Gas Wells In Chalk Field

Now Has Two Wells Producing Sufficient Gas to Supply City of Big Spring

The well producing 5,000 feet of gas from the 1800-foot and their second test, producing 6,785,000 feet of gas daily, the Gulf is in a position to supply a big gasoline plant extending from this gas; and to furnish Big Spring with domestic and commercial use. Gulf owns 160 acres of land Chalk oil field, this being in 125, block 29. On this tract there are two wells nearly three miles apart. In addition to the amount of gas above, one of the wells is producing 30 barrels of oil per day. The well is expected to be a producer if the gas will permit to complete the well. There has been wishing for a big well to be topped, so our wish is granted. It is now up to the Gulf to pipe this gas to our city, or arrange with other corporation to take over the piping of the gas to our city for domestic and commercial purposes our city can offer incentives which will attract those who desire to make this here.

Currie Ranch to be Drilled

It has been closed for drilling on the W. F. Cushing yet the date for starting the well has not been set. Bruce et al in Orleans have contracted to drill this test.

Elcher Test

Drilling of tools lost in the Marland's test well, No. 1, has hampered drilling operations. This well is now 225 feet deep.

Belmer et al Well Drilling

Belmer and associates of Ardmore, Okla., are expected to rush out of drilling the test well on Currie ranch, just over the line in Howard County, and about thirty miles southeast of Big Spring. Rigging and spudding has been completed and work will be carried on as soon as possible.

McDowell No. 1

World Oil Co. is now making progress on their test well on McDowell ranch, twenty miles southeast of Big Spring. Fifteen and one half inch casing has been set and the well is now 425 feet deep. The drill is being run below the six foot mark.

Sloan Well Making Hole

are now drilling below 1500 feet. The Owen & Sloan test on 125, block 29, W. & N. W. This test is on the Dora Roberts ranch, about midway between the Clay and Settles oil fields. The O'Neal Oil Co. producing well on the adjoining section so the work is being in a good progress considered excellent.

Developing Holdings

Now evident from preparatory completed that the California company is systematically developing its holdings in the Iatan section. They have already secured commercial wells on their ranch on the W. L. Foster ranch; on the O'Neal section 6, block 29, W. & N. W. survey. This well No. 3, about 1/2 mile from the discovery well is being drilled below 1800 feet.

Drill on Bay Lake Section

Drill to test well on the southern portion of section 125, block 29, W. & N. W. survey. This is on a real oil field. The Mack Burns of the Mack Burns in the Richardson Co. of Fort Worth are drilling this test and this is known as Richardson No. 1, about twenty miles southeast of Big Spring.

John O'Neal

Drill on the John O'Neal section of the John O'Neal in the Richardson Co. of Fort Worth are drilling this test and this is known as Richardson No. 1, about twenty miles southeast of Big Spring.

been blocked for a drilling test, examined and if everything shows up O. K. the drilling operations will be started shortly. This test will be an interesting one and most of our folks believe another oil field will be the result. Many geologists hold that oil is going to be found along the draw which extends thru this city and on up to New Mexico.

Magnolia Secures Another Producer.

The Magnolia Petroleum Co. struck a good oil showing in their offset to the California Oil Co.'s Nos. 1 and 2 wells in the Iatan section. The Magnolia's well is on section 7, block 29, Tsp. 1S, T. & P. Ry. survey.

The oil showing was secured at 2760 but the drill is being sent downward after another oil sand. If it is not topped the well will be plugged back to 2760, and shot. Three oil sands are found in the Iatan section; one at 1900 feet, another at 2600 and the other around the 3000-foot mark.

To Drill on W. B. Currie Ranch

The announcement that the California Company plans to begin development on the W. B. Currie ranch about twenty miles southeast of Big Spring, comes as a mighty encouraging news for our folks. Drilling operations are to be started on the northwest quarter of section 215, block 29, W. & N. W. survey just as soon as material and machinery can be assembled.

Two other locations have been made on the Currie ranch and a continuous development is assured when the California Co. gets on the job.

F.H.E. Co. Secures Commercial Well

The F. H. E. Oil Co. secured what appears to be an exceptionally good oil well on their holdings in section 156, block 29, W. & N. W. survey, at about 1865. This well is between the Clay and Settles oil fields on the Dora Roberts ranch.

They have drilled only a short distance in the sand and the oil rose to within two hundred feet of the top of the well. It has flowed by heads for short intervals when the faller was let down.

Preparations are now being made to put this well on pump, and as soon as storage is provided it will be tested to determine just how much oil it will produce.

At the Marland's Guitar Test

There is considerable speculation as to the status of the Marland Oil Co.'s test well on section 4, block 33, Tsp. 1N, located five miles west of Big Spring. No information is obtainable except that eight inch casing has been set somewhere around the 3000-foot mark.

Rumor has it that an oil sand has been encountered but that the well has not been drilled in. The further fact that leases anywhere within a three to five mile radius of the well are being sought, lends credence to the rumor.

At any rate the formations encountered make it appear that the chances for production at this well are good, even though there is no truth in the rumor about the oil sand being encountered.

Development Increasing

It is encouraging to note that a number of new tests are to be started in Howard County immediately and the sale of leases and royalties indicates the oil men are very much interested in the possibilities of Howard County as an oil producing area.

The coming of the California Co. to begin a systematic development is about the best oil news of the week.

The favorable formation in the guitar test, the bringing in a well by the F. H. E. Oil Co. are other items of interest. The O'Neal Oil Co. is to drill a test well a short distance east of Big Spring and another company is to drill just west of our city; so it may be that we will find ourselves right in the big middle of a real oil field before development work is carried very far.

SMALL BLAZE LAST SATURDAY

The fire department was called out last Saturday morning to extinguish a small blaze in the business district. A fence back of the Eberly Undertaking building was ablaze due to sparks from a trash fire. The chemical apparatus had the fire out in a very short time.

Baptist Revival Meeting in Progress.

REV. A. A. DUNCAN, D. D.

The big revival meeting had a most auspicious beginning at the First Baptist Church last Sunday and splendid interest is being manifested as the meeting continues.

Dr. A. A. Duncan of Dallas is in charge of the preaching services. He is an able minister of the Gospel, a forceful speaker and he has a vital message that he knows how to deliver. His powerful and inspiring sermons are instrumental in causing a reawakening of church members and helping to save many souls. All who hear him are spiritually benefited and if you hear one of his soul-awakening sermons you will come to hear him every day.

The splendid song services, under the direction of M. Dow Mooney, are playing a big part in the success of the revival services. Mr. Mooney is one of the foremost evangelist singers in the state and he can certainly arouse enthusiasm among an audience. His solo numbers are always enjoyed and appreciated.

If you enjoy good singing and good preaching you should attend the services while the big revival is in progress.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend any and all services and you will find a cordial welcome awaiting you.

Dr. Duncan is here to help you and you should not miss hearing his plea for you to do the Master's bidding. He will appreciate having you come to these meetings.

BIG SPRING BEATS MIDLAND

Big Spring T. & P. team made it two straight over Midland when they took the big end of a 8 to 5 count here last Sunday after nosing out ahead of them 5 to 4 on Wednesday of last week. Sunday's game was featured by the relief twirling of Lefty Wood and the terrific apple smashing by the princely Wayland Weathered with three hits, who was playing his first game of the season for Big Spring, and Spec Williamson who hit two extra base blows in the pinches for Big Spring. Vick, who won over Midland last week drew the assignment for mound duty again in Sunday's game for Big Spring and sailed along nicely until the fifth inning when he found himself in deep trouble as the score had been tied and the bases drunk with only one out, but Wood came to his rescue and retired the side allowing only one of the runners to crash the rubber. Big Spring out hit Midland 14 to 10. Midland used three pitchers, Jeffries, Adams and Breeding in trying to stop the big guns of the Big Spring club from firing, but it was to no avail. Midland still has three to two wins on Big Spring.

Sunday night the Big Spring T. & P. baseball club journeyed to El Paso accompanied by about one hundred fans to play the El Paso Copper league team on Monday and returned Monday night. A jolly good time was had by all some of the time and by some all the time. El Paso stands second in the Copper league and boast a real ball club made up mostly of ex-major league ball players. The Big Spring team is to be commended very highly for winning over that club. Such a good write up was in the El Paso Times of the game this paper will not attempt to rewrite the game but give a copy of the Times' write-up.

"Big Spring's Texas & Pacific baseball team came here with the reputation and still had it when they left, after beating El Paso's Copper league ball club, 7 to 5, in a nip-and-tuck battle, which was not decided until the final put-out.

The game was played yesterday afternoon at Dudley field before a crowd of about 200, half of which were from Big Spring. Several bad plays marred the game at times, but on the whole it was a good exhibition of the national pastime.

"Clyde Underwood, El Paso's elongated dispenser, was Manager Seaton's choice to do the pitching. Underwood started off like a whirlwind, striking out the first batter, but the next three men to face him banged out singles with one of the runners crossing the home plate.

"The Big Spring boys scored two more runs in the third inning when, after Johnson had walked, Sam succeeded, and Gressett doubled. Forero failed to cover first base on a bouncer to Underwood. The guests loaded the bases in the sixth inning, but Underwood calmed down and retired the side.

"Solid hitting gave the invaders three more runs in the seventh frame and another in the eighth. El Paso tallied twice in the third, once in the sixth and three times in the seventh.

"Even in defeat, the Giants showed the same life and pep they displayed in the Fort Bayard series. Give Seaton another reliable pitcher and the Giants will be right up in front.

"Sidney Cohen was again the big noise of the day. Sid walloped three hits, one of them a triple, and made a nice catch in the outfield.

"Lefty Wood who traveled the distance for Big Spring, pitched a steady game and worked fast-breaking curves with success.

Gressett, Thornton and Weathered, the Big Spring outfield, led in the hitting.

City Federation Carnival Saturday

"Carnival of Seasons" to be Staged With Booths to Represent Every Month in Year—Attend This

Saturday is carnival day. The women of the City Federation have planned for Big Spring and the surrounding territory a glad time and will stage a "Carnival of Seasons" on Saturday, June 4. The big celebration is for everyone and all should make plans now to attend the big event given each year by the Federation. Mrs. R. H. McNew, Mrs. J. D. Biles and Mrs. J. M. Fisher have charge of the general plans for the carnival and they announce plans complete and everything in readiness for Saturday afternoon.

Every month in the year will be represented by a booth decorated in colors to correspond with the season of the year and appetizing dishes will be sold to correspond with the weather that is enjoyed during that particular month. Following is a list of the booths and who will be in charge:

- February—Mrs. Stedman and Mrs. I. H. Hamlett. Candy booth.

A big parade will inaugurate the carnival beginning promptly at five o'clock. The parade will form at the courthouse and will pass through the business district and back to the carnival grounds. Each month will be represented in the parade and special groups will also have a car in the parade. Be sure and see the parade, then come on up to the carnival grounds and eat your evening meal. Everything will be on sale and at reasonable prices. You will help the City Federation if you come and eat with them.

The Big Show, always the feature-entertainment of the carnival, promises to be a scream this year as a first class group of comedians have been secured to entertain the audience. Good music, singing and specialty acts will be given and possibly a stunt, "Let's Stay Married," by the Texas Power and Light men will also be given. You are assured plenty of entertainment if you attend the big show.

Everybody's planning to come to the Carnival Saturday, you too, must come. No one can afford to miss this big annual event.

TELEPHONE SERVICE IMPROVEMENTS DUE SOME DAY

The longer the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. delays the work of overhauling the telephone system in Big Spring the greater must be their job when they do start. It may be that the officers of the Southwestern may take a tip from the Texas Power & Light Co., and planning for the future, put in a plant to serve a city many times the size of Big Spring.

Even a man up a tree should be able to see that Big Spring is destined to double or treble in population due to oil development. With oil wells along a fifty mile stretch, it is quite reasonable to suppose that oil men have many years work ahead of them to definitely determine the exact limits of the oil fields already indicated. There are wildcat wells being drilled at other sections of our county with fair prospects of striking commercial oil. Big Spring is certainly sitting pretty, and you will see her step ahead when prosperity returns to the oil fraternity.

BOOST, BUT DON'T BOAST

Advertising your town first, last and all the time is good business but hot-air advertising is not good. Some think we should be getting more publicity in the papers today. As a matter of fact we would be rather foolish to invite folks to our city in the hope of interesting them in making investments or making their home here just at this time, as the slump in the oil development and the continued dry weather has a tendency to give our city anything but a prosperous appearance. We know this is only a temporary slump and everything will be going good shortly, but the folks we invite here through our hurray publicity will form an adverse opinion and they will leave knocking our city. When we have something real to show them is the time to invite folks to come to our city. Anyway we have no place to house a big influx of visitors so why invite them until we are able to take care of them.

Musical Numbers Feature Meeting

Wednesday Luncheon Club Have Music and Singing as Added Attractions at This Week's Meet

A large attendance and an unusually enjoyable program marked the weekly meeting of the Wednesday Luncheon Club. G. L. Wilke was in charge of the program and was given credit for the interesting program.

The orchestra from the "Merry Madcap Stock Co." rendered a number of fine musical selections; and a member of the orchestra made a handsaw do some wonderful musical stunts. Community singing under the leadership of L. Dow Mooney of the Duncan-Mooney revival team was given a trial and proved a novel feature. With Miss Mildred Creath as accompanist and Mr. Mooney as director, the members rendered "My Old Kentucky Home" in a lusty manner. Mr. Dow also delighted the assembly with a vocal solo: "I Want to Be a Friend to Man."

A. G. Peach of Dallas, representative of the Railroad Building and Loan Association, made a talk in which he pointed out the advantages of having a good building and loan association operating in a city to encourage home owning, making it possible for many folks to build homes. Mr. Peach stated his company might consider establishing a branch office here if they could be assured of the necessary cooperation to warrant same.

Mrs. W. E. Carnrike made a brief talk in which she outlined the needs of the Cemetery Association and requested the aid of the Luncheon Club in placing it on a business basis. Action was deferred until next meeting.

The chairman stated that in his opinion Big Spring was overlooking a good bet in not securing more publicity in the daily newspapers. C. T. Watson and C. W. Cunningham stated that our city was getting practically all that was warranted in the way of legitimate news, and that hurray advertising carried a boomerang. They stated that the daily newspapers were most liberal in printing real news and in the long run it is not best to expect or demand too much.

On the plea of Bernard Fisher, chairman of the membership committee, that more members could be secured if the luncheon time was changed to 12 m. instead of 12:30 p. m. the members voted to change the hour for starting the program at 12 o'clock sharp.

J. Fred Phillips was named chairman of the next meeting.

FLOOD CONDITIONS CONTINUE IN LOUISIANA

The Mississippi flood continues to lay waste large areas in Louisiana. West Texas folks just can't understand why it has taken a month or more for this flood to subside. It is difficult to picture a catastrophe such as it is proving to be. Imagine if you can a strip of land as wide as from Big Spring to Midland and as long as from here to Amarillo, under water. Farms, buildings, yes even large sized towns, deserted till the Gulf of Mexico takes care of the water which has submerged this vast territory.

Hundreds of thousands are homeless and the loss to property will reach many millions of dollars.

Bad Color (liver trouble)

"OCCASIONALLY I am troubled with spells of constipation and inactive liver," says Mrs. John L. Pence, Broadway, Va. "I always use Thedford's Black-Draught when I feel a spell of this kind coming on, for it saves me a bad headache. My color gets sallow at times. I get real yellow, showing that the trouble comes from the liver.

"I have found Black-Draught to be the finest kind of a remedy for this. I take Black-Draught and make a tea out of it, and take it, along in small doses for several days. I have never found anything that served me so well.

"Since I have known about Black-Draught, I have not suffered nearly so much with headache, caused from indigestion. If I find my tongue is coated, and I wake up with a bad taste in my mouth, I know I have been eating indigestively, and I immediately resort to Black-Draught to straighten me out."

THIS BUSINESS OF LIVING TOGETHER

The progress of civilization is merely the progress which we humans have thus far made in this business of living together.

The home, the community, the state and the nation, all those cherished ideals of the present day—have been evolved as a result of this one accomplishment.

Here in this community we are inextricably tangled in the web of the lives about us. What effects one, effects all. The action of the individual reverberates in the life of the whole community.

Because of this, it becomes essential that as individuals within this community we play our part in its development in such a way that the greatest progress can be made by all of us in this business of living together.

To accomplish this, three things are essential. We must acquire tolerance—consideration for others. We must think straight—get the facts and consider them thoughtfully before a decision is reached in any matter. We must have confidence—confidence in this community, in its nature, in its institutions, in its future.

With these broadly practiced within this community nothing can stop its progress. We have a good community here. We can make it better by the cooperation of all who live here. Everything is in its favor. We need only the whole-hearted and combined efforts of its citizenry to carry it forward to undreamed heights of progress and development. Cooperation and confidence are the two greatest needs of the day.

All progress depends upon confidence. Without it there can be no progress. Discount confidence in the family circle and what would be the result? Lose confidence in your lawyer, your physician, in your friend and what will it cost? Destroy confidence in the future and what would be left? Confidence in this community is our greatest possession and needs the personal guardianship of every member of the community.

Fear, ignorance and gossip are its enemies and have no place here.

Fear puts panic into purpose. It is a germ that the weak help to germinate. It can wreck a business or ruin a name. It is the most destructive contagion and should be stamped out of any community.

Let us route these from our community. Get the facts on any matter before you render a decision. Knowledge casts out fear, and inspires confidence in its stead. Avoid the gossip as you would the plague and the progress of this community will go on forever.

We have in this community good churches, good stores, good doctors, good lawyers, good banking facilities, good shops, etc., good educational advantages and good people.

Every tool for greater progress has been amply provided. Cooperation will put these tools to work. Our progress as individuals is unalterably linked with this community as a whole. When we patronize our home stores we are boosting our own progress. When we cooperate in home affairs we are putting our time for our own profit. When we boost this community we boost our business.

Better stores, better banks, better streets, better utilities for you to enjoy come not from the merchants, the bankers or the townfathers—they come from patronage of the facilities of the present.

This community is fortunate in having at its command good banking facilities. Today a bank within a community is a community need—a community necessity. No other business so intimately touches the lives of so many nor in such a personal way as does the bank.

For this reason its stability, its success, its progress is a matter of personal concern not alone to those individuals who have invested funds in its organization but to everyone in its territory because its service benefits all.

Standing at the hub of the community's business it may be likened to a community service station, accumulating from those who have surplus funds the capital needed for those who through the channels of business can use its power for the development and progress of the community as a whole.

Without such assistance in making easily available the capital accumulations of the community business would be seriously handicapped and the progress of the community greatly retarded.

Without deposits a bank is of little value to the community. Its progress and that of the community which it serves is based upon the deposits which is accumulated because only as it receives deposits can it produce the financial power which is needed for the continuation and expansion of business in the territory which it serves.

Bank depositors are the barometer of community progress. When an outsider considers a community as a location for his business and efforts one of the first questions he asks is "what are its bank deposits?"

If they are high it means sunshine and fairweather for business in that community. It signifies that the people of that section have confidence in it and work together for its progress.

The two banks in Willow Lakes have combined deposits of $598,000.00. This indeed is a fine showing for this community.

Every additional dollar you deposit in these banks is an advertisement for this community. Confined in tin cans, old socks, or family teapot, the scream of the eagles on your dollars will never be heard, but when put in the bank their voices mingle in one glad refrain of glory, the progress and the future prosperity of this community. It is sweet music to the ear of the outsider looking for a congenial and profitable place to live.

Stores, farms, banks alone cannot make a progressive community. These are but the machinery for the progress. Something else is needed. The motive power. That's you.

Your place in the circle of progress is an important one. Upon you rests the responsibility of making things go. Your confidence, your cooperation, your patronage are needed to assure the progress and development this community desires.

Every dollar you earn, save or spend has within its circumference the essence of progress for some community. If it is spent here, or banked here, it will work here. If it goes elsewhere it will work for some one's else community.

You, Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen, have it within your power to keep this community a busy, throbbing business center merely by the direction you give to your dollars when they leave your hands.

If you want better merchandise, it can be had through our local stores. The manufacturers of such goods are ready to supply it. The retailers are ready to stock it. The only thing needed to put this business circle into motion is your patronage.

If you want better banking service, it's up to you. Our banks are ready to give every service needed. Your support is the key that will unlock this better service for this community.

You are the traffic cop on the road to progress. It is within your power to set the sign at "stop" or "go." Which way will you turn it?

GASOLINE TAX YIELD IS HEAVY

Perhaps a few Texans had an idea that the imposition of a 3c tax on gasoline would in some way be offset by the individual's exercise of economy in the use of that commodity. But that idea has been rather effectively cock-batted by the report that the first full month of operation under the increased tax yielded revenues totalling $1,340,000, and by the confident prediction that the returns will be increased to $1,500,000 for each of the summer months, and may even go beyond that mark before the period set for operations of the 3c tax expires. That it will expire on the date named in the body of the measure is now considered doubtful, in view of the fact that no date of expiration is fixed in the caption of the measure. The Attorney General's Department has raised other and more serious doubts. Meanwhile, the highway and school funds are being fattened to an extent that the public can not fail to appreciate. It may be that the results assured by the higher tax will be so fine and so gratifying that motoring Texans will be willing to adapt themselves to the imposition for a longer period than the law originally contemplated. In time the increased sustenance might yield in connected highways and a betterment of the school system more to the taxpayers than they put into the treasury.

The possibilities are made impressive by the statement that Texas automobile registrations are nearing the million mark and gasoline, as The Journal has said before, is and will remain the staff of life. Dallas Journal.

FACTS about used car allowances

Most new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values?.... Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially?.... Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

- 1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; but sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.
- 5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

WHEN YOU are ready to trade-in your present car, remember that after all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of a new car.

The coming of a big rain is all that is needed to revive business and conditions generally.

While we are all grouching more or less because business is slack or because we cannot plant we must admit that conditions are much better than ordinarily, and all that is needed to put every one in high is the coming of a good old ground soaking rain. Its appearance would be the signal for busy times in our county the balance of the year.

We are still of the opinion that the rain is going to come in time to pull our folks through. Of course times are going to be hard if the needed rain fails to come until it is too late to plant.

Those of us who went thru the dry years of 1917 and 1918 are not willing to admit that times will be as hard as they were in those times for we have oil field development in sight, and a chance to get lease and royalty checks when the oil development restarts. It is unfortunate that the slump in oil came just at this time but we are aware this slump is only temporary and there will be big doings in the oil fields by fall.

When you are inclined to feel blue just imagine what conditions must be in those sections where farming is the sole dependence and where it is just as dry as it is here.

We have been fortunate in having some oil development continue uninterrupted by the slump. Then too, the extensive improvements of the Texas Electric Service Co., the Texas & Pacific Ry. Co., the building of a ten-inch pipe line thru our county by the Gulf Pipe Line Co., the erection of business buildings by J. M. Radford, the Elliott business block, the construction work on the new five story Crawford Hotel, a number of warehouses erected for the oil field supply houses establishing headquarters here. Then the erection of fifty or more residences has given employment to many and kept much money in circulation in Big Spring.

More new construction is in prospect; among the new buildings to be a large fireproof wholesale store for the Wooten Grocery Co., a cold storage plant for the Winn Produce Co., a large brick business house to be erected for Dr. T. M. Collins, fireproof warehouses for the Frick-Reed Supply Co., the Continental Supply Co., the National Supply Co., the Marion Supply Co. and others.

A $30,000 addition to the city water works system is also to be included in the building program.

Many of the oil companies are turning large sums of money into the way of pay rolls, purchasing supplies, etc.—into the channels of trade each month.

Check up and you will find that we have less cause for complaint than most cities in West Texas.

GAS FOR BIG SPRING IS ON THE PROGRAM

Some of these days we are going to have gas piped to Big Spring and this will be a great day. Gas for domestic purposes and as a fuel supply for industries gives a city conveniences that attract new citizens and new industries. More and more gas is being encountered in the wells being completed in the Howard County oil fields and it is only a question of time until some corporation takes up the proposition of piping gas to Big Spring. Gasoline plants to extract gasoline from the gas now issuing from the wells is going to be another big industry in this territory.

The Store That Quality Built

We are not going to advise the farmers not to plant too much cotton from now on—that is to say the balance of this season. Most folks are aware that cotton must be planted in the next two weeks if we expect to make good. We have until away up in July to make good with feed crops.

WILLIAM C. ALLRED DEAD

William Christopher Allred, 57, one of the most highly respected citizens of the Knott community was claimed by death Monday, May 30 following a prolonged illness. Kidney trouble has been attributed as the cause of death, from which Mr. Allred has been suffering for a year or more. Funeral services were conducted at graveside in the I. O. O. F. cemetery Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Frank H. Stedman, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Mr. Allred was born in Arkansas July 16, 1870. He came to Texas when just a young man and has lived the greater part of his life in the West. He has been a resident of Howard County for over twenty years and his efforts were always given for the best interests of development in Howard County. He was a friend to his fellowman, was ever ready to help one in need and the good things that he has done for others might be well for more of us to practice. He was a successful farmer in the Knott community.

Surviving Mr. Allred is his devoted wife and three children, Mrs. Oscar Shorter, John and Jewel Allred of Knott, and one brother, Tom Allred of Knott, and two step sisters Mrs. Anderson Bailey of Big Spring and Mrs. R. A. Halbrook of Knott.

CARSON BLALACK DEAD
The announcement of the death of Jesse Carson Blalack brought sorrow to the hearts of many friends in this city.

He passed away at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Blalack, five miles north of Big Spring at 6:45 o'clock Wednesday, June 1.

Death was due to heart trouble and Bright's disease. He has long been affected with heart trouble and left here last year for Los Angeles, Calif., in the hope that a lower altitude might prove beneficial, but such was not the case. He was brought back from California two months ago seriously ill, and though everything possible, including blood transfusion, was attempted in an effort to combat the malady, it proved futile.

Carson was born in Upton County and at the time of his death was 27 years, 5 months and 2 days of age. He had made his home in Big Spring for many years, attended the schools here and spent his boyhood days in this city. He was an especially likeable fellow, honored and esteemed by all who knew him and his untimely death is deeply deplored. It somehow hits us harder to see one just at the threshold of life claimed by death than it does to see those who have reaped a ripe old age pass on to that better and higher life.

Funeral services were conducted at the P. B. Bittle home on Main street in this city at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The Big Spring Chapter of DeMolays were in charge of the services at the graveside in Mt Olive cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, one sister, Mrs. Roy Martin of Los Angeles, Calif., and two brothers, Lee and Pat Blalack of this city, and to those who deeply mourn the parting with their loved one is extended the heartfelt sympathy of our entire citizenship.

The Texas & Pacific is now operating a work train here, hauling clay and gravel to fill in the railroad yards. The task of raising the tracks is another big one which is now in progress here.

OUR BIG RAIN YET TO APPEAR
You have heard of the ships that never return—we'll it appears as though we are looking for the rains that never return.

We were all set to enjoy a real old time gulley washer Wednesday night but it drifted to the north of us, on thru the Lamasa section.

We had to be satisfied with the frazzled edge, a mere sprinkling. On Tuesday afternoon, the Moore community and a strip on thru to the northeastern portion of the county came in for splendid showers—in fact some sections reported an inch or more of rain. There was sufficient moisture for many to start planting.

We are still counting on the coming of the big rain in time to plant crops. It's getting mighty late 'tis true, but then West Texas is a wonderful country and will make good if given only half a chance.

Vacation luxuries. . . . Cunningham & Phillips.

Miss Claudine Miller is visiting relatives in Snyder.

NEW CRAWFORD HOTEL TO BOOST BIG SPRING

Many traveling men and other folks who are called here on business are wishing for the day when the new Crawford Hotel is completed. They declare it will be one of the biggest assets our city could have and say we will so find when the hotel is thrown open for business.

Many companies and corporations which now maintain their headquarters elsewhere, because of lack of accommodations here are going to come to Big Spring. The men in charge of the affairs of these companies want first class accommodations and conveniences, are willing to pay for them, and go where they can secure them. The new Crawford hotel is going to be able to furnish the very best of service and is going to be forced to the utmost to supply rooms for all who are going to seek accommodations.

All are predicting that Mr. Crawford is going to be compelled to make good his promise to add two more stories, making the Crawford a seven story building, if the demand justified this addition.

It is pointed out that the hotel will be completed just about the time a revival in oil development is expected and boy! how it will be appreciated.

It is a task to procure accommodations at this, supposedly a very dull season of the year, so we would indeed be swamped this fall if the new Crawford hotel was not in position to take care of the folks who desire to come to our city.

Jim Ratliff of Garden City was a business visitor in Big Spring Tuesday.

Roland Schwarzenbach returned Wednesday morning from a few days' visit in Fort Worth.

Mrs. F. B. Kuns of Wichita, Kan., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Couch, other relatives and friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Petty were called to Paducah this week by the serious illness of Mr. Petty's brother Chas. Petty.

HARRY SNODGRASS TO BE HERE
"King of Ivories" at Lyric, June 13.
"The King of the Ivories," Harry M. Snodgrass, known as the world's most popular radio entertainer when he was broadcasting from the dome of the Missouri state capital and making WOS, the Jefferson City station, one of the best known broadcasters in the country, comes to the R. & R. Lyric theater, Monday, June 13.

This announcement will be of extraordinary interest to theater patrons as well as radio fans. Countless thousands have fought static and interference to tune in on Harry's concerts and it would be hard to put an estimate on the number who have thrilled at his playing.

J. M. Witten, whose part in making WOS popular was not small, as he was then voted one of the best announcers in the nation, is with Snodgrass and their act, "An Evening with WOS," gives Witten a chance to demonstrate the talent that made him popular on the microphone as well as giving Snodgrass a chance to perform his "king of the Ivories" numbers. Several of Snodgrass' numbers were those which had been favorites when he was the anxiously-watched-for artist of the Jefferson City station, with that most popular of all "Three o'Clock in the Morning" according to Harry's own interpretations. Snodgrass has all of his old touch and all of that individuality in playing which made him so popular "on the air."

The act is given as a broadcasting station with Witten's announcements and little by-plays of wit actually given over the radio. It is novel and gives an interesting touch to the performance.

Radio, Prison Made Him
Radio and prison made Harry. He admits it and is not one bit ashamed to talk about his prison term. He is "making good" as he promised he would when he left prison and he knows that Station WOS at Jefferson City, Mo., gave him his start.

Snodgrass had two reasons for making good. One was to show his appreciation for the opportunities given him by Witten. The other was for his wife and 10-year-old son, Harry Snodgrass Jr. The son is now at a private school securing all the advantages of an education that his father did not have.

Miss Gladys Lloyd left Thursday evening for Denton, where she will take part in the commencement exercises at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton. Miss Gladys completed the work for a Bachelor of Science degree at Christmas and will be presented with her diploma with the graduating class on Monday evening, June 6. She will also attend the president's reception on Saturday evening.

TEN DERRICKS BLOWN DOWN IN MITCHELL COUNTY FIELD

The California Company had hard luck Monday night when a small "twister" made its way thru the Westbrook oil field, blowing over ten derricks.

This makes fifteen derricks which have been blown down in the Westbrook section the past two weeks. Two of the rigs wrecked Monday night had just been rebuilt.

TEXAS MARKETS FIRST BALE

The first bale of the 1927 cotton crop was marketed in the Rio Grande Valley last Friday. The majority of the farmers of Howard County have not yet planted cotton but hope to be able to do so within the next ten days. The arrival of a big soaking rain will be the signal for every cotton planter in our county to be put in operation and they will be kept busy, you bet.

SELLS WOOL IN SAN ANGELO

E. B. Gilleon who lives 20 miles south of Big Spring on the Garden City road, sheared 345 yearling ewes this week, averaging about 10 pounds of wool per head. The wool was shipped to San Angelo and sold for 40 cents per pound.

D. W. Christian was wearing a two by four smile Wednesday; the first he has displayed in quite a while. Reason—a fine rain at his ranch Tuesday afternoon—the first rain he has had this year. He reports the rainfall to be one inch at his place and east and northeast it was even heavier, the estimate being one and one half inches. The rainfall was lighter as he came toward Big Spring.

We note that a lot of folks from other portions of Texas where big oil fields exist, are coming to the Big Spring section in search of employment. The fact that Howard County is going to prove a big oil producer seems to be understood over the state.

MINERAL WELLS COUPLE HURT NEAR BIG SPRING

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sturdivant of Mineral Wells were injured last Wednesday night on the Bankhead highway, about 20 miles west of Big Spring when the car in which they were riding overturned into a ditch at the side of the road. Mr. Sturdivant's received painful injuries but Mrs. Sturdivant's wounds were not considered serious.

Mr. Sturdivant had been working at Crane City and was enroute to his home in Mineral Wells, trying to make Big Spring for the night. His lights went out and he was driving by the light of a lantern when the lights of an approaching car blinded him until he could not see the road. They ran off into the ditch and the car overturned. A passing car picked them up and headed for Big Spring. This car was run into by another motorist, and it was then necessary to transfer the injured passengers into the third car, which brought them on into Big Spring, where they were given medical attention.

The injured were moved to their home in Mineral Wells Saturday.

SPARENBERG NEEDS RAINS

The country around Sparenberg is needing rain, according to Chris Hubner and A. G. Barworskey of Sparenberg, who were business visitors in Big Spring Tuesday. They stated that when Big Spring was treated to some rainfall for us to be sure and send some of it up to them. When asked what he thought of this year, Mr. Barworskey replied, "I believe it is 1917's twin brother."

Max Merrick returned Saturday from Greenville, where he had been attending Wesley College. Max made a record in athletics at Wesley, and was also a popular young man at the college.

FARMER'S HIP BROKEN

Amé Flache, who owns several farms in the Union community went out last Saturday morning, taking his wagon after a load of bundle stuff, and started back home with it about the noon hour, as he lives in town. Along the road he felt the load slipping off and started to get off to make it fast, when he slipped off on the hard ground, with the bulk of the load on him. Part of the load also slipped off on one of the mules, who started up, but stopped when Mr. Flache spoke to him.

He was found in this condition by a passerby, who brought him to town in his car. Two local physicians were called and they found that Mr. Flache had a thigh broken just below the hip joint, a very mean place to set. He is doing just as well as could be expected at this time.—Brownfield Herald.

Mr. Flache is a former resident of Howard County and many friends here will regret to learn of his misfortune.

R. E. Slaughter is peeved and is blaming oil development for much of his trouble. Just recently his barn was overturned—some say by high winds but R. E. feels sure it was due to gas from the J. B. Harding well or some other oil well. He is also mystified by his neighbors' action since only one neighbor came to extend sympathy when said barn began to do the Charleston and yet—when R. E. made an investigation the next morning he found hundreds of foot prints around his barn. "How come!" is what he wants to know.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Jones are visiting relatives and friends in Abilene this week.

Miss Tula Petty of Brownwood is visiting her cousin Estelle Petty in this city.

MAKING WAY FOR PLY HOUSE TO LAKE

The supply of heavy timbers owned by Burlington and stored at the West First and Grand streets moved Monday to a pile of feet west in the district being opened by the Pacific railway company.

JAPANESE HONOR

The Japanese are a strange race, to us; and some Americans fear that some day we shall have to go to war with them.

Here is a little story about a Japanese, culled from the press dispatches, that is worth thinking about—not in connection with the possibility of war between Japan and America, but because it throws such a revealing light on Japanese character.

A few days ago there was much trouble at Nanking, in China. While British and American warships bombarded the city to protect their nationals, a Japanese vessel, firing no guns, sent a contingent ashore to rescue the Japanese consul.

This contingent was commanded by a young lieutenant, named Araki. He went unarmed, as did his followers, determined to avoid bloodshed. His mission was successful; he rescued the consul and neither he nor any of the sailors in his command was molested.

But when he had returned to his ship he wrote to his commander as follows:

"In order to insure the safety of the Japanese residents at Nanking, I endured, from the Chinese, insults which no Japanese can tolerate. The lives of the Japanese refugees could be saved, but I am ashamed that the honor of the Japanese navy has been disgraced in my person."

Having written this he took the one course open to a Japanese whose honor has been offended; he killed himself.

By no stretch of the imagination can you imagine an American or British naval officer doing that. Our entire philosophy is different from Japan's.

And what a philosophy that is! It is Spartan, ruthless, over-heroic, if you wish; yet it is impossible to read that little story without being convinced that there must be something extremely fine about a race that can maintain such a philosophy.

A nation with men like Lieut. Araki is going somewhere—it deserves to. It also is a nation worth being friendly with; not only because of policy, but because it has something to offer us spiritually.—Exchange.

AQUEDUCT IS AGAIN BLASTED

Los Angeles, Cal., May 28.—The Los Angeles aqueduct was dynamited for a second time in twenty-four hours early today at the Big Pine power house, 250 miles north of here, according to reports reaching water power bureau officials.

All telephone lines into Owens Valley were cut by the dynamiters. Meager reports are that more than 300 feet of the intake leading into the Big Pine power house had been blasted away by a heavy explosion.

The second explosion was reported as Sheriff Tom Hutchison of Inyo County went into the hills in search of a gang of men who destroyed approximately 475 feet of siphon in No Name Canyon yesterday, bringing the water feud between Owens Valley ranchers and the city of Los Angeles to a crisis.

ASKS MOODY TO SUBMIT BILL TO TAX MALT SYRUP

Austin, Texas, May 28.—Gov. Dan Moody has been asked by Senator W. D. McFarlane to submit to the present Legislature a bill prohibiting the sale of malt syrup for manufacture of home brew beer. Such a bill would carry a severe penalty.

THE LAW CANNOT DO IT ALL

The humble writer of these lines is for prohibition—city, county, state, nation and world. If, however, those who have the task of teaching the young, and thus molding the thought of the coming men and women—if they present the question as one of law enforcement only, then prohibition is destined to lose ground. The question is economic, dietetic, hygienic, physiological and moral, and on every point in evidence prohibition has the better of the argument. But the reason for a law in any case may be stronger than the law itself. Certainly the reasons for prohibition have a stronger hold on the popular mind than the statute itself. The statute became possible of adoption only after long years of educational effort. It can be sustained and perpetuated only if the educational work is continued. Very important of course to teach our children to respect the prohibition statute, but for the children's own sake, vastly more important to continue to teach them the reason for the law—the evils that flow from liquor and its use.—Business Tribune.

WOMAN KILLED; FOUR HURT

One Mexican woman was instantly killed, two persons were so seriously injured that they will probably die and two others were slightly injured when a Ford sedan in which they were riding struck the rear of the tender of the engine hauling T. & P. freight No. 67, west bound, at a crossing about a mile from Loraine about 9:30 Wednesday morning. All the Mexicans were residents of Sweetwater.

Maria Perez was the woman killed. Padre W. Hernandez was so badly injured that he will probably die, as was Candelaria Aguilar, whose head was crushed. Two others whose names could not be ascertained were less seriously injured. The sedan was a total wreck.

Padre Hernandez is a priest of the Catholic church who has missions at Sweetwater, Loraine and Colorado. It is presumed that the party was on the way to hold services in one of these missions.

Dr. W. L. Hestir of Colorado attended to the injured. The entire party was taken to Colorado. It is not known whether there were eyewitnesses to the wreck or not—Sweetwater Reporter.

FEDERATION OF CHRISTIAN WOMEN HOLD MEETING FRIDAY

The Federation of Christian Women were entertained in the parlors of the First Methodist Church on Monday afternoon with the women of the First Methodist Church as hostesses. Mrs. M. L. Musgrove was chairman of the meeting and following a brief business session a pageant "A Real Live Family," in which every religious denomination was represented, was staged. The theme of the pageant was the influence that the different nationalities have in a community and it showed how they work both good and bad. The segregation of the negro population into a certain district in this city was briefly discussed and action on this subject may be taken up in a short time.

At refreshment hour delicious brick ice cream and cake was served. Miniature flags, signifying Memorial Day were given as plate favors.

SINGING AT KNOTT HONORING W. R. PURSER

The all day sing at Knott on the fifth Sunday in May was given in honor of W. R. Purser and it was proclaimed a success by all who attended. People from all over the country began to gather at Knott as early at 9:30 in the morning and continued to pour in all during the morning. At 10:30 the chairman, L. E. Lomax, opened the meeting with a short talk on the early history of the song work in our county, and told of the interest Mr. Purser had always taken in it. Mr. Purser has always contributed his efforts in this work during his 20 years residence in Big Spring. After this talk by Mr. Lomax, J. W. Gregory led the opening song, and an hour of real song services was enjoyed. Kinard, Prescott, Pittman, Butler, Purser and others lead the songs during this service. At 11:30 Rev. Sam Horton delivered a very able talk on "Faith." A special song was given by Purser, Kinard, Prescott and Gregory, these four having been active in song work for twenty years or more.

At the noon hour, dinner was served, worlds of it, and plenty left. Everything was delicious and it was indeed a feast. The afternoon's program included some quartet singing by Mrs. Marchbanks, C. C. Nance, Baker and Whitaker, and they sang "His Touch," a composition of Mr. Purser's. Mr. Purser made a few minutes talk on the early song work in Howard County, and closed his words by urging everyone to use their talents for the Lord's work. Mrs. Nola Whitaker sang, after which several class songs, led by Mr. Purser, were sung. Brother Masters asked the benediction and brought to a close this wonderful day's service.

DEDICATION SERVICES AT MEXICAN MISSION SUNDAY

Sunday, May 29 was a great day at the Mexican Baptist Church in Big Spring.

Those of us who attended the beautiful dedication of the new church will never forget the sacred services. After the songs of praise and thanksgiving Bro. Summers, pastor of East Third Street Baptist Church, led in prayer, followed by Bro. Bergos of Del Rio. One seemed to sense the beauty of this prayer though you couldn't understand even a word.

Bro. Ruiz then gave a short address in both Spanish and English. After this Mrs. S. H. Morrison gave a beautiful, simple, soul stirring talk. How I wish every Christian in Big Spring could have heard it. How in her humble way she effaced everything and everybody and did her part in turning over to God the house that He had been kind enough to humanity to allow them the blessed privilege of being His instruments and building for His worship and glory this church.

Then Bro. Coleman, Baptist Missionary to the Concho Valley district gave the dedicatory sermon in English and Bro. Ruiz translating into Spanish. Through this address also ran the thought that it truly was God's house and the one great hope and earnest prayer that it would ever be used to the worship of God through faith in Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world.

Bro. Bergos said the benediction after which everybody was invited to the basement of the church and there ice cream and cake was generously served to about 150 Mexicans and about 50 Americans.

UNEXPECTED REUNION

Three old friends and former residents of Big Spring had an unplanned but enjoyable reunion in Big Spring last Saturday morning. The three living in different portions of Texas just happened to be here for brief visits and ran together on East Third street, neither one being aware the others were in this city until they ganged up.

The veterans were Mike Leeper, Steve Dally and Tom O'Keefe. They worked together for more than 20 years in the T. & P. shops in this city until the 1922 strike when they were scattered to the four winds. W. H. Leeper's home is in Fort Worth as is that of T. E. O'Keefe, while S. P. Dally resides at San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Middleton returned the latter part of last week from Mineral Wells where they had been to spend their vacation.

COFFEE MEMORIAL CLASS ENTERTAINED IN CHURCH

The Coffee Memorial class of the First Methodist Church met in their regular monthly social meeting Tuesday afternoon, May 24 in the parlor of the church with Mrs. W. R. Purser, class hostess.

After a short business session the class was given a rare treat by some of the class members of the Delphi chapter, which was being held upstairs in the church. The lesson of their meeting was 'American Authors' and Mrs. W. P. Edwards was persuaded to allow the class to hear her part on the program, which was a reading of "The Raven" by Edgar Allan Poe.

Mrs. Edwards gave a wonderful interpretation of this famous poem, which was enjoyed by everyone present. It is rare indeed when we are permitted to hear so excellent reading, and we hope that we may be fortunate enough to be favored by another reading by Mrs. Edwards at some future time.

After several interesting games arranged by Mrs. Hartman a game was played where several had to pay forfeits, the teacher being blindfolded and was asked to tell them what to do to redeem their forfeits. While she was blindfolded a large birthday cake beautifully decorated with roses and lilies molded on a large nut loaf cake was placed on the table before her and presented to her when the blindfold was removed. This was her birthday and also the thirtieth anniversary of her wedding.

At refreshment time, the hostess served delicious home made cake and ice cream. All departed voting this to be one of the most enjoyable and best meetings the class has ever enjoyed.

PLEASED RECITAL GIVEN BY EXPRESSION PUPILS

Talent in speech and excellent training were exhibited by the pupils in the expression classes of Mrs. Eb Hatch on Monday evening, when they were presented in recital at the high school auditorium. Thirty six students took part on the interesting program of readings and short plays.

Wofford Hardy Jr., very graciously accorded welcome to the audience, after which Miss Barbara Freeman gave the prologue of the entertainment to Mr. and Mrs. Audience. The Pineville Baby Show, presented to the audience by eight little maids with their dolls, was charmingly presented by Misses Camille Kobert, Frances Stamper, Louise O'Daniel, Hazel Walters, Dorothy Campbell, Doris Cunningham and Betty Jean Fisher. Miss Eleanor Rix, as Miss Polly Prim was the judge of the baby show, and how ambitious she was to win the favor of each mother was splendidly enacted by this little miss.

The Eight Tube Radio brought delightful entertainment to the audience, when the announcer, Harry Jordan, tuned in on some of the foreign nations and brought them music dance and song. France was represented by Little Miss Roselle Stephens, dainty and petite, as a French dancer; Margarite Reed, as an irresistible Spanish senorita, recited "In a Little Spanish Town"; Miss Purdie Mason, representing an Irish Lassie, gave a delightful reading. The four entertainers from Africa seemed to be the most popular station tuned in. Fred Coleman, Sidney Mellinger, and David and Paul Ellis, dressed as "darkies," came out of the loud speaker with hand prings and they kept something doing all while they were on the stage.

A reading by J. C. Douglass, was an enjoyed number preceding the old Maid's Convention. The Ten Old Maids, a short play, was splendidly enacted by Misses Bama Hale, Margaret Bettie, Vida Robinson, Dorothy Driver, Wynelle Kavanaugh, Louise Mauldin, Arylene Chaney, Louise Hayes, Georgia Hale and Nadie Howell. Their slogan was: "We Want a Man," and they were desperate enough to use foul means of getting one. A list of the ten most eligible bachelors in Big Spring was read and the Old Maids resolved to start working charms on them at once. Miss Emma Louise Freeman ably enacted the part of an elderly woman, a hotel proprietress. Miss Valerie Sligh, was a fortune teller, and a mystic woman, who foretold happiness in matrimony for all the old maids. Miss Luella Rix, as a poor blind girl, was transformed into a beautiful and attractive young lady by some of the fortune teller's magic medicine and made the Ten Old Maids who did not get any beautifuller envious of her. Oran, the wooden man, was enacted by Miss Mildred Taylor.

Little Miss Mary Freeman wished the audience a kind goodnight in a sweet manner.

'ROOKIES'

It's Hard to Beat!
I got more enjoyment out of seeing "Rookies" than out of any other dozen photoplays I've seen this year. You just can't keep a straight face when you are viewing this funny film. You are laughing out loud before you realize it; and you laugh long and loud before the show is over. You may not like picture shows some don't—but I'll wager you'd like this one. If you have some trouble on your mind "Rookies" will make you forget them. It's a "knockout." Don't miss it.
See "Rookies" or See a Doctor!

I'm going to round up a bunch of my friends who are blue or grouchy and take them to see "Rookies." It's the greatest gloom chaser I ever witnessed. I laughed so long and loud when I witnessed this king of the comedies that my wife threatened to quit me, but I just couldn't control my giggles—and they broke out in big laughs. You can't imagine just how funny "Rookies" is—you just must see it. If after seeing it you don't break out all over in real laughs, you come to my drug store for you are sure sick.

Take the madam and kiddies and let them enjoy at least one good laugh this year. Shine Phillips.

You'll Die Laughing

Any fellow who knows anything about army humor will get a real kick out of "Rookies"—but anyone, young or old, who enjoys a good laugh can get his money back times over in the hearty laughs he has coming. You just can't imagine situations as comical or stunts as uproarious as they pack into Rookies. I thought it would take some rather funny stuff to get a good laugh out of me but I "gave her down" when "Rookies" pulled their stuff. You'll go daffy over this picture. They all do if they are human.

Eck Lovelace.

Don't Miss "Rookies"

Motion pictures come and go, but "Rookies" will be going a long time as one of the greatest laugh producers that has ever been filmed. It's simply packed with laughs from start to finish and when the end rolls round you realize that you have given vent to more honest-to-godness old time hearty laughs than you thought your system could sustain. You'll want to see it again and again unless you are a habitual grouch. W. W. Inkman.

It's a Steawinder and Then Some

A fellow don't have many laughs coming these days, but when he does get soaked with a real rib-tickler he certainly does enjoy the sensation. "Rookies," that peer of photoplays is a "knockout" as a laugh producer. You don't just sprout a sickly grin but you laugh right out in meeting—not occasionally but darn near throughout the entire showing of this picture. I unhesitatingly class it as one of the best I've ever enjoyed. You'll put your O.K. on it when you see it. L. W. Croft.

Funny! I'll Say It Is!

If you are afraid of taking on a pound or two of weight from laughing you had better not see that funniest of all photoplays "Rookies." You don't have to have a very deep sense of humor to catch the laughs and if after seeing it you do not pronounce it the funniest film you ever enjoyed it's my treat. My advice is—don't you miss it. Herb Lees.

The Big Spring Herald

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice, Big Spring, Texas, under Act of Congress, May 8, 1897.

Big Spring, Friday, June 3, 1927

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC: Any erroneous reflection up the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm, or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to attention of the editor.

Big Spring with its plentiful supply of pure water from deep wells has real reason to be thankful. Our water is a real asset and is our best bet toward the making of a real city.

You can hear the Howard County oil fields and Big Spring discussed whenever you encounter oil men. From all accounts the big companies plan a big development in the Big Spring territory before a great while.

We could promote the erection of more homes in our city by forming a local building and loan association. Furthermore all who purchased stock in such an organization should receive good returns on their investment.

Watching and waiting is O. K. if you are fishing for fish but you would have to adopt a more aggressive method if you want to catch business enterprises, refineries, oil well supply interests, etc., you have to get up and hustle while you wait.

Geel but it would be great if we could manage some way to create an artificial lake within ten or twenty miles of Big Spring where we might spend a day or so occasionally. We could appreciate such a place far more than the rich appreciate their seaside resorts.

There has been considerable complaint about the weather, but as Mark Twain once remarked nothing is ever done about it. However, if most any of us had any authority over the weather man we would have him move his springing cart out our way long before this date.

The splendid auto tourist parks in Big Spring are helping take care of many visitors in Big Spring. Lack of adequate hotel accommodations in our city has certainly hurt us, but with the completion of the new Crawford and the rebuilding of the Cole Hotel we can boast of our hotel accommodations.

Very few Americans ever have, or ever will receive the ovation that has been accorded Captain Lindbergh for his feat in flying from New York to Paris. And the wonderful thing about it all is that Lindbergh has not been afflicted with the swell-head as a result of the honors showered on him.

George is certainly an overworked individual in Big Spring. Most of us are aware of many needful enterprises to be secured but we are inactive, hoping George will put over the deal for us. We are going to shake off our spirit of selfishness and evince a broader community spirit if the old town is to keep moving forward.

If you are wise you will make investments in Big Spring real estate, now while times, not being so prosperous, cause values to be low. When oil development does get going Big Spring is just as sure to grow as the sun is going to rise tomorrow and then everybody will be keen to invest and all will pay more for property in this city.

We have always pictured our own folks as the most emotional and curious, but we must give our English cousins credit for being more human than we pictured them. The reason: 100,000 Londoners turned out to welcome Captain Lindbergh, the American who made the nonstop flight from New York to Paris on his visit to London.

We've had our lesson and yet we refuse to profit thereby. Because we did not have adequate hotel facilities we have noted that oil men made their headquarters at points where they could secure accommodations. We may have plenty of hotel accommodations when the oil business gets going again—the we doubt it—but you and the rest of the folks know we have no office spaces to offer oil companies or others who may desire to make their headquarters here and yet we are not stirring a peg in an effort to secure same. A bunch of local citizens should organize for the purpose of erecting one office building at the very least.

"Carry a note book. Jot down a new thought every day for a week. What, you can't keep it up for a week! Then hide from the boss."

"Most women who resist the slavery of keeping house for their families are perfectly willing to keep house for the whole county."

"The other night we listened over the radio to a drum corps made up of men from all trades and professions, including one musician."

"People who say that war can't be abolished because it's never been abolished yet, assume that human nature will always be as 'honery' as it is now. (Put that bayonet back! —we're only writing epigrams—you big, brave, red-blooded go-getter!)"

When you read some of the comments of our "would be world up-lifters" as to what should be done with those whose opinions differ from theirs you must conclude that our reformers would not permit this to be a free country very long if they had their way.

The war on nicotine planned for the near future cannot be carried out as planned because John Barleycorn refuses to remain buried. One dragon at a time is about as much as a fellow is supposed to conquer so the demon nicotine will go unchallenged for the present.

Grab everything and give nothing in return—don't put out a dollar unless you have a lead-pipe cinch on getting three or four in return—are policies which have hampered the upbuilding of Big Spring. Money sure is tight when some of our folks get their mits on it.

An ex-sheriff of the Panhandle section advises the citizenship of Howard County to back up the officers in keeping out bootleggers, gamblers and all classes of crooks when oil development is resumed on a big scale. The lawbreakers will take charge unless they are curbed with an iron hand.

Three Midland citizens plan to build a total of forty residences in Midland in an effort to help supply accommodations to folks coming to their town. It would be great for Big Spring if we had a few citizens who would jar loose and do something to help their home town.

The Postal Telegraph and Cable Co. have installed about a dozen local telephones in Big Spring and are continually adding to this number. This is for the convenience of the patrons of their long distance telephone service—the Postal supplying telephone as well as telegraph service.

The most successful corporations have long since learned that it pays to advertise. The smaller firms should profit from the experience of the successful firms. The Herald offers the business men of Howard County a real opportunity to tell the consuming public what they have. Some shortsighted business men curtail their advertising when business is not as brisk as usual—the very time they should be stepping on the gas, as it were. If you have bargains to offer tell the folks about them.

The building of the Gulf Oil Co.'s ten inch pipe line through Howard County, the million dollar building and extension program of the Texas Electric Service Co. in this territory, the extensive building program of the Texas & Pacific railway in doubling the capacity of the railroad yards, construction work on the new Crawford Hotel, the Elliott business block, two large fire proof buildings erected by J. M. Radford and the erection of fifty or more homes have all contributed towards putting money in circulation and causing times to be much better than under ordinary circumstances.

A strenuous effort was put forth a few years ago to organize a local building and loan association but our business interests were too short-sighted to get behind the movement and put it over. They are now informed that $4500 is going out of Big Spring each month to be invested in foreign building and loan associations. Enough going out to build two homes per month and no city needs more new homes than does ours. This money could have been kept at home to help up-build the home town had we enough gumption to see two feet in a well. Bankers formerly discouraged local building associations but have had a change of heart. Recently a report from a city of 5000 population shows that where a few years ago, the bank deposits were only $1,000,000 they are now $3,000,000 with many new homes due in a great measure to the activities of local building and loan associations.

A car for her, too!

In thousands of average American homes there are now two automobiles—"a car for her, too," so there may be transportation for the family while "he" drives away to work.

And the family car has such an infinite degree of usefulness! Downtown shopping, taking the children to school, afternoon calls, meeting trains—and the many additional trips that must be made to and from the house as a part of every day's routine.

No other car is so admirably suited to a woman's requirements as the Most Beautiful Chevrolet.

With striking new bodies by Fisher, and finished in pleasing colors of lustrous, lasting Duco, it provides in abundant measure the comfort, charm and elegance that women admire in a motor car. It is easy to start because of its Delco-Remy electric starting system—famous the world over for its excellence. It is easy to stop because of powerful, over-size brakes. And it is easy to drive and park because of a modern three-speed transmission, smooth-acting disc clutch, and a semi-reversible steering gear.

And women find in Chevrolet a remarkably comfortable car. Long semi-elliptic springs extend over 88% of the wheelbase—providing easy riding over any road. The large, deeply cushioned seats are set at the most comfortable angle. Tarnstedt window regulators and remote control door handles are further fine car conveniences that women appreciate.

The remarkable economy of Chevrolet ownership is another vital reason for Chevrolet's wide and increasing popularity. Extremely low first cost, exceptionally high fuel and oil mileage and the very minimum of upkeep expense—all combine to make Chevrolet a car of outstanding economy.

Visit our showrooms and see the Most Beautiful Chevrolet. Note the wide variety of body types. Mark their sweeping lines and carefully executed details. And then ask for an explanation of the easy terms on which a Chevrolet may be purchased—terms that include the lowest combination of handling and financing charges available anywhere.

SAUCE FOR FARM GOOSE, SAUCE FOR OIL GANDER

There is a great calamity howl going up at this time about the "waste" of the oil supply in the United States, and the overproduction of the same. Now, I must take issue with these calamity howlers. I have been unable to find that "waste." I burn gasoline, kerosene and "lub" oil every day, but I do not use any more than I did when I was paying 26c for gas. Neither do I find any more traffic upon the highways while gas is selling for 16c than when selling for 26c per gallon. "I am in the oil fields occasionally, and was through the Seminole (Ok.) field a week ago, but I fail to find any "waste" of oil. Now, I want to know where this "waste" comes in?

There is also at this time a demand being made upon Congress for a modification of the anti-trust laws to such an extent that the major oil companies may combine for the purpose of "stabilizing the industry," which is in reality for the purpose of price fixing. However, a short while ago, when the agricultural producer was demanding relief, our President vetoed a measure aimed at that purpose, when a goodly number were advocating price fixing.

Now, that the same people who were then demanding that the Government play "hands off" on the question of stabilizing farm products are insisting that Government action be taken to control the oil output, I am wondering at the reaction.

As long as the major oil interests can control the output of oil we have high prices, but when the smaller man, or the independent or wildcat producer gets to where he can affect the industry and we get cheaper gas, then the howl goes up. If the law of supply and demand is good for agriculture, surely it is good for the oil industry. Why not let it govern?

The man who suffers by law of supply and demand governing the price of farm products is the man who profits by the law of supply and demand governing the oil business, and it would seem that this is only one of the ways which the law of supply and demand takes care of the producer of the basic necessity of life.

Then, again, if the wildcat or independent producer can produce oil at a cost which will permit them to sell it on the prevailing market, there is no reason why the larger producer can not do the same. No man but the farmer is going to produce something that will not pay the cost of production, and he would not if he could do anything else.

If the independent oil producer can bring gas from 26c to 16c and produce crude at that rate, I say let him do it without interference, from the Government. In other words, treat all alike. If the law of supply and demand is to govern in the price of farm products, then thing which all industry is based upon and which backs everything else, then why not let all else be governed by the same rule or law?—Paul N. Buford in Dallas News.

Another pipe line is headed towards Howard County, according to report. This line will be extended to this section from the Gulf. It is generally recognized that Howard County oil fields are going to require the service of a pipe line when oil development is underway once more.

It would not be a bad idea to purchase a tract of land near this city for an airplane landing field. With an airmail and commercial route between Dallas, Fort Worth, El Paso and California in prospect, and many oil men coming here in plane—a landing field will soon be a necessity

WHY THESE FIRMS SHOULD BE PATRONIZED
J. C. Miller
Box 771 Big Spring

I was lost in a wilderness of intangible mazes of nothing. I could strain my vision but I could not see. No blue sky, no clouds, no works of nature, no earth pierced my veil of mortal view; no noise disturbed the deathly, chilly stillness. Crazy madness took possession of me and I tried to shriek.

Though no sound melted away from my lips in that chaos of strangled air, yet the scene began to shift and a background of mingled colors almost torture-maddening to the beholder. Blue, green, gray, white, purple, orange, brown, yellow, and a multitudinous other tints danced fantastically on an obscurity of shadowy black and glaring red. I only saw these colors indistinctly; for the instant I turned a pointed view on one particular hue, it melted away and delirious flashings alternately confused and blinded me.

After, it seemed to me, ages of personal unavoidable agony had been endured a second aspect presented itself. For, on glancing beneath me, I perceived a sight that made my already insane senses reel. A pit that seemed to stretch into eternity was spread out just below me. A mass of continually leaping flames scarcely half-enveloped legions of fiends, reveling in wildest orgies. The nauseating smell of burning flesh floated up. Tortured devils cursed and moaned but could not die. Then seeing me, I suppose, they uplifted their naked, heat-glistening arms and cried, "Welcome!"

Just as I felt myself slipping, though madly clinging, into that realm of perdition, a voice called "Wait," and I, ghastly terrified, stepped back from never-ending Hell.

"There is a way," quoth a voice from nowhere, "whereby thou may be yet saved. I am thy good angel, Conscience, and will instruct thee, if thou wilt heed me. Look yonder," it continued, and I turned, "that is thy home on earth. Behold thy aged wife's odyssey. She is slaying in misery and sorrow. Washes thy clothes without the heaven-sent electrical devices, cleans thy suits, sweeps thy floors, cats thy low-quality scanty fare, dwells in thy rock-surrounded hut without nature's flowers, rides once a year in thy half-destroyed car, and never beautifies her person with thy consent.

"And yet thou has worldly fortunes enough to take her from unnecessary care. In thine own town there are firms of quality to whom thou might go and thus lighten her labors with time-saving methods, bring joy to her with flowers, give her holiday luncheons from the cafe, allow her the best of foods and the finest of cars, send your clothes and hers to the cleaners, and let her adorn her person as she should. And, since thou art, through avoidance, unfamiliar with the businesses devoted to quality, service, and low price, I shall give thee a list to cover thy needs, judging from human experience rather than my immortal powers. These, the number includes: Big Spring Hardware Company ("Come Once You'll Come Again"); Couch Greenhouse and Floral Company; Campbells, Cleaners and Dyers; Creath Furniture Store and Mattress Factory; Vogue Beauty Shoppe; Coleman Electric and Plumbing Co.; Busy Bee Cafe; Buick Garage; Ideal Service Station; Big Spring Wrecking Co.; McNew Overland Co. and the Allen Grocery Company.

"And these," continued the sepulchral voice of Conscience, "if applied as directed for your wife, will help save yourself."

I awoke; for it was a dream. But how true! I saw for the first time the preeminent aim of life, the helping of others; began to alleviate the sufferings of my wife; and I investigated those firms mentioned above to discover if Conscience's high opinion of them were well founded and found it was.

The Lunch Room Girl

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright.)

MRS. DAVENPORT DAWKINS, as president of the City Improvement society of the flourishing town of Benton, felt it incumbent upon her to right every civic wrong that was brought to her attention. And sometimes she sought out wrongs that were not brought to her attention. She had watched the workmen going past her house to the Granger factory and had noticed with increasing concern the fact that they all carried lunch boxes. The thought of all these poor men eating cold lunches troubled her. She did not reflect that most of the boxes were supplied with vacuum bottles containing hot tea or coffee. As she thought the matter over it became to her a burning shame that Mr. Granger with all his millions should force his men to eat cold lunches.

"I don't see how he forces them," said the vice president of the C. I. S. when Mrs. Dawkins drew her attention to the "burning shame."

"He ought to have a lunch room in the plant," said Mrs. Dawkins.

"Well, I'll bet you a new hat you can't get Mr. Granger to do anything of the sort," said the vice president. "None of the Grangers have been any too philanthropic and from all I can hear young Harry Granger, who manages the place since his father's death, is a chip off the old block."

"I'll bet I can—one way or another," said the indomitable Mrs. Dawkins.

So Mrs. Dawkins wrote to a niece of hers who had taken a course in lunch room management as part of her college course in domestic economy. Then she met her niece in the big city fifty miles away and talked the matter over with her.

So Polly Proctor, who was becoming a little weary of the life of idleness she had lived during the two years since her graduation, donned an inexpensive little blue serge frock and went to call on Mr. Granger. She told him that she had heard that he had a large corps of workmen who had to eat cold lunches and that she would be very glad to advise him concerning the installing of an up-to-date lunch room in his plant. She would furthermore like the job of directing the lunch room after it started.

Mrs. Dawkins heard with deep gratitude that Mr. Granger had seen his civic duty and had given orders for the installation of an up-to-date lunch room in his plant. Not wanting to let Mr. Granger know that Mrs. Dawkins had been promoter of the scheme, Polly did not go to live with her aunt, but took a room in a boarding house and ate three meals a day in her own lunch room.

Mrs. Dawkins did not know that Mr. Granger often found it convenient to wait until he came to the factory to have his breakfast and that then he sat with Polly in the lunch room kitchen leisurely drinking coffee and eating muffins or griddle cakes which Polly had made. Sometimes, too, he dropped in at half past five to join Polly in the light supper that she ate there before leaving the factory for the night.

Then one day Mrs. Granger was surprised to see an expensive car draw up before her house and to see her niece Polly and a tall young man jump out and come hurrying up to the door. A few minutes later she met her niece and the young man in her drawing room, and she knew that it was Harry Granger. "I had to tell Harry that you were my aunt," said Polly. "We came to tell you the news. We're engaged—isn't it wonderful?"

It was indeed unquestionably wonderful to Mrs. Dawkins for the Granger millions were said to be numerous. Mrs. Dawkins instantly took upon herself the credit of the match. At least if it hadn't been for her Polly never would have met Mr. Granger.

"Now I suppose you'll have to get another girl to run the lunch room, that is, if you are going to be married soon," she said.

Harry Granger laughed and so did Polly.

"I don't believe that we'll bother with the lunch room any longer," said Harry Granger. "You see only two or three of the men ever eat there. Orders are allowed in and it's been crowded for the most part with office workers in the neighborhood who take advantage of the low prices and the good cooking. The factory men don't like it—they even resent it a little. They'd rather drink their rank coffee out of a vacuum bottle and munch a bumpy meat sandwich out of a box sitting on a plank out in the factory yard than eat what we call wholesome food at a civilized table in an up-to-date lunch room. It wasn't Polly's fault though—I knew from the start that as far as the factory men went the lunch room idea was no good."

"Then why in the world did you spend all the money to have one installed?" asked the dumbfounded Mrs. Dawkins.

"Well," said Harry deliberately, "I figured right from the start that Polly was the girl I wanted to marry. And I thought that if I said 'Yes' to her then she would say 'Yes' to me later on. But that lunch room was worth while. We've had some cozy little suppers together in the kitchen there, haven't we?"

And as Polly and Harry exchanged a look of perfect understanding, Mrs. Dawkins dropped back in her chair and murmured "I'm blessed."

WYNNE-ANDERSON WEDDING

Two of Hillsboro's most popular young people were married Sunday
when John Wynne and Miss Bonnie Anderson slipped away to Waco and were united in bonds of matrimony by Dr. C. T. Caldwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of that city.
None but a very few intimate friends had so much as an inkling that the two would be married Sunday for Miss Anderson had made it appear that she was going away on short vacation trip.
Cecil Sanders and Mrs. E. C.
Wicker made the trip to Waco with Miss Anderson and Mr. Wynne. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wynne left for San Antonio for a stay of a week before returning to Hillsboro to make their home.
Miss Anderson is the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Anderson of Big Spring. Her father is a ranchman there. Miss Anderson has been in Hillsboro for three years, making her home with Mrs. E. C.
Wicker. She has been connected with the Robb & Rowley theaters here since coming to Hillsboro and has a host of friends in this city.

It is not an easy matter to find a person in Hillsboro who does not know Mr. Wynne. He is very popular here and holds a responsible position with the Colonial Trust company. He is president of the Hillsboro Lions club, and takes an active interest in civic affairs.
The Mirror joins their numerous friends in congratulations and wish for Mr. and Mrs. Wynne a long life of happiness and success. Hillsboro

SIMMS GOOD WILL CAR VISITS BIG SPRING

The Simms Good Will Tour Car has been in town this week, on its way calling on all the Service Stations in Texas which handle Simms Gas and Simms Motor Oils. The tour is an unique good will plan inaugurated by the Simms Oil Company to better instill in the station men who serve their products the true Simms Service Spirit. The car is a specially designed Dodge business car painted in the lively white, red and blue Simms colors. Its appearance on our streets has excited much interest and comment. The car is under the command of George E.

Webb, a man who has long been handling retail sales work of the Simms Company, who is assisted by W. C. Whitten. These Simms Service experts are explaining to every attendant at stations handling Simms products the Simms Service Pledge.
In order to maintain a uniform
good service all over the country, the following general principles are being followed by Simms service men: 1. Meet my customers with a smile. 2. Gladly fill their radiators.
3. Properly inflate their tires. 4.
Willingly wipe off windshields. 5.
Always give full measure. 6. Keep my station spic and span. 7. My uniform neat and clean. 8. Never substitute inferior products. 9. Answer questions cheerfully. 10. Be courteous.

After signing a pledge to render such service, the Station men of this section are being issued Simms Service uniforms—white shirt, white trousers, white sailor cap and blue tie; the red Simms Triangle is em-brothered on the uniforms, which are the badge of Simms Service. The idea is for every station handling Simms Gas and Simms Motor Oils to render the same high class service and all attendants wear the uniform badge of this unique service.

PETER PREACHING TO GENTILES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:1-11:18.
GOLDEN TEXT—For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him.—Rom. 10:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Tells a Foreigner About Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter Takes the Gospel to Gentiles.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Taking the Gospel to All Races.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How the Gospel Overcomes Race Prejudices.

The missionary program of the church having broadened to include the Samaritans, we see in this lesson it still widening and embracing the Gentiles. Through the conversion of Cornelius, the "middle wall of partition" was broken down (Eph. 2:14).

1. Cornelius (10:1, 2).
I. His official position (v. 1). He was a Roman officer over a company of 100 soldiers.
2. His character (v. 2).
(1) A devout, pious man. (2) He was a praying man. (3) He was charitable. He gave much alms. (4) He was respected by his family.
II. The Supernatural Preparation for the Transition of the Gospel to the Gentiles (10:3-33).

This was of divine arrangement. No barrier is too great to prevent the coming together of persons whom the Lord desires to meet. In order to bring this about:

1. Two visions were given.
(1) The vision of Cornelius (vv. 8-8).
While engaged in prayer, an angel of God announced that his prayer and alms had come before God as a memorial, and instructed him to send to Joppa for Peter who would tell him what to do.

(2) The vision of Peter (vv. 9-16). This took place while Peter was praying (v. 6). He saw a certain vessel containing clean and unclean animals let down from heaven, and heard the command, "Rise, Peter, kill and eat." Peter protested that he had never eaten any unclean thing. God replied, "What God hath cleansed, that call not thou common."
2. A messenger sent from Cornelius (vv. 17-22).

Peter was greatly perplexed over what he had seen, but not for long. For messengers from Cornelius made inquiry at the gate for him. The spirit informed Peter of the matter and bade him go, nothing doubting.
3. The meeting of Cornelius and Peter (vv. 23-33).
(1) Peter took six witnesses along (v. 23).
(2) Cornelius waiting for Peter (v. 24).
He called together his kinsmen and near friends.
(3) Cornelius about to worship Peter (vv. 25, 26).

Peter repudiated his act and protested that he was but a man.
(4) The reciprocal explanation (vv. 27-33).
III. Peter's Sermon (vv. 34-43).
1. The introduction (vv. 34, 35).
He showed that God is no respecter of persons. This does not mean that Cornelius was already in a state of grace, thereby saved, but that he was eligible to hear the gospel and accept the terms of salvation.

2. His discourse (vv. 36-43).
In the discourse he touches briefly upon the mission of Jesus, showing that by means of His baptism and anointing with the Holy Spirit, He was qualified for His work as mediator. He then exhibited the work of Christ: (1) In His life (vv. 36-38).
It was one of beneficence. He went about doing good, even casting out demons as a proof that God was with Him (v. 38).
(2) In His death (v. 39).
The just suffered for the unjust that He might bring us to God (1 Pet. 3:18).
(3) In His resurrection (vv. 40, 41).
In this discourse is set forth:

(a) The basis of salvation—the crucifixion of Christ.
(b) The scope of salvation—whosoever believeth in Him.
(c) The method of appropriating salvation—believing on Him.
IV. The Holy Spirit Poured Out (vv. 44-45).
This was a new Pentecost.

V. Peter Vindicating His Ministry to the Gentiles (11:1-18).
Being called to account for visiting and eating with Gentiles, Peter rehearsed the whole story in such a way that his narrative took the form of logical argument, and showed how God had set His seal upon the work by the miraculous gift of the Spirit.

Closing the Day
Says Dr. R. A. Torrey: "No bank ever closes its business day until its balance is found to be absolutely correct. And no Christian should close a single day until his accounts with God for that day have been perfectly adjusted along with Him."

The Best Side
The habit of locking up on the best side of every event is worth more than a thousand a year.—Doctor Johnson.

News Notes From Other W T Fields

Strain Well Plugged Wednesday
Strain No. 1 of Paul Teas, section 32, block 97, was being plugged on Wednesday afternoon. This well is several miles north of the Westbrook producers.—Colorado Record.

Texas Company Buys in Andrews
According to reports here today, the Texas Company has purchased protection in Andrews County on section 7, block 73 and section 14, block A-43, near the Meador well.—Midland Reporter.

Southern Crude Secure Producer
One 20 barrel head, and oil rising in the hole at the rate of 600 feet an hour, was the performance of the latest producer in the Winkler County field, the No. 1 C 2, Southern Crude Purchasing Co., an offset to the discovery, and the third well drilled in by the operators. This well is expected to make a good producer.

Total depth of the latest gusher was 3060 feet, and they are not expected to deepen the hole, following the finding of water by the Independent, which is in the near vicinity. This producer will be completed and made to flow in the near future, and is estimated to be good for 150 barrels a day, or more.—Midland Reporter.

Magnolia Busy in Winkler County

The Magnolia Petroleum Company have made four locations since Monday: The O'Keefe No. 10, section 38, block 30. It is 990 feet from the north line and the same distance from the east line. The Lassiter-University No. 4, section 34, block 30 placed 330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line. The Hardwick-University No. 9, section 46, block 30, placed 990 feet from the north line and the same from the east line. The O'Keefe No. 8 in section 38 and block 30 is placed 660 feet west of No. 10. The rigs for the locations will be hauled noon.

The Hardwick No. 4 was shot Wednesday, 150 quarts of nitro being used. The flow was 640 barrels the first five hours. It was stopped at a depth of 2970 feet. The well is rated at 3000 barrels daily and is considered the best find yet of the Magnolia in the University field.

The O'Keefe No. 7 was shot Wednesday and made a nice flow. Drilling was resumed. O'Keefe No. 9 struck pay at 2925 feet. Drilling stopped on No. 2 at 2910 feet and are cementing.—Midland Reporter.

Winkler County Development Notes

The Gulf Co. is now working on five locations, with No. 6 the deepest, having about 600 feet of hole. Their big gusher which came in for 5,000 barrels, is pinched down to 30 barrels an hour. The company will also soon start on their other two locations, completing their present development.

The Pure Oil Co. has two wells with No. 1 under-reaming below 1500 feet and will run pipe in the next few days. The No. 2 well is making new hole below 700 feet.

The Texon Company well is now drilling below 475 feet, having recently started operations.

The McCullom-Morton well in Winkler County is still fishing for their tools.

The Humble No. 1 Hendricks is now fishing for their bit, lost at 665 feet, and are troubled with cavings. This hole has had a lot of tough luck. The White Eagle is drilling below 900 feet, now making progress following a string of bad breaks.

The Llano well, which caused such a stir last week with a good deal of promotion, is now running, six and five-eighths inch casing to the bottom which is 3094 feet. This well was rumored during the week to be making 7000 barrels, but it is not, and is considered to be possible for a small producer.—Pecos Enterprise.

Loving and Reeves Development

The Humble Co.'s Kioh B-1 in Reeves County, shut down last night, when they broke the engine head. Their total depth was below 2200 feet. During the week, they completed two fishing jobs, and now ran into more trouble. The World on the Duff, as the old Pecos-Angeles test is now named, is at 1360 feet, preparing to run a new string of ten inch. The old pipe collapsed and parted so they are running a new string.

Both the World No. 1 Biggs, and the Exploration well are shut down waiting for future development, with the Biggs to start when they receive their engine, and string of tools. The Deep Rock well, their third test of their block on western Reeves a few miles north of the T. & P. is now running their casing to the bottom for a shut-off of the water. They completed rebuilding their derrick and have 3577 feet of hole.

The Humble No. 1 Flores on the Reeves-Jeff Davis line, has filled the hole back to within 28 feet of the top to start drilling again.

The Skelly Oil Co.'s No. 1 Leeman is drilling around 4370 feet, making hole steadily. They have around 4,916 feet of ten inch casing in the hole.

The activity in this territory is increasing in Winkler County field with a greater interest displayed in Loving and Reeves Counties.—Pecos Enterprise.

MANY OF THE GREAT DISCOVERIES MADE BY ACCIDENT

A piece of cheese tossed by one workman at another during the lunch hour missed its mark and dropped into the plating bath used in the protection of copper disks from which wax phonograph records were stamped. Later the disks were found to be far superior to the others and an investigation revealed that the casein in the cheese had done the trick. This disclosed a possible improvement worth several thousand dollars.

The top of a salt cellar fell off, and the outcome was a new flux for welding permalloy, making possible a sixfold increase in the speed with which we can send messages by cable. By inadvertently opening the wrong valve, a French scientist found the answer to the long search for liquid oxygen. Again an accident created an industry and gave us an explosive safer and mightier than dynamite.

The spraying of dissolved gun-cotton as a substitute for the hand-painting of automobile bodies has saved one manufacturer alone ten million dollars which he would otherwise have had to invest. The mere discovery that seventeen drops of solder and not eighteen were needed in closing a can saved an oil company $40,000 last year.

A great corporation ordered its industrial chemists to produce a paint that could be applied quickly, would dry rapidly, and be tough, hard and resistant to the elements. It had to have some of the properties of glass and yet not crack, and it had to be proof against the action of oil, grease and acid. Everything went well up to the point of finding a way to keep the solution in a liquid condition so that it could be applied with a brush. An effort to solve this problem failed until one day the machinery broke down and the material had to stand for days in the tank until the repairs were completed. When work started again, the chemists were amazed to find that the paint now retained its liquid form. The long-sought secret had finally been discovered, and an accident had again shaped the destiny of a business.

And so on and so on. One of these days some scientist is going to drop something into the ocean and make it turn into gasoline, and then we can run our automobile as much as we have always wanted to.—Palestine Herald.

 you hear some croaker question, "What has the West Texas Chamber of Commerce achieved?"
 of the most sweeping victor-

 town in West Texas—and will, this year—be worth cash to the people of West Texas than the entire cost of West Texas Chamber of Com-

 years of its existence. This vic-the favorable decision just by the State Fire Insur-
 commission denying the propos-per cent increase in all fire rates.

 Their position has al-been that the fire insurance

 siveness, but that they may secure permanent relief by joining to be done by careful accep-

 The Commission held with the

 Among other accomplishments stand out are that of preventing

MOTORCADE PLANNED
 A Vacation Motorcade is being planned by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce during the first ten days of July. There is not a more delightful trip which can be taken than this one, nor a trip which will be more educational or more economical.
 As tentatively planned, the motor-cade will assemble at some convenient point, and will proceed via Fort Stockton to Alpine for the district convention on July 4. Thence by easy stages, they will proceed to Marfa and Fort Davis, at which point they will be a mile high and in a delightfully cool climate. The trip will be thru Limpia Canyon via Balmorhea to El Paso, where a day and two nights will be spent. Thence via Alamogordo to Clouderoft for the New Mexico district convention. At Clouderoft the altitude is nearly ten thousand feet, where beautiful pine forests thrive.
 From Clouderoft the trippers will go to the Mascelero Indian Reservation; thru Lincoln National Forest, down the valley of the Ruidosa River in the White Mountains to Roswell.
 From Roswell a trip will be made to Carlsbad for a visit to Carlsbad Cavern, termed as the eighth wonder of the world.
 The various cities visited will stage entertainments and social functions and those who make the trip will meet the most delightful people in the section traversed. In many instances, the Motorcade will be entertained with luncheons and banquets, and will be guests of the towns visited. Every effort will be made to hold expenses down to a minimum, and advance arrangements will be made to provide for entertainment at all points.
 Every city in West Texas is urged to send as many folks as possible to join in this Motorcade.
 The trip will be personally supervised by the president and the two past presidents of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce with their wives.
 With the big chautauquus holding forth for a week beginning June 24, the big celebration on July 4 under the auspices of the American Legion, and the Howard County Old Settlers reunion about July 29, it is not going to be necessary to go anywhere else for entertainment this summer.
 Floods, storms, tornadoes, etc.
 continue to sweep thru Missouri,
 Kentucky, Tennessee and other states. They can keep their storms;
 we should like to get part of their excess moisture.
 Funeral services for a Mexican child, Consecin Sineros, were held Monday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in the Mexican cemetery.

 they spent the week end visiting tives.

 O. A. Cordill returned Friday morning from Dallas where he spent the week attending the school of in-shop efficiency.

 That sample of moisture put out
 Tuesday evening was of such fine quality—especially in the northern portion of the county that everyone is putting in an order for more just like the sample.
 One or two big enterprises are practically assured for our city but the time for making any announcement relative thereto is not yet ripe.
 Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodall and

There's a joker
in the
"cheap" paint can!

"Cheap" paint looks like paint and smells like paint—and the low price seems to be attractive. But here is the two-sided "joker."

A gallon covers only about half the area covered by SWP House Paint — a strictly quality paint. Nearly twice as many gallons are needed. Figure that out and the low price isn't low at all.

Then it lasts only about half as long on the house—needs to be renewed oftener—costs over twice as much per year as SWP.

Come in. Let us tell you the whole story about real paint economy. We will save you money.

GUARANTEED!

SWP House Paint is guaranteed to look better, last longer, cost less per job and less per year than any house paint on the market.

"WHY I BELIEVE IN IMMORTALITY"

This is a little like defending the love a woman feels for her mother or for her children — the special, deep, definite love that marks them apart for her from all the other sons and mothers in the world. Even when all the reasons are in, there is something...there is everything! — still to prove. We don't have to prove mother-love, we know it. And so may we come to know that higher love, the love of God, and the knowledge that some day His kingdom is to come. But how convey it?

For the utter unbeliever, here are three simple questions. The first: What human life stands supreme, without challenge, as the most important we know—Buddha? Confucius? Why, even these great oriental prophets had no such pressing, personal message for their believers, as have the words of Jesus Christ now, today, everywhere, for everyone of us!

What is the secret of this manual laborer, who lived for but three obscure years of teaching, in a small, far distant village, whose friends were peasants, who died a criminal's death, two thousand years ago? What did He say?

Why, He said strange and puzzling things. That pride and bloodshed were weak things after all, that the gift of peace was for the humble and the charitable and the merciful. That equity and logic might not save us, but that when we became as little children, then indeed our groping hands should find our Father, and we "should not taste death forever."

And...third and last question: "Are these absurdities true? Has it been to lies that the broken, hungry, seeking soul of man has been clinging, for two thousand years, or do we indeed love most the gentle, charitable hearts we know? Do brute force and hate and revenge awaken the best in us, or do we all seek love...love...more love, and admit, in every hour of our lives, that love does fulfill the law? Do we not still pass by the logical, the brilliant, the statistical and unhappy intellectuals, and choose to find our friends among the simple and the good?"

Stop trying to create God, you don't know Him. Stop trying to fit Him into petty scientific laws that won't last out this generation. His Kingdom is the only real Kingdom—that of the undecieved heart. Learn through your heart of Him, rather than demand that He shall learn through your brain, of you. In silence and humility and solitude listen for that unfalling Voice. Seek and ye shall find! Knock and it shall be opened unto you! Ask and ye shall receive!—Kathleen Norris, in McCall's.

"ROOKIES" TELLS AN AMUSING TALK OF MILITARY LIFE

When a sergeant and a private, under his command, fall in love with the same girl, there is excellent chance for comedy.

This riotous situation is the invention of Byron Morgan, scenarist and fiction writer, who wrote the story of "Rookies," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayers newest farce comedy, which will be shown at the R and R Lyric theater Monday and Tuesday, June 6-7.

The tale is laid against a background of life at Uncle Sam's citizens' military training camps, and while it depicts life at camp with its drills in all branches of the service, athletics and range contests, these are made a background for the comical situations and laughs, which naturally are evolved.

Marceline Day, who was made famous by her roles in such productions as "The Barrier," has the leading feminine role, the object of the attentions of Karl Dane, as a sergeant, and George K. Arthur, as a private. Louise Lorraine has the role of a cabaret dancer who further complicates the affair, and Tom O'Brien, who like Dane, was made famous by "The Big Parade," has the part of a corporal. Frank Currier is the judge who sentences Arthur to jail, and later sends him to the training camp to learn how to become a man.

Director Sam Wood, responsible for many of Wallace Reid's successes directed the picture with the cooperation of the government, and a number of army officers assigned to training camp duty.

The story, an original by Byron Morgan, is replete with laughs and thrills, the latter coming from the perilous aviation stunts at the training camp. The entire cast is said to have spent the better part of a week in a balloon high over Hollywood during the filming of the production.

Dane and Arthur make a capital comedy team in their initial picture, and it is hoped that they will be paired in more pictures.

CREAM CHECKS INCREASE BANK DEPOSITS AT HEREFORD

Cream checks and the money received from hogs and poultry are largely supporting the farmers of the Hereford country right now, according to Henry Wilkinson, local banker, and the cow, sow and hen play an important part in the payment of bills and fattening of bank accounts the year around.

In reviewing the development of the past ten years, Mr. Wilkinson says that there has been a great change from a cattle range to a diversified farming region. "Ten years ago farmers bought their eggs, butter and meat from the store, and borrowed money to buy everything from suspenders to herds of cattle—today these same men bring in full cream cans, crates of eggs and market hogs regularly," he stated.

Mr. Wilkinson predicts a great future for the dairy and poultry industries here and is now heading a committee that is working for a creamery in Hereford.—Hereford Brand.

A MONTH WITHOUT FULL MOON

The following item was taken from a scrap book made and kept by Aunt Kate James for years:

The month of February, 1846, was in one respect the most remarkable month in the world's history. It had no full moon. January that year had two full moons and so had March, but February had none. It was a wonderful thing, indeed, in nature. It had not occurred since the creation of the world, and it will not occur again, according to compilations of astronomers, for 2,500,000 years.—Garland News.

Blackberry Preserves

2 pounds blackberries whole; 1 pint berry juice; 2 1-2 pounds sugar. Extract the berry juice by crushing, heating and straining the softer broken berries. Boll together the berry juice, sugar and cook before dropping in berries. This prevents shrivelling the fruit. Drop in berries, return to the fire and bring slowly to a boil in a covered pan. Remove cover, cook until fruit looks clear being careful not to over cook; berries should remain whole. Cook until temperature of 222 to 224 degrees. Skim and cool in a covered pan. It is best to allow fruit to cool in shallow trays or pans. Cover in syrup, let remain over night to plump it. Pack cold in sterilized jars, pour syrup over berries until jar is filled. Place on lid. Immerse jars in water and cook for ten minutes at simmering point. Remove and seal.

Blackberry Jelly

1 cup berry juice (blackberry juice); 3-4 cup granulated sugar. Wash berries. Mash a few in bottom of kettle using wooden spoon—cook slowly until very soft. Strain through a double thickness of cheese cloth, measure juice, bring to boiling point and boil five minutes. Add sugar heated in an oven, boil three minutes or until falls in sheets from spoon. Skim and pour into sterilized glasses. When cool cover with paraffin. Put on lid. Store in a dry cool place.

Dewberry Jelly

Same as for Blackberry Jelly. Blackberry or Dewberry Plummary 1 quart blackberry juice. Put together four tablespoonsful of corn starch and four teaspoonsful of sugar, add to fruit juice and boil for ten minutes. Strain, cool, and serve with cream or custard.

Fried Berry Tarts

1 1-2 cups flour; 1-3 cup Mrs. Tucker's; 1-2 cup sugar; 1-2 teaspoon salt, cold water; 1 1-2 cup blackberries or dewberries. Sift flour, add salt, cut shortening in with two knives. Add sufficient amount of cold water to make a stiff dough. Cover berries with sugar, crush slightly and let them stand for a few minutes. Roll dough one-half inch thick and cut out in squares. Fill one side with the berries fold over edges together and fry in deep fat.

Blackberry Shortcake

Roll pastry dough made as for tarts one-half inch thick. Cut out with cutter. Bake in hot oven at 475 degrees for ten minutes. Spread with berries that have been crushed and covered with sugar.

THE LUEDERS ENCAMPMENT

The Lueders Baptist Encampment begins July 11 and extends to July 22. For the past three years it has been the largest encampment in Texas in the point of attendance. An extensive Sunday School, B. Y. P. U. and W. M. U. study course has been planned. Some of the ablest speakers in Texas will be on the program. Dr. Geo. W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, will preach morning and evening. He is claimed to be the world's greatest preacher. Literally thousands flock to hear him wherever he preaches. Extensive arrangements have been made for the play period. Large sums are being expended on the grounds. Both banks of the river will be open to camps this year, a thing never done before.

Retarded Pupils

By Wesley Peacock, Ph. B.

How to help retarded pupils is the problem of school administration; whether it is best for them to remain in the school grades of those that easily make one grade a year, when they can not possibly do the work of the class, and secondly, whether it is best for the class to have to carry the load of the retarded pupils, who scarcely are able to make one grade in two years.

The commissioner of education estimates that 'retarded pupils in the United States are costing the states half a million dollars a year. They are of two general classes: Those that are mentally defective, and those that lag behind because of ill health, insufficient food, or poor home conditions. Sympathetic teachers are disposed to help the laggards, usually to the neglect of the bright pupils, a condition evidently partial and unfair. Democracy guarantees equal educational opportunities both to the bright and the retarded, but educators agree that equal opportunities can not be given by unequal classification, and uniform methods of instruction.

To illustrate: John is sixteen years old and in the seventh grade. Any teacher would know that he is a misfit. A normal boy of that age should be in the high school. Therefore John is either of subnormal development, very much retarded through neglect or absence from school, or else he is mentally defective. I gave him the Terman-Binet test, and was not surprised to find that his mental age was eight years. A child of eight should not be in the seventh grade, but in the second grade. John should not be in the seventh grade, but in the second grade; for he is really not sixteen, nor can he ever be sixteen, nor can he ever advance beyond the second grade. If he had been subnormal through inadequacy of personality, or through neglect of schooling, and not through mental deficiency, he might have advanced to higher grades through individual tutoring.

Heretofore teachers have given more attention and devoted more time to dull pupils than to bright pupils, which is not economy in time or expenditures; for it takes twice as much time and money to educate dull pupils. Logically, therefore, in the interest of society and humanity special teachers should be made for the many who can not possibly make a grade a year in group instruction.

When I gave intelligence tests to the freshman classes of a certain high school I found that the youngest boy made over 150, the oldest (twice his age) made 99 (meaning dull), and still another of average age made only 82 (meaning a low grade moron). What a travesty in school administration.

WEST TEXAS' PROGRAM

President R. W. Haynie of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, newly chosen to the post which makes him titular head of the movement for intelligent development of West Texas resources, announced continued adherence to the principle of diversification. "I should like to see two milk cows, 100 chickens and a bunch of hogs on every farm in West Texas," Mr. Haynie declared in Fort Worth Thursday. This is by way of putting into a definite affirmation the principles of balanced farming, which aim at safeguarding the farm income through a more flexible arrangement of production and marketing. The farm which has cows and chickens and hogs achieves diversification and balanced production at the same time.

Another sentence from Mr. Haynie's address in Fort Worth carries with the compactness of a slogan an idea of immense potency in West Texas' development. "We ought to dam every watercourse in West Texas," he said. "We shouldn't lose a gallon of water where we can prevent it. Water conservation will be the salvation of West Texas." West Texas indeed has not so much water that it can afford to waste it, although it has enough for all its needs if conservation is practiced.

Diversification—in agriculture and the practice of conservation with respect to all natural resources constitute a program upon which West Texas can confidently build the great edifice of prosperity which the future must see. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in espousing these principles, can command the support of every far-seeing person. —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY DELIGHTS BIG CROWD

"Betty's Last Bet," a three act comedy, presented by members of the Senior class, delighted a large audience at the R. and R. Lyric theater last Friday evening. The proceeds from the door receipts amounted to about $182.

The story, with a light and fast moving theme, presented the troubles of a mother, Mrs. Darling, splendidly portrayed by Miss Louise Rogers, who had four great problems on her hands. Namely, four beautiful and aspiring daughters, Julia Bess Nowell, as Catherine the oldest; Nell Estes, as Margaret the second daughter; Ernestine Chalk, as Dorothy the third, and Lillian Bean, as Elizabeth the fourth, very charmingly enacted their parts and each one won a "Prince Charming." Mildred Creath, as Hannah, the hired girl, proved to the young ladies that she did not have a bit of use for a man.

Dick Collins played the part of Richard Wentworth, wealthy and a colonel in the national guard. He won the choicest of the Darling daughters, the one his nephew, Percy Wentworth, was in love with. Percy, played by Albert Bettle, took a second choice when the fair Catherine scorned his affections. Jack Van Loon, played by Jack Hodges Jr., of the historic Van Loons, a handsome and clever young man, managed the affairs very nicely winning happiness for the four girls and their ambitious mother. Hamilton Moriarity was enacted by Arthur Osburn, who also won one of the fair Darlings. Edgar Darling, a cousin of this aristocratic family, received the bluntness of the whole affair and went on to Greece in search of antiques.

The play was directed by T. F. Huggins and D. L. Barnes and it was well cast and presented in a most pleasing manner. The proceeds from the play went to help finance the high school annual.

Cora's Cases in Storage

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

(Copyright)

CORA was in more or less of a quandary as to what was the best way of getting rid of the large cases that were accumulating in her small storage room. Once in a while she wished there were a man about the place.

She had watched boys, with their funny little homemade carts, collecting and splitting up boxes, left on the sidewalks.

"I suppose they make them into kindling," Cora mused and decided she had better haul one of these youngsters and offer him her cases. They were of a fairly decent thickness and no doubt the boys would be glad to cart them away.

Lamp shades, telephone covers, shoe boxes, cushions and things of that sort comprised the stock in trade of Cora's little shop.

"How much can I have them for, miss," asked the lad and Cora noted that he had removed his cap upon coming into the shop.

"Goodness, child, I don't want anything for them. You're doing me a good turn in taking them."

"My brother always gives me a quarter and says I must offer to pay for any especially good boxes I find."

"And what do you use the wood for?" asked Cora.

"My brother has a hobby for making things," announced the small boy proudly, "and he sells a lot of them and gives me the money. I have thirty-seven dollars in the bank now."

"Oh," exclaimed Cora vastly interested. "What 'things' does your brother make?"

"Candlesticks, boxes with birds on them, garden flower poles and even little tables and chairs—all from the wood I get for him. We work evenings after my lessons and—well—Tom's the finest brother in the world."

Cora was sure that she had never met anyone so delightfully naive as this small boy whose brother made "things."

"Tom and I live together and he gets all my meals 'cause he doesn't want me to eat just any old thing. We have a fat."

"I should just love to meet your brother," said Cora, and added swiftly, "perhaps he will let me see some of his wooden things before he sells them elsewhere. Do you think he would?"

"Sure he would," said Barry with much authority for so small a person. "And he'll make some pretty swell boxes out of this fine wood and some peachy bookshelves."

"I can see your bank account being a swell affair, too," laughed Cora and the boy joined in. From that moment they were fast friends and Barry promised to bring his big brother round and also to call for more cases in a day or two.

Cora watched him as he trundled his well-made cart off through the traffic, laden as it was with two large crates.

"I wouldn't mind working for a boy like that either," she told herself and hoped that big brother's handwork would be good enough to display among her own wares.

Cora realized when, a few nights later, she met Tom Brentwood that he had not much play time in his life. He was serious, responsible and had much of the charm of his small brother.

"Barry told me all about you," he said when Cora invited the two into the shop. "And I'm so keen to help this young man along with a start in life that I've come right along to see what chances there are for selling some of my stuff."

"Do let me see it," said Cora enthusiastically. "I have a fairly good sale for oddsments for the house. Oh! These shoe boxes for the fire-side are lovely." She was quite astounded at the fine workmanship displayed in the slight collection he had brought.

"These candlesticks, too, are quite unusual. You will let me sell them for Barry, won't you?" She turned toward the happy lad. "You see I want to help that bank account, too."

Tom colored slightly. "Barry's been telling secrets." He looked up frankly then at Cora. "I've been doing my best for him—you see we're quite alone in the world and it's a bit difficult to be father and mother. I've taken out a decent insurance policy for him in case he's left alone before he's old enough to look out for himself."

"Well," Cora said presently and her voice was softer than she knew. "I think I am going to help you and Barry a whole lot and I want to help by asking you both to stay and keep me from being lonesome through my evening meal—besides, I'm enthusiastic of my cooking. You have a hobby for making 'things' out of boxes and I have a hobby for making tasty food out of 'things.'"

"Oh, Tom, do let's stay—I should love to." He gazed hopefully up at his big brother. "I'll wash up after ward while you two talk."

Tom laughed and looked at Cora. He knew then and there that Barry had found a mother while he had found—love.

Well, Folks!

We Requested that you Watch This Space and then Watch Big Spring and we Meant Every Word of it

The "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" has just completed its organization, under the laws of Texas, capitalized at $70,000,000, divided into 70,000 shares at $1.00 par, has complied with all requirements of the Blue Sky law and has been issued permit to sell $30,000.00 worth of capital stock.

The purpose of the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" is to buy and sell leases, drill wells on any of its holdings, when it appears advisable to do so, to construct pipe lines, erect buildings and otherwise to improve properties as conditions may require.

The present holdings of the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" are as follows: 1680 acres surrounding the "World Oil Company's well, which is now drilling on S. W. 1-4 of section 43, Block 34, Township 2 South, located in Glasscock County, Texas, on the McDowell ranch; 120 acres of the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" lease is direct off-set to the above well, and the balance of the 1680 acres is checker-boarded around the said well.

160 acres in section 24, block 34, Township 2 North in Howard County, Texas, near the Martin well being drilled by Donnelly, Mann and Freel, and 80 acres 1-4 miles from the Skelly Oil Company's well now drilling in Winkler County.

Now folks, the thing that caused the birth of the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" is the famous McDowell lease, in Glasscock County, 22 miles S. W. of Big Spring, of which you are all practically familiar with: You know there was 3 wells drilled on the McDowell ranch that produced oil: We do not know of a place in Texas where so much oil was produced that was not carried on to development.

Knowing the conditions that exist on this property, with other geological data we were able to secure, we were successful in securing a lease, in the block surrounding the old wells, from Mr. McDowell, and also convinced the World Oil Company of the possibilities of this lease to the extent that they are now drilling a well on this tract; they have contracted with us

Call at Office, Room 2, West Texas National Bank building or phone 701 and we will be pleased to give any information desired to drill this well to 3900 feet or to oil or gas if found in paying quantities at a lesser depth: the World Oil Company being a reliable one, we are now assured of the test going down.

One of the main purposes of the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" is to give the McDowell lease a thorough test, by drilling other wells or causing them to be drilled, if it proves advisable.

We honestly, and have reason to, believe that before the World Oil Company's well reaches the contract depth, you really will not have time to watch Big Spring, as it will grow by leaps and bounds.

All you good folks will have to step on it to keep up with the parade that the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" are leading.

And don't lose sight of the fact that the other properties mentioned are in good prospective areas, and that we expect to acquire other properties, in the future, that are equally as good: to make a long story short, we are in the oil business to win, and if you desire to join a live wire oil company, we solicit and will appreciate your support.

We feel sure, if you follow your own inclination and best judgment you will get in with "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY": why stand back and let outsiders step in and pluck the fruit from your own orchard?

While considering this opportunity, remember a few dollars invested with "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" will answer two purposes for the home folks: The possibility of making a little fortune on a small investment and you will be assisting in developing your community and causing Big Spring to boom.

The officers of the "MERIWETHER OIL COMPANY" are people of experience, conservative and pledge themselves to give an economical and honest administration and will exert every effort to make for its associates a profitable investment.
