DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a divorce lawyer. Over the years, I have read many letters in your column from divorced mothers and fathers and from their children as well. I have shared several of those columns with my clients, and now I would like to share MY thoughts with your readers. May I?--N.J.M., Rockville, Md.

DEAR N.J.M.: With pleasure. Thank you for the opportunity to pass on some excellent advice. Here it is: Twelve Commandments for Divorced Parents (Both of You) Never make visitation arrangements directly with children under 12.

2. Never suggest visitation arrangements you have not previously discussed with the other parent. Always confirm with the other parent any visitation arrangements made with children 12 and over.

3. Send and return children who are clean, well-rested and fed. Do not send or return a sack or suitcase full of soiled clothes.

4. Do not use a telephone answering device to screen calls from the other parent or limit telephone access between your children and the other parent--except after your children's ACTUAL bedtime, not the bedtime you would like them to have.

5. Do not discuss divorce disputes with your children or allow them to hear you discussing your differences regarding them.

6. Do not send messages or money with your children.

7. Do not speak ill of the other parent--or of his or her relatives, eye.

friends or loved ones. 8. Do not ask your children for information about the other parent's household, friends, income or activities.

9. Do not believe everything you hear from your children.

parent regarding discipline, rewards P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-

11. Give a sympathetic ear to your children, but affirm and reaffirm as often as necessary that you are not a referee or a mediator between your children and the other parent.

12. Be courteous. Do not honk for your child to come out. Walk to the other parent's door, but don't go inside unless invited. Have the children ready to go. Always be on time. Smile.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a response to the column about the 16year-old girl who wanted to be sick in order to get attention.

I remember "getting sick" at school in order to get attention from the school nurse or one of my female teachers. I also remember "getting sick" at my friend's house because she had a loving mother who I knew would take care of me.

I didn't realize until I was an adult that that I had a psychological problem and was in desperate need of maternal love. After several years of counseling, my eyes were opened.

. People who "get sick" are giving the same message as those who attempt suicide. It is, "Help me, love me, hold me." Sometimes, you can't get those goofy ideas out of your head because the need for attention is so great.

Please encourage that girl to talk to her school counselor. Chances are, she will feel better after she finds a friend who will listen to her .-- Salem, Ore.

Kuper commits to UT

Hereford's Mark Kuper has decided to play football at the University of Texas. He committed to the school after visiting the Austin campus last weekend, Hereford football coach Danny Haney said Thursday.

"He got the body type they look for--6-5, 220 pounds," Haney said. "Texas was the only Southwest Conference school that got after him. They liked what they saw, with his academics and what he did on the field.

"I wasn't surprised (that Texas was interested)," Haney said. 'What I was surprised at was that he didn't draw attention from other Southwest Conference schools.

Haney said Kuper also drew interest from North Texas State, New Mexico, New Mexico State and UT-El Paso.

Kuper played both ways for the Herd for the past two seasons, at both defensive end and tight end. Haney said he didn't know where Kuper would end up at Texas.

Cowboys, Bills built perfect NFL teams By BARRY WILNER AP Football Writer ATLANTA (AP) - No matter how you perceive them - and America's perception of the Dallas Cowboys and Buffalo Bills couldn't be more contrasting - the teams in Sunday's Super Bowl have built the NFL's perfect beast.

The Bills put together a division champion in 1988 and climbed to the top of the AFC in 1990. Nobody in the conference has bumped them off since. Their failures in the Super Bowl shouldn't diminish that achievement.

The Cowboys sank to the depths of the league by the late 1980s, but were resurrected in near-record time by the JJs, owner Jerry Jones and coach Jimmy Johnson. They won last year's NFL title and are in position not only to win it again, but continue dominating the league through the decade.

"You're looking at two great teams and two great organizations," Cowboys receiver Michael Irvin said. "The records prove that."

Buffalo has the league's best record in the '90s, and has done so basically with the same cast.

"It's a great credit to the people in the front office that they've been able to keep the players you need to succeed," Jim Kelly said. "When you have that strong group of players, you need to hold onto them and build around them.'

Even when the Bills lost key personnel - linebackers Shane Conlan and Carlton Bailey, receiver James Lofton and general manager Bill Polian weren't back this year they've found able replacements. Marveus Patton and Mark Maddox have been just as good at linebacker, Bill Brooks has done even more than Lofton managed last season, and Butler hasn't disrupted the mechanism that got the Bills going in the first place.

Several Bills point right to owner Ralph Wilson, whose dedication to the Buffalo area makes him a very nonular man in western New York His dedication to keeping his team intact, pretty much regardless of expense, has made him exceptionally popular with players.

"Everybody looks at owners depending on how much money you spend," Bills receiver Don Beebe said. "Mr. Wilson is beyond spending money.

'For me, personally, Mr. Wilson came up to me after the Super Bowl last year and said, 'Son, you really showed me something today.'

"He didn't call me Don or kid ... he called me son. That's pretty touching when the owner comes up and says something like that. "He's just a great owner."

That's not enough. Leon Hess is a great owner, according to New York Jets players. But they're not a great

There has to be more. How about scouring the bushes?

The Bills traditionally have benefitted from signing small college players. They have guys from William & Mary, Chadron State, Anderson (Ind.), Kutztown, Jacksonville State, Wabash, Eastern Washington and Northern Michigan.

"If you see a player, any player from any school, and he has the ability you're looking for," Butler said, "you get him."

Patience has played a major role, too. How many rosters would remain virtually intact after three straight Super flops? Buffalo's has.

"I thought after the second one, they might (break up the Bills)," Andre Reed said. "There was a lot of skepticism in the front office and among players, too. I'm surprised some of us are still here. Who knows how long it's going to be before they start breaking the team up?"

It won't be long before the rest of the NFL is shouting to break up the Cowboys if they win again Sunday. Or maybe if they don't. Not only are they football's measuring stick, the Cowboys have one of the youngest rosters in the league.

Patience, however, was not a virtue of the JJs. To their credit, they moved quickly but wisely, dismissing the criticism that their ways would never work.

They worked.

"I think the No. 1 position on a football team to be successful is quarterback," Johnson said. "I don't think it's absolutely necessary that he's a superstar. If he is, it helps more times than not. But you have to have a winning quarterback, the guy who can walk into a pool room, pick up a stick and make the 8-ball.

"After that, I think you win with defense, and the players with the biggest impact are on the line.

"To be a champion, though, you have to have all the pieces of the puzzle."

That, of course, means strong drafts - Troy Aikman, Emmitt Smith, Russell Maryland, Alvin Harper and Kevin Smith, all starters, were first-rounders since the JJs took charge. It means good trades (for starters Charles Haley, Tony Casillas, John Gesek and Thomas Everett) and aggressive signings (remember Bernie Kosar?).

Among Hank Aaron's major records is the career high of 2,297 runs-batted-in.

Magic runs up 145 points in win over Hornets

By The Associated Press

It was a magic night for Orlando. The Magic set team records by making 62 of 95 shots (65.3 percent) and winning their fifth consecutive game Wednesday night, a 145-120 rout of the Charlotte Hornets.

Leading the way was Shaquille O'Neal, who scored 36 points on 17-for-20 shooting. He got plenty of supporting help, however, as rookie Anfernee Hardaway had 32 points, nine rebounds and nine assists, and Nick Anderson scored 29 points.

The Magic made 20 of 24 shots in the fourth quarter to turn a six-point lead entering the period into a 27-point advantage. O'Neal scored 16 points in the final period.

"The hook shot was working for me," O'Neal said. "I think our team is a team that can contend this year."

Pokes' Smith has come long way since Escambia

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) - He wears a $7,500 Super Bowl diamond ring on his right hand and a gold No. 22 ring worth $3,000 on his left, along with a $20,000 Rolex watch.

His $200 shoes are buttery Italian leather and his custom-made $500 suits feature zippered pockets.

He paid cash for 44 Super Bowl tickets so friends can make the trip from Florida to see him play on Sunday.

Emmitt Smith has come a long way from "tackle the man with the football" games in Pensacola, against kids twice his age.

"I always played against older guys," Smith said. "When you are 9 years old and you're playing against big guys who want to kill you it's amazing how you can learn to dodge school guys who wanted me on their team in pickup games."

Smith is not big or fast. Yet he has become the NFL's most prolific running back and MVP by using a simple motto: "I go where no one is standing up.'

Smith has proved in his short four-year NFL career that he will play hard and hurt. He left the University of Florida following his junior year after setting 58 school records and rushing for 3,928 yards.

At Escambia, Fla., high school, Smith rushed for 8,804 yards.

Smith has used his low draft status as a spur. It drives him.

"I won't forget the teams that forgot me," Smith said.

He has pride. It's something owner Jerry Jones discovered last September in a bitter contract holdout.

Jones squeezed Smith hard. He said $11 million and not a penny

"The Dallas Cowboys aren't a one-man team," Jones said. "We have to protect the salary integrity of pay offensive linemen to block for the running backs."

"It hurt me the way he handled the deal," Smith said.

Jones found out Smith not only has pride, but nerves of steel. "If the Cowboys had won the first two games I'd probably still be holding out," Smith said. But the defending Super Bowl champions lost to Washington and Buffalo. Smith called Jones' bluff and won big with a $13.6 million, four-year contract. Even Jones knows Smith's value

"It would have been bad if the season had been damaged because we lost those first two games," Jones said. "I'm glad we still won the division and got the homefield advantage. I had some baggage over the negotiations. But everything is fine now.' Smith has few vistas left. He's been All-Pro, Pro Bowl, MVP, and is the first player since Jim Brown, Steve van Buren, and Earl Campbell to win three consecutive NFL rushing titles. But there is one he still wants so "We win, and I win Super Bowl MVP. The only thing left would be Walter Payton's career rushing title.'

By PAUL NEWBERRY AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) - Lincoln Coleman was snapping pictures like an excited tourist.

"They call me Mr. Fuji," he said after loading another roll of film into his camera.

Who could blame Coleman for being excited? It wasn't that long ago he was working at a home improvement store, helping customers load rakes and lawnmowers and tubs into their cars. Now he's playing for the Dallas Cowboys in the Super Bowl.

"I'm having fun," the 250-pound running back said. "I want to make sure I get plenty of pictures."

The reminders of his past are all around. When the Cowboys' bus first pulled up at the team hotel in Atlanta, Coleman couldn't help but notice there was a Home Depot right across the street, a source of good-natured kidding from his teammates but a more serious symbol of how he nearly squandered it all.

Coleman's football career was revitalized by a stint this past summer with the Dallas Texans of the Arena Football League, otherwise known as gridiron hockey. The Cowboys were looking for a big running back; their trainer had seen a Texans game and recommended Coleman for a look.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am 77 years moved early, it will not cause any old and have been in good health problems. most of my life. Recently I was diagnosed as having atrial fibrillation. I am taking lots of medicine: Coumadin Lasix, Micro-K 10 Extencaps and a spot of Nitro-Dur on my chest. Would you explain this to me?

DEARREADER: Atrial fibrillation refers to an irregular heartbeat when the atria, the top part of the heart, start making small contractions, called fibrillation, at a rate of around 500 beats a minute. Normally the atria contract at the onset of each heartbeat. Clearly, only a few of these fibrillations pass to the lower chambers, the ventricles, to cause them to contract. Even so, in the common form, the heart rate is rapid and irregular. That may make it impossible for the heart to function effectively as a pump.

There are many causes for atrial fibrillation. In former President Bush's case, his overactive thyroid gland was the cause. In still others, there is an acute infectious illness. Severe diarrhea can be a cause and so can alcohol. In some cases, the cause is never known.

In your case, your medicines suggest that you have disease of the coronary arteries. The Nitro-Dur was prescribed for angina heart pain. The Lasix was prescribed to help your body eliminate excess fluid you may accumulate and the Micro-K 10 Extencaps to be sure you didn't get low on potassium as a result of the Lasix you are taking.

What is the Coumadin for? Individuals who have atrial fibrillation, regardless of the cause, are more prone to having a stroke. Blood stagnates in the atria since they don't make a normal contraction. That can lead to the formation of blood clots in the heart. Part of one may break loose and pass with the circulation to the brain, causing a stroke. The Coumadin is an anti-clotting medi-

There is a more complete discussion of atrial fibrillation in Special Issue 38-05, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a stamped (52 cents), selfaddressed, No. 10 envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/38-05, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077-5537.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I developed a sore on the side of one of my vaginal lips. It felt uncomfortable during intercourse and eventually turned into an open sore. It hurt while urinating and while washing. It was a burning sensation. My family doctor prescribed Lotrisone cream, and the sore went away in about two weeks. Then it came back. My gynecologist cut the entire lesion out, and the report came back that it was skin with Bowen's disease, complete excision uncertain. My gynecologist called it a precancerous growth and recommended a follow-up with a deeper biopsy in about two weeks.

I am taking Premarin regularly and am 62 years old. I have never heard of Bowen's disease. How does one get it? Is it sexually transmitted? Do males get it?

DEAR READER: It is a skin cancer. Like most skin cancers (other than some melanomas), it is not life threatening. It can occur almost any place on the body and does occur in both males and females. It is not just exclusively of the vulva at all. If re-

The pathology report in your case indicates that a greater area of tissue must be excised to be certain that all skin cancer cells have been removed before pronouncing you as cured. Why it develops in covered areas of skin is not known. It is not an infection and is not sexually transmitted.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read your column with your advice to a gentleman inquiring about help for his hearing problem. You suggested that he contact an audiologist about a wireless CROS (Contralateral Routing Of Signal) hearing aid.

I had never heard of such a hearing aid and contacted an audiology center that day. I was born 47 years ago without nerves in my left ear, so naturally, it is a dead ear. My audiologist said because of my particular hearing defect I was an excellent candidate for the Wireless CROS.

Good news! It works! I now hear sound on my deaf left side. You helped me, and if you mention this again it may help others with a similar problem of one bad ear.

DEAR READER: I am delighted to hear that you had such good results. It is unfortunate that this was not done for you years ago, although you would have needed a small hidden wire in earlier years. Yes, the person with one good ear and one relatively non-functional ear is an ideal candidate for such a device. It is very frustrating to have to ask people to sit on just one side so you can hear

The device places a microphone pickup on the side of the "dead" ear, and the microphone relays the sound signal to a receiver in your good ear. That way you can hear much better on the side with a non-functional ear, which is a great social improvement for people with that type of problem. It won't work for everyone — for example, the person who has significant hearing defects in both ears but in cases such as yours, it can be very rewarding.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - It's OK to walk like a Beatle and talk like a Beatle. It's even OK to dress and sing like the Beatles. Just don't do it in front of any pictures of the Beatles.

So says a federal judge who ruled Monday that an Akron, Ohio, group once known as "1964 as The Beatles" cannot use the Fab Four's name or likenesses.

The copycats can perform in Beatle costume, talk with British accents and play Beatles songs, U.S. District Judge Robert Echols said. But they cannot use props or backdrops with any likeness of Paul McCartney, Ringo Starr, George Harrison or John Lennon.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) -"Schindler's List" was Steven Spielberg's attempt to educate people about the Holocaust. Now he's taking that effort straight to students at a high school.

Castlemont High School officials invited Spielberg a week after 69 students were ejected from a showing of the film when patrons complained that some had laughed at depictions of Nazi atrocities.

"Steven is enormously interested in this, partly because it fits into his desire to take part in the education process," his spokesman, Marvin Levy, said Tuesday. "He feels that there's been so much desensitization to violence that these kids can't be blamed for what happened."

MY, WHAT A DIFFERENCE!

When Adam sinned, sin entered the entire human race. His sin spread death throughout all the world, so everything began to grow old and die, for all sinned. We know that it was Adam's sin that caused this because although, of course, people were sinning from the time of Adam until Moses, God did not in those days judge them guilty of death for breaking His laws--because He had not yet given His laws to them, nor told them what He wanted them

So when their bodies died it was not for their own sins since they themselves had never disobeyed God's special law against eating the forbidden fruit, as Adam had

What a contrast between Adam and Christ who was yet to come! And what a difference between man's sin and God's forgiveness! For this one man, Adam, brought death to many through his sin. But this one man, Jesus Christ, brought forgiveness to many through God's mercy. Adam's one sin brought the penalty of death to many, while Christ freely takes away many sins and gives glorious life instead. The sin of this one man, Adam, caused death to be king over all, but all who will take God's gift of forgiveness and acquittal are kings of life because of this one man, Jesus Christ.

Yes, Adam's sin brought punishment to all, but Christ's righteousness makes men right with God, so that they can live. Adam caused many to be sinners because he disobeyed God, and Christ caused many to be made acceptable to God because He obeyed.

The Ten Commandments were given so that all could see the extent of their failure to obey God's laws. But the more we see our sinfulness, the more we see God's abounding grace forgiving us. Before, sin ruled over all men and brought them to death, but now God's kindness rules instead, giving us right standing with God and resulting in eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

U.S. meets with Jordan's military as King Hussein promises peace

WASHINGTON (AP) - As King Hussein promises Israel a "peace that brings people together," the Clinton administration is laying the groundwork for rebuilding Jordan's rundown military, once one of the best fighting machines in the Arab world.

Taking Hussein seriously - the king long has been at the brink of peace with the Jewish state but always stepped back - U.S. and Jordanian arms specialists have been meeting secretly this week in a resumption of a military relationship ruptured by the king's tilt toward Iraq after its 1990 invasion of Kuwait.

Jordan is interested in acquiring F-15 and F-16 fighter planes, but the talks so far deal with communications, transportation and other basic equipment, not "big-ticket items," an administration official said Wednesday.

We're committed to Jordan's security," said the official, speaking only on condition of anonymity. And the biggest need now is for Jordan to be able to police its borders in the Jordan's British-trained army was routed from East Jerusalem and the West Bank by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war. Still, it was Arab armies that were overrun in just six days.

The weapons talks cover "a gamut of security issues," the U.S. official said. The Clinton administration is determined to help Jordan "project a credible border force," he said.

The United States cooled its relationship with Jordan during the Persian Gulf War over Hussein's support for Iraq. Since then, however, the king has authorized his negotiators to conclude the framework of a peace treaty with Israel, and the administration is lavishing praise on Hussein.

"This is a very happy occasion," Secretary of State Warren Christopher said Wednesday in welcoming Hussein to his office. Christopher said he was pleased with how relations with Jordan were develop-

Hussein still couches his statement about a Middle East settlement in terms of a "comprehensive" accord. That means Israel must come to terms with Syria, Lebanon and the Palestinians as well as Jordan.

But on Wednesday he told reporters "we are not waiting for anybody," and that he hoped to meet soon with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

Asked what he meant by saying 'full peace" was his goal, the king replied: "Full peace is full peace. It is the peace that brings people together, that gives them opportunities they never had, that changes the face of our region as a whole. That is our contribution to future genera-
