BIG SPLASH!

Some streets in Hereford were flooded as nearly an inch of rain fell on the city during the past 24 hours. Vehicles moving through the flooded intersections splash water. The rain, which began Tuesday night, accompanied a cold front and upper-level low pressure system that moved through the Panhandle. The rain is expected to move out of the area by tonight. In other parts of the region, twisters, large hail and heavy rains were reported. No significant flooding was reported in Deaf Smith County. BRAND/Julie L. Carlson

Gasoline thefts on the rise

"We've had more in the last few weeks. I can only assume the increase in the number of gas drive-offs is due to the rise in gas prices, especially for the drivers of the bigger, older cars."

Drivers, especially of the big, gasguzzling older cars and sport utility vehicles (SUVs), really feel the pinch of sky rocketing gas prices — nearly as much as do the owners of gas pumps who are seeing more and more gas drive-offs.

"We've had a few more in the last few weeks," said Cathy Cabezuela, manager at the Town and Country East convenience store. "I can only assume the increase in the number of gas drive-offs is due to the rise in gas prices, especially for the drivers of the bigger, older cars. Cabezuela says that oddly enough, gas drive-offs usually only range from $5 to $10, not the price of full tanks. The Hereford Police Department have customers pay in advance. He did say having the station file the reports came about because of the number of reports which were never prosecuted because drivers would come back and pay or the store owners would fail to follow through.

Gas drive-offs are considered a Class C misdemeanor and are punishable by up to a $500 fine.

Most of the chain convenience stores call the police as part of their policy when any theft occurs, including gasoline theft.

Officials say the best protection against gas drive-offs is to have customers, especially ones who are not well known to store personnel, come in and pay for gas in advance.

Most of the gas drive-offs occur at the stations with large numbers of pumps, usually at peak business hours.

"If someone is going to drive off with gas, they're going to wait until we're busy and may not get a good look at all the cars," Cabezuela said. Michael also said that if gas "We make the stores do their own store owners can expect to see more reports," Michael said. When asked point blank if he endorsed Gore, a Democrat, Laney said, "I'll be working for my House members and I'll talk about all of that later.

Maintaining control of the state House of Representatives is especially important for Democrats this year. The 2001 Legislature will draw new voting districts for Congress and the Legislature.

Republicans today hold a 16-15 majority in the Senate. Democrats hold a 78-72 edge in the House. Both parties have declared control of the Legislature and the 2001 redistricting process - a key election goal.

Pete Laney

Garry Mauro, co-chairman of Texans for Gore, said Laney and other state legislators are simply practicing good politics by refusing to publicly endorse either Gore or Bush.

"As a Texas legislator, if you expect George Bush to be defeated -and I think most Democrats do -they've got to work with him next session," Mauro said.

"I don't think you're going to find a lot of Democratic legislators, who have strong legislative agendas and programs, trying to anger the governor so he'll refuse to sign their bill next session when he's defeated and comes home," Mauro said.

Laney refused to say Wednesday if he thought it would be better for state lawmakers to have a Texas Republican in the White House or Gore, who's from Tennessee.

Laney's refusal to commit was criticized by the state GOP, which considers his silence a stance against Bush.

"Speaker Laney has always tried to portray himself as a leader of both Republican and Democrats in the House," said state Republican spokesman Robert Black

"I think he's showing his true colors now by refusing to support Governor Bush and his leadership. By not supporting the governor of the state of Texas, I think Speaker Laney is in essence throwing his support behind the Clinton-Gore administration.

FEEL-GOOD FLUFF House vote derided as meaningless

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republicans said they wanted to "send a message" to OPEC oil producers. Democrats called it meaningless "feel-good fluff.'

But in the end, all but a handful of House members - Republicans and Democrats alike voted for a bill Wednesday that both sides acknowledged would do little to help Americans deal with the high cost of oil, or lower prices.

Instead, the vote may have demonstrated how little power Congress has to address the soaring oil and gasoline prices that grip the nation, much less influence foreign oil production plans.

The legislation, although characterized by some lawmakers as tepid and inconsequential, passed the House 382-38, marking the first congressional response to the tripling of oil prices over the past 14 months.

The bill, titled the "Oil Price Reduction Act," simply requires the White House to review pricing practices of the 11-member Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries and the president to work with other nations to restrict military assistance against countries found to be engaged in petroleum price fixing.

Nevertheless, it was touted by supporters as a "wakeup call" and a "clear message" to the Clinton administration and OPEC, which meets next Monday to consider new oil production levels, that this country is angry over the run-up in oil prices.

It "spotlights OPEC's price-fixing activities," declared Rep. Benjamin Gilman, R-N.Y., the measure's chief sponsor.

Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., ridiculed the measure as "feel good legislation" that does little beyond requiring reports - documents, he added mockingly, that "already have them quaking in Kuwait and quivering in Venezuela."

But when it came time to vote, Frank cast a "present" - not wanting to endorse the legislation, but also not eager to be seen voting on the wrong side in the oil cartel versus American consumer debate.

There were 187 Democrats who voted with Republicans for the legislation, including some who were highly critical of the bill during a twohour debate.

"Sometimes people laugh at Congress. This is a day for laughing," Rep. Martin Frost, D-Texas, declared, chastising the Republican majority for pushing the "meaningless" legislation, which he

Senate Republicans, meanwhile, were planning a largely symbolic vote of their own on a proposed "gas tax holiday," possibly early next week, in an apparent attempt by the GOP leadership to try to gain some political advantage on a high-profile pocketbook issue

Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., this week quietly filed two gasoline tax bills --- one to suspend the 4.3 cent-agallon increase that Congress approved in 1993, and another to suspend the entire 18.4 cent federal levy - with a test vote planned for early next week.

Man wounds four, kills himself

PASADENA, Texas (AP) - A Pentacostal pastor and a female member remained in critical condition today after a gunman opened fire inside a crowded Houston area church's office, wounding four people before turning the pistol on himself.

The unidentified assailant, who had apparently been spurned by the woman's daughter, died in the attack Wednesday night at Iglesia Cristiana Esposa del Cordero Pentecostal Church.

Carlos Matamoros, the 43-year-old pastor, and 38-year-old Angela Contreras were hospitalized at Memorial Hermann Hospital in critical condition.

Matamoros was shot in the chest and Contreras was wounded in the abdomen, said Lisa Lagrone, a hospital spokeswoman.

Contreras' 18-year-old daughter, Leslie, was listed in fair condition at Ben Taub Memorial Hospital in Houston with a bullet wound in her neck.

An unidentified 32-year-old man was "grazed across the chest" and did not have to be taken to a hospital, Pasadena police Sgt. Mike Baird told the Houston Chronicle.

Baird said the man's name was withheld pending notification of relatives.

Judge rules in favor of online realtor

AUSTIN (AP) - A federal lawsuit between the Austin Board of Realtors and one of its members, e-Realty.com, is a symbol of the fear the industry has of technology, a real estate professor says.

Traditional real estate agents, who make their profits from commission, have long resisted the Internet as a way to do business, said Randall S. Guttery, an assistant professor of finance and real estate at the University of North Texas in Denton who has studied the issue for years.

"Their monopoly is disappearing. They have protected this turf for decades, and now those barriers are breaking down. And for that, I say, 'Congratulations to the consumers, Guttery said Wednesday.

of the U.S. gun market. Mayor Bill Campbell of At-

He said it would also require "the immediate de-

"I do not believe that the administration ever really intended to see its lawsuit against the firearms manufacturers to verdict," Hatch said. He said he suspected it was simply a bargaining ploy.

Two gunmakers - Glock Inc. and Browning — announced they will not sign voluntary gun-safety agreements following the Smith & Cuomo said Wednesday's announcement was an open attempt to keep the pressure on those and other gun makers. The trees were delivered to the district office by Texas Forest Service employee Brian Scott, in the truck. With this number of trees to unload all the office personnel, including Mike White, were put into service. Tree buyers should contact the office to determine pick-up times.

Realtors rejected that argument, saying the lawsuit attempting to bar the online company from publishing Multiple Listing Service data is about protecting the board's copyrighted material.

"This fight is only about protecting our intellectual property," said Diane Kennedy, president of the Austin Board of Realtors. "We will work with e-Realty to try to resolve this, but we will not surrender our right of ownership over this data."

Earlier this week, U.S. District Judge James Nowlin said that e-Realty.com could continue offering clients online access to MLS data. He also ordered both sides to use a mediator to try to work out a settlement.

INS criticized for criminals' release

WASHINGTON (AP) - A key House lawmaker is harshly critical of the immigration service for releasing 35,000 immigrants with criminal records into U.S. communities over the past five years, saying one-third of them went on to commit new crimes.

"I just find this another absolutely catastrophic failure of this agency," Rep. Harold Rogers, R-Ky., said.

Rogers, who chairs the House appropriations subcommittee that funds immigration operations, made clear his displeasure during a sharp round of questions lobbed at Immigration and Naturalization Service Commissioner Doris Meissner during a hearing by his panel Wednesday.

Of the 35,318 criminal aliens freed by INS during the fiveyear period ending last May, 11,605 went on to commit new crimes, Rogers said, citing newly compiled Justice Department figures

"What we're dealing with here is mayhem on the American people, and that cannot be tolerated," Rogers fumed, saying 98 homicides, 142 sexual assaults, 347 robberies and 1,214 assaults were among the total.

Meissner defended her agency's performance, although she acknowledged that the numbers are "of great concern to us."

Many of the releases weren't at INS' discretion, Meissner said, ordered either because the incarcerated immigrants had won their deportation cases or because bond was allowed by judges.

MARCH IS NUTRITION MONTH Seniors need to eat well

CHARLOTTE R. CLARK

Nutrition is important through all life stages-from childhood through late adulthood. When a child, you were encouraged to eat balanced meals. If you raised a family, you probably urged your children to do the same. As you age, a balanced and varied eating pattern remains important, but your nutritional needs change. This is especially true as you take medications that may impact your appetite and vitamin and mineral needs. Also, the risks for nutrition-related disease such as heart disease, the bone disease osteoporosis and diabetes increase as you age.

Eating for good health

Americans are living longer, so good nutrition and regular physi-cal activity are key to good health. Eating smart means including a variety of foods each day. Foods provide the energy, protein, vitamins, minerals, fiber and water you need for good health. Use the Food Guide Pyramid to help guide your food choices for breakfast, lunch, dinner and snacks.

Breakfast really matters

Start the day with the most important meal — breakfast. Breakfast helps fuel the brain and body with the energy it needs. Try a bowl of fortified cereal with low fat milk. Fortified cereal provides vitamins, such as folate and the B vitamins and minerals such as iron. Milk provides protein, B vitamins and minerals such as calcium, phosphorus and magnesium. And the fiber in cereals helps keep your digestive system working regularly. An-other easy breakfast choice is a cup of low-fat yogurt mixed with pre-sweetened or low-fat granola and fresh fruit slices.

Tips for the lunch brunch

Choose flavorful sandwich breads that contain fiber, such as multi-grain, whole wheat, bran or oats. Include lean roast beef or turkey, lettuce and tomato or other vegetables such as cucum-ber, red pepper or carrots, for taste and crunch.

Pair your sandwich with a cup of crushed high-fiber cereal and chicken broth. Dip chicken or fish in broth and then coat with cereal before baking or broiling. Round out your meal with rice, beans and fruit. Another winning dinner, toss cooked pasta with a package of cooked frozen veg-etables. Top with your favorite marinara sauce and a sprinkle of Parmesan cheese. Add a mixed green salad with vinaigrette dressing and you have a delicious, flavorful and easy meal.

Healthful snack facts

Add fresh or canned fruit to low-fat ice cream of frozen yogurt with a sprinkle of low-fat granola. Have a bowl of pre-sweetened cereal with milkor try a muffin for a tasty snack with a glass of low-fat milk or juice.

Youth take part in 'Call to Protect'

High school youth from St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford are participating in the nationwide crusade, "Call to Protect," to aid battered women. The program is a joint effort between the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence and the Wireless Foundation. Old cell phones are collected, reprogrammed to automatically dial 911 or a crisis hotline at the touch of a button, and distributed to battered women shelters.

The objective of the program is to put a cell phone in the hand of every do-mestic abuse victim in the country.

Cell phones are particu-larly important because abusers often try to prevent victims from calling the police. Victims of abuse can safely leave their homes and call the police when they have a cell phone.

St. Anthony's youth have adopted "Call to Protect" as a service project and placed collection boxes in St. Anthony's Church and St. Anthony's School where local residents may place no-longer used cell phones, or they will pick up unused phones. Call any St. Anthony's youth, or call Jan Weishaar at 364-4290.

St. Anthony's youth check a collection box to see if any cell phones have been donated by area residents for use in the "Call to Protect" program. Pictured are, from left, Victoria Perez, Brad Reinart and Kyle Artho. Anyone with an unused cell phone may place it in a collection box at St. Anthony's Church, St. Anthony's School or call any St. Anthony's high school youth, or Jan Weishaar at 364-4290, and they will pick up the phone.

Borger tournament lands teams in third

Kevin Hoffman contemplates a put during golf practice.

The golf team's search for a district win heads to Pampa.

By Jeff Blackmon

Hereford Brand Sports Editor

The boy's and girl's varsity golf teams both find them-selves in third place after a tough weekend at Borger. The weekend was filled with bad weather, but both teams feel they came away with good showings.

"I thought we played well despite the conditions," head coach James Salinas said. "It was real cold and windy at times.

Salinas said the team's showing Tuesday despite the conditions was better than the first time the team played the course when conditions were perfect. He said he does like his team's chances when the weather is windy. "We played in the Fall and didn't do near as well in beau-tiful conditions," Salinas said. Peyton Ward led the boy's varsity team shooting an im-pressive 74. The score also puts Ward in third place indi-vidually for the district.

"Peyton gets his mind in the game and manages his game very well," Salinas said. "He doesn't get into trouble, and he is very steady." Salinas said one way Ward has had success this season is he takes every shot seriously and doesn't panic. "He takes it one shot at a time and is real consistent," Salinas said. Salinas said in many ways

Ward acts as an anchor for his varsity team. He said the other players like to surround him and learn from him.

"He is such a laid back guy and has such a relaxed attitude," Salinas said. "It is hard to shake him." When it comes to practicing Salinas aid

he tries to sit back and "Borger played let the golfers work on their own well on their home game. He said if course...we can still they need help he will give catch them at our instruction, but he likes to course." watch them im--Mark Stokes prove on their own. One player Salinas said he enjoys seeing improve is

Kevin Hoffman. Hoffman is an exceptional golfer but seems to have a hard time being consistent.

"Kevin shows great signs of really good development," Salinas said. "It is only a matter of time."

Coach Salinas said this week he would like to see the team work on putting. He said working on the short game would help the team a lot.

"If the rain lets up and we get to practice, I told the guys we need to put more emphasis on the short game." Salinas said.

On the girl's side, the team also placed third with a score of 393. Leading the team was Heather Stokes (96) and Contesa White (97). Jessica Weishaar finished Tuesday with a score of 99. In the individual standings, Stokes is currently 11th and White is 13th. Weishaar is not far behind at 16th.

d . Whitefaces are strokes behind first place Borger and 37 behind second place Pampa. Assistant coach Mark Stokes thinks that w i l l change. "I'm hoping we will take 393 and get our score down to the 380's,"

ASSISTANT GOLF COACH

Stokes said. "All we have to do is get close to them, and we can have a chance to win in our final match in Dumas."

Stokes said he looks for-ward to when the district matches will shift to the course in Hereford, and they will have the home advantage. "Borger obviously played well on their home course," Stokes said. "We can still catch them at our course."

The next competition for both teams will be on Mon-day when they travel to Pampa for a district match. Tee time for both teams will be at 10 a.m.

Track teams ready for weekend

By Jeff Blackmon Hereford Brand Sports Editor

They are aiming for improvement.

After finishing fifth at the Deaf Smith County Invita-tional, the HHS boy's varsity track team is only going to get better. The team may be young, but they are getting some much needed experience this season.

"We felt our kids did a good job," head coach Joe Cabezuela said. "Basically, they competed well, and we are looking to get better at Cabezuela said.

One athlete Cabezuela said he was proud of last weekend was Luis Perez. Perez competes in the Pole Vault event for the Hostile Herd. Perez routinely vaults 10 feet 6 inches, but Saturday was a different story. Perez hit 11 feet 6 inches.

"Luis hit a jump of 11 feet 6 inches winning the pole vault event," Cabezuela said. "This week we want to try to get him to vault 12 feet."

Cabezuela said he realizes the team is young, but he still wants them to compete hard and improve with every competition. While the boy's team trav-els to Fritch, the Lady White-faces will be headed to Lubbock to compete. The girl's team will try to repeat their performance last weekend by placing first. Head coach Ray Baca said he

The team will head to Fritch on Friday to compete in the Fritch Relays. Cabezuela said he thinks the boy's team has come a long way to be where they are now.

"We have done a great job with as young of a team as we have," Cabezuela said. "We are not where we want to be yet, but we have come a long way." Coach Cabezuela said he is still experimenting with certain team members as to which events they will com-pete in. He said he wants to find the best events for each. of his team members.

"I just want to get them in the best possible events as far as their talent is con-cerned," Cabezuela said.

Cabezuela said he was pleased with the team's per-formance at the Deaf Smith County Invitational last weekend, but he wants the team to still try to quicken their pace before heading into the district meet in April.

Raul Vasquez runs toward the finish line Saturday during the junior varsity 110 meter hurdles.

Bush: Gore is too partisan

WASHINGTON (AP) — George W. Bush says Al Gore is an "obstacle to reform" who is too partisan to be president and build consensus on fixing Social Security or making meaningful changes to the campaign finance system.

In an interview in today's editions of The Washington Post, the putative Republican presidential nominee pledges to continue pushing his taxcut plans despite polls showing little interest in one and says he will make saving Social Security a focus of the fall debate against his Democratic opponent.

Bush said the vice president has a "major credibility problem" that goes beyond the campaign finance matter, and that he plans to make it a central campaign issue as well.

"I'm going to keep the pressure on," the Texas governor said. "If I'm not, who will?"

He called Social Security a "fundamental issue" and said Gore was wrong to suggest that major changes are not needed to keep the retirement program solvent in the decades ahead.

Bush has not offered a plan for fixing the program and refused to promise to issue one before the November election. More important than specific proposals, he said, is his promise to use his political capital as president to bring Republicans and Democrats together to make changes.

Touting his ability to bring the parties together in Texas, where he is in his second term as governor, Bush said voters want a president who will "put issues ahead of partisanship."

His approach, he said, "stands in stark contrast to my opponent, who I view as an obstacle to reform, as somebody who is so partisan that it's going to be impossible to get major objectives."

Bush pledged to stand by his biggest proposal, to cut taxes by $483 billion over five years.

Bivins offers scholarships

Two scholarships are being offered to students living in Texas Senate District 31, according to Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo.

Bivins, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, is offering two students a $1,000 scholarship for each academic year in recognition of the 100th anniversary of Texas Woman's University in Denton.

"I am extremely pleased to be able to offer two students from the West Texas area financial assistance to attend one of Texas' finest institutions of higher education," Bivins said.

Interested students must meet certain qualifications, which include: V Recipients must be new √ Recipients must be new TWU students beginning this fall;

fall: $\sqrt{\text{Recipients must be full-time students;}}$

√ Recipients must have a minimum grade point average of 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale in high school) or previous college work; and

✓ Recipients must maintain a GPA of 3.0 (for undergraduates) or 3.5 (for graduate students) to continue the scholarship after the first year. Bivins will award the scholarships by April 21

Seniors interested in applying need to provide a letter outlining their personal history, community service work and higher education goals, their 7th semester transcript (or the equivalent in their system), and two reference letters (one from a teacher, school counselor or administrator, and one from a community member). The deadline for receiving applications is April 14.

The materials should be sent to Bivins at P.O. Box 9155, Amarillo 79105.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same intem/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs."

Then remember these hints:

· Give the price. A newpaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respnd to an ad with no price.

· Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style; color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

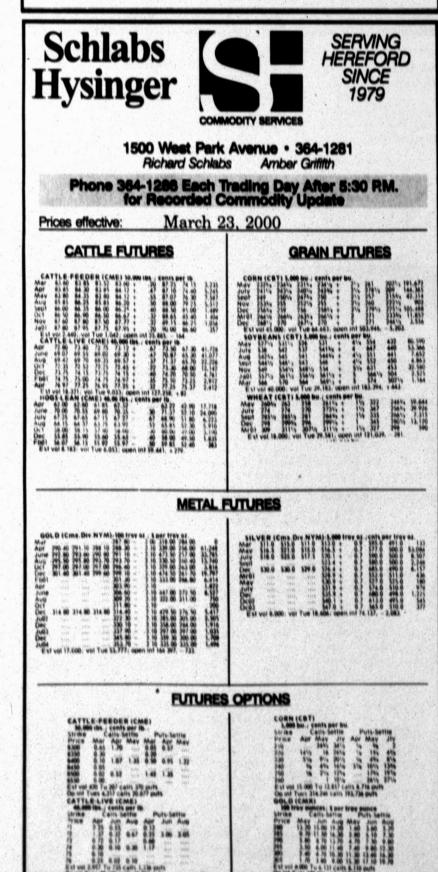

· Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

· Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

Jobless claims edge up

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of Americans filing new claims for unemployment benefits edged up last week but still hovered in a range suggesting that businesses are scrambling to find workers.

The Labor Department said today that 266,000 Americans filed new claims for jobless benefits for the week ending March 18, up by 4,000 from the previous week. That was the highest since March 4, when claims were at 281,000.

The rise in last week's claims, which followed a sharp decline, was smaller than many analysts were expecting. They were predicting claims would rise to 270,000.

The more stable four-week moving average of claims, which smooths out week-to-week volatility, last week fell slightly to 271,000, the lowest level since Dec. 15, 1973, when such claims were at 256,750.

Pope hopes to aid heal religious rifts

JERUSALEM — Blessing the Jewish state, Pope John Paul II said today he hoped to help heal the deep wounds between Christians and Jews during his "pilgrimage of hope" to the Holy Land.

The pontiff made the remarks in a meeting with Israeli President Ezer Weizman, a highly symbolic encounter many Israelis felt bestowed final church recognition on Israel. For years, the Catholic Church had taught that Jews were to blame THE ASSOCIATED PRESS for Jesus' death and that their punishment was exile.

Later today, the pontiff was to visit Israel's Holocaust memorial, where many hoped he would address the church's public si-lence during the Nazi genocide in which 6 million Jews perished.

John Paul's Yad Vashem

speech was seen as the crowning chapter of efforts to reconcile Jews and Christians. In his 22-year papacy, he became the first pope to visit the Nazi death camp of Auschwitz and attend services at a synagogue.

In another show of recognition, the pontiff met today with Israel's two chief rabbis, Eliyahu Bakshi-Doron and Israel Meir Lau, at their offices in west Jerusalem. The white-clad pontiff, clutching a cane, walked slowly into a private meeting room, flanked by the two black-robed and bearded rabbis.

At the end of the 15-minute meeting, John Paul was presented with a Bible with the dedication from the Prophet Micah: "For let all the people walk, every one in the name of his God, and we will walk in the name of the Lord our God, for ever and ever." create more wealth."

Locks snapped up by gun owners across U.S.

EASTON, Conn. - Marilyn Davies has found two good reasons to get locks for her 10 guns - her grandchildren.

"You try to reinforce, reinforce, reinforce, but there might be that one time they might pick it up," said Davies, who cares for the children in her home during the week.

Davies and her husband were among the first in Easton to pick up free gun locks offered this week by a gun industry group. During the last six months, the National Shooting Sports Foundation has given away 50,000 locks across the country. Another 111 communities are to begin distributing locks this summer.

Sheriffs have been unable to keep up with demand in Augusta, Ga., where 5,000 locks have been given out since November. "We ran out last weekend," said Mark Gibbons, an assistant to Mayor Bob Young.
