Wilson, Vasek winners in hog competition at show

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor
 It took about six hours and eight breed contests, but when the dust had settled, it was Stephanie Wilson who walked away with top honors in Thursday's Hereford Young Farmers Hog Show.
 Wilson, a member of Hereford FFA, claimed five-county and county Grand Champion honors with her Hampshire hog. She showed in both the lightweight and heavyweight Hampshire divisions, claiming first place honors in both divisions.
 Camille Vasek -- who showed champion entries in both the Yorkshire and Cross divisions -- fought off a case of the flu to capture five-county and county Reserve Grand Champion honors with her Cross entry.

 She is a member of Deaf Smith 4-H.
 For judge Jerry Maclemore, the proceedings began just after 4 p.m. It ended six hours and 258 hogs later with the selection of the champions and the senior and junior showmanship winners.
 Cody Marsh of Hereford FFA captured first place in the junior showmanship contest, while second place went to Ryan Mercer of Randall 4-H.
 In the senior showmanship competition, Miss Wilson placed first, with Colby Christie in second place.
 Before announcing the Grand Champion winner, Maclemore expressed appreciation to the Hereford Young Farmers for their work in putting together the show and to the men who worked the ring, assisting the exhibitors with their animals.

 He also praised the exhibitors for their hard work, dedication and neat appearance.
 Maclemore said he looks for a hog to be as lean and heavy-boned as possible, adding that the middle ground between the feed buyers and packers must be reached with a hog.
 The following are the placings for the hog show. Where two numbers are listed for a competitor, the first is the five-county ranking and the second is the placement among Deaf Smith County exhibitors.

Hereford's Foster joins LA earthquake rescue efforts

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer
 Since last Saturday, Mike Foster of Hereford has experienced the fulfillment of a special dream -- to be a part of a disaster team of the Federal Emergency Management Agency.
 Foster has been in California since Saturday, working only miles from the epicenter of the killer earthquake that shook Southern California in the early hours of Jan. 17.
 In a telephone interview with The Brand Thursday, Foster described some of the conditions being faced by residents of the Canoga Park area of California.
 "People are afraid their homes will fall down, because of the after shocks," he explained. "The ground really jerks around."
 He is a paramedic member of a Disaster Medical Assistance Team, based in Albuquerque, N.M., and deployed by FEMA last week.
 The team took supplies and equipment to California, including water purification equipment, he said. In the group are five doctors, about a dozen nurses and a dozen paramedics, he continued.

 "We have everything we need, including water purification equipment," said the Hereford paramedic.
 Although barracks-style housing is provided for Foster and his co-workers, their work stations are in tents that were put up in a parking area adjacent to a quake-damaged medical building in Canoga Park.
 Foster said that from the time the team set up shop last Saturday until Thursday morning, 477 men, women and children had been treated.
 Injury has given way to illness in most of the individuals the team is seeing, said the Hereford businessman.
 "We first saw injuries but now we're seeing people with sore throats and flu, and other diseases," he continued.
 Foster has been a member of the New Mexico team for about a year.

Another man from Hereford, Jeff McBrayer, also is working with the group.

 Which reminds us of President Clinton's State of the Union message Tuesday night.
 "If you think health insurance coverage is too costly now, wait until the government provides 'free' health protection for everyone," Congressman Larry Combest told a group of West Texas editors this week.
 Combest held a conference telephone call with five editors and publishers Wednesday to get reaction on the president's address. I participated in the conference with Jim Hudson of Perryton, Lynn Brisendine of Brownfield, Don Ingram of Andrews, and Gene Snyder of Denver City.

 All of the newsmen agreed that Clinton delivered a slick address, pushing all the right buttons, and speaking on issues that are of concern to all citizens. However, they also agreed that much of the message was cloaked in generalities and most of us will take a "wait-and-see attitude."
 Combest said Clinton "basically talked like a Republican Tuesday night--welfare reform, crime and family values are our issues. We've had bills on the Hill and the Democrats have bottled them up."
 On healthcare reform, Combest said the administration "paints us who disagree as not caring about health care problems, but we believe they can be dealt with and not throw out the entire system. We have some different solutions--like creating tax incentives and establishing medical IRAs."

Chamber directors installed

New directors and officers were installed and plans for the new year were discussed when the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board held a retreat Thursday morning at Hereford Country Club.
 Wes Fisher is the 1994 president, succeeding Lewis McDaniel. Other new officers are Wes Klett, vice president, and John Sherrod, treasurer. New directors installed were Mark Andrews, Mike Foster, Raul Mariscal and Tommie Weemes.
 The half-day retreat opened with Mike Carr, executive vice president, outlining the functions of board members and explaining board policies. Community issues and special projects were also discussed, and Carr gave an update on industrial development work.
 Directors reviewed the program of work for the new year, discussed budget guidelines, and outlined the liaison duties of directors with committee chairmen. Peggie Fox, new president of the Women's Division, also reported on goals that group has established.
 The board ended the retreat with a lunch at the club.

Canoga Park is located at the southwest corner of the epicenter of the quake that shook the Los Angeles area.

"It's kind of a low economic area," Foster explained. And, the fear that the "big one" is coming shows with every after shock.

"I was with a patient when we had an after shock and she began screaming and crying," he said. "She threw her arms around my neck and held on."

The medical team, in part, was flown to California by the federal government. But, there was so much gear that Foster drove one of two rental trucks loaded with equipment from Albuquerque to Santa Monica.

He and his colleagues have been working 12 to 18 hours a day since they arrived on the scene. Relief is due this weekend, Foster reported, and he expects to be back in Hereford

TEXAS LOTTERY

By The Associated Press

One Lotto Texas ticket correctly matched all six numbers drawn for the latest game, state lottery officials said Thursday.

The ticket, purchased Wednesday night, is worth an estimated $8 million, said a state lottery spokesman. But it was uncertain where the ticket was bought for the contest that plays twice weekly.

The numbers drawn Wednesday night from a field of 50 were: 13, 17, 19, 22, 39, 44.

In addition to the jackpot winner, 125 tickets were sold with five of the six numbers, with each ticket worth $1,607. There were 7,627 tickets with four of six numbers, with each winning $94.

Also, 142,042 tickets were sold with three of six numbers, with each worth an automatic $3.

Lottery officials estimate the jackpot for Saturday night's game will be $3 million if sales continue as expected.

School construction may be halted

AUSTIN (AP) — No school district could issue bonds for construction after Sept. 1, 1995, unless lawmakers devise a way to ensure fair funding for those facilities under a state judge's order.

"There will be no new capital expenditures for anyone until there is an equitable system for everyone," District Judge F. Scott McCown said in a ruling released Thursday that revised his December decision in the school finance case.

His earlier decision would have basically prevented only high-wealth and high-tax school districts from selling bonds for facilities after the 1995 date, unless lawmakers approved reforms.

Property-poor districts challenging the public education funding law had urged McCown both to set an earlier deadline to prevent the finance gap from widening and to broaden the impact of the bond cutoff to increase pressure on lawmakers.

McCown rejected the request to move up the 1995 deadline.

"Probably that (making the cutoff apply to all school bonds) is more powerful than just moving up the date," said lawyer Al Kauffman of the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund, representing poor districts. "It does get the attention of everyone in the state and therefore gets the attention of everyone in the Legislature."

Lawyer Buck Wood, also representing poor school districts, said, "We wanted everybody to have to share the pain so everybody would be inclined to come up to the Legislature and get something done."

A much earlier deadline likely would have required a special legislative session, since lawmakers don't meet again in regular session until January 1995.

McCown said the problem is best addressed in a regular session.

"The Legislature needs time to study the various solutions. The next regular session is only twelve months away, and a special session any earlier is just too little time," he said in his revised order.

"Moreover, equity costs," McCown wrote. "Funding decisions are best made in a regular session when all expenditure and revenue questions are on the table."

Assistant Attorney General Toni Hunter, who defended the law, said she was pleased McCown didn't move up his facilities plan deadline but didn't think it was necessary for him to expand the potential school bond cutoff.

The judge said he also made technical changes in his December opinion, which upheld the school finance law despite ordering action on facilities.

Now that McCown's judgment has been made final, parties involved in the lawsuit may file appeals with the Texas Supreme Court. Such appeals are expected.

Property-rich and poor school districts challenged the latest funding law, which required the state's 98 school districts with more than $280,000 in property wealth per student to share with poorer ones. There are 1,048 school districts in the state.

The law is meant to hold down disparities in property values, which previously have ranged from more than $4 million to less than $10,000 per student. Schools rely on state aid and local property taxes.

In upholding the law, McCown ruled that the statute did not complete needed reforms of the approximately $15.5 billion-a-year school system.

The judge said lawmakers must come up with an equitable way to pay for school facilities. In the past, he noted, such expenditures have been made "almost solely from local tax dollars and almost solely by borrowing."

Three previous school funding laws have been found unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, beginning in 1989 when it ordered lawmakers to even out funding available to school districts of differing property wealth.

how many Americans are without health insurance, Clinton doesn't say "that we are paying for that care through local hospital district taxes."

"The insurance companies and doctors are not going to kill Clinton's healthcare reform. Those who are going to make it right are the 75 percent of working people who are affected as consumers and patients. They have a fear of losing what they have today and a fear of the bureaucracy that could be created," said Combest.

In this election year, Combest said

Although the DMAT members are paid by the government for their work, Foster admitted that it hardly covers the amount they lose by being away from their businesses or professions.

That part is outweighed, though, Foster explained, by the experience. "First, I'm very lucky that I have good people working for me and taking care of the business while I'm gone," he declared.

"And, when I see St. Peter, I can tell him how many people I've helped... made some lives a little easier."

A young man who thrives on adventure, whether scaling mountains in Colorado or working in archaeological digs in Israel, Foster has a new story to tell, with an unusual addendum: "We were eating dinner in a restaurant one night and two guys held up the place. We had a radio with us and called for the police."

"By the time we finished, they had arrested the two robbers."

"Most of us are pretty tired," he admitted. However, he said the team members work well together to do their job.

"We have a psychologist with us for 'critical incident stress debriefing' for the team and for others, if needed," he continued.

Authorities in the Canoga Park area have been high in their praise of the New Mexico-based team. In the Los Angeles Times of Jan. 23, officials said the emergency clinic fills a need.

"It's great," the newspaper quotes a Los Angeles fire captain. He noted that some people needing treatment received attention at the clinic instead of going to a hospital, thereby helping to relieve the crowded hospital situation.

The fear in the disaster area is that communicable diseases will spread. An epidemic of chicken pox, the newspaper reported, is one of the biggest fears.

SAN JOSE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Next Wednesday, Feb. 2, is the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord. It is a tradition in Catholic faith to bless candles on this day. Feb. 3 is the Feast of St. Blas and it is also a tradition to bless throats on this day and ask the intercession of St. Blas to protect us from all ailments of the throat. Parishioners may have candles and throats blessed at morning prayer next Wednesday at 8 a.m. Candles can be purchased at the Religious Articles counter.

Remember that Ash Wednesday will be Feb. 16 and Easter Sunday will be celebrated April 5. There are many adults in the parish who want to receive the sacrament of Confirmation and Eucharist. Also, there are families with children older than seven who need to receive all three Sacraments of Initiation. Please notify the parish office, Maria Garcia or Deacon Emilio Fuentes if you are an adult who needs a sacrament or if your children are not baptized. Deacon Emilio will begin an R.C.A.A. style formation process. It will be next week and will be held twice a month.

Our present system of sending out envelopes to parishioners needs to be changed. We will order 200 sets and this will save the parish $1,000, per year, plus a lot of postage costs. The new boxed sets will have different color envelopes and the parish name but no personal names. If you want a box of envelopes ordered for you, please sign the list in the back of the church or call the parish office by Monday, Jan. 31.

Tickets for the Third Annual Valentine's Day Dinner and Dance can be purchased this Sunday after the liturgies. This event will be a wonderful celebration: a fine steak dinner; your favorite English and Spanish music; and contests to honor the couple married the most years, the most recently wed, the best dancing couple, etc. Don't miss this last celebration before the season of Lent begins. Call Imelda De La Cerda at 364-3310 for more information.

His last pastorate was in Lewiston, Idaho where he served at Zion's Gate Christian Fellowship for over 14 years. Before that the couple lived and pastored in several towns in Oklahoma and Texas for the past 35 years.

Otto and Pat met as students at Midwest Christian College in Oklahoma City where he earned BA and BTh degrees. He went on to earn a master of teaching degree in language arts at Southwestern State University.

They have been married for 36 years and have a daughter, Bonnie, who with her husband, Jim, and five-year-old son, Jamy, live in Signal Mountain, Tenn. Their son, Paul, and his wife, Sara, live in Lewiston, Idaho and are expecting a child in June.

In the past few years, the Schaufeles have had the opportunity to go on several short-term mission trips to India, Hong Kong, China, Singapore, East and West Malaysia and Romania. In addition to church-related activities, Pat also enjoys arts and crafts, especially painting watercolor landscapes.

Another desire that the Lord has put in Otto's heart is to see pastors and church leaders come together in the unity of the Spirit of Christ and begin to support one another's ministries through prayer and fellowship.

Hereford's and Caprock's B teams battled to a 10-10 tie at the end of regulation. A 15-foot jump shot by Hereford's Jamie Harrison with just more than a minute left in the extra period was the winning basket. Christy Haney, who led Hereford with five points, added two free

The tournament will resume Saturday in Whiteface Gym, on this schedule: Hereford vs. Tascosa at 9 a.m.; Caprock vs. Amarillo High at 10:30; Caprock vs. Tascosa at 2 p.m.; and Hereford vs. Amarillo High at 3:30.

Cowboys, Bills say they've forgotten last year

By BARRY WILNER
AP Football Writer
ATLANTA (AP) - Forget 52-17. Dallas says it has, so has Buffalo. But no matter how strongly both teams in this year's Super Bowl claim last year's score is irrelevant, how can it be?

The Bills turned over the ball nine times. The Cowboys scored on runs, passes, fumbles, field goals. They got two touchdowns in 15 seconds in the first quarter, and two more in 18 seconds in the next period. And yet another two in 41 seconds in the fourth.

Doesn't that matter for Sunday's game? Doesn't it matter that Buffalo has lost three straight Super Bowls? Not if you listen to players and coaches.

"My approach to them, particularly this year," Bills coach Marv Levy said, "is you're hearing a lot about the fact you lost games. I don't think of you in those terms and you shouldn't. I think of you as being one of the toughest-minded bunch of individuals I've ever seen. You've got great resiliency. Be proud of it, call on it, rely on it, be dogged."

And don't be dogged by 52-17. "I think they came in to play last year ready," said Cowboys running back Emmitt Smith, the NFL's most valuable player. "This year, they'll probably execute a whole lot better than they did last year."

They have no choice, or else the viewing world will be switching channels at halftime and not coming back. If the Bills fall behind 28-10 this time, who is going to expect a miracle comeback?

Buffalo actually led 7-0 in last year's game, at the Rose Bowl. Thurman Thomas' 2-yard run capped a short drive following a blocked punt.

"Being behind is never a big deal for us, especially in the first quarter," tight end Jay Novacek said.

Novacek made sure they weren't behind for long. James Washington's interception gave Dallas the ball at the Bills' 47 and, six plays later, Novacek broke free over the middle for a 23-yard TD reception.

On the next play, Jim Kelly fumbled on a sack by Charles Haley, Jimmie Jones recovered and fell into the end zone. That was the first of the Cowboys' three quick 14-point strikes.

Buffalo again scored first in the second quarter on Steve Christie's 21-yard field goal. Dallas got the next 17 points as Michael Irvin caught two TD passes and Lin Elliott made a 20-yard field goal. Irvin's scores were 18 seconds apart, the second set up by Thurman Thomas's fumble.

"It was a dream come true to score one touchdown in a Super Bowl," Irvin said. "To get two - and I knew I was going to score on both of them when Troy called the play - is something you don't dare to dream."

The nightmare continued after Buffalo got within 31-17 on Don Beebe's 40-yard TD reception from Frank Reich, who replaced the injured Kelly in the second period. Troy Aikman hit Alvin Harper for a 45-yard TD, Smith scored on a 10-yard run and Ken Norton on a 9-yard fumble return.

This one was humiliating. No wonder they want everyone to forget it.

"It seems everyone wants to look back at last year's Super Bowl," Cowboys Pro Bowl fullback Daryl Johnston said. "It's tough to get motivated and keep your focus when they always want to look back to last year. We can't look at it as a rematch of last year because last year will have no effect on this year. We have to look at it as just another chance to win another Super Bowl."

Just as the Bills claim they'll look at it as a chance to win their first Super Bowl, regardless of the past.

"This will be totally different," Bills safety Henry Jones said. "Throw out the past."

Detroit convinced Dallas to add DBs

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) - Three years ago, it was a slaughter in the Silverdome.

Erik Kramer had the Dallas Cowboys secondary running for the air raid shelters. He had four touchdowns passes, more than 400 yards passing and the Detroit Lions knocked the Cowboys out of the playoffs in a 38-6 rout that was one of the worst whippings in the club's history.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson was mad, then he got motivated.

speed in our secondary," Johnson said. "It was pretty apparent after the Detroit game that we needed better cover guys."

Two years ago, the Cowboys made Kevin Smith of Texas A&M their No. 1 draft pick. They took Woodson in the second round and speedy Clayton Holmes, who is expected to develop into a frontline cornerback, in the third round.

"I think we've done a good job upgrading our secondary," Johnson said. "It went from one of our weaknesses to one of our strengths."

area where we've improved the most on defense."

Dave Campos, the secondary coach, said: "We've been able to add more packages to our coverage this year because of the confidence our backs have gained."

"There are a lot more young guys playing as opposed to last year," Brown said. "We made it to the Super Bowl again so it shows the talent we have."

He said nobody is overwhelmed by the Super Bowl hoopla this year.

"We can handle ourselves better because we know what to expect," Brown said.

"I knew I had him when he did that," Smith said. "We try to let the receivers know we're back there. We don't back down that's for sure."

Brown said the Cowboys know how tough Buffalo's speed receivers can be.

"A lot of people have forgotten but their receivers really make big plays," Brown said. "That's the key to holding them down to short gains after they catch the ball. We've got to stop them from catching a pass then taking off. That's how they hurt you."

Smith said the Dallas secondary wasn't doing much talking this week.

"Last week Coach Johnson made a check with his prediction we'd beat the 49ers and we had to cash it," Smith said. "There's no such talk this week. We know what we have to get done. Buffalo can talk about it. We just want to put everything on the high beam and win another Super Bowl."

Had Beebe not caught Leon Lett from behind and knocked the ball loose as Lett headed into the end zone with another fumble return, the Cowboys would have set a Super Bowl record for points. Not that they needed it.

The Bills had more first downs, as many completions, nearly as many passing yards and half as many penalties. They also had nine turnovers, and another Super Bowl flop.

The Dallas defense allowed six fewer touchdowns this year and coordinator Butch Davis said the reason is the improved play of the secondary.

"Kevin and Larry have an extra year of maturity and you see how they play with confidence," Davis said. "Our secondary can play with more aggressiveness. I think it's the one about their safety.

"I'm not worried about that," Bills quarterback Jim Kelly said. "I'm here to have fun."

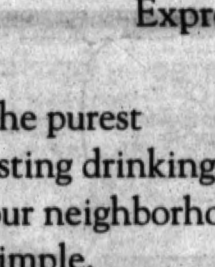

Actually, there is no indication that violence against athletes is on the increase, the attacks against Kerrigan and Seles not withstanding, said Phil Davis, a sociology professor at Georgia State University. He said other professions, such as flight attendants, are much more prone to attacks from outsiders.

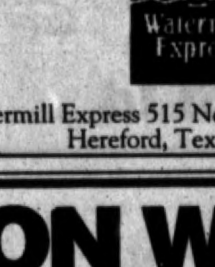

"Their vulnerability is exposed," Davis said of athletes. "but when there is violence it is usually fan on fan or player on player. ... Fan-to-player violence is the least common of all."

Security increased at Super Bowl

ATLANTA (AP) - The tremors from Monica Seles and Nancy Kerrigan are being felt at the Super Bowl.

Security officers observe every move. Players, coaches and other NFL officials are trailed around by bodyguards. Heck, sometimes the players themselves have trouble getting through the cordon that's been thrown around this year's Super Bowl.

Buffalo receiver Steve Tasker was stopped the other night while on his way to a team meeting at the team hotel.

"I started to go in and they stopped me," he said. "I was carrying my camera, which I guess is taboo. ... I can't blame them. I guess I don't look like a football player."

NFL officials are reluctant to talk about what security measures they have taken, but they concede that "we have stronger security measures than we've ever had before."

"The Kerrigan and Seles situations gave us the idea that our adversary may not be a trained hit man or individual specialist in this type of thing," said Charlie Jackson, the league's assistant director of security.

Seles, the nation's top-ranked female tennis player, was stabbed April 30 in Germany by a deranged fan of her biggest rival, Steffi Graf. Kerrigan, a bronze medalist in figure skating at the 1992 Olympics, was clubbed in the leg Jan. 6 during a practice at the national championships in Detroit. That attack has been linked to her top rival, Tonya Harding, whose husband and bodyguard are two of four people arrested in the attack.

"More than anything, it's made us more aware of the movement of the players," Jackson said.

The team hotels, located on the outskirts of north Atlanta about 10 miles from the main hub of activity at the Georgia Dome, are patrolled 24 hours a day by in-house security, local police and guards hired by the league. The downtown stadium also is guarded day and night.

The players don't seem to mind the heightened security and concerns reportedly told authorities that Harding helped plan and cover up the attack and that she berated him for not getting it done sooner.

Officials want to know what Harding knew

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Prosecutors subpoenaed videotape of Tonya Harding's recent TV appearances to find out what she knew and when she knew it. U.S. figure skating's governing body, meanwhile, opened an inquiry that could knock her out of the Olympics.

The U.S. Figure Skating Association acted on Thursday after Harding denied any prior knowledge of the Jan. 6 attack on Nancy Kerrigan but admitted that she did not come forward with "things that I learned" afterward.

The association named a five-member panel to look into whether Harding violated its standards of ethics or sportsmanship. The panel's recommendation will go to USA, which will forward the team roster to the U.S. Olympic Committee for the Winter Games next month in Lillehammer, Norway.

"The United States Olympic Committee is deeply concerned with statements made today by Tonya Harding relative to her stated knowledge of the attack on Nancy Kerrigan," USOC executive director Harvey W. Schiller said.

During a news conference Thursday, Harding said she had "no prior knowledge of the planned assault on Nancy Kerrigan."

"I am responsible, however, for failing to report things I learned about the assault when I returned home from nationals," she continued.

"I learned that some persons that were close to me may have been involved in the assault. My first reaction was one of disbelief, and the disbelief was followed by shock and fear. I have since reported this information to the authorities."

Prosecutors subpoenaed Portland's three major network TV stations this week, demanding they deliver videotapes of her recent interviews by 2 p.m. today.

Harding said her lawyers told her that her silence after the attack wasn't a crime.

University of Oregon law professor Wayne Westling said that's probably true regarding a charge of hindering prosecution, but may not be on a charge of conspiracy.

If the goal of the alleged conspiracy against Kerrigan was to help Harding win an Olympic medal and cash in on endorsements, then she might be considered an accomplice in not coming forward, he said.

"It's in the gray area of the law," Westling said. "You would never get an answer unless she was charged."

Harding's ex-husband, Jeff Gillooly, has been charged along with bodyguard Shawn Eckardt and two other men with conspiring to assault Kerrigan, who was clubbed in the knee in Detroit.

On Jan. 11, five days later, Harding told KOIN-TV she didn't believe Gillooly was involved. "I can't believe it," she said. "I mean, why does someone want to discredit me? I just don't understand."

The Oregonian newspaper reported today that Harding lied to authorities during a Jan. 18 interview but changed her story when interrogators told her they knew she was lying.

During her news conference Thursday, Harding said: "Despite my mistakes and my rough edges, I have nothing - I have done nothing to violate the standards of excellence, of sportsmanship that are expected in an Olympic athlete."

Near tears, her hands trembling, she pleaded to remain on the team.

"I have devoted my entire life to one objective: winning an Olympic Gold Medal for my country," she said. "This is my last chance."

As Harding spoke before a throng of TV cameras, Gillooly was closeted with investigators at FBI headquarters. His lawyer, Ron Hovert, refused to say whether a plea bargain had been negotiated.

NBC cited unidentified sources as saying Gillooly would plead guilty next week to a reduced charge, provided he passes a lie-detector test.

Harding's bodyguard has reportedly told authorities that Harding helped plan and cover up the attack and that she berated him for not getting it done sooner.

A balk was called on Stu Miller in the 1961 All-Star Game in San Francisco when the wind blew him off the pitching mound.

Knicks slip by Clippers

By CHRIS SHERIDAN
AP Sports Writer

The Mighty Clippers of Anaheim? Not exactly.

But at least it felt that way for 47 minutes and 59 seconds to the team displaced from its usual arena because of last week's earthquake.

Playing the first regular-season NBA game at the new Anaheim Arena - known as "The Pond" in hockey circles - the Los Angeles Clippers led almost the whole way before Patrick Ewing made a 9-foot jumper with 0.9 seconds left to give the New York Knicks a 103-101 victory.

"The team likes this place. You can get spoiled here. I liked the fan support here and it's such a clean and new facility," said Loy Vaught of the Clippers.

"It was night and day," the Clippers' Danny Manning said. "This is a state-of-the-art facility. That's the bottom line."

The game drew 17,507 fans, the largest crowd to watch a sporting event in the building that's home to the Mighty Ducks of the NHL.

It was the Clippers' second straight home game on an unfamiliar floor. Los Angeles lost to Cleveland last Friday at the Forum in Inglewood, Calif., the home court of the Los Angeles Lakers.

In other games, Seattle beat New Jersey 113-106, Cleveland beat Chicago 100-84, Washington beat Dallas 98-95, Houston beat Sacramento 113-97 and Denver beat Indiana 113-106.

Building inspectors were set to inspect the LA Sports Arena today to check repairs made to the ceiling, floor and roof trusses. If everything checks out OK, the Clippers will be back on their usual home court for Saturday's game against Minnesota.

But the Clippers sounded like they were hoping for another respite from the Sports Arena, a old downtown building where they average more than 4,200 empty seats per game.

"Hands down, the Sports Arena is not even close to this arena," said Charles Smith of the Knicks, who played several seasons for the Clippers before being traded to New York.

Ewing had 32 points and 16 rebounds and John Starks added 23 points for New York, now 8-0 against Pacific Division teams. Manning led the Clippers with 39 points, including 16 in the fourth quarter.

Rockets 113, Kings 97

At Houston, Hakeem Olajuwon scored 24 points and the Rockets hit 70 percent of their shots (16-of-23) in the second quarter.

A string of three straight 3-pointers by Mario Elie helped break open the game as Houston took a 62-37 half-time lead.

Bullets 98, Mavericks 95

At Landover, Md., the Mavericks lost their 16th straight.

Tom Gugliotta scored 23 points and Calbert Cheaney had 18 for Washington, which almost became the first team other than Minnesota to lose to Dallas this season.

Down 94-93, the Mavericks forced a turnover and had a chance to take the lead, but Jamal Mashburn missed a layup and then a 3-pointer with 10 seconds left.

UCLA picks up victory at Stanford

By The Associated Press

UCLA is halfway home on making it through its first week as the nation's No. 1 team.

The Bruins, the only unbeaten Division I team, played as a top-ranked team for the first time since 1983 Thursday night and came away with a 69-65 victory at Stanford.

They travel to play California on Sunday and a victory there would keep them No. 1 for a second week, something Kansas couldn't do last week or Kentucky or North Carolina couldn't manage earlier in the season.

The only other Top 10 teams to play Thursday night weren't as fortunate as the Bruins as Penn State beat No. 7 Purdue 71-68 and Cincinnati beat No. 8 Massachusetts 76-74.

In other games involving ranked teams, it was: No. 12 Louisville 74, Virginia Tech 63; No. 13 Arizona 98, Oregon 86; and No. 25 New Mexico State 60, San Jose State 59.

ALL-STARS

He will be joined on the Western Conference front line by Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes. The other West starters will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018) and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The Eastern Conference starters, in addition to O'Neal, will be forwards Scottie Pippen of Chicago (496,505) and Derrick Coleman of New Jersey (482,261), and guards

B.J. Armstrong of Chicago (529,065) and Kenny Anderson of New Jersey (493,690).

Balloting to pick the 10 All-Star starters was conducted from Nov. 9-Jan. 20. More than 2.9 million ballots were cast.

The head coaches in the two conferences will select the remaining seven players on each squad. Head coaches will be from those teams with the best records as of Jan. 30.

JUDGING ALL MEN

THE CIVIL MAGISTRATE, OR JUDGE, GOES BACK TO THE TIME OF MOSES. ON THE ADVICE OF HIS FATHER-IN-LAW, JETHRO, MOSES ORGANIZED THE JUDICIARY OF ISRAEL--AND ONLY IN MATTERS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE DID MOSES MAKE DECISIONS. TRIBAL HEADS WERE KNOWN AS PRINCES AND ELDERS WHO POSSESSED CIVIL AND RELIGIOUS AUTHORITY. IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM THAT HE ORGANIZED MOSES INCLUDED THESE OFFICIALS AND THEY RETAINED UNDER NEW REGULATIONS, THEIR HEREDITARY FUNCTION OF JUDGING (DEUT. 1:15-17) BEFORE HIS DEATH MOSES GAVE DIRECTIONS THAT THE ISRAELITES, ON SETTLING IN CANAAN, SHOULD APPOINT JUDGES AND OFFICERS IN ALL THEIR TOWNS WITH INSTRUCTIONS TO REFER MATTERS TOO DIFFICULT FOR THESE MAGISTRATES TO THE PRIESTS. THIS BECAME A TRADITIONAL CUSTOM AND WAS USED BY SAMUEL IN LATER YEARS WHEN HE BECAME TOO OLD TO JUDGE AND HE MADE HIS OWN SONS JUDGES OVER ISRAEL (1 SAM. 8:1)

DENVER (AP) - It wasn't that the audience didn't care for Isaac Stern's music when they walked out in the middle of a concert. They just didn't realize he was taking a breather.

"Remember, it ain't over 'til the fat man sings," the portly violinist quipped as ushers steered nearly half the audience back to their seats.

The program Tuesday night listed three works in the first half, but after a second Mozart sonata, Stern and pianist Yefim Bronfman left the platform for a break - a normal concert practice.

People began to move toward the lobbies and before long half the audience was gone.

The lights were flickered in an attempt to get the audience back, and after seven minutes a bemused Stern and Bronfman returned to the platform, moved their chairs together and had a cozy chat while ushers rounded up listeners.

The program ended with a standing ovation.

The Newspaper BIBLE

THIS IS REALLY LIVING!

Well then, shall we keep on sinning so that God can keep on showing us more and more kindness and forgiveness?

Of course not! Should we keep on sinning when we don't have to? For sin's power over us was broken when we became Christians and were baptized to become a part of Jesus Christ; through His death the power of your sinful nature was shattered. Your old sin-loving nature was buried with Him by baptism when He died, and when God the Father, with glorious power, brought Him back to life again, you were given His wonderful new life to enjoy.

For you have become a part of Him, and so you died with Him, so to speak, when He died; and now you share His new life, and shall rise as He did. Your old evil desires were nailed to the cross with Him; that part of you that loves to sin was crushed and fatally wounded, so that your sin-loving body is no longer under sin's control, no longer needs to be a slave to sin;

For when you are deadened to sin you are freed from all its allure and its power over you. And since your old sin-loving nature "died" with Christ, we know that you will share His new life.

Christ rose from the dead and will never die again. Death no longer has any power over Him. He died once for all to end sin's power, but now He lives forever in unbroken fellowship with God. So look upon your old sin nature as dead and unresponsive to sin, and instead be alive to God, alert to Him, through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Romans 6:1-11

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS STORY

“Everybody Already Knows My Store And What I Carry.”

Sound Familiar?

Advertising is news about the marketplace, if you don't advertise, you're telling consumers there's no news from your store. But your competition is fighting for the public's interest with regular ads; if you want to keep your share of the market, you need to be in the same arena, bidding for the business. You need to advertise in the newspaper. Plus, people move out of the area and new people move in. Advertise to bring new customers into the store. Sell your store and your service through newspaper advertising.

NOT CONVINCED?

Newspaper advertising is unlike any other media choice. You're reaching a friendly, receptive audience with your advertising message. So receptive that they pay to have the paper delivered to their home. No wonder consumers consider newspapers the most believable advertising medium.

Newspaper advertising can help your business. It can increase sales and in a competitive market, it can give your business and edge over the other guy.

Don't tempt fate. Join the many successful businesses who know what works for them and what doesn't. Advertise in the newspaper and get results.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In 1989, you printed a letter about the tragic ends of some of the super-rich. I found it very interesting. Will you please print it again?—A Faithful Reader in New York

DEAR FAITHFUL: With pleasure. Thanks for asking. Here it is:

DEAR ANN: This is for those folks who believe that money and power open a magic door to happiness. Look what happened to:

1. A man who was head of one of the world's greatest monopolies.
2. A man who was one of the most successful speculators on Wall Street.
3. The former president of the largest independent steel company in America.
4. A past chairman of one of the country's largest utility companies.
5. A former president of the largest gas company in the United States.
6. A man who was once the president of the New York Stock Exchange.
7. A former president of the Bank of International Settlements.
8. A man who was a member of President Harding's Cabinet.

Here are the names that go with the "happenings."

Ivar Krueger, head of International Match Corp. (Known as the "match king") died a suicide—or was murdered. The truth was never established.

Jesse Livermore, the "most wondrous of the 'boy wonders'" of Wall Street, died a suicide.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, died broke.

Samuel Insull, chairman of Commonwealth Edison Company and other utility corporations, was acquitted on embezzlement and mail-fraud charges. He died in Paris in modest surroundings.

Howard Hopson, president of the Associated Gas and Electric Utility empire, had been in prison for mail-fraud charges and died in a sanitarium.

Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, served time in Sing Sing for grand larceny.

Leon Fraser, president of the World Bank of International Settlements, died a suicide.

Albert Fall, secretary of the interior in Harding's Cabinet, served a prison term for accepting a bribe.

Now Ann is speaking: I wonder where some of the super-rich, beleaguered Wall Street inside traders will be 20 years from now. I suspect history will repeat itself. It often does.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Five years ago, I met a lady from England. She moved in with me, and we've been together ever since. We get along great except she has gone back to England 16 times in the last five years.

Last year, when I complained about how often she was gone, she sneaked out while I wasn't at home and took all her belongings. She returned after a month, and I took her back. She is in England again and has called to ask me to take her back once more.

Do you think she has another boyfriend over there?—A Yank in Florida

DEAR YANK: She's gone back to England 16 times in the last five years? Obviously, there's a very strong attraction over there.

Since she moved in with you, she may well have done the same with some chap on the other side of the Atlantic. Sherlock Holmes, call your office.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I live in Tokyo and am writing to you for two reasons: The first is to let you know that I spend $1.20 per day for the Asahi Evening News because my dad would not be complete if I did not read your column.

My second reason for writing is that I am concerned about what will happen to your column when you leave this planet for a more celestial life.

I don't want to sound morbid, Ann, but no one is immortal. Are you, by any chance, training an apprentice to take over after you depart? Or would you consider an arrangement whereby the newspapers could reprint 30 years of reruns? They would still be fresh to a new generation.

Whatever the solution, Ann, I urge you to think seriously of a way your column could continue ad infinitum. It provides a much-needed anchor to a world ever more adrift.—Don't Leave Us On the Boat Alone

DEAR DON'T LEAVE US: Thank you for your concern. I have, indeed, pondered the question you have raised and am pleased to share my thoughts with you.

I love my work in spite of the fact that it is enormously demanding, and I feel that I am making a meaningful contribution. After 38 years, it is still exhilarating and exciting. My energy level has not declined, and only one or two shingles have fallen off the roof.

Am I training an understudy? No, I am not. I wouldn't know how to teach anyone to do what I do. Nobody taught me, although I was lucky to have had a terrific editor, Larry Fanning, for the first 10 years of my career. My column is more than a vehicle to dispense information. It's at the heart of an intensely personal relationship with my readers.

I'm sure that there are many talented people around who could do a very good job and that one day you will be reading another column in the space I now occupy, but I am not ready to pack it in.

I own the name Ann Landers, and I will never sell it for any amount of money. When I go, the column goes with me. There are bound to be many good advice columns after I have left the scene, but there will never be one that carries my byline. And you have my word on it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: One of my husband's closest friends just moved in with his girlfriend, whom he met a few months ago. My husband has told me "Lenny" made it plain that he has no intention of marrying her.

Yesterday, we received an invitation to attend a "cohabitation" party. The invitation reads: "Our cupboard is bare, but our hearts are light, so bring gifts and hugs and party all night."

Enclosed were instructions to "BYOB" (bring your own bottle) and a "wish list" consisting of several expensive items such as a food processor, sheets, towels, steak knives, serving platters, crystal, etc.

My husband feels an obligation to accept because of his long-standing friendship with Lenny. I do not share his feelings. In fact, I am offended by this "benefit."

Ann, am I wrong to feel this way?—Charity Begins at Home, Bethpage, N.Y.

DEAR CHARITY: That's no party. It's a shakedown. If you and your husband go, I hope you will ignore the "wish list." Bring a modest housewarming gift, and disregard the "guidelines."

An alcohol problem? How can you help yourself or someone you love? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" will give you the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Alcohol, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

CHURCH

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Pastor H. Wyatt Bartlett and the congregation at the church, 700 Ave. K., invite everyone to join them in worship Sunday.

The Sunday morning worship service begins with Sunday school and Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and the worship service starts at 11 a.m. At noon, we will have our Fifth Sunday dinner. The evening activities begin with Acolts meeting at 5:45 p.m.; discipleship training, 6 p.m.; and the evening worship service, 7.

If you are coming for the noon dinner Sunday, please bring food for your family. Tea, coffee and bread will be furnished by the church.

During the discipleship training at 6 p.m., we will be studying "Prayer Life: Asking for Yourself and Others." During the morning service, the pastor will be preaching from Mark 9:14-29 entitled "The Powerless Disciples and the Powerful Jesus." The evening service will be the Fifth Sunday Singing.

The mid-week prayer service will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday. The Sanctuary choir will meet at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

We invite anyone looking for a church home to come and visit with us.

Sunday school classes for all age groups and Bible study for adults meet from 9:30-10:15 a.m. The adult class is led by Doug Manning and the Sunday worship service, held from 10:30-11:15 a.m., is also led by Manning.

We have nursery facilities for all ages. The free taxi service is available upon request by calling 364-0359.

On June 27, 1950, President Harry S. Truman ordered the Air Force and the Navy into the Korean conflict, following a call from the U.N. Security Council for member nations to help South Korea repel the invasion from the North.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

We at the Central Church of Christ want to invite all who are in the community to come and worship with us at 148 Sunset Drive.

In our diligence to serve God, we meet every Sunday morning at 9:30 for classes and at 10:25 a.m. and 6 p.m. for worship services.

A church spokesperson said, "We have classes that appeal to all ages groups and also several activities that encourage everyone to use their life to reflect God and Jesus Christ."

SUMMERFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend all of the church services. Sunday school is held at 10 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. The Wednesday service is held at 7 p.m.

For more information, call 357-2535.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. James W. Cory's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service is titled "Casting Out Demons" taken from Mark 1:21-28.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. followed by fellowship time from 10:10-10:30 a.m.

There will be a meeting at 11:30 a.m. Sunday for the deacons and those interested in participating in a bazaar.

At a special meeting this past Tuesday, the Session called a congregational meeting to be held Feb. 6 following the worship hour. The purpose of the meeting will be for the congregation to concur with Dr. Cory's request to Palo Duro Presbytery that the pastoral relationship between First Presbyterian Church in Hereford and Dr. Cory be dissolved on or before Feb. 27. Such action will enable Dr. Cory to accept the call issued to him this past Sunday, Jan. 23, to become the senior associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Tulsa, Okla.
