27 Killed As Storm Levels Ozarks Town

BERRYVILLE, Ark., Oct. 30. (AP)—At least 27 persons were killed and more than 200 injured, many critically when a tornado leveled more than half of this Ozark mountain town late last night.

Several of the injured were so badly hurt that physicians advised against transporting to hospitals.

Fires broke out immediately after the tornado, forcing the survivors to drop their rescue operations for a time to prevent spread of the flames through the splintered wreckage.

Approximately 25 persons were trapped and injured in the collapse of the Missouri and Arkansas Railroad station. Most of them were waiting to board a northbound train.

Without hospital facilities, the stricken town of 1,485 population had only three physicians to care for the scores of injured.

The only drug store was demolished and most of the drugs and medical supplies were destroyed, making it impossible for the three doctors to do more than give first aid until supplies arrived from nearby towns.

Doctors and nurses were sent from Harrison and Eureka Springs and several loads of injured were taken to hospitals in other communities.

A passenger bus came through the stricken town 30 minutes after the disaster. Its passengers alighted or stood up to make room for some of the worst injured being taken to the Harrison hospital. The tornado left the town helpless.

The power plant was destroyed, forcing rescue workers to work by torch light, flashlight, lanterns, candles, or even matches.

The telephone system remained in operation through use of an emergency battery system.

An eight-man medical detachment from Camp Robinson was ordered to Berryville, with medical supplies. An appeal for assistance was sent to the Red Cross at Little Rock.

The city hall and court house, two of the few buildings remaining intact in the business district, were converted into emergency hospitals, but in the early hours there was little the workers could do for the sufferers—no medical supplies, no nurses, and only three doctors to care for the scores of injured.

Ben Nelson, undertaker, said 22 bodies had been brought to the funeral parlor in the early morning hours, and he expected there were many more dead buried in the ruins.

"They just can't get in there until daylight. We don't have any idea how many may be missing," he said.

Patrol Office Open All Day Saturday To Renew Licenses

Saturday, October 31, will be last day for renewal of old drivers licenses, which includes all licenses issued before October 1st, 1941, the highway patrol license bureau office reminded today.

The office will be open all day Saturday including the noon hour to take care of the last minute rush in renewing the licenses.

On Saturday there will be no examinations given in driving in order to clear through all the renewals before deadline time. Also, those who miss the deadline time may mail old licenses not later than Sunday midnight to the office here for renewals and will not have to take driver's examinations.

But beginning Monday, if you haven't tended to the renewal matter, it's take a driver's license or park your car.

Pay Raises To Be Possible In Many Cases

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—A hand-picked crew of treasury experts today dug into the job of drafting detailed salary stabilization regulations, the broad outline of which now indicates that the only unorganized white collar workers definitely doomed to go rascals for the duration are those earning more than $25,000 a year net income.

Except for deductions of federal income taxes, customary charitable contributions, life insurance premiums and fixed obligations, the annual take of the boys in the upper brackets was firmly pegged at the $25,000 figure.

But the treasury's interpretation of Economic Director James F. Byrnes' salary regulations made it a vastly different story for the big majority of folk who earn less than that each year.

In the long list of unorganized executive, administrative and professional people who receive less than $5,000, plus those of all classes between $5,000 and $25,000, a treasury spokesman said there was scarcely a situation which absolutely precluded the possibility of a raise.

While the treasury version of the Byrnes regulations has no bearing on the war labor board's responsibility, which includes all wages and many salaries up to $5,000, some observers felt this interpretation might also be true in those brackets.

However, the catch in the overall picture was the obvious fact that while these raises still will be possible they will be a lot less probable under the stabilization program.

Under terms of the Byrnes regulations, Assistant Treasury Secretary John L. Sullivan said there were several ways by which raises could be given without even consulting the commissioner of internal revenue. In addition, he pointed out, countless additional cases might find the internal revenue bureau approving raises which were brought before it.

Americans In Liberia, Says London Source

Roosevelt Withholds Comment On African Disclosure

LONDON, Oct. 30. (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Monrovia said today it was officially announced that American troops, including negro units, had been in Liberia since July. It said two airports had been constructed.

Parliament had approved legislation providing for Liberia's cooperation with the United States, it said.

The dispatch said that Lieut. Col. Harry A. McBride of the United States army who discussed the legislation with President Barclay of the African Republic has returned after reporting to President Roosevelt.

Morovia is the capital of Liberia.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—President Roosevelt today said he preferred to withhold any comment on the possibility that American troops had been stationed in Liberia.

He said it came under the classification of troop movements and that he would not make comment without consulting his military authorities. It is an operational movement of troops, if it exists, he asserted, so any statement should come from those authorities.

He had been asked at a press conference whether he could confirm stories from British sources that both white and negro troops from the United States had taken up stations in the negro republic on the African coast.

The chief executive said the press also put him in an awful hole by asking whether it was correct that Lieutenant General Dwight Eisenhower, American army commander in the European war theater, had been called home for consultation.

He said he did not think it was an awfully helpful thing to print things about movements of American officers.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—New York's highest court decreed today Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, one-time New York City industrial racketeer, must die in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison for a 1936 slaying he is accused of ordering.

The 45-year-old Lepke, now serving a 44-year-to-life federal sentence for various crimes, was convicted last December in Brooklyn with two henchmen, Emanuel (Mandy) Weiss and Louis Capone, of the murder of Joseph Rosen, Brooklyn candy store owner. The state charged Lepke ordered Rosen's death when he feared the storekeeper would turn informant for Thomas E. Dewey, then Manhattan prosecutor investigating the trucking racket.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—President Roosevelt informed a press conference today that no decision had been reached yet on the issue of national service legislation but he added that the possibility of compulsory registration of women was under consideration.

The chief executive said such a registration would not mean that women would be ordered, by compulsion, to go here, there, or the other place to work. It would be aimed, he said, at trying to find out where the available supply of women workers exists and something of their fitness for war industry jobs.

This registration idea, Mr. Roosevelt said, was a major topic of discussion when he met yesterday with the CIO-AFL labor war board. The board members talked, he said, of registering women of 18 to 65. Legislation would be required to authorize this canvass of woman power.

Probably that would mean, the president said, that the survey could not be made before the end of the year. But, replying to a question, he said he did not think it would be implied that national service legislation necessarily would be delayed also until that time.

He emphasized that there had been no decision whatever on such legislation up to this point, remarking that it still was in the study stage.

Enemy Still Landing Men On Island

Ominous Lull Points To Forthcoming Navy Battle

By The Associated Press
Ominous silence cloaked the operations of a huge Japanese naval armada in the Southwest Pacific today as U.S. army troops and marines, crowded inside a six-mile-long corridor, battled numerically superior enemy forces in defense of Guadalcanal air base.

Still tight-lipped on action at sea, the navy's communiqué today said American defenders on Guadalcanal destroyed 13 Japanese light tanks in the last week's fighting.

The navy also reported that American torpedo boats in the last two days scored a torpedo hit on a Japanese destroyer engaged in reinforcing enemy troops on the island.

This was the first disclosure that the enemy still was pouring troops ashore, bolstering his already formidable contingents for the attack on the prize air base.

The communiqué said land fighting for the past 48 hours had been restricted to small skirmishes, but U. S. warplanes continued to bomb and strafe enemy positions west of the airfield and destroyed two more Japanese seaplanes.

Either for reasons of military secrecy or because of blacked-out communications, the navy in Washington divulged no fresh information on movements of the Japanese fleet in the critical South Sea battle zone.

The situation suggested that a terrific Japanese naval assault might break shortly against a mottledly outnumbered U. S. warships in the Solomons Islands area, although other reports have indicated that the powerful enemy squadron of battleships and aircraft carriers may have been seeking to skirt the Solomons and descend upon American bases in the New Hebrides and Fiji Islands.

On Guadalcanal, the navy reported, American defenders broke up three more Japanese attacks on Oct. 27 (Islands Time) and there was no indication that the enemy had encroached further on their narrow beachhead.

Thrown back by one heavy attack, the American aviators counterattacked and regained their positions, the navy said.

American warplanes operating from the Guadalcanal base and long-range flying fortresses from Australia kept up their attacks on enemy bases in the Solomons, meanwhile, blasting Japanese ships and gun emplacements.

A communiqué said planes from Guadalcanal destroyed a Japanese anti-aircraft battery and an ammunition dump on the western side of the island, while others set fire to enemy shore installations on Rekata Bay, in the central Solomons. Four more Japanese seaplanes were destroyed, boosting the total to 418 enemy aircraft destroyed since the campaign started early in August.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's fighting fortresses were credited with sinking five ships at the Japanese naval base at Buna, in the northern Solomons.

On the New Guinea front, dispatches said Australian troops charging with bayonets captured 20 Japanese prisoners and carried forward their slow but steady drive across the Owen Stanley mountains.

Full Revamping Of The Nation's Fighting Forces Being Proposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Against a background of momentous reports from the Solomons, Capitol Hill attention focused today on propositions to revamp the fighting services. Washington wartime agencies and, moreover, congressional procedure—all aimed at greater military striking power.

Overhauling all other proposals was that to combine the army, navy and marine corps into a single, coordinated fighting force, wearing one type of uniform and directed by one commander.

Other propositions engaging the attention of senators and representatives included:

1. Creation of a congressional "high command" committee to coordinate and expedite wartime legislation.

2. Sweeping reorganization of the federal government, through establishment of an overall office of war mobilization guided by an "economic general staff."

The three far-reaching propositions generally were aimed at erasing what some of their sponsors termed "jealousy" in the fighting forces, "red tape" in government and "duplication of effort" and slow action in congress.

Rep. Maass (R-Minn.), ranking minority member of the house naval committee and himself a marine colonel, proposed the amalgamation of the army, navy and marine corps into one fighting force, and said he would offer legislation to put it into effect unless the administration beat him to it.

His proposal gathered support quickly, and in the senate Senator Lee (D-Ola.) declared the United States should have a "unified supreme command" with "one minister of warfare."

Declaring that the greatest weapon of warfare now is airpower, Lee said the supreme command "should be invested in an air general."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Britain's eighth army has driven deeper into the axis' El Alamein line defenses in conjunction with a ceaseless allied air offensive taking steadily heavier toll in the enemy's rear, official reports from the front announced today.

Fighter pilots of the United States army air force alone have shot down 23 enemy fighters in DALLAS, Oct. 30. (AP)—Henry Allen Hill, negro charged with raping a white woman, was convicted a second time today and again sentenced to death.

Thousands Of Tires Going In To Uncle Sam

By The Associated Press

Thousands of automobile tires—some new, some old but still serviceable, and some worn out—have been collected in Texas in compliance with gasoline rationing provisions, effective Nov. 22, which stipulate that owners may hold not more than five tires for each car.

Approximately 5,000 tires have been turned in to the Railway Express offices at Houston, R. C. Hardin, general agent, declared, adding that the total included tires shipped to Houston from Waco, Austin, and other points.

The Railway Express Agency is acting as a collector of the tires. Payments are made by the government agency.

At Wichita Falls, 1,225 tires and 25 tubes were collected. Many were in excellent condition.

About 1,000 to 1,200 tires of all descriptions were collected at San Angelo.

At Amarillo, few new tires, but many exceptionally good ones went on the heap.

Four hundred and fifty was the total at Denison. Two hundred and sixty were collected at Corsicana.

Eighty tires were turned in at Pampa. At Fort Worth, the Railway Express Agency said it was swamped with tires, but did not have the total.

Plainview car owners turned in 35 good used tires and ten tubes.

Downtown Stroller

For what may be the last orchestra dance for the duration, unless orchestras can get gas for traveling, the Country club members will gather tonight at the clubhouse to hear Jack Free and his band play for a Halloween affair.

Received a card from Seattle, Washington, from Mrs. W. G. WILSON, JR., who is visiting here. She planned to go to Bremerton to see her son, BILLY, before returning. The scenery in Oregon and Washington, Mrs. WILSON says is lovely.

The prettiest wine we've seen is the Virginia Creeper at the C. A. WALKER home. It's a russet color that makes a beauty spot in the block.

Mrs. IDA COLLINS is really thrilled because her son, JESS, who is at Annapolis called her on his birthday anniversary just to talk. That's sort of revealing the birthday gifts but JESS probably enjoyed it more than anything he could have gotten. Voices of your family sound wonderful when you are a long way from home.

It seems the word has gotten around to some of the soldiers that we have a temporary USO center here. It looked that way Wednesday night when the place was so full folks had to go outside to turn around. Dancing, ping-pong, checkers, piano, nickelodeon and radio... everything was going full blast. The boys seemed to be having a wonderful time.

Lieut. Joe Hardesty Marries Ft. Worth Girl On Oct. 24th

Things happened fast last week for Lieut. Joe Hardesty, brother of Mrs. J. D. Elliott and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty and Mrs. Spring.

Lieut. Hardesty received his commission on October 22nd and married Will Ann Stoube, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Stroude of Fort Worth, in the home of her parents on October 24th.

Frank Hardesty, Austin, brother of the bridegroom was best man and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty and Mrs. Elliott also attended the wedding.

Lieut. Hardesty received his high school education in West Texas and attended Texas Tech at Lubbock. He received his commission at Fort Sill, Okla., and is in the field artillery.

The bride was graduated from T.S.C.W. Denton, and for the past several years has been head laboratory technician at Cook's Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth. The couple will be at home at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., where Lieut. Hardesty will be stationed.

Our men need tanks, ships and guns. The steel for these must be made from 50% scrap metal. But the Nation's steel mills don't have enough scrap on hand to last even 30 days more! Keep 'em running. Help build up a huge scrap stockpile—the bigger the better.

Go down into your basement—your storeroom. Climb up to the attic too. Look at the unused stuff you're sure to find, and realize how important these odds and ends can be.

Important to a kid half way around the world. Important to a blue-clad gobbler to a flyer, racing to reach the target before some knifing Messerschmitt can find its mark.

That old metal means steel for these men. And steel means armor plate for safety—weapons and ships for Victory.

Without it they'll die. They're not afraid of that—but it's better to give a life for a cause than to be sacrificed by thoughtlessness. And it's better yet to live, knowing that the folks back home didn't let them down.

And we won't let them down! Monday starts our big scrap collection drive—and you're going to help make it a good one. Don't let up because you see a full junk yard or a brimming salvage depot. That's the way they've got to be to make sure the mills won't run out!

YOUR NEGLECT WILL COST SOME BRAVE BOY'S LIFE!

Coahoma Meets Courtney In Decisive Game

Coahoma's Bulldogs go to Courtney this afternoon for a game that may decide the winner of the northern half of district No. 6 of the Six-Man Football League of Texas.
Courtney is favorite, having two wins and no losses in play thus far while Coahoma has won one and lost one. Garner, other team in the northern zone, has dropped two while winning one.
In the south end of the league, Foran goes to Starling City, but the tilt will have no bearing on the outcome for Starling has a record of three wins and no losses while Foran has been plattered twice in league play.
Should Courtney win today, the northern title would go to that team and arrangements would then be made for the championship play-off. Plans are to play this tilt before gasoline rationing takes effect.

Standings (North Zone)

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Courtney	2	0	1.000
Coahoma	1	1	.500
Garner	1	2	.333
Starling City	0	3	.000
Water Valley	1	2	.333
Foran	0	2	.000

Pension Payments To Be $1 Lower

AUSTIN, Oct. 30 (AP)—Texas old age assistance rolls have reached the saturation point and as a result each payment to 182,000 recipients would be cut $1 in November.
Announcing that the reduction would remain in effect until further notice, the public welfare department explained that persons added to the rolls since January, 1941, had increased monthly costs by $1,000,000.
The increase—from 122,059 to 182,000—resulted after the legislature waived consideration of the ability of relatives to support aged applicants.
The law stipulates that eligible applicants must be added to the rolls, meaning that as more are accepted payments will become smaller because income cannot be increased.

ROUNDUP SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—The heights of something: Every Thursday noon Columbia's football coaches hold open house for sports writers at the training table on Morningside Heights. . . . At one end of a long table, head coach Lou Little is being badgered to pick a winner between Penn and Army, both of which drubbed his Lions. . . . "It'd be a fool to do it," argues Lou. "They're both good teams. But I will say we should have done better against Penn. Remember when we were trying for our third touchdown? Time and again I've told Governall—and Luckman, too—never to pass down the middle, but he threw it right at that back." . . . And Lou starts drawing diagrams on a paper napkin. . . . At the other end of the festive board is Bob Kane, former track star who has come from Ithaca to speak for Cornell, and track is the subject. . . . "Les Mac-Mitchell was fed up on running," someone is saying. "He began to fade right after beating Dadds twice." . . . "Did you hear about our new Columbia star, Les Kopylovich?" asks another voice. "He started running in a compulsory physical education class last year. Now he has come out for track and says the only reason is that he wants to beat Gunder Haegg. That's why they call him a promising miler." . . . You don't learn much at these gatherings, but the ham and eggs are good.

Colan Collected
The coast guard seems to be getting a guy with plenty of courage in heavyweight Johnny Colan, who was sworn in today. . . . Instead of dodging the Friday 15th jinx, Johnny is trying to set a record by fighting on three of those days. . . . He faced Jimmy Webb at Madison Square Garden Friday, Feb. 13, again on March 13 and on Friday, Nov. 13, he's scheduled to take on Nats Bolden at the Chicago Stadium.

Sportpourri
Portland, Ore., will toss a civic dinner in honor of Johnny Pecky Monday night. . . . The Detroit Red Wings put out $1,000 for expense money to look over seven amateur hockey players this fall and had to send them home sight unseen with the kids couldn't get passports to leave Canada. . . . When the Washington Redskins left the field after a rugged encounter with the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday, Bill Dudley was waiting at the door of their dressing room. Bill wanted merely to say hello to his 160, Sammy Baugh, but Sammy gumbled up the hero worship by telling Bill, "You were the best man on the field today." . . . Looks as if racing were going to the dogs. Capt. John Hay Whitney's contribution to racing victory

Some Service Stations Closing, Others Await Rationing Results

Service station operators are "holding their breath" pending developments on the gasoline rationing program, a survey of distributing agencies showed here today.
The Hensley Sinclair station on West Third closed down last week, and the Courtney Service station operated by John Smith is expected to suspend operations the first, but none others have signified intentions of taking similar action.
Many stations have closed in recent months—with a various assortment of reasons. Some operators have gone to the army, others to better paying defense jobs with shorter hours. One was forced to close because of a change in highway routing and several others folded when the rationing cut down driving an estimated 50 per cent on some routes. With some, it has been the employe shortage.
Wholesale dealers hope that those left will stick it through, most of them admitting the results will depend upon the interpretation of the law. Whether the "liberal allowance" to be granted West Texans will be a four-gallon allotment or a more generous figure was anybody's guess, but upon the outcome rests the fate of remaining station operators.
Along the Eastern seaboard, months ago, gas stations have closed where gasoline rationing has been in effect through the summer

He'll Remember

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 30. (AP)—"Halt, who's there?" challenged Charles Lee, a new guard at Fort Warren.
The officer stopped, waited awhile, and then asked Lee, "what do you say now?"
"Just stick around, sir," Lee replied, "I'm trying to remember." The officer stuck around—Lee's memory was refreshed.
He was the officer of the day.

Cotton Allotment Figures For 1943 Near Completion

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 29.—Approximately $1,000-cotton farm allotments under next year's AAA program already have been calculated for growers in 26 Texas counties.
According to E. F. Vance, administrative officer of the AAA, all cotton allotments will be available for individual producers by November 20 and will be the same as 1942 allotments on the majority of Texas cotton farms.
Calculated in cotton counties for the second year, allotment work got underway September 20 and is expected to be complete within a few days.
Vance explained that some individual farm allotments would be increased or decreased if the 1942 measured cropland increased or decreased over the 1941 measured cropland, or if the 1942 planted acreage was materially increased over the acreage planted to cotton during the three year period, 1939-41.
In 60 percent of the cases, however, the allotments for next year will be the same as under the 1942 program, he said. The majority of Texas farm allotments cannot change, he continued, unless the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 also is changed.
Vance also announced that producers who do not receive a regular 1943 cotton allotment may request a 1943 new grower allotment by contacting their county AAA committees not later than February 1, 1944.
For purpose of explanation, the AAA official said that farms on which cotton is planted in 1943 for the first time since January 1, 1940, are classified as new grower farms.
Under the 1942 AAA program, Texas cotton farmers received an allotment of approximately 9,947, 815 acres and approximately the same acreage is expected under the 1943 program.

Last Year's Great Sub A Regular Now
COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 30 (AP)—Felix Buock was called the $50,000 substitute last year. That's what it meant to the Texas Aggies when he intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards to a touchdown that beat Arkansas, 7-0. The victory gave the Aggies a bid to the Cotton Bowl where $50,000 was the prize.
This year Buock is going full time. And his 60-minute work at guard has made him the Aggies' outstanding lineman.
Buock has only his family to blame for last year's substitute role. His brother Roy was a year ahead of him—and held down the job Felix wanted.

Dibrell To Give His Reserves A Chance In Game Tonight

The Weekly Whack At Guessing The Football Scores

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Taking the weekly whack at the football program and expecting nothing but the worst:

Ohio State-Wisconsin: National and sectional title hopes at stake here. Fekete and Barringhaus vs. Harder and Hirsch. This should be tough, grueling action all the way. The nod goes to Ohio State.

Alabama-Georgia: Ditto for this one which may settle the Southeastern title, subject to later argument from Georgia Tech and U. S. U. The better line seems to belong to Alabama; the better offense to Georgia. Stringing along with the offense, Georgia.

Penn.-Army: Top battle of the east in which Army's unbeaten record will be subjected to its sternest test. On the theory the Cadets have been playing well within themselves, Army.

Princeton-Harvard: Jumping on the Tiger bandwagon probably at the exact moment that Harvard will decide it's time to win one. Princeton, hesitantly.

Stanford-U. C. L. A.: The question here seems to be just how long U. C. L. A. can keep up its torrid pace. Stanford's improving and might surprise but this vote goes to U. C. L. A.

Baylor-Texas Christian: Baylor's defense is tough to crack but the nod belongs to unbeaten T. C. U.

Navy-Notre Dame: Nothing in Navy's record to show the Sailors can cope with Angelo Bertelli et al. Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech-Duke: This looked soft for Tech three weeks ago but not now in view of Duke's spectacular improvement. Tech better make no mistakes for Duke will make capital of them. A timid vote for Tech.

Georgetown-Boston College: May be close but Boston College must rate the edge.

Northwestern - Minnesota: The Gophers seem to be back in winning stride and should be exceedingly tough from here on in. Northwestern scores consistently, thanks to Otto Graham, but not enough, Minnesota.

Illinois-Michigan: Injuries may hurt the Illini. Despite two setbacks, Michigan is plenty tough, Michigan.

Iowa Naval-Indiana: Bierman's Naval Cadets have been well rested since the Notre Dame debacle and should be able to handle Billy Hillenbrand and Bob Cowan. Iowa Naval.

Great Lakes-Missouri: No telling what Great Lakes is going to do next. Missouri, with Bob Steuber, is the more consistent and rates the nod.

Southern Methodist-Texas: The Mustangs showed signs of revival last week but hardly enough to stop the Longhorns, Texas.

Brown-Yale: After Yale's astonishing showing last week when the addition of a couple of freshmen gave the Bulldogs real biting power, Yale'll take a flier on Yale.

Colgate-Holy Cross: Colgate seems to have faded out while Holy Cross finally woke up last Saturday. Doubtful, Holy Cross.

Michigan State-Temple: Not much luck for the Owls this season. Michigan State.

North Carolina Naval-Syracuse: This may be where Syracuse's perfect record gets smeared. N. C. Naval.

St. Mary's-Fordham: Very difficult to figure. Out of the hat, Fordham.

Auburn-Mississippi State: Well, anybody can guess. State.

Louisiana State-Tennessee: Another very tough one. L. S. U. has been a sensation under the lights. But this is in the daylight. Weekly, Tennessee.

Vanderbilt-Tulane: Remembering Tulane's every-other-week schedule, Vanderbilt.

Florida-Maryland: Looks like Florida.

Wants All The Lads To Get Experience

Big Spring, fans will get a chance to see the 1943 Steer football team in action—if things work out right—when the Colorado City Wolves come here for a district 3-AA game at 8 p. m. in Steer stadium.

Tickets will be available at the box office from 7:15 p. m. on, said school officials.

Coach John Dibrell will start his reserves at every spot this evening, and if they do well at all, he may leave them there for as much of the game as they can stand. Only one of the lads due to start is a senior, and Dibrell had an underclassman picked out for that spot.

Big Spring is a distinct favorite for the game, and the first stringers probably could run up a convincing margin if other teams mean anything. But Dibrell is more concerned with seeing that all his boys get to play and that they get some good experience than he is in running up a big score.

Waynes Dearing and Red Cagle will start at the end posts. Woody Baker was to have taken the nod for four quarters of play on Cagle's end, but his family has been called away due to the death of his aunt. Cagle is the only senior starting.

Noel Hull and E. B. Bryan, who have been looking better the past three weeks, will displace Glen Brown and Bob Boykin as tackles. Leo Rusk and Harlan Morgan will out Bob Coffee and Darrell Webb at guards, but Ray Thomas and Lee Christian will probably see considerable service at this point.

It is Billy Bob McDonald's evening to start at center, but of course Barkley Wood will get to play a lot there, too.

The Steer backfield will present an interesting collection of scat material. Little Claude Matlock will be at the quarterback slot. Pete Cook will be in the fullback position, and Bobby Barron, the most seasoned of the starting contingent tonight, will be in the vital left half place. Either Bobby Sisson or John Mcintosh will be at the other half post, and both will see much service.

Dibrell was hopeful that his reserve would come through and win without necessity of having to call on the first line material. Several of these youngsters are pretty badly bruised up from a stretch of hard games and the coach is anxious to have them in top physical condition come time for the San Angelo game here Nov. 11.

Although Colorado City is the one team in the district that is substantially worse off than Big Spring when it comes to experience, the Wolves will have a decided weight advantage over the Big Spring lads in the line. From end to end, with two big tackles to help, Colorado City averages 171. Big Spring reserves won't come within 10 pounds of that.

Wt.	Name	Vos. No.
166	James Hart	RE 55
185	Wallace Hestand	RT 46
150	Larry Dorn	RG 44
150	Ed Bodine	C 35
180	Morris Caffey	LG 41
210	Ray Smith	LT 39
185	Howard Bynum	LE 24
147	R. J. Knoke	QB 98
150	Jack Reid	LH 37
178	Poss Wood	RIH 47
185	Harold Smith	FB 90

Officials for the game will be Jim Maedgen, referee, W. W. Hill and Red Barnum, umpire and headlinesman, and L. G. Cook, field judge.

Frogs Given The Nod Over Baylor Bears

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Baylor's amazing Bears make their first real bid for a Southwest conference football championship in years when they tackle Texas Christian's 60-minute men at Fort Worth Saturday.

Comparative records do not indicate the Bruins will shoot down the burly Horned Frogs but comparative records, now more than always, mean nothing to the opportunists of Frank Kimbrough.

This writer was one of the very few to pick the Bears to beat Texas A. and M. last week. The statistics showed the guess was poor but the score showed it was right on the beam.

Well, here goes with a selection against the Bears in their battle with Texas Christian and we don't think T. C. U. will fall to score if they have nine chances down around the ten-yard line. In fact, we'd take the Frogs to count about three times.

Just as positive are we that Texas will beat Southern Methodist at Austin Saturday in another top conference game. But remember this corner picked the Mustangs to lose last week and they proceeded to win over Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

The hardest game of the lot to forecast this week appears to be the Texas A. and M.-Arkansas battle at College Station. On the record A. and M. appears stronger except that Arkansas gave T. C. U. a tighter test than did the Aggie.

One other game is on the schedule—a nonconference affair between Rice and Texas Tech. Rice ought to win it.

Goose Creek Lad Hit Field Running, Has Run Since

GOOSE CREEK, Oct. 30 (AP)—On a bitter cold November night at Livingston in 1940, Coach Dan Stallworth decided his Robert E. Lee Ganders had enough points.

So he sent in a 14-year-old at tailback to "hold down the score."

George Walmaley thus made his debut in Texas schoolboy football and all he did in the last quarter was race for three touchdowns while the shivering crowd looked on in amazement. One run was nearly 80 yards.

The Livingston Lions chased him that night and schoolboy foes have been chasing him ever since.

Walmaley, a black-haired, slender youngster of 146 pounds, still has another year to go after this.

This season he has made ten touchdowns and one extra point in five games and as far as carrying the ball is concerned he has gone 70 times for 472 yards. Then he has completed 15 passes with five going for touchdowns.

DALHART, Oct. 30. (AP)—Gordon Earl McMeen, 14, carrier boy for the Dalhart Texan, sold $4,172.90 in war bonds and stamps on National Newspaper Carrier Boys' Day, Oct. 3, the paper announced.

Lew Can't Fight, But He Can Strum The Git-tar

DALLAS, Oct. 30 (AP)—Lew Jenkins, the ex-lightweight boxing champion, has been suspended—but he is going to appear on a fight card tonight anyway.

The National Boxing association won't mind. For the only assault Lew will perform will be on his old guitar. It's a feature thrown in for the boxing customers at no extra cost.

"We won't try anything classical," fans were assured.

Rickey Looks For A Man To Pilot Dodgers

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—An early decision on next year's manager for the Brooklyn Dodgers seemed in prospect today with bushy-browed Branch Rickey finally enthroned as president and general manager of the flatbush flock.

After signing a five-year contract yesterday, Rickey said his first task would be to settle the field leadership of the club and that he would confer with Leo Durocher in St. Louis within a few days.

Inasmuch as Rickey left town last night, within ten hours after his appointment has been announced, there was a possibility he might have his managerial problem settled, at least in his own mind, before he settles down in the lavish office left him by Lieut. Col. L. S. McPhail, his predecessor who resigned for active service with the army.

The 63-year-old executive who had a varied career as a ball player, manager, school teacher, coach and lawyer before embarking on a 25-year association with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1917, will begin his contract with Brooklyn November 1.

He was enroute to Des Moines, Iowa, today to fulfill a speaking engagement at a war bond rally and then will go to Chicago to represent the Dodgers at the major league draft meeting Monday.

Cowboy Back After A New Yardage Mark

ABILENE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Rudolph (Little Doe) Mobley, mighty atom of Hardin-Simmons' unbeaten, un-Uted Cowboys, has his sights set on a national ball-carrying record—and he has everything in his favor.

The record is 1,121 yards—set by Whitner White of Colorado in 1937—and Little Doe is 817 yards short of that mark.

Sounds like a lot of territory but not when you have a guy who gains more than that in just four games.

Mobley, who has scored 45 points in the Cowboys' all victorious march, including two Southwest conference victories, has smacked the line and run the ends for 904 yards, an average of 191 per game.

There are five more tilts on the schedule so if Little Doe maintains his present pace he will have 1,389 yards when the season ends.

Think he can't do it? Say, this little buy—he weighs only 155, and is 5 feet 10—has been making records ever since he started playing football back in Paducah high school.

Two years ago Little Doe rolled up 174 points to lead all Texas schoolboy scorers. Southwest conference schools could have had him but turned him down because he was too small. He then weighed only 135 pounds.

Well, Little Doe put on 20 pounds and the first time he played against a Southwest conference school took great pleasure in beating the Baylor Bears with 110 yards and a touchdown. Next he worked over Southern Methodist.

Both of those schools could use a guy like Mobley. But then, who couldn't?

East Warders Out Front In City League

The elementary football league race began to shape up Thursday as a three-cornered affair and with East Ward hugging the inside rail.

The East Warders had no trouble in defeating the Midgets from South Ward by a 36-0 count, but at that the Midgets did pretty well considering that East Ward is the powerhouse of the loop.

College Heights, playing in hard luck all season, dropped another one when Central Ward punched over a couple of touchdowns to win 14-0. The Central boys, looking better since their first time out, scored a touchdown in each half.

Editorial — What Does A 35 MPH Speed Limit Mean?

Speed? About 80 feet per second.
Stopping distance? About 102 feet. This includes traveling 35 feet while you recognize the danger and get your foot on the brake and 64 feet of actual stopping distance. These figures are for brakes in excellent condition. With average brakes your stopping distance will run to 115 feet. Of course, these figures are for fairly good tires and on a dry road. If your tires are getting smooth (and those aren't!) and the road is wet or icy, the actual stopping distance may be much, much more.

Accident rates? There are no reliable figures to tell how the total number of accidents at 35-mile speed, would compare with the normal accident total.

Severity? The severity of the accidents which do occur drops off sharply as speeds decrease. Of all drivers involved in accidents a year or so ago, one out of every 70 of those traveling more than 35 miles per hour was involved in a fatal accident, while only one out of every 250 traveling below 35 was involved in an accident which resulted in death.

Is 35 miles per hour safe? Not according to a lot of drivers who were involved in accidents while traveling 35 miles per hour or even less. Ninety-five per cent of the drivers in urban accidents were traveling under 35 miles per hour. Seventy-five per cent of those involved in fatal accidents in cities were traveling below 35. Even in rural areas, the slow driver made up 68 per cent of all accident drivers, and 48 per cent of the fatal accident drivers.

So what? So even at 35 he alert and drive carefully, legally and courteously.

Man About Manhattan— About The Difficulty Of Passing A Popcorn Stand

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Concerning wanderings along Broadway:

This night to the moving pictures, to see Humphrey Bogart and Mary Astor in their "across the Pacific," which thrills me mightily but does not thrill the same fervor aroused by "The Maltese Falcon." But, I reflect, it has Mary Astor, beautiful as ever.

Then off to mingle with those on the street, and to pause in front of a popcorn stand, realizing that sixteen times have I passed this stand, sniffing the delectable odors of butter and syrup. This time I weaken and reach for my purse. Happily munching the confection, I resume my course, to be accosted on the corner by a tout for a sight-seeing bus who evidently has taken me for a pilgrim.

I pause in a show window, thinking how well I would look in the sporting clothes displayed, but where would I wear them? And then I become intrigued by a shooting gallery abutting the sidewalk, where one may fire nine shots from a .22 caliber firearm at revolving targets, at the expense of twenty-five cents. But my box of molasses popcorn is still half full and my fingers are sticky, so I regretfully pass on to another corner.

There I flatten my nose against the window of a new seafood restaurant, designed prettily in the manner of a ship, with pilot's wheels for backs of chairs, and other nautical appurtenances. No charming odors emanate, however, and I reflect that business within probably will become better when some of the newness has worn off and a few old scallops have ripened under the counter.

I pop another handful of the delicious confection into my mouth, and contemplate the vast amount which remains within the box, and find that it is becoming tiring both as to taste and texture.

Then I am intrigued by three sailor boys with "B's" in their caps, and all you'd expect from the printed on their shoulders, and follow them into another shooting arcade where one may aim beams of light at conical targets which whirl and gyrate, at the outlay of only two coppers. I try to make one of these guns work, wounding my finger so that it bleeds.

My finger seems to require attention, so I detour to the convenient apartment of a friend, who applies iodine and introduces me to his guest, a handsome lieutenant in the air corps. The talk is of the war and ocean submarine patrols until I decide it is time to seek my couch. And on the street I am confronted with an old apparition in long beard and frontier costume, carrying a flintlock, and wonder what he is advertising. Then to the subway, my stomach complaining. On the eighteenth time I shall again pass the popcorn stand, odors or no.

Washington Daybook— Chance For Labor Unity Still Remote

WASHINGTON — Back in 1940, when John L. Lewis, then just about kingpin in the CIO, put his chips on Wendell L. Willkie, I remember using a quote from someone who knows the old union rebel better than any one else. The quote was: "Don't forget that first and always, he's a good gambler."

In 1940, Lewis lost and for quite a while after that it appeared that his chips were dwindling. Whether they still are remains to be seen, but by his announcement that he is withdrawing the United Mine Workers from the CIO, Lewis has certainly demanded a new shuffle.

The question now is can Lewis gather enough supporters around him from the independent unions and possibly from dissatisfied unions in the CIO and AFL, to rebuild the power he once had.

He is, of course, employing the old battle strategy of divide-and-conquer. According to labor observers here, Lewis' plan had this advantage: his opponents were already divided.

In addition, there are some potent independent unions that have nothing to do with either the CIO or AFL, which might be recruited on a new front.

Considering these things, is it any wonder that Lewis was willing to call for a new stack and another deal?

The talk of a "labor peace" between the A. F. of L. and the CIO has been kicked around ever since Lewis led the original rebellion. There have been times when it appeared more impossible than it has in recent weeks. But to those who know the extent of the jurisdictional differences, it never has appeared likely. The war effort hasn't changed the situation at all. In many instances, it has widened the gap. A quick glance at the rapid growth of union membership in the last year or so will make that understandable. Where the AFL and CIO once fought over hundreds of members and jurisdiction on a score of jobs, they now have to settle those same problems multiplied by hundreds.

Probably a much more important factor in the now three-cornered labor union struggle is the trend which manpower legislation will take.

If it comes down to a work-or-fight ultimatum, with wages controlled, the union game may have to be called off for the duration for lack of cards—at least so far as the three leaders are concerned. As a matter of fact, with James F. Byrnes now firmly in the saddle as stabilization czar, and likely to be able to call forth any further legislation necessary to enforce economic controls on all fronts that time may already have arrived.

MURDER on the Campus

By JERRY BRONFIELD

Chapter Ten
CONFESSION

"When I found out, I called Dad long distance," Susan continued, hardly daring to look at Todd as she spoke. "It preyed on my mind. I didn't know what you might think if you found out."

Her spirit rose then and she turned on him somewhat fiercely. "So I called Dad, and he told me the truth about it. He told me your father didn't really deserve to be in prison... that he was framed by a sneaking police inspector who had sworn to get him because your father had prevented him from getting away with something shady. Dad didn't tell me exactly what. But he said he had orders to get this evidence on Duke. Evidence that had been planted. Dad tried to get out of the assignment but he couldn't. "It was dirty business as far as he was concerned and he wanted no part of it. But he was helpless. There were people high up in the department who were with this police inspector. So Dad had to work on it."

"You know as well as I do what it was," she said a little desperately. "They framed an extortion charge on him and made it stick... Said he was trying to get large sums from city officials on alleged gambling debts."

More out of sympathy than anything else she took his arm. It was hard as steel and it jerked slightly in her grasp. It was only a reflex, she let it go.

"I'm sorry, Todd," she whispered. "That's how it is. It's a rotten mess all the way around, but now that it's off my chest I feel better."

The Kiss

Not a word passed between them for almost two hundred yards. Finally they came to the Delta Sig house. He walked up the slight hill with her, up the stone steps to the porch. The water dripped over the edge of the roof and made a tiny rivulet all the way to the ground. At the door she turned around and faced him.

"I won't blame you if you suddenly decide you dislike me," she said. "But I want you to know I'm on your side. Todd, I think you're a swell kid, and I'm sorry I didn't get to know you better before all this happened."

She held out her hand. "Let's at least shake," she said with a small tired smile.

The light from a street lamp across the street dodged hesitatingly through the trees, sneaked in across the porch and sent one small beam across her face.

The pattern of light broke and reshaped itself as tree branches swayed back and forth in the rain.

Todd looked at her hand, then her face. She saw a slight, troubled frown cross her brow and one corner of his cheek twitch.

Then in a sudden, quick second his hands had gripped her shoulders and swung her toward him. One arm slid around her, crushing her to his chest, and then he kissed her, full on the mouth, hard but short. The pressure of his arm on her back was so tight she gasped slightly.

He released her then, almost as suddenly as he had taken her into his arms, and the physical reaction of his release was so great that she stumbled slightly. The first clear thought that flashed through her mind was that she had never before been kissed like that.

When she recovered she held one hand lightly to her lips and looked at him queerly. She didn't say a word. Purposely, she waited for him to speak first.

"I expected to run away after I did that," he said steadily. "I won't be so naive as to say I don't

Sound Sleeper

KIMBERLY, Idaho, Oct. 30. (AP) Blacksmith Bill Kilborn slept soundly while his shop, only 40 feet away, burned to the ground as firemen scurried over the roof. Kilborn snoozed on.

Eventually one of the firemen broke a window, crawled in, awakened Kilborn—and broke the bad news.

He was awoke by a fireman who came to his door. "The shop's on fire," he said. "You'd better get out now."

Kilborn, who had been sleeping peacefully, turned off the clock and stretched. He took a shower and dressed. Then he looked at her watch. Seven-forty-five. Just time to dash down to the kitchen for orange juice, coffee and a roll, leaving ten minutes to get to class.

Susan ran downstairs lightly as Alice Duncan came in off the porch with the morning paper. Alice unfolded it as she walked into the hall. She looked at the front page and let out a startled cry.

"What's wrong?" Susan inquired. "Prax's wife have triplets?"

Alice's face was white. "Sue," she gasped. "Phil Humphries—he's dead! He was found dead in the lab early this morning. Look!"

It was Susan in the face like a club. She snatched the paper quickly. Phil Humphries' picture stared out at her. There was a big, bold headline with it.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— A Convincing, Though Dry, Sea Used In Navy Picture

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — "The Navy Comes Through" is all adventure on the briny, and it's full of salt water, flying spray, and far horizons. It has roaring sea battles and all you'd expect from the title. Which is why, if you like it, you should give a nod to Tomie Thompson.

It was Tomie, lean, bespectacled veteran of the RKO miniature department, who launched this "navy" and kept it steaming — through seas no wetter than those usually found in Switzerland or on the studio's Culver City lot.

For Tomie's "navy" never saw the sea. It was land-locked by war, and the only storms it encountered were those marked Priorities and Scarcities.

That, of course, was where Tomie came in. Tomie and the sort of ingenuity that will keep the cameras grinding through this era of shortages.

The armed freighter which is scene of most of the action was built on a huge sound stage—built solidly and nailed to the floor. Ordinarily sound stage vessels are built on hydraulic jacks, to rock the boat, but these devices are expensive, they require a heap of metal and, as Tomie set out to prove, they aren't necessary.

The boat on which Pat O'Brien, Jane Wyatt and George Murphy see so much excitement plows through a dry ocean, but it rocks and rolls convincingly on the screen.

Tomie Thompson rigged up a Rube Goldbergish contraption—some glass, some chicken wire, some paint, some green leaves—and did all the "rocking" by remote control.

First he took a sheet of glass, painted cloud shapes on it, and set up a motor which would carry it across a track in front of an arc light at a "cloud" speed of three feet in 10 minutes. The light threw the "clouds" on a white backdrop behind the ship.

Another sheet of glass was painted black, and scratched with broad, rippling V's, wave-shaped A rough cylinder of chicken wire, containing the leaves, was placed between this glass and the arc light. While the one glass gave moving clouds, the other "projected" "waves"—which in turn were brought to rippling movement by the shadows of leaves churning the chicken wire. The whole contraption was rocked, back and forth and sideways, by the motor —and the good freighter braved the briny with no seasick sailors.

Tomie is proudest of his ship's gun. They "shopped" in all the junk yards for the parts. They used an old oil-well casing for the bore, covered the exterior with rounded wood. They found an old gear box—used in a bakery "bread line"—and an old ammonia valve for other parts.

The ship, and the gun, were converted during the filming to serve as a German ship and German gun, and there were other tricks.

But none of them, says Tomie, was done with mirrors.

AUSTIN, Oct. 30. — They won't all be war correspondents, but 24 University of Texas journalists got a good start on their careers this week when they were elected to honorary fraternities—Sigma Delta Chi for men and Theta Sigma Phi for women.

Both organizations select new members on the basis of their scholastic standing and professional interest. Nearly all of the pledges are active workers on the staff of the Daily Texan, student newspaper.

Blowing Fields Threatened After Peanut Harvest

Failure of many producers to plant small grains for cover immediately upon harvest of the peanut crop is creating a danger of blowing fields, O. P. Griffin, county agent, said Thursday.

In some localities fields had begun to drift where middle-busters were used to throw up the goobers and where no cover crop was planted to take advantage of the moisture. Griffin was fearful that some would engage in deep tilling to curb blowing. In the long run, he said, this might only aggravate the situation.

The harvest is revealing two lessons in peanut production, he said: 1) The advisability of inoculation of seed and 2) the need of heavier planting to insure uniform stands.

Seed inoculated with nitrogen producing bacteria before planting have shown from 30 to 100 per cent more production than uninoculated seed, said the county agent.

Had peanuts been planted sufficiently heavy for good stands, he believed that the average production would have been 80 bushels or more per acre. As it is, he estimated skippy stands would return about an average of 20 bushels to the acre for the county.

The third and most risky lesson of all in peanut production, according to Griffin, is the care of soil to prevent blowing. Declaring that farmers could not afford to experiment for three or four years, the agent pointed out that in that space of time a field might blow away and the farmer's capital investment damaged.

Around school different classes were getting off to a good start on the second six weeks. Mrs. Thurman Gentry's public speaking class is studying voice control. Mrs. Earl Brownriggs algebra students are reviewing. Mrs. Joe Rattiff's girl PE students are playing volley ball. Mrs. Mary Bumpass has her social relations classes at the high school for the past weeks, was sent to Lubbock where a long waiting list of trainees is available.

The equipment, Bill Dawes, supervisor, said, will be kept in this district in the event that a need arises here again to train workers who wish to take the courses.

Last classes in sheet metal and welding will finish up work Saturday and the equipment will be moved within the next week. Several of the welding instructors will follow the work to Lubbock. Dawes said while some of the sheet metal instructors plan to go into factory work.

Ambulance Driver Ration Signup Saves 10 Wounded Men Under Fire Procedure To Be Explained

CAIRO, Oct. 30 (AP)—The bravery of John Dun, 50, of Tucson, Ariz., a former editor of the Toledo (Ohio) Times, was the talk of the western desert today.

Dun, an American field service ambulance driver, saved ten wounded men under intense enemy fire and alone brought three ambulances to safety on the night of Oct. 23-24—the night the allied offensive began.

The commanding officer praised Dun for "bravery, unselfish service and devotion to duty."

The three ambulances were mired in the soft sand of the Qattara depression within sight of the enemy lines. Armored vehicles had tried to haul them out but could get no traction.

The enemy, meanwhile, had laid down an intense fire. Explosive bullets tore a gaping hole in the door beside Dun and machine gun fire riddled the vehicles.

Dun jumped to carry three patients to safety. As he lifted the first one, an explosive bullet hit the injured man in the stomach and killed him instantly.

Dun got the others to a sandbag shelter and lay there three hours with an Italian prisoner who crawled to the shelter and acted as Dun's orderly.

Finally, tanks arrived and towed the ambulance out by one with Dun steering each one and getting his patients to the hospital.

Registration will begin November 12 to last three days. All passenger car owners must have turned in all extra tires except one spare, to qualify for a ration book. The Railway Express office is receiving station for the government.

Following the meeting, the public will be notified as to where and when they may receive application blanks to be filled out and presented for ration books.

Distribution Of Rat Poison Heavy Here

More than 800 poisoned baits for rats and mice were distributed through city school students this afternoon to be set out tonight in homes as the final move in a week-long campaign to rid the city of the typhus fever carriers which have infested West Texas in recent months.

City health department officials and Henry Piuenncke, supervising the drive through the state extension service, worked late at the city hall last night preparing the baits—308 for rats and 468 for mice. The figure did not include those orders taken at the high school of the estimated 100 ordered by negro and Mexican families through Supt. W. C. Blankenship.

At first scheduled to speak this afternoon at the high school on a program originally slated for broadcast, Piuenncke was forced to cancel the address to continue his supervision downtown, where additional orders for poison had been received. Excellent results were being accomplished in the business district, and city officials stated Piuenncke was well pleased with the outcome.

New Ruling On Air Packages In Effect

The first air-mail package inspected by postoffice clerks here Thursday, in accordance with a new postal regulation, turned out to be ineligible for handling by air.

It contained a cigar lighter and lighting fluid, the latter conflicting with the new ruling which prescribes that clerks shall see that "no inflammable, explosive or other unmarketable matter is enclosed."

Postmaster Nat Shick said Friday that no air-mail packages (other than letters in their ordinary and usual form and official mail) may be accepted for transmission by air mail unless it bears on the address side the name and address of the sender together with the endorsement: "Postmaster: This package may be opened for postal inspection, if necessary."

The regulation prescribes that it shall be necessary for all air mail packages to be inspected, in the presence of two postal clerks if the sender is not available or known. Shick advised that air mail parcels be brought to the postoffice for inspection before sealing. Endorsed by clerks, the package will then not be disturbed.

Air mail packages not containing the endorsement will be held if the sender can be reached quickly to make the endorsement. If he is unknown or not available, the package will be transmitted by surface mail.

Navy Not Taking Vital Workers

The U. S. Navy, through its recruiting stations, is taking cognizance of a labor pinch in crucial occupations.

S. L. Cooke, recruiter in charge of the local station, said that his office had been instructed not to enlist men above 18 years of age if they held or were entitled to critical occupation classifications.

"Recruiting stations will refrain from recruiting or accepting for voluntary enlistment every man who does not first present a certificate from his local board stating that he is not in class 2-A, 2-B, or 2-C, or is entitled to such classification by reason of being an essential dairy, livestock, or poultry worker," said the order, which added: "This applies to all men above 18 years of age."

Cooke announced acceptance of one man Thursday. He was Johnny Wendell Britton, Ackerly, for V-8, apprentice seaman.
