Hopes high for CSF

Getting the most bang from the buck is always a priority with Hereford's holiday charity, the Christmas Stocking Fund.

Thanks to the generosity and cooperation of a number of local businesses, the volunteer committee that administers CSF was able to do a good job of accomplishing just that in 1996, and hopes to do so again this holiday season.

CSF cuts its grocery bill by a whopping total of more than 50 percent last year - without reducing the quantity or quality of the food help it extended. Credit for that accomplishment goes in large part to Taylor & Sons Foods of Hereford. The local store trimmed its price for groceries to the bone in order to help CSF, and then threw in free delivery to CSF's work area to boot.

The local charity was able to help 45 families with considerable amounts of groceries, toiletries and personal items at a cost of roughly $40 per recipient. CSF's grocery bill in 1996 was $1,229, and another $511.53 was thrown in for turkeys bought at Hereford Meat Market, another local business giving CSF an excellent price.

Other CSF expenditures in 1996 included $632 to Southwestern Public Service Co., $454 to Energas Co., $308 to the City of Hereford, and $40 to the San Jose Fresh Water District for assistance on utility bills;

Also, $200 to West Park Drug, $50 to Edwards Pharmacy, $202.51 to Maxor Pharmacy, and $150 to Homeland Pharmacy, $265 to Hereford Regional Medical Center, $75 toward local doctor bills, and $145 to South Plains Health Providers to help on medical expenses;

Also, $532 for special senior citizen personal health items; $8,735 to cooperating local stores that honored CSF clothing vouchers for children and senior citizens; $200 in children's items; $250 committed toward personal mobility assistance for needy individuals, and $75 for printing.

"We appreciate the assistance of local individuals and businesses, and their generosity toward the Christmas Stocking Fund," said a spokesman for the anonymous committee. "We certainly shop at home with the funds that are entrusted to us."

Carver learning by trial and error

By DONALD M. COOPER
Brand Editor

It's been a matter of trial and error for woodcarver Alan Newman.

After all, he's never had any lessons in how to go about carving away all that wood to reveal the exquisite figures hidden inside.

Newman, who works for the Veterans Administration in Amarillo, took up woodcarving while working for the VA in Massachusetts.

"I guess was influenced by the art in that part of the country," Newman said.

"We spent a lot of time in the (Boston) Museum of Fine Art and at Cape Cod," he said. "I started whittling and reading, and one thing just led to another."

One thing certainly led to another for the Hereford native, because several pieces of his work were on display through Thursday at the Deaf Smith County Public Library.

The exhibit in the library was the first real show that Newman has staged, although he said he has displayed some work at some small arts and crafts shows.

"It started out as a hobby to see if I could do it, so I just kept it up. I graduated from castoff lumber (for the first carvings) to good hard woods," he said.

"I found a lot of hardwood suppliers in Boston, not I use mostly firewood - cherry, walnut, oak, pecan, pinon, just about anything," Newman said.

Unlike some whittlers who decide to try their hands at sculpting with wood, Newman didn't rush out and buy an expensive set of carving tools, preferring to use an ordinary

Texas voters to decide fate of amendments

By DONALD M. COOPER
Brand Editor

Texas voters go to the polls Tuesday to decide the fate of 14 constitutional amendments.

Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland said voters going to the polls on Nov. 4 must present either their voter card or a valid form of identification, such as a Texas driver's license or Texas Department of Public Safety identification card, before they will be allowed to cast ballots.

Ruland said the identification also could include a pre-printed check; however, he encourages all voters to bring the voter cards.

If the voter has no identification, Ruland said he or she will be allowed to vote if an election official will sign an affidavit stating personal recognition of the person wanting to vote.

Voting hours are 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Tuesday. In Deaf Smith County, the polling places are:

- Precinct 1: Aikman Primary School, 900 Ave. K, Hereford;
- Precinct 2: Room 200, Deaf Smith County Courthouse, 235 3rd, Hereford;
- Precinct 3: Hereford Junior High, 704 LaPlata Drive;
- Precinct 4: Hereford Community Center, 100 Avenue C;
- Precinct 5: Palo Duro Baptist Church, 13 miles east of Hereford on U.S. Hwy. 60, then 15 miles north on Farm Road 809, east side of road;
- Precinct 6: Ford Community Building, 20 miles north of Hereford on U.S. Hwy. 385, west side of road;
- Precinct 7: Dawn Community Building, 13 miles east of Hereford on U.S. 60, south of highway;
- Precinct 8: Walcott School, 24 miles west of Hereford on FM 1058 (West Park Avenue), 7 miles north on FM 1412, west side of road;
- Precinct 9: Simms Community House, 15 miles north of Hereford on U.S. 385, 15 miles west on FM 1412, north side of road.

The 14 propositions to be decided are:

- No. 1 would allow a municipal court judge to hold more than one civil office;
- No. 2 would allow the Legislature to increase the maximum average annual increase in homestead appraisal valuations to 10 percent or more for each year since the most recent appraisal. It also would permit school districts to grant a retroactive property tax freeze on a new homestead owned by a person age 65 and over;
- No. 3 would allow local taxing entities to grant exemptions or other property tax relief on property where approved water conservation initiatives are in place;
- No. 4 would update the state charter to reflect amendments to federal law, delete obsolete provisions and renumber provisions that have duplicate numbers;
- No. 5 would allow the Texas Supreme Court to conduct sessions at any location in the state;
- No. 6 would allow the Texas Growth Fund to invest in companies that fail to disclose investments in South Africa or Namibia;
- No. 7 would allow the Texas Water Development Board to consolidate existing voter-approved bond authorizations for water supply, water quality, flood control and other programs into a new fund;
- No. 8 would permit general home equity loans;
- No. 9 would authorize the Harris County rural fire districts to increase the tax rate;
- No. 10 would limit use of the crime victims' compensation fund and its auxiliary fund to victim-related compensation, services or assistance;
- No. 11 would bar the Legislature from authorizing additional state debt payable from general revenue if the annual payments were to exceed 5 percent of the annual general revenue available over the past three years;
- No. 12 would require the Texas Supreme Court to rule on a motion for rehearing within 180 days of its filing or have the motion deemed denied;
- No. 13 would make the Texas Tomorrow Fund, the state's program for prepaying future college tuition at current prices, a constitutionally protected fund; and
- No. 14 would authorize the Legislature to establish qualifications for constables.

Study: El Nino has good side

WASHINGTON (AP) - El Nino is blamed for floods, hurricanes and early snowstorms, but the climate phenomenon also has a good side, researchers report.

In a study published Friday in the journal Science, scientists report that El Nino - the periodic warming of eastern Pacific Ocean waters - causes a burst of plant growth throughout the world and that slows the increase of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere.

Natural weather events, such as the brief warming caused by El Nino, have a much more dramatic effect than previously believed on how much carbon dioxide is absorbed by plants and how much of the gas is expelled by the soils, said David Schimel of the National Center for Atmospheric Research, a co-author of the study.

Atmospheric carbon dioxide, or CO2, has been increasing steadily for decades. This is thought to be caused by an expanded use of fossil fuels and by toppling of tropical forests. Scientists have linked the CO2 rise to global warming, a phenomenon known as the greenhouse effect. Nations of the world now are drawing up plans to reduce fossil-fuel burning in hopes of reducing greenhouse gas in the atmosphere.

Those determining how much to reduce fossil-fuel burning, said Schimel, should consider effects of natural climate variability on the ability of plants to absorb CO2.

Schimel said satellite measurements of CO2, plant growth and temperature show that natural warming events such as El Nino at first cause more CO2 to be released into the atmosphere, probably as the result of accelerated decay of dead plant matter in the soil.

But later, within two years, there is a rapid growth in forests and grasslands, causing plants to more vigorously suck carbon dioxide out of the atmosphere.

"We think that there is a delayed response in vegetation and soils to the warming of such things as El Nino and this leads to increased plant growth," said Schimel.

However, he said, it is not clear if the warming by El Nino causes a net decrease in the build up of CO2 over the long haul.

"We don't really know that yet," said Schimel.

What the study does show, however, is that the rise and fall of CO2 in the atmosphere is strongly influenced by natural changes in global temperature, said B. H. Braswell of the University of New Hampshire, a co-author of the study.

Braswell said that in years when the global weather is cooler than normal, there is a decrease in both the decay of dead plants and in new plant growth. This causes an effect that is the opposite of El Nino warming: CO2 atmosphere levels first decline and later increase.

The researchers used satellite measurements taken from 1980 to 1991. This period included a major El Nino in 1982-83 and warm years later in the 1980s.

Each of these events, said the authors, had a direct, but often delayed, effect on the CO2 levels in the atmosphere. About two years after the warm events, there was a surge in plant growth and a decline in CO2 levels.

Bravo, born here 30 years ago, returning

Bravo Smokes, introduced and produced in Hereford 30 years ago, are rising from the ashes for another try at being a viable tobacco alternative.

Puzant Torigian, creator of the nicotine-free lettuce cigarette, relaunched the product last month, according to a report in the Oct. 27 issue of U.S. News & World Report magazine.

The article reported the controversy surrounding the tobacco industry this year has created a thriving market of tobacco alternatives.

"The market for nicotine-free cigarettes is catching fire as both a safer alternative and an effective deterrent to nicotine addiction," the article states.

Hereford received worldwide publicity on the lettuce smokes when Bravo started production here in November 1965, according to reports in The Hereford Brand. After a surge in sales, the smokes failed to catch on and Bravo moved out in August 1967.

Bravo, a "smoke" that replaces tobacco with enzyme-treated lettuce leaves, is now being produced from a plant in College Park, Ga. Torigian, a New Jersey pharmaceutical chemist, has worked 40 years on the product.

When Torigian brought Bravo to Hereford in the fall of 1965, he worked up an agreement between his corporation and a local investors' group - Deaf Smith County Development Co. The Brand reported that Bravo took possession of a building at 1301 E. Park Avenue on Aug. 15, 1965. That building is the present site of Hereford Janitor Supply.

Torigian was quoted by The Brand as saying that "the facility here is a prototype, and we expect to expand and improve the plant." The Brand also reported that the first "smoke" was produced at the plant on Nov. 3, 1965.

A press conference was held here Nov. 4, 1965, at Hereford Country Club. About 75 people attended, including 35 working press people from the region. A tour of the plant was offered and plans for a public open house were set for Nov. 14.

Four months later, Torigian declared the company was in the Chamber open house

Hereford retail merchants will participate in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce's annual open house.

The event will be 1-5 p.m. Sunday, with numerous local merchants participating.

There will be registration at all participating businesses for a $500 Hereford Bucks giveaway. The drawing will be Nov. 3.

"Eat Your Heart Out, Nieman-Marcus"

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will be the host of the annual "Eat Your Heart Out, Nieman-Marcus" preview night and fun breakfast next week.

The preview night will be 6:30-8 p.m. Nov. 12, with the fun breakfast to begin at 6:30 a.m. Nov. 13.

There will be a drawing for a $100 Hereford Bucks prize at the fun breakfast, and the winner must be present.

Santa Claus will make an appearance at both events.

Combest Internet site

U.S. Rep. Larry Combest, D-Texas, has established a weblink for taxpayers to inform his office about abuses by the Internal Revenue Service or to offer suggestions for tax code changes.

The weblink is part of Combest's tax reform efforts and will enable constituents to register their opinions and suggestions.

The weblink seeks opinions about IRS authority, shifting control to a private citizen oversight board, and tax code proposals. Visitors to the web site also can forward their experiences and comments about the IRS, with the option to not have their names disclosed.

The web site is:
<http://www.house.gov/combest>.

City commission

Members of the Hereford City Commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the commission chamber at Hereford City Hall, 224 N. Lee.

The commission is expected to consider a resolution authorizing bank signatories for a Texas Community Development Program grant, approval of a grant from the Hereford Economic Development Corp. to the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association, and an appointment to the city's Board of Adjustments.

Theatre group to meet

The first meeting of Hereford Community Theatre will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford High School auditorium. The first production will be a Christmas show for children. Anyone interested is welcome to attend. For additional information, call Linda Lowe at 363-7620.

Mostly clear

Mostly clear tonight, with low around 30 and northwest wind, 10-20 mph and gusting. Partly cloudy and windy Sunday, high around 60.

News Digest

JURY CONVICTS SEPARATISTS

ALPINE (AP) - Two separatists have been convicted of conspiring in the kidnapping that sparked the Republic of Texas group's armed standoff with hundreds of state troopers.

A Brewster County jury deliberated about two hours Friday before finding Republic leader Richard McLaren and Robert Otto guilty of engaging in organized criminal activity in the abduction of Joe and Margaret Ann Rowe.

Neither man reacted as state District Judge Kenneth DeHart read the verdict.

SENATE BREAKS IMPASSE ON DEFENSE BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has agreed to vote next week on the overdue 1998 defense authorization bill, letting President Clinton decide whether it should become law.

Lawmakers seeking to protect jobs at military bases in California and Texas had threatened to tie the Senate up for a week with procedural motions unless the $268 billion bill were scrapped or rewritten.

Because the measure is a final compromise written by Senate and House negotiators, however, it cannot be amended.

Instead, the Texans and Californians withheld their objections and the Senate agreed 93-3 to hold a final vote Thursday afternoon and work on other bills in the meantime. Because they lacked the votes to kill the bill, their strategy was to delay action long enough so that by the time Clinton decides on a veto, Congress will have adjourned for the year.

"The president is going to stick with his veto," Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, R-Texas, said Friday.

MAN SENTENCED IN CASINO BUS HIJACKING

TYLER, Texas (AP) - The last remaining defendant in the hijacking of a casino shuttle bus faces a sentence of just under 12 years in federal prison and must pay more than $108,595 in restitution.

Taurus Kartik, 25, was convicted of federal carjacking and weapons charges in August.

Kartik was one of five Fort Worth area men arrested during a manhunt north of Tyler after the driver of a casino-bound bus was shot during a botched hijacking on Interstate 20 last November.

Police said Kartik held a sawed-off shotgun and stood guard at the back of the bus during the robbery.

FINALISTS NAMED FOR UT-AUSTIN PRESIDENCY

AUSTIN (AP) - The search is narrowing for a new president for the University of Texas at Austin.

Five finalists who hold high-ranking positions at out-of-state universities were named Friday.

The finalists announced by UT System regent Lowell Lebermann Jr., chairman of the advisory committee for selection of a president, are:

- Stanley Chodorow, provost, University of Pennsylvania.
- Larry R. Faulkner, provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

New members

Two new members were inducted into the Hereford Kiwanis Club during the civic club's regular noon meeting Thursday at the Hereford Civic Center. Juan Lopez, 2nd from left, was sponsored by Kiwanians Robert and Lucy Chavez. Frances Parker, 2nd from right, who has been playing piano during the club's noon meeting for the past 12 years, was inducted as an honorary member. She was sponsored by club president, David Wagner and the entire Kiwanis Club.

Tapes show Watergate not all that Nixon tried to hide

WASHINGTON (AP) - Watergate isn't all that Richard Nixon tried to hide. For 22 years, he and his heirs fought to keep secret what White House tapes show: that he thanked a Greek businessman for providing hush money, set a $250,000 price on ambassadorships and had Sen. Edward M. Kennedy tailed in search of scandal.

Newly published transcripts of Nixon's tapes show an administration wiling under the Watergate scandal that began with the White House-directed 1972 break-in at Democratic headquarters. They also lay bare activities far beyond anything mentioned in Congress' investigations of more recent allegations.

They show that as Watergate began to unfold, Nixon insisted he could hold on to office. He considered himself indispensable. He was sure a forced resignation would undermine the American political system.

"If I walk out of this office, you know, on this (expletive deleted) stuff, why it would leave a mark on the American political system," he told chief of staff H.R. Haldeman in May 1973. "But the other thing is ... if they ever want to get up to the impeachment thing, fine, fine. ... My view is then, fight like hell."

The transcripts shed new light on one of the lingering questions surrounding Nixon: Given that so much damning evidence was on the tapes, why didn't he destroy them? Ultimately, they provided evidence of his involvement in the Watergate cover-up and caused him on Aug. 9, 1974, to become the only president in history to resign.

The explanation: Nixon thought he could use the tapes selectively to prove his innocence if he were put on trial. Moreover, says historian Stanley Kutler, Nixon thought he could make money from them. "The tapes had monetary value which could only increase in time," Kutler said.

It was Kutler who filed the lawsuit that ultimately forced Nixon's heirs to agree to the release of 201 hours of tapes. Scratchy and hard to hear, they were made public at the National Archives a year ago.

He hired a company to listen - over and over, for hours - and transcribe them. The result is published in "Abuse of Power," a book to be in the bookstores next month. A copy was made available Friday to The Associated Press.

The tapes, says Kutler, "reveal a president deeply and intimately involved in sometimes criminal abuses of power, both before and after the Watergate break-in."

Examples:
- Nixon invited wealthy Greek-American businessman Thomas Pappas to the Oval Office in 1973 to thank him for providing the money that was used to buy the Watergate burglars' silence. Pappas was a major contributor with ties to the colonels who then ran Greece. Said Nixon: "I want you to know that ... I'm aware of what you're doing to help out in some of these things that Maury's people (a reference to Maurice Stans, a Nixon fund-raiser) and others are involved in. I won't say anything further, but it's very seldom you find a friend like that, believe me."
- Nixon also told Pappas that Stans was "clean" and so was Attorney General John N. Mitchell. "A few pipsqueaks down the line did some silly things. ... But it's down the line. Down the line they're all guilty."

Earlier, when Haldeman told Nixon what Pappas wanted in exchange for his hush money - the retention of Henry Tasca as U.S. ambassador in Athens - Nixon replied: "No problem. Pappas has raised the money we need for this other activity."

- Nixon insisted that people who were offered ambassadorships be required to pay. "My point is," he told Haldeman in a conversation on June 23, 1971, "that anybody that wants to be an ambassador wants to pay at least $250,000." Said Haldeman: "I think any contributor under $100,000 we shouldn't consider for any kind of thing."

And, talking about wealthy contributors, Nixon brought up Charles Bluhdorn, former chairman of Gulf & Western Industries, and said, "I want him to be bled for a quarter of a million, too."

AMATEUR ASTRONOMER

FINDS NEW MOONS

CLOUDCROFT, N.M. (AP) - Amateur astronomer Warren Offutt has helped professionals find two new moons orbiting Uranus, the seventh planet from the sun.

The discovery could help explain Uranus' unnatural rotation - spinning with its top tipped on its side - as it orbits the sun, said Canadian astronomer Brett Gladman, one of the discoverers.

Gladman first spotted what he thought was two new moons in September, using the Hale Telescope at Palomar Observatory in California.

Offutt, who lives in the Sacramento Mountains near Cloudcroft, N.M., helped confirm the discovery.

black and making a profit. The plant used two shifts of workers, then three, but couldn't keep up with the initial demand for the cigarettes. Plans were announced for distribution in Amarillo and Lubbock, then the company had to change the dates because the smokes were selling out at Hereford locations.

Torigian reported that less than 40 percent of the initial capital of $250,000 was used in getting the company into the black. During early production, it was reported that Bravo had a payroll of $15,000 a month.

Jimmy Bell, West Texas Rural Telephone, and David McDonald, Hereford Janitor Supply, remember Bravo well, as both worked for the new industry as young men. Bell said the plant closed down for about six months at one period, then cranked up again. He remembered that Bravo moved in August 1967.

"My last paycheck was a little slow in coming," said Bell. "I got it in February of 1968."

Walter Paetzold, a local farmer, also remembers the Bravo years and he has an opinion on why the lettuce cigarettes failed to get a market niche.

"I think it was mainly two problems - a lack of consistency in production and the odor," said Paetzold. "The big problem with the odor was that it lingered ... it permeated clothing and fabrics of all kinds, and that made the smokes unwelcome in most homes and businesses."

Paetzold said he contracted with Torigian to provide lettuce for the Bravo plant. His family was in the lettuce-raising business at the time. He had five or six "curing vans" to take to the fields and pick up the lettuce leaves.

"It was sort of a scavenger-type of operation because we just used the "wrapper leaves" off a head of lettuce. He explained that it was the heavier leaves that packers didn't want anyway. The curing vans were trailers with refrigeration units, which actually served as dehumidifiers.

"Those smokes were really a hot item for six months to a year. Bravo couldn't produce them fast enough at first, but the odor and consistency problems caught up with them," said Paetzold.

"I didn't invest in the company myself, but I understand that most of the local investors got to sell their interests when Bravo moved to the Dallas area. I think the smokes sort of became a novelty-type thing," said Paetzold.

Torigian told a reporter recently that he started with lettuce and tried over 200 plant substances, but wound up back with lettuce. The magazine article said Bravos would retail for about $3.50 a pack.

In a recent interview with a reporter from Cox News Service, Torigian said his goal is to help those addicted to tobacco smoking kick the habit by giving them a nicotine-free alternative that looks and burns like a cigarette, even though the taste, he admits, is not the same.

He pointed out that while Bravo is a safer smoke than tobacco, it's not completely safe because "nothing you ingest that doesn't belong in your body is safe."

Bravo smokers are cautioned by Torigian not to tear one open, add a little oil and vinegar and eat the lettuce. The leaves are processed in a way that makes them unsuitable for eating.

Torigian claims his research shows that smoking lettuce is far less harmful than smoking tobacco, but officials at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said they are unaware of any definitive research on smoking lettuce.

An epidemiologist in the CDC office said smoking any plant materials involves incomplete combustion, and that process produces carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and other carcinogens that can lead to cancer.

The news service report says Torigian's company, Safer Smokes Corp. in Hackensack, N.J., will distribute the lettuce smokes, largely through health stores.

Thompson halts fund-raising hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) - Lacking blockbuster revelations and unified support from his own party, Sen. Fred Thompson announced Friday he's suspending hearings on campaign finance abuse and will end the investigation at year's end.

Thompson's hand was forced after Majority Leader Trent Lott declined to push for the extension of time sought by the Tennessee Republican. Thompson left open the possibility that hearings could resume if new information surfaces before the Dec. 31 deadline.

"I can count as well as the next guy," Thompson said, noting it would take 60 votes to break a certain Democratic filibuster if a proposed extension reached the floor. He said that Lott "can count as well as I can."

But Thompson's problem is not just with Democrats. Several Republicans - some speaking publicly - also have opposed the Dec. 31 investigative cutoff date, which was imposed initially to get Democratic votes that allowed the investigation to get started.

Thompson received no sympathy from Democrats, who except for three days of hearings were virtually shut out of time to present evidence of Republican wrongdoing.

Sen. Robert Torricelli, D-N.J., one of the most vocal Democratic critics on the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, said the hearings collapsed on a faulty foundation of "exaggerated charges and false leads."

"Senator Thompson never had the support of the Republican leadership in this investigation. The leadership always was more concerned that intimidating information would be found about them and (the hearings would become) not just about inflicting damage on President Clinton," Torricelli commented.

The suspension does not mean the end of scrutiny for Clinton administration.

For Success, Buy Management

The most important component of any business is management. A good product, proper financing and a host of other variables are necessary, but good management is what makes a business succeed and prosper.

With strong leadership, new companies can blossom, and bankrupt companies can bounce back. Remember Chrysler after Lee Iacocca took over? Or how about Wal-Mart with Sam Walton at the helm?

Smart investors know that management is the key to success. Yet too often, mutual fund investors confuse management skills with market luck. When it comes to mutual funds, however, consistent management far outweighs the glamour of an occasional lucky guess.

How do you evaluate a mutual fund's management? One of the surest ways is to go to your library or financial professional's office and ask to see Value Line or Morningstar reports. These are excellent independent research publications offering comprehensive analyses of hundreds of mutual funds and fund families.

For example, a recent Value Line report evaluated 99 mutual fund families. This special edition highlighted mergers, acquisitions and other changes that had occurred in recent months, such as the subordination of Benham Group and Twentieth Century under the American Century label, the merger of Evergreen Funds and Keystone, Nuveen's acquisition of Flagship, and Franklin's acquisition of Mutual Series funds.

If you happen to own a fund in any of these families, these events are of interest to you. The evaluations of the fund families in this special publication can help you assess your fund's new management. Each evaluation covers the company's history, research capabilities and specialties, management approach, investment options and more.

Listed within each of the 99 fund families is total assets under management as well as the number of funds in each of six broad groups. Those groups include four categories of equity funds and two of income funds. The report also includes an average overall ranking and average risk for each family's funds.

Finally, the report compares shareholder ownership cost. This includes maximum sales or redemption charges, fees and expenses. This can be eye-opening for people who think "no load" means "no cost." For example, according to the report, Fidelity Investments - one of the largest no-load groups - has the same average ownership cost as American Funds, a load group offered and serviced through broker-dealers.

The advantage of comparing mutual fund groups is that it gives you an evaluation of the management of an overall mutual fund company, not just the performance of one or two select funds. This lets you first identify an outstanding management group. Then it's easier and more rewarding to focus on particular funds with the objective and risk that meet your needs.

Ego trip: A journey to nowhere.

Protect the birds -- doves bring peace and storks bring tax exemptions.

Next Tuesday Texans will vote on 14 amendments to the Texas Constitution. The vote total is likely to be noted for how many skip the trip to the polls, rather than the number who cast ballots.

The proposed amendments have more to do with obscure changes than any controversial issues. Only Amendment 8, which expands the types of liens for home equity loans, drew much pre-election debate.

Since the constitution was adopted in 1876, there have been 365 amendments to the document.

We join others in the community in mourning the death of Ken McLain this week. As my grandfather used to say when a good person died, he was a good 'un!

We became acquainted with Ken when he worked at Southwest Feed Yard. Later he and his wife operated McLain Garden Center for many years before retiring. He was a quiet man who let his works do his talking. We came to respect him in Lions Club activities.

McLain loved to play golf and was a real friend of Pitman Municipal Golf Course. After retiring, he volunteered to prune trees at the golf course and help improve the grounds in other ways.

McLain will be missed but many lives will be better for having known him as a friend and neighbor.

We borrowed the following from Gary Smith of the Hansford County Reporter, and there's no doubt it was written by a farmer:

YOU MIGHT BE A FARMER IF...

- Your dog rides in your truck more than your wife.
- You wave at everyone in a passing vehicle whether you know them or not.
- You have convinced your wife that an overnight, out-of-town trip after equipment or parts is a vacation.
- You have specific hats to be worn to: Farm sales, livestock auctions, customer appreciation suppers, and vacations.
- You have had to wash off in the backyard with a garden hose before your wife would let you in the house.
- You have buried a dog and cried.
- You have used a front-end loader as scaffolding for roof repairs.
- You have used a castrating knife to slice and eat apples.
- You have never willingly thrown away any empty five-gallon buckets.
- You have used bailing wire to attach a license plate to a vehicle.
- You have used a chain saw while remodeling your house.
- You can remember the fertilizer rate, seeding rate, herbicide rate and final yields on a farm you rented 10 years ago, but cannot recall your wife's birthday or dress size, your anniversary, or your children's birthdays.
- You have fibbed to a mechanic about how often you greased a piece of equipment.
- You have used a velvet leaf plant as toilet paper.
- You have driven off the road while viewing your neighbor's crops.
- You have borrowed gravel from a county road to fill potholes in your driveway.
- If given one million dollars, you would keep right on farming because that's what you are and what you do.

Don't forget elderly

There's a wealth within these walls. The wealth of which I speak is the wealth of experience and knowledge possessed by the long procession of residents, past and present, of King's Manor and other homes in Hereford.

You would be inspired and entertained if you could share a few moments with each resident. Some can no longer tell you their story, but others remember and can tell you.

I would remind each of us not to be so overwhelmed with today's technology and convenience that we fail to appreciate and learn of the past which brought us this far.

The era in which these people lived will never return. It represents a time, in the words of Margaret Mitchell, which is "gone with the wind." But their stories and contributions remain. We are the beneficiaries of their experiences, whether we acknowledge it or not.

Do not be so naive or ungrateful as to believe that the way of life which you enjoy "just happened." It came about as a result of the efforts and contributions of those of the generations who have lived before us. We are fortunate enough to know and have some of that generation still with us.

Getting acquainted with "their story" is far more rewarding than reading about it in a history book. Let's get to know some of their stories.

Consider this: In this group you will meet folks from all walks of life - from attorneys to teachers, farmers and cowboys, artists and homemakers, pioneers, nurses, musicians, carpenters, technicians, laborers and administrators.

A wise man once reminded me of the importance of feeling and expressing gratitude. I believe that a part of feeling and expressing gratitude is to acknowledge the contributions these pioneers and senior citizens have made to us individually and to our society.

So many of these people who are still with us have been placed on the shelf and stored away in our memories of the past. I believe it is beneficial to us and, oh so important to them, to let them know we care and are interested.

I encourage everyone to make a special effort to give them a chance to remember and share their thoughts and experiences. Our lives will be richer for having done this. And, I can promise you it will bring sunshine into theirs.

Think of the combined knowledge and experience within those walls. It would fill volumes.

Stock market's correction

Just don't go about trashing the Sixties

I can't help it; I loved the '60s and it really ticks me off when I hear people trashing the decade.

As one who came of age during the '60s, I see the decade as one when people, especially young people, saw wrongs and tried to right them.

There was a sense of community during the '60s, when you shared with your neighbor. Contrast that with the '80s and '90s, when we are encouraged to grab as much as you can as fast as you can, without any regard to anyone but yourself.

During the '60s, we used to sit on our porches and visit with our neighbors. Now we're suspicious about our neighbor's motives.

We also knew how to have fun, and didn't take ourselves so seriously. I guess what I'm trying to say about the '60s is this: Maybe we made our share of mistakes, but at least we cared about something more than just making as much money as possible.

Maybe it's just me, but I'm beginning to believe there's a provision in the American Bar Association's code of conduct that prohibits lawyers from returning telephone calls.

This might not be the case, but you certainly can't persuade me that it's not hidden in there somewhere, because on several occasions recently I've had to leave messages with attorneys in two states - and not one time has the lawyer returned my call.

Each time that I have called the attorneys' offices, their secretaries have taken my number and assured me that their bosses will call me back.

Have they?

No, nein, non, nyet!

When it was just one lawyer in one state I thought that maybe it was just one inconsiderate person, but when a second attorney did the same thing, I began to believe it's a bar association requirement, sorta like attorney-client privilege.

Reflections

By Don Cooper

Attorney-telephone privilege, I guess.

Speaking of lawyers, one of my favorite stories came out of the Civil War.

The winter of 1864-65, the last year of the Civil War, was one of the most miserable winters in Virginia's history. It was cold and wet, and the Union and Confederate armies mostly dug in and tried to keep reasonably warm and dry.

According to the story, Gen. U.S. Grant and his staff spent one particularly foul winter day inspecting the front lines, and arrived back at the tavern they were used as headquarters after nightfall.

When the general and his aides entered the tavern, they saw a group of men sitting around a roaring fire in the fireplace at the end of the public room.

Spotting the general, one of the men shouted out, "General Grant, you look like you've been through hell. How was it?"

To which Grant replied:

"Just like here - lawyers closest to the fire."
But before any irate attorneys start preparing briefs or calling my boss, let me tell you who related that story to me. It was the late Franklin Jones Sr., a Marshall attorney and a man who represented what is good in the legal profession.

Today's rule of the school is more paperwork

"School days, school days,
"Dear old golden rule days..."

Nowadays, however, the rule is the rule of paperwork. By now I guess I ought to be used to the amount of paperwork that goes along with any task, but I don't think I will ever get used to the "necessary" paperwork just to get a kid in school or keep them there.

Imagine getting a call that sounds something like this: "Mrs. Smith, I hate to bother you at work, but the school really must have Sarah's Social Security card this morning or we'll just have to send her home."

We're talking about a kid who should be learning to read and write, not planning to open a multi-million-dollar bank account.

It's a good thing we didn't have to have all this necessary paperwork 25 years ago.

Now the students must come prepared with a birth certificate, Social Security number, immunization records, a letter of transfer, a library clearance, a cafeteria clearance, a physician's notice and three local emergency contacts.

Can you imagine carrying all this stuff to nine different schools (that's how many schools I attended in the sixth grade) in one school year.

Don't get me wrong, I firmly believe in the necessity of records. After all, someday if all my aunts die, all my great-aunts die and all my great-great-aunts die, I may need to prove that I am next in succession to inherit an Alabama plantation.

As far as proving that an adult has legal guardianship of a child, what more proof could anyone need than a parent who puts up with a decade and more of temper tantrums and sulky attitudes? Would anyone without legal guardianship actually put up with a teen-ager?

And, immunizations are terrific. I truly mean that. The diseases they prevent have killed or crippled untold thousands. I would have my children vaccinated as babies even if schools and day cares never had the requirement.

The Real World

By Dianna F. Dandridge

But, when I get a call that says if my child doesn't have the last shot in a series then she might as well not even show up, I get a little more than just aggravated.

I thought school was about 'reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic, not about how much paperwork each student can provide.

I know I would certainly hate to be the one who had to count all the Social Security numbers, add them in neat columns and determine the end result.

I know the poor souls who are hired to count the Social Security numbers and determine the end result are not to blame. But why haven't school boards somewhere said, "Whoa! Wait a minute! We just want the kids to be able and willing to learn, we don't care what their Social Security numbers add up to."

I suppose higher minds than mine have determined the reasons for necessary paper, but for now I need to take a near-adult child to get a shot, or do I have to find three local contacts or the physician?

Oh well! I suppose if I really got confused, there will be someone to make sure it gets done or the kid won't get to school Monday.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Hoo-ray for the Mighty Maroon Band! I am very proud of the band students. They will have all worked very hard. The loading crew did a great job. They always be No. 1.

Frances Keeter

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Texas Plains Chorale, we wish to heartily thank the Hereford business community, citizens and surrounding friends from the Panhandle for their outstanding support for our Barbecue Dinner and Country Music Show. We are overwhelmed by the generous support through gifts and by the attendance on a bitter cold night.

Remember our Fill Your Freezer Sale! It will be Saturday, Nov. 8, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church.

Betty Wollé,
Texas Plains Chorale

Dear Editor:

I would like to congratulate the Mighty Maroon Band on their 37th consecutive first division rating at the UIL Marching Contest. Also, for their hard work and determination at the Area contest in Amarillo.

Being a former band member, I know how difficult it is to march and play in freezing weather and blowing snow.

Band members can take extra pride in their accomplishments because of the considerable changes they have had to adjust to this year. It is always a tremendous challenge anytime you have new directors with new fundamentals, philosophies, and routines.

Remember, you are the MIGHTY MAROON BAND and the PRIDE OF HEREFORD.

Ted Goldsmith

'McVeigh' bill OK'd by House

WASHINGTON (AP) - Veterans sentenced to death or life imprisonment for capital crimes could not be buried or memorialized in federal cemeteries under a bill the House passed Friday.

The measure is Congress' response to the conviction of Timothy McVeigh, the Persian Gulf War veteran recently sentenced to death for bombing an Oklahoma City federal building and killing 168 people in 1995.

Lawmakers have said that since McVeigh was convicted of the worst act of terrorism on U.S. soil, it would be unseemly for him to be buried alongside the nation's military heroes, if he so desired.

In other action, the House approved legislation authorizing a 2.1 percent cost-of-living adjustment for 2.6 million veterans who receive disability payments, effective Dec. 1.

Both measures were passed by voice vote.

A Senate-passed version of the burial measure would have denied all veterans benefits to former soldiers convicted of federal capital crimes.

The House amended the bill Friday to limit the denial of benefits to burial or memorialization in federally financed veterans cemeteries. But the bill also would apply to veterans convicted of state capital crimes.

The changes are subject to Senate approval.

The bill is S.923.

Pancake tickets

Hereford Kiwanian Lucy Chavez, left, seized the opportunity this past week to sell some pancake tickets to Quincy Taylor of Vega. Chavez and the Hereford Kiwanis Club are gearing up for the civic club's annual pancake supper which is scheduled Tuesday, November 2nd, 5 p.m. - 8 p.m. at the Hereford High School cafeteria. The supper is traditionally set to coincide with the November election each year, and diners are encouraged to cast their ballots before going to the pancake fest. Proceeds from the event benefit various community organizations and projects.

Mauro says Bush beatable, nears decision on '98 race

AUSTIN (AP) - Garry Mauro, the state's four-term land commissioner, said Wednesday he's convinced that Republican Gov. George W. Bush can be beaten and is nearing a decision on whether he's the Democrat to try.

"Next week, I'll come up with a date to make an announcement," Mauro said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Mauro, who has been considering the race for months, said he is sticking to his original timetable for making the decision.

"When I started this process, I promised myself I wasn't going to allow myself to be swayed by emotions and conventional wisdom," he said.

"The day I announce, I will have probably spent more money on research than any candidate that's run for statewide office and visited more cities than any candidate that's announced for statewide office. I've been disciplined about staying on that track."

Mauro said he sees 1998 as a good year for Democrats in general and Bush's challenger in particular.

He shrugs off Democratic concerns about GOP gains, including the 1996 sweep of all 10 statewide races - president, U.S. Senate, Railroad Commissioner and seven judgeships - and Republicans gaining control of the Texas Senate for the first time in 120 years.

"In a presidential year, if both parties are contesting the state in a serious way, you can make real judgments about where the state is going politically," he said.

"But since Bill Clinton didn't spend any television money in Texas, I don't see the last election as anything except this: If you play the junior varsity against the varsity, you get beat. Our varsity was playing in New York, California and Florida."

Mauro likened the Republican governor's situation to that of Democrat Ann Richards four years ago, when polls rated her popularity high but rejected her re-election bid.

"It was her perception that she'd accomplished all these things. And people did like her. But after the campaign started it became apparent that although they liked Ann, they didn't think she had done anything to change their lives," Mauro said.

"George Bush is a really nice guy you'd like to have dinner with. But he hasn't done anything as governor."

Responding, Bush spokeswoman Karen Hughes said Texans know Bush and what he has accomplished.

"Gov. Bush campaigned for office on four fundamental principles. He's delivered on all four," she said.

Ms. Hughes said 170,000 fewer people are on welfare today, the state's share of funding schools is greater, civil lawsuit reforms have saved Texans $1.5 billion in insurance premiums, and parole rates

Garry Mauro are their lowest in 20 years.

First elected to statewide office in 1982, Mauro is widely viewed as the Democrats' leading gubernatorial contender. His as yet unannounced bid was dealt a setback during the summer, when Democratic Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said he would be "almost a kamikaze" to try to defeat Bush.

JAMES BRADY
FLINT, Mich. (AP) - James Brady knows what he's talking about when he urges people with brain injuries to persevere.

After the former presidential press secretary was shot during a 1981 assassination attempt against President Reagan, doctors told him there was no cure, Brady told The Flint Journal.

Instead, his neurosurgeon offered hope, Brady said.

"He said every day longer that you live on the earth, you will get better," Brady said.

Brady, who campaigns for gun control, uses a wheelchair. The left side of his body doesn't work, his speech is slightly impaired, he is legally blind, he has a condition in which he has trouble noticing things on his lower left, such as the lower left side of a plate of food or a lower left newspaper column.

"The only cure for a brain injury is to prevent it," Brady said. "That sounds sad, but that's a clinical fact."

He was in Flint Thursday to speak at a Brain Injury Association of Michigan conference.

HUNGARIAN SEEKS FATHER'S MONEY
BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) - Klara Hamburger hasn't bothered to check for her relatives' names on the lists of dormant account holders that Swiss banks published in newspapers around the world. She knows her father's account disappeared elsewhere: in the United States.

For decades following her father's death in 1952, Hamburger battled to recover more than $8,000 in savings deposited in Account No. 24872 in the Hungarian Commercial Bank of Pest before 1931 and transferred by the bank to the United States for safekeeping during World War II.

She hired lawyers and wrote beseeching letters, but the answer was always the same: The account was confiscated because its owner was a citizen of a hostile country.

MOVIE THEME PARK PLANNED FOR MADRID
MADRID, Spain (AP) - Hollywood is increasing its presence in Spain - in the form of a Time Warner Inc. movie theme park near Madrid.

The park, to be located in San Martin de la Vega, 12 miles from the Spanish capital, is to open by the end of 2000, Alberto Ruiz Gallardon, the president of Madrid's regional government, said today.

A tentative agreement was signed Thursday and a definitive accord is to be finalized in six months, said government spokesman Raul Castillo.

Organizers hope the park will draw 3 million visitors yearly.

LENDERS PROMOTE PROPOSITION 8
AUSTIN (AP) - In newspaper advertisements and radio commercials this week, Texas voters are being urged to repeal the state's constitutional ban on home equity loans.

Texas is the only state that doesn't allow general home equity lending.

But Proposition 8 on Tuesday's constitutional amendment ballot would, if ratified, eliminate many of the restrictions that have kept Texans from borrowing against the equity in their homes for more than 150 years.

Equity is the difference between the market value of a home and the amount owed on it.

ANTHONY QUINN
EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - It took fathering 13 children by his two wives and three mistresses to teach Anthony Quinn the value of monogamy. "I certainly feel that I am a monogamous character, believe it or not, after being married to several wives," the 82-year-old actor said in an interview Thursday with WPRO-AM. "I wish in my life that I had only been married once. I really wish it with all my heart."

Quinn, who won Academy Awards as Best Supporting Actor for "Viva Zapata" in 1952 and "Lust for Life" in 1956, settled a rancorous divorce in August with his second wife, Yolande, for an undisclosed sum. It came just hours after his son Danny testified that Quinn abused his wife during their 31-year marriage.

One of his mistresses, Kathy Bevins, is his current wife. "With Kathy, my present woman, I could live a monogamous existence," he said.

Health giants eye alliance

DALLAS (AP) - Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, the state's largest health insurer, has begun talks with Arlington-based Harris Methodist Health System about forming an alliance that could cut costs and better compete for local members, according to company officials.

Harris Methodist spokesman Brian Levinson told The Dallas Morning News the discussions are "in very preliminary stages" and no timetable has been set for an agreement.

The two companies have not decided whether to pursue a merger, joint operating agreement or some other arrangement, officials said. But they are not talking about the sale of one health plan to the other.

Richardson-based Blue Cross has about 1.7 million people enrolled in its programs; competitor Harris Methodist has about 230,000 members.

For members, a deal could translate into a longer list of available doctors and hospitals, say health care industry analysts.

"It makes a lot of sense for Harris to do something like this because it would immediately expand their range," said Sandy Lutz, an analyst with Rauscher Pierce Refsnes in Dallas.

IN BRIEF

Frosh 'A' win

From staff reports
Ramiro Zambrano ripped off a pair of first-quarter touchdown runs as the Hereford Whitefaces routed Amarillo Palo Duro 49-6 in freshman "A" football action Thursday.

Hereford scored their first of three first-quarter touchdowns on a 35-yard pass from Travis Nash to Slade Hodges. Zambrano then scored on 27 and 25-yard runs.

The Whitefaces scored three more touchdowns in the second quarter. Chayse Rives, Nash and Michael Barba scored to give Hereford a 41-0 halftime lead.

J.P. Holtman added the Whitefaces final touchdown on a one-yard run in the third quarter. Hereford's final points came on a safety when Palo Duro snapped a punt out of the end zone.

Barba recovered the only fumble for the Whitefaces, returning it 45 yards in the second quarter. Joe Mendoza blocked a punt.

Hoch leads

HOUSTON (AP) -- Scott Hoch is the midway leader in the Tour Championship at Champions Golf Club.

Another day of pin-point iron play gave Hoch a 65 on Friday to be at 9-under-par 133 through 36 holes, one stroke ahead of Jim Furyk and two better than Mark Calcavecchia and David Duval.

Cowboys will try to reverse offensive woes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -- Emmitt Smith's touchdown slump is the most visible sign of the Dallas Cowboys' troubled offense.

It is far from the only one, and the Cowboys (4-4) will be hard-pressed to reverse the trend Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers (7-1) and their top-ranked defense.

In seven previous seasons, including three Super Bowl-winning campaigns, Smith scored 108 rushing touchdowns, an average of just under one a game. He has just one in eight games this year, part of the Cowboys' overall offensive malaise that threatens to be extended by the 49ers.

San Francisco is the only team in the league that has yet to give up a rushing touchdown this season, and Cowboys coach Barry Switzer is not at all sure Dallas will be able to run effectively against the 49ers.

"Nobody else has," he said. "Why do you think we would?"

Though Smith has run for better than 100 yards twice this season, the Cowboys lost both games, including last week's 13-12 defeat by Philadelphia.

Before this season, the Cowboys were 47-5 when Smith rushed for 100 or more yards in a game.

Their running game ranks 15th in the league, averaging 112 yards while the 49ers have given up an average of just 65 rushing yards per game.

San Francisco defensive coordinator John Marshall said Smith, who has more than 2,500 career rushing attempts, could be wearing down from the years of punishing hits.

"Don't get me wrong. I don't mean that Emmitt has slowed down or anything," Marshall said. "But I can't believe after running as much as he has, he's the same back."

Dallas' problems in the offensive line haven't helped and Smith also has missed his lead blocker, fullback Daryl Johnston, likely sidelined for the rest of the season by a neck injury. Herschel Walker is starting in Johnston's place.

"We've not done things to give him an opportunity to have much success, much like our whole offense," Dallas quarterback Troy Aikman said. "I think it's wrong to just look at Emmitt and say, 'He's not the back he once was,' and leave it at that. We have a lot of areas we need to improve on."

Chief among them is Dallas' ineffectiveness once it reaches the opposition's 20-yard line. The Cowboys have the second-worst touchdown scoring percentage in the

Sweetwater survives Big Spring

By BOB VARMETTE

Sports Writer
SWEETWATER -- Since it was Halloween, it's only appropriate there was bad blood.

As if there already wasn't enough bad blood between the Sweetwater Mustangs and the Big Spring Steers.

The Mustangs got a first-half ending field goal on an apparent fifth down, and to top that, scored their final touchdown with no time left in the game for a 16-7 District 4-4A win Friday night in front of 4,500 at the Mustang Bowl.

Big Spring head coach Dwight Butler said he wouldn't discuss his feelings about the Mustangs' final touchdown.

Sweetwater head coach Tom Richey also declined comment on the play. What made the one-yard dive by Sweetwater quarterback Andrew Boatright even more bizarre was the fact the play would never have happened had not the Steers called time out with three seconds left in the game.

"We had been trying to get the clock stopped for some 15 seconds, but the officials didn't see us, I guess," Butler said. "We thought we still had a chance . . . We were still trying to win the ballgame."

Boatright did take a knee on the two-point conversion attempt.

Sweetwater moved to 9-0 and 4-0 in District 4-4A. Big Spring falls to 6-3, 2-2. The win clinches the second straight District 4-4A title for the Mustangs.

Had Boatright taken the snap and immediately kneeled, the clock would have stopped on the change of possession. But why Richey didn't have Boatright run backward for three seconds to kill the clock will undoubtedly be the cause of a lot of speculation in Big Spring.

The touchdown was set up by a Johnathan Palafox interception of a Gabe Mendoza pass on the Steers' final possession. The pass was tipped by Sweetwater's Michael Castillo then juggled and finally brought in by the senior linebacker with 2:19 remaining in the game.

"Michael tipped it," Palafox said.

Longview hands JT 2nd-straight defeat

TYLER (AP) -- Two weeks ago, the John Tyler Lions were flying high atop the Class 5A state rankings. Now they'll be scraping just to make the playoffs.

For the Longview Lobos, however, fortunes are heading the other way.

Longview (9-0), which took over the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press Class 5A poll after John Tyler (7-2) lost its first game last week, beat the No. 6 Lions 20-14 Friday night in the state's marquee game.

The loss gave John Tyler its first two-game losing streak since 1993.

A defensive battle before 14,000 fans resulted in season offensive lows for both teams. Longview managed 129 yards, while John Tyler had 115.

The Lobos' most important yards came in the second half, when they had to rally for two touchdowns to overcome a 14-7 halftime deficit.

"Our football team does not panic when we get down, even to good people," said Longview head coach

Spurs down Nuggets, 107-96

DENVER (AP) -- David Robinson scored 17 of his 21 points in the second half and Tim Duncan added 15 in his NBA debut as the San Antonio Spurs overcame a slow start Friday night in a 107-96 win over the Denver Nuggets.

Robinson, limited to just six games because of injuries last year, also grabbed 13 rebounds to help the Spurs spoil Bill Hanzlik's coaching debut and win their first opener in four years. Rookie Bobby Jackson scored 27 points to lead the Nuggets, who built a seven-point halftime lead before Robinson brought San Antonio back in the third quarter.

Robinson had 11 points in the quarter, and the Spurs outscored the Nuggets 15-6 to open the fourth in building an 11-point lead with 7:17 remaining.

Mavericks edge Vancouver, 90-88

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) -- The first female to referee a regular-season NBA game was no shrinking Violet in her debut.

Violet Palmer made several critical calls down the stretch as the Dallas Mavericks beat the Vancouver Grizzlies 90-88 Friday night.

Hubert Davis scored 12 of his 18 points in the second half, including a crucial 17-footer as the shot clock expired with 58 seconds left, to help the Mavs win the season-opener for both teams.

Palmer, the first woman to officiate a regular-season game in a major U.S. pro league, made some crucial calls in the final 41 minutes, including one that drew the ire of Dallas coach Jim Cleamons.

Davis' 3-pointer with three seconds left in the third quarter gave the Mavericks a 74-66 lead entering the final quarter.

Reggie Miller scored 15 for Vancouver and Robert Horry scored 12 for Dallas.

Herd can learn lessons from Big Spring

SWEETWATER -- For those Hereford Whiteface fans despairing over the 1997 football season, they can find some inspiration from bovine brethren to the south.

The Big Spring Steers. At this point in the 1996 season, Sweetwater had just smacked the Steers 33-6 in Big Spring. It was a game that wasn't as close as the score indicated.

Big Spring went on to finish the season at 2-8. The thing was, they were probably one of the best 2-8 teams in the state.

Except for the loss to Sweetwater, Big Spring was competitive. There were many close, frustrating losses, many chances for the team and the town to wonder if they would ever break of their five-season slump.

The Toy Department

By Bob Varmette

Now, the lessons they learned in 1996 are paying off in a big way for Big Spring in 1997.

This year, they lost to No. 2

Sweetwater at the Mustang Bowl. But only by nine points, in a game that will be long talked about because of the controversy surrounding nine of the 16 points scored by Sweetwater. Take away the nine points and the game was 7-7.

Even so, the Steers are 6-3 overall and 2-2 in District 4-4A. A win next week at home over Andrews will lock up a playoff spot for the Steers.

"I thought we'd be competitive," said Big Spring head coach Dwight Butler, emphasizing the "I." Not many else gave the Steers much of a chance to be 6-3 after nine games.

"We felt like we could be at this point, and we had a tremendous letdown last week at Fort Stockton (a 33-22 loss to the Panthers)," Butler continued. "That was very disappointing."

If not for that loss, and the bizarre game at Sweetwater Friday night, the Steers could be 4-0 in district.

Three things keyed the resurgence of the Steers. One, many of those players who suffered through the 2-8 season one year ago are back.

"It's been the leadership of our seniors," Butler said. "It's really been a tribute to them. We have eight who played a lot since they were sophomores. They went through two pretty bad years, actually one really horrible year."

Two, the Steers have been injury-free for the most part in 1997. That wasn't the case in 1996.

"We had quite a few injuries last year," Butler said. "I mean, God, we had to use three different quarterbacks last year."

Sound familiar?

And that was just one position. Then-sophomore Tory Mitchell, played four different offensive positions last year -- quarterback, tailback, fullback and wide receiver.

Please see LESSONS, page 11

Sweetwater

"I was in man coverage; I just had to fill the hole. . . I went up to grab it, and I just brought it in while I was getting hit by someone."

Palafox said the Mustangs used man coverage for most of the game. And except for two long completions by Big Spring, Sweetwater stymied any hopes of the Steers picking up any yards through the air.

"We expected them to come out throwing," Palafox said. "We didn't want them to get any big plays."

Palafox said they knew the Steers would come to play, not just because of the rivalry, but because of the district ramifications.

"It's always a tough game with Big Spring," Palafox said. "It was for the district championship. It was the most competitive game we've had all year."

Sweetwater came in allowing 202.4 yards per game and Big Spring was yielding 215.0 per game. It came as a surprise to no one the top two defenses in District 4-4A controlled the game.

The Steers held Sweetwater to only eight first downs and 207 yards rushing, well below their 310.1 average per game. Big Spring had 223 yards of total offense and 10 first downs.

Richey was willing to talk about that.

"They're an awful good team," Richey said. "They didn't do anything to confuse us; they just played hard."

Richey said the resurgent Steers may have taken others by surprise this year. He said the Mustangs were fully aware of how dangerous Big Spring could be.

"We have real respect for Big Spring," he said. "I'm sure they wanted to redeem themselves for last week (a 33-22 loss to Fort Stockton)."

"It was a great defensive ball-game," agreed Butler. "We were trying to play position defense. You have to do that against the option. Players have to play their position."

"Our coaches and kids did a great job," Butler said. "They played their guts out."

Sweetwater got the first score of the game on a big play. Boatright scored from 42 yards out, breaking a pair of Big Spring tackles on a third and four play with 2:38 remaining in the first quarter.

The Mustangs got their final points of the first half on the disputed 29-yard field goal by senior Brad Barnes. The score was set up by a partially blocked punt by Palafox.

John Lawdermilk's punt went only 11 yards. After a 10-yard penalty, Sweetwater took over on the Big Spring 26-yard line. The Mustangs picked up a first down on a third and two when Boatright kept for a three-yard gain.

The Steer defense then stiffened, although Boatright missed a sure touchdown when he overthrew Benny Montemayor all alone in the left side of the end zone. Barnes then kicked the 29-yard field goal with 23 seconds left in the first half.

After the Mustangs picked up the first down, Boatright spiked the ball to stop the clock. Moses Brown picked up three yards—that's two plays. The incomplete pass was three. Another Brown run for no gain was four. The field goal was . . . five?

Neither coach commented on the officiating.

The Steers got their only points of the night on a one-yard quarterback sneak by Mendoza. It was the culmination of an eight-play, 75-yard drive.

"We looked a whole lot better in the second half," Butler said. "But we had no consistency. On the drive, we caught them doing some things. Our offensive line did a great job."

Still, except for that drive, the Steers found little success when they were on offense against the second-ranked Mustangs.

"Our guys tried, and tried hard," Butler said. "Everyone talks about their offense, and their offense is very talented. But their team is built around their defense. You build championships around defense."

Lessons

Perhaps the key reason is number three -- Butler junked the 1 in favor of the Wing-T.

A Steer offense in 1996 that, except for a 50-0 homecoming blowout of Pecos, could best be described as anemic is now averaging 315.9 yards per game.

"This year, I felt we had two or three good running backs," Butler said. "And we have small, quick linemen. We wanted to be able to get them out on the toss sweeps and have them use the angles. It was really just a matter of fitting our offense to our personnel. If we ever have big linemen again, I'd go back to the 1."

This season, Hereford has been on the short end of the score in close games much like the Steers were last year. Like Big Spring in 1996, Hereford has been only uncompetitive in one game.

The Oct. 24 11-6 loss to the then 10th-ranked Dumas Demons is a big step for the Whitefaces. Much like Hereford this year, it was Big Spring's defense that kept them in games last year.

That defense is a place to start building for next year for Hereford head coach Craig Yenzler and his staff. Offensively, the Steers are much improved over last year, but it's their defense that has them at 6-3. It was their defense that allowed them to put a pretty good Halloween scare into the Sweetwater Mustangs.

The key for Yenzler and his players is to take the lessons learned from this season and apply them to next season. The defense is sound. Perhaps some offensive re-evaluation in the off-season will allow the Whitefaces to duplicate the 1997 success of Big Spring.

Another important factor is that no one in Big Spring ever gave up -- not Butler, the coaching staff, the players or the community.

The aforementioned will be the key to the success or failure of Hereford in 1998. If those factors are in place, there is no reason a similar turnaround couldn't be made by the Whitefaces.

About 2,000 Steers' fans traveled to Sweetwater Friday night to see if Big Spring was for real.

They are.

Longview

Robert Bero.

The Lobos coach hinted that his team could make a strong run at a state championship.

"This is our sixth win on the road," Bero said. "We said going into the season, if this football team is ever going to win a state championship, we've got to learn to win on the road. We've done it now six times and to beat John Tyler at home is huge."

The Lobos tied the game 14-14 in the third quarter on a seven-play, 45-yard drive that was capped by Jay Hurst's 14-yard touchdown pass to Shawn Byrdson.

John Tyler quarterback Charles Bell was intercepted at his own 40 early in the fourth period when linebacker Jacob Pierce tipped a pass into the hands of Longview's Brian Davis.

Three plays later, Lobos tailback Fred Talley scored a 2-yard touchdown. The extra-point kick was wide left, leaving Longview's lead at 20-14.

Longview clinched at least a share of the 12-5A title with the victory. John Tyler, meanwhile, is now only 2-2 in district and must beat Tyler Lee next week just to qualify for the playoffs.

There were two upsets of Top 10 teams in Class 5A.

Humble Kingwood, the last-place team in District 21-5A, stunned No. 4 Aldine Eisenhower 7-0. Daniel Evans-Pickens scored the only points on a 2-yard run. Eisenhower managed only five first downs and 124 total yards.

Tyler Lee, meanwhile, beat No. 10 Lufkin, 24-14.

In other top Class 5A games Friday night, No. 2 Austin Westlake beat Austin Johnston 34-6, No. 3 Killeen Ellison beat Waco 26-18, No. 5 Abilene Cooper beat San Angelo Central 35-14, co-No. 6 North Mesquite beat Richardson 62-0 and No. 8 Garland beat Rowlett 47-3.

In 4A, No. 1 Denison (9-0) thrashed Wichita Falls 63-0. In other games, No. 2 Sweetwater beat Big Spring 16-7, No. 3 Corpus Christi Calallen beat Rockport Fulton 43-0.

league (28 percent), reaching the end zone just nine times in 32 trips beyond the opponent's 20. By comparison, San Francisco has scored 19 touchdowns in 35 drives beyond the 20 for a TD percentage of 54.

Dallas' offensive line also has had problems protecting Aikman, who suffered a neck strain and concussion last week but will start Sunday. Center Clay Shiver has struggled in his first season as a starter and George Hegamin has had problems replacing injured left tackle Mark Tuinei. Dallas has given up 20 sacks, one more than they surrendered all of last season.

For all of Dallas' offensive problems, San Francisco safety Merton Hanks said the Cowboys could be a play or two away from a breakout game.

"You look at their personnel, you look at what they bring to the table, you just automatically assume they should be doing better," Hanks said. "Everybody's kind of looking for them to bust out. We're just trying to make sure it's not against us."

The 49ers have been on a roll, stringing together seven straight wins against fellow NFC West teams with a combined mark of 9-24.

They view Dallas as their toughest opposition to date, giving them a chance to shed the skepticism over an NFC-best 7-1 mark built on what many regard as a soft schedule through the first half of the season.

"Our main goal is to go out there and perform and see how good we really are," 49ers fullback William Floyd said. "We're anxious and excited to play a team like Dallas. We're 7-1 but we're not where we want to be yet."

The game marks the 27th meeting between the teams since 1960 in a series that has become one of the league's marquee rivalries. Dallas and San Francisco each have won five Super Bowls and the teams met six times in the NFC championship, including three of the last five.

Houston carves Cavs, 94-86

HOUSTON (AP) -- Charles Barkley, ending his brief retirement threat, had 6 points and eight rebounds in 22 minutes Friday night and the Houston Rockets, using a third-quarter run, scored a season-opening 94-86 victory over the suspension-weakened Cleveland Cavaliers.

Barkley entered the game with 3:43 to play in the first quarter and drew a loud ovation. He played the rest of the first quarter and seven minutes of the second period.

Houston broke from a 56-46 lead with a 13-2 run midway in the third quarter for a 69-48 advantage with 1:54 to go in the third period.

Cleveland cut the lead to 79-71 with 6:21 to go but the Cavaliers got no closer as coach Mike Fratello played everyone who wasn't suspended.

Kevin Willis, who started in Barkley's place, led the Rockets with 20 points and Brevin Knight led the Cavaliers with 18 points.

YOUR EYES

Blurred Vision

Is blurred vision serious? It's certainly inconvenient, and you should schedule an optometric examination. You may just need corrective glasses, and the eye doctor can prescribe them. But blurred vision may be a sign of infection or serious illness that calls for professional care.

If, for instance, central vision is blurred while peripheral vision remains clear, there may have been important changes in the central part of the retina, the macula. Immediate professional attention may be needed to preserve vision. On the other hand, if peripheral vision begins to blur while central vision remains clear, that may happen gradually, it may be an early sign of glaucoma. Immediate diagnosis and treatment are vital.

Blurred vision signals an immediate call to the eye doctor. But it's smarter to schedule regular examinations to catch problems early.

SKETCHES

What is your emergency?"

T.J. Danley, far back, and Susan Castillo, front spend time in the lab at Hereford Regional Medical Center as part of their rotation prior to taking the basic EMT courses.

"We need an ambulance Someone is hurt!"

Students experience the emotions and traumas that go along with job of trained paramedics. They'll all have to get used to the stress and problems before being certified basic EMTs.

Brakes fail and tires squeal; toys are left scattered on the floor and someone falls; across town a man grabs his chest and complains of chest pains. In all these emergencies someone dials 9-1-1 and says, "I need an ambulance!"

The call goes out and immediately a team of trained Emergency Medical Technicians prepare to do what they are trained to do - respond.

They respond to the emergency, to the situation and to life and death instances on a routine basis, but where does that training begin?

In Hereford, a number of students begin their training in the Health Science Technology classes.

Martha Paetzold, R.N. and certified teacher prepares Health Science Technology students to meet the challenges faced by tomorrow's health care professionals, including EMTs.

For two years the students have had the opportunity to explore different medical fields through the rotation system required prior to being certified basic EMTs.

The students learn through hands on practice in the hospital lab, emergency room, obstetrics unit, intensive care unit, physical therapy, respiratory therapy, time on the floor in nursing homes and finally time spent on an ambulance.

Some students, who begin the classes as early as their sophomore year, earn their nurses assistant certificate and go on to complete the rotations necessary to transfer hours toward the medical technology classes at Amarillo College.

Prior to qualifying as a basic EMT, the student must spend a designated number of hours in both the emergency room and ride with paramedics in the ambulance.

The students learn the ins and outs of operating high tech analytical equipment, the art of drawing blood and the skill of staying calm during a crisis situation.

The students have received training in handling and developing X-ray film, lab work and patient care.

Paetzold said this class is a long way from the old vocational classes, where students were just looking to get out of school.

"All the students in the course are in advanced placement classes," she said. "They should all be a credit to the fields they choose to enter."

The students must be 18 before they complete the course; be willing to take the hepatitis B vaccine; and successfully complete the drug screening required by the hospital.

For many of the students these experiences are just stepping stones to bigger and better things.

Most of the students have set their sights on a variety of medical professions ranging from surgeon to physical therapist.

"This class teaches the students so much more than just general first aid," said Paetzold. "They learn the medical terminology. They learn to be comfortable with all aspects of the medical professions."

T.J. Danley looks at the career of surgeon while Gildardo Jimenz is considering the field of physical therapy.

Kendra Wright is considering a career as a nurse practitioner, but thinks she would like to be able to work with children.

Some of the others aren't sure exactly where they want to go in the field, but they do know that this class has them well prepared for the steps they plan to take.

As part of the EMT training, students like Kendra Wright, get to experience some of the same things as a patient in the hospital or emergency room. This leads the students to a better understanding of what a patient goes through in a crisis situation.

Trevor Criner learns about the application of monitor leads from a pro, Rose Mary Barret, an emergency room nurse. All the students in the EMT class will become familiar with the equipment used in any emergency room.

Gonyea is artist for first concert of 30th anniversary season Hereford Community Concert Association began as small group who wanted to bring culture, art

From what began with a small group of people that wanted to bring culture and arts to the city of Hereford in 1967 has grown to over 550 members from Hereford, Canyon, Dimmitt, Friona, Hart, Vega and Muleshoe. Hereford Community Concert Association will celebrate its 30th Anniversary this year as it begins the 1997-98 Concert Series.

The season begins Nov. 6, featuring Dale Gonyea. On Feb. 5, the New York Theater Ballet will be here and the final feature will be Banjo-mania on March 6. All performances will be at the Hereford High School Auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m.

From the 1967-68 Concert Series of pianist Peter Nero, organist Richard Leibert, and the Texas Boys Choir to this year's 30th Anniversary, there have been nearly 100 performances presented in Hereford.

The organization depends entirely on volunteers to make the program successful. Among the first people to help the Association get organized were Mary Thomas, Margaret Formby, Violet "Peaches" Reinauer and Helen Langley. Bill Thompson, who was manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, presided at the organizational meeting until officers were elected.

The Chamber of Commerce Fine Arts Committee was instrumental in calling meetings of interested residents to form the Association so that the national group would send a representative to Hereford.

The first president was Dale Young and Bill Thompson served as vice-president. Other presidents of the Association have been Mr. Bill Thompson, Mary Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Panciera, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Langley, Dr. and Mrs. Duffy McBryer. The current president is Helen Langley.

One of the finest organizations within the Association is that of the Concerteens. Youth who are Juniors and Seniors in High School and whose parents have a family membership serve as hosts and hostesses for the concerts.

The Concerteens began in 1982-83 under the direction of Mrs. Dolson Palmer and Mrs. Bill Walden, who was president of the Association at that time. Mrs. Palmer has served on the Board of Directors for many years and has been elected to a lifetime honorary member of the Association. A couple who has been honored with an honorary lifetime membership in the Association is Mr. and Mrs. George Warner for their loyal outstanding service for many years.

The Mission Statement of the Association is "The Hereford Community Concert Association exists as a unified body dedicated to making quality performing art more accessible, affordable, and enjoyable for members of the community".

When you see the numerous outstanding concerts that have come to Hereford, you know the Association is accomplishing its Mission Statement. Such concerts as Peter Nero, Norman Luboff Choir, New Christy Minstrels, Nevada Dance Theater, Stars of the Lawrence Welk Show, Tennessee River Boys, Dallas Brass, Texas Boys Choir and many, many others you know that our community and the surrounding communities have been blessed with talent that is truly outstanding.

Last year The Dodge City Cowboy Band performed to a unique adventure in music and history and the performance that topped all attendance records was Amarillo Little Theater's presentation of "Always Patsy Cline".

A rewarding facet of the Association is the extended membership to communities close by. These include Dimmitt, Canyon, Friona, Hart, Muleshoe, and Vega. Members from these towns serve on the Board of Directors and take the responsibility of selling memberships and handling publicity for the coming concerts in their communities.

Another advantage of being a member in the Association is the reciprocal agreement with Plainview, Borger, and Pampa that allows members the opportunity to attend concerts in these towns.

The Association has had a very exciting and eventful 30 years. The success of the Association has been because of the response of our members, patrons, and a Board of Directors that try to bring a variety and, yet, exciting concerts every year. The Association wants to extend a heartfelt thank-you to all the many volunteers who have made this such a successful addition to the quality of life to our community.

Pianist, comedian to perform

At the age of five, Dale Gonyea got up very early one morning and, without a single lesson, spontaneously began playing the piano. His parents were astonished because they did not have a piano. They decided he needed therapy or music lessons. Therapy was expensive. They bought a piano and a career was born.

Gonyea, the Victor Borge of the brandy glass, will be the featured artist at Hereford Community Concert Association's first concert of the 1997-1998 season at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Hereford High School Auditorium.

At 10, Gonyea saw the movie "West Side Story" and was furious he hadn't written it. One of nine children from Monroe, Mich., he is a University of Michigan music graduate who now uses the piano as the springboard for his unique humor.

One reviewer wrote, "With quick hands, Gonyea tickled the ivories of the piano -- each note echoed with laughter as his quick wit tickled the funny bone of his audience."

Another said, "Of his piano skills, there were strengths and weaknesses. A serious rendition of Chopin's Waltz in C# minor showed good velocity and expressiveness and was followed by a repetition of the same piece, performed under a pre-recorded narration of what goes through Gonyea's head while he's performing -- a skillful marriage of technical ability and self-deprecating humor."

Recently named "Classic Comedian of the Year" by a Manhattan radio station, Gonyea is also an Emmy winner, a Clio nominee, and his song-spoof, "I Need Your Help, Barry Manilow" was Grammy-nominated for Comedy Record of the Year.

His songs have been performed by Rosie O'Donnell, Bette Midler, Kaye Ballard, Ray Stevens and Rich Little, among others.

While in Hereford, Gonyea will perform a program of his original material that combines impeccable musicianship with hilariously incisive commentary on life in the 90s.

MR. AND MRS. RICKY MENDOZA
...united in marriage

Orosco, Mendoza are united in marriage

Maria Orosco and Ricky Mendoza were united in marriage Oct. 24 in the home of the groom's parents. The bride is the daughter of Alfonso Orosco of Hereford. Parents of the groom are Mangel and Concha Mendoza, also of Hereford. Officiating at the ceremony was Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine. Matron of honor was Amelia Orosco, sister-in-law of the bride. Adam Orosco, brother of the bride, served as best man. The bride attended Hereford High School. The groom also attended HHS and is employed by Webster Carpet.

Hereford couple named Parents of Year at WT

J.B. and Aurora Jackson, parents of Clara Jackson, a West Texas A&M University senior reading major, were named the WTAMU Parents of the Year at a Parents' Day reception today. In her nomination Clara wrote, "My family is very close because mom and dad shaped and molded us to be loving and considerate. When our family faced the worst situation of our lives, we turned to our parents to save us--and they did." As parents of five children, the Jacksons have faced their share of struggles in raising a family. Just this last year, the family faced two difficult situations. During last year's Parents' Day activities, Clara received a phone call that her 17-year-old cousin had died in an automobile accident. "This was my first experience of dealing with the death of a close family member," Clara wrote. "I became very angry with God. I did not talk to any of my friends, and my grades were dropping." The next month Clara's older sister and husband were expecting their first child. "He was born on Dec. 12, the last day of finals," Clara wrote. "I received another middle-of-the-night phone call, and I was told to get to Hereford immediately." The baby, Jackson was born with Merconium Aspiration. His lungs were clogged with embryonic fluid, and he had a 20 percent chance of living. He was sent to Lubbock for treatment.

The Jacksons, former Hereford residents now living in Denton, will be recognized as WTAMU Parents of the Year at half-time of the WTAMU football game tonight. Other finalists for parents of the year were: *Amarillo residents James and Debbie Shelton, the parents of Jeremy Shelton, a freshman biology/pre-medicine major; *Big Spring resident David Talbott, the father of Stephanie Talbott, a freshman pre-veterinary major; *Moriarty, N.M. residents Steve and Dolores Jones, the parents of two WTAMU students-Mary Beth Hones, a senior general studies major, and Stacie Jones, as sophomore reading major; *Rosenberg residents Glynn and Sherrie Lindemann, the parents of Mark Lindemann, a sophomore mass communications major; *Shamrock residents Sterling and Carol Sloss, the parents of two WTAMU students, Jamie Sloss, a senior mass communications major, and Jennifer Sloss, a senior reading major; *Shamrock residents Jim and Jean Ann Triplett, the parents of Melanie Kordis, a freshman English/Spanish major; and *Vernon residents Don and Rebecca Waggoner, the parents of Kyle Waggoner, a junior environmental science/chemistry major.

"I went with Connie and her husband to Lubbock since finals were complete. Every day during that month Jackson was in the hospital, my parents made the two-hour drive after work from Hereford to Lubbock. They would bring us dinner, clean clothes, and most importantly they brought us love." The Jacksons encourage their children to pray. "At first they knew I would not pray nor would I depend on God to help us after all that had happened, but my parents were adamant to bring my siblings and me back to him. They encourage prayer, read the Bible to us and reminded us of all the treasure our lives hold because of God."

Shortly after New Year's Day, the family was told Jackson would be fine. Clara credits her parents and God with getting her family through the last year.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS
"The big advantage of a book is it's easy to rewind. Close it and you're right back at the beginning."
Congratulations to Henry and Minnie Perez! Their baby, Andrew Joshua, arrived Oct. 27, weighing in at 7 pounds and 1/2 ounce. Achievement tests will be administered Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings. We will have regular classes in the afternoon, alternating morning and afternoon classes. Of course, fifth period will be held each day due to its being opposite the lunch periods.
Mrs. Wilhelm's Life Skills class has finished Fire Prevention posters for contest. After previewing them, we feel that HJH will have some winners!
Sims' G/T English is finishing Treasure Island by writing about one of the main characters. Descriptive writing will help prepare students for the TAAS test. After the ITBS, they will begin a mystery unit.

Categories classes are working on the Neighborhood Multicultural Cooperative Learning Unit. Watch for their festival in December. Each Wednesday these students walk to Northwest to mentor third graders and kindergarten students in reading.
Yellow and Green team students are already receiving answers to the inquiries they mailed to towns and cities across Texas for their "Travel Texas" unit.
Pink team science classes are studying land and water resources. Activities will "wrap up" with the students building desalination chambers from pop bottles.
Several members of Junior Historians have been working in the morning and again in the afternoon to prepare lists of veterans to be used later this month to show our thanks to these citizens who have served our country. We could use additional names for our file. Your help is appreciated. Members are also in charge of raising and lowering the flags daily. The next regular meeting for Junior Historians will be Friday, Nov. 7.

Yellow and Green team history students enjoyed Texas ghost stories by jack-o-lantern light on Friday. The idea was from Mrs. Montgomery who read from Washington Irving's "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by jack-o-lantern light when she taught eighth grade English. Her son, Mauri, even had a featured photo of the "Headless Horseman" on the front page of the Hereford Brand at one time! Fancy that, if you please! ...just proves again that a good photographer can get a shot of almost anything!
"We are made to persist. That's how we find out who we are." (Encourage your child to persist!!).

Food and Family

By LAWRENCE HEADLEY
LOWFAT MILK
The low-down on low-fat milk. Milk is your best source of calcium -- and nearly all of us need more of that. But should you drink skim milk? low-fat? or whole?
All milk is good for you -- but you'll want to know that skim and lowfat milk have just as much calcium, protein and other vitamins and minerals as whole milk -- but with a lot less fat. For example, an 8-ounce glass of skim milk has 90 calories -- in contrast to 120 calories in 2 percent low-fat milk -- and 150 calories in whole milk.
Only children between 1 and 2 years of age need the fat found in whole milk. The rest of us should drink lowfat or skim. That's because lowfat diets help control weight, lower cholesterol and reduce the risk of heart disease.
What better reason to choose lowfat or skim milk!

CHRISTI KUEHL, WESLEY TAYLOR

Engagement announced

Christi Lynnae Kuehl of Stephenville and Wesley Frank Taylor of Desdemona have announced their engagement.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Duane Kuehl of Detroit Lakes, Minn. and Carol Kuehl and Thomas Olson of McAllen.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Joe and Elaine Taylor of Hereford.

The couple plans to be married

March 14 in 11th Street Baptist Church in Shamrock.

The bride-elect is a 1992 graduate of Progresso High School. She is currently attending Tarleton State University in Stephenville and is a candidate for May graduation with a bachelor's degree in animal science.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1992 Hereford High School graduate and is currently employed by Henslee Cash Pawn in Stephenville.

Dialysis center rates high

Hereford Dialysis Center underwent an inspection by the Texas Department of Health last week and received one of the highest ratings in the state, according to Karol Coker, RN, director of nurses.

The dialysis center has been in operation since September 1993. Within the last year, the operation of such facilities has come under the supervision of the Texas Department of Health.

Areas covered in the inspection are the facility, cleanliness, infection control and quality of care (which is reflected in the hospitalization rate and death rate of the patients).

Hereford Dialysis Center currently has 32 patients from Hereford, Dimmitt, Frio and Lazbuddie. Each of these patients requires dialysis three times a week.

Dialysis is performed on patients who have lost kidney function. During dialysis, a patient's blood is cleansed by circulating through an artificial kidney.

Currently, four patients at the center are on the active transplant list. One patient has been on dialysis for 15 years. There are five under the age of 30.

In addition to Coker, the staff includes one other RN, three patient care technicians and one chief technician.

KEVIN LYONS

Kevin Lyons, a 1993 graduate of Hereford High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lyons of Hereford, has completed the Associates Degree Program at Spartan School of Aeronautics in Tulsa, Okla.

He has logged approximately 400 flight hours and has earned his private and commercial pilot licenses with instrument and multi-engine ratings. He is also a certified flight instructor and has accepted a position with a Texas flying school.

Lyons is the grandson of Ruby Hassenpflug of Friona and the late Melvin Hassenpflug.

Stanton is speaker for Flame Fellowship

Hereford Flame Fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Hereford Community Center.

Guest speaker will be Pat Stanton of Shallowater. Stanton has spent 11 years ministering through the organization of the Rays of Hope Prayer Ministry. The Lord used her in television, radio, and a miracle healing ministry during this time. She closed the Rays of Hope offices in Lubbock in 1986.

She is now directing her time and energies to prayer, study and public ministry. She is experiencing a strong healing presence of the Holy Spirit and an increase in the anointing where believers are open to the power and gifts of the Holy Spirit.

Stanton encourages you "to come to the meeting as you are and to leave as you always wanted to be."

Everyone is invited to attend. Please note the new meeting time.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a resident in medical training, three years out of medical school. Many of us must work through every third night. This means we are on duty for 36 hours straight. Sometimes, we get a nap but not always.

The physicians in charge also worked 36-hour shifts when they were training, but that was 25 years ago. Hospitals were different then. Patients stayed for a week after an appendectomy. Now, they're in and out in two days. Mothers with newborn infants used to be in the hospital for seven or eight days. Now they are expected to check out after 24 hours unless there are complications. We see many more patients in a shorter period of time and often feel guilty about it. After 24 hours without sleep, our problem-solving abilities decline.

Patients have no idea how sleep-deprived we are and how this affects our ability to perform. Please tell them. — An Anonymous Resident

Dear Resident: You've hit on a sensitive subject, one I've been hearing a lot about lately. I shared your letter with a New York physician, and this is what he said:

Dear Ann: The problems cited by your correspondent are fairly standard in medical training. Interns and residents are often expected to make life-or-death decisions while in a state of near exhaustion. The results can be disastrous.

Several years ago, a young woman named Libby Zion died partially because of mistakes made by a chronically sleep-deprived resident. After her death, her father, Sidney Zion, now a New York Daily News columnist, pushed for legislation to restrict the number of on-call hours worked by doctors. As a result of his efforts, several states now have laws limiting shifts worked by interns and residents.

Unfortunately, those laws are widely flouted, and the grueling work schedules continue. The reason, of course, is financial. It is much cheaper to staff an emergency room with four physicians working 100 hours a week than with 10 physicians working 40 hours a week.

Your "Anonymous Resident" probably knows this. Chances are, he will not make a fatal error, but he is right to be concerned. He may fear that challenging the establishment could affect the evaluation he receives from whoever runs the program, so he keeps quiet.

The greatest pressure is felt by interns, who are the most junior physicians and yet do the bulk of the physical work. It's scary when people suddenly turn to you in a crisis and ask, "What should we do now, doctor?" Suddenly, you find yourself facing a life-or-death decision. To make such a decision with little or no sleep and minimal supervision from a senior staff member can be terrifying.

I sympathize with "Anonymous Resident." Every physician has been through it. Unquestionably, brutal hours and sleep deprivation teach self-reliance and build self-confidence, but there are inherent dangers that need to be addressed by the medical establishment. The sooner the better.

Dear Ann Landers: When I read in your column about the couple on a Minnesota cross-country ski trip who had sex while on skis, it brought to mind the couple I saw having sex on a tram going down Aspen Mountain. His bare behind was right up in the window!

I had flown from Kentucky to visit my daughter and son-in-law who had raved about the beauty of Aspen, Colo. It was truly exquisite, even with the unexpected "scenery." Too bad I didn't have a camera. — C.G. in Birmingham, Ala.

Dear C.G.: Maybe it's the altitude. Regardless — shame on them!

Ann Landers' booklet, "Nuggets and Doozies," has everything from the outrageously funny to the poignantly insightful. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $5.25 (this includes postage and handling) to: Nuggets, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. RELAXING WITH AROMAS

Push back your recliner. Breathe deeply. Are you wondering "what's for dinner?" or are you just relaxing? Probably both. Psychologists are learning that food odors and imagery can have calming effects.

In a study at Yale University, psychologists looked at the relaxation-inducing potential of three odors: spiced apple, eucalyptus and lavender. Spiced apple showed the strongest calming effects in a relaxed but awake state.

Psychologists then tested to see if simply thinking about food or an imagined relaxing event would produce the same results. It did.

Earlier research has found that various food odors, including spiced apple, can lower blood pressure in some people. It is thought that when a person savors a pleasant fragrance, the individual takes deeper and slower breaths, thus relaxing the respiratory pattern - much as one does in meditation. The odor also might serve as a distraction, focusing attention on or inducing positive memories and emotions.

Food odors and imagery have definite potential as adjustments to standard stress-reduction therapy.

Whether you're enjoying the potpourri pot, dreaming of a hot fudge sundae or thinking about your favorite country dinner, you are being good to yourself. In addition to the pleasure and health benefits, imagery and aromas have fewer calories than consumption.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

The Right Price - Keep Customers, Maximize Profit

(Part one of two-part series)

Finding the best price for products and services is a problem that every small-business owner must deal with. If your prices are too high, you may lose potential sales or customers. If your prices are too low, you may not generate enough profit to stay in business.

Most owners use cost-plus or cost-based pricing strategies. These are easy methods that require minimal effort and information to use.

The main problem with cost-based pricing is that it ignores two critical components of marketing: competition and the customer's willingness to pay. Cost-based pricing is inflexible and usually won't allow you maximize your return on investment. It also can limit your ability to capture additional market share when conditions are favorable. Frequently, I work with business owners whose competitors have lowered prices to gain market share. The most common response is to reduce prices to match the competition. This knee-jerk reaction often triggers a price war that causes everyone to give up profit unnecessarily. While the customer may benefit in the short term, usually prices bounce back up when the least efficient price cutter goes out of the business. I believe that competition is healthy. However, you base the most effective competitive strategies on giving the customer the best value, not just the lowest price.

Avoiding a price war

I'm reminded of two stories I heard recently. A well established barber-shop owner named Bill charged $12 for his haircuts. Bill was a talented barber who did quality work. His business was healthy and growing.

One day a fresh barber-school graduate opened a shop next door. The new kid on the block immediately put up a huge sign that read, "Haircuts $6."

Bill, the established professional, had a decision to make. Should he lower his price and match the new competition or hold his price and risk losing good customers?

Bill knew if he lowered his price his income would shrink. He also knew that to do nothing could mean losing customers and sales revenue. So he took swift action. Bill erected a bright, new sign that proclaimed in big, bold letters, "We Fix $6 Haircuts."

Krystal had a similar problem. Her successful ladies' wear shop also attracted low-price competition. A national off-price chain opened a store on Krystal's left. They immediately erected a big sign that proclaimed "Dress Sale, $10 up."

A week later another discount store opened on Krystal's right. Their equally bold sign read, "Dress Sale, 50 percent off."

Suddenly, Krystal found herself sandwiched between two price-driven competitors. At first she toyed with the idea of buying off-price merchandise, lowered quality and going head-to-head with her competition price.

Then one day as she stood in front of her store, Krystal had a better idea. She ordered a new sign for her store. It was just as big, bold and bright as her competitor's signs. Krystal centered her new sign right over her door. It read, "Dress Sale, Enter here."

While these two illustrations are apocryphal, there is a common point. You don't have to compete on price, but you do need a strategy to stay in business when faced with low-price competitors.

The right pricing strategy for your business will depend on several elements. Market demand, type of product or service offered, type of customer desired, geographic area, competition, operating costs and product or service mix are a few examples.

Next week in part two, I'll give you some tips on when to raise or lower your prices. Don't miss The Right Price - part two.

Between the Covers

By REBECCA WALLS

Last Monday and Tuesday afternoon the children in Sue Cherry's after school program participated in the activity of face painting. Martha and I got to help Sue transform each child's face into the creature of their choice.

The first step in this transformation was for the children to select from two or three books the face they wanted. There were a few that chose to be witches or devils but other chose puppies, rabbits, pumpkins, butterflies, Indians, and other beings of their own creation. As each face was finished the child would quickly go to the mirror to see how they looked.

The best part of this program was seeing the sparkle in each child's eyes as they entered into the world of make-believe or "play pretend" as my children used to say. For a few hours each child was able to take control and enter into a different world, time, space, and place where they didn't have to be themselves.

Do you remember begin able to play pretend and the pleasure you had in that private world where you had total control? I'm with Martha, I love this job!

I also had the privilege of assisting a non-reader to discover the pleasures of reading by using a different medium. This is a family that has struggled with a disability called dyslexia. As many of you know there are different degrees of severity and different forms of dyslexia. But because it is so difficult to make sense of the jumbled letters on the page reading becomes labor some, and not something that is enjoyed.

Through a teacher wanting this student to understand the book being read and studied in English Class, it was suggested this student ask the library for the book-on-tape. As I spoke to the parent about the story, he became interested in the book, so he also listened to some of the tapes. Later on I spoke to the parent again and he expressed his appreciation for our assistance and the chance to listen to the book. The parent was amazed at the detail that was given by the author; the thoughts of the characters, the description of the setting as well as the people, and was also amazed that the people could read it word for word and understand what they read.

It was then that I realized when it was that I discovered the joy in reading. It was when I could make the words flow that the characters became real people. Then I could become a part of the story. I could become that character and think his thoughts and feel what he felt. I am so glad that talking books-on-tape are available and are meeting a need in our community.

If you have not discovered the talking book collection come in and let us show you. I recently had a lady from Plainview ask if there was some way she could get a card from our library so that she could use our collection.

She travels through Hereford every weekend and came in to see what we had. According to her the Deaf Smith County Library has the best talking book selection in the Panhandle. Because of our willingness to share the talking books she has donated a number of titles that she had purchased before discovering our libraries collection.

With her donations and those from our community the talking book collection continues to grow. I am so proud to live in this area where people grow up with the philosophy of sharing. I do like this job.

Now for some new book titles coming out this week. Martha Grimes' The Case has Altered is a Richard Jury mystery. The mystifying double murders take place in the Lincolnshire Fens. The ground is sopping and made spongy with the frequent rains. The marshy land is one that doesn't have the pits of quicksand, but it is still relatively isolated and sparsely populated.

The lady found on the Wash was a kitchen maid employed at the Fengate estate. The body found floating in a canal in Windy Fen was the louche ex-wife of the owner of the Fengate estates, Max Owen. A number of the guests attending the ex-wife's dinner party that night have questionable reputations.

Because the case officially belongs to the Lincolnshire police, Richard Jury must plant someone inside the Fengate estate, someone like and antique expert. Someone like Melrose Plant a "deliciously eccentric character."

Deception on his Mind by Elizabeth George is about a small sea town community on the coast of Essex called Balford-le-Nez. When a member of the growing Asian community is found dead near the beach, the authorities suspect a racial confrontation. Detective Sergeant Barbara Havers is assigned to the case but must work without her partner Detective Inspector Thomas Lynley.

The Purification Ceremony by Mark T. Sullivan is definitely a page turner. Diana Jackman learned at a young age to move freely in the wilderness of Maine. A natural tracker Diana is the descendant of a long line of shamans, healers and hunters.

Diana makes her living as an environmental software writer. After losing her family Diana has learned to guard her feelings. Today she is about to embark on a journey through Northern British Columbia in search of whitetail deer. Diana hopes to start putting her life back together, but someone else has a different plan.

One by one the members of the hunting party are being stalked, slaughtered, and gutted just like the animals they seek. The killer is quick, relentless, and frighteningly efficient. The madman has a purpose and will not rest until the hunt is purified and all the hunters are dead. Diana's only chance for survival is to find the hunter.

Cattlemen need waterways

Agencies develop necessary conservation plans

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) - Cattle operations are working out a couple of deals with government agencies to protect waterways while letting herds continue feeding on traditional grazing land.

Rancher Bill Mosher Jr. is developing a conservation plan for 200 acres of meadows that border the upper Truckee River near Lake Tahoe.

And holders of 15 grazing leases along Southern Alameda Creek adopted a grazing management strategy to keep a parasite that can cause gastrointestinal illnesses from entering San Francisco's drinking water.

San Francisco's Public Utilities Commission approved the grazing management strategy, reversing a February decision to end all 15 grazing leases on 40,000 acres along the creek.

The agreement involves management practices designed to include risk assessment and monitoring programs guarding against Cryptosporidium parvum (C. parvum) and other waterborne pathogens.

Cattle producers agreed to exclude calves less than 4-months-old from areas around critical reservoirs and streams, allowing calving there only from August through October, putting water developments and supplemental feeders away from streams and develop a herd health plan.

"The grazing plan should show the citizens of California that the beef cattle industry is serious about maintaining the quality of the waters that flow through the land that we either own or lease," said Matt Echeverria, president of California Cattlemen's Association. "This has been a tremendous effort involving a diverse cross section of people from varying backgrounds who had a similar goal - clean water."

The main feature of the conservation plan at Lake Tahoe will be a fence that will divide the grazing area into three units so ranchers can restrict the amount of time cattle will spend next to the Truckee River.

The primary purpose is to restore willow trees that have declined drastically because cattle chew up the young trees while grazing.

"The value of the willows, from a water quality standpoint, is stabilizing the stream banks with roots and protecting stream banks from flood flows," says Joe Thompson, district conservationist with the Natural Resources Conservation Service, formerly the Soil Conservation Service.

Willow trees along the banks also "moderate the water temperatures in the river, keeping them cooler in summer and warmer in winter," Thompson says.

And leaves falling into the water become food for small invertebrates which feed the river's trout, he adds.

Thompson says Mosher's conservation plan may be a model for others because the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency is developing ordinances to govern grazing in the basin.

"The purpose will be to have the grazing industry comply with water quality standards just as other industries in the basin have to comply to protect the lake," he says.

Mosher's plan will help lake quality, Thompson adds, because the land on which his cattle graze "is one of the last meadows which functions as a filter for water coming out of the Truckee watershed at South Shore."

Sorghum fungus found in Clovis

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) - A fungus that attacks sorghum has made its way from Africa to Clovis, where New Mexico's first case has been recorded.

"Since it's an airborne fungal thing, there's no way we could put up a fence and stop it," said Bruce Hinrichs, the Curry County extension agent.

Sorghum ergot has infected less than an acre of a 30-acre seed sorghum crop on the eastern edge of Curry County near the New Mexico/Texas border.

"It's probably not going to create too much damage," Hinrichs said. "We're not expecting huge acreages of the disease. I think we'll see bits and pieces. I think we'll see isolated outbreaks."

Sorghum farmers must take a gamble in efforts to stem the disease: They can either treat it with an expensive chemical or hope conditions are unfavorable for the fungus.

"The seed guys are going to have to plan ahead. They're probably going to have to be doing some treatments," Hinrichs said.

A fungicide sold under the brand name Tilt has been approved to battle ergot, which has infected the Texas Panhandle - the heart of the world's sorghum seed crop.

Growers in Asia and Africa have dealt with the fungus for decades, but it did not move into the Western Hemisphere until 1995. Since then, it has moved steadily northward from Brazil, through Central America and Mexico.

It crossed the Rio Grande into Texas last winter.

It is hard to know how much of New Mexico's sorghum crop could be affected by the fungus, which reduces grain yield and damages seed quality, Hinrichs said. New Mexico farmers planted 230,000 acres of sorghum in 1996. Sorghum, or milo, is an important feed grain.

Conditions have to be right for the disease to develop, Hinrichs said.

"Temperature, humidity, the stage the crop is in - all have to come together at one time for the disease to manifest itself," he said.

The fungus attacks only unpollinated plants, so sorghum grown for seed production is more vulnerable than grain crops, which pollinate themselves.

"If the fungus, instead of pollen, hits the plant, this really sticky substance is produced and no grain is produced," he said.

The sticky substance also can gum up machinery during harvest.

Everyone wins with new public rangeland laws

WASHINGTON (AP) - Grazing livestock on public rangeland in the West would cost more, but ranchers would gain economic stability and face less government red tape under House-passed legislation.

"It's good for the livestock industry, good for the environment, good for the taxpayer and good for the management of public lands," said Rep. Bob Smith, R-Ore., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

But critics said the bill, passed Thursday, would continue a taxpayer subsidy for livestock foraging that is harmful to some 270 million acres of Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management land in 16 Western states.

"The end consequence is going to be that the environment is going to pay," said Rep. Bruce Vento, D-Minn.

The House voted 242-182 Thursday to send the measure to the Senate, where its fate is uncertain.

Earlier, the House narrowly defeated two amendments that would have increased the grazing fee further. One amendment was adopted to boost the fee for foreign-owned operations that graze animals on rangeland.

About 23,000 producers of cattle, sheep and goats hold permits to graze animals on public rangeland.

Under a new grazing formula in the bill, the $1.35 fee would rise an average of 20 cents for each animal unit, defined as the forage eaten each month by a cow and calf or by seven sheep or goats.

The fee increase would raise about $6 million in new revenue over four years but would not offset the costs of managing the land, resulting in a subsidy estimated at $25 million to $50 million.

One amendment by Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, changed the bill to remove concern that it would enact a new property right for ranchers and scrap a provision allowing expansion of the ability to sublease land. Also removed was a section giving ranchers effective control over local councils that make grazing policy recommendations.

Supporters said the measure would increase the focus on science-based environmental management of public land and improve cooperation among government, environmentalists and ranchers.

"I believe this bill is a significant step in the right direction," said House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga. "It offers greater stability and sound economic management for family ranchers across the United States."

The House defeated, 212-208, an amendment by Vento to increase the federal grazing fee for large producers by either 25 percent or to the level states charge for grazing on their land, which is usually higher.

But lawmakers agreed on a voice vote to raise the fee to those state levels or higher for foreign holders of grazing permits. This would affect eight permit holders from Canada, Australia and Switzerland who graze some 77,500 animals on public land.

Rain hurt Arkansas cotton

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The harvest of Arkansas' 930,000 acres of cotton was sidetracked by recent rains, and that has Bill Robertson on edge.

Robertson, a cotton specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Arkansas, says wet weather delays cotton harvest and dulls cotton's whiteness.

In addition, rain brings the possibility of wind that can knock cotton out of its bolls and onto the ground.

More than 50 percent of the state's cotton crop had been harvested as of Wednesday. That was behind the five-year average as well as last year's average at this time, but that is not because of recent rain.

Robertson says the cool, wet spring caused late planting and meant cotton did not grow as well as usual. Some farmers have gotten good yields, while others have not.

The late forecast from the Arkansas Agricultural Statistics Service places the statewide average yield at 770 pounds per acre, a little better than average.

Carolina uglies feed the hungry

Farmers would rather donate cull produce than have it waste

MONROE, N.C. (AP) - Beauty is only skin-deep, the saying goes, and a beat-up squash or an undersized turnip picked straight from the fields can taste just as good as a flawless one from a grocery store.

Groups across North Carolina are looking for food that doesn't make the grade as a way of feeding the hungry. As word of the programs spreads, more and more food is being saved.

The state's largest gleaning project collected about 5.3 million pounds of fresh produce in 1996, more than doubling the previous year.

The program, an effort by the state Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and the Society of St. Andrews, was started in 1992 and distributes the below-grade produce to food banks, low-income housing facilities, food pantries and church groups.

Interest in the program has exceeded expectations, says one organizer.

"It's taken me by surprise," said Gary Gay, director of the Agriculture Department's Food Distribution Division. "The interest tells me people want to help people but that there's also a real need for it. People want to help, but there are less people who want to help than there are people who need this food."

The program has seven regional offices, and employs 92 farmers and more than 4,200 volunteers, most of whom comb fields for overlooked produce or haul loads of the produce to all corners of the state. The program delivers food to about 330 agencies ranging from housing projects to soup kitchens to children's homes to drug-rehabilitation centers.

Since the program started, the volume of produce gleaned has increased by more than 300 percent, said society spokeswoman Julia Webb-Bowden. Unfortunately, the need has grown almost as fast, she said.

"It's an ongoing battle," said Webb-Bowden. "For many of the people we're feeding, we'll continue feeding them because their economic picture is not going to improve a great deal. As much produce as we produce, people think we eventually run out of people who need it and that's not true."

The program is volunteer-driven, and farmers can get tax credits by participating, Webb-Bowden said.

Ray Cook, a Monroe farmer, said he routinely wasted tons of food before he heard about the society's Charlotte office and Community Food Rescue, which salvages surplus food from restaurants, markets and elsewhere.

Instead of dumping his unmarketable vegetables this summer, Cook donated 23,000 pounds - or nearly 70,000 servings.

"Tons and tons and tons I've thrown away over the years," Cook said. "I'd much rather help load it onto somebody's truck than take my tractor and bury it."

This year, gleaning volunteers have collected 348,427 pounds of apples, strawberries, blackberries, watermelon, corn and beans from farms across the Carolinas. The group is now at its busiest, harvesting root vegetables. Cook's farm has been visited a dozen times.

Cook said he likes knowing his work goes to a good cause.

"You hate to dump it after you've gone to all the work of planting and caring for it," Cook said. "It brings tears to your eyes. No. 2, somebody needs it. It's real troublesome for me to think there are people who could have made a meal out of it. Having something for somebody to eat - that's what we're out here for."

TAM 110 WITH GREENBUG RESISTANCE
 Late planted wheat is susceptible to greenbugs in April and TAM 110 is resistant to these infestations. If you have not planted wheat, but plan to double crop behind corn, cotton, or sorghum, TAM 110 is best suited for this practice. Late planted, ungrazed wheat is more susceptible to greenbugs and Tam 110 is resistant. Lush wheat being fresh young and tender, makes it very vulnerable to heavy greenbug infestations in April. TAM 110 has also topped yield trails for both irrigated and dryland production.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!
 Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.
 For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:
 -Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
 -Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
 -Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
 -Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

ENGINEERING SERVICES PUBLIC NOTICE

The City of Hereford is soliciting proposals from qualified individuals or firms for engineering services required by the City for implementation of the Texas Community Development Program. This project is being financed with Federal funds from a grant received by the City from Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. In order to be considered, proposals must be submitted prior to 5:00 p.m. on the 14th day of November, 1997.

The city reserves the right to negotiate with any and all engineering firms that submit proposals, per the Texas Professional Services Procurement Act and Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A-102. The City reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

The City of Hereford is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

A complete Request for Proposal outlining services required by the City, submission requirements, and evaluation criteria has been prepared. Interested parties may obtain copies of this Request for Proposal by contacting the person below.

HOW DO YOU WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT GETS RESULTS?

BE THOROUGH. Sure you want your ad to stand out from the rest, but don't skip on the sort of information that sells. The items condition, size, age, brand name, and color are some of the basics readers want to know. Without them, your ad may be passed by.

STEER CLEAR OF ABBREVIATIONS. OK, so you want to include all the important basics, now don't confuse your reader by using strange abbreviations. What is perfectly clear to you may be perfectly unrecognizable to someone else!

BE HONEST. Exaggerating your items' finer points may bring in a lot of responses, but a buyer who's misled won't appreciate it - and will take this business somewhere else.

STATE YOUR PRICE. The cost of an item is one of the most important concerns of Classified readers. Ads showing prices are one which get results. Giving a price also serves to "weed out" those buyers not in your price range.

BE ACCESSIBLE. Including a telephone number or address puts you in touch with potential buyers. Be sure to state the hours you can be reached; a caller who can't get through the first time often won't call again.

Don't hesitate to call with any questions. Our professional sales staff knows the market and would be happy to help you know how to write the ad that we're here to help you reach the right people. The Hereford Brand Classifieds 364-2030

PUBLIC NOTICE

No. 97-08930 IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF 345th JUDICIAL DISTRICT TRAVIS COUNTY, TEXAS TEXAS DAILY NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION and TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION, on Behalf of Themselves and Their Member Newspapers, Plaintiffs,

HON. DAN MORALES, Attorney General, State of Texas, THE STATE OF TEXAS BEN CLICK, Chief of Police, City of Dallas THOMAS WINDHAM, Chief of Police, City of Fort Worth C.O. BRADFORD, Chief of Police, City of Houston DALE ROGERS, Chief of Police, City of Galveston BRUCE MILLS, Acting Chief of Police, City of Austin AL. PHILIPPUS, Chief of Police, City of San Antonio LANNIE LEE, Chief of Police, City of Snyder REX HOSKINS, Chief of Police, City of Decatur. Defendants, in their Official Capacities and on Behalf of a Class of Similarly Situated Officials

NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF CLASS ACTION TO: All government officials in the State of Texas who have custody or control over records covered by the provisions of Senate Bill 1069, including motor vehicle records, records with information related to vehicular accidents, dispatch logs, towing records and 911 records, and/or who have authority to enforce any criminal provisions of Senate Bill 1069.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a suit has been filed in this Court that may affect your legal interests. This case has been certified by the Court as a defendant class action. A defendant class action is a lawsuit in which one or more persons is sued on behalf of other persons in the same or similar situation. As a governmental official within the class definition, you are a member of the class of defendants certified by the Court.

YOU ARE NOT BEING SUED INDIVIDUALLY. THERE IS NO REQUIREMENT THAT YOU ATTEND COURT, HIRE A LAWYER, OR PAY THE COSTS OF THIS LITIGATION, IF YOU CHOOSE. HOWEVER, YOU MAY HIRE YOUR OWN LAWYER. IF YOU DO SO, YOU WILL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR PAYING YOUR OWN LAWYER'S FEES.

AS A MEMBER OF THIS CLASS, YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED OF THE FOLLOWING:

1. The Plaintiffs are two newspaper associations who have sued on behalf of their members. Generally, the Plaintiffs allege that S.B. 1069's restrictions on public access to motor vehicle records, accident reports, dispatch logs, towing records, 911 records, and any other records by which a person might obtain the date, specific location, or name of persons violate the Texas Constitution. The Plaintiffs also allege that S.B. 1069's prohibition against publication of motor vehicle record information on the Internet is unconstitutional.

2. The Court has certified this action as a defendant class action. The named defendants in this lawsuit have been certified as representatives of the class of defendants.

3. The Court has certified this action under Rule 42(b)(2) of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure as a class action against the class of defendants as defined above. Under Rule 42(b)(2) of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, you are hereby notified that (1) Plaintiffs allege and will seek to establish that S.B. 1069 is unconstitutional; (2) as a member of this class, the judgment rendered in this suit will be binding on you, whether favorable or not; and (3) that you have the right to appear before Court and challenge the Court's determinations as to the class and its representatives.

YOU ARE ADVISED THAT YOU ARE A MEMBER OF THE CLASS and that if you choose to do so you may exercise the right set out immediately above to appear in Court and challenge the Court's judgments as to the class and its representatives. You may notify the Court of your intentions to do so at:

TO: Ms. Amelia Rodriguez-Mendoza, District Clerk, Travis County Courthouse, Austin, Texas 78701

4. For additional information, please contact the following persons: James Penson, Assistant Attorney General, P.O. Box 12548, Capital Station, Austin, Texas 78711 (512)463-2120; (512)320-0867 (fax)

Donald S. Bayne, Assistant City Attorney, City Hall, Third Floor, San Antonio, Texas 78283, (210)207-6940 (210)207-4367 (fax)

5. Be aware that the Court, by initially certifying this action as a class action, has not expressed any opinion as to the merits of this action.

6. You are entitled to appear at the hearing specified in the following paragraph and request inclusion in this action as a class representative.

7. TAKE NOTICE that the Court has entered the attached Second Amended Temporary Injunction. On December 5, 1997 at 8:00 a.m., the Court will hold a hearing before Judge Paul Davis in Travis County Court-house, 1100 Guadalupe Street, Austin, Texas 78701, to determine whether to confirm this agreed injunction will be binding on the class. The Court at that hearing will entertain arguments in support of and against confirming application of this agreed injunction to the class.

DATE: October 24, 1997

SIGNED: Paul Davis, Travis County District Judge

The House of the Week

Solar Bright

G-76

FINISHED WITH natural vertical cedar planks and a stone veneer, this contemporary three-bedroom home is an eye-catcher.

By BRUCE A. NATHAN
AP Newsfeatures

A passive-solar design with a six-sided core living area, plan G-76, by HomeStyles Designers Network, is angled to capture as much sunlight as possible. It provides 1,647 square feet of living area.

Protected from the elements, the sidelighted, double-doored entry opens into a reception area, which, in turn, leads to the flowing living and dining area.

This generous space features a 14-foot domed ceiling with sky lights, a freestanding fireplace and three sets of sliding glass doors. The central sliding doors lead to a glass-enclosed sun room, an ideal spot in which to relax and enjoy the sunlight.

With cupboards and counters that follow the contours of the home, the efficient kitchen makes the most of its space. A casual eating area merges with a cozy den to create a family space. Sliding glass doors in the den lead out to one of three backyard terraces.

Secluded from the living areas for privacy, the master bedroom includes ample closet space, sliding-glass-door access to a private terrace and a luxurious bath with a whirlpool tub.

Two good-sized secondary bedrooms share a convenient hall bath, completing the quiet sleeping wing of this floor plan.

(For a more detailed, scaled plan of this house, including guides to estimating costs and financing, send $4 to House of the Week, P.O. Box 1562, New York, N.Y. 10116-1562. Be sure to include the plan number).

G-76

THE COVERED ENTRY leads into the reception area, which opens to the combined living and dining rooms. A sun room is at the back of the home, accessed through sliding glass doors. To the right, the den leads into the breakfast area and kitchen. A short hallway connects the kitchen with the basement stairs, the mudroom and the two-car garage. Across the home, the sleeping wing includes the master bedroom and two secondary bedrooms.

Homeowners should protect investment

Most people agree that their homes are their most valuable investment. But surprisingly, few homeowners know how to protect their "investment" when planning for a remodeling or repair project.

The most important step, which is often overlooked by homeowners, is how to choose a contractor. There are specific and easy dos and don'ts when choosing a contractor that help homeowners get the results they want.

As Americans continue to upgrade and improve their homes, choosing a contractor becomes an important first step -- even before selecting colors, tiles, materials and flooring.

It is critical for homeowners to ask these questions before hiring a contractor:

- *Have you met with the contractor before hiring him or her?
- *Have you inquired about the contractor's reputation?
- *Is the contractor licensed?
- *Is the contractor insured?
- *Have you asked for a written quote for the project?

G-76 STATISTICS

Design G-76 has a reception area, living room, dining room, den, kitchen, breakfast room, sun room, three bedrooms, two baths and a mudroom, totaling 1,647 square feet of living area. The plan includes a standard basement or slab foundation, and 2x4 or 2x6 exterior wall framing. The two-car garage adds 400 square feet of space to the plan.

Annual festival adds Thursday dinner, moves auction to Friday

The eighth annual Festival of Trees will be held Nov. 19-23 in the Senior Center, 426 Ranger.

The festival agenda which was expanded to five days last year will continue again this year.

Continuous Festival Activities and Children's Programs will begin at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 19.

A Preview of Trees is scheduled for 5 p.m.-8 p.m. on Wednesday, providing extra viewing time for anyone interested in bidding on one of the 24 beautifully decorated trees.

The Festival Gala, followed by the annual Festival Auction, has been moved to Friday from its previous Thursday night slot.

A new festival event, Willy and Friends Dinner, has been assigned to the Thursday evening schedule. This event includes dinner and a fun variety show for the cost of $7.50.

Traditionally, the trees included in the auction are artificial trees and there will once again be a 9-foot-tall Super Tree included in the selection.

The trees are sponsored by area companies for $500 per tree. Some are sponsored by one company, while others have two firms splitting the cost.

The Super Tree takes a $1,000 donation.

The regular 6-1/2 to 7 feet tall artificial trees are provided by the Senior Center. Decorations for the trees are provided by individuals, businesses, school groups and service clubs.

Decorators determine what theme will be used for their tree.

In 1996, the tree auction raised $19,820 to benefit Hereford Senior Citizens Association.

The highest price paid for a tree last year was $2,000 for the "Cherub Serenade" purchased by Mr. and Mrs. S.L. Garrison. The tree featured handcrafted porcelain dolls made by members of the doll class at the Senior Center and friends.

The Memorial Tree, which was begun in 1994, will be featured again this year. The lighted, wooden Christmas tree serves as a place for people to honor loved ones through financial donations.

Donor amounts and their corresponding tree lights are:

- Green light, $10-$99.
- Blue light, $100-$249.
- Red light, $250-$499.
- Gold light, $500-$1,000.

One of the continuous festival activities is the Holiday Bazaar. Visitors can browse through the bazaar and shop for Christmas gifts.

A unique gift idea is the holiday baskets which are assembled, filled and wrapped by members of Senior Citizens. Each basket contains an assortment of items built around a central theme and no two baskets are identical.

One ever-popular activity of the festival is the Lionel train display. The Nolan Henson family of Happy sets up the display each year but each year it has been changed from the previous year.

Other continuous festival activities include the Herd Restaurant, Bake Shop, Children's Shopping and Children's Crafts. There is no admission charge for these activities.

The melodrama, "The Plight Before Christmas," will be presented at 7 p.m. Saturday. Tickets for the show and catered roasted tenderloin dinner are $12.50.

The final day of activities Sunday will include a Holiday Turkey Buffet served from 12 noon to 2 p.m. The cost is $7.50 for adults and $3.50 for children 12 and under.

Advance tickets are required for Willy and Friends Dinner and the melodrama dinner theater due to limited seating. Call 364-5681 to make reservations.

All proceeds from the Festival of Trees benefit Hereford Senior Citizens Association, a local organization that provides services to the Senior Citizens of this area. Some of the services include congregate and home-bound meals, transportation and a new, modern senior center that is always filled with planned events.

More trees added to annual park lighting

The City of Hereford will sponsor the second annual "Christmas in the Park" complete with an appearance by Santa Claus at 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 1 in Mother's Park.

The park is located at the north end of Main Street at the intersection of Main, Avenue B and Park Avenue.

The streets immediately surrounding the park will be closed to traffic with the exception of Park Avenue.

Choral entertainment will be provided under the direction of Margaret Williams.

To highlight the event, Santa will have the honor of turning on the lights on the 45-foot red cedar Christmas tree.

In addition to lighted trees in Mother's Park, trees will also be lit in the adjacent corner of Dameron Park.

City crews will begin the task of stringing lights on Nov. 18.

The Pilot Club of Hereford will again prepare and serve coffee and hot chocolate in the Hereford Garden Center, directly across the street from Mother's Park.

Tree lighting

The City of Hereford sponsored the first "Christmas in the Park" last year with the lighting of the trees in Mothers' Park. Santa Claus, photo at right, made a special appearance to turn on the lights and greet the youngsters. Members of the Pilot Club of Hereford, above, served coffee and hot chocolate. Both Santa and the Pilot Club "elves" will be at the second annual ceremony.

Clean out the refrigerator

Recipes feature leftover Thanksgiving turkey

"Leftovers are a time-honored Thanksgiving Day tradition," says Carolyn Verweyst, Home Economist for Whirlpool Home Appliances. "But to ensure food safety, try to use your leftovers quickly." The home economists at Whirlpool Home Appliances offer Thanksgiving leftover recipes to encourage consumers to clean out the fridge and enliven turkey day leftovers before you're stuck eating yams and turkey salad well into December.

Turkey and Ham Shepherd's Pie
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup chopped onion

2 cups quartered or sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1 can (14-1/2 ounces) chicken broth
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves
2 cup broccoli florets, cooked
1 cup sliced carrots, cooked
1 cup cubed cooked turkey
1 cup cubed cooked ham
Salt & pepper
Pastry for 9-inch pie
2 cups mashed potatoes
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar

cheese, optional

Saute celery, onion, and mushrooms in margarine in large saucepan until tender, 5 to 8 minutes. Stir in flour; cook 1 to 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly.

Add chicken broth and herbs to saucepan; heat to boiling. Boil, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in broccoli and carrots, turkey, ham; season to taste with salt and pepper.

Line 1-quart souffle dish or casserole with pie pastry, trimming edge to fit; spoon cooked filling into crust. Mix potatoes and cheese, spoon over top. Bake at 425 degrees until potatoes are browned, 30 to 35 minutes.

TIP: Any leftover vegetables can be used in this dish.
Makes 4 servings (about 1-1/4 cups each)

White Bean Turkey Chili

2 cups chopped onion
1 cup yellow bell pepper, chopped
1/2 jalapeno chili, finely chopped
1 teaspoon minced garlic
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 can (14-1/2 ounce) chicken broth
1 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1 teaspoon dried cumin
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 can (15 ounces) Great Northern beans, rinsed, drained
2 cups cubed turkey

Salt & pepper
1/4 cup chopped green bell pepper
1/4 cup chopped tomato

Saute onions, pepper, jalapeno chili, and garlic in oil in large saucepan until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour and cook 1 to 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly.

Add chicken broth and herbs to saucepan; heat to boiling. Boil, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in beans and turkey and cook 3 to 4 minutes; season to taste with salt and pepper.

Spoon chili into bowls; top each with 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper and tomato.

Makes 4 servings.
Per serving: Calories 317; Fat 5.4g; Carbohydrates 40g; Protein 27.8g; Sodium 757mg.

Turkey and Bean Wraps

1 medium onion, sliced
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 cup mild or medium salsa
2 cups shredded cooked turkey
1 can (15 ounces) refried beans, warm
6 flour tortillas, warm
2 cups shredded lettuce
6 tablespoons sour cream

Saute bell pepper, onion, and garlic in oil in a small saucepan until tender. Add salsa and turkey and cook over medium heat until hot through, 3 to 4 minutes.

Spoon about 1/4 cup refried beans on each tortilla; top with turkey mixture and 1 tablespoon sour cream and roll up. Serve on a bed of shredded lettuce.

Applications accepted Nov. 10-14

The 1997 edition of Hereford's holiday charity, the Christmas Stocking Fund, will accept applications for assistance during the week of Nov. 10-14.

Sign-ups will be held in the west end of Hereford Community Center from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day. The Tri-County chapter of the American Red Cross, although not affiliated with CSF, provides volunteers to take applications.

Those registering for assistance must provide some form of personal identification and proof of Deaf Smith County residence. If applicants are seeking help with water, gas or electric bills, copies of those bills and appropriate account numbers are required.

Marking its 17th season of operation in 1997 and its 11th season following restructuring in 1986, the

CSF is not affiliated with any governmental entity, nor with any other organization. The charity assists the less fortunate of Hereford and Deaf Smith County during the Christmas season.

CSF volunteers screen applications and make the tough decisions on assistance to be extended while keeping in mind that they must operate within a budget that is dictated by the sum of donations.

The local charity assists with food, clothing, utility and medical expenses, and the special needs of children and senior citizens within the community.

CSF is funded strictly by the caring and sharing of the local community. The Hereford Brand serves as the official collection point for the CSF Funds. The newspaper periodically publishes listings of CSF donors. The Brand will begin accepting donations immediately after Thanksgiving.

Donations may be made in person at The Brand, 313 N. Lee St., or they may be mailed to CSF in care of The Brand, Box 673, Hereford. Donors wishing to remain anonymous should notify The Brand at the time they give.

Last year, CSF collected $18,393. The record total for CSF contributions - $21,451 - came in 1993 when local residents responded on the heels of a scare that the charity wouldn't be able to raise enough to cover its most-need cases that year. The CSF's second highest total came in 1989 when donations hit $20,718.

Tree bedecked with customs and history

Of all Christmas customs, perhaps the most universally treasured is the Christmas tree. Brightly decorated with shimmering lights and glittering ornaments, the tree is as likely to reflect the traditions of each individual family as it is those of the world at large.

From the exciting moment when the tree is erected, usually some day in advance of Christmas Eve, it commands a position of central importance during all holiday festivities.

So much so that it is difficult to believe that, a scant 200 years ago, the custom of trimming a tree at Christmastime was not widely observed outside its native Germany.

One legend credits Martin Luther, the 16th-century theologian, with having set up the very first Christmas tree. According to this legend, Luther conceived of a tree alight with countless candles as a way of representing to his children the glory of the starlit heaven.

However, historical sources indicate that the first Christmas tree can be traced to the early 17th century, when fir trees -- decorated with colored, paper, gold foil, apples, toys and candies -- were reported in the German city of Stasbourg.

What are the antique origins of the Christmas tree? Historians point to a multitude of sources, among them the Roman custom of decking residences with evergreens during the festival of Kalends, which occurred in the early part of January.

Parallels between the Roman observation of Kalends and the festivities traditional at Christmas are many and include those of decorating the home with lights and extending lavish hospitality to friends and family, as well as extravagant gift-giving.

Many early Christian beliefs stand behind the tradition of trimming a tree at Christmas. For instance, it was customary for people to bring flowering trees, like hawthorn or cherry, indoors during the autumn, so they might bloom, and bring forth fruit on Christmas Eve.

Local children who might not otherwise receive toys for Christmas get a helping hand from the Tri County Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Christmas Stocking Fund.

Stocking Fund, which helps needy residents during the holidays.

Individuals needing assistance from the CSF will apply for that help Nov. 10-14 in the Community Center lounge from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day.

The Red Cross uses the names of children in those families to form the basis of its toy program.

The Red Cross accepts toy

donations at any time. The donated toys must be usable, clean and in working condition. New toys are always welcomed.

Donated toys are cleaned by volunteers who make sure they are in working condition. Then other volunteers select toys for individual children included in the CSF applications.

After the toys are gathered, cleaned and divided into individual packages, they will be delivered by anonymous volunteers on Dec. 19.

In addition to toys, the Red Cross is also accepting donations of clean coats in good condition.

Anyone interested in making a donation to the Red Cross may drop them by the office at 224 S. Main during business hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or call 364-3761 to arrange a pickup or drop-off time.

HRMC is benefitted by annual Christmas card project

Project Christmas Card could be the solution to your Christmas greeting card dilemma. If the busy holiday season seems to overwhelm you and there isn't time to get it all done, skip sending individual Christmas greetings to local friends.

L'Allegra Study Club sponsors the project which offers individuals a way to make monetary contributions in the amount of what they would normally spend on Christmas cards and stamps.

Contribution canisters will be placed at several locations in the community such as banks, grocery stores, merchants and The Brand in late November.

The club provides envelopes on which contributors are asked to write their name as they would like it to appear in the newspaper.

The names of contributors will be printed in the Christmas Greetings edition of The Brand. Everyone listed there is sending greeting to the whole community.

Proceeds from Project Christmas Card benefit Hereford Regional Medical Center.

The project was started by the Medical and Dental Auxiliary, a group of doctors and dentists' spouses, as a community service project in 1956. L'Allegra has sponsored it since 1986.

With the support of the community, L'Allegra Study Club has purchased a colposcope, a gazebo, a mammogram grid, an oxygen monitor for obstetrics, a fetal monitor, a blood pressure monitor, a cardiac enzyme monitor and lab equipment with past proceeds from project Christmas Card.

Annual Christmas project

The annual Project Christmas Card donations will be accepted again this year by L'Allegra Study Club. Contribution canisters are placed throughout the community where residents can make donations in the amount of what they would normally spend on Christmas cards and postage stamps. The club places a page ad in The Brand with names of donors as a greeting to the whole community. Proceeds from the project are used to buy needed equipment for Hereford Regional Medical Center.

Preview night, fun breakfast scheduled

Local merchants will display their wares at the Hereford Community Center at 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 12 during the "Eat-Your-Heart-Out-Nieman-Marcus" Preview Night.

Santa Claus will attend the Preview Night as a special treat for the young and young at heart.

He will also make a special guest appearance at the "Eat-Your-Heart-Out-Nieman-Marcus" Fun Breakfast at 6:30 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 13.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee will host the Preview Night. Businesses will display Christmas gift ideas in booths at the community center. Entertainment and door prizes will be offered.

The booths will be open again prior to the Fun Breakfast Thursday.

The breakfast agenda will include games, drawings for prizes, local community announcements and the presentation of a Bull Chip award.

Karen Sherrod was the recipient of the prestigious Bull Chip Award presented by Tom Simons at last year's Fun Breakfast.

Area bazaars offer shoppers array of handmade gift ideas

Handmade items make a welcome gift for nearly anyone on your Christmas list. Annual arts and crafts bazaars are an excellent source for such items.

If you are an artist or craftsman, the bazaars offer opportunities to display your handiwork and perhaps increase your income as well.

Several bazaars are scheduled in Hereford and surrounding towns, some with booth space still available.

Westway Country Christmas Bazaar is scheduled for Nov. 8 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center.

Proceeds from the bazaar benefit 4-H and other community projects.

Wesley United Methodist Church will host its 17th Annual Festival of Arts and Crafts from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Dec. 6 in the Community Center.

A limited number of booths are available, with applications being screened for only handmade arts and crafts.

For an application, write Ellen Collins, 801 Miles St., Hereford, Texas 79045 or call 806-364-0774.

The Holiday Bazaar of the Festival of Trees will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 19-22 in the Senior Center, 426 Ranger.

The bazaar features gift baskets, ceramic figurines, handcrafted porcelain dolls, quilts and other items made by members of Hereford Senior Citizens Association.

Moonlight Extension Club will hold its 19th Annual Christmas Bazaar Dec. 5-6 in the Bailey County

Civic Center and Coliseum in Muleshoe.

Applications for booth space are accepted until Dec. 1.

To request an application form, contact Linda Huckaby, 902 West 8th Street, Muleshoe, Texas 79347.

The Holiday Arts and Crafts Bazaar, sponsored by Nazareth Art Club, will be held from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Nov. 23 in the Nazareth School Cafeteria.

Reservations for booth space can be made until Nov. 15. For more information contact Lucille Drerup; Box 3, Nazareth, Texas 79063 or call 806-945-2562.

A "Turkey Dinner" will be served at noon in the Nazareth Community Hall sponsored by the Christian Mother Society.

Decorations, outside and inside

Christmas decorations at the E.B. Black House will add to the holiday mood when the Deaf Smith County Historical Society hosts the open house and Christmas tea from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 7 for all Deaf Smith County residents.

Christmas tea planned at E.B. Black House

An open house and Christmas tea will be held from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 7 at the E.B. Black House hosted by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society.

The open house has been scheduled to coordinate with La Madre Mia Study Club's annual Christmas Tour of Homes so that those who have concluded the tour can visit the Black House for refreshments and have the opportunity to view the Christmas decorations.

CUSTOMS

This tradition may derive from the belief that St. Joseph of Arimathea, settling at Glastonbury in western England, planted his staff in the earth, whereupon it became a thorn tree and sprouted leaves. Furthermore, it miraculously blossomed.

December 24th, according to the old church calendar, was the Feast of Adam and Eve, on which day it was traditional to hang a fir tree with red apples. This Paradise Tree, as it was called, is certainly a forerunner of the Christmas tree as it is known now.

Today, centuries later, the Christmas spirit is still represented in the timeless manifestation of the ever-beautiful, ever-enchanted Christmas tree.

When decorating their tree, people should realize that not only are they creating their own family traditions, but they are continuing centuries of history.

Club fund-raiser highlights onset of season

La Madre Mia Study Club will highlight the onset of the Christmas season with its annual Tour of Homes from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Dec. 7.

Featured will be the homes of Robert and Camille Beville, 313 Sunset; Steve and Tonja Horrell, 218 Texas; and Mitch and Jan Reeve, 1919 Plains.

Tickets for the tour are $5 per person. They may be purchased in advance from any La Madre Mia Club member or at any of the featured homes the day of the tour.

Nicky Walser is chairman of the home tour committee for 1997. Committee members are Carolyn Baxter and Jan Metcalf.

Home hostesses for the tour will be Tricia Sims for the Reeve home, Cindy Cassels for the Beville home and Susan Hicks for the Horrell home.

The annual tour is the principle fund-raiser for the club. Money raised stays within the community for scholarships and other worthy causes.

La Madre Mia has made contributions in the past to Hereford Aquatic Center, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Hereford Satellite Center, Hereford High School Scholarship, United Way, Christmas Stocking Fund and Christmas Lighting Fund.

These and numerous other contributions have been made possible due to good attendance during the annual tours.

Those attending the tour this year will see antiques and unique Christmas decorations as well as numerous decorating and remodeling ideas.

They will also have a chance of winning the door prize that will be given away.

not previously named are Ruth Black, Francyne Bromlow, Merle Clark, Kay Hall, Mary Herring, Betty Lady, Glenda Marcum, Gladys Merritt, Lavon Nieman, Bettye Owen, June

Committee makes plans

The home tour committee of La Madre Mia Study Club finalizes plans for the 1997 Christmas Tour of Homes which will be held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 7. Committee chairman Nicky Walser, right, is assisted by Jan Metcalf, left, and Carolyn Baxter.

Web sites for all kinds of information on food

By KEVIN TANKERSLEY
Waco Tribune-Herald

WACO, Texas - Used to be, if you needed a recipe or two, you could always swap with the neighbor over the back fence. Now, with technology becoming more prevalent, and the barrier around the backyard being an eight-foot privacy fence, there's another way. Simply look around on the Internet. There, you can find thousands (and thousands) of recipes, for any type of cuisine, calling for every type of ingredient.

There are Web sites for those with various abilities in the kitchen, from the Reluctant Gourmet ("A culinary guide for the novice from a novice") to StarChefs, a site devoted to those making a living in the culinary world. Features at StarChefs include sources for professional kitchen utensils and ingredients.

One of the more entertaining sites is hosted by The Chef of Police, "a culinary Web site by a cop." The site comes alive with flashing police lights and sirens, but, as it says on its index page, contains no doughnut recipes.

For those with a love for chocolate, the Recipe Dude, based in Corpus Christi, has a whole page in his site devoted to the stuff. There is also a listing of recipes from South Texas, the Spice Rack, where he gives descriptions and tips for uses of various herbs and spices, three recipes for Red Velvet Cake and a simple recipe for Orange Lemon Chicken (recipe follows).

The Reluctant Gourmet is run by a former New York City stockbroker now living in Park City, Utah. His site says he began cooking as a way to relieve stress built up after a day in a Wall Street office. He and his wife drove around the country, 9,000 miles in all, looking for a new place to live, and ended up in Utah.

That site also contains a dictionary of culinary terms, starting with al dente ("the correct degree of doneness when cooking pasta").

Kitchen Link provides links to more than 7,000 sites on the web. Besides directing surfers to food sites, there are also sites listed dealing

When the holidays are not happy

(MS) — While the holidays can be the happiest time of the year for many, for some, it is a time of dread. For individuals who feel alone, images of ideal "happy families" can heighten the feeling of loneliness. Those who have suffered a bereavement often feel a resurgence of grief at the holiday season. Those with family members spread across the country may have to make hard "choices" of whom to spend the holidays with, creating hurt feelings and guilt.

Even for individuals who enjoy the holidays, there are increased demands on time, energy and finances that can cause additional stress. In families where both parents work, there may be guilt that traditional holiday preparations cannot be made for their children, as was made for them when they were young.

With all these stressors in action, it is important to distinguish between the "holiday blues" and clinical depression. While they share some of the same symptoms and people use the term "depression" loosely in conversation, the two are very different entities and require different strategies to alleviate the depressed mood.

Clinical depression is a mood disorder that is caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain. While its cause and treatment lay in the brain's neurochemistry, life events may trigger a bout of depression in a susceptible individual. The stresses and strains of the holidays might trigger a true clinical depression.

Holiday blues are just what they sound like: feelings of sadness, anger and tiredness coming at a time when people are supposed to be filled with joy. And, because they are supposed to be filled with the holiday spirit, add guilt to the above list. It is a transient feeling that does not require medical treatment and may be minimized by following a few simple strategies.

A case of the holiday blues will pass, but the National Foundation for Depressive Illness (NAFDI) offers some suggestions to minimize the stresses of the holidays:

- Do not take on more activities than you can handle; be realistic about what additional holiday responsibilities you can comfortably accept.
- Maintain your normal sleeping, eating and exercising patterns as much as possible.
- Plan a holiday budget, and stick to it; do not overspend or run up large credit-card bills.
- Keep your alcohol intake moderate; alcohol is actually a depressant. If you have a drinking problem, get the support you need during this especially difficult period.

Far more serious than the holiday blues is when the stresses of the holiday season trigger or worsen true clinical depression. Those who have had depression before should watch for the symptoms; those who are a family member or friend of that person should watch for the signs. These include:

- depressed mood
- loss of interest in things you used to enjoy
- changes in appetite and/or weight (more or less)
- changes in sleeping patterns
- fatigue
- feelings of worthlessness

• recurrent thoughts of death or suicide

If you know you are susceptible to clinical depression, follow the above guidelines, and look for the symptoms. If you are experiencing these symptoms, go to the doctor. If you are experiencing these symptoms for the first time in your life, your doctor can assess whether you are suffering from clinical depression and advise you on effective treatments. Clinical depression is treatable in 80 percent of cases.

Is it just 'the Blues'?

"The blues" are a normal reaction to unhappy or stressful life events. Depressive illness is not. It's a serious, debilitating condition that can lead to suicide. Use the following checklist to help determine if you or a loved one may be suffering from depressive illness.

SELF-TEST FOR DEPRESSIVE ILLNESS

- *I feel extremely sad all or most of the time.
- *I seem to have no energy.
- *I've lost interest in most of the activities I used to enjoy.
- *I sleep much more (or much less) than usual.
- *I eat much more (or much less) than usual.
- *I have trouble concentrating, remembering and making decisions.
- *I feel hopeless about the future.
- *I feel worthless.
- *I feel anxious.
- *I think about death and suicide.

If you agree with two or more statements, and if the symptoms have persisted for at least two weeks, the National Foundation for Depressive Illness (NAFDI) urges you to consult a biological psychiatrist for diagnosis and treatment. NAFDI's toll-free info line, 1-800-248-4344, tells you how to send for a complete information packet, including a list of doctors and support groups in your area.

Decorate the tree with Victorian spirit

The Christmas tree is usually the focal point of holiday spirit in the home, and every tree reflects the traditions of the family that decorated it.

In the Victorian era, people reveled in rich colors and textures. So, they adorned their Christmas trees with nosegays, silk tassels, paper and fabric fans, ornate glass ornaments, ropes of pearls and gold beads, and cornucopias. During the winter evenings before Christmas, Victorians would create these beautiful ornaments and place them on their trees.

To bring a 19th-century holiday into their home this year, people can create their own authentic Victorian decorations with these instructions from "365 Ways to prepare for Christmas" (HarperCollins), by David E. Monn.

NOSTALGIC NOSEGAYS

Small gold or white doily
Fabric rose
12 inches of ribbon that matches the rose, 1/2 inch thick
Tape
Stick the stem of a fabric rose into the center of a small gold or white doily, pinch it so it gathers around the flower, then turn it over and secure tightly with tape. Tie a 12-inch length of 1/2 inch matching ribbon once around the tape, and leave the ends as streamers. Use the stem to attach to the tree.

For a more romantic look, use a red heart-shaped doily. You also could use a larger doily and wire together bunches of dried flowers, like tea roses, baby's breath, heather and statice. For a seasonal touch, add some cinnamon sticks.

VICTORIAN JEWEL ORNAMENT

3-inch Styrofoam ball
Gold paint
4 inches gold wire
White glue
Gold beading pins
36 inches gold braid, 1/4 inch wide
Assorted gold and crystal beads and pearls
Gold beading
Beaded or gold tassel
Paint the Styrofoam ball gold, and let dry overnight.
Form a double loop of gold wire, and insert the ends into the top of the ball; glue to secure. With a glue gun and the gold pins, attach the gold braid around the ball twice to create four sections. Create a design with the loose beads, making each of the sections the same or completely different. Work very slowly to allow each piece to dry.
Attach the gold beading in loops around the bottom of the ornament. Finish off with a tassel at the very bottom of the ball.

CORNUCOPIAS

White or gold doily
Ribbon
Dried flowers
Glue or staples
Ribbon roses, optional
Cut a quarter wedge out of a white or gold doily, and wrap the rest around until you have a cone shape; glue or staple together. If you wish, add a small bow and some ribbon roses to the front; attach a ribbon loop for hanging. Fill with dried flowers.
For a more natural look, use handmade paper. Cut out a circle pattern 12 inches in diameter, then cut into four wedges; roll each into a cone. If you wish, stencil on some leaves or a design before forming the cone.
Take some children's party hats in bright colors, tie the elastic into a knot to shorten it, and fill with the dried flowers or, as a treat for the children, popcorn or small (not too heavy) Christmas candies. Hang on the tree by the elastic band; if the candy is too heavy, use a glue gun to attach a ribbon loop.

Christmas arrangement

Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority is selling chances for $1 each on this Christmas arrangement designed by Terry Sparks of Terry's Floral and Design. The arrangement will be on display Sunday in the shop during the Open House. It will also be on display during the Westway Country Christmas Bazaar Nov. 8 at the Community Center. The name of the winner will be drawn at the close of the bazaar.

VICTORIAN DOILY FANS

Round doily
Small fabric or dried flowers
Glue
Wire
Cut a round doily in half. Accordion pleat the half doily into a fan, and attach a cluster of small fabric or dried flowers to the front of it with glue. Attach to the tree with wire.

with family and parenting, books, consumer information, gardening, crafts and on and on. One interesting link is to a site featuring "copycat" recipes, directions for preparing dishes found in restaurant chains, such as Red Lobster's biscuits (recipe follows).

If you've ever been home on a Friday night flipping through the television channels, chances are you've come across a young couple putting together a meal during breaks in a film. That is Dinner and a Movie on TBS. Every Friday night, the hosts prepare a dish that somehow ties in with the movie being presented.

There's a Web site devoted to Dinner and a Movie, where you can find schedules for upcoming movies, and meals, as well as listings and recipes for those that have already aired.

For instance, one recent Friday, during the station's second annual Dinner and a Movie All-Nighter, you can find a recipe for "Molster Lobster Ravioli" during the screening of "Dick Tracy," "Bruce's Demi Tasse Cappuccino Cheesecake" during "Hudson Hawk" (starring Bruce Willis), and "Shoofly Pie" during "The Fly."

At the Epicurious site, more than 6,000 recipes from the files of Gourmet and Bon Appetit magazines can be found.

All manners of Texas food and cooking can be found at Texas Cooking. Featured are tips on preserving fruits and making jams, descriptions of Texas food festivals, and, of course, Southwestern and Tex-Mex recipes including one for Spicy Black-Eyed Peas (recipe follows).

Prizes can be won in a food trivia game at Food and Wine, the home of the electronic Gourmet Guide, which also includes columns written by culinary experts and Back of the House, an on-line soap opera based on the lives of a restaurant staff. The latest episode dealt with a waitress' comments to a customer who, she believes, stiffed her on a tip. All of the episodes are available for reading to bring the newcomers up to speed.

RANGE LEMON CHICKEN

4 chicken breasts
3 lemons
2 oranges
1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes
1/4 cup olive oil
1/4 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons parsley
Dash of salt and pepper
1/2 cup white wine

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Place chicken in 9-by-9-inch baking dish and squeeze oranges and lemons over the chicken. Add the olive oil and spices to the pan and coat the chicken well in the mixture. Place in preheated oven, reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until tender. Add white wine and broil for 15 minutes or until chicken is crisp.

- Recipe from the Recipe Dude

SPICY BLACK-EYED PEA

1 pound black-eyed peas
4 cups water
1/2 pound bacon, chopped
1/4 cup bacon drippings
1 large onion, chopped
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
2 teaspoons garlic powder
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt

Wash and pick over peas. In large pot or Dutch oven, combine peas and water and bring to boil; reduce heat and cook on low heat, covered, for 30 minutes. Add all other ingredients and simmer, covered, about 1 hour or until peas are tender. Serves many.

- Recipe from Texas Cooking

RED LOBSTER CHEESE BISCUIT

2 cups baking mix, such as Bisquick
1/2 cup lightly packed grated cheddar cheese
2/3 cup whole, low-fat or skim milk
1/2 stick (1/4 cup) butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Spoon baking mix into a cup to measure it. In large bowl with wooden spoon, toss together baking mix and cheese until well mixed. Add milk, stirring until soft dough forms. Beat vigorously with spoon for 30 seconds.

Drop dough by heaping-teaspoonfuls onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven 8 to 10 minutes or until golden brown. Melt butter and stir in garlic powder. Brush over warm biscuits before removing from baking sheet. Serve warm. Makes 10 to 12 biscuits.

- Recipe from Kitchen Link

FRESH FRUIT KABOBS WITH CHOCOLATE SAUCE

12 strawberries
24 melon balls (honeydew, cantaloupe or other melon)
6 ounces angel food cake, cut into 1-inch cubes
6 marshmallows
1-1/3 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 tablespoon low fat buttermilk (or low fat milk)
6 wooden skewers

Wash strawberries, picking off stems. Arrange fruit, cake and marshmallows on wooden skewers. Place skewered fruit sticks on serving plate. Melt chocolate chips and milk together over low heat. Pour sauce over fruit sticks, turning sticks to cover. Let cool briefly before serving.

Murder, She Wrote movie returns to scene of crime

By Suzanne Gill

©TVData Features Syndicate

After 11 seasons on the air and a peremptory cancellation, Murder, She Wrote is returning to CBS as a series of TV movies.

Angela Lansbury reprises her role as mystery writer and part-time sleuth Jessica Fletcher in Murder, She Wrote: South by Southwest, airing Sunday, Nov. 2.

"We've buried the hatchet (with the network)," Lansbury says. "I feel very confident that we can represent wonderful (ratings) numbers for CBS. And they welcome us with open arms."

South by Southwest, with the bulk of its action set aboard an eastbound train, certainly tips its hat to the master of suspense, Alfred Hitchcock. But where Hitchcock's action was spurred by the MacGuffin, an item of no particular consequence, South by Southwest adds urgency by connecting the murder to a breach of national security.

"We've had our work cut out for us to keep the tension and the excitement going for two hours," Lansbury admits. "We're concentrating more on mystery and less on simply having a body and figuring out who murdered that body."

"You've got to keep Jessica very much in the forefront, because the audience love to see her work out the crime and interact with all of these fascinating characters."

This time around, "these fascinating characters" include the murder witness (Mel Harris), an investigative journalist (Cliff Bemis), an FBI agent (Keith David) in charge of the case, a couple (Richard Riehle and Harriet Sansom Harris) celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary, and an embittered Romanian tennis coach (Elya Baskin).

Adding to the difficulties as well as the emotional burden of the project was the unexpected death of longtime scriptwriter Derek Marlowe. The movie is dedicated to his memory.

"He wrote a first-draft script," Lansbury says. "Then he went off with all of our notes ... to write the second draft, and he died. Poor, dear man."

The job was completed by producer-writer Mark A. Burley.

The unintended collaboration is uneven and includes a dizzying final act. But Jessica Fletcher's fans are likely to be satisfied just to have their stylish, tireless heroine back after an 18-month hiatus.

"I know I became a role model for women of my age," Lansbury says, "and I hope I will continue to do so."

As for the much-talked-about Emmy Award that eluded her throughout the series' run, Lansbury is philosophical.

"Careers are not made by awards," says the four-time Tony and Golden Globe winner, two-time Oscar nominee and recent recipient of a National Medal of Arts. "Awards are lovely; they're the whipped cream."

"It was difficult to categorize Murder, She Wrote. It's easy to say it's a mystery, but there's no mystery category (in the Emmys). We were always lumped in with drama."

"Most people assume that I won the Emmy, you know. It's only in the trade, really, that people are aware that I never did receive it."

Work has already begun on the next Murder, She Wrote movie. In the meantime, Lansbury is playing Emily Pollifax ("an elderly Indiana Jones") for an upcoming CBS movie. In April, she will begin filming a theatrical release with co-stars Vanessa Redgrave and Joan Plowright for director Franco Zeffirelli.

"I'm 72," Lansbury says with characteristic zest, "but I'm still able to hold up my end and keep running."

Sunday on CBS, Angela Lansbury reprises her role as mystery writer and part-time sleuth Jessica Fletcher in Murder, She Wrote: South by Southwest, the first in a series of TV movies based on the mystery series scheduled to air on the network.

A Month to Celebrate

November is full of holidays that are important to people. Learn more about some of these days in the following paragraphs, and give yourself some new reasons to celebrate.

ALL SAINTS' DAY

All Saints' Day is the feast of all saints in the Christian Church. It is observed on Nov. 1 in the West. During the Middle Ages, it was called All Hallows' Day, giving its name to Halloween (All Hallows' Eve), the preceding day.

SANDWICH DAY

This day is set aside to recognize the inventor of the sandwich, John Montague, Fourth Earl of Sandwich, who was born on Nov. 3, 1718.

Legend has it that, being an avid gambler, he invented the sandwich as a timesaving food while engaged in a 24-hour-long gambling session in 1762.

ELECTION DAY

Election Day in the United States is always the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. State and local government elections take place on this day, as do presidential and congressional elections in the appropriate years. Presidential elections are held in even-numbered years that can be divided equally by four.

VETERANS DAY

Celebrated on Nov. 11, Veterans Day originally was called Armistice Day, commemorating the signing of the armistice that ended World War I on Nov. 11, 1918.

President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed it an annual day of mourning in 1919. In 1954, the name was changed to Veterans Day, honoring the fallen in all of the U.S. wars.

THANKSGIVING DAY

An annual holiday celebrated in the United States on the fourth Thursday in November, Thanksgiving originally was celebrated as three days of prayer and feasting by the Pilgrims in 1621.

Shared between the Pilgrims and their Indian guests, the feast included wild turkeys, shot by the colonists, and popcorn, introduced by the Indians.

The first national Thanksgiving Day in the United States was celebrated on Nov. 26, 1789.

HOROSCOPES

★ ★ November 2-8 ★ ★

ARIES - March 21/April 20

You feel like you're in a dream this week, Aries. Things go well for you professionally and personally. You meet interesting people who can help you advance your career, and that special someone finally asks you out. However, enjoy it while you can, because family pressures will tie you up later in the week. Gemini plays a key role.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

You have to be strong early in the week, Taurus; loved ones are counting on you to be their support. A family problem has them up in arms. Your calm attitude helps others cope. You meet a friend of a friend and want to get to know him or her better. Don't rush things along. Let events take their course.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

You've finally got a relaxing week ahead of you, Gemini. Enjoy it. Spend time with those you haven't seen in a long while. Catch up on what's been happening. That special someone needs to see you. Don't get nervous; everything is OK. He or she just misses you. Cancer and Libra play key roles.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

No one would ever guess that you're a homebody this week. You're constantly on the go, be it for work or play. Enjoy all of the activity. A loved one has a problem and needs you to intervene. Even though you really want to help, stay out of it. He or she needs to take responsibility. However, be supportive.

LEO - July 23/August 23

Your arrogance is not appreciated by a business associate early in the week, Leo, so keep it in check. Just do what you're supposed to do, and keep quiet. It's the best way to avoid unneeded tension. A close friend takes you out on the town to celebrate. You'll meet an interesting person during the evening.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Don't worry; be happy - this is your motto for the week, Virgo. While minor problems arise, they're nothing that you can't handle. Don't let these little things fluster you. A loved one needs your help to plan a family event. It will be fun, so don't say no. Scorpio plays an important role later in the week.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

The early part of the week is stressful for you, Libra, because you take an associate's chiding seriously. He or she is just joking; don't get upset. The person you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Don't jump into a serious romance if you don't think he or she is the one. Be true to yourself. Aries and Libra play important roles this week.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

You feel totally out of control early in the week. Everything you do backfires on you. You can't seem to get anything finished. Remain calm; all will be well before the week's end. A close friend wants to help. Don't shut him or her out. A fresh opinion can get you back on track. Pisces plays a role on Thursday.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

Keep your temper in check during the middle of the week, Sagittarius. Things are not as bad as they seem. Blowing them out of proportion only will cause huge problems. A loved one gets hurt. Do your best to care for him or her in this time of need.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

You're on the express train to success this week, Capricorn. You get noticed by important business associates, and your career gets a big boost. As for romance, you're in for a wonderful night on the town with that special someone. He or she finally gets up the courage to ask you out.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Be realistic this week. There's a lot to be done, and you can't do it all by yourself. Loved ones want to help you; let them. Don't let your pride get in the way. A close friend needs some financial help. Do what you can. Leo plays a key role late in the week.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

The spotlight is on you this week, Pisces. Don't freeze under the pressure; important people are watching you. A family spat turns into a huge fight. Don't get involved; you don't need the aggravation. A friend hosts a dinner party, and you have to go even though you're dreading it. Don't worry - it'll be fun, and you'll meet someone who can help advance your career.

IN FOCUS

Special Agent Dana Scully (Gillian Anderson) searches for clues to the truth behind Special Agent Fox Mulder's (David Duchovny) apparent death in the season premiere of The X-Files, airing Sunday, Nov. 2, on Fox.

In "Redux," Scully continues to investigate the case while battling the fatal disease she has contracted. Suspicions begin to arise that someone at the FBI might be responsible for giving her the disease.

Mitch Pileggi also stars as Assistant Director Skinner.

It's a dream come true for Brandy when she performs a duet with her idol, Whitney Houston, in Cinderella, premiering Sunday, Nov. 2, on ABC.

The TV movie is an updated version of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical fairy tale about a girl (Brandy) who dreams of a life away from her mean stepmother (Bernadette Peters).

With her fairy godmother's (Houston) guidance, Cinderella learns she has the power to make her dreams come true. Whoopi Goldberg and Jason Alexander also star.

The Cheyenne Social Club ★★½ (1970) James Stewart, Henry Fonda. In 1867, a cowpoke inherits a social club in Wyoming that turns out to be a rollicking house of ill repute. 2:00. ● November 2 9am.

Greg Wise and Teri Polo star in House of Frankenstein 1997, a two-part TV movie that brings Frankenstein's monster, a werewolf and a vampire to modern-day Los Angeles. It airs Sunday and Monday on NBC.

Gothic rocks City of Angels in House of Frankenstein '97

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

NBC may have missed the Halloween TV specials (un)deadline, but the network gets the November sweeps off to a screaming start with House of Frankenstein 1997, a lavish two-part TV movie airing Sunday, Nov. 2, and Monday, Nov. 3.

Adrian Pasdar, Teri Polo and Greg Wise star in the horror movie, which takes its title from 1944's House of Frankenstein - a film that also featured a vampire, a werewolf and Dr. Frankenstein's creation.

But the resemblance stops there, as the new movie effectively crossbreeds the horror and cop-show genres.

As House of Frankenstein opens, Los Angeles police Detective Vernon Coyle (Pasdar) is investigating a series of gruesome slayings dubbed the "Raptor murders" by the local press. Grace Dawkins (Polo) barely escapes a mauling by a strange, wolflike creature, suffering only scratches.

Meanwhile, mysterious real-estate speculator Crispian Grimes (Wise), who operates the Gothic-themed nightclub, House of Frankenstein, is scouring the Arctic for the frozen body of the Frankenstein monster, a nod to the climax of Mary Shelley's novel Frankenstein.

The rest is best left to be discovered. Suffice it to say a college professor (CCH Pounder, ER) finally convinces Coyle that a werewolf and a master vampire are behind the murders, and Coyle falls in love with Grace - who spends a lot of time staring at the moon.

J.B. White, who also wrote the NBC chiller The Beast, maintains a tone that never smugly winks at the material as the hit feature film Scream did. Even as events stretch all credibility, a kooky internal logic prevails.

Pasdar is cool and comfortable in the lead, and Polo is smart and lovely. Wise nicely underplays his sinister power, and Peter Crombie (Crazy Joe Davola on Seinfeld) makes an aching-ly poignant monster.

But it is Pounder who almost steals the show as a cranky modern version of the Dracula tale's Dr. Van Helsing.

Breakthrough scientific expeditions.

TV PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Q: What was the last name of Arnold, the Japanese character played by Pat Morita on Happy Days? -Rick S., Westfield, Mass.

A: Takahashi. Arnold's real first name on the show was Mitsuo.

Q: I believe you erred when you said Steven Hill has been the Manhattan DA for the entire run of Law & Order.

A: In the first episode, the DA was played by Roy Thinnes. -G.R. Miller, Judge Pro-Tem, Reedsport, Ore.

A: I stand corrected.

Because Thinnes was a guest star, not a regular cast member, his name did not appear in any of the sources I checked on the show.

Q: What happened to Vicki Lawrence's morning show on Fox? Can't the network keep a show on? -"Fed Up With Fox" via e-mail.

A: After failing to properly promote The Vicki Lawrence Show, which replaced the oft-tinkered with and mismanaged Fox After Breakfast, the network apparently decided the morning show wasn't going to make it and pulled the plug.

Rumor has it that former After Breakfast host Tom Bergeron will be next in line to co-host ABC's Good Morning America if Charles Gibson decides to leave.

Q: I read a few weeks ago that actress Elizabeth Brooks, who recently passed away, used to appear on Days of Our Lives. What role did she play? -Edna Baragar, Fostoria, Mich.

A: Best known for playing the villainous Marsha in The Howling, Brooks played Theresa Harper on the daytime soap opera.

Q: I recently saw Jamie Luner on MTV's Loveline and I understood her to say they were preparing to do the third season of Savannah. Was the show canceled? -Amber L., Muncie, Ind.

A: Amber, evidently you caught a Loveline rerun. As reported here months ago, Savannah is history. Luner has joined the cast of Melrose Place.

Q: What happened to Redd Foxx? Is he still alive? -M. in Georgia.

A: The veteran comedy actor died of a heart attack on the set of his CBS sitcom The Royal Family on Oct. 11, 1991. He had filmed only seven episodes. Jackee then joined the cast and the show struggled through the remainder of its only season.

Q: What is the status of the Fox summer series Roar? -Randy Morningstar, Montgomery, Ala.

A: It's in limbo. Fox says it probably will air the few shows already filmed, but no one expects the network will return the low-rated show to its lineup on a regular basis.

SOAP WORLD

Sabatino and Chappell leave on own terms

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

Dear Candace: I would like to know why Michael Sabatino and Crystal Chappell were given a bum deal by ABC.

I think they were promised things that never materialized. I can't believe All My Children couldn't come up with a better story line for Sabatino (ex-Jonathan). And One Life to Live wasted Chappell's (ex-Maggie) talents and then let her go. It's terrible.

We viewers want to see these two people together. They were terrific on Days of Our Lives and should return to that show. It could sure use their help. Chappell and Sabatino would definitely make it worth tuning in to. -Sylvia Mollicone, Livermore Falls, Maine.

Dear Reader: Sabatino's role on AMC was always meant to be short-term. The show extended his stay long past the original contract.

Chappell's contract also was up. She never had planned to stay long and it was her decision to leave, not the show's.

Dear Candace: I've been a fan of The Young and the Restless for as long as I can remember. There are some things that have always bothered me about the show. Why do the children always age so quickly? One day you are watching and the kids are in boarding school, and the next they are executives at a company. Namely, it has happened with the Newman children.

While I'm on that family, who writes these stupid stories about Josh's ex-wife hiding out as the Landerses' new maid? I'd also like to know if Ashley and Lynne will ever find loves of their own. -Amy Benson, Louisville, Ohio.

Dear Reader: The children on Y&R are aged to move the story line along. William J. Bell and his writers are the ones who come up with the story lines.

The Landers story line is kind of fun when you think about it. If the writers handle it the right way, it could be the best thing that has happened to that soap in a long time.

I don't know about Lynne, but Ashley and Cole look pretty hot. Too bad he is married - not that it matters.

Woman Wanted ★½ (1935) Marsden O'Sullivan, Joel McCrea. A lawyer unknowingly falls in love with a girl facing a murder charge, then helps her find the real culprit. 1:30. ● November 5 9:30am.

A Woman's Secret ★★★ (1949) Melba Moore, Melys Douglas. Police investigate the shooting of a singer by the woman instrumental to her success. 1:45. ● November 7 8:45pm.

Yankee Doodle Dandy ★★★ (1942) Jane Bryan, Joan Leslie. Oscar-winning biography of George M. Cohan, the songwriting patriot who became a show business legend. 2:30. ● November 2 6:30pm.

Yes, My Darling Daughter ★★ (1936) Priscilla Lane, Jeffrey Lynn. A feminist faces a moral dilemma when her daughter announces plans for a weekend getaway with her suitor. 1:30. ● November 3 6:30am.

You for Me ★★½ (1952) Paul Lukas, Jane Greer. A nurse becomes romantically involved with a rich playboy to ensure his continuing support for her hospital. 1:15. ● November 4 12:30pm.

Young Doctors in Love ★★ (1982) Michael McKean, Sean Young. A young surgeon tries to overcome his fear of the knife in this spoof of soap opera clichés. 2:00. ● November 7 1:55am.

Young Guns ★★½ (1988) Emilio Estevez, Kiefer Sutherland. After their mentor is murdered, six deputized regulators take revenge and become the target of a massive manhunt. (In Stereo) (CC) 2:00. ● November 8 3pm.

THE BUCK STARTS HERE.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more jobs, tax support for community services and a better place to live.

THERE'S MORE Hereford IN THE BRAND.
