SCHOOL FUNDING

AUSTIN (AP) — A $2.5 billion school funding proposal that backers say would give tax relief to property owners and put an average $2,000 more into teachers' pockets annually was introduced Thursday by Senate Education Committee Chairman Teel Bivins.

The tax relief for businesses and homeowners is estimated to average 10 cents per $100 property value. For a homeowner owing taxes on $100,000, that would mean $100 in savings, according to staff.

"This is a work in progress," said Bivins, R-Amarillo. He emphasized that he wants to work with lawmakers on the measure, which drew criticism from teacher groups and those who have fought for school funding equity.

The bill is backed by Republican legislative leaders such as Lt. Gov. Rick Perry and Senate Finance Committee Chairman Bill Ratliff of Mount Pleasant.

"Senator Bivins' plan represents the largest single increase in school funding in the history of the state of Texas," Perry said.

Linda Edwards, spokeswoman for Gov. George W. Bush, called the proposal "a great start." Bush has advo-

Bivins describes proposal as a 'work in progress,' says he wants to work with lawmakers, critics ated $2 billion in property tax cuts, but Bivins said the proposed record state funding increase would be "pretty much keeping our promise."

Teacher groups said the plan falls short.

"It's a lousy proposal," said Annette Cootes of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Among objections, she noted that teachers only would get the estimated $2,000 if lawmakers pass and voters approve a constitutional amendment on a statewide ballot in November.

Under the proposal, the extra money for teachers would come from the state taking over their retirement contribution, which is 6.4 percent of their base pay. That means higher-paid teachers would get more money.

Farwell feedlot won't expand

The owner and chairman of AzTx Cattle Co. cited community opposition as the main reason for discontinuing expansion plans of the Farwell Feed Yards.

"As many people who opposed the growth and the new jobs the expansion would provide tells me it just wasn't worth it," Bob Josseland said.

"We are trying to be a good neighbor and, hopefully, a positive force in the community," Josseland told the State-Line News.

Josseland made the announcement just a few days after a public hearing with the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission and residents of Farwell.

Many residents voiced concerns at the Monday night meeting regarding the increased dust, flies and health concerns from breathing air polluted by feedlot odors and waste.

Josseland originally planned to expand the Farwell Feed Yard from 29,500-head capacity to 50,000-head capacity.

A member of the TNRC staff said AzTx's permit requests satisfied all the technical and administrative rules. He also noted that state regulations do not provide for feedlot "nuisance conditions."

Nuisance officials said the excess dust and increased number of flies was a common problem during drought years, but they had hoped to be able to overcome the problem using a system used in one of their Colo-

What we eat

Junk food's choice when eating out

By Dianna F. Dandridge

Hereford Brand Staff Writer

Nearly three decades of health-conscious adults changed the way food is bought, prepared and consumed.

Americans expect lean, easy-to-prepare cuts of fresh meat, higher quality produce and a better selection of packaged foods to take home.

In these three decades, consumers have learned which foods are high in fat and cholesterol and which are low calorie and even lower in taste, and for meals served at home, they appear to strive diligently to eat the way experts say they should.

However, as people eat better at home, they also eat out more often than 30 years ago, according to a recent report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Economic Research Service.

And, when eating out, most diners decline the good-for-you stuff and choose foods high in fat and calories and low in fiber and minerals.

"People consider eating out as a treat," said Martha Rincon, dietary food service director at Hereford Regional Medical Center, "and when we treat ourselves, we want what we don't usually get."

Researchers with the ERS report consumers get more fat and cholesterol while eating out primarily due to the available choices.

USDA researcher J.R. Blaylock said consumers are more likely to order fries, onion rings and other fatty foods while eating out rather than fixing them at home.

Rincon agreed, saying, "We are creatures of habit, and we eat what is available. When we go into the fast-food restaurants, we smell the fries and we just want what we won't cook for ourselves."

Numerous restaurants now provide nutritional fact sheets with everything from serving size to percent daily values of vitamins.

BRAND/Dianna F. Dandridge

Americans are eating more low-fat, high-fiber food at home, but when they eat out -- they go for the foods that are high in fat and calories and low in fiber and minerals. And, they are eating out more often.

These nutrition fact sheets can be helpful for counting calories and fat, but consumers need to be aware of differences in popular fast-food menu items, Blaylock said.

He warns many restaurants promote a lower calorie item, but that item may be smaller than a similar product from a competing eatery.

Rincon said individuals who eat out frequently, but who want to remain at least close to their diets, should acquaint themselves with the nutritional facts of their favorite dining spot, just as they have gotten used to reading the nutrition labels on the products they buy for home consumption.

She also advises ordering a regular entree meal is a better choice than the all-you-can-eat mega-food or salad bars.

"The restaurant owners try to accommodate as many customers as possible, and in so doing they fill the food bars with high calorie, high fat food, with lots of eye appeal," she said.

"For most healthy adults, eating a variety of foods in moderation will provide most of the daily nutrients," said Rincon. "The idea is not to go overboard with any food item."

Rincon said that most people need about 30 grams of fat a day, but because old habits are so hard to break, most people lose sight of their diets when they see and smell all ready prepared foods of restaurants.

The ERS report also indicates that most Americans, whether they eat at home or dine out, get the required amount of iron and minerals, but teen-age girls and women of child-bearing age are most likely not to get these nutrients.

In trying to limit both calories and fat intake, these groups usually cut out red meat from their diets.

"Meat is important in the diet for all groups," said Mary

Clinton, GOP at odds on farm aid

"It's easy to make pie-in-the-sky promises about things. What is real is the commitment and when you deliver."

Sylvia Matthews, White House budget office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans and the Clinton administration fired opening salvos in the growing debate over how to pay for an overhaul of a farm crop insurance program.

A Republican plan to spend an extra $6 billion over four years for the reforms doesn't seem possible, the Clinton administration charged Thursday. The White House hasn't even offered a plan, Republicans countered.

"It's easy to make pie-in-the-sky promises about things," Sylvia Matthews, deputy director of the White House Office of Management and Budget, said in an interview. "What is real is the commitment and when you deliver."

Rep. Saxby Chambliss, R-Ga., called the administration's complaints "ridiculous."

President Clinton did not include additional money for crop insurance in his budget, even while maintaining his commitment to passing reforms, Chambliss said.

"That's a pretty strong signal he had no intention of making any changes to crop insurance," Chambliss said.

The House and Senate Budget Committees included the $6 billion in their budget resolutions. The amount spent each year would vary but it would be in addition to the $1.6 billion now spent on the program.

The budget resolutions are essentially blueprints for things GOP leaders would like to accomplish. The actual spending will be determined by legislation to be considered later.

Administration officials have said the Republican crop insurance proposal would require drastic cuts elsewhere in the budget. Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman has proposed a plan that would cost $2 billion to $2.5 billion more a year than current spending, but administration officials said they wanted to work with GOP leaders to develop a substantive funding plan.

Evidence of fossilized bacteria found

HOUSTON (AP) — Martian meteorites have revealed new evidence of life on the red planet, according to the same NASA team who stunned the world three years ago with its discovery of organic remnants of what were believed to be microbes.

Fossilized remains of what appear to be bacteria are contained in two meteorites believed to be from Mars, according to a team led by Johnson Space Center geologist David S. McKay.

His presentation at Houston's JSC for the Lunar and Planetary Science Conference on Thursday was a cautious one, since more research is required and a soil-return mission is planned in the next decade.

The NASA team's latest findings, made within the past six months, were from samples of a 1.3 billion-year-old meteorite that fell to Earth in 1911 near Nakhla, Egypt and a 165 million-year-old meteorite that fell near Shergotty, India in 1865.

"My own opinion is that these will turn out to be true micro-fossils from Mars," said McKay, 62. "We're not counting on getting many converts. All we ask, though, is that people keep an open mind."

Father dies saving wife and children

HOUSTON (AP) — A 46-year-old father is dead after trying to save his family from a fire in their southeast Houston home.

Conrado Rozales Castillo got his family out of the house before he succumbed to the smoke and died Thursday. His only son, 6-year-old Conrado Jr., was pronounced dead on arrival at Hermann Hospital a short time later.

His wife, Maria Leanore Loreno, 29, was burned over 40 percent of her body and remained in critical condition at Hermann. Their daughters, Veronica and Anna, 8 and 10, were treated and released.

The cause of the fire, reported at 3:30 a.m., was under investigation Thursday.

Neighbor Bill Romero told the Houston Chronicle he saw the fire when he came home from work and broke a window. Smoke and heat poured out.

Postal worker convicted

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Saying that the public takes threats by postal workers seriously, a federal judge has sentenced a former U.S. mail employee to more than a year in jail for sending an e-mail to a co-worker in which he vowed to "go postal."

"Let's face it," U.S. District Judge George Kazen told John Murrillo. "People can no longer laugh off things like this from postal workers."

A visibly shaken Murrillo, 48, staggered out of the courtroom after Kazen handed down the 15-month sentence Thursday. Weeks earlier, Murrillo did not believe he was going to end up in prison.

"For what?" he told the Laredo Morning Times. "Writing e-mail?"

Kazen said federal guidelines required him to sentence Murrillo to between 15 and 20 months in prison. Murrillo suffers from epilepsy and other health problems, and was twice removed from the courtroom on a stretcher during his trial.

Complex forms, eligibility requirements lead to errors Millions overlook tax credits

WASHINGTON (AP) — As many as 4 million Americans with modest incomes may be overlooking an IRS provision aimed at cutting or even eliminating their federal income taxes. And the sheer complexity of the earned income tax credit leads to errors by many of those who do try to claim it.

Simply determining eligibility for the credit requires completion of a 12-question checklist, which is then followed by a nine-line worksheet and an eight-line form. All of this requires constant reference to several pages of Internal Revenue Service instructions.

The IRS, which expects 20 million taxpayers to claim the credit this year, frequently finds up to 40 percent of such returns contain some error. But the people for whom the credit is intended typically don't have the money to hire a tax professional.

"Some of these errors may be due to intentionally excessive claims, but the complexity of the rules ... produces large numbers of mistakes even for people trying to get it right," Yale Law School professor Michael Graetz wrote in his recent book "The Decline (and Fall?) of the Income Tax."

The earned income tax credit was created in 1975, in part to keep lower-income people working to contribute payroll taxes to Social Security and Medicare and in part to give people incentives to stay off welfare rolls.

Depending on how many children a taxpayer has, people earning generally between $10,030 and $30,095 could be eligible this year. The levels change each year according to inflation.

The maximum credit is $3,756, and it's refundable — meaning it can trigger a refund even for people who don't owe any income taxes. Last year, IRS processed $29 billion in such claims resulting in $23 billion in refunds. Most of the rest resulted in a lower tax bill.

But the Treasury Department estimates 20 percent of people who are eligible never attempt to put in a claim. "A lot of people don't know about it," said Mildred Carter, senior tax analyst at CCH Inc., an Illinois-based consulting firm.

The IRS has begun a campaign to raise people's awareness of the credit, including inserts in envelopes containing W-2 forms, "ETC Days" at community centers and volunteers with churches and charities who help people with taxes in working-class neighborhoods.

"They all have the ability to touch on this part of the population," said Candice Cromling, director of the IRS program.

The IRS is also trying to reduce the error rate. Agents screen thousands of returns claiming the credit to check for mistakes as simple as an incorrect Social Security number or faulty math.

"For the most part, people make careless errors or they just don't understand the law," Cromling said.

But the IRS also reviewed 290,000 suspect returns in 1998 that claimed earned income credits worth $682 million. Of those "flagged" returns, the agency found 68 percent were invalid, according to the congressional General Accounting Office, Congress' investigative branch.

The agency this year is preventing anyone who improperly claimed the credit from attempting to do so again, unless they fill out a new form explaining why they are eligible. For more serious offenders, IRS can bar the credit for up to 10 years.

There are ways to get help: IRS offices have its Publication 596, which explains the law and eligibility rules. Agents at many of those offices can answer questions, or taxpayers can call the agency toll-free at 1-800-829-1040, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

IRS rules say some taxpayers earning as much as $14,200 and as little as $6,950 a year may not be required to file an income tax return, depending on age, marital status and other factors.

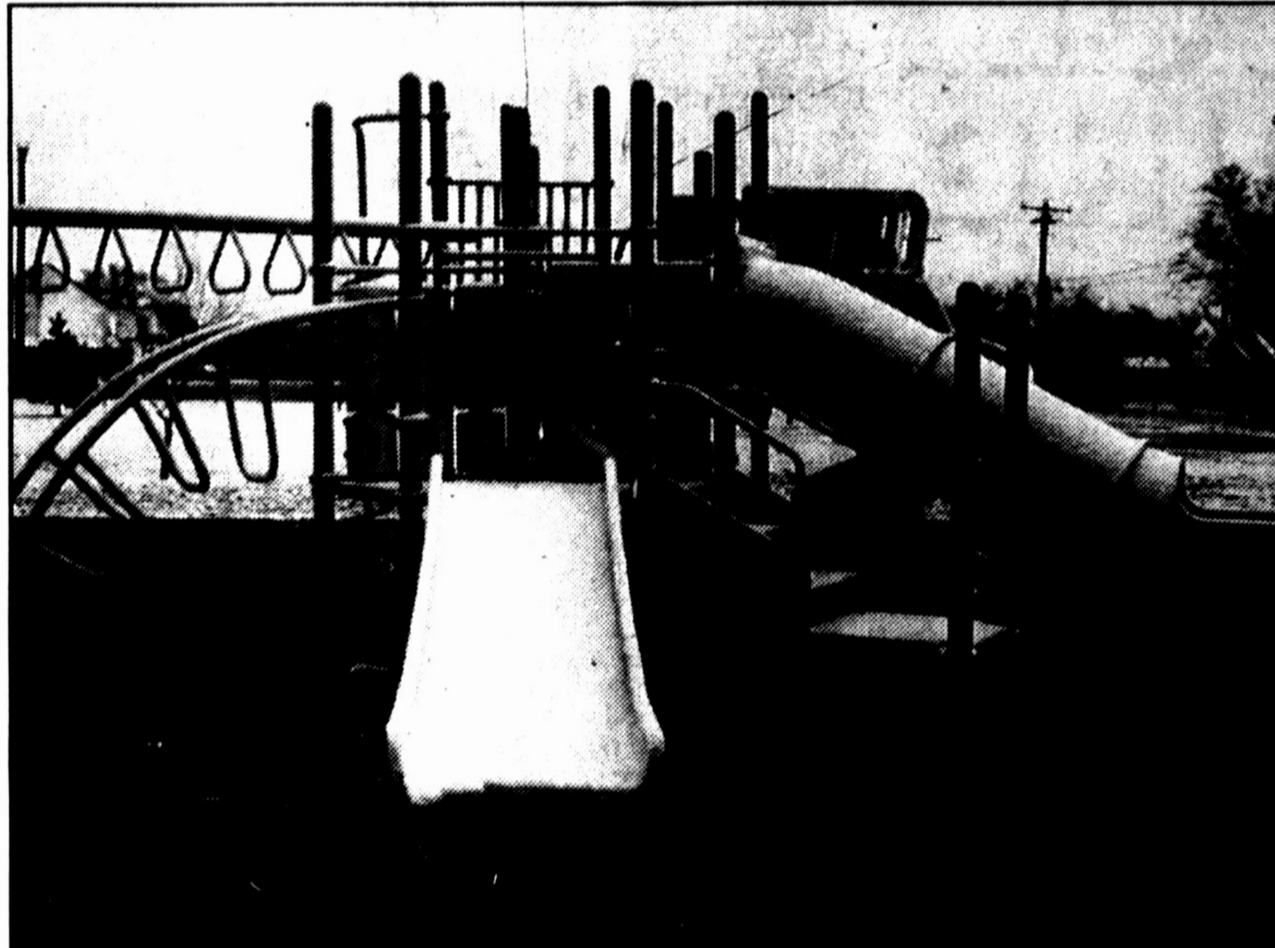

But Cromling said it's worth the effort: The average refund for taxpayers claiming the earned income credit is running at just over $2,000 this year. That compares with a national average of about $1,600.

"It's quite a significant amount of money," she said. "It's a very good reason for people to file a tax return, even if they don't have to."

Ann Landers

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: The following appeared in the San Pablo Catholic Church bulletin. I hope you think it's good enough to print. — Marathon, Fla.

Dear Marathon: I do, and I will. Here it is:

If you can start the day without caffeine,

If you can get going without pep pills,

If you can resist complaining and boring people with your troubles,

If you can eat the same food every day and be grateful for it,

If you can understand when your loved ones are too busy to give you any time,

If you can overlook it when something goes wrong through no fault of yours and those you love take it out on you,

If you can take criticism and blame without resentment,

If you can ignore a friend's limited education and never correct him,

If you can resist treating a rich friend better than a poor friend,

If you can face the world without lies and deceit,

If you can conquer tension without medical help,

If you can relax without liquor,

If you can sleep without the aid of drugs,

If you can say honestly that deep in your heart you have no prejudice against creed, color, religion or politics,

Then, my friends, you are almost as good as your dog.

Dear Ann Landers: Please publish this letter. I would like to send it to a young woman who needs to see it in print. As of now, she has done nothing to indicate that she knows how to behave decently.

My son recently attended the wedding of a friend who married the woman I'm writing about. Three days after the wedding, the groom told the bride (on their honeymoon) that he didn't love her and he was sorry he didn't have the courage to tell her so long before the ceremony. They came home and are now being divorced. Somehow, the bride ended up with all the money (a considerable amount) they received as wedding gifts. The people who gave the couple money intended to help them start their lives together. I feel that by keeping the money, the woman is being selfish and behaving in a manner that is socially incorrect. That money, along with all the other wedding gifts, should have been returned to the senders. She has no right to benefit financially from this unfortunate incident. What do you think, Ann? — Outraged in New York

Dear New York: I agree with you. I hope the ex-bride sees this column and decides to do the decent thing.

Dear Ann Landers: I recently attended a small, rather elegant dinner party. The table was beautifully set with a lovely centerpiece, fine silver and china.

After the entree had been served, I asked for the salt and pepper shakers. There were none on the table. I believed they had been overlooked. I was informed later that this was "insulting to the hostess" and I should have eaten the meal as it was served.

I have attended and hosted many elegant dinner parties over the last 40 years, and salt and pepper shakers were always part of the formal table service. Will you please give me your thoughts on the matter? — Saltless in Florida

Dear Florida: According to etiquette expert Letitia Baldrige, salt and pepper shakers have become increasingly rare at formal dinners, because the cook is supposed to know how to season the food properly. Therefore, if the shakers are not on the table, you should not ask for them.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

FOB moves with churches around the world toward crucifixion and resurrection. On this, the Fifth Sunday in Lent, the lectionary invites us into the world of a dying Lazarus and his grieving family. There is a lot of crying in this text (John 11:1-45). Complementary texts may be found in Romans 8 and Psalm 130.

At the time of gathered worship (10:30), Dr. Nathan L. Stone, pastor, will explore the texts in a sermon entitled, "Jesus Wept - Lazarus Laughed!" (Eugene O'Neill). Jesus cries while Lazarus laughs; an interesting way to complete the Lenten journey.

In "Forum" (9:30) the group will continue its discussion of world religions and the notion of cultural and theological pluralism. Specifically, the forum will consider the question, "What Happens After We Die?" - as seen through the eyes of the five major religions of the world.

A very special Sunday school experience is available for the children at 9:30. Children must be sure to bring their questions and their sense of play and wonder. Holly Kirk will know what to do with those things.

FOB is a gathering of thinking, feeling, nurturing and welcoming Christians who value individuality, independence, generosity and a sense of humor. At FOB spirituality is pursued and cherished above orthodoxy.

The church building is located at 245 N. Kingwood. The real church is wherever FOBers work, sleep, play, hug, laugh, watch TV, eat and drink. A supervised nursery is available at all services.

This ongoing series is used to help the people and the church to evaluate the life they are doing and the life they are living for Christ Jesus. Each service is audio taped and available upon request.

There is something for everyone at Sunday School, which starts at 9:45 a.m. The morning service is at 10:45 and the evening service is at 6. On Wednesday night, there is the mid-week prayer service as well as the Team Trinity Youth service at 7 p.m. A nursery is provided for every service.

Are you without a church home and need a place to grow in a relationship with God? Try us or any of the Bible-believing, God-honoring churches in Hereford. There is one just right for you.

MARCH MADNESS:

Gonzaga, UConn move closer to Final Four

By The Associated Press
Gonzaga and Connecticut have never been to the Final Four. That will change for one of them when they meet in the West Regional final.

Casey Calvary's tip-in with 4.4 seconds left Thursday night gave 10th-seeded Gonzaga a 73-72 victory over Florida in the regional semifinals at Phoenix.

"This is unbelievable," Calvary said. "We've dreamed about this since we were little, and now that we're there, we have to take advantage of it."

UConn's Ricky Moore guards Iowa's Dean Oliver as he brings the ball down the court Thursday. The Huskies beat Iowa 78-68 to advance against Gonzaga for the West Regional final of the NCAA tournament.

Richard Hamilton scored 24 points and Khalid El-Amin 21 as top-seeded Connecticut beat Iowa 78-68 to reach the final eight for the second straight year and fourth time since 1990.

"When the game got real close, I felt I had to really dig deep and really try to step my game up," Hamilton said.

It was Tom Davis' last game as Iowa coach after 13 seasons with the Hawkeyes.

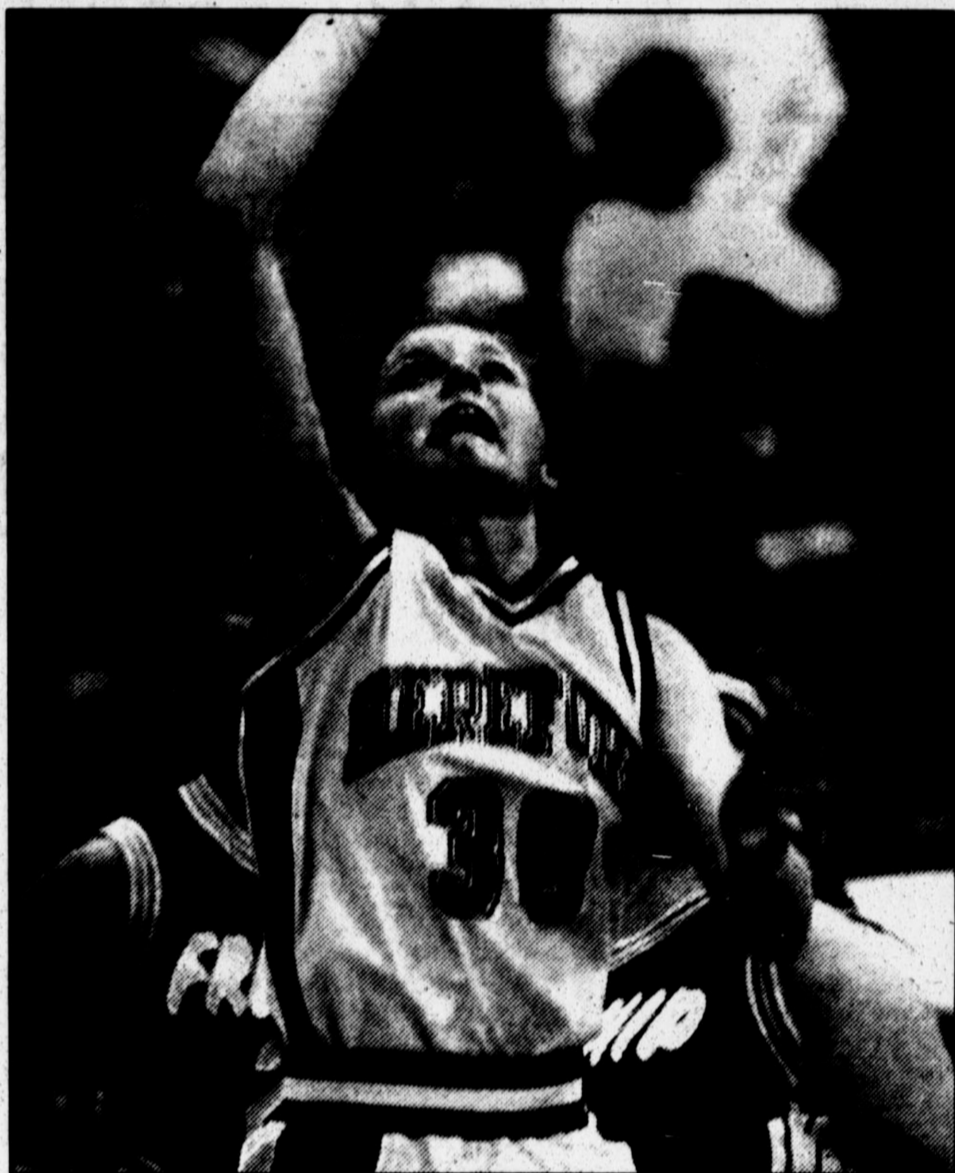

"I don't know that I've ever put more into a team in the sense that they gave so much," said Davis, who was told last fall that his contract wouldn't be renewed after this season. "I am wiped out, emotionally as well as physically drained, and I'm sure the team is."

On Saturday, UConn plays Gonzaga for the West Regional title in Phoenix, and third-seeded St. John's meets No. 4 Ohio State for the South Regional championship in Knoxville, Tenn.

St. John's closed the first half with a 20-0 run and went on to beat second-seeded Maryland 76-62 Thursday night.

"We've got to earn the respect that we deserve and slowly we're doing that. Trinity Valley has had a program for many years and has won many national championships. We're just starting out. We haven't won that championship yet, but I think people now realize who we are."

Former Hereford volleyball/basketball standout and 1998 M.H.S. graduate, as quoted by the Midland-Reporter Telegram.

Rampley finds herself in another winning program

From staff reports

Former Hereford High School basketball and volleyball standout Julie Rampley should, by now, be accustomed to playing on winning programs.

She was a junior member of the 1997 Lady Whiteface volleyball team — the first Class 4A Hereford team to ever claim a state championship — and she joined five other seniors in an incredible repeat performance a year later.

Her stint in girls' basketball was equally notorious, after she earned an elite berth on the Class 1-4A All-District basketball team four consecutive years.

Now, as a freshman guard for the Midland Junior College Lady Chaparrals, she has become a part of a basketball program that is one game shy of a national junior college championship.

The fourth-ranked Lady Chaps, threaded the needle Wednesday and pulled out a 63-62 quarterfinal victory over Seward County in the National Junior College Athletic Association women's tournament held in Salina's Bicentennial Center.

Rampley contributed six points, half of those coming on a three-pointer that brought the Lady Chaps on top, 48-46, with 7:51 remaining in the quarterfinal game.

The second round tournament win now pits Midland, 33-2 overall, against No. 1-ranked Trinity Valley Cardinals tonight for the national championship.

Unfortunately for the Lady Chaps, the meeting presents more than an average stumbling block since Midland's only two losses this season arrived as a courtesy of the Cardinals, who now sport an unblemished 34-0 season record.

Women's NCAA field narrowed to 16 teams

Tennessee has a major worry as it prepares for Virginia Tech which doesn't seem worried at all.

Connecticut hopes the wakeup call it got against Xavier will carry over to Iowa State.

And of all the opponents Clemson coach Jim Davis could be facing at this time of year, he gets a team coached by one of his best friends.

The NCAA women's basketball tournament enters the round of 16 on Saturday with some matchups that might produce something that hasn't been seen much so far: an upset.

"There are only 16 teams left. There are no gimmes anywhere," Iowa State coach Bill Fennelly said. "You know you're going to get a great team no matter where you are."

Virginia Tech certainly has drawn a great team in its East Regional matchup with Tennessee in Greensboro, N.C. Tennessee (30-2), the top seed in the region, has rolled over the first two opponents in its path to a fourth straight national championship, but the Lady Vols might not be a full strength.

Guard Semeka Randall, a second-team All-American, has been getting treatment for a severely sprained ankle. Trainers say she's making progress, but coach Pat Summitt remains cautious.

"I'm a coach," Summitt said. "I'd probably say I'm planning on playing without her. If she can play, that's a plus."

Virginia Tech (28-2) caught Summitt's attention with its 56 percent shooting in a 76-61 second-round victory over Auburn. That was the first time this season that anyone shot better than 50 percent against Auburn, which held Tennessee to 43 percent shooting in a 71-63 loss to the Lady Vols last month.

"We're going to have to bring a lot of heat at them with our defensive play," Summitt said.

The Hokies say they'll be ready for whatever Tennessee brings. They've got good scorers at every position, led by Tere Williams and Amy Wetzel.

"They're very good, of course," Wetzel said of the Lady Vols. "They have all those All-Americans. They have great players and great coaches, but I think we have great players and coaches, too."

Ismail contract status uncertain

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Carolina Panthers free agent wide receiver Rahib "Rocket" Ismail will reach a deal by the weekend, his agent said Thursday.

"It could be this evening or tomorrow," Jack Mula said Thursday. "It'll be by this weekend."

With whom remains uncertain.

Agent expects deal by this weekend

Ismail is being wooed by the Panthers and by the Dallas Cowboys.

Earlier, Mula told The Dallas Morning News that he had given all of the final proposals to Ismail on Wednesday, and he and his wife were considering the details.

For the past three seasons, Ismail has played for Carolina and has been working out at the Panthers' facility this off-season.

Ismail recently acquired a new home in Charlotte, N.C. Also pending Thursday were contract talks between the Cowboys and Tennessee Oilers free agent center Mark Stepnoski.

ESPN had reported that the former Cowboy would return to Dallas, but no announcement had been made as of Thursday.

Stepnoski spent six seasons with the Cowboys, from 1989 to 1994. He was a starter on two Super Bowl champions and made three Pro Bowl appearances before going to the then-Houston Oilers as a free agent.

Cavaliers use balance to overcome the Lakers

By The Associated Press

Shaquille O'Neal dominated the game, and the Cleveland Cavaliers won it.

Despite 37 points and 19 rebounds by O'Neal, the Cavaliers got 20 points apiece from Shawn Kemp and Brevin Knight and 18 from Wesley Person to beat the Los Angeles Lakers 100-93 Thursday night.

NBA ROUNDUP

The Cavs also received a big boost from the more than 20,000 fans who packed Gund Arena.

"It was good teamwork," Kemp said. "The crowd came out tonight and gave us a lot of help out there. The fellows just picked away at it."

The Cavs have been playing without a true center since losing 7-foot-3 Zydrunas Ilgauskas to injury and trading away Vitaly Potapenko.

But O'Neal's big night wasn't enough to offset the Cavs' balanced attack. Even 24 points from Glen Rice wasn't enough for the Lakers, who played their third straight game without Dennis Rodman, who left the team last week to attend to personal business.

"When you're playing against a team that doesn't have that many big people, you've got to back it in and back it out and be smart with it," said O'Neal, who had three defenders draped on him most of the night. "Everybody has to be on the same page, everybody just has to play team ball."

That's what the Cavs did. Cleveland's reserves outscored Los Angeles 27-12.

"You could just feel everybody pulling for each other," Cleveland coach Mike Fratello said. "I really liked the bench, enthusiasm and the pulling together."

In other NBA games, it was Vancouver 86, Minnesota 81; Utah 95, Washington 87; Orlando 86, New York 78; Milwaukee 99, Boston 83; Chicago 104, New Jersey 95; and Portland 88, Sacramento 78.

O'Neal's dunk off a feed from Rick Fox closed the Lakers to 79-77 with 7:45 left, but the Cavaliers answered with a 10-4 run to take control. Kemp scored six points in the spurt.

Person's 3-pointer — the Cavs' fifth of the first half — with 2.7 seconds left gave Cleveland a 53-26 halftime lead.

The Lakers dropped to 10-2 under new coach Kurt Rambis.

Grizzlies 86, Timberwolves 81

The streak is over for Vancouver, which ended a 13-game skid as Bryant Reeves had 28 points and 13 rebounds and Shareef Abdur-Rahim scored 11 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter.

"Well thank God for that, that's all I can say," Grizzlies coach Brian Hill said. "I'm getting tired of losing basketball games. This was a character win."

Trailing 77-71 with 4:49 left, Vancouver outscored the visiting Timberwolves 15-4 the rest of the way for its first win since beating the Lakers on Feb. 23. Abdur-Rahim's fast-break dunk with 1:57 left gave the Grizzlies the lead for good at 78-77.

Kevin Garnett had 20 points for Minnesota.

Jazz 95, Wizards 87

Howard Easley scored 17 points, including 13 straight for Utah in the second half, and the Jazz won their sixth consecutive game.

Karl Malone added 24 points, including 12-of-12 from the line, as the Jazz took an 18-2 lead and never trailed at Washington.

Rod Strickland, back after missing six games with a groin injury, had 21 points and 11 assists for the Wizards.

Magic 86, Knicks 78

Rookies Michael Doleac scored 12 of his 16 points in the final quarter and Matt Harpring was 6-for-6 from the line in the final 31/2 minutes as Orlando won in New York for its fourth straight victory.

Allan Houston had 18 points and Kurt Thomas 17 for the Knicks, who had just two field goals in the first 11 minutes of the final quarter.

Penny Hardaway had 19 points and Darrell Armstrong 18 for the Magic, who ended the Knicks' three-game winning streak.

Bucks 99, Celtics 83

At Milwaukee, Glenn Robinson scored 23 points and Ray Allen scored seven of his 21 points in a 13-0 run late in the game as the Bucks snapped a four-game losing streak.

Rookie Robert Traylor had his best game with 14 points for Milwaukee, while Antoine Walker led Boston with 16 points.

Bulls 104, Nets 95

At Chicago, Toni Kukoc had 21 points and 11 rebounds, and Ron Harper scored 10 of his 18 points in the third quarter to lift the Bulls.

It was their second victory in 10 days over the slumping Nets (4-19), who got 24 points from Stephon Marbury. New Jersey has lost 15 of its last 17.

Blazers 88, Kings 78

Portland held host Sacramento to 13 fourth-quarter points and Rasheed Wallace led the Blazers with 25 points and 13 rebounds.

The Kings, who got 16 points and 20 rebounds from Chris Webber, led 75-74 with 5:15 left, but the Blazers went on a 14-0 run to put the game away.

Final Four

"The first half was incredible, particularly the defense," St. John's coach Mike Jarvis said. "Until I was told at halftime we had a 20-0 run, I didn't know how good a run it was."

Ohio State, which finished last in the Big Ten a year ago, broke open a tie game with nine straight points down the stretch and beat top-seeded Auburn 72-64.

The other regional semifinals will be played tonight. In the East at East Rutherford, N.J., it's Duke vs. Southwest Missouri State and Purdue vs. Temple. In the Midwest at St. Louis, it's Michigan State vs. Oklahoma and Miami of Ohio vs. Kentucky.

6) in the other East game. Duke won the regular-season Atlantic Coast Conference championship with a balanced team headed by 6-foot-6 Michele Van Gorp, a third-team All-American.

Connecticut (29-4), the top seed in the Mideast, plays fourth-seeded Iowa State (24-7) after escaping Xavier 86-84 in the second round. The Huskies had to rally from six points down in the final two minutes of that game, winning it on Tamika Williams' two free throws with seven seconds left.

"I really believe a game like that gets everyone's attention," Connecticut coach

Geno Auriemma said. "It makes everybody really understand that any game can be the last one if you don't play hard."

Iowa State has a bevy of 3-point shooters led by guard Stacy Frese, who finished the regular season as the nation's most accurate shooter from behind the arc. The fourth-seeded Cyclones advanced with an 85-70 victory over Oregon, which had been allowing only 58 points.

Clemson (26-5) plays Georgia (25-6) in the other Mideast game, pitting Davis against good buddy Andy Landers and his potent combination of twins Kelly and Coco Miller.

"It is a classic matchup,"

Oscars move to new time

By Lynn Elber
The Associated Press

Never on Sunday for Oscar, the film industry said for 46 years. Too risky to air the Academy Awards on the weekend, when people should be buying movie tickets instead of enjoying a free TV show.

The chance to shore up TV ratings — and a growing appreciation of the Academy Awards as an unparalleled promotional tool for Hollywood — finally caused a reappraisal.

When host Whoopi Goldberg steps on stage at 7:30 p.m. CST Sunday, ABC and the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences hope that the weekend broadcast will be the start of a new tradition.

"It's a great move," said Gil Cates, who is producing his ninth Oscar ceremony.

"Sunday is a festive day, a day of relaxation. It's a non-work day, and I think that comports well with what Oscar should be," he said. "The whole phenomenon of folks rushing home from work to watch the show is going to be avoided."

Although Oscar ratings rise and fall, the ceremony is television's second most-watched event after the Super Bowl. Commercial rates reportedly have reached $1 million for a 30-second spot, up from around $900,000.

The show is lacking a hit centerpiece like last year's

"Sunday is a festive day, a day of relaxation. It's a non-work day, and I think that comports well with what Oscar should be. The whole phenomenon of folks rushing home from work to watch the show is going to be avoided."

Gil Cates, producer

ive vice president in charge of specials.

The earlier start ensures the ceremony will end at a reasonable hour, a ratings plus. Viewership tends to plummet when the Oscars stretch into the midnight hour on the East Coast.

The star quotient remains unchanged. Harrison Ford, Jack Nicholson, Denzel Washington, Kim Basinger, John Travolta, Annette Bening, Andy Garcia and Helen Hunt are among the presenters.

The performers are Celine Dion, Andrea Bocelli, Whitney Houston, Mariah Carey, Randy Newman, Peter Gabriel, Allison Moorer and Aerosmith.

Oscar winner Geena Davis ("The Accidental Tourist," 1988) will be host of an academy first: an exclusive pre-ceremony show beginning at 7 p.m. CST on ABC.

"We're going to attempt to give the audience a backstage pass and look at everything that goes into making the Oscar ceremony," said Davis. That includes clips of events leading up to the ceremony, such as the nominees' luncheon, and, of course, the fashion parade of arriving stars.

Davis said she immediately said yes to the job. "I've always been a fan not only of the Oscars but of the excitement, and arrivals have always been a big part," she said.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket. For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:
• Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
• Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
• Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
• Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

Skeptical Senate leaders want answers from Clinton on Kosovo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alarmed over warnings that American military lives may soon be at risk, Senate leaders were meeting with President Clinton today to get an accounting of his administration's goals for Kosovo. The U.S. Embassy in Belgrade was being evacuated.

"We will have them all out within 24 hours," a U.S. official said of employees of the embassy, noting that other governments also were pulling their staffers out of the Yugoslav capital.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS News roundup their people broad autonomy for a three-year interim period — if the Serbs were to agree.

"We have signed an agreement to bring peace to Kosovo," said the top ethnic Albanian delegate, Hashim Thaci. "We hope that the force of the international community will make Yugoslavia sign. We say: the violence must stop."

But Yugoslav forces appeared to be mobilizing for all-out war in Kosovo, despite the renewed threats of NATO airstrikes.

Union loses to tobacco industry in Ohio lawsuit

AKRON, Ohio — The embattled tobacco industry has picked up a big win in federal court, with jurors rejecting a $2 billion lawsuit accusing cigarette makers of unfairly targeting blue-collar workers.

The jury sifted through three weeks of testimony and thousands of documents before concluding Thursday that the tobacco industry hadn't concealed the dangers of smoking from the public since 1954.

"This jury's verdict should send a loud message that these lawsuits have no factual basis," said Gregory Little, a lawyer for Philip Morris.

The class-action lawsuit was brought by 114 Ohio union health funds in an attempt to recoup the costs of treating workers' smoking-related illnesses.

It was the first of at least 14 such lawsuits around the nation to go to trial. Two similar lawsuits are set to go to jury trials this year in Washington and New York, Little said.

Starr's chief deputy drafted indictment of Mrs. Clinton

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — The chief deputy for Whitewater prosecutor Kenneth Starr testified that he drew up a draft indictment of Hillary Rodham

Clinton after concluding that she and the president had been dishonest and untruthful.

Asked Thursday in Whitewater figure Susan McDougal's criminal contempt trial if he ever had said the Clintons were "crooks and liars," W. Hickman Ewing said he had "made that statement in-house" to another member of Starr's staff.

"It had to do with conflicting stories given by people in the Rose Law Firm" about work Mrs. Clinton did for Madison Guaranty Savings and Loan.

The S&L was owned by Mrs. McDougal's late husband, James McDougal, who was partner with then-Gov. Bill Clinton and Mrs. Clinton in the Whitewater land development. Questions were raised over whether Clinton had asked McDougal to take his legal business to the Little Rock firm where Mrs. Clinton was a partner.

A moment later, however, Ewing added: "I don't believe I used the L-word or the C-word."

Ewing said that at dinner one evening with other Starr aides he graded the president and the first lady on their responses to questioning by Whitewater investigators, after observing her answers during a July 1995 deposition.

"I said the president was about a 'C' and Mrs. Clinton about an 'F,'" Ewing testified.

Pentagon struggling to ease troops' fear of anthrax vaccine

WASHINGTON — Faced with a small but vocal resistance, the Pentagon is struggling to overcome what officials call an Internet-driven proliferation of myths and misinformation about the health risks of getting inoculated against the deadly biological agent anthrax.

At the heart of the problem: doubts among some troops that the Defense Department is telling all it knows about a vaccine that Defense Secretary William Cohen has ordered for all 2.4 million people in uniform.

Those doubts, whether reasonable or not, are spreading on Internet chat lines. "Risking your health for something unproven," one man wrote this week on a newspaper-sponsored chat line, "is almost as dumb as trusting anything the military has to say." Others wrote of being used as "guinea pigs."

Bomb kills dozens in Russian city

MOSCOW (AP) — A powerful bomb shattered an outdoor food market packed with families doing their weekend shopping in southern Russia today, killing at least 53 people and wounding scores of others, police said.

The bomb exploded in downtown Vladikavkaz, the regional capital of North Ossetia, which borders the breakaway region of Chechnya. The blast raked the busy market, shattering stalls and vehicles.

"The place looks like a meat grinder," said local journalist Olga Vyslova, reached by phone from Moscow, adding that the blast scene was littered with severed heads and limbs.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Emergency Situations in Moscow, Viktor Belsov, said 53 people had been killed and 101 injured in the blast.

Local people, many of them crying and shaking with grief, searched through the debris for survivors or helped ferry the injured to the hospital in ambulances and cars. Dozens of police officers and soldiers joined in the search.

Police said it was difficult to determine how many people were killed because many bodies had been torn to bits by the blast.

455 Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the book of Genesis intended to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times

ABRAHAM'S BATTLE WITH THE FIVE KINGS

AS ABRAHAM AND HIS NEPHEW, LOT, JOURNEY TOWARD THE DISTANT LAND OF CANAAN, THEIR HERDSMEN HAVE GREAT DIFFICULTY KEEPING THE TWO HERDS SEPARATE—WITH EACH MIX-UP, ARGUMENTS HAVE BROKEN OUT, NOW....

BEHOLD! ONCE AGAIN LOT'S HERD IS COMING NEAR TO OUR MASTER'S HERD!

THERE WILL BE ANOTHER MIX-UP OF THE TWO HERDS!

WE SHALL SEE ABOUT THAT!

THIS SHOULD KEEP THE OTHER SHEEP AWAY FROM OURS!

A GOOD IDEA! I WILL HELP THEE!

BUT SOME OF THE THROWERS ARE MUCH MORE ENTHUSIASTIC THAN ACCURATE—AT LEAST ONE STONE GOES ASTRAY!

HOT WORDS ARE SPOKEN, TEMPER FLARE AND, IN NO TIME AT ALL, WORDS GIVE WAY TO A MORE EXPLICIT ACTION BETWEEN LOT'S AND ABRAHAM'S HERDSMEN!

Next Week DIFFICULT DECISION!

SAVE THIS FOR YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL SCRAPBOOK

THIS DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY IS MADE POSSIBLE BY THESE BUSINESSES WHO ENCOURAGE ALL OF US TO ATTEND WORSHIP SERVICES.
