

Highway Board Chairman Here Friday

HOME TOWN TALK

BY BEDDY

Once more we remind that the hundreds and hundreds of folks in Howard county who have been yelling for good roads have a chance to put their votes where their mouths have been.

That chance will come Tuesday, when the county road bond election is to be held.

Never before, or at least, rarely, has Howard county faced a more important issue.

The good roads movement, coming to a vote at this particular time is a test of the mettle of the people of the county. It gives them an opportunity to more securely fix the position of the entire county for the future.

It gives us an opportunity to better conditions of business at a time when we are led to believe something is badly needed. That things are quiet is very true. That the construction that would result from adoption of the bond issue would help is equally true.

Had a very wise business man say the other day that if the road bond issue were adopted and the new railroad permitted he figured things would pick up around here but if these things did not happen he felt improvement in business conditions—and that means improvement for all people, no matter in what part of the county they may reside—might not set in for some months.

We go on the basis of allowing the other fellow the same freedom of opinion we ask for ourselves. We accord him the right to those opinions and take for granted that he is sincere in them. There fore we have no fight or no ill will against anyone who may vote the other way.

But, we cannot see why any one who sees this thing differently than we should question the motives of those favoring the bond issue. We do not believe many do. Prejudice, you know, never did anything but tear down and destroy. The prejudiced man or woman is riding for a fall, always.

The only hope there is, for this bond issue to be adopted is for a record vote to be cast in Tuesday's election. The more votes the better the prospects that Howard county will stop trying to be an 1800 county in a 1930 country.

Testimony of Nurse Ruled Out In Trial

Major Poisoned Me' Mrs. Shepard Quoted As Saying

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 18 (AP)—A nurse's testimony quoting Mrs. Zenana Shepard as saying she was poisoned by her husband, Major Charles A. Shepard on trial for the alleged poison murder of Mrs. Shepard, was ruled out of evidence by Judge Richard J. Hopkins in federal court here this afternoon.

The nurse said Mrs. Shepard asked her to smell the contents and that she did and pronounced the odor "peculiar."

The defense immediately objected. District Attorney Gardus M. Brewster said he was willing to withdraw the question but that he would restate it later.

Judge Hopkins told the jury to disregard the testimony.

C. L. Kagey, a defense lawyer, asked the judge to discharge the jury on the ground that improper testimony had been received. The motion was overruled.

Tom Gallaher Chief Witness For Santa Fe

AT&SF Would Lose Much To New Road, He Declares

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 18 (AP)—Santa Fe railroad witnesses today supplied the finishing touches to their testimony opposing proposed construction of the Texas & Pacific Northern from Big Spring to Lubbock, Amarillo and Vega, 233 miles in all.

E. H. Shaulfer of Wichita, Kan., assistant to the general manager of the Panhandle and Santa Fe and former general manager of the Orient, revealed some more interesting figures concerning the growth of motor truck and bus transportation. Shaulfer was on the stand for cross examination.

Shaulfer said that to and from the Pampa-Plains points on the Santa Fe, trucks last year carried an estimated 361,926 tons of freight. Bus travel to and from the same stations was 121,258 passengers a month, he estimated. Several of the bus estimates probably were too low, Shaulfer admitted during cross examination.

The witness stated he believed 50 per cent or more of the less than carload freight traffic in this territory was handled by the 91 Class A and the 119 Class B trucks and estimated more than 50 per cent of the short passenger trips were made on the 22 buses.

Shaulfer prophesied this motor bus and truck traffic would increase until the buses and trucks were regulated by the interstate commerce commission. He stated the trucks and buses were just like the railroads were before they were controlled by the I. C. C. The trucks will set any rate to get business, he stated.

Shaulfer referred to the pickup and store door delivery service instituted by the T. & P. to combat truck competition as an "expensive experiment." "It may temporarily give you more business," he stated, "but the only lasting result will be to cause the trucks to reduce their rates."

Gallaher On Stand
T. B. Gallaher of Amarillo, general freight and passenger agent of the Santa Fe, also testified today. He introduced a map for the purpose of showing the small area in the territory affected which was not within 15 miles of an existing railroad station, and further to show the presence of competitive service in this territory.

Gallaher likewise introduced a statement purporting to compare existing railroad distances with those which would obtain after the building of the T. & P. N. These distances were shown to favor existing routes in general, except to Lamesa, Brownfield and Big Spring from points in the south.

The rate savings which the T. & P. proposes to establish on grain already have been ordered put in effect by a recent decision of the interstate commerce commission, Gallaher said. However, the decision has been appealed.

Santa Fe testimony was completed shortly before noon and Texas & Pacific rebuttal, the last phase of the hearing, was started. The first woman witness of the hearing made her appearance, as Mrs. K. W. Harrison of Hereford, former owner of an elevator there. A Santa Fe witness last night had shown a purported statement from Mrs. Harrison to the effect that there was no car shortage during the wheat harvest season of 1929.

Mrs. Harrison testified that there was a car shortage. She said she thought the statement she signed recited merely that she had no wheat on the ground.

A. E. Meyer of Amarillo, Santa Fe auditor, said the Santa Fe branch lines which served this section had a low traffic density and were losing money. He estimated the Santa Fe system would lose $1,250,000 yearly to the T. & P. N. The net operating deficit of the T. & P. N. for the first five years of its operation will range from $87,000 to $128,000 a year, Meyer said.

House Adopts Drought Relief $30,000,000 Is Figure Approved By Vote of 226-146

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House today adopted the administration's $30,000,000 drought relief bill as a substitute for the senate's $50,000,000 measure.

The next step is a conference between the senate and house to adjust their differences. Then each branch must agree on the conference report, before the measure can be enacted into law by President Hoover signing it.

The vote on adoption was 226 to 146. Final passage followed quickly. Democrats voted against the substitute in the hope of securing favorable action on the senate measure. The substitute carries no provision for loans for food.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House today passed the Wood bill to provide an additional $150,000,000 for the farm board.

The measure now goes to the senate. It passed without opposition.

Chairman Wood of the appropriation committee, who explained that the board advised the committee fully on its plans to use the money.

Representative Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, at first objected to bringing up the measure under unanimous consent, but upon Wood's explanation withdrew his objection.

Judge Ely To Discuss Road Improvement

Plane to Bring West Texas Man to Big Spring

Judge W. R. Ely, Abilene, first West Texan to become chairman of the state highway commission, will appear here at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the county court house to address voters of Howard county on the good roads program planned through a $900,000 road bond issue to be voted upon next Tuesday.

The highway chairman will be brought here in an airplane thru courtesy of Southern Air East Express. The ship, which is kept at the airport here, will leave late Friday morning, for Abilene. On it will be several local friends of Judge Ely.

The main meeting has been announced by executive committee members of the county Good Roads Association for the purpose of discussing good roads for Howard county. Judge Ely, it is pointed out, has demonstrated his interest in the county and his desire to see state roads here paved properly by several statements and concessions.

The chief of these was his recent public statement on behalf of the highway commission that highway No. 1, if paved, would not be re-routed so as to miss the business district of Coahoma and that it would continue to be routed thru Big Spring on Third street.

The Store That Quality Built

This department sincerely entertains hopes of seeing a basketball game ere long. The pre-Christmas season is always rather drab in basketball circles. Fans are usually just getting over the football strain, and it takes a few weeks to become acclimated to the atmosphere of the hardwood floor. However, crowds at Steer contests should increase materially when school children pick up their spellers where they put them down just as the holidays started. It has reached the ears of this chronicler that Stevens has a fighting crew galloping around the high school gym each afternoon. It is said to be fast. Having not seen the loopers in action we don't know. We hope it is.

Incidentally, some of the boys including the Dr. Wolford B. Harby and Mr. Franklin Brown and a few more of the athletes including Mr. George Brown, clashed with some of the high school loopers last week. Dr. Harby was barred from further participation in Big Spring basketball, it being alleged he was too handy with his elbows, jabbing them at intervals into the midsections of several of the opposition, not to mention his own teammates at various moments.

The agitation to split up the district has taken concrete form. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of Big Spring Schools, has received a letter from B. H. McClain, the Sweetwater superintendent, advocating a split, with the creation of an eastern and a western half, the winners of the two to clash for the district honors. Mr. McClain also thinks that Midland, Snyder and possibly Ballinger and Coleman should be admitted with San Angelo, Big Spring, Sweetwater, for the eastern half. A meeting will be held at Sweetwater Saturday, it is understood.

We are undecided yet as to what attitude the fans would look upon such an arrangement. Splitting the district that way, of course, would place four of the outstanding teams in Texas today in one league—namely, Cisco, Ranger, Breckenridge and Abilene. San Angelo and Big Spring are big enough to stand the gaff, although they haven't been able to so far. However, things seem rather optimistic here at the present moment regarding the 1931 and 1932 prospects. We would be of the opinion San Angelo would not be in favor of the split, for the reason, San Angelo likes to clash with the Big Four and defeat one of them every once in awhile. It is a question, of course, as to finances more than anything else. It is rather hard for anyone to admit that his team had to withdraw from the tough section and form one of their own in order to go places. If things work out it is possible that Big Spring would be sorry in a couple of years, and one day they left the old District One to form a league that will have three Class B teams therein. However, these things must work each other out, we presume.

Yet, the San Angelo writer seems to favor the idea, and seems to believe San Angelo officials will favor the split. Says Cross:

A study of the Oil Belt schedule and financial returns the past two seasons tends to indicate the western clubs which at present are Sweetwater, Big Spring and San Angelo, would make more money and encounter less expense under the proposed division. The teams, also, would play a less rigorous schedule and the winning eleven would be due to be in better physical shape for a championship play-off game and in event of a victory would be due to be in better condition for the ensuing bi-district conflict with the district 1 champion.

Recently the Big Spring sports editor stated in his column that for financial reasons the district should not be divided. His argument was that teams like Big Spring, San Angelo and Sweetwater will draw larger crowds playing eastern clubs such as Abilene, Breckenridge, Ranger and Cisco. The Big Spring scribe is correct only in theory, in that there is considerable more football attendance in the east section of the district than in the west. However, if the man will check the statistics he probably will find the Big Spring team profited more financially from the game with San Angelo than it did on the Breck game or on any one game with Abilene or Cisco or Ranger. It is more than likely that with Midland in class A football a Midland-Big Spring game would draw by far more cash customers than any other game in which the Big Spring team participates with exception of a championship game. The eastern clubs draw well when playing each other, but they draw poorly against the western clubs. Big Spring under the McClain plan likely would pull more money into its athletic exchequer in games with San Angelo and Midland than it would in three games with three east-district opponents unless one of those three games were for the championship of the district. A game, incidentally, with Mineral Wells or Eastland of the eastern half is a total pecuniary loss. The same can be said for a bout with Brownwood. San Angelo, however, drew a fair-sized crowd this year for the Brownwood frolic.

It is true this department would not like to see Big Spring removed from the District One if Big Spring could win. On the other hand, if Big Spring cannot go the gamut, cannot put out a team that can win in such games as Breckenridge, Cisco, Abilene and Ranger, not to mention Brownwood and Sweetwater, we state a split is the only thing possible.

Knute Rockne has gone to the hospital. It is rumored the inability of his team to win a game in Eastland of the eastern half is responsible for his breakdown.

West Gridiron Squad Begins With Training

D. X. Bible Arrives With Middle and Southwest Contingent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Twenty-two football players, representing the cream of the West, were called out today for their first practice in preparation for the charity game with the East's all stars here December 27. The biggest single detachment of gridirers will arrive from the Midwest under leadership of Coach Dana X. Bible, Nebraska. He will have ten men under his command, selected from the "Big Six" and Southwest Conferences. The remaining twelve are from Pacific Coast gridirons, and were selected by Percy Loopy, coach of the San Francisco Olympic club. The Eastern team, under direction of coaches Dick Henley and Andy Kerr, will not reach here until Friday.

Bible's contingent is composed of Jake Wilson (Baylor), Jim Eason (Kansas), Gus Mills (Oklahoma), Kermit Lange (Baker), and Dexter Shelley (Texas), backs; Elmer Greenberg (Nebraska), and Barton Koch (Baylor), guards; Louis Long (Southern Methodist), end; Marion Broadstone (Nebraska), tackle; and Noble Atkins (Texas Christian), center.

The Pacific Coast players are: Johnny Kitzmiller, Oregon; Dick Boyle (St. Mary's), and Bill Clark (Stanford), backs; Frank Wilson (San Francisco Olympic Club), Harry Ebdin (St. Mary's), and Bill McKallip, Oregon, ends; George Christensen, Oregon; Dick Bogus, Stanford, and Harry Spiedel, (San Francisco Olympic Club), tackles; Ted Beckett, California, and Austin Colbert, Oregon, guards; and Al Tassl, (Santa Clara), center.

Steer Cagers Clash With Roscoe

The high school cagers will make their final appearance before the holidays Friday night when they clash with the Roscoe Plowboys at the school gym.

The game will start at 7:30 p. m. According to Coach Bill Stevens, the game will be held one day before school is dismissed for the holidays, but it is possible a two game series will be played after Jan. 1.

The Steers have been given new sweaters and trunks.

ATLANTIC CITY—BEWARE! Atlantic City must look to her laurels to keep the salt water taffy crown, if housewives continue to excel in making this resort delicacy themselves. You don't need ocean water to try this recipe:

Salt Water Taffy: 1 quart golden syrup, 1 teaspoon soda, and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Put syrup into sauce pan and cook until temperature is 270 degrees F., or when tried in cold water, it will be slightly brittle. Stir occasionally to prevent burning. Remove from fire, to add soda. Continue cooking, stirring constantly until temperature is 275 degrees F., or when tried in cold water, it will be very brittle. Remove from fire, add lemon juice, and pour into oil or pan. When cold enough to handle, gather into ball and pull until rather firm and a light, bright yellow color. Stretch into long rope and cut into small pieces with scissors.

It is true this department would not like to see Big Spring removed from the District One if Big Spring could win. On the other hand, if Big Spring cannot go the gamut, cannot put out a team that can win in such games as Breckenridge, Cisco, Abilene and Ranger, not to mention Brownwood and Sweetwater, we state a split is the only thing possible.

Herr Max Schmeling Given 15 Days Boxing Commission To Appear In Defense of His Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—A situation similar to the one which sent the first Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight to Philadelphia arose today as new complications were tossed in upon the edict of the New York State Athletic Commission that Max Schmeling must agree within 15 days to defend his title against Jack Sharkey.

Following hard on the ultimatum, which apparently eliminated Young William Stribling from consideration, came an offer which brought the Georgian right back into the heavyweight picture. Nate Lewis, matchmaker of the Chicago Stadium, offered Schmeling $200,000 to defend his crown against Stribling in Chicago next spring. With promoters in general fighting shy of the proposed Sharkey-Schmeling bout just as they avoid ed the Dempsey-Willis battle demanded by New York solons five years ago, it seemed likely that the next heavyweight championship scrap would go west, again eliminating New York from consideration unless numerous compromises could be effected.

Lewis' offer was backed by telegraphic confirmation from Sidney N. Strontz, president of the Chicago Stadium Corporation and its success seemed more probable than any other plan proposed so far. Lewis plans to stage the fight in Soldier Field, Chicago, in June. He believes the gate receipts at a top price of $12, would run over $1,000,000. It was in Soldier Field, where the seating capacity is over 100,000, that Dempsey and Tunney drew a $3,000,000 gate for their second battle.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager and recipient of the offer had a good many problems to consider before he could reply to the first half-million bid since the days of Tex Rickard. Schmeling is bound by contract to the Hearst Milk Fund Committee here in June and this must be taken into consideration. If the commission edict stands, this battle must be against Sharkey but neither the committee nor the Madison Square Garden corporation appears interested in such a fight unless there is a preliminary tournament to stir up public interest.

Lewis offered to share 50 per cent of the proceeds with the milk fund and some Chicago charity, but the promoters of the charity show were inclined to turn a cold shoulder to the proposal yesterday. They preferred to do their own matchmaking, they said, and not share the proceeds.

State Loses Plea To Work Full Crew On Motor Trains

AUSTIN, Dec. 18. (AP)—The state lost its fight to compel railroads to carry a full crew on motor propelled trains, in a judgment by District Judge George Calhoun today.

Judge Calhoun, in perpetuating an injunction to prevent the state railroad commission from enforcing the full crew law against electric trains, held invalid the opinion of the attorney general interpreting the law to apply to all trains, regardless of the method of propulsion or the size of the train.

The full crew law required trains to carry a minimum crew of engineer, fireman, conductor and brakeman.

For Safety
The state had contended that number was needed on all trains in the interests of safety, regardless of whether they had specific duties. Railroad brotherhoods joined the state in the suit.

In his judgment, Judge Calhoun reviewed the history of the full crew law since its first enactment in 1907.

He pointed out that from 1907 to 1929, when the scabbed opinion was written by first assistant Attorney General Jack Blalock, the full crew law had been studied by the legislature, the courts and the attorney general several times.

In 1909, it was reenacted to cure a defect in the title. From 1909 to 1919, several opinions were written by attorneys general each holding it did not apply to motor propelled trains. During the same period, the law was reenacted, and no changes made, although the legislature knew, or was presumed to know, the interpretations placed upon it by the attorneys general.

Not Intentional
Judge Calhoun held that the intent of the legislature was established during this period, and that the legislature apparently did not intend the law to apply to other than steam propelled trains.

He also pointed out that when the law first was enacted there were very few trains operated by electricity and that there were certainly not enough to have been considered by the legislature in enacting the law.

Both sides previously indicated they would appeal in order to obtain a final ruling on the controversy.

An Appeal to Employers

A COROLLARY to the "Buy Texas" campaign, important enough to deserve publication all over the country, issued by the Welfare Council, Co-ordinating Committee of Unemployment, at New York. This committee, in a recent statement, urges upon all business and industrial enterprises the desirability of lifting a great weight from the minds and hearts of our people by public assurance to employers that their jobs are secure.

The committee continues: "While such assurances may not be possible in certain instances, some employers have already made them and others contemplate doing so. Such action, wherever possible, is not only a humane measure to take, but it will mean that workers who are freed of the terror of poverty will render happier and more efficient service. Moreover, business will be benefited because employees sure of their jobs can spend their money in normal ways instead of hoarding it against an impending disaster."

The logic of that is self-evident. It is commended to the attention of all employers.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

A Sin Against Suffrage

Dallas News: EIGHTY-SEVEN Texas counties have sent in to the Secretary of State unauthenticated returns on the amendments to the Constitution submitted at the last election, and sixteen counties have not troubled to send in any returns at all. The State canvassing board, of course, has to ignore these latter returns.

The law requires a seal upon the report of returns, but the eighty-seven counties don't know the law on the point or else are indifferent to it. As for the sixteen non-reporting counties, little can be said in their defense to suppose that their officials think the Texas Election Bureau is a statutory State body, instead of the private co-operative effort of newspapers for the purpose of gathering swift and accurate news of elections. That misconception is more prevalent, it appears, than is commonly realized.

There is not much to be done about the lapse in returns save to take steps to amend the law in some fashion to penalize County Judges who hereafter fail to do their duty relative to reporting of vital returns properly as now provided by law. Maybe the compensation of these functionaries can be legally suspended by statute until returns are duly reported. Indeed, it would not be too severe to declare vacant the office of any County Judge who by his negligence disfranchises the voters of his county.

In the case of the sixteen non-reporting counties, a suit against the basic principle of democracy has been committed. Its effect is more sweeping, though less venal, than downright corruption, since it negates the force of votes on both sides of every question submitted. To all intents and purposes these sixteen counties are severed from their rights under the Constitution of the State and under the Federal Constitution and which guarantees a republican form of government to the several States.

Spanish Ruler Leaves Palace After Week Of Revolution Danger

MADRID, Dec. 17 (AP)—For the first time since revolution put Alfonso came out of his palace to meet lean days in talks, although he and drove in an open carriage to the Church of San Francisco for ceremonies commemorating achievements of the South American patriot, Simon Bolivar.

At his own order he was accompanied by only a skeleton guard, and he smiled broadly and waved his arm at the great crowds which cheered his passage through the streets. It was characteristic of his flail for ignoring danger to his person.

 But General Damazo Berenguer, the premier, worn by the days and nights of care, had collapsed under the strain. The doctors said he had a severe case of tonsillitis and that his illness was aggravated by sleeplessness and incessant smoking since last Friday, but that he would recover.

How Is Your HEALTH?

Edited by Dr. Ingo Goldston for the New York Academy of Medicine

THE WORKER'S HEALTH—II

Constitutionally the American farmer proves to be a healthy specimen. During early middle life he appears to be less subject to certain of the so-called degenerative diseases than are the workers in other occupational groups.

These facts were revealed in a study based on the records of the physical examinations of the 100,000 adult, native-born, white males recently completed by the research division of the Milbank Memorial Fund.

Farmers, due probably to the nature of their work, suffer less from defects of vision than do any other of the industrial groups. On the other hand, they are more subject to defective hearing than other workers.

The farmer's best showing is on the score of diseases of the heart and arteries. This group of disabilities was found to be less prevalent among farmers than among any of the other groups.

The farmer's worst showing, on the other hand, is in diseases of the teeth and gums. Possibly because of inadequate care and the lack of dental facilities in rural sections, farmers are widely subject to pyorrhea, to caries (rotting of the teeth), and to other infectious conditions. This is particularly true of the age groups over 35 years of age.

A little more than 7 per cent of those examined in the agricultural groups reported using patented medicines, and one-fifth of these were habitual users of laxatives. The agricultural group naturally shows a low prevalence of diseases of the nose and of the respiratory tract, has few skin diseases, and is markedly free from nervousness.

HOLLYWOOD—While a few established screen stars have bridged the lingual gap and appeared in foreign versions of their pictures, it is a rare that a foreign version actor steps beyond the language restriction and wins a "role in an English speaking talkie."

To date she has made several Spanish versions, and besides has appeared with Richard Arlen in "The Santa Fe Trail," and with Clara Bow in "Her Wedding Night."

Another is Conchita Montenegro, a little Spanish girl who spoke no English when she arrived, but set about studying at once, and progressed so rapidly that she is now being considered for English roles.

"HOLD-OVERS"
 Foreigners who had been in the movies before talkies came, like Ramon Navarro, Greta Garbo, Paul Lukas, Raquel Torres, Dolores del Rio, and Lupe Velez, have been equally successful in English talkies wherein allowance was made for their accents.

But the rising importance of foreign versions has brought a different kind of success to several players who were in silent pictures before.

There's Barry Norton, from Argentina, who rose from extraneous featured billing in silent, only to meet lean days in talkies, although he has little accent. Now his work is principally in foreign versions, and he's coming back.

WILD BEAUTY
 by MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

SYNOPSIS: David Frost's mother takes a bitter dislike to Fanny, his wife, from the first. For Fanny's sake David resists family pressure, moves to another house and throws up his job in his uncle's bank to take another position. Then Sheila, their small daughter, is made severely ill by Fanny's carelessness, and David has to give up moving to the West as he had planned. Left penniless, he is forced to return to the hated bank and take Fanny back under his mother's roof—and domination. Fanny spends a month in Washington with Juliette, David's distant cousin, and proves extremely popular in society there. Returning to her mother-in-law's strict rule, she is made all the more unhappy by the contrast with her gay visit at the capital.

made it over for me."
 "You seem to have accepted a good deal from Juliette. Are you going out this evening?"
 "No, Mother Frost."
 "Your costume seems a little dressy at home. The color does not become you. I should have it dyed."
 "It's so dark it's almost black—Juliette thought it looked particularly well on me."
 "Juliette seems to have a taste for the outre," David smiled at her lovingly, squeezing her hand under the table. As if resenting this harmony, a harmony which unmistakably excluded her, Mrs. Frost snarled at him.
 "This afternoon when you were out Sheila came into my room, climbed on a chair and spilled half my bottle of French perfume," she said accusingly.
 "Oh, I'm so sorry," cried Fanny. "I left her in the kitchen with Leo and Virginia. I'll get you another bottle."
 "Are you sure it was Sheila?" asked David.
 "The bottle was on its side half emptied, and Sheila reeked of the perfume."
 "Purely circumstantial evidence, but I'm afraid the young lady is guilty. Fanny, you'll have to stand her in a corner."
 "I'm sure she didn't mean to be naughty. She's fond of perfume and I often let her smell my stopper. Undoubtedly she climbed up to smell your Mother Frost, and dropped the bottle."
 "She's been after it several times. Only this morning I expressly forbade her to touch it."
 "She's so little, but I'll talk to her first thing in the morning."
 "Sheila is almost four—quite old enough to be taught the difference between right and wrong. This morning, David, she found Mrs. Stamm's milk on her porch and poured it down a rat hole. Yesterday she uncrowded and carried off the latches on Mrs. Brook's casement windows."
 "Had you heard of this, Fanny?"
 "Certainly," Mrs. Frost answered for Fanny, "but Fanny seems to think she has done her whole duty by replacing the missing articles and apologizing. I think Sheila should be punished."
 "I'm not certain she took the screws, and the little Reynolds boy put her up to pouring the milk down the hole. He told her the rat was hungry. Her motives were entirely altruistic. Sheila may have in her the makings of a great philanthropist."
 David laughed, but his mother said dryly:
 "I fail to see roots either of generosity or philanthropy in giving away what does not belong to you. For her own sake I suggest that Sheila be spanked rather than reasoned with in the morning."
 "I'll punish Sheila—but I could not bear to spank her," said Fanny a little tremulously.
 "Then suppose I spank her," suggested Mrs. Frost. "It was I whom she disobeyed."
 "No," said Fanny. "Even in her own care her voice was so harsh and unnecessarily emphatic. There were two red spots on her cheeks and she half rose from her chair."
 "There is no reason," said her mother-in-law acidly, "for assuming the manner of a tigress defending her young. It is because I think so much of my granddaughter that I grieve to see her grow up into a spoiled, forward child whom everyone will dislike."

 "Really, Mother, I think you exaggerate," said David. "Sheila has her naughty spells, but as a rule she is well behaved and easily managed. Perhaps she is a little spoiled—but I'm afraid it will work out better if the disciplining is left to Fanny and me."
 "Very well, but I suggest that you take a hand and not leave it all to Fanny."

Glancing at Fanny, David saw that she was trembling and very close to tears. Why did his mother have to spoil the evening by butting in about Sheila? But of course she would; it was surprising she held off so long. It was absurd of Fanny to take it so seriously. He'd forbidden his mother to interfere with Sheila, and his mother had taken her defeat in good part; was already talking of something else. Why couldn't Fanny, the victor, do the same? He'd had his fill of discussions and animosities at the bank; he could bear no more at home.

He patted Fanny's knee reassuringly, but as they left the table he whispered authoritatively, "It's all settled—let's forget it." Fanny nodded, managed to smile at him when he tipped her face back and kissed her.

But she did not forget. Years before when she lay in bed, exhausted but triumphant, with the three-hour-old Sheila in her arms and heard Mrs. Frost's heavy determined tread coming down the hall, Fanny had foreseen a contest over her baby. From the first there had been various minor skirmishes; now the real battle had begun.

If Mrs. Frost lived to dance at David's golden wedding Fanny knew that she would still regard his wife as an unelcome outsider, and ignore consistently her share in David's children. Sheila was to be shaped and molded, patted and spanked into the Brownbeck pattern. She would be clothed in a schooled, mannered and maximed into her grandmother's idea of "a perfect little lady."

At 16 she would be asking of a new schoolmate, "But who is she?" exactly in the manner of that absurd young snob, Lily Brownbeck. Inevitably the day would come when she would question Fanny. "But who was your father? And who was the grandmother for whom I am named?"

The talks as well as the pictures shown both were appreciated. Both community was more fully represented than was Ackerley.

Very well, but I suggest that you take a hand and not leave it all to Fanny."

Glancing at Fanny, David saw that she was trembling and very close to tears. Why did his mother have to spoil the evening by butting in about Sheila? But of course she would; it was surprising she held off so long. It was absurd of Fanny to take it so seriously. He'd forbidden his mother to interfere with Sheila, and his mother had taken her defeat in good part; was already talking of something else. Why couldn't Fanny, the victor, do the same? He'd had his fill of discussions and animosities at the bank; he could bear no more at home.

He patted Fanny's knee reassuringly, but as they left the table he whispered authoritatively, "It's all settled—let's forget it." Fanny nodded, managed to smile at him when he tipped her face back and kissed her.

But she did not forget. Years before when she lay in bed, exhausted but triumphant, with the three-hour-old Sheila in her arms and heard Mrs. Frost's heavy determined tread coming down the hall, Fanny had foreseen a contest over her baby. From the first there had been various minor skirmishes; now the real battle had begun.

If Mrs. Frost lived to dance at David's golden wedding Fanny knew that she would still regard his wife as an unelcome outsider, and ignore consistently her share in David's children. Sheila was to be shaped and molded, patted and spanked into the Brownbeck pattern. She would be clothed in a schooled, mannered and maximed into her grandmother's idea of "a perfect little lady."

At 16 she would be asking of a new schoolmate, "But who is she?" exactly in the manner of that absurd young snob, Lily Brownbeck. Inevitably the day would come when she would question Fanny. "But who was your father? And who was the grandmother for whom I am named?"

Letter To Club Women Supplemented

Mrs. Loucile Allgood Leaves For The Holidays

Her regular weekly letter to the club women and club girls will be postponed until that date, but "The Market Page Editor" substitutes the following Christmas recipes in lieu of the letter this week, and hopes that you will like them.

Maybe you're one of those people who have cried "hard times" and maybe you're not. Perhaps you agree with the columnist who says the "depression" is a mental one of the people who are at last being forced to work for their money.

At any rate, there never was a year when we weren't glad to economize. Even at Christmas time, perhaps especially this Christmas, we are most happy to save money even on gifts, if the economy gift can still express the affectionate thought and good will of the giver.

The way to do all these things best is not to put your money in an old sock, but to make your gifts kitchen-gifts, cookies, cakes, candy! Certainly such a gift, made with your own hands, expresses the thoughtfulness and personality of the giver. Certainly every experienced cook knows culinary gifts may

Several Names Omitted From School Honor Rolls

It has been called to the attention of the Daily Herald that several names were omitted in the list of students "making" the A and B honor roll published Monday.

From the B honor roll for Senior High School students were omitted the names of Misses Nancy Dawes, Mary Louise Gilmour, Carmen Compton, Georgia Belle Fleeman, Dorothy Mann, J. C. Pickle and Louise Wright.

In checking over the list it was found that a number of names had been omitted because of the fact that the students had not reported their record to the office as they were instructed. The office keeps no record of six weeks' grades other than those reported by teachers or by the students themselves. The semester grades only are kept.

If a student had not reported his or her name and it was not found on the published list, notice of the fact will be printed in the Herald if it is called to our attention.

HOME FROM MILITARY ACADEMY Mrs. P. H. Liberty will leave soon for Fort Worth, where she will meet her son, Gerald, who is a student in the Westworth Military Academy at Lexington, Missouri.

MISS KING BETTER Miss Dorothy King, who had her tonsils removed yesterday, is reported much better today.

TO RETURN SATURDAY Miss Anna Pauline Jacobs will return Saturday from St. Louis, Missouri, where she attends Washington University.

Christmas tree added to the attractive holiday atmosphere.

Mrs. Steve Ford won high score for the women and V. H. Flewellen won high score for the men. The prizes were tied and wrapped in Christmas colors.

Miss Gertrude McIntyre assisted Mrs. Fahrnkamp in serving refreshments to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keating, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Croft, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Strain, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Flewellen and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ford.

Mrs. V. R. Smitham Is Ideal Club Hostess

Holly, mistletoe and poinsettias were used in the decorations. Red and green candles lighted the house.

Mrs. Garland Woodward won high score for guests and Mrs. C. D. Baxley won high score for members.

The gifts were tied and wrapped in Christmas colors.

KNOTT

KNOTT, Dec. 18.—The P.T.A. met in a business meeting Wednesday afternoon at the school house. There having been no program arranged Mrs. S. T. Johnson called the house to order and the election of officers for this year was gone into. Professor Whittington president when the election of a president was being made, Mrs. S. T. Johnson was unanimously re-elected. Other officers as follows were elected: vice-president, Mrs. S. T. Gist; second vice-president, Mrs. C. Alfred and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Earnest Greer. The following committees were appointed: Ways and Means, Mrs. W. P. Pinkston, Mrs. B. D. Smith, Miss Nadine Haynes; program, Prof. J. E. Whittington, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Smith, Miss Nadine Haynes; Miss Opal Lawley and Miss Floy McGregor. The P.T.A. then discussed the ways of obtaining P.T.A. members and it was decided not to join the State P.T.A. and not to charge a membership fee but one must be present at the P.T.A. meetings three successive meetings to become a full fledged member. This was done in order to create more interest in the P.T.A. meetings and for people to understand more the value of the P.T.A. organization and that it is not a money collecting institution as some people seem to think but an organization where the school patrons and the teachers meet to discuss the common school problems. The P.T.A. voted to meet for a business meeting every two weeks, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 and to have the programs and social meetings evenings. It was voted that the P.T.A. pay all the interscholastic league fees so Knott school may enter all the contests. Mrs. S. T. Johnson gave a report on how the money was gotten to pay for the girls' basketball suits. All business men donated on the suits.

T. E. Satterwhite went to Lubbock Tuesday of last week to attend the railroad meeting. Mrs. Satterwhite accompanied him and visited relatives there.

Several of the basketball fans from here accompanied the team to Lomax Wednesday of last week. All the teams and teachers, with others went in a big truck driven by W. E. Turner. The senior girls played the Stanton girls, the score being 44 to 3 in favor of Knott. Miss Wingo of Big Spring refereed. The senior boys, junior boys and junior girls all lost to Lomax. Mr. Driver of Big Spring refereed the games. All will have to admit the teams are good losers for they put in some strenuous practice to go to Coahoma Saturday night and girls and junior boys and girls, all bringing home the victory. Prof. Coahama, superintendent of the Coahoma school refereed the games.

Lomax ball teams will meet Knott here Wednesday.

Several were back in school Monday after being absent last week on account of illness.

The pupils of Prof. Whittington's room have organized themselves into a club. The following officers were elected: President, Earl Hodnett; Vice-president, Cecil All red; secretary and treasurer, Riley Denton. They will meet every other Tuesday evening.

The seventh grade pupils in Mr. Smith's room have organized a staff of writers and will put out a little paper each Friday. They will call it the Knott School Weekly Herald. The staff is: editor-in-chief, Donna Ruth Hodnett; assistant editor, Beauna Billings; treasurer, Elina Sample and J. C. Powell. Every one will be interested in the outcome of this organization.

Mr. Smith's honor pupils the past month were Jessie Mae Smith, Vernon Franklin, Beauna Billings, Minnie Belle Page, Willie Vuger, Elcin Jones and Bonnie Ruth Hodnett.

Miss Floy McGregor and Miss Opal Lawley will have a Christmas tree together Friday afternoon with a short Christmas program. The other rooms will have programs and Christmas boxes.

Mrs. D. B. Smith has received some books for her room and the pupils are all enthusiastic over learning to sing.

Little Donald Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wood of Big Spring spent several days with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wood last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Burchell were Ackerly visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Turner were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Turner.

Mrs. Novella Goodman of High way visited her sister, Mrs. O. D. Gaskins, the first of this week.

SCHOOL-GROUND SUPERVISION

Crying aloud its need from every school ground in this town, echoing in the heart of every mother, and reverberating against the apathy of the public, is the vital need of play-ground supervision.

Let it be said to the credit of Big Spring, that our school superintendent and his corps of teachers are just as efficient, progressive, and as intellectual as can be found anywhere, and no criticism is intended of their methods, for they have given of their best; and what the schools lack of being as up to date as other schools is due entirely to a "don't care public."

Visit the schools of Dallas, Fort Worth, El Paso, Abilene, San Angelo, and a score of other schools and you will find that the children have school-ground supervision. Teachers are employed to do nothing else but direct the children's play. If it's good for those children it must be good for ours.

Haphazard method of school-ground supervision is as out of date as the horse and buggy. Every minute of every recess should find every child in some directed game. Then and only then shall we have cleaner-minded and finer physical children.

Nine months out of every twelve we send our children to school to improve their mental faculties, but what do we do about their physical condition? Habits make us what we are. Therefore, let us see that our children have no opportunity to form bad habits.

Angelo Patri, one of the greatest educators America has ever had, believes that directed play should come first in the school curriculum.

Rev. Day Speaks To Kiwanis Club; Others Are Heard

In a program led by Day Cornelison, members of the Kiwanis club, in regular session Thursday at the Crawford Hotel, heard talks by Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Wendell Bedichek. Entertainment was given by the Jackson sisters, violinists, with Miss Gay playing piano accompaniment.

A committee was named by President Deats to answer a call from M. H. Morrison, chairman of the County Good Roads Association. It includes J. H. Cauble, Dr. J. R. Barcus and J. E. Webb.

Ray Wilcox urged every member to hear Judge W. R. Ely's address Friday afternoon at the courthouse.

J. M. Jones of the A. & M. College of Texas spoke briefly concerning the beef cattle feeding experiment being instituted at the federal farm here.

"Hard Times" was Rev. Day's topic. He urged sane optimism, less "depression" propaganda. "I've found the best way to handle church members is to feed 'em high and milk 'em dry. Let them get a few thousand dollars ahead and you may as well kiss them good-bye. They begin to forget about the church. Poverty has caused far less trouble in homes and churches than riches. Show me a fellow who is having a hard time making tongue and buckle meet and I'll show you one who is more apt to be interested in his Lord's business as well as his own," said the pastor.

Pointing out that one of the cardinal aims of the Kiwanis International is betterment of relations between people of urban and rural communities, Wendell Bedichek told fellow Kiwanians the local club faced a golden opportunity to execute this aim and that its existence in the community could be justified only by that which it might do to serve the community.

"No man's face is whiter, his soul more valuable or his heart bigger, because he happens to live in town or outside. People outside the city are parts of a government, a social and an economic unit along with ourselves. The feeling that there is a mark of distinction that separates the aims and the welfare of the two groups is false," said the speaker.

"Betterment of relations between these groups can be accomplished only by according to the other the sincerity of his opinions and his convictions. None of us has the right to question motives of others. We should have no axes to grind, no selfish aims to satisfy."

Lamesa Child Is Fatally Injured

LAMESA, Dec. 18. - LaVerne Morris, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Morris, was fatally injured here early last night when she was struck by a automobile driven by Mrs. R. J. Boardman. She died en route to a local hospital.

Mrs. Boardman, wife of the bookkeeper for the McDonald & Ely gin, was almost prostrated by the shock of the accident, which was considered unavoidable.

The tragedy occurred shortly before 7 o'clock at the intersection of Main and North First streets, as the child was en route home after having been downtown to mail a letter. Mrs. Boardman said she had not seen the child and was unaware she had struck anyone until she felt a weight on her bumper. Stopping, she found the little girl in a dying condition at the front of the machine.

LaVerne was in the first grade at school and this afternoon had given a reading in a pre-Christmas program. Besides her parents she was survived by an 18-months old brother, Alless Morris. Her father, a barber, has resided here about 15 years.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete tonight.

BIG SPRING FACULTY DEFEATED

LOMAX, Dec. 15.—The Lomax nets defeated a team composed of teachers in the Big Spring public schools here Tuesday evening 14. Though rather rough, the game was close and the crowd was aptly interested. The profs lost at the half but in the second stanza the Hornets demonstrated that one doesn't have to weigh 200 pounds to be able to play basket ball.

4-H CLUB ORGANIZED

Dec. 5—Louella B. Allgood came out and organized a 4-H club in this community. The following officers were elected: Minda Riddle, president; Ruth Lynn, vice president and reporter; Artella Minton, secretary. Mrs. Allgood gave a very interesting talk on bedroom and table linens. She brought out in her talk the main points in selecting, making and laundering linens. She outlined the work for the girls to have finished by the next meeting which will be soon after Christmas.

PATRONS WORK AT SCHOOL

Dec. 17—Patrons of the school have been doing a good time and work to the school during the past few days of cold weather. A table, 4 by 14 feet, was built for the science room. Three book cases and two dictionary stands were made. Lockers were put on all lockers in the school. The work was not completed, however. Lockers for the students are yet to be built in the Hornets' dressing room. The school extends thanks to the community for its work, especially A. J. Stallings.

BOX SUPPER

Friday night, December 12th the P.T.A. held the annual box supper for the school. The crowd met at 6:30 and listened to several musical numbers by the Harmony Band, which has recently been organized by Miss McGinnis.

The band is composed of twenty-two members, all from the primary grades. Their uniforms are white blouses and trousers with blue sashes. The numbers given Friday night before the box supper were proof that some of the tiny tots are able to learn simple things about rhythm.

STANTON VS. LOMAX

Following the numbers by the band the Stanton Buffaloes played the Lomax Hornets. The game ended by a 25 to 14 victory for the local eaters. After the ball game W. R. Purser of Big Spring auctioned off some forty boxes. A cake was given to the prettiest girl who was Miss Minda Riddle and a pie was donated to the ugliest man, who was Eldon Lilley. Mrs. W. J. Williams was winner of the women's club quilt. The supper resulted in a profit of $157.35. The P.T.A. has just finished a membership drive, the proceeds of which swelled the treasury to $380. This sum should cover expenses of the school for buying sweaters for letter men of the basketball team.

T. F. HILL MARRIED

T. F. (Boss) Hill of this community surprised his many friends here by motoring to Oklahoma and being married. The ceremony was performed on December 6 at Ardmore. Mrs. Hill was formerly Miss Charles Grant. Mr. Hill has been a resident of this county for a number of years and has a host of friends, who extend to him and his bride best wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Hill returned home Monday, December 15. They will make their home in the Knott community.

PHYSICAL ED. PROGRAM

On Tuesday evening, December 23, beginning at 7 o'clock a physical education program will be given in the high school auditorium. The senior boys will give a demonstration of various exercises and marching. The senior and junior girls will give some exercises and folk dancing. The school has wop ortable Victrolas and the county health nurse has been instrumental in securing some very fine records to be used in the various health exercises. Following the program two teams of sub-junior Hornets will have a basketball game. These teams are composed of boys nine to ten years of age. One team will wear white uniforms and the other blue. Each play period finds the younger fellows in line, working out. Ledbetter and Woods will be officials.

Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Jones of Lomax were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wells, parents of Mrs. Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are former residents of this community and local people were glad to welcome them home again.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wood of Big Spring were guests in the C. M. Wood home over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Martin of Jatan were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. McGinnis. Mr. Martin has lately been transferred from the Lomax Booster plant to a plant in Jatan.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coker of Lubbock visited Mrs. Coker's sister, Mrs. S. S. Barnhill of this community last week.

L. E. Lomax has been on the jury most of this week.

J. P. Eiddle, Be Riddle, Mack Stallings and Reuben Hill all went to Lameza Thursday. They took trailers and trucks to bring back maize to feed on another year.

Feed crops in this community were short and several farmers are in the market for feed.

Othel Wood, who has been ill for two weeks, is back in school. He is one of the leading basketball players on the Hornets squad and it is expected he will be able to play again soon.

Lafayette Newman was absent Monday on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Digby at Midway.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman and family went to Jva Saturday to visit relatives.

More Basketball

Dec. 16—Saturday night following the Hornet-Stanton game Coach Helton of Forsan brought his school boys down to play the Methodist boys of Big Spring. He brought also the Outlaws of Forsan to play the Hornets.

The Hornet-Outlaw game was played first, the Lomax boys winning 40 to 4.

The Forsan Yellow Jackets and the Methodist Big Brothers resulted in a one-sided victory for the latter. The next game was one of the hottest of the season, between the local Terrapins and the aforementioned Big Brothers. The Terrapins used a combination of two school boys and three outsiders. Ledbetter and Wood strengthened their team considerably but it was all they could do to outpoint the Methodist, who lost 20 to 27. The score stood 11 to 11 at the half. The Big Brothers at the half and won 22 to 22 when the regular playing time ended. Another quarter was played with McGinnis in the line-up for Lomax Terrapins.

Lomax vs. Knott Dec. 15—The Knott school brought its whole force, including its basketball team here and in the final of several games of the evening Lomax senior boys defeated Knott 20 to 10. The Knott and Lomax junior girls played, Lomax winning 4 to 1. The Knott senior girls walloped Stanton's girls' team 14 to 3.

December 12 the Hornets defeated a team of ex-Stanton high school players, 25 to 4. J. A. Coffee of Big Spring refereed. Ledbetter was high with 11 points, Lilley making 8 and Wood 6.

be inexpensive. Don't think for a moment the kitchen gift is only a substitute for the other kinds of presents. Even if you're rolling in lucre, give a thought to those bachelor, hotel swappers, college students, on your list, who would rather have home-made goodies than any number of expensive knick-knacks. If you don't need to economize, make your kitchen gift more lavish and help to overcome any lack of prosperity others may be feeling.

Here are recipes and suggestions to help the Kitchen Santas, chosen because they keep well and are suited to packing and mailing.
