Singer Tries Bull Ring Life

By JACK BUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Jan Welles, a red-headed, blues-singing beauty from Pittsburgh, is forsaking night clubs for the bullrings of Mexico. Jan has been singing for 10 years, and several months ago was an Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout show winner. She sang on Godfrey's shows for three weeks, then returned to night club work. But a seven-year urge to become a bullfighter got the best of her when Carlos Arruza, considered by many as one of the world's all-time top bullfighters, offered to train and back her in her career. She will join Bette Ford, also of Pennsylvania, and Pat McCormack of Texas in the field of American girls in this dangerous sport. Jan is training six hours a day now, and hopes to be ready for a public premiere in a few months. She gets up at 5:30 a.m. daily, works out in the Plaza Mexico (the world's largest bull-ring) and later plays jai alai to strengthen her right arm to handle the sword. She also practices with small bulls at Arruza's ranch near the capital, and hopes to move there for daily workouts. Arruza is now retired, but fights occasionally. Jan, a trim 35-24-36, has a big advantage: she's used to appearing before crowds. Several American hopefuls have done well in practice, but have folded before the crowds of 60,000 to 70,000 that turn out for the big fights. "This is going to be news to my parents," she said, "and also to Mr. Godfrey—I mentioned it to him, but he thought I was joking." Jan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Walls—her real name is June Walls—who live in Pittsburgh, Pa. Jan has appeared in many of the top U. S. night clubs, and in Canada, Cuba, Haiti and Mexico. She has made several records for Unique, including "Please Don't Go" to which she wrote the lyrics. She has a new contract with Mercury records, and will cut her first song after she stabs her first bull. The lives in an apartment with June Warren, friend and secretary, who hails from Atlantic City, N. J. June handles the detail work while Jan handles the capework. The Stardust Girl—Godfrey's name for her—is eager for her first fight and has received encouragement from Bette and Pat. "I want to make it a career," Jan says. "I've had an exciting life, but what could be more exciting than this?" She says that singing and bullfighting are not as different as they first appear, because: "The ultimate reward for the performer is applause. I like applause." DRIVE SAFELY—An accident is usually the only winner in the race against time.

Long Illness Is Fatal to Father Of Mrs. Thweatt

Funeral services for James Richard Hagan, 86, father of Mrs. S. N. Thweatt of the Garcia community, were conducted Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Bula, Tex. Mr. Hagan died at his home, 501 E. Ave., in Levelland after a six-year illness. A native of Union, Miss., Mr. Hagan was born March 4, 1870. He and Miss Manda King of Hickory, Miss., were married on Jan. 29, 1903. His wife preceded him in death on Sept. 20, 1949. The deceased moved with his wife and children to Texas in 1920. He lived with his family at Bula until his retirement from farming in 1945. He and Mrs. Hagan moved to Levelland in that year. Survivors are two daughters, Miss Mattie Lou Hagan of Levelland and Mrs. Thweatt of Hereford; five sons—W. H. Hagan of Stinnett, S. C. Hagan of Monahan, A. P. Hagan of Levelland, Robert Hagan and Carl Hagan, both of Lubbock; two grandchildren, three great grandchildren, a host of nieces and nephews.

Teachers' Group to Meet Monday; Work Scheduled

Mrs. Grace Scott of Tulla will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers Assn. in the study hall at the high school Monday evening at 7. Mrs. Scott is president of District IX, Texas State Teachers Assn. Her subject tomorrow night will be "Accomplishments of the Classroom Teachers Assn." At the executive committee meeting of TCTA held in the principal's office Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Merlin Kaul, president, announced the appointment of committees for the year's work. Building representatives are Mrs. Elizabeth Bonesio, Alkman; Mrs. Leroy Aven, Shirley; Stanton Junior High School, Mrs. C. O. Brown; Mrs. Jim Bookout, Central; and Miss Sadye Rigler, high school. Joe Smith, vice president, heads the program committee. Serving on the membership committee are: Charles Duvall, Claude McDougal, Robert Thompson, Mrs. Kent Snare and Mrs. Alice Christman. Legislation and welfare will be handled by James Garner, Mrs. Joel Hodges, Mrs. Jim Whelan, Mrs. Don Moore and Mrs. Jim Wiman. Mrs. Claude McDougal heads the professional committee, and serving with her are Mrs. J. C. Reese, Mrs. George Warner, Miss Ethel Womble, Mrs. Inez Welch, and J. C. Reese. The members of the Public Relations Committee are Mrs. Lottie Wertenberger, Mrs. Ruby Crawford, J. E. Moad, Ray Hartman, Mrs. Mary Duvall, Mrs. Mozelle Neill, Mrs. Ellen Bryant, and Mrs. Luella Smith. The social committee includes Mrs. Margaret Durham, Mrs. Earl Holt, Mrs. Robert Sparks, Mrs. Jim Garner, and Mrs. Virgil Walker. Mrs. Elmer Patterson and Mrs. Roy Calvert are working on the publicity committee. Mrs. Kaul has extended an invitation to attend Monday's meeting to both teachers and others who are interested, whether or not they belong to TCTA.

The sharp-shooting of Tommy Newman, Ralph Smith, Donnie Gaines, and Milton Hoff threatened to make the contest a complete rout. But it was closer than statistics and the score indicate. The Herd stayed right with them for the first quarter and a brief part of the second quarter. Midway in the second stanza the Blackhaws caught fire and doused the basket with a flood of field goals.

The cooperation of similar organizations in neighboring towns and cities. If business concerns in these other communities are closed on Veterans' Day, the businesses of Hereford will also close, their statement reads. Committee Members—Members of the holiday committee and the businesses represented were as follows: Dennis Lomas, auto parts; Clyde Cave, variety stores; Neil Cooper, grocery stores; Kenneth Coker, drug stores; Dub Reeves, men's stores; Mrs. Arthur Thompson, ladies' stores; Lloyd Widdfield, department stores; Mutt Wheeler, service stations; Al Yeager, lumber yards; Don Zimmerman, hardware stores; Raymond White, implement dealers; Jimmy Roberts, furniture stores.

do to keep the lead under 20 points. The sharp-shooting of Tommy Newman, Ralph Smith, Donnie Gaines, and Milton Hoff threatened to make the contest a complete rout. But it was closer than statistics and the score indicate. The Herd stayed right with them for the first quarter and a brief part of the second quarter. Midway in the second stanza the Blackhaws caught fire and doused the basket with a flood of field goals. After that the Whitefaces never had much of a chance to catch up. Phillips maintained a steady 15 or 20 margin throughout the remainder of the game. Hereford baffled the Hawks at the start of the game with a full-court zone press. It was the same defense used quite successfully by Wayne Stark's fine 1954 team. Hereford built a 5-0 lead before the Hawks scratched. Coming out of their coma, the Blackhaws gained an 8-7 lead, and it stayed nip-and-tuck for the rest of the first quarter. Phillips Pulls Ahead—Phillips came out of top, 23-19, at the first quarter's end then struck with deadliness. They matched each Hereford field goal with two or three of their own. At intermission they led by 47-29. The Blackhaws didn't have any trouble maintaining their lead throughout the remainder of the contest. They led, 68-45, at the end of the third quarter. Phillips gained more rebounds than the Whitefaces, but their advantage of the boards wasn't like the one when they defeated the Herd, 69-53, in the finals of the Hereford Tournament. Scoring Duel—David Benefield of Phillips and Hereford's Fred Lookingbill engaged in a scoring duel with neither coming out victorious. Both players scored 22 points to lead both teams in scoring. Bill Dufur of the Whitefaces was next with 19 points. For Phillips Tommy Newman had 14, Donnie Gaines counted 13, and Milton Hoff tossed in 18 markers. Benefield was the game's leading rebounder, but Terry Higgins did a creditable job of guarding him despite his 22-point output. Lookingbill was uncanny from outside with his jump shot, while Dufur performed well under the basket. Jim Curtsinger fouled late in the third quarter, handicapping the Whitefaces on the boards. It was the first conference game for both teams.

HONOR JACKIE WELTY

Jackie Welty was honored on her ninth birthday Tuesday afternoon with a surprise party by her mother. After games and the opening of the birthday gifts, refreshments were served.

Attending the party were Sidney Bayne, Sue Jane Roland, Lois Bosley, Marilyn Owens, Marsha Robinson, Patty Roach, Vickie Inman, Penny Jones, Kaye Pepper, Toni Elmore, Sandie Fields, Terry Roberts, Lora Lee Jones and Sylvia Phipps.

Gas lights were used for the streets of London as early as 1807.

Hereford Cagers Favored to Win Tuesday Night

Hereford's Whitefaces meet Littlefield at Littlefield on Tuesday in the Whitefaces' second conference encounter.

The Whitefaces will be heavy favorites to even up their conference record after losing to kingpin Phillips in their first conference game Friday at Phillips. The loss set Hereford's season record at 10 wins and five losses.

Littlefield hasn't been having a good year. They lost to Hereford previously in the Hereford Tournament by a score of 60-20. Then Dumas had a field day, winning, 78-17. After that Littlefield forfeited to Olton.

"Just because we lost to Phillips, I haven't given up," Coach Cuby Kitchens said Friday night. "We got some bad breaks and they were hot. Right now we're not going to think about anything but the next game."

The Whitefaces meet Dumas on Friday in Whiteface Gymnasium.

VA Requirements For Disability Treatment Eased

Paper work will be cut for veteran - patients with service-connected disabilities that require long term outpatient treatment, and for the "home town" doctors who treat them under Veterans Administration authorization. The new system of sharply reduced billings and forms went into effect Jan. 1, 1957, in most parts of the country.

Throughout the nation, about 40,000 doctors and 637,000 veterans are participating in the program. Changes include:

Doctors caring for selected chronic patients will receive authorization from VA to continue treatment for periods up to one year instead of having to submit a monthly request to continue treatment. Doctors may submit reports to VA on medical condition of patients at the end of three months instead of each month as at present. Also, they may submit monthly bills to the VA Regional Office on the doctor's letterhead stationery instead of on VA forms.

Certain veterans in the program who must travel to cities near their homes for treatment will receive travel authorization to cover the entire period of monthly authorizations.

Veterans affected are those already receiving home town treatment for chronic service - connected disabilities such as diabetes, chest conditions, gastro-intestinal and vascular diseases, and neurological conditions.

Mrs. Merlin Kaul Loses Her Father

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul of the Westway Community returned to Hereford on Sunday, Jan. 6, after a trip to Hiawatha, Kan., where they attended funeral services for her father, Walter Stoner, 72.

Mr. Stoner had been ill for several months and died at Hiawatha on Dec. 31. The final rites were conducted there on Jan. 3 with burial at Sabetha, Kan.

The Kauls were accompanied by their sons, Larry and Walter Kaul and by her niece Wanda Moll of Oklahoma City. The boys returned to their studies at Oklahoma A&M as their parents were en route home.

Survivors of Mr. Stoner include his wife; two daughters Mrs. Kaul of Hereford and Mrs. Lila Moll of St. Joseph, Mo.; two sons, Harold Stoner of Hiawatha and Oren Stoner of Coffeyville, Kan.

New Instant Pattern Boom To Sewing

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Sewing is getting easier all the time.

The newest wrinkle on the home sewing scene is an "instant" pattern, in which all the pattern pieces are printed on a single sheet of tissue paper. You pin the entire sheet of paper to the fabric and cut out. There's no danger of losing a tiny facing piece, there's no fuss about arranging pattern pieces; there's no fumbling with dozens of pins.

One of the new patterns is for an "instant" apron, big enough to make a practical kitchen cover-up designed so that it opens flat for ironing. The pattern is most effective in a border print fabric, with the border forming a band of bright contrast across the hem and the bib. The apron buttons on each shoulder, ties in back and has a button tab in front.

Local sewing center experts point out that this apron requires no hand sewing. The pattern is arranged so that the selvege forms the hem; the other edges may be finished with the aid of that remarkable attachment, the multi-slotted binder. This little gadget folds and stitches bias binding in one operation, and will even stitch on rickrack at the same time. A loop of binding forms the buttonholes on the shoulders; the buttonholes on the front tab may be made with the buttonhole attachment.

Even the gay red tomato on the pocket may be applied by machine. A transfer is included in the pattern. Remember to leave an inch margin around the tomato when you cut it out; then work around the edge with a narrow birthday greetings. "I hung up and breathed a sigh of relief," she typed. "I became aware that in writing of others I had never put myself in their position before, but that I would from now on."

Thus Diane's story had a happy ending.

INSTANT APRON—Made with new short-cut pattern, it can be stitched up in less than an hour.

satin stitch, trim close to the line of stitching and work features and legs with a black satin stitch.

When washday comes, toss the apron into soap or detergent suds in the washing machine. After a good sudsing you can even skip the ironing if you've been clever enough to pick one of the new no-iron cottons — just smooth out the wrinkles and hang to drip dry.

Since this is such an easy apron to make, it's a good idea to make three at a time — one to wear, one to wash and one to keep handy for emergencies.

The "instant" apron described is made with McCall Pattern 2104.

Salk Vaccine's Use Urged by Dr. Wills

The need for both young people and adults to take advantage of the protection afforded them through the Salk Polio vaccine was stressed by Dr. R. R. Wills in a speech to Hereford High School students Wednesday morning. The assembly was sponsored by the high school polio organization with Bob Veigel acting as master of ceremonies.

"I am happy about Salk vaccine, but I am very unhappy about its reception," Dr. Wills declared. He revealed that with supplies of the vaccine more than adequate less than 10 per cent of the nation's people under 20 have been immunized, while the figure for those over 20 runs much lower than that.

"This is even more discouraging in the face of the fact that the vaccine has been proved almost 100 per cent effective," he said. Dr. Wills pointed out that Polio is more often fatal in adults than in children, while more children are crippled by the disease than adults. He made a plea to the young people not only to see that they received the shots themselves but to insist that other members of their families, including their parents, be immunized.

"Polio can become as obsolete as typhoid fever," he asserted, "and it's up to the young people to lead the way." Mrs. Tom Robinson, the county chairman for the March of Dimes, spoke briefly urging the completion of the fight against the dread disease.

Sue Kirby announced that a contest between the home rooms at the school would begin on Thursday and continue for one week. The room collecting the largest sum, per capita, for the March of Dimes will be allowed to spend one activity period at the Corral.

Girl Reports NewsonHard Assignment

SEATTLE (AP) — "I sat down to finish the story, after living every minute of it."

Thus 18-year-old Diane Hetherington, reporter for the North Central Outlook, Seattle community newspaper, wrote feelingly to end probably her hardest assignment. It was her birthday. Early in the day, with deadline only a few hours away, Diane got word that her father was storm-stranded, a-bout out of food with winter near, with a telephone cable-laying crew on lonely Cape Scott at the tip of northern Vancouver Island. One man, unidentified, had suffered a heart attack.

She was instructed to write the story. She wrote first how a telephone call at breakfast she thought would be congratulations from a friend told of her father's plight instead.

"I was kind of numbed. . . But our family motto is, 'Don't worry until father says there's something to worry about,' and he hadn't told us to worry."

Later, before her deadline, word was relayed that her father had been rescued, although suffering from a heart seizure. He sent her Who'll Be Flying Around the Town?

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By PARDY LINER

Now I'm not saying that the women get all the credit, mind you. Hap Cavness, Bill Dameron and the other committeemen worked pretty darned hard to sell the airport proposition. But no one can deny that the active interest shown by the fair sex (once they were encouraged) helped the ballots to tally out in the greatest number for any city election . . . and helped toward the margin that finally decided the issue once and for all.

The airport will be a great boon to the prosperity and growth in business and industry, no doubt. The various and sundry beneficial aspects have already been expounded. My brain may be peculiar (what with being female and all), but right now it dwells along lines different from the value of an airport to the community.

Conversational Gambit

I'll be eager to see who'll be among the first to buy their own planes; there are bound to be some now that we're assured of the airport. Of course this wasn't a selling-point for the issue, nor was it a factor worth consideration by the whole town. However, the increase in private ownerships of small aircraft will be a natural result of building a well-equipped his house during a holiday get-together. And Jay not only took the joke good-naturedly but decided to carry the sport further . . . he took the new lady friend to a dance on New Year's Eve. Needless to say, he and his "date" attracted a bit of attention. Did I say a bit of attention? . . . It was hysterical!

Enjoy Those "Habits"

Concerning ourselves again with New Year's resolutions: Enough has been said (and written) by now, but anyone who makes resolutions or has qualms if he doesn't, should read Phyllis McGinley's article in the January issue of the Woman's Home Companion. It's an essay heartening to my ole soul and probably yours too.

The writer encourages us not to be so concerned about our trivial, bad habits when they may well be all that stand between us and frenzy. Instead of giving them up, we should savor our luxurious bad habits with more contentment. At the same time, we could devote the will-power we'd have spent trying to quit this or that to the betterment of other things . . . such as keeping the cookie jar filled, admiring hubby's jokes, telephoning lonely friends, etc. Do read the article — it's guaranteed to boost the morale.

TV Slays Magazines

And speaking of the Woman's Home Companion, I feel rather sad over the impending discontinuance of its publication, along with that of Collier's. A third product of the Crowell-Collier Publishing Co., American Magazine, ceased to appear on magazine stands several months ago.

The demise of this great publish-airport, and more people than you would guess have a hankering to fly their own planes.

Who knows, in a few years the coffeetime conversation may include a little boasting about the first solo flight, record of flying-hours, or that latest quicky-flight to here, there or somewhere. And I'll bet there'll be a number of women who will be counted among the amateur pilots around here.

Brick Buster

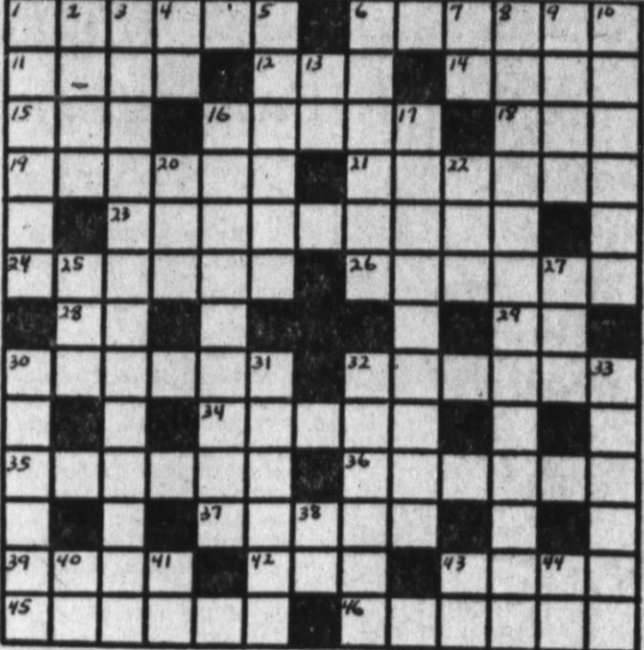

Flying may be just the thing for Margaret London. At least, up in the sky there aren't any brick pillars to get in the way, as did the one in front of Nicky and Bill Dameron's house. (True to the spirit of the woman driver, Margaret did an A-1 demolishing job on that brick post and even managed, as part of the feat, to scatter the bricks all over the yard.)

"Practical" Joke

To change the subject: did you hear about the stunt pulled on Jay Barnett? 'Twas one of the many during wife Tessie's sojourn to Trinidad. But this one in particular had to do with a manikin dressed in a nightgown and planted in the bedroom (and where else but in the bed!)

A surprised Jay found the inanimate but comely lady when he was showing some friends through

Household Tips

Fill fluted lemon cups with tartar sauce and garnish with capers; serve with breaded shrimp or scallops.

You can count on a nine-ounce package of condensed mince-meat yielding about two cups after it is prepared according to package directions.

Make up some hominy grits then pour them into a pan so they are about an inch deep; chill. Cut in squares, dip in flour and fry until golden brown. Serve with crisp bacon and currant jelly.

Like cooked dried fruit? Then try teaming apricots, figs and pears in a compote.

Sunday brunch: pork chops and apple rings accompanied by corn-bread and lots of hot coffee. Nice to linger over with company!

Try basting a chicken you are roasting with cooking sherry.

Serving fried oysters for lunch? Allow six to a serving.

Marinate scallops in lemon juice for about an hour before broiling on skewers. Alternate the scallops with mushroom caps; baste with butter during the cooking.

Pretty granish: thin round slices of carrot, with a whole clove in the center of each, for flower petals. Make stems of strips of green pepper or scallion (Green onion) tops.

FACULTY FETES SCHOOL BOARD WITH DINNER AND GAME NIGHT

By JUDY PINNELL

Don Jordan Morgan, son of Sgt. and Mrs. James Morgan, arrived in Chinon, France, on Dec. 29. His birth weight was 8 lbs.

There is a shortage of coal in France, so the Morgans had asked Santa to bring them a ton of coal which he delivered safely.

Bountiful Spread

A menu of ham with all the trimmings, topped off with apple pie, was served to the Adrian School Board members and their wives. The faculty honored them with a dinner Monday night at the school cafeteria. Everyone enjoyed charades and other games after the meal.

Honorees were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Founds, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fortenberry, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Pinnell and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leslie.

They Cooked It

Hosts for the dinner were Mrs. Ferris Kromer, Mrs. Annie Vickrey, Mrs. Hazel Chilton, Coach and Mrs. Bessie Shipp, Coach and Mrs. Joe Cullender, Mrs. Clyde Williams and Supt. and Mrs. A. P. Jones.

John Proctor returned home this week. He is reported to be recovering satisfactorily from pneumonia.

Skating and Picnic

Monday evening the Intermediate Department of the M.Y.F. was entertained with a skating party in Amarillo. They enjoyed a picnic lunch at the park after skating. Their sponsors, Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams and Mrs. Leland Burns accompanied the group. Attending were Mariene Williams, Tommy Perrin, Terry Creitz, Twilla Story, Paula Creitz, Vickie and Marsha Burns and Dicky and ing firm is only one of the more tragic results brought about by television (the closing of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus was another). The high cost of TV advertising cut into commercial budgets to the extent that the little was left to spend on magazine advertising.

I suppose every Age has experienced similar happenings. . . As automobiles became more popular, the livery stables were forced to close and so forth. It's all a part of progress, I know. I just have a twinge of remorse for these things I have long cherished (such as a few pet magazines and the fabulous Ringling circus) that are passing out of existence.

Oh my! Before I get too carried away, I'd better go pick up those tickets I reserved for the Rubinfon concert. I've heard him before, and I wouldn't miss it for anything!

MRS. NORMAN MESSICK (Angel Photo)

Thomas-Messick Vows Read In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony read at 7:30 Saturday evening in the Avenue Baptist Church, Miss Pearl Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas, became the bride of Norman Messick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Messick of Spring-er, N. M.

Rev. Grady Allison performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of close friends and relatives before an altar background of baskets of pink carnations and seven branched candelabra holding pink tapers.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Grady Allison who played a concert of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony, and accompanied Harlon Reece, student at Wayland College, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Whither Thou Goest." Mrs. Allison also played the traditional wedding marches.

Attendants

Mrs. Dale Barkley attended her sister as matron of honor and Wanda and Vanda Pitts were bridesmaids. All three attendants wore similarly fashioned dresses of pale pink net and lace over taffeta, made with strapless bodices and waltz length bouffant skirts. They carried hand bouquets of white carnations tied with pink ribbon.

The bride, whose father gave her in marriage, chose to wear the wedding gown worn by her sister, Mrs. Dale Barkley. The gown was of Chantilly lace and bridal satin designed with fitted bodice and long sleeves coming to petal points at the hands. Tiers of nylon formed panel effect in the front of the full ballerina length lace skirt, worn over hoops to accentuate the fullness. Her scalloped veil of illusion fell to fingertip length from a satin head band and her only ornaments were pearl earrings, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridal bouquet was fashioned of pink sweetheart rosebuds and carried on a white Bible.

Glenn O. Edwards was best man and ushers were Dale Barkley and Bill Stone of Clovis, N. M.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left on a short honeymoon trip. The bride traveled in a light gray tulle suit with white accessories. She wore the rosebud corsage detached from the wedding bouquet. Upon their return, they will make their home in Hereford.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and is presently employed in the Deaf Smith County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation offices.

Mr. Messick is a graduate of New Mexico A&M College at Las Cruces, and did graduate work at the University of Florida. He served two years with the armed forces and is currently employed with the Plains Fertilizer Company in Hereford.

Mrs. Jackson Is Hostess to Child Study Club Meet

Mrs. Clinton Jackson served as hostess for the Child Study Club Thursday evening at a meeting held in the home of her sister, Mrs. Ben Conklin.

A short business session was held with Mrs. Marvin Knox named to serve as treasurer to fill a vacancy. The date of the next meeting was changed from Jan. 24 to Jan. 22 to avoid conflicting with the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet date.

The second part of the course of study for the year was begun with the study of Family Life in Other Lands.

Mrs. Clinton Jackson told of the American Indian's life, telling how the tribal chief must be approved by the president of the United States, and how he governs his people. She stated that Oklahoma has more than twice as many Indians as any other state with Ar-

Dawn Music Club Discusses Modern Music, Composers

Contemporary music was the theme of the program when members of the Dawn Music Club met in the home of Mrs. H. H. Miller Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Miller, president, presided and served as leader of the program, giving something of the life and works of contemporary composers. Those mentioned were Julian Sebelius of Finland who was inspired by patriotic ardor; Richard Strauss whose flair for humor and satire succeeded in producing some masterpieces; Igor Stravinsky of St. Petersburg; Maurice Joseph Road who created music from the heart; Serge Prokofiev of Southern Russia; Aaron Copland of Brooklyn; George Gershwin, also of Brooklyn who gave America the best of folk music.

Musical selections on the program were "Prelude in G Minor" and "Nocturne in E. Flat" played by Phyllis Wimberley. The hymn of the month, "Lead on O King Eternal," was sung by the entire group.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames N. R. Miller, Zed Stewart, H. V. McCabe, Ray Polan, Melvin May, Gayle Neal, Ray Johnson, Carl Wimberley, Ted Richardson, a guest, Phyllis Wimberley, and the hostess.

LA PLATA STUDY CLUB VOTES TO DIVIDE HOBBY SHOW FUND

Mrs. Alby Cockrell was welcomed as a new member of the La Plata Study Club when a meeting of the club was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Elmer Patterson.

During the business session the members voted to divide the proceeds of their Hobby Show project three ways. A part will be sent to CARE, part to go toward furnishings of the new Deaf Smith County Hospital children's wing, and a part will be given to the exchange student in Hereford High School.

Mrs. Leroy Aven presented the program for the evening dealing with "Our Most Cherished Possessions," taking "A New Look at Today's Children."

Mrs. Aven spoke on the exceptional child and the type of education needed, telling how this type of education was not started until 1946 and traced the reason for previous lack of teachers and even intolerance. She told of different types of education to fit the needs of exceptional children, particularly that of speech therapy, her own field of teaching.

She told how to recognize some of the symptoms and urged that everything be done locally to curb encephalitis through the fight against the mosquito.

Those present were Mesdames John Aiken, F. L. Alexander, Leroy Aven, Johnny Blocker, Jay Boston, Homer Brumley, J. R. Johnson, Claude McDougall, Ansel McDowell, Charles Newell, Frank Prowell, A. J. Schroeter, T. E. Seigler Jr., Urline Streu, Raymond White, Liston Wilson, Louis Woodford, Chris Clark and the hostess.

Importance of Responsibility Is Stressed in Young Mothers Study

Young Mothers Study Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Kenneth Weaver when members answered roll call with "My child's first household assignment."

The program on "Developing Responsibility in Children" was presented by Mrs. Harold Banks who said in part: "Children are not born responsible, they must be taught how to cooperate, how to accept their share, consideration for others and good manners."

In conclusion she stated, "A responsible person essentially cares about and respects himself and others, wants to do his part, has a sense of personal worth and self satisfaction, does not expect something for nothing, and is a good worker, mate and parent. Young

LAE Study Club Continues World Religion Course

Continuing the course of study outlined in 1956-57 year books on "The World's Great Religions," members of L.A.E. Study Club heard the Islam Religion discussed Tuesday afternoon at a regular meeting held in the home of Mrs. B. A. Reddell.

In answer to roll call, members gave their own particular ways of getting rid of worries and taking their minds off themselves.

Mrs. Gordon Elliott and Mrs. George Suggs presented the program telling how Mohammedism, mother of all religions, led the way for Islam, which adopted his belief in one God and acclaimed Mohammed as a prophet of God.

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be a guest day affair on Jan. 22 in the home of Mrs. Emmett Hale.

Members present were Mesdames C. E. Beauford, Gordon Elliott, Altus Higgins, Boyd Knox, Jim Loving, T. W. Roberson, George Suggs, Joe Johnson, Emmett Hale, Leroy Suttle and the hostess.

OES Honors Past Officers Tuesday

Mesdames Glenn Walsler, Virginia Patton, Della Walsler and Ethel Curry served as hostesses for the social hour which followed the regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star held at the Masonic Hall Tuesday night.

A recognition service was held for John Patton, past worthy patron, and Mrs. Nell Culpenner, the past worthy matron, king and queen for the night.

Mrs. Erma Panner was presented a farewell gift from the O.E.S. in appreciation of her work. She plans to move soon to Roswell, N. M., where her husband has headquarters as salesman for the El Paso Hotel Supply Company.

La Madre Mia Is Entertained by Mrs. Don Shipley

"By all means help your child to good speech," said Mrs. R. V. Hale, in a program presented for the La Madre Mia Study Club in the home of Mrs. Donald Shipley Tuesday evening. Mrs. John Hampton served as cohostess.

"Children do not inherit good or poor speech — they have to learn their speech from others," Mrs. Hale continued and listed four points to aid parents in helping their children to good speech: Talk to the child from crib age. Be sure to use simple words and very short sentences. Get the child's attention before speaking, he learns by watching your lips. Be sure to tell familiar stories, for children learn by hearing things over and over. She concluded her program by remarking "Parents who try to follow these rules will usually have children who have good speech."

New Year's resolutions were given in answer to roll call by members present. Those included were Mesdames R. V. Hale, John Hampton, Ted Hardwick, Dean Herring, Cuby Kitchens, Bobby Owen, Troy Riddle, Eugene Sparks, Glenn Willson, John Poindexter, Travis Hendrick and the hostess.

Importance of Responsibility Is Stressed in Young Mothers Study

Young Mothers Study Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Kenneth Weaver when members answered roll call with "My child's first household assignment."

The program on "Developing Responsibility in Children" was presented by Mrs. Harold Banks who said in part: "Children are not born responsible, they must be taught how to cooperate, how to accept their share, consideration for others and good manners."

In conclusion she stated, "A responsible person essentially cares about and respects himself and others, wants to do his part, has a sense of personal worth and self satisfaction, does not expect something for nothing, and is a good worker, mate and parent. Young

LAE Study Club Continues World Religion Course

Continuing the course of study outlined in 1956-57 year books on "The World's Great Religions," members of L.A.E. Study Club heard the Islam Religion discussed Tuesday afternoon at a regular meeting held in the home of Mrs. B. A. Reddell.

In answer to roll call, members gave their own particular ways of getting rid of worries and taking their minds off themselves.

Mrs. Gordon Elliott and Mrs. George Suggs presented the program telling how Mohammedism, mother of all religions, led the way for Islam, which adopted his belief in one God and acclaimed Mohammed as a prophet of God.

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be a guest day affair on Jan. 22 in the home of Mrs. Emmett Hale.

Members present were Mesdames C. E. Beauford, Gordon Elliott, Altus Higgins, Boyd Knox, Jim Loving, T. W. Roberson, George Suggs, Joe Johnson, Emmett Hale, Leroy Suttle and the hostess.

OES Honors Past Officers Tuesday

Mesdames Glenn Walsler, Virginia Patton, Della Walsler and Ethel Curry served as hostesses for the social hour which followed the regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star held at the Masonic Hall Tuesday night.

A recognition service was held for John Patton, past worthy patron, and Mrs. Nell Culpenner, the past worthy matron, king and queen for the night.

Mrs. Erma Panner was presented a farewell gift from the O.E.S. in appreciation of her work. She plans to move soon to Roswell, N. M., where her husband has headquarters as salesman for the El Paso Hotel Supply Company.

New Officers Are Elected to Lead Lone Star Club

New officers were elected at the first meeting of the New Year held by members of the Lone Star Study Club Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. G. W. Newsom serving as hostess in her home. Mrs. W. C. Meharg was assistant hostess.

Those chosen were Mrs. C. D. Kelton, president; Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr., vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Womble, recording secretary; Mrs. Vivian Major, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. W. Lookingbill, treasurer; Mrs. Coy Phillips, parliamentarian.

Following the business session, Mrs. Coy Phillips gave an appropriate devotional followed by a program on "Things That Are Being Done for the Mentally Ill."

She told of new medicines that are now being used to relieve tensions and of shock treatments that have been of great value in recent years. She also told of many instances where brain surgery has been effective in aiding the mentally ill.

"European countries are ahead of the United States in discovering new medicines, and our own state has been slow to authorize better housing and better care," she said. "Just now Texas has awakened to her responsibilities and definite steps are being taken to help the mentally ill, most of whom could

Epiphany Service Held by WSCS and Wesleyan Guild

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church and the Wesleyan Service Guild held a joint traditional Epiphany observance in Fellowship Hall Wednesday evening.

Epiphany or Twelfth night is the feast celebrated on Jan. 6 in commemoration of the visit of the Wise Men and the first manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles.

The affair was in the form of a salad supper with decorated tables arranged for 40 guests. New members coming into the organizations during 1956 were honor guests.

Highlight of the program was a review of the book "The Other Wise Man," by Henry Van Dyke, given by Mrs. Craig Johnson. Others on the program were Mesdames W. J. Stanford, Gid Brown, Byron Durham and Miss Colleen Brown.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Ross and introduction of new members was made by Mrs. Grant Hanna, president of WSCS, and Mrs. Burdine Huff, president of the Guild.

Club Women Asked To Join 'Home Show' Participation

Mrs. P. B. Sowell, president of the Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs, urges clubwomen to watch the "Monday Morning Voice of General Federation of Women's Clubs," new GFWC participation feature of Arlene Francis' NBC-TV Home Show, KGNC-TV Channel 4, at 9 a.m.

The federation feature is a part of every Monday morning's Home Show, and once a month, on first Wednesdays, Miss Francis will present a special, full length feature covering some aspect of the General Federation's work.

Mrs. A. J. House of Yoakum, TFWC president, has asked Texas clubwomen to send answers to the question "Do you favor establishment of a permanent U.N. police force?" to GFWC president, Mrs.

R.I.C. Prout at General Federation headquarters, 1734 N. St., Washington.

How It Works

Responses from members of federated clubs throughout the United States have been used in compiling a nationwide report of clubwomen's opinions which will be given on tomorrow's bulletin of the GFWC section of the Home Hour. Individual club members are requested to watch the Home Shows regularly so they may profit from the new adventure in collaboration between the National Broadcasting Company and the federated women's clubs.

Individual club members are also asked to write to NBC in New York, telling their opinions of the

Golden Wedding Anniversary Today for the P. M. Housers

When Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Houser celebrate their golden wedding anniversary this afternoon at an open house given in their home on Harrison Highway, they will be recalling many happy occasions that marked the half century.

The couple was married in Dallas on Jan. 13, 1907, and then boarded a train for the 30-mile trip to Royse City where he had a horse and buggy waiting for the journey to his farm.

But their story dates back to a picnic both attended. "I was only 15 then, and we went together 3 years afterward, but there was never anyone else for me after we really got acquainted," Mrs. Houser recalls. "I had seen him before the picnic and had been dating other boys. Then I was introduced to him and that's the way it started."

Following the marriage the couple lived in Collin County until 1925 when they moved to Deaf Smith County on their eighteenth wedding anniversary. They settled then in the Westway community. In 1943 they moved to their present home on Harrison Highway.

At first they felt like they had come to the jumping off place and now they wonder if they wouldn't have jumped off if there had been a place to jump.

"I never saw so much bare land" she commented and those dust storms were really something, and if we had it to do over again, I doubt if we would change things. We raised cotton in Collin County and here it was wheat — so there

Jaycee-Ettes to Attend Amarillo Regional Meeting

Jaycee-Ette members made plans for the Tri-Regional annual convention slated for Feb. 2 and 3, in Amarillo, at a meeting of the group held on Wednesday at the Jaycee clubhouse.

A workshop session was held after the business portion of the meeting when members typed the constitution and by-laws for use in new year books.

Mrs. Jimmie Bounds and Mrs. Guy Eble acted as hostesses and others attending were Mesdames Stanley Slagle, Richard Pickens, Wayne Pittman, Gerald Hale, Don Fudge, Kenneth Weaver, Dennis Lomas, Mike Elliott and Paul Schroeter.

'LITERATURE AND TRAVEL' IS BETA SIGMA PHI DISCUSSION

"Literature and Travel" provided interesting topics of discussion at the Kappa Iota chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority session held at the Jaycee - Clubhouse Tuesday evening. Hostesses for the social hour were Mesdames Reuber Knox, Clyde Russell and J. H. McDonald.

Mrs. Jess Robinson told of the many times of literature and gave something of the history of American literature, describing the characteristic features of poetry, romance, history and biographies in contrast to scientific works or didactic writings.

Mrs. Harold Beauchamp gave the portion of the program on travel, dwelling mainly on travel by plane, and giving in detail how to plan a plane trip to Europe. She described all the necessary steps to take in making reservations and getting passports, and suggested interesting places to visit abroad.

Members attending the meeting were "Mesdames Glen Nelson, Ed Line, M. G. Duvall, Paul Frey, Robt. Brotherton, Charles Bell, T. M. Cox Jr., Carl Hollingsworth, Ray Johnson, Clarence Venzey, La-bray Ballard, Jimmie White, Pete Gwinn, Ray Suit, Hugh Trimble, Ann Woodward, T. D. To assist with the hospitalities are Mrs. Claude McDougall and Mrs. Louie Olson.

Child Development Is Les Meres Club Topic

Members answered roll call with New Year resolutions at the Les Meres Study Club first session of the new year held in the home of Mrs. Alvin Smith Monday evening. Mrs. J. E. McCathern Jr., served as cohostess.

The program was presented by Mrs. Everett Brooks and Mrs. Glenn Gripp, with Mrs. Brooks opening the discussions giving a review of an article "Help Your Child Face His Fling" from Parents Magazine.

"As an adult and a parent, we should acknowledge our own feelings and understand those of our children, teaching them to talk about their feelings by listening understandingly even when they are angry. Children should be taught that feelings can be controlled at an early age," she quoted.

Mrs. Gripp told how "Love Grows Up" taken from a recent Woman's Home Companion. "Love grows up in five different stages," she said listing the stages as self love — when a baby discovers his face and body; parent love — as the parents show their affection for the child; love for friends of their own sex; love for the opposite sex; and love for the only one.

In conclusion Mrs. Gripp pointed out that children arrive at the different stages at different ages and if enough attention has been given all along, parents will be able to recognize each step as it develops.

Mrs. Joe Deavenport, president, conducted a short business session. Members attending were Mesdames Roy Boyer, Ed Brisendine, Everett Brooks, Joe Deavenport, Howard Gore, Glenn Gripp, Spicer Gripp, J. E. McCathern Jr., George Olson, Nelson Reiger, Ervin Robinson, Bill Simpson, Glenn Watts and the hostess.

Janice Jacobsen Installed as New Theta Rho Leader

The Carnation Theta Rho Club publicly installed officers Thursday night at the IOOF Hall in a formal, candlelight ceremony.

Officers installed were as follows: past president, Nona Marie Strange; president, Janice Jacobsen; vice president, Maxine Ware; secretary, Barbara Jacobs; treasurer, Rosalie Strange; warden, J. Iva Renfro; marshal, Judy Hoff; right supporter to president, Diana Scott; left supporter to president, Nona Marie Strange; outside guardian, Maxie Wiseman; chaplain, Melba Gay Lawrence.

Installing officers were Laveta Fitzgerald and Sue Loving. Mrs. Fitzgerald was introduced to the club as a new member of the advisory board.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lawrence. Mrs. Clarence Strange, Mrs. J. E. Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lovin, Mrs. Ada Hollibaugh, Joyce Merriworth, Mrs. Paul Hoff and Mrs. Charlotte Calvert, mother advisor.

Highway offenders here are faced with the prospect of being chased by policeman or triveles. The three-wheel vehicles have more space for storing equipment and are parked more easily than the conventional two-wheeled motorcycles.

Good vegetable combinations: green beans, cut in wide strips, cooked in butter with sliced mushrooms. Nice with veal.

Baby Sitters Rate Diplomas

By AL OICKLE
(Of the Greenfield, Mass., Recorder - Gazette)

GREENFIELD, Mass. — More than 200 school girls — and a few boys and middle aged women — have "graduated" this winter from this town's school for baby-sitters.

The unique course, pioneered by Inspector George P. Billings of the Greenfield fire department, has captured nationwide attention and others are springing up.

For five afternoons, an hour and a half daily, the children and a few adults gathered at the Junior High School for lectures by a variety of professionals and town officials.

This year's school had an enrollment of about 225. Day-by-day speakers and their subjects included: Deputy Fire Chief Edmond F. Tetreault, fire extinguishers; Police Sgt. Donald L. Grogan, police protection; Dr. Paul B. Koehler, medical aid; Raymond J. George of the Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross, and a representative of the Greenfield Visiting Nurse Association, accident prevention and first aid; and Fire Chief Stephen R. Zanieski and Inspector Billings, fire prevention and escape methods.

The course does not include sandwich making, icebox raiding or dating habits of baby-sitters — and nobody could be happier than the students. The enthusiastic response of last year's pioneer class of 165 was exceeded only by this year's students, Billings commented.

A typical point by a lecturer is St. Grogan's advice for defense against intruders. "Bite, kick and scratch," he said. "Use your fingernails and, if necessary, bite the offender. Keep a table between you and the attacker and, if possible, break a window to attract aid."

A 20-question test concluded the course but it was only one of three factors used in awarding "graduation" certificates. The pupils' attitude and participation were also scored.

A special manual was given each student, featuring "The Baby Sitters' Pledge." Mimeographing, printing and a few minor expenses were involved but the entire project was put over for less than $100, Billings said.

Response from other areas has been overwhelming. Billings spent three days in Dukes County last spring setting up a course from which 165 in the five towns of Martha's Vineyard graduated. Commented Edith F. Morris of the Dukes Extension Service, the sponsors with the PTA, Girl Scouts 4-H and police and fire departments:

"Proof of the success of the project is shown by people who have hired the girls who took the course, calling to express their satisfaction with the way the girls are fulfilling their duties.

Chief John E. Keefe of the Rockingham, Vt., fire department has stated that he thought the program a "wonderful idea," and had Billings up for a first hand briefing prior to last May's course there.

Inquiries have come from Peabody, Ashfield, West Springfield, Charlemont and Orange. In fact, the latter's fire chief, J. Arthur Mac Knight, attended this year's course and took notes so he can institute a similar program in his town.

Greenfield's baby-sitter school is attended primarily by young girls, the average age being 13. But this year's enrollment included two middle-aged women and six boys, which should prove how popular the course is.

DES MOINES — Jo Pike teaches the first grade at nearby Olive School. She occasionally gives her pupils "telling time" to relate things which interest them. The other day at "telling time" a little boy reported: "We've just got a new car at our house." A fellow pupil commented: "Well what's so great about that? We've had a new car for years now."

DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE?
SUNNYSIDE, Wash. — Yakima County Democrats were meeting to elect a state committeeman. Dr. Robert Hall of Sunnyside was nominated. A woman delegate asked loudly, "Who is Dr. Hall?" and then she fainted in the warm room. Dr. Hall revived her. She seconded his nomination and he was elected.

SOBER CHRISTENING
ENID, Okla. — Sixteen-year-old Judy Gilger, Enid, christened an Airline's newest flight out of Enid by smashing a bottle on the nose of the first plane to take off. Since Oklahoma is legally dry, the bottle held no alcoholic beverage — Enid officials decided a bottle filled with wheat from this farming community was more appropriate.

FLAMELESS TOWN
GRAYSON, Ky. — There hasn't been a fire here in a year. The last blaze within the city limits occurred Dec. 11, 1955, said Fire Chief Leonard Carrico, who heads a volunteer department of 20 men. The city, population 1,800, put on no special fire - prevention campaign during the year.

Brazil Nuts Aid Plain Dishes

By CECHLY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Brazil nuts, usually around the house at holiday time, can transform every day fish fillets into a dish that's "good enough for company."

We stuffed the fillets with a nut-and-bread-crumbs combination, served them to supper guests, and had requests for the recipe. We find the fish rolls delicious both with and without the sauce garnish; guests who are strict weight-watchers may shun it, but others will appreciate this adornment. Here's how we prepared the fish and garnish.

STUFFED FISH ROLLS

Ingredients: 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons finely diced onion, 2 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs (crusts removed), 1/2 cup chopped (medium-fine) Brazil nuts, 1/3 cup finely diced celery, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons water, 4 large or 6 small fish fillets (about 2 pounds), sauce garnish (if desired).

Method: Melt butter in 9-inch or 10-inch skillet over low heat. Add onion and cook, stirring a few times, until wilted but not browned about 5 minutes. Add the bread crumbs, nuts, celery, parsley, salt and pepper. Sprinkle with water and mix lightly. Spread stuffing over each fillet; roll and place carefully in shallow baking dish—11 1/2 by 8 1/2 by 2 inches is a good size. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until fish is opaque through and flakes easily—about 30 minutes. Serve with sauce garnish if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Rolls may be skewered or tied with string if necessary to keep them together. Fillets of lemon sole are fine for this recipe. If you use 3 large fillets you can cut each fillet in half crosswise and have enough fish for 6 small rolls.

SAUCE GARNISH

Ingredients: 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sliced Brazil nuts, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Method: Melt butter over low heat in a small skillet. Add nuts and cook slowly 5 minutes or until butter is slightly brown; stir often. Stir in lemon juice; heat and serve with stuffed fish rolls.

SANDWICH-SALAD LUNCH

One of our favorite luncheon sandwiches is made from bread and cheddar cheese browned in plenty of butter or margarine in a heavy skillet or on a griddle. A salad we like with this sandwich is a mixture of apple, celery, Brazil nuts and mayonnaise, plus romaine or water cress. This crunchy mixture is just right with the smooth toasted cheese.

VEGETABLE LIFT

When you want to dress up buttered snap beans to serve with poultry or meat, you'll find they're delightful sprinkled with browned-in-butter Brazil nuts. After you've cooked the beans—fresh or frozen and cut in thin strips—drain them in a colander and keep them warm. Then, into the saucepan in which the beans were cooked, brown some sliced nuts in butter or margarine and pour over the beans. You can add a little lemon juice after the nuts are browned, if you like.

NUT KNOW-HOW

Nowadays most varieties of nuts—including Brazil—may be purchased already shelled in food chains and specialty stores. If you shell Brazil nuts at home there are a couple of methods that help the job along. You may already know this one, but here's a reminder. Cover unshelled nuts with cold water; bring to a boil; boil 3 to 5 minutes. Drain and cover with cold water for 1 minute, then drain and crack. (Most modern nut crackers are more efficient than the old-fashioned kind.) With this method, the chances are that little of the nutmeat will cling to the shell. A pound of nuts-in-the-shell will give about 1 1/2 cups of nutmeats.

A mouse's heart beats 300 times each minute. An elephant's heart beats 40 times each minute.

BRAZIL NUTS glamorize snap beans, fish fillets and salads.

A BARGAIN GOES BEGGING

Ballots Beat Bullets; Let's Make Our Choice

The biggest bargain in Texas, and that's a bargain for true, is going begging in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. The price is just $1.75. The limit is one to the person. The bargain is, of course, a poll tax receipt. Without it you are not a fully qualified citizen.

While 1957 is an "off" year for elections, it stands as an important one to Texans and particularly to residents of the Hereford school district and the City of Hereford. Here are the decisions to be made by citizens who will qualify and avail themselves of the privilege of voting:

Election of a United States Senator who will settle the matter of whether the Democrats or Republicans will have control of the upper house.

Election of three school trustees.

Election of the Mayor of Hereford and of two City Commissioners.

Election of county water district committee-men.

In addition, there is a strong prospect that a school bond proposal may be put before the voters here. And there is always the possibility that other bond issues may be proposed.

Hour Is Late for Starting a Good Drouth Aid Plan

In most metropolitan centers, including one not so far from Hereford, there is a tendency to overlook drouth and its affect on man and the land. The impending visit of President Eisenhower to "the drouth area" will serve once more to highlight this continuing problem. We doubt that the President's visit will serve any useful ends that could not have been accomplished by a search of the records made during recent years. And certainly the suggestions that have been proposed earlier are still appropriate.

If the President's visit is not merely a gesture with mere politics than compassion behind it, we hope that it will serve to launch a real solution to the problems that have pressed our dryland farmers and their ranching neighbors during the past six years.

That solution lies in the farmers getting long term credit at low rates of interest if the solution is to meet the obvious need—the prevention of bankruptcy among that group of strong-willed individuals who choose to till the fertile soil of the Great Plains. There is room, too, for the long range research and land-use education programs that Department of Agriculture officials and advisors have proposed.

But if anyone is to be around to benefit from either research or education after the rains return to this vast plateau west of the 100th meridian, long term credit at low interest rates is a must for the farmers.

When the rains return, some of our land—including those parts now parched by drouth and endangered by the winter winds—undoubtedly will be ready again to blossom. The continued increase in interest rates could serve to remove from this region many of the hands that will make that blossom one of food for a nation rather than thistles to be scattered before the wind.

Personally, we wonder how many of our neighbors who farm without benefit of irrigation have managed to hang on this far through the drouth. We are not deluded in surveying their ranges and fields by the fact that few show signs of soil drifting over the roads and fences. The fact that the fields have so far largely been held in place is accounted for by the improvements in methods of tillage and cultivation.

In some sections of the Plains where the land is less suited to cultivation than is our own, continued crop failures have caused men to desert their farms. The hour is late for starting an overall plan to preserve the fertility of our region.

Let us hope that when the President lands at Clovis on Monday afternoon, that the hour is at hand for starting a sensible and comprehensive credit program as a basis for an overall plan.—Roy Clark

Mexican Border Troubles of 1915-17 Hatched in Parr Capital, San Diego

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, TEX.—Like his father, George Berham Parr is a small man as Texans go. In him there is a curious touch of Pancho Villa, or Robin Hood.

A psychologist could explain Parr much better than I can explain his sometimes baffling behavior.

Unlike his father, George Parr is trigger-tempered, often to the point of rashness. For example, there is the incident of a few weeks ago when a Duval County commissioner, Thomas H. Molina, angered him. Parr grabbed a rifle and raged out of his office and into the Courthouse across the street, shouting for Molina. He was cornered in the basement by Ranger Walter Russel and disarmed.

Parr's white hair is dyed red, a mahogany red. In contrast to both the "Anglos" and the Latins, he always dresses neatly in a business suit. He is deep-tanned, soft spoken and there is much about him that is charming—and disarming. He lives high and, among other things, loves fast horses and bull fights.

"And he won't listen to anybody," one of his top lawyers told me. "If he'd listen to his attorneys when they flash a red light on him he wouldn't get into half as much trouble."

George Parr, age 55, is a lawyer himself although his only client is George B. Parr.

I watched Parr on the night of the July 28 primaries. The polls were just about to close when I talked to him. He was a very busy man, issuing orders right and left in rapid Spanish, giving followers crisp green bills and sending them on errands. He seemed harassed, even wistful. The scene was the Mexican-style plaza in front of the church of San Paulo.

Parr's people, hundreds of them, milled around in the dusk under the trees. Across the street from the Parr forces was anti-Parr headquarters—and between the two groups armed Texas Rangers under Captain Alfred Allee moved quietly. The atmosphere was tense and electric. San Diego police, often called Parr's pistoleros, under Chief Manuel Amaya, circled through the two groups, guns slapping against their thighs. The street in front of the City Hall, across the plaza from the church, had been roped off by the Rangers.

I was watching Parr when the soft bell of the angelus rang from the Church of San Paulo. He stepped forward and stood quite still. Around him his people became silent. Haza came off. Here and there a woman lifted her mantilla, nun-like, over her dark hair.

The last echo of the Angelus had long gone when the spell was broken by juke box music from a candy store.

It was difficult just then to imagine San Diego, Texas, as the hottest spot in Texas politics, as the scene of plundering, of murder—sixty three murders in just over a dozen years according to Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

Yet the story of San Diego, of the Parrs and of Duval is on the record. Beside my typewriter as this is written is a long list, three footscap pages, of men and women who met sudden death in Duval in recent years. Duval from the first has been a county of violence. The man whose name the county bears, Capt. Burr H. Duval, was massacred with Fannin's men at Goliad.

That frightening list of homicides, most of them unsolved and unpunished, might be doubled if the truth were known about many cases listed officially as suicide or accident.

For example, the death of Border Patrolman Ed Wheeler was first listed as accidental. Wheeler was, to use his own words, "about to blow the lid off Duval" in a narcotics report when his car went off the road and his body was found in the flaming wreck. Then the undertaker found a small bullet hole at the base of his skull.

Just for the record here are a few of the cases officially on the books as homicide:

Horacio Garza, knifed to death in San Diego; Jacinto Gutierrez, shot, San Diego; Ricardo Escobar, shot, Freer; Juan Elizondo, shot, Benavides; Rolando Ruiz, shot, San Diego; John E. Gilbert, shotgun, Freer; Thomas Banks, shotgun, Freer; Rodolfo Munoz, shot, San Diego; Guy Hastings, shot, Freer; Frank Lotto, shot, San Diego...but why go on!

There is nothing on the record to show that these murders were political. Certainly the wanton slaying on September 9, 1952, of Jacob Floyd, Jr., was political. So were the killings of radio newsmen Bill Mason and of Edwin Wheeler.

Assistant Attorney General Sidney Chandler puts it this way: "Before Shepperd came here, if a man committed a crime in Duval, including murder, it depended on which side of the fence he was on whether he got punished or not. The evidence didn't matter. It was how the jury voted. If the machine wanted you acquitted, you were acquitted. "It worked another way, too. If a man killed another man, in a fit of temper or for any other reason, and he was acquitted, then the machine could count on his loyalty and the loyalty of his family from then on."

No matter how the figures for violent death in Duval are interpreted, one fact is grimly clear: they are far higher than the national average. The suicide rate, for example, is more than four times that for the United States as a whole—and Latins, being Catholic, do not commit suicide. The Mexican-American is intensely religious and to him suicide is a mortal sin, punishable by an eternity of damnation. It was just forty-one years ago,

January 20, 1915, when George Berham Parr was in his teens, that a man named Basilio Ramos, age 24, was arrested in McAllen, Texas, with a copy of the utterly fantastic "El Plano de San Diego" on his person. Ramos, alias Garza, promptly became a celebrity and the Federal Government moved fast to take over jurisdiction.

The plan was for revolution against the United States.

In San Diego today they'll show you the sun-blasted building where the plan was hatched in August, 1914, and they'll tell you of the future comings and goings of mysterious Germans, supposedly agents of the Imperial General Staff in Berlin.

The San Diego plot wasn't taken too seriously at the time, but in 1917 when the famous Zimmerman note, a document that helped put the United States into World War I, was intercepted, astonished officials in Washington suddenly realized that the plan was real and not the product of raving crackpots. The mysterious strangers who donned in San Diego with a Mexican-American and with Huerta agents from Mexico were what they seemed to be.

Huerta, it will be remembered, was violently anti-American because President Wilson had refused to recognize his "government by assassination." Americans had captured Vera Cruz and Marine snipers had killed many Mexicans. Feelings ran high on both banks of the Rio Grande.

Under the plan Mexicans in five states—Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and California—were to revolt on February 20, 1915, and declare an independent Mexican republic. A "liberating" Army would then "free" six states to the north and set up a Negro republic as a buffer state. All "Anglo" men—except Germans—were to be killed.

The whole insane idea from Germany's point of view was to keep the United States so busy on the Mexican border that she'd be unable to join the Allies in fighting the Central Powers in Europe.

Certainly the plan was mad and just as certainly it did have part of the effect the plotters wanted. The border area, including Duval, seethed with excitement and killings, with raids from both sides of the Rio Grande, with train robberies and the flames of burning ranch houses. More than 500 Americans lost their lives in the fighting before General Pershing and his troops restored a semblance of order.

A curious fact in the border troubles just preceding America's entrance into World War I was the defense paid to the word "Aleman"—German—by parties of raiding Mexicans. More than one "Anglo" saved his life by proclaiming himself "Aleman" when guns were leveled at his head.

It is against this background that the Parr political empire was erected and it is against this background that it still lives, tottering on its last leg under the continual legal slugging of Attorney General Shepperd, but still alive.

"KINDEST MAN" HONORED

The "kindest man in Matador" was paid tribute recently by his friends with a surprise dinner. J. Randall Whitworth, Cashier of the First State Bank in Matador, went to what he thought was a regular Methodist Men dinner and found himself to be the guest of honor with Matador families crowding the church basement. After the meal, almost every person present spoke and testified to his thoughtfulness, acts of kindness and courtesies through the years of his adult life. The Rev. W. B. Vaughn, retired Methodist minister, presented the 60-year-old honoree with a large birthday cake.—MATADOR TRIBUNE.

SEEKING SWIMMING POOL

A swimming pool for Texico-Farwell may be a reality if plans made by Jess Landrum of Farwell are carried out. Landrum estimates that a pool 100 feet long, 30 feet wide, two feet deep at one end and 8½ feet deep at the other end, could be built for about $15,000 with everybody pitching in on a voluntary basis, donating a little time and money. "I have given it a lot of thought, done a great deal of figuring, and obtained prices on various items," Landrum said, adding, "Needless to say, I have never built a swimming pool, but I know it can be done—without a bond issue."—THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE.

$56,400 SOIL BANK BUDGET

Hall County farmers will begin signing up for the 1957 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank Wednesday, Jan. 2, Lynn L. McKown, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said last week. McKown said that Conservation Reserve funds will definitely be limited this year and that the first persons to sign up will be the ones to get the money. The budget for the 1957 Conservation Reserve includes $56,400 for Hall County.—THE MEMPHIS DEMOCRAT.

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his blindweed farm claims he has found company in his financial problems, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

With the Suez Canal jammed with ships and Washington jammed with Congressmen as the new session got underway, I naturally was interested in getting hold of a newspaper before 1957 gets too old but I searched this place thoroughly and couldn't find one yesterday, outside the one published two weeks ago containing predictions on what Congress will do this year and anybody who relies on a newspaper columnist's predictions is pretty hard up and not very well equipped to face the future, so I went into town and hauled off and bought a copy and took it home.

I was just getting into it when I read a statement by the Secretary of the Treasury saying he felt sure the national budget can be balanced this year if a little increase in income can be managed.

What this convinces me of is that the government operates its business about like I operate mine. That is, I never have seen the time when I couldn't balance my budget if I could manage to get a little more income.

People talk about tax relief, about spending less, about economizing, but me and the United States government have found out long ago the only way to make ends meet is to get a little more money. I know I could spend a little less, could cut down here, do without there, the same as you, but you and me are ransling with the same problem as Congress: the people won't let us do it. In Congress' case, it's the voters. In yours and mine, it's families. The demands of the voters and the demands of families are the two things that are keeping a lot of noses to the grindstone.

Moreover, while I don't know about you, I know me and Congress approach this problem in the same way. That is, about all either of us has ever figured out to do about the need for more money is to wish for it and hope for the best.

However, I'm proud to say history is on our side. There never was an administration or an average man who couldn't use a little more money, and regardless of how much more either of us get this year than we did the year before, it won't be quite enough.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Hereford People Tell of Their Guides to Living

What adage has meant the most to you as a guide to daily living? How do you think it could be applied to advantage by others?

THE REV. ANDREW SZEGEDIN—The one I like best is what Paul says in his letter to the Galatians: "The life I now live, I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me and gave himself for me." Your life must be lived in the image of Jesus Christ. The Christian knows he is a sinner and deserves nothing. But Christ has come into the world to redeem our shortcomings. Our greatest needs are spiritual rather than physical.

MRS. BERT BOOMER—Every morning when I get up, I like to think of: "This is the day which the Lord hath made. We will rejoice and be glad in it." This is from the Book of Psalms. Each new day is God given, and we should spend that day in a happy, resourceful way so that the work we have to do is not a burden to us.

THE REV. GRADY ALLISON—"Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer." This is a test for people's motives and actions. If used with sincerity, all actions will measure up in the sight of God.

MRS. HOMER BRUMLEY—"Live one day at a time." Each person should live one day as fully as he is capable of doing, and tomorrow will take care of itself.

MRS. CLYDE RUSSELL—One I use often in explaining things to the children is: "There is a destiny that makes us brothers and none goes his way alone. All that we send to the lives of others comes back into our own." This is a help when I'm trying to do difficult things outside my home—things I don't think I have time to do—for the benefit of others. I try to think that what I do will benefit me most of all in my own life.

MRS. MARTHA STEPHENS—No adage is better than "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Those that cast the first stone usually are more useful of prayer than their victim. Every person I know could apply this with advantage, claiming not to be involved and calling the United States an aggressor.

It is to be hoped that members of Congress will have a better perspective on the Eisenhower proposals than the President and his secretary of state, who reportedly devised the program, seem to have.—Houston Chronicle.

Steamed Puddings Are Hearty

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Old-Fashioned Kitchens never let a winter pass without sturdy puddings steaming away in big kettles. A thrifty type of pudding—using molasses, spices and raisins—has been a tradition in many a family for after-holiday use.

The following recipe for such a dessert uses both molasses and brown sugar along with spices and raisins, and we include walnut meats to add contrast. Remember that this is not a delicate dessert; you can expect a substantial, moist cake-like texture. Because it's very good and quite sweet, it should be served with a tart lemon sauce and cups of hot fragrant tea, also accompanied by lemon. The clear tea, you'll find, is just the right foil!

OLD-FASHIONED STEAMED PUDDING

Ingredients: 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon double action baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon mace, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ½ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup mild light molasses, ½ cup buttermilk, ½ cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained well), ½ cup coarsely broken walnut meats.

Method: Sit together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and mace. Cream butter and brown sugar; beat in egg thoroughly, then the molasses. Beat in the sifted dry ingredients in three additions, alternately with the buttermilk. Fold in the raisins and nutmeats. Turn into well-buttered 1½-quart melon mold; butter inside of mold cover well and put in place. Cover top of mold tightly with aluminum foil. Place melon mold, rounded side down, on rack in kettle; add enough boiling water so it covers bottom half of mold. Cover kettle; steam 1½ to 2 hours. Replenish boiling water, if necessary during the steaming process.

To test pudding for doneness, remove from kettle and take off the mold top; insert cake-tester in cen-

ENTERTAINMENT WORLD OF 1956

Old Formulas Set the Tempo

To sum up entertainment in 1956 and outline the trends most likely to develop in 1957, the Associated Press called for reports from its specialists. Here are reports on the movie industry, television and Broadway theater, by The AP's James Bacon, Charles Mercer and William Glover:

HOLLYWOOD—The year 1956 may go down in Hollywood history as the year the movie industry sold out to television.

No single incident of the year evoked so much widespread industry controversy as the sale of old movies to TV by the major studios.

Exhibitors, to a man, yelled that no one is going to pay to see mediocre Hollywood product for a dollar when one can stay home and see Greta Garbo in "Ninotchka" for free.

But the studios, many of them talking merger to reduce overhead on idle sound stages, said the challenge would be met by fewer mediocre pictures and more and more good ones. The era of the three and four hour epic—too long for television—was on hand at the start of 1957. Also the era of the shocker like "The Bad Seed" and others too potent for family living rooms.

NEW YORK—Television developed few new programming patterns in 1956. With rare exceptions networks, agencies and sponsors followed formulas which had proven commercially successful in the past.

There was a tremendous increase in the number of quiz programs, following the success last year of "The $64,000 Question." There also was an increase in the number of ter of pudding; it should come out clean when pudding is done. Water should be kept at a steady, low but vigorous boil, during the steaming period. Makes 6 large or 8 medium servings. Serve with a tart lemon sauce.

STEAMING NOTES

If a 1½-quart melon mold does not fit in your regular steamer, put a round wire rack in the bottom of a large kettle and use for steaming pudding.

We suggest covering the closed pudding mold with aluminum foil to prevent the water that collects on the cover of the steamer dropping down on the cover of the mold.

Pudding molds are usually filled from one-half to two-thirds full to allow for expansion of the batter.

BELL RINGER—Judy Holliday hit a Broadway peak in the musical comedy "Bells Are Ringing."

"adult Westerns" and "situation comedies." Many of these imitations had failed to achieve high audience ratings as the year drew to a close.

Three problems faced the major networks as they apparently sought to consolidate the programming gains of previous years: (1) Rising production costs, (2) A variety of congressional investigations, (3) The competition of old movies, released in vast numbers to stations throughout the country.

BROADWAY—The Great White Way and the rest of the country's legitimate theater was in boom-or-bust mood during 1956, and gave evidence that for a while ahead the spotlight will stay on proven commercial formula rather than experiment.

On Broadway, established tune masters including Porter, Berlin and Rodgers were mum; drama was highlighted by a newly disclosed 14-year-old script of an author three years dead which outshone rivals and began a craze for revival of earlier Eugene O'Neill works.

Although playwrights showed little freshness, new talent galore bowed on-stage.

The smash sensation of the year, its lure still undimmed, was "My Fair Lady." The personality of the year was Judy Holliday, a straight-show comedienne who became the new queen of musical comedy in "Bells Are Ringing."

FRIO NEWS

B. M. Sudduths To Attend Governor's Inauguration

By MRS. GEORGE D. ZETZSCHE — Tuesday night a program was presented in the Summerfield Baptist Church by several students from Howard-Payne College. Those who attended the service from Frio were Rev. B. H. Baldwin, Herb Schmidt, Joe Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. George Zetzsche, Alma Andrews, Virginia Cox, Veradelle Andrews and Richard Price.

Real Summer Party

Arthur Betts, Dick Fellers, David Brumley and Eddie May all of Hereford spent Saturday night with Joe Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Easley, their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Heffener of Chillicothe and Mr. and Mrs. English Cox of Lovington, N. M., visited during the holidays with the B. M. Sudduths. Easley is Mrs. Sudduth's brother and Mrs. Cox is a daughter of the Sudduths.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Jr., were dinner guests on New Year's Day of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart, Linda and Jerry of Dawn.

To Attend Inauguration

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Sudduth planned to leave Saturday morning for Austin where they will visit with relatives and attend the inauguration of Gov.-elect Price Daniel which is to be on Jan. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schmidt and Brent moved at the last of the week to the Palmer Norton place which is located about 10 miles east of Hereford. Leonard plans to farm the Norton place this year. Mr. and Mrs. James Dobbs helped them move. Thursday night the Schmidts stayed with the Dobbs, and the Dobbs spent the night with the Schmidts Friday night. The George Zetzsches plan to live in the house vacated by the Schmidts.

More Moving Done

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dobbs recently vacated the house on W. H. Andrews' place and now live in the former Curtis Barclay home which is southwest of Hereford. The Dobbs are farming the Barclay place.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Welch, Veveca and Kevin moved recently from the Holland place to the Harlin Frye place near Black.

The C. N. McClures moved Wednesday and Thursday of last week to 429 Star in Hereford. The W.A. Boyds moved at the first of the week to their new house on J Street in Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Simpson moved recently to the Lucky U Motel which they bought a few weeks ago. The B. G. Cottons moved into the house vacated by the Simpsons. The Simpsons are operating the motel and report that they enjoy the business, which is a new experience for them.

New Live Near Hart

The Luther Smithsons have moved to the vicinity of Hart. They came to this community last year, moving to the Burgin place. Recently, the Kenneth Coxes bought the place.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Cotton and Gary and Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson were Sunday dinner guests of the R. L. Simpsons of Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Martin of Hereford were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Stephan and Rhonda.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mason and Cheri were Sunday dinner guests of the H. D. Robbins of Hereford.

HARRIED HOUND

LINCOLN, NEB. — A woman called the Lincoln Postoffice with a complaint: The substitute mail carrier was bothering her dog. "The regular man gets along just fine with him so it must be this new man's fault," she said. "Where was your dog when the incident occurred?" asked the postal employe, filling out a complaint blank.

"Right out in the front yard under a tree," the woman replied. "And where was the postal carrier?" "Up in the tree."

IMPROVE RADIO SERVICE—New radio equipment has been installed in the county sheriff's office and a new sending antenna is expected to give the law enforcement officers' better coverage over the county. Mrs. Thelma Biggers, newly employed in the sheriff's department as radio operator, helps coordinate the movement of the department's patrol cars and officers in the area. Previously, the sheriff's office used the services of the Hereford police radio dispatcher, and the two offices used a common transmitter. (Staff Photo)

DAWN NEWS

Fullers Visit in Belton Two Weeks with Her Mother

By DELLA RUTH DOW

The college students have all returned to school. Those attending W. T. from this community are Richard Hagar, Irene Galley and Sue Wimberley.

The Lloyd Airharts have a new grandson. His name is Robert Jay and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo McAtee of Canyon. He was born Dec. 29 and weighed 8 lbs., 12 ozs.

Sue Wimberley attended a bridal shower in Booker honoring Peggy Lile during the Christmas holidays.

Are Coffee Guests

Those from Dawn attending the coffee in Mrs. Jim Black's home honoring Mrs. Fred Fain of Canyon City, Colo., were Mrs. William Wimberley, Mrs. A. T. Frye and Mrs. H. V. McCabe.

Mrs. W. W. Wimberley Sr., visited with her son and his family, the C. A. Wimberleys, in Amarillo over the weekend.

The Serivner family moved back to Amarillo last week. We hope they will be happy in their new home.

H. D. Club Meets

The home demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Ray T. Stewart last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Stewart and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Caraway and family and Mr. and Mrs.

Ray T. Stewart and children spent Christmas Day in Mobeetle with the Ray Oglesbys. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oglesby and family of White Deer were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Muri Little and boys spent last weekend in Cheyenne, Okla.

Della Ruth Dow is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stickney in Amarillo for a week.

Visit in Belton

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller and boys visited for two weeks in Belton with Mrs. Kate Wilson. Mrs. Wilson is Mrs. Fuller's mother.

Those attending the New Year's Eve party in the J. B. Caraway home were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oglesby and children of White Deer and Mrs. Oglesby's sister of Skellytown, Mr. and Mrs. Reece Stewart and children and Mr. and Mrs. Ray T. Stewart and children.

NICK OF TIME

GRANBY, Que. — Traffic on-stable E. Brodeur zigzagged his motorcycle through heavy traffic and with one arm reached out and grabbed three-year-old Gerard Marquis, riding unnoticed on the back of his father's delivery truck. The child was losing his grip.

CHANGE OF PACE

MENDOTA, Ill. — Will Smith, a 77-year-old retired farmer, has taken up art as a hobby. He took it up three years ago and now has one wall of his barn and another on his shop covered with paintings that show a square dance, a flock of peacocks, a buffalo and a covered wagon drawn by oxen.

PRICE WAB

McALESTER, Okla. — L. B. Smith, who runs a grocery store here, found a way to get even with a competitive store which cut the price of coffee below cost.

He advertised in the paper for kids who wanted to make money that he would buy unopened cans for standard brand coffee for 94 cents.

Eleanor is a variation of the name, Helen, which is the Greek word for "light."

THE MODERN BUILDING UNIT
 HAYDITE BLOC
 LIGHTWEIGHT
 Year-Round Insulation

CROWE-GULDE

HAYDITE BLOCS*

have 10 Bonus Building Advantages
 no other block can equal:

- LIGHTER WEIGHT—Makes possible reduction in dead load without sacrificing strength. Easy to handle—quick to lay.
- STRENGTH IN EXCESS of normal requirements and local building codes. An average HAYDITE Bloc can support the weight of a loaded railway freight car weighing 72 tons.
- FIRE RESISTANCE—Will withstand temperatures well in excess of 2,000 degrees F.
- UNIFORMITY—Permits pattern work of unvarying accuracy and beauty.
- MOZE PAINTABLE—HAYDITE Bloes take paint perfectly with no possibility of rusting or other blemishes bleeding through.
- MORE ATTRACTIVE—Pleasing texture and natural gray color blend in beautifully for either modern or traditional architecture.
- INSULATES ACOUSTICALLY—The unusual cellular structure absorbs noise to such a high degree that other sound insulating materials are usually unnecessary.
- NAILABLE—You can nail right into a HAYDITE Concrete Block to save real time and money on many jobs.
- DURABLE—HAYDITE Bloes are concrete and multitude of tiny air cells in HAYDITE Bloes are excellent insulators in summer and winter.
- DURABLE—HAYDITE Bloes are concrete and naturally are impervious to rodents, termites, rot and corrosion.

For details before you build, call or write for brochure.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Can you and your readers imagine living in a world with NO SANTA CLAUS? Thanks to you and your paper, who so generously give of your space and time—without it our wonderful Goodfellow, Santa Pals, etc., would be a complete failure and all over the United States millions of needy, depressed and forgotten men, women and children would have no Christmas.

I'm not a rich man—however, I have no real money worries—yet, less than 15 years ago I stood in the Salvation Army line for a Christmas dinner and I thanked God that there was an organization which provided that dinner on the day of His Son's birth. I prayed for the workers who gave their time to collect the pennies, nickels and dimes that made that dinner possible. I also thanked the newspapers who told the story that opened the hearts and purses of those good people who gave the pennies, nickels, dimes and dollars.

Mr. Editor, I made a promise and asked for help and knowledge to provide for the needy widows with children, aged and neglected couples, sick and handicapped parents, aged and unattached men and women, homeless and neglected girls and boys.

Now, that time has arrived and I can fulfill my promise to my God and fellowman—I have, or can get, the money to care for many the other 364 days out of each year. I do not ask for nor want one penny in donations, gifts or grants. I only ask a few minutes of your readers' spare time. I ask them to give me their ideas, plans and suggestions on improving my plan to give more to more needy souls.

I will make my story short—I plan a village inside a large, irrigated farm providing homes for the family groups with their own individual yard and garden spot:

"Bandido"

A story of high adventure involving a grenade-armed American

Sewing Pays Says Feedbag Stitch Queen

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. —Alma May, the National Cotton Bag Sewing Queen of 1956, has taken up knitting.

"I've had enough sewing for a while," the attractive, 25-year-old queen says. "Since I can't enter this sewing contest any more, I'm taking up knitting."

Mrs. May won her sewing championship in competition with 59 seamstresses from all sections of the country. For the Chicago contest, she made eight articles. Included in these were kitchen curtains, mother and daughter dresses, a luncheon set, quilt, pajama or lounging outfit, a shirt and a blouse.

The big hitch was that Alma like the other contestants, had to make the garments from cotton bags, the same kind in which the farmers buy flour, feed and seed. She couldn't buy a bit of cloth.

"I'd say it took me 250 hours over a period of two months, to make the quilt," Mrs. May says. "and probably an average of eight hours a day for another month on the other things."

Alma was named Colorado State Fair queen in the contest sponsored by the National Cotton Council and as a result went on to the national showdown.

"The only time I got to wondering whether it was worth all the time was when I was burning the midnight oil trying to get ready for the State Fair," she says. "But, now, I know it was worth it."

soldier - of - fortune and a beautiful mystery woman caught up in the maelstrom of a Mexican rebellion will be showing at the Star Theater on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. "Bandido" is a big, bold adventure starring Mitchum, Thiess and Roland.

Robert Mitchum as the soldier of fortune casually strolls into a town during the Mexican Revolution of 1956 where a pitched battle between banditos and Regulares is at a Mexican stand-off. Mitchum joins the Bandido chieftain, magnificently played by Gilbert Roland for kicks and dough. He also has a score to settle with Zachery Scott, an unscrupulous gun runner dealing with the Regulares, whose beautiful wife, Ursula Thiess, represents a prize greater than the treasure of Montezuma.

A furious gun battle between rebel horsemen and an armed train brings victory for the bandits and the girl as a willing hostage for the American. Love flames between them while the fortunes of war swirl across Mexico in colorful and exciting pageantry, the sights and smells of battle are superbly caught by the CinemaScope color cameras.

Bigger Than Life Much has been written about cortisone, truly one of the medical wonders of our time. "Bigger Than Life," which opens at the Star on Wednesday, tells what happens when the "wonder drug" is used incorrectly. With a strong feeling that doctors and patients should have an increased sense of responsibility about the use of drugs in any form, producer and star James Mason made a special effort to state the case clearly and dramatically.

In depicting the story of Ed Avery, a public school teacher, who is given cortisone to save his life and then falls victim to mental distortions that follow overdoses of the drug, Mason, as producer, has brought a terrifying case history to the screen.

GREENVILLE, S. C. — Mrs. Demetra Christophilli of Greece has arrived at her son's home here to begin "a new life" in America. She is 100.

WHAT ...

Will 1957 Bring for You Mr. Farmer?

Chances are, if you're an irrigation farmer, you'll have another bumper crop in 1957 . . . probably have the normal run of troubles with your wells . . . and you'll probably call McCULLOUGH MOTORS for service. Why????? Because at McCulloughs you KNOW you'll get the best service possible with a minimum of delay. WE KNOW THE IMPORTANCE OF KEEPING YOUR WELLS GOING AT THE CRUCIAL TIME!

WHEN ...

Will We Have a Good Soaking Rain?

Well, that's a question that we'd all like to know the answer to. But . . . you needn't wait on the weather if you're an irrigation farmer . . . and if your wells are equipped with CHRYSLER INDUSTRIAL IRRIGATION ENGINES you'll be assured of an ample amount of moisture when you need it most.

WHY ...

Should I Use CHRYSLER Engines?

Chrysler Irrigation engines are engineered to give you a "FULL DAY'S WORK!" Chrysler, the world leader in irrigation engines, has truly manufactured "Horsepower with a Pedigree" . . .! And here's something else. McCullough Motor Company carries a large stock of repair parts for Chrysler Engines to assure you of a minimum of delay when and if you do have motor troubles.

REMEMBER . . . In 1957, it's CHRYSLER ENGINES for greater prosperity!
