

Heirs Merely Get Trunkful Of Money

FLORENCE, S. C.—A battered old trunk here yielded $101,000 in cash to administrators of a $1,600,000 estate left by two business-minded sisters.

Working to liquidate the estate of Mrs. Susan J. Stackley Buchell and Mrs. Catherine Mary Stackley Berry, administrators found the trunk, inside, neatly packed away, was the cash.

The estate was divided among 24 nieces and nephews of the sisters, who for many years operated widespread business interests from a small dry goods shop here.

Proposal Announced To Turn Camp Fannin Into TB Sanatorium

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—A proposal to secure Camp Fannin near Tyler for use as a state tuberculosis sanatorium, without paying a monetary consideration to the federal government, was made public today by Hall H. Logan, chairman of the State Board of Control.

Logan released copies of a letter sent to the Dallas office of real property disposal, War Assets Administration, in which he suggested that public benefits accruing from operation of the sanatorium should be adequate compensation to the United States government.

Taylor Case Poses Delicate Problem Before Legislators

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Just where should members of the legislature draw the line in accepting jobs that might have bearing on their functions as public servants?

Should any lines be drawn at all? These are delicate but pertinent questions recently brought into focus by the furore that followed appointment of Sen. James E. Taylor of Kerens as public relations director for the Texas Manufacturer's Association.

Several house members joined in demanding that Taylor resign. Taylor, without referring directly to the demand, replied that his own private views coincided with the objectives of the association, that he saw no inconsistency in his position, and that he would not quit his senatorial post.

The constitution draws one firm line. In article 3, section 22, it says: "A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill, proposed or pending before the legislature, shall disclose the fact to the HOUSE of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon."

The constitution also forbids a member of the legislature to hold any other public office. Members are forbidden to be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any county authorized by law passed during the term for which he shall have been elected.

In the case of the governor, the state's fundamental law imposes this check:

"He shall not hold any office: civil, military or corporate; nor shall he practice any profession, and receive compensation, reward, fee, or the promise thereof for the same; nor receive any salary, reward or compensation or the promise thereof from any person or corporation, for any service rendered or performed during the time he is governor, or to be thereafter rendered or performed."

The constitution also sets the governor's salary at $12,000 a year which with the mansion that is furnished, theoretically, is enough to live on. A great many people get by on less. But the pay of legislators is such that in most instances they must do something else for a living.

It is well-known that many members of the legislature are lawyers. Their practice carries them before state boards, bureaus and commissions. Senators, for example, represent constituents before the board of pardons and paroles, whose members are subject to senate confirmation. They also appear frequently before other state agencies whose members must be confirmed by the senate.

There isn't anything in the constitution or statutes to curb this practice.

Under the present system, it is left up to the ethical ideas of the various individual legislators, where the line is to be drawn. They draw their own lines within the limits of the constitution and their own ideas of what is proper.

In recent years there have been many advocates of a legislative system under which the law would state flatly a member could not accept retainers, fees, or full-time jobs that might influence his public service.

Texans Keep Buying Heavily During July

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Texans kept right on buying heavily during July, defying the usual downturn which in past years marked the mid-summer month as the seasonal low point of the year, the University of Texas bureau of business research reported today.

July retail sales activity climbed one percent over June figures this year and 10 percent over July figures a year ago, the bureau said.

Continued heavy purchases of durable goods items were held responsible for the contra-seasonal upturn in July sales, bureau analysts explained. Strong advances were noted by all types of durable goods stores except jewelers.

Dealers in non-durable goods, however, reported a slideoff in July sales in line with the regular seasonal expectations.

The 10 percent hike in dollar sales over July a year ago, was likewise attributed to the sustained high level of durable goods buying, as well as to price gains.

Lumber, building and hardware dealers reported increases of 10 percent over June sales and 26 percent over a year ago. Automotive sales boasted hikes of 11 percent over June and 33 percent over July, 1946.

Jewelers reported a 8 percent decline from June and a 16 percent drop from a year ago.

Hardest hit in the non-durable goods classification were apparel stores, with activity 16 percent below June levels and 8 percent below July, 1946 sales.

Food stores recorded 3 percent gains over June figures and 7 percent above July a year ago. Restaurant sales climbed a fraction of one percent for the month and dropped 6 percent from the comparable month in 1946.

Postal Carrier Routes May Be Extended Soon

A ray of hope for favorable action of applications for extension of carrier routes in Big Spring was seen Saturday in a communication to the postmaster from the postal department.

"In cases where necessary extensions of city delivery service have been recommended, postmasters will be informed at a very early date as to the decisions reached by the department," said the report. "These extensions of service are important because they directly affect patrons, and when such an extension is approved every effort should be made to place it into effect as early as possible."

Previously the department had deferred action on approved applications here due to lack of funds. However, the applications were kept on file.

Bavarian Vote Packs A Wallop

MUNICH — (AP) — Spanking was officially reinstated as a punishment for Bavaria's public school pupils after parents voted 69 percent in favor of it in a statewide referendum.

Ninety-four percent of the parents with school age children participated in the unusual referendum—a higher percentage than has yet turned out for any political election since the war.

Spanking, once the rule in German schools, was abolished in Bavaria last year.

Dr. Alois Hudhammer, education minister, said he would issue instructions soon as to how and with what kind of paddle children would be spanked.

The vote for spanking was 668,320 with 425,959 against. Each pupil was given a ballot to take home for his parents to fill out.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McKinney and son, Pat, left Saturday for McKinney, Texas. They were accompanied by Mrs. John B. McKinney and Shirley Ann Reddell of that city, whom they will visit.

Many Counties Will Vote On Optional Road Plan August 23

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—At least 23 Texas counties and probably more will vote in special elections Aug. 23 on whether they want to adopt an optional plan for administering their local road systems.

Several counties have already held special elections at which the plan authorized by the 50th legislature (In Senate Bill 226) has been adopted. Others have designated Aug. 23—the date for a statewide election on the college building amendment—for submission of the question, and other special elections on the question are in prospect.

The law went into effect May 1, when Gov. Beauford H. Jester signed the bill which passed both house and senate without a negative vote.

The meat of the law is contained in section 4, which provides: "The construction and maintenance of county roads, the ownership and use of all county road department equipment, materials and supplies, and the administration of the county road department shall be on the basis of the county as a whole without regard to commissioners precincts."

Adoption of this plan is optional with counties. The question of whether or not counties want to vote on it may be submitted at a general or special election upon petition of 10 per cent of the number of qualified voters who voted in the last preceding general election for governor. Such election must be called not less than 30 days nor more than 60 days after such petition is filed.

Under the present system, county road systems are administered piecemeal, on the four-precinct system. If the optional county road law is adopted by a county, a county road department would be set up with the county commissioners acting as the policy-determin-

Building Movers Ask Public Patience With Disruptions

Patience understanding by the public in connection with any interruptions occasioned by moving of a chapel building from the army post to the northwest part of town was asked today by the Rev. Theo Francis, for the Sacred Heart Catholic church.

The chapel, acquired for the Sacred Heart Catholic church, is to be moved through town to its site. The size of the building, the Rev. Francis pointed out, may entail temporary disruption on some power and telephone lines.

"Where this is necessary," he said, "it will be done with all possible speed. We ask the people who may be inconvenienced to pardon the interruption." On behalf of the congregation of the Sacred Heart church, he thanked the public and utilities for cooperation.

Oakland Air Show Draws Large Crowd

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 16. (AP)—Between 20,000 and 30,000 spectators were gathered at Oakland airport today for a big air show commemorating the 20th anniversary of the Dole airplane race to Honolulu.

A cast of some 500 civilian and military aviation experts was on hand with virtually every type of plane.

The weather was overcast early in the day, and then cleared.

Art Goebel of Llano, Texas, winner of the Dole race, commented that sky and wind conditions were identical with those prevailing as he left the Oakland field 20 years ago today to fly to Honolulu. Goebel drove here by automobile this week.

HOME BUILDING AT RECORD PEAK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP) — The bureau of labor statistics reported today that private contractors began work on 80,000 new homes in July, breaking records of 20 years standing.

The number approached the all-time high of 1925, the bureau said, although comparable figures for that year were not given. It exceeded the June total by 28,000 and the July, 1946 number by 17,400.

Week's Business

Cattle Receipts Hit 1,350 Head Total

Cattle receipts for the week at regularly scheduled auctions in Big Spring totaled 1,350 head, and most animals moved on a steady to strong market. There were also approximately 200 sheep and 30 hogs sold during the week. Although the general market for cattle remained steady, there was some decline in offerings of fat animals. A new top price in the stocker classes was established when a fat Hereford cow and calf brought $182.

City building figures advanced slowly, with only three permits listed for new construction. Total estimated cost figures for the week amounted to $15,210. The year's aggregate now stands at $827,347. Included in the list were permits for two more new residences. In all there were 14 permits granted during the week.

Warranty deeds filed in the county clerk's office skidded, with only seven instruments recorded for the week. They included real estate transactions which involved $6,150, which increased the year's total to $1,450,965.

With passenger automobiles heading the list, new motor vehicle registrations gained over previous figures. The county tax assessor-collector's office issued licenses for 19 cars, eight trucks and one motorcycle.

Auto Industry Seems Far From Buyers Market

DETROIT, Aug. 16. (AP) — For more than two years the nation's automobile industry has tried to catch up with demand for new passenger cars—and failed. Today it apparently is as far as ever from its objective.

In the nearly 25 months since peacetime production was resumed the factories have built fewer than 4,500,000 cars; during nearly three and one-half war years in which there was no car production demand for an estimated 12,000,000 or more vehicles piled up.

Authoritative sources estimate that "live" orders on the car merchandisers' books now total fully 6,000,000.

It is fairly well established that placing an order today, you cannot expect delivery within a year of any of the more widely known cars—unless you can persuade your dealer to give you the vehicle someone else ordered many months ago.

Of course many new and practically new automobiles continue to be available in the nation's used car lots at premium prices, but the prices are high and the recent round of increases in list prices by car manufacturers suggests they will go even higher.

What lies ahead of the industry in the next 12 months is anybody's guess. Right now it is short of sheet steel, just as it was two years ago; it also is faced with labor problems just as it was immediately after the war.

Completion of HCJC Faculty Expected

Completion of the faculty of the Howard County Junior College is expected during this week, E. C. Dodd, president, said Saturday.

Under authorization from the board of trustees, an instructor in industrial arts is due to be added, bringing the full-time staff to 16. Additions to the faculty, and the broadening of the curriculum likely will entail the issuance of a supplement to the catalogue for the year, said Dodd.

Scouts From U. S. Put On Pageant

MOISSON, France, Aug. 16. (AP)—Some 1,100 Boy Scouts from the United States put on their national show in the World Jamboree Stadium today before U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and a crowd of scouts from other lands.

They presented a pageant including American pioneer scenes, exhibitions of scoutcraft repertory of the jamboree and a finale in which they carried the flags of the 42 countries participating in the jamboree.

The cowboys and Indians in the pioneer scenes were the biggest attractions to foreign scouts.

The pageant had been in rehearsal several days.

Sterling Wildcat Logs Gas Shows

Gas-cut drilling mud on a drill-stem test by Plymouth No. 1 Georgia Frost, north central Sterling county wildcat, highlighted oil developments in this area last week.

The exploration drilled ahead at 8,310 feet in quest of the Ellenburger after returning 260 feet of gas-cut mud when the tool was left open for four hours and 20 minutes from 8:30-8:246 feet. Top of the Strawn, which produces in the Jameson pool in northwest Coke some 20 miles to the east, was picked at 8,201 feet, and staining was noted from 8,200-46. Location is in the C NE SW section 30-2-H&TC.

Seaboard No. 6-A John H. Robinson, southeast Dawson county Ellenburger exploration in the Sprayberry (San Andres) pool, cored below 7,858 after recovering barren shale lime and sand and then shale and sand from 7,341-48 feet. It had three shows in the lower Permian and prorsity and shows in broken streaks for 1,000 feet. Location is in the C NW SW section 37-34-5n. T&P. Further south, Ray Albaugh No. 1-A J. Y. Graves, just northeast of Ackerly, was below 5,220 feet in lime, is half a mile from No. 1 Graves, junked at 5,800. Two wells were in process of completion in the Coleman Ranch pool of northwest Mitchell county and another had increasing free oil.

Cole & Darden (Willbanks Bros) No. 2 Lucy, Mildred Coleman, in the southwest quarter of section 76-97, H&TC, logged first oil at 2,385-2,395, more at 2,445-2,455, followed by more pay at 2,510-2,520 and an increase from 2,690-2,700. It drilled below 2,790 feet in lime. C. T. McLaughlin No. 2 Lucy, Mildred Coleman, bottomed at 2,791, shot from 2,546-2,780 feet with 550 quarts of nitroglycerin and a 100-foot gravel ramp. It cleaned out with 1,500 feet of oil in the hole. Location is in the north half of the northwest quarter of section 70-97, H & TC. Cellar and pits were down for McLaughlin No. 3 Coleman, 330 feet from the south line of the lease and 909 feet from the west line.

Norman & Roche No. 2 B Lucy, Mildred Coleman shot the upper pay from 2,620-2,840 feet and cleaned out with reverse circulation, swabbing 15 barrels hourly. Previously it had experimented on Westbrook shows, a Clear Fork pay below the Coleman ranch zone from which the field produces. Location is in the southeast quarter of section 70-97, H & TC.

Four "W" Oil No. 2 Lucy, Mildred Coleman, section 6, Cuthbert strip, encountered its first oil at 2,567, had an increase at 2,680 and drilled below 2,999 feet in lime. Cole & Darden (Cecil Guthrie) No. 2 Coleman, 990 feet from the west and 330 feet from the north lines of section 76-97, H&TC, drilled below 2,375 feet in lime.

Magnolia No. 1 Guy Guffee, mile and a quarter northeast outpost to the small Vincent pool of northeast Howard, was reported below 4,902 feet in sandy lime with no shows. It is in section 58-20, La-Vara.

A. M. Lacey No. 1 P. L. Buchanan, section 29-31-n. T&P, three miles north of Cosden refinery, still awaited rotary tools before spudding.

UT Seniors Criticized By Professor

AUSTIN, Aug. 16 (U.P.)—A growing "sophisticated tendency" on the part of University of Texas graduating seniors to belittle tradition by not attending the university's graduation exercises was openly criticized today by Professor Everett G. Smith.

"Life without any ceremony or tradition is a rather dull and materialistic thing," said Smith, who is to serve as marshal of this summer's commencement exercises at the university. Urging graduating seniors to attend their ceremonies, he declared that such ceremonies are "only the formal conclusion of the students' college work—the visible recognition of their academic work."

Dr. William M. Whyburn, president of Texas Technological College of Lubbock, will be the commencement speaker at summer graduation exercises Aug. 31 at the University of Texas. University President T. S. Painter has announced.

Degree candidates total more than 800, including approximately 200 candidates for masters' degrees. Dr. Whyburn is an alumnus of the University of Texas, holding three degrees from the institution. He was a member of the faculty of the University of California before his selection as president of Texas Tech.

Flow Of Texas Streams Is Below Normal

AUSTIN, Aug. 16 (U.P.)—No flow in the Delaware River in West Texas during the entire month of July was reported today by the U. S. geological survey in its monthly review of water resources.

This was the first time in 14 years of record that the Delaware had no flow for an entire month.

Noting that stream flow in Texas had reacted to a nearly statewide deficient rainfall, the survey reported stream flow in central Texas ranged from 10 per cent of normal for the North Bosque River near Clifton to 97 per cent for the Guadalupe River.

Flow in the Neches river in East Texas was above normal and the survey attributed this to the carry-over from previous excessive since June, 1945. "All streams receded markedly throughout the month," said U. S. G. S. Contents of major storage reservoirs decreased seasonally during the month by about 10 per cent, but reserves to guard against deficiencies were declared better than a year ago. Stream flow was among the lowest 25 per cent of record for July in a wide belt cutting almost directly across the center of Texas from East to West.

Colorado City Boosts Rodeo

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 16 — Delegations from this city will tour the surrounding area on Aug. 28-29 to invite neighbors to attend the 12th annual Colorado City Frontier Roundup and rodeo, scheduled for Sept. 3-4-5-6.

On Aug. 28 they plan to visit Loraine, Roscoe, Sweetwater, Roby, Rotan, Hamlin, Stamford, Anson, Abilene, Merkel. On the following day stops will be made at Westbrook, Coahoma, Big Spring, Stanton, Midland, Lamesa, Snyder.

The goodwill trippers plan to arrive in Big Spring at 9:15 a. m. and they will remain for approximately half an hour.

They are due to stop at Coahoma immediately before Big Spring, and the group is scheduled to arrive in Stanton at 10:15 a. m.

More State Patrolmen To Be Stationed Here

A sergeant and two additional state highway patrolmen will be assigned to duty here within the next several months, local personnel of the Department of Public Safety have been informed.

In addition, the drivers' license bureau is scheduled to function four days a week instead of the twice-a-week program now reported.

The highway patrol office now operates with two men on duty—John Strother and T. D. Whitehorn. C. B. Strain is in charge of the drivers' license bureau.

The Department of Public Safety will shortly add some 200 men to its rolls.

Pleads Guilty To Drunken Driving

Joe Verron Roberts entered a plea of guilty in county court Saturday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was assessed a fine of $75 and costs by Judge W. S. Morrison, who suspended Roberts' driving license for six months.

In another driving charge, Leonard A. Peterson, who entered a plea of guilty to driving while his license was suspended, was fined $15 and costs and sentenced to serve 15 days in jail.

Trans-Texas Airways Plans Operations

HOUSTON, Aug. 16 (U.P.)—The Trans-Texas Airways will start its operations from Houston to other Texas cities early next month, R. Earl McLaughan, president of the new line, announced today.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has granted the line a certificate for approximately 2000-route-miles and the company plans eventually to make two round trips daily over the entire system, McLaughan said.

Routes include: Houston to San Antonio, with stops at Bay City, Victoria and Freeport. Houston to Dallas, via Corsicana, Palestine and Lufkin. Dallas to Fort Stockton, via Fort Worth, Brownwood, Stephenville, Coleman, San Angelo and McCamey-Sheffield.

The company official said all of the routes will not be operated at the start in that airport facilities at some stations will not be completed.

So many things in its favor!

Ask a Pontiac owner why he recommends a Pontiac—and he will likely tell you there are so many things in its favor that he finds it difficult to enumerate them all.

He likes its "Silver Streak" styling—so distinctive that you can recognize a Pontiac as far as you can see it. He likes its eager, smooth, quiet performance. He likes its comfort and handling ease. He likes the many fine-car features which make it such a pride to own and such a pleasure to drive. He likes its faithfulness—its ability to stay on the job for year after year with undiminished performance. And, of course, he will mention that he gets all this at a price within easy reach of any new car buyer.

Yes, there are so many things in its favor that your next car should be a Pontiac. You can never do better than a Pontiac!

THE SOONER YOU PLACE YOUR ORDER for a new Pontiac, the earlier you will get it. In the meantime, take care of your present car—you will get more for it when your new car is delivered.

Expert Says Color Helps To Cure Woes

DALLAS, Aug. 16.—Take a grey-eyed blonde in a peachy-colored dress sitting on a mahogany chair on a rose-beige carpet in an office with pinky-grey walls, and you've got it.

And the women are the ones who select the color of the family car. Washing machines and refrigerators are making tentative and timid appearances in green, but white is still undisputed favorite.

"Now take the case of the cantankerous business executive who came to our office," Smedley offered. "When the walls of his office were changed from an off-yellow color to a two-tone green, his disposition became as gentle as a lamb's."

and what is most important, it is unfair to the boy," was Stevenson's comment. Cunningham said yesterday that "we are not going to take this ruling laying down because we think it is silly."

Shortage of teachers in your schools? Children have that apathetic attitude about the learning business? Uh-Huh.

Cunningham added that the calf scramble program has the enthusiastic approval of the department of vocational agriculture, a part of the state public educational system, and that it is a shame that another part of the educational system, the interscholastic league, has taken an opposing stand.

Teacher told us he noticed a definite pickup of interest among the boys and in himself, too," Smedley said. "And one teacher at a school where the corridors had red tile floors, moss green paneling and frost green walls said it was an inspiration to teach."

Shivers said he plans to return to Austin late Monday. He said he would deliver a radio address sometime during the week in behalf of the college building program amendment to be voted on Aug. 23.

Teacher told us he noticed a definite pickup of interest among the boys and in himself, too," Smedley said. "And one teacher at a school where the corridors had red tile floors, moss green paneling and frost green walls said it was an inspiration to teach."

AUSTIN, Aug. 16.—Psychiatric patients who are prisoners of the Texas prison system must continue to be placed in state hospitals until Sept. 1, the attorney general held today.

Congressman Sees Truman Landslide At Present But

HOUSTON, Aug. 16.—President Truman would be elected by a landslide if a national presidential election were held 30 days from now, Congressman Albert Thomas said today upon his return here after a nine months' stay in Washington.

The State Prison Psychopathic Hospital will become the piper place for detention and treatment of patients from the state prison system after Aug. 31, the legal opinion added. Provision for a psychiatrist was made in the appropriation for the Texas Prison system for the coming biennium, fulfilling for the first time provisions of the law passed in 1931 creating a state prison psychopathic hospital.

"But in this world of hunger, sorrow and grief a man who gaesses beyond 90 days is too brave," Thomas added.

The congressman returned to Houston this morning after a two day inspection tour of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic bomb plant. The House appropriations committee, of which he is a member, recently appropriated $500,000,000 for the plant.

B' Spring-Snyder Highway Underway

Employees of the H. E. Williams Construction company, Waco, are busy in the Northeast section of Howard county clearing right-of-way for the Big Spring-Snyder highway.

The Air Forces recently announced it had only a 90-day supply of gasoline on hand. The Army and Navy also are faced with an urgent need for more petroleum. Krug told reporters that giving right of way to military requirements would have some effect on civilian supplies and local shortages. He indicated a belief the overall result in this direction would not be "too serious." Scattered midwestern areas have been experiencing localized shortages for three months.

Well Mystery Cleared Up

PARIS, Aug. 16. (U.P.)—There was nothing in John Hardin's well but water.

And there was very little of that in it today.

A couple of days ago Hardin told authorities that he had found pieces of flesh and bone in the well.

The well, he said, was near a house which had not been occupied for some time. That added more mystery to the gruesome find.

The flesh and bones were examined. The conclusion: They were pieces of human flesh and bone.

That spurred further investigation.

Buckets and hand pumps were put into action.

Excitement increased as the depth of the well decreased.

Soon, the well was empty.

Tired workers made a second discovery.

There was nothing but water in John Hardin's well.

Crockett, Reeves Feature Oil play

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, Aug. 16 — A natural oil flow by a northern Reeves county wildcat from Delaware sand and showing of gas and oil by a wildcat in the panhandle of northwestern Crockett county from pre-Permian formation highlighted West Texas development this week.

The most easterly of two recent Ellenburger strikes in northwestern Crockett county and a northwest extension to the Jameson (Strawn) field in northwestern Coke county were completed.

Texzona Producing Co. of Fort Worth No. 1 Tunstill Bros. in Reeves county, six miles northeast of Orla, flowed naturally 25 barrels of fluid in two hours through open 2-inch tubing, bottled at 3,308 feet in Delaware sand reported entered at 3,275. Ninety per cent was estimated to be 36.5 gravity oil, 10 per cent drilling mud and load water. Friday it ceased flowing after heading 86 barrels in three hours.

Casing pressure had built up to 450 pounds during a four-hour shut-in preceding the flow. A control head and separator were being installed and an early attempt at completion was due. Some observers estimated that if formation water did not develop—and none had shown—No. 1 Tunstill can be finished for a natural daily flow of 100 to 150 barrels. Location is 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 10-56-2-T&P, six miles southwest of the Mason pool in Loving county, nearest Delaware sand producing area.

Byrd & Frost of Dallas and others' No. 1 J. R. Mayberry-J. Homer Tippet, northwestern Crockett county wildcat, showed an estimated five to 10 million cubic feet of gas daily and recovered 200 feet of oil, some of which headed, and 100 feet of gas-cut mud on a drillstem test from 6,295-6,345 feet. It drilled to 6,376 feet and was due to test again.

The formation had not been identified and was believed by some possibly Devonian, Wolfcamp, basal Permian, had been logged before white cherty lime was entered at 6,293 feet. Location is 660 feet out of the east corner of section 39-31-H&T.C., on a Shell farmout, six miles southwest of the shallow Crockett field in Crockett and Upton counties, six miles northwest of the Yates field in Pecos county and 11 miles southeast of McCamey.

Humble No. 1 Mrs. Grady Mitchell of San Angelo, northeastern Crockett county Ellenburger discovery 14 miles northeast of Ozona, established a natural daily flowing potential of 487.6 barrels of 41 gravity, pipeline oil and gas ratio of 1.105-1. The completion gauge was through a quarter inch tubing choke and casing perforations at 8,092-8,105 and at 8,112-22 feet. The well is in the offset, No. 1 Ethel Childress Smith estate, C SW SW 1-BS&F.

Quarter mile north extension to the west side of the Jameson field in Coke county, Sun No. 1-A W. I. Tubb flowed naturally 215.30 barrels of 47.4 gravity, pipeline oil in 24 hours to become the seventh completed producer. It was

Borden County Peach Harvest In Full Swing

Peach season in this area is perhaps a bit past its peak, but the major fruit belt of the area—in southeastern Borden county—is still harvesting.

The Von Roeder orchard at Knapp, about 10 miles due north of Vincent, has been running several hundred bushels of Elbertas per day. One day during the past week 350 bushels of Elbertas were sold in one day, and several others hit 200 or more.

Several hundred bushels of freestone peaches still remain on the trees. The Frank and Chillow, both cling peaches, are due to ripen about Sept. 1.

Immediately to the south the Davis orchard also is in the midst of the freestone harvest. Both orchards previously had good runs on early-maturing clings. Prevailing price on freestone varieties is $1.50 in the orchard.

gauged through a quarter inch tubing choke and casing perforations at 6,310-6,470 feet. Location is in the southeast corner of the E. A. Barnhill and T. J. Wiley survey.

Stanolind No. 1-AF University, 3/4 mile southeast extension to the Three Bar (Devonian) field in southwestern Andrews county and first from the contact of the Devonian and Silurian, flowed oil at a rate estimated at 600 barrels daily through a half inch choke. It had acidized through casing perforations above 8,245 feet. Location is the C NW SW 16-11-U.

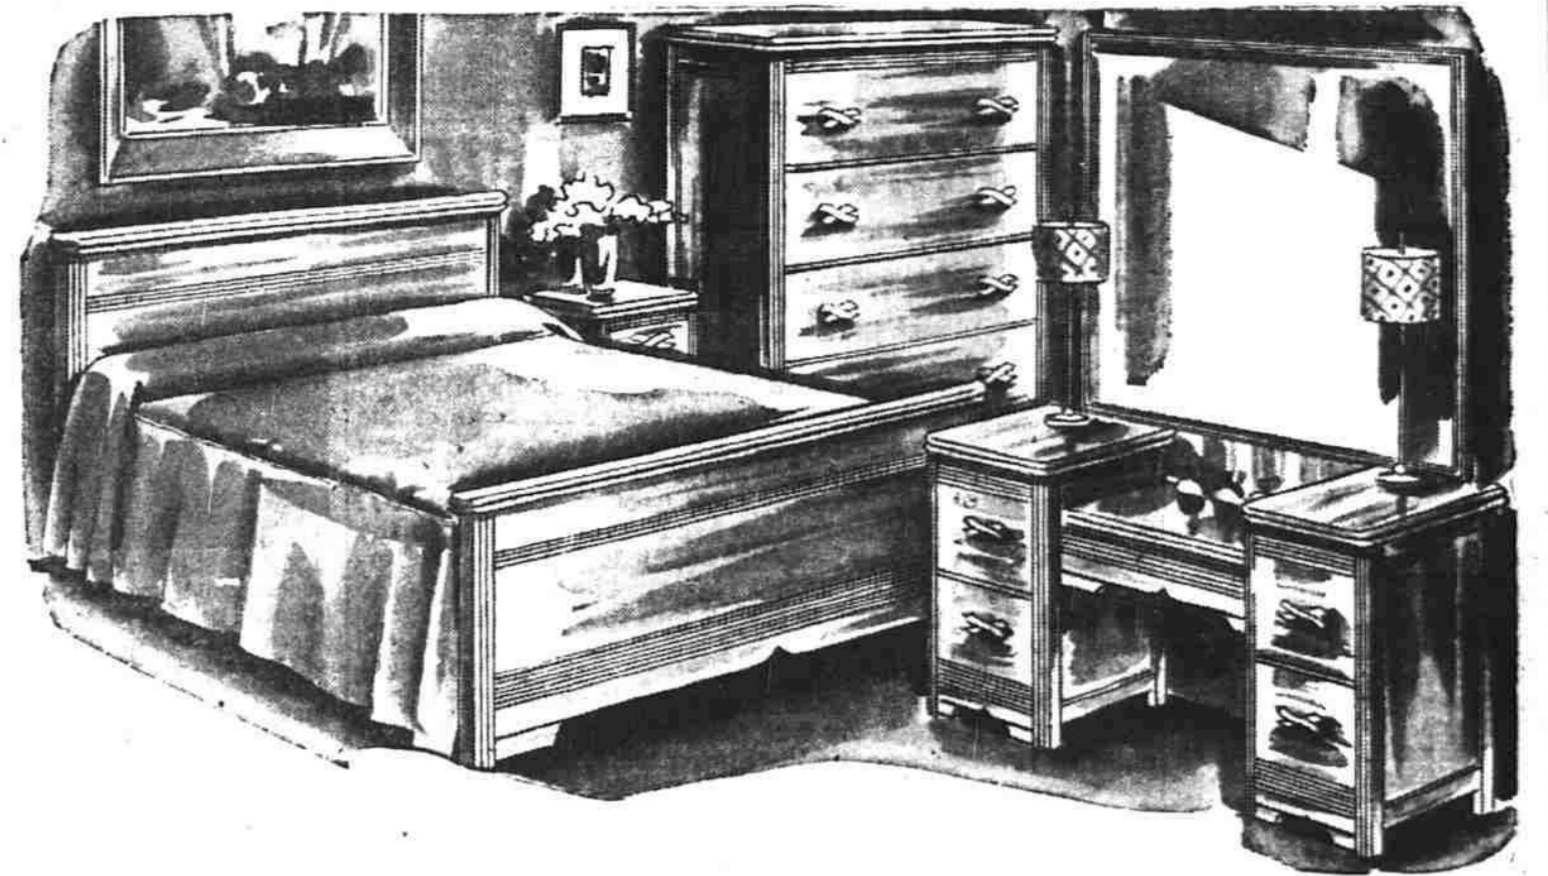

Humble No. 1-B J. E. Parker, Ector county wildcat C NW NW 2-45-2-T&P, 1 1/2 miles southeast of the TXL multiple-pay field, filled with oil at the rate of 300 feet hourly during swabbing intermissions following acidizing through casing perforations at 5,600-5,954 feet.

Gulf No. 420-E Goldsmith, Ellenburger discovery in the Goldsmith field in Ector, near the C SE NW 15-44-15-T&P, established the water table in drilling to 9,645 feet and was to plug back for completion. No. 439-E Goldsmith was staked as a diagonal northwest offset.

Gulf spotted No. 20-E W. E. Connell C SW SE 26-B16-psl, 3/4 mile northeast of its No. 1-EpA Fogelman-University, opener of the Jordan Ellenburger pay in southern Ector.

Louise Suggs Wins Golf Title For Double Slam

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 16. (AP)—Completing the first double-slam in the half century history of western competition, Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., saved her best shots for the final round today to trounce newcomer Carol Diring of Tiffin, O., 9 and 8 and win the Women's Western Amateur Golf championship.

The triumph earned Miss Suggs a niche in the W. W. G. A. hall of fame as the first golfer to win both the Western Amateur and Western Open in successive years. The petite, 112-pound Georgia lassie shot some of the finest golf in the last eight years of Women's Western Golf Association Tournament to beat her 21-year-old Ohio foe by knocking two strokes off par figures for the 28 holes required.

EARL JOHNSON

The victory, their second straight over the runner-up Red Sox, increased the American League Leaders' margin to 13½ games. Clark, who now has batted .440 for the Yankees in seven games, helped another recent acquisition, Bobo Newsom, gain his fifth victory in seven appearances since the veteran got on the Yankees' payroll. Robo gave up six hits to register his second shutout.

Newsom was given a hard tussle by Earl Johnson, the young Red Sox southpaw, who up to the ninth had given up only six hits himself. Clark's fourth single, a hit by George McQuinn and a single to left by Johnny Lindell, after Billy Johnson was purposely passed, accounted for the winning run in the ninth. Newsom's record for the 1947 season is nine won and eight lost, counting his service with the Washington Senators. His career record stands at 203 won and 210 lost for 17 years.

Hosses Maintain Four-Game Lead

The Big Spring Broncs and Odessa Oilers resume activity at Steer park today in a game scheduled for 3 p. m.

Charley Parlier is due to go to the hill for the Broncs, while Manager Howard McFarland has indicated that he will rely upon Lefty Shelton.

The Oilers are to remain here through Monday night, when they will tangle with the Broncs in a doubleheader beginning at 7 p. m.

In a game amazingly repetitious of the one the evening before, the Big Spring Broncs cut loose with their siege guns to blast out a 16-2 victory over the Odessa Oilers before a Ladies Night throng of 1,000 fans here Saturday night. Jose Cindan had easy sailing in notching his 20th victory of the campaign. Like Jimmy Perez Friday night, Jose would have had a shutout had he not thrown a home run ball in the sixth round—in this instance to Manager Howard McFarland. Frank Rice was aboard at the time.

The Hosses went to work early on Lefty Courtney, spiking the platter four times in the initial heat and gathering another four in the fourth.

Courtney departed when the resident nine did twice as well in the seventh, banging home eight tallies on seven safeties, two walks and a misplay.

Every man in the Big Spring line up hit safely at least once. Jak McClain's two triples glittered in the 16th-inning assault while Skipper Pat Stacey was bothered not at all by the two Odessa Lefties, Courtney and Muscles Coniff. Pat rattled the boards for two doubles and a single in four official trips.

Orlie Moreno, the circuit's leading scorer, added to his record with three tallies and had three base knocks.

The victory enabled the locals to maintain their four game lead over knocked over Sweetwater, 6-5, in 13 frames in the Wigwam.

A&M, Texas Would Raise 15 Million Dollars Texans To Vote On Building Funds For State Colleges

AUSTIN, Aug. 16.—Texans will vote Aug. 23 to approve or disapprove a $15,000,000 building plan for Texas colleges and universities over a 30-year period.

They will vote for or against the following constitutional amendment:

"Providing for the levying of a state ad valorem tax on property in lieu of the present state ad valorem tax of seven cents for confederate pensions in order to create special funds necessary for the payment of confederate pensions and for the financing of the construction and equipment of buildings and other permanent improvements at state institutions of higher learning in the amounts of two cents and five cents respectively providing for a five-cent reduction of the maximum allowable state tax on property making such tax not to exceed thirty cents on the one hundred dollar valuation, providing a method of payment for the construction and equipment of improvements and buildings at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas and the University of Texas."

Adoption of the amendment would permit the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. to float a bond issue on the permanent university fund to raise $15,000,000 for new buildings.

The state university would take $10,000,000; Texas A. and M., $5,000,000.

The five-cent ad valorem tax switched away from the confederate pension fund would give revenue to the other 14 state colleges, permitting them to float

Texas Group To Handle Placement Of Farm Workers

AUSTIN, Aug. 16.—The Texas employment commission today was preparing to take over the problem of getting Texas farm workers on farm jobs.

The farm placement service is scheduled for return to TEC from the U. S. department of agriculture Jan. 1, 1948, after having been under federal jurisdiction since 1943.

Arrangements for providing farmers with all the help they require, in addition to our present placement activities in the non-agricultural field, will temporarily tax our facilities to the utmost.

Robert M. McKinley, TEC member, said: "However, the extension service at Texas A. and M. College, which has had direct control of the program in Texas through county agents, has done a creditable job and we feel confident they will extend every cooperation to us in working out the transfer as smoothly as possible."

Automobile Dates From Horses' Day

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—When Stubby Melton goes out for a spin in his automobile he evokes the old cry from emulsion hucksters: "Why don't you get a horse?"

That's because when Melton's 10-year-old car was a current model it was a "horseless carriage."

It is a 1907 model and Melton says it was one of the first Buicks ever built. He found it three years ago in a junkyard at Gallipolis, O., while poring over spare parts.

Melton is in the automobile business, so it was natural that he should buy the ancient vehicle, tow it home and put it in running shape.

Prime difficulties, Melton has found, lie in finding tires to fit and starting in low gear without jerking the daylight out of the passengers. Once under way Melton says his car runs smoothly and comfortably.

BRING YOUR OWN HAIRBRUSH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Remember the old days when customers kept their own shaving mugs at the corner barber shop?

Well, it looks like Washingtonians may have to bring along their own hairbrushes when they have their hair tidied up.

Sanitary regulations have been on the books for some time outlawing hair, neck and shaving brushes in local barbershops and now violators are facing suspension of their licenses if they do not follow the letter as well as the spirit of the ruling.

Some customers are reported bringing their own brushes, with their names on them, to be left at the shop.

STAMP COLLECTOR. Hobbying from an easy chair (made especially for him) Dr. George E. Peacock spends his leisure time collecting stamps. His hobby started when at 14, he became interested in a neighbor's stamp collection and started one of his own. He later cashed in on his pastime, sold his collection for $600 and went to school. He now keeps two albums, a general collection and one of commemorative American stamps which range from prints of famous historians to momentous occasions since the birth of the nation. Among interesting prints is one of the first air mail stamps which was misprinted with an airplane upside down. Also included are stamps issued to government departments back in 1873. His most valuable is a 1938 Colombian issue. Through stamp exchanges, from friends and other collectors the physician adds to his collection which is not limited to postage stamps. Hunting stamps, automobile stickers and even defense stamps are included.

RECORDS AND NOT RECORD PLAYERS make for an interesting hobby, or so believe Mr. and Mrs. George Mizell, who have an enviable collection of classical records and a very ordinary record player. Their collection of classics and semi-classics number around 2,000 and are valued at something like $2,500. Mizell started his record hobby three years ago when he purchased Bach-Gunod's "Ava Maria." He jovially explains that records are his hobby and the record players only a necessity for enjoying the recordings. His favorite is "Suite Number Two for Two Pianos" by Rachmaninoff, his favorite composer. Mrs. Mizell prefers Mozart. Their popular records are mostly by George Gershwin and Jerome Kern but they do admit having several "hillbilly" platters. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mizell are teachers in the Big Spring school system.

--HOBBYISTS--

ARTISTS' HOBBIES are often profitable pastimes as Mrs. Robert E. Lee can vouch. She showed a talent for painting at an early age and has developed an outstanding ability through hours spent at an inspiring hobby. Florals are her favorites and she enjoys repeating a print using different colors to harmonize with surroundings. Only drawback to her hobby (but a profitable one) is that the artist's paintings sell as quickly as she finishes them and buyers discover her color schemes fit perfectly with themes carried out in their rooms. Mrs. Lee, who was a teacher before coming to Big Spring, is planning a show of her own for next year.

MINIATURE HORSES hold a fascination for Mrs. John L. Whitmire who started her hobby around five years ago. Included in her selections which are displayed at the Whitmire ranch north of town are miniatures of bronze, aluminum and china in plaques, ash trays, dishes, letter openers, lamps and book ends. One of her favorites is a China horse made by a woman in California who was thrown from a horse and crippled for life. Latest addition to her collection is live braze sorrel which the Whitmires call "Dick."

SHAKER SHOW: An unusual collection of salt and pepper shakers had an accidental beginning with Mrs. Gordon Hickman, who was awarded hostess prize at a party seven years ago, and upon opening the gifts, discovered three different sets of shakers. She started a collection in earnest and now has 214 pairs including selections from 19 states, Canada and Mexico. Her brothers, serving with the armed forces in Europe during the war, failed to find a single shaker to add to the collection since most Europeans dispense their flavoring from a small dish. Oldest of her collection which she holds is 83 years old. Next oldest is a unique pair, 67 years old which belonged to her grandmother.

AIR CONDITIONING AIDS CHURCH EFFORTS TO HOLD ATTENDANCE

Churches have adopted a modern device to keep attendance at Sunday school and services high during the summer, a survey of air conditioning in church plants shows.

At least eight of the larger churches in the city are equipped with washed-air units, most of them concentrating on cooling auditoriums. However, several operate separate units for all or part of the Sunday school rooms and departments.

According to Dr. P. D. O'Brien, attendance at the First Baptist church is about 85 per cent of the spring, fall and winter attendance.

the best summer record for the church in recent years. The First Baptist church has a new air conditioner, installed about three weeks ago. It also has individual units for some classes.

A two-unit air conditioning system at the East 4th Baptist and First Methodist churches provide coolness for both auditorium and basement class-rooms. Attendance has stayed high all summer.

A noted increase in attendance at both morning and evening services was reported from the Trinity Baptist church. A new air conditioner was installed about two weeks ago.

St. Paul's Lutheran, St. Thomas Catholic and the First Presbyterian churches have large fan system cooling units. Attendance at the Presbyterian church has decreased slightly since June.

Other churches contacted believe attendance is about average for the summer season. Air conditioning systems have been installed wherever possible, and several churches, which at present are without cooling units, are making arrangements for their installation.

Trulock-Majors Ceremony Read In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 16. — In a formal ceremony performed at the First Christian church in Colorado City Friday evening, Miss Jane Trulock became the bride of Sam L. Majors, Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Trulock, of Colorado City, and Majors is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Majors, Sr., of Colorado City.

Single ring vows were read by the Rev. John Zaratofetis, pastor of the church, in the presence of several hundred guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with heirloom Chantilly lace and seed pearls accented a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves, and a closely fitted bodice. Her three-tiered fingertip length veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a fan-shaped cascade of white roses centered with a single white orchid.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Curtis Latimer, as matron of honor, and by Mrs. Ned Nickson, sister of the bridegroom, of Roswell, N. M., Mrs. M. L. Moss of Paris, cousin of the bride, and Evelyn Russell, as bridesmaids. Curtis Judge of Houston attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Bob Mitchell of Roswell, N. M., cousin of the groom; Graham Mackey of Midland; and O. B. Trulock, Jr., cousin of the bride. Curtis Latimer and Ned Nickson were ushers.

A reception was given by the parents of the bride at their ranch home near here immediately following the wedding.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Try This Amazing Home Recipe For Taking Off Weight Without Starvation Diet

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug-gist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcetrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

No Diet—Lost 22 Pounds
"I lost 22 pounds taking Barcetrate and I feel much better in every way. I ate anything I wanted and I gladly recommend it to anyone who wants to lose weight."—Gertrude Billings, Route 1, Devine, Texas.

20 Pounds Lost Without Dieting
"I have lost 20 pounds taking Barcetrate and did not diet. I ate anything I wanted and when I wanted it. Barcetrate not only keeps the weight down, but makes one feel fine."—S. B. McClure, 703 Adams, Amarillo, Texas.

Lost 50 Pounds
"I want to tell you that I have lost 50 pounds since taking Barcetrate. I still want to lose 20 more pounds as I now weigh 167, a reduction from my former weight of 217 pounds."—Mrs. C. M. Earsh, 303 N. 12th Street, McAllen, Texas.

Reduces 25 Pounds
"I want to tell you that I lost 25 pounds on the first two bottles of Barcetrate and I am still taking it faithfully, for it relieves me of that tired, run-down feeling; also that sluggish feeling so many women have. I can say that Barcetrate keeps one peppy and always ready to go."—Mrs. Tony Meek, 429 Lipscomb Street, Fort Worth, Texas.

Lost 15 Pounds
"I lost 15 pounds taking Barcetrate and can now control my weight. I feel much better in every way and I gladly say, 'It's Barcetrate to control the weight.'"—Mrs. Gayle Mathews, 925 Threadneedle Street, Beaumont, Texas.

Lost 18½ Pounds
"I lost 18½ pounds on the first three bottles of Barcetrate and I feel better in every way. I recommend it to anyone as a weight reducer."—Mrs. Abner Amox, Hughes Springs, Texas.

Lost 10 Pounds
"I lost 10 pounds on the first three bottles of Barcetrate and I feel better in every way. I recommend it to anyone as a weight reducer."—Mrs. Abner Amox, Hughes Springs, Texas.

Benes Asks Record Of Nazis Crimes

PRAGUE (AP)—President Eduard Benes has proposed that Czechoslovakia keep an "eternal public record"—preferably as a state museum—of all documentary and other evidences of the crimes Nazi Germany committed against the Czech state.

"We must have our evidence ready," he said, "and must perpetually remind our people and the Germans of its existence. There will come a time, perhaps in five years, but more probably in two, when the Germans will accuse us of chauvinism and will complain that the Czechs expelled them (from the Sudetanland). They will bewail the property they left behind and demand compensation.

"Then we must refuse to pay a penny as long as they have not paid for what they have stolen and robbed during the occupation."

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

The Texas Poll Voter Majority Favors Amendment

AUSTIN, Aug. 16.—A large majority of the qualified voters of Texas are in favor of the proposed $60,000,000 college building program which would be authorized by adoption of a constitutional amendment to be voted on next Saturday.

While only about one-half the electorate has heard or read anything about the amendment, a statewide survey by the Texas Poll completed two weeks before the election shows that nearly seven out of every ten qualified voters approve of the building program.

The poll sampled a cross-section of adults in all parts of the state on these questions:

"Have you heard or read anything about the proposed constitutional amendment to finance new buildings at our state colleges?"

Qualified voters only	Yes	No
All adults	54%	46%
	48%	52%

"This amendment would allow the University of Texas, A. & M., and other state colleges to build about sixty million dollars worth of new buildings within the next thirty years. If you were voting on this amendment today, do you think you would vote for it or against it?"

All qualified voters	For	Agst.	Undcd.
Qualified voters who had heard or read something about amendment	68%	22%	10%
Qualified voters who had not heard or read something about amendment	74%	21%	5%
Exactly how large a majority will be piled up in favor of the amendment next Saturday will depend upon the effectiveness of the last two weeks of campaigning and voter turnout. Voter turnout is likely to vary greatly from district to district because of two special congressional, one state senatorial, one state representative and more than 30 county road elections which are being held simultaneously with the constitutional amendment election.

Between the July 1 and the Aug. 9 polls, the percentage of qualified voters who had heard or read something about the amendment climbed nine points, from 45 per cent to 54 per cent. Percentage of voters favoring the proposal moved upward to 68 per cent, from a previous 66.

Traffic deaths in the United States per 100 million travel miles in 1946 were at an all-time low of 9.7.

Lookin' and Thinkin'

The little girl in the picture gazes across the tumbling waters of the mountain stream and wonders about things.

She wonders about the other side of the stream; about the wild life that flourishes in its depths and along its banks; about the great mystery of the waters as they roll on to the distant river and the far-off sea.

As she grows in years and stature and her mental horizon expands she will know more about these and many other things; but always there will be things to be learned, problems to be solved, mysteries to be explained.

The little girl is a symbol of humanity as she stands and looks and wonders. For man is always peering into the dim distances and wondering what lies beyond.

But there is a key to all human problems and a solution for all mysteries. It is the key of faith. It is found in the Scriptures and the teachings of the Church. It is God's gift to those who live by faith.

Religion helps men to solve present perplexities and lights up the dim beyond.

Elmo Wasson Store Observes 20th Anniversary This Week

It was in 1927 when a young Big Springer in his early twenties took the bold step of putting all his savings into a store of his own, facing the risks and working for the successes that come with such a venture.

His confidence in the future of his home town was well-founded, and this week occurs the 20th anniversary of Elmo Wasson's Men's store, to place that establishment in a small group of business houses that have been continuously owned and managed by one man for so long a time in Big Spring.

In noting his "birthday", Elmo gives credit to the "many valued customers who have been mine throughout the 20 years. I gratefully recall men who were 'old-timers' here than who came to my store from the start, some of whose sons are patrons today. Many Big Spring residents have been customers from the time they moved to the city. To all those people who have provided patronage throughout all the years, I am most appreciative."

Elmo "grew up" with the town. He was born in the old settlement of Chicago (now Lamesa) in Dawson county, and came to Big Spring in 1906 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wasson. He attended Big Spring schools, and as a youth worked at odd jobs with various of the town's stores of the time.

Elmo recalls particularly one job he held in 1921 and 1922, as a helper to S. E. J. Cox, the well-known individual whose early promotions helped write oil history in this area. He recalls the job because he still has a note given him in payment for his last month's salary.

In 1923, young Wasson went to work with the Albert M. Fisher company when that firm was established. Later, he went to Chicago to take a special course in merchandising advertising, then to Corpus Christi to work for a year and a half as advertising manager for the Edson and Meehan's stores, two establishments operated by E. B. Edson.

It was in Corpus Christi that Elmo met Miss Sue King, to whom he later was married. They have a 16-year-old daughter, Dot.

Elmo returned to Big Spring in the summer of 1927, and within two months had made the decision to try a men's apparel shop in the town that was beginning to stir with activity from the newly opening oil fields. Although men's apparel still was being handled largely through general-type merchandise stores, Elmo recalls that his venture did not require drastic problems in inventory, for the simple reason that men's suits—and other clothing items—followed more of a stock pattern than they do today. It was a matter, principally, of having the right sizes.

The first Wasson location was on Second street, just back of what is now the Walker Pharmacy. Two years later, the Petroleum building was opened, and Elmo moved in as one of its first tenants to remain in the same ground floor location since.

Through the years, he has followed the policy of increasing stocks of quality merchandise for

There will be no special sales events or promotions in observance of his store's 20th anniversary, Elmo Wasson has announced.

"We are just marking the birthday by trying to express thanks to the valued friends and customers who have been ours through the years," he said.

Daily gift awards will be made to those who visit the store during this week, Wasson said.

men, and has established a wide clientele. Advertising - conscious from the time he started in merchandising, Elmo has been a regular space user in The Herald from the days before it became a daily publication.

Identified with the city's commercial interests through the two-decade span, Wasson also has had a hand in Big Spring's civic affairs. He has been a member of the Rotary club since 1928, served as its president and on its board of directors; was chairman of a district conference, and was a member of groups organizing the clubs at Lamesa and Odessa.

He has been a member of the chamber of commerce since he started in business, has served on its directorate. For several years, he was local finance chairman for the Boy Scout organization.

A brother, Lloyd Wasson, worked with Elmo for practically a 15 year span with the exception of a period of service in the Navy. Lloyd a few months ago entered business on his own.

Associated with Elmo in the store today are Maurice (Frog) Koger, and Mrs. Johnnie Morrison.

The Wasson business history has covered the oil-boom days, the depression years, and the merchandise - shortage - military - demand era of the recent war. Elmo thinks things are still strictly OK in Big Spring. "Our town has grown through the years, and it will continue to grow," he says. It is a renewal of an expression of confidence exhibited 20 years ago by a young man who resolved to identify himself with the business development of the town he calls home.

TWENTIETH BIRTHDAY — Elmo Wasson is snapped by the photographer as he stands by a suit display in his store, the firm he opened on his own 20 years ago this week. Elmo has been in his present location in the Petroleum building since that structure was opened in 1929. Wasson has planned no special store-wide event for his anniversary observance, but has announced daily gift awards to callers at his store. (Photo by Jack M. Haynes).

Well-Known Lines Handled By Elmo For Many Years

At least three nationally known lines in men's wear have been identified with the Elmo Wasson store for the latter's full 20 years of operation.

When he opened, Wasson acquired Dobbs hats, Stetson hats and Society Brand suits. He still features them.

Among other featured lines in the store today are Crosby Square shoes, Arrow shirts, Jayson shirts, McGregor sportswear, Cico sportswear, Cabu sportswear, Peerless luggage, Towne luggage, Capps clothing, Arrow ties, Resilio ties, Wemberly Noreast ties, Town and Country leather coats, Saffir robes, Gilbert slacks, Hickok belts, TexTan belts, King's Men toiletries and Courtley toiletries.

Although Cape Town in southern Africa is nearer the South Pole than west coast areas farther north, the city is warmer than those areas because of the effects of ocean currents.

BURGLARY WAS A SEVERE BLOW TO YOUNG STORE

Few are the businesses which do not encounter dark days, or some misfortune that all but washes things out.

Elmo Wasson recalls an extremely dark day, which occurred within two years after he opened his men's store.

It was a burglary, a full-scaled one that meant the loss of about a third of the stock in one night. Thieves broke into the place, and among other things, swept fully half of the suits off the racks and got away with them.

It was a reeling blow to a young businessman, Elmo recalls that he had to make drastic retrenchments, including selling his car, to keep his head above the financial waters until the inventory could be made up again.

City Heads Delay Called Session

First of a series of training courses for reserve officers will be held at 8 p. m. Monday in Room One of the Settles hotel, Capt. Grover Blissard, commander of the Howard County Reserve Officers Association, announced Saturday.

Mr. Wright of Amarillo is scheduled to be here for the meeting, and he will conduct the class work. Plans are to hold similar sessions each month, Blissard said.

Reserve officers from all Army branches are invited to take the courses. Those attending will receive credit for the training.

New Curbs, Gutters For Bluebonnet St. Almost Completed

Installation of curbs and gutters on Bluebonnet street has been virtually completed and street department workers probably will begin applying base materials on that paving project within the next few days, city officials reported Saturday.

Before actual work can begin on the base, however, several water lines on the street must be relocated.

Next curb and gutter work has been scheduled for one block on West 17th between Main and Security. Equipment probably will be moved there Tuesday.

Talk About Our Sleeping Weather

For years people have been telling us we ought to exploit our climate. Natives do not appreciate it, for they see nothing phenomenal about an occasional scorcher during the summer, a few widely spaced blue northerners in the winter and some sand in the spring. What they overlook is the mild mean temperature and the lovely "sleeping weather" this section has to offer.

We mention this because soon September and October will be upon us, offering what is perhaps the best part of the year. Of course the lovers of spring will quarrel with this, but it is rare that high winds rake this region in the early autumn. If the year has produced anything like a normal amount of rain, fields generally are green. September precipitation generally freshes the range land and the landscape is dotted with tanks and natural lakes.

The mean temperature eases off smartly to a pleasant 75.4 in September, and then to around 64.4 in October, which incidentally, is about the average mean for the year around. So you see, we have a pretty mild temperature even after taking into account the various short-lived "spells."

One of the drawbacks of the area may be one of its assets. It is semi-arid. Normally, only about 15 per cent of the days would classify as overcast, the balance being in favor of clear days over even the placid condition known as partly cloudy.

While this may displace the farmer and rancher, it delights the aviator and the slumberer. Because relative humidity is low, the heat doesn't cut any particular caper until it really gets into the upper registers. (Contest this with the recent heat wave that made news in North, Central and South Texas with temperatures that wouldn't have meant very much here.) Too, only about six per cent of the days here get to 100 or above and a 95 to 99 reading in the summer is vastly more common.

But the evenings—ah, the evenings. Nature turns on her air conditioner in West Texas when the sun goes down. No matter how hot the days, nights, with rare exceptions, nestle down into the comfortable seventies with a gentle breeze to fan you while you sleep.

And the altitude is not too low or too high—nearly half a mile. Newcomers frequently are afflicted with revived appetites, a capacity for rest and a new vigor. We who are used to it let it go unnoticed, but it is not out of the ordinary for a visitor from the more humid sections to enthuse: "I got cold last night," or "I had to go for the cover."

What can be done about exploiting this asset? Certainly we don't fall in the category of California or Florida press agents, but for one thing we could talk about it more. Someday some of our enterprising citizens will awaken to the possibilities of resorts on the brow of our mesa-top hills, kissed almost always by strong, cool breezes. Someday someone will explore the possibility of dude ranching or some similar venture. Someday someone will realize that, except for short breaks when the mercury sinks below the freezing mark, we have unusually mild winters without the mess of continental snows. Yes sir, someday more than a few people will be making a living out of what God gave this section—the weather.

What's In A Name--Of People?

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Staff Writer

Nicknaming has always been a rather harmless pastime of the American people, so it is not surprising that Abraham Lincoln's recently publicized private papers revealed Honest Abe as having referred to his secretary of the navy as "Neptune" and his secretary of war as "Mars."

The late Franklin Roosevelt carried this art, if you can call it that, to new heights of ingenuity, by the simple process of playing upon surnames. With him, it was "Tommy the Cork," "Harold the Ick," and—best of the lot—"Henry the Mergue." Who can say that each of these handles did not fit the wearer with snugness if not with smugness? For all we know, Mr. Roosevelt might have dubbed a certain British statesman, "Winnie the Church," his "Lenny the Hen," for Leon Henderson, was a masterpiece.

As the Chicago Daily News observes, Mr. Truman should not object to being called "Harry the True," but it doubts if his secretary of the treasury, John Snyder, would relish being called "Johnny the Snide."

Every American boy carries a nickname, either briefly, or for as long as he lives. Somebody else hangs it on him, and the more he objects the more firmly fixed does the appellation become. A goodly percentage of smallboy fights stem from this custom, often cruel, sometimes savage, but usually humorous and pat. Many an American parent would be embarrassed no end by having some old acquaintance address him by his boyhood nickname in the presence of his wife and children. It does sometimes happen.

The American Indians were great hands to hang odd names on their children, but if we'd analyze and trace the origin of many of our more respectable Anglo-Saxon monickers we'd find our ancestors were quite as adept in the art as any Indian.

Surnames are of comparatively recent origin among the civilized races of mankind. In Britain and most states of the U. S., a man may change his surname at will, and it will stick under common law. Usually, however, he takes the trouble of going to court, just for the record.

Most people are proud of their surname, regardless of its origin and structural oddity, if any; and it seems to us this is a creditable feeling. The only thing worthwhile in a name is what we put into it.

Texas Today—Jack Rutledge

Alamo Has Been Well Preserved

"Texans who live so far away they never get a chance to see the Alamo may wonder if San Antonio is preserving this shrine of Texas freedom in a manner befitting its importance and dignity.

The answer is yes. San Antonio is doing all right by the Thermopylae of America.

The ancient old mission, founded in 1716 by a Franciscan Father and named, most people think, for nearby cottonwood trees (known as alamos) is in an excellent state of preservation.

The main building, the one you see on postcards and in history books, looks just like you have it visualized.

A high brick wall surrounds the grounds, a very valuable bit of real estate in the center of town.

Copper plaques list the names of the heroes of the Alamo, men who gave their lives for freedom and who might today be a little puzzled by certain restrictions to freedom mentioned on signs scattered about the place.

One sign, propped against a tree, says "No Dogs." Others warn persons not to pick flowers, and at the entrances to the several buildings on the plaza are "No Smoking" signs.

The Alamo itself houses the original Alamo chime, the monks' burial ground, a confessional, baptistry, various relics. The windows are still barred.

The floor is rough hewn rock which has survived the centuries and probably will outlast the slick tile of nearby office buildings.

The grounds are beautifully kept. Trees and flowers of every kind are growing, lush and green in the semi-tropical sun. Old cannon guard the walkways.

Everywhere are monuments. One is to the men of Goliad who gave their lives.

Another, a wartime source of irrigation, is a stone slab from Japan, covered with Japanese lettering. It was given to Texas by school children of Suneemon Torii, which calls itself the Bonham of Japan, from the province of Nagashino, the Alamo of Japan.

A museum, built by U. S. funds, houses many important relics, and on the side sells souvenirs.

There is no admission charge. On another corner is the Alamo hall and library, built by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

Everywhere are Texans, swarming through the grounds and buildings, taking pictures, looking at their shrine, tingling with pride.

Yes, the Alamo still lives.

Rio Conference Bolsters U. N.

The inter-American conference on hemispheric defense, assembling in Rio De Janeiro today, had better have been held long ago, but while it is late it does arrive at an opportune moment to bolster a harassed United Nations if efforts to reestablish and maintain peace.

The purpose of the conference is to implement the historic Act of Chapultepec, adopted by the nations of the two Americas at Mexico City in May, 1945. This act not only provided for concerted action to repel aggression from abroad, but aimed to keep peace among the nations of the hemisphere.

The act of Chapultepec was hailed by Senator Tom Connally, then chairman of the foreign relations committee of the United States Senate, as one of the greatest state papers in the world—a new Monroe Doctrine backed by all the Americas instead of just the United States. The Senator said the act was a "runner of what it was hoped would happen a month later at San Francisco where the world security conference was to create a new peace organization to take the place of the League of Nations.

The conference of Chapultepec was held as the allies were delivering the final knockout blow to Nazism. The Big Three—America, Britain and Russia—were close brothers in arms and all was honey and flowers among them. Few there were who doubted that this trio of powers would be the backbone of new United Nations. Certainly there never could come a time when there would be a serious clash among them.

Perhaps it was partly because of this feeling of security that the nations of the Americas did not get together sooner to implement the act of Chapultepec, although of course the differences between the U. S. A. and the Argentine were the direct cause of much delay. Anyway the matter has been allowed to drag along until now until the security of Western Hemisphere has come a matter of grave concern.

Russia, Britain and America no longer are the big three in unity. They are the big two and the big one, leaders respectively of the western and the eastern blocs of nations. They are at sword's point around the world. Even the United Nations has been made impotent by Russia's employment of the veto in connection with virtually every major issue that has arisen.

Thus the most important service which the U. N. has been able to render has been to provide a theater in which to epitomize the battle of great powers. This fight has emphasized that there are two worlds and not the one which had been so eagerly sought—that Russia is bent on global revolution for the spread of communism. It has become clear that peace is in danger of being disrupted again.

And so it is encouraging now to see the Rio meeting finally under way. It is in no way a challenge to the U. N., since regional agreements among nations are permissible under the charter of that organization. On the contrary a Pan-American agreement for defensive solidarity would provide a grand complement to the U. N., and would strengthen its hand immensely.

The writing on the wall is clear. The time has arrived when the Western Hemisphere should go all out in providing for solidarity of defense.

It was a dull Sunday in August, and many of the Star's staff were busy covering sermons. Just as it got "obscure dusk"—as we say in Missouri—the police headquarters man phoned in.

"The boardwalk out at the x x x amusement park just collapsed. Musta been a hundred standing on it, and they fell about twenty feet into a snake-pit."

Charlie Block, a fabulous night city editor for more than thirty years, sent Fisher, two other reporters and two photographers to the scene.

"We found hundreds of people milling around, some screaming and sobbing in hysteria," Fisher recalled. "Some had been painfully hurt, and everybody was panicky. Some of the women and children had landed in the middle of the snakes, and the snakes had crawled over them, as panicky as the people."

Police were demanding from Madame Zulu owner of the exhibit, whether the poisonous snakes in her collection had been de-fanged. She was crying over the escape of her snakes. "My beloved babies," she called them.

Getting a clear account of what had happened from inebriated witnesses and terrified victims was the easiest part of the job for the reporters.

The story of putting it on paper fell to Fisher. Back in the office he had fifty-five minutes to make the next edition. Five minutes of that time was spent in perplexed conversation with Charley Block and Managing Editor "Pete" Wellington, who reminded Fisher of the unwritten office rule:

"You can't use the word 'snake' in the Kansas City Star."

This ban, celebrated throughout the newspaper world, stemmed directly from the late George B. Lonigan, then president of the paper. A great newspaperman, Lonigan felt most people shared his own intense aversion to snakes and didn't want them dished up in their morning newspaper.

"I had been thinking of that problem from the moment I got the assignment," Fisher said. "But there was no time to go to a dictionary for a Thesaurus. So I sat down and wrote the story."

And in fifty minutes he battled out 1500 words of copy and never used the word snake once.

How did he do it? "Well, even today," Paul laughed, "I don't think of a snake as just 'Madame Zulu's charges,' 'slithering monstrosities' or 'animals of the lower vertebrate order.'"

Otherwise, Fisher calls a spade a spade.

PROFS EAT WELL

NEW YORK. (U. P.)—George Faurebach, manager of the cafeteria at City College, believes that the average professor eats twice as much as the average student. He estimated that whereas the professor spends 48 cents for his average meal at the cafeteria, the student eats only 30 cents worth.

Working Press Receives Praise

By ROBERT ALLEN
(For Drew Pearson)

WASHINGTON.—The Washington Merry-Go-Round today repeats one of its oldest and most gratifying practices.

It bestows its brass ring for distinguished, enlightened and courageous service.

The honor goes to a group of working newspapermen.

These members of the working press are not "big name" personalities in the usual sense of that word. Some are syndicated. But except for their bylines, none are widely known personally to their readers. They are not that kind of newsmen.

They don't make news; they report it—honestly, courageously, tenaciously, and with outstanding skill and understanding.

To their readers, the bylines of these newsmen are an un-fading trade mark of integrity and reliability.

There are many other newsmen like them all over the U. S. men and women who day in and day out, quietly and modestly fight the good fight to get the news and to print it. That's why the working press of the U. S. is the finest in the world.

Now why is it one of the greatest honors of our country?

Occasionally, one of these "unknowns" wins momentary public recognition for some particularly outstanding feat. But the great majority of them, like doughboys in the lines, slug it out doggedly and valiantly day after day with no other acclaim than the inner satisfaction of doing a good job.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round considers it an honor to single out a few of these heroes of the working press and call them to the attention of their fellow Americans. They are worthy of their country's approbation.

The decoration of the brass ring is herewith bestowed on the following for exceptionally meritorious service to their country and their profession:

High Prices Are Big News Again

By MAX HALL
(FOR JAMES MARLOW)

WASHINGTON. (U. P.)—Once again, high prices are big news in Washington and the nation.

Howard Hughes and Senator Brewster have come home, but the cost of living and the hot weather remain in everybody's home. The weather may improve, but price forecasts are gloomy.

The bureau of labor statistics announced yesterday that its "Consumers' Price Index" reached a new record high of 157.1 on June 15 after leveling off in April and May.

In the year since June 15, 1946, when a roaring fight was going on over the OPA, retail prices of living essentials in large cities had risen 17.9 per cent. Foods had risen 30.8 per cent, apparel 18.1 per cent, house furnishings 17 per cent, and gas and electricity actually dropped.

It is not easy for the average American to understand or accurately judge the various causes of the continued rises.

Labor unions blame the killing of the OPA and price controls, and they also say business is taking too much profit.

Many people blame labor unions and their wage increases. A congressman says: "We're sending too much of our production to Europe."

The national federation of small business blames big business monopolies.

One man says it's the government's financial policies. Another says it's our horse-and-buggy system of distribution.

Even more important than assigning blame is the question of what to do.

It isn't only that all of us suffer the discomfort of paying high prices. There is also the peril that if prices keep rising and rising—blame! one of these months they may fall suddenly and factories may be shutting down and people may be out of work.

Stanley Woodward, sports editor of the New York Herald Tribune, whose ringing expose last spring of a mutiny plot by certain St. Louis Cardinals' players against Jackie Robinson, Negro rookie of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was in the highest tradition of American journalism. Woodward's forthright articles smashed this sinister manifestation of race discrimination before it could spread, and thus saved a great national sport from a destructive scandal.

Fifty-two years old, tall, heavy-set, Woodward was born in Worcester, Mass., and was graduated from Amherst. Rejected for military service in World War I because of defective eyesight, he served as an enlisted man in the Army during the war and joined the Washington Post staff in 1946. A bachelor, Block looks more like a school-teacher than a cartoonist, but today his brilliant daily panel appears in 130 newspapers.

Richard S. Davis, political reporter of the Milwaukee Journal who is known locally as "The Conscience of City Hall." An old-timer in journalism, Davis has been a member of the Journal's staff since 1918 and has handled many of its biggest and hottest stories. He is the dread of hoodlums and the spearhead of decency and progress. Several years ago he singlehandedly forced through a sium clearance program by a series of blasting articles.

Charles Raudebaugh, general assignment ace of the San Francisco Chronicle, who is equally brilliant in exposing a sordid abortion racket or at covering the United Nations. His vivid and dynamic chapter on San Francisco in "Our Fair City," best-selling study on municipal life in the U. S., earned plain-talking Raudebaugh the enmity of the chief of police—and the plaudits of his home town.

Marshall McNeil, Ruth Finney, and Daniel Kidney, Scripps-Howard Washington correspondents, who quietly and conscientiously hold aloft the bright banner of fighting journalism raised by E. W. Scripps, late great founder of their newspapers. Veterans of the Washington scene, they know more about operation of the government than most of its so-called operators. Also, about lobbyists and other scoundrels, who on innumerable occasions have been frustrated by these writers' exposes.

Herb Block, cartoonist of the Washington Post, whose daily single-panel commentary on national and world affairs and personalities is without peer. Block says more in one of his cartoons than a squad of punning columnists in eight columns of copy. Some of his creations, notably "Mr. Atom," are devastating American finds it hard to decide what ought to be done. Congress' approach is to send out committees this fall and try to discover why prices are high.

Rough Hand To Hand Battle Is Feature Of Johnson Movie

Van Johnson, as a two-fisted hero during the dramatic aftermath of war between the states, is featured in "The Romance of Rosy Ridge," a stirring story on the screen of the Ritz today and Monday.

Not since the days when William Farnum and Ton Santschi tangled in a fight scene in 1923 that marked "The Spoilers" for a place in movie annals, there has been such a hand-to-hand battle as the rugged fight between Johnson and Jim Davis in "Romance of Rosy Ridge."

Although this pulsating scene rips and tears through six frantic minutes, not all is fighting in the production.

Cast opposite of Janet Leigh, a blonde discovery of Norma Shearer, Van has opportunity to parade his histrionic talents which lifted him to the top of the class of heman matinee idols.

The setting is in the beautiful Ozark country of Missouri and the time capitalizes on the uncertain days after the Civil War when a man's aim and his ability to handle himself was the best criterion of his standing.

Story is by MacKinaly Kantor, author of "Bugle Ann," and it first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, being adapted to the movies under its present title. It has been filmed almost entirely out of doors.

The historic fight scene grows out of Van being cornered by four villains, three of whom are dispatched by his trusty rifle, setting the stage for a near stabbing and then a sequence which stands as one of several unforgettable sequences in the production.

'Margie' Sparkles With Pathos, Humor Of The Twenties

Although making a third appearance here when it shows at the Lyric Sunday and Monday, probably the brightest bit on the week's film menu is "Margie," a sparkling, nostalgic story of the tribulations of a shy little lady and her bloomers.

Expertly done, "Margie" has a rare combination of pathos, high good humor, plus settings and dialogue that is so well done that it makes one homesick for the good old high school days.

Jeanne Crain is cast in the lead role as the piquant-nosed co-ed who was long on brains but short on elastic. Allan Young does an admirable job of blundering around as the old standby, who is appropriately dense and insensitive.

Time of action is back in the days when there were "Sheiks and shebas," and for every character you knew in high school there is one in the show. Margie is the ward of her grandmother, seldom visited by her father, whose success as an undertaker did not, somehow, entitle him to rating among the recognized professions. Margie has her fun despite emotional conflicts, which are aggravated occasionally by the flirtatious blonde next door and her jalopy-piloting boy friend whose sporty wardrobe includes a racoon coat.

At every high point, however, the elastic in Margie's bloomers (they were a part of the Model T days, remember?) gives way and a crisis of major proportions suddenly takes shape. "Margie" is packed with laughs and its good, clean fun that the entire family can enjoy.

Action Jammed Into 'Cheyenne'

Action the trademark of the Westerns, is jammed into "Cheyenne," the offering at the State Theatre today and Monday.

Built around the Northwest area in 1872 when lawless hordes preyed on honest and hard-working settlers, "Cheyenne" spins its story around the efforts of a gentleman-rambler, Jim Wylie, (Dennis Morgan) to capture "The Poet," played by Bruce Bennett, a notorious bandit who earned his sobriquet by leaving a bit of doggerel each time he robbed the Wells-Fargo express.

Jim is induced by Yancey (Barton MacLane) to go after the poet. In the process he meets and falls for Ann Kincaid (Jane Wyman), secret wife of "The Poet." She is put on the dramatic spot before she learns that her husband plans to give her the go-by in order to elope with Emily Carson (Janis Paige), a dance-hall entertainer. Then things pick up, sure enough.

The film is given a historical flavor by the settings during the days when struggles were underway to possess and settle the Northwest country.

And like a good Western story, the pace is fast, punctuated with blazing six-guns, plain talk, vigorous battling, romance and the spell of the out-of-doors.

Wanted Money Back
NEW YORK, (U.P.)—Ten-year-old Antoinette D'Angelo put her penny in a cup machine near a drinking fountain in a Brooklyn theater got no cup and thrust her hand in the opening. It took a police emergency squad a half hour to free her hand.

Other choice bits of listening on top include the Monday 9:45 a. m. Listening Post program featuring the legal good samaritan, John Doowinkle, who helps untangle the sad affairs of a woman deserted by her husband and denied custody of her child, and A Date with Duchin at 3:30 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday when pretty Louise Carlyle, contralto, appears as a guest artist.

Farm Ownership Program Helps Fight Land Price Inflation

The farm ownership program of the Farmers' Home Administration is helping fight farm land inflation, according to David R. Shahan, FHA county supervisor who points out that the ten-year-old tenant-purchase plan provides loans only for buying sound-value farms.

Following a long-time policy, the agency appraises farms considered for purchase by its applicants and estimates their worth on the basis of normal or long time earning capacity.

Instead of using present farm prices as a gauge, officials figure, for example, cotton at 12 cents a pound, wheat at 75 cents a bushel and corn at 65 cents a bushel. At the same time, costs for farm and home operation are estimated over a similar long period, to insure that the family's income will exceed their expenses and enable them to repay their debt in the allotted time. This is done to assure protection for both borrower and Government against an unwise investment.

Where prices are not in line with this estimate, the agency refuses to make a loan. This turn-down often results in the seller's reduction to meet the price set as reasonable by the FHA county supervisor, county committee, and a qualified appraiser. Besides sealing down prices in many specific instances, the program exerts a deflating influence on farm real estate in general. FHA appraisal standards are frequently used as a yardstick in communities to set prices on farms for sale and to judge prices already established.

Congress and officials of the Farmers Home Administration have placed safeguards around our program," Shahan explained, "so it can operate safely in good times and bad, and be particularly useful in time of inflation. It's a permanent source of sound credit and good counsel," he said, "for veterans and others who want to farm but who need our help to do it."
