CHRISTMAS STOCKING FUND

Holiday charity making deliveries

Christmas comes early today for some of the less-fortunate families in Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

The Christmas Stocking Fund will be making deliveries of food boxes and some of the vouchers for clothing, utility bills and medical expenses which are provided to the more needy by the holiday charity.

The CSF is administered by an anonymous group of people who screen applications and make the sometimes tough decisions on who gets holiday assistance. The assistance is provided solely on contributions from local residents.

Due to an upswing in contributions this week, the CSF committee went ahead with all the food boxes on an approved list. Most of those are to be delivered today. Many of the vouchers for other assistance will be distributed also. As donations continue, some other vouchers will be delivered.

The CSF is not affiliated with any other organization or entity, but it does coordinate efforts with the Red Cross, church and club groups, and other organizations to avoid duplication of aid. The Red Cross is still working on its Christmas Toy Project. Anyone wishing to donate new toys, or good used toys, can take them to the Red Cross office on South Main.

The Hereford Brand serves as the fund-raising arm of the Christmas Stocking Fund. Cash or check donations are still being accepted until Christmas Eve. Contributions can be taken to the newspaper office, 313 Lee, or mailed to CSF, Box 673, Hereford 79045.

A listing of donors is published from time to time. Those wishing to remain anonymous should so designate. Thursday's total had reached $17,402.

Mauro hits Bush on auto insurance rates

By DONALD M. COOPER Brand Editor

Garry Mauro may be trailing George W. Bush by as much as 50 points in the polls, but he's not that concerned. After all, the election is still 47 weeks away.

There is reason for Mauro's optimism about his campaign. In 1991 when he announced his presidential candidacy, Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton was just a blip on the radar screen while President George Bush was enjoying record levels of popularity.

With 47 weeks to go before the 1994 election, incumbent Ann Richards appeared likely to swamp any opponent, especially George W. Bush, who was best known for being the son of the former president and a part-owner of the Texas Rangers baseball team.

A lot can change in 47 weeks. Mauro, who has been Texas land commissioner since 1983, stopped at the Hereford Senior Citizens Association on Thursday as part of his whirlwind swing through the Panhandle. Mauro also made stops in Amarillo, Dimmit, Tulia and Plainview.

As he has since announcing his candidacy for governor, Mauro hammered away at Bush on auto insurance rates, which he pointed out even the governor has acknowledged have risen since 1993.

Mauro said his campaign represents an effort to put Texas families first. He said his travels around the state have showed him how out of touch the state government is with the "ordinary Texan. If elected governor, Mauro said he will push to abolish the motor vehicle sales tax, seek to eliminate the sales tax on food and drugs, and pass a "Patients Bill of Rights," which he said would allow cancer patients to seek treatment at one of the National Cancer Centers, such as M.D. Anderson in Houston, rather than having to let the insurance companies make the choice of hospital.

But the centerpiece of the Mauro campaign is his attacks on Bush for the rising auto insurance rates.

Mauro noted the governor pushed for tort reform, which Bush contended ould help reduce the insurance rates. However, Mauro said, the tort reform has not slowed the gains, and insurance companies are making windfall

"Before tort reform, insurance companies kept about 25 percent of the premiums that Texas families paid. Now the keep almost 50 percent. That's too much, and when I'm governor, we'll enforce a 75-percent 'loss ratio' on auto liability insurance," Mauro said. "I think that's a good enough profit."

Mauro also pushed for changes in the state's public education system, saying he supports a $5,000 pay increase for teachers.

He also said he would try to recruit "the best and the brightest" to become teachers by offering the top students a $5,000 "signing bonus" to sign a three-year contract to teach school in Texas.

He also said the state should release $2 billion of the $16 billion in the Permanent School Fund for construction of new classrooms.

"Every time I pass a new school anywhere in Texas, I see a temporary uilding on the playground." he said. He said the funds from the PSF should be freed so the schools can build enough classrooms to provide for the

Combest to direct ag panel

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Congressman Larry Combest was handed a bitter pill in 1996 when House Speaker Newt Gingrich decided to ignore his seniority and tap someone else as chairman of the powerful House Agriculture Committee.

What a difference a year makes. With Thursday's announcement that Agriculture Committee Chairman Bob Smith, R-Oregon, will not seek re-election next year, Gingrich informed Combest that he will be the chairman of the panel when the 106th Congress convenes in 1999.

Of course, that's provided that the Republicans retain control of the House, as expected, in 1998 and Combest wins re-election as the 19th District representative. Deaf Smith County is part of the 19th District, which stretches across much of the Panhandle.

"I'm obviously very pleased," Combest said in an interview. Having planned for a quiet day on Capitol Hill, where business has slowed to a standstill during the year-end recess, the lawmaker was surprised by the turn of events. "It's turned out to be a little different day," he said,

HHS assistant principal sues district, claiming pay inequity

By DIANNA F. DANDRIDGE Staff Writer

An assistant high school principal has filed a suit against the Hereford Independent School District, charging she is paid less than a male predecessor. The suit by Mary Ontiveros also includes the HISD trustees in their official capacity. HISD Superintendent Jack Patton said Ontiveros' suit compares the salary for a former assistant principal, a male, with the salary that she was making at the time.

Patton said Ontiveros went through proper procedures, filed a grievances and went through the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission protocol.

The EEOC denied the original complaint, which filed in March of 1997. The district was notified on Sept. 12 that the agency had completed its investigation and case was terminated. The district also was notified that Ontiveros had 90 days to file suit on the same charges. Since then, Ontiveros has taken her case to a private attorney to be handled as a civil case. HISD and the individual board members have been served citations, with the last citation being delivered

Ontiveros' attorney, Matthew Hand, said that during "the last three years, Ms. Ontiveros has seen a number of male counterparts come and go. In that time she has consistently made less than those male counterparts."

Hand said the amount is not so great, but it is the principle that matters most to Ontiveros.

Ontiveros seeks to recover damages in the amount of the difference between her wages and the male employees wages, an additional equal amount as liquidated damages, attorney fees, court costs and interest on the above amount.

Ontiveros assumed her position as assistant principal in August 1992, with 28 years of experience. She now makes $39,375

"We regret that this action has been filed. However, the district intends to vigorously defend this matter,"

The school district has until Jan. 5, 1998, to file its response.

Any more information regarding the suit must come through the distric's attorney, Allen Rhodes of Amarillo. Ontiveros could not be reached for comment.

MUST PROVE INCOME ABOVE POVERTY LEVEL

PHONES SW Bell wants to reach out, touch wallets

the cost of local phone service for many of its customers, though some would see no changes and callers in two small communities would get a rate cut and a refund.

SWB's rate plan, filed Thursday with the Texas Public Utility Commission, faces approval from the PUC before it could take effect. It would increase local phone rates by $40 million a year in Texas.

PUC officials said it could take about two months to review the plan.

Bell charges residential customers between $8.15 and $11.05 a month for local phone service based on the number of residential and business lines a caller can reach without paying long distance charges. Customers who can reach more numbers with local calls pay more than those who have local access to fewer lines.

Business customers pay between $19.15 and $28.25 a month for local service. In Hereford, residential customers would see their monthly rates rise by 20 cents, from $8.15 to $8.35, while business rates would increase by 45 cents, from $19.15 to $19.60. The highest rates are charged in Houston and would be charged in Dallas if the PUC approved the changes. Bell said the number of local phone lines has grown across the state, prompting the need to increase rates. "Many of our local calling areas have seen tremendous growth in business and residential telephone

AUSTIN (AP) - Southwestern Bell wants to raise lines," SWB Texas President David Cole said. "It's important that we align local calling areas in the right rate groups to make sure everyone is treated equally. In all, rates would go up in 50 of Bell's 300 calling areas. That would affect about 2.5 million customers. Bell has a total of some 9 million phone lines in Texas - about 78 percent of all lines in the state. "This is what happens when monopolies are let loose and there is no competition," said Janee Briesemeister, of Consumers Union. Ms. Briesemeister said telephone companies for some time have argued that it is more cost efficient to serve densely populated areas. Now, she added,

Bell is using the excuse of more lines in an area to increase rates. Bell's rate plan calls for cuts for customers around Roby in West Texas and around Poteet, south of San Antonio. Monthly rates would fall 65 cents for Roby-area residential customers and 45 cents for residential customers around Poteet. Business customers would see monthly drops of $1.05 around Poteet and $1.50 around Roby.

All customers in those areas would split a $50,000 refund because they previously were overcharged for local service, Bell said.

The highest residential rate increase is 65 cents for customers around Dallas, from $10.40 a month to $11.05. Business line rates would go up $1.10 around Austin.

THOUSANDS DIDN'T GET REFUNDS IN '96; IRS WITHHELD DELINQUENT CHILD SUPPORT PAYMENTS WASHINGTON (AP) - Tens of thousands of parents who may have counted on healthy tax refunds got nothing last year, when the Internal Revenue Service withheld a record $1.1 billion in delinquent child support. The refunds went instead to supporting parents and, in the case of families on welfare, to states to offset benefit payments.

"The Clinton administration is sending a strong message to deadbeat parents that you will not escape supporting your children," Donna Shalala, the secretary of health and human services, said in a statement Thursday. An average of $857 was collected on behalf of 875,000 families. Collections rose 10 percent over 1995.

Under the program, in place since 1981, states send HHS the names of parents who owe child support. Those parents then are notified that their tax refunds will be withheld if they do not pay.

In 1995, a total of $15.3 billion in child support was owed nationwide on current obligations; another $35 billion in back child support was due. That includes only money courts have ordered parents to pay. If such orders were established in all cases, the figure would be much higher.

The IRS withholds a tax refund for welfare families if a parent owes at least $150 in child support. In nonwelfare cases, a parent must owe at least $500 for the refund to be withheld.

OPPOSITION LEADER NARROWLY WINS PRESIDENCY OF SOUTH KOREA; FACES AILING ECONOMY

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - It took Kim Dae-jung four tries and 26 years to win South Korea's presidency and along the way he was jailed, exiled and targeted for assassination. Now comes the hard part.

Kim - a veteran opposition leader once persecuted by military dictators must convince the world financial community he is committed to putting South Korea's ailing economy back on track.

The president-elect tried to do just that in today's acceptance speech pledging to stick to a strict economic reform plan and pay back a record loan South Korea negotiated earlier this month with the International Monetary Fund.

ED COMMISSIONER WANTS GRIPES AIRED BEFORE BOARD

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Texas Education Commissioner Mike Moses says that two State Board of Education members who claim there has been improper management of the $16 billion Permanent School fund should produce their evidence to the entire board.

Moses made the comment Thurday during a meeting with the San Antonio Express-News Editorial Board.

Republican board members David Bradley of Beaumont and Dr. Robert Offutt of San Antonio have criticized other board members for accepting campaign contribution from money management firms recommended by the Texas Education Agency staff in September.

The have also claimed the firms the staff members have recommended may be unqualified and have substantial litigation history.

As of today, I have yet to be presented with any written materials," Moses said. "If there is a problem with the use of external fund managers, then let's put it on the table."

COURT: LIST OF UNSUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS SECRET AUSTIN (AP) - The University of Texas may withhold the names of white and "non-preferred minority" law school applicants who were on waiting lists but weren't admitted in 1995 and 1996, the Texas 3rd Court of Appeals has ruled.

The decision, released Thursday, could mean the end of an Austin attorney's plan to file additional reverse discrimination lawsuits against the school's former admissions policies.

Steven Smith filed the lawsuit that led to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decision that ended racial preferences at Texas colleges and universities. The white students in that case, challenging the school's 1992 admission policy, continue to wait for a Texas court to decide how they should be compensated.

The plaintiffs in that case, including lead plaintiff Cheryl Hopwood, claimed the school admitted black and Hispanic applicants who had lower test scores than white and "non-preferred" minority applicants in an effort to promote racial diversity.

The school now says at uses race-neutral policies but continues to struggle to recruit and retain blacks and Hispanics.

Court rejects pleas of convicted killers

AUSTIN(AP) -The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has rejected appeals by three death-row inmates, including one who contends the jury didn't have a way to consider what he said was evidence of his mental retardation.

Robert James Tennard, 35, was convicted in the 1985 murder of Larry Neblett, 45, in north Houston during a robbery. According to Thursday's court opinion, Tennard stabbed Neblett 15 times with a knife while a friend killed another man with a

During the irlal in the murder case, evidence was introduced that when Tennard was previously in prison on a rape conviction, prison records indicated he had an IQ of 67. The opinion said the witness in the case couldn't say who prepared that report or conducted the IQ test.

Tennard "would have this court hold ... that a five-year-old reference in an obscure TDC (Texas Department of Corrections) record to applicant's IQ score of 67 shows applicant is mentally retarded, and that evidence of an IQ of 70 or less is sufficient evidence to support a finding of mental retardation. We decline to do so," wrote Presiding Judge Michael J. McCormick in an opinion joined by three judges.

Two other judges signed on to a concurring opinion, and three dissented.

McCormick cited criteria from the American Association on Mental Retardation and the landmark Johnny Paul Penry case, which opened the door for jurors to consider capital murder defendants' backgrounds as a mitigating factor during sentencing.

He said while the criteria for being defined as mentally retarded includes an IQ score of 70 or less, that is not the sole criteria. "And, some argue that using IQ scores as the sole measure of mental retardation could have negative social consequences for all persons with low IQ scores who are 'perfectly capable of a self-sus-taining life,'" he wrote.

While finding no evidence that Tennard is mentally retarded or was unable to realize that his conduct was wrong, McCormick also wrote that the jury would have been able to consider his low IQ in sentencing.

Dissenting, Judge Charles Baird wrote that the U.S. Supreme Court in Penry's case "acknowledged that an IQ score of 70 or below classifies an individual as 'mentally retarded."" Citing this and other factors, he wrote, "The majority has obviously ignored settled law to achieve a lesired result.'

The other cases affirmed by the court included:

- James Paul Collier, found guilty in the 1995 shooting deaths of Gwendolyn Joy Reed, 51, and her 32-year-old son, Timmy, in Wichita Falls. Collier said he should have been allowed to question potential jurors concerning the minimum time that must be served by someone convicted of capital murder - 40 years - before becoming eligible for parole.

Collier, 48 at the time of trial, said potential jurors should have been informed that if convicted and sentenced to life, he "would probably not live long enough to ever be eligible for parole." Seven judges joined in majority opinion. Baird didn' participate in the decision. Judge Morris Overstreet wrote a concurring and dissenting opinion.

- Martin E. Gurule, found guilty in the 1992 shooting of Mike Piperis, owner of the U&I Restaurant in Corpus Christi, during a robbery. He challenged the exclusion of two people from jury service. It was a 7-2 decision, with Baird and Overstreet

Faster tests developed for bird flu

HONG KONG (AP) - Doctors have developed faster tests for detecting the mysterious bird flu that has killed two people and sickened at least five others in Hong Kong.

However, they said Thursday there are no plans for mass testing and advised those with fever and other flu symptoms to simply see their family doctor.

"It would be an inappropriate use of resources to use these (tests) on every patient that has a runny nose, Dr. J.S.M. Peiris of the University of Hong Kong told a news conference.

Peiris said the new tests, which examine nasal secretions under a microscope to detect the A H5N1 virus, will enable hospital staff to isolate victims more quickly and prescribe appropriate medicine.

Up to now, hospitals have waited up to two weeks for viral cultures to show conclusively what strain of flu a patient has. The new tests require Experts fear the virus, previously found only in poultry and other birds, could rage around the globe if it mutates so that it can be transmitted between people and not just from birds to humans. Flu shots now in use offer no protection.

However, the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta said two antiviral drugs, amantadine and rimantadine, inhibit replication of virtually all human and animal strains and can be used to treat the flu.

Dr. Thomas Tsang of the Health Department sounded an upbeat note Thursday, saying the latest cases have been milder than earlier ones.

Seven cases have been confirmed so far, including a 2-year-old boy who is the latest victim. Two others are suspected of having the virus. Of the seven, two have died, one has recovered, and four remain hospital-

"The most recent cases that we see are mostly fever, sore throat, maybe runny nose," Tsang said. "As we see a much larger spectrum of the disease, we can get a better understanding ... of whether it just behaves like any other strains of viruses." Tsang said investigators still have not answered the key question of how the virus is transmitted: from birds to people or from person to person. The latter would make an epidemic more likely. Of the known victims, one child attended a kindergarten that kept chicks and ducks, and another may have come into contact with bird feathers and waste on his kindergarten's playground. A 24-year-old Philippine woman who worked as a maid had plucked a freshly killed chicken before falling ill.

appreciate your down-to-earth common sense, I have a question for you. Please answer in the column. I want a few people I know to see it.

I am a fairly healthy older man.

When my wife passed away, I found it difficult to do the cooking, so I hired a woman to come live in my house and prepare my meals. "Gladys" has been living with me for the past six months, and we get along great. We both had some good furniture, so when she moved in with me, we sold some of it and are using the rest. I am past 90, and she is trailing me by only a few years. We are members of different churches, but that isn't a problem. We respect one another's religion and never fuss about it.

In this day and age, with all the divorces, my question is: Do you think Gladys and I should get married, or should we just go along with the tide and keep things as they are? Some of our friends, even my married daughter, say, "Why bother to get married?"

Gladys receives a larger Social Security check than I do. I think my health is better than hers. It is doubtful that either of us will live to see the year 2000. What do you say, Ann? -- No Name in Missouri

Dear Missouri: You say you are past 90 and she is trailing you by a few years? In my opinion, you have earned the right to do whatever you please in this regard. If you want to get married, go ahead and do it. It would not surprise me if you both greeted the next century. I suggest you assume that you will and then plan accordingly.

Dear Ann Landers: I read a letter in your column from someone who said it's the fast drivers who cause accidents. I disagree. It is actually the slow drivers who cause accidents.

There is nothing worse than driving on a two-lane road with a speed limit of 40 mph and coming up behind someone going 25. You have to slow down considerably, and it's frustrating when that driver will neither speed up nor pull over.

The Wall home was decorated throughout with a musical, jeweled Christmas tree in the entry, lighted candles in the dining area, and an allred trimmed tree in the den where guests exchanged gifts and secret pals were revealed.

Class president Jessie Sumner presented the teacher, Pauline Landers, a gift from the class.

Nancy Duncan led the group in games and gave a story from the book, "Chicken Soup."

Fannie Townsend gave a devotional entitled "Trouble at the Inn" by Dina Donohu.

Dear Ann Landers: Because I On highways, where there are more lanes, slower drivers should move to the right and let the faster drivers pass them. Believe me, Ann, when you're stuck behind someone traveling at a snail's pace and there's no room to get around him, that's what causes road rage and accidents.

-- P.M., Vista, Calif.
Dear P.M.: You may be right, but that's no excuse for road rage. Avoiding a slow driver is no reason to take risks. Keep in mind that accidents at high speeds are much more horrendous and take more lives than those at slower speeds. Thanks for the input.

Dear Ann Landers: One of my dear friends asked if I knew the poem about "Wednesday's Child." I used to know it pretty well, but now, I can't get beyond "Tuesday." I'll bet you can find the rest of the poem, Ann. Please help me out. -- Fremont,

Dear Fremont: I looked it up, and here it is. But it's pure fiction. The day of the week on which a child is born has no effect whatsoever on his or her disposition or the possibility of future success. Here is the poem:

Monday's child is fair of face. Tuesday's child is full of grace. Wednesday's child is full of woe. Thursday's child has far to go. Friday's child is loving and giving. Saturday's child works hard for his

Miners win

EL PASO (AP) -- Sharif Fajardo had 19 points and 9 rebounds Thursday night, leading Texas-El Paso in a 65-51 victory over Arkansas-Pine Bluff.

The Miners (6-1) relied on their size and defense to pull away from the Golden Lions (1-10) in the second half.

B.J. Wade added 10 points for UTEP.

Fred Luckett led Pine Bluff with 20 points and 7 rebounds, while Terrance Duncan scored 10 points and Patrick Chambers added 8.

UTEP led 30-26 at halftime and went on an 18-6 run midway through the second half that made it 50-36 with 7:45 left.

The Miners outrebounded the smaller Lions 50-39.

Faith helps Rogers coach, wife persevere

By TIM WAITS

Temple Daily Telegram TEMPLE -- Joel and Rhonda Berry knew God wouldn't give them any more than they could handle over the last four years, but they did start to wonder how far their limits would be stretched.

The Berrys are now reaping the benefits of four years of perseverance following a difficult head football coaching transition at Rogers and a series of family medical problems, one of which almost took the life of their infant son earlier this year.

After three straight area round finishes. Joel is now coaching the Eagles in their first Class 2A state championship football game Saturday at 6 p.m. against Stanton in Texas Stadium. The four-year march to this game, however, didn't come without blood, sweat and tears.

"It comes back to trying to teach young kids our philosophy and prepare young boys to become young men," said the 33-year-old coach. "The only way to do that is by modeling that.

'There were some emotional times behind closed doors with some trials and tribulations," he said. "But that's what makes you stronger."

At this point, Berry may have the strength of Samson to go with the

Sealy goes for 4th straight

By JAIME ARON

AP Sports Writer Since the University Interscholastic League began crowning high school football champions in 1920, no 11-man team has won four straight titles.

That could change Friday night when Sealy, the king of Class 3A in 1994, 1995 and 1996, plays Commerce in the Houston Astrodome.

Sealy already is among the all-time great Texas teams by making it to the finals for a shot at title No. 4, an opportunity that eluded the other four three-time

This matchup could be Sealy's toughest. Both teams are 15-0.

Although Sealy was ranked No. 1 all season in The Associated Press poll, Commerce was always No. 2. The game also is a rematch of the 1995 final that was decided in the last minute.

But around 7:30 p.m. Friday, none of that will matter. The big issue then will be whether Sealy's stingy defense, which coach T.J. Mills calls the team's best of the championship run.

"He's right," said Commerce coach Steve Lineweaver, who has studied films of the Sealy defense

all week. "They're really something else."

Sealy allowed just 29 points in the regular season and 40 in the playoffs, although Mills points out hat 14 of them came in the closing minutes of games that were already decided.

The unit is led by middle linebacker Adam Zapalac, who this week was named the 3A defensive player of the year by Texas AP sports editors. Defen-sive lineman Daniel Ballard and free safety Michael Griffin joined Zapalac on the all-state first team.

On offense, Sealy punishes opponents with an offensive line anchored by Jason Carr, another first-team selection, and second-teamers Keith Bilski and Vince Doyle.

AUSTIN -- Hereford seniors Julie Rampley and Catie Betzen, who led the Lady Whitefaces to their second consecutive Class 4A volleyball title, were each named to the 1997 Texas Sports Writers Association All-State Volleyball Team announced Thursday.

Joining Rampley and Betzen on the Class 4A team are Tara Hatfield of Coppell, Julie Boatwright of Austin McCailum, Brownwood's Jessica Cavett and Cari Teague of Dickinson.

Rampley and Betzen led the Lady Whitefaces to a 29-6 season record and a District 1-4A trichampionship with Dumas and Canyon Randall

"Cool," was the initial reaction from Hereford head coach Brenda Kitten after being informed of the selection. "Certainly I think both players are very deserving."

Phoenix singes Mavericks, 89-75

DALLAS (AP) -- Antonio McDyess is beginning to get comfortable with his new Phoenix Suns teammates.

McDyess, acquired in a trade with the Denver Nuggets on Oct. 1, scored 10 of his 14 points during a third-quarter surge, and the Suns sent the Dallas Mavericks to their seventh straight defeat, 89-75 Thursday night.

Much of McDyess' adjustment has come on the defensive end. He had 14 rebounds, three blocked shots and three steals to help the Suns get untracked in the third quarter.

"I hadn't been playing a lot of minutes and I figured it was because of my defense," said McDyess. "So I've told myself to be more active on the defensive end, to bust my butt on defense."

The Suns ended their three-game losing streak, getting 17 points from Cliff Robinson and 13 from Danny Manning.

Phoenix led 48-45 with 6:09 left in the third period before going on a 22-8 run to close the quarter. McDyess had two dunks, and Rex Chapman and George McCloud hit 3-pointers as Phoenix took a 70-53 lead. Dallas lost for the 18th time in 20 games.

'I was happy with the way we played defense tonight," said Suns coach Danny Ainge, "Our big guys did a good job of switching out and playing their small guys on the perimeter. But offensively we're a team still struggling."

Steve Nash added 12 points, and CALGARY, Alberta (AP) -- With Ed Belfour at his best, the Dallas Stars were just that much better than the Calgary Flames.

Belfour made 23 saves as the league-leading Stars beat the Flames 2-1 Thursday night.

We wanted to play good defense and shut down their top line of (German) Titov and Theo (Fleury) because they're a talented line and you can't give them any space," said Belfour, who gained his 19th victory while lowering his goals-against average to 1.83.

Riding a four-game winning streak, the Flames outshot Dallas 15-5 in the first period.

'We expected them to come out working hard in the first period and they did that," Belfour said. "We were probably lucky to be ahead."

Dailas took an early 1-0 lead on Tony Hrkac's goal 4:44 into the first period. The Hames were in trouble The Stars are 16-0-2 when they lead after the first period. The Stars, missing injured stars

Betzen went one word further than her coach.

"Pretty cool," she said. "I'm excited; I'm surprised. It makes me feel with us winning a state championship I had a special part."

The selection also took Rampley a little off guard. "I'm honored," Rampley said. "I'm very suprised. I had a good year. It's just that there's a lot of players who had good years out there. All-state is a big-time honor.'

During the regular season, Rampley led the Lady Whitefaces with 409 kills (10.6 per match) and had a .455 hitting percentage. The 5-9 middle blocker also averaged 2.06 blocks and recorded a .680 dig percentage.

"She improved throughout the year," Kitten said. "She became more consistent after she lightened up on herself. She just played better and better, and made fewer mistakes."

Kitten said Rampley had a tough start on the year, owing more than anything to putting too much pressure upon herself.

"She put a whole lot of responsibility upon herself early in the season," felt a little overwhelmed. It took her a little time to realize she could

CLONED LAMBS CONTAIN HUMAN GENE; SCIENTISTS HOPE TO TREAT HEMOPHILIA WITH MILK

WASHINGTON (AP) - Using a technique pioneered with their famous cloned sheep, Dolly, Scottish scientists now have cloned two lambs with a human gene that will cause them to produce in their milk a substance able to treat human hemophilia.

Dr. Ian Wilmut and his team at the Roslin Institute in Scotland reported today in the journal Science that the lambs, Molly and Polly, were born in July and will be tested next spring to see if their milk produces useful quantities of factor IX, a protein that helps blood clot.

It is hoped that the factor IX could be extracted from the milk and used

It is hoped that the factor IX could be extracted from the milk and used to treat patients with hemophilia, an inherited bleeding disorder in which the blood lacks the ability to clot, Wilmut said.

Experts said the creation of Molly and Polly was the logical next step following last year's cloning of Dolly, the first mammal cloned from an adult cell. The new work could prove that cloning is an efficient way to create herds of cows or flocks of sheep that act as drug-making factories.

Wilmut said Molly and Polly were produced with the same technique, called nuclear transfer, used to make Dolly. But the original cell used to clone the lambs came from a sheep fetus instead of from an adult animal.

In nuclear transfer, scientists remove the nucleus from an egg and replace it with the nucleus from another cell. The egg is then placed into the uterus of a surrogate mother that gives birth to an offspring that has only the genes of the original cell.

In Dolly, the original cell came from an adult ewe's udder.

BLUBBERY COMEDIAN FARLEY, 33, FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR OF HIS CHICAGO APARTMENT

CHICAGO (AP) - Growing up in Wisconsin, Chris Farley idolized comic Farley even managed to trace nearly the same career footsteps, joining Chicago's Second City improvisational troupe, then the cast of NBC's "Saturday Night Live" before he went on to star in such movies as "Tommy Boy" and "Black Sheep" and "Beverly Hills Ninja."

Inspired by Belushi, the blubbery comedian's specialty was sweaty, tightly wound characters who erupted in vein-popping frenzies. Like his comic idol who died young, Farley lived large, overeating and by many accounts abusing drugs and alcohol.

Farley was found dead on the floor of his apartment Thursday, clad in pajama bottoms. He was 33.

The cause of death was not known, although police said there was no sign of foul play. An autopsy was planned for today.

COUNTRY MUSIC FOUNDATION BOSS GETS NOD FOR NEA

WASHINGTON (AP) _William Ivey, director of the County Music Foundation, reportedly is President Clinton's choice as chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts.

"This is a very important agency, particularly in its role nurturing excellence in all the arts," Ivey was quoted in today's editions of The Washington Post. "I would welcome the possibility of being able to work in a leadership role and it would be an ultimate job for me."

The Post and the New York Times, citing either a senior administration official or a White House official that they did not further identify, said the White House has settled on Ivey to replace actress Jane Alexander at the NEA's helm.

ATF WARNS ABOUT ALCOHOL IN GINSENG PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON (AP) _ The government is warning that ginseng products sold at health-food and convenience stores may contain up to 34 percent alcohol

Only seven of 55 different ginseng products tested by the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms contained no alcohol. All the others had varying amounts, including some that were as much as one-third alcohol.

The alcohol content came to the agency's attention after several inquiries, including one from New York state, where a public school teacher notified authorities after several students fell asleep in class.

Ginseng is a bittersweet root, native to China. It's purported to cure everything from the common cold to failing memory to impotence. It's usually sold in small vials for about $1 and can be found near checkout counters alongside gum, candy and other items.

FIRED WORKER KILLS 4 BEFORE HE'S KILLED

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) - A disgruntled state transportation worker shot and killed four men at a maintenance yard before he was shot dead by police in a gun battle that sent his former co-workers hopping fences and diving for cover.

An officer and another man were hospitalized for their injuries.

More than 60 people were at the yard run by the state Transportation Department when Arturo Reyes Torres stormed in Thursday afternoon, armed with an assault rifle, a shotgun and a handgun, authorities said.

Witnesses said Reyes circled trailers in the pelting rain, firing through the windows with his assault rifle and methodically picking off employees, police Lt. Art Romo said.

Workers in white helmets and orange suits scrambled behind cars and hopped fences as they screamed in terror.

"I'm in the stockroom, and I hear bang, bang, bang!" Thien Nguyen said. "We just ran."

When police arrived, Reyes started to drive away, but a motorist blocked his car and the gunfight broke out.

"This guy in a brown Mercedes was shooting at vehicles in the lot, at tires, engines. Bam! Bam!" said George Priest, 53, of Anaheim, who saw the shooting unfold from a transmission shop where his car was being repaired. "This squad car pulls up and there's this full-scale exchange."

Cigarette makers have argued the documents were protected under law because they represent attorney-client discussions. But a Minnesota judge ruled Tuesday that the papers are not protected because they contain evidence of an industry "conspiracy of silence and suppression of scientific research."

Separately, Rep. Tom Bliley, R-Va., made the pages public two dayslater as part of Congress' consideration of the proposed $368 billion tobacco settlement between the states and the industry.

JUDGE RULES THEATER MAY BAR KIDS FROM NIGHT SHOWS DETROIT (AP) - A judge sent a message to parents whose noisy young children disrupt movies: Get a baby sitter.

Judge Deborah A. Thomas ruled that the owner of two Detroit-area theaters acted properly in banning children younger than 6 from nighttime shows. Her ruling Wednesday overturned a decision by the Michigan Department of Civil Rights, which said the theaters had violated state civil rights laws.

"A theater owner has a responsibility to all moviegoers - those under seven to those above 70," Thomas said. "Adults should be able to be entertained without being bothered by constant disruptions from children. ... There's no rewind button at the theater."

The case began 10 years ago when moviegoers complained to Bob Sloan, owner of the Norwest Theater in Detroit and the Ford-Tel Theater in Dearborn Heights, about noisy children at movies rated for teen-agers or adults.

POSTAL WORKER KILLS 1, WOUNDS 2

MILWAUKEE (AP) - A postal employee who had been denied a promotion opened fire in the main post office early today, killing a co-worker and wounding two others before he apparently shot himself dead.

wounding two others before he apparently shot himself dead.

Two bodies were taken from the post office and loaded into hearses about 3:40 a.m., nearly three hours after the shootings. Police refused to identify the dead.

The gunman opened fire in an all-night mail-sorting room busy with holiday work. A witness told WTMJ-TV she counted 12 shots.

"I saw the guy holding his gun in the air. He seemed calm. Then I saw a lady crouching down near me. Then I knew something was up," said worker David Norcross.

"The first thing I did was duck and make a beeline for the exit," said worker Skip Teitz.

Employee Robbie Jungbluth, a former official in the postal union, said supervisors had picked on the gunman, who had recently been transferred against his will and passed over for a new job.

"It was just difficult for him to adjust and management made it more difficult," she said. "Management pushes people, they harrass people and intimidate them ... It was just a matter of time."

LUTHER VANDROSS GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) - This conservative town is getting a little

The 19,659-square-foot mansion has 25 rooms, including 11 bathrooms and nine bedrooms. The property also features a tennis court and pool.

Vandross, a 44-year-old bachelor, joins several other celebrities in this affluent suburb of New York City, including Frank and Kathie Lee Gifford, Mel Gibson and Ron Howard.

NATHAN LANE

DENVER (AP) - A funny thing happened to Tony-award winning actor Nathan Lane while making his new movie "Mouse Hunt." He had to act with real mice, animatronic ones and computer-generated images.

The 41-year-old star of the movie "The Birdcage" and the Broadway revival of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" said he's much more comfortable with low-tech than high-tech.

"These kinds of films are hard to make," he said. "It makes you want to get back to acting, because so much is about technical stuff that looks great but is hard to do.

"I'd like to do a small independent and have a lot of internal monologues and then kill myself."

The show is scheduled to debut in June 1998.

He appeared visibly aged but lucid Wednesday. He smiled as Mexican President Ernesto Zedillo praised him as a prominent "poet and man of

MIKHAIL GORBACHEV

NEW YORK (AP) - Mikhail LOS ANGELES (AP) - Magic Gorbachev's days as a pizza pitchman

The former Soviet leader set aside his diplomatic credentials last month to star in a Pizza Hut commercial in Moscow. But he said it was a one-time job he took out of desperation to raise money for the Gorbachev chance to get into the late-night Foundation, which oversees his library and archives.

"I will not do it again," he vowed Thursday at City Hall, where he met with Mayor Rudolph Giuliani.

"I found myself in a difficult situation, so I decided to accept on a one-time basis this offer of doing this in 1991, when he announced he has HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. He interpreter. "Pizza is a popular food after all, so I thought I did not sin that much.'

Gorbachev is shown offering a slice of pizza to customers who cry out: "Long live Gorbachev, who brought us Pizza Hut!" He didn't divulge how much he was paid.

Pizza Hut spokesman Jay Allison declined to discuss the ad or when it would air. It will not run in Russia, where Gorbachev is unpopular and is blamed for the Soviet downfall.

CHARLES BARKLEY

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Charles Barkley, who makes headlines for his slam dunks on and off the court, was charged with throwing a bar patron through a window.

The Houston Rockets basketball forward was charged Thursday with battery, disorderly conduct, criminal mischief and resisting an officer without violence.

Barkley, who was in town Oct. 26 for a preseason game against the Orlando Magic, says Jorge Lugo provoked him by throwing a glass of ice at a table where he was sitting with three women. Barkley chased Lugo, caught him and threw him through the window, police said.

The 11-time All-Star allegedly told Lugo as he lay bleeding on the ground: "You got what you deserve. You don't respect me. I hope you're hurt," according to the police report.

It was at least the fourth time Barkley has been accused of involvement in a bar fight. Lugo, who suffered a cut to his right arm, also was charged Thursday with disorderly conduct.

Why Advertising Works!

Your advertising is part of your sales force. Ads help to pre-sell the customer and help you close the sale faster. That save you time and saves you money.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/ products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

-Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no

-- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condi-

-- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

-- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON Capital Report

A+ ACCOUNTS OFFER NEW WAY TO INVEST IN EDUCATION

mericans take it for granted that the best place to invest money is in the education of their children. Now, Congress has before it legisla tion that will give a big boost to more than 14 million American families who want to make that kind of investment.

The Parent and Student Savings Account Plus Act will allow families to deposit up to $2,500 a year per child in savings accounts known as "A+

The tax-free interest earned by these accounts could be used for any education-related expenses: from books, uniforms and transportation to private school tuition. Or, contributions could be saved over time to cover college expenses. The choice of how to spend this money is left up to the parents.

About 14.3 million Americans would be expected to sign up for A+ Accounts by the year 2002, and 75 percent of these families will have children in public school. That's 10.8 million parents with public school students and 3.5 million parents of private student students who stand to benefit — without reducing public school funding by so much as a dime.

So if a child in public or private school needs a tutor, parents can tap their education savings accounts. If a child in public school needs a uniform, or would like a computer on which to learn, families can use their education accounts to make the purchase.

This legislation also holds out a hand to the more than five million American students under the age of 21 with special needs. Therapy for mentally or physically handicapped children may be required soon after birth, and that need can extend over a lifetime. This bill recognizes these special circumstances and sets no limit on how long parents or other sponsors can contribute to - or withdraw from - education savings accounts for specialneeds children.

How would a family benefit from such a savings account? If a family opened an A+ Account with a one-time deposit of $2,000 when a child was born, at 7 percent interest, the account would earn an average of $805 in interest after only five years — by the time that child is ready for kindergarten. They would save $4,522 by the time the child enters high school.

A+ Accounts offer families a strong incentive to invest in education. By enacting this legislation, we could create additional opportunities for children to excel in their K-12 education.

A+ Accounts are one of the best things to happen to education in a long time. They're good for public schools. They're good for private schools. They're good for parochial schools. And they're good for home-schoolers. More access to good education is good for America's future.

Clinton to listen

WASHINGTON (AP) reaching out to conservatives for advice on his racial dialogue, President Clinton hopes to address the semantics problem that he says is at the crux of the furor over affirmative action.

The president scheduled a meeting at the White House today with a handful of conservative authors, activists and politicians to discuss their views on racial issues and ways to engage Americans who share them.

Those invited to today's meeting include Ward Connerly, a University of California regent; former New Jersey Gov. Thomas Kean, a member of Clinton's racial advisory board; former GOP vice presidential candidate Jack Kemp; activist Linda Chavez; former Labor Secretary Lynn Martin; Howard University board chairman Thaddeus Garrett; and scholars Abigail and Stephen Thernstrom.

Abigail Thernstrom said she hopes the meeting can open the way for Republican political leaders to shed their reluctance to become actively involved in Clinton's dialogue.

"For whatever reason, the Republican leadership does start chewing its nails," she said. "Their hesitance makes me very sad, but I do think it is symptomatic of the difficulty in talking about this with any candor."

White House aides said affirmative action is certain to come up, noting the presence of Connerly, who led the drive to repeal California's affirmative action programs in higher education.

They also point to remarks Clinton made earlier this week, in which he drew a distinction between the terms 'affirmative action" and "racial preferences" and said the country should not focus on such labels.

Clinton argued that foes of affirmative action foment opposition by implying that affirmative action programs are racial preferences designed to benefit people because of their race, not their qualifications.

He said voters in Houston decided to retain the city's affirmative action program for city contracts simply use leaders there did not cast it as a racial preference.

"If we get down to slogans, you have no better than a 50-50 chance of seeing any kind of affirmative action prevail," Clinton said.

Harvard law professor Christopher Edley, an adviser to Clinton's racial advisory board, said resolving the problems with affirmative action hinges on changing the terminology. He noted that the use of the racial preferences label was one reason the California ban was approved.

"One of the toughest questions is going to be the extent to which people are willing to avoid using manipulative language like 'preferences," Edley said.

former congressman they begged to return to Congress to keep an Oregon House seat in GOP hands.

Smith served 12 years in Congress before retiring in 1994. He returned last year to run for his old seat, vacated by an embattled Republican chased from office amid allegations he lied about his marriage and his war record.

In an unprecedented move, Gingrich promised to restore Smith's old seniority - vaulting him past Combest in tenure on the Agriculture Committee. Adding to Combest's discomfort, the news was leaked to reporters before Combest himself was apprised by leadership of the developments.

Thursday, the Texan was philosophical about the whole mess. Asked the lessons he's drawn, Combest said: "Try not to irreparably burn those bridges," Combest said that during the next year he will work closely with Smith, whom he called a good friend, to make the leadership transition on the committee. "There will be a very seamless transition," he said.

Another Texan should factor prominently in the panel's business. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, is the top Democrat on the panel, which has a history of working in bipartisan fashion.

Asked what a Combest-Stenholm lineup might mean, Combest said: "Good days are here again, I guess, for Texas. As for new direction on the committee, Combest said his goal "has always been to keep agriculture profitable and keep Americans the best-fed and -clothed people in the world at the cheapest prices

PARISHIONER LEAVES $1.8 MILLION TO CHURCH

GREENSBORO (AP) - It's not that the folks at Centenary United Methodist Church aren't grateful. But the generosity of one parishioner who left the church $1.8 million has stunned the church's leaders.

"It frightens you," said church pastor C.M. Worthy Jr. "It's a wonderful gift. It's exciting, but frightening. The magnitude of a gift like that can hurt a church or help a church. You hope members don't feel like they

The gift comes from Elizabeth Kimrey, who died last year at the age of 83, leaving the bulk of her estate to the church where she had been a lifelong member. Only recently did the church learn the size of her gift.

Through shrewd investments, the tiny woman with a knack for growing African violets amassed a $2.25 million fortune. She willed the church 80 percent and left the rest to her stepson.

Thanks to Mrs. Kimrey's gift Centenary is debt-free. The money will not pad the church budget, the pastor says. Instead, the church will use it on as-of-yet undetermined community projects.

Cosby found solace in Kipling poems

LOS ANGELES (AP) - His son dead and an affair exposed, Bill Cosby unexpectedly found himself gaining comfort from a British writer known for controversial views on

"Because of Ennis's murder, I found myself dealing with a man I had often argued with," Cosby told The Associated Press. "I had many, many arguments with him. That was Rudyard Kipling.'

Kipling, who died in 1936, wrote a number of books inspired by his experiences working for the British government in colonial India. But he also wrote poetry, one of which was titled "White Man's Burden," in which he glorified the colonization of foreign lands. Another, "Gunga Din," is about the devotion of an Indian servant to British soldiers battling in the Punjab.

Cosby had long objected to

Kipling, and yet could not help being drawn to one of his works, the poem

"The first paragraph I kept reading. I didn't want to memorize it. I just kept reading it over and

The poem, recited by countless schoolboys over the century, begins:

"If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on

If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you, But make allowance for their doubting too;

Or being lied about, don't deal

If you can wait and not be tired of

Or being hated, don't give way to

And yet don't look-too good, nor

"It was very calming, very calming," Cosby said. "Because there were times when you wanted to yell out and just be a nasty person. Reading that paragraph over and over, I was able to suppress it."

On Jan. 16, Cosby learned that his only son, Ennis, 27, had been shot to death in Los Angeles.

TURKEY BLAMES GERMANS FOR EXCLUSION FROM EU WASHINGTON (AP) - Blaming Germany for Turkey's exclusion from membership in the European Union, Prime Minister Mesut Yilmaz says the aim is creating "a Christian club" of intolerance.

They have no right to discriminate against Turkey," he said Thursday at a news conference and in a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. One result of excluding Turkey, which is mostly Muslim, and welcoming Cyprus for negotiations is apt to be the permanent partition of the Mediterranean island, Yilmaz said.
