The free kiddie shows on Saturday mornings sponsored by Francis Harwick at the Star theater will be discontinued immediately, he said Saturday. Interest in the kiddie parties, which will be two years old this spring, is waning, he said. Handling the shows and the program takes more time than his employees can give to it.

Fred Inman, who has been with the Soil Conservation office in Hereford for the past 20 years, has been transferred to the Soil Conservation office in Seminole, Tex. Cyrus Freeman of Levelland arrived January 14 to become associated with the Deaf Smith county soil conservation office, Clarence Strange, who has operated a garage in Hereford for the past 20 years, is in charge of the automotive machine shop service at the Hereford Parts and Supply.

There will be a cutting horse contest held at Rancho Grande Hotel Rodeo Arena near Nogales, Ariz. on February 3, according to Erle Stuber, head wrangler of the Rancho Grande hotel.

The L-type kitchen arrangement is the most popular of all kitchen plans. Here you see how effectively Curtis cabinets may be used in an L-kitchen. You can have Curtis units that fit your needs exactly-for Curtis offers 20 basic cabinets and a total of 70 sizes. Remember, these are wood cabinets-designed for durability and lasting beauty.

TO FIT IT

for instance

If your kitchen space is U-shaped, here's the way Curtis units provide an efficient and step-saving plan. Curtis cabinets come painted white -you can use them "as is," or finish them in the color of your choice. Hardware is furnished for each unit.

And here's a simple arrangement of the "straight wall" kitchen. Note the ample working and storary clipping area which had been abandoned in 1949. Since that season's clubs have gone into so that the opposition would have time, it has been illegal to block no chance to go over 100 points from behind only from the waist against them '. . . A team did down, hence-forward it will be it successfully for six minutes punishable to hit a player anyagainst Wayland the other nite where on the back . . One of the holding them to 97-48. Who carquestionable items that glared in ed? the Cotton Bowl was the continuous piling on that was entered into, with will and abandon by both clubs. . . And much of it occurred long after progress of the ball had ceased. 'The new rule bans piling on as soon as Monday, 47-46 rule bans piling on as soon as for defensive holding has been upped from 5 to 15 yards . . This sconce was aimed particularly at defensive teams who concentrated on holding eligible pass receivers and gambling on the 5 yard cost in preference to risking a long completed pass ... There is an additional substit- blonde forward racked up anothution rule that appears on the surface to be trivial . . . However, I think it will make quite a difference on the kicking specialists . . . The new rule provides that a team sending in a player while the clock is going will be charged with a time out, five of which are permitted each half. In the past, it was only a fiveyard penalty, which will still apply in addition to the time out half 24-17, and squeezed by at if the substitution is made after the three quarter mark 31-30.

Mrs. Bill Bradly gave an inter esting discussion of music for children and techniques for teaching children during the meet ing of the Young Mother's Study club Monday evening.

The group met in the home of Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr., for the regularly scheduled session.

Mrs. Bradly told something of the book, "Let Them Doodle", by Margaret Hoffman, in which the author advised against beginning piano lessons too soon, and a gainst forcing a child to take piano lesson. In speaking of "Music in the Home", she stressed that listening to good music as a family group and in group singing in the home makes for happiness and contentment.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Pat Robinson on January 28.

BOOKS ON PARADE Agnes deMille Autobiography Expected Here

Reviewed by Corinne Jennings

For those who like to read the last of a book first, Agnes de Mille's "Dance to the Piper is one that you can do this with fact it is even suggested that you do that very thing.

The best page in the book is the last one and is a paragraph of wise words spoken to Miss de Mille by Martha Graham. If you read it first, the story is not hurt. In fact you might even enjoy it more. "But enjoy it you will in any event."

Agnes de Mille was born in New York, the daughter of Wil-liam de Mille, a successful playwright, who went west to join his brother, Cecil as a scenarist. But being born with a gold spoon in her mouth did Agnes de Mille little good because she was determined to make good on her own merits. She was 13 years old when she knew what she wanted to be, after she had seen Pavlova in ballet.

After deciding to become a dancer, she found that she needed a long-limbed body, classic, cool, and a serene temperament, and an Achilles tendon in her heel. She had none of these.

She says, "My torso was long with unusually broad hips, my legs and arms abnormally short. I was fat besides. What I did not know was that I was constructed for endurance and that I developed through effort alone a capacity for out-performing far, far better technicians.'

And because she was built like a mustang, she writes stocky, mettlesome and sturdyshe became a good jumper which made up for the lack of the helpful heel.

The physical handicaps were only a few of the many obstacles which she spent years in overcoming. And it was after a long time that she had decided she was through that she got her best chance and stood up to the test to make good.

Her accounts of her recent triumphs are, quite surprisingly, just as interesting as the more dramatic period of struggle and disappointment. She does not become smug in success as she honestly realizes that every job is only the beginning of an-other ahead.

'Dance to the Piper'' is an informal biography which rings true. It is sound in human values and unaffected in its narration. An honest book abou dancers, singers, actors, producers, authors and directors, it is most welcomed by them because of its authenticity. It was Agnes de Mille who introduced western scenes into ballet and is making a name for herself in "Rodeo." She has played an important part in the arranging and presentation of the well known "Oklahoma!" on Broadway and now appearing in other companies traveling over the country. The -book will soon be in the library, according to Mrs. J. J. Boydston, librarian. It has also been chosen for the February selection by the Literary Guild and appeared in serial form of the "Atlantic Maga-

COMMUNITY DREAM

A community dream for about 50 farm families north of Levelland is beginning to come true. The foundation for a community building has been completed. The building will have an auditorium, two baths, a stage, a nursery and a kitchen. Already plans are being made for terracing the grounds around the 11/2 acres, installing playground equipment, construction of a sofball field and a swimming pool which will be fed by their own well.

SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

A school bond election to pass a $115,000 school bond issue for the purpose of the construction of two buildings to be located between the present high and junior high schools, will be held in Portales. The two buildings will be for vocational classes of the two schools and will be a home economics building.

POLL TAX CAMPAIGN

The Perryton Jaycees opened a poll tax campaign designed to make it easy for every adult citizen in Ochiltree county to become a gaulified voter for the big election year of 1952. They will call on business houses and residences seeking out poll tax eligibles. Six Jaycees were sworn in as deputy tax collectors for this campaign.

DEPOSITS EXCEED TAXABLE VALUES

The banks of Floyd county had on deposit more than a million dollars more than the total of the assessed values for taxation on the current rolls of the county.

ST. PATRICK'S CELEBRATION

Plans for the biggest St. Patrick's Day celebration ever to be held in Shamrock are being made for March 17, 1952. Norman Patrick is in charge of the celebration.

1951 PROJECT

The big project for 1951 in Littlefield was a new sewer building and maintenance. The largest part of the project was a new sewage system servicing Dunbar school.

TULIA SCHOOLS

Taxpayers of Tulia Rural high school district may soon be given an opportunity to decide between half-day schooling for 10 or 12 classes and providing six or eight new classrooms. The taxes that are being paid now will probably provide enough to build the extra room, according to engineers.

We would rather look beyond this man's courage and indomitable spirit to evaluate the devotion to duty which caused him to stick by his ship in the highest tradition of the sea.

Whatever the true motive behind such courageous deeds, we say the world would be better off with a little more of that resoluteness of purpose and devotion to duty shown by the American seaman. If we could all discharge our daily duties in such a manner we would not only meet with success in our chosen profession or vocation, but we would find happiness in doing a job that meant more than even our own safety.

The fact that Carlsen refused to commercialize on his adventure also adds to his esteem in the eyes of the world. How many of us would go through a harrowing experience such as that and refuse to take the "golden opportunity" that followed?

Certainly, Carlsen deserves a ripe reward for his exploits.

Carlsen will get his reward—the only one he seems to care about-returning to the sea.

Through a recent ruling by the Kremlin, American diplomats in Russia were confined to a 25-mile radius of their em-

WAYNE EDWARDS-I think that we should retaliate. It's just like us paying ransom for those flyers. As long as we will pay the ransom they will keep jailing Americans and demanding the ransom. It's the same thing as confining our men to a 25 mile radius of the embassy.

FAUST COLLIER-Definitely so. I think we should assign just as many guards and restrict them just as closely as they do us.

RALPH SMITH-I think we've been too long now taking action on those Russians. Our foreign policy has been too lax with the Russians.

On Looking A Campaign Promise In The Mouth

Hang on to your hats!! This is the year, the field is wide open. Don't believe "anything your hear and only about 50% of what you see!"

Why? This is an election year, of course! Just watch the smoke of the vote-getters as they try to woo the "folks back home." Believe it or not, we'll hear people pounding the stump for cuts in expenditures. The same people, in fact, who probably helped get them way up there. We've seen some evidence of that already.

Watch out for so-so politicians seeking re-election or for new blood seeking to get in, because anything goes in a political year.

Finding one person who is not downright disgusted with corruption in Washington or anywhere else in the government-octupus is going to be as hard as finding a Republican at a Jefferson Day dinner. Don't for one minute think that all the campaign oratory is going to be poppycock or that no legislator's record will stand close scrutiny. Far from that. But politics is politics.

Effects of the Korean War are going to be soft-pedaled as much as possible. Taxes will be discouraged in an election year. The military is going to have its raise in pay (which is as it should be but should have been done long agoly Campaign strategy will be to try to please All groups on the home front. Throw them, all a few crumbs.

If any time in our recent history called for a firmer hand in world problems and less attention to the acting on the political stage, it is now.

But how much of the cries of a world tottering on the brink of World War III will be heard above the roar of the election oratory remains to be seen.

Just settle back and don't mind the patriotism-or the mud. The year is young, but the sound of battle is loud .- W. W. K.

LOLA ROSE-It seems like they should be confined to that 25-mile radius unless they made special arrangements for certain work, and then I think they should be supervised so that they won't find out all our secrets-if we have any. I don't think necessarily retaliatory action should be taken although I think we should be more careful how they get around.

TRAVIS W. BAIN-I most certainly do. The quicker we learn that the only thing that they recognize is force the sooner we're going to have peace.

TOM HOWARD-I think that the situation is too deep for the average person to answer. I'm afraid to express an opinion on it.

We're beginnin' to think we made a mistake when we installed a full length mirror instead of buyin' a pair of bathroom scales.

At least we could have consoled ourselves with the thought that the scales could be off balance but there isn't any arguin' with that mirror.

Incidentally we found out that the Hereford Plate Glass Company 1302 Park avenue can do just about anything with a piece of glass.

Mrs. Argen Draper passes on a report that has come to her which might be worth a great deal if it can be proven that a vitamin C deficiency could be an element in causin' a person to be more likely to get polio.

This information came from the mother of a polio patient at Odessa where all their cases have shown a lack of enough vitamin C.

Anyway a few more spuds, carrots; tomatoes and such on the menu wouldn't do any harm.

The South Hereford Home Demonstration club met in the home of Miss Evelyn Bell January 15. The meeting was opened by reading the collect. Roll call was answered by 11 members. The subject of the talk given by Mrs. Tom Draper was "Kitchen Appliances, Large and Small."

Following the talk, Mrs. S. S. Williams conducted a business, session during which the club voted to take a course in tailoring offered by the CHDA.

Refreshments were served to: Mesdames S. S. Williams, W. J. Hacker, O. B. Russell, J. P. Slaton, W. H. Gough, John Draper, Adam Flowers, Clarence Hollabaugh, Ethel Layman, F. H. Miller and the hostess, and Mrs. Draper. One guest, Mrs. J. R. Davis, was also present. The club voted to accept her into membership.

The next meeting will be held February 5 at the F. H. Miller home.

The first two states to join the original 13 in the Union were Vermont in 1791 and Kentucky in 1792.

Dear editor:

Lately I've been readin about the South and Southwest, how we're gettin industrialized and how there's some hope of us improvin our standards, raisin our mental status, broadenin our vision, splittin our votes, multiplyin our traffics problems, maybe even decreasin our illiteracy, although there's something to say for being illiterate, you ain't heard of any illiterate bein investigated in Washington for his wife's mink coat, every man I've heard of who's resigned under a scandalous atmosphere from a government job recently has been able to read and write, and while I have never been opposed to progress, I want you to know we had our good points before progress set in.

As I understand it, the classic descriptin of the unindustrialized South gave it a pretty awful place, where, when they buried a man, they buried him in a suit made in New York, shoes made in Boston, socks prade in Philadelphia, a shirt made in Cincinnati, and a cotfin made in Chicago, with even the marble tombstone bein imported from Vermont and the grave bein dug with a shovel from Pittsburgh. All the South furnished, accordin to the celebrated editar, Henry Grady of the Atlanta Constitution, was the corpse and the hole in the ground.

This was supposed to be an unanswerable indictment of the South's backwardness, but it never has affected me that way. What I want to know is what's wrong with it?

If some man in Boston has the energy to make my shoes for me, I say let him do it. If I'm backward because some bird in Cincinnati sews a shirt for me, just keep his needle threaded and keep him thinkin I'm backward. I don't even care where they make shovels, already too many produced as it is.

In fact, it never has struck me that you measure a town or an area by its ability to produce all its own goods. That is, not in these days. Maybe in Carthage in 112 B. C., but you try to make every area industrialized and self-supportin these days and you'll ruin transportation, not to mention the billboard people and drive-in cafes.

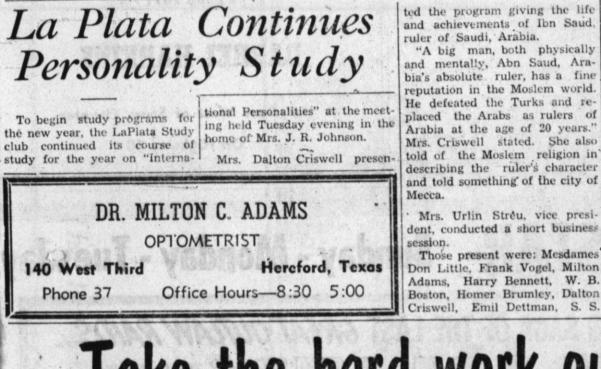

It may be the height of backwardness, but there ain't a hand bein turned out here at Bootleg to make our own atom bombs, ain't nobody openin up a new car factory, very few heavy bombers bein planned here, the last homespun suit wore out durin Cleveland's administration, we'd starve to death if we depended our our own lightbread. The way we figure it is, when we go to the trouble of raisin something, it's somebody else's job to take it from there and manufacture something out of it. If I get my wheat hauled to town, that's as far as I can go. Yours faithfully, L A
