Cold front moves in

The Associated Press

A cold front that penetrated deep into Texas was expected to push midweek low temperatures to below freezing in parts of the state.

The frontal boundary stretched today across the Coastal Plains, with skies behind the system mostly Gusty north winds followed the front as cool, dry air surged southward across the Great Plains. Wind speeds ranged from near 10 mph in West and South Texas to near 15 mph with gusts exceeding 25 mph in the north. At Guadalupe Pass, the reported speed was 40 mph.

Early-morning temperatures dipped into the 20s in the Panhandle and upper 40s in parts of North Texas, with 50s to the south. It was 25 degrees at Dalhart, 47 at Junction, 58 at Dryden and 59 at Harlingen.

Highs will warm into the 70s over the northern half of the state and the 80s in deep South Texas, with 50s and 60s elsewhere.

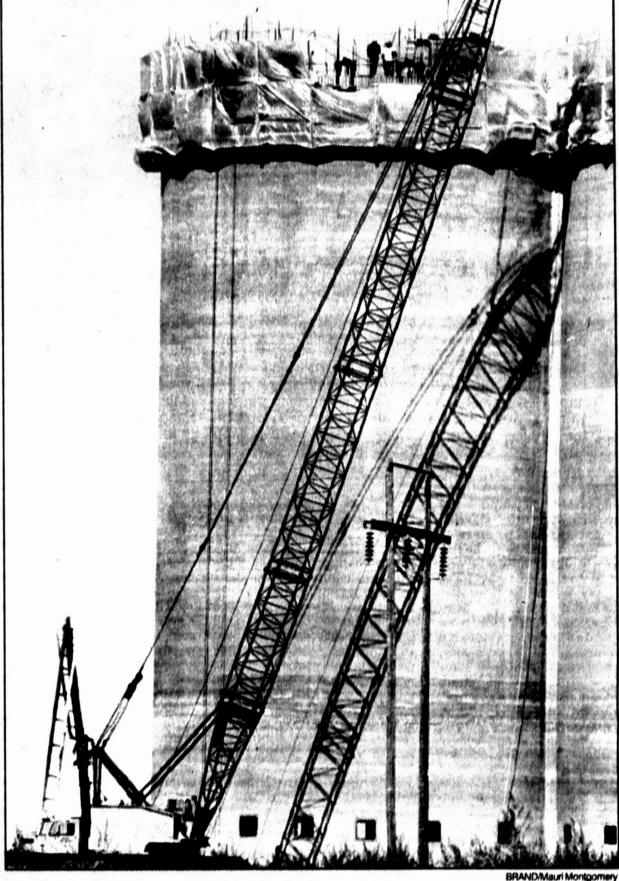

With mostly clear skies tonight, temperatures should cool into the 30s with a few 20s in the Southwest Texas mountains and 50s elsewhere.

Skies will be mostly clear through Wednesday, when highs will range from the 60s and 70s area-wide.

COMING UP

The first of at least four grain elevators is taking shape at the site of a planned Archer Daniels Midland grain complex. When completed, the facility will also include a rail spur designed to handle the loading and unloading of more than 100 cars of grain within 15 hours. The complex is estimated to cost about $6 million to construct.

City eyes permit for a landfill

■ Nolen gets go-ahead to begin the lengthy application process

After facing a packed house at their last meeting, Hereford city commissioners were left pretty much to themselves Monday night as they took up a non-controversial agenda.

At the Oct. 18 meeting, the commissioners had a full house, as they heard complaints and suggestions about the city's problem with trash in alleys.

There was nothing of similar community interest on Monday night's agenda, as the commissioners authorized Chester Nolen to begin the application process for a Type I AE landfill on city-owned property.

In a letter to the commissioners. Nolen noted the city decided in 1994 to close its Type I landfill because of costs associated with the federal Clean Water Act.

"The city would have had the expense of lining the landfill with clay or a polyvinyl material in addition to a leachate collection system and monitoring wells. The cost of the compliance ... would have exceeded $400,000 annually. just for the landfill," Nolen

The total budget for the city Health Department is $678,000, which includes $155,000 in tipping fees and $80,000 for fuel and maintenance. The city administration contends about $205,000 per year is saved by hauling waste to the commercial landfill at Canyon.

However, the Texas Natural Resource Conservation

Commission (TNRCC) eased the rules regarding landfills in arid areas.

Under the TNRCC's revision, a city would be allowed to operate a Type I arid exempt (AE) landfill in addition to other landfills that aren't required to comply with all of the more stringent regulations governing the non-exempt landfills.

This means that a significant cost factor (i.e.leachate collection, ground water monitoring, methane gas monitoring and ply or insitu liner) is thus eliminated, making the operation of a Type I landfill feasible," Nolen wrote.

"I have begun exploring the possibility of locating a Type I AE Landfill on city owned property and thus avoiding the cost of hauling 20 tons per day to a commercial landfill. This cost savings amounts to about $130,000 annually if we are successful in obtaining a new permit," he continued.

Nolen said the permit process could take six months to two years, depending on complications associated with geotechnical surveys and/or protests from adjacent property owners.

The commissioners agreed with Nolen's recommendation, and authorized Oller Engineering to prepare the necessary documents to launch the ap plication process.

The commissioners also approved a standard contract with Oller Engineering Inc. for the preparation of a wastewater treatment facility plan. The plan is required by the Texas Water Development Board for funding. The company's fee for the project is $40,000. The project will include pay

Texans going to the polls

Staff and wire reports

Seventeen proposed constitutional amendments were on the ballot today as voters went to the polls in what state officials predicted would be a low-turnout election.

Polls will close at 7 p.m.

Deaf Smith County's constitutional election turnout is not something to brag about. By mid-morning, Precinct 3 had reported the largest turnout, with 25 voters. Precincts 4,5,6 and 9 fell in last place with just seven voters making to the polls.

As Precinct 2 Alternate Judge Betty Cicero said, "It's not the most popular election." Similar sentiments were expressed from each other precinct. Ben and Vondell Plummer, of Precinct 3, turned out for the election.

"We usually vote at every election," Ben said. "I think the amendments we are voting on are very important," Vondell added. The most voters were expected in Houston and San Antonio, where the ballots included local races and referendums that could help bring both cities new basketball are-

Clinton pledges to veto education spending bill

WASHINGTON (AP) -With President Clinton already poised to veto one last, huge spending bill, White House officials have a new reason to oppose it, saying it would allow federal funds to be used as vouchers for private

The Senate planned to vote today on a $314 billion measure financing education, labor and health programs for fiscal 2000. Republican leaders were expecting a close vote that would ship the mea-initial congressional work on the last of the 13 annual spending bills for the new fiscal year.

The president had long threatened to veto the bill because instead of providing sure to Clinton, completing $1.4 billion he wants for hiring teachers exclusively, it has $1.2 billion that states could use for teachers or other educational purposes. Clinton also opposes its inclusion of a 0.97 percent across-the-board cut in all 13 spending bills.

In an Education Department memo, officials said they believe the measure would let the mon be used for vouchers, a con ept the White House, most Democrats and some moderate Republicans oppose.

'Bucks' are out

No more green. The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is not redeeming the green "Hereford Bucks."

In January 1999, the chamber changed the program, issuing "Hereford Bucks" in serial number order and with an expiration date. At the same time, the color of the "Hereford Bucks" was changed to purple, replac-ing the green "Bucks" that had been in use.

However, some mer-chants continued to accept the green "Bucks." In a letter to local merchants, chamber Retail Business Committee cochairs Renee Huckert and David Jorgenson wrote the chamber will no longer redeem the green "Bucks."

Also, "we ask you to inform all of your em-ployees ... to be sure and check the expiration date on all 'Herford Bucks' ... We also will not redeem expired 'Hereford Bucks' at the chamber," they

The chamber also has suggested merchants place a notice on counters or cash registers that ex-pired "Hereford Bucks" will not be accepted.

Hereford Recycles Day

Hereford Beautification Alliance and the Community Christian School Service Club will host Hereford Recycles Day Saturday, Nov. 6 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the St. Anthony's

The event is being held in conjunction with local, state and national efforts to promote recycling awareness. Participants will be eleigible to sign up to win a national prize of the American Green Dream Home valued at more than $200,000 as well as a trip to Disney World and computers for personal and school use.

Acceptable items will include car batteries, bundled newspapers, aluminum and other metals.

Taking out the chill -- Hereford High School juniors Libby Brockman, Pam Klein, Trey Bezner and Lyndzie Torbert display the stadium bags being sold by the class. The bags have an elastic waist, front zipper and plastic bottom. They are made from a warm, washable quilted fabric and are perfect for football, baseball, tennis, track and golf seasons. They come in maroon, black, red, yellow, and royal blue. For more information or to place an order contact Jeri Bezner at 276-5656. The bags will only be on sale for another few weeks.

Cub-mobile lineup

On-your-mark -- Some 43 Cub Scouts from Pack 50 braved the cold wind Saturday to participate in the annual Cub-mobile races. Scouts and their parents worked diligently to prepare what they hoped would be the winning cub-mobile. The motorless vehicles lined up at the top of the hill at Veterans Park and were powered by nothing more than the wind. Lee Betzen claimed top honors in the timed trials with Nathan Paschel taking second and Mitchell Cates coming in third.

EPA warns of pesticide over-use

WASHINGTON (AP) - Buy a can of bug spray and the chemical chlorpyrifos is likely to be in it. Spray the lawn for insects and it's there too. And it's on the flea collar around the cat's neck.

Found in more than 800 products, the pesticide is now under review by the Environmental Protection Agency, which in a preliminary risk assessment says it's so pervasive it potentially could pose health risks to people, especially children.

The assessment "indicated that risks from the use of chlorpyrifos in residential settings, as well as its risk to applicators, are of concern, the EPA said in a statement Thursday after the agency put the preliminary assessment on its Web site.

By next summer, EPA officials will decide whether it will require additional restrictions by the manufacture such limiting its use or dosage — or possibly ban the insecticide, which is sold under the trade names Dursban and Lorsban.

"This is a preliminary risk assessment," EPA spokesperson Kim Ruby said. "We're putting it out now for expert and public comment and it will go through a rigorous review process. While an environmental group pressed for the chemical's removal from the market, its producer, a subsidiary of Dow Chemical Co., argued that the preliminary EPA finding contained "numerous errors and omissions" that exaggerated the risk. Chlorpyrifos is one of 40 organophosphate pesticides under scrutiny as the EPA seeks to determine the health risks they pose, especially to children. The assessment stopped short of saying there was a clear public danger.

Still, it is one of the most widely used pesticides, with between 20 million and 24 million tons applied annually, according to the EPA.

Produced by Dow AgroSciences of Indianapolis, the pesticide can be found in everything from pet collars to insecticides applied to food crops, lawns and gardens. The chemical also is used to kill termites and indoors as a bug killer in hospitals, homes and daycare centers.

The products are so "widely used by both homeowners and pest control operators and lawn care operators" that "the majority of the U.S. population is exposed to chlorpyrifos," the EPA review found.

Using data from the EPA assessment, Todd Hettenbach, a pesticide analyst for the Environmental Working Group, said people applying the insecticide on a variety of residential uses are exposed from two to 17 times the standard considered safe by the govern-

Quit telling people how to their I'm lives. speaking on behalf of all the smokers out there. The way smokers are treated today is outrageous! We are law-abiding citizens who make an honest living and pay our taxes, but in this country, if you smoke, you are made to feel like a criminal.

What gives YOU the right to say, "Smokers stink"? In the building where I work, we are forced to smoke outdoors in freezing weather. Is pneumonia freezing weather. Is pneumonia better than lung cancer? Your answer to all of this is, "Well, just quit." Well, I don't WANT to quit. I enjoy it. If I want to smoke, I'll smoke. I'm not breaking any laws. It's legal. And please don't read me the riot act about what it's doing to my health. That's MY business, not yours. Our society has created more psychological damage to smokers than second-hand smoke could possibly do hand smoke could possibly do to your health. And you, Ann Landers, have been the cheerleader. You owe me and all the smokers of the world an apology. — Disgusted in Cleveland

Dear Clevelands OK. I apologize — for trying to save you smokers billions of dollars in medical bills, burned buildings and the agony of emphysema and lung cancer. I gladly accept the title of cheerleader against this killer addiction. I cannot think of a higher compliment.

Dear Ann Landers: As a longtime wearer of hearing aids, I would like to say I have developed a rather keen sense of humor about my deficiency.

People with normal hearing do not realize that the hearingimpaired often hear something totally different than what is actually said to them. This is best illustrated by a story I heard, which may or may not have actually happened. Either way, it amused me.

Three elderly men, all wearing hearing aids in both ears, were sitting on the back steps of a nursing home. They were quite silent, when suddenly, one gentleman, wanting to make small talk, said, "Boy, it sure is windy today." One of the other gentlemen replied, "No, I don't think it's Wednesday. I'm pretty sure it's Thursday." The third man started to get out of his chair and said, "Yes, I'm thirsty, too. Let's go get a drink.'

This is a good example of how we often hear, incorrectly, what is said to us. I hope you will share it with your readers. Woodrow in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dear Woodrow: I have heard several funny stories about hearing-impaired folks and how they have misheard something or other. I especially like yours, however, because I didn't have to clean it up to print it. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: My 72year-old mother has been married for 35 years to my stepfa-ther, "Myron." According to Mom, the first few years of their marriage were happy and loving. But the closeness changed soon after, and they have been living at opposite ends of their duplex for most of their marriage.

Ann, my mother always had a number of cats running around in her home, but over the last few years, she has begun taking in every stray that comes along. At one point, we removed 23 cats from her bedroom. Her house smells so terrible that many family members do not visit. They say, "You can't breathe in there." Also, my mother is always sick with "colds."

Need help to pick All-Millenium teams

The 21st century is just a couple of months away and everyone is scrambling over happen once midnight strikes on Jan. 1, 2000. I say let the new year come, just like it has every other 1,999 years in this century. But as the new millennium comes around, I would like the help of the Hereford community to recognize the best athletes that have come and gone throughout Hereford High School.

If anybody is interested, I would like for you, Hereford fans of all ages, to help me to build the All-Millennium teams for football, basketball, baseball, cross country, tennis, golf and track and field. This can also include the coaches that have given more to the success of Hereford High athletics.

This decision is in your hands.

For football, Hereford has the chance to have fun with it. You get to choose from the following:

 Two quarterbacks. Four running backs.

Four wide receivers. Eight offensive linemen.

 Four defensive linemen. - Four linebackers.

 Six defensive backs. One kicker and one punter. - Two special teams play-

For volleyball, Herd fans may choose:

-Four hitters. Five defensive specialists. Three setters.

For basketball, choose:

-Three posts or centers.

- Five guards. - Five forwards.

For track and field, choose:

Best male and female long jumper.

Best male and female high jumper.

Best male and female throwers.

- Best male and female sprinters. Best male and female hurdlers. - Best male and female middle-distance runners (400, 800 meters). - Best male and female distance runners (1,600, 3,200 meters).

In these categories, select two each from each event and each sex.

In tennis, select two from the following: Best male singles player.

Best female singles player. - Best male doubles team.

Best female doubles team. In cross-country and golf, select four athletes in each sport, two boys and two girls. In baseball, select from the following:

- Five pitchers. - Ten infielders. - Six outfielders.

- Three catchers. From these lists, all you have to do is select the number of athletes you think were the best of the century.

It could be your father, uncle, neighbor, daughter, son, husband, wife, mother, aunt, old classmate, co-worker, someone who has already passed away but still made a huge impact back in the day. Well you get the point.

All you have to do is send your nominees to Sports Editor Yuri Soto, Hereford Brand at 313 N. Lee, Hereford, Texas,

You can call them in at (806) 364-2030 and e-mail at hbnewsChotmail.com.

This is your chance, Hereford, to recognize a piece of history. Those you nominate may be already well known, and others may have been forgotten through time. But they will have a great place in history.

Let the new season begin

Middle hitters Ashley Fangman (left) and Sarah Griffin (right) will be a big key part on the net for Hereford if they hope to make a long playoff run. Griffin, Fangman and the Lady Whitefaces will face the Lady Eagles of Pecos tonight at 7 p.m. at Seminole High School in Seminole. The winner of this match will face the winner of the Pampa-El Paso Bowie match today, which is scheduled for 7 p.m. tonight at Ector Junior High in Odessa.

'Sweetness' Payton dies at 45

By Nancy Armour

The Associated Press

CHICAGO (AP) - The running back they called "Sweetness" wasn't the strongest or the fastest or the biggest.

What Walter Payton had was a huge heart, and it was big enough to make up for any qualities he lacked.

"I wish there was another word I could think of other than greatness," former Chi-cago Bears linebacker Mike Singletary said. "That's what comes to mind. Greatness."

Payton, the NFL's leading career rusher, died Monday of bile duct cancer that was discovered earlier this year during treatment for a rare liver disease. He was 45. Payton rushed for 16,726 yards in his 13-year career, one of sport's most awesome records. Barry Sanders ensured it would be one of the most enduring, too, retiring in July despite being just 1,458 yards shy of breaking the mark.

"I want to set the record so high that the next person who tries for it, it's going to bust his heart." Payton once said.

Payton disclosed in February that he was suffering from primary sclerosing cholangitis and needed a liver transplant. His physician, Dr. Greg Gores of the Mayo Clinic, said Payton was subsequently diagnosed with cancer of the bile duct, a vessel that carries digestive fluids from the liver to the small intestine. "The malignancy was very advanced and progressed very rapidly," Gores said. Because the cancer had spread so rapidly outside his liver, a transplant "was no longer tenable," the doctor said.

Other doctors said transplants are never attempted when a patient has liver can-

"It's a big shock because he was the strongest man I met in my entire life," said Jim McMahon, Payton's teammate from 1982-87 and quarterback of the 1985 Super Bowl champions. Greatness wasn't preordained when Payton arrived in the NFL in 1975. A twotime Little All-American at Jackson State, he drew immediate comparisons to Bears Hall of Fame running back Gayle Sayers, who'd retired four years earlier.

But Payton steadfastly rejected the comparison, insisting, "I'm no Gale Sayers."

He wasn't. While Sayers danced around defenders, Payton was more apt to run them over. His nickname, "Sweetness," was a tribute to his personality more than his running style. He took on tacklers with an aggressive, stiff-armed style that belied his size.

"He gave me a new respect for running backs," Singletary said. "He was the first running back I had ever seen who could've really been a great defensive player."

At just 5-foot-10 and 202 pounds, he was smaller than typical power running backs. But he played much bigger.

He rushed for 679 yards and seven touchdowns in his rookie season, and the next year had the first of what would be 10 1,000-yard seasons, rushing for 1,390 yards and 13 touchdowns.

In 1977, just his third year in the NFL, Payton won the first of two MVP awards with the most productive season of his career. He rushed for 1,852 yards and 14 touchdowns, both career highs. His 5.5 yards his career.

Against Minnesota, he ran for 275 yards, an NFL singlegame record that still stands. And in 1984, he broke Jim Brown's longstanding rushing record of 12,312 yards.

In tribute to Payton, Lambeau Field in Green Bay fell silent before Monday night's game between the Packers and Seattle Seahawks

"He was a guy of small stature but gigantic heart," said Eric Dickerson, third on the NFL's career rushing list behind Payton and Sanders. "He was an icon to all the guys who played that position. ... I loved to watch him play."

Even his teammates were amazed by him.

The guy didn't want to lose. didn't want to be tackled, didn't want to miss a game," McMahon said. "To miss one game in his career was phenomenal. I couldn't figure out per carry also was the best of how he could do it week after had him hide a hamburger week."

After carrying mediocre Chicago teams for most of his career, Payton saw the Bears finally make it to the Super Bowl in 1985. He rushed for 1,551 yards and nine touchdowns as the Bears went 15-1 in the regular season, and also caught 49 passes for 483 yards receiving and two TDs.

Chicago beat New England 46-10 in the Super Bowl, but Payton didn't score in the Widely celebrated in Chicago, he was the city's highest-profile athlete in the years after Cubs Hall of Famer Ernie Banks retired and before Bulls superstar Michael Jordan emerged.

"Walter was a Chicago icon long before I arrived there," Jordan said. "He was a great man off the field, and his onthe-field accomplishments speak for themselves. I spent a lot of time with Walter, and I truly feel that we have lost a great man."

Part of Payton's greatness was his selflessness off the field. As word of his death spread, sports radio talk shows in Chicago were flooded with stories of his kindness and generosity. One woman told of how Payton put her mother at ease at a charity dinner, asking to see photos of her fam-

A well-known prankster, he set off firecrackers in the rookie locker room at the start of training camp. He occasionally would answer the phone at the Bears' reception desk.

The jokes continued even as he was dying. Last week, he purposely sent former Bears running back Matt Suhey to wrong addresses on a trip to Singletary's house, and then and a malt in Singletary's ga-

"It was his duty to bring humor and light in any situation," Singletary said. "The Bears had had some tough years, and Walter was always the guy who, no matter how tough it was, would always make you feel great about playing the game and playing for the Bears. "As a person, he was a bright spot for any darkness that appeared." Which is why it was unfathomable to see Payton looking so gaunt and frail at the emotional news conference in February when he disclosed his liver disease. "Am I scared? Hell yeah.

I'm scared. Wouldn't you be scared?" he asked. "But it's not in my hands anymore. It's in God's hands." He made few public appearances after that. Though he knew in recent weeks he was dying, he didn't talk about it. Instead, he spent as much time as he could with his family and close friends. On Wednesday night, his son, Jarrett, who plays for the University of Miami, was called home.

"From the day in February when my dad told the world of his liver disease, the outpouring of love, support and prayers from around the world astounded even him," Jarrett Payton said, holding back tears as he read a statement at the Bears' headquarters in Lake Forest, Ill.

Born July 25, 1954, at Columbia, Miss., Payton played college football at Jackson State, where he set nine school records, scored 66

Seattle shocks Packers

Holmgren's new charges force seven turnovers on his old ones

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) -During his seven years in Green Bay, Mike Holmgren helped make Brett Favre a superstar. In Holmgren's first trip back, his Seattle defense made Favre look less than ordinary.

Led by Cortez Kennedy Shawn Springs, and Holmgren's Seahawks forced seven turnovers, six by Favre, as they beat the Packers 27-7 Monday night.

Jon Kitna chipped in with touchdown passes to Derrick Mayes and Shawn Dawkins, Ricky Watters ran for 125 yards in 30 carries, and Springs returned a blocked punt 61 yards for a touchdown.

Green Bay, which lost for only the second time in 35 games at Lambeau Field, also contributed to its own demise with 10 penalties for 103 yards. That included two personal fouls on one play against offensive tackle Earl Dotson, who was so frustrated trying to block Kennedy that he got thrown out of the yards and threw four inter-

Holmgren's decision to decline a penalty that would have taken the Packers out of field goal range led to Seattle's first touchdown. So Ryan Longwell tried a 50yarder, King blocked it and Springs took it back 61 yards for the game's first score.

Cubs hire Baylor as new manager cago Cubs announce Don Baylor as their new manager for next season.

The Atlanta Braves hitting coach replaces Jim Riggleman, who was fired last month. Baylor is the Cubs' 46th manager and the first black to lead the team.

Baylor inherits a team that went from the 1998 NL wild card to last in the NL Central. Despite a $60 million payroll, the Cubs went 67-95 in 1999, third-worst in baseball ahead of only the Florida Marlins (64-98) and Minnesota Twins (63-97).

And history isn't on Chicago's side, either. The Cubs haven't won a World Series since 1908 and have made the playoffs only three times since 1945, their last World Series appearance.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 20 cents a word for first insertion ($4.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

Times	Rate	Min
I day per word	.20	$4.00
2 days per word	.31	$6:20
3 days per word	,42	$8.40
4 days per word	.53	$10,60
5 days per word	.64	$12.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines -- those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphs, all capital letters. Rates are $5.30 per column inch.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are $5.30 per column inch.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Writing want ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

· Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.

· Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to neach you.

times to reach you.

Leticia Van de Putte and Leo Alvarado Jr., both Democrats from San Antonio, are vying for the office as are two Republicans and a third Democrat.

In Houston, Lee Brown has only token opposition in his bid for a second term as mayor, while voters in Harris County are being asked to approve several ballot issues.

Those include whether to approve a $387 million bond issue to expand the Port of Houston and another to allow rental car and hotel occupancy taxes to help pay for a $160 million downtown arena for the Houston Rockets basketball team and hockey.

Of the 17 amendments being decided this year, only a few were the subject of television ads.

One of the amendments, Proposition 1, could be put to use if Texas Gov. George W. Bush succeeds in his bid to be elected president next year.

That amendment would clarify the line of succession to the governor's office. It would require the lieutenant governor to forfeit that office if filling a permanent vacancy as governor. The lieutenant governor's post then would be filled within 30 days by an election among the 31 sena-

Navy divers join search effort

NEWPORT, R.I.— Grieving relatives hoping for answers and Navy divers searching for clues are converging at this famous resort, now the command post for the vast investigation into the crash of EgyptAir Flight 990. More than 100 family members from Egypt were expected in Newport by tonight, joining about 80 relatives who arrived Monday. Also steaming toward the area was the USS Grapple, carrying divers who will try to retrieve the plane's flight data and cockpit voice recorders.

A signal believed to be from one of the "black boxes" was detected Monday by Coast Guard searchers, who also found the first large piece of wreckage from the plane. The search is concentrated 60 miles south of Nantucket Island, Mass., in water some 270 feet deep.

The boxes could provide key clues for hundreds of investigators trying to deter-mine why the Cairo-bound Boeing 767 plunged 33,000 feet without warning into the sea early Sunday, not long after leaving Kennedy Inter-national Airport in New York. All 217 people on board were killed. The investigation is expected to take months and cover many areas, from potential human error and mechanical failure to the possibility of sabotage.

Loadors pay tributo to siain Israeli

OSLO, Norway - Pausing to draw strength from memories of Yitzhak Rabin, the fallen Israeli peacemaker, President Clinton is stepping up his pursuit of a final settlement between Israel and the Palestinians that would ensure his own legacy as a peacemaker.

By all accounts, Prime Minister Ehud Barak and Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat are not even close. But their negotiators will get down to bar-gaining next week over the thorniest of issues that divide their people, and Clinton as-sured them Monday, "There is nothing I would not do" to help out.

That could imply inviting them to the presidential Camp David retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland, where President Carter in 1978 pushed Egyptian and Israeli leaders into a landmark ac-"I wouldn't rule out any-thing," Clinton said, leaving logistical and other options open, although at this stage Barak and Arafat seem determined to take their future into their own hands. That means wrestling with Palestinian wishes for a state, for borders between Israel and whatever entity Arafat emerges with, the future of Jerusalem and refugees — all problems that may require the kind of mediation Clinton is offering.

He saw them separately here Monday. Then Barak and Arafat had a 90-minute, faceto-face session Monday night during which the prime min-ister assured Arafat he was prepared to make "courageous decisions," a diplomatic official told The Associated Press.

Company apologizes, to block tracking

WASHINGTON - The company behind wildly popular software for listening to music on computers is apologizing to consumers amid complaints that its program secretly col-lected details about the listening preferences of millions of its customers.
RealNetworks Inc. of Seattle

also said Monday it will distribute a small patch on its Web site for customers of its free "RealJukebox" software to block the tracking technology.

More than 12 million people use the software, which puts it among the world's most popular programs for listening to CDs and digital music on the Internet.

A security expert, Richard M. Smith of Brookline, Mass., found that the software secretly transmitted to the company's headquarters details about which music CDs each customer listens to and how many songs he copies, along with a serial number that could be used to identify him.

RealNetworks insisted it never stored the information, which would have been lucrative for marketing purposes.

"We made a mistake in not being clear enough to our users about what kinds of data was being generated and transmitted," said Rob Glaser, the company's chief executive. He said officials "deeply apolo-

The concept seems to vio-late the Coastal Act, the state's blueprint for protecting the shoreline.

Guadalupe is an economi-cally depressed agricultural town of about 6,500 residents, many of them Hispanic and Filipino. Besides simple, singlefamily homes, there are also boarded-up houses among the community's broccoli and cabbage fields.

Unocal has acknowledged its mistake, agreeing in 1998 to pay $43.8 million in one of California's biggest environmental settlements.

Disney plans to build a park in Hong Kong

HONG KONG - The Walt Disney Co. said today it will build a Disneyland theme park here - a $3.55 billion deal being financed mostly by Hong Kong as a bold wager to boost its economy with more tourism in the new millennium.

For Burbank, Calif.,-based Disney, Hong Kong will be-come a third international theme park location after Paris and Tokyo. Disney sees the deal as an opportunity to drum up more business in Asia, where executives say the entertainment giant's business is showing its strongest growth. The park will be a mix of East and West, centered around a traditional Magic Kingdom castle and featuring performances in Cantonese, Mandarin and English.

"It provides us with a fantastic opportunity to develop a Disney anchor here in Hong Kong," Steve Tight, a Disney vice president, said.

Gov. George W. Bush

Bush outlining education plan

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)
— Allowing teachers to reasonably enforce discipline and providing more character education for students would improve safety at America's schools, Gov. George W. Bush said today.

"When children and teenagers go to school afraid of being bullied or beaten or worse, it is the ultimate betrayal of adult responsibility," Bush said in a draft of a speech to be given today in Gorham, N.H.

He said states and districts should have to provide children the option of transferring out of schools that remain unsafe. Under his program, Bush said, "No parent in America — no matter their income — would be forced to send their children to a school where violence reigns."

The Texas governor was in New Hampshire to deliver his third major speech on education at a time that he needs to defend his front-runner status for the Republican presidential nomination and raise his profile in the state that holds the nation's first presidential primary Feb. 1.

Sen. John McCain of Arizona has been gaining ground on Bush in New Hampshire, with recent polls showing McCain with the support of roughly 25 percent and Bush with support in the low 40s.

In recent weeks, Bush skipped two candidate forums in New Hampshire because of schedule conflicts. But a close call when a truck-trafler overturned near his jogging path in Austin, Texas Monday didn't keep him away this time. Bush suffered minor injuries to his right leg and hip.

In his education safety plan, Bush proposed a law that would protect school officials from federal lawsuits when trying to enforce discipline reasonably.

"The real problem comes not when children challenge the rules, but when adults don't defend the rules," he said.

"Many schools, intimidated by the threat of lawsuits, have watered down their standards of behavior," he said. "In many cases, adults are in authority, but not in control."

In earlier education speeches, Bush called for making schools more accountable for poor performance and for giving parents more information on school performance and then offering them alternatives such as charter schools.

He said his education proposals are "bound by a thread of principle."

of principle."

"The federal government must be humble enough to stay out of the day-to-day operation of local schools," he said. "It must be wise enough to give states and school districts more authority and freedom. And it must be strong enough to require proven performance in return."

Bush's emphasis on character education, abstinence education and "zero tolerance" for disruptive students echo themes that have been prominent in the governor's efforts to reform schools in Texas.

WTAMU conference set to see student research

Special to The Brand

CANYON — College and university students from seven states will present results of their academic research during the 6th Annual Student Research Conference, which will be Friday at West Texas A&M University.

About 110 graduate and undergraduate students from 21 colleges and universities in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Ohio, Maryland and Illinois will participate in the conference, which will include 15- to 20-minute oral presentations of the students' work.

The conference features 10 categories in which students can compete: agriculture, business and management, communication, computer science, education, fine arts, literature and languages, social and behavioral sciences, and natural and physical sciences.

The conference will be sponsored by WTAMU, Amarillo Natural Resource Center for Plutonium, Plains National Bank and Killgore Research Center.

"The support of undergraduate research at the university by these sponsors greatly enhances the development of future researchers that will contribute to our ever-increasing world of knowledge," said Dr. Terri Giddens, chairman of the Student Research Conference Committee and associate profession of computer information systems. "The exponential growth of scientific knowledge has created many opportunities for research efforts."

The public is invited to attend the presentations, which are grouped in 90-minute periods beginning at 9 a.m., noon, 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. in the Jack B. Kelley Student Center and the Classroom Center.

Presentations will be judged and winners in each of the categories will receive cash prizes of $200, first place; $100, second place; and $50, third place. Winners will be announced at an awards banquet Friday evening.

Dr. J.G. "Jerry" Hunt will deliver the keynote address at the banquet. Hunt is a Paul Whitfield Horn professor of management, professor of health organization, management, and director of the Institute for Leadership Research at Texas Tech University, as well as author of various published articles, papers and book chapters.

The conference attracted 67 students representing 21 colleges and universities from four states in 1994.

Tyson Foods slates a recall of 129,000 pounds of fajitas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Concerned that people with dairy allergies might be harmed by its chicken fajitas, Tyson Foods Inc. is recalling 129,000 pounds of the product distributed nationwide.

The poultry company discovered that some of its fajitas contain the milk product whey, a known allergen, but the packaging does not list the ingredient, the Agriculture Department said Monday.

"Because of the potential hazard for people with milk allergies, we urge consumers to check their refrigerators and freezers," said Thomas J. Billy, an administrator with the USDA's food safety service. "If they find the recalled products, consumers should not eat them and should return them to the point of purchase." The recalled products are Tyson's "Restaurant Favorites Chicken Breast Fajitas" and Kirkwood's "Chicken Fajita Kit" in 26.6-ounce packages. Both products have "Est. P13137" on the end of their labels.

The date numbers printed on the recalled Tyson kits begin with 265, 267, 268 and 270. On the Kirkwood product, the numbers begin with 273, 279 and 280.

While no illnesses have been reported, people allergic or sensitive to milk products might have a moderate to severe reaction if they eat the faites.

products, consumers should not its Fayetteville, Ark., plant and eat them and should return distributed them nationwide.

The USDA advises anyone concerned about an illness or allergic reaction to contact a doctor immediately.

Consumers should return the products to store where they bought them. For more information, consumers can call USDA's meat and poultry hot line at 1-800-535-4555. The hot line is staffed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST Monday through Friday.

GOP front-runner hurt jogging

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. George W. Bush, the Republican presidential front-runner, sustained minor injuries to his right leg and hip Monday when he dived to avoid a truck trailer that overturned near his jogging path.

Bush was treated at the scene and later traveled to New Hampshire for a scheduled campaign swing, said Linda Edwards, Bush's press secretary.

Bush said he felt fine "If I

Bush said he felt fine. "If I needed to I could go out and run three miles," he said after arriving at the Berlin Airport in Milan, N.H.

Staff Sgt. Roscoe Hughey, a 39 year-old Texas Department of Public Safety agent who was accompanying Bush on a bicycle, received bruises to his left side, DPS spokeswoman Tela Mange said. He was treated at the Brackenridge Hospital emergency room and released about four hours later, said hospital spokeswoman Stephanie Elsea.

Bush was running on the hike-and-bike trail around Town Lake in downtown Austin when the accident occurred about 12:06 p.m, according to Ms. Edwards and the Austin Police Department.

A truck pulling a dumpsterlike trailer was traveling on the street that parallels the jogging trail when the trailer overturned. Debris — including chunks of concrete and wood — were dumped across the jogging path.

"I was at the end of a three-mile run when I heard the noise, looked back, saw it start to tip and my instincts were to dive," Bush said by telephone from New Hampshire.

He said he scraped his right leg and hip when he dived behind a bridge support, but was not struck by debris from the truck. "I've got a significant strawberry," Bush said.

He said he was pleased to learn that Hughey was not seriously injured.

"I'm very lucky and so is the DPS agent. I was very concerned about him," Bush said.

A witness, Ernest Bedford, 50, a pipeline inspector for the city who was working nearby, said he didn't hear any brakes squeal, just "a big, loud bang."

Bedford said he saw Bush in the clear but "the other guy was reaching his hand up out of the debris."

out of the debris."

Bush used Hughey's cellular telephone to call DPS officials at the Governor's Mansion, and they called 911, Ms. Edwards said. "The governor stayed with Roscoe until he was in the ambulance," she said.

Hughey is a member of Bush's security detail.
