Auto, Truck Sales Boomed When New Models Appeared

A business which has reaped the benefits of the 1956 economy in Deaf Smith County is that of the automobile trade, both in sales of new cars and trucks and used models.

The same period in 1955 saw only 51 new model vehicles registered in the tax collector's office in the courthouse.

big cars has the greatest appeal to our customers," one dealer commented. He added that the attitudes of customers reveal that price is not the primary object when they are ready to buy a new model car.

Medical Value Of Airport Is Cited in Talk

Six Hereford men gave their views on the question "Does Hereford Need an Airport" at noon Wednesday.

And Lion Wayne Thomas, moderator for the six-man panel, urged the 90 men who heard the talks to do their part to keep Hereford an "aggressive and progressive community" by getting out the vote on Tuesday when a $100,000 airport bond proposal is to be presented to the decisions by the City of Hereford.

Thomas cited Jan. 8, airport bond election day, as an important date in the future of Hereford in opening the discussion.

Panel members were Howard Gault, vegetable packer, shipper and farmer; Dr. L. B. Barnett, physician and surgeon; Don Zimmerman, hardware dealer; Leo Forrest, Deaf Smith County Electric Coop manager; Dub Reeves, clothier and chairman of the citizen's airport committee, and Dudley Bayne, city manager.

Dr. Barnett made the strongest plea for construction here of a modern airport, declaring it "a medical injustice (to persons requiring skilled medical attention) if we do not secure this airport."

Speakers emphasized by the other points included:

Seen As Necessary Gault's summary of the benefits to agriculture that come from dusting and spraying of crops. He said that agricultural pilots can continue to fly out of pastures and from short strips as they have in the past, but that we would make their working conditions safer by providing an airport.

But he emphasized the value of the facility, as a necessity in our present stage of civilization, to the entire community.

Zimmerman said that his personal benefits, and that to other businessmen in the city, would come in indirect ways from the proposed airport.

Business will benefit from anything that leads to the growth of the community.

Dr. Barnett said that there have been numerous occasions in the past when emergency aerial service has been required for sick and injured persons here, and told how present inadequate facilities have made such flights hazardous.

Forrest said that he believes the airport would be a paying proposition for the community. He said that persons who object to federal aid, (adding, "I'm opposed to it also in principle") should consider how Hereford in the past has contributed taxes to pay for other people's schools, courthouses and other facilities.

Reeves told of the construction and land acquisition plans of the City Commission. (The committee which he heads was appointed by the commission to aid in determining needs and costs.)

The city proposes to build a 4,000 foot by 75 foot paved primary runway, long enough to accommodate twin engine commercial aircraft with a big payload, plus a caliche cross-strip.

"No Tax Increase" Bayne told the Lions Club audience, "Our city tax structure is unusually sound. Bonds issued for the airport can be retired over a 12 year period without any increase in taxes or property valuation for taxes."

WATER DISTRICT VOTING IS SET FOR TUESDAY

Residents within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 will elect three district directors and 13 county committee members on Tuesday, Jan. 8.

Dr. Mims will succeed Townsend Douglas as C-C president, while Marcus Latham will replace B. F. Cain as vice president, and Ed Skypala succeeds Don Little as treasurer.

Ed Dziuk Sr., chairman of the five-man county committee, emphasized Wednesday morning the need for all residents of the district to take a more active interest in matters affecting the High Plains' most valuable expendable resource — water.

Delinquency Bows Out In Olton Area

Olton, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP)— Authorities here say there is virtually no juvenile delinquency in this town or its surrounding area and they give much credit to FFA and 4-H Club activities.

An expanded Future Farmers of America program and a full 4-H Club program have played an important part in the welfare of Olton youngsters.

The Olton schools FFA board of directors has bought a five-acre tract that will be developed as an FFA and 4-H Club working area.

The Olton City Council and Mayor G. H. Bley are behind both clubs. Bley said that if youngsters are encouraged to take part in worthwhile products, and are kept busy, they give their parents very little trouble.

Bobby Johnson, 17 president of the Olton FFA, said the new tract of land will be used by FFA boys to feed livestock for local and also allow youngsters who live in town to raise livestock for shows.

Boys will be able to use part of the area to conduct experiments in crops and livestock, Johnson said.

Extend Sympathy

Our community was saddened by the death of Mrs. J. E. Morrison of Hereford who was a resident of this community for years. There are a few of the old timers left who lived here when Mrs. Morrison did. Our sympathy goes out to the children who are left behind.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Homfeld and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry and Christine visited Dell City, Tex., Dec. 29 (AP)— Dell City, which residents like to refer to as the "final farm frontier of Texas" is out of the diaper stage.

The 14-mile road that tapers off the Carlsbad Highway, and dead-ends in Dell City, echoes the loneliness of far West Texas. But there's activity in town. Citizens of the sparsely populated area are cemented together with the strong bond of community spirit.

It was this spirit which brought a black top road to the town three years after the boom started, and got a school in operation.

It was this spirit which brought electricity to the town, and got a community center built.

It was this spirit which got a three-day-a-week medical clinic started, and built five churches.

It was this spirit which is bringing telephone communications to the town, and building a bracer recreation center.

Residents, many now settled in new $30-40,000 homes, like to recall the "old days" when they lived in shacks, or tents, and searched the barren desert for water.

Some lucked out. Others failed. Today, the bounds of Dell Valley are pretty well defined. The land is either planted or spoken for.

They like to remember the day the paved road to town was opened six years ago this month.

They like to remember how they opened their school four years ago—a school which still is being built. An addition is being completed now. Those first residents of Dell City sent their children on a 14-mile bus ride daily—to school in Sierra Blanca.

Electricity came last year, as REA lines were brought into the town. The community center was built—a place used frequently.

Dell City doesn't have a resident doctor yet, but the clinic is open three days a week—operated by two El Paso doctors, who make the 104-mile journey to attend to medical needs of residents.

Telephones are coming to town, which was good news to farmers. Some feel this has retarded activity in Dell City. "To have a market, you gotta have a phone," one farmer remarked, telling of the difficulty in getting truck farming operations going in Dell City.

A bracer recreation center is being built in the town, to provide a congregating place for seasonal workers.

R. E. Way is editor of the Dell Valley Review, a newspaper that has been publishing 17 weeks. Total planted acreage this season totaled 14,600 acres, with 35,000 acres capable of cultivation in the Valley.

Furnishing water for these acres are 230 wells... wells which pump with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Shugart and family Sunday night.

New Year's Gathering

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry and Christine and Mr. and Mrs. Shugart and family visited with the Homfelds Monday night. They all played "42" and watched the old year out and the arrival of the new year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Perrin and children visited with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henderson Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruff Sweeney and family visited in Silverton over the weekend.

Here from Hollywood

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Bohannon and children visited her father and brothers, Hugh, Roy and Donald Fortenberry. Also visited Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fortenberry and her mother, Mrs. Nannie Fortenberry for Christmas. They went to see Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fortenberry near Rosedale on Thursday and Mrs. Ida Fortenberry of Amarillo. The Bohannons live in Hollywood, Calif. He also visited with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd West of Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Hall and boys and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henderson and boys visited with the N. E. Tyler family near Rosedale recently and enjoyed games of "42."

Soil Conservation Review Highlights Dry Conditions

At this time of the year it's appropriate that we reminisce a little. Looking over the developments of 1936 that were significant to soil and water conservation in the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District, we find a lot of interesting and some significant happenings. A listing would include these:

1. The initiation of the Soil Bank Program with about 25,000 acres in the District signed up to go back in grass.
2. For many farms in the District it has been the driest year on record. Charles Hoover at Walcott, only got 8.37 inches.
3. The year ends with conditions more favorable for land damaged from blowing than at any time in years. Already top soil has begun to pile up in road ditches and fence rows in parts of the District.
4. Irrigation continues to spread. F. E. Winfrey's well only four miles east and two north of Walcott, extends irrigation to an area heretofore considered only as dry-land.
5. A record snow fell in February. It made the difference in whether or not a lot of native grass died. Grass is almost completely gone on isolated spots where the snow blew off. The snow was followed closely by the most severe dust storm seen in these parts.

6. Luther Lesly was elected, a state director of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts at the state convention in Lubbock in January. Later he was re-elected to serve another five-year term as member of the local SCD board.

7. Don Guseman, Lee Roy Williamson and Will G. Harris proved to be the best land judges in the men's division of the annual land judging contest held on the W. E. Uselton farm in April. Winners of the boys division were Peter Bank, Wayne Couch and Sam Lesly.

8. Most of the churches in town participated in the observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday in May.

9. Al Lee, Donnie Smith and Max Schrader joined the staff of the local SCS work unit during the year. John Burkett and Earnest Gowdy left the unit during the year to work in other locations.

10. More than 100 local farmers, ranchers and business men attended the annual field tour of the District in September. The Deaf Smith County Certified Seed Growers Assn. helped with the affair this year. Hybrid grain sorghums got a lot of attention. The Hereford State Bank and Gifford Hill-Western provided refreshments for the group.

11. Sorghum alnum was the new grass of the year. Locally it only got a lot of talk. However a number of farmers have bought seed for a trial planting next year.

12. Feed shortages over the state caused baled milo stubble to sell for $15.00 per ton locally.

13. The Tierra Blanca SCD was designated for a complete land inventory to be completed by the end of 1939.

14. Twenty five miles of concrete irrigation pipe were installed.

Problems Of Little Brothers

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newswriter

Arthur was 6 and a scant two years older than his brother Harry. He had just started first grade and he felt very grown-up compared to his little brother. Arthur was a small child, wiry and healthy. He looked very much like his maternal grandmother, who was a delicate wisp of a woman. Harry, on the other hand, was big for his age; he looked like his 6-foot-2 Dad. In temperament too, the two boys were very different. Arthur was mechanical-minded, he loved to take things apart and to everyone's amazement he often got them back together again. He was quiet and not very talkative, especially when strangers were about. Harry, on the other hand, was a vivacious curly-haired, attractive youngster who made his presence noticed. He was big and strong, rosy-cheeked and talkative.

It was Harry people noticed and commented about. Mother and Dad were aware of the difference between their boys. How could they help it? They tried to make a point of bringing Arthur into the line. When Arthur was ready for first grade the notion of school was built up just as much as possible. They went over and visited school. Arthur and Mother together, leaving Harry at home. It worked well. Arthur had been enthusiastic about school. Here at least he could outshine Harry. Arthur brought home his little primer. He was learning to read. He read all over the house. He loved to sit on his Daddy's knee and point out the words "See Dick run."

One fine evening Harry got hold of the reading book and crawled up on Dad's lap. He began to read: "See Dick run." Arthur had been busy loading a toy truck but when he saw and heard what was happening he dashed across the room, grabbed the book from Harry's hand, gave him a good swift hard punch. "That's my book!" he screamed. Dad, a little surprised at this violent outburst, tried to protect Harry who was by now violently fighting. When the storm abated a little Dad tried to talk to Arthur, who was still quivering with rage. "He's got no business knowing those words!" yelled Arthur. "He is not in first grade."

Dad smiled to himself — so that was it. It wasn't the book; it was that Harry was encroaching on Arthur's one claim to superiority. After the children were in bed that night Mother and Dad had a long talk about their two boys.

How could they give Arthur the sense of worth he so desperately needed? It was a tough job. Arthur was constantly provoked by his younger brother. Harry was obviously soon going to be able to beat up his older brother physically — he was so much bigger for his age. But not only that he appeared outshone socially and it looked as though he might even be brighter — he'd probably get water grades at school.

"The only thing we can do," said Dad, "is Build Arthur up the best we can at home. Arthur can be the fix-it man that this household just can't live without."

'Soil Conditioner' Attracts Attention Of Coloradans

On mineral-rich Deaf Smith lands, our farmers have produced some of the nation's finest and probably most beneficial food products. But with steady cropping, an increasing interest in the use of fertilizer and other soil builders has been noticed in recent years. Here, from the pages of the Pueblo, Colo., Star-Journal and Sunday Chieftain is a story of a product that has only recently come to the attention of farmers here:

By KEN HUDSON

SALIDA, Colo. — For 15 years Joseph Lionelle had a dream. He spent many hours tramping over mountains in his native Chaffee County — searching for a mineral that would replace the elements needed to insure high vitamin content in vegetables grown on overburdened soil. He didn't give up until he found it.

For the past four years Lionelle's U. S. Soil Conditioning Corp. has been producing a substance that he feels provides the needed minerals. He calls it planter's soil conditioner — and emphatically points out it is not a fertilizer.

While 97 per cent of the conditioner will dissolve under water, it is strictly a ground rock formation. Containing 26 minerals, the conditioner has provided astounding results under analysis of crops grown where it has been applied.

On a test of meadow hay where the conditioner was applied in alternate strips on the same field the results were significant. Where no conditioner was applied the hay had a protein content of 6.5 per cent. Where the conditioner was applied the protein content was 17.5 per cent.

Carotene content — a vital element for quick gain on cattle being fed — increased from 18,200 units where there was no conditioner to 95,000 units where the conditioner was applied. Similar results were obtained on garden vegetables. Potato growers in the San Luis Valley are voicing in their praise of the mined conditioner.

George McDaniels, manager of the Center Potato Growers Co-op, and a small grower himself, reported the results have been highly beneficial.

"Our experience on storing potatoes shows the spuds grown where the conditioner was used just don't rot. The others do after storage. On my own field, the yield was about 50 sacks an acre greater with the soil conditioner than without it," McDaniels said.

He said his cost on the conditioner amounted to about $3 an acre per year. "You don't put it on every year. It seems to work best by putting on 500 pounds to an acre every four years. Maybe it will last longer, but it will go at least four years without decreasing the protein and carotene percentage on hay."

McDaniels reported his protein content on hay increased from 17.30 per cent to 21 per cent by using the conditioner.

Lionelle said the germination percentage on seed planted is more than 50 per cent greater. "I put some of it on an alfalfa field and planted 20 pounds of seed to the acre. I didn't need more than about seven pounds, I found out," Lionelle said.

Lionelle recommends putting on the conditioner for two consecutive years, then skipping for six years. He said analysis of the conditioner shows it contains sulphur, nitrate, potassium, cobalt, copper, zinc, calcium, phosphorus, iron, chlorine sodium, manganese, magnesium carbonate, boron, aluminum, molybdenum, fluorine, iodine carbon, silver, lead, and organic minerals.

One Type of Foreign Aid Seen Needed Right Here In Hereford

Hereford would be a mighty hard place to get around in for a "foreigner," defined by highway engineers as a motorist traveling on roads or streets with which he is not familiar.

Hereford's Park Avenue marks the division between the old part of town built parallel with the railroad, which runs northeast and southwest, and the newer sections with streets going straight north-south and east-west. This form of division of the town can and does lead to some confusion among newcomers.

The only numbered streets are First through Ninth, from Highway 86 to Park Avenue. All other streets are named, with alphabetically named streets from Highway 51 on the west side of town to Star Street in the east part.

Although street-naming follows no particular system, the stranger driving in Hereford should have little trouble finding a certain house number if he knew that Main Street divides the town in a diagonal line, and going both ways from Main, even house numbers are on the right-hand side of the street. Also, from First Street north, even numbers are on the right.

Some cities are making it easier for motorists to find their way around by putting on big, reflective street name signs that can be seen at night. Motorists driving into Detroit and Chicago at night for first time will find a lot of these street name signs. So they won't have to crawl along at a few miles an hour, searching for a strange street name, while faster moving traffic behind them rides practically raiditor - to - trucks.

Some states are providing big map-signs of local areas. There are parking spaces in front of the signs, and "foreigners" can pull off the roads, read the map-sign and find out how to get — safely — where they want to go.

More serious than getting lost in a town are the dangers to a man driving on a road for the first time. With no way of knowing the hazards of the road as local people do, the foreigner is more likely to get into a accident than the local folk.

Many states are taking a second look at the signs on their roads, because they realize that people, driving their roads for the first time are completely dependent on the road signs for warnings of danger. Oregon, for example, has begun to make its signs bigger and easier to read, so foreigners won't go speeding along, see too late a turn they wanted to take, jam on their brakes and cause an accident when the car behind can't stop in time.

Discussion of aid for foreigners often leads to heated expressions of opinion, but the kind of foreign aid highway engineers are talking about seems to be something that nobody will quarrel with.

Michigan School Has Code For Both Parents and Kids

MUSKEGON, Mich. — Tough guardians of teen-age behavior—teen-agers themselves—have worked out a "police yourself" code of conduct here. And with eager cooperation from their parents, the kids are making the code work. It's the project of 1,058 students at Muskegon Catholic Central High School, working with an organization of parents called the Holy Family Assn. The object is to guide teenage conduct without curtailing normal activities of the younger set. The code covers matters from public displays of affection (NO) to letting parents in on the whereabouts (YES). Rules for Parents Parents too have their rules—like encouraging children to make their social center at home instead of the corner drugstore, and staying home when the young people entertain. The Rev. Louis LaPres, school principal, says the codes have been a "tremendous help" as worked out by the parents group and approved by the students, the rules ask parents to: Insist their children not attend parties uninvited and to ban home party crashers; ban after-date parties; agree on party closing hours and furnish transportation for 9th and 10th graders.

SELECTING WOOD GLUES
AP Newsfeatures
DO... use a liquid hide or fish glue for ease of application plus great holding strength; use a liquid resin glue (usually white) for quick-setting, non-staining projects where exceptional holding strength is not necessary.
DO... use a powdered resin glue (which is mixed with water before applying) if you want a strong, stainless, water-resistant adhesive.
DO... use a powdered casein glue for a strong, water-resistant adhesive which is especially good in filling poorly-made joints.
DO... use only a waterproof glue (it must say waterproof on the container, not just water-resistant) for patio furniture and other outdoor projects; use contact cement for strong bonding jobs where clamping is not practical.
DON'T... use a powdered resin glue on teak, lemon or other oily woods.
DON'T... neglect to keep the containers on all glues tightly closed when not in use, since prolonged exposure to air can have a deteriorating effect on adhesives.
DON'T... forget that most glues do not attain their maximum strength or water resistance for several days after they have been applied.

G. I. Home Loans Said Due Changes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) - When the new session of Congress gets going full speed a point of interest to War veterans will be a housing study directed by Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague of the Bryan - Corsicana district.

Judging by the letters and wires coming in from over the nation, from banks and finance houses as well as veterans, a lot of changes in the G. I. housing program will be proposed. The crux of the problem is the interest rate on loans.

The situation is summed up by Oliver Meadows, counsel for the House Veterans Affairs Committee of which Teague is chairman. Meadows hails originally from Emis, which is in Teague's district. Here is his picture of the problem:

Federal Housing Administration loan interest rates have increased from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent, with an additional 1/2 per cent mortgage insurance charge. The margin now is a full 1 per cent on FHA loans and those insured by the Veterans Administration (VA) for veterans.

An act of congress is needed to hike VA loan rates from the present 4 1/2 per cent up to 5 per cent. The committee has received complaints that unless this is done, lenders just won't make money available under the G. I. program. The long accepted differential is only 1/2 per cent.

Teague says even if the rate is increased, it still won't make much difference to the millions of veterans who live in the rural areas of the nation.

He points to the records to show that the banks, which make the loans to veterans with the VA insuring the mortgages, have done most of their business in the cities and heavily populated areas.

The committee has been told that the G. I. loan program doesn't net the banks enough return to interest them in making loans extensively in the more remote areas.

Raising the interest rate by 1/2 per cent, Teague added, would have "the effect of saddling a substantial increase" on the veterans around the cities who now are able to get loans. It would mean $600 to $1,000 more interest payable over the years on a $10,000 loan.

He suggested that one of the ways to make the G. I. housing program a real aid to veterans in the rural areas would be for Congress to direct the VA to make loans directly to GIs where they couldn't get them through the regular program - from banks at 4 1/2 per cent or 5 per cent, with the VA insuring the mortgage.

Explaining the VA now has 250 million dollars available for direct loans, but has not made use of its authority to make them. Teague said it has been proposed that the amount be boosted to a billion dollars and that the VA lend it out.

He said that VA records disclose that 25.2 per cent of all veterans over the nation have made use of the G. I. housing loan program. In Texas the figure is 28.9 per cent.

Meadows said the VA record of loans in Texas demonstrates how the G. I. program has operated largely in the urban areas. The use of the program varies widely; in most of the big cities of Texas, 10 to 50 per cent of the veterans have taken out G. I. housing loans as compared with the state average of 28.9 per cent.

Here are a few specific examples: Midland County, 77.2 per cent to top the list. In Hudspeth County it was 4 per cent - there was 1 loan issued among the 240 veterans residing there.

Teague, a Texas A&M graduate, class of '32, was in World War II and is the most decorated veteran in Congress. Wounded a half dozen times in fighting in Germany, he has 11 decorations.

Auto retail sales in the United States now amount to more than $43 billion dollars annually.

Beauty At Home

Q. How should I apply my powder foundation?
A. Don't use more than is necessary to cover the skin completely and evenly. Dot the face with the correct amount, then smooth it evenly, taking care to cover such points as the eyelids, under the eyes, and at the base of the nostrils. Blend it well into the hairline, and at the base of the neck. Use only enough to cover the skin and give it a smooth evenness of texture.

Q. What makeup will counteract the appearance of a long, thin neck?
A. Use a foundation base on the neck that is lighter in color than the one used on the facial area.
Q. What is the correct makeup for a diamond-shaped face, that is, one with a narrow forehead and chin and a broad jawline?

A. Keep the eyebrows natural, with a slight curve to the arch, and of medium thickness. Apply rouge on the high point of the smile, blending back and upward over the high point of the cheekbones. Keep your mouth completely natural. If the forehead and chin are quite narrow, apply two shades lighter foundation than the base coloring to both forehead and chin.
Q. How can I soften and whiten the skin on my face and hands?
A. After washing well with pure white soap and warm water, wash again in warm buttermilk or sour milk. Wipe off lightly.
Q. What is a good treatment for dry-looking and rough elbows?
A. Use a bath brush on your elbows, and also use lemon as a bleach several times weekly. Simply cut a lemon in half, put one elbow into each half as you lean on them, and stay in that position for about 10 or 15 minutes at a time.
Q. How can tinted or dyed hair be returned to its natural color?

A. There are many removers and restorative preparations on the market for this, and I suggest you buy the restorative product from the same manufacturer whose coloring product you used in the first place. You can also help this process along by giving your hair frequent hot-oil treatments.
Q. What do you think is the correct way for an office girl to dress?
A. The consensus of business executives is that fussy clothing out of place in the office. Trim, tailored outfits that are smart and not showy, in the darker tones, always look well. This does not mean that to be a successful business woman you must garb yourself in a mannish outfit and wear shell-rimmed glasses. Most men appreciate femininity in their office girls — but keep your dress simple and neat.

Q. How can I get lipstick stains out of one of my unwashable dresses?
A. First work some white petroleum jelly or lard into the stain to loosen it, then sponge with carbon tetrachloride or dip into a bowl of this solvent. Should a trace of the color remain, sponge with some deodorized alcohol.

Q. What is a good exercise to help reduce the hips and buttocks?
A. Sit on floor tailor-fashion, with legs crossed near the ankles. Roll away over on your right hip, catching your weight with your right hand. Then reverse this movement, rolling to the left.

Making Bath Salts
Effervescent bath salt is made up as follows: Crush and mix well together five ounces of tartaric acid, five ounces of bicarbonate of soda, and three ounces of rice flour or cornstarch. Put a generous hand full into the tub of hot water just as you are ready to step in.

Peeling Onions
Onions will not make the eyes water if they are peeled under the running cold water faucet. When grinding, place a wet cloth over the top of the grinder and work underneath.

Velvet Flowers
Velvet flowers can be cleaned by using dry bran. Rub on the soiled parts, then brush off. Repeat if necessary.

Plant Fertilizer
Here is a simple and good fertilizer for your plants: Mix a little ammonia in the water with which you sprinkle your plants. This will fertilize the soil and tend to keep away many insects.

Nut Cake
The results will be more satisfactory when making a nut cake if the whites of eggs and nut meats are added last.

Dish Towels
The dish towels will keep sweet and clean if they are washed out after each meal, adding a little ammonia to the soapsuds in which they are washed.

Silver and Gold Lace
Silver and gold laces may be cleaned by washing with a white soapuds. Lay the lace down and scrub lightly with a soft brush. Rinse well, and dry quickly to prevent rusting.

Scratches Silver
To remove scratches from silverware, rub with a paste made of olive oil and putty powder. Rub gently with a soft cloth, then wash in clear, hot water.

Bedroom Slippers
If the bedroom slippers are becoming worn, particularly their inner soles, find an old discarded felt hat, cut new inner soles and glue them in the slippers.

Inexpensive Linens
Inexpensive linens may be made to look much better with a little care. After washing and rinsing, wring dry and roll in a clean cloth. Let it stay rolled for two hours and then iron until thoroughly dry. This will insure a gloss and keep the linen in better shape than if hung on the line.

GRABS REBOUND—Hereford's Fred Lookingbill grabs a rebound in the Hereford-Andrews game played Thursday night. The Whitefaces were in a "stalling" process, and Lookingbill had just missed a free shot after being fouled. Hereford won the game, 57-48, to run their season record to nine wins and three losses. Herd Tries to Avenge Earlier Loss to Dogs

IN WRESTLING BRAWL

Funk Wins Over Joe With Flying Chairs

Jim Wright Slated To Fight Here

Big Jim Wright, the junior heavyweight champion of North America, is scheduled to appear in the Hereford ring Saturday night.

Funk vs. Wright
Wright's opponent will be the popular Dory Funk, presently the Southwest States Junior Heavyweight Champion. In the other match of the double main event, Rip Rogers tackles Juan Humberto.

Both of these matches are for the best two of three falls or one hour time limit. Wright's title will be at stake.

Funk has been banned from the Amarillo wrestling ring until he agrees to wrestle Ray Gunkel. Since this ban from the Amarillo arena Funk has been wrestling steadily in Hereford.

Funk Wins Again
In a wild brawl at the Bull Barn last Saturday, Funk came out winner over rugged Tokyo Joe. The match turned out as expected—mighty rough. It was the continuation of an old rivalry.

Funk and Joe each won a fall before the fireworks broke loose. Seems as though the Nipponese Karate expert resorted to dastardly tactics, and the foreman of the Flying Mare Ranch lost his disposition.

Flying Chairs Already
He left the ring and began to heave chairs at Tokyo Joe, who was standing in the middle of the ring protecting himself with a chair of his own. Six chairs were in the ring at one time. Funk won the fall with a flying chair to the groin to take the match.

Asks For Rematch
Obviously, Funk and Joe aren't the best of friends. After the match Funk said in his dressing room that he wanted a rematch with Joe. Funk's idea was a best two of three falls, no time limit, no disqualification.

Hereford wrestling promoter Harold Wester said he was unable to secure the match for Saturday. Plans are being made to bring the match here in the near future, he added.

CORRECT VIEW NOW
MOUNTAIN VIEW, Wyo.—Residents of this little southwestern Wyoming community and the post office department have finally agreed.

For years, residents of the town have spelled it "Mountain View" but the post office department has stuck to one word, "Mountain-view."

The post office department finally conceded. The latest postal guide spells it "Mountain View."

SPORTS GLANCES
by Bill Knox

"As 1956 comes to a close, it looks as though track and field was the only sport in which the Hereford Whitefaces attained much success.

In that sport the Whitefaces managed to place third in District 1-AA second at the 1-AA regional meet, second in their division of the mammoth Red Raider Relays at Lubbock, second at the Panhandle Relays, and third in their division of the Sandie Relays. They sent four athletes, including a relay team, to the state track meet in Austin.

Smith Shined
Mainly responsible for these fetes was a 180-pound speedster named Wayne Smith. Smith was the anchor of Hereford's track team, which was coached by John Foidexter.

Smith was one of the fastest athletes ever to enter Hereford High School. He dashed the 100 and 220 in 9.7 and 21.3 seconds respectively. He anchored the 440-yard relay team which won first at district and second at region.

Fastest Time
His 9.7 clocking in the 100-yard dash was the fastest in the state in any class. He was sought after by many colleges and finally decided to enroll at Oklahoma A&M.

Football, obviously, was the gloomy spot on the horizon. The Whitefaces could do no better than win three and lose seven and failed to win a conference game.

Only Three Victories
The only three victories were over Tulla, Portales, and Clovis. Losses were to Canyon, Olton, Plainview, Littlefield, Dumas, Levelland and Phillips. Probably the best game played by the Herd was the 31-20 victory over the Clovis Wildcats. They looked good for a half against the district champion Littlefield Wildcats but fell apart after that.

Basketball wasn't so bright either—at the first anyway. The Herd could manage to win only nine games—less than half of the games played. But the Whitefaces finished strong to pull a string of upsets and take third place in the 1-AA District Tournament. Much Better. . . This year things are going much better, and Hereford has already won the nine games which was the year's total in 1956. If they keep going they MIGHT win close to 20 games—that is if they improve like they should.

A pair of ex-Hereford cagers seem to be doing quite well in college cage ranks at the present. Both were members of the 1954 team which was the best quintet ever to don the maroon and white of Hereford.

SCHOLARLY CREW
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Crewmen on the U. S. Destroyer Isherwood claim the title of most scholarly among sailors serving on Pacific Fleet destroyers.

Fifty-one per cent of the enlisted men on the Isherwood and 50 per cent of the officers were enrolled in education courses during the destroyer's six-month cruise in the Far East.

LIMITED EXITS
SAINT JOHN, N. B. (AP)—Civil Defense Director E. M. Slader says an evacuation plan for this city of 60,000 cannot be adequate until there is at least one more exit. Two bridges, at the eastern and western end of the city, provide the only evacuation routes at present.

Cuby Kitchens' Hereford Whiteface cagers will attempt Friday night to avenge an earlier defeat when they journey to Plainview to meet Bob Cleandaniel's charges.

The 3-AAAA Bulldogs defeated the Whitefaces, 50-48, in a thrilling contest at the first of the season. It was a last second jump shot by Bill Taegel which gave the Dogs the victory.

Try For Revenge
This time the Whitefaces will enter the game bent on avenging that defeat. Since losing that contest, Hereford has won nine games and lost only three. They'll be after their tenth win.

Plainview got off to a good start at the first of the season, but since their opening victories, the Bulldogs seem to have cooled off somewhat. They lost only recently to the Levelland Lobos, who could manage to win only one of three games in the Hereford Invitational Tournament. The Whitefaces won two of three to finish second only to the Phillips Blackhaws.

Kitchens said, "We'll have to play better than we have been, but I think we can beat Plainview." He's been sending the Herd through twice a day workouts. They resumed once a day drills when school reopened on Wednesday. Kitchens was working his cagers mainly on defense and offensive patterns.

Morrison Ready
Leroy Morrison, who sprained his ankle against Wellington in the Childrens Tournament, is apparently in top shape now. He said his ankle seems to be completely healed and doesn't bother him a bit now.

"Our boys haven't improved like I expected at the first of the year," the Herd mentor stated. "Our main weakness is determination and desire, and overcoming that weakness is a difficult task to accomplish."

Hawks Still Roll
Meanwhile the Phillips Blackhaws, kingpins in 1-AAA, continue to set a torrid pace. "They seem to get better every time they play," Kitchens commented. Saturday night they defeated Hobbs, N. M., 86-84. The night before Hobbs had lost to the powerful Borger Bulldogs by only one point. It was the Eagles' first loss in 50 games.

Phillips defeated Hereford, 69-53, in the finals of the Hereford Tournament. The Herd will get another try at the Hawks on Jan. 11 at Phillips when district play opens and again later in the season in Whiteface Gymnasium.

Hereford Cook Prefers Recipes From Her Native Land, Germany

Mrs. Douglas Kelley brought many family recipes with her when she came to the United States in 1954. She lived in the southern part of Germany in a small village near Nurember. Four months after she and Douglas Kelley were married, they came to America. She enjoys cooking German dishes very much because Douglas likes the food. Mrs. Kelley also uses a cookbook printed in German for several recipes. The family's favorite meal time fare is German roast, rolls, and vegetable salads, all from recipes Mrs. Kelley used in Germany. The neat housewife prefers to stay home and care for her daughter, Doris, age one year. Kelley is employed by the Jimmie Allred Co.

She prepares Beef Rouladen quite often because they are easy to prepare and very tasty.

Beef Rouladen (to serve four)

- 4 slices veal cutlets or tenderized round steak
- salt and pepper
- mustard
- 1 small diced onion
- 2 slices uncooked bacon diced
- parsley flakes
- water as needed

Sprinkle salt, pepper, and paprika on the meat, and spread the mustard lightly over it. Put a small amount of diced onion and bacon over the meat and sprinkle with parsley flakes. Roll the meat and hold together with toothpicks, and roll in flour. Dip the roll in hot fat and fry until all the sides are an even brown. Water can be added from time to time after the roll browns and meat gravy or milk gravy can be made from the fat.

Pickled Beets

- 1 1-lb. can beets (shoestring, diced, or sliced)
- 8 tablespoons vinegar
- 8 tablespoons water
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- caraway seeds
- 1 small onion
- 4 cloves
- 2 bay leaves
- salt and pepper

Drain the beets and add the juice to the rest of the ingredients. Mix and boil mixture for 10 minutes. Pour drained beets into a bowl and pour hot mixture over it. Cover and cool in refrigerator for 24 hours.

Run For The Sun

A manhunt through a steaming tropical jungle is the story of "Run For The Sun" starting Friday and Saturday at the Star. Starring Richard Widmark and Jane Greer, the movie is about two Americans tracked through the Mexican jungle by two Nazi war criminals and a group of vicious bloodhounds.

Richard Widmark plays a disolute writer living in Mexico, whom Jane Greer, as a national picture magazine reporter, is sent to interview. On the way to Mexico City, their private plane crashes in the jungle and they find themselves the unwelcome guests of a couple of Nazis in hiding.

During the '20s and early '30s, the United States built 45,000 miles of surfaced highways every year.

SMALL MEASURE

Of all things — a man measuring his religion with an eye-dropper. An eye-dropper is used to administer small doses of medicine but it is not proper in the realm of religion. The mercy of God is an ocean divine, a boundless and fathomless deep. An eye-dropper is much too small to convey riches so abundant. How unfortunate is that life that will attempt to take the bounties of God with an eye-dropper. Yet, there are those among us who are satisfied with second-hand religion... the kind a man gets when he attempts to let his wife do his church-going for him. God seeks to talk to all of us direct. Mister, He doesn't want your wife delivering yours via the eye-dropper. Go to church... listen to the Divine voice of God as He seeks to pour His infinite grace and goodness into your soul. Don't be satisfied with such small measure... an eye-dropper full.

The first carload of sugar beets ever grown in the State of Texas were produced on the McDonald Irrigated Farm. They were shipped to the United States Sugar and Refining Co. at Garden City, Kan., and brought $4 per ton. The laboratory test showed 16.1 per cent sugar and 83.7 per cent purity — an excellent beet. Irrigation means more beet acreage for the coming season which could eventually mean a $1,000,000 sugar refinery at Hereford.

How Can I?

Q. How can I make a glue that will stick paper or cloth to metal, wood, or glass, and leave no stain? A. By dissolving 1 tablespoonful of ordinary gelatin in 2 to 2½ tablespoonfuls of boiling water. Boil a few minutes and then add a little sugar while still hot.

Q. How can I remove grease spots from wall paper? A. Mix pipe clay and water to the consistency of cream, apply it to the grease spots and allow it to remain for 24 hours.

Q. What is a good remedy for sore lips? A. Mix and apply this solution: 1 ounce of glycerine, 1 dram of borax, and 1 pint of water.

Q. What is the best material to use for darning tablecloths? A. The best way is to save all the pieces that are cut off when hemming tablecloths. The threads can be pulled and wrapped onto a spool, and these threads used for darning.

Q. How can I launder colored handkerchiefs? A. Wash and boil colored handkerchiefs does not fade them, but hot irons do. If ironing could be dispensed with they would remain bright much longer.

Q. How can I keep eggs fresh for a few weeks? A. It is claimed that eggs will keep fresh for a month if they are immersed for one minute in boiling water.

Q. How can I clean polished surfaces, such as woodwork? A. Dissolve two tablespoons of borax in a cup of boiling water. Then add three pints of cold water. Wash with a flannel cloth, and dry with a soft linen or chambray. Finally, use a little linseed oil or a good furniture polish.

Q. What should be done when one feels that a sore throat is coming on? A. Try gargling with a solution of one teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of carbonate of soda to half a glass of water.

Q. How can I prevent the contents of a saucepan or kettle from boiling over? A. Grease the inner sides of the pan to the depth of an inch from the top.

Q. How can I clean a cat's fur? A. By rubbing gently, but thoroughly, with one cup of granulated cornmeal, to which has been added a pinch of fine grape seed. Repeat several times, using the same meal. This will not only clean the fur, but will also remove fleas.

I don't know why people are so interesting, but it always has been — Gladys Miller.

Normally, says G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, enough rain falls on Texas to cover the state to a depth of 30 inches with water. Unfortunately, he adds, only about 14 percent of this 30 inches is utilized, the other 86 percent is lost to evaporation or runoff. Hold water where it falls for maximum benefit, he says.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value. In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS. The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations. Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other facts that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Household
Tips

A portion of leftover Harvard beets may be added to an envelope of onion soup to advantage. If the beets are sliced, chop them; if they are shoestring shape, leave them as is. Make up the soup according to package directions and simmer the beets (with any sauce) with it, then add sugar and lemon juice to taste. Serve with a topping of sour cream, if it is available, or with whipped cream to which salt and a little lemon juice has been added.

Know how to make a bacon curl? As each slice of bacon is removed from the skillet after cooking, twirl it around a fork.

Don't keep homemade chicken or beef stock more than a few days; refrigerate it as soon as it is made.

Ever stuff tomatoes with canned drained kidney beans, diced celery, grated onion and mayonnaise?

If you choose very young chicken for frying, it isn't necessary to cover the skillet after browning.

Grated Parmesan and Romano cheese can usually be used interchangeably in recipes.

Two pounds of potatoes, cooked and mashed, usually need 1/3 to 1/2 cup hot milk and 3 to 4 tablespoons of butter or margarine.

More than 700,000 miles of rural U. S. highways were surfaced from 1920 to 1935.
