Tooley back from Atlanta jail, protest

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Randy Tooley didn't enjoy his stay in the Atlanta, Ga., City Jail. But he would stay there again. For a reason.

Tooley left Hereford on Oct. 3 to participate in an "Operation Rescue" protest at three abortion clinics in Atlanta.

The "rescue" began Oct. 4 12 days later, Tooley was released from jail. "It was like in the movies where the sheriff says, 'You're in a heap of trouble, boy,'" Tooley said. "I believe they wanted to teach us a lesson. The tried to discourage us from coming back."

"Us" was a group of 350 persons from across the country who participated in "Operation Rescue."

"Operation Rescue has been in place for about 15 years," Tooley said. "It was formed to picket abortion mills and to counsel with women."

Tooley said he has been a Christian for four years, and decided two years ago to become involved in the pro-life movement.

"As a Christian, I believe abortion is murder. Abortion is a serious thing, and I thought a lot of Christians weren't taking it seriously enough."

"If someone told me at noon that they were going to cut my child's head off at 1 p.m., I would try to do something about it. Well, I'm trying to do something about this. I feel my actions as a Christian should line up with my beliefs."

On the morning of Oct. 4, Tooley joined one of three groups of volunteers who followed the non-violent structure of Operation Rescue.

"We physically place ourselves between the abortion mill and the woman," Tooley said. "As long as we are physically between them, the child can't be murdered."

Tooley and 150 other protesters were arrested for trespassing on private property, unlawful assembly and refusing to obey an officer. Tooley was picked up, literally, by Atlanta police and carried to jail.

"Most of the Atlanta police were very nice to us," Tooley said. "Very few of them were being rough. There was a pastor sitting in front of me, and the police used their fingers on the pressure points behind his ears to try to pick him up. He passed out."

"We didn't voluntarily walk away, but we didn't do anything violent. This pastor was totally passive, and he passed out. They just took him and threw him on the bus. They had to take him to the hospital, and he almost died. He never complained, but they used very excessive force on someone who was totally non-resistant."

Tooley said he and 150 other men who were part of the "rescue" were locked together in a cell that was 15 feet wide and 200 feet long. "We had church services twice a day," Tooley said. "The Catholics also had a Mass besides those services. There was a real unity among us even though we

DSGH using cancer detector

Breast self-examination is a woman's first line of detection for breast cancer, and while this is most convenient, the probing fingers are liable to pass over a pea-sized malignancy hidden in the healthy, fibrous tissue.

Hereford women now have a chance to detect those remote malignancies with Deaf Smith General Hospital's new mammography machine which exposes the cancer before the cancer seizes the woman.

"It works on a low-dose X-ray and it makes a film of the breast," said the DSGH administrator Gary Moore. "It will check for lumps, stones and calcifications and can even pick up a tumor the size of a grain of rice. When you find a tumor that small, the cure rate is 95 to 98 percent."

The hospital ordered the $62,395 machine in the spring and it arrived last week.

"We've bought the machine to provide a service at a comparable price in the Panhandle for breast screening. We've had about 40 women in this week and we've already found some abnormalities in some of the tests," said Moore.

Moore said the screenings cost $103.50 for both breasts with two views per breast. The cost includes the interpretation fee.

Any woman may request the screening without a physician's approval, but radiology supervisor Claudia Smith said the hospital will notify the woman's attending physician if a tumor is found.

Smith, Suzanne Rose, a radiology technologist, and another female technologist perform all the screenings to help the women feel more comfortable while being tested.

"We three do all the screening," said Smith. "In those mobile units you might have a man doing it and that can make a woman feel uncomfortable. Many women just don't feel good about exposing those body parts."

Moore said the only discomfort the woman should feel during the mammography is the flattening of the breast in order to get the clearest X-ray possible. The flatter the breast, the better the view with the least amount of radiation.

"The machine turns to all angles so we can get lots of different views of the breast," said Smith. "And no breast is too small to be tested."

If an abnormality is discovered in a woman's breast, the doctor may use the machine to see the mass while obtaining a sample of it with a needle-like tool. If water is discovered in the sample, it usually means it's a harmless cyst. If no water is found, the mass could be cancerous.

Red Ribbon Week proclaimed

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

National Red Ribbon Week is being observed in Hereford and across the nation this week to help promote a drug-free society.

The Health and Safety Committee of the Deaf Smith County

Chamber of Commerce, headed by Dr. Stan Fry Jr., is leading the campaign in Hereford. Most public and private schools in Hereford are helping promote the program.

this is the first National Red Ribbon Week, which is being promoted by the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth and Drug Free Youth of America. The honorary chairmen are President Ronald Reagan and his wife, Nancy.

The Red Ribbon Campaign began when Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena was murdered by drug traffickers in Mexico in 1985. The red ribbon will be used as a symbol to reduce the demand for drugs, just as the yellow ribbon symbolized the American hostages in Iran.

Red ribbons will be distributed throughout the community through Wednesday, which is National Red Ribbon Day. Most school children will have an opportunity to wear a red ribbon which is labeled "The Choice For Me-Drug Free."

Red ribbons will also be placed on car antennas and in other locations to help promote the drug-free program during the week.

Red ribbon proclamation

Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher (seated) signed a proclamation on Thursday designating the week of Oct. 23-29 as "Red Ribbon Week" in Hereford. On hand for the signing were members of the Peers As Leaders (PALS) group at Hereford High School. The members include (back, from

DSC voters like favorites

Until recently, most pollsters and observers were predicting that the 1988 Presidential election between Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis and Republican nominee George Bush would be close. If the results of the past five presidential elections provide any evidence as to the results of the 1988 election, it is probable that the election will less close in Deaf Smith County than it is nationally.

Nationally, only two of the last five presidential elections have been close: the elections of 1968 and 1976. This was also the case in Texas. In Deaf Smith County, only one of the last five presidential elections was close: the election of 1976.

In 1968, the Republican nominee, Richard Nixon, won a majority of the popular vote in Deaf Smith County with 52.5% of the total 4,713 votes cast. The Democratic party won a plurality in Texas with 41.4% of the votes. In presidential elections, a candidate winning the largest share of the popular vote in a state receives all of that state's electoral votes and is said to have won a plurality of votes (the most votes of any candidate, but not a majority of all votes). The Republicans received a plurality of 43.4%.

In 1972, the Republican nominee, again Richard Nixon, received a majority of the popular vote in Deaf Smith County winning 73.7% of the total 5,009 votes cast locally. The Republicans also received a majority, 59.6%, of the presidential votes in Texas while

Congress ends productive term

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 100th Congress, ending a productive two-year run today with an early morning flurry of legislative action, sent President Reagan a compromise bill providing new weapons to fight the war on drugs.

Congress also approved tax adjustment legislation with a three-year price tag of $4.1 billion.

It upped the ante for Wall Street inside traders, passing legislation to increase fines and prison terms for individual offenders and to penalize investment firms that permit the practice.

But efforts to impose economic sanctions against Iraq for poison gas attacks against Kurdish villagers were blocked in the House.

Chairman Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the sanctions bill was bottled up by House members beholden to "special interests," including the U.S. oil and agricultural industries. He vowed to try again on sanctions legislation early next year.

A struggle to reconcile differences between the House and Senate versions of the anti-drug bill caused Congress to abandon plans to adjourn for the year in early October.

Many senators, including virtually all of those up for re-election on Nov. 8, had left town and a handful of senators remained to guide the Senate through the final hours of the 100th Congress. All bills were adopted by voice votes.

In the House, the anti-drug bill was adopted 346 to 11. The tax adjustment bill passed, 358-1.

The Senate finally adjourned at 3:16 a.m., about 20 minutes after the House closed down.

"The 100th Congress came in like a lion and it is about to go out like a lion," said Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., moments before the final gavel cracked.

Hours before adjournment, House and Senate leaders called President Reagan to announce the end was near.

"The 100th Congress is coming to a star-spangled close," the president was told by Byrd who wore a star-spangled tie for the occasion.

Byrd and Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas told reporters they believe the 100th Congress has compiled the most productive record of any Congress in 20 years.

The drug package would fight illegal drugs through law enforcement, stiffer penalties, treatment, rehabilitation, education and aid for authorities in drug-producing countries.

It would make it possible for those possessing small amounts of drugs for "recreational" use to be hit with up to $10,000 in civil fines and, beginning next September, to face loss of

Bystanders hurt in stampede

State fair shootout leaves one dead, three wounded

DALLAS (AP) — A shoot-out on the midway at the State Fair of Texas late Friday left one dead and three wounded, including a police sergeant shot in the hand when he grappled with a gunman.

Two other officers were injured in related scuffles, and numerous bystanders were hurt when they were knocked down or trampled as thousands fled from the site of the gunfight, just outside the Cotton Bowl.

The sergeant, Manuel Vasquez, 37, was in stable condition early Saturday morning at Baylor University Medical Center, where he underwent surgery.

The man who police said shot Vasquez died of multiple gunshot wounds, according to Baylor nurse Debbie Mecham. His name was not released.

The incident apparently began about 11:45 p.m. with a shooting in a fair restroom, said Dallas police Capt. John Holt.

An officer who overheard the shot chased several people through the midway crowd and found the sergeant, the gunman, and another man struggling on the ground, Holt said.

He said the gunman pointed a pistol at the officer in pursuit. The officer fired, the man returned fire, and the officer shot a second time, Holt said. He did not identify the officer.

In addition to the gunman and the police sergeant, two other men were shot, one in the restroom and one on the midway, Holt said.

They were identified by Parkland Memorial Hospital nurses as Richard Vasquez, 35, of Dallas, and Joey Henry, 23. Vasquez — no known relation to the police sergeant — was in serious condition with a wound in the left chest. Henry, also in serious condition, was shot in the back, said an emergency room nurse who declined to give her name.

At Baylor, Sgt. Vasquez' mother, Druba Vasquez of Irving, was told by another family member that the sergeant was in danger of losing a finger and had burns on his hand.

Ms. Vasquez said she always worried about her son's career. "You have to be concerned," she said. "It's a dangerous job."

A witness to the shooting said Sgt. Vasquez saved his life.

"If it hadn't been for that cop, I would have got shot. He got ahold of his (the gunman's) hand," Lee Rodriguez said. He and his family were leaving the fair when the shooting broke out and the combatants fell on top of Rodriguez' pregnant daughter, Vickie Rodriguez, 18.

She was one of seven pregnant women treated at Parkland and Baylor for injuries or premature labor caused by the fair-goers' stampede. Baylor officials said they treated five other people trampled or bruised in the crush.

Police were still trying to determine early Saturday what triggered the violence.

The police shooting came on the heels of a brawl between black and Hispanic fair-goers, said police Cpl. D.H. Boy. He did not know if there was any connection between the brawl and the later shootings.

Boy was being treated at Baylor for a bruised arm, suffered when he arrested a young Hispanic man who had a handgun in his waistband, the officer said.

A crowd had followed Boy and other officers as they led the man to a substation shortly before Sgt. Vasquez was shot, Boy said.

When Boy and other officers realized an officer had been shot, they began moving through the panicked fair-goers to help him.

"It was pretty scary. They were all coming at us and you didn't know who had a gun," said Boy, 42, who has been a Dallas officer for 10 years.

"All I know is it got wild out there real fast," he said.

Thousands of people headed for exits when the shooting broke out.

Gloria Pena, 17, said she and a friend tried to climb a 6-foot chain link fence to escape the gunfire, but she could not make it because she is seven months pregnant. She and her friend were soon engulfed by the crowd.

"We were both crying and holding each other and didn't know what to do," Ms. Pena said while waiting for care at Baylor. "Then she fainted."

Also at Baylor, John Hearn, 12, of Dallas, recalled that he and six of his friends had to run as fast as they could to keep from getting knocked down.

"People were getting knocked down all over, just falling all over the place," said Hearn, who reported hearing six or seven gunshots.

Juan Salazar, 37, of Dallas, was high above the midway on the Texas Star ferris wheel when the shooting began.

"I heard two or three shots and people in the center — in the middle — started running in every direction," Salazar said. "After that, you could see people in different spots just running like crazy — just getting away from this area."

The Democratic presidential nominee, lagging behind Bush in the polls, was taking his case to television, both in a series of new, fiery commercials and in news interviews as he sought to raise his stock among the voters.

In his television commercials, unveiled Friday, Dukakis calls

Bush's attacks on his record "full of lies and he knows it."

However, the Bush campaign has responded that the ads are truthful. Dukakis, who has been criticized for lacking passion, appears angry in an ad titled "Counterpunch."

"I'm fed up with it," he says as he clicks off a television set showing a "negative" commercial for Bush.

The Bush commercial, showing Dukakis riding in a tank, attacks the Massachusetts governor on defense issues. But Dukakis says in his ad that both candidates want a strong defense.

"So this isn't about defense issues. It's about dragging the truth into the gutter. And I'm not going to let them do it," Dukakis says.

Bush, meanwhile, called for an in-

"A lot of the police felt that we were just doing this to get put in jail. They told us we made our point, but the whole thrust was to be there to prevent abortions, not cause problems for the police."

Tooley is planning to participate in a "National Day of Rescue" on Oct. 29, where "rescues" will be held in 30 cities across the country. The group plans to go back to Atlanta the first week of December.

"They tried their best to discourage us from coming back to Atlanta, but we will be there. We have a choice of obeying Man's law or God's law, and we will be obeying God's law."

Bush today was meeting at his home in Washington with Armando Valladares, who was freed six years ago after serving 22 years in a Cuban prison. Valladares, who wrote about his ordeal in the book "Against All Hope," has been cited by the vice president as one of his heroes.

Bush also planned to attend an Italian-American dinner tonight in Washington.

The machine was placed in a newly-decorated room at DSGH with carpeting, plush furniture and wall coverings which, according to Moore, should be more home-like than the sterile feeling of most hospital rooms.

FLAVORED HONEY

Dear Heloise: I remember reading in your column a method of flavoring honey. It sounded delicious and now when I want to try it I can't find the article. Could you please reprint this information for me. Thanks! — A Faithful Reader, Indianapolis, Ind.

I'd be happy to! Mix about two cups of honey with a package of unsweetened powdered drink mix. Depending on your taste you may not need all the package. Strawberry and raspberry are delicious! It is a great topping for toast, hot cereal or pancakes. — Heloise

STRAIGHT TALK

By Gerald McCathern

In 1987, the U.S. trade deficit was in excess of $170 billion dollars which means that the U.S. imported $170 billion more products than it exported.

This enormous deficit was brought about by the Reagan Administration's total commitment to a "free-trade" doctrine, when in actuality, free-trade has been a one-way street—with the nations of the world being given an open door to U.S. markets while closing their doors to U.S. products.

Not only has this policy resulted in the exportation of U.S. dollars, U.S. jobs and U.S. industry—it has also resulted in additional tax burdens on U.S. taxpayers.

The $200 billion dollar budget deficit can be blamed to a great extent on U.S. trade policies. For instance, a cotton shirt manufactured in the U.S. from cotton grown by U.S. farmers, milled in U.S. textile mills and manufactured in U.S. shirt factories will generate approximately 40% of its retail value in taxes for local schools, local government, state treasuries and the federal treasury. However, the same shirt which is manufactured in Hong Kong from foreign grown cotton, entering the U.S. with no import taxes will generate less than 10% of its retail value in taxes as it goes directly to the retail merchant for sale to the consumer.

Fair trade—or Equity of Trade—should be implemented as U.S. trade policy.

Equity of trade would place an import tax on foreign products equal to the total taxes paid by U.S. producers and manufacturers for similar products.

The taxes levied on imports should be placed in special drawing rights accounts and credited to the importing nation, to be used only to purchase equal value of U.S. grown or manufactured products for export.

The result of such a policy would be a balance of trade, without retaliation against U.S. exports.

American Cancer Society to participate in Health Fair

Health Fair '88 was one of the topics discussed when board members serving on the Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society met Wednesday in the boardroom of Deaf Smith General Hospital.

President Amy Gilliland introduced Tracey L. Harmel, the ACS field representative serving this district, and new board member, Mary Johnson.

Board members will be manning a booth during the Health Fair which is set from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford Community center. Three videos will be available for public viewing throughout the day including a film on self-breast examination. Also, information booklets will be distributed as well as pamphlets on proper nutrition. The fair is being sponsored by the Family Living Committee of the Deaf Smith County Extension Service and Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Members also discussed the Great American Smokeout to be held Nov. 17. Gilliland passed out information on the Smokeout and asked board members to consider a chairman and co-chairman for the event. She also explained that the DSC Unit will be encouraging local residents to "adopt-a-smoker" for the 24-hour observance.

Before the conclusion of the meeting, Harmel informed members that the American Cancer Society now has a toll-free telephone service (1-800-ACS-2345) that answers cancer-related questions asked by the public and cancer patients and their families.

The new system will expand this Society service and it will complement other existing information resources. The Society offers information about: specific cancer sites, cancer-related detection examinations, ACS programs and cancer's warning signals. The service, Harmel said, will be staffed by trained personnel using computerized data.

Board members in attendance included Dr. Mary Birdsong, C.W. Allen, Debbie Holmes, Susan Robbins, Richard Ottesen, Mildred Hicks, Gilliland, Kee Ruland, Charlotte Clark, Nikki Walser, Harmel, Johnson and Sandy Stagner.

The next meeting is planned at noon Nov. 16 at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Explaining material

Health Fair '88, set from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center, will offer local residents the opportunity to participate in free screenings and demonstrations. There will be numerous agencies involved in the annual fair including the Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society. ACS board members will be distributing information booklets to the public as well as showing three videos including one on self-breast examination. Looking at some of the literature that ACS provided is (from left), Kee Ruland, C.W. Allen and Debbie Holmes.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter warning your readers to drive as if every person on the road was drunk, on drugs or crazy. You said, "There are an awful lot of goofy drivers out there." The very next day I read about an accident in Midland, Tex., that upset me terribly.

A 23-year-old guy was driving a van that plowed into an oncoming truck. Five beautiful young men, all members of the Midland Boys Club, died in that crash. Thirteen people were injured.

At first it was reported that the 23-year-old kid who was driving the van had fallen asleep at the wheel. Later the facts came out. He was trying to dislodge a soft drink can from beneath the accelerator.

Ann, tell your readers that driving requires total concentration and to take one's eyes off the road for just a few seconds can be disastrous.—A.J. in Dallas

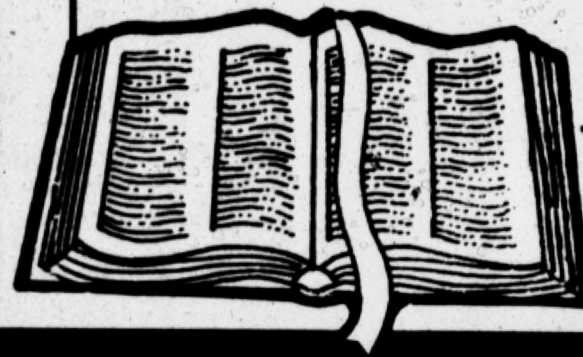

DEAR DALLAS: You did, and in a most effective way. Bless you.

SACROILIAC SLIP

The wrong bend of the wrong time, and "GODS! There goes my coccyx!" This joint between the spine and hipbones can slip slightly through accident or excessive activity. It can cause either immediate or delayed pain in lower limbs. Your chiropractor can correct this condition by lower spine and pelvic manipulation. If you're hurting, we can help you.

Things you should know about Chiropractic:

- Massage & Manipulation
- No Harmful Drug Use
- Thorough X-ray Exam

The whole body is the most important concern of chiropractic. It deals with the inter-relationship of the central nervous system, the brain and the spinal column and their single and combined effect on the rest of the body as partially when malfunctions occur.

"The Bank with Confidence"

By O.G. NIEMAN

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says the best things in life are free...or available on easy terms.

Football teaches players some important facts of life. Unfortunately, one of them is that someone has to warm the benches.

Two things are bad for the heart—running upstairs and running down people.—Bernard Baruch Preachers have a tough job. If you don't believe it, ask Doug Manning, a former Baptist preacher who is now involved in publishing books, counseling and professional speaking engagements.

In addition to enduring the remarks about their one-day work week, preachers have to please a wide variety of people—including deacons or church boards—and all with different needs and different personalities.

Needless to say, preachers are just like everyone else, we find a lot of good ones, and a few bad ones. The same can be said for all professions, including newsmen. All of this leads up to a story we heard about a new preacher in town whose congregation was made up mostly of farmers and ranchers.

Now all these farmers and ranchers were in dire need of a good "gully washer" since it had been some time since the last rain. Their crops and pastures were suffering and they desperately needed help.

Some of the church leaders suggested that the new minister include a special prayer for rain during his next sermon.

The rural church was his first assignment, right of the seminary, and he was eager to please. He pledged to devote the entire Sunday service to an appeal for rain.

The preacher made big plans and spread the word in the community. That Sunday morning the church was full.

The minister was forceful and enthusiastic. He prayed, he cried and he implored. The appeal went on for more than two hours.

Finally exhausted, the preacher slumped to the floor and a skeptical congregation filed out.

But, before long, dark clouds began to gather. Thunder was heard, accompanied by brilliant lightning. The rain had, indeed, arrived.

It came down in torrents. The dry ground drank it up, and the farmers and ranchers in the congregation rejoiced.

But, the rain didn't stop. Before long the topsoil began to wash away, crops were drowned and fields were water-logged.

The farmers and ranchers gathered at the coffee shop to discuss their situation.

"Well," said one, "the Lord sure heard our prayer for rain. But he kinda over-did it."

"It's not His fault," said one of the deacons. "We wanted a simple prayer, but that young whippersnapper gave us a whole revival. The Lord just sent what we asked for. It's what we get for hiring a preacher who don't know nothin' about farming."

Court choices

For a number of years, this writer has been urged by some readers to endorse candidates in Texas Supreme Court races. The requests came because voters knew so little about the candidates and they felt safe following the conservative views of this editorialist.

Hopefully, voter interest in these judicial races seems to be at all-time high this year. This is partly due to critics of the current court for its judicial activism, to media publicity on the large amounts of campaign contributions made by individuals and law firms which decisions pending before the court, and to allegations that many companies are choosing now to move to Texas because of recent decisions by the Supreme Court.

A number of industry and business groups are campaigning for a conservative slate of justices, which includes four Republicans and two Democrats. This group points to a poll which indicated that 62 percent of the voters agree that reform is needed and some of the judges should be replaced, and that 70 percent feel there should be a balance of views—some Democrats and some Republicans.

The candidates being supported by the conservative groups includes: Tom Phillips (R) for chief justice, Paul Murphy (R) for Place 1, Nathan Hecht (R) for Place 2, Raul Gonzales (D) for Place 3, Jack Hightower (D) for Place 4, and Eugene Cook (R) for Place 5.

We endorse this slate, believing that voters have a real opportunity to restore balance to the Supreme Court if they look beyond partisan labels in the judicial races.

Some memories move with you

By PHIL LATHAM

Lufkin Daily News

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — We had outgrown the place or, rather, it seemed that way over the last four years.

I remember the day my wife and I first saw it. Freshly painted walls, beautifully clean carpets. In classifiedes it was a 3BR, 2B, WBFP, CH-A, DPLX. If it wasn't all we had ever wanted, it was just what we needed at the time to house our family, which was growing even then.

We made up our minds quickly. We rented the place, moving from some other damp and cramped quarters into what seemed like luxury.

The family grew by two in the place. We brought home a little girl who could cry loud enough in the morning for the neighbors to hear. Two years later, we brought home another son.

The children loved the place as we did. They ran screaming up and down the long hall, parked their pillows in the living room for Saturday morning cartoons and enjoyed the sanctity of having their own rooms.

But, as the family grew, so did our stacks. It was ... put the laundry here ... stack the papers there ... shove the books under there ... throw the toys in that ... stick the toaster behind this ... stuff the crafts up above.

Sometimes, under the guise of spring cleaning, we played "stacks," and everything would get shifted one position over. We would feel good for a few months until things got out of hand and we found ourselves playing stacks again.

When the girl was big enough we took her out of the crib and put her in a pretty white canopy bed her mother bought. We put the bed flush against one wall so that she wouldn't fall out.

She loved the bed, loved the freedom it gave her. Late at night we often heard her humming and tapping her feet against the wall, reassurance that she wouldn't fall.

Being, as she was, just a little girl, those feet weren't always clean. One day while cleaning up, I noticed five, almost perfect, toe prints on the white wall. A dab of Pine Sol would have wiped them clean forever. The toe prints stayed.

In the arduous task of moving, I found the toe prints again. Moving couches, beds and chests was difficult enough, but it was a heavier load to leave those prints behind.

We cleaned the place before we left. Vacuumed rugs, scrubbed floors, cleaned the oven. As I stood in the empty house, I rediscovered the excitement we had felt when we first saw it. I heard the echoes of children's laughter ringing down the halls and smelled the turkey cooking from Thanksgivings and Christmases.

The place was clean but it wasn't spotless. I left it to someone else to clean the toe prints from the wall.

A few days later, settled down in our new house, I noticed a smudge on my daughter's wall.

I'm not so sure if my daughter put them there or if I willed them on that wall myself. No matter. They are there, they will stay.

Letters to the Editor

(Editor's note: Mr. Pesina wrote a Letter to the Editor in response to the story in the Oct. 16 Brand, when his name and case were mentioned by a candidate in the sheriff's race in reference to the county policy on trustees.)

Mr. Pesina's letter was edited because the Brand's policy is not to print letters of endorsement or opposition for any candidate in any election within 30 days of the election.)

Dear editor:

I pleaded guilty to a theft charge in Potter County and received a five-year sentence. In Potter County they have a maximum unit for dangerous criminals. If I am as bad as I was made out to be, why didn't they have me in that unit?

It's because I'm one that can be trusted and be a good trustee.

Hereford residents were "reminded" of the terror and uncertainty of the past summer, about finding a house violated by burglars. I was made to look like one on the Most Wanted list. It was said that when this burglar is finally caught and returned to Deaf Smith County Jail they make me a trustee.

Not only were my rights to a trial violated, but I was convicted and found guilty.

A trustee's life is not an easy one, unless you call an easy life one where you get up at 3:30 a.m., cook breakfast, serve meals, then wax and strip floors, and paint. It's not mandatory, but that's what a good trustee is about, working hard for 10 to 12 hours.

Refugio Pesina

Dear editor:

As a member of a coalition of groups which undertook a voter registration campaign here in Hereford, I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who participated in the campaign for their support of this non-partisan effort.

For four weeks, volunteers participated in an effort to increase voter registration rates in our community by going door-to-door in neighborhoods with low voter registration rates. While the national trend shows us fewer people are participating in elections, we, here in Hereford, can be proud that we have taken steps to insure that our community does not lag behind in political participation. The voter registration campaign here was successful, and it was due to the individuals in our community who volunteered hundreds of hours to improve our community's standing in voter registration.

Registering voters is the first step. We must equally dedicate ourselves

Bootleg Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnsongrass farm on Tierra Blanca Creek Creek claims there's a way to solve the tax problem without getting defeated for office.

Dear editor:

Anybody who knows what 2 plus 2 is, whether he's running for President or Congress, knows that if the country is ever going to stop going in the hole year after year, more taxes have got to be raised.

But to say so is to get defeated for office. It makes no difference that it now takes $150 billion a year just to pay the interest on the national debt. You say we've got to have more taxes and you lose.

Congress may not be aware of it, but it has not stumbled on a way to get a tax increase without voting on it, without endangering members' plans for keeping their jobs the rest of their lives.

For example, there are more military installations scattered around in this country, dating to years back before guided missiles were invented, than are needed to defend the nation. The Army would like to eliminate them, Congress would like to eliminate them at a saving of $5 billion a year, but where's the Congressman who'd allow a military base to be closed if it's in his district?

So Congress hit on a plan. It voted to let an independent commission decide which military base will be closed. Unless two-thirds of Congress rejects the commission's list of closings, the bases are automatically closed, un-voted on, and Congress is off the hook.

Here at last is a way to let Congress and a President raise taxes without getting beat. Turn the job over to a commission. Your hands are tied and your pledge not to raise taxes is intact.

You might say, if commissions are going to do all the work, what's Congress going to do?

Leave Congress out of this. When 98 percent of all Congressmen get re-elected time after time, you know their hands are full just holding on to their jobs for life.

Yours faithfully,

Editorial opinion around Texas

By The Associated Press

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from around Texas:

The Duke a Texas-Style Democrat?

Texas Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby is counting his Dukakis before they hatch.

"When (Lloyd) Bentsen becomes vice president, I'm going to run for his Senate seat," Hobby said while campaigning in Marshall for the national Democratic ticket....

Hobby is taking the Democratic Party line, the one he is supposed to take while serving in public office as a Democrat, and one also taken by Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, who is also planning a run for the Senate if the Michael Dukakis-Bentsen ticket is elected. Also taking that line is State Treasurer Ann Richards, who is eyeing a run for the gubernatorial nomination in two years.

Good Democrats all.

But you have to notice that all of them spend more time talking about grandfatherly Lloyd Bentsen than they do about the Duke, who, at last count, was heading up the national ticket.

... They are supporting (Dukakis) because he is a Democrat, they are Democrats and George Bush and Dan Quayle are Republicans.

If Charles Manson were running as a Democrat, Hobby, Richards and Hightower would support him. It's the law of the land. As a Democrat once said: "You follow the party line, regardless of the mistakes that might be made. If you have a crazy horse in front of the cart...you just hang on until you can get another one."

Dukakis is not a crazy horse; he's as smart as a fox. But he's assuredly not a Texan-style Democrat. "Heck-fire," the West Texas cowpuncher might say, "Ronald Reagan is more of a Texas-style Democrat than is Mike Dukakis." And he'd be right.

... If Michael Dukakis were running for governor or even senator from Texas, he'd be lucky to finish seventh in a six-man race. He wouldn't be seriously considered for (or) win any post on a statewide basis. His beliefs are that laughable.

That's why it's such a waste to watch these good Texas Democrats pushing so hard for the national Democratic ticket in Texas. It's difficult to sell a product if you never mention it by name.

Gun Idea Should Be Killed

The Texas State Rifle Association will go before the Legislature for the third time with a bill that would allow the majority of private citizens to carry concealed handguns. Since Texas lawmakers had no difficulty putting this ill-advised piece of legislation down twice before, there should be no problem the third time.

The last thing Texas needs is more people carrying concealed weapons.

The proposed legislation would allow handgun permits to be issued to anyone who has not been convicted of a felony, is not wanted on an outstanding warrant, has not been ordered by a court to receive psychiatric treatment or who is a "known" drug or alcohol abuser. Millions of Texans would be eligible.

The permit angle is an odd twist, since most gun groups abhor registration of weapons. But permit or no permit, any legislation that encourages still more citizens to carry guns is foolish and should be dismissed as such by the Legislature.

American Car Industry Hit With Double Whammy

The U.S. government needs a psychotherapist. It continues to impose a contradictory standard toward cars sold in the United States.

Under one personality, it imposes quotas on the number of Japanese cars imported to the United States. Under the second personality, it imposes penalties on U.S. carmakers that sell a lot of large cars that slurp a lot of gas.

The government now has a chance to look saner. For 1989 and 1990 it will require each U.S. car company to average 27.5 miles a gallon for each car sold....

This is crazy. If Americans want to buy big cars, especially those made by our own workers, they should be allowed to do so....

Government controls on American car efficiency and limits on Japanese imports are a double whammy to America's car companies. The car quotas force the Japanese to develop bigger cars for sale here.... At the same time, the gas limits force American companies to downsize their cars. So the government forces Detroit to stop making big cars, even while it forces the Japanese to enter that market in full force....

The cure for the government's schizoid behavior is free trade. End the Japanese car quotas, giving American companies a dose of the competition they need. But also end the crazy fuel limits that are keeping American car companies locked in a padded cell.

Defer Funding Changes

Big urban school districts in Texas could lose some $60 million in state funds next school year if a state-aid plan by the Texas Board of Education is approved. That plan should be rejected when the proposal is given its third reading on Nov. 12.

The state board wants to change the funding formula (what it calls the price differential index, or PDI) that would shift the $60 million from 100 urban school districts ... to 900 smaller and poorer districts....

The formula is based on an index designed to reflect differences in what school districts pay for goods and services. It is based on a computer model that is so complex, one board member said, that superintendents can't explain it to board members. But they can explain the bottom line.

... The problem of equalizing school aid should be handled by the next Legislature. If a measure is passed this term, it would probably be another year before it would take effect. In the meantime, CCISD and other big, poor districts would be losing money due to the shift in the price differential index....

First National Bank Says Thanks!

A strong foundation and a good eye for opportunity — many businesses in our country have flourished year after year working with these two principles as a guide. Good business planning means knowing when to stand firm and when to step ahead. This sums up the story of Panhandle Milling and its parent company Farmer's Elevator of Dawn.

Farmer's Elevator has been in operation since 1965, and after careful market research in Deaf Smith County, 1987 proved to be the right year for a positive business endeavor — the opening of Panhandle Milling. Although it's only one year old, Panhandle Milling has already provided a nice economic boost for our county. This new business has meant more jobs and prosperous marketing potential for our area wheat farmers. And because Deaf Smith County has a reputation for high quality wheat, Panhandle Milling feels extra confident that this is the perfect location for producing quality flour.

We at First National Bank want to say thanks to Farmer's Elevator and Panhandle Milling. You've brought stability to our economy for more than twenty years, and we wish you success in your newest, challenging business. As Deaf Smith County thrives, so do its towns and people.

Herd capitalizes on miscues for 43-6 win

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

When you hear about a high school football player that can eat two large pizzas at one post-game sitting and ask for more, you'd think it was some behemoth tackle.

Surely it can't be a tailback that carried the ball 10 times for 94 yards, scored three touchdowns and a two-point conversion run, and intercepted a pass to lead the Hereford Whitefaces to a 43-6 win over the Randall Raiders on Friday at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon.

Hey, get Keith another pizza. Any kind he wants.

Brown and his Hereford teammates ran roughshod over the Raiders to set up what Hereford coach Don Cumpton called "the biggie" this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium, when the Herd hosts district leader Frenship.

Frenship defeated Estacado, 19-14, Friday night. Hereford is third in the district, 3-1-1, behind the 5-0 Tigers and 4-1 Levelland. Levelland was open this week.

"We get to play one like we have coming up this Friday maybe once in a career," Cumpton said. "We might have to move in some bleachers again like we did when we played Plainview in '82."

"Frenship beating Estacado put us back in control of our own destiny. If we win our last three, we'll be in the playoffs."

It's a reasonable bet a win against Frenship won't come as easily as did the win against Randall. The kick return team set up five touchdowns, including a punt-block recovery in the end zone by Anthony Gonzales and a safety.

"The whole kicking game was a factor tonight," Cumpton said. "Besides the two blocked punts we tipped another one and had two excellent returns."

The first score was set up by Brown's interception on Randall's first series of the game at the Raider 47. Five plays later, quarterback Jason Scott threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Pat Mercer to give Hereford a 6-0 lead.

On Randall's next series, Gonzales, Moses Casas and Brad Smith blocked Randall's punt. Casas recovered at the Randall 10.

On the next play, Brown scored on a pitch-sweep around his right side, then ran in the two-point conversion to give Hereford a 14-0 lead with 5:48 left in the first quarter.

All the while, Hereford's defense was holding Randall running back Chris Roberts in check. He carried the ball on 11 of Randall's first 19 plays. He gained just 25 yards before another Randall running back got his hands on the ball. Roberts rushed 26 times for 75 yards in the game.

"We kind of expected he would carry it that much," Cumpton said. "We've seen him carry it 30 times or more in games this year. Our defense did a good job against him."

"Our whole defense did a great job. They had 80 yards rushing, and they didn't run as much veer (split backfield) as I expected. But they threw the ball more than I thought they would."

Randall quarterback Robbie Byrd completed nine of 19 passes for 125 yards and the lone touchdown with 3:05 left in the game. 82 of the 125 yards came in the game's last four minutes.

Another defensive gem set up Hereford's third score. Mercer intercepted a Byrd pass at the Hereford 30 and returned it 17 yards.

Five plays into the drive at the Randall 34, a holding penalty wiped out a run by Brown to the Randall 2, but Brown gained 15 on the option on the next play to move Hereford to the 22.

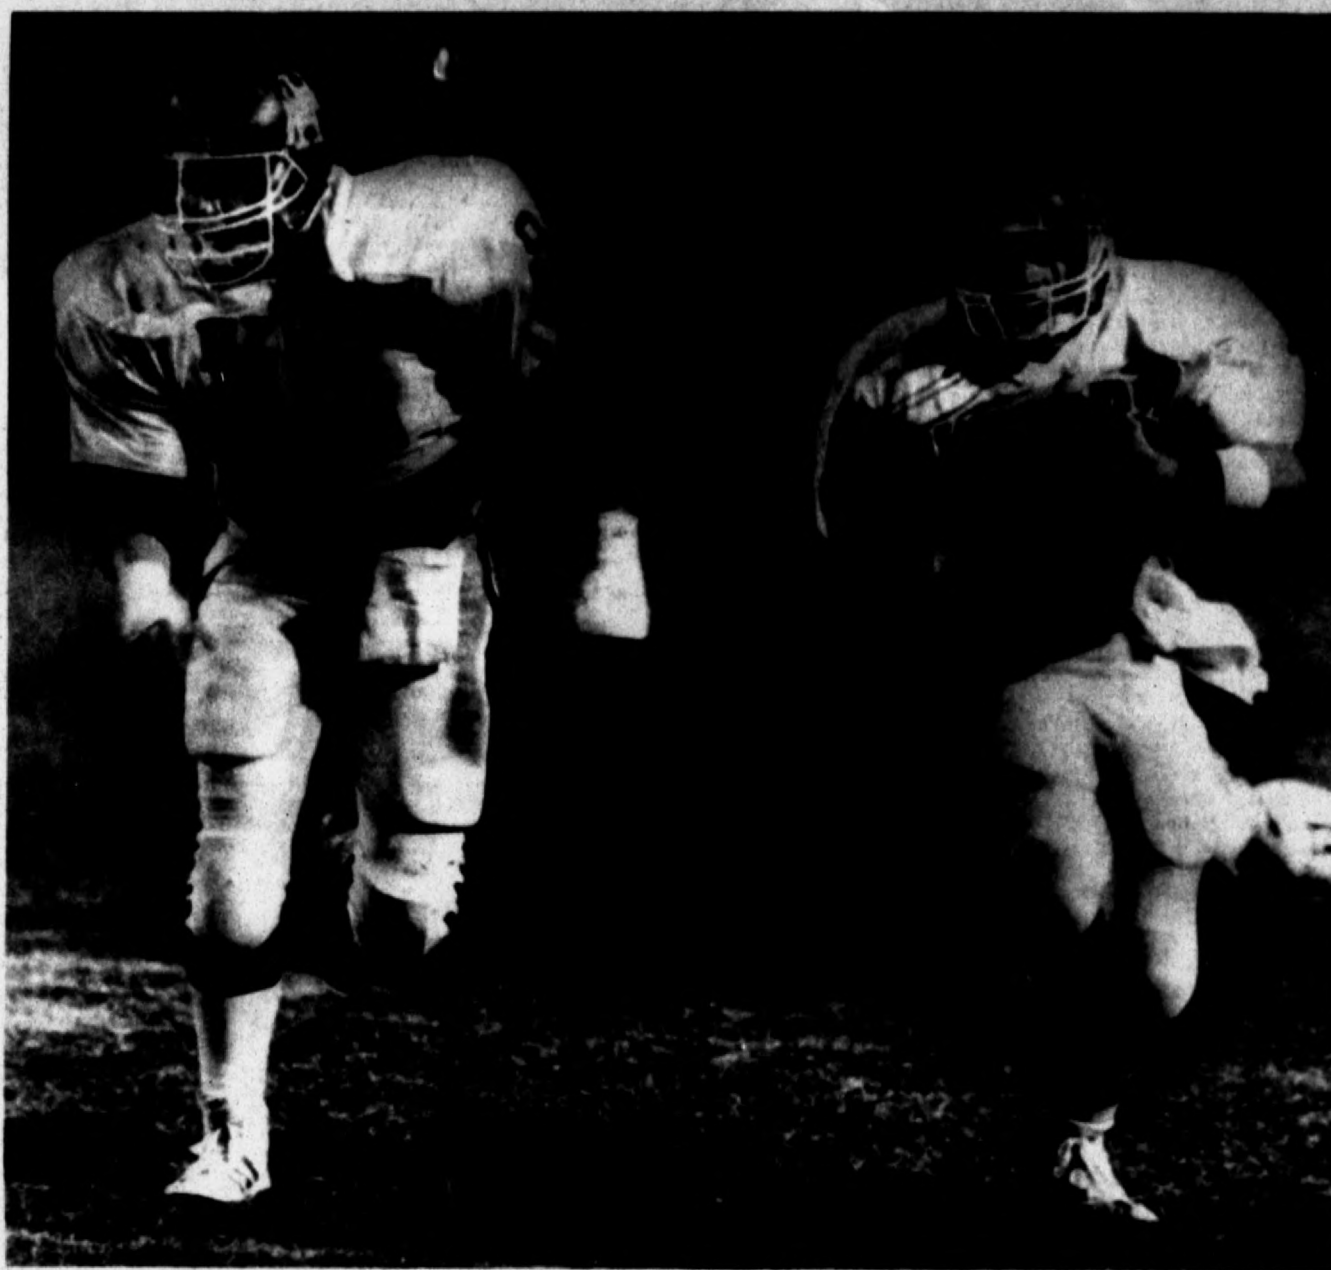

On the next play, Scott rolled to his left and threw a 22-yard touchdown pass to wide-open split end Jared Victor.

"The cornerback was supposed to cover me on that play," Victor said. "I faked a crackback block on him and he went with Jason all the way on his roll-out. No one came to help him and I was open."

Aaron Savage kicked the extra point to give Hereford a 21-0 lead with 3:22 left in the first half.

Hereford almost scored late in the half, moving from its own 35 with 50 seconds to play to the Randall 12. The drive was keyed by a 16-yard pass from Scott to Mercer and a 31-yard Scott pass to Clint Cotten, but a field goal try was short at the buzzer.

Brian Fowler pinned Randall at its own eight with a 38-yard punt to begin the second half. On fourth-and-2 at its 16, Randall miscued on the punt snap, and kicker Terry Tucker smothered the ball in the end zone for a safety that gave Hereford a 23-0 lead with 7:55 left in the third quarter.

Victor returned the ensuing free-kick punt 24 yards to the Randall 39, and the Herd took just three plays to score again. Brown scored on a 31-yard run, and Savage kicked the PAT to build Hereford's lead to 30-0.

On its next possession, Randall had picked up four yards on fourth-and-one at its own 40, but an illegal motion call rubbed out the play. Randall tried to punt the ball away, but another bad snap went over Tucker's head and was downed at the Randall 12.

On fourth-and-four at the Raider six, Brown carried for the final time, scoring from six yards out. Savage's kick built the Herd's lead to 37-0 with 3:22 to go in the third quarter.

The Herd's final score came on another punt block as Steve Tucker broke through Randall's line to block Terry Tucker's kick at the Randall 5. Three Whitefaces fought for the football before Gonzales fell on it in the end zone. The PAT kick failed, giving Hereford a 43-0 lead with 6:21 left in the game.

Randall then drove 90 yards in eight plays for its touchdown, including a 23-yard pass and the final 42-yard scoring strike.

"We had a great game from a lot of folks," Cumpton said. "Our quarterbacks did a good job running the offense. Jason did a great job on the option. He turned it inside for some good runs, and pitched it for some good runs, and threw the ball well. He almost had a couple more complete passes. Brent (Cumpton) had one go off his fingertips, and Russell Backus had one go off his fingertips."

"Our blocking on the perimeter has been getting a lot better, and that's helped our option game a lot. We're executing much better than we did early in the year. We need to keep improving the option game, because it gives us a great outside threat."

"Now we've got to get ready to play a great football team. Frenship is well-coached and they do things very, very well. It's going to take some great efforts. It's going to take our whole team, our whole community, to win. This is something we need everyone's help for, but I think we can do it."

"I am confident we can get the job done."

Winners keep on winning, the losers. . .

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer

Already owning the longest losing streak of any high school football team in the nation, San Antonio Memorial didn't go into Friday night's game with Pleasanton with great hopes of a victory.

But especially not after Texas' "no pass, no play" regulation took its toll.

When grades were posted in the past week for the first six weeks of school, they revealed that 15 of Memorial's 22 starters had failed at least one class and thus were ineligible for the next six weeks.

The Minutemen had only 21 players suited up against Pleasanton, which piled up 321 yards of total offense to 27 for Memorial in a 35-0 victory.

The loss extended Memorial's losing string to 48. The Minutemen are 0-5 for the season and 0-3 in District 29 action. Running back Gerald Trevino scored three touchdowns for Pleasanton, which improved to 7-1 for the season and 3-0 in district.

Most teams in the Associated Press schoolboy football poll continued to roll on. Sugar Land Willowridge, ranked No. 1 in 5A, was idle until Saturday. Other frontrunners all won — Sweetwater (4A) beat Snyder 55-6, Daingerfield (3A) beat Pittsburg 47-0, Refugio (2A) defeated Kenedy 55-0 and Bartlett (1A) beat Thorndale 40-3.

Only three ranked teams lost on Friday. Lubbock Estacado, in its first week in the 4A poll, as the No. 10 team, was a 19-14 victim of Wolfthor Frenship; Brookshire-Royal, the No. 10 team in 3A, was bounced by Navasota, 33-6; and Frost, the No. 7 team in 1A, was edged by Wortham, 7-6.

More surprising were unranked Duncanville's 24-24 tie with Dallas Carter, ranked fourth in Class 5A and in the top 20 of some national high school polls. Duncanville is the same team that ended two-time defending Class 5A champion Plano's winning streak earlier in the year.

Brownwood, ranked seventh in 4A, managed last week to get past district rival Cleburne, but was held to a 7-7 tie on Friday night by Stephenville.

Plano, which dropped out of the rankings after a mid-season loss to Plano East, lost its starting quarterback in the past week to the no-pass, no-play rule. But the Wildcats beat Carrollton Newman Smith 33-6 to remain contention for a playoff spot.

Class 5A's No. 2 team, Houston Yates, overcame a rash of early mistakes to beat Houston Jones 30-13.

After fumbling away early opportunities, the Lions finally scored with four minutes left in the first half, but Jones gained a tie on a 2-play, 52-yard drive capped by a 34-yard touchdown pass. But Poorang Pahlavan's 31-yard field goal with 16 seconds left in the half gave Yates a 10-7 lead at intermission, and the Lions put away the victory in the second half.

Brian Roberson rushed for 131 yards and a touchdown for Yates, and Quenard Alexander added 102 yards and two scores.

Springtown, ranked No. 2 in 3A, got 158 yards and four touchdowns from Todd Wageman in its 27-7 victory over Aledo, coached by Chuck Curtis. Springtown improved to 8-0 for the season and 3-0 in district play, while Aledo fell to 6-2 and 2-1.

"I'm really disappointed," Curtis said. "We were a little confused on defense and made some mistakes on offense, but deep down I know we can play with anybody in the state."

Southlake Carroll, ranked No. 3 in 3A, also improved to 8-0, beating Sanger, 56-0. David Blanchard led the rout with 132 yards and three touchdowns, including scampers of 51 and 31 yards.

Thank You

To all my lovely friends and neighbors I wish to express my "Thanks" for your prayers, visits, cards, food and gifts of love during my recent surgery, hospital stay and recuperation. Also, to my wonderful husband who was so concerned and loving. May God richly bless each and every one of you.

Much love,
Vi Owen

YOUR EYES

CAN PRESBYOPIA BE PREVENTED?

Presbyopia, the gradual loss of focusing ability, is a normal process of aging. By the time people reach the age of 45, it's common for them to need glasses for reading.

Though presbyopia appears to come on suddenly, the loss of focusing skills necessary to read is a gradual process. It only becomes noticeable, however, when it reaches a critical stage.

What are the signs? Blurred vision or eye strain at normal reading distances. You may begin to hold reading materials further and further away from your eyes. Sometimes after a period of close work, you may have a headache or feel exhausted.

Although presbyopia cannot be prevented, glasses can compensate for the loss of focusing ability. Depending on your lifestyle, or other visual conditions, reading glasses or bifocals (or progressive lenses) will be prescribed. Presbyopia does not affect the general health of your eyes.

Banquet goodies

Jaime Steiert helps show off some of the items that will be offered at Tuesday's annual Texas Waterfowlers Association banquet at the Hereford VFW Pct. The items include a ruby-and-gold ladies' dinner ring and hand-carved pintail, curlew and loon decoys.

TWA banquet set Tuesday

Texas Waterfowlers Association, Inc. of Hereford will hold its annual fundraising dinner-auction Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the VFW Hall.

The banquet is staged by TWA to fund waterfowl conservation projects in the Panhandle.

Numerous hand-carved waterfowl decoys, art prints and decorative items highlight the goods that will be offered at auction at this year's banquet.

Of particular interest should be a mesquite wood teal decoy done by retired federal game warden Don Kriebel of Lubbock. The decoy was meticulously hand-worked.

Among other decoys are renditions of a loon, curlew, pintail and mallard.

Art prints including a 1987 Texas State Duck Stamp print and a rendition of a flight of mallards landing in a cattail lake will also be offered.

Drawings for mens' and womens' door prizes will be held with those holding dinner tickets eligible in the drawings. The womens' doorprize is a gold and ruby dinner ring and the mens' doorprize is a Ruger Mark II pistol.

Tickets for the dinner are priced at $20 per individual or $30 for a couple, and will be available at the door Tuesday night. Tickets may also be obtained by calling 364-8400.

Another feature of Tuesday night's banquet will be special "membership boost" periods to be held at intervals during the evening. During the boosts, individuals may add to their basic dues and become eligible to win either a Remington 11/87 automatic shotgun or a Remington 870 pump shotgun. Those boosting their membership dues will also receive TWA logo caps.

Jets seek Miami revenge

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

As if Marty Lyons didn't have enough to think about this weekend, he might have to contend with the revenge factor.

Lyons, the 10-year veteran defensive end of the New York Jets, moves from the right side to the left on Sunday against the Miami Dolphins. That shift was necessitated by the sudden retirement of Mark Gastineau, who held down the spot throughout the decade.

Lyons is having one of his best seasons, but he rarely has played left end, generally considered the spot for a team's best pass rusher. But the move might not be the only thing on Lyons' mind Sunday.

Last December, Miami All-Pro center Dwight Stephenson suffered a severe knee injury when Lyons blocked him during an interception return. Stephenson hasn't returned and no one is sure if he will ever play again.

Some of the Dolphins think Lyons' block was a dirty play.

"I'm sure the fans will boo him," Miami offensive tackle Ronnie Lee said. "I'll boo him, too."

"It's in the back of everybody's mind that we owe these guys one," added Jeff Dellenbach, Stephenson's replacement. "In my mind it's like, 'Let's go win this one for Dwight.'"

Lyons and Stephenson are friends who played together at Alabama.

"It's something I've gone over in my mind a thousand times," Lyons said. "I wish I could take the hit back."

The Jets would like to take back the last three weeks. After a 3-1 start, they've gone 0-2-1 and have been ravaged by injuries. They go to Miami without Gastineau, of course,

JERRY'S NO DOPE

CHICAGO (AP) — Jerry Krause, vice president of the Chicago Bulls, is considered unconventional by some people and admits it may be true. There was some criticism when he hired Doug Collins as coach but it is all gone now.

"A lot of people laughed when I hired Collins," Krause said, "and called me a nut. I know I'm not beautiful but as long as my wife thinks I'm pretty, that's all that counts."

and possibly four other starters — guard Ted Banker and tackle Dave Cadigan are on injured reserve, tight end Mickey Shuler and linebacker Alex Gordon missed Monday night's loss to Buffalo.

Miami, meanwhile, is on a roll with three consecutive victories.

"Even though we are encouraged by the three straight wins, it's now time for us to get a victory in our own division," Dolphins coach Don Shula said. "We know how important it is to have wins in your division after last year."

The Dolphins were 8-7 in 1987, but 2-6 against the AFC East.

Miami will be missing defensive end John Bosa, out for the season with a knee injury, and kicker Fuad Reveiz, who has a strained thigh muscle. To replace Reveiz, the Dolphins signed 10-year veteran Tony Franklin.

Elsewhere Sunday, it's Dallas at Philadelphia; Denver at Pittsburgh; Detroit at Kansas City; Houston at Cincinnati; the Los Angeles Raiders at New Orleans; Minnesota at Tampa Bay; New England at Buffalo; the New York Giants at Atlanta; Washington vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee; Seattle at the Los Angeles Rams; Indianapolis at San Diego; and Cleveland at Phoenix.

On Monday night, San Francisco is at Chicago.

Two of the league's best-known quarterbacks will return Sunday.

Doug Williams, the most valuable player in Washington's Super Bowl victory last January, has recovered from an appendicitis and will replace Mark Rypien, who has bruised ribs.

Rypien had become the NFL's top-rated passer with 12 touchdown passes and only three interceptions in the four weeks Williams missed.

"It doesn't matter who starts, if it's Mark Rypien or Doug Williams, we've got our hands full," Packers coach Lindy Infante said.

At Phoenix, the Browns will have Bernie Kosar behind center for the first time since their opening game, when he sprained his right elbow.

"I think we've held together pretty well through a difficult initial part of the season," Kosar said. "There's still a lot of work to be done. We're still a couple games behind."

Cleveland is 4-3 and two games behind first-place Cincinnati in the AFC Central. While Kosar was out, his two backups, Gary Danielson and Mike Pagel, also were injured.

Eagles want Walker control

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles defense knows exactly what they have to do against the Dallas Cowboys Sunday — control Herschel Walker.

The powerful running back has gained 665 yards on 154 carries this season, for an average of 4.3 yards each time he gets the football. He's even more dangerous receiving, with 347 yards gained in 32 catches, a 10.8-yard average.

Yet last year, in the Eagles' 37-20 victory over the Cowboys, they limited Walker to just 54 yards rushing and 14 yards receiving.

"You always have to have an eye on him. We're going to have to be staying close to him all day — kind of be his shadow," said Mike Reichenbach, the Eagles' middle linebacker.

"Believe me, if Herschel's in the backfield or anywhere, we're going to keep an eye on him. We're going to be close to him," Reichenbach said.

This year, the Eagles have had their problems defending draws, screens or pass routes. So why could they contain Walker last year?

"I think he had a good game, but I just think we played him better," Reichenbach said. "I think Herschel's the kind of running back, if you hit him early, he gets kind of frustrated and doesn't run as hard later in the game."

"You've got to try to pen him in early, and I think he gets a little frustrated. That's when he drops the football and things like that."

Of course, if the Eagles tilt too strongly toward Walker on defense, a hot quarterback and open receivers could get them in big trouble. Steve Pelluer has led the Cowboys to an average of 242 yards per game passing. He likes to run, too, for a total of 166 yards on 25 carries.

"If you cover Herschel and let the quarterback roam the field, then it's all down the tubes," Reichenbach said. "Pelluer will run, and he will throw to his receivers."

On offense, the Eagles linemen say they want to avoid the kind of mistakes that allowed quarterback Randall Cunningham to be sacked nine times by the Cleveland Browns in a 19-3 loss last Sunday.

"Quarterbacks can't throw, running backs can't run if guys (the defense) are pouring through. We have to be more physical, more aggressive," said offensive tackle Matt Darwin, after watching game films.

"We have the potential to do a lot of things, but we are making silly mistakes. Then, because we're young we can bounce back better. Believe me, we are not a down team. We just have to learn to be more consistent."

Tackle Ron Heller said exhibitions like the one against Cleveland leave him with a feeling of embarrassment.

The penalty for grabbing a face mask was introduced into the NFL in the 1962 season.

RE-ELECT

JOE C. BROWN SHERIFF

Tuesday, November 8, 1988

Dear Citizens,

I am writing to ask you for your vote and moral support. As much as I would like to contact everyone, personally, I am unable to do so because of my duties and responsibilities as your Sheriff.

Last week my opponent made some very false and misleading accusations towards myself, and my department. However, I promise to you, the citizens of Deaf Smith County, that I will continue to run my campaign on HONESTY and INTERGRITY! I have nothing to hide, for I am very proud of my record and would welcome anyone to check my performance as Sheriff.

I will be the first to admit that I am not a politician but I am a Sheriff that believes in hard work and I am concerned about the welfare of our county and its people; and I am dedicated to my job. Prestige is my least concern - "GETTING THE JOB DONE" is my top priority.

So I find myself asking you to allow me 4 more years as your Sheriff. Again, I sincerely wish to solicit your vote and moral support.

Respectfully,

Joe C. Brown, Jr.

TCFA celebrates big 1988

"This is indeed 'A Year to Celebrate.' In spite of the bumpy market which we have survived, and the drought that has plagued many parts of the country, cattlemen have a great deal to be thankful for. And much to be positive about as we make plans for the future."

That's what Clark Willingham, President of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA), told cattle feeders attending the 1988 TCFA Annual Convention. The Convention, with the theme, "Celebrate," was Oct. 9-11 in Dallas.

There are several reasons that cattle feeders can celebrate 1988, Willingham said. "First, we are honoring the accomplishments of Charlie Ball, retiring TCFA Executive Vice President. Second, we have seen our industry and legislative influence grow. Third, we appear to have reached a new plateau for market prices. Fourth, we negotiated a beef trade agreement with Japan. Fifth, and by far the most significant, is the $1-per-head checkoff."

Willingham briefly discussed each of the five reasons for cattlemen to celebrate, then turned to a topic of great importance to him—unity within the beef industry. He listed three specific areas where the cattle industry can unify itself for the good of every cattleman in the U.S.

"No. 1, I would like to see our national organizations under one roof or under one umbrella," he stated. "Please don't misunderstand me. The National Cattlemen's Association, the Meat Board and the Meat Export Federation work at working together now. But there's some problems that are inherent with having several national organizations independently representing the industry."

Combined, cattlemen contribute about $100 million a year for industry programs, Willingham said. "Individually, each cattleman is supporting four or five organizations. It only makes sense that these be combined or highly coordinated to ensure maximum efficiency and maximum effectiveness."

"No. 2, each of the national organizations should do what they do best," he continued. "There are a lot of legitimate functions the National Cattlemen's Association can perform outside the legislative arena. There are also many legitimate functions that the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board should perform. The same is true with the Meat Export Federation."

Therefore, it is up to the Beef Promotion and Research Board (the body that administers the funds collected by the $1-per-head checkoff) to make a fair decision about which entity can best perform the various projects that need to be funded, he said.

The third area where the industry can work at unifying itself is by strengthening state cattlemen's associations. "Working at the national level is very important," he said. "But there are a lot of things that state cattlemen's associations and state beef councils can do. So working to make state cattlemen's associations and state beef councils as strong and effective as possible is very important. This will permit effective support of national industry-wide efforts."

"The focus of my administration this year has been to carry forth the idea of industry unity," he concluded. "And now, as my term as TCFA President draws near its close, my challenge to the TCFA leadership and membership is to lead by example in fostering the long-term relationships that will lead to a stronger, more unified industry."

The "bour" in neighbour comes from the Dutch "boer" meaning a farmer. The "neigh" part means "near".

Proper herbicide essential

Selecting the proper herbicide for the weed problem in a fallow field and applying the herbicide properly are the secrets of success in conservation tillage systems according to Dr. Allen Wiese, weed scientist with The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland.

These conclusions, based on 10 years of research, were presented at the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Conference in Lubbock on Oct. 5.

Sprayer calibration, available herbicides, spray gallonage, spray additives and mixtures, weed size, and combining herbicides with tillage all affect success of conservation tillage practices.

The best system of calibrating sprayers is determining the number of seconds it takes a sprayer to travel 100 feet. Then measure the spray in ounces from the nozzles used to cover 40 inches for the number of seconds it took to travel the 100 feet. The number of ounces is equivalent to the number of gallons per acre.

Wiese discussed the roll of residual and non-residual herbicides for controlling weeds in fallow fields. He said residual herbicides were usually more economical than non-residual because residual herbicides persist in soil and kill several flushes of weeds. Atrazine, Cotoran, Dual, Lasso, Caparol and Karnex will be available in 1989. However, the old standby herbicides, propazine, Igran and Sandcap, that have been used on the High Plains will not be reregistered. Only existing supplies will be available in 1989. Glean and Ally will no longer be labeled for use on fallow fields because weeds that are resistant to the herbicides have developed.

This will set conservation tillage back many years according to the scientist. "On the other hand, more non-residual herbicides will be available soon," Wiese said. He expects Ignite and Touchdown to be on the market in the next two years. Ignite is a contact herbicide that kills most weeds and translocates more than paraquat but not as much as Roundup. Touchdown will translocate and kill about the same spectrum of weeds as Roundup.

"We determined that one to seven gallons per acre is the best amount of spray carrier for applying Roundup, Landmaster, and Cyclone," Wiese said. Fan tips or controlled droplet applicators gave better control than flood tips for postemergence sprays. Several years of experience with spray additives has proven that ammonium sulfate is the best spray additive and is essential for controlling stressed weeds and crop volunteer with Roundup and Landmaster. Other research has shown that atrazine or propazine can be tank-mixed with Cyclone and Landmaster, but not Roundup.

"I never like to see a weed taller than two inches in a fallow field that is being no-tilled," Wiese said. Big weeds take more herbicide, consequently, and are expensive to kill. He gave an example where one pint per acre of Cyclone gave 99 percent control of pigweed that were either 0.5 or 1.5 inch tall, but gave only 23 percent control of 6-inch pigweed that were stressed for lack of water.

Sweep plows are still an important part of conservation tillage systems. They are cheaper to use than herbicide if weeds get large or stressed, if effective herbicides do not fit in a particular cropping sequence, or if there are no crop residues on the soil surface to control erosion.

Wiese said that herbicides are essential for no-tillage and play a big part in most conservation tillage systems. "In the future, as more herbicides become available, they will play an increasing roll in conservation tillage," he concluded.

TAEX offers cattle, carcass evaluation

Consumers should benefit from a new Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) program that will help farmers and ranchers produce leaner, meatier animals.

Called the TAEX Livestock and Carcass Evaluation Service, the program focuses on helping producers nationwide evaluate the muscling, fatness and quality of animals in their herds and flocks.

"This new program will help livestock producers develop the type of meat products that meet the needs of consumers and their changing lifestyles," said Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension Service directors. "Consumers today are concerned about diet and health more so than ever before, and that means they are highly selective in their choice of food products. Farmers and ranchers must tailor their products to meet those demands."

He said, "To do this, they must be able to identify animals within their herds and flocks that are superior in carcass merit from both a quality and cutability standpoint. Few producers have the technology, equipment and time to do this, so this is where our new program comes into play."

According to Carpenter, the Livestock and Meat Evaluation Service will provide producers with opportunities to obtain three types of information.

One will be on-the-farm data from ultrasound testing, the measuring of outside fat thickness and ribeye area in live animals. Producers also will be able to obtain quality and yield grade information for carcasses slaughtered in commercial packing plants. The third information type will be on taste and tenderness of cooked lean meat as determined by a panel and a Warner-Bratzler shear (tenderness) test.

Besides ultrasound and carcass data, information for the new program will be derived from feeding trials for bulls, steers and heifers, which will enable producers to obtain growth and feedlot performance data. Data will be collected not only in Texas but across the nation, Carpenter said.

Corn harvest slightly higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — This fall's corn harvest is expected to total 4.55 billion bushels, or 2 percent more than the Agriculture Department had forecast last month.

The newest estimate is still 36 percent below last year's crop total, reflecting the fierce drought that hammered the midcontinent over the summer.

Soybean production should be about 1.5 billion bushels, the Agriculture Department's Agricultural Statistics Board said Wednesday.

That also represented a 2 percent upturn compared to last month's estimate. The latest figures were based on surveys made Oct. 1.

A month ago, USDA estimated corn production at 4.46 billion bushels and soybean production at 1.47 billion bushels.

Corn is the largest and most important crop grown by American farmers and as a feed is essential to meat, poultry and dairy production.

Soybeans, which provide high-protein meal and quality vegetable oil used in food processing, also are vital to U.S. food production.

Once again, we borrow the wise words of Dean Deter, Editor of the "Carolina Cooperator" in his unique definitions of the farmer's life. He describes an Animal Rightist as: 1) a vegetarian who wishes everyone else was. 2) a frustrated urbanite who believes hogs need to root, chickens need to scratch, and Bambi really does listen to Thumper. And, High-on-the-Hog as an economic state of living based largely upon the ability to purchase a pork roast at the supermarket without wincing. Conversely, farmers can be said to live Low-on-the-Hog based upon what they receive for that same pork roast while still attached to the hog. While a Nuisance is: what city folk who move into a new neighborhood, built next to an existing farm, consider that farm. When they moved to the country "to get away from it all" they didn't expect the country to be quite so country. And, a Nuisance Suit: is what cityfolk who move into a new neighborhood built next to a farm file when they discover Elsie and Ferdinand make the fields smell.

A MESA MESSAGE

Mesa's Team - 16,000 Strong and Growing

Perhaps you read last week that Mesa has entered into an agreement to purchase Tenneco's Mid-Continent oil and gas subsidiary. Perhaps you even said to yourself, "So what?" or "What does that mean to me?"

It means a great deal to everyone living in the Texas Panhandle. This acquisition will have a direct impact on your daily lives. Mesa operates as a publicly-traded limited partnership. Our shares trade every day on the New York Stock Exchange (MLP and MLPprA), which means that individuals, our owners, share in the Partnership's profits.

There are 6,000 Panhandle residents involved in Mesa's partnership. In other words, there are 6,000 Mesa limited partners in our area, or, to use a more familiar term, shareholders.

Mesa Limited Partnership was formed in 1985 and, by doubling our reserves in less than three years, has grown to become the largest independent operator of long-lived, shallow natural gas reserves in the United States.

Because of this outstanding performance, Mesa has returned $107 million to its Panhandle shareholders since 1985. That's an average of more than $18,000 per individual Mesa Panhandle shareholder.

This means more spendable income, which means more jobs for our area. And more jobs mean a larger tax base, resulting in lower tax rates for all of us. So Mesa's local distributions have touched every man, woman and child in the Panhandle. Furthermore, this $107 million is multiplied as it circulates through the local economy. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce shows there is a multiplier effect that boosts the $107 million infusion to a $428 million impact. Now, that is real help to the Panhandle economy.

Mesa is more than a company with 574 employees. It includes 6,000 Panhandle residents who have received $107 million in the last three years. Including our shareholders and their families, that's more than 16,000 area residents who are directly affected by the hard-working people at Mesa.

When we say "Mesa In Partnership With The Panhandle," we mean it.

Nazarene school creates PTF

The Parent-Teacher Fellowship of Nazarene Christian Academy elected its first slate of officers Thursday evening during a business meeting in the church sanctuary.

Barbara King, representing the nominating committee, introduced the following list of officers for 1988-89: Doris Huckert, president; Barbara King, president-elect; Lou Ann Carter, secretary; Amy Schumaker, treasurer; and Kerrie Steiert, reporter-historian. Following a motion by Sharon Johnson, the officers were accepted by acclamation.

Also approved as committee chairmen were: Steve and Ruby Sanders, projects; Connie Lance and Sammie Lance, membership; and Wanda Nall, Cindy Easley and Janetta Warren, telephone.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Huckert following the benediction, led by Gary Duggan, and pledges of allegiance to the American and Christian flags. A musical program was presented by Mrs. Terry Morton's 4-year-old kindergarten class.

Mrs. Ethel Bailey, school principal, announced that patriotism will be the theme of the academy's fall program, scheduled at 10 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 20. Mrs. Bailey expressed pride in the school's growth from a beginning enrollment of 30 pupils three years ago to a current student body of 127.

Mrs. Huckert reminded parents that the school's annual Harvest Party is planned Thursday, Oct. 27. Jim Steiert volunteered to cook hotdogs for the event.

Ideas for new fund-raising projects were welcomed by Mrs. Huckert, who explained that the school board is relinquishing its sponsorship of pizza sales to the PTF. Also, parents were urged to contribute to the school library for the purchase of books through private donations and memorial gifts.

The Nazarene Academy has applied to McDonald's as a participant in its Adopt-A-School program. Mrs. Huckert expressed optimism that the school would be approved for the program, which is designed to recognize student achievement.

Parents were requested to give receipts from Sirloin Stockade to the school, which in turn receives a 5% cash rebate from the restaurant.

PTF members were encouraged to volunteer their personal time and talents by helping in the classroom, during field trips and at school functions.

The PTF's next scheduled meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15, when Mrs. Peggy Behrendson's first graders will present original skits. Future meetings are planned on the third Thursday of each month. Serving as refreshment chairman for monthly meetings will be Cathy Northcutt.

The meeting concluded with Mrs. Huckert reading the poem, "To My Grown-Up Son."

Meeting in executive session afterwards, the new PTF officers tentatively scheduled a garage sale in November as a money-making project. Further details will be discussed at noon Wednesday, Oct. 26 during a luncheon meeting at Sirloin Stockade.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My neighbor claims that if you don't have enough vitamin B-12 it can affect your mind and make you senile. I always thought that hardening of the arteries made you senile and that a lack of B-12 would cause an anemia. Is she confused or am I?

DEAR READER: You are both right. A vitamin B-12 deficiency can cause pernicious anemia. And it can cause changes in the brain and nerves, including mental deterioration which can be confused with senile dementia. Today, the confusion might lead to a diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease.

A recent study by the Departments of Medicine and Neurology, Columbia-Presbyterian and Harlem Hospital Centers of Columbia University also pointed out that patients with neurological changes and mental changes because of a B-12 deficiency might not have an anemia at all. If a doctor depended on the blood findings of pernicious anemia to detect the B-12 deficiency, he could miss it. A number of these patients treated with B-12 showed significant improvement or were cured.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Meet The Langgoods

Hi! I'm Ted Langgood. I am the Republican candidate running for Sheriff in Deaf Smith County. This is my wife, Kristi. Kristi was born and raised here. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mason have farmed here for years. I have lived in Hereford for 17 years. I have been a police officer in Hereford for 10 years. Kristi has been active in law enforcement also, working as a radio dispatcher for both the sheriff's office and the police department. We have been married for ten years, and have four children.

Our highest priorities are that of Faith, dedication to one another, and commitment to our family. Next in line to that is service to our fellow man. We believe that joy comes from serving others. We have always taken the stand that there is no problem that cannot be solved, nor any obstacle that cannot be overcome. We have a vision and a direction for our lives and our family, and we think Deaf Smith County is the place to be!

I want to give of myself to the residents of this county; by doing what I do best...law enforcement. By electing me Sheriff, my goal would be to increase the quality of life in this county by making it a safer place to live.

I have a plan that will increase the effectiveness of the sheriff's department without spending more money. It's called CREATIVE MANAGEMENT, and that's my speciality.

Myself and Kristi are proud to be participants in the growth of this community. We would like to say thanks to the many friends and supporters who have encouraged us. We look forward to serving you in the years to come. We invite all of you to come and make a stand with us on November 8th, and see the difference it will make!

Red Cross to sponsor screening

The Deal Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring a city-wide cholesterol screening from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Hereford YMCA.

These screenings are being offered to area residents as a basis of estimating their relative risk of heart disease. By seeking further medical assistance, moderate to high risk individuals can then take steps to reduce their risk.

A small fee of $6 will be charged for this quick, painless, and accurate test. You will have your results within three to five minutes.

Only seven percent of individuals know our cholesterol level. Yet, health officials agree it is a vital statistic to know. Of those tested at portable while-you-wait analyzers at malls...50 percent took the advice of testers and followed up with a doctor's visit.

'Not With My Daughter' playing

The Country Squire Dinner Theatre opened Oct. 20 with a comedy, 'Not With My Daughter.'

Joe Barone from Los Angeles plays the part of Will Gray, a middle-aged father striving for a swingers life, right for him, wrong for his 18-year-old daughter. He has performed and directed in numerous productions on the Squire stage in the last twelve years.

An ex-fireman from New York, he has appeared in 'Designing Women', 'The Fall Guy' and 'General Hospital'. He has performed in productions across the U.S. and recently completed a film for German National Television. He is an avid lapel pin collector.

Dennis McMenamy will portray Rip Tracy, Will's best friend and next door neighbor, who is secretly dating Will's daughter. Dennis, originally from St. Louis, now resides in Canyon. In the last 20 years he has performed in more than 100 productions.

Lara Dolinski plays the part of Renee Carpenter, Will's current love interest. Lara is from California where she has an active career in acting, dancing and television commercials in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. She has also performed in Las Vegas.

Kenna Dean plays Lucy Edmondson, a Go-Go Dancer, capable of handling herself in any situation. Kenna graduated from the American Academy of Arts in New York. She wrote, acted and co-produced Outrageous productions, which aired on cable television in Los Angeles. She has appeared in three episodes of Magnum, P.I., and appeared in numerous commercials. She appeared in a two woman play at the Hawaii Performing Arts Co. Kenna resides in West Hollywood.

Missye Pillow plays the part of Karen Gray, the 18-year-old daughter of Will. She tries to convince her father she is no longer 8 but 18. This is Missye's second appearance on the Squire stage. A junior at West Texas State University, majoring in speech and theatre, she won the best actress award in One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest.

Bruce Romig appears on stage as Sylvester, a C.B. talking cab driver. Bruce has been seen on the Squire stage in The Odd Couple, Don't Drink The Water, and The Sound of Music. Dinner is at 5:15 p.m. with show at 8 p.m.

For reservations call 358-7486.

ELECTRONIC SHOPPING

ON THE INCREASE
NEW YORK (AP) — Interactive video units — computerized merchandising systems that offer convenient, electronic shopping without the need of salespersons — are selling Americans a widening variety of products from shoes to cosmetics, according to a report issued here.

To use them, a customer simply touches an infrared video screen for an audio and video presentation of what is offered, notes Intermark Corp. Once a selection is made, the screen and a printout tell the customer where in the store that product can be located.

In addition to being used in kiosks, smaller units are also appearing as shelf-edge computers right at the point of sale.

Delegates to report

Three Hereford women served as delegates to the Texas Extension Homemakers state meeting held recently in Abilene. They included (from left) Edith Higgins, Carol Odom and Maudette Smith. Other residents attending were Johnnie Messer, Sherrie Blackwell and Mary Carter. The public is invited to hear the delegates report when members of the Texas Extension Homemakers Council meets for a covered dish luncheon and business marketing at noon Monday in the Deaf Smith County Library.

Public invited to annual jubilee

The public is invited to attend the 14th Annual Country Music Jubilee at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Tickets to the benefit show, sponsored by Sheriff Joe C. Brown, Jr. and the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department, are priced at $7.50 per person and are available at the Sheriff's Department, Gibson's, La Tienda Thriftway, and both Mr.

Burger locations. A door prize will be given during the evening.

Appearing on the jubilee will be Wally Fowler, the originator of the Oak Ridge boys and the All-Nite Gospel Sing. He appeared on the Grand Ole Opry for 10 years, was crowned Mr. Gospel Music in 1963, was inducted into the Library of Congress in 1969, and was named to the Hall of Fame in 1985.

Also, performing will be the Pilgrim's Quartet, who traveled 11 years with the late Archie Campbell of Hee-Haw, and features one of the world's lowest bass singers. In addition to the group, the "Queen of Gospel Music", also known as the "One Day At A Time" lady, Jeanette Lunsford, will be singing her own composition, "In the Midst of the Storm" as well as other popular hits.

Hereford's own "Now and Then Bluegrass Band" will make a special appearance. The group consists of Herman McCleskey and daughter, Deanna, and Kent and Suzanne Finch, Robert Blasingame, and Tex and Eva McKnight. Other guests will be the national championship award winners, "Top of Texas Cloggers" from Amarillo.

CHEAPER ADVICE

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Most families sending a child to college seek financial aid, says James Scannell, a vice president who oversees admissions and financial aid at the University of Rochester.

But Scannell doesn't recommend hiring an independent financial aid counselor.

"There are counselors who promise that for a fee of $500, they'll find $5,000 in financial aid," he says.

What Does a typical Brand Reader Look Like?

That's difficult to say because you are as different as your substantial number would imply! You are one of the 4,100 households we're invited to every evening. That's quite a few. According to the most recent census, our township has slightly less than 5000 households.

Your vocation is part of a broad spectrum as well -- white collar, blue collar, owners, managers, cowboys, teachers, housewives, students and professional.

Yet, with all your individual complexities, your interest in local issues and news gives you and other readers a common bond which is separated only by your level of curiosity.

You are an informed, intelligent and often vocal audience, and we're happy to be a part of your household every evening!

By REBECCA WALLS

I want to start out with a reminder. The Friends of the Library Book Sale is going on this weekend. The sale continued from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. Saturday and 2-5 p.m. today, at the Deaf Smith County Library located at 211 E. 4th.

The first book I would like to tell you about is Tim Sebastian's remarkable debut thriller, The Spy in Question. Twenty years ago Dmitry Kalyagin became one of British Intelligence's deepest undercover agents in the U.S.S.R. Dmitry leads two very different lives: one in which he is an ambitious and successful party politician and the other in which he is a spy, spending his days in the shadows.

As Dmitry ascends to the highest level of the Politburo, his secrets are in danger of discovery, and the new Russia is no more merciful than the old. As Kalyagin's cover unravels, he finds himself lost in the streets of Moscow pursued by the KGB man, whose career and survival depends on the spy's capture, and the British Intelligence Chief whose honor demands he bring Dmitry home safely. A final act of betrayal turns the Moscow night into a nightmare for all three.

Prizzi returns in Richard Condon's new and final triumphant novel entitled, Prizzi's Glory. The Prizzis have proved many times that with good planning, a Mafia chief can take his family from rags to riches in America. With the acquisition of such large amounts of money comes the command of respectability. So why can't the Prizzis achieve the

When grandma's failing eyesight makes it impossible for her to read, one of several library services may help compensate for this sensory loss.

"Although it's difficult for family caregivers to watch an elderly relative have to give up something he or she enjoyed so much, they can help by reading aloud," said Dr. Judith Warren, a gerontology specialist.

"However, family members aren't always around and like everyone else the visually impaired elderly like to choose what and when they read without having to depend on others," she said.

The solution may be as close as your telephone or local library, according to Warren, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

She said many local libraries have audio recordings of books for loan to residents who need them. Some libraries will also deliver or mail recordings to users.

The Texas State Library also has a variety of free services for visually handicapped people, including thousands of books and magazine on tape or records. The recordings are delivered to readers by mail at no charge.

Anyone who might qualify can request an application for services by writing the Texas State Library, Division of Blind and Physically the story of stepisters: one Deedee Dahlen, rich and famous from birth and the other Lana, born illegitimate with the magic touch for making money. Neither sister is aware of the other until their paths cross when both fall in love with the dashing Slash Steiner. A shocking murder turns sister against sister and lovers into strangers.

All My Fortunes by Judith Saxton is the story of Pavel and David and the love that blossoms in spite of differences in age and culture. Set in Russia at a time of the closing frontiers, David Thomas, an engineering student, travels to Russia to seek his fortune as it begins to modernize its sprawling nation.

Near a small village somewhere on the way to Leningrad David finds himself trapped in an avalanche with the enchanting and beautiful young Pavel. Pavel lives on a farm in the Russian Caucasus with her sister Eva and foster parents. Pavel, treated more like a son, slowly grows to womanhood tending wolf-fires, and cattle herds in the harshness of the Russian wilderness. The struggle to be together against tremendous odds, becomes an engrossing tale as Russian history unfolds.

Urias, Ramirez vows exchanged

Wedding vows were spoken by JoAnn Urias and Gilbert Ramirez in a mid-afternoon ceremony Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church officiated by the Rev. Joe Bixenman of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Andrea Urias of 702 13th St. and the late Elias Urias Sr. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cruz Ramirez of 610 Jackson.

A unity candle was lit by the couple at the altar which was decorated by two arrangements of burgundy roses and a candelabrum. The front pews were marked with French blue bows for the parent and members of the wedding party.

Shelly Webster served as maid of honor and Tommy Ramirez served his brother as best man.

Carolyn Owens and Sophie Suarez were bridesmaids and groomsmen included Johnny Beltran and Eddie Lafuente, the bride's nephew.

Junior bridesmaid was the groom's niece, Tiffany Ramirez, and junior groomsman was the bride's nephew, Bryan Pesina.

The bride's niece, Crystal Mendiaz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mendiaz, was flower girl, and the groom's nephew, Ian Ramirez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Salazar, was ring bearer. Candles were lit by the bride's nephew, Arnold Lafuente.

Rudy and Deana Ramirez vocalized principal wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her brother, Elias Urias, Jr., the bride was attired in a traditional satin floor-length wedding gown. The bodice was accented with floral stitching, beads and sequins and the drop waistline, which slanted to the left and was enhanced with a small flower, gently flowed into a chapel-length train.

The full-length veil of bridal illusion was gathered at the back of a hat which was enhanced by floral stitching, beads and sequins. She carried a cascading arrangement of mauve, French blue and white silk roses.

Attendants wore mauve tea-length dresses fashioned with fitted bodices and drop waistlines. Each carried two long stem French blue roses and several mauve blossoms.

Ismael Urias invited guests to the reception and wedding dance, featuring music by Herencia, at the VFW Hall.

Laura Rodriguez and Yvonne Mendiaz served cake, and punch and coffee were poured by Tricia Ramirez and Lori Ramirez.

Each individual table at the reception was decorated with a mug containing a floating candle and encircled at the rim by mauve and French blue ribbons.

The bride is a 1988 graduate of Hereford High School and the groom, a 1986 graduate of HHS, is presently employed with George Warner Seed Co.

The money was evenly divided between Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center and Lifeline, a program that provides home-bound patients with direct access to hospital care at the push of a button. Sharon Bodner, center, treasurer of the chapter, presented the checks to Brad Walser of Lifeline and Juliann Thompson of Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center.

Names In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — Yoko Ono remains "a New Yorker at heart ... and has not fled the city," but she will be dividing her time between the Big Apple and Europe, according to her spokesman.

Spokesman Elliot Mintz commented Monday after the New York Post reported that Ono and her son will spend most of the next few years in Europe partly out of fear that a recent unauthorized biography of her slain husband, John Lennon, could set off a violent reaction.

Mintz said Ono's remarks to the Post were taken "out of context."
"For the record, Yoko flew to Europe to be with her son Sean on his birthday," he said.

Sean turned 13 Saturday and attends a Swiss boarding school.

Mintz said Ono would be "commuting back and forth" between New York and Europe and could spend months at a time in either place.

Ono told the Post the biography,
"The Lives of John Lennon" by Albert Goldman, was "a vicious inaccurate character assassination" that should not be taken seriously.

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) —
Singer Elton John urged fans at a concert not to buy an unauthorized biography of John Lennon.

"This is John Lennon's birthday; think of him this evening, and not me," John told the sold-out crowd at Worcester's Centrum Arena on Sunday after he went on stage for his third encore. Sunday would have been the slain ex-Beatle's 48th birthday.

"Always remember that John Lennon left us a legacy of wonderful music ... but don't buy the book,"
John said.

The singer was referring to Albert Goldman's "The Lives of John Lennon," which characterized Lennon as an anorexic bisexual addicted by drugs.

John sang "Empty Garden," a song he and longtime colleague Bernie Taupin wrote in honor of Lennon following his December 1980 slaying in New York.

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) — "Bull Durham" star Susan Sarandon has some World Series advice for baseball fans — "Keep an eye on the Oakland A's."

Writing in this week's TV Guide,
Miss Sarandon, who plays a baseball groupie in the hit motion picture, urges readers to root for teams with belt loops instead of elastic

How do the Athletics measure up?

"They play on grass, under the sky and have terrific belt loops. Plus they've got a circus elephant on their sleeves," she said.

The Athletics are scheduled to square off in Game 1 of the series at 8 p.m. EDT Saturday against the winner of the National League playoff between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Mets. The Dodgers lead that best-of-seven series, three games to two.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Olympic

herself on an episode of the NBC-TV situation comedy "227," the network says.

The episode will be taped Nov. 1 for more than one way to be a winner.

The story was conceived by series star Marla Gibbs and her son, Dorian

MIKE CAUDLE, JENNIFER BURNITT

Wedding planned

A Jan. 14, 1989 wedding in Covenant Presbyterian Church of Austin, has been set by Jennifer Lynn Burnitt of Lubbock and Mike Steven Caudle, who is stationed at Holloman Air Force Base in Alamogordo, N.M.

Parents of Miss Burnitt are Ms. Diane Dewitt Burnitt and Mr. and Mrs. Seth C. Burnitt, all of Austin. Mr. and Mrs. Miles Caudle of Rt. 5, Hereford, are parents of the prospective bridegroom.

The bride-elect is currently attending Texas Tech University in pursuit of a degree in interior design and will be a candidate for graduation in December. She hopes to pursue a career in residential interior design.

The prospective bridegroom, a 1982 graduate of Hereford High School, received a bachelor of science degree in mechanized agriculture from TTU in 1987. He entered the U.S. Air Force as a 2nd Lt. and attended pilot training at Laughlin AFB. He is currently attending lead-in fighter training at Holloman AFB in Alamogordo, N.M. and will be flying the F-111 at R.A.F. LakenHeath, England.

Basket weaving featured during Wyche club meeting

Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Argen Draper, who gave the opening exercise of "An Indian Prayer."

President Audrey Rusher conducted the business meeting. Members recited the TEHA prayer, and pledges to the U.S. and Texas flags. Visitors Juanita Coker, Karen Flood, Kerri Flood, Wynema Wheeler, and Annis Corbett were welcomed. Roll call of 12 members was answered to "My favorite food to can."

Carol Odom introduced Karen Flood, who gave a program on basket weaving. She noted that, when making a basket, the center always determines the shape of it. Materials can be reeds in several widths; ropes made of light-weight paper can be wrapped with rags cut into one-inch widths. Reed baskets have to be wet to work with or it will break or yarn can be used instead of reeds or rags.

Louise Axe, Louise Packard, and Coreen Odom were elected for the nominating committee. An auction of items donated for the money-making project was held. Program chairman Argen Draper reported the next club meeting will be held at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 3 in the home of Carol Odom.

Other members attending were Virgie Duncan, Camelia Jones, Ethel Logan, Pet Ott, Clara Trowbridge, and Brenda Rusher.

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — Bjorn Nittmo is a place-kicker for Appalachian State and was born in Lomma, Sweden.

The first football game he ever saw he also played in as an exchange student from Sweden. Bjorn insists he still doesn't understand why the game is called football.

"After all," he said, "the foot only touches the ball at best about 5 percent of the time. The rest of the time it is thrown, caught or held by a running back."

Thanks!

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped make my recent fund-raising dinner such a high success. Your support & encouragement have meant a great deal to me in my attempt for re-election as Sheriff of Deaf Smith County.

Sincerely, Joe Brown

Paid by Committee to Elect Joe Brown - Carla Hardt Treas.

Red Cross Update

Special thanks to the volunteers that helped clean in the clothing room. We will give clothing away on Friday, Nov. 5. Call the office to make an appointment if you need clothing.

We are still taking bids on the furniture given to the Chapter by Mrs. Suggs. We have a chest of drawers, an iron bed frame and several chairs. Come by the office at 224 S. Main to look at the furniture.

The Health Fair will be held Tuesday, Oct. 25 at the Community Center. We hope everyone will come by and learn more about health.

The Territorial meeting for our territory will be held Thursday, Oct. 27 in Amarillo. Registrations will still be taken. Call our office at 364-3761 if you would like to attend.

A cholesterol screening will be held Saturday, Oct. 29 at the Hereford YMCA, who with our office are taking appointments in order to avoid a long waiting line. Drop-ins will be taken, however. Cost of the test will be $6. The results of the test will be provided within five minutes.

The volunteers are planning a Spook House and game booth at the Crime Stoppers Carnival Monday night at the Bull Barn. Please come by and visit our spook house.

Thank to the many United Way volunteers who are out collecting money for the agencies in our county that depend on the United Way for their operating funds. The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Inventors Thomas Alva Edison and Alexander Graham Bell differed in their approaches in that Edison tended to identify a commercial need and look for a way to meet it, while Bell was more likely to be struck by a physical phenomenon and look for a way to use it.
