Hospital board looks at $4.8 M in renovations

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors, in a special meeting Tuesday night, discussed plans for proposed renovations of Hereford Regional Medical Center that could total $4.8 million.

Board members, along with physicians attending the meeting, also discussed the possibility of building a new hospital facility. An "off-the-cuff" estimate on new construction was about double that of the estimated renovation project.

Mike Moss, an architect with AC Associates of Lubbock presented a "project scoping" which included 23 renovation, re-modeling, up-grading or new construction items. The big-ticket items include heating, ventilation and air conditioning at a cost of $800,000; a new professional office building at $663,600; replacing the electrical system, $680,000; and renovation of the obstetrics and nursing station departments at $659,500.

The board briefly discussed funding for such a project, which would require a bond election. One example, based on a 20-year term, $5 million note, would require that 11.44 cents of the tax rate be dedicated to debt service.

In response to a question from a director, Ron Rives, HRMC chief executive officer, said this did not necessarily mean that a tax hike of 11.44 cents would be needed. At the current time, the hospital district has a 22-cent tax rate, with 3.79 cents dedicated to debt service.

Whether the final decision is to adopt a renovation project or to build a new hospital, noted Dr. Howard Johnson, "we need to remember that this is taxpayer money and we need to do the best we can with the funds."

Dr. Nadir Khuri expressed a desire to consider building a new hospital. "It would be interesting to see how much money has been spent on renovations over the years.

John Perrin, board chairman, said the board needs to "get all the facts to the people and then determine which direction they want us to take."

In the only other business Tuesday night, the board formally called for a hospital board election on May 7 and appointed Betty Mercer as the election judge. The terms of directors Perrin, Merle Clark, Boyd Foster and Paul Abalos expire this year.

The meeting started at 6 p.m. and was adjourned at 7:30, when Rives and the architect took directors and guests on a walk-through of the hospital to outline proposed renovations. Doctors Johnson, Khuri, Jesse Perales, Howard Haysom and Kent Walker attended the meeting, along with several hospital staff members.

Other proposals on the project scoping included: Renovate existing conference room and radiology into expanded radiology waiting, mamography and support offices; renovate kitchen, storage, serving line and employee locker room; add 500 sq. ft. of floor space and reorganize emergency room area; return existing offices to patient rooms and add nurse's station;

Renovate second floor of original hospital to provide offices for CEO, financial officer and other support staff; renovate existing administrative and business offices for admissions and out-patient services; provide enclosure for connecting CAT scan trailer to hospital corridor;

Demolish existing wood building at physical plant and build new metal building to house boiler, chiller and generators; build new parking lot on west side of hospital and add special physician parking area; install new fire sprinkle system for entire complex; expand and renovate laboratory; add area for cardiac rehabilitation program.

Hutchison will miss votes during trial in Fort Worth

WASHINGTON (AP) - While Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison sits in a Texas courtroom fighting for her political life, her colleagues will be debating a slew of issues from education reform to a balanced budget amendment.

The Texas Republican's trial on criminal charges that she misused her former office of state treasurer for political gain will keep her away from her Senate duties for weeks.

Attorneys on both sides have predicted the trial, in which jury selection began Tuesday in Fort Worth, could last a month or more.

Asked by reporters whether missing Senate business concerns her,

Mrs. Hutchison replied: "Oh, of course it does. It makes me feel terrible that I'm going to miss votes."

She didn't miss any roll call votes Monday, as senators debated a school-to-work package and education reform. The Senate did vote on a variety of measures Tuesday as it considered the Clinton administration's Goals 2000 education bill, which sets national education goals.

In the weeks ahead, the Senate is expected to tackle disaster assistance for Los Angeles, the GOP alternative to the Brady bill and national competitiveness legislation.

The Deaf Smith County Fresh Water Supply District No. 1, which serves the San Jose Community south of Hereford has reported that it recorded a contaminated water sample last year.

However, Mike Baker, a spokesman for the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission said Wednesday morning that such a sample is not particularly unusual and subsequent samples have shown no contamination.

He said there is no danger to residents of the San Jose Community, stressing that the water currently tests free of coliform bacteria.

A notice from the district released Monday said a routine monthly water sample was collected in November to be tested for coliform analysis at a TNRCC laboratory in Amarillo.

Baker said the district is required to take water samples once a month and submit them for coliform testing.

A report on the November sample was returned to the district indicating the presence of coliform bacteria and noting that further samples were required.

Water supply officials were directed to collect four repeat samples to isolate and confirm the analytical results.

He said state law requires the monthly samples.

If a sample comes back positive for coliform contamination, four additional tests are required immediately to confirm the test results.

Finally, the next month, the district is required, instead of sending in one water sample, to collect five samples.

Baker said confusion arose over how many samples were to be taken and when to take them, with a change in months during the process further confusing the situation.

Romelia Fuentes of the water district said the four confirmation tests were not submitted, but that the five samples for the follow-up month were sent in.

Those, she said, turned up no traces of coliform bacteria.

Baker said it is "not all that unusual for a sample to come back like that," adding that "even the city of Amarillo will get a bad sample."

As to why the November sample came up positive, Baker said there was no way to tell, since the later samples were clean.

Sex assault trial on here

Testimony began Tuesday and was continuing Wednesday in 222nd District Court in the trial of Jose delacruz Esparza, charged with aggravated sexual assault of a child.

Hearing evidence is a jury of nine women and three men, selected Tuesday afternoon.

The charge on which Esparza is being tried stems from an incident that occurred in March 1992. He was indicted for the felony offense in May 1992.

A second charge for the same offense also is pending against the defendant. Another charge filed against Esparza alleges bail jumping and failure to appear.

Security Command Noncommissioned Officer Professional military Education Center at Goodfellow Air Force Base.

He retired from the military last year and is now assistant aerospace science instructor for Junior ROTC at Central High School in San Angelo.

In addition, said Taylor, there will be a 20-foot screen on which will be shown a variety of Contemporary Christian music videos that deal with the True Love Waits theme of sexual purity.

"It's going to be a good night," Taylor said, adding that he anticipates some 200 to 250 young people here will attend.

Thousands of teens across the country have signed "True Love Waits" pledges, agreeing to vow publicly to stay away from sex before marriage.

Taylor said reservations may be made by calling Community Church at 364-866, or First Baptist Church at 364-0696. Tickets will be reserved for all those calling in advance.

"It may have been something in the water, it may have been a sampling error, it may have been a lab error," he said.

The follow-up samples are required, he explained, just in case the original sample was collected or processed in the lab incorrectly.

If the follow-up samples continue to show the presence of coliform bacteria, then there might be a failure of the chlorinator or a leak somewhere in the water district system.

"They have a fairly tight little system out there," he said, with one well, a storage tank, two pumps and a chlorinator.

Baker said the water district is required to publish the results of the test because of the sampling snafu and the time delay between the original sample and now.

Persons having questions about the water may call the district office at 364-7220.

Concerns of residents to be subject of study

Invitations have been extended to approximately 160 Deaf Smith County residents who will be asked to help identify concerns and address those issues in a special study session Thursday evening.

The meeting at 7 p.m. in the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Extension office and extension program council.

Four areas of interest will be explored in groups and the issues will provide the basis for a long range extension program for Deaf Smith County.

Tommie Weemes, chairman of the extension executive program board council, will preside. Speakers will discuss current and emerging issues.

Charles Greenawalt, Hereford school superintendent, will talk about development of life skills and leadership qualities. Stewardship of the environment and natural resources will be discussed by Jim Crownover, U.S. Soil Conservation Service district conservationist.

Economic competitiveness, viability and stability will be the topic for Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce. Ron Rives, chief executive officer of Hereford Regional Medical Center, will talk on health, safety and well being.

After the introduction of discussion topics by speakers, four study groups will meet to consider issues. Facilitators will be Patty Hill, life skills and leadership; Tommie Weemes, economic competitiveness, and Johnnie Messer, health.

After the group meetings, extension program committees for crops, livestock, vegetable, family living and youth, will identify priority issues.

On completion of the Deaf Smith County document, the material will be used at the state and national levels to formulate plans for extension work in all areas of life into the next decade.

Metal balls ejected in space to give experts tracking help

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Discovery's crew ejected six metal balls from the shuttle today to give space debris experts better methods of tracking thousands of small items whizzing around the Earth.

The spheres, ranging from 2 to 6 inches in diameter, were sprung one at a time from a canister in the rear of the shuttle cargo bay for a test of ground radar stations in Massachusetts and Florida. The balls popped out as Discovery flew over British Columbia.

Debris trackers hoped to follow the spheres as they shot out of Discovery and orbited Earth.

NASA tried to release the balls from Discovery in 1992, but had to scrap the test because of a bad battery.

TEXAS LOTTERY

AUSTIN (AP) - Two Texans are sharing a $14.4 million jackpot after successfully guessing the six winning numbers in the most recent Lotto Texas drawing.

Claiming the prizes Monday were James Schrader of Austin, a former deputy sheriff who decided to buy three lotto tickets while getting gasoline Saturday, and Refugio Valadez of Comstock.

Both correctly selected 7-47-23-49-25-19, the numbers drawn Saturday night.

Schrader said he had played the lotto about 10 times, usually spending about $3 each time. "I just wished. I never thought I'd win," he said.

Schrader collected a $365,000 check and will receive 19 more annually. He said he plans to pay off his cars and house and perhaps "help two older sons go back to school."

Valadez, a masonry contractor who said he often spends $30 to $50 a week on the lottery, said that after winning his $7.2 million he "doesn't have to worry about bad weather days any more."

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

I think we all owe a big "thank you" to the Southern Baptist churches for originating the wonderful "True Love Waits" youth chastity program. It is beautiful the way America's young people by the thousands are signing pledge cards to remain sexually pure until marriage.

Many other religious denominations now have joined the program, working as one for the good of our children. The effort is so successful that leaders hope to place 500,000 of the signed pledge cards along the Mall in Washington, D.C., next summer. Those precious pledges will send a powerful message to the likes of Joycelyn Elders and Donna Shalala.

Here in Hereford, a special "True Love Waits" banquet is scheduled Saturday, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. in Hereford Community Center. This is an excellent opportunity for young people to learn more about this commitment. Tickets are only $2 a person and

Richards records reconstructed for telephone in 9 of 32 months

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards' aides say they've pieced together nine of 32 months of destroyed long-distance phone records, and remain convinced they've done nothing wrong.

"Stripped away from all political rhetoric, there's no allegation of illegal activities in this office," said John Fainter, the governor's chief of staff, as he made the records public Tuesday.

"The only charge that has been made is that we misinterpreted a rule regarding destruction of phone records. If we made a mistake, we regret it. We have now done everything we know how to do to rectify the situation," Fainter said.

Assistant District Attorney Claire Dawson Brown wrote the governor's office a letter saying the public integrity unit will look into the phone records and has asked for Richards' cooperation.

Last week, Richards aides acknowledged that long-distance records from her first 32 months in office were destroyed in August 1993.

The governor's office phone records were destroyed a few weeks after Travis County prosecutors raided the state Treasury and seized records of Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison.

Now a U.S. senator, Mrs. Hutchison is standing trial in Fort Worth this week on state ethics charges stemming from her tenure as treasurer.

Fainter has said there was no connection between the timing of the Treasury raid and his decision to destroy the phone records.

State rules call for such records to be retained for three years.

Fainter said the phone records released Tuesday were reconstructed from computer tapes found during an extensive search for the information. They are the only months for which records could be located, he said.

But the Texas Republican Party chairman accused Richards, a Democrat, of not taking seriously the questions surrounding the missing phone records.

"These are very serious allegations of major misconduct," said GOP chairman Fred Meyer.

"For the governor of the state of Texas to continue to brush aside these serious ethical and legal violations as just politics is alarming misconduct on the part of the governor," Meyer said.

Fainter said Richards' long has maintained a separate, privately funded political office to handle personal and political business.

"She keeps that office open so that political and nonpublic aspects of her life can be kept apart from her public office," he said.

Rather, Fainter and other Richards aides said, the itemized listings of calls from the governor's office were destroyed in confusion over how long such material should be kept.

The governor's office now is keeping such records for three years, Fainter said.

The office late Tuesday afternoon released copies of records for November 1991; April, May, June and July 1992; July, August, October and November 1993. Also released were cellular phone records and billings of calls made on long distance credit cards.

Fainter said the records were "a fair sampling of the type of phone calls that were made during any particular period." He said he was "as confident as we can be that we have found every possible telephone record that we can."

A spot check by The Associated Press found several calls overseas in 1992, including Paris, France; Milan and Rome, Italy, and Madrid, Spain.

Cryer said some of those calls were in connection with a trip Richards took to Europe that year. Calls to Spain were made in connection with the state's efforts to attract 500th anniversary replicas of Christopher Columbus' ships, he said.

Cryer said many foreign calls also are returned by the state's music commission, which operates out of the governor's office and promotes Texas musicians.

A number of July 1992 calls to New York City, including the city's police department and a labor union, apparently were connected with that month's Democratic National Convention. Richards served as chair of the convention.

Other calls included the William Morris Agency in Beverly Hills, Calif., which Cryer said likely was part of Richards' efforts to recruit movie business to Texas.

Two calls were made in June 1992 to California fund-raiser Francis Kidd, who Cryer said is a consultant for the state film commission.

Documents shredded by law firm, says paper

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Rose law firm where first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton was a partner shredded documents last week relating to Whitewater Development Corp., The Washington Times reported today.

The paper cited as its source an unidentified Rose employee who said the documents included material showing the involvement of President and Mrs. Clinton, along with James B. McDougal and his then-wife Susan, in the Arkansas real estate venture.

Special counsel Robert B. Fiske Jr., appointed Jan. 20 by Attorney General Janet Reno, is looking into - among other things - whether McDougal improperly diverted funds from the Madison Guaranty Savings Loan Association, which he controlled, to Whitewater and Clinton gubernatorial campaigns.

The Times said it was not clear whether the reported shredding would violate state or federal laws.

In Little Rock, Ronald M. Clark, managing partner of the Rose firm, today called the report "totally false." Asked specifically whether any documents related to Whitewater were shredded, Clark said: "Absolutely not. To my knowledge, we have no documents in the firm's possession related to Whitewater, and if we do, we are accumulating them in single location awaiting the appropriate time that they will be examined."

Associate Attorney General Webster L. Hubbell and the late White House Deputy Counsel Vincent Foster Jr., also were partners in the Little Rock law firm with Mrs. Clinton before moving to Washington to serve in the Clinton administration.

Foster committed suicide and the White House has acknowledged that papers relating to Whitewater and other matters were taken from his White House office last July after his death and turned over to the Clinton's personal lawyer in Washington before they could be examined by officials investigating his death.

"There's absolutely no doubt that the records destroyed last Thursday were those the firm had on Whitewater," the Times quoted the Rose employee as saying. "There were a lot of papers and the process took quite a long time."

"A bunch of the stuff was there to be read and it was felt that this could be very bad," the paper quoted the employee as saying.

It reported that a second Rose employee who took part in the shredding would not talk about it, but declined to say the incident had not occurred.

"I'm not going to comment," the paper quoted the second employee as saying. "I'm not going to say anything about what happened. I would just prefer not to say anything about this at all."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago, my grown daughter, who had a lot of personal problems, gained a great deal of weight. She sought counseling from a therapist who introduced her to the concept of repressed memory. She was encouraged by this therapist to explore her past for sexual abuse. Her therapist concluded that I had abused her.

Facts that directly contradict her allegations meant nothing. The experiences and memories of her older siblings, who for years shared all of her daily life, meant nothing.

By her definition, it is impossible for me to be innocent, because either I am lying, or if I really can't remember, I am repressing the memory. Her brothers' and sisters' attitudes have made them "co-conspirators."

I have lost a wonderful child in a cruel and terrible way. She needs help, and I cannot reach her. She is as much a victim as I am. Can you help?—Anguished And Lost

DEAR FRIEND: You are not alone. The following letter was written by a reader who shares your problem. The advice I give to her will also apply to you:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A horrible injustice is being perpetrated against people who are unable to defend themselves. I hope you will help get the truth out.

By now, I'm sure you must be aware that some therapists are leading vulnerable and distraught clients to believe that all their problems are the result of having been sexually abused when they were very young. The clients are unaware of this until the therapists "restore" their "repressed memories."

Therapists are accomplishing this fraud by using the power of their position coupled with the naive assumption by the average person that a member of the healing profession would not deliberately harm them.

The methodology used by these therapists has become a well-defined pattern. These vulnerable and trusting clients seek help for ill-defined problems. The therapist may tell the clients that they have been abused sexually or satanically and then influence them through hypnosis, suggestion, group pressure, etc., until the clients actually believe it.

One needs to be very careful in evaluating "unremembered" memories of early childhood that suddenly are "recovered." Please tell your readers that forgotten incidents can sometimes be recalled, but current practice among some therapists is to encourage such beliefs when, in fact, they never occurred. Please tell us where we can go for help.—Another Victim in California

DEAR CALIFORNIA: I've received a great number of letters on this subject in the patsy ear and printed one recently. Apparently you missed it.

Those who seek help with this problem should contact the False Memory Syndrome Foundation. The foundation has received calls from almost 10,000 families in the past months, relating their own experiences and requests for help. The American Medical Association recently passed a resolution to evaluate the validity of techniques used to help patients recall childhood abuse.

The address of the False Memory Syndrome Foundation is: FMS Foundation, Suite 130, 3401 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19104, or call 1-800-568-8882.

Gem of the Day: Most people don't lie, they merely present the truth in such a way that nobody recognizes it.

Lady Whitefaces finish with win at Pampa; boys fall

By JAY PEDED
Sports Editor

The Hereford girls' basketball team closed a turnaround season with a 49-36 win over Pampa on Tuesday. The Lady Whitefaces finished solidly in fourth place in District 1-4A with a 4-6 record. Overall, they were 11-17, getting double figures in the win column for the first time since 1991.

The Hereford boys still have two games left in their season. That's fortunate, because Tuesday's 105-48 beating at the hands of the district-leading Harvesters would have been a bad way to end the season.

Understandably, Herd coach Randy Dean didn't have much to say about the game.

"We went into the game tentative, and you can't do that against a team like Pampa," he said.

Pampa led 21-4 after one quarter and never let up. The Harvesters, with their quickness, athletic ability and stifling press, led 47-17 at halftime and 68-25 after three quarters. They still scored 37 points in the fourth quarter, with several starters still in the game.

The Pampa girls played pretty well, too, considering their 1-9 and 3-22 records. The game was much closer than the meeting at Hereford on Jan. 21, a 74-34 win for Hereford.

Coach Eddie Fortenberry admitted the Lady Whitefaces were probably thinking about the earlier meeting.

"We pretty much sleep-walked through the whole thing and won it," he said.

"(Pampa) just played a lot better. With the season they had, they had nothing to lose. They played with a lot more confidence that I thought they would. What we had was one team that was glad the season was over—which was them—and one team that was wishing season could go on, and it showed."

Hereford got 13 points from Mindi Davis, nine from Brittney Binder and eight each from Misty Dudley and Tarabeth Holmes.

Fortenberry summed up his first season in Hereford:

"It was a great start to turning things around," he said. "When you've got four starters coming back, that's encouraging. And our young kids are pretty talented—from the seventh grade up...A repeat of this wouldn't please us. We'd like to reverse (the record)."

Hereford's leading scorers in the boys' game were Cody Marion with 15 points, Benton Buckley with 13 and Elijah Walker with 10.

The Herd stands at 2-6 and 8-20 with games left at Caprock Friday and at home against Randall Tuesday. Pampa (8-0, 21-8) clinched a share of the district title, but still has games against second-place teams Randall and Borger.

Hereford lost the junior varsity boys' game, 68-57. Todd Dudley led Hereford with 16 points, and Gregg Kalka and Johnathan Keenan each added eight.

There was no girls' JV game, because Pampa ran out of girls to field a team. Hereford's JV girls finished the season with a 10-13 record.

Pardee has begun to make changes in run-and-shoot

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers have promoted offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride to assistant head coach, filling his position with veteran assistant coach Dick Coury.

The Oilers are hoping Coury, who's been an assistant coach with six NFL teams, can diversify their run-and-shoot offense.

"To add to the run-and-shoot, augment it and do it with wisdom, I think Dick's the guy who can do that," Oilers head coach Jack Pardee said Tuesday.

Pardee said the run-and-shoot, which had often been criticized by departed defensive coordinator Buddy Ryan, has worked well for the Oilers. But he said he wanted to add some different options.

Coury, 62, spent last year in Minnesota as a volunteer coach. He has been a head coach in the World Football League and the United States Football League, and has used a variety of offenses.

Gilbride has only coached the run-and-shoot while in the NFL, though he's worked with other offenses in the college ranks.

The Oilers' will probably add at least one tight end and fullback to modify the run-and-shoot, which operates with four wide receivers and a running back.

"It will be a mixture of what we did with the four wides. Sometimes substituting a tight end for one of the inside receivers which in appearance would resemble the Buffalo Bills offense," Gilbride said.

"There will be times when we will have two backs," he said. "There will be times in short yardage situations that we'll go to a double tight or two tight and a wing as well as having the two backs. It will be a mixture of the two backs. It will be a mixture of the two backs."

The Oilers currently carry tight end John Henry Mills on the roster, but would add at least one other. Mills, at 6-1, 220 pounds could be moved to H-back if a bigger tight end is added.

Coury, who as also been an assistant with the Los Angeles Rams and New England Patriots, finished second to Jerry Glanville in the Houston head coaching race in 1986.

Jaguars can't court Johnson

IRVING, Texas (AP) - If the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars try to lure Dallas Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson, they may be welcomed into the NFL with a tampering fine.

"If Jacksonville contacts him (Johnson) it's very much against the rules and the club could be subject to severe penalty," Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said Tuesday by telephone from an undisclosed location.

The Florida Times-Union said the Jaguars met with Johnson last week in Miami and Johnson expressed interest in joining the organization. Jaguars owner Wayne Weaver vehemently denied the meeting ever took place.

"We've had absolutely no contact with Jimmy Johnson - personally, by phone or by contacts," Weaver said from his office in Connecticut. "There is no validity to any of it."

The newspaper said it believes the meeting took place.

"We've been on top of this situation from the start and we stand by our story," said Joe DeSalvo, sports editor of the newspaper.

Jones also called the Jimmy-to-Jacksonville reports a "joke." He said the NFL told Jacksonville that Johnson has five years remaining on his contract with the Cowboys and there are "no outs."

Johnson's five-year contract pays him in the neighborhood of $1 million per year.

Jones said he and Johnson, currently in Florida, plan to be in Indianapolis later in the week for the NFL combine.

The Jaguars had hoped that Johnson might have been released from his contract if he was given a title, such as general manager-vic president of football operations, plus an increase in pay. Then it would be considered a promotion.

The NFL policy is that a coach could be free to leave if given the chance to better his situation either financially or via promotion and title. Jones has said in the past that does not apply to Johnson's contract since he is a head coach.

However, NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said the day after the Cowboys' victory in the Super Bowl that the league's policy on such matters was hazy. For that reason, Weaver reportedly talked with

Braves pick up former Orioles' reliever Olson

NEW YORK (AP) - Gregg Olson, let go by the Baltimore Orioles in December, now has a chance to be the closer the Atlanta Braves never had last season.

Olson and the Braves agreed Tuesday to a $1.5 million, one-year contract, of which $500,000 is guaranteed. The 27-year-old, who tore a ligament in his right elbow midway through last season, pitched only eight innings after the All-Star break.

"Adding a pitcher of Gregg Olson's caliber to our bullpen provides us with as strong a pitching staff as we've had in Atlanta," Braves general manager John Schuerholz said. "We are most optimistic that Gregg will return to the productive form he displayed prior to his elbow injury at mid-season. We are confident that if he does, he will help to give us the strongest bullpen we've ever had."

Olson turned down a $1 million offer to re-sign with the Orioles, a deal that had $800,000 in possible bonuses. He then was refused a 1994 contract on Dec. 20 and the Orioles signed Lee Smith to a $1.5 million deal.

Olson had 29 saves in 35 opportunities last season before being placed on the disabled list Aug. 9. He then was activated Sept. 22 but made just one appearance and finished 0-2 with a 1.60 ERA.

Orthopedist Dr. James Andrews said last month that Olson wouldn't need surgery, and Braves orthopedist Dr. Joe Chandler gave a similar opinion on Monday.

If Olson isn't cut in spring training, Atlanta will pay $1 million of his salary on opening day and $500,000 during the remainder of the season. He can earn $2 million in performance bonuses: $25,000 per appearance from 1-40 and $50,000 per appearance from 41-60.

In arbitration, first baseman Kevin Maas lost his case against the New York Yankees and will be paid $425,000 rather than $490,000. He made $225,000 last season, when he hit .205 with nine homers and 25 RBIs.

Five players settled, leaving 31 remaining. The biggest deal went to Milwaukee outfielder Greg Vaughn, a $12 million, three-year contract that could be worth as much as $13.65 million.

Vaughn, who led the team with 30 home runs and 97 RBIs last season, made $1,177,500 in 1993. He was slowed by a right shoulder injury during the second half of the season and had just 11 homers and 29 RBIs after the All-Star break. He wound up hitting .267.

The 28-year-old gets a $300,000 signing bonus, $2.9 million this season, a minimum of $4 million in 1995 and a minimum of $4.8 million

Michigan knocks off Indiana

By The Associated Press
The Fab Five reunion meant first place for Michigan.

The 11th-ranked Wolverines took over at the top of the Big Ten standings Tuesday night with a 91-67 victory over No. 12 Indiana, coach Bob Knight's 700th game with the Hoosiers.

The game also marked the return from one-game suspensions of Michigan's Ray Jackson and Jimmy King. It was also the centerpiece of a quick visit from Chris Webber, one of the NBA's top rookies who broke up the Fab Five when he left for the pros after his sophomore year.

"Chris gave us a little talk before the game," said Jalen Rose, his best friend and former classmate. "It really meant a lot to see him. Chris said for us to win a (Big Ten) ring for him."

Webber sat on the bench during the game, the same view Jackson and King had for last Saturday's victory over Michigan State. They were reinstated by coach Steve Fisher following the suspension for what he termed a "violation of team policy." The players were interviewed by Ann Arbor police as part of an investigation into alleged shoplifting of some beer from a convenience store Jan. 12.

"We put everything behind us," Jackson said. "It's time to go on with the season. The support was great. It took a load off us and let us relax."

In other games involving ranked teams Tuesday night, No. 2 Duke beat Georgia Tech 66-63 and West Virginia downed No. 8 Temple 78-71 in overtime.

Michigan (16-4, 8-2) had lost the earlier meeting to the Hoosiers (14-5, 7-3), blowing a big early lead. The Wolverines jumped in front again and stayed there this time, leading 46-30 at halftime.

"We maintained the lead and didn't let our intensity like we did in the first game," said Rose, who had 20 points. "We played smart for 40 minutes."

Juwan Howard, the fifth member of what may be the best recruiting class ever, added 19 points, while King had 17 and Jackson 13.

Alan Henderson had 18 points and Damon Bailey 17 for the Hoosiers.

"I thought Michigan played really well," Knight said. "We just didn't play as well as we could have. Obviously, that's why it wasn't as good a game as you would have thought."

No. 2 Duke 66, Georgia Tech 63

The Blue Devils (17-2, 8-2 ACC) trailed by 12 late in the first half, but Chris Collins hit a 3-pointer and layup to give Duke the lead for good at 62-58 with 4:16 left. Travis Best and Drew Barry each missed a 3-pointer in the final 11 seconds for the Yellow Jackets (12-9, 3-7), who have lost four of five. Visiting Duke was led by reserves Marty Clark, a season-high 17 points, and Eric Meek, 10 points and 10 rebounds.

Best and James Forrest each had 18 for Georgia Tech.

West Virginia 78, No. 8 Temple 71, OT

The Mountaineers (14-5, 7-3 Atlantic 10) swept the season series from the Owls (16-3, 9-2) and snapped the nation's longest Division I winning streak at 10 games. West Virginia, which had lost three straight, trailed by 13 with 7:42 remaining.

Eighth grade district tournament winners

TCU teams up against Cougars

By The Associated Press

The Houston Cougars knew they couldn't stop Kurt Thomas from scoring, but they had hoped they would be able to stop his Texas Christian University teammates from scoring so much.

The tactic failed as Thomas scored 26 points Tuesday night and Byron Waits added 22 points and 10 rebounds to lead the Horned Frogs to a 95-86 SWC victory.

In a non-conference game, Centenary defeated Rice 79-74.

"We knew coming into the game that Kurt Thomas would get his points," Houston coach Alvin Brooks said. "What we wanted to do was stop the other players on their team. We just didn't do that."

TCU (6-13, 3-5 Southwest Conference) shot a school record 77.3 percent from the floor as the Horned Frogs took a 45-36 lead.

The Cougars came into the game hoping to stop Thomas, who hit all seven of his first-half field goal attempts and blocked at least five shots for the fourth time.

Even though Thomas fouled out with 5:50 left in the second period, the Cougars (3-16, 1-7) could get no closer than nine.

Anthony Goldwire paced Houston with 29 points and Tim Moore added 25.

Jentry Moore and Jeff Jacobs each scored 17 points, and Jacobs had 11 assists for TCU, which had season highs for scoring (95) and field goal shooting for the game (68.2 percent).

"It's hard to beat a team when they shoot 68 percent in the game," said Brooks. "We became soft and allowed them to shoot the ball really well."

TCU coach Moe Iba said his guards' performance keyed the victory.

Sophomore Aljay Foreman scored 26, including six 3-pointers, to lift Centenary over Rice 79-74 Tuesday night.

Centenary led 37-29 at intermission, but Rice used a 16-4 run at the start of the second half to go in front 45-41. Then Centenary went on a 12-0 run to take command again.

Torrey Andrews led Rice with 25 points.

UT's Viglione leads nation in treys

By CHIP BROWN

Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas has a long history of six-shooters.

Now make room for Danielle Viglione, a three-shooter.

With a quick draw, Viglione leads the nation in 3-point shooting as a freshman for the Lady Longhorns.

She earned a place in Texas lore on Jan. 29.

Viglione and her teammates met Houston a little after high noon, and Billy the Kidd probably couldn't have gotten off as many rounds as Viglione fired that day.

Thirty-nine shots from the freshman whizzed over the Lady Cougars' heads. Eleven of 26 3-pointers swished through, replacing the NCAA single-game record of 10 3s held by seven other women.

When the teams parted, Viglione had 48 points, the most scored in a women's college game this year.

"She's just a pure shooter and has the quickest release I have ever seen," said Texas coach Jody Conradt, who has taken 11 teams to the NCAA tournament, including the undefeated (34-0) 1986 national champions.

Tonight, Texas (14-5, 6-1 in the Southwest Conference) will attempt to gain a share of first place in the SWC when they take on No. 25 Texas A&M (15-3, 7-0). The Lady Aggies knocked off No. 7 Texas Tech 67-64 on Saturday in College Station.

Viglione, seemingly unfazed by big games and records, says she will be ready. She leads the SWC in scoring, averaging 23.4 points a game.

As a senior last year at Del Campo High School in Fair Oaks, Calif., the 5-10 guard scored 1,300 points, breaking former USC great Cheryl Miller's California high school season scoring record.

Viglione, who was born in Lansing, Mich., two blocks from where Magic Johnson was born, already ranks third at Texas for most 3's made in a career with 76.

"Obviously, the 3-pointer has always been my favorite shot. I have developed that quick release, but my teammates are getting me that shot," said the Lady Longhorn known as "3-D" among the Lady Longhorns.

"My goal when I came to Texas - I had no offensive goals - was to be the hardest worker I can be," said Viglione, who wears No. 13 because it has a three in it. "I want to become an all-around player. I can do that if I listen and work hard."

Jazz foils Nuggets' amazing comeback attempt

By The Associated Press
The Utah Jazz had a 94-86 lead with less than 40 seconds left, so the victory's a lock, right?

Not by a long shot.
Three 3-pointers by Denver's Rodney Rogers - helped along by two turnovers by Karl Malone on inbound passes - wiped out the margin in 8.8 seconds, giving the Nuggets a 95-94 lead with 20 seconds left. But Jeff Malone's 18-footer from the corner with 12 seconds left saved the Jazz from an embarrassing defeat.

When Tyrone Corbin blocked another shot by Rogers and the Jazz got the ball after a scramble under the basket, Utah had a 96-95 victory Tuesday night.

"That's the craziest finish I've seen in a while," Jeff Malone said.

The Jazz did not call a timeout after Rogers gave the Nuggets the lead.

"I've seen guys make 3-pointers quickly," said John Stockton, who finished with 12 assists and 12 assists. "But not to go ahead in a game. We didn't call a timeout because we hoped to catch them unorganized and tried to get a good, early open shot. There was an opening for Jeff and he hit it."

Karl Malone scored 24 points for the Jazz. Rogers, who made all four of his 3-point attempts, led the Nuggets with 23 points, while LaPhonso Ellis scored 18.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Cleveland 112, New Jersey 104; Milwaukee 106, Houston 98; Dallas 108, Minnesota 105 in overtime; San Antonio 110, Washington 90; Chicago 118, the Los Angeles Clippers 89; the Los Angeles Lakers 107, Phoenix 104; and Portland 124, Sacramento 100.

Spurs 110, Bulls 90

San Antonio won its eighth straight game as David Robinson had 31 points, 14 rebounds, 10 assists and seven blocks against Washington, giving him an NBA-best four triple-doubles this season.

Michael Adams scored 25 points for the Bulls. Vinny Del Negro scored 21 points for the Spurs.

Mavericks 108, Timberwolves 105 (OT)

Doug Smith scored five of his 20 points in overtime for the Mavericks. His follow shot gave them a 103-99 lead after his three-point play with 2:10 remaining put Dallas ahead 99-94.

Jamal Mashburn hit three free throws in the final 23 seconds and Jim Jackson added two foul shots with 3.6 seconds left to seal the victory.

Bucks 106, Rockets 98

Milwaukee kept just the sixth time in 23 home games as Eric Murdock had 28 points and 12 assists against Houston.
The Bucks led 73-68 after three quarters and used a 12-2 run, including five points from Ken Norman, to stretch their lead to 91-79 with 4:58 remaining.

Kenny Smith's 3-pointer with 1:01 left pulled Houston to 101-95, but the Rockets, who were led by Olajuwon's 27 points, couldn't recover.

Bulls 118, Clippers 89

Scottie Pippen had 22 points, 14

rebounds and nine assists as Chicago won at Los Angeles for its ninth consecutive victory over the Clippers.

The Clippers, who haven't beaten the Bulls since Nov. 26, 1989, were led by Danny Manning with 22 points.

Horace Grant also scored 22 points for the Bulls.

Trail Blazers 124, Kings 100

Clyde Drexler, who has made a career-low 40 percent of his shots this season, snapped out of a shooting slump with 21 points on 9-for-15 shooting in Portland's rout of Sacramento.

Wayman Tisdale had 26 points and Walt Williams 20 for the Kings, who lost their ninth straight road game.

Clifford Robinson scored 20 points, Terry Porter 18 and Buck Williams 17 points for the balanced Blazers.

Lakers 107, Suns 104

Los Angeles came back from a 16-point deficit in the third quarter to beat Phoenix for its fifth straight home victory.

Sedale Threatt scored 13 of his 26 points in the final quarter for the Lakers, who trailed 75-59 before a 20-4 burst in the last 5:34 of the third period made it 79-79. Los Angeles took the lead for good on consecutive baskets by Vlade Divac and James Worthy, making the score 101-97.

A.C. Green had 28 points and Cedric Ceballos 22 for the Suns.

Cavaliers 112, Nets 104

Mark Price scored 26 points for Cleveland and stifled a late New Jersey threat by making four foul shots in the closing seconds.

Kenny Anderson led the visiting Nets with 22 points, while Derrick Coleman had 19 points and 15 rebounds.

in 1996. His 1995 salary would increase to $4,775,000 if he has 550 plate appearances this season, and his 1996 salary would increase to $5,675,000 if he has 550 plate appearances in either of the next two seasons.

Houston right-hander Pete Harnisch settled at $3,205,000, a raise of $1.38 million. Teammate Tom Edens, another right-hander settled after his Monday hearing at $475,000, a raise of $150,000.

Outfielder Marquis Grissom and Montreal agreed at $3.56 million, more than double his $1.5 million salary last season. Colorado outfielder Dante Bichetti settled at $2.8 million, nearly four times his 1993 salary of $735,000.

Catcher Tony Pena, not wanted back by Boston, agreed to a minor league contract with Cleveland, becoming the 71st player to sign among the 97 free agents. He would get a $400,000 major league contract if he makes the team.

Also, the New York Mets signed shortstop Rey Ordóñez, who defected from Cuba last summer, to a minor league contract.

MVP Richardson

NEW YORK (AP) - It's usually a rule-of-thumb that the World Series MVP is chosen from the winning side.

Not if your name is Bobby Richardson. The slim Yankee second baseman was named MVP in 1960 when the New York club lost to Pittsburgh, four games to three.

Bobby won the honor because he hit .367 with 12 runs-batted-in, including a record six in the third game. He had a grand slam in that game, a 10-0 laugher for the Yanks.

The New York Yankees set a major league record by playing 308 straight games, 1931-33, without being shut out.

In the major leagues, the rubber on the mound is 10 inches higher than home plate.

Cathy Seay feted with recent bridal shower

Cathy Seay, March 12 bride-elect of Brad Smith, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday, Jan. 29, in the home of Francyne Bromlow.

Greeting guests were the honoree; her mother, Arlene Seay; the prospective bridegroom's mother Mysedia Smith; and his grandmother, Valta Campbell.

Fruit tray, finger sandwiches and quiche were served to guests and Stacy White of Lubbock served cinnamon rolls, flavored coffee and punch.

The table was covered with a white Battenburg cloth and featured a spring bouquet, arranged in a silver coffee urn, and silver pheasants, gold rope and tassels and crystal floating candles.

A set of Circulon cookware was presented to the honoree by the hostesses: Francyne Bromlow, Carolyn Baxter, Judy Williams, Mary Beth White, Joyce Allred, Dee Anne Trotter, Mary Kay McQuigg, Sandra Saul, Lucy Rogers, Millie Barrett, Glenda Marcum, Karen Payne, Beth Gearn, Joyce Wells, Beverly Bryant, Cindy Cassels, Merle Clark, Marlene Watson and LaJean Henry.

A bridal shower was held for Cathy Seay, March 12 bride-elect of Brad Smith, Jan. 29 in the home of Francyne Bromlow. Greeting guests were the prospective bridegroom's grandmother, Valta Campbell; his mother, Mysedia Smith; the honoree, Miss Seay; and her mother, Arlene Seay.

DENVER (AP) - A woman who says Michael Jackson swiped her song will have to come up with an original copy if she wants to sue the pop superstar, a judge said.

Crystal Cartier wanted to use a "re-created" version of her 1985 song "Dangerous," claiming she's tried unsuccessfully to track down any of at least 25 demo copies allegedly sent to music companies in 1989.

The Denver songwriter is seeking U.S. District Judge Edward Nottingham on Thursday said he wouldn't allow the reconstructed version unless Cartier's attorneys can prove Monday "adequate attempts" had been made to find an original.

"This is a case where millions of dollars are being sought," Nottingham said. "The efforts I have seen are inadequate."

Jackson says the concept for his song "Dangerous" evolved from 1985 until he recorded it for his "Dangerous" album in September 1990.

QUESTION: Joe Gallardo, a sixth-grader at Bluebonnet Intermediate School, wants to know what the sun is made of.

ANSWER: Joe, your question has baffled scientists for hundreds of years. There are a lot of theories about the sun's composition.

The most recent and accepted theory assumes that there are three layers beneath the sun's surface -- the core, which is made up of a material that releases tremendous high-energy radiation; the radiation layer; the convection layer, where radiation energy causes gas currents to transmit their energy to the surface.

Around these three layers is the photosphere, where energy is released from the sun. The sun's atmosphere is said to be about 92 percent hydrogen, 8 percent helium and traces of carbon nitrogen, oxygen, sodium and other elements. Remember, this is only a theory.

The sun, the nearest star to earth, is an average of 92,960,000 miles from the earth. Its diameter is around 864,000 miles, or about 110 times greater than the diameter of the earth.

Since light travels 186,000 miles per second, a ray of light from the sun will reach the earth in about 8 minutes 19 seconds. Light from the next nearest star, Alpha Centauri, takes more than four years to arrive, and light from the center of the Milky Way takes thousands of years.

The surface of the sun has a temperature of about 10,300 degrees Fahrenheit, while the core temperature is estimated to be around 27,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The earth receives only one half of one billionth of all the energy released by the sun.

Long distance costs are growing less

Are you a commuter? If so, you're not alone. About 75 percent of all U.S. rail passengers ride commuter trains.

Homing pigeons have been known to fly more than 1,000 miles in two days.

Long distance companies, it seems, have answered the call for lower prices. According to a recent study, the cost of long distance telephone service dropped nearly two-thirds in the decade since the breakup of the Bell System.

Says Dr. Robert E. Hall, the Stanford University economist who conducted the study, what customers actually pay per minute has fallen 63 percent. This decline, he explains, is due to falling long-distance rates, widely available discount plans and the explosion of new services.

The in-depth analysis, commissioned by MCI, shows how competition and productivity have lowered prices and increased quality for residential and business customers.

"Today," Hall says, "No customer is a captive to a long-distance carrier. If one carrier provides poor service or overprices its product, the customer can easily switch to another carrier." The study also examines how, since the inception of long-distance competition, the industry has built fiber optic networks which carry the bulk of long-distance traffic at lower cost and higher quality. In addition, the new rivals in the industry have led the way in digital switching, common channel signaling, computerized network management systems, video conferencing, new types of 800 service, virtual data network services and a host of other innovative technologies.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Oscar-winning composer Maurice Jarre hopes his star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame will spare him some of life's more mundane chores.

"When my wife tries to put me to work cleaning the house I can say, 'Baby, I can't. I've got a star on Hollywood Boulevard,'" the French-born composer said at Thursday's unveiling.

Jarre has won three best film score Oscars, in 1962 for "Lawrence of Arabia," "Doctor Zhivago" in 1965 and "Passage to India" in 1984.

His many other films scores include "Witness," "Dead Poet's Society."

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE TEXAS CORN PRODUCERS BOARD VOTING REGION TWO

The Texas Corn Producers Board (TCPB) will conduct elections in four of its eight voting regions for the purpose of electing four new TCPB board members whose current members' seats have expired. There are a total of fifteen TCPB voting board members. These elections, to be conducted in 111 Texas counties, are being held pursuant to the Texas Commodity Referendum Law, Texas Agriculture Code, Title 3, Chapter 41, Subchapter A, Section 41.032. Voting Region Two consists of the counties of Hartley, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Farmer, and Bailey, and there is One Seat open for election of TCPB board members in Voting Region Two.
 In 1990, Texas Corn Producers voted to expand the research and promotion program for corn, funded by a uniform corn checkoff, to every county in the State of Texas. This election is the biennial election required by the Texas Commodity Referendum Law.

A person is eligible to vote in the board election if he or she is, or for at least one production period during the three years preceding the date of the board election has been, a producer of, or caused to be produced, corn for commercial purposes. This includes owners of farms and their tenants or sharecroppers, if the person would be required to pay the assessment. For a producer to vote in this voting region and for this TCPB seat, such producer must reside within the counties stated above. Only voters residing within the above counties may vote for candidate(s) representing this voting region.

Any eligible voter-producer as defined above may place his or her name in nomination to serve as a director on the TCPB. Nomination applications must be submitted to the TCPB signed by the applicant and ten other eligible voters. Nomination forms will be available in all 111 counties where elections are to be held this year, including the specific counties within this voting region, as listed above. Nomination forms can also be obtained by writing the TCPB 218 E. Bedford, Dimmitt, Texas, 79027. Please state your county of residence if you request nomination forms in writing from the TCPB office. All nominations must be filed with the TCPB not later than 30 days before the date set for the elections, and the date for the deadline for receipt of valid nomination forms by TCPB is therefore a postmark date of March 29, 1994. Nomination forms will be available after February 21, 1994.

The election in each of the four voting regions where elections are called for will be held by mail ballot. Ballots containing the nominations of all persons who have validly filed petitions under Section 41.025 of the above stated code will be available after April 4, 1994, at either elevators or other points of check-off collection in each of the appropriate voting regions, at county agent offices in each of the 111 counties where elections are to occur, or by writing the TCPB at the address stated above. For a ballot to be counted, such ballot must be postmarked no later than May 5, 1994. There are four voting regions conducting elections in 1994. A voter must reside within a county contained within the voting region that the voter is casting his or her vote, and a voter must meet the definition set forth above as to a qualified voter. Voters may also vote for board members by "writing in" the name of any eligible persons.

Pursuant to Section 41.023 of the Texas Commodity Referendum Law, this notice for a TCPB election within this voting region is being published in all appropriate newspapers with the voting region, such notice being published at least once a week for three consecutive weeks beginning at least 60 days before the date of the election.

The Texas Corn Producers Board is certified under Section 41.011 and Section 41.012 of the Texas Commodity Referendum Law to conduct this election, and has obtained all approvals and determinations required by law from the Commissioner of Agriculture, Texas Department of Agriculture.

Charges of capital murder being made in baby death

By PEGGY FIKAC
 Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - A baby boy whose body was found near Temple did not die accidentally, and capital murder charges were being prepared against the babysitter accused of kidnapping him, the sheriff said today.
 An autopsy early today found that 3-month-old Brandon Baugh suffered a severe skull fracture, said Travis County Sheriff Terry Keel. "The severity of the injuries is inconsistent with any kind of accident theory," he said.
 Keel said capital murder charges would be filed against the babysitter, Cathy Lynn Henderson, who had disappeared with Brandon Jan. 21. She has been in custody since last week on kidnapping charges.

Law officers using a map drawn by Mrs. Henderson found the baby's body late Tuesday northeast of Temple, which is in Bell County, between Austin and Waco.
 A state judge on Tuesday had ordered Mrs. Henderson's lawyer, Nona Byington, to turn the map over to a grand jury.
 Lawyers also released a statement Tuesday that was obtained by authorities in Kansas City shortly after Mrs. Henderson's arrest last week in Independence, Mo.
 In the statement, Mrs. Henderson said the baby fell and struck his head while she cared for him at her home near Pflugerville, an Austin suburb.

Mrs. Henderson said in the statement that she tried for an hour to revive the baby, then fled, burying the child's body outside of Waco before going on to Missouri.
 "I want to emphasize this was an accident and that I am truly sorry for Brandon's death. I panicked," said her statement.

One of Mrs. Henderson's lawyers, Linda Icenhauer-Ramirez, said the statement was written down by an FBI agent, apparently based on what Mrs. Henderson told him.
 "I think it's the account the FBI agents believe because it's the last account they received, and they stopped talking to her after that," said Ms. Icenhauer-Ramirez. "I can't tell you what she has told us."

Travis County sheriff's spokesman Andy Saenz said Mrs. Henderson had given authorities "several different stories," including telling officials in Kansas City that someone else had taken the baby from the house.
 He said that while the FBI interviewed Mrs. Henderson in Kansas City, she had not cooperated with Travis County law officers since being returned to Texas.
 The written statement was released to the news media by attorney Steve Brittain, who is representing Mrs. Henderson's lawyer, Ms. Byington. In it, Mrs. Henderson said that she was looking after the baby in her home on Jan. 21.
 She said that about 10:30 a.m., while she was carrying Brandon, the telephone rang.

 As she was trying to shut off the answering machine, "Brandon pushed his feet against the kitchen wall. I was holding him with only one hand. He pushed out of my arm and flipped over. Brandon landed on his head. The kitchen floor is tile over concrete."
 "I tried to revive him by giving CPR, as I have been trained to do. I tried CPR for about one hour and well after I was certain he had died. I took Brandon in my car to a spot outside Waco, Texas, where I wrapped him in ... a thermal blanket ... I used a spade from my residence to dig a grave. I buried Brandon," said her statement.

Earlier Tuesday, State District Judge Jon Wisser ordered Ms. Byington to surrender two maps from Mrs. Henderson.
 The documents included a Texas road map on which Mrs. Henderson made "an indication" of a broad area, and a hand-drawn map, Saenz said.
 In ordering Ms. Byington to turn over the maps, which had been sought for days by law enforcement officials, Wisser first praised her for "courageously" adhering to the law and protecting information she received from her client.
 But the maps do not fall under such attorney-client privilege, Wisser said. He said they originally were meant to be given to law enforcement officials to help in finding the child.

Winter storm dumping snow on area already ice-covered

By MARGARET LILLARD
 Associated Press Writer

A storm that dumped another blanket of heavy snow across the country followed up the unwelcome blast early today with a sheen of ice in the North.
 "It's not going to thaw, it's going to be solid ice on top of whatever we have," Christa Tucker, a National Weather Service forecaster in New Jersey, said Tuesday.

She predicted another foot or so of snow and other precipitation today on top of the record 8.9 inches that fell Tuesday at Newark International Airport.
 Ice and freezing rain were forecast today for New York state, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, the District of Columbia, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. A new storm system in the Northwest was expected to bring rain to coastal Washington and ice to the interior as far as Idaho by dawn.

Several more inches of snow also were forecast for Arizona, Oklahoma and parts of the Northeast.

In Colorado, where up to three feet of snow fell in the mountains, highway workers hoped to open six passes today by triggering avalanches with explosives. An avalanche warning was in effect for all Colorado mountain areas.
 Snowfall amounts Tuesday ranged from a foot in Wisconsin to 7 inches in western Pennsylvania and up to 5 inches in Connecticut.

The weather forced schools, government offices and stores to close early, while motorists spun out and collided as highway crews struggled to keep up with the onslaught.

"I'm tired of it," said Elliot Eberhart, hurrying along a slippery sidewalk to catch the subway in Philadelphia. "I hate it."

Bad roads led to chain-reaction pileups in Minnesota and Oklahoma. Six people died in Minnesota when a van rear-ended a snowplow, then collided with a bus.

A chartered bus overturned in New Jersey, injuring all 24 people on board, state police said.

A 9-year-old Detroit boy was killed when he grabbed the bumper of a passing car in a game called "shagging" and somehow slid underneath.
 Air transportation was snarled as the Newark airport and New York's Kennedy and La Guardia airports all shut down or limited operations. Washington National Airport in Arlington, Va., was closed for several hours when an airplane skidded off the runway. No one was injured.

Scattered school closings were reported in West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

At the fringes of the storm, freezing rain and drizzle fell along a cold front that curved from the Rocky Mountains to Oklahoma and eastward to the mid-Atlantic coast.

The system cut across West Virginia, bringing ice to the north, heavy rains to the south and flooding in between.

"There's ice on all the cars that have been parked for any length of time," said Jean Schultz, manager of a Wheeling appliance store. "It's very slippery."

The drizzle hit the Oklahoma City area right at the morning rush hour and caught sanding crews off guard, said state Trooper Don Stockton. "They weren't able to get out before the rush hour and were caught up in the mess themselves," he said.

In Edison, N.J., supermarket shoppers struggled to push grocery carts across the parking lot.

"I want to go to a nice warm place, like Puerto Rico," said Nancy Molina of Edison, who was buying groceries with sons Daniel, 9, and Michael, 6, after picking them up early from school.

But though Bill Miller, a forecaster at the Baltimore-Washington International Airport, admitted the weather was bad, he said he had heard enough complaints.

"Well, it's wintertime. It is the middle of winter," he pointed out. "I get the feeling sometime I am in Bermuda the way people are talking."

Early detection is a significant factor in the effective treatment of breast cancer. But new studies suggest that women may be able to reduce their breast cancer risk. Research indicates that breast cancer may be linked to a woman's lifetime exposure to reproductive hormones, especially estrogen.

Weather offers mixed blessings for Texas producers

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Freezing temperatures, snowfall and rain during the latter part of the week will offer mixed blessings for producers across the state, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said even though the first part of the week has been warm and humid, the end of the week and the weekend will bring some rain and snow.

"A low pressure system is forcing colder air into the state," Zeitler said.

"That will bring some thunderstorms and snow to the Amarillo, Lubbock and Vernon areas."

Zeitler said the Gulf coast and South Texas should expect mild showers over the weekend. Temperatures should be warmer next week.

Producers in South Texas are getting used to the idea of more rain. With drought conditions reaching the six-month mark, most producers in the Rio Grande Valley are hoping for good spring rains.

Rick Machen, an Extension livestock specialist, said the rains have helped the attitudes of producers in Uvalde.

"With rainfall accumulations of up to 4 inches in some areas, there is a sign of relief," Machen said.

But in Amarillo producers would like to see some moisture that will help both their livestock and wheat crop.

Paul Gross, Extension director in Amarillo, said although the snow provides some moisture, it isn't enough.

"The snow covers the forage so the livestock can't get to it," he said.

"We've moved a lot of cattle to feedlots so we can keep supplementing their feed with nutrients."

And with snow covering the ground, Gross said, land preparation for spring crops is called to a halt.

Machen also said the livestock in Uvalde needed extra rations of feed because of drought conditions over the last six months.

Although producers will benefit from the rains, livestock depend on how quickly cool season grasses emerge so they can keep body conditions good, Machen said. If body conditions are good, market value will be higher.

Scott Durham, Extension director in Vernon, said the cold temperatures have already slowed down wheat growth.

"Since the cold has hampered the wheat and we have already gotten snow, I hope it warms up so we can feed our livestock," Durham said.

With hay supplies short in much of the state, hopes for a good spring hay harvest aren't being kept a secret.

Earnest Kiker, Extension county agent in Midland, said this spring's hay harvest should be moderate, but the state needs more than a moderate cut.

"We need the hay to keep our livestock from withering away in drought times," Kiker said. "Since we only got one hay cutting last year, we've had to supplement feed and that cost some producers a lot of money."

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture is short. Cattle in good condition; supplemental feeding continues because of snow and covered forage. Some livestock moved to feedlots. Wheat crop is dormant. Land preparation continues.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture very short. Pastures, ranges dry. Supplemental feeding of livestock continues. Some snowfall. Wheat fair to poor. Land preparation for spring continues.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture short to very short. Heavy supplemental feeding continues; limited movement. Pastures, ranges dry. Wheat growth slowed because of cold weather; some snow. Hay supplies short. Some greenbug activity on wheat.

NORTH TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Livestock fair. Spring calves are arriving. Ryegrass and legumes making progress. Oats look good. Some cabbage, onions and potatoes being planted.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Livestock good; heavy supplemental feeding continues. Wheat in good condition. Cattle prices are good. Cool season planting continues. Dormant spraying of fruit trees.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short to adequate. Livestock good to poor; supplemental feeding continues. Some culling of cows and bulls; market gaining strength. Onions making progress. Pastures, ranges fair to poor. Some snowfall.

WEST CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Livestock condition fair; heavy supplemental feeding continues. Ranges, pastures poor. Adequate snowfall. Onions, potatoes being planted. Pastures below normal production.

CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Livestock good to fair; grazing early planted oats. Early wheat stands beginning to joint. Spring vegetables being planted. Gardeners harvesting greens, spinach, lettuce and broccoli.

Potential jurors admit they think Hutchison charges are 'political'

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Most potential jurors in U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's criminal ethics trial say they have heard of the case, and some say they believe the charges are politically motivated.

But nearly all of the 40 people questioned during jury selection maintained they could be impartial if chosen to sit in judgment of Mrs. Hutchison.

Jury selection resumed today, with Mrs. Hutchison's lead attorney, Dick DeGuerin, asking the group if they had any problem with a state law that says an official's conduct is justified if they believe it was authorized by law.

On Tuesday, both sides asked potential jurors if they could treat the Republican senator the same as any other defendant.

Prosecutors asked the potential jurors if they would feel intimidated in a trial of a U.S. senator. DeGuerin, said his client wasn't "asking for special favors."

Twelve jurors and two alternates will be picked for the trial, which is expected to last one to two months.

Mrs. Hutchison, a Republican, has been indicted on charges that while she was state treasurer - a position she held from January 1991 to June 1993 - she used state funds, state employees and state computers for political and personal purposes, and then tampered with computer records as part of a cover-up.

She has pleaded innocent, and says the charges represent a political attack from Democrats. Prosecutors have denied politics had anything to do with pursuing the case.

Judge John F. Onion Jr. moved the trial from Austin to Tarrant County because of pre-trial publicity.

Much of the first day of jury selection was spent reviewing the indictments against Mrs. Hutchison.

Mrs. Hutchison enlisted the aid of Robert Hirschhorn of Houston, a jury selection expert who has worked on several high-profile cases.

During jury selection, more than half of the potential jurors said they had heard about Mrs. Hutchison's case. Several said they heard from media reports the charges that the accusations against her were politically motivated. Some said they believed that.

Two new developments were revealed Tuesday. Prosecutors said that Onion, rather than the jury, will decide Mrs. Hutchison's punishment if she is found guilty, and DeGuerin said that Mrs. Hutchison will testify.

If convicted on all counts, Mrs. Hutchison could face up to 20 years in prison.

Rescue worker testifies in trial of Davidians

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Ambulance driver David Johnson recalls the first thing he demanded to know from a Branch Davidian whose home was burning with at least 81 people inside.

Where are the children?

Johnson, an FBI special agent assigned to ambulance duty, identified murder defendant Renos Avraam as the Davidian he talked to outside the Mount Carmel inferno April 19, 1993.

Avraam said he didn't know where the children were, Johnson testified Tuesday. Avraam also said he didn't know who set the fire, but added, "The voices came from downstairs saying, 'The fire's been lit. The fire's been lit,'" Johnson said.

Federal authorities and attorneys for surviving Davidians have bickered over the fire-setting question as key to the government's contention that four agents were murdered outside Mount Carmel near Waco.

The 45-minute gun battle Feb. 28 erupted when about 100 agents from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms attempted to serve arrest warrants on religious leader David Koresh. Six Davidians are believed to have died in the shootout.

Eleven of Koresh's disciples are charged with murder and conspiracy to murder. They face up to life in prison if convicted.

Tuesday's testimony mostly centered on events that ended the 51-day standoff between Davidians and federal agents. Koresh and his followers, including 17 children, burned or were shot to death that day.

Witnesses described the chaos of tanks battering the compound and several Davidians fleeing.

One woman fought off an FBI agent who followed her back into the flames, witnesses say.

James Magee says he ran 6-to-8 feet into the inferno before finding the woman face down on the floor.

Ruth Riddle, another of the defendants, was identified as the woman he dragged to safety.
