WASHINGTON (AP) — Three weeks after the Colorado high school shootings, Republicans and Democrats skirmished over gun control and youth violence Wednesday in the prelude to an expected Senate showdown later in the week.

"We must do more to keep guns out of the hands of children," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said as gun-control advocates readied a series of proposals ranging from an increase in the age for handgun possession from 18 to 21 and a measure to restrict sales at gun shows. "Without guns, families in Littleton, Colo., would not be grieving, and 15 people would be alive today," Kennedy added.

"Passing a law sounds good, but to really maximize our impact ... we've got to prosecute the laws we've got," countered Sen. Jeff Sessions, R-Ala., as Republicans unveiled statistics showing a sharp decline in prosecutions for gun-related crimes since 1995.

In addition, Republicans focused

Students heading for Houston

By Dianna F. Dandridge

Hereford Brand Staff Writer

Students from Shirley Intermediate School's Serendipity program headed out this morning for the wild blue yonder on the first leg of their continuing education, fun-time, end-of-school trip to Houston.

Serendipity students have been planning for the trip all year beginning with a persuasive paper explaining why they should visit the NASA Space Center in Houston.

Serendipity is an enrichment program for students scoring more than 85 percent on TAAS tests and who are recommended by teachers for the special curriculum.

It offers students an opportunity to get more from educational activities and challenges them to achieve excellence in all they do.

This morning, as most students were getting ready for just another day in the classroom, 102 Shirley fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade students and 42 adult sponsors boarded school buses and headed for the Lubbock and Amarillo airports.

The students will spend the next five days touring NASA, Galveston, Astroworld, the Museum of Natural Science and other Houston area attractions.

Money for the trip came from numerous fund raisers, including a matching fund bake sale at the Wal-Mart in Canyon.

Serendipity teacher Twyla Jones said the students wrote letters to various organizations to help get funding. Wal-Mart officials suggested the students hold a bake sale and their company would match the amount raised.

This fund raiser alone produced $1,400 from the baked goods and another $1,400 from Wal-Mart's match.

The Serendipity students focused their studies this year on space-oriented fields and during their trip to Houston will pursue space and flight studies.

This is the third year Serendipity students have taken a trip. In previous years, the students have visited San Antonio and Carlsbad, N.M.

"These trips are fun, but also for learning," Jones said. "The students will work on a physics problem, provided by Astroworld. They will be learning as they are having fun."

Former first lady calls on more GOP women to run

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former first lady Barbara Bush says Republican women need to get out there and take the helm in statehouses, congressional delegations and governorships across the country.

"Although please don't set your sights on Texas and Florida," Mrs. Bush quipped Tuesday night at a dinner for the Republican Women Leaders Forum. "They are doing just fine."

The wife of former President George Bush helped rouse the crowd of nearly 1,100 Republican women and asked them to carry the party's torch in the years ahead.

"It is plain to see this movement is off and running, but a lot more work lies ahead," she said, giving her address in the Ronald Reagan International Trade Center. She praised the group for their efforts to reach out to more women, insisting that the GOP should be the party of inclusion. "It makes a lot of sense to me to make our party the party of inclusion. There's room under the Republican umbrella for differences," Mrs. Bush said to the audience of women, at least a few of whom sported red buttons reading "Elizabeth Dole for President in 2000."

Mrs. Bush only touched on election politics to say she hoped candidates in the upcoming race would refrain from personal attacks.

But the former first lady did manage to get in a few good zingers aimed at one Republican — her husband. The Bushes were in town not too long ago when the sprawling campus of the CIA was renamed as the George Bush Center for Intelligence.

Mrs. Bush called the dedication a little bewildering, as she wondered why an agency devoted to intelligence would name itself "after a 74-

Wavering senators dampen bill's chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a proposed constitutional amendment to ban flag burning said Tuesday the decision of two wavering Democratic senators to oppose it has dampened its prospects.

North Dakota Democrats Byron Dorgan and Kent Conrad raised proponents' hopes this year by retreating from their opposition to the amendment and declaring themselves undecided. The amendment supporters began to consider them two of three additional Senate votes needed to cross the required two-thirds threshold.

Republican Senate leaders aim for a floor vote before Memorial Day. Dorgan and Conrad announced they would vote against amending the

"I just can't imagine that there is a compelling interest now in scaling back even a little on this very grand idea (the Constitution's Bill of Rights). Based upon their announcement, we believe that the amendment will likely fail in the Senate, though by a very narrow margin."

Paul Tash, chairman, Freedom of Information Committee, ASNE

Constitution and offer a long-shot alternative that would ban flag desecration in a statute instead.

"A number of constitutional scholars have convinced me a statute can still be upheld by the Supreme Court," said

Dorgan. The court has twice declared flag-burning laws unconstitutional abridgments of free speech.

The senators' decision "hurts the situation," Judiciary Committee Chairman Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, said. "It makes passage less likely." But Hatch said the amendment still would be brought to the floor.

Daniel S. Wheeler, president of the Citizens Flag Alliance, said the Dorgan-Conrad pull-out did not help the proposal's chances but held out the possibility of picking up votes from Democrats still undecided.

Activists on both sides of the perennial debate said Dorgan and Conrad's announcement skirted what they had believed would be the amendment's best chance of congressional approval in years. Once an amendment obtains two-thirds majorities in both houses of Congress, three-fourths of the states — 38 — must ratify it before the measure becomes a part of the Constitution.

Supporters said they won't give up on a measure they contend would provide needed protection of a symbol of American values. Opponents, who cheered the announcement by the North Dakota senators, insist the amendment would infringe on rights the flag symbolizes such as free speech.

"I just can't imagine that there is a compelling interest now in scaling back even a little on this very grand idea," the Constitution's Bill of Rights, said Paul Tash, executive editor of the St. Petersburg Times and chairman of the freedom of information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. "Based upon their announcement, we believe that the amendment will likely fail in the Senate, though by a very narrow margin."

At issue is a 17-word amendment that would allow Congress to ban flag desecration. It has repeatedly attained a two-thirds majority in the House but failed in the Senate the last time by three votes in 1995.

Proponents gained a vote in last year's elections when former Ohio Gov. George Voinovich, a Republican amendment supporter, was elected to the seat held by retiring Sen. John Glenn, a Democratic opponent. They had hoped that Dorgan and Conrad would make up the difference.

News in brief

Bush caught up in presidential campaign

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. George W. Bush's major proposals for $2.6 billion in tax cuts and teacher pay raises are in trouble because the Republican is too busy running for president to take care of his legislative business at home, according to lawmakers.

Bush's "absent" leadership this session was among complaints leveled by about 30 Democratic legislators at a news conference Tuesday in Austin.

"I don't know if I'd say he's been missing in action, but it's been pretty close to that," Rep. Kevin Bailey, D-Houston, said. "He's a lot less involved than in the past."

"Where's Waldo?" another legislator exclaimed, referring to a series of children's books in which the reader must search for Waldo in a sea of faces.

The governor has had about half the personal involvement in this legislative session that he had during the 1997 Legislature, according to a Houston Chronicle review of Bush's office calendars.

If bills on major issues on which Bush campaigned fail, that will give opponents of his presidential campaign cause to attack him as an ineffective leader.

The issues that face tough challenges include tax cuts, a requirement for girls to notify their parents before they can get an abortion and vouchers that would allow parents to use public money to send their children to private school.

Top academic students join national honor society

Scholarship, leadership, service and character on the part of top academic students at Hereford High School were saluted at the banquet and initiation ceremonies of the HHS Prime Choice Chapter of the National Honor Society Monday night at the HHS Administration Building.

A total of 91 students were honored by school administrators, teachers and parents during the course of the ceremonies that included awarding of membership certificates by Sharon Hodges, George Ochs and Charles Lyles, and bestowing of single carnations by NHS members Tan Nguyen and Lynita Dotson. The carnations were in turn presented to parents of the NHS student members.

Brady Boyd, pastor of Trinity Fellowship Church of Hereford and guest speaker for the evening reminded NHS members that they will "earn leadership only by exhibiting character that is above reproach."

Boyd said prosperous times may be the most severe test of character, and referred to the recent tragedy in Littleton, Colorado.

"NHS represents character—something sorely missing in society today. Character becomes an issue because, unfortunately, many parents have lost the passion to put it into the lives of their kids. Character is the ability to do the right thing when nobody's looking, at the time when it's easiest to do the wrong thing. You must strive to live the ideals of character championed by your organization," Boyd exhorted the students at the gathering.

HHS students become eligible for NHS membership in their sophomore year, subject to grade point standards of a 93 average for incoming members.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I have been dating my boyfriend for over four years.

Ann Landers "Charlie" is 39, and I am 40. He is a great guy, and I always assumed we would get married some day.

Charlie takes care of his 76-year-old mother, who has a variety of medical problems, most of them related to being grossly overweight. His mother is a sweet woman but virtually helpless. Her husband died 10 years ago, and Charlie could never bring himself to move out of the house.

Our dating revolves around caring for his mother, which I understand, but sometimes, it really gets to me. When we are out together, he is constantly calling her from his cell phone to check in, remind her to take her medicine, or ask if she is watching anything good on TV. I know he is concerned about her, but these calls often take place out of the blue, in the middle of our conversations, and many times, he calls her after we've been gone less than an hour. This seems excessive to me.

Charlie is a kind man and treats me well, but our relationship doesn't seem to be going anywhere, and I'm beginning to wonder if I'm wasting my time. I know he will never leave his mother, and frankly, I don't think I could live with her. Should I settle for whatever happiness I can have with this man, or is it time to start looking for a relationship where I could be No. 1? — Second Banana in Oklahoma

Dear Banana: From where I sit, it looks as if those apron strings are mighty tight. A 39-year-old man who is still living in his mother's house does not sound like a lively candidate for marriage, at least not in the foreseeable future. Be honest with

Charlie, and let him know you plan to date others. Then, let your friends know you're "available." This takes courage, but it's the wise thing to do. Trust me.

Dear Ann Landers: I was minding my own business watching TV with my uncle and a 15-year-old cousin when the phone rang. The call was for me. I didn't want to disturb their TV watching, so I took the call in the kitchen. When I came back, my cousin was sitting in my chair.

I asked for my place back, and his response was "Move your meat, lose your seat." I was upset with his attitude and proceeded to remove the intruder from the chair. After I took my seat back, he came after me like a raging bull. I grabbed his arm and twisted it behind his back. He left the room, sulking, and did not return.

My uncle came over to me during the commercial break and said, "I give only ONE warning, so consider this yours. It is much easier to pick on someone smaller than you are, and if I ever see you do this to my son again, I will stomp a mud hole in your back."

Was I wrong to defend myself? Was I wrong to want my chair back? Please tell me so I will know what to do next time. — Needing an Answer in Amarillo, Texas

Dear Amarillo: Granted, you should have been given your seat back when you returned from taking the phone call. However, it appears you were not "defending yourself" but trying to get back what you considered your turf. You should not have gotten physical with your cousin, who apparently is a lot smaller than you are. I'm siding with your uncle.

Bay View installs officers

Bay View Study Club held its installation of officers and final meeting of the club year in the home of Shirley Wilson.

Hosts for the luncheon were social committee members Roberta Caviness, Nancy Hays, Jeannie Caison, Virginia Garner and Elizabeth Holt.

Lou Davis installed officers for 1999-2000 using the computer language of a bookmark. Davis said, "It is fitting that our officers for the coming millennium year are up on technical advances and are computer literate."

"In computer language a bookmark is a place you can mark your favorite or most used sites. Then you are able to access them quickly and easily."

"So, I want to present each of you with a special bookmark that is real instead of virtual."

Bookmarks from Psalms and Proverbs were presented to installed officers Margaret Bell, president; Judy Mitts, vice president; Sue Sims, recording secretary; Betty Rudder, corresponding secretary; and Helen Rose, treasurer.

In a business meeting prior to the installation, members voted to buy four student tickets for Hereford Community Concert Association for next year.

Houston doubles its way over Pirates, 19-8

By The Associated Press
Apparently it takes a lot to impress Carl Everett. A team-record 10 doubles, 19 runs that tied the franchise mark and 18 hits weren't much of a surprise to the outfielder in the Houston Astros' 19-8 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates on Tuesday night.

If we put our hits together, with the great hitters we've got on this team, nights like this will happen," said Everett, who tied a career high with five RBIs. "We have a great club and everybody on this team can hit, that's what scares defenses." Joining Everett in the offensive outburst were Ken Caminiti and Jeff Bagwell, who each drove in four runs. Caminiti extended his hitting streak to 12 games with an RBI single in the first, then added a two-run double in the third and a sacrifice fly in the fifth. Bagwell hit two-run doubles in the third and fifth and walked three times. "Everything we hit found a hole," Astros manager Larry Dierker said. "The balls we hit hard dropped in, the balls we hit soft dropped in and we caught a few breaks on top of that. Even so, that's the kind of game you're glad to get over with."

Everett had an RBI groundout in the third, snapped an 0-for-13 slide with a two-run double in the fourth, and added RBI singles in the fifth and eighth. His last hit was off Keith Osik, a catcher who handled mop-up duty for the Pittsburgh bullpen.

"I treated it like BP," Everett said. "A guy used to throwing from a flat surface isn't normally going to throw as hard as a guy used to throwing off a mound." Osik became the first Pittsburgh position player to pitch since outfielder John Cangelosi in a 14-6 loss to Los Angeles on May 3, 1998. Osik allowed four runs, two hits and two walks in one inning and hit a batter. He has a 36.00 ERA.

"I was just trying to help the bullpen," Osik said. "Those guys have been pitching their butts off and someone needed to suck up an inning for them."

In other NL games Tuesday, it was Cincinnati 9, Milwaukee 1; Philadelphia 9, St. Louis 4; Colorado 8, New York 5; Arizona 4, Montreal 3; Florida 5, San Diego 4; Atlanta 9, San Francisco 8; and Chicago 10, Los Angeles 5.

Houston's Paul Bako and Richard Hidalgo doubled twice, and Tim Bogar and Craig Biggio each doubled once. The Astros' previous doubles record was eight, accomplished last against Chicago on July 30, 1977.

"It's nice to be part of a record, but I'm hearing more about striking out against Osik that I have about anything else I did tonight," Bako said.

Pittsburgh, which had 14 hits, made five errors — one short of the team record — that led to three unearned runs. It was the most runs allowed by the Pirates since a 19-3 loss at Cincinnati on Aug. 25, 1995.

Shirley Sharks win track title

In marathon elementary track and field meet

Hereford elementary schools converged on the grounds of Whiteface Stadium this past weekend, pitting their track and field skills against one another for inner-city bragging rights during the annual Hereford Elementary Track Meet.

And at the conclusion of the one-day extravaganza, many ribbons had been awarded to legions of brightly clad athletes, many organizers were worn out and the Shirley Sharks had come away with the highest overall boys' and girls' cumulative team total among fourth, fifth and sixth grade divisions to win the meet crown.

Shirley Intermediate accumulated 742 combined boys' and girls' points for first place. West Central followed with 532, while Bluebonnet earned 458 and St. Anthony's netted 151 in the battle-of-the-schools.

Pacers upstage Milwaukee, 108-107

By The Associated Press

Glenn Robinson knows how close it was. "We were one play away, one basket, one rebound, one tip, and things could have been different," Robinson said. Instead, it was the Indiana Pacers who finally wound up on the right side of a one-point game, edging the Milwaukee Bucks 108-107 in overtime Tuesday night to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-5 series. The Pacers lost six one-point games during the regular season.

And in a game that featured long-range shooting, it came down to a tip-in by Dale Davis of Mark Jackson's missed shot with a half-second left in the extra session. "I saw Mark driving for the basket and just moved into position, tried to block out and be in position for a possible miss," Davis said. "It was the biggest rebound and basket of my career." The teams move to Milwaukee for Game 3 Thursday night.

In other first-round games Tuesday, the Los Angeles Lakers took a 2-0 lead with a 110-98 victory over Houston, Minnesota surprised San Antonio 80-71 to level their series 1-1, and Orlando downed Philadelphia 79-68 to even their series.

Tonight, Atlanta will be at Detroit, Miami at New York, Portland at Phoenix and Utah at Sacramento. Atlanta and Portland lead 2-0, and the other two series are 1-1.

It appeared the Pacers might drop another one-point game at Market Square

Arena. Robinson's jumper with 49.7 seconds to go in overtime gave Milwaukee a 107-106 lead. The Bucks got the ball back, but Haywoode Workman was stripped of the ball with 20 seconds remaining.

With Workman defending, Jackson worked his way to the right side of the basket before missing a short hook. Davis jumped over Ervin Johnson and tipped it in, giving the Pacers the victory. "It was just good to come up with a win. I look at Woody as just another guy in a Bucks jersey," Jackson said. "That was good, hard defense, trapping him. We didn't want to foul him. We were just trying to rattle him and make something happen. We were like two cops chasing a kid with a radio." Reggie Miller led the Pacers with 30 points, while reserves Sam Perkins and Jalen Rose had 14 apiece for the Pacers. "We put ourselves in a position to win the game," said Allen, who led Milwaukee with 25 points. Robinson had 23 points and 12 rebounds. Lakers 110, Rockets 98 Shaquille O'Neal scored 28 points and Los Angeles never trailed in taking a 2-0 lead. Game 3 is Thursday night in Houston, which lost the first two games at the Forum. Sam Mack led the Rockets with 20 points, and Charles Barkley added 19 points and 13 rebounds. The Lakers limited the Rockets to just 12 points in the first period, fewest by a Los Angeles opponent in a quarter this season. Timberwolves 80, Spurs 71 In San Antonio, Kevin Garnett scored 10 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter as Minnesota upset the Spurs to level their Western Conference playoff series 1-1. With the victory, the eighth-seeded Timberwolves grabbed the homecourt advantage from the No. 1-seeded Spurs in the best-of-5 series. Game 3 is Thursday in Minnesota. Tim Duncan finished with 18 points and 16 rebounds for San Antonio. Magic 79, 76ers 68

Penny Hardaway scored 22 points and Orlando held NBA scoring champion Allen Iverson to 13 points as the Magic evened the best-of-5 matchup at one game apiece. Games 3 and 4 will be played in Philadelphia on Thursday and Saturday. Hardaway scored 10 points during a stretch in which the Magic built a 21-point lead early in the third quarter. The 76ers closed to 59-52 with just under 10 minutes remaining, but couldn't get any closer. Orlando led 36-27 at the half, an NBA playoff record for the lowest combined score, breaking the mark of 66 set by Chicago and Charlotte in 1998.

Rangers rally to beat White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — The Texas Rangers came into the ninth inning needing a couple of runs, and manager Johnny Oates didn't care who got them. Leave it to the guy who's feasted on Chicago White Sox pitching to take care of business. Rusty Greer hit a tiebreaking grand slam and Ivan Rodriguez added a two-run double Tuesday night as the Rangers rallied for eight runs in the ninth to beat the White Sox 11-5. It was the sixth career grand slam for Greer, who had been 0-for-13 at the plate, and his second against Chicago. His 11 homers off White Sox pitchers are more than he has against any other team. "I'll take whoever is up there," Oates said. "But he put a charge into that one." The Rangers got a little help from Chicago closer Bob Howry, who blew just his second save in 10 chances. Howry (0-1) walked in the tying run with two outs and gave up five runs and three hits in two-thirds of an inning. Lee Stevens drove in the other Rangers run in the ninth with a sacrifice fly. "I just put some bad pitches in some bad locations," Howry said. And he didn't even give up the grand slam to Greer. That came courtesy of Bryan Ward, who worked Greer to a full count before putting a fastball down the middle of the plate. "He got the best of it," Ward said. "It's going to happen. You're going to lose a game here and there. It's just a matter of how you bounce back." After eight innings, the Rangers were the ones who needed to bounce back. The White Sox tagged Esteban Loaiza for five runs and nine hits in five innings, raising his ERA to 7.52. Loaiza, making his first start of the season after 10 relief appearances, was filling in for Aaron Sele, scratched before the game with the flu. Texas managed just three runs before the ninth, and one of those runs cost them Juan Gonzalez, who left in the fourth with a strained right hamstring from running around the bases after his solo homer. He's listed as day to day. But with the rain falling, the Rangers warmed up. Rafael Palmeiro and Rodriguez started off with singles, and Howry loaded the bases with a walk to Todd Zeile. That brought up Stevens, who already had a solo homer in the third. After his sacrifice fly pulled Texas to 5-4, pinch-hitter Mark McLemore's single loaded the bases again. Tom Goodwin flied out, and Howry was just three good pitches from ending the game.

Instead, he walked Luis Alica to force in the tying run. "I really can't explain that. I don't think I've missed on four straight pitches that bad all year," Howry said. "To give up runs on walks, you just can't do it." Greer then connected off Ward for the 9-5 lead. It was the 14th time since 1995 that Greer has driven in the game-winning run in the Rangers' last at-bat. "The past couple of games, I haven't swung the bat really well. I was just looking to put the ball in play," said Greer, who was 0-for-2 with two walks in the first eight innings. "We put some guys on base and had some good at-bats tonight." Rodriguez doubled off of Durham's mitt to drive in two more runs. The White Sox finally got out of the inning when Stevens struck out.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

USDA reports winter wheat crop down, but soybeans hit new high

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. winter wheat production is down 14 percent and the soybean crop is expected to rise to a record high as the lagging farm economy sends many farmers to alternative crops.

The monthly crop report issued by the Agriculture Department today also offered proof that the farm woes have taken a toll on cotton. Final 1998 production numbers show a 26 percent drop from the previous year. The 13.9 million bales produced last season, as many states endured drought and high temperatures, was the smallest crop since 1989.

Production of winter wheat is forecast at 1.61 billion bushels. The area for the 1999 grain harvest is forecast at 36.3 million acres, a 9 percent decrease from 1998. If realized, this would be the smallest winter wheat area since 1971.

By contrast, oilseed production is projected to increase nearly 6 percent to a record 89.7 million tons. Most of the increase is in soybeans, which are expected to rise to a record 78.4 million tons.

Soybean prices are expected to drop this season to $4.75 a bushel, compared to $5.05 last year and $6.47 in 1997. Still, soybean prices have fared better than wheat, which is projected to get around $2.60 to $3.10 a bushel.

The low prices are a continuation of a farm crisis that last year led Congress to pass a $6 billion aid deal for farmers. With the price problem expected to continue much of this year, some lawmakers are already discussing another bailout package for farmers.

Farm-state Democrats have aid attached to a supplemental package now moving through Congress.

their attention on the violence that sometimes underpins modern-day culture. Lawmakers attending their weekly closed-door caucus were shown a sequence from "Basketball Diaries," a movie in which a high school student mows down some of his classmates with a gun while some of his closest friends laugh.

Republican and Democratic aides said the fate of the gun control proposals was unclear, with the shock of the Colorado shootings adding an element of uncertainty to what is customarily a hotly controversial issue.

Still, they said, Senate passage of the provision to place gun shows under the law requiring an instant background check on anyone purchasing a gun at a licensed dealer was possible by the end of the week.

In addition, Republicans and Democrats both embraced a proposal to ban firearms possession by any person who has been convicted of a felony as a juvenile.

Beyond that, Republican sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said GOP leaders were confident they had enough votes to block efforts to reinstate a three-day waiting period for handgun purchases or to limit gun sales to one per month, as some Democrats want. Less clear was the outcome of any vote on the proposed increase in the age for handgun possession from 18 to 21.

No gun votes were expected before Wednesday as the Senate worked its way through GOP-drafted legislation relating to juvenile crime prevention and enforcement.

The Senate's looming debate on gun control marked the latest response to the shootings on April 20 in a high school in Littleton, where two students killed 12 fellow students and a teacher before turning their guns on themselves.

Within days, President Clinton had called for fresh gun control restrictions and longtime advocates of such measures said their cause had fresh momentum.

On Monday, Clinton hosted a summit that brought together gun manufacturers and the entertainment industry to discuss youth violence.

America Online and the video game industry agreed at the meeting to plug a loophole that allows children to buy violent video games over the Internet that they are too young to buy in stores.

In addition, the American Shooting Sports Council, representing 350 firearms manufacturers and distributors, endorsed a five-point administration plan for gun control, including background checks for firearms bought at gun shows and increasing the minimum age for buying a gun to 21.

But the White House excluded the National Rifle Association from the session, and the organization purchased newspaper ads accusing the administration of failing to enforce existing laws.
