Citywide garage set tomorrow

Organizers anticipate 100-150 locations to take part in the annual event

Organizers of Saturday's citywide garage sale are expecting 100-150 locations in the annual event.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce executive vice president Sid Shaw said earlier this week the garage sale participants did about $40,000 in business last year.

In an attempt to draw more business at the garage sale, bargain-hunters can register at the chamber to win $250 Hereford Bucks.

"Our purpose is to have everyone in Hereford participate in a one-day event that will bring people from out of town to spend their money," Shaw said.

To publicize Saturday's event, representatives have traveled to Nazareth, Bovina, Canyon, Amarillo, Dimmit and many other towns to place ads in the local newspapers and to tack up posters.

"We've also used The Brand and service spots on the radio," said Shaw.

Also, some of the people who will be holding garage sales are urging buyers to bring small bills and change to the sales because they said it will be hard to make change, especially early in the day.

In another development, the chamber announced that residents who have items left over from their sales may give them to charities.

Children getting ready for classroom by learning importance of hygiene

By Dianna F. Dandridge

Hereford Brand Staff Writer

As summer vacation wanes, parents and students, willingly or otherwise, prepare to return to the classroom.

Often at great expense, they purchase clothes and supplies, but there is one thing students can take back — for free — that will help them get through the school year: the habit of frequent and thorough hand washing.

Professionals, ranging from agriculture to day care to health care facilities, encourage frequent hand washing to discourage disease and germs spread by simple hand-to-mouth contact.

Health care workers say children should wash their hands, thoroughly, at least four times a day, as well as after each trip to the bathroom and especially before eating.

Mary Ann Torres, director of the Hereford Day Care Center, said proper handwashing is important enough to their facility that they have a nurse come in to teach the students how to wash their hands.

"They're told to wet their hands, apply the soap, and rub their hands together while they sing the 'ABC' song," said Torres.

Torres said the children are told to get in between their fingers, rinse, then dry their hands with a flat towel, not one that's all wadded up.

Employees at Hereford Day Care

Students at day care center are being taught the importance of washing their hands

Center set an example for their young charges by washing their hands, furniture and equipment frequently.

Beverly Harder, county extension agent/family and consumer science, realizes the importance of children thoroughly washing their hands and teaches a hand washing program at numerous functions.

During the recent Progressive Farmer Ag Safety Day, Harder demonstrated the proper technique and informed the students of the diseases carried on dirty hands.

"This is one of the best preventives people have against disease," said

Harder, during the ag-day presentations.

Harder and other officials have said the anti-bacterial soaps are excellent, but the most important thing is just washing with soap, any soap.

Texas Department of Health officials report numerous diseases transmitted from hands, to food, to an individual — most of which can be prevented by washing their hands.

Most of the diseases, which are carried on dirty hands, cause flu-like symptoms such as vomiting, diarrhea, fevers, and stomach cramps.

The most common diseases — salmonellosis and bacillary dysentery —

Democrats vow to continue battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats who lost a Senate battle this week over giving patients new rights against health maintenance organizations uttered a few choice words to victorious Republicans: "We'll be back."

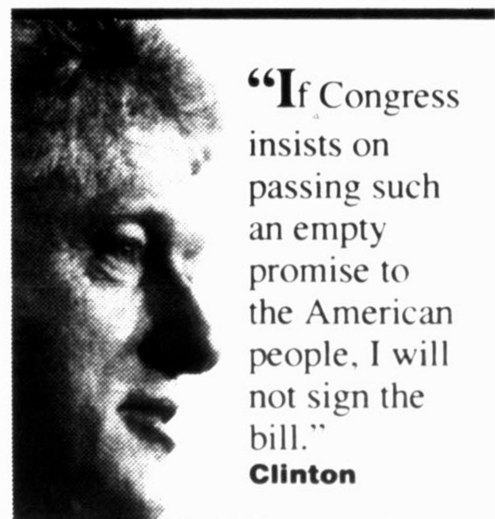

With an eye on next year's elections and polls showing the public's desire for such rights, Democrats pledged to keep hammering away at the popular issue.

"We will continue this battle and we will be successful," Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., said before the Senate voted 53-47 passage Thursday of a GOP plan that would give some HMO patients a broad array of new rights. But the GOP plan did not go as far as Democrats and President Clinton had wanted.

"We may have a setback tonight but ... we'll be back to fight and fight again," Kennedy said.

Republicans defended the bill as containing a lot of good.

"Tonight is a win-win," said Sen. Bill Frist, R-Tenn., a doctor and leader of the GOP effort. "We've made health coverage really better, significantly better."

"If Congress insists on passing such an empty promise to the American people, I will not sign the bill."
Clinton

Clinton said the bill was weak and unenforceable and criticized its exclusion of more than 110 million Americans with private health insurance.

"If Congress insists on passing such an empty promise to the American people, I will not sign the bill," he said in a written statement after the vote.

The House first must pass its version of the legislation. So far, the House bill has been tied up in committee because of conflicts among Republicans on its scope.

The Senate bill offered a number of new rights to 48 million Americans — those covered by federally regulated plans. Among the provisions were easier access to specialists, emergency rooms and obstetricians-gynecologists. In most cases, the rejected Democratic proposals were broader and would have covered more people.

The GOP bill also would require coverage for overnight hospital stays when recommended by a doctor for women undergoing breast cancer treatment, would give consumers more information about their plans and would permit appeals of denials of coverage for specific treatment.

The legislation also would amend the tax code to make it easier for people to buy health insurance and coverage for long-term care, although the bill did not specify how the new benefits would be paid for.

During weeklong debate on the bill, Republicans triumphed on every vote, winning adoption of their more modest proposals over the broad protections favored by Democrats.

The Democratic plan, they argued, would lead to higher insurance costs and force millions more Americans to go without coverage. Democrats said the GOP effort was a sham that wouldn't help millions of people frustrated by the penny-pinching practices of HMOs.

GOP Sens. Peter Fitzgerald of Illinois and John Chafee of Rhode Island — two of a handful of Republicans who strayed several times this week toward Democratic proposals — joined all 45 Democrats in voting against the final product.

On the final day of debate Thursday, Republicans continued to defeat Democratic provisions, including one of the most contentious that would have allowed patients claiming they were harmed by a medical decision to take the HMO to court.

Health plans covered by federal regulations cannot now be sued.

Democrats said it would force insurers to put the health of a patient ahead of the company bottom line. Republicans claimed it was a gift to trial lawyers.

Congress eyes hike for next president

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress are well on their way to a $4,600 pay raise in January, while the next president may find himself or herself earning twice what President Clinton does.

With virtually no debate and using an arcane procedure, the House quietly voted 276-147 Thursday to give representatives and senators a 3.4 percent pay boost to $141,300. Now that neither the House nor Senate have voted to block the otherwise automatic annual increase, it seems virtually certain to take effect in January.

With far more openness, the House then voted to double the next president's salary to $400,000 in 2001. The key vote was a 334-82 roll call killing a conservative amendment to a Treasury Department spending bill that would have blocked the presidential pay boost.

It would be the chief executive's first pay raise since the old $100,000 salary was doubled in 1969. But the Senate's Treasury bill, approved July 1, leaves the current $200,000 salary intact, leaving questions about what the final House-Senate Treasury bill will do.

The House approved the $28 billion Treasury bill by the slimmest of margins, 210-209.

News in brief

Monks sell replica caskets

ST. MEINRAD, Ind. (AP) — Ornate they aren't. But you too can be laid to rest in a replica of the plain, wooden coffins used for more than a century to bury Benedictine monks at St. Meinrad Archabbey.

Abbey Caskets, a new marketing division of the Roman Catholic monastery and theology school in southern Indiana, began selling caskets last month.

They are made from poplar and available in either a natural finish or a cherry stain. The cost is $1,750 plus shipping, with or without the optional cross inlay.

"We're not out to compete with the industry. That's not what this is about," said the Rev. Julian Peters, the division's associate director. "We have a very specific group of people to whom we think this is going to appeal."

The average casket sold in America costs $2,176 and is outfitted with velvet interior inside an 18-gauge steel chamber, according to the National Funeral Directors Association.

"There are people who will be attracted by the price," Peters said of the monastery's caskets. "But we hope they will be buying it because of the quality, the authenticity, the craftsmanship and the value."

The monks placed an initial order of 15 caskets, four of which had been sold as of this week, said archabbey spokeswoman Barbara Crawford.

Peters said he isn't aware of another monk-run casket business in the United States.

He said the monks began studying the idea of casket sales in February 1997 after years of inquiries from interested students, alumni, family members and area residents.

The caskets being sold to the public aren't identical to the monks' coffins. They retain the same classic shape — narrow at the head and feet and wide at the shoulders — but offer refinements such as a nicer finish, full-size wooden handles and a fully lined cloth interior.

Also, local woodworkers, not monks, make the caskets. Profits from Abbey Caskets will be used to help support the archabbey's operation. Another of the monastery's businesses, Abbey Press, makes and sells religious and inspirational gifts, greeting cards and books.

New vaccine reduces shot numbers

NEW YORK (AP) — A British company is seeking U.S. approval for a new combination vaccine for five childhood diseases — diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, polio and hepatitis B.

SmithKline Beecham asked the federal government Thursday for an expedited review for its combination vaccine, which already is available in Europe. An expedited review means the government would have six months to approve the drug.

"Anything that reduces the number of injections will be welcome by medical providers and parents," said Dr. Melinda Wharton, chief of child vaccines at the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta.

Infants now need nine shots during their first 12 months of life to gain protection against the five diseases.

Diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus are already combined in one vaccine, while polio and hepatitis B vaccinations are given separately. Each of the vaccinations is given three times in the first year.

With SmithKline's vaccine, year-old infants would only need a total of three shots to be protected against the five diseases. Other shots would still be necessary to protect children against measles, mumps and other diseases.

Several pharmaceutical companies are working on combination infant immunizations, though SmithKline is the only company seeking U.S. approval for a vaccine that protects against five diseases.

SmithKline and Merck are also working on a vaccine that would combine the measles, mumps and rubella vaccine with the shot for chicken pox.

Fingerprints can ID benefit recipients

DALLAS (AP) — After three years of tests, state officials will begin next month to scan fingerprints of applicants for welfare.

First-time welfare applicants will be affected, as well as those who already receive food stamps.

The index-finger scans will begin Aug. 23 at local Texas Department of Human Services offices.

"Our goal is to reduce fraud while preserving the integrity of these important programs," agency commissioner Eric M. Bost said Thursday. "As stewards of taxpayer funds, it is our responsibility to ensure that dollars only go to the truly needy."

"Our goal is to reduce fraud while preserving the integrity of these important programs,"

TDHS commissioner Eric M. Bost

A pilot project of finger imaging — conducted in the San Antonio area over the past three years and in Houston the past year — is aimed at eliminating some welfare fraud schemes that have worked in Texas.

A welfare recipient gets thrown in jail and his cousin wants to collect his benefits while he's incarcerated. The cousin claims to be the inmate, shows some fake identification and receives the benefits.

Or someone collects welfare benefits in one county and then tries to go collect them in another county as well.

The program requires adult and minor parents who receive welfare benefits to undergo "finger imaging." Welfare recipients are asked to provide a finger print from each index finger as well as a photograph of their face.

Officials say the finger imaging works because each time a recipient renews benefits — every three months — he or she must place a finger on the electronic imaging scanner. It's all done on computer. There is no ink.

If the fingerprint doesn't match the image, no benefits are given.

Anyone failing to show or refusing to be fingerprinted will be taken off the welfare rolls, officials said.

Native tribes meet to celebrate culture, unify nations

Representatives of three tribes join for the first time in 150 years

HOUSTON (AP) — It was the first regional gathering of American Indian tribes in 150 years, leaders said.

The inaugural assembly Thursday of the Grand Council of American Indians of Southeast Texas brought together representatives of at least three tribes to celebrate their culture and unify their tribes.

"People have said that American Indians are contentious and can't get along," said Jonathan B. Hook, head of the American Indian Resource Center in San Antonio. "We're here to show ... that's not true."

"Just seeing you all here makes my heart rejoice,"

Lawrnie Battise, elder of the Alabama-Coushatta tribe.

Interspersed between tribal dances and sacred songs, speaker after speaker at the Marathon Tower spoke about ways the different tribes can begin to work together.

A particularly pressing issue is the upcoming 2000 Census, which American Indian leaders see as vitally important. American Indians have historically been the most underrepresented ethnic group in the census, meaning they have lost out on vital federal funding.

Several leaders said the fact that tribal leaders got together in the first place is far more important than any specific items on the agenda.

The meeting brought together representatives of the Alabama-Coushatta, Potawatomie and Cherokee tribes.

"Just seeing you all here makes my heart rejoice," said Lawrnie Battise, an elder of the Alabama-Coushatta tribe.

Efrain Martinez, an ethnic conciliation specialist with the U.S. Department of Justice, congratulated the tribes for moving toward unity.

"The Native Americans in this part of the state need to take their place at the table" of political dialogue, Martinez said.

More than 15,000 American Indians live in Greater Houston, Hook said.

Linda Harjo, an American Indian from Livingston, argued that tribal representatives from Texas must step up their efforts to have their past recognized.

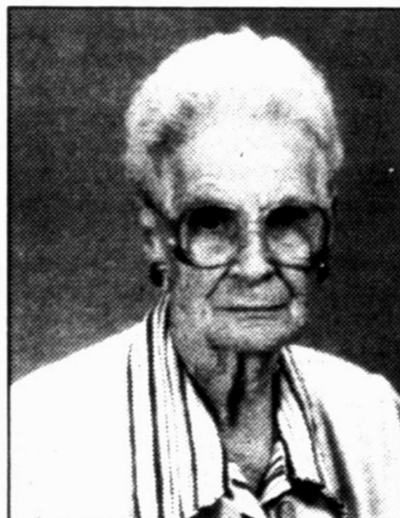

Lt. Cmdr. John B. Herrington, an American Indian astronaut, was an honorary guest at the gathering.

Removing the junk -- Hereford police officer Somchai Thongngoen checks under the tarp covering a junk vehicle on Buena Vista Drive. The vehicle is among the many tarped, unlicensed, unregistered vehicles which the department has cited and will be scheduling to be picked up and destroyed. Officers diligently pursue the removal of the dangerous eyesores and recommend residents call and find out how to keep cited vehicles from being removed. Vehicle owners receive verbal and written notice and plenty of time to repair, register, or remove the vehicles.

Looking Back

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, July 16, the 197th day of 1999. There are 168 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On July 16, 1945, the United States exploded its first experimental atomic bomb, in the desert of Alamogordo, N.M.

On this date:

In 1790, the District of Columbia was established as the seat of the United States government.

In 1862, David G. Farragut became the first rear admiral in the U.S. Navy.

In 1918, Russia's Czar Nicholas II, his empress and their five children were executed by the Bolsheviks.

In 1951, novelist J.D. Salinger published "The Catcher in the Rye."

In 1957, Marine Maj. John Glenn set a transcontinental speed record when he flew a jet from California to New York in three hours, 23 minutes and eight seconds.

In 1964, accepting the Republican presidential nomination in San Francisco, Barry M. Goldwater said "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice" and "moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

In 1969, Apollo 11 blasted off from Cape Kennedy on the first manned mission to the surface of the moon.

In 1973, White House aide Alexander P. Butterfield revealed at the Senate Watergate hearings the existence of President Nixon's secret taping system.

In 1979, Saddam Hussein became president of Iraq.

In 1980, Ronald Reagan won the Republican presidential nomination at the party's convention in Detroit.

Ten years ago: Leaders of the seven major industrial democracies called at their economic summit in Paris for "decisive action" against global pollution. Conductor Herbert von Karajan died near Salzburg, Austria, at age 81.

Five years ago: The first of 21 pieces of comet Shoemaker-Levy smashed into Jupiter, to the joy of astronomers awaiting the celestial fireworks.

One year ago: The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia refused to block Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr from calling President Clinton's Secret Service protectors before a grand jury.

Today's Birthdays: TV director Vincent Sherman is 93. Actor Barnard Hughes is 84. Former Attorney General Dick Thornburgh is 67. Soul singer William Bell is 60. Actor Corin Redgrave is 60. Former tennis player Margaret Court is 57. Violinist Pinchas Zukerman is 51. Actor-singer Ruben Blades is 51. Rock composer-musician Stewart Copeland is 47. Dancer Michael Flatley is 41. Actress Phoebe Cates is 36. Actor-comedian Will Ferrell is 32. Actress Rain Pryor is 30. Actor Corey Feldman is 28. Rock musician Ed Kowalczyk (Live) is 28.

Thought for Today: "In some sort of crude sense which no vulgarity, no humor, no overstatement can quite extinguish, the physicists have known sin; and this is a knowledge which they cannot lose." — J. Robert Oppenheimer, American physicist (1904-1967).

Females join county shooters

By Becky Thorn

Hereford Brand Lifestyles Editor

Female shooters from Deaf Smith County will take the line for the first time in several years during the District I Trap Shoot hosted by the Deaf Smith County 4-H Shooting Sports Team Saturday at Hereford Gun Club beginning at 8 a.m.

"Everywhere we would go, there were lady shooters," Toby Turpen, shooting team coach, said. "But we just didn't have much interest in our county."

But that changed during the state shooting competition last year in San Antonio, according to Turpen.

"Stephanie Reinart, who was attending the state shoot with her family because her brother was shooting in competition, overheard a boy say, 'Girls can't shoot.' Stephanie took that statement as a personal challenge, bought a vest and a gun and started shooting," Turpen said.

And Reinart will be among the shooters who return to San Antonio July 21-25 for this year's state competition.

In addition to Reinart, Shyla Martin and Jennifer Brock are also members of the shooting sports team.

Even though all the female shooters are first year competitors, they have performed well in competition, according to Turpen.

"Generally ladies are easier to teach to shoot and become better shooters quicker," Turpen said. "Size is not a determining factor for any shooter. Anyone who practices regularly can get better and become more disciplined. In this sport, nobody can beat you but yourself."

There are 41 registered members in shooting sports and most of them will compete in the shoot this weekend. There will also be competitors from other counties.

"It will be a good day for people to come out to the gun club and see what shooting sports are all about," Turpen said.

Competition begins at 8 a.m. and a concession stand will be open, operated by parents of the youth in 4-H shooting sports. The concession stand will feature homemade hamburgers as well as homemade ice cream.

Ann Landers

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your readers frequently write and ask if you will repeat one of their favorite columns. I cut out the one that had your definition of "Maturity," and over the years, in troubled times, I have taken it out and re-read it. It has helped me weather many a storm and given me courage and a healthier perspective on life. I'm sure your readers would appreciate it if you would run it again. You have printed several versions, but this is the one I like the best. — Florence in Kelso, Wash.

Dear Florence: It's the one I like the best, too. Thank you for asking. I shook off a few mothballs, and here it is: Maturity is many things. It is the ability to base a judgment on the big picture, the long haul. It means being able to resist the urge for immediate gratification and opt for the course of action that will pay off later. One of the characteristics of the young is "I want it now." Grown-up people can wait.

Maturity is perseverance — the ability to sweat out a project or a situation in spite of heavy opposition and discouraging setbacks, and stick with it until it is finished. The adult who is constantly changing jobs, changing friends and changing mates is immature. He cannot stick it out because he has not grown up.

Maturity is the ability to control anger and settle differences without violence or destruction. The mature person can face unpleasantness, frustration, discomfort or defeat without collapsing or complaining. He knows he can't have everything his own way every time. He is able to defer to circumstances, to other people — and to time. He knows when to compromise and is not too proud to do it.

Maturity is humility. It is being big enough to say, "I was wrong." And, when he is right, the mature person need not experience the satisfaction of saying, "I told you so."

Maturity is the ability to live up to your responsibilities, and this means being dependable. It means keeping your word. Dependability is the hallmark of integrity. Do you mean what you say — and do you say what you mean? Unfortunately, the world is filled with people who can't be counted on. When you need them most, they are among the missing. They never seem to come through in the clutches. They break promises and substitute alibis for performance. They show up late or not at all. They are confused and disorganized. Their lives are a chaotic maze of broken promises, former friends, unfinished business and good intentions that somehow never materialize. They are always a day late and a dollar short.

Maturity is the ability to make a decision and stand by it. Immature people spend their lives exploring endless possibilities and then do nothing. Action requires courage. Without courage, little is accomplished.

Maturity is the ability to harness your abilities and your energies and do more than is expected. The mature person refuses to settle for mediocrity. He would rather aim high and miss the mark than aim low — and make it.

Maturity is the art of living in peace with that which we cannot change, the courage to change that which should be changed, no matter what it takes, and the wisdom to know the difference.

Night of Praise to be held at First Assembly

Members of several local churches are joining together for a citywide Night of Praise this Sunday at First Assembly of God. The service will start at 6 p.m. and will feature a worship band comprised of musicians and vocalists from local churches.

The service is designed to bring unity to local congregations through prayer, praise and fellowship. First Assembly of God is located at 606 E. 15th St. and Mike Sullivan is the pastor.

The non-denominational worship service is a monthly event that is held at various churches in the area and everyone is invited.

CHURCH NEWS

A4 • HEREFORD BRAND • Friday, July 16, 1999

BIBLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Pastor Travis Curry and the members of Bible Baptist Church would like to invite you to be our special guest each Sunday at 10 a.m. for Sunday School and at 11 a.m. for our worship service.

We also meet on Wednesday night at 7 for prayer meeting and Bible study. We will be studying the book of Genesis in the adult Sunday School for the next several weeks and we are going through some of the Old Testament prophets on Wednesday night.

Come and join us for some good old-fashioned Christian fellowship and for a time of worshipping the Lord and giving praise and honor to his name.

We are located at 1204 Moreman, on the corner of Greenwood and Moreman. If you need more information, please call 364-3102 or 364-5157.

WESTWAY BAPTIST CHURCH

Brother Mark and the congregation of Westway Baptist Church invite you to worship with us each Sunday. We have Bible teaching and preaching. If you are looking for a church home and place to serve God, you will find a warm and friendly welcome in this small country church.

We are looking forward to an exciting time for our church as we prepare for our "Blast Off" Vacation Bible School to be held the week of August 9-13 from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. each evening. Mark your calendars for this important week. Join with us in prayer that it be special for each one who attends.

Sunday School is a time for all ages to study the word of God as it relates to life. It provides us with joy and peace as we live by week we meet the challenges in our lives.

Brother Mark challenges us week by week as he preaches God's word. We encourage you to join us Sunday at 10 a.m. for Sunday school and 11 a.m. for worship. We will be blessed.

We are located seven miles west of Hereford on Hwy. 1058.

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD

The family of First Assembly of God would like to invite you to worship with them this week. Sunday morning, Pastor Mike Sullivan will bring the message.

There is something for everyone at Sunday school which begins at 9:45 a.m. The morning service is at 10:45 and the evening service is at 6. On Wednesday night, there is the mid-week prayer service, as well as the Team Trinity Youth service at 7 p.m. There will be a supervised nursery provided for every service.

Are you without a church home and need a place to grow in a relationship with God? Try us or any of the Bible-believing, God-honoring churches in Hereford. There is one just right for you.

If you need a ride to any of our services, please call ahead of time so that we can provide transportation. For more information about our church, its activities, or if you are in need of prayer, call us at 364-0305 or 364-4848. Have a great day in the Lord.

TRINITY FELLOWSHIP CHURCH

Intimate worship is being released among God's people in an unprecedented way today. Jesus restored what was lost in the Garden of Eden and today we are experiencing the most powerful and passionate worship in the history of the church. Join Pastor Brady Boyd this Sunday as he begins a series entitled, "Freedom to Worship." Services will begin at 10:30 a.m. at 401 W. Park Avenue and professional childcare is available.

Bible Boot Camp for kids is scheduled for July 29 through August 2 at the Plains Baptist Assembly in Floydada. All kids that have completed the first through sixth grades are welcome to attend and the cost is only $100.

Join other congregations for a citywide praise service this Sunday night at First Assembly of God. This will be an extended time of worship and ministry led by a group of area vocalists and musicians.

Trinity Fellowship is pleased to announce an upcoming "Power Evangelism" conference at our church August 12-14. Tim Kettering from Trinity Fellowship in Pampa will teach the principles of spirit-filled evangelism on Thursday and Friday nights from 7-10 and on Saturday morning from 8-12 noon. Everyone is invited and all three sessions are free of charge.

Trinity Fellowship Church will have a full day of prayer in our sanctuary each Wednesday from 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and invites all believers to join us in praying for our city, our families and each other. We will pray corporately each Wednesday from 6:30-7:30 a.m.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

Pastor Dorman Duggan and the congregation of Community Church invite you to come and worship and praise with them Sunday morning.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9 a.m. and the morning worship service starts at 10. A nursery is provided.

The Intercessory Prayer Group meets Monday night at 7 p.m.

Tuesday morning at 9:30 the Ladies Prayer Group meets.

On Wednesday we have our Children's Church and Youth Group meet at 7 p.m. Also, we have our Home Groups for anyone over 18-years-of-age. Call 364-8866 for information on places and times for Home Groups.

For more information or if you need prayer, call 364-8866 or 364-2423.

BARN CHURCH

Pastor Randy Bird invites everyone to attend the Barn Church services each month. The fourth Thursday service will be July 22 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The next second Thursday service is at 7:30 p.m. August 12 and is preceded by a chuck wagon supper at 6:30. Come for fellowship and a wonderful time of celebrating the abundant blessings God has given us. The Barn Church Arena is located 6 miles west on Harrison Hwy. and then 2-1/2 miles north.

We also encourage you to come to our Bible study at 7:30 p.m. on the first, third and fifth Thursdays at the Ranch House Restaurant on Hwy. 60 West.

Check the schedule of events in this month's newsletter to find out about July activities at Barn Church.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Tastes Great, Less Filling - I'll probably get letters about starting a church ad with a beer tag... just hope that lead in doesn't describe our worship experience. It seems that happens a little more often than we'd like to admit. It is our sincere hope and plan that with God's blessings your worship experience will both whet your spiritual appetites and fill you with the presence of God.

We invite you to come and experience our worship and fellowship on Sundays at 10:50 a.m. (Now that's an odd time but it actually has a reason. You have to come to hear it.)

We also have Bible study at 9:45 on Sunday mornings. These classes are according to your age if you are still in school. The rest of the classes are age sensitive, not age graded. We'll let you go where you get the most out of the fellowship and lesson.

I hope to see you Sunday. We want to worship with you. We need to worship with you. By the way, here's a list of some stuff coming up that may be of some benefit to you or your family.

Vacation Bible School is July 19-23 from 6-9 p.m. The theme is "Climbing Mt. Extreme." Hey, this Bible school ain't for sissies. The youth pick the music so we really rock. Limited enrollment, call 364-0696 to enroll. Only the first 250 can be admitted. You can also enroll on Sunday's at church.

Parent/Youth Seminar with Rodney Gage is August 8. This will equip parents and kids to know, understand, love and encourage one another better. Topics Rodney will explore are "Bring 'Em Back Alive," "Why Your Kids Do What They Do," "Nine Ways to Listen to Your Kids," and "Four Keys to Starting a Relationship Revolution."

FCB Golf Tourney is August 21 at 8 a.m. at Pittman. Cost is about $25.

Big Funeral on August 29. That's enough for now. You come and see us. Or if you'd rather, we'll come see you.

AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Jim Bulin and the congregation of Avenue Baptist Church, 130 North 25 Mile Avenue, invite you to worship with them.

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship follows at 11. Rev. Bulin's sermon title will be "A Look at the Savior" taken from Mark 2:1-12.

Sunday evening services will be at 6. Ladies Prayer Group meets Monday at 6 p.m. Choir practice is at 7 p.m. Anyone who like to sing is invited to become a member of the choir.

Wednesday night prayer service is at 6:30. If you have a prayer request, call the church office at 364-1564.

Youth ABC Time is Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. in the fellowship hall. All young people are encouraged to participate in the Youth Group this summer. We are planning to do some fun things as well as missions involvement. We are going to Wonderland Park Saturday. Youth, remember to come and bring your friends to our youth meetings.

ABC Kids will be a time of Bible study, missions education, community involvement and fun for children from first through sixth grades. We will meet on Thursdays from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Lunch will be provided. All children must be registered and a parental consent form completed prior to participation. For more information, please contact Bro. Jim.

Avenue Baptist Church has Bible teaching and Bible preaching. If you are looking for a church and a place to serve God, we invite you to join us.

ST. THOMAS' EPISCOPAL CHURCH

On the Eighth Sunday After Pentecost, The Rev. James A. Mock of Plainview will officiate at St. Thomas'.

The Holy Eucharist Rite II will be celebrated at 11 a.m. If you have been baptized, St. Thomas' offers open Eucharist. St. Thomas' is a Bible-oriented church. There is a coffee hour after the service. Supervised nursery care is provided during the worship hour.

The regular Wednesday Public Service of Healing is at 7 p.m. and includes the Litany of Healing with the Laying-on-of-Hands, along with the Service of Evening Prayer.

Intercessory prayer requests from the community are most welcome. To have them included in the prayers of the people at all services, please call 364-0146 and leave a message.

Heavenly Treasures Day Care meets at St. Thomas' on Monday through Friday. For information on enrollment, please call Sylvia Martinez at 363-6468.

In case of emergency call Gerri Clark at 364-0943.

If you want more information about the Episcopal Church, call Earl Brookhart at 364-0249.

GENESIS CHURCH

Pastor Jesse Rincones and the congregation of Genesis Church invite you and your family to join in worship and praise this Sunday. Our Spanish speaking service begins at 9 a.m. followed by Bible study classes for all ages at 10 a.m. Our English speaking service begins at 11 a.m. You are invited to make plans and bring the entire family to worship together with us.

Membership class, Genesis 101, is at 6 p.m. Sunday for all who would like to be part of this church family, current and new members. Come and discover God's love and purpose for you. You will be comforted and challenged by the word of God, spoken through Pastor Jesse. God has something special prepared for you.

The church is located just outside the city limits on N. Hwy. 385. Please accept this as a personal invitation for you and your family from Pastor Rincones. For more information call 364-2034 or 364-5765.

HEREFORD CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The Nazarene congregation invites you to join us at 10:30 a.m. Sunday for our family worship service. Pastor Ted's message this week is titled "Nothing But the Blood."

Join us at 9:30 a.m. for Sunday school. We promise to have a class that just fits your needs.

Sunday evening we will meet at the First Assembly of God for Prayer and Praise, so there will be no evening service.

Pastor's Wednesday evening class at 7 in the new fellowship hall is beginning a new study on "The Tabernacle."

Pastor Carol invites all the kids to sit with their parents or godparents in "Big Church" at 10:30 a.m. She reminds everyone to sign up for the "Kids Talent Show" to be presented July 25. Rehearsal will be July 21. The summer program will continue with Benson Buddies, TV and Me and God Chasers on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Susie Merrick will teach the Sunday night teen group at 6 p.m., "Eat More Beef," followed by Pete and Cory with "Sunday Night Live" at the Halls. Wednesday night is "Love Works" project from 5:50-8 p.m. instead of Club Paradise.

All new Sunday school classes have begun for 11th and 12th graders, 9th and 10th graders, 7th and 8th graders, as well as a college prep class. For junior high kids, each Tuesday through the summer will be Tuesday Madness from 1-3 p.m. with Cory and Pete.

Join us at Nazarene Kid's Corner Day Care on Wednesdays and Fridays. This Wednesday we will go to the zoo in Amarillo and Friday is "Snowcone Day." For more information, call Brandi Martinez at 364-8161.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Immanuel and Pastor Erik Stadler invite you to come worship with us Sunday at 10:30 a.m. We are located at the corner of Avenue B and Park.

Sunday School for the children is from 9:15-10:15 a.m. Immanuel also offers two Bible studies. At 9:15 a.m. Sunday there is a study of different religions. At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday the study is on the book of Acts.

We hope to have you join us at any one of our services or activities. If you have questions, contact the church at 364-1668.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

This weekend Catholics celebrate the 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time. Readings are Wisdom 12:13-19, Romans 8:26-27 and Matthew 13:24-43, which makes us conscious of the "weeds" that can stifle our growth or choke it off if we fail to repent and reform. Come worship with us at 6 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday.

Adult study on morality just started last Friday; there are still books available as well as chairs. The book costs $12.

Altar servers' outing is set for July 28 from 7-10 at Wonderland Park. Servers' families please plan for this event. Our 'servers' fund' will pay the entrance fee for the park. We expect the servers to eat before we leave for Amarillo.

If you know someone who wants to become a Catholic, tell them that in August a nine-month journey starts with Wednesday night meeting, lasting each week about 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Turn their names in to us so we can send them an invitation. Or if you are that person, call Janie at 364-7628 or Martha at 258-7701.

School office is closed. It will reopen July 20.

School registration will resume from July 26 to August 6 between 8 a.m.-1 p.m. and 2 p.m.-4 p.m. Plan to come look us over and visit with Nancy Neusch, principal.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The friendly folks and Jeremy Grant, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, welcome you to join us in service and worship. This Sunday's service of worship is at 10:30 a.m. Invite a friend to worship with us.

Our Sunday school classes meet at 5:15 a.m. There are classes for each age group. We also offer The Joy Class for adults with mental challenges - the only church class of its kind in Hereford.

Enjoy a cup of coffee and conversation with friends during our fellowship time at 10:10 each Sunday morning.

The Prayer Group gathers in praise and intercession at 6 p.m. Mondays.

Stay-at-home moms and their children are welcome to come to the Playgroup at the church Wednesday from 9:30 a.m.-11 a.m. For more information, call Kit Grant at 364-0745.

The Sanctuary Choir meets at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Worship Team meets at 8:15 a.m. on Sunday and 6 p.m. on Wednesday.

Brian Burzynski holds a Bible study at 7 p.m. Thursday and Mike Schueler leads a men's breakfast and book study at 6:45 a.m. Friday. They are reading "The Man In the Mirror."

P.O. Box 70 is the church's new box number.

Come see what's happening at First Presbyterian Church. Contact us at frstpres@wtrt.net or 364-2471.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Brotherhood of Temple Baptist Church, Avenue K and Forrest Avenue, invites all men and boys to come to their Brotherhood Breakfast Sunday at 7:30 a.m.

The pastor, H. Wyatt Bartlett, and the congregation of Temple Baptist Church invite everyone to worship with them Sunday. Sunday school and Bible study begin at 9:45 a.m. We have classes for all ages. Morning worship is at 11. The pastor will bring the message.

TeamKIDS will meet this Sunday at 5:30 p.m. All children first through sixth grade are invited to TeamKIDS.

Evening worship is at 7 with the pastor again bringing the message.

Mid-week prayer meeting will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday. After our prayer session we will continue studying the book of Psalms. Choir meets at 7:45 p.m.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

For lack of a better term, FOB may be identified as a church that believes in a progressive Christianity. Among other things this fellowship seeks to offer the message of Christianity to those for whom organized religion has proved irrelevant, ineffectual, or repressive. Clearly, FOB is not for everyone. But clearly it exists for some.

FOB would particularly like to reclaim those who have been burned by some painful experience in the church. FOB welcomes the skeptic or the dubious - questioning people who cannot accept church doctrine when it is presented as absolute, beyond discussion or somehow exempt from more than one interpretation. This church is a work in progress.

On Sunday, the Eighth Sunday after Pentecost, the entire church and all who gather to worship will be invited to share bread and wine. Communion at FOB is so very open. Inviting and welcoming all people to share the simple meal is our way of participating in the vision of a just world where all people live in peace. We believe that this open approach to Communion is a fundamental expression of God's love and the heart of the original Jesus movement.

The bulk of the 10:30 worship will be given to the drama of the meal. Pastor Nathan L. Stone, Ph.D., will share a brief, ten-minute, Communion meditation entitled, "Weeds in the Garden" (Matthew 13:24-30, 36-43).

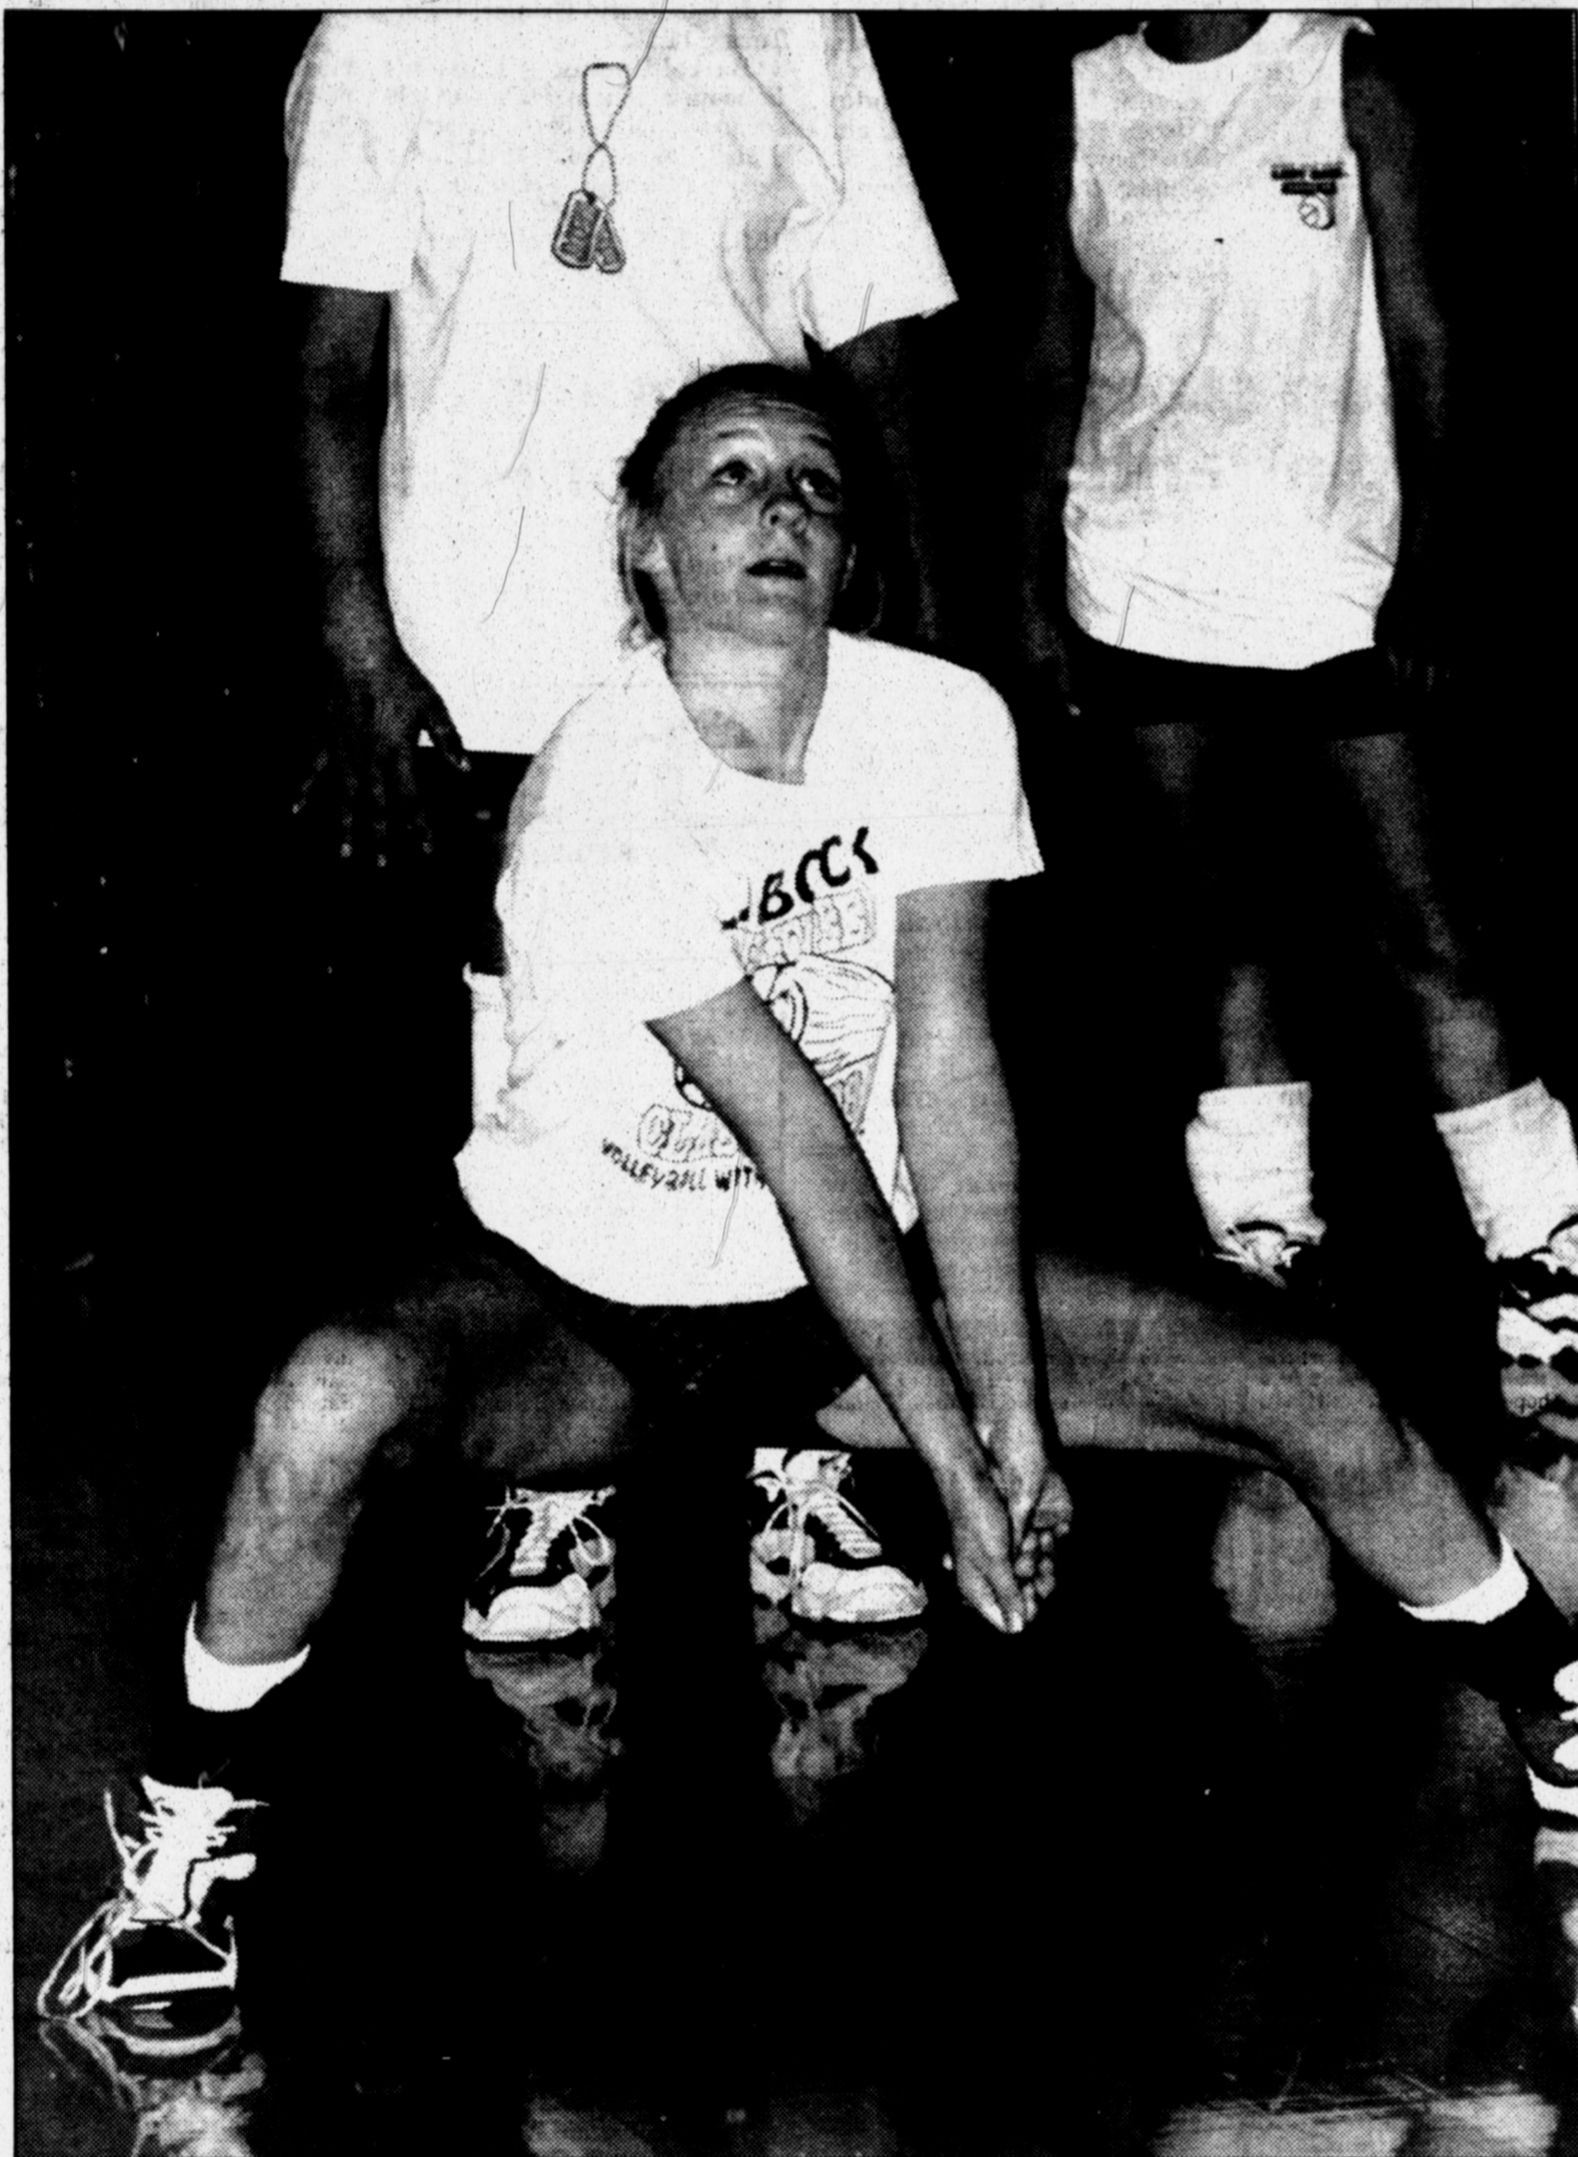

In "Forum" (9:30-10:15), FOB's open-discussion Sunday school, discussions may deal with the posting of the Ten Commandments in schools, Wiccans at Ford Hood, or the evils of television... or whatever else the people choose to pursue. The purpose of "Forum" is to learn, stretch, think, wonder, apply and to make life-changes.

A supervised nursery is available at all services that take place in the FOB facility located at 245 N. Kingwood (at Moreman).

Rangers beat Arizona

McLemore's three-run double spoils pitching performance by Randy Johnson

ARLINGTON (AP) — Once again, the Texas Rangers proved that they couldn't beat Randy Johnson. Matt Mantei was a different story.

Mark McLemore hit a three-run double off the newly acquired Arizona reliever with two outs in the ninth inning Thursday night, stealing a 3-2 victory over the Diamondbacks and spoiling yet another solid performance by Johnson.

Johnson, who has a 14-5 career record against Texas, struck out eight and allowed only six hits in eight shutout innings.

Mantei relieved him in the ninth, and appeared ready to post his 12th save of the year when he retired the first two batters he faced.

But Mantei (1-3) then walked three consecutive pinch-hitters, a feat that has only happened twice this century. With the bases loaded, McLemore doubled to right-center.

"The emotions started going and we all felt that something good was going to happen," said Rick Helling, who pitched eight strong innings for the Rangers, but didn't get a decision. "It was a great way to end it."

After striking out Todd Zeile and forcing Ruben Mateo to ground out, Mantei faced three left-handers who were available to pinch-hit because Texas manager Johnny Oates didn't want to start them against Johnson.

Rusty Greer, Rafael Palmeiro and Lee Stevens all had great at-bats to draw walks against Mantei. When McLemore doubled to win it, it was the third time in four batters that Mantei was one strike away from an Arizona win.

"I turned an easy save situation into a loss," Mantei said. "Randy pitched his butt off and I couldn't finish it."

It was yet another hard-luck loss for Johnson, who has received only two runs of support in his last 42 innings pitched. The Diamondbacks were shut out in his previous four starts.

The 6-foot-10-inch left-hander has dominated the Rangers this season, allowing only two runs in 16 innings. Of the six hits he allowed Thursday, five of them came with two outs.

Arizona manager Buck Showalter said it was an "easy decision" to bring Mantei in for the ninth. But Johnson hinted that he would have liked the chance to go for the shutout.

"It wasn't my call," Johnson said. "I'd like to finish what I start, but it's not up to me."

But for the 15th time this season, the Arizona bullpen blew a save opportunity. Mantei was acquired from Florida last week to remedy that problem, and Arizona players are wondering if the trend will ever stop.

"I didn't know what to say to Johnson," Arizona catcher Damian Miller said. "It's like we're snake-bitten or something."

For the Rangers, the comeback stopped a skid in which they lost six of eight games entering the All-Star break. Oates said it also could help the team's confidence in its ability to win close games.

"This was as an exciting win as we've had all season," Oates said. "We beat a good pitcher even though he was in the dugout when the game ended."

Despite failing to get the win, Helling had his best outing since May 21. The right-hander struck out four, walked three and allowed only five hits in eight innings.

Mike Venafro (3-1) pitched a scoreless ninth for the win.

The Diamondbacks scored their runs on an RBI single by Matt Williams in the first inning and a home run by Jay Bell in the eighth.

Astros come back to defeat Tigers, 8-6

Houston wins first game since Dierker's surgery comeback

HOUSTON (AP) — Larry Dierker found controversy in his first game back in the Houston Astros dugout since brain surgery.

Derek Bell, unhappy at being dropped from second to sixth in the batting order, hit a two-run, go-ahead single in the seventh inning Thursday night, capping a comeback from a six-run deficit for an 8-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Bell was pleased to see Dierker back, but he didn't like his decision.

"It's a slap in the face to be dropped to the sixth spot," Bell said. "I'm to the point now that I feel like I'm not wanted. There's a lot of pressure on me to do things so the fans won't boo me. I feel like I'm hitting .200."

Bell, who has batted second in recent years, hit just .244 in the first half of the season. Fans responded by booing, but he went 2-for-4 against the Tigers.

"I hoped he would do well," Dierker said. "I tried to point out to him that there was a lot of opportunity in that spot for a guy who gets a lot of RBIs. We're hoping the other guys will get on base and give him more RBI opportunities."

Dierker collapsed in the dugout on June 13, and two days later had brain surgery to repair malformed blood vessels. Houston went 13-14 under interim manager Matt Galante, the team's bench coach.

"It was a wonderful comeback to come back with a comeback win," Dierker said. "That's kind of the way we did it last year."

Dierker received two standing ovations, one before the game and again when Dierker and his wife Judy had their pictures shown on an outfield screen.

"I thought I'd be more emotional when I went out with the lineup," Dierker said. "But the umpires were very gracious and we started talking about things, and then it was business as usual."

The Astros didn't get started until they were behind 6-0. Then they wound up with their biggest comeback since rallying from a four-run deficit to beat Minnesota 6-4 in June 4.

With the Astros trailing 6-0, Jeff Bagwell hit a three-run homer off Dave Mlicki in the fifth. Houston pulled within a run in the sixth after Bell reached on first baseman Tony Clark's error leading off. Tim Bogar tripled to make it 6-4 and scored on pinch-hitter Matt Mieske's groundout.

Houston then went ahead in the seventh against a pair of former Astros. Willie Blair (1-8) walked Bill Spier and Bagwell starting the inning, and Doug Brocail walked Richard Hidalgo.

Bell singled to center to make it 7-6, and Bogar followed with an RBI grounder.

Trevor Miller (1-1) pitched a two-hit seventh for the victory, and Billy Wagner pitched the ninth for his 23rd save in 24 chances.

Dean Palmer, who went 3-for-4, narrowly missed hitting for the cycle. He homered in the first, singled in the fourth and tripled in the fifth.

Brad Ausmus went 3-for-4 against his former teammates.

"When the score went to 6-5, a lot of our guys thought we were doomed," Ausmus said. "They smelled blood."

Astros starter Shane Reynolds allowed all six runs and eight hits in five innings and hit a pair of batters. He threw a pitch behind Ausmus in the fourth, drawing a warning from plate umpire Ed Rapuano.

"Their team understood," Reynolds said. "We had a couple of guys get hit. Bags has been going out and busting his tail and working hard, so you have to protect them."

"It's not like you're head-hunting to hurt someone. Brad and I were good friends when he was over here. There are no hard feelings."

Mlicki gave up five runs — three earned — and eight hits in six innings.

After Reynolds struck out the side in the first, Palmer put the Tigers ahead in the second with his 23rd homer. The Tigers made it 5-0 in the fourth on Bobby Higginson's RBI double, Damion Easley's two-run double and Deivi Cruz's RBI double.

Palmer added a run-scoring triple in the sixth.

World Cup star Scurry enjoying attention

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Briana Scurry says she's gotten all the attention she wants since her stellar performance in goal at the Women's World Cup and added that she's not a victim of racism.

In an interview before her "Tonight" show appearance Thursday, Scurry said she signed a lucrative endorsement deal with Pepsi.

Scurry, who grew up the youngest of nine children in Dayton, Minn., 20 miles northwest of Minneapolis, was the only black starter on the team.

She has heard complaints she did not get enough credit for her overtime shutout last weekend against China in the World Cup title game, in which her save during the shootout was the margin of

480 Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the Book of Judges, intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times.

JEPHTHAH
HAVING DEFEATED THE AMMONITES, JEPHTHAH, RETURNING HOME, MUST NOW MAKE GOOD HIS VOW TO THE LORD THAT: WHATSOEVER FIRST COMETH FORTH FROM HIS HOUSE TO GREET HIM, WILL BE SACRIFICED TO THE LORD...

AND NOW AS JEPHTHAH APPROACHES HIS HOME, VICTORIOUSLY...

WHAT NOW WILL FIRST COME FORTH FROM JEPHTHAH'S HOUSE?
THE PEOPLE IN JEPHTHAH'S HOUSE KNOW NOT OF HIS VOW—ELSE THEY COULD SEND OUT A FATTED CALF!
AND IN JEPHTHAH'S HOUSE, HIS ONLY DAUGHTER PREPARES TO GREET HIM TRIUMPHANTLY...

AS JEPHTHAH PAUSES BEFORE HIS HOUSE, PAIN AND SORROW FLASH ACROSS HIS FACE...

...FOR HIS LOVELY DAUGHTER COMES DANCING FORTH, SINGING TRIUMPHANTLY TO WELCOME HER FATHER—HIS DAUGHTER, THE FIRST TO GREET HIM ON HIS RETURN!

Now, everyone is famous!

Frazier Moore
The Associated Press

Andy Warhol was wrong. No one is famous for just 15 minutes. These days you get to be famous whenever you feel like it. Just like everyone else.

After all, anyone can ring up Larry King and ask a question on the air. You can e-mail John Gibson, host of that goofy MSNBC talk show, and if it's brash enough he might read your note aloud. Or, any time you visit Manhattan, you can wave at the "Today" cameras and be seen coast-to-coast — just like Katie and Matt.

With the right personal crisis, you could wangle an appearance on "Sally Jessy Raphael." If you make your home video suitably freakish or bloody, Fox might put you in a special. You could even launch your own Web site and star in your own live streaming video: You, brushing your teeth; you, playing with the dog; you, taking a nap and dreaming of fame.

Remember: The First Amendment now guarantees not only free speech, but also a mass audience. Access! Exposure! To paraphrase Descartes, "I think, therefore I am famous."

There's just one thing missing: Impact. It's easy to go public, but who will really notice you? Remember you? Enrich you? Sure you're famous, but for the moment, only you know it.

No wonder you still have to stand in line.

Even, conceivably, at a certain McDonald's near Long Island's East End. On this recent Friday afternoon, McDonald's is jammed with people standing in line.

CHRISTIANE AMANPOUR
CNN reporter goes to movies

But just a few miles farther on traffic-choked Route 27, the glamorous Hamptons grant refuge to the truly famous. These are people like Alec Baldwin and Christie Brinkley, Martha Stewart and Sean "Puffy" Combs, Lorne Michaels and Donna Karan and Jimmy Buffett, not to mention famous people you may not know, people famous in the eyes of other famous people, like Henry Kravis and Ron Perelman and Diane Von Furstenberg.

They are the sort of people who can invite Bill and Hillary to join them in the Hamptons and, last summer, did. They are people who don't wait in line.

But what's this? Regis and Joy Philbin, of all people, have just entered the McDonald's. The "Live With Regis and Kathie Lee" host and his wife (and sometimes co-host) are weaving their way through the crowd. And standing in line.

This is a surprise. Regis, clearly Hamptons-bound, is not only famous but, thanks to his show, a fame facilitator.

Even more surprising: No one but you appears to register his presence, or Joy's. Not the hungry throng. Not the counter attendant. Not her co-workers monkeying with the shake dispenser while Joy, who ordered a vanilla shake, waits and waits.

From this episode, you learn two things about celebrity: It has to be acknowledged to exist.

Not that either rule makes fame any less desirable. Or any less thrilling to behold in those who, unlike you, are certifiably famous — especially when that famous orbit happens to align with your own humdrum life.

You once shopped for dinner beside the actress Linda Hunt at a Greenwich Village greengrocer's.

Fame is heady to behold, even when your vantage point is secondhand. Your doctor, whose Upper West Side office is next door to Jerry Seinfeld's building, tells you he sees Jerry from time to time. Confirmed: Jerry Seinfeld strolls on West 81st Street.

And Christiane Amanpour goes to the movies.

The CNN foreign correspondent, usually seen reporting from faraway trouble spots, could hardly be seen, much less recognized, seated in the darkness at a Lower East Side cineplex.

"Excuse me," you murmur, as you blindly wriggle across the row. But Amanpour has blocked your path with her leg.

"Say 'excuse me,'" she directs in her instantly identifiable voice.

"Excuse me," you repeat, a little louder. This time, she hears you and lets you pass.

Then the feature starts and Amanpour's husband James Rubin, who has logged camera time of his own as U.S. State Department spokesman, takes a few calls on his cell phone. Calls from his boss, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright? From Alec or Puffy?

If only you could borrow it and call Larry King!

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

CDC offers tips about hantavirus

By Lauran Neegard The Associated Press

Headed for your summer cabin in the woods? Better check for mice — scientists say this could be a bad year for a rare but often fatal viral infection spread by rural rodents.

Doctors already are recording slightly higher than usual hantavirus infections in some Western states, including Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

Rangers are warning visitors to national parks not to feed or handle rodents, after a 7-year-old boy played with a possibly infected deer mouse he caught on California's remote Channel Islands.

And experts say anyone in rural areas — but particularly in parts of the West where hantavirus is most prevalent — should take certain precautions. Hantavirus-carrying mice can slip into a house, barn or vacation cabin through a crack just a quarter-inch wide, so knowing how to safely deal with rodents is important.

"Hantavirus pulmonary syndrome" is a severe respiratory infection spread by rodent urine, feces or saliva. You don't actually have to touch a rodent. People typically become sick about two weeks after breathing virus particles stirred up in a rodent-infested space, such as when sweeping a mouse nest out of a barn or cabin.

"All it takes is one infected rodent," warned Dr. James Mills of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Hantavirus infection kills 43 percent of its victims — but fortunately it's fairly rare. Only 217 U.S. cases have been confirmed since the first U.S. hantavirus strain was discovered in 1993, during a mysterious outbreak in the "Four Corners" region of the Southwest that killed at least 26 people.

The risk of hantavirus seems to fluctuate with climate. The CDC says parts of country are poised for a bad year, so it is urging rural residents and vacationers to take some simple precautions.

By the end of May, the CDC listed 18 confirmed or suspected cases of hantavirus in nine states. Eight patients were from Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico — high for a region that has averaged just two hantavirus cases by May of each year since 1995.

Hantavirus isn't carried by big-city rodents, but by four species of mice and rats that live in rural areas around the country.

But the West has the most hantavirus, and CDC last year discovered a bumper crop of deer mice there, thanks to a warm winter and high rainfall from the climate phenomenon El Nino. But most of those new mice were uninfected babies.

This year, rodent populations aren't quite as high — but a lot of older mice still alive from last year's baby boom have now caught hantavirus and become a threat. About 40 percent of mice in parts of New Mexico and Colorado are infected, far more than the typical 10-15 percent mouse infection rate.

The National Park Service is warning tourists not to handle or feed wild rodents.

But the CDC says the real risk usually comes indoors, when people find the weekend cabin they rented was a mouse's winter home or clean out a barn or other infested area. CDC's advice:

- Air out unused cabins before occupying them. Before cleaning infested buildings, spray nests, droppings and other signs of rodents with a disinfectant or bleach solution, which can kill hantavirus. Avoid stirring up dust until the area is wet. Then sweep up while wearing rubber gloves and discard the mess in sealed bags. Whether at home or camping, keep food and garbage sealed to avoid attracting rodents. Also, seal cracks in dwellings, keep brush away from foundations.

CAMPAIGN 2000

Money rolls in to Bush

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential candidate George W. Bush raised more money in just two states — Texas and California — than Democratic front-runner Al Gore collected across the country in the past three months.

With $30 million already in his campaign account, Bush says he will turn down federal matching funds for his primary campaign, freeing himself from the spending limits restricting his poorer opponents.

The Texas governor has raked in $37 million donations this year, more than the rest of the Republican field combined. That's also more than the two Democratic candidates together.

"If you've got it, spend it," former Vice President Dan Quayle, also seeking the GOP nomination, said this morning on NBC's "Today" program. "What (Bush) is doing is trying to win this campaign by money alone. He really believes in the school of old politics that money wins elections."

Gore has raised $19.5 million this year — $9.5 million over the past three months, including some earmarked for legal fees. Bush took in $10.6 million from Texas and California alone from April through June.

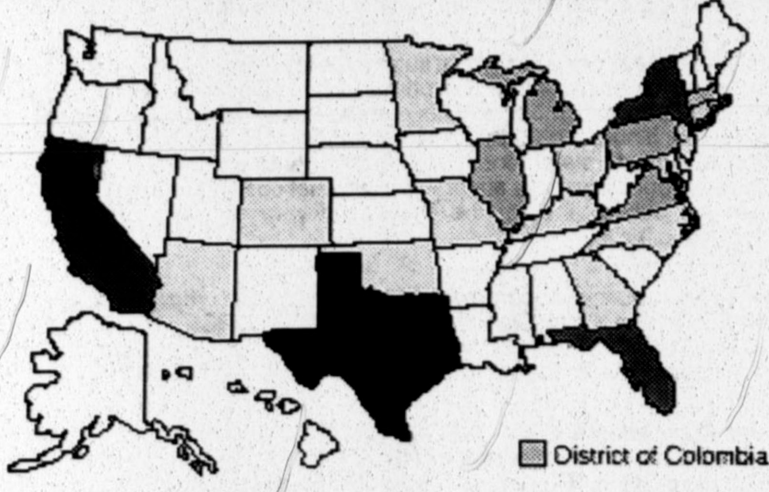

Former New Jersey Democratic Sen. Bill Bradley has raised $11.7 million so far, and after campaign expenses he has $7.5 million saved, not too far behind Gore's $9.4 million.

Bush bonanza

Though the 2000 presidential race is still in its early stages, George W. Bush has pulled ahead of the competition in his fundraising efforts. Not surprisingly, Texas contributed the most to his war chest with $7,036,789.

- Less than $200,000
- $200,000 to $650,000
- $650,000 to $1,200,000
- $1,200,000 to $3,600,000
- More than $3,600,000

Total contributions $37,036,532

If Bush wins the GOP nomination, his spending could bedevil his eventual Democratic adversary long before next summer's party nominating conventions.

"Bush will be unlimited," said Anthony Corrado, a professor of government at Colby College in Waterville, Maine. "One thing we have seen in recent presidential elections is that the summer period has become increasingly important for framing the general election campaign."

"That's the period where candidates have tried to define their opponents in a way that gives them a clear advantage," he said.

The spending limits — and federal matching funds — last until the national party conventions. Once selected, the major party nominees can choose to have the federal government pay for their campaigns.

Bush already has raised almost as much as he could spend during the primaries under the limits, which are expected to be around $40 million. By forgoing the matching funds, he faces no spending restrictions in the primaries, although he still can only accept individual contributions of $1,000 or less.

Multimillionaire publisher Steve Forbes, who finances most of his own campaign, joins Bush as the only other GOP candidate rejecting matching funds.

Bush raised the most in his home state of Texas, an Associated Press computer analysis of his quarterly spending report found. Bush took in 10,269 contributions totaling $7 million from April through June.

Suspected killer talkative

HOUSTON (AP) — Former fugitive Angel Maturino Resendez was downright talkative after he surrendered.

He gabbed into the wee hours with Houston police detectives about U.S. foreign policy, economics, mathematics — almost anything except the nine slayings he's suspected of committing.

"He would either turn the conversation back to what he wanted to talk about, or he simply would not answer the questions," said Sgt. Tom Ladd.

Maturino Resendez, 39, remained jailed today without bond. He is charged with capital murder in the east Texas town of Hughes Springs and murder in Illinois and Kentucky. He could get the death penalty in the Hughes Springs case, the slaying of an 87-year-old woman.

He is also charged with burglarizing the home of a Houston-area doctor killed in December. If Maturino Resendez's DNA matches evidence left in her home, Houston prosecutors plan to charge him with capital murder. The FBI is checking on possible links to more than 200 other unsolved killings, though most are expected to produce nothing.

According to Ladd, Maturino Resendez talked extensively about his displeasure with capitalism, the treatment of migrant workers and many U.S. government policies, including the recent air raids in Yugoslavia.

"He does not like America or Americans," Ladd said. "I asked him if he didn't like this country, why was he always here? For that he had no answer, just a blank stare."

The suspect also discussed a mathematical theory concerning the numeral zero, going so far as to sketch a formula.

After he surrendered Tuesday, Maturino Resendez agreed to speak to police without an attorney present, but he neither admitted nor denied guilt in any crime, Ladd said. However, he tried to plead guilty during two court appearances on the burglary charge, saying he wanted to proceed quickly.

Ladd said Maturino Resendez's demeanor during the interrogation was the same meek, soft-spoken persona he has shown in the courtroom. He dismissed suggestions that Maturino Resendez is not of sound mind or that he was hoodwinked into surrendering with a possible death penalty looming.

Belfast parties to continue parley

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS News digest

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — The struggle to achieve lasting peace in Northern Ireland faced a major setback this week, but the province's bitterly divided politicians say they are still determined to find a way forward.

Protestant politicians refused Thursday to form a cross-community Cabinet for Northern Ireland, the long-mislaid cornerstone of the 1998 Good Friday peace accord.

But all sides looked forward to an expected damage assessment summit on Tuesday involving British Prime Minister Tony Blair, Irish Prime Minister Bertie Ahern and, perhaps most significantly, former U.S. Sen. George Mitchell, who shepherded negotiations to a successful conclusion on Good Friday but has steered clear of involvement since.

Blair and Ahern agreed to invite Mitchell "to discuss what role he might play to take the parties forward," Blair's spokesman said. He gave no indication of what that role might be.

"People should not allow themselves to be deflected or disheartened," Ahern said, adding that his government remained "determined that, working closely with the British government and the parties, a way can and will be found to implement the agreement in full."

Japan hit with wave of suicides

TOKYO — Three friends check into a hotel and hang themselves. People trek to the foot of Mount Fuji and take poison. A distraught worker confronts the company president, then stabs himself to death.

A dramatic wave of suicides is hitting Japan, catching the government unawares and providing a grisly measure of the damage economic troubles and other problems are inflicting on society.

The National Police Agency announced last week that the Japanese are killing themselves in record numbers, reporting an unprecedented 35 percent surge in suicides in 1998.

The increase, which gives Japan one of the highest suicide rates in the world, was a shock.
