Hereford firm fined - last year

The owner of Hereford Bi-Products expressed annoyance today about a news report the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission had fined the company for waste disposal violations. "I don't know why this is being reported now," Garth Merrick said this morning. "It happened months ago and our company has complied with everything." It was reported in today's issue of the Amarillo Globe-News that TNRCC levied fines of $10,450 against Hereford Bi-Products-Stratford Division for bi-product waste disposal violations. An inspection of the Stratford plant on July 21 and July 27 of last year revealed piles of hair, grease, and other solid wastes as well as a drainpipe releasing nearly black waste water into a ravine. Merrick explained the "piles" of waste was less than a wheelbarrow full of solid matter that had been scooped out of the lagoon. He continued to say workers who had been uninformed of environmental laws were responsible for the dumping. "What usually happens is the solid matter rises to the top and is scooped off and goes into the rendering truck. The employees responsible were unaware of the rules," Merrick said. Employees since have received instruction on proper disposal procedures.

Hereford Brand Managing Editor Although operating expenses outstripped operating revenue in May, Hereford Regional Medical Center managed to record a $21,938 net surplus in the month.

The finance report presented Tuesday night to the Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors showed total operating revenue of $750,206, with total operating expenses of $831,867. That left the hospital with a net operations loss of $81,661.

The operating loss was offset by $103,599 in non-operating revenue, including $93,457 in ad valorem taxes, enabling the hospital to finish May in the black. By comparison, the hospital finished May 1998 with a $105,326 net loss.

For the year, the hospital is show-ing a net gain of $305,389, significantly better than the $412,533 in red ink run up for the same period in 1998.

The hospital showed gross patient service revenue of $1,191,856 in, up from $1,140,095 in April and well above the $1,068,415 for May 1998.

The patient revenue was reduced by losses in several areas, including $366,551 in third-party contractuals; $30,359 in indigent care; and $90,581 in estimated uncollectables.

The major operating expense for May was $410,635 in wages and salaries. Benefits accounted for $136,429 in expenses, while pur-

"This plant has been here for 30 years and has never had a problem," Merrick said.

TNRCC technical specialist Don Manning said the company "does not have a history of environmental violations."

Merrick said TNRCC has given them until mid-August to complete the new lagoon and contractors fully expect to meet that deadline.

Merrick said he believes the inspection last year was the result of a random check which included the

Counties can get state money for preserving old courthouses

Staff and wire reports

Counties will be able to apply for millions in state funds to restore historic courthouses under legislation signed into law by Gov. George W. Bush Wednesday.

"County courthouses are the symbolic center of our communities," said TOM Bush, who made the legislation a priority after some prodding from county officials and preservationists. "These magnificent works of architecture represent our ... heritage." Bush had asked that $100 million be earmarked for the Historical Courthouse Preservation Fund, but lawmakers allocated only $50 million for the next two years. The See FINE, Page A12 legislation was opposed by some the money might better be spent on education.

Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons said there are no plans at this time to seek any of the grant money.

SIMONS "It's been discussed, No plans to but there's no plans at seek grant this time," Simons said.

"As it is with grant money, you have to put up matching money and given our situation, I don't know if we've got enough money available to go after a grant."

chased services were $60,889.

At the end of May, HRMC showed total assets of $9,212,928, up from $8,738,457 in May 1998.

The total fund balance was $5,542,234, up from $4,752,620 for May 1998.

The total current liabilities are $1,625,033.

Current liabilities include accounts payable-trade, $276,212; salaries and taxes payable, $204,829; benefits payable, $240,091; miscellaneous payables, $278,484; deferred revenue, $400,982; and short-term bonds payable, $224.435.

Long-term liabilities, which include the 1992 and 1997 bond issues and leases, are $2,045,661.

The total liabilities of $3,670,694 do represent an improvement over the $3,985,837 for May 1998.

The hospital has had a total of 1,369 admissions for the year, up 39 from the same period in 1998. Also, surgical procedures have risen by 74 to 586 for the first eight months of the fiscal year, while the daily census has risen from 14.8 to 15.

The biggest gain for the hospital has been in physical therapy procedures, which has jumped by 10,230 to 14,278. The biggest dropout has been in home health visits, which fell by 10,482 to 5,603 for the year.

One of the soft areas in the hospital balance sheet has been the Rural Health Clinic, which reported a net loss of $212,231 for the year to date. That is nearly 204 percent higher than the $69,831 in red ink reported for the same period last year.

The clinic's revenue for the year is $418,175, up 173.4 percent from the $152,960 for the same period last year. However, the clinic, which has expanded its staff, also has seen its expenses rise to $630,407 for the year. That is a 183 percent higher than the $222,791 in expenditures for the same period in 1998.

Canadian's execution on schedule

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Texas prison officials were poised to execute Joseph Stanley Faulder tonight for a murder almost 24 years ago after the Canadian inmate lost bids before the state parole board and in the federal courts to halt the punishment.

Faulder, 61, faces lethal injection for the fatal beating and stabbing of 75-year-old Inez Phillips during a burglary of her home in Gladewater in East Texas in 1975.

He would be the first Canadian executed in the United States since the 1950s.

"Twenty-four years later, the victim's family still waits for justice," Attorney General John Cornyn said. "Ten different courts and more than 38 judges have reviewed a total of 17 appeals, each time rejecting his appeal and affirming the capital murder conviction."

The U.S. Supreme Court and the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals on Wednesday were the latest to reject separate appeals.

The Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles earlier in the day refused - by two unanimous 18-0 votes - requests for a commutation of his death sentence and a 180-day reprieve.

And Gov. George W. Bush, who could issue a 30-day reprieve, said he was not inclined to do so.

"In the case of Mr. Faulder, I have seen no new evidence that questions the jury's verdict that he is guilty of this crime. In fact, his request for commutation was not based on any claim of innocence," Bush said.

Faulder, a former auto mechanic from Jasper, Alberta, appeared resigned to his fate despite a flurry of attempts by his attorneys to save his life.

"Come Thursday, one way or another you're going to set me free," Faulder earlier this week told Texas Department of Criminal Justice spokesman Larry Fitzgerald.

He has refused repeated requests in recent months for interviews with reporters.

"I have nothing to say to the media," he told prison officials

Widow Maria Elena Holly has refused the city's offer of $50,000 and 15 percent of the profits for permission to use the singer's name and likeness in connection to the festival. She blames the city for the breakdown in negotiations.

"I'm not going to get into the controversy," Ms. Holly said from her home in Dallas. "I'm tired of being used as a scapegoat for people who can't do their job. I am tired of city officials who don't know how to put a festival together saying bad things about me."

She would not comment further on the matter.

The city has decided to rename the festival the West Texas Rock'n'Roll Festival. The festival, which has been held annually for the past four years under the Holly name and several years off-and-on before then, is now scheduled over the weekend of Sept. 4.

Ms. Holly has threatened to sue if the city if it holds the festival that weekend, even if it uses the new name, because she says the festival will still be profiting off the fact that the weekend is close to Buddy Holly's birthday.

we plan on passing that along to the customer," said Gary Huddleston of the grocer's regional office in Houston.

Ellen Jordan, a Texas Agricultural Extension Service dairy specialist in Dallas, said milk producers will be getting nearly 9 cents more per gallon beginning July 1 for the raw product that is sold for further processing and bottling.

The anticipated increase follows a significant drop in milk prices in April, when the price paid to producers dropped by 53 cents per gallon, she said.

Kroger cut the price on milk from $2.59 to 99 cents a gallon at its stores in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and farther east in Nacogdoches, Palestine, Marshall, Paris and Longview.

While the drop corresponded to a slight decline in raw milk prices, Kroger also wanted to increase the vol-cut prices, but he doesn't ume at its Fort Worth dairy know when the deep discount and "increase the value to our customers," Huddleston said.

A spokesman for Minyard Food Stores Inc. said the company matched prices for a week or 10 days but has since pulled back. Wednesday's gallon milk price was $2.89

"We just couldn't stand the loss," he said, without giving a specific amount. "You wouldn't believe it if I told you."

Albertsons has also responded to the drop in price in the Dallas-Fort Worth market.

Tom Thumb shoppers can find milk selling for 99 cents a gallon instead of the regular $2.59, said spokeswoman Connie Yates.

Elise Bowden of Hurst, whose eight children (ages 2 to 16 years old) drink approximately 15 gallons per week, said she definitely notices a difference.

"When you have a large family that's just (extra) money you can spend on fruits and vegetables," she said.

once again has attracted international attention to the death penalty in Texas, the nation's most active capital punishment state.

Faulder's lawyers contended Texas authorities ignored international law when Faulder first was charged with the December 1975 murder of Mrs. Phillips at her home about 115 miles east of Dallas.

The Canadian government filed court papers in support of Faulder's claim and enlisted the backing of Secretary of State Madeleine Albright.

Faulder in December came within 30 minutes of execution before the Supreme Court halted the punishment, saying it needed more time to consider his claims of international law violations. The court later rescinded its reprieve.

DPS search continues

GEORGETOWN, Texas (AP) - State law officers are continuing the hunt for a suspected serial killer today, declaring a false alarm in Central Texas after local authorities thought they had found the elusive drifter.

"We are doing everything we can to find him," said Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox.

Whoever is killing these people is certainly a very brutal, brutal individual," he said.

Authorities determined late Wednesday that a man at first thought to be Rafael Resendez-Ramirez was not after realizing that a snake tattoo identified with the suspected railriding killer was on the wrong arm.

Computerized fingerprint comparisons between Resendez-Ramirez and the man who was taken into custody also didn't match. The FBI will do its own fingerprint tests sometime today. Cox said.

"As far as we're concerned, at this point it's not Resendez-Ramirez," said Cox. "I suppose there is still a click of a possibility, but there's not much of one at all."

The man in custody, who has not been identified, was arrested along with four other people while riding a Union Pacific freight train between Round Rock and Hutto in Williamson County, about 30 miles north of Austin.

Cox said the arrests were spurred by calls to the Round Rock Police Department from Austin police and some private citizens who said they saw a man that looked like Resendez-Ramirez Officers stopped the train near the intersection of U.S. Highway 79 and Farm-to-Market Road 685 and arrested the suspects.

The five were hiding underneath the wheels of a trailer that was being towed on a flatbed train car. The men were being held at the Williamson County Jail on suspicion of trespassing.

A drifter from Mexico known to hop freight trains, Resendez-Ramirez has been wanted by the FBI in connection with five Texas killings and one in Lexington, Ky.

Howard is good company and takes me out to a restaurant once a month. He reads your column every day, Ann. Please help me tell him I cannot afford him any longer. - Midwest Widow

Dear M.W.: OK. This is for Howard: The woman is fed up with your freeloading. Treating her to a meal in a restaurant once a month doesn't quite do it. Since you are a steady boarder, I suggest you come up with half of her grocery bill on a regular basis. If you aren't willing to do that, I'm instructing her to dump you.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother died four years ago. I was a teenager, and believe me, it was a difficult time. The whole family, especially my mother's side, was devastated, but we all pulled together and supported each other. Two years ago, my father married a lovely woman. It was hard for me to accept her at first, but over time, I have learned what a great around, you should be trying person she is and am pleased that she is making my father happy. The problem is my mother's family. They have completely blocked Dad and my stepmother out of their lives. Dad is no longer invited to family birthdays or holiday gettogethers. I love my entire family very much, and this is killing me. I resent the way I am forced to choose between my grandparents and my father. I have told them how I feel, but nothing has changed. Dear Ann Landers: You have printed several letters about husbands who cheat on their wives. I would like to present a different point of view. I am not the least bit ashamed of my behavior when it comes to enjoying the company of other women.

I have been married for 15 years. When my wife gets home from work in the evening, she resumes her love affair with the bottle. Booze has robbed her of her youth and good looks. She has become fat and ugly, inside and out. I am ashamed of her, and she no longer appeals to me sexually. The only good thing to come from our marriage is a wonderful son, who cries his heart out when his mother drinks.

Why do I stay married? When I consider the possibility that my wife would re-ceive custody of our son, I choose to stay. Fortunately, I travel quite a bit and have the opportunity to meet other women. I keep my affairs discreet because I see no reason to cause additional pain. I'd appreciate your comments. Not Hiding in Colo.

Dear Colo.: If you're looking for justification for cheating on your wife, you've come to the wrong place. Instead of using your wife's alcoholism as an excuse to fool to help her. The best thing

HAPPY ADDICTION Sampling of rubber stamping hobby

NEDERLAND, Texas -Debbie Green sits behind her work desk, barely visible above the brushes, markers and rubber stamps that crowd the room. Lots of stamps. As in 3,000.

She has flowers, trees and vines; ships, lighthouses and peaceful waterscapes; animals, vegetables and maybe even minerals. If it appears as a stamp, she's got it.

Green is not that unusual. The hobby of rubber stamping has become a happy addiction for many artistic and "crafty" people who can't wait to get their next fix and pass it on.

Passing it on is what gets most people involved. The average stamper creates personalized greeting cards, but the possibilities don't end there. Creations are as unlimited as the creator's mind. The simplest form of rubber stamping is inking a stamp from a pad and stamping it on a piece of paper. From there, the creator can use watercolors, acrylic paint, colored pencils, inks or chalks to color the images. Embossing is a popular way to create more intricate designs. A stamper makes several stamps on colored or specialty paper, cuts out the images (say a flower), uses glue, powder and heat to puff or emboss the image, then glues them together to create a three-dimensional, layered im-

Other more intricate forms include cutouts, which hide designs behind an overlaid sheet, and pop-ups, which use multiple layers folded and bent so a three-dimensional image pops up from the center of the card. Each sheet of these designs is created with stamps.

Enhancements come with glitter, puff-paints, pearl paints, metallics, bows, clasps, ribbons, raffia and other ties even embossing on velvet.

Stamping enthusiasts make bookmarks, stationary, envelopes, gift boxes and bags, scrapbooks, journals and picture frames.

A stamper can get started with the basic set-up (stamps, ink pad and paper) for as little as $20.

Stamps run from $3 to $50 or more. Avid stampers can have hundreds of dollars invested in a variety of products.

Green first saw rubber stamps in a craft magazine in 1988. She was attracted but thought, "I don't know if I can do this," she said.

"I went into B & G Frames and she showed me how to emboss a card. I was just beginning, so everything she had, I wanted," Green says. "Now, I divide my time between B & G and workshops in Old Time Spring."

Green said stores like Hobby Lobby, Wal-Mart, Kmart and others also carry rubber stamps, but not to the extent of B & G.

Green now acts as a demonstrator for the "Stampin Up!" line of stamps, giving home demonstrations.

Demonstrations are critical for stampers.

Learning how to use the stamps to go beyond the basic steps encourages creativity and sales.

When avid stamper Debbie Gunion bought a few rubber stamps for her gift shop 18 years ago, her husband thought she was crazy. "He still does," she laughs, "but that's OK. It proved to be profitable.'

Gunion no longer owns the Gunion says the best thing about stamping as a hobby is its simplicity.

LIFESTYLES

By The Associated Press Today is Thursday, June 17, the 168th day of 1999. There are 197 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On June 17, 1775, the Revolutionary War Battle of Bunker Hill was fought near Boston.

On this date:

In 1971, the United States and Japan signed a treaty under which the United States would return control of the island of Okinawa.

In 1972, President Nixon's eventual downfall began with the arrest of five burglars inside Democratic national headquarters in Washington D.C.'s Watergate complex.

In 1986, President Reagan announced the retirement of U.S. Chief Justice Warren Earl Burger.

Ten years ago: In China's crackdown on the pro-democracy movement, eight people were sentenced to death for allegedly beating soldiers and burning vehicles in Beijing. Five years ago: After lead-ing police on a chase on Southern California freeways, O.J. Simpson was arrested and charged with murder in the slayings of his ex-wife, Nicole, and her friend, Ronald Goldman. (Simpson was acquitted in a criminal trial, but later was held liable in a civil trial.)

One year ago: Japanese Prime Minister Ryutaro Hashimoto welcomed a rare U.S. intervention in currency markets to support the sinking yen.

of sources, she says, and at least 3,000 rubber stamp companies with products to sell.

"We've taken such a simple art form and turned it into something massive."

Joanna Guynes, co-owner of B & G Frames (The Rubber Stamp Store), said she added stamps to her gift shop items in 1992, when she knew so little about them she wasn't even sure how to fill out an order.

Now, her store offers the largest line of rubber stamps available in the area. She also hosts workshops and demonstrations that get beginners started and help experienced stampers master more intricate techniques.

On a recent weekday morning, four tables of stamping enthusiasts gathered at B & G for the monthly StampAddicts meeting, which included a "Make it and Take it" class, where Debbie Gunion showed stampers how to stamp a piece of heavy paper, color it, bend it and tie together with ribbon to make a gift box.

Meanwhile, her daughter, Lisa, showed another group how to lay a piece of velvet over a specialized rubber stamp, apply heat with an iron and create an embossed garment.

At the end of the class, the stampers had a finished product to take home, along with a new skill, some new ideas and maybe even a new friend or two.

"Rubber stamping is more than an art form, more than a hobby, more than stamped images on paper, fabric, wood and walls. Rubber stamping is people sharing, caring, com-municating and having fun," Guynes said about forming Stamp Addicts Rubber Stamp Club in January of 1997. The first meeting had 18 in attendance.

Christine Falgout, 39, is one of the more dedicated stampers who attended a meeting.

She said Guynes' willingness to teach others how to stamp started her passion for collecting.

"I have twin girls, age 11, and this is my stress relief. I go in and start creating and I forget about everything else," she said. "I was scheduled for jury duty this morning. I told them, No, I have to go stamp-

Expectations are high in Yenzer country

By Yuri Soto

Hereford Brand Sports Editor

Expectations are high for ne Hereford High School the football team. Even Dave Campbell thinks

Who is Dave Campbell, you ask?

He is the editor-in-chief of Dave Campbell's Texas Football. He picks the Hereford Whitefaces to finish second in District 3-4A behind Borger. But everyone knows those are just predictions. "Picked in the pre-season like that is pretty nice, but I don't put a lot of credence in it," Hereford football coach Craig Yenzer said. "It's like J.R. (Compton) said earlier, it's not how you start but how you finish." Predicting a team's success or failure in a sports season requires a lot of thinking and observation. But that's the job of journalists and even oddsmakers.

But teams take care of their own business as usual in the off-season.

"We're continuing to work, taking care of business," Yenzer said. "We talked to the kids about the fact that we can't control what other people say." But predictions, Yenzer said, add to a team's motivation.

"I am tickled about it but I know we need to work even harder," Yenzer said. "It's great when you are picked but it also makes you work harder than ever."

Like every other team in Texas, Hereford has it's num-ber of strengths.

"Our biggest strength is our returning players and the fact that they know the sys-tem," Yenzer said. "They know our offense and defense and hey're real consistent."

Of course, there are the weaknesses.

"It's ironic to say that our biggest weakness is our strength," Yenzer said. "Strength is a concern to our young people. That's why we stress in getting in the weight room."

Yenzer does stress the strength issue, because it is a concern. In last year's play-off game loss to Plainview the Whitefaces, mostly compiled of sophomores and juniors, lost to a much stronger and powerful team.

"We kind of got busy lifting after the playoff game and we need to come back," Yenzer said. "Another year of maturity also makes a difference."

Yenzer's attitude toward the team is in a total high. He can't wait for the season to start. And he has a right to feel that excitement.

What Dave Campbell's magazine says about every team in Texas, including the Herd, won't matter now. It just adds to the excitement of the upcoming Texas High School Football season.

It all will matter once that final gun sounds come November, or December.

NEW YORK (AP) - No, no, no, the Texas Rangers insisted. Loss after loss after loss to the New York Yankees wasn't weighing on their minds Yeah, sure. And that three-game sweep last October didn't cause any sleepless nights. Rick Helling, backed by Lee Stevens' two-run, second-inning homer, pitched seven shutout innings, helping Texas end a seven-game losing streak in the Bronx and an overall four-game skid - its longest since last July 24-28 — with a 3-0 victory.

"It was a night we need a well-pitched ballgame, and Rick Helling certainly gave it to us," Rangers manager Johnny Oates said. "There's no doubt in my mind if we had to win one game, Rick Helling would get the start."

hits, dropping his ERA to 4.18, its lowest since opening day.

Texas beat New York for the second time in eight meetings this season, including five in Yankee Stadium. It was the Rangers' first shutout at New York since Kevin Brown's 9-0 win on April 17, 1993.

"We all feel that we can play with the Yankees," Helling said. "We all feel we've played well against the Yankees. We just didn't play well enough."

Offense has been the biggest problem. Texas is hitting .190 (67-for-353) with 27 runs in its last 11 games against the Yankees, including the playoffs.

We're in first place. We're 10 games over .500 (37-27). We know we're a good Helling (6-6) allowed four ballclub," Oates said.

Helling, who allowed run-ners in his first six innings, made his key pitches after Scott Brosius' leadoff double in the third.

First, he threw a called third strike past Derek Jeter. Next he threw one by Paul O'Neill. And then he fanned Bernie Williams on a checked swing.

"It can get out of hand real fast," Helling said. "You have a hit here, a hit there. The crowd gets in the game. The players start picking up on the emotion. I don't think was sharper than I was right there.

Orlando Hernandez (7-6) got in trouble in the second, walking Juan Gonzalez after getting ahead 0-2 in the count.

"Three-two, he tried to make the perfect pitch," Yankees catcher Jorge Posada said. "That's when he gets in Tino Martinez in order. John trouble." Stevens drove the next pitch — a hanging changeup — halfway up the right-field bleachers for his second homer in 27 games. He began the season with eight in his first 23.

"I tried to get him early before he goes deep in the count and throws tougher pitches," Stevens said. Ruben Mateo added an RBI double in the seventh - the Rangers' first hit at Yankee Stadium in their last 35 atbats with runners in scoring position, a streak dating to last year's playoffs.

Overall, the Rangers had been hitless in 26 at-bats with runners in scoring position since Rafael Palmeiro singled Saturday.

Jeff Zimmerman got out of a two-on jam in the eighth by retiring O'Neill, Williams and Wetteland, the World Series MVP for the Yankees three years ago, had a perfect ninth for his 22nd save in 24 chances.

Maddux lifts Braves past Astros

HOUSTON (AP) - The Astrodome seems to be a good place for the Atlanta Braves pitching staff to get back into a groove.

Greg Maddux struck out a season-high 10 in 6 2-3 innings and retired 17 straight batters Wednesday night, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 3-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Tom Glavine beat the Astros on Tuesday night with a fivehitter after losing his previous three decisions. The Astros, playing their third game since manager Larry Dierker collapsed in the dugout, have lost two in a row for the first time since May 7-8.

"I located better than I've done all year," Maddux said. "This is a good place to pitch. I don't like turf, but I like the Dome. I think it's harder for hitters to see here and I always feel like I have good stuff."

Maddux (6-4) gave up three hits in winning for only the second time in nine starts. He still leads the NL in hits allowed at 124.

Maddux improved to 9-3 with a 1.85 ERA lifetime at the Astrodome. After Craig Biggio singled and Bill Spiers walked to start the first inning, Maddux did not permit another runner until Spiers led off the seventh with a double.

"It was an exciting 3-1 ball game and we came up a little bit short," Astros interim manager Matt Galante said. "I don't know about those people that are saying Maddux has been struggling.

The Astros scored in the seventh when Carl Everett singled home Spiers. Maddux walked the next batter and was replaced by Mike Remlinger.

Atlanta manager Bobby Cox was ejected during the pitching change. He went to the mound and got into a heated exchange with plate umpire Bruce Froemming.

"That's all a part of baseball," Cox said, declining further comment.

John Rocker pitched a perfect ninth for his 15th save in 18 chances.

"We had great pitching and we hit the ball hard," Cox said. "I thought Greg had an outstanding game and we had enough hits to get six or seven runs but they kept making plays."

Sean Bergman (4-3), who had won four of his last five decisions, allowed 11 hits in six innings.

Ozzie Guillen singled and Bret Boone doubled to start the game. After Guillen was caught stealing and Chipper Jones grounded out, Brian Jordan hit an RBI single.

Guillen, who got three hits, had a ground-rule double in the fifth and scored on Jones' double. Brian Hunter scored on Maddux's RBI single in the sixth for a 3-0 lead.

Bergman finished the sixth before retiring.

"His location was his problem tonight," Galante said. "His slider was flat at times but it got better from the third to

"He threw a darn good game against us. He was the Maddux of old. Maybe a little better."

His artistry and persistence around the basket were far more impressive than his jokes.

The Knicks had no answer whatsoever for Duncan and his 7-foot counterpart, David Robinson. Every time they made a run, they were jolted back to reality by a clutch shot from Jaren Jackson.

Robinson had 13 points, nine rebounds and seven assists. Jackson had 17 points, including five 3-pointers that stole all the steam from the Knicks' dogged comebacks in front of a crowd of nearly 40,000 the second-largest in the history of the finals.

The biggest dagger from Jackson came with 8:10 left as he was falling out of bounds right in front of the Knicks' sideline. That shot made it 77-68 after New York closed within six points. It was the Knicks' last stand in the Alamodome.

"A couple of shots, like the one out of bounds, I think the (shot) clock was going down," Jackson said. "I'm glad I was just hitting some of those.'

So are the Spurs, who won their 11th straight playoff game to tie an NBA record.

LOCAL

In stopping the Knicks from making one of their thrilling final pushes down the stretch, the Spurs became the first team to keep the Knicks from winning the first game of a series in these playoffs.

If the Spurs were rusty after sweeping Portland "in the Western Conference finals, it barely showed.

"We knew we'd come out a rusty," little

Duncan said. "It took about a quarter to get everything going, a half to really get back where we to were.

The teams return to the Alamodome for Game 2 Friday night, with the Knicks needing answers in a hurry to the calm, efficient style that made the Spurs such prohibitive favorites to win their first title.

"It's been a fun ride so far," said Robinson, eerily speaking as though the Spurs' final goal is not that far off. "We just know we're a 48minute, grind-it-out kind of team. We just know we're not going anywhere. We just keep grinding, keep working.

Allan Houston and Latrell Sprewell each scored 19 for New York, but Houston never got a chance to go on one of his late scoring binges.

Knicks coach Jeff Van Gundy pulled his latest trick

the fifth innings and he settled in. But he left too many pitches up in the strike zone and he gave up a lot of hits because of that. by announcing two hours before the game that Larry Johnson would start despite a knee injury suffered in the team's clinching Game 6 victory over Indiana. But Johnson got into quick foul trouble and was never a factor. He had five points and five fouls.

Marcus Camby had 10 points and five fouls, Kurt Thomas and Chris Childs each had four fouls, while Chris Dudley and Houston each committed three.

"We were there. We were right there, that's the one thing I'll say," Sprewell said. "You look at how many guys they had that played well and we're only 8-10 points out of it, if we can just take away a few of those threes and a few of those postups, this might have been different."

Easier said than done when Robinson and Duncan are doing their dirty work.

Robinson passed to Duncan from the high post with devastating results, blocked three shots and altered several others. Duncan scored on seven jumpers and six layups, shooting 13-for-21. He scored three baskets during an 11-4 run as the Spurs asserted their dominance in the third quarter, then scored three more after Jackson's 3-pointer buried the Knicks in the fourth.

"It wasn't easy at all," Duncan said. "I worked hard tonight. I really did.

A&E tracks one of rock music's most tragic stories

David Bauder The Associated Press

British writer, Nik Cohn, once described Brian Wilson's peak with the Beach Boys, the album "Pet Sounds," as "sad songs about loneliness and heartache. Sad songs, even, about happiness." Watching A&E Network's two-hour documentary on Wilson (premiering at 7 p.m. CDT Sunday) is like listening to some of those songs.

It's sad, often unbearably so. While illuminating, even entertaining with all of the music, the documentary is a melancholy account of a life filled with disharmony. Wilson's tale is one of rock 'n' roll's most familiar: the California boy with the overbearing father who sang of sun and fun with his brothers and cousin. He was intensely creative and musically innovative until he fell off a cliff of mental illness and substance abuse.

In the 30 years since, he has watched both his brothers die, been sued by his cousin and struggled to regain at least his sanity, if not his creative powers.

"Brian is high tragedy," said producer Morgan Neville. "That's why so many people are drawn to the story. I tried to temper it with the brilliance of the music. It's been the one thing in life that has given him solace."

The story's attractiveness was also a challenge for Neville, since it has been told before in documentaries and books. Neville plays it straight, avoiding the temptations to wallow in the melodrama or favor one faction's opinion over another's.

In a subtle distinction, he starts from the beginning, instead of working back from a picture of how Wilson changed.

"I wanted to tell the story in a way that almost suspends the knowledge," he said. "You can see the changes happen, but you don't have that sense of dread. You understand how he got there, you understand that Brian is not some crazy nut, but that there are deepseated reasons for what happened."

Before the fall, it feels like a race against time, a race to get such songs as "Good Vibrations" and "God Only Knows" from Wilson's head onto records before he succumbs to the years of playing a piano in a sandbox or staying in bed day after day. Neville said it was like a biblical parable, of an innocent man who has been given a beautiful gift to share with others but at the price of destroying him. "It's really hard to convey how wide-eyed he is," he said. "That leads you to do one of two things - you either want to take advantage of him or take care of him. And most of the people he's run into do one or the other."

Wilson's late father sold the publishing rights to his > son's songs for pittance, and Wilson failed in his effort to get them back. His cousin, Mike Love, sued Wilson seeking compensation for songs which he claimed he helped write. Love didn't the A&E biography, but Wilson did. He invited Neville into his home and spoke candidly of his life. His daughters, singing stars Wendy and Carnie; describe in heartbreaking detail their efforts to become a part of their dad's life.

Wilson still works, but the two solo albums he has made during the last dozen years are bland and forgettable. In the meantime, his critical reputation for the 1960s work has blossomed. A new generation of artists cite his work as an influence, and the British music magazine Mojo last year declared "Pet Sounds" the best rock album of all time, a distinction that in many polls had gone to the Beatles' "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band." He seems happy, remar-ried and living in Illinois, and is even giving some of his first solo concerts. And yet .... "I had a hard time with the ending," Neville said.

"There's no happy ending. There's no tragic ending. It's somewhere in between. And that's the hardest thing to grapple with."

So he recounts some poignant conversations.

Dyke Parks tells how Wilson recently said to him, "my work is done, I think. I did my work. When I was young, I worked very hard.'

Wilson's wife, Melinda, says she lies in bed some nights as her husband is downstairs playing the piano, singing a breathtaking melody. She'll bound down the steps and ask why he doesn't record the material. He'll shrug.

"We have to stop asking

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

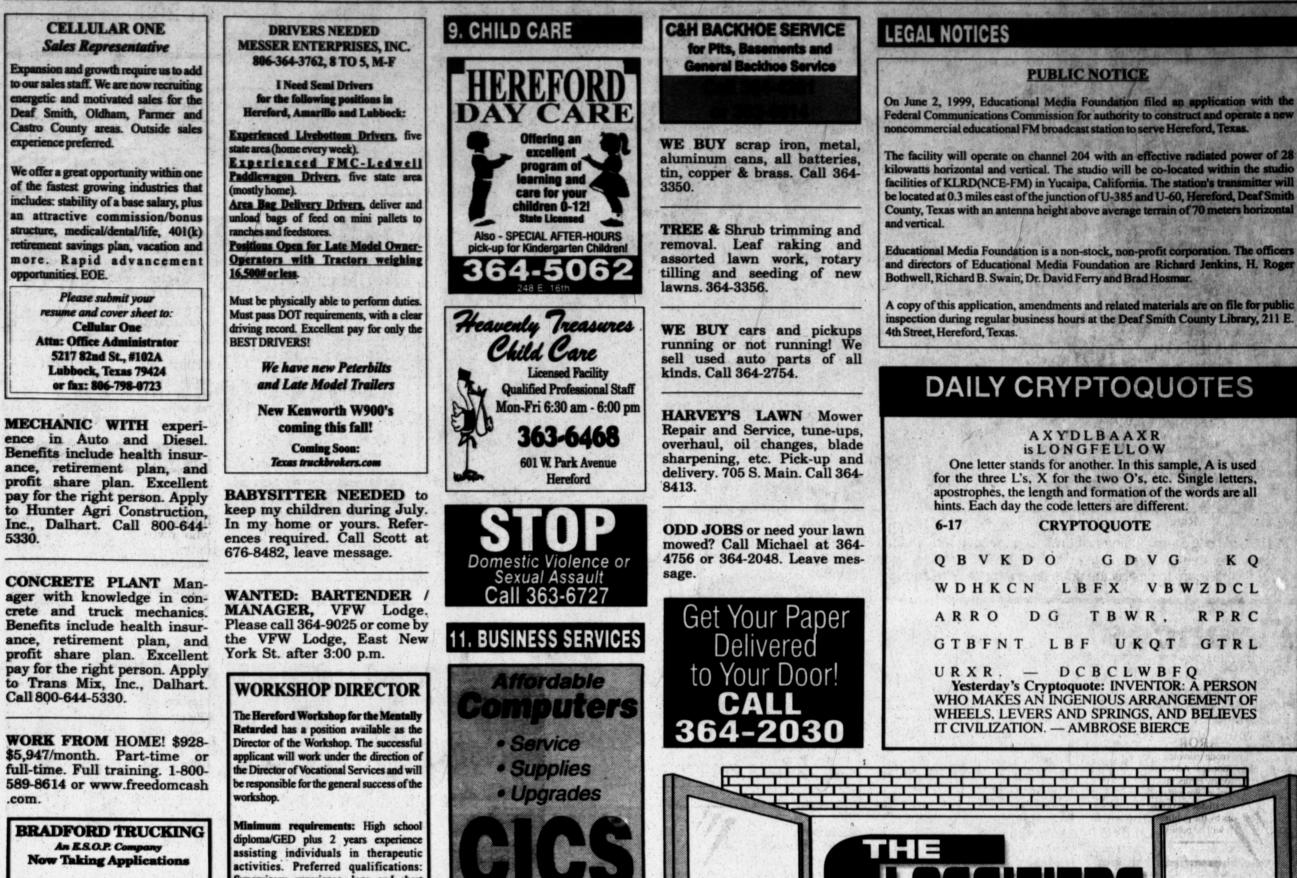

· Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.

· Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

· Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

. Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

Report: Most poor kids' parents work

WASHINGTON (AP) -Nearly two in three young poor children have working parents, the highest rate in more than two decades, a report concludes.

Researchers said the trend can be traced to welfare reform, which has helped move families into the work force. "Welfare reform has done better at moving families off the rolls than it has at moving families out of poverty," said Lawrence Aber, director of the National Center for Children in Poverty at Columbia University.

Overall, the report found that the percentage of children under 6 who were poor fell to 22 percent in 1997, down from 23.2 percent in 1996.

From Page A1

House Majority Leader Dick Armey, R-Irving, who listed no major assets. At the other end were multimillionaires Max Sandlin of Marshall and Lloyd Doggett of Austin, both Democrats, and Houston Republican Bill Archer.

Other Texans on Capitol Hill no doubt are in the millionaires' club, but because assets are reported only in broad ranges it is difficult to pinpoint their net worth. Lawmakers also aren't required to disclose their personal residences, cars, furnishings, artwork and spouses' income, making the financial snapshots incomplete at best.

One Texan who soared briefly into the financial mittee, listed his assets to the dollar: $3,142,334.

He wasn't alone in goin beyond reporting require ments.

For sheer detail, probably no member of Congress could top Rep. Jim Turner. The Crockett Democrat filed an 801-page disclosure form, the lion's share of it devoted to explaining the myriad stock trades that his wife, Ginny, made last year.

Other active stock market players included Doggett and Rep. Henry Bonilla, R-San Antonio.

Twenty of the state's 30 House members accepted travel funded by outside in- of taking the $136,700 paid to terests last year, 11 of them rank-and-file members, Brady to overseas destinations.

Taiwan proved a draw for

Reps. Pete Sessions, R-Dallas;

Silvestre Reyes, D-El Paso;

and Solomon Ortiz, D-Corpus

Christi. The Nuclear Energy

Institute sent Rep. Joe Barton, the Ennis Republican who chairs the Energy and Power subcommittee, to France, along with Democratic Reps. Nick

Lampson of Beaumont and

Ortiz and Reyes also headed

to China, as did Green.

Archer visited Africa and Turkey, while Doggett took in the sights in Austria, Hungary, Romania and Switzerland. Rep. Ron Paul, R-Surfside, visited Aruba. Rep. Ciro Rodriguez, D-San Antonio, went to Guatemala, and Rep. Charlie Stenholm, D-Stamford, headed to Spain. Other tidbits of interest:

Rep. Sam Johnson, R-Plano, earned $50, donated to charity, for taking part in a chili cook-off.

· Rep. Kevin Brady, R-The Woodlands, chose not to accept the pay raise that members voted themselves. Instead

· Only two Texans reported accepting gifts (which must be reported if over $250 in value): Stenholm received a

$944 crystal award from the Texas Hospital Association;

and Bonilla a $500 framed

Stratford Feed Yard and several other area lots.

"The inspector just happened to arrive on the one day this happened," Merrick said.

He also disputed the description of "black water," saying waste is certainly never clear, but he had never seen it nearly black.

Manning reported the Hereford plant "as clean as can be," according to reports.

The company was originally fined $10,450, with $2,000 deferred in lieu of expected compliance.

TNRCC rules require industries to contain all waste water in clay-lined lagoons

Last year's drought may have caused the caliche pit walls to crack causing leakage of the lagoon.

Rules also ban the dumping of hooves, hair and paunch contents in unauthorized areas.
