1:-- Along with a $78 million increase in AIDS research, no increases for prevention of the killer disease or to house AIDS patients.
The Ryan White Act, which provided $579 million to hard-hit cities for AIDS treatment, would grow by $93 million.

-- A $60 million cut in a program

under the Job Training Partnership Act that provides grants for training low-income young people, shrinking the program's budget to $599 million next year.-- A $2.8 billion increase for the Department of Education, bringing its budget to $31.7 billion. Clinton's Goals 2000 education reform initiative would get $700 million, while elementary and secondary school aid would grow by $1 billion to $10.5 billion. Thirty-three small programs would be eliminated for a $639 million savings.-- A $300 million increase for the substance abuse block grant - the only federal money available for communities to set up drug abuse programs.-- A $100 million increase in tuberculosis funding for Medicaid patients.-- A $350 million boost for a Labor Department program, now budgeted at $1.1 billion, that helps workers who lose their jobs due to competition from foreign companies.
-- Sharp increases for the Energy Department's natural gas research and development, and for energy efficiency programs. Natural gas research, currently $187 million, will jump to at least $250 million, said one source.

Local Roundup

City agenda posted

An order for municipal elections on May 7 will be issued by the Hereford City Commission at a regular meeting Monday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Other agenda items are consideration of a zoning change, final approval of Southwestern Public Service rates, appointment of members of the Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority board and a report from City Building Inspector Marvin Gaddy.

Immunization schedule noted

The Texas Department of Health has announced its February immunization clinic schedule for Hereford. Vaccines against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps and HIB (hemophilus influenzae type B) will be offered. The Texas Department of Health charges to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. Charges are based on family income and size and the ability to pay. Regular clinics will be held from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. The clinics will be held on Feb. 10, 17 and 24 in the Health Department offices, 205 W. Fourth St., Suite B.

Hospital board meets Tuesday

A discussion on the proposed renovation, the calling of the election of directors, and the appointment of election judges and alternates will be on the agenda when the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board meets Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the board room at Hereford Regional Medical Center. The usual monthly reports and an administrative update are also on the agenda. The meeting is open to all interested citizens.

Heart ball planned

The American Heart Association will host its second annual Hearts-A-Fire Ball on Saturday, Feb. 12, in the Hereford Country Club. The event will be from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. and will feature food, fun and an auction. Music will be provided by the Vera Brothers, a country and western group based in Amarillo. Cost is $25 per person, which is tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. Reservations must be made by Tuesday to Lisa Formby, 364-6532; Betty Drake, 364-3263; Charmayne Klett, 364-7264; Anita Gamez, 363-7608; or by signing up at Springer Insurance.

Financial aid session set

There will be a college financial aid workshop held here on Monday in the Hereford High School library. Parents of sophomores are invited to attend at 7 p.m. and parents of juniors and seniors may attend at 7:30 p.m. Information will be available on financial aid, including 1994 financial aid form for, kinds of aid available, how to plan ahead to meet educational expenses, sources of financial aid and other topics. A college financial advisor will be on hand to talk to junior and senior parents.

Hereford Police to hold citizens police academy

Hereford Police will conduct a 10-week Citizen Police Academy at the Community Center starting Tuesday, Feb. 15.

Classes will be held each Tuesday from 7-10 p.m. to give the public a working knowledge of the Hereford Police Department, said Police Chief David Wagner, who will moderate the program.

Among topics to be covered are what it takes to become a police officer, community service programs, criminal and traffic law, and officer safety. Instruction will consist of lectures, demonstrations, and video aids.

Said Wagner, "Our slogan is to serve, protect, and educate. The goal of the academy is to provide information to the public to dispel suspicions and misconceptions, and to increase rapport between citizens and police officers."

The final night of the academy will be reserved for graduation ceremonies, said Wagner. He asked anyone who is interested in signing up for the free program to call him at 364-2323.

Glitch stalls launch of disk from shuttle

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - NASA scrambled Saturday to understand an intermittent problem with a disk-shaped experimental satellite as it hung over the side of the shuttle Discovery.

Astronaut Jan Davis, manipulating the 50-foot shuttle crane, latched onto the 12-foot stainless-steel Wake Shield Facility early Saturday in preparation for its release.

The spacecraft was lifted high above Discovery and held over the side as crewmate Ronald Sega and ground controllers started several hours of tests.

Everything appeared to be going well when Sega noticed that a bank of five red lights on the satellite that are supposed to indicate power and computer capability weren't illuminated. After more than an hour, Sega got the lights to come on, but NASA continued studying the problem.

Officials said it wasn't immediately clear whether the problem would delay a scheduled 11 a.m. EST release. There were two more opportunities later in the day.

After deployment, the $13.5 million disk was to be backed away from Discovery by a tiny nitrogen thruster.

It will hurtle through space about 46 miles behind the shuttle for two days before cosmonaut Sergei Krikalev, the first Russian to fly aboard a U.S. spaceship, recaptures it with the 50-foot robot arm.

The 3,800-pound satellite soars through space on its edge. Scientists hope its wake creates an ultra-pure vacuum that allows the growth of a high-quality semiconductor film, a key component in computer chips.

Even in low Earth orbit, atomic oxygen contaminates the space vacuum. Researchers theorize that the shield will protect the growing films from those particles and create a vacuum up to 10,000 times purer than those now possible in laboratories.

If all goes well, seven semiconductor films will be grown on the satellite's backside.

Sega, an engineer and physicist who worked on Wake Shield while teaching at the University of Houston, will monitor progress through data and video beamed back to the shuttle.

While other astronauts worked with the satellite today, payload commander Franklin Chang-Diaz tended to science experiments aboard Spacehab. The commercial laboratory riding in the cargo bay contains 12 NASA-sponsored studies.

The eight-day flight is set to end with a Kennedy Space Center landing next Friday.

Sign of the times

Drivers along U.S. 385 and 15th street will notice new signs at the parking lot entrances to the former Smith grocery store. The Hereford Independent School District purchased the building last year and gained title on the building last month. It will be renovated this month as the district's new administration building.

Companies lining up to open up shop in Hanoi

By GEORGE ESPER
AP Special Correspondent

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) - A big Kansas City construction firm and another airline are the latest to join the rush of American companies into Vietnam's multibillion-dollar market.

The construction firm, Black & Veatch, can capitalize on a pressing need to rebuild much of Vietnam, including its power plants and utilities.

The company said Friday it plans to open an office in Hanoi and to submit proposals for water treatment and environmental projects.

Northwest Airlines joined United Airlines in seeking air routes to Vietnam. The airline said it is seeking permission from the U.S. Department of Transportation to provide scheduled service between Detroit and Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, with an intermediate stop in Tokyo.

United Airlines said it would begin service between Los Angeles and Ho Chi Minh City as soon as it can get government approval. United acquired the U.S. rights from now-defunct Pan Am in 1986.

General Motors and Chrysler Corp. plan to look into whether there is a big enough market for their cars in Vietnam.

General Motors was a surprise since it had signed a memorandum of understanding last May with a group of foreign investors and the Vietnamese, but did not disclose it until after President Clinton announced the lifting of the 19-year trade embargo on Thursday.

Otis Elevator Co., which first began operating in Vietnam more than 40 years ago, is returning to install and service its products. It was forced to leave the country in 1975 when Saigon fell to communist North Vietnam.

American Express signed an agreement with the Bank for Foreign Trade of Vietnam to promote use of its card by businesses in Vietnam.

Pepsi began immediately bottling and distributing its cola in Ho Chi Minh City and said it would be in full production in a week. Coca-Cola Indochina Pte Ltd. of Singapore is investing $45 million in its Vietnam business during the next five years. It will begin production later on.

Vietnam offers a market of more than 70 million consumers and a pool of cheap labor.

James Rockwell, a Hanoi-based consultant for several American companies, said a dozen delegations from the firms he represents will be coming to Vietnam in the next six weeks.

"American companies are going to find out the facts on the ground and then decide whether to go forward or not," Rockwell said. "I think it's an excellent place to invest. There isn't another place in the world situated in the fastest-growing region with as little development taking place."

Prior to the lifting of the embargo, Vietnam had licensed more than 800 foreign investment projects for mostly European and rich Asian nations with a total approved capital of $7 billion.

Basketball royalty

Stacey Sanders and Jenifer Holmes were named Hereford High School Basketball King and Queen for 1994. The two were announced at a special pep rally Friday afternoon. They are both senior and play on the varsity squads.

Man who interrupted fight jumps onto roof of Buckingham Palace

LONDON (AP) - American James Miller, who glided into a heavyweight boxing match in Las Vegas last year, was arrested on Saturday after landing a propeller-driven parachute on the roof of Buckingham Palace, police and the U.S. Embassy said.

Miller - half-naked and heckling police as he approached the palace - stripped in chilly temperatures after he set foot on the roof, a Scotland Yard spokesman said. He was not armed and was arrested immediately.

Queen Elizabeth II was not at the palace, her official residence in central London. Scotland Yard said no member of the royal family was in danger.

Miller, 30, interrupted the Evander Holyfield-Riddick Bowe heavyweight title bout at Las Vegas on Nov. 6 by floating into the open-air arena on a paraglider. He was charged with a misdemeanor.

His identity was confirmed by a U.S. Embassy official who requested anonymity. He had been in England for about a week, police said.

Miller was spotted by police as flew along the River Thames, then down a broad and leafy avenue toward the palace.

Police said he circled his propeller-driven parachute above the palace before landing on a roof, and stripping off his pants to reveal he was painted green from the waist down. He ran toward a flag pole above the entrance to the palace, and taunted police.

The Chamber and You

BY MIKE CARR
Executive Vice President

The year of 1994 promises to be very exciting and active. The chamber will be very busy with many new ideas and programs. The Chamber board of directors recently completed its planning retreat and will look forward to a very successful year.

This success can be achieved if we all continue to work together in helping Hereford and Deaf Smith County hustle.

Some events currently being planned include our first Chamber Fun Breakfast of this year, which will be held Feb. 17 at the Hereford Community Center. This early morning event is for all residents who are able to get up and around by 6:30 a.m. We are very pleased to welcome our host and sponsor for this Fun Breakfast, Hereford Travel Center, as we help celebrate "National Cruise Month." Reservations are now being taken, so call the chamber and plan to attend.

Also on Feb. 17, the Chamber's Legislative Affairs Committee and the Hereford Educators Association will co-sponsor a forum for all candidates who are running for office. The public event will be held at the Hereford Community Center beginning at 7 p.m. We invite you to submit any questions you might have for any of the candidates as soon as possible. You may mail them or drop them by the chamber office.

Tickets are no on sale for the 1994 Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquet, scheduled for March 3 at 7 p.m. at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. The guest speaker will be the Honorable John Sharp, State Comptroller of Public Accounts. He is an excellent speaker that we know you will enjoy. Make your reservations as soon as possible.

The circus is coming to town! Mark your calendar for April 27 -- one day only!

The chamber will be sponsoring the Carson and Barnes 5-ring circus, all under one tent which is 60,000-square-feet. This is the largest circus of its kind and is guaranteed to be a first class show. This is definitely entertainment for the entire family. You'll be hearing more next week as we kick off the corporate and business ticket sales in the middle of February. We urge and invite each of you to support and help make this event a great success. Thank you.

Things and dates to note....The Retail Committee will be finalizing plans for a very exciting retail and business seminar early this spring which will involve much of the community. Watch for details....Mark your calendar for this year's Town and Country Jubilee, which is set for Aug. 7-13 with Elaine McNutt as the general chairperson. Start making your plans now.

Have a great week and remember - if you're not a chamber member, we would invite you to join -- give us a call or drop by and visit.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

"Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow...but several HJH teachers found that being snowed out can be worse than being snowed in! English teachers Joanne Bone, Myrna Buckley and Catherine Cortez were unable to return from an English meeting as planned any my flight scheduled for Sunday was also grounded.

Mr. Conny Martin, my substitute, did such a fine job while I was away that I introduced myself to my students as a substitute and told them what their "teacher" had left for them to do.

English seven classes are reviewing sentence compliments and types of sentences. They are also working on grammar drills and intensive reading comprehension for TAAS practice.

Eighth history classes are involved in an intense study of the Bill of Rights. They have studied court documents, various court cases and have written options of cases.

Seventh history classes are in the Lone Star State unit which includes the annexation of Texas by the United States, the Mexican War and Indian reservations. By the way, do you know how many Indian reservations there are in Texas?

Using a full-sized skeleton named Harry to study the human body and its parts has kept the interest of seventh grade science students. They are also observing a pig heart and cow eyes to compare them with human hearts and eyes. They have even spent part of one period "being blind" to accustom themselves to a physical handicap.

Krista Warren, our Geography Bee winner, is continuing her geography study while waiting to hear the results of the test she took January 14. This type of study can only help Krista and those who review with her as they will improve their geography knowledge. We hope to hear from Washington soon!

Thanks to Sue Morris and Karen Solomon for writing our column in my absence. Thanks, also, to all who contributed to it!

HEA and HCTA survey local school teachers

The Hereford Educators Association and Hereford Classroom Teachers Association recently conducted a survey to gain input from teachers about any changes they wanted in the evaluation process presently being used in the Hereford Independent School District.

TTAS instrument for those evaluations.

Last week, HEA president Carolyn Waters and CTA president Maria Garcia presented a summary of that survey to the school board.

The survey showed that there was no desire to change the current instrument, which the two recommended to the board along with the suggestion that appraisers be aware of the comments and suggestions that were made on the survey forms for more harmony between those appraising and those being appraised.

Also during Tuesday's board meeting, trustees and staff directed CTA and HEA to present a plan to the board on how to reduce teacher absenteeism within the district.

HEA recently entered two scrapbooks in the annual TSTA School Bell Award competition. One was of coverage by The Hereford Brand and the other a collection of columns by Amarillo newspaper writer B. Scott Hunt, who has featured Hereford school events several times during the year.

Meeting set to plan work program for several years

A meeting designed to provide input for the Deaf Smith County Extension Service to write a program of work for the next several years will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Bull Barn.

The session will consider issues in four major areas -- agriculture, environmental stewardship, economic competitiveness and development of life skills and leadership qualities.

Deaf Smith County residents will be asked to take a critical look at concerns and strengths as well as ways to advance the quality of life.

After the four study groups have completed their work, the extension program committees will prioritize the issues that can be addressed with research-based information. Other issues will be shared with other agencies or groups.

The county's long-range extension program will be written on the basis of issues identified at the meeting.

FmHA plans loan, grant meeting here

Organizations wishing to package housing loan/grant applications through the Farmers Home Administration must attend certification training to be eligible to participate.

The training will be held on March 2. Information about the training may be obtained by calling the FmHA office in Hereford, 364-2802.

Details of eligibility also are available from the office, located at 313 W. Third.

The only member of the House of Representatives to vote against entering the second World War was Jeannette Rankin.

Applications being taken for interns

WASHINGTON -- U.S. Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, will accept applications for summer interns from college students until Feb. 28.

Each summer, Combest selects students who have completed their first year of college for internships in his Washington office.

Participants are given the opportunity to learn first-hand how a congressional office works by experiencing the legislative process in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Interns will assist in the shaping of legislation during committee hearings and with helping constituents faced with problems from federal agencies.

Students who have completed their first year of college by this summer may write Combest explaining why they would like to intern in his office.

The letter and attached resume should be sent to Combest, 1511 Longworth Building, Washington, D.C. 20515-4319. They must be received by Feb. 28.

The internship consists of at least four weeks during the summer. Students receive a small stipend to help offset the costs of food and lodging.

Re-Elect Tom Simons County Judge "A Proven Choice"

During the past seven years Judge Simons has worked hard to improve our community. He has helped to establish the Deaf Smith County Youth Home, where juveniles receive local care & direction. He helped initiate the prisoner work program that has given additional assistance to our community and self-esteem to the workers. He serves on numerous boards including the Child Welfare Board, The Juvenile Board, United Way, Seven Who Care. He is current President of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. He is current President of the Panhandle Judges & Commissioners' Association. Judge Simons cares about our community and the responsibilities of his job and on election day he would again appreciate you vote. Remember Election Day is March 8 and early voting begins Feb. 16.

TIRED OF GETTING

'D EVERY TAX SEASON?

An Individual Retirement Account at Hereford State Bank might make the prospect of keeping more of your earned income a little less...what's a good word...taxing!

An IRA is a personal savings plan that provides a substantial retirement fund and allows you to defer taxes on the principal as well as the accrued interest each year.

Because your earnings on an IRA investment are tax-deferred, the accumulated earnings build much faster than other comparable taxed investments.

We invite you to stop by Hereford State Bank today and get all the details. You can even save on your '93 taxes if you start an IRA before April 15th of this year!

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says there's one thing to be said about ignorance—it sure causes a lot of interesting arguments.

Being modest is the art of encouraging people to find out what you are being modest about.

"You're asking for pretty high pay for someone who has so little experience," said the employer to the applicant.

"True," the man replied, "but it's much harder for me to work simply because I know so little about it."

Texas Education Commissioner Skip Meno made a special visit to Shirley Intermediate School here Friday to see how the Partnership Schools Initiative Program was progressing. It was a timely visit, because some concerns had been voiced in our "letters to the editor" columns about the program.

There are more letters regarding the program in today's issue. We can understand why some citizens are concerned about the Outcome Based Education program. We have read some articles about OBE, and we don't think the majority of citizens in the community would favor elements of that program.

However, one of the Shirley teachers said, at the last school board meeting, that the local program was designed from state-mandated Texas Essential Elements, not from the OBE program. The controversy may linger, and perhaps it's not all bad. At the very least, more folks may get interested in the education of our children.

One reason the federal government has focused on health care and welfare reform measures is generally being overlooked: There is a huge federal bureaucracy that is looking for something to do. We need a short history lesson to understand what has happened. For most of the nation's history, the role of the feds was confined to providing a common defense and collecting customs fees. Then, around the turn of the century, the U.S. became top dog in the world's politics.

The first major explosion in the bureaucracy came during the early years of World War II when many new agencies were established to manage everything from rationing of basic supplies to manufacturing war materials. The expansion of agencies continued after the war, for the stated reason of protecting this country from the Soviet Union.

With the end of the Cold War and the collapse of the Soviet Union, our national defense is being down-sized and millions of federal workers are no longer needed. But, a good bureaucracy seeks to protect itself and there is a major push to expand the role of the feds into areas that are traditionally state matters.

The central government control of the nation's military was a clear success, but that same control of other functions has always been doomed to failure. We have their track record to prove the statement.

At the meeting of the nation's governors last week, federal lawmakers got an ear full of complaints about the intrusion of the feds into state business. Minnesota Gov. Arne Carlson noted: "Because a problem arises doesn't mean the federal government has to step in, especially considering its track record. The biggest favor the federal government can do for us is to balance its budget and allow the economy to grow. Then the rest of us will prosper and we'll finance our own problems."

It is time to shrink the federal bureaucracy and abandon the idea of central planning and control.

Out of the Blue

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

Okay, folks, I have a question that, in all the time we've lived here, nobody has been able to answer (of course, this is the first time I've ever asked anyone, but that's beside the point).

Why is 25 Mile Avenue named that? I've been thinking and thinking about what would be 25 miles that would be significant and come up empty.

Both Dimmitt and Vega are more than 25 miles away; Friona is closer and Canyon farther, but even if they were 25 miles away, it wouldn't make sense for the north-south street to be named that, since they're to the east and west.

The county line to the south is about seven miles out and the cutoff to Walcott School is about (I think) 15 miles.

The only possible explanation I've thought of is that maybe the north Deaf Smith County line is 25 miles north of town, thus the name indicates how far you have to go to get out of the county.

Of course, then I still don't know what landmark was used to determine the 25-mile distance—U.S. 60? Park Avenue? the street department's street namer's house? -- so I'm back where I started.

Anyway, if anyone knows, you might pass it on and I'll share it with everyone else.

And, if nobody in Hereford knows, maybe we ought to do something about it (like put a monument 25 miles away in either direction that says, "You are now 25 miles away from Hereford, Texas, U.S.A. You now know why the street was named that!").

On the subject of names of streets and buildings and parks and things, it's interesting to someone new to the community to find out why a person was honored with something named for them.

For example, I see street names that I wonder if were to honor someone locally and, if so, who, and, if so, why?

It seems like when a building, etc., is in need of being named, the particular entity charged with naming it uses the name of a person particularly revered and/or important to the community, but doesn't realize that years later nobody will have the faintest notion who that person was or why he was given a building.

So, maybe someone (the chamber, perhaps, or a local civic club, church or school group?) could get together and research Hereford's named properties and streets and put together a guide to who is behind those names. You know, a little pamphlet that could be issued to someone new to the community that tells why that particular person was worthy of having a street named for him.

Also on the subject of names, now that the Hereford Independent School District has a new administration building, I think it is time that it be called something other than the Smith Building.

I mean, think of the confusion years from now when someone asks who the HISD Smith Building was named for and it is discovered it was named for a now-defunct grocery store!

At least there could be a better story behind it if the building were named, say, the Garry Wesner School Administration Center.

In fact, that really has a nice ring to it, doesn't it? Of course, if you don't think honoring such an important person (at least in his own mind!) with such a large building would be appropriate, let's think of some other people.

Now these are all people I know now, so someone else will have to think of people already dead to name the building for:

-- The Charles Greenawalt School Administration Building (or just the Greenawalt Building). Why not? After all, he is the one who was superintendent at the time the building was bought.

-- The Don Cumpston Building. Just cause.

-- The O.G. "Speedy" Nieman Center for Public School Administration. Now if that isn't a grandiose building name, I don't know what is. And everyone in town knows Speedy, so for a while at least, nobody would wonder who the building was named for.

-- The Ron Weishaar Center. Same as above -- he was president of the school board when the building was bought.

-- The Tom Simons Educational Support and Administration Center. As long as he is the voice of the Herd, nobody would wonder who inspired the name!

-- The Skip Meno Building. Boy that would make the State Education Commissioner proud!

Anyway, there are some suggestions. Just let your HISD trustee know which one you prefer and he'll name the building for me anyway (just kidding).

Well, that's it (such as it is). Have a good week and, remember, ... something important.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I feel compelled to write and express how relieved I am to learn that HISD schools are definitely not teaching the Outcome Based Education curriculum.

I have attended several meetings concerning the so-called "restructuring" of our school system and have come to the realization of how easily we could be deceived by the deceptive language used to mislead administrators and parents alike if we weren't guided and led by experienced and Christian leaders.

It takes a lot of time, effort, criticism and much prayer to be a school board member, principal or teacher in our schools today to avoid the pitfalls of the likes of OBE. The promoters of OBE are claiming that the local school districts may be told to develop their own plan for achieving the designated outcomes, but the plans must be approved by the State Department of Education.

In 1992, the Oklahoma State Department of Education published five volumes of "Learner Outcomes" for grades 1 through 12. The foreword in each volume makes clear that the changes in the system do not mean teaching the basics... but an effort to focus and organize all of the school's educational programs and instructional efforts around clearly defined outcomes "we want all students to demonstrate when they leave school."

OBE's "behavior modification" are evident from the first grade "Comprehensive Health Learner Outcomes." They include: "The student will identify different types of family structures, so that no single type is seen as the only possible one, such as homosexual relationships." One of the outcomes pertaining to sex is: "The student will identify appropriate expression of sexual feelings..." (Grades 6-8).

One of my many objections to OBE is the removal of the tried and proven method of phonics, replaced with endless repetition and memorizing a few dozen "sight" words...

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, famous Russian author, said in a speech in the mid 1970s: "Coexistence on this tightly knit earth should be viewed as an existence not only without war--but also without (government) telling us how to live, what to say, what think, what to know and what not to know."

Unfortunately, that is exactly what Outcome Based Education is--a process for government telling our children how to live, what to think, what to do, what to know and what not to know. What the children say, think and know must conform to the liberal politically correct ideology, attitudes and behavior. What they do not know will be everything else. Because they won't know the basics of reading, writing, arithmetic, and they won't be able to find out.

Again, I applaud our educators and administrators for their careful and prayerful concern in this matter, and I pray blessings on all your future decisions for the betterment of our children.

Sincerely,
James Brownlow

Dear Editor:

In response to a letter submitted by Davis Ford, we--as school nurses in HISD, felt it appropriate to submit a Code of Ethics for school nurses. The school nurse is an advocate for students, families, and members of the school community, the school nurse provides health services, while recognizing each individual's inherent right to be treated with dignity and confidentiality, and works to support the client's active participation in health decisions. All clients are treated equally regardless of race, gender or socioeconomic status.

The school nurse maintains the highest level of competency by enhancing professional knowledge and skills, and by collaborating with peers, other health professionals and community agencies, adhering to Standards of School Nursing Practice. The school nurse acknowledges personal accountability when endorsing products, programs or services.

For Mr. Ford to even suggest that professionals at HISD, Shirley Intermediate in particular, would teach any child on atheism, finding abortion clinics, or how to use a condom is so unethical. Surely parents of the children at Shirley or any school in HISD know that the employees are far more professional than that!

We are definitely living in times where ethics and morals have no value and crime is so prevalent. Every child has a right to be taught by their parents guidelines to follow as far as religion and sex education are concerned. Any professional person having influence over children would strive to teach proper behaviors but also knows the lifeskills taught in a school setting are age appropriate for the children.

We cannot believe that Mr. Ford would think Shirley staff or any HISD employee would be so unethical and unprofessional.

Dear Editor:

It looks like the majority of the school board and School Supt. Greenawalt have struck again.

When they pushed through the purchase of the Smith building over the overwhelming opposition of the taxpayers, we were told the remodeling would cost less than $54,000 in its entirety. This was to include telephones, computers, moving and all related costs.

Now that the time has come to do the work, it seems the school board votes to let the foxes look after the taxpayers' hen house. Instead of overseeing the expenditures to see if they are in line with the estimates, they have turned the operation over to Superintendent Greenawalt.

He did not solicit public bids but went instead to contractors of his choosing. It would be real easy to camouflage the real cost of the remodeling by letting several bids on different phases of the work. Keeping each bid under the $25,000-limit set by the school bylaws.

Unless the school board does the job we elected them to do, we may never know what the actual cost of the building will be. Once again, I call for the resignation of the school board members that cannot or will not do what they were elected to do.

Furthermore, when Supt. Greenawalt sold the purchase and remodeling of the Smith building, he assured us the $54,000, if anything, was overestimated. In my opinion, he put his credibility, and hence his job, on the line. As a taxpayer, I want to know if we were misled and by whom.

It is time to clean out our school house and get back to the basic reason for our schools, which is to educate our children the very best we can. While our schools are not as bad as David Ford makes out, there still needs to be some change made. The administration needs to change, or we need to change the administration.

While some of the amounts could be over or under a little, it should not make the situation any less demanding of a solution. I am sure some members of the school board would appreciate any help they could get in trying to accomplish this goal.

Dear Editor:

I would like, as an unwilling exile from my adopted home town, to write down a few of my thoughts at leaving.

Hereford is a great town. The folks here have always made a point to help us make a success of our business. I hope that you never lose sight of the fact that everyone is an important part of this town, and we all need each other.

I feel low down to be leaving, but business considerations have forced me to re-evaluate my options. It became apparent over a year ago that we could never realistically build, in the State of Texas, the new expansion that we needed in our dairy operation.

I have heard that there are those who think that we didn't try hard enough. Put those thoughts out of your minds. We gave it our best shot, as it is very expensive to move, especially when you figure the cost of lost or forgotten friendships.

The fact is that unless the citizens of this state make some changes in their elected officials' priorities, no new agricultural business will come to Hereford.

My family and I would like to thank all who helped and befriended us. If you want the names of our friends, read the phone book--cover to cover!

You may have heard that we have rented our dairy to some fine dairymen from New England. Their names are Steve and Ginny Mayer, and George and Bonnie Morse. I know that you will watch out for them in the same manner as you helped us. God bless you all!

Dear Editor:

In response to the letters from David Fanning and the teachers at Shirley Elementary School, dated Feb. 1-2, we take this opportunity and privilege to say that we, too, are Christians first and foremost and, secondly, conservatives.

To say we are distressed about the reaction to David Ford's letter is putting it mildly. The majority of citizens in Hereford are now--and always have been followers of our city "leaders," and anyone who bucks the system is branded as a troublemaker without being given due process, benefit of doubt, or consideration of the facts.

Mr. Ford's letter was well documented. We have at our disposal numerous facts on the OBE program. We have checked and re-checked Ford's letter and find it to be totally factual.

We certainly do not think that Mr. Fanning and the teachers at Shirley have knowingly tried to conceal anything, nor do we believe they know the consequences of this on-subtle system of educating our children. It most certainly, at least on the surface, seems to be a very well thought-out and progressive program. The only problem is that it is similar to "brainwashing" for a very susceptible age child, and at some point we may listen to our children come up with some ideas that are so foreign that we can find no explanation for their origin.

Some of these ideas are akin to the "New Age" movement, which we suggest be looked into if there is a question in one's mind, or is as Christians, parents really care what their children hear. If we delve farther than the surface on this program, regrettably, we come to the realization that we are being led down a primrose path to the destruction of our children's minds.

Mr. Ford's letter did not suggest or give the impression that the program in its entirety is being taught in one semester... We are not indicating that anyone at Shirley or in the HISD is now teaching the "whole" program. We are only concerned that the total picture has not been seen. Although we have not been to the classrooms to hear what is being taught, we are convinced it would be totally acceptable and have no doubt that the educators are very caring, concerned and motivated for the overall well-being of our children.

However, we do suggest that it be kept in mind how subtly the freedom of praying in school has been discontinued, how God is slowly being removed from our society in so many ways. We would have never thought this would happen 20 years ago, would we?

Please think on these things, search them out and ask to read the total program. Look into the Outcome Based Education program as an ongoing study, not as it is being taught today but, as it implies, the Outcome!

Thank you,

Political victim or criminal: Senator's trial starts Monday

By SCOTT ROTHSCILD
Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Just months after a landslide victory, U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison will stand trial Monday on criminal charges of misusing her former office of state treasurer and then trying to cover it up.

Facing the possibility of conviction and imprisonment, Mrs. Hutchison, a rising Republican star on the state and national scene, has denied doing anything wrong "legally, morally, or ethically."

She says she is a victim of Democrats who are both angered and frightened by her success.

In four indictments, prosecutors from the Travis County district attorney's office allege state taxpayers are the victims of Mrs. Hutchison.

Mrs. Hutchison has been charged with using tax dollars for her personal and political gain when she was treasurer, a position she held from January 1991 to June 1993. Prosecutors say she ran political operations out of the Treasury, using state employees and state computers on state time.

When investigators got wind of it, they say, she started changing permanent computer records to hide evidence.

The indictments charge her with two felony counts and one misdemeanor count of official misconduct, and felony counts of tampering with a government record and tampering with physical evidence.

Since the alleged offenses are being tried at the same time, prosecutors say Mrs. Hutchison, if convicted on all counts, could face a maximum of 20 years in prison.

"This case is not about politics," said First Assistant District Attorney Steve McCleery. "This case is about ethics and honesty in government. It is not a politically motivated case. As the evidence comes out in trial, that will be apparent."

The trial has its roots in an April 1992 article by The Houston Post, which reported that David Criss, then policy and planning director for the Treasury, was using a Treasury computer for Mrs. Hutchison's political campaign fund-raising.

Mrs. Hutchison admitted a small amount of non-state work was done on the state computer. But she said she hadn't known it was taking place, and would take steps to make sure it didn't happen again. Criss apologized and resigned.

The Travis County district attorney's office also concluded that there was no evidence that Mrs. Hutchison had any knowledge of the misuse of Treasury computers.

But in May 1993, the investigation picked up again. Former aides accused Mrs. Hutchison of requiring them to do personal and political business on state time. And Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle said he had heard allegations that records were being destroyed at the Treasury.

On June 10, five days after Mrs. Hutchison crushed Democratic appointed Sen. Bob Krueger, the district attorney's office raided the Treasury, serving subpoenas to several employees and collecting boxes of records.

By September, Mrs. Hutchison, Criss, and a deputy treasurer, Michael Barron, were indicted. Months of mishaps and legal wrestling over the indictments followed.

But last month, Visiting Judge John F. Onion Jr., former chief judge of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, moved the trial to Fort Worth.

Mrs. Hutchison and the Texas Republican Party have maintained a steady drumbeat of criticism against prosecutor Earle.

They attribute his motives to his desire to be senator, or to help his fellow Democrat, Gov. Ann Richards. They also accuse Earle of selective prosecution because, they say, other Democrats have been accused of the same things as Mrs. Hutchison, but she must stand trial.

Earle denies the charges, saying they are a type of accusation routinely made by state officeholders who face prosecution. He has prosecuted a number of Democratic officeholders in the past.

In pre-trial hearings, Mrs. Hutchison's attorneys, led by famed criminal defense lawyer Dick DeGuerin of Houston, argued the alleged crimes were not crimes or did not occur.

DeGuerin said the Post article showed that Treasury computers had been broken into. To make the computer system more secure, records were moved around, he said.

"Not one single bit of information was ever destroyed or altered," he said.

He also argues that it is difficult to determine what part of a politician's work is for their own benefit and what part is for the benefit of the state. If a politician does a good job, it reflects well on them.

"That is laudable conduct, not criminal conduct," he said.

But prosecutors maintain they are not talking about shades of gray, but right and wrong.

During pre-trial, McCleery said, "You can't use state monies and employees to run for political office."

Governor's phone calls cannot be re-created

AUSTIN (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has told Gov. Ann Richards' office that it cannot re-create her destroyed long-distance records, the governor's spokesman said Friday.

"They say they cannot break out the governor's telephone lines from others in the Capitol complex," said Bill Cryer, Richards' press secretary. "They are not able to do what we asked them to do."

Cryer said there are dozens of state agencies located in the Capitol complex, and that Southwestern Bell doesn't have the originating telephone numbers for outgoing calls.

Cryer said Richards' staff still was trying to re-create the itemized long-distance telephone bills from their own records.

"We think we can reconstruct some of those months" that were destroyed, he said. Asked whether that would mean relying on the staff's word rather than an independent company, Cryer said, "I'm afraid that's true."

The word came as the Texas Republican Party filed a request with the Democratic governor's office under the open records law.

Richards' staff has admitted destroying 2-1/2 years of state telephone records.

Herd boys bomb Dumas; Demonettes shock girls

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Herford boys basketball team used a barrage of three-pointers in the second quarter to start a rout of Dumas Friday in Whiteface Gym. Herford eventually won 60-43.

"We shot the ball real well, especially from the three-point line in the second quarter," Herd coach Randy Dean said. "It seemed like (the three-pointers) came back-to-back-to-back. That's what bumped a fairly close game out to a fairly comfortable margin."

In the earlier girls' game, Dumas used a pair of last-minute three-pointers to drive a sword through the heart of the Herd. The 41-38 Dumas win kept its playoff hopes alive.

The Lady Whitefaces shot well in the first quarter for a 19-10 lead, and they held a 25-15 lead at the half. Dumas had a 10-0 run in the third to come back to 29-25. The fourth quarter was wild.

Herford's Mindi Davis hit a basket to open the fourth, but Dumas answered with three free throws, pulling within 31-28. Stephanie Wilcox hit a big three-pointer with five minutes left, giving Herford some breathing room, but Herford couldn't score much after that.

Free throws hurt the Herd. Three different Lady Whitefaces went to the free throw line and combined to make only 4-of-8—that included the front ends of two one-and-ones. Despite that, some Herford players were celebrating a 38-34 lead in final minute.

The Demonettes got the miracle they were looking for. They hadn't hit a three-pointer all night, throwing up a collection of bricks and airballs. Then they hit two back-to-back, the second giving Dumas a 40-38 lead.

The long shot ruined a game plan that worked perfectly in the first 31 minutes. Herford coach Eddie Fortenberry ordered his girls to pack the middle to keep the ball from Dumas' big posts, including 6-foot-3 Jenny Robinson.

"They hadn't hit an outside shot all night," Fortenberry said. "We decide to pack (the defense) in early and keep the post players from scoring."

When Dumas shot wide open threes to win the game, it looked like a defensive lapse, but it wasn't.

"We were up by five, and they hadn't shown the ability to hit from outside," he said. "We were so worried to pack it in, it was tough to go out and cover the threes, because we'd preached to them all night long to pack it in."

Herford got the ball back with 11 seconds, down by two points. The Lady Whitefaces got a fast break opportunity. Tarabeth Holmes, a post, got the ball outside the three-point line, dribbled into the lane and passed to an open teammate under the basket. But Holmes' momentum carried her into a Dumas player after the dish-off, and a charging foul was called.

Fortenberry didn't like the call. It's one that, though technically correct, is rarely called.

"You can't blame Tarabeth though," he said. "She was going to the basket to make a play, to make a pass. He (the referee) thought she ran over her."

Dumas hit a free throw to provide the final margin. Wilcox, a senior, led the Lady Whitefaces with 13 points in her final home game. Heather Hodges added nine for the Herd.

The Herford girls close the season Tuesday at Caprock.

Hawks claw Knicks

By The Associated Press

While Atlanta, New York and Chicago were establishing themselves as the three top teams in the Eastern Conference, the Hawks found acceptance the hardest to come by.

Atlanta pulled a half-game ahead of both the Knicks and Bulls in the conference standings with a 114-102 victory over New York on Friday night, and the Hawks were still looking for respect.

"We lost that game up in New York and we've looked forward to playing them here," said Kevin Willis, who had 25 points and 14 rebounds. "We need to continue to prove to the league that we are no fluke."

Dominique Wilkins scored 34 points as the Hawks snapped New York's six-game winning streak. Patrick Ewing had 35 points and John Starks 20 for the Knicks, while Mookie Blaylock finished with 22 points and 13 assists for Atlanta.

Baseball scrimmage canceled

The Herford baseball team's scrimmage with Plainview that was scheduled for Monday has been canceled. With the snow and cold weather last week, the team wasn't able to get enough practice to be ready for a scrimmage, boys' athletic director Danny Haney said.

Saturday's scrimmage will go on as scheduled, starting with junior varsity teams at 10 a.m. at Whiteface Field.

Up for a shot
Hereford's Brittney Binder puts up a shot during Friday's game in Hereford. The Lady Whitefaces lost a heartbreaker, 41-38.

HERD

In the second quarter of the boys' game, Cody Marion hit three treys and Benton Buckley hit two. The bombs helped stretch a 14-9 Hereford lead to a 39-26 lead at halftime.
"Dumas ran a zone defense, which makes the three a little more available," Dean said. "I thought we had patience with the three-point shot; it was available for us at any time, but we worked the ball around before taking it, and that's what helped our shooting percentage."

Stacey Sanders got into the act in the third quarter, adding two treys of his own. Hereford stretched the lead to as much as 23 at 58-35 in the fourth quarter before an 8-2 Dumas run closed the game.
Buckley led Hereford with 11 points, and Marion had 10. Isaac Walker added nine points.

Hereford also split the junior varsity games. The boys' JV won a rout, 75-32. Johnathan Keenan led the charge with 12 points, and Gregg Kalka and Todd Dudley each scored 11. Wade Backus and Brian Torres added eight each.
Hereford's JV girls fell 38-36. Deanna McCracken led the team with nine points.
The sophomore boys' team did not play Friday.

NBA

Elsewhere in the NBA, San Antonio 100, Boston 91; Washington 102, Philadelphia 95; Milwaukee 98, Orlando 92; Miami 124, Charlotte 118; Indiana 114, Minnesota 93; Seattle 108, Detroit 84; the Los Angeles Lakers 95, Dallas 87; Chicago 101, Golden State 99; Denver 108, Sacramento 83.
The Knicks-Hawks game was interrupted in the third quarter with Atlanta ahead 60-55 when Starks was called for an offensive foul for decking Craig Ehlo with an elbow and the two got into a shoving match, triggering a general scuffle.
Ehlo, Starks, Willis and Ewing were given technical fouls.
Bulls 101, Warriors 99
Chicago won at Golden State behind Scottie Pippen's 30 points and Horace Grant's 24 points and 19 rebounds.
With the Bulls leading 101-99, the Warriors got a chance to tie with 1.1 seconds left after Chicago committed a shot-clock violation. But Keith Jennings' 17-foot jumper bounced off the rim as time expired.
Billy Owens had 21 points and 11 rebounds for Golden State.

Nuggets 108, Kings 83
LaPhonso Ellis had 19 points and 12 rebounds, lifting Denver to an easy victory at Sacramento.
The Nuggets, led by Dikembe Mutombo's five blocks, held the Kings to 35 percent shooting. Denver blocked 12 shots overall and led by as many as 30 points.
Mitch Richmond had 13 points and Spud Webb 12 to lead Sacramento, losers of eight of nine games.
Spurs 100, Celtics 91
David Robinson scored 34 points as San Antonio extended its winning streak to six games and broke a three-game losing streak at Boston Garden.
The Spurs broke the game open in the final 5:45 of the second quarter with a 17-6 run that gave them a 62-46 lead at halftime. Robinson scored 23 points in the first half and 15 in the second quarter.
Dee Brown scored 24 points for the Celtics.
Bucks 98, Magic 92
Milwaukee, 8-16 on the road and 5-16 at home, snapped a five-game losing streak by winning at Orlando behind Frank Brickowski's 21 points.
A 20-3 run helped the Bucks take a 81-68 lead after three quarters. Orlando rallied from a 14-point deficit to tie the game before Milwaukee pulled away down the stretch.
Shaquille O'Neal led Orlando with 29 points, but only eight came in the second half. He and Arnece Hardaway, who had 28 points, 13 rebounds and seven assists; both fouled out in the final minute.

Rodeo champs from other eras can't be compared

Fort Worth Star-Telegram
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - When Muhammad Ali reigned as boxing's heavyweight champion in the 1970s, he and sports commentator Howard Cosell teamed on ABC's Wide World of Sports, where Ali compared himself with fighters from different eras and attempted to prove he was the sport's all-time great. Ali would offer to show footage of himself and then that of former champ Joe Louis. He wanted to show how much faster he was and how much harder he could punch. He wanted to prove that he was "the greatest."

It is also tempting to compare rodeo riders from different eras, such as world all-around champion Ty Murray of the 1990s, Jim Shoulders of the '50s or Larry Mahan of the '60s and '70s to determine who is the greatest. But it might be unfair to say one was better than another because they rode in different times and circumstances.

A look at three stars - Shoulders, Mahan and Murray - and the times when they competed might help to better appreciate their significance in modern rodeo history. The three men were frequent competitors at the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show Rodeo as they helped usher rodeo into the modern sports arena.

Shoulders can be compared to baseball's Babe Ruth. He's the holder of a record 16 world titles in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Between 1949 and 1959, the Henryetta, Okla., cowboy notched five all-around titles, seven bull riding saddles and four bull riding buckles. He did it in an era of tough competitors such as Harry Tompkins, another all-around champion, and Casey Tibbs.

Shoulders' records have been broken in individual categories, but no one has surpassed his 16 titles. Mahan and Tom Ferguson have six world all-around titles, Don Gay notched eight bull riding buckles and Joe Alexander and Bruce Ford hold five bareback riding crowns.

"The ability to ride well was there when I rode like it is now," Shoulders said. "The big difference is that there are a lot more cowboys who have exceptional ability competing."

Shoulders won his last three world titles in 1959 - the all-around, bareback and bull riding - in conjunction with the inaugural National Finals Rodeo in Dallas. The NFR began a new era for rodeo.

The NFR has been the sport's Super Bowl the past 35 years. From 1965 through 1984, it was held in Oklahoma City.

The Finals sold out all 10 performances for the first time in 1975 and has been a filled-to-the-brim event for the last two decades. Fans now flock to the Thomas and Mack Center in Las Vegas each December to watch the season's top 15 in each event matched against the top animals, which are chosen by the competitors.

After the National Finals format was created in 1959, it needed a superstar to help showcase the sport. It found one in Mahan, who qualified for the first time in 1964. Mahan, a colorful dresser with a charismatic personality, stunned fans year after year with his durability and helped rodeo move more toward the mainstream of sports. During his heyday in the late 1960s and early 1970s, Mahan qualified for the championships in bareback riding, saddle bronc riding and bull riding.

"Right before I came along, the sport had been dominated by timed-event competitors (ropers and steer wrestlers)," Mahan said. "Being a roughstock rider helped me because people were intrigued by the element of danger."

Mahan, of Kerrville, won the all-around five consecutive years from 1966 through 1970. He also won the bull riding buckle in 1965 and 1967.

In 1973, Mahan won a record sixth all-around title, breaking Shoulders' record of five. Mahan's record was later tied by roper/steer wrestler Tom Ferguson, who was the sport's most versatile cowboy between 1974 through 1979.

But to this day, rodeo has not advanced at the rapid pace it did in the Mahan era. He was a new breed of cowboy who represented those who did not grow up on a ranch punching cattle.

He was a big inspiration for those who grew up in the city but deep down wanted to be a cowboy. Young riders came out of the woodwork. In those days, it was common for junior rodeos to buck an abundance of competitors all night.

By the early 1970s, it was more convenient for people who did not have a rodeo background to learn. Shoulders began conducting rodeo schools in a early 1960s and others followed.

Then it was possible for a cowboy to go to a three-day clinic and learn from the best with the help of National Finals Rodeo films, videotape instant replays of one's ride and lectures on mind control. One no longer had to learn in the dusty bronc pens of a rural ranch.

Today, rodeo has become more specialized and it is rare for a cowboy to qualify for the National Finals in more than one event. Murray, of Stephenville, was the only cowboy to qualify for the 1993 NFR in multiple events - bareback riding, saddle bronc riding and bull riding.

That's what makes Murray's accomplishments mind-boggling. He burst on the scene when people said there would be no more Mahan types with exceptional ability in all three roughstock events.

Murray is holding his own in three events against competitors who only focus on one. Like Mahan, Murray mounts three times the amount of bucking stock as most riders.

During last month's National Finals, Murray won the bareback riding average and finished second in the bull riding average en route to winning his fifth consecutive world all-around title. He also set an NFR earnings record of $297,896 and a season earnings record of $124,821.

Murray, whose career earnings exceed $1 million, needs just one more all-around title to tie Mahan's record of six. He's off to a good start, having won more than $10,000 during the National Western Stock Show Rodeo in Denver earlier this month.

At Fort Worth's Stock Show Rodeo, he has scored 77, 76 and 74 in bareback riding, which puts him in the driver's seat toward qualifying for the 17-day event's Sunday finals.

At 24, Murray appears capable of winning the all-around title 10 times barring injury. He's billed as the best cowboy ever, but it would be unfair to compare him with Mahan or Shoulders.

Like Murray, they worked with the tools and abilities they had in their day and helped change the sport forever.

Local chapter of Crown of Texas Hospice meets

The Fellowship of Believers Church was the site for the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the local chapter of the Crown of Texas Hospice of Amarillo.

Those present were Kathryn Acton, Mona Romero, Rita Burges, Irene Reinart and Ann Meyer.

Acton reported that 11 patients from Hereford, Friona and Dimmitt are enrolled in the local program with Crown of Texas Hospice. A discussion was held among the volunteers concerning the needs of these patients and their families.

Acton also conducted a practice session in the art of conversation and story telling. She said that this is an art that directly involves volunteers with patients.

Volunteers were asked to participate in conducting a survey for Health Care Alliance. Details of a training session for the survey will be announced soon. Volunteers need to get in touch with Kathryn Acton to assist with this survey.

Hospice is still in need of wide mouth vases. Vases can be delivered to the Hospice office located inside the In-Sight Books office at 805 Main St.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A dairy agreed to give an undisclosed amount to the Cousteau Society after the organization's founder and namesake had a cow over a billboard showing a bovine in diving gear.

Jacques Cousteau and the environmental group said Tuesday they have settled their $1.2 million trademark infringement lawsuit against Clover-Storretta Farms.

Cousteau was angered by a billboard featuring the company's advertising symbol, Clo the Cow, in a wet suit and snorkeling gear. The cow bore the name "Jacques Cowsteau."

HHS senior is awarded scholastic scholarship

ARKADELPHIA, ARKANSAS - Lee Harder, a senior at Hereford High School, has received a Scholastic Excellence Scholarship for study beginning in the fall of 1994 at Ouachita Baptist University, according to Randy Garner, director of admissions counseling at Ouachita.

The Scholastic Excellence Scholarships at Ouachita are given in varying amounts and are awarded to incoming freshmen who have a composite score of 24, or higher on the American College Testing instrument.

"The scholarships are a reflection of the university's continuing commitment to reward students who possess solid academic backgrounds," said Garner. "We are pleased that Lee has decided to further her education at Ouachita," he added.

Harder plans to major in speech pathology at Ouachita.

Her parents are Norman and Sherry Harder of 133 Cherokee.

Household products can be deadly

Caution: A substance found in such commonly used products as a pacifier, balloon, even an Ace bandage could be as hazardous as a poisonous snake to children born with spina bifida, a serious spinal defect also known as myelodysplasia.

That substance is latex, to which many children who have spina bifida are allergic. They have severe reactions when they come in contact with latex. Shock and death may even occur.

To prevent potentially life-threatening reactions, experts have developed the following guidelines:

-All myelodysplasia patients must be evaluated for possible latex allergy.

-When possible, all myelodysplasia patients should be treated in a latex-free environment.

-Children identified as possibly being latex-allergic should have pediatric and anesthesiology consultation before elective surgery.

-An education program should be established for patients and families of children with myelodysplasia that includes ways to avoid latex products and what to do if an allergic reaction occurs.

Foundation representative speaks to club members

Sylvia Khuri, representing the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation, was the guest speaker at the recent Toujours Amis Study Club meeting held in the home of Warner Lawson.

Khuri explained the purpose of the foundation to members and expressed the need of contributions to the foundation. Following the program, the club voted to donate $100 to the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation.

Roll call was answered with "my worst pet peeve is..."

During the business meeting, it was announced that the club was invited to attend the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Heart Association's annual "Hearts of Fire Ball" and thanks you to secret pal gifts were expressed.

Hostesses, Judy Barrett, Tami Charest and Cindy Simons, served chocolate mousse, tea and coffee to those present: Rhonda Banner, Kim Bigham, Melinda Bridge, Trish Brown, Kim Buckley, Lisa Formby, Diana Griffin, Shannon Hagar, Donna Kemp, Julia Laing, Leisa Lewis, Kim Porter, Becky Reinart and Donna West.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - Men in drag will honor Meg Ryan and Tom Cruise with this year's Harvard Hasty Pudding Theatrical awards.

The theater group honors performers who make "a lasting and impressive contribution to the world of entertainment." The group's officers cross-dress to present the awards.

Ryan, who starred in "Sleepless in Seattle," will get the usual brass pudding pot and a Feb. 15 parade through Harvard Square.

Cruise, star of "A Few Good Men" and "The Firm," will be similarly honored Feb. 22 at Hasty Pudding's 146th annual satirical play.

Previous winners include Lucille Ball, Cher, Elizabeth Taylor, Chevy Chase, Clint Eastwood.

ENVIROSHOPPING

What does the term "waste reduction" mean to you? A recent survey (1990) revealed two common responses to this question. Sixty percent of those surveyed made the obvious response of "decreasing waste." In their second response, 54 percent said it meant "recycling." Based on these answers, the report concluded that this term has no specific meaning to the public.

"Reduction," as it applies to waste management and in its broadest sense, is having less stuff to throw away. Reduction strategies tend to focus on the consumer. Choosing purchases wisely will reduce the amount a person has to throw away.

Waste reduction is an important part of the solution to our solid waste problems. Waste reduction means reducing the amount or toxicity of waste produced. If we never make the waste in the first place, we never have to worry about disposing of it.

People want specific ways to reduce waste before it enters their homes. This means that you will be teaching them new ways to choose products.

Reducing waste at the source is the most effective way to reduce household garbage. It's easier to manage garbage by preventing it from entering the home in the first place than to deal with it once it's there. Reducing waste this way is called waste reduction, or recycling. This is the first step in managing waste, therefore, the word "pre" cycling. Besides reducing household waste, recycling can have an influence on energy and natural resource consumption. Recycling involves a three-step decision-making process about products and packaging. Decide first what you truly need and what is affordable. Then identify and compare the alternatives to buying new products. Finally, select the best product for the need and at the best price.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP) - When the home office calls, David Letterman answers.

The host of CBS' late-night talk show sent an autographed doodle for an auction Thursday to benefit the Sioux City Art Center.

"It's a tracing of his cigar clipper," said Debbie Boyle, a member of the fund-raising committee. "It's small, about 3-by-5 inches, with a very large signature. We are thrilled to have it."

Letterman was made an honorary Sioux City resident after he began jokingly referring to the city as the site of the show's "home office."

His ink drawing will be the grand finale of the auction.

TIFFANY HEDGECKE, CLINTON COTTEN

Marriage planned

Canyon residents, Tiffany Dawn Hedgecoke and Clinton Blaine Cotten, plan to wed Feb. 12 in First Baptist Church of Stinnett.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hedgecoke of Stinnett and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs.

Gayle Cotten of 118 Oak St.

Miss Hedgecoke is a dental hygiene major at West Texas A&M University.

Cotten is a social studies major at WTAMU and is employed by Amarillo Independent School District and Sam's.

The popping sound of a jar opening is getting a hardy welcome. The "pop" of course, means freshness and Americans are hearing it again and again in kitchens around the country, thanks to an ingenious new vacuum sealer that allows them to reseal ordinary food product containers, including jars and clear plastic bags with vacuum action.

Shows help to improve family life

Bold new efforts to help families work through crises and stay together are springing up throughout the nation.

One project gets unwed fathers to take financial and emotional responsibility for their children. More than 2,000 young men have been counseled, and taught parenting skills by the National Institute for responsible Fatherhood and Family Development. In exchange, clients must meet three requirements: legally declare paternity, be in school or have a high school equivalency diploma, and be employed. Despite these strict rules, about 90 percent of former clients are supporting their children, and 60 percent have full time jobs, compared to 8 percent when the program began.

Another program, called Healthy Start, identifies potentially abusive mothers before they give birth and provides around-the-clock crisis intervention and counseling for five years. Studies have shown that up to 30 percent of high-risk parents abuse their children compared to less than 1 percent of parents in programs like Healthy Start. The annual cost of Healthy Start is $3,000 per family. The annual cost of foster care, incarceration and treatment can exceed $100,000.

These enormously successful programs and four others that address different family crises are featured in "Our Families, Our Future," a one-hour documentary hosted by Walter Cronkite and produced by veteran documentary filmmaker Roger Weisberg. The show, sponsored by Johnson & Johnson, premieres Tuesday, Jan. 25 to 10 p.m. (ET) on PBS stations (check local listing).

A free companion guide to family support programs across the country is available by writing: "Our Families, Our Future," c/o Thirteen-WNET, 356 W. 58th St., New York, New York 10019.

"We've all seen what's wrong with America's families, particularly the growing number of violent children, abusive parents and poor, single-parent households," said Walter Cronkite.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for "Cold Feet in Minnesota," the woman who is considering marriage to a mamma's boy. Tell her it's a bummer. I know what I'm talking about because I've just gone through it.

"Alvin" was living at home with his mother when we married. She laid so much guilt on him when he told her he was going to marry me that I knew eventually he would have to make a choice between her and me. After three years of marriage, he chose his mother.

The counselor I was seeing warned me. She said his mother had made him feel so guilty for "abandoning" her that eventually he would leave me, and that's exactly what he did.

Alvin told me in the lawyer's office that his mother had sacrificed so much for him, he felt he owed it to her to put her first in his life. What he failed to see is that his mother is a controlling, manipulative woman who robbed him of the chance to have a life and family of his own.

Please, Ann, tell "Cold Feet" to invest her love in a man who has completed his emotional separation from his smother. I wish I had.--Been There in N.J.

DEAR N.J.: Thanks for the testimony. I didn't realize how many women had walked in your moccasins until the mail began to pour in. Here's another one:

DEAR ANN: Please tell the reader who described her future husband as a "mama's boy" that she has boulder-sized rocks in her head.

I've been a marriage counselor for 18 years and have seen it all. If a man over 30 is still living with his mother, you can bet the ranch that he's a very poor risk for marriage.

Please warn women against such lunacy.--Experienced in New Mexico

DEAR NEW MEX.: I have, but they keep doing it anyway. Read on:

From Springdale, Ark.: A man who lives with his mother for 30 years is already married. To her. She has turned him into a substitute for the husband she lost to death or the divorce court. Please tell the woman who wrote that she is fighting a losing battle.--Battle-Scarred

No City, No State (Except Maybe the State of Unconsciousness): I could write a 3-pound novel on what it's like to be married to a mama's boy. I hope the woman who wrote sees this. Give him the hook, honey. It's hopeless.

My mama's boy received a telephone call from his mother every morning at 6 a.m. for five years, even though he told her repeatedly that he didn't have to get up until 7.

He did so much sneaking around behind my back, it was pitiful. Every morning, I would fix him a big breakfast before he went to work. I had no idea he was going to his mother's for a second breakfast until a neighbor of hers said to me, "How nice that your husband goes to his mother's every morning to have breakfast with her." The divorce becomes final next month.--Las Vegas

DEAR READERS: I was hoping for a letter from a wife who was happy that her husband was so close to his mother, but there weren't any.

Gem of the Day: A bridge uncrossed his like a life never lived, a door never opened, a gift never given, a love never shared.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

DEAR READERS: I got a treat for you! Art Buchwald has written a book about his life. This very funny man who has made us laugh for 40 years proves what we have long suspected. People who produce the best humor invariably have had a great deal of pain in their lives.

Buchwald takes us back to his very early childhood when his mother was placed in a mental institution and he told people she was dead. Art and his three sisters were placed in the Hebrew Orphan Asylum and, from there, into a series of foster homes. Some of his experiences were hilarious. Others will break your heart.

At age 17, Buchwald enlisted in the Marines. His stories about his years in uniform will leave you in stitches. When the war was over, he got into the University of Southern California with no high school diploma. I've told you enough. Now go out and buy the book. I guarantee 254 pages of pure pleasure. The name: "Leaving Home." The price: $22.95 (Canada, $29.95). The publisher: Putnam. If your bookstore doesn't have it, shame on them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to "Pinging Like Crazy in Tulsa" who compared a man's life to the way a car runs. The write maintained it was "a man's thing."

I laughed at the corny but cute comparisons. However, I challenge his statement--"the most difficult task of a woman's life is to give up her kitchen." No woman I know would make this statement.

I am the mother of two college students who have left the nest. With just my husband and me at home, the opportunity to "give up the kitchen" was not difficult at all. In fact, I was liberating. Actually, I consider my newfound freedom a reward for a job well done.

When my children come home to visit, I enjoy stocking up the fridge and fixing them their favorite dishes. But take-out and making reservations at restaurants look better and better as time goes by.

A friend gave me a sign that said, "My next home will have no kitchen--just vending machines." It reflects my sentiments exactly.--Linda in Florida

DEAR LINDA: Yours and that of millions of others. Thanks for the reality check.

Four-tined forks came into common use in American homes around 1800. Before that, two or three tined forks had been more customary.

Red Cross Update

BY BETTY HENSON

The disaster services committee is planning for the upcoming spring weather season by updating the local chapter's disaster plan.

The committee is planning disaster training classes in order that our volunteers will be ready in the event of severe weather. We are planning to train a disaster services instructor of our chapter. Jim Crownover has volunteered. Until he becomes an instructor, volunteers will be asked to attend the classes held by the Amarillo chapter.

The first class is called "Introduction to Disaster Services." The class on "Mass Care" will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19, in the Amarillo Chapter House. "Damage Assessment" will be offered from 6-10 p.m. Thursday. Please call the office to register for any class or to become a disaster service volunteer.

A first aid class will be held from 7-11 p.m. Tuesday at the Red Cross office. To participate in this class, a current CPR certificate is required. Call the office to register.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Energy saving suggestions

Here are some electrifying tips that will help you save both money and the environment. They come from the experts at the Good Cents Home Program, the country's largest energy-efficiency program, licensed by nearly 300 utilities nationwide.

-Set the thermostat at 78 degrees or more in the summer, 68 degrees or less in winter.

-Clean or replace heating and air conditioning filters monthly.

-Take five-minute showers - they use less hot water than do tub baths.

-Use your dishwasher rather than wash by hand, but wait till it's full.

-Fill empty spaces in your freezer with ice.

-Use the microwave as frequently as possible.

-Cover cooking pots and fit pot size to burner size.

Contact your local electric utility company for more information about Good Cents or send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to "The Good Cents Guide To Energy Fit Homes," 64 Perimeter Center East, Atlanta, Georgia, 30346-6401.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - June Lockhart was lost in space for three years, but she had no trouble finding Kennedy Space Center when a shuttle pilot invited her to his launch.

Lockhart arrived from Los Angeles late Wednesday for Thursday's scheduled liftoff of space shuttle Discovery.

She was invited by pilot Kenneth Reightler Jr. They met 1-1/2 years ago at Johnson Space Center in Houston, when astronauts were awakened by a song written by her father, Gene Lockhart.

"It's a hoot," she said.

Reightler told Lockhart that the science satellite to be released and retrieved by the crew resembles Jupiter II, the saucer-shaped ship from her 1960s TV series "Lost in Space."

Lockhart, 68, is now on the syndicated show "Babylon 5," another space-travel saga, and on "General Hospital."

BRANDI ALLISON BINDER, GLENN EARL PARKER

Between The Covers

By JOE WEAVER

Do you reckon the ground hog saw his shadow last Wednesday? I know there are some who would rather never see snow, but I'm always thankful for a little of the white stuff. Truth be known, if we had ordered it, we couldn't have gotten a better deal. There was not enough to cause many problems, most of the roads stayed clear, we were able to stay home during the worst of it, yet get to work easily the next day. I know some would have enjoyed an extra day off, and I have enough memory of feeding cattle during blowing snows to realize that not everyone was pleased, but after living ten years where winter precipitation was either cold rain or ice, I enjoyed Sunday's little storm.

I have mentioned in previous columns people that deserve thanks for their service to the library, yet almost every week I'll think of some who should be mentioned. Thanks to Jean Jones and Otto Pugliese for their contributions to the library and staff. Overdue thanks to Jenna Simons and Nutrition Service Associates for helping me keep my appointments. Thanks is also due Albert Cervantez and the Juvenile Youth Home for helping me out the last few weeks. Kudos to HHS student Monica Tijerina, who has volunteered her time at the library, and proving very efficient. Once again, others have been overlooked, I know. Your contributions are appreciated no less.

February sees the library fill with students each afternoon and evening as they try to complete research for reports. You can bet that when a 16 year old checks out a thesaurus or book on Milton, it's not an exercise of free will! The library has been active in the schools, too. Our program "John Honeyman, Spy for General Washington" was presented this week for students at St. Anthony's and West Central. We also have a couple of "in-house" programs about proper and effective use of the library and its resources. If you want to book a library program, call us a 364-1206. (By the way, if a program on the premises is called an "in-house" program, what does that make one that's presented elsewhere?)

Donna Brockman of the Deaf Smith County Museum is ready for school tours also, but they must be planned for February and March. Later in the semester, the museum will be involved in other things. Call the Museum at 364-4338 for information or booking.

Speaking of Brockmans...Libby Brockman, 11-year-old daughter of James and Kathleen Brockman, is displaying part of her doll collection this month. She has been collecting dolls since before she can remember, and could not choose a favorite. Libby is active in Girl Scouts and St. Anthony's Children's Choir. A fifth-grader at St. Anthony's School, she likes to read books about girls such as The Sweet Valley High Collection, the Fabulous Five, and the American Girls.

I'm anxious to tell you about a couple of programs this month. The first is this month's Family Film—Heartland. A year or so ago, I happened upon a book entitled Letters of a Woman Homesteader, which my wife and I enjoyed immensely. The book was a collection of letters from a widow and former laundress to her previous employer, telling of the perils, hardships, beauty, and romance she discovered while filing on a Wyoming homestead claim in the early part of this century. Last fall, while studying lists of potential family films, I was surprised and thrilled to see that Elinore Pruitt Stewart's story had been made into a movie several years ago. This is one of the few movies we have shown that is not G-rated, but the supplier says that the PG rating is due to "graphic scenes of animal life and death." The Family Film is the third Thursday of each month.

I want to tell you about the program featuring Bob Izzard and the Red River War, but space constrains me. Plan now to be at the library on Thursday, February 24, at 7:00 p.m. and we will tell you more later.

It's here—finally! Love Can Build A Bridge by Naomi Judd will begin working its way through the waiting list. Others going out are by W.E. B. Griffin, Michael Crichton, Jody Thomas, Piers Anthony, and other popular and unknown authors. Be prepared for the next blizzard—check out a book now!

Film viewed by Legion, Auxiliary members Tuesday

David Rettman presented a film entitled "The Dream Becomes Realty" when members of the American Legion and Auxiliary of Unit 192 met Tuesday evening in the Post Home.

The film concerned Arrowhead Mills and what products are processed from locally grown grains.

During the business meeting, it was announced that the zone meeting will be held Feb. 10 in Nazareth.

It was also announced that as of Jan. 15, there were 51 paid auxiliary members.

Following the meeting, Legion and Auxiliary members were served refreshments.

Auxiliary members present were Betty Jo Carlson, Clara Trowbridge, Ella Caudle, Irene Berger, Bea Cargo, Viola Wagner, Bernice Layman and Anita Wilhelm. Welcomed as a guest was Vera Secrest.

A Bone Marrow Transplant is often the only hope of survival for people stricken with life threatening diseases such as Leukemia and Aplastic Anemia or rare genetic disorders such as Hurler Syndrome.

Engagement announced

Brandi Allison Binder of Hereford and Glenn Earl Parker of Amarillo will exchange wedding vows June 18 in Hereford's Avenue Baptist Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter Bill and Gayle Binder of 229 Juniper and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Bert and Donna Parker of 120 Quince St.

Miss Binder will graduate in May with a B.S. degree in elementary education from West Texas A&M University. She is currently a student teacher at Bluebonnet Elementary School.

Parker received a B.S. degree in accounting in December 1993 from WTAMU. He is presently employed by Ault and Associates in Amarillo.

HIGH-TECH

IMPROVEMENTS IN GLASSES

Ever sit on your glasses and bend them out of shape or crack them? Even adults who lead sedentary lives can be hard on their glasses; youngsters and athletes need even more help.

Fortunately, new, stronger and more durable frames are available now in both plastic and metal. Today's popular "granny glasses" are more durable and comfortable in the new, high-tech alloys. The frames may cost a bit more, but they last longer and, therefore, are more economical.

Top of the line is a titanium alloy that can be wound around a finger and still spring back to its original shape! It's much stronger and lighter than other metals. There are less expensive versions made of nickel and silver or nickel and copper.

Even the new plastics are stronger. Some weave in carbon fibers or graphite for added strength. Other improvements include spring hinges that help a frame to hold its shape and stay comfortable, and adjustable or replaceable nose pads.

American inventor funds next generation

In an effort to encourage the young inventors and scientists who will fuel the nation's economy with new technology and generate jobs in the year ahead, one of America's most prolific investors is investing millions of dollars in a research and education foundation.

The inventor is Jerome Lemelson. Since the 1950's he's patented nearly 500 inventions that have helped drive the high tech industrial revolution. "America's greatest natural resource remains American ingenuity," he says. "The greatest riches in the world are the riches that come from investing, promoting and manufacturing goods with new technology."

To tap into American ingenuity, he created the Lemelson Medical, Research and Education Foundation which reinvests his patent royalties in the American economy through philanthropic ventures with academic institutions. The Lemelson national Program in Invention, Innovation and Creativity at Hampshire College in Massachusetts, the first of these ventures, provides undergraduate students with unique opportunities to get to work on real-world problems. The college will organize a series of faculty-supported student-staffed "E-Teams" ("E" for entrepreneur). Each team will take on a specific problem and attempt to invent and develop new approaches and technologies that both address the problem and hold out promise for successful business applications. Students will learn about business management, marketing and other practical matters.

Lemelson believes his program will help motivate young people by positioning inventors and scientists as role models.

Educating a new generation of inventors and innovators will provide the United States with the human capital and the technology required to launch new businesses and generate new jobs. Lemelson says studies show small and mid-sized companies created 5.8 million new jobs in the U.S. from 1987 to 1992. Data indicates these small companies produce 2.4 times as many innovations as do large corporations.

For more than four decades Lemelson has examined industrial, commercial, medical and social problems and his inventive solutions have literally changed the way millions of people worldwide live and conduct

Resident completes testing

Jeff Milam of Hereford has recently completed testing to become ASE Certified as a Master Automobile Technician.

The announcement was made recently by Stevens Chevrolet-Oldsmobile, where Milam works.

ASE represents the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, which is a national testing agency for mechanics throughout the United States.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) - Sen. Bob Dole would love to do "Saturday Night Live." As long as he wouldn't have to do Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, too.

The Senate minority leader said he can't spare the four days needed to rehearse the NBC show.

"You've got to work every day, and rehearse to know what you're doing, which is normally not a requirement in our job. And then on Saturday you have to do three programs ... one and then you do a dress rehearsal and then you do the real thing," Dole said.

Dole said he has told "SNL" producer Lorne Michaels that he would be willing to make a cameo appearance, but Michaels is angling to get Dole as a guest host.

NEW YORK (AP) - Conan O'Brien is hoping he will be around long enough to let viewers know the real him.

But the late night talk show host has a backup plan just in case.

"I want to own a casino," he told Spin magazine in its February issue. O'Brien said he just wants a chance to lose that self-consciousness on the air.

"If I can be completely Conan, 100 percent, the way I was around the dinner table ... and people still don't like the show, I'll walk away and say, 'Well, I gave it a shot,'" O'Brien said.

He did not say how much time he would need.

O'Brien replaced David Letterman on NBC's "Late Night" when Letterman moved to CBS and an earlier time slot.

Japan, one of the world's largest consumers of sea food, also does the most to conserve and enhance ocean resources, expert say.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My son, age 36, has just learned he has hyperthyroidism. He has lost 30 pounds in the last few months. He was told the problem is not diet related. His doctor plans to use radiation to damage the thyroid gland so it will produce less thyroid hormone.

Can you suggest other ways to solve his problem? We have had no family history of this condition. What could have possibly have caused it? We would approach any information you could send us.

DEAR READER: By "not diet related," your son's doctor meant his weight loss was not caused from not eating enough. One of the characteristics of an overactive thyroid gland is that a person can eat the normal amount or even consume a huge number of calories and still lose weight. It is a good illustration of the importance of metabolism in weight control. It is like having turned up the thermostat to produce more heat. Each body cell is stimulated by the thyroid hormone to use nutrients and oxygen at a markedly increased rate. That may cause a person to feel hot because the skin is busy eliminating all those calories of heat from the metabolic furnace.

Weight loss with a good appetite, a fast heart rate, warm skin, some times diarrhea and many other symptoms occur, all of which are discussed in Special Issue 32-04, Your Thyroid Gland. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), self addressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/32-04, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537. Sometimes it affects the muscles causing extreme muscle weakness and even muscle wasting as the only obvious finding. It may also affect the eyes.

There are three main ways of treating an overactive thyroid. One is to suppress the thyroid function with propylthiouracil or Tapazole. These sometimes produce a permanent remission. The second approach is to surgically remove the thyroid gland and provide thyroid hormone replacement. The third is to destroy the thyroid gland through radioactive iodine. The thyroid gland traps iodine and that allows the radioactive iodine to destroy thyroid tissue without harming other tissues. That is how former President Bush's overactive thyroid gland was treated. Thyroid replacement is often required later.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Recently I had tests done that my doctor requested. The ultrasound showed the gallbladder had three or four stones. They think these were there for some time I am now 81. Is there a special diet for the gallbladder? Will it help this condition and be good for me?

DEAR READER: The concepts about gallbladder disease have changed over the years. In the past most were found in patients who came to the doctor for digestive complaints. With modern examination techniques such as ultrasound, it has been learned that they are much more common than formerly believed, and 60 to 80 percent occur in patients who have no symptoms at all.

Of course, they can exist coincidentally with other complaints, such as those caused by the irritable bowel syndrome and cause confusion that way.

For asymptomatic individuals who are found to have gallstones, there is no special treatment, unless the gallbladder itself is calcified. Then it should be removed. Only one in five individuals who have silent gallstones will have any symptoms from gallstones over a 20-year period. The odds are definitely with you, and there is no need for a special diet.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read your column concerning a woman with heel pain attributed to heel spurs. I had a similar problem and was told the same things. As this condition can be quite painful and frustrating, I would like to pass along what may have caused my problem and may be relevant to others.

I realized I was wearing stirrup pants all the time. By accident I stopped wearing the pants and my heel problem eventually went away. I still wear stirrups because they are in style, but I limit them to occasional use. I also avoid buying stirrup pants that are too short because they tend to pull on the arch area.

DEAR READER: Thank you for your suggestion, which will interest women who wear stirrup pants. The point is that heel pain is often of the muscles and tendons of the arch of the foot, whether there is or is not an associated bone spur on the heel. Factors that eliminate stress on these muscles and tendons may relieve heel pain in some conditions. I would suspect the stirrup pants may have put pressure on sore arch muscles.

I do not know that is what caused your heel pain as your pain may have disappeared on its own anyway. But it is an interesting observation.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Nominations being accepted for award

The Amarillo Women's Forum is looking for nominations for its annual Distinguished Service Awards.

The purpose of the Distinguished Service Awards is to honor outstanding women who have helped shape the development of the Texas Panhandle through their contributions of talent and skill. The award recognizes and publicizes the visible examples set by these women that pave the way for others to follow. Individuals or groups may submit nominations for the Distinguished Service Award.

Nominees must be living Texas women who are legal residents of the top 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle and who have not previously received this award. Women previously nominated, but who have not been honored with this award are encouraged to reenter.

Winners of the Distinguished Service Award will be chosen on the basis of an individual's lasting contributions or achievements that have been of significance to the region. Judging will be done by a representative panel of Panhandle residents.

Awards are made in a variety of categories, including arts, business and finance, civic leadership and public service, education, health care, legal, science and technology and volunteerism. There is also a special category for individuals who have distinguished themselves in areas such as farming, ranching athletics, communications or philanthropy. Awards are not always made in every category each year.

Deadline for nominations is Tuesday, March 1. Presentations of the Distinguished Service Awards will be made during a luncheon at the Amarillo Club on Saturday, March 26.

For nominations forms, or additional information, contact Millie Bingham, 378-3162.

Facts shared about migraine headaches

Migraine is a pervasive condition. It imposes both social and economic strains on patient, family, friends, coworkers and society in general. Recent studies have indicated that the majority of sufferers do not seek help and that the prevalence of migraine is on the rise in the United States.

Each year, more than 17 percent of women and five percent of men in the United States report one or more migraine headaches. This means that 8.7 million women and 2.6 million men are moderately to severely disabled by migraine headache annually.

Yet, migraine still is underdiagnosed and undertreated by healthcare professionals. Its cause and cure are still scientific mysteries and there are many questions without answers. In my practice, I am asked a variety of questions by patients about migraine. A question I have been asked a lot recently is, "I've heard about a nasal spray pain reliever that relieves pain fast; what is it and how does it work?" The question often comes from patients who have not responded to sumatriptan, a new migraine medication.

In fact, sumatriptan is considered by many to be a breakthrough drug for migraine pain. It is the most recent drug to be developed specifically to treat the entire migraine process. For many patients, sumatriptan starts working within ten minutes and provides relief for more than 70 percent of patients within one hour. Side effects generally include temporary injection-site reactions, feelings of flushing, dizziness, warmth and heaviness, and tingling or tightness in various parts of the body, including the chest with the remote possibility of cardiovascular events.

For patients who do not respond to sumatriptan, and for those for whom the drug is medically unsafe, and for patients for whom other abortive drugs do not work, there is a nasal spray that is often an excellent treatment for the rapid and convenient relief of migraine pain.

Butorphanol tartrate is available in a nasal spray, a new drug delivery system, for relieving various types of pain. It offers rapid, long-acting relief from moderate-to-severe pain in a convenient dosage form ideally suited for outpatient use. It is particularly effective in the outpatient management of migraine pain. The nasal spray can be self-administered in any setting, thereby often avoiding the need for expensive emergency room or office visits.

Technically, butorphanol tartrate is an opioid analgesic and is part of a large group of compounds in widespread clinical use. The most common side effect associated with the nasal spray pain reliever is drowsiness. Other significant side effects reported during clinical studies were dizziness and nausea and/or vomiting.

When patients are suffering debilitating migraine pain, they want relief fast. In many cases, the nasal spray will provide rapid and convenient relief from this pain. Because it is comparable in potency to an injection of an opioid analgesic, I advise patients not to drive or operate dangerous equipment immediately following medication with the nasal spray.

Although migraine continues to be somewhat of a mystery, the answer to the number one question "Do I have to suffer with my headache pain?" is no. The first step to finding relief is to ask a family physician or a headache specialist, "What can I do to get relief from the headache pain?" There is no need to suffer. There are medications and other therapies to help relieve the pain. See your MD (Migraine Doctor).

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Help! Help! How do I get red-wine stains out of the carpet? — Donna Lewis, Conroe, Texas

Immediately blot up as much of the wine as possible before any cleaning steps.

Then begin by making a mixture of 1 teaspoon of mild, colorless detergent or dishwashing liquid and 1 cup water. Apply to a clean white cloth and blot the stain, working from the outside in (make sure not to overwet the area). Blot up any excess liquid.

If the stain remains, then use a solution of 50/50 vinegar and water and blot, blot, blot excess liquid by standing on a terry-cloth towel.

If the stain still isn't gone, apply an ammonia solution (1/2 cup water and 1 tablespoon clear household ammonia). Again, make sure not to overwet, and blot up all remaining liquid.

For stubborn stains, it might be necessary to use a little 3 percent to 5 percent hydrogen peroxide. Test first in an inconspicuous area because it may lift the carpet color.

Once the wine stain is gone, rinse thoroughly with water (again, don't overwet) and blot well until completely dry.

This and many other carpet-cleaning hints can be found in my pamphlet, Heloise's Carpet and Household Stain-Removal Hints. If you'd like a copy, please send $2 along with a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Carpet, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

HEARING-AID REMINDER

Dear Heloise: I hope this hint will help others as it has helped me.

When I got my hearing aid, I was warned never to get it wet. After almost taking a shower while wearing it, I decided to post a reminder in the shower.

I placed a note saying "Remove hearing aid" in a zippered plastic bag and hung it on the shower caddy with a plastic clothespin. — Carol Oelke, Washington, D.C.

NAIL-HOLE FILLER

Dear Heloise: I felt compelled to send a hint of my own as a symbol of my gratitude for your much-needed column.

When I need to fill nail holes in plaster walls or any wall, I use putty. I put a few drops of food coloring in a tiny bowl, a little at a time, until I've got the wall color. This is easy and saves the time and work of looking for the old paint, then not finding it or discovering that it's dried up. — Janet Roessel, Billings, Mont.

PICNIC HINT

Dear Heloise: If you have a picnic table with an umbrella, insert the umbrella pole into a full roll of paper towels. Replace the pole in the table hole and, presto, you have towels handy for all the mess from the barbecue sauce. They take less space and don't blow away.

You may even want to wet the entire roll for better cleanup. Use a better-quality towel if you plan on wetting the roll. — Ellen Garza, San Antonio, Texas

Dear Heloise: The no-wax floor in my kitchen has yellow spots that are beginning to show. The flooring was originally white. What could be causing this problem? — A Reader, Minneapolis, Minn.

It's hard to say, since there could be several things causing them. In order to try to help, we would need to know if the floor is tile squares or sheeting. We would also need to know what the floor was placed on, i.e. concrete, wood or other flooring. It's best to go back to the retailer where you bought the flooring. They should be able to offer some suggestions and may even send someone to do an inspection. Thanks for writing, and good luck. — Heloise

CLEAN AND POLISH CHROME

Dear Heloise: Your helpful hints column is always interesting to read and check.

Months ago by accident I found an excellent way to clean and polish chrome (bath or kitchen). Use a small amount of rubbing alcohol on the fixtures. The soap scum is easily removed, leaving the fixture shiny and new-looking. — Ida M. Starke, Bay City, Mich.

TEEN TALK

Dear Heloise: My family and I live near a large wooded area. We are always looking for ways to help feed the animals that visit us.

We have squirrels that love the pecans and peanuts that we throw out. The opossums love bread and dog food. We especially like the beautiful birds. We frequently see blue jays and red birds. We put out bird seed and set up bird houses for their comfort.

Recently, I discovered that we can help our birds build their homes by throwing out lint from the clothes dryer, cotton balls and trimmed-off hair. The birds love these "supplies."

Therefore, next time you want to help build a nest, don't throw away that what appears useless trash. It is treasure for the little birds. — Carla Lugo, Clark High School, San Antonio, Texas

FABRIC-SOFTENER SHEETS

Dear Heloise: This could be a known hint to others, but it is new to me.

I take my used fabric-softener strips to get into tight corners. A broom or vacuum cannot get into those messy little spots, but a strip wrapped around a finger will make corners come clean.

Also, for a quick pickup on the floor they are just great. — Eileen Batty, Rochester, N. Y.

If a man takes no thought about what is distant, he will find sorrow near at hand.—Confucius

Pointers for parents

Adding up to a lot of success is a picture story method of learning the times tables that was developed to aid retention.

The method, currently being used by some 2,000 teachers throughout the United States, was recently published as a book called Times Tables the Fun way! A Picture Method of Learning the Multiplication Facts by Dave and Judy Rodriguez (Key Publishers, $19.95). The book teaches multiplication of the ones through the nines, with cartoons and stories.

To teach six times six, for example, they tell a story of twin sixes who travel across a desert to visit cousins. The twin sixes get low on water, becoming thirsty sixes, a word play on the number 36. A reminder under the illustration reads: When 6 is with 6 they are very thirsty sixes (36).

Interestingly a study involving 756 students, 18 schools and 36 teachers showed that post test scores were significantly higher when this method of learning the times tables was used. Many parents are getting the book for their children to help them learn the times tables for the first time or to brush up on the difficult facts.

In addition to the familiar red, radishes come in white, yellow, pink, purple, black and a combination of red and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Dean

Welcome to HUSTLIN' HEREFORD!

This week, join us in welcoming Randy and Cayle Dean who moved here from Childress. Randy came here as the new Hereford High School boys' basketball coach. While at Childress, his Bobcat teams compiled an overall 81-69 record. He coached there six years before making the move to Hereford. Cayle is a substitute teacher for the Hereford Independent School District. The Deans reside at 136 Nueces.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

IT'S NOT MY JOB

We had been standing in line for several minutes. The restaurant was busy and the order line was moving slowly. As we finally made it to the front of the line, we observed an interesting little scene.

The young person who was taking orders and running the cash register also had the responsibility to prepare each customer's drink. He needed to refill the ice container before he could complete our order.

The youngster turned to another employee who was watching and asked politely if the watcher would take the next customer's order while he went to replenish the ice supply. The watcher snapped, "That's not my job. I'm busy filling trays."

The young man who was running the register apologized to us for making us wait for our drinks. Then he told the next family in line that he would return to take their order in a moment. He dashed after a bucket of ice, returned, and again apologized as he served our drinks. While all of this transpired, the watcher simply watched.

As we walked back to a table with our food, my wife smiled at me and said, "That was interesting." My daughter said, "Dad, there has to be a column in there somewhere." I reached for my pen and a clean napkin and made a few notes.

A Column Indeed

The more I thought about that incident, the more I grew certain that I should write about it. I believe there is an epidemic of "it's-not-my-job-itis" sweeping our country. From our leaders in Washington through the young minimum-wage workers in business, this insidious disease is spreading.

It is easier to deny responsibility and just stand back and watch than to accept responsibility and get the job done. We need people in business, government and education who can produce positive results. It doesn't matter whether we're serving our country or serving our customers, we must take responsibility for doing what needs to be done.

Three Little Lessons

I've learned three lessons over the last few years. These lessons relate perfectly to the "it's-not-my-job-itis" disease.

The first lesson is that folks who develop the habit of saying "I wasn't hired to do that" or "that's not my job," often find themselves without a job. An employee who tries to dictate to an employer what they will or won't do is asking for early retirement.

This is particularly true if customers are involved. Specialization is not a luxury many small businesses can afford. Therefore, every employee must learn to do whatever it takes to keep customers happy. Even if it's not in our job description. Don't forget that satisfied customers are our only long-term job security. I learned the second lesson early in my own career. I discovered that if we look for work to do, we can always find it. When I earned my living on the farm, I found there were always fences to mend, equipment to repair and chores to complete. In business there are always customers to serve, floors to clean, windows to wash, and tasks to finish. The work is there if we look for it.

The third lesson is the most important one. It is this: If we want to get ahead in life, we often must put other's wishes ahead of our own. We need to do what needs to be done, whether or not it's our job. Look for ways to make another's job easier. When you're dealing with customers, help them get exactly what they want, when they want it. We may find that it is not only our job, but is also fun and rewarding.

NARROW LOT - VIEW TO THE REAR

Three Bed Rooms Up

A wide country front porch provides entry to this cozy cottage of only 1,592 square feet. It is designed for view orientation to the rear of the home. Perfect for mountain, lake, seashore or golf course lots.

The foyer includes a coat closet, half bath for daytime use, and access to the stairs for the second floor. It leads to the large great room with fireplace. A sun deck is indicated for outdoor enjoyment. The great room is completely open to the dining room of the plan, a visual separation being provided by columns.

The kitchen is U-shaped with the sink area also having a rear view. Plenty of counter space and cabinets are provided for, as well as appliances. It is enhanced by the breakfast nook which includes a large bay window and access to the double garage.

There are three bed rooms upstairs, one being a master suite with garden bath. The master bedroom includes a tray ceiling and the garden bath is shown with glass shower, garden tub, double vanity and toilet. A large walk-in closet is provided for the master bedroom.

A hall bath services the other two twin sized bed rooms. Laundry facilities are also provided for on the second floor as is attic access.

The exterior is country cottage style with gable roofs and a dormer for enhancement. The country porch is shown with wood rail and columns.

Plan number Z-514 is a computer generated plan and drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For further information on this plan, write W. D. Farmer Residence Designer, Inc., P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

Take chill out of your energy bills

Thank you're doing all you can to lower your energy bills? If so, you're not alone; more than 90 percent of 703 consumers surveyed believe they're doing a good job of saving energy. Yet approximately half don't take the minimum steps necessary to keep their heating and cooling equipment running efficiently. The survey, conducted for Honeywell Inc., found that more than half of the consumers contacted don't change air filters the recommended four times a year, and 45 percent don't have their systems professionally checked annually. Other survey findings include: nearly one-quarter of respondents open windows when the air conditioning or heating is on, yet less than 39 percent were concerned this might increase energy bills; and nearly 84 percent adjust their thermostats for times they're away from home, but only 37 percent have programmable thermostats.

What to do in an accident

- If you're the one in every eight drivers who, statistics say, will be involved in an accident this year, these steps can help keep things from getting worse.
- They come from the Shell Motorist Club (SMC).
1. Move vehicles off the roadway as long as it's safe and legal.
 2. Make a first aid check of all persons involved. Call the police and emergency medical services, if necessary.
 3. Turn on emergency flashers and turn off the ignitions of all vehicles involved. Place flares or cones near the scene.
 4. Exchange information, including name, address, driver's license number, license plate number, phone number and insurance information.
 5. Diagram the scene, including passengers, vehicle direction and lane, date, time and weather.
 6. Get a copy of the police report and initiate a claim with your insurance agent.
 7. Join an automobile club for towing and road service benefits. SMC will even reimburse members for personal expenses to complete a trip after an accident 100+ miles from home.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

TAX SEASON 1994

Taxpayers Begin to Feel Bite of New Tax Laws

Most taxpayers have been aware for several months of the changes put in place by the Tax Act of 1993. With April 15 drawing closer, however, they're beginning to see the real effects of those changes where it counts — on their federal income tax returns.

The Tax Act of 1993 was designed to reduce the federal deficit by an estimated $500 billion over the next five years, through a combination of tax increases and spending cuts. The provisions most likely to affect individual taxpayers are those that increase the top marginal tax rates and the taxation of Social Security benefits, however, there are a number of changes that taxpayers need to be aware of.

Top tax rates increase.

The new law raised the top marginal tax rate for high income earners. For couples with taxable income above $140,000, and individuals with income in excess of $115,000, the top marginal tax rate has been increased from 31 percent to 36 percent. For couples and individuals with income greater than $250,000, the top tax rate has been increased to 39.6 percent.

In a highly unusual provision, these increases are effective retroactive to January 1, 1993.

Social Security taxes increase.

According to Treasury Department estimates, 6.9 million individuals will pay taxes on their Social Security benefits this year. Almost two-thirds of them will face higher tax bills as a result of the new legislation. Effective January 1, 1994, some Social Security recipients will begin paying taxes on up to 85 percent of their benefits.

Those affected by the increase in taxes on Social Security are couples with provisional income in excess of $44,000, and individuals with provisional income in excess of $34,000.

Social Security recipients whose income falls below these levels will compute the tax on their Social Security benefits as they have in previous years.

Alternative Minimum Tax rate increases.

The Alternative Minimum Tax, or AMT, is basically a tax that was put in place to make sure that no one avoids taxes altogether. It primarily affects high income individuals.

Attention Retirees: How Will Uncle Sam Benefit From Your Social Security Benefits?

For millions of retirees, 1994 will bring higher taxes on Social Security benefits. Those hit hardest will begin paying taxes on up to 85 percent of their benefits, up from a maximum of 50 percent under former law.

How do you know whether you're among those affected? The portion of your Social Security benefits included in your taxable income is based on your "provisional" income, which includes:

- One-half of your Social Security benefits;
- Interest from any municipal bonds you own;
- Your adjusted gross income (AGI), excluding your Social Security benefits.

The tax increase will affect individuals whose provisional income exceeds $34,000, and couples whose provisional income exceeds $44,000. The following example demonstrates how the increase might affect a typical retired couple.

Karen and Ed Rapp, both age 67, are retired. On top of $15,000 in Social Security income, they earn $45,000 from pensions and investments.

Prior to 1994, only 50 percent of their Social Security benefits, or $7,500, would have been taxed, bringing their adjustable gross income to $52,500. Subtracting the standard deduction ($7,850) and exemptions ($4,900), they are left with taxable income of $39,750, and a tax liability of $6,190.

As of January 1, 1994, however, the Rapps will be taxed on 85 percent of their Social Security benefits, or $12,750. Consequently, their adjustable gross income increases to $57,750, and their tax bill will grow to $7,660, a 24 percent increase over 1993.

If you don't know whether you'll face higher taxes on your Social Security income, contact your tax professional. In addition, you may want to visit your local Edward D. Jones & Co. office to take advantage of a free computer service that will help you determine what portion of your Social Security benefits might be taxable in 1994. It can also show you whether shifting some of your assets to tax-free or tax-deferred investments could help reduce your tax burden.

With tax-free investments, you pay no federal income taxes on the interest you earn, so you lower the amount of income on which you pay taxes. In some cases, tax-free investments allow you to avoid state and local taxes as well. Most investors are familiar with individual municipal bonds for tax-free income, but there are other tax-free investments to choose from, including tax-free unit investment trusts, tax-free mutual funds and even tax-free money market accounts

Attention CD Owners

The drastic decline in interest rates over the past three years could mean a substantial cut in your income when you renew your CDs. If you have a CD maturing, or would just like more information on investments that offer a high degree of safety and the potential to provide rising income, contact an Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative today.

AVERAGE 6-MONTH CD RATE for your short-term savings.

Tax-deferred investments aren't completely tax free, but they allow you to control when you pay taxes on your earnings. With tax-deferred investments like annuities and IRAs, you pay no taxes on the interest you earn until you withdraw them at some point in the future. Because you earn on all of your interest, your money compounds and your tax-deferred investment grows faster than it would in a taxable investment.

With higher Social Security taxes on the horizon, you owe it to yourself to find out whether tax-free or tax-deferred investments can help you meet your long-term financial goals. ■

Does Your IRA Need A Check-Up?

If you're already contributing to an IRA, you've taken an important first step toward building a healthy nest egg for retirement. But when it comes to something as important as long-term financial security, don't be satisfied with leaving well enough alone.

With the dramatic decline in interest rates this decade, some IRAs have become underachievers, particularly those that invest only in fixed-income investments like CDs. If that's the case with your IRA, when retirement rolls around, you may find that your savings falls short of your goals.

To make sure you're financially prepared for retirement, Edward D. Jones & Co. invites you to give your IRA a free check-up with our free computerized IRA analysis called IRA CALC. If you provide current information on your IRA, IRA CALC will show you what your IRA could be worth when you retire, based on that information. It can even show you how that amount will change if you can increase the rate of return you're earning by even a small amount.

If you find that your IRA is an underachiever, Edward D. Jones & Co. may be able to offer you some attractive higher-paying alternatives, and remember, it's simple to transfer your IRA. Plus, transfers carry no tax consequences and require no additional paperwork at tax time.

As hard as you have worked to prepare for retirement, it's important that you make sure your money keeps working just as hard. Call your Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative to schedule an appointment for your IRA CALC. It takes only a few moments and it's absolutely free.

Don't let your IRA retire before you do.

With today's lower interest rates, some IRAs aren't the hard workers they used to be. We can prepare a free report that will show you how much your IRA will be worth when you're ready to retire. Don't take chances with your retirement savings. To find out if your IRA could be earning more, call or stop by today.

When Less Is More

If you are among those impacted by the new tax laws and are facing a higher tax bill in 1993, or if you are simply looking for tax relief, don't overlook the benefits of tax-free investments. Although at first glance the yields on tax-free investments may appear to be less attractive than those on comparable taxable investments, in many cases, tax-free bonds can actually provide you with more spendable income than higher yielding taxable investments. The following chart shows you what you would need to earn on a taxable investment in order to receive the same amount of after-tax income that a tax-free investment pays.

To take an example, if you're in the 28 percent tax bracket, you would need to earn 7.64 percent on a taxable investment to get the same amount of after-tax income you would get from a tax-free bond paying 5.5 percent. Because you do not pay federal income taxes on the interest you earn from tax-free investments, they can actually give you more after-tax income than taxable investments with higher yields. ■

Not All Tax-Free Investments are Created Equal. What's Right For You?

Before we know it, April 15 will be here again and as a result of the new tax laws, many individuals will see their tax bills increase this year.

What's available for those seeking tax relief? Tax-free investments can be part of the solution. When you own tax-free investments, you pay no federal income tax on your interest and dividends, so you still earn an attractive rate of return, but you reduce the amount of income on which you pay taxes.

Before you purchase tax-free investments, there are a couple of important points to consider. First, although no one wants to pay more than his or her fair share of the tax burden, tax consequences aren't the only factor to consider when making an investment decision. Decide first whether or not the investment fits your long-term needs for safety and return. If not, it doesn't belong in your portfolio.

Second, there are several kinds of tax-free investments available. It's important that you choose the one(s) best suited to your personal needs.

Tax-free municipal bonds

When you invest in a municipal bond, you lend money to the issuer of the bond (generally a city, state or municipality) to help fund important projects like road and highway construction, hospitals, housing or public education.

In return for your "loan," the issuer agrees to make fixed-interest payments to you over the life of the loan and to return your original investment (your principal) when the bond matures. Maturities can be short-term, or as long as 30 years. The interest you earn on municipal bonds is free from federal income taxes and, in many cases, from state and local taxes as well. Generally, interest payments are made semiannually.

In addition, some municipal bonds carry insurance for the timely payment of principal and interest. Investors can own individual municipal bonds, or they can own municipal bonds through other investments like unit investment trusts (UITs) and tax-free mutual funds.

through ownership of a portion (a unit) of a group of 10 to 30 individual municipal bonds. The bonds are selected by a professional and monitored constantly for credit quality.

Unit trusts share a number of the features that make individual municipal bonds attractive to investors, like tax-free interest, a fixed rate of return and insurance for the timely payment of principal and interest on some trusts.

However, there are some differences as well. First, with unit trusts, investors can choose to receive their interest checks monthly, quarterly or semiannually. They can also choose to reinvest their interest payments to purchase more units of the trust so that returns compound over time. In addition, the initial investment required to purchase a unit trust is generally $1,000, compared to $5,000 for individual bonds.

State tax-free unit trusts are also available, and pay income that is both federal and state tax free to residents of that state.

Tax-free mutual funds

When you purchase tax-free mutual funds, you buy shares of a portfolio of 30 to 100 individual bonds that are federally tax exempt. If the fund happens to be state specific, the income earned on it is exempt from state taxes for residents of that state.

Mutual funds are attractive to individual investors because they offer the added safety of diversification and professional management. Mutual fund portfolios are managed by professionals with proven track records.

Tax-free funds differ in a number of significant ways from individual municipal bonds. First, a mutual fund has no set maturity date. You can sell your shares on any business day, but the amount you receive could be higher or lower than the price you paid for the shares, depending on the performance of the bonds in the portfolio and on where interest rates are at that time. Because share prices fluctuate, your payments (which are made monthly) will not be fixed, but will vary. Like unit trusts, mutual funds offer the option to reinvest income for compounding returns.

Mutual funds and unit trusts are offered by prospectus. A prospectus provides important information, including facts on charges and expenses. Read it carefully before you invest or send any funds.

A sound investment strategy might include one, two or all three types of tax-free investments. Visit with your Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative to determine which are best suited to your needs. ■

The Best of Both Worlds

In 1993, interest rates reached 20-year lows. Today, you may be wondering whether they are headed up or down in the near future. The answer is "yes."

No one can predict where interest rates will go. For that reason, it's important to build an investment portfolio that performs well under a variety of economic and market conditions.

One of the best ways to protect your savings is by diversifying your portfolio among a number of different investments. This protects you from being severely affected by the performance of just one stock or bond. Many safety-conscious investors working toward long-term objectives find U.S. Treasury securities particularly appealing.

U.S. Treasury Securities

U.S. Treasuries not only offer attractive returns, but because they are backed by the United States government, they rank among the safest investments available. In addition, they provide regular income on a semi-annual basis, and the interest they pay is state and local tax free.

U.S. Treasuries are available in a variety of maturities, ranging from three months to 30 years. In most cases, the interest rates on longer-term bonds will be higher than shorter-term bonds. However, shorter-term bonds offer you more flexibility since your money is not locked into one investment for a long period of time. In addition, although all bond prices move when interest rates move, the prices of short-term bonds are typically more stable than those of long-term bonds. That's particularly important if you decide to sell your securities before they mature.

Laddering

Protecting your income by diversifying among a number of different investments is an important strategy to remember. However, a well-planned portfolio is also diversified by maturity dates. A portfolio that includes short-, intermediate- and long-term bonds offers maximum flexibility and liquidity. Building a bond portfolio in this way is known as staggering maturities, or "laddering."

The Long and Short of It

Laddering U.S. Treasury securities is an attractive strategy for investors who want safety and liquidity. To demonstrate how it works, consider the following example.

Brian and Judy Moore had $80,000 to invest in U.S. Treasuries. Although longer-term bonds offered the most attractive interest rates, the Moores didn't want to lock all their money into a long-term investment because they planned to use some of it for home improvements a few years down the road.

After talking to their investment representative, the Moores decided that laddering was the solution they needed. They split their investment among two-year, five-year, seven-year and 10-year Treasuries, investing $20,000 in each. As a result, a portion of their investment earned the higher rates of long-term Treasuries, and they still had money coming due in just two years. When that time comes, the Moores can choose to reinvest it or use it to meet expenses they may have at that time.

Your investment representative can give you a better idea of how "laddering" and U.S. Treasuries can fit into your diversified investment portfolio. ■

Retirement: Ready or Not?

Saving enough for a financially secure retirement is one of the greatest challenges that individuals face. Given the frequent changes in tax laws, the outlook for Social Security and uncertainty regarding inflation, a sound retirement plan that balances safety and return is more important than ever.

Despite what many people believe, Social Security will only provide about one-third of the income you'll need to enjoy a comfortable retirement. If you have a company-sponsored retirement plan, that will help, but it's not the whole answer either. Even a company plan and your Social Security benefits combined will only provide about 70 percent of the income you need for retirement. The rest must come from your personal savings and investments.

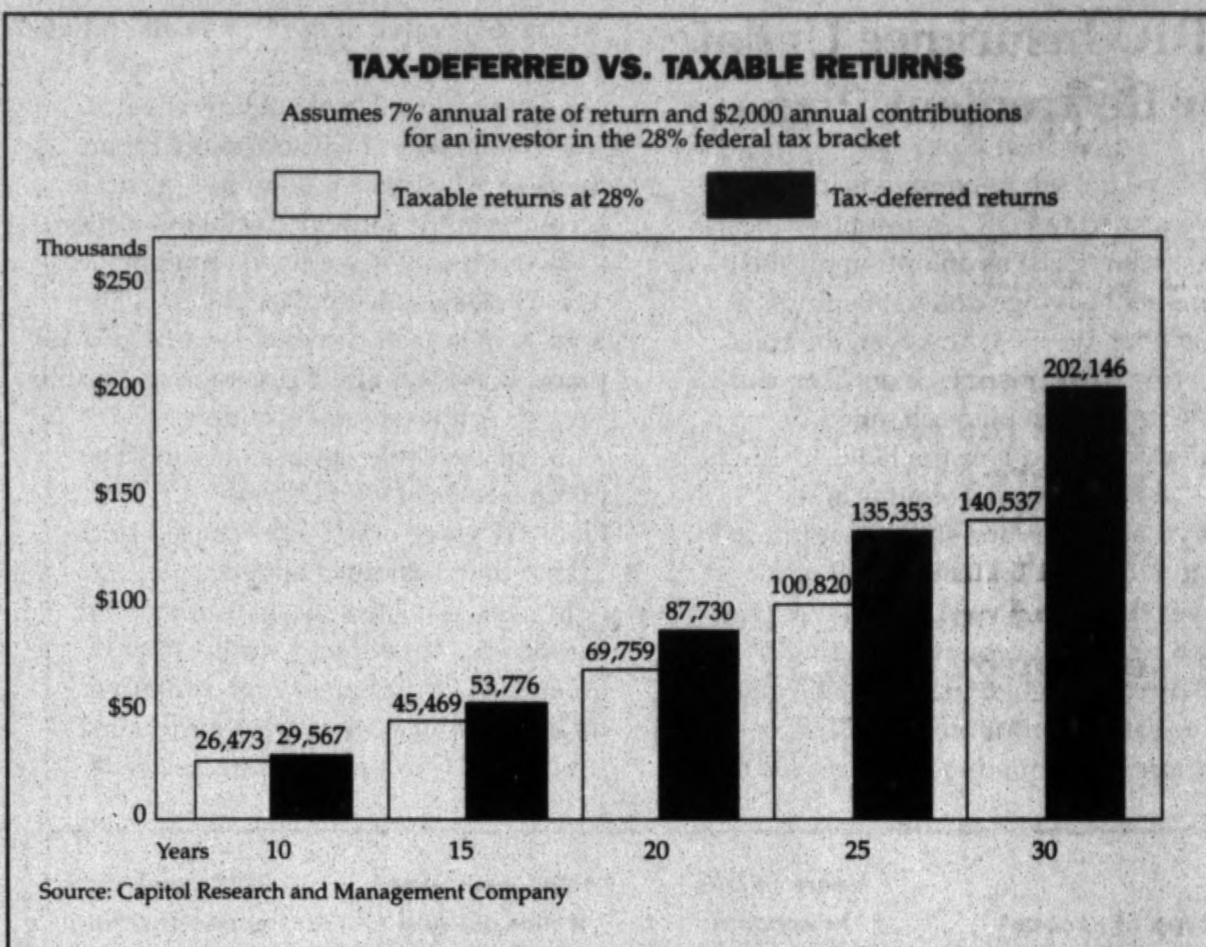

Whether you're just starting to think about a savings plan or are within a few years of retirement, IRAs are among the best tools available for building retirement savings.

IRAs were designed to make it easy for individuals to save for retirement. They allow you to hold a variety of investments in one account and to defer paying taxes on the dividends and interest you earn until you withdraw the funds at retirement. Because you pay no taxes on your earnings, you earn interest on a larger amount of money, so your savings grows faster than it would in a taxable account.

Of course, IRAs were most popular prior to 1986, when contributions were fully deductible. However, IRA contributions are still partially, if not fully, tax deductible for many individuals. In fact, 73 percent of those eligible to make IRA contributions can still take a full or partial tax deduction.

Whether or not your IRA contribution is deductible, you'll still benefit from tax-deferred compounding, which will keep your money hard at work until you retire. The longer you put off paying taxes, the larger your retirement nest egg can grow. The chart at the right shows what a difference tax deferral can make.

If your investment goals include building financial independence for retirement, it's to your advantage to learn about all the advantages of an IRA. ■

Your 1993 Tax Preparation Checklist

April 15 will be here before you know it. Will you be ready? Use this tax preparation checklist to make your tax time preparations less time consuming and less confusing.

Be sure you cover each item and bring your checklist to your tax professional when you begin preparation of your return. Remember, these are general guidelines only. Always consult a competent professional for tax-planning advice.

- I received my 1040 forms from the IRS and have the appropriate version (long or short) for my return this year.
- I have requested any special or additional forms I will need from the IRS (1-800-TAX-FORM or 1-800-829-3676).
- I have made my annual IRA or retirement plan contribution.
- I have reviewed my IRA or other retirement plan and am satisfied with the return I am earning.
- I have documented all income for 1993. Don't forget:
 - Salaries, wages, commissions (W2)
 - Social Security income
 - Railroad retirement benefits
 - Dividends, interest income, royalties
 - Rent income
 - Income from partnerships, S corporations, estates and trusts

- Gains or losses from sale of investments
- Distributions from retirement plans
- Tax-exempt income
- I have documented relevant expenses for 1993 including:
 - Medical expenses
 - Charitable contributions
 - Real estate, personal property and foreign taxes
 - Mortgage interest
 - Casualty losses
 - Moving expenses
 - Other miscellaneous deductions
- I have received and reviewed my tax reporting information on my investments:
 - 1099s (INT, DIV, MISC, B, OID)
 - Summary of Investment Income
 - Retirement plan distribution information (1099R)

Please note: This information should begin to arrive by February 1, 1994, but depending on the investments you own, your information may not be complete until late March.

- I have reviewed my investment strategy and am satisfied with the amount of taxes I'm saving. My tax-free investments include:
 - Municipal Bonds
 - Unit Investment Trusts
 - Tax-free Mutual Funds

New Tax Laws May Mean Big Changes for Small Businesses

The impact of the new tax laws won't be limited to individual taxpayers. A number of the provisions will affect the nation's small business owners.

Income taxes:

In addition to an increase in the top marginal rates for individuals, the top corporate tax rate was raised to 35 percent for taxable income in excess of $10 million. The increase is effective retroactive to Jan. 1, 1993.

Payroll taxes:

The $135,000 cap on the taxation of wages and self-employment income was repealed. Effective Jan. 1, 1994, all earnings will be subject to the 2.9 percent Medicare tax.

Fuel taxes:

A tax of 4.3 cents per gallon on transportation fuels, including gasoline and diesel fuels, went into effect Oct. 1, 1993. Commercial airline fuel is exempt for two years.

Capital gains tax:

The rate was cut in half, to 14 percent, for investors who hold new assets in certain start-up companies for at least five years.

Business deductions:

Businesses may deduct only 50 percent of meals and entertainment beginning Jan. 1, 1994, down from the current 80 percent. Deductions for club dues, certain lobbying costs and expenses of spouses and dependents on business travel have been eliminated.

Investment incentives:

Small businesses may write off up to $17,500 each year (up from $10,000) for capital equipment purchases, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1993.

Tax incentives:

The tax credit for research and experimentation will be extended to mid-1995. Businesses will receive tax credits for providing educational assistance and hiring disadvantaged individuals. Tax incentives for issuing bonds for small manufacturing facilities and farms will be made permanent. ■

FDIC Insurance Update for Retirement Plans

For years, safety-conscious investors have turned to FDIC-insured Certificates of Deposit (CDs) as an option for their retirement savings dollars. Beginning December 19, 1993, however, the rules covering FDIC insurance on CDs held in some retirement plans changed.

Under the old law, the FDIC insured the CDs in each of your accounts and retirement plans at a single institution for up to $100,000. Under the new rule, however, if you have CDs in more than one retirement account (including IRAs, self-directed Keogh plans and 457 plans) at the same institution, your FDIC insurance is limited to a total of $100,000 on the total value of the CDs in all of those accounts.

Below is an example of how the new rule changed the FDIC coverage for an investor who owns CDs in five separate accounts at the same financial institution.

Two important points to remember:

1. The new rule applies only to CDs held in IRAs, self-directed Keoghs and 457 plans. It does not affect coverage on regular savings or investment accounts.

2. The new rule applies only to CDs purchased on or after December 19, 1993. FDIC coverage on CDs purchased prior to that time has not changed.

In light of these new rules, it may be a good idea to contact your Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative for a review of your current retirement savings plan and your future needs. ■

Is the Stock Market A Good Place To Spend 1994?

The beginning of a new year typically raises some not-so-new questions among many individual investors. Where is the stock market headed? Will this be a good year to invest?

At Edward D. Jones & Co., we have some answers — the same ones we've always had. Successful investing depends on a long-term strategy that includes high quality equity investments, not on trying to time the highs and lows of the stock market.

If you're considering the reasons not to invest in 1994, consider the reasons that kept others from investing in years past. It can be a costly decision. For each year, you'll see what $10,000 invested in common stocks* then would be worth today.

January 1,

1973 - The Dow topped 1000 for the first time. We're due for a crash.	$93,401
1974 - OPEC is in control. Nixon won't be for long.	$109,459
1975 - This is the worst market in 40 years.	$148,533
1976 - New York City almost went bankrupt and we're wearing WIN buttons.	$108,306
1977 - Coffee is $5 a pound. Inflation is killing the economy.	$87,480
1978 - You can't make anything in this market. It's barely moved in two years.	$94,253
1979 - No economy can stand interest rates this high.	$88,479
1980 - Iran is holding America hostage. I'm holding on to my money.	$74,701
1981 - Chrysler needs $400 million and I'm supposed to invest in the market?	$56,401
1982 - The recession has started and it could be bad.	$59,297

1983 - Ten percent unemployment and banks are failing. I knew it would be bad.	$48,802
1984 - The Dow is over 1250. It's an all new high and I missed it.	$39,854
1985 - There haven't been this many bank failures since the '30s.	$37,518
1986 - The federal deficit is over $200 billion.	$28,500
1987 - A 2000 Dow is ridiculous. I know I've missed the boat.	$24,026
1988 - Where were you on Black Monday? I was out of the market.	$22,837
1989 - There's talk of bailing out the S&L's. I'm bailing out.	$19,603
1990 - The '80s are over but high yield bond problems aren't.	$14,897
1991 - We're days away from war with Iraq. Could there be a worse time to invest?	$15,376
1992 - Invest in stocks? Maybe you haven't heard. We're in a recession.	$11,798
1993 - We're swearing in a new president and a new party. I'm swearing off the stock market.	$10,963

You can probably think of a reason not to invest in 1994. But think about this instead. A buy and hold strategy that emphasizes diversification still offers tremendous values to investors, despite short-term fluctuations in the market. It was true in 1973 and it's true today, the stock market is a good place for long-term investors. ■

Effective January 1, 1993, AMT rates increased from 24 percent to 26 percent on the first $175,000 of income, and 28 percent on income over $175,000. As a result of the new law, AMT could become a factor for individuals who have not previously been subject to this tax.

Estate and gift tax rates won't fall.

Estate and gift tax rates will not be lowered to 50 percent, as was once expected, but will remain at 53 and 55 percent. This will affect estates valued at $10 million or more.

No change in capital gains tax rate.

The new tax laws do not change the maximum long-term capital gains rate of 28 percent. In light of the increase in the top marginal tax rate, investments like growth stocks, which offer the potential for long-term capital gains, rather than ordinary income, will be more attractive for some investors.

More documentation needed for charitable gifts.

Taxpayers now need written documentation in addition to a canceled check in order to substantiate charitable deductions in excess of $250.

Tax relief.

Clearly, not all taxpayers will feel the effects of the changes in tax laws to the same degree. To find out how the new tax laws will affect you, consult your tax professional.

If you're in for a tax increase, tax-free investments like municipal bonds, unit trusts and tax-free mutual funds, or tax-deferred investments like annuities and IRAs may help. Visit with an investment representative to make sure you're taking full advantage of the tax-advantaged investments that can help you achieve your long-term financial goals. ■

Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation

Quarterly Newsletter

You Can Make A Difference

- Show your gratitude to the community for your success...*
- Offer a lasting tribute to a departed loved one...*
- Present a unique gift to honor a special newborn...*
- Support excellence in your community's health care...*

Contributions to the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation will enable you to do all this and help build a permanent endowment fund for health care in our community.

Purpose of the Foundation

The Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation is a non-profit corporation which will build and maintain an endowment fund for hospital and health care in general.

The Foundation will give financial stability to our community hospital by providing the following benefits:

1. Medical equipment and technology
2. Educational opportunities for employees, staff, and patients
3. Continuing physician recruitment

Funding the Foundation

The endowment is funded by generous individuals, corporations, and organizations who are concerned about the future of health care in the community. Deaf Smith General Hospital was originally established through the generosity and concern of the people of this area. This endowment fund is the modern generation's chance to match the generosity of the past, allowing farsighted, concerned citizens to ensure the future of health care in the Hereford area.

Allocation of Funds

The Foundation Board of Directors is comprised of community leaders. They will determine which projects to fund, based on the objectives and purpose set for the Foundation.

Play Your Part in Quality Community Health Care

Your contributions will enable the Foundation to build a strong endowment dedicated to health care.

What gives meaning to life?

BY NADIR T. KHURI, M.D.
Foundation Chairman

What gives meaning to life?

We eat and drink, sleep and wake up daily. We go to work. We watch TV, drive, ski, and do a lot of similar activities, but does that give meaning to life? I think not.

I believe that what helps give meaning to life is when a person has a cause to identify with, believe in, work for, support and help to succeed.

What cause could be more worthy than to ensure the continued survival and success of health care in our community? Stated simply, this is the goal of the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation.

We hope and pray you make that your goal. Please support your community...support the continued survival of decent health care in your area...support the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation.

I am very encouraged by the enthusiasm and the positive response the Foundation has received from the community so far and will be looking forward to your continued support.

EX-OFFICIO BOARD MEMBERS

Foundation gifts total $85,000 since Dec. 7

The roots of the Deaf Smith Healthcare Foundation go back to 1987 when Dr. Nadir T. Khuri made the first donation to establish the Deaf Smith General Hospital Endowment & Memorial Fund for the benefit of the hospital and community health care in general.

Like most hospitals and organizations of higher education, he felt the real need for an endowment fund where "we can draw on its interest in good times and bad, without depleting the principal." To give the Endowment & Memorial Fund (which raised $41,000) and fundraising activities added momentum and a larger community base, Dr. Khuri formally established the Deaf Smith Healthcare Foundation with its own independent

Board of Directors in March, 1993.

Since its establishment, the Board of Directors has expended considerable time and effort in preparatory work. A major task undertaken by the Board which continues to be a priority for them is informing the community about the existence of the Foundation, the need for it, its structure and goals.

Actual fundraising efforts started Dec. 7, 1993. Gratitude is extended to First National Bank and Hereford State Bank for underwriting the dinner. Thanks to the philanthropic generosity of our community, the Foundation has successfully raised $85,000 in cash and property.

TREE OF LIFE

LEVELS OF RECOGNITION

Foundation Stones	$ 10,000 to $ 50,000
Trunk	5,000 to 9,999
Fruit	1,000 to 4,999
Leaves	500 to 999
Plaques next to tree	200 to 499

Gifts under $200 will be recognized through a quarterly publication. Gifts over $50,000 will receive special recognition.

Tree of Life

A five-foot structure is in the process of being erected at the entrance of Hereford Regional Medical Center. The tree will serve as a means of properly recognizing donors according to the level of their donation.

It will serve as a significant and tangible expression of love and gratitude for lives whose influence and values are worth perpetuating. This tree endures as a living symbol of appreciation for individuals and organizations.

Names of donors will be engraved on corresponding parts of the tree. Additional gifts by the same donor upgrade the level of recognition appropriately. Donors to the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation will be recognized unless anonymity is requested.

Dollars stay here to help community

You are invited to be a part of many exciting opportunities to make a difference in people's lives and health in this community. Dollars raised locally stay here for use here.

The Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation has been organized and registered with the State of Texas as a non-profit(501) (c) (3) tax exempt organization. This structure allows the Foundation to accept tax deductible gifts and donations to the extent allowed by the law.

The Foundation also acquired a tax exempt status from local property taxes.

Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation CHARITABLE GIVING

You can be a part of this lasting tradition and reduce your tax burden!

Ways of Giving:

1. Cash - the most usual gift
2. Securities (stocks) - you may deduct the entire market value of an appreciated security and bypass long term capital gains taxes
3. Insurance - life insurance is a unique way to give to charity; to qualify, the charity needs to become the owner and beneficiary
4. Real Estate - appreciated real estate is treated like gifts of appreciated securities (with some modifications)
5. Personal Property
6. Bequests - leave cash, property in your will for your charity
7. *Unitrust
8. *Annuity Trust
9. *Gift Annuity

Director breaks 'no more meetings' vow

BY DOUG MANNING
Foundation director

Among the contributions to the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation is one made by Vida and Nolan Grady. Dr. Nadir Khuri, Foundation president, is shown accepting a check from Mrs. Grady, who is a nurse at Hereford Regional Medical Center.

Foundation is logical answer to recurring problem in health care

Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation is the logical answer to a recurring problem in health care: establishing a stable financial base.

Formally incorporated, with its own board of directors, the Foundation responds to that need, providing a stable financial underpinning for health care in Deaf Smith County.

Health care reform on the national level may cause more instability in rural hospitals throughout the country. Reform will definitely change the scope of the federal funding for health care. Judging from the past, that likely will mean that hospitals will be asked to provide more care with less funds.

In the face of this uncertain environment, the Health Care Foundation and the financial support a permanent endowment fund would provide, gives the medical community the instrument it must have to plan more effectively, achieve broader goals, and provide consistently good health care.

The establishment of the Foundation endowment fund allows for a non-profit organization that provides a legal vehicle for receiving gifts and donations. The Foundation structure can be used to solicit grants from foundations, estates or other sources. This could give health care in the Hereford area a competitive edge over other facilities.

All of the dollars donated stay in Hereford for use in our community.

Any family or industry looking for a new home analyzes the availability and quality of health care in making decisions to relocate.

The Foundation will help ensure that quality health care remains an attractive drawing card to our community.

As federal and state funding continues to decline, concerned citizens must take up the slack by providing the funds necessary to keep vital community support systems in place. Only through a community-wide effort can we ensure that the area continues to have sufficient, high-quality health care for all citizens.

As the population ages, the demand for health care will continue to grow into the foreseeable future. Exploding technological advances bring more accurate diagnoses and more successful treatment venues within reach of the rural hospitals who have the foresight and the vision to plan for the future.

Services the Foundation can offer include:

--Funding for new equipment and/or services that are needed to provide good care to the community.

--Funding for scholarships for health care professionals who agree to return to Hereford to work.

--Funding to enhance efforts to recruit health care professionals.

--Funding to give the hospital a financial cushion for emergencies.

--Funding diversification of services such as cardiac rehabilitation and specialty clinics.

--Funding special projects such as patient transport services.

When I resigned as Pastor of the First Baptist Church and changed my career, I said I would never attend any more meetings where they read minutes. I kept that vow for twelve years until I was asked to become a member of the Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation. I accepted, they read minutes, and I think it is worth it.

I have a soft spot in my heart for small town hospitals. Thirty years ago I was chairman of the fund drive to build a hospital in Weatherford, Oklahoma. The only contribution I made to that city that is still in evidence is that hospital which is still filling a vital need in the community. Weatherford, Oklahoma can date its growth to the hospital. Before the hospital came the town was going nowhere but down. After the hospital came the town became a thriving healthy community that began to outgrow the other towns in the area. When I see the results of my labor and the impact on the area, I stand a little taller and am grateful for the chance at making a lasting impact. So when they asked me to serve on the foundation board here I did not even ask if they read minutes, I said yes.

A town must have a hospital or everyone who lives there lives in risk. I do not want an hour's drive in an ambulance while suffering a heart attack or some other trauma. I want the best help possible as close as possible, ready when needed.

No one wants to live in a city without a hospital. One of the greatest advantages we have in our efforts of attracting industry is our health care facilities anchored by one of the finest small hospitals anywhere.

Now we must keep the hospital here and healthy. Small town hospitals are having to struggle to survive. Under medicare, hospitals in large cities receive more reimbursement for the same procedures than do hospitals in small towns. This has put a tremendous burden on hospitals like ours.

It does not appear that our plight will be made any better under the medical reforms being considered by the government.

These two factors make it imperative that we find ways to support our hospital if it is to be here for us in the future.

Even without the factors of medicare reimbursement and medical reform we would need the support of the foundation. The hospital is a tax supported facility. At first that makes it seem like there would be no need for any outside funds. If there is tax support then there should be no problem. The tax support is vital to the operation of the hospital but this support does not cover such vital needs as:

Indigent care. Our hospital is called upon to care for those who cannot afford the care. I, for one, want the hospital to be available to everyone. It can with our help.

The tax support does not cover the deficiencies between what medicare pays and the actual cost of care. Since I am approaching medicare that has great interest to me.

The tax support cannot cover the cost of new technologies. We are in a world of fast track technological development. If a hospital cannot keep up it will be outdated almost overnight.

If we are to have the best care we must find the resources to keep on the cutting edge of technology.

For all of these reasons, I gave up my vow and started listening to the reading of the minutes. I even made a motion that they be accepted. I also plan to make a contribution to the hospital foundation as a memorial to my parents. I think this is a contribution to my community that will serve every day of my life and live far beyond my years.

Charitable giving technique explained

By Donna West CPA

Charitable organizations continue to operate in our complex environment, meeting the needs of those they serve. As with all charities, the need for funds never decreases. With the increase in taxes under the 1993 Revenue Reconciliation Act, individuals will hopefully continue to give to their favorite charities and reduce their tax bite at the same time.

A creative charitable giving technique exists that many individuals may not be aware of, called a charitable remainder annuity trust. It is authorized under Section 664(d) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, and requires two parties to be involved - a charity and one or more individuals. An individual makes a contribution to the charitable remainder trust, which is set up to benefit his favorite charity. The charity in turn makes an agreement to pay to the individual a certain sum of money, not to be less than 5%, at least annually, for a term of not more than twenty years, or for the rest of the individual's life. At the end of the designated time period, or on the donor's death, the original principal contributed to the trust reverts irrevocable to the charity. The individual has had the benefit of making a large deductible gift to his favorite charity, and has been able to maintain a certain income stream for his life or a designated term. The ideal situation for this type of charitable giving is when an individual has a highly appreciated asset, which may not be earning much money, but which he does not want to sell because of the potential income tax liability. By gifting it to the charity, the charity may be able to sell it and pay no taxes, and the charity will then pay to the individual the income he would have begun earning had he sold the appreciated asset and then reinvested the proceeds.

Let's examine a real life situation for John and Jane Dough, age 55. They have 10,000 shares of stock, now worth $30 per share, which they originally bought for $2. If Mr. and Mrs. Dough sell the stock, pay the tax, and contribute the maximum to their favorite charity, which happens to be Deaf Smith Health Care Foundation, the following occurs:

Sale of stock	$300,000
Less basis	(20,000)
Taxable gain	280,000
Assumed maximum gift to charity	(140,000)
Net taxable gain	140,000
Income tax (at maximum rate)	(55,440)
Net cash	$84,560

If they re-invest this cash at 6% (municipal bonds) and make no further gifts, they can expect to earn $5,075 per year. However, if John and Jane Dough give the stock to DSHC Foundation through a charitable remainder annuity trust, watch what happens:

Gifts to charity at fair market value	$300,000
Less present value of 6% annuity (factored from IRS table)	(104,127)
Total amount deductible to individual	195,873
Tax saving (maximum rate)	$77,566

The charitable remainder annuity trust will in turn make an annual payout of 6%, or $18,000 annually, for John and Jane Dough's life, according to the agreement made when they set up the charitable remainder annuity trust. These proceeds will probably be taxable, (depending on the earnings of the Trust), but John and Jane Dough have locked in the appreciation on their stock forever by donating it to DSHC Foundation, taking the tax deduction, but they haven't given up the investment earnings or reduced their standard of living.

The charitable annuity trust is one of three types of trusts created under I.R.C. Section 664. The other two types of trusts are more complex and beyond the discussion of this article; however, be aware that other methods of charitable giving exist that can provide the maximum in charitable giving satisfaction and tax savings at the same time.

This article is not meant to cover all aspects and limitations of charitable gifting. However, this article should introduce readers to the fact that there are many ways to creatively benefit their favorite charity. For additional advice, contact your Certified Public Accountant or tax attorney.

Pre-Olympic activity sets tone for CBS, TNT coverage

BY SARA BENNETT

Olympic long track speedskater Bonnie Blair, a world-record setter who's won three gold medals and one silver in previous Olympic Games, will make her fourth appearance on the 1994 U.S. team. She has a chance to become the all-time U.S. female Olympic gold-medal winner.

Athletes and broadcasters clearly have separate roles in the Olympic Winter Games. One group performs, while the other reports on the performers. Simple enough.

And if they choose to spend time together during pre-Olympic training, that's fine too.

Paula Zahn, co-host of the network's weekday morning coverage of the 1994 Games in Lillehammer, Norway, beginning Saturday, Feb. 12, and ending Sunday, Feb. 27, did more than just interview athletes in preparation for the Games.

"I was lucky enough to spend some time with both Bonnie Blair and Dan Jansen (U.S. speedskaters) at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs," Zahn says. "I used to call myself a runner, or at least I did until I had the opportunity to do some dry-land training with the two of them, which was done in the summer at altitude!"

Zahn got to try her hand at another event during coverage of the 1992 Winter Games in Albertville, France.

"I spent time with Alberto Tomba," she says using authentic Italian pronunciation. "I actually got to ski behind him."

CBS plans to air about 120 hours of live and taped event coverage during the 16-day Games. TNT will broadcast 45 hours of live, daytime events, such as figure skating and ice hockey. The CBS staff has completed the bulk of its feature stories and television "moments."

"I have done a lot of the preparations for the sports for about the last seven or eight months," says Greg Gumbel, host of prime-time broadcasts. "I think there's an 'Olympic Moment' that appears every night on CBS. People are going to be tired of me by the time the Olympics come around."

Gumbel also got a chance to see an American Olympian in training.

"I went up to Toronto to watch Brian Boitano learn his program," he says, "and I had never stood rink-side before and watched a figure skater work out. Like everything else in sports, I think it's real easy to take for granted what they do. I have come to appreciate figure skating."

Gumbel, also a hockey fan (who has never been on figure or hockey skates), was impressed with the team's performance in the John Hancock USA Hockey Tour, which preceded the Olympics.

"I think they're probably performing better than people thought they would," he says. "They are going to make things interesting."

That team, without an off-ice controversy to speak of, appears boring in comparison to the U.S. representatives in the ladies figure skating event.

The much-chronicled assault against Nancy Kerrigan holds continued interest for ice skating fans and viewers in general, who wonder if she will be able to mentally overcome her injury.

It's as if Gumbel was prophetic when he made this statement prior to the attack:

"Nancy Kerrigan would appear to be in good shape for the United States, but that's easy to say prior to the Games and prior to the pressures that accompany an athlete onto the ice or onto the slopes or wherever they're competing."

Whether or not Kerrigan is up to speed, she and her teammates in every sport will surprise, enrapture and entertain viewers throughout the Games, and isn't that what the Olympics are for?

MOVIES ON TV

Theatrical releases on the tube along with 'Breathing Lessons' and a new 'Cisco Kid'

BY TED KUSIO

It's a week to save movie ticket and video rental money as a whole new batch of theatrical films comes to the small screen, along with some completely new ones. However, cable fees may be required.

A new "Hallmark Hall of Fame" drama airs Sunday, Feb. 6, on CBS. Joanne Woodward and James Garner star as a married couple who rediscover their love for each other in "Breathing Lessons." NBC offers Harrison Ford as a lawyer who changes his ways after a gunshot wound gives him amnesia in "Regarding Henry." TNT premieres Jimmy Smits as "The Cisco Kid," with Cheech Marin as his sidekick Pancho. Showtime fires off "National Lampoon's Loaded Weapon 1."

CBS fires "Lethal Weapon 2" with Mel Gibson and Danny Glover Monday, Feb. 7, while NBC offers something completely different as it serves up a drama starring Kathy Bates and Jessica Tandy as two Alabama women who develop a strong friendship in "Fried Green Tomatoes."

Find out if it's safe when Cinemax offers Dustin Hoffman in the suspenseful "Marathon Man" on Tuesday, Feb. 8, featuring Nazis, diamonds and unanesthetized dentistry.

Kenny Rogers joins the ranks of TV sleuths in "MacShayne: Winner Takes All," Friday, Feb. 11, on NBC. He has to work off gambling debts with a Las Vegas casino. Lara Flynn Boyle plays a secretary who would do anything, maybe even kill, to impress her boss in "The Temp" on Cinemax. Burt Lancaster and Susan Sarandon star in "Atlantic City" on Lifetime.

HBO premieres "State of Emergency" on Saturday, Feb. 12, featuring Joe Mantegna as an emergency room doctor who struggles to save his patients' lives despite the callous greed of hospital administrators. Lifetime features William Hurt, Kathleen Turner and Geena Davis in the drama "The Accidental Tourist." Hurt plays a writer who discovers new love with an odd woman who trains dogs.

Feb. 6 - Feb. 12 HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 20)
There is nothing wrong with following your dreams, as long as you do not ignore life as it is happening. You should take your time making decisions.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)
You will have to be creative in dealing with a loved one's emotions. You will need to work off some steam in a positive and healthy way.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
It would probably be a good idea for you to examine why you have been so demanding. Keep your temper in check, or face the consequences.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
Work may seem a drudgery but things will begin to improve soon. You need another outlet for the time being, but do not over-extend yourself.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
Be more cautious with financial matters. Do not be so self-involved that you do not notice when something wonderful happens.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
A recent setback will set you on the road to depression if you are not careful. Everyone makes mistakes, but you have to forgive yourself and move on.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Exercise is what you need to clear your head. You had better make amends for your recent actions. Try to see things more objectively.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
It may seem like life is out of sync. Things will begin to slow down, and you will have more time to adjust to a new situation.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
Don't wear yourself out trying to be all things to all people. Get out and do something you enjoy for a change, and do it alone.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
Get out of this dull funk and have some fun. Brighten your living and work environments with a potted plant or some artwork.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
If you really care about someone, you had better let that person know before it is too late. A sudden change in plans could prove interesting.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You need to stop second-guessing those around you and get down to the business at hand. Remember that money isn't everything.

LET'S TALK

Cheryl Ladd's song and dance; reader alertly catches Captain Nemo snafu

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Cheryl Ladd

Q: I really enjoyed "Broken Promises: Taking Emily Back." It was nice to see Cheryl Ladd back on television. I was a big fan of "Charlie's Angels." What else has she appeared in? Is she married? Does she have any children of her own? -S.K., Portland, N.Y.

A: Ladd was born in Huron, S.D. After years of acting classes, TV commercials and guest-starring roles in episodic television, she joined the hit series "Charlie's Angels" in 1977 and her name became a household word. This success led to a variety of television appearances in which she could showcase her singing and dancing talents. She headlined three of her own variety TV specials and released two albums.

Ladd's television work has included three miniseries: "Crossings," "Bluegrass" and "A Death in California." Her credits also include a Showtime special and an impressive list of TV movies, among them "The Girl Who Came Between Them," "When She Was Bad...," "Changes," "Grace Kelly," "Deadly Care" and "Jekyll & Hyde."

Her feature films include "Purple Hearts," "Now and Forever," "Millennium" and "Lisa."

In her personal life, Ladd has served since 1979 as Goodwill Ambassador for Childhelp USA; has been the spokeswoman for Retinitis Pigmentosa International and was the first person to receive the prestigious Hubert H. Humphrey Humanitarian Award presented by the Washington, D.C., Touchdown Club. She is married to Brian Russell and has a daughter and a stepdaughter.

Q: In a recent column, you answered a question regarding a movie about Captain Nemo. The reader described a shipwrecked crew forced to battle giant animals and Nemo going into the ocean with an oversized shell on his back. You incorrectly identified this movie as the Disney fantasy-adventure "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

The correct answer is "Mysterious Island," a 1961 film starring Michael Craig, Gary Merrill and Herbert Lom as Nemo. The person who wrote in the original question was in error when she stated James Mason played Nemo. He did star in the aforementioned Disney film. -Bonnie Calhoun, DeRidder, La.

A: Good catch, Ms. Calhoun. You are indeed the "avid 1960s movie buff" you claim to be. It must have been the Mason reference that threw me originally. Thanks for your help.

Q: I am a big fan of Dan Marino, the quarterback of the Miami Dolphins. Could you give me an address where I could write to him? -S.R., Lenoir, N.C.

A: You can write to Marino and the rest of the team C/O Miami Dolphins, Joe Robbie Stadium, 2269 Northwest 199th St., Miami, Fla. 33156.

Addresses for all major professional sports teams can be found in the sports section of the World Almanac.

Q: I have two things to ask you. First, what has Bill Cosby been doing since "The Cosby Show" left the air? Also, I was wondering who plays Cloud Dancing on "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" and where can I write to him? -Y. Payne, Columbus, Miss.

A: Cosby has been involved with at least two made-for-TV movies recently. "I Spy Returns" for CBS and a mystery movie for NBC.

You can write to Larry Sellers, who plays Cloud Dancing on "Dr. Quinn," or any of the program's other cast members C/O the show, 4024 Radford Ave., Building 1, Room 115, Studio City, Calif. 91604.

Send questions to Let's Talk, Features Dept. TV Data Technologies, Northway Plaza, Queensbury, N.Y. 12804. Because of the volume of mail received, personal replies cannot be sent.

Jordan launches 'Power Plays'; CBS expecting titanic Olympics audience

"I met quite a few so-called stars in Hollywood making 'Naked Hollywood,'" says British producer Nicolas Kent, "and I have to say that none of them has the personal charisma that Michael Jordan has, face to face."

Jordan, his success and its effect on young NBA hopefuls is the focus of Part 1 of Kent's "Power Plays," a six-hour series airing over three nights beginning Monday, Feb. 7, on PBS. The episode was taped last year, when Jordan was at the peak of his athletic career. Like so much of sport, the moment was fleeting.

"Even though I'm sure he didn't know then that he was going to retire," Kent says, "it was almost as if he had a sense that things would go wrong. He said at one point in the interview (that) the media built him up to a point where he (couldn't) possibly live up to those expectations. ... That was an extraordinary moment."

"Power Plays" goes on to deliver many extraordinary moments, providing a fascinating view of the money, power and egos that drive professional sports. In Part 5, Kent scores a candid interview with former Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry in which he gives his account of his firing by owner Jerry Jones. The episode focuses on the phenomenon of Texas football, and the near-religious role it plays in the lives of fans and players. Other segments focus on promoters, agents, team owners and league bosses, with views of prejudice, greed, youthful idealism, blood thirst, mob power brokering and inner-city strife.

With CBS and ABC running neck-and-neck in the ratings race in January, CBS president Howard Stringer predicted his network would win the season decisively: "The Winter Olympics is gonna be the QE2 coming up the Hudson," Stringer quipped.

There are Trekkies and Leapers, but what do you call a fan of Fox's "The X-Files"? "I call them File-ophiles," says creator Chris Carter, who adds he has no interest in remaking "Moonlighting" with his lead actors, David Duchovny and Gillian Anderson, saying, "I don't want the relationship to come before the cases."

HOME BIJOU

'Life With Mikey' no milestone for Fox but movie entertaining nonetheless

BY STEVEN ALAN MCGAW

Somehow, things just can't seem to come together for Michael J. Fox on the big screen ... aside from the "Back to the Future" trilogy, that is. He's certainly talented, with keen comic timing, a pleasing physical presence and, when he's allowed to show it, a solid feel for more serious works as well. But since his move from TV's "Family Ties," his comedies never really seem to click and his dramas, while effective, fail to attract much attention at the box office.

Last year's "Life With Mikey" was another disappointment in terms of ticket sales, but the movie's not bad at all. It's full of opportunities for Fox to display his comic gifts and it's blessed with a solid supporting cast.

The title comes from the inane situation comedy series in which Fox's character starred as a child. Each episode (the movie features several well-executed "clips") seems to conclude with a closeup of Mikey's mischievous face, the smug mug of a child who knows he can get away with murder.

Unfortunately, puberty signaled the end of the series, and, aside from a few "Love Boat" turns, the twilight of Mikey's career. At age 28, he's still an irresponsible kid, leaving it to his harried older brother (Nathan Lane) to really run the children's talent agency they co-own.

When Mikey has a run-in with a fast-talking 12-year-old pickpocket (played to perfection by Christina Vidal), he thinks he's found a second meal-ticket at last. But the previously lackadaisical agent has his work cut out for him when he must get past the tough little girl's streetwise cynicism in order to exploit her commercial potential.

What happens, of course, is that in trying to nurture the child, Mikey discovers the adult in himself. Predictable, certainly, but Fox and Vidal carry it off with real warmth.

Tony winner Lane is a wisecracking dream as Mikey's brother and Cyndi Lauper has some fine moments as their sweet, dim-witted secretary.

Joanne Woodward and James Garner star as a couple who re-examine their marriage in "Breathing Lessons," a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" presentation airing Sunday on CBS.

Art imitates life for Garner in CBS' 'Breathing Lessons'

BY JEFF PLASS

"Life goes on," says actor James Garner, "nobody's perfect and love endures."

This is how Garner explains the theme of his latest project, "Breathing Lessons," a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" presentation, based on Anne Tyler's 1989 Pulitzer Prize-winning novel, which airs on CBS, Sunday, Feb. 6.

Garner and Joanne Woodward portray Ira and Maggie Moran, a happily married couple who set out to attend a funeral. Along the way Ira, a wry realist, and Maggie, an idealistic dreamer, get a chance to examine their lives together. By the time they return home, they have had the opportunity to renew their love and realize there's room enough in their marriage for both realists and dreamers.

Garner says the role came easily. "I'm married, you see," Garner explains. "I've been married for 37 years to, shall we say, an eccentric woman. So I understand Ira and Maggie."

"I'm a sports nut," Garner adds. "My wife couldn't care less about sports; she's into arts and literature and all that. But we get along great."

Garner read Tyler's novel after he had read the movie's script. That's contrary to his usual practice, because in reading the original work, he often finds innumerable items that should have been incorporated into the script. In this case, Garner was so satisfied with the script, as it was, he "had no trepidation reading this one."

"It's very hard to make a movie out of a book and follow the book," Garner states. "It's very difficult to do that and satisfy the author and the scriptwriter. I don't want to see 'The Firm.' I read the book, I liked the book, and I don't want to be disappointed by the movie. I don't know whether I would be or not, but I'd just rather not see it."

Garner draws more comparisons between fiction and reality.

"I think it's kind of a constant thing between the two (characters)," he says. "She doesn't think he appreciates her. He thinks she doesn't respect his opinions, and they both love each other dearly. That's pretty much the case with my wife and I."

Whitney Houston receives the Award of Merit when ABC airs the 21st annual "American Music Awards" from Hollywood's Shrine Civic Auditorium on Monday, Feb. 7. The Award of Merit is presented annually to a member of the music community in recognition of outstanding contributions to the musical entertainment of the American public.

Houston also leads the list of nominees for various other awards with eight nominations. Janet Jackson has five nominations and SWV received four.

Joe Mantegna plays an emergency-room doctor who struggles to save lives while bureaucrats try to save money in HBO's "State of Emergency," premiering on Saturday, Feb. 12. Lynn Whitfield and Melinda Dillon also star.

Dr. John Novelli (Mantegna) fights to save his patients despite the politically motivated, yet cold decisions made by hospital administrators. When one patient with possible head trauma is admitted despite an inoperative CAT scanner, Novelli must make a tough decision.

TRIVIA

Greg Kinnear, host of "Talk Soup" and (soon) NBC's "Later," attended high school in Greece. His dad worked for the State Department.

TRIVIA

Roy Scheider ("All That Jazz," "SeaQuest DSV") made his inauspicious film debut in 1964's "Curse of the Living Corpse."

SOAP WORLD

Jensen Buchanan makes role her own

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: I read your column about "Another World," and I have to say it is by far my favorite show. It drives me nuts if I have to miss it. The absolute best character on the show is Victoria Hudson (Jensen Buchanan). Could you please tell me what you know about her and where I can write to her. -Barbara Lyani in Ohio.

Dear Reader: When she first signed with "AW," many people doubted this young actress could take on the hefty roles of twin sisters Vicky and Marley. Buchanan proved those doubters wrong and has become one of the hottest female stars in daytime television. Buchanan said it was singing that lead her to acting. She has studied music with such greats as Seiji Ozawa, Aaron Copland and Leonard Bernstein. She studied opera at Boston University's School of Fine Arts, and theater was a part of her curriculum. When Buchanan decided to move to New York she was quickly signed up as a member of the ABC Talent and Development Program.

The actress portrayed the popular and saccharin sweet Sarah Gordon on ABC's "One Life to Live." After several years, Buchanan decided it was time to move on and she eventually landed in the roles vacated by Anne Heche on "AW."

Buchanan, who joined "AW" in 1991, was born in Montgomery, Ala., and raised in Neeshah, Wis. Her mother, Mary Poad, writes about animal issues for a local paper and her stepfather is a veterinarian. Her younger half-sister, Amy, attends the University of Wisconsin.

Buchanan is married and lives in Brooklyn, N.Y., with her husband, Gary, whom she became reacquainted with at a high-school reunion.

Tennis is one of Buchanan's favorite sports to play and she enjoys a very active lifestyle. She also loves to discover new restaurants.

You can write to Buchanan C/O Another World, NBC-TV, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10112.

Send your comments to Candace Havens, Soap World, Features Dept., TV Data Technologies, Northway Plaza, Queensbury, N.Y. 12804.
