Hispanics lag behind in higher education

Only 22 percent of Hispanics attend college.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of young Hispanics are qualified for college but never attend, often becoming stuck in dead-end, low-paying jobs, according to a new study. The study released Wednesday by the Educational Testing Service — the firm which produces the SAT test — said 22 percent of Hispanics ages 18 to 24 attend college, compared with 32 percent of the general population of that age group.

Closing that gap would produce 430,000 more Hispanic college students and more than 100,000 more Hispanic college graduates, the study said.

"You have the makings of a huge problem, a tragedy," said Antonio Flores, president of the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities, a partner with ETS in the study.

Those with college experience and degrees could then get higher-paying jobs, said the study's author, ETS researcher Anthony Carnevale. Hispanic workers currently are concentrated in lower-paying jobs that require less education, he said.

"Hispanic workers are competing against others, but they aren't as well-armed in the competition for jobs," Carnevale said.

The study found Hispanics from an early age have lower expectations of attending college.

Only 55 percent of Hispanic eighth-graders expect to go to college, compared with 64 percent of blacks, 72 percent of Asians and 68 percent of non-Hispanic whites, Carnevale said.

National tests show Hispanic students lag two years behind whites in math, he said. Thirty-four percent of Hispanic 15-year-olds in 1996 had not reached 10th grade, compared with 28 percent of whites.

Of those Hispanic students who do go to college, 64 percent attend community colleges or less competitive universities, the study said. Half of non-Hispanic white students, 42 percent of Asian students and 65 percent of black students attend those types of colleges.

Parents can help by telling their children they expect them to go to college, the study said. More than three-quarters of students with risk factors such as low incomes or poor grades went to college if their parents expected them to go, the study said.

Hispanics themselves need to become more involved in pushing for better schools and more college opportunities, said Rep. Ruben Hinojosa, D-Texas.

"We have to stop being passive in the world of education," Hinojosa said.

Hinojosa and other Democrats who joined Carnevale at a Capitol news conference said the study showed that the government needs to do more to ensure that Hispanics are successful in school and able to go on to college. Many Hispanics attend sub-par elementary and high schools, they said.

"In the lower-income neighborhoods, in the barrios, if you will, is where the worst teachers are," said Rep. Matthew Martinez, D-Calif., a member of the House Committee on Education and the Workforce.

The study recommends a number of ways to boost Hispanic college enrollment, including increasing financial aid programs, expanding college affirmative action programs and enhancing bilingual education.

Those programs are part of the solution, not part of the problem, said Jorge Amselle, the vice president for education of the Center for Equal Opportunity, a Washington group that opposes bilingual education and affirmative action.

"Talk about having to be completely proficient in the English language, I can't think of a tougher test than the verbal portion of the SAT," said Amselle. "For them (ETS) to say that more bilingual education is going to get you there is completely absurd. If anything, Hispanics are going to do worse on the SAT if there is more bilingual education."

News in brief

Convict gets new trial

HOUSTON (AP) — After spending 15 years on death row, a man has won a new capital murder trial because his lawyer was asleep.

Calvin Jerold Burdine was convicted in 1984 of robbing and stabbing his roommate to death.

However, U.S. District Judge David Hittner ruled Wednesday that Burdine deserved a new trial because defense lawyer Joe Cannon slept during much of his trial. Cannon has said he was not asleep, but was closing his eyes to concentrate.

Hittner said the dozing violated Burdine's constitutional right to representation by an attorney.

The judge ordered Attorney General John Cornyn to release Burdine or retry him within 120 days.

Burdine, now 46, was convicted in the April 1983 robbery and stabbing of W.T. Wise, 50, a night supervisor at a Houston security service. Testimony showed that the pair had lived together for three months.

Suttle steps down

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. District Judge Dorwin W. Suttle, legally blind in one eye and eyesight fading in the other, steps down today as one of the nation's oldest federal judges.

"Not many people are lucky enough to go to a job they love," Suttle, 93, said Wednesday. "It's an honor to serve. It's the saddest day to give it all up."

Suttle came to San Antonio in 1971. In the following years, he dealt with many conscientious objector cases spurred by the Vietnam War. Several times he boldly ruled against the government, said Dallas lawyer Mickey Bonesio, who then served as the judge's law clerk.

Appointed U.S. district judge in 1964 by President Lyndon B. Johnson, Suttle first held court in El Paso.

DELORES LEE GRIFFITT Sept. 28, 1999

DIMMITT — Services for Delores Lee Griffitt, 70, of Dimmitt were this morning at the Church of Christ in Dimmitt with Dean Wiseman officiating and Chuck Ball and Tom Bailey assisting. Burial was in West Park Cemetery in Hereford by Foskey-Lilley-McGill Funeral Home.

Mrs. Griffitt died Tuesday in Amarillo.

She was born Oct. 17, 1928, in Fieldton. She married Earl Griffitt on August 14, 1928, in Amarillo. She attended schools in Fieldton and Amherst and moved to Hereford in 1946 where she graduated from Hereford High School. She was a hospice volunteer at Plains Memorial Hospital; a member of Castro County Extension Club; and a volunteer at the Castro County Museum.

She operated Earl's Garage in Dimmitt for seven years.

Survivors include one son, Randy Griffitt of Dimmitt; one daughter, Kim Hollingsworth of Hereford; one brother Terrell Elliott of Hereford; one sister Opal Elliott of Hereford; and five grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1990.

The family suggests memorials be made to the American Heart Association or Hospice Cares of Dimmitt.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A plastic surgeon has found that injections of the botulism toxin didn't just smooth out the forehead wrinkles in his female patients. The shots cured their migraines — sometimes for months.

Dr. William Binder of the University of California at Los Angeles said the toxin can stave off crippling headaches for weeks at a time.

"This is very exciting," Dr. Daniel Nuss, the head of LSU Medical School's department of otolaryngology, said after Binder described his findings Tuesday at a medical conference in New Orleans.

"The most surprising thing is the duration — three to four months. The best migraine medicine we have now really only lasts hours," Nuss said.

About 26 million Americans suffer from migraines, according to the American Academy of Neurology. Most can be helped by one drug or another, but nothing works for 10 percent to 15 percent, Nuss said.

Green, green gourd -- It's pumpkin season again and the pumpkins are rapidly turning bright orange. This particular pumpkin grown on the side of Cindy Whitaker's house gets so much shade it will never get the chance to ripen, matter of fact it is well on it's way to being made into a green pumpkin pie.

Botulism toxins relieve migrain headaches

Binder, a clinical professor of facial plastic surgery and head and neck surgery at UCLA, wasn't looking for a new kind of patient.

"I am not a neurologist. I don't necessarily want a zillion headache patients out of this. I do noses," he said in an interview.

But when patient after formerly wrinkled patient came back for a second round of shots and said she hadn't had a single headache since the first set of injections months earlier, he knew it was worth checking out.

The shots contained botulinum toxin, the same paralyzing stuff that causes food poisoning and is part of the biological warfare arsenal. Tiny amounts can paralyze individual muscles, stopping tremors and spasms.

That is the only use approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Ann Landers

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "Carol in Martinez, Calif.," whose husband died suddenly of a heart attack, but had the foresight to carry ample life insurance. I wish I had known Carol in Martinez. Perhaps I would have learned something from her.

I am a 43-year-old widow with two children, 10 and 11 years of age. My husband passed away due to a sudden seizure. He was only 37. Although "Tom" made a good living, we were just getting by and never managed to save anything. The only life insurance Tom had was through his work, and that wasn't much. When he died, I received benefits for one year. After paying the funeral expenses and outstanding debts, there was nothing left.

Tom and I had discussed life insurance and decided it was something we could not afford at the time, so we waited. Now, it is too late. And it isn't only life insurance. If only we had paid out an extra $15 a month for insurance on our mortgage, it would have paid off the house. A few extra dollars on our auto loan would have paid off our car.

My children and I get by on Social Security benefits, which is a lot less than what Tom was earning. I wish I could be a stay-at-home mom, but that's not possible. I have to work. Because of the Social Security benefits, I am allowed to make only a specified amount of money per year. Our total income is less than half of what it was. It is difficult to explain to two young children why we have to cut back on so many things. I am doing everything I can to hold on to our home so that when the children are ready for college, I can sell it and pay their tuition.

My message to your readers is, HAVE LIFE INSURANCE. All the "if onlys" in the world won't help if you don't. My Tom was 37 years old. It can happen anytime, anywhere to anyone. — Finding My Way in Tampa, Fla.

Dear Tampa: I am grateful to you for taking the time to write a letter that could make a great deal of difference in the lives of many readers. No one can make a point as well as someone who has been there, and you certainly have. Thank you, thank you, thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's another one for your stupid judge collection. I guess it pays to get drunk in New Orleans. If this story had not appeared in a respectable paper like the San Angelo Standard Times, I would not have believed it. I hope you print it. — J.H., San Angelo, Texas from me because this decision is apparently being appealed, but here's the Associated Press story. Thank you for passing it on.

A drunken bicyclist was seriously injured when he ran a stop sign and pedaled into the path of a police cruiser speeding to respond to a call. The intoxicated bicyclist was awarded $95,485. The judge ruled that the police officer was partially to blame for the collision with the 58-year-old bicyclist, who suffered two broken legs and a fractured skull.

The bicyclist's lawyer said the ruling proves that "drunks have rights, too." The man had a blood-alcohol level of 0.13, which exceeds the legal limit of 0.10. The lawyer argued that the police officer could have avoided the accident had he not been driving so fast. The officer said his siren was blaring and his lights were flashing when he hit the intoxicated bicyclist. The officer plans to appeal.

Tomorrow is time to 'tell-a-friend'

During Breast Cancer Awareness month in October, the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, Inc., is launching a statewide campaign to reach Texas women with potentially lifesaving information.

"Tell-A-Friend Friday" will be held tomorrow. It is a day on which women are asked to call and encourage friends and family members to have regular screening mammograms.

"We hope to reach more than 11,300 women, the same number of new cases of breast cancer expected to be detected in Texas in 1999, and encourage them to get a mammogram," Diane Lowell of Lubbock, chairman of the statewide effort, said.

Research shows that women are more apt to get a mammogram if they are urged to do so by a doctor, friend or family member. Tell-A-Friend Friday is a simple program by which women volunteer to call at least five of their friends and acquaintances and encourage them to get a mammogram.

The benefits of mammography are paying off, as statistics show that the survival rate of breast cancer is almost 100 percent when detected early.

"The only way we can further reduce the death rate from breast cancer is by getting more women to have annual mammograms and Tell-A-Friend Friday is a way to accomplish that goal. More importantly, now that Medicare covers the cost of annual screening mammograms, we're hoping that even more women will avail themselves of this important procedure," Lowell said.

Businesses are also encouraged to participate by allowing employees to make the calls from the workplace on Oct. 1 and throughout the month on the following Fridays.

Annual screening mammograms for women age 40 and older are the key element of the American Cancer Society guidelines, which also include annual exam by a health care professional and monthly breast self-examination.

For more information and to volunteer for Tell-A-Friend Friday, call the American Cancer Society a 1-800-ACS-2345. Or visit the website at www.acs-tx.org.

Depression screening to be available for senior citizens

Local senior citizens can take an important step toward checking their emotional health by attending free, anonymous screenings to be offered from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. on Oct. 5 at Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 426 Ranger.

Screenings are offered by Welch Home Place, Castro County Hospital District, in conjunction with National Depression Screening Week, Oct. 4-8.

Older Americans regularly learn their cholesterol numbers and blood pressure, but they rarely consider being tested for depression although many with physical illness such as heart, disease, Alzheimer's, and cancer are at greater risk for developing depression.

In addition, seniors with depression have a higher risk of developing other physical illnesses. One recent study revealed that chronically depressed seniors have an 88 percent higher risk of contracting all forms of cancer than do not depressed seniors.

More than two million of the 34 million Americans age 65 and older suffer from some form of depression; however, depression is not a normal part of aging.

Depression is a medical condition that involves feelings of sadness, loss of pleasure in usual activities, and hopelessness which can interfere significantly with an individual's ability to function.

Those receiving screenings on Oct. 5 at Hereford Senior Citizens Center will complete a written screening test, hear an educational presentation and have the opportunity to talk individually with a mental health professional. Referrals will be provided to those in need. All screenings are free and anonymous and no appointment is required.

Rivalry Renewed

Johnny Zammaripa (48) converges toward a fumbled ball during Hereford's 44-10 victory at Canyon Randall. The Whitefaces' big test will come this homecoming when they host undefeated Canyon High, 37-20 winners against Borger last week. Hereford starts district play Oct. 8 at Dumas.

Herd hosts Canyon in Battle of Highway 60

By Yuri Soto
Hereford Brand Sports Editor

Too bad this isn't a District 3-4A game for the Hereford Whitefaces.

Because the way both of these teams have played each other in this storied rivalry, it turns into a slugfest, somehow, somehow.

A lot of things are at stake whenever Hereford faces Canyon High, and a lot will be at stake when both teams renew vows on Friday at Whiteface Stadium in their last meeting of the millennium.

But a district championship won't be at stake for both football squads.

What's at stake here for both teams is bragging rights among towns that know each other well and that are separated by 30 miles of U.S. Highway 60.

"It's a rivalry because the kids know each other," Hereford coach Craig Yenzler said. "I've been here since '86 and it's always been a big game for our kids and their kids. It kind of has to do with bragging rights."

Both teams also go undefeated into the game. Both games will be the last before starting district play.

This part of the high stakes is who will go into their district competition with an unscathed record.

"It's a huge game and a big rivalry," said Canyon head coach Bill Patterson. "Hereford has a really good football team. They are the best we'll play this season."

This rivalry goes back a long time ago. The first meeting was in 1921, when Canyon blasted the Whitefaces 49-0.

From then on, Hereford and Canyon met 68 times in a span of 78 years, including two playoff games in the 1930's, both won by Canyon.

Another interesting fact on the rivalry is that both Hereford and Canyon have been district and non-district rivals. The last time the Whitefaces and the Eagles were district rivals was back in the late 1980's.

Canyon has a 37-31 record against Hereford. But as big as this game is for both communities, the big game for Yenzler's team will be Oct. 8 at Dumas — the opening of District 3-4A play.

"Next week is one of the biggest because it is the opening of district and as we go through district the games get bigger," Yenzler said. "As you go and have some success games get bigger. It sounds like a cliché, but it's true, the games get bigger as you go along to have success."

Both have had their successes. Canyon High ran for 376 yards on Hereford's district rival Borger, en route to a 37-20 victory.

Hereford had a total of 385 yards in offense against Canyon's intra-city rival, Randall, in a 44-10 victory.

As big as the game is, both coaches are just going to keep with their game plans.

"We won't make many changes," Yenzler said. "We'll come out and get after them. We feel comfortable at what our defense has done based on the people we've played and we've been doing a good job of shutting people down."

Hereford's defense has been tough in all four football games, only allowing an average of 175 total yards offense. Now comes a big challenge for the defense against a very sound offensive

Hereford vs. Canyon

THE GAME — Hereford (4-0) vs. Canyon High (4-0) at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Whiteface Stadium.

THE COACHES — Hereford: Craig Yenzler, 4th Year, 17-17. Canyon: Bill Patterson, 4th Year, 21-15.

ON THE AIRWAVES — KPAN-FM-106.3; Newstalk 1550-AM (Amarillo/Canyon).

THE OFFENSES — Hereford: I formation. Canyon: Offset I formation.

THE DEFENSES — Hereford: 5-2; Canyon: Basic Eight Man front.

INJURIES — Hereford: OL Trey Bezner (probable), DL Rick Bodayo (sprained ankle, probable); Canyon: RB Bryan Duke.

LAST WEEK: Hereford blasted Canyon Randall, 44-10; Canyon upset Borger, 37-20.

OUTLOOK — When Hereford doesn't hurt opponents with the rushing game, they will hurt opponents in other areas. Cody Hodges had a good game, completing 10-of-13 passes for 106 yards and three touchdowns. Brother Slade Hodges had his best game of the season, catching 7 passes for 122 yards and two scores, one of which he caught wide open on a post route from George Castillo on a fake reverse. L.J. Vallejo had an off game, only gaining 59 yards on 12 carries but did score a touchdown. Ramiro Zambrano established himself as a dependable back for the Whitefaces, gaining 51 yards on 10 carries. Hereford's defense held the Raiders to 185 total yards, near the average of yards allowed through four games. .... Canyon racked up 376 yards rushing against Borger in their victory Friday night. Canyon's Chris Scott, who was named Player of the Week by the Amarillo Globe-News, ran for 225 on 32 carries. His runs set up teammate Clete Andrews for four short-yardage touchdowns. Jackson Robinson made 10 tackles and intercepted two Borger passes for Canyon.

team in Canyon.

"We can't turn the ball over on these guys," Patterson said on his team's keys to victory. "They are a strong defense and they know how to take advantage of turnovers."

Last year's meeting between the two schools shows an example of the relentless defense by the Whitefaces.

With under a minute left and Hereford leading 21-14, running back Chris Scott was stopped on fourth-and-one at the Hereford one-yard line which clinched the victory for Hereford.

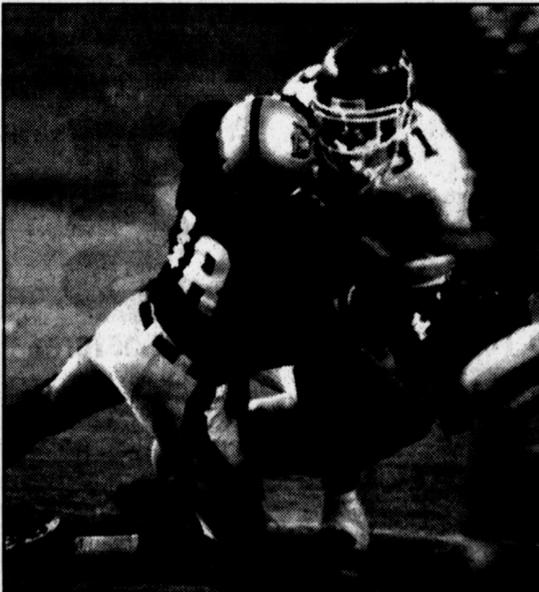

Hereford's victory at Kimbrough Stadium last year spoiled Canyon's Homecoming.

Patterson and his team, however, won't talk about revenge.

"We don't play for revenge," Patterson said. "We talk about how we need to forget last week's game, and even last year's season, and move on and prepare for the next opponent."

But that dreadful October night still is in the back of the heads of the Canyon Eagles, who would love to get a victory at Hereford's home turf. The stakes will be an all-time high.

"We'll see if we can stand toe to toe and get after them and see how the dust clears," Yenzler said.

Hereford super back L.J. Vallejo, who was held to 59 yards rushing on 12 carries against Canyon Randall, will look o get more yardage on the ground as he and the Whitefaces will take on the 4-0 Canyon High Eagles on Friday night at Whiteface Stadium. This will be the 79th meeting between both towns and schools, and the timing has never been better. It's Hereford High School's Homecoming Game.

McGwire hits 62nd and 63rd

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mark McGwire is back on top in the home run derby for the first time in more than a month, just in time for a final weekend showdown with Sammy Sosa.

McGwire hit his 62nd and 63rd home runs Wednesday night in the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3, 6-5 sweep of the San Diego Padres, moving one ahead of Sosa.

McGwire hadn't been ahead since leading 48-47 on Aug. 18 and trailed by as many as five homers at one point but has homered in each of the last four games. Last season, he closed with five homers in the final three games to beat Sosa 70-66.

The Cardinals won the opener on Thomas Howard's two-run single in the seventh and rallied from a five-run deficit in the second game. Fernando Tatis added a solo shot in the sixth to tie it and he doubled and scored on Placido Polanco's bases-loaded fielder's choice for a 6-5 victory in the 10th.

Tony Gwynn was 7-for-8 in the doubleheader with two RBIs, raising his average seven points to .339.

McGwire has 520 homers, one behind Ted Williams and Willie McCovey for 10th place on the career list. McGwire also leads the NL with 145 RBIs, two shy of last's total.

He tied Sosa in the fourth inning of the opener with a two-run homer off Matt Clement to center that traveled an estimated 462 feet. He sent a 1-0 pitch well over the wall as the ball cleared an area of shrubbery just beneath the backstop.

McGwire hit a three-run homer off Andy Ashby, who surrendered Nos. 500 and 501

Juan Gonzalez hit his 38th homer and Royce Clayton got his 1,000th career hit for the Rangers, one victory shy of a franchise record 95-win season. The Rangers are two games behind Cleveland and 1 1/2 behind the New York Yankees in the race for home-field advantage in the AL playoffs.

Gonzalez's solo homer in the fourth and Rusty Greer's RBI triple in the fifth made it 4-2.

Seattle's Ken Griffey Jr. had two doubles and struck out three times, remaining the youngest player to 400 home runs in major league history.

Seattle made it 6-2 the sixth as the Mariners knocked out an ineffective Aaron Sele, trying to become a 19-game winner. David Bell had an RBI double off Sele and Martinez added a sacrifice fly off reliever Mike Venafro.

Mariners rookie Gil Meche (8-4) took advantage of a four-run lead in the first inning and won his fourth straight decision, allowing two runs and five hits in five-plus innings. He struck out Sele (18-9), who will pitch the playoff opener for the Rangers against the Yankees or Boston, allowed six runs and 10 hits in five-plus innings.

Seattle went in front 7-2 in the seventh on Dan Wilson's seventh homer, and Ivan Rodriguez's run-scoring double in the seventh made it 7-3.

Aretha, Keillor, Spielberg labeled 'treasures'

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Aretha Franklin, Steven Spielberg and August Wilson passed through a White House receiving line, President Clinton was overheard telling one guest, "If I could make Keillor laugh, I knew that I had achieved."

Humorist Garrison Keillor, director Spielberg, soul diva Franklin, playwright Wilson, and 14 others, as well as the Juilliard School for the performing arts, were awarded national arts and humanities medals Wednesday, chosen by the White House as American cultural treasures.

The medals go to individuals or institutions supporting the growth and availability of the arts and humanities to the general public.

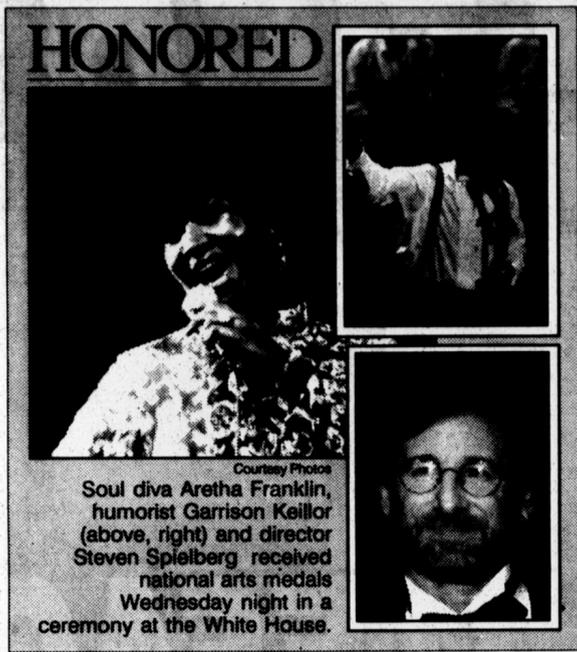

"It gives America a chance to recognize our sons and daughters who have enriched our lives, made us laugh, made us think, made us cry, lifted us up when we were down," Clinton said at a White House dinner honoring the medal winners.

Earlier in the day, Clinton referred to Keillor — a writer and radio impresario best known for his public radio show, "A Prairie Home Companion" — as "our modern-day Mark Twain."

"With imagination, wit and also with a steel trap mind and deep conviction, Garrison Keillor has brought us together," said the president.

He said Keillor's humor and variety show about life in a fictitious small town in Minnesota "constantly reminds us how we're all connected and how it ought to keep us a little humble."

At a ceremony at Constitution Hall near the White House, Clinton said this year's winners of the National Medal of Arts and the National Humanities Medal "defined in their own unique ways a part of who we are as a people and what we're about as a nation as we enter a new century and a new millennium."

Soul diva Aretha Franklin, humorist Garrison Keillor (above, right) and director Steven Spielberg received national arts medals Wednesday night in a ceremony at the White House.

The 1999 winners of the National Medal of the Arts are:

- Arts patron Irene Diamond, who gave more than $73 million to the arts through foundations and personal gifts.

- Aretha Franklin, the "Queen of Soul" who has won 17 Grammys.

- Designer and architect Michael Graves, who created some of century's most admired structures, including the Riverbend Music Center in Cincinnati.

- Odetta, the "Queen of American Folk Music," who created a groundbreaking sound with her voice and guitar.

- The Juilliard School of performing arts in New York, which includes among its alumni comedian-actor Robin Williams, cellist Yo-Yo Ma and jazz and classical trumpeter and composer Wynton Marsalis.

- Writer and director Norman Lear, who created some of the century's most popular television social comedies, including "All in the Family," "Good Times" and "The Jeffersons."

- Actress and producer Rosetta LeNoire, who boasts a more than 60-year career that includes numerous movies, Broadway productions and TV shows, including "Family Matters" and "Amen."

- Arts administrator Harvey Lichtenstein, who was president of the Brooklyn Academy of Music for 32 years and established it as a leading arts center.

- Singer Lydia Mendoza, who brought Mexican-American music to the public's attention and became famous in Latin America with her signature song, "Mal Hombre."

- Sculptor George Segal, who made a career of sculpting environments, including a life-sized bread line at the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial in Washington.

- Tallichief, who was the New York City Ballet's longtime prima ballerina.

The 1999 winners of the National Humanities Medals are:

- Librarian Patricia M. Battin, who organized a national campaign to save millions of decaying books by putting their content on microfilm.

- Pulitzer Prize-winning writer and journalist Taylor Branch, whose books made him an authority on the civil rights movement.

- New South scholar Jacquelyn Dowd Hall, who founded the Southern Oral History Project at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill.

- Keillor, best-selling author and radio host of "A Prairie Home Companion."

- Television anchor and editor Jim Lehrer, host of a public television news program named for him.

- Political philosopher and author John Rawls, renowned for his views on justice, basic rights and equal opportunity.

- Academy Award-winning filmmaker Spielberg.

- Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright August Wilson whose plays, including "The Piano Lesson" and "Fences," explore the black experience in America.

It's that time of the year — With the arrival of fall and the first nip in the air, people's thoughts turn to — flu. Terry Hazlett of WorkSmart administers a flu shot to an employee of a Hereford company. Many area businesses and retirement homes contact WorkSmart to give flu shots to help prevent the illness, which is most prevalent during winter. The elderly and young are most susceptible to the illness.

Court reinstates civil suit against gun maker

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The firearms industry may have been dealt a serious blow in California, where an appellate court has become the first in the nation to allow a gunmaker to be sued for a criminal act.

The 1st District Court of Appeal on Wednesday reinstated a civil suit against Navegar Inc., the maker of two TEC-DC9 semiautomatic pistols that were used by a deranged gunman to kill eight people in a San Francisco office building in 1993.

The judges acknowledged that no other appeals court has ever ruled that manufacturers of legal, non-defective guns can be sued and held liable for the criminal misuse of the weapons.

But they said the San Francisco case was unusual. The gun's firepower, the lack of any apparent legitimate civilian use, and the company's marketing practices could lead a jury to conclude that the manufacturer should have foreseen that it would be used in a massacre, the court said.

The ruling stopped well short of authorizing suits by any gun victim against a manufacturer — claims dismissed by every other state and federal appellate court to have considered them.

But a gun-control group that represented families of the victims was quick to cast its victory in broad terms.

The case has "far-reaching implications" for lawsuits by local governments accusing gunmakers of negligently designing, manufacturing and distributing their products,

Bush wary of Perot's plans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republican presidential candidate George W. Bush hopes Ross Perot doesn't hold grudges.

Some Bush backers are suggesting that allies of Perot are urging Pat Buchanan to drop out of the Republican presidential race and seek the Reform Party nomination. They fear a Buchanan-Perot alliance would create a strong third-party challenge that could siphon votes from Bush if he won the GOP nomination.

Bush, the GOP front-runner, was asked if he agreed that Perot was out to get him.

"It's hard for me to tell. I hope not," he said at a Wednesday news conference. "I hope that people enter the political process with what's best for the country in mind (and) not ... make decisions based on person vendettas. I don't know Mr. Perot well enough to be able to tell you whether he's got personal animus toward me."

Yet he recalled with some detail Perot's last-minute endorsement of Texas Gov. Ann Richards in her 1994 campaign against Bush. He defeated her to win his first term.

And he gave Perot partial credit for President Clinton's 1992 victory over his father, former President George Bush. Perot, the Reform Party founder, drew 19 percent of the vote, much of it from the elder Bush.

That same year, Buchanan

GEORGE W. BUSH

"I hope that people enter the political process with what's best for the country in mind (and) not ... make decisions based on person vendettas."

nearly upset the incumbent president in the New Hampshire primaries.

"I've always thought it was hard for my dad to get traction in the race because Patrick J. Buchanan and then Ross Perot inflicted a series of cuts," Bush said.

Perot, who had been at odds with the elder Bush over prisoner-of-war issues, holds no grudges, according to Reform Party chairman Russell Verney.

"If they're looking for the death of a thousand cuts in 1992, they should start with 'Read my lips' and follow up with the worst executed election in the history of the country," he said.

Buchanan and Perot are expected to talk this week.

Bradley challenge hits Gore in the warchest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Al Gore's presidential campaign, facing a strong challenge from Bill Bradley, spent almost as much as it raised in the last three months.

Gore's campaign raised around $6.5 million and spent about $6 million, leaving him with between $9.5 million and $10 million in the bank, according to senior advisers who spoke Wednesday on condition of anonymity.

The campaign disclosed its numbers on the same day Gore announced he was shifting the operation from Washington to Nashville, Tenn. He called the move "an opportunity for transformation."

Bradley was expected to release his fund-raising figures today. The Gore campaign was braced to learn that the challenger had a better fund-raising quarter than Gore.

Campaigns are required to report to the Federal Election Commission by Oct. 15 how much money they have raised and spent since July 1.

Republican front-runner George W. Bush has raised more than $53 million, including more than $16 million between July and September. The figure excludes money raised through direct mail solicitations and from people who contribute on their own.

Beatty still coy about 2000 run

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actor-director Warren Beatty says he won't let "monied, honeyed voices of ridicule and reaction" stop him from considering a presidential bid.

In a speech to Hollywood's liberal elite Wednesday night, Beatty drew several rounds of applause, but didn't deliver what the crowd came to hear: A yes or no about his presidential intentions.

He did promise to champion the causes of American liberalism whether he runs or not. He criticized the Democratic Party for looking Republican, and questioned whether Democratic presidential candidates Al Gore and Bill Bradley are true to the party's tradition.

Writing want ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.
For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:
• Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
• Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
• Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
• Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

IMF chief says complacency leads to crises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future global financial crises can be avoided if governments show determination to avoid complacency, Michel Camdessus, the head of the International Monetary Fund, said today.
"We will be making a grave error if we let the return of relative calm in financial markets and the improvement in world growth prospects lead us to believe that further reforms are not necessary," Camdessus said.

Camdessus spoke at the closing session of this year's IMF-World Bank meetings a day after President Clinton said the United States would forgive all bilateral debt those poor countries eligible for a new $27 billion debt relief initiative launched this week by the two organizations.

The world has changed considerably since the IMF-World Bank meetings a year ago, when the global financial system was in turmoil as a result of the Asian currency crisis, Russia's economic collapse and the near failure of a large U.S. hedge fund.

Camdessus said governments now are "obliged to deliver on what has been promised ... these steps have created a strong new impetus to the war on poverty."

"We have firmly established poverty as a permanent, pressing, urgent matter on the agenda of the international financial community," he said.

Camdessus also said governments must reform the global financial system and involve the private sector in preventing and resolving crises.

World Bank President James Wolfensohn welcomed Clinton's debt relief pledge and called on governments to do more to help the world's poor. Clinton made U.S. debt forgiveness for 36 poor countries, mostly in sub-Saharan Africa, contingent on their using the money saved for health care, education and other basic human needs.

He told finance ministers and central bank governors from 182 nations the United States could not ask these countries to choose between making interest payments and investing in their children's future.

"I am directing my administration to make it possible to forgive 100 percent of the debt these countries owe to the United States, when needed to help them finance basic human needs and when the money will be used to do so," Clinton said Wednesday.

Advocates for the poor nations said Clinton's announcement would put pressure on the other industrialized nations to offer 100 percent debt relief.

The president's offer came on the last full day of the annual meetings of the IMF and the World Bank.

Clinton urged Congress to see to it that America does its part in helping fund the initiative by approving the $970 million he requested last week.

"I have asked for the money and shown how it would be paid for," Clinton said in a remark that was greeted by applause, "and I ask the Congress to keep our country shouldering its fair share of the burden."

The U.S. write-off mostly will benefit countries in sub-Saharan Africa that owe huge amounts of money but have few exports to offset their debt payments, Treasury Secretary Lawrence Summers said.

German novelist wins Nobel

Grass best-known writer of post-war era

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Günter Grass, Germany's best-known writer of the post-World War II generation, won the 1999 Nobel Prize in literature today.

The announcement brought a smile from the 71-year-old author. "I'm happy," he told journalists after emerging with his wife and dog from his house in Behlendorf in northern Germany.

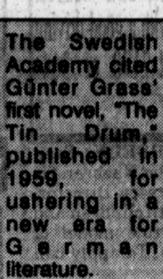

The Swedish Academy cited Grass' first novel, "The Tin Drum," published in 1959, for ushering in a new era for German literature.

"Here he comes to grips with the enormous task of reviewing contemporary history by recalling the disavowed and the forgotten: the victims, losers and lies that people wanted to forget because they had once believed in them. ...," the academy said.

"It is not too audacious to assume that 'The Tin Drum' will become one of the enduring literary works of the 20th century."

tail with fantastical images and events, Grass established his reputation with the "The Tin Drum," "Cat and Mouse" and "Dog Years," published between 1959 and 1963. Today's announcement of the 1999 literature laureate was a break from tradition. The Swedish Academy usually names the winner on a Thursday in October. It did not say why the winner was announced sooner this year.

The academy, founded in 1786, has 18 members, although one spot is vacant and three members don't participate. Academy members, former recipients and a select group of literature and language professors and specialists in the field may suggest candidates.

Jose Saramago of Portugal won last year's Nobel Prize in literature.

Nobel Prize winners receive their prizes, this year worth $960,000, on Dec. 10.

Reagan biographer stands by his book

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan biography few have read but everyone seems to have an opinion about is finally on bookshelves, and the author says he won't lose sleep if reviews are as biting as the preliminary naysaying.

"I'm very happy and secure with what I've done," declared Edmund Morris in an interview.

At least someone is calm. Morris' unflinching if often admiring look at Ronald Reagan has members of the former president's family coming out on both sides of the question of whether the authorized biographer squandered his quality time at the Reagan White House.

Former aides are nervous and at times openly critical of the way Reagan is treated. And historians are scratching their heads over Morris' unorthodox approach of making himself a fictional character in Reagan's early years and inventing a few other people, too.

Meantime, Random House long ago sunk a reported $3 million into "Dutch: A Memoir of Ronald Reagan" as an advance for Morris and waited — and waited — for 14 years.

Morris said he welcomes the controversy over the literary technique but is "distressed" that some people close to Reagan have attacked him as being mean to the ex-president.

"We're at the gateway of the 21st century now and it's time for biography to explore new fields," he said in a telephone interview from New York, where he begins a tour timed with today's release of the biography.

But he said critics went after him based only on leaked snippets or excerpts in this week's Newsweek. "Most of them have no real indication of what the book's like," he said.

Reagan's eldest son, Michael, praised Morris' efforts Wednesday even though he has only had time to flip through the book and see the author on "60 Minutes" on Sunday.

Morris' bottom line was that Reagan was a "great president," Michael Reagan said. "That's all I worry about. The other stories are stories."

"I called him after '60 Minutes' and I said, 'I thought you did a very credible job and it was very good.'"

But his sister Maureen said this week she won't read the book because it seemed Morris "wasted an incredible and irreplaceable opportunity" to explain her father. "I have decided that I have read all the fiction about Ronald Reagan I intend to read," she said.

"So much for the maturity of her judgment," Morris snapped back.

Morris also said the two other Reagan children were supportive: that Patti Davis called and was "hugely enthu-
