Academic decathle

An HHS team makes name for itself

By Dianna F. Dandridge

Hereford Brand Staff Writer

In a generation obsessed by sports, one where academics often gets pushed to the side, the Hereford Academic Decathlon Team continues to make a name for itself.

Nine team members and one alternate recently traveled to Odessa to participate in the regional meet at Permian High School.

Students were tested in seven different categories - math, social sciences, economics, art, music, language and literature - as well as answering Super Quiz questions. Teams also were required to give a prepared speech and an impromptu speech to a panel of judges.

For their efforts, the team brought home nine individual medals and 21 team medals, and they placed third overall in medium-size school

The team, coached by Cheri Zinck and James Perkins, has met 7-8:10 a.m. Monday-Thrusday for the entire first semester to learn the information on the test.

Team members are recruited from students whose grades range from straight A's to C's, not just extremely bright or

Deadline nears for Citizen of Year nominations

The deadline is approaching for residents to submit nominations for the 1998

Hereford Citizen of the Year. The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will accept nominations through Friday for the award, which will be presented at the annual chamber awards ban-

Beverly Harder of the Deaf Smith County Extension Office was last year's recipient of the Citizen of the Year Award.

The banquet will be Feb. 18 in the banquet hall of the Hereford Independent School District Administration Building, 601 N. 25 Mile Ave.

The award, which honors a Hereford resident who has demonstrated civic and professional leadership in the community, has been presented annually by the Hereford Lions Club president since 1946. Hereford Lions Club President Stan Fry Jr. will present the award this

All nominations should be forwarded to the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, 701 N. Main.

Meanwhile, tickets for the banquet have been on sale since Monday. Tickets for the banquet are $15 per person and must be purchased in advance because seating is limited to 525.

In addition to the introduction of the Citizen of the Year, the banquet will feature the presentation of the 1998 Woman of the Year, as well as introduction of new chamber officers and direc-

Both figures reflect the global economic crisis that swept across Asia during the summer and fall of 1997, struck Russia last year and spread to Brazil last month.

Orders for computers and office equipment surged 19.4 percent, the biggest gain in 14 years. And orders for communications equipment jumped 12.1 percent.

Orders for durable goods

For the month of December, orders for industrial machinery and equipment rose 7.4 percent; for electronic and electrical equipment, 3.6 percent; and for transportation equipment, 1.8 percent. Fabricated metal products and stone, clay and glass products both rose 1.3 percent. Orders for primary metals such as steel fell 1.3 percent. Nondurable-goods orders rose 1.2 percent.

HISD's science fair now is open

Special to The Brand

Science projects of more than 650 local students are open for the public to view today and Friday at the Hereford Independent School District Administration Building, 601 N. 25 Mile Ave.

Public viewing of the projects, with their award designation, will be until 4:30 p.m. today and 8 a.m.-noon

The annual HISD science fair is designed to:

Stimulate interest in science and engineering; Emphasize the positive aspects of young people; encourage creativity and curios-

Give public recognition to talented students;

Encourage students to experience the wonders of science through individual involvement in preparing a project;

Teach students how to recognize a problem, pursue a solution and draw conclusions;

Encourage students to study mathematics and sciences; Encourage exploration of the Internet. Students will be allowed to set up their projects in the exhibition hall from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Transportation from the various schools to the administration building will be provided by the school district during regular school hours or the students may be accompanied by a parent that evening.

Student services director Debbie Gallman said the science fair has received entry information from 669 students, who will enter 410 projects which have been designed and put together by individual students or small groups representing schools from throughout the district.

Projects were judged Tuesday and Wednesday by 28 residents representing the local community with awarding of top honors at special ceremonies this morning.

The judges selected the best six projects by grade level in each of four divisions -- life, physical, Earth, and chemis-

Hereford native completes work at DPS academy

Special to The Brand

AUSTIN - Gabriel Medrano of Hereford was among 140 trooper cadets who graduated recently from the Texas Department of Public Safety's 115th Training Academy.

"This is the largest graduating class in DPS history, and we are proud to have them join our ranks. These new troopers are professional and well-trained, as are the rest of our commissioned troopers," DPS Director Col. Dudley M. Thomas said.

Gabriel Medrano Texas Attorney General John Cornyn addressed the graduating class at the Frank Erwin Center on the University of Texas campus in Austin. Lt. Col. Thomas A. Davis Jr. also participated in the ceremony along with DPS training officers.

The 27-week school is the longest continuous training academy offered by any law enforcement agency in Texas, and one of the longest in the nation. The cadets entered the Academy in July and completed 1,187 hours of instruction more than twice the training required by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education. The students received instruction in criminal law, traffic law, arrest procedures, accident investigation, first aid and other law enforcement subjects as well as classes aimed at developing self-esteem and goal setting skills.

Trooper Medrano will be assigned to the Highway Patrol in

Republicans struggling to find way to end trial

The Associated Press

Reluctant to have President Clinton's impeachment trial end with a simple acquittal, Republicans are struggling with proposals that would conclude he committed wrongdoing without removing him from office. With the White House and Democrats insisting the concept is unconstitutional in an impeachment trial, Senate Republicans are meeting today in search of a consensus that has eluded them so far.

The Constitution requires a two-thirds vote to convict a president and remove him from office - a margin both parties agree is not within reach — but a socalled finding of fact would only need a majority. Critics argue there is no constitutional alternative to conviction and removal in a trial that could be completed by

Some GOP governors worry their party pays for public's disgust The Associated Press

Some Republican governors are worried that the public frustration over President Clinton's impeachment trial is having a negative impact on the GOP. But at least one is optimistic the tide will eventually turn in their favor.

"I think President Clinton is fatally wounded and will limp through the rest of his presidency," said Oklahoma Gov. Frank Keating.

That outcome, Keating said, might help the GOP win the

Even if that scenario holds true, Keating, chairman of the Republican Governor's Association, agrees that the GOP is bearing the brunt of public disgust now. He believes there should be "a heads-up vote, yes or no" immediately on whether to continue the trial.

Massachusetts Gov. Paul Cellucci said he hopes the trial ends as soon as possible. He pointed to GOP losses in last fall's congressional elections as proof that many Americans believe Republicans are responsible for what they consider partisanship and foot-dragging.

"There appeared to be, here and in the rest of the country, support for Democrats and dissatisfaction with Republicans," he said.

Louisiana Gov. Mike Foster has been banging that drum for months, saying Republicans should end the trial speedily because they don't have the votes to convict Clinton. "The sooner this is wound up the better off the country is going to be, and for sure, the Republican Party," he said. "People just don't like what's happening in Washington. They don't like the way it's been drawn out on totally partisan lines. You cannot impeach a president on partisan THE HEREFORD BRAND

Local roundup

Death penalty examined
AMARILLO - KACV-TV, the local PBS affiliate, will air two programs next week that focus on Texas' death penalty.
"The Execution" will begin at 8 p.m. Feb. 9 on "Frontline."

The show will go behind the walls of Huntsville's death row to examine capital punishment through the life, crimes and execution of Clifford Boggess, who was convicted of the 1986 murders of two elderly store clerks. Filmed over the three years leading up to Boggess' execution in June 1998, the 90minute program takes the viewer into the mind and soul of a killer. Interviews with Boggess, his family, his neighbors, and the families of his victims are included.

In "The Death Penalty: A Texas Perspective" at 9:30 p.m., host James Hunt discusses the future of capital punishment in Texas with guests Randall County Criminal District Attorney James Farren and defense attorney Warren Clark.

"With the appeals process of Texas death row inmates receiving so much criticism lately, it's important that people know what changes are being considered, and how to support or oppose them," says Hunt.

A repeat broadcast of the "Perspective" segment will be 5 p.m. Feb. 14. The show funded through a grant from the Don & Sybil Harrington Foundation. For more information on the programs, check the KACV web site: www.kacutu.org.

Man arrested for stealing ambulance

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Fort Worth man arrested in a stolen ambulance was in the Tarrant County Jail today on a theft charge.

A paramedic and an emergency medical technician said they were in a convenience store for refreshments about 9:45 a.m. Wednesday when they received a radio message ordering them to the scene of a one-car auto accident.

The call for the ambulance went out in more ways than one.

AUSTIN - Cotton producers in the Northwest Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone wishing to represent the fivecounty area on the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation's statewide board of directors have until Feb. 10, to officially place their names into nomination.

The deadline comes as cotton farmers and landowners who farmed cotton in 1998 get set to decide in a March 12 referendum whether a boll weevil eradication program should be initiated in the Northwest Plains zone.

Cotton producers who farm in the zone and have grown cotton for at least seven years are eligible for the position.

Those wishing to be placed on the ballot must fill out a nomination form along with a biographical information sheet. In addition, the nomination must be supported by the signatures of at least 10 other eligible cotton growers in the Producers can mail the form to Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin TX 78711 or fax the form to (512) 463-7593. Nominations must be postmarked by Feb. 10.

Forms are available at local county extension offices.

The Northwest Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone consists of approximately 500,000 acres in Bailey, Castro, Deaf Smith, Lamb and Parmer Policy makers in Washington wonder what will happen to people on welfare when the economy falters. The people at this conference wonder what's happening to people now.

With a booming economy, jobs are available, they agree, but they don't pay much and many of the supports that are supposed to help people move from welfare to work have been slow to begin or are insufficient.

stuck cleaning up some messy "Is this a trap where churches save bad policy?" one man asked during a session designed to allow New Englanders to trade ideas. Some comfort came from an unexpected source. Housing Secretary Andrew Cuomo got a standing ovation for a speech that denounced the welfare overhaul that his boss, President Clinton, signed into law. Welfare reform was never about a policy debate," Cuomo said. "It was a political debate. Nobody said how do we really help people on welfare?" Though he singled out Congress for blame, Cuomo clearly was not singing out of the Clinton administration hymnal. He said the welfare overhaul was "meant to punish" poor people who were trapped in a terrible system with twisted incentives. "Economic selfishness" and racism were behind the legislation, he said. Now, activists like those gathered here must spread the word about life on the streets, he said.

"There's a sense that the economy's going well and people are doing well, and if it's OK for me, it must be OK for everyone," Cuomo said.

Despite the many gloomy assessments, there were pockets of good news.

The Rev. Skip Long told how businesses and churches have joined together in Raleigh, N.C., to train people for work and then offer them jobs.

Marsha De Hollander said things were going well in Kent County, Mich., which has been designated a "Project Zero" site, with the goal of moving everyone off welfare. The program has brought lots of backup services for people moving off the rolls, and churches have adopted families to mentor them through work.

She sees opportunity for churches, who have long worked hard to serve the poor.
"But I think there's an interesting opportunity here, kind of a moment, to create new partnerships," she said. We all knew it wasn't working before.'

Dear Fresno: The best way to improve a "not-so-hot" relationship is to heat it up. Be subtle but persistent. It sounds as if your husband is unsure of his ability to perform sexually. He needs reassurance, praise and the knowledge that you really do care about him. Start talking.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for 30 years. He is Italian, and I am Canadian. I speak only English. Whenever we are with my mother-in-law, she and my husband speak nothing but Italian. My husband doesn't see anything wrong with this, even though I am left totally out of the conversation. He says the language is part of his heritage and it makes his mother happy. I would be more understanding if my mother-in-law could not speak English, but she speaks

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for telling your readers to replace the batteries in their smoke alarms when they change their clocks at the end of October. I'll bet a lot of readers meant to do it but never got around to it.

I would like to warn your readers that, even with new batteries, smoke alarms don't last forever. They need to be replaced every 10 years, or they may not work when you need them. Smoke alarms cut the risk of dying from a home fire by nearly 50 percent. But almost a third of the smoke alarms in American homes are close to the end of their 10year life span.

Please, Ann, tell your readers that smoke alarms should be installed on every level in the home, in every hallway and near every bedroom. # Snow handicap here

BRAND/Mauri Montgomery

The hazards of Panhandle golf — A team of representatives from the Texas Golf Association and the United States Golf Association were chauferred Wednesday afternoon across the muddy terrain of Pitman Municipal Golf Course in four-wheel drive vehicles as they toured and re-evaluated the course's handicap ranking. The inspection, which comes once every ten years, establishes course difficulty. Recent snowfall in Hereford made the inspection a little more brief than usual. From left, USGA intern Erik Minzner; Bill Penn, executive director of TGA and Rob Addington, TGA director of membership services openly admitted that 10-year evaluations were accurate enough, especially after a 400-mile winter drive from the warmer climes of Austin to the snow-laden Texas

Basketball competition winds down

The District 3-4A basketball race has narrowed significantly since the Hereford Whiteface boy's and girl's basketball teams met the Borger Bulldogs for the first time in January during the first half of loop play.

This time it will be serious business.

Both Whiteface squads, now resting near the middle of the district standings, hoping Friday's match in Borger won't be a sequel to the first.

The Hereford boy's suffered a 65-57 loss to the Bulldogs while the Lady Whitefaces lost to Borger by a heartbreaking margin of 41-40.

And the task of avenging earlier losses to Borger, daunting enough under normal circumstances, is made even more difficult because Hereford is battle weary. Heavy Panhandle snowfall forced game postponements that led to a grueling three-game district schedule this

GIRLS

"The game with Borger is everything for us if we expect to get into the playoffs," head lady's coach Key Harrison said. "We've played in two pretty physical games already this week, so we're a little tired, but I think our girls believe they can beat Borger Friday night."

"I wish we could go up there in a better position — it would be nice to have a better cushion in the district standings going into this game, but we don't. It's a must-win game. Harrison said. The Lady Whitefaces, now 4-4 and 19-11 overall, currently hold a fourth place berth behind Amarillo Palo Duro, 7-1; Dumas, 6-2; and Borger 5-3. Valerie Guzman compiled 12 points and Tori Walker had 10 points to lead the Hereford girl's to a 52-44 win over the Pampa Lady Harvesters earlier this week.

The Whiteface boy's are also coming off a win snubbing Pampa 59-52 Tuesday at Whiteface Gym.

The victory brought Hereford to a 4-2 mark in loop play and 19-8 for the sea-

Tipoff for the girl's game is set for 6 p.m. in Borger, and the boy's tilt will follow at 7:30

Missouri (16-4 overall, 7-2 Big 12) shot 77 percent from the floor in the second half to pull away in the game. Missouri also got 13 points, on four 3-pointers, from Brian Grawer. Rayford Young led Texas Tech (10-12, 2-7) with 13 points, while James Ware added 10. Baylor was so close to ending its eight-game Big 12 losing skid, but came up one point shy in a 59-58 loss to Oklahoma. "Another hard loss for our guys, but they don't give up," Baylor coach Harry Miller said. "This was a tough loss because if you look at the stats everything was about even." Baylor (6-16, 0-9) went on a 15-1 run late in the game, and actually led 58-57 with less than a minute to play. But Oklahoma (15-7, 6-3) quickly regained the lead on an Eric Martin jump shot with 22 seconds left that proved to be the game-winner.

"I heard an old football coach use the term bumfuzzled, and that's what I am right now, bumfuzzled," 71-59 win over Texas A&M. Sampson said. "We didn't play "When the opportunities" well. When you play as poorly as we did offensively and still win, well, we're not going to focus on this one."

Texas (13-9, 8-1) got a game-high 19 points from Gabe Muoneke.

Fourth-ranked Stanford takes Cal

By BOB GREENE AP Sports Writer

No. 4 Stanford used its only basket in the final 12 minutes to pull out a victory against California.

Wednesday night's 57-55 Pac-10 Conference win over Cal was the perfect example.
Michael McDonald's driving layup with 12:25 remaining put the visiting Cardinal in front 44-42. But with both teams increasing their defensive pressure, California moved in front 52-50 with 4:40 remaining.

Thomas Kilgore's free throw and Raymond King's layup increased Cal's lead to 55-50 with 3:30 left.

Stanford just turned up its defense another notch, and when Peter Sauer and Tim Young sank two free throws each, Stanford (19-3 overall, 9-1 Pac-10) trailed by a point, setting the stage for the gamewinning 3-pointer by Kris

"The play came for me, I got my feet set and I had a good look. I usually make those, so I was pretty confident," Weems said. "It was an ugly game, but those are the ones you want to win."

The victory gave Stanford a season sweep of California (12-8, 3-7) as they held the Bears scoreless for the final 3:29.

It wasn't for lack of trying. Cal had the ball in the final seconds with a chance to win. Arthur Lee missed a running jumper in the lane and Sean Lampley got the rebound for Cal with just under 10 seconds remaining. After a timeout, Michael Gill and Kilgore both attempted 3-pointers that missed and Carl Boyd's putback was waved off by the officials because it came just after the buzzer sounded.

"We ended up with two pretty good cracks at the bas-ket," Cal coach Ben Braun said. "We hoped to get the final shot to go, but we just didn't get it to happen."

Weems and Mark Madsen finished with 15 points apiece to lead Stanford, which won its fifth straight against Cal. Gill and Kilgore also scored 15 points each to lead the Bears, who have lost seven of 10 since a 9-1 start.

Tyson sentencing scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) -Shelley Finkel makes the case to keep Mike Tyson out of jail sound quite simple.

This was a minor accident," said Finkel, Tyson's boxing advisor. "The two defendants settled with him and said they wanted him to get help, and that's what happened. What more could you ask?"

The prosecutor paints a darker picture. Montgomery County State's Attorney Douglas Gansler has called Tyson a bully who committed "road rage" and is "nothing less than a time bomb buried in our back yard."

The opinion that counts will suburb of Gaithersburg, Md.

Johnson, who on Friday will determine whether Tyson's latest comeback is over after just one fight. Johnson will sentence the fighter on two counts of second-degree assault and in turn will trigger a decision in Indiana on whether Tyson violated his probation for a 1991 rape conviction. "If he goes to jail here, it's much, much more likely he'll go to jail there," said Paul Kemp, Tyson's lawyer.

On Aug. 31, Tyson kicked one motorist and punched another after a minor three-car accident in the Washington be that of Judge Stephen On Dec. 1, Tyson pleaded nocontest — meaning he neither protests the assault charges nor admits guilt - and could receive up to 20 years' imprisonment.

> The two victims, Abmielec Saucedo and Richard Hardick, were paid an undisclosed amount to avoid a civil suit shortly before Tyson's plea. Both will be present Friday, ready to tell the judge that they feel Tyson shouldn't go to jail.

"Any inference that we've been purchased or bribed is off the wall," said Saucedo's lawyer, Glenn Culpepper. "From the very beginning, my client said he didn't want him to convicted, he wanted him to be helped."

Finkel, who will ask for probation, plans to call character witnesses, including one from a Washington homeless shelter where Tyson has been doing volunteer work. He will also point out Tyson's goodwill acts while training in Arizona - he visited teenage inmates and paid for the funeral of a 2-year-old girl shot to death.

Tyson, who lives in Bethesda, Md., is undergoing therapy at Georgetown University.

By contrast, Gansler will delve deep into Tyson's background, where he found plenty to work with. His report to the judge details Tyson's rape conviction in Indiana, seven brushes with the law as a juvenile, as well as the infamous fight in which Tyson bit off part of Evander Holyfield's ear in June 1997. Tyson subsequently had his boxing license revoked for a year.

Los Angeles Lakers may be Rodman's only option

for a championship contender this season as previously stated, the Los Angeles Lakers might be his only option.

And his earning potential with them is extremely limited compared to what he's. made in recent years.

Representatives of the Orlando Magic, Miami Heat and Houston Rockets, all possible destinations for the 37-yearold Rodman, indicated Wednesday they aren't interested in his services.

No doubt, Rodman's quirky ways are a significant factor.

Rodman, the NBA's leading rebounder in each of the last seven seasons, expressed a desire to play for the Magic, who are coached by Chuck Daly - Rodman's coach with the Detroit Pistons from 1986-

Magic general manager John Gabriel indicated the chances of that happening are slim, mainly because Rodman has made it clear he wishes to receive special treatment.

"Based on one phone call, this thing had a pulse a couple days ago," Gabriel said from Orlando, Fla. "It's coming close to dying out here real fast as we get ready to start our season (Friday night against the New York Knicks).

We wanted to meet with him. We respect him very much as a player, but there was process for this organization in regard to issues off the floor that we're going to stick to. If that process doesn't happen, this signing won't happen.

Lakers executive vice president Jerry West has expressed an interest in Rodman, but in the team can only offer a veteran minimum starting salary of $1 million under the new labor deal.

Black and white TV

Gap between races' viewing habits narrowing, according to new study

NEW YORK (AP) - The great divide between black and white television viewers appears to be narrowing.

A new study suggests there is more common ground in what each race watches because TV networks are doing a better job putting together multiethnic casts and some networks are less actively seeking to appeal specifically

During the last three months of 1998, six shows ranked among the 20 mostwatched series in both black and white homes, according to the study by TN Media, an advertising buying firm. They were "ER," "60 Minutes," "Monday Night Football," "Touched By an Angel," "NYPD Blue" and "The CBS Sunday Movie."

Two years ago, the two races had only "Monday Night Football" in common as a favorite show.

The three entertainment series on the recent list have multiethnic casts, which is becoming a more frequent practice, said Stacey Lynn, vice president of broadcast re"At some point there is a lot of common ground and age is one of those things," Stacey Lynn, vice president, search at TN Media.

Younger networks that tried to establish themselves by appealing to a black audience - Fox, the WB and UPN - have recently broadened their appeal, she said. CBS is now the top-rated network among both blacks and whites after several years in which Fox had the largest claim on the black audience, the study said. CBS's ratings are remarkably similar for both races.

That may be because CBS's shows appeal to an older audience and many of the black-oriented programs on other networks are aimed at young people, Lynn said.

"At some point there is a lot of common ground and age is one of those things,

There are still significant differences. "The Steve Harvey Show," the WB's Thursday night comedy, is the most popular show among blacks. Few whites watch it, though: last week it ranked 101st on the Nielsen Media Research list of 132 prime-time programs.

The WB and UPN still have significantly higher ratings among blacks. So far, the WB is doing a much better job than its rival in broadening its audience without alienating blacks, Lynn said.

NBC is having the most difficult time attracting a black audience. NBC Entertainment President Scott Sassa said last month the network needed to do a better job reflecting the country's diversity instead of concentrating on wealthy, white citydwellers.

Black households watch an average of 70 hours of television each week and white households watch 50 hours, the study said. The gap has steadily shrunk over the past five years.

Article on Chelsea irks

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton and his wife say they are "profoundly saddened" by People magazine's decision to do a cover story on daughter Chelsea.

"For over six years, the media has understood and respected the unique situation facing Chelsea as she grows up in the spotlight focused on her parents," the Clintons said Wednesday in a prepared statement. "We have been very grateful for the media's restraint in allowing Chelsea the privacy ... any young person ... deserves."

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- · Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- · Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- · Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

NOTICE OF CONCENTRATED ANIMAL FEEDING OPERATION APPLICATION TPDES Permit No. 03662

APPLICATION. JIM NICHOLSON CATTLE, INC., Route 4, Box 40, Hereford, Texas 79045, has applied to the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) for an amendment to TPDES Permit No. 03662 to authorize the applicant to expand a beef cattle operation from a maximum capacity of 2,750 head to 6,000 head in Deaf Smith County, Texas. No discharge of pollutants into the waters of the state is authorized by this Permit. All waste and wastewater will be beneficially used on agricultural land.

The existing facility is located on the east side of County Road I, approximately two and one-half miles north of the intersection of Farm-to-Market Road 1058 and County Road I. The site is approximately two miles west of the City of Hereford in Deaf Smith County, Texas. The facility is located in the drainage area of the Upper Prairie Dog Town Fork of the North Fork of the Red River in Segment No. 0229 of the Red River Basin.

The Executive Director of the TNRCC has prepared a draft permit which, if approved, would establish the parameters and limitations within which the facility must operate.

PUBLIC COMMENT/PUBLIC MEETING. Written public comments and requests for public meetings may be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, at the address provided in the information section below, within 30 days of the date of newspaper publication of this notice. A public meeting is intended for the taking of public comment, and is not a contested case hearing. A public meeting will be held if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application.

CONTESTED CASE HEARING. The TNRCC may grant a contested case hearing on this application if a written hearing request is filed within 30 days from the date of newspaper publication of this notice. The Executive Director may approve the application unless a written request for a contested case hearing is filed within 30 days after newspaper publication of this notice.

To request a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing;" (4) a brief and specific description of how you would be affected by the application in a way not common to the general public; and (5) the location and distance of your property relative to the proposed activity. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application or permit which would satisfy your concerns. Requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted in writing to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address provided in the information section

If a hearing request is filed, the Executive Director will not issue the permit and will forward the aplication and hearing request to the TNRCC Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. If a contested case hearing is held, it will be a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court.

INFORMATION. Written hearing requests, public comments or requests for a public meeting should be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, TNRCC, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. For information concerning the hearing process, contact the Public Interest Counsel, MC 103, the same address. For additional information, please contact the Office of Public Assistance at 1-800-687-4040. General information regarding the TNRCC can be found at our web site at www.tnrcc.state.tx.us.

third. In those seven years, the team has advanced to state levels more often than any athletic team and more often than any academic team except speech, Zinck said.

Most of the team members see the Academic Decathlon as an opportunity to make a name for the school in ways other than the traditional sports.

This is an excellent opportunity for us to learn about each other and work as a team," team member Lisa Coneway said. "It also shows how committed we are, just by getting up early every morning and coming to school to work on all the information."

Some members said they would like to see the Academic Decathlon Team get some of the support which the athletic squads receive.

We have all the pep rallies for football and at least one for basketball, but there are some students who don't even know about this team or if they do, they just think we're a bunch of brains - and that's just not true,' one team member said.

Another member commented on one school at the recent meet which actually had posters supporting its squad.

At the regional meet: Torrac Hayes placed first in speech; second in individual awards; third in interview, social science. Jacob Spriggs placed second in economics and language and literature.

Nita Dotson won first place in speech and second place on her essay.

For all their work, the team members are pleased with their third-place ranking. And, the early morning hours and the lack of acclaim won't prevent them from coming back next year and trying again.

News in brief

Nearly daily airstrikes more damaging than Desert Fox

WASHINGTON - Hit by hit, U.S. and British airstrikes against Iraqi targets in the past five weeks have done more damage to Saddam Hussein's defenses than December's four-day bombing campaign, Pentagon officials

In response, Saddam has pulled back anti-aircraft missile batteries from "no-fly" zones in southern and northern Iraq in recent days after a near daily onslaught by U.S. and British warplane patrols that launched missiles and bombs to defend themselves from attack.

The question remains whether it's a temporary retreat by Iraq, which has challenged no-fly zones more than 80 times since Dec. 28 by trying to shoot down allied warplanes or by targeting them with radar. An unknown number of anti-missile batteries remain in the no-fly zones.

"We have seen a pattern of him moving what he considers high-value assets around before," Air Force Major Joe LaMarca, spokesman for U.S. Central Command, said Wednesday. "We believe that we're having an impact. Now, to what degree, that assessment is an ongoing thing."

Meanwhile, the Clinton administration appears to be using the no-fly clashes to expand from self-defensive strikes against anti-aircraft sites to more offensive attacks like Tuesday's U.S. strike against three Iraqi anti-ship missile launchers near the Persian Gulf.

Clinton authorized more robust rules of engagement, and recent targets have included defense-associated command and control sites.

Congress skeptical about sending troops to Kosovo

WASHINGTON Bosnia-weary Congress is reacting skeptically to the Clinton administration's suggestion that U.S. troops may be needed to help enforce a peace plan in war-scarred Kosovo. There remains no such plan, despite NATO's efforts to force the warring parties to the bargaining table this weekend. But administration's national security team has been making the rounds on Capitol Hill laying groundwork for such a deployment in case a peace plan is adopted. "I do not at this time support ground troops in Kosovo, because I do not know what the game plan is," said Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, R-Texas, after a briefing by Secretary of State Madeleine Albright and Defense Secretary William Cohen. "I do not know what the exit strategy is, and I don't know how many of our forces would be involved."

Her comments echoed those of many lawmakers. Later, Albright made a hastily arranged decision to deliver a major policy address on Kosovo to a foreign policy group today. A senior official, asking not to be identified, Last month, President said Albright planned to explain why Kosovo was important to the national interest.

Davis wooing Mexicans, Hispanics back home with trip MONTERREY, Mexico

With efforts to limit bilingual education and ban benefits to illegal immigrants, former California Gov. Pete Wilson made himself infamous in Mexico.

His successor was paying attention.

In a three-day trip to Mexico that ended Wednesday, Gov. Gray Davis dismissed illegal immigration as a federal matter, promoted increased trade and captivated Hispanics here and — more importantly — back home.
"The days of shouting, finger-pointing and assessing blame are over," said the Democrat, whose talk with Ernesto Zedillo was the first meeting between a Mexican president and a California governor in more than six

The trip has been front page news in Mexico - where Proposition 187, the anti-illegal immigration measure Republicans successfully promoted in 1994, is known as "Wilson's law" — and California, where Hispanics voted 4-1 in favor of Democrats in the last election.

"This trip marks a new beginning," said Zedillo.

But with the trial resuming today, the issue was not on the agenda. Senators have had a week-long break during which House trial managers took depositions from Monica Lewinsky, presidential friend Vernon Jordan and White Sidney House aide . Blumenthal.

The Senate today was considering whether to make public the videotaped depositions and whether any or all of the witnesses should appear in person on the Senate floor.

House prosecutors want to show portions of the videotapes as part of further evidence presentation, but only as a fallback position if they can't get live witnesses. Democrats have been united in opposition to live testimony, and even Republicans who viewed the videotapes of Ms. Lewinsky and Jordan appeared unenthusiastic about calling them.

GOP Senate officials conceded it would be difficult to secure enough votes to prevail on a call for live testimony, particularly with public opinion in favor of a swift end to the proceedings. The lead House prosecutor, Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., said he was "not particularly interested" in showing all the videotapes if live witnesses were rejected, but would instead show excerpts. The White House then could use portions of the video for its defense, he said. Hyde said there were "no bombshells or anything like that" in the depositions, but added the managers who questioned the three witnesses believed their responses would be useful to the prosecution's

Some Republicans, however, were not convinced of the need for live witnesses.

"I am not going to support appearances of witnesses before the U.S. Senate," said Sen. Olympia Snowe, R-Maine.

Sen. John Chafee of Island added, "I'm against it" and Sen. Richard Shelby, R-Ala., commented, "I am not persuaded."

On Wednesday, Republicans considered draft language of a statement that would find that Clinton "willfully provided false and misleading" grand jury testimony, and impeded efforts to uncover evidence in the Paula Jones sexual harassment lawsuit.

The two articles of impeachment under consideration charge the president with grand jury perjury and obstruction of justice.

Senate Democratic leader Tom Daschle called the proposal an "extralegal" device that could turn the entire pro-ceeding into a "Republican trial."

Clinton press secretary Joe Lockhart added, "I think it's understandable as people work toward trying to figure out a way to bring this process to an end ... but in the rush to do that ... they shouldn't try to trample on the Constitution in the process."

Republican senators also sent Clinton a letter, asking him to submit voluntarily to a sworn deposition to answer questions in the case. The president already has said he would not do either.

"Your knowledge, intent, actions and omissions are central to the charges. ... Personal answers from you should prove beneficial in our efforts to reconcile conflicting testimony," the Republicans wrote.

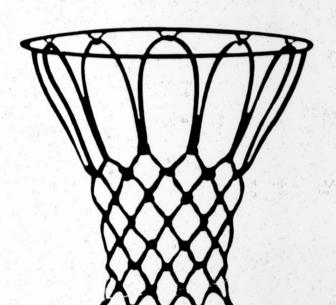

The maneuvering came as Blumenthal was questioned in a heavily secured room on the fourth floor of the Capitol, which is off-limits to the public and the news media.

A source familiar with the deposition, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Blumenthal repeated testimony he had given a grand jury last year concerning a conversation he had with Clinton about the president's relationship with Ms. Lewinsky, the former White House intern. The president lied to him, Blumenthal said.

Several sources said the question-and-answer period lasted only about an hour but extensive time was spent over objections to certain questions asked by Rep. James Rogan,
